
Ike Confers On Soviet Attacks

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower's conferees today to deal with the Soviet Union's increasingly aggressive activities on the United States.

The President called to the White House for an afternoon meeting a strategy-mapping team headed by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Charles E. Bohlen, former ambassador to Moscow and now State Department specialist on Soviet problems.

Also expected to sit in were Roy D. Kohler, assistant secretary in charge of United Nations matters.

That array of officials, whose top concern at the moment is the Kremlin propaganda offensive, underscores the administration's apparent decision that the time has come to get tough with the Soviet Union, to slam back at anti-American charges.

An Eisenhower spokesman said the conference today will deal with:

1. Shaping the U.S. reply before the United Nations Security

Council to Soviet charges that the American Air Force engaged in aggressive activities threatening peace. That accusation is pegged specifically to the July 1 episode of U.S. RB47 plane.

The reconnaissance aircraft was shot down in the Arctic by the Russians, who claim the plane violated Soviet frontiers. Washington denies it, saying the plane was over international waters and not within 30 miles of Soviet waters, territory, or air space.

The U.N. council may start debate on the matter Wednesday. Eisenhower has welcomed the opportunity to focus world attention on what he has termed "the lawless actions and reckless threats of the Soviet government."

2. The strife in the newly independent Congo. The Soviet Union has accused the United States of trying to undermine Congolese freedom. "The White House reply: 'How ridiculous can they get!'"

The problem of restoring order in the Congo also has been dealt with by the U.N. Security Council, which has been aggravated by a Congolese ultimatum to Belgium to get its troops out of the new country, a former Belgian colony.

If the Belgians don't get out, Congolese officials have warned, Soviet forces will be invited in.

3. The Cuban problem, also a Security Council issue. The regime of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has charged the United States with aggressive intent. Eisenhower has stated that the Castro government is deliberately hostile to the United States.

The Soviet Union, it is noted, picture by virtue of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pledge of full support to Castro and a threat to hit this country with Soviet rockets if it dares intervene in Cuba.

There were these related developments Monday as the U.S.-Soviet tension mounted:

1. The United States formally alleged the Soviet Union of illegally detaining the two American survivors aboard the American reconnaissance plane Soviet fighters brought down July 1. The State Department demanded immediate release of the two airmen.

2. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, accused the Soviet Union of lying in saying the U.S. aircraft carrier Wasp and an American tanker were attempting to assist Belgian forces in the Congo.

The Russian had extended Hagerty's said that the Wasp was anchored at the mouth of the Congo River and that the tanker was close by.

"Actually the carrier is almost 1,000 miles off the coast of the Congo," Hagerty said Monday, "and the tanker is much farther than that."

3. Eisenhower urged the American people to analyze the plight of Soviet-dominated countries and to support themselves to support the "just aspirations" of those countries for freedom.

In a proclamation designating this as Captive Nations Week, the President said many nations have been taken over by "imperialistic and aggressive policies of Soviet communism."

Fete Recalls Pony Express

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Galloping ponies and a jet airplane set off across half the continent today honoring the brief, romantic ride of the pony express a century ago.

The first of 1,500 riders started from Sacramento and St. Joseph, Mo., the terminal points of 1860, to retrace the steps of the legendary mailmen who rode the overland trail.

An Air Force F33 jet was to take off from Maxwell Air Force Base near here with a letter for President Eisenhower, bearing the special commemorative stamp issued by the Post Office Department.

The horsemen's time, nine days.

The real pony express, crossing trackless deserts and towering mountains where hostile Indians roamed, took 30 days to deliver mail from St. Joseph to Sacramento.

The fastest run was a jet plane in 37 hours. The distance is 1,500 miles.

Enters Guilty Plea

No Accreditation For Five Schools

AUSTIN (AP)—Five rural school systems apparently will be unaccredited when school starts in September, and a rural high school will no longer have accreditation.

Action Monday by the State School Accreditation Commission stripped accreditation immediately from Jackson Common School District, Marion County, Lone Star Common, Montague County, and East Duro Common, Moore County.

A defeated candidate for the Legislature, Luther Adams, asked the State Education Board to help the China Independent School District, Jefferson County, bring itself up to par.

Adams said the school board there has failed to work for the children, and he alleged some of the members drove through board meetings. He also claimed at least one board member cannot read or write.

"These children are not taken into consideration," Adams told the commission, and only a handful of the district's 400-odd voters cast ballots in the last school election, he said.

