Persons with small acreage, living in/or near the city limits could possible qualify for the agricultural applications.

If you have a question concerning this or any other exemptions, please call the school tax office at 983-2144.

Deadlines on all exemptions may be extended up to 60 days if good cause is shown.

Census Questionnaires Flooding Mail Boxes

Returning 1980 census questionnaires are flooding the mail boxes of the Census Bureau's district offices, according to the local district manager, Mitzi Jordon.

The "mail-back" method, historically a relatively new census-taking technique, will save taxpayers at least $180 million if all households that were asked to do so return properly completed questionnaires by mail.

Census takers will have to go out looking for any questionnaires that do not come back within a reasonable time. Those who forgot to drop their filled-out questionnaires in the mail on Tuesday can still save tax money and the time they will otherwise have to spend when the census taker calls by mailing them now.

Another time and money saver is to make sure all questions that apply to the household members and to the house have been answered. Referring to the yellow instruction guide enclosed with the questionnaire will be helpful, but if you're still puzzled, call the census assistance telephone number which is printed on the address label of your questionnaire. Operators are standing by to help you.

"Each of us has a substantial stake in making the population count complete," the manager said. "There have been significant changes in this area since the last nationwide population count in 1970, and this is our chance to bring the record up to date. It is vitally important for several reasons.

"First, census results determine our representation in government at all levels. From the U.S. House of Representatives, State, county, and city governments right down to the local school board, seats in elected governing bodies are apportioned according to census population figures."

There is no good reason for any of us to leave ourselves out of the census, the manager stressed. Answers provided to the Census Bureau cannot be used to embarrass or harm any individual, family or household in any way at all. No other government agency, no organization public or private, and no other individual can find out what is on a particular 1980 questionnaire. "Everybody in the United States has the right to count," the manager added, "but to count, you must be counted."

So says the VA...

Vietnam Era Veterans make such good employees that the Veterans Administration hired 3,800 more of them last year than it had in 1978.

VA chief Max Cleland said today that as 1980 began the agency counted 40,473 Vietnam Era veterans among its 230,538 employees. They outnumber veterans of any other war on VA payrolls.

"It's not only appropriate—because VA has taken the lead in urging private enterprise to hire Vietnam Era veterans—but it's just plain good business," Cleland said.

And he cited another plus:

"Having them a VA assures more empathy within the agency for the needs and problems of Vietnam Era veterans who need our assistance."

The VA chief, a severely disabled veteran of the Vietnam conflict, gives major credit for the high level of employment of this group of veterans to effective use of the Veterans Readjustment Authority