The commission said China's is a local problem and should be handled locally.

Witnesses appeared in behalf of the China Independent School District, Cooke County, Poplar County, and Pleasant Independent School District, Parker County.

VA Patient Falls From Third Floor

HOUSTON (AP)—A Veterans Administration Hospital patient fell to his death from a third floor window Monday while 10 nurses and aides watched in horror.

Wade J. Blanchard, 48, hurried through a breezeway roof and hit the ground.

Blanchard had been a patient at the hospital here for two years.

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cooley Jr., their family grew to include two handsome sons and a pretty daughter.

Now their family is destroyed. Only the mother lives, under hospital treatment for shock.

Her children—John, 15, Frank, 13, and Elizabeth, 5—were dead, victims of bullets fired into their heads apparently as they slept. Her husband also was dead.

Police said it appeared John Cooley, 40, an unemployed television engineer, had the shooting. Six shots were fired from his German war souvenir automatic which was found at his feet.

New State Park Is Designated

AUSTIN (AP)—A new state park to be located near the proposed Canyon Dam site on the Guadalupe River will be known as San Marcos State Park.

The board announced the designation Monday after accepting a $2,500 check from the San Marcos Chamber of Commerce for use at the park.

Long range plans for major park development on the western peninsula of Eisenhower State Park were discussed. Plans for a 1½ million dollar program were outlined by Bob Baugh of Denison and Leo Grimes of Tulsa, Okla.

Personal Income Of Americans Climbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal income of Americans climbed to a record rate of $48,750,000,000 a year last month. The increase was a billion dollars over May.

The Commerce Department reported Monday that total wage and salary payments rose by about 300 million dollars in June despite a decline in factory payrolls due to a slowdown in the steel and automotive industries.

Injunction In Bracero Pay Granted

HOUSTON (AP)—U.S. District Judge Joe Ingraham Monday granted a Valley Farm Bureau request for a preliminary injunction in a court battle over the wages Rio Grande cotton pickers must pay Mexican workers.

The preliminary injunction continues an earlier temporary restraining order that overruled a federal order setting the price of bracero-picked cotton at $2.50 per hundred pounds.

The processing of braceros at the Hidalgo Reception Center all but stopped Monday. James Goodwin, assistant manager, said it was because the Mexican government wanted the farm workers to receive the $2.50 rate.

He said the Hidalgo center had been moving braceros at $2.30 but said the Monterrey center told him no more Braceros would be sent to work the valley cotton harvest unless they were paid $2.50 per hundred.

The suit was filed by the Farm Bureau after Secretary of Labor James Mitchell signed an order setting the $2.50 rate. The farmers said the rate is more than the current $2.30 wage in force in other areas.

Mitchell said he signed the order for higher wages for Braceros because American farm workers' wages are lowered if the Mexicans are underpaid.

Beware Barbecue Miscues

BOSTON (AP) — A word of advice to all backyard barbecue cooks and chefs: "Don't barbecue yourself along with the steak."

The words are those of Miles Woodworth, flammable liquids expert of the National Fire Protection Assn., who adds:

"He says the worst backyard cooking accidents are likely to happen when someone frothens an already started fire with kerosene, paint thinners, alcohol or one of the liquids sold to get a fire going."

The moment one of these liquids hits a live coal, "explains Woodworth, which can envelop the arms and face of anyone nearby in a searing fire."

"Any starting liquids you use before a fire is lighted, use sparingly, and never use gasoline. Keep any containers holding these liquids far removed from the fire. Keep youngsters at a safe distance too," he advises, "especially little girls in party dresses."

COLD CUTS

Ready-to-eat foods such as cold cuts and cheese tend to lose quality quickly if not properly handled in the home. Before storing in the refrigerator, home economists say it is advisable to cover them with a transparent paper so they won't lose moisture or absorb flavors from other foods. They should be stored in the porcelain-covered meat storage drawer of the refrigerator.

Ike Completes Plan To Brief Demos

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower has completed arrangements for a series of briefings to the Democratic ticket leaders, to receive confidential national security information for their exclusive personal knowledge.

The two political camps agreed, however, that this would in no way restrict full and free discussion of foreign policy in the campaign.

The vacationing President formally offered the top secret data late Monday. Kennedy, his party's presidential nominee, promptly accepted for himself and Johnson, his running mate.

All that apparently remains now is for Kennedy-Johnson representatives to work out with Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, procedural details as to just when and where the Democratic standard-bearers will receive personally the intelligence data throughout the campaign.

The agreement between Eisenhower and the two senators was reached down in jig time after it had appeared briefly over the weekend that there might be trouble in getting together.

In first informally accepting Eisenhower's announced intention to offer security information, Kennedy had designated co-representatives to accept the CIA data for him. The Massachusetts senator named Adlai E. Stevenson and Rep. Chester Bowles (D-Conn.) as his liaison men to deal with the administration on international affairs.

The President put out word that wouldn't do and that the information could be given only personally to Kennedy and his running mate from Texas. The Democratic candidates swiftly agreed to this Sunday night.

In making the official offer Monday, Eisenhower set forth conditions which appeared to rule out the possibility of Kennedy and Johnson sharing the confidential data with their foreign policy advisers.

But the President and Kennedy-Johnson spokesmen said the way was left open for wide-open debate of foreign policy in the campaign.

Eisenhower sent essentially identical telegrams to Kennedy and Johnson.

"I believe it to be in the national interest, and I hope it conforms to your desire, for you, as the duly designated candidate of one of the major parties for the presidency or vice-presidency of the United States to have periodic briefings on the international scene from a responsible official in the Central Intelligence Agency," the President wired.

"Acting on the assumption that you likewise believe such briefings to be in the national interest, I have already requested the director of the Central Intelligence Agency . . . to arrange procedural details with you or with some designated member of your staff."

Then Eisenhower indirectly ruled out Kennedy-Johnson go-betweens.

"Because of the secret character of the information that would be furnished you," the President said, "it would be exclusively for your personal knowledge. However, the receipt of such information would impose no restriction on full and free discussion."

At both the summer White House and Kennedy's home at Hyannis Port, Mass., spokesmen interpreted that as meaning that acceptance of the data would in no way limit foreign policy debate in the campaign.

In accepting the President's offer, Kennedy thanked Eisenhower and said he was happy to cooperate.

"I agree with you," the senator wired Eisenhower, "that the national interest is served by making such information available to the candidates of the major parties."

4 The Snyder (Texas) Daily News, Tues., July 19, 1960

ert, who knows Allen Dulles . . . to contact Mr. Dulles and arrange the procedure through which the briefings can be facilitated."

Eisenhower also plans to supply the same confidential national security information to the Republican ticket leaders after they have been named at the party's convention opening in Chicago next Monday.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, regarded as a sure bet to win the GOP presidential nomination, already has access to the data as a member of the National Security Council.

Blast Rocks Penney Store

MERRILL, Wis. (AP) — A violent explosion turned the J. C. Penney Co. department store into a pile of twisted, charred debris Monday. Eight persons were killed and 13 injured.

"We don't know what caused it," said Mayor Ralph Voigt. "It's a terrible thing for us."

The identified dead were Einar Seger, 58, a customer in the store and former clerk for this village of 10,000 in northern Wisconsin; Mrs. Louis Hamilton; Mrs. Geraldine Wisner; and Mrs. Lawrence Borchardt, all employees; Mrs. George Erickson; and her mother, Mrs. Amanda Eva, shoppers; Mrs. Carl Yorke and her son, 12.

T. S. Stats and John McHale, of the State Industrial Commission, began an investigation into the cause of the blast.

The one-story modern building was located on the same site where an A&P supermarket was destroyed by an explosion July 12, 1951. The blast was then blamed on an accumulation of gas in an adjoining building. Officials of the Merrill City Gas Utility said the Penney explosion "could not possibly" have been caused by a gas leak. They said none of their pipes are connected to the building.

Six Firms In Receivership

AUSTIN, AP — Six more companies in the W. I. Bridges organization have been placed in receivership.

Dist. Judge Harris Gardner granted Monday an application filed by Amy C. Gen. Will Wilson for temporary injunctions. Five of the companies are mutual assessment insurance firms.

The sixth, Sportman's Paradise, Corp. of Dallas, was also turned over to state receivership.

Placed in temporary receivership were Rains Service Insurance Co. of Marshall, with an alleged insolvency of $241,316; Rains and Valley Rural Assn. of Marshall, $7,448; the Texas Rural Assn. of "Wolcott," $16,000; the Palms Life Insurance Co. of Houston, $14,751; and the Western Mutual Life Assn. of New Orleans, $22,948.

Liston KO's Folley

By FRANK PITMAN
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The massive 14-inch fists of Sonny Liston thundered a tattoo today on the door to the heavyweight boxing throne room occupied by champion Floyd Patterson.

Liston's sledge-hammer hands smashed twice in the second round and knocked him out in 20 seconds of the third round of their scheduled fight Monday night in the Denver Coliseum.

"I got him quicker than I expected," the unmarked 213½-pound slugger from Philadelphia said in his dressing room afterward.

Folley, 198½ of Chandler, Ariz., said he had made a mistake in trying to slug it out with Liston. "I fought the wrong type of fight — I fought his fight," he said.

Cubs Clobber Giants; Share Championship

Only one game was played last night prior to the gully washer, but it was an especially important one—at least for the Farm League Cubs, who hammered the league-leading Giants into submission by 12-4, and in the process gained co-championship status with that team in the quest for the National Loop title.

The victory pulled the Cubs up even with the Giants at 13-5 and prevented them from nailing down the title after leading the greater part of the season.

The remainder of the games slated for the Farm Leagues last night were called off and will not be re-scheduled, as a champion has already been decided in the American League, with the White Sox walking off with the bunting.

Last night's deciding tilt just got under the wire, as the weather forced it to be called after four innings. Those four proved to be sufficient, however, as the Cubs hacked away at Mitch Rambo and Jeff Brown for 11 hits with left fielder Johnny Harris leading the way with a double and two singles in as many trips to the plate.

Cub second sacker Rodney Williams went three-for-four to aid the cause, also.

Brown and Donnie Copeland paced the eight-hit attack on winner David Casey, each contributing a pair of singles.

Rambo, who went the first one and a third frame, was tagged with the loss.

The line score:

Cubs	415	2-12
Giants	000	4-4

Feud Brewing As Expansion Talked

CHICAGO (AP)—The National League voted unanimously Monday in favor of expanding to 10 teams, and in effect, told the newly formed Continental League to put up or shut up.

After a long meeting of club owners and general managers, league President Warren Giles said, "If it develops that a new major league is impracticable, the National League has voted unanimously to expand its membership to 10 clubs."

"The standards for a new major league were set forth at Columbus, Ohio, last year and were accepted by the Continental League, which so far has not met them," said Giles.

The National League named a four-man expansion committee, headed by Walter O'Malley of Los Angeles, with orders to go to work immediately.

The committee, which also includes owners Lou Perini of Milwaukee, John Galbreath of Pittsburgh and Bob Carpenter of Philadelphia, sent a telegram to Branch Rickey, president of the American League, and to Joe Cronin, president of the American League, asking either or both to meet at their convenience with the committee on the subject of expansion.

Giles, claiming "expansion is inevitable," said his league had discussed two facets of expansion, "expansion by a new league and expansion of the present league."

In New York, Bill Shea, founder of the Continental League, said he was hopeful the National League's action was a good sign. He said Rickey would be glad to meet with the committee "because we want to use every means at our disposal to be taken into organized baseball."

"My main objective from the very beginning has been to get another club for New York," Shea said. "I have been convinced for a long time and still am convinced that the only way to do that is by a third league. Perhaps Mr. Cronin's statement that he planned to remain in Cincinnati had something to do with the National League's action."

Powell Crosley, owner of the Cincinnati club, spiked rumors that he would move his club to New York by stating that the Reds would remain in Cincinnati during his lifetime.

Giles said no possible cities were mentioned in the discussion on expansion and no new standards were set for any cities desiring to become members of the National League.

In the only other major action taken at the meeting, members voted down a proposal to increase a visiting team's receipts from 25 cents per admission to a flat 50 cents per admission.

The American League, which long has been in favor of expansion, was encouraged by the National League's action. The American League met last week and said it could not combat the problems of expansion alone and needed help.

Hank Greenberg, vice president and treasurer of the Chicago White Sox and a member of the American League's Expansion Committee, said he was "delighted" the National League has taken this action, a decision which had to be taken sooner or later.

However, Greenberg expressed doubt that each league could expand to 10 teams in the event the Continental League fails.

'Tough Test' Predicted By Slammin' Sam

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Sam Snead took his first look at the re-modeled Forestburg Country Club course where the PGA championship will be played Thursday through Sunday, and pronounced it "a tough test of golf."

Despite this estimate, Snead shot a 69 in Monday's practice round, becoming the first player to break par on the toughened par-70, 7,165-yard layout.

Snead, 48, who is bidding for a fourth PGA championship, matched par with 35 on the front nine then closed with a 34 despite bogeys on the last two holes.

"Weather conditions, high winds and rains could be a determining factor," said Snead, winner of the PGA crown in 1942, 1949 and 1951. He thought a par 290 would win the 72-hole medal play tournament.

Mixon Mutilates Rest Of League

Individuals held the spotlight in Couples League kegging of the past week which saw new leader Nixon Tire and Supply enjoying his new position at the top of the heap for the second week in a row.

J. L. Bunch (Mixon), Don Seely (Team 8) and Joan Richardson (Mixon) were the individuals responsible for the majority of fireworks.

Probably the most electrifying performance of the night was marked up by the latter lady, who rolled her way to a 206 line in walking to high series honors of 365.

For the men, Bunch had the high series of 622, including lines of 211 and 207, but had to relinquish the high line laurels to Seely, who posted a 220. Seely's 554 was good for second place series-wise, while Jim's Welding—Gerald Long came home third in that department with a 516.

Joan Mills (Holt Music) was runner-up in both game and series with her 172-474. Mary Carr (McDonald Welding) racked up the third high line, individually with her 171, and tied with Martha Coffey (Mixon) for the same position in series, each carding a 439.

As far as teams were concerned, it was Nixon, Nixon, Nixon, as that delegation saw a moped the opposition with the three high lines of 724-679-635, giving them a 2038 aggregate for the evening. Jim's Welding and Robinson Plumbing were hardly in shouting distance of them, with their second and third high series of 1769 and 1758, respectively.

Split pickups were ten cents to the dozen and went as follows: Robinson Plumbing—Chuck Robinson 3-10, Jim's Welding—Joan Long 2-7-8, Nixon—Joan Richardson 3-10, Frank Butler 3-10, Martha Coffey 3-10, and J. L. Bunch 3-10. Team 8—Don Robinson 2-7-10, Team 9—Roy Brown 5-10 and 5-7, Bessie Wilson 5-10, Mitch's—Doris Jackson 5-9-10, Leroy Woolley 3-10, and Team 5—Tommy Valentine 4-5.

Blanda Looks Impressive In Oiler Practice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
George Blanda, 32, professional football veteran, has caught the eye of Coach Lou Rymkus of the Houston Oilers.

In practice Monday Blanda's quarterbacking and passing caught Rymkus to remark that "I'd have to go with Blanda right now because he picked his receivers quicker."

The American Football League club was holding its first official practice.

The squad was trimmed to 60 when tackle Bill Roach from Texas Christian quit. "He was placed on the reserve list."

At Forest Grove, Ore., the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League held their first offensive drill. Eddie Lee Barron and Don Henrich, both veterans, and rookies Don Meredith and John Talley were doing the quarterbacking.

The Dallas Texans of the AFL, working at Roswell, N.M., made an effort to strengthen their linebacking. They traded quarterback Dick Jameson to New York for Jim Baldwin. The latter is from McJannet College and was with the Detroit Lions of the NFL last season.

The Texans also released two more players—defensive halfback Jackie Holt of Oklahoma and end James Edwards of Prairie View.

Score Hurls Sox To Important Win

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Al Lopez finally has begun to collect dividends for his weeks and months of patience in the Herb Score case.

Score came through with a complete game, his first after 15 straight failures over a two-season span, to pitch Lopez's Chicago White Sox into second place Monday night in the American League race.

"Al understands 'me,'" said Score shortly after he was traded to Chicago by Cleveland April 18. "He knows my problem. He's helping me."

Although Lopez understood the left-hander's peculiar problems and stuck with him in the face of criticism, Score was slow to repay him for his faith.

Until Score threw a five-hitter at Boston for a 9-1 victory, he had not gone the route since July 14, 1959.

Score's pitching, backed by a 14-hit attack, hoisted the White Sox into second place, only two games behind the New York Yankees, who dumped Cleveland into third place with a 9-2 triumph behind Whitey Ford.

Monday was a night for comebacks. Ned Garver also chose the occasion to record his first victory of the season, pitching Kansas City to a 5-1 decision over Baltimore. The defeat left the fourth-place Orioles four games off the pace. Detroit and Washington were not scheduled.

The entire National League had an open date Monday.

Roy Sievers ran his consecutive game-hitting streak to 21, longest in the majors this season, as the Sox won their 17th consecutive game. Boston had taken a 25 starts, 19th home stand, into the contest. Gene Freese, who hit his best against Boston, had three hits, making it 22 in 33 at bats or a .667 average against the Red Sox.

Mickey Mantle's three-run homer was the big blow of a five-run fourth inning for the Yanks in their victory over Dick Stelman. It was Mantle's 22nd. Roger Maris added No. 29 in the ninth off Barry Latman, while Ford calmly turned back the Indians with eight hits, including John Romano's 10th homer.

Norm Siebern hit his 11th homer with a man on and Andy Carey slammed a two-run double as Kansas City broke a five-game losing streak. Garver scattered seven hits while Joeer Hal Brown gave up all nine Kansas City hits and runs.

Red Coach Optimistic Over Olympic Chances

MOSCOW (AP)—Coach G. V. (Harry) Korobkov of the Soviet track and field team said today he is optimistic over Russia's chances of winning in the Olympic Games in Rome.

He made the remark at the conclusion of the last pre-Olympic trials, and he qualified the statement.

"The Americans will be tough competitors," he said. "They have a brilliant team — it is the strongest team they've ever had."

Nearly 900 athletes took part in the four-day meet to determine places on the Olympic team.

They did their best, but broke only one world record in a women's shot putting — and bettered the European pole vault record.

Trainer Jimmy Pitt has a pet name for Billy Ache, the Kentucky Derby winner. He calls the colt Bright Eyes.

HERE WE GO AGAIN!

Kennedy's Youth Acceptable; Now It's Time For His Charm

By INEZ ROBB
What follows is undoubtedly in the nature of a minority report. I find in John F. Kennedy none of the faded youth or charm with which he has been associated in the public mind for years. It is odd, but he looks much younger in pictures than in person.

Democrats who have been leary of so youthful a candidate can pack their hours away in mothballs. Throughout the Democratic National Convention I carefully watched every appearance of Kennedy, whom I first met when he was 14 and I was sent to interview his father, Joseph Kennedy, on the subject of financial wizardry.

And if I ever have seen a man from whom youth has been wrung by the powerhouse drive to achieve political pre-eminence, that man is John F. Kennedy.

Throughout the convention there was no more youthful spontaneity or exuberance in the Democratic nominee than in the convention's oldest delegate, Sen. Theodore Green, 92, of Rhode Island. Kennedy is an old young face, and not because of the 24-hour convention wheeling-and-dealing.

It is my guess that two factors have made Jack Kennedy prematurely old and left their marks in his face for all to see: (1) physical suffering and (2) his race-without-leap to satisfy the Kennedy political ambition.

As for the storied charm of the Democratic candidate, maybe he saves it for politically important conclaves and turns it on at will. But his press conferences during the Democratic convention were in stark contrast to those of his "chief rivals, Vespene nominee Lyndon B. Johnson and Sen. Stuart Symington.

Both Senators, no less than John

Kennedy, are widely acquainted with the press corps, particularly those who are stationed in Washington. D. C. Johnson and Symington press conferences were on a first-name basis—that is, the two Senators greeted their friends in the corps by name. There was a feeling of camaraderie and easy give-and-take.

But there was none of that malarky in the Kennedy press conclaves. The Boston strong boy strode to the platform of the Billmore Bowl, where such conferences were held, and greeted no one. He answered questions without seeming to recognize any friendly face in the crowd, quickly walked off the podium and was gone.

Once, when it was obvious that he had heard that the press was sniffed because he had devoted all his attention to teevies, he held a 12-minute press conference. It was a dusty gesture. Even less time was wasted when he called the brief conference to announce that he had chosen Lyndon B. Johnson for his running mate.

On such occasions neither youth nor charm were visible in the candidate. If he has the latter quality in abundance, he probably felt it could better be used on a less captive audience. He was, once a newspaperman himself. Immediately before World War II and afterward he worked for the Chicago Herald-American and the now defunct International News Service. But those days doubtless seem but a prelude and far away.

Conventions are hell on wheels for everyone involved, particularly for the contending candidates. Probably in the days to come, now that he has it made with the Democratic party, John Kennedy will seem less like one of the new products of automation—driving, driving, driving regardless toward the goal line.

Cabinet Post Not In Voters' Hands

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The second most important job in the government, secretary of state, won't be in the hands of the voters at all when they choose their new president and vice president next November.

There is speculation now that if Sen. John F. Kennedy wins the presidency he will choose between Adlai E. Stevenson and Chester Bowles in naming his secretary. There is not even speculation on who'd be a new Republican president's choice.

But in the next four years—with Russia growing stronger, more daring and more belligerent and Red China's muscles getting bigger day by day—the secretary of state will have a tremendous burden.

One thing seems sure. Even if Sen. John F. Kennedy wins the election, the present secretary, Christian A. Herter, will step out. Herter is an honest man and an earnest one, but during his secretaryship this country has suffered diplomatic disasters.

For instance, there were the American U2 spy plane downed over Russia, the State Department's bumbling in handling that

Unity Doesn't Sacrifice Principles

(AN EDITORIAL)

In addition to providing an interesting sideshow for the general public, political conventions may present an example worth consideration by cities.

Regardless of the heated words, violent debates and sectional disagreements, when the final blow is administered in a political convention there usually follows an effort toward unity to seek a common objective.

There have been and will likely be in the future some exceptions, but for the most part, when the "family reunion" reaches a conclusion, the various factions lick their wounds and, to all outward appearances make the most of it.

Cities, like political parties, have their own internal problems. And like political parties, they usually have the resources to settle their disagreements "within the family."

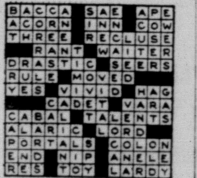

Of course, whenever internal strife boils within one of the two major political parties, the other sits gleefully on the sidelines and attempts to take advantage of the situation. Cities differ in that there are many who gaze from afar, all of them poised to capitalize upon another's woes. It is part of the game for cities to bid for business, industry and other worthwhile enterprise, and if they can divide a neighbor, so what?

No city is without problems of its own, but those which prosper settle their own differences by calmly ignoring outside efforts to stir general disunity and by working toward their own solution with the resources available. They do not deny themselves any recourse in standing for principles. Yet, they are unwilling to permit a single issue or set of issues to drive a wedge into their own ranks when presented to the outside world.

It will be a sad day when community leaders are not subject to challenge by their constituents, and no better when such challenges are permitted to jeopardize the welfare of an entire community in favor of "foreign" interests.

STATE GUARD OFFICERS—Capt. Bob Littlefield, in drivers seat, commander of the service company here, and Lt. H. M. Lomax, battalion transportation officer, are two of the commissioned officers already attached to the new Texas State Guard unit being formed here. The jeep is part of the equipment which has been assigned to the Snyder company.

State Guard Forming

Three officers and six enlisted men now compose the nucleus of a Texas State Guard unit being organized here.

The service company in Snyder, which will be composed of 35 men and five officers, will function as a part of the 401st Military Police Battalion with headquarters in Abilene.

Capt. Bob Littlefield is commanding officer of the company in Snyder. Other officers now working toward establishing the unit are Lt. Walter Littlefield, battalion maintenance officer, and Lt. H. M. Lomax, battalion transportation officer.

The unit here meets on the third Tuesday night of each month while the battalion meets in Abilene on the third Thursday of each month.

REFERENDUM THURSDAY

Allotments For Wheat Are Set

Official notices of farm allotments for the 1961 wheat crop have been mailed to farmers, according to Roy Hanson of the Scurry County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

Most of the allotments differ only slightly from 1960 crop allotments, since the national acreage allotment remains at the minimum 55 billion acres which has been in effect for the past 6 years. The farm allotments are based primarily on past wheat production history.

The office manager points out that all growers who will produce more than 15 acres of wheat or grain in 1961 will be eligible to cast ballots in the July referendum on marketing quotas for the 1961 wheat crop. Growers who will have smaller acreages and those who are taking part in the feed wheat program are not eligible to cast ballots, since the wheat from such farms would not be subject to marketing quotas.

Youth Group Prays While Trial Goes On

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A church youth group has launched a round-the-clock prayer marathon during a trial testing the constitutionality of Florida's law which requires reading of the Bible in public schools.

Thirty members of the Shenandoah Presbyterian Church are taking one-hour shifts reading the Bible while the trial, expected to be carried to the U.S. Supreme Court, progresses.

Circuit Judge J. Fritz Gordon is presiding over trial of two companion suits, one brought by a self-styled agnostic and the other by a group of Jewish leaders and a Unitarian.

An overflow crowd Monday, including white-shirted Bible-reading boys from a Baptist church, forced transfer of the trial to a larger courtroom.

Harlow Chamberlin, a radio advertising salesman who describes himself as an agnostic, is backed in his suit by the Florida Civil Liberties Union. Webster's Dictionary defines agnostic as "one who subscribes to the doctrine that the existence and nature of God are unknown and unknowable."

Three Jewish parents and a Unitarian woman filed a companion suit seeking to prohibit religious activities in schools, including Bible reading, recitations, prayers, and observance of Christmas, Easter, Hanukkah and other religious holidays.

Anderson Boomed As Veep Nominee

—SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—A Texas Republican says a new underdog to name Secretary of the Treasury Hubert H. Anderson as the GOP vice presidential nominee at the party's convention in Chicago next week.

Edwin E. Moore, the 1966 GOP gubernatorial candidate, said in an interview Monday that the native Texan's stock has been soaring since the Democrats named Sen. Frank B. Rowland, D-Ill., as their vice presidential pick.

U. S. Reluctant To Talk Recess

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials today viewed with reluctance proposals by the Soviet Union and Britain for a recess in the prolonged Geneva talks on an atomic test ban.

The Soviet and the British representatives were reported seeking a recess starting Aug. 15. How long the recess might be was not disclosed.

The three-power conference has been under way since November 1967, with time-out for various recesses, and has made some progress toward an agreement. It is the only negotiation still in progress between the Soviet Union and the United States in the aftermath of the summit conference in May.

Paroled Convict Entering Seminary

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—When Bill Sparks, 35, went to prison last October for fraudulent conversion, his self-image was shattered. He was shocked. He felt dead. He was almost agnostic.

But Monday when the Purple Heart Army veteran came out on parole he was walking "a new road." In his own words, he had found a new life in prison.

Bill Sparks was paroled from an 11½ to 23-month sentence to enroll at the Princeton Theological Seminary in Princeton, N.J.

Dean Elmer G. Hornigshausen of the seminary wrote the court: "This is our first experience with a man with such a background. We are most eager to do everything we possibly can to help Mr. Sparks to rehabilitate himself in society after this trying experience. We are also impressed with his potentialities."

Judge Leo Weinrott commented: "I think that maybe this is one of those storybook tales where someone has really surmounted a real heavy burden and shows the intestinal fortitude to come through."

In an interview today, Sparks freely admitted he had made a mistake. He also explained why he turned to religion.

"I felt the need for something better than the bad times before," he said. "In search of this religion seemed to be the answer."

"But it was gradual. The counseling I received from the Rev. Richard S. Armstrong, pastor of the Oak Lane Presbyterian Church, was the thing that made it unfold."

"When I first entered prison I was bitter, depressed. I felt small and unimportant. Mostly because there was nothing else to do. I began to read and think in business you don't have much time to do this."

Sparks will serve as assistant to the Rev. Mr. Armstrong at the Oak Lane Church on weekends as part of his seminary field work. The church has offered to provide some backing for him, too.

Sparks, who graduated from Temple University, is married, and has two children, William, 5, and Sarah, 6. His wife teaches school in the Princeton area.

Daily Crude Flow Drops

TULSA (AP)—U.S. oil production declined last week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Production averaged 6,812,275 barrels daily, off 16,720 from the previous week. The total for the year was 1,390,273,200 barrels, compared with 1,410,872,400 for 1969.

Oklahoma production was off 12,800 to 304,300 barrels per day. Arkansas was up 50 to 78,650; Colorado up 1,700 to 128,500; and Louisiana up 150 to 1,962,900 daily.

Unchanged were Texas at 2,434,000 barrels per day, and New Mexico at 291,000.

Bobby Hull of Chicago and Bronco Horvath of Boston scored 29 goals each during the National Hockey League season. Hull led in points, 81 to 80.

He explained that while in the real estate business in 1966 he did it because he was anti-social, misappropriated about $50,000 out and aggressive. Later, he too and he hopes to accomplish worth of funds based on the in said, he realized he had used poor, that somehow.

Poultrymen In Session

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Pretty Memphis State University coeds passed out some 10,000 hard-boiled eggs today as the 4,000 members of the American Poultry Congress and Exposition gathered for their 44th annual convention.

Top item for consideration by the APCE is the problem of decline in egg consumption, down 3,600,000,000 last year.

The congress, sponsored by the American Poultry and Hatchery Federation, gives several reasons for the drop in egg eating. People get up too late to eat, they say, and some wives no longer get breakfast for their husbands.

To keep housewives from getting a guilt complex, egg men have produced new and easy methods of serving eggs. For example, frozen eggs in a metal foil package. Just plunk the package in the toaster.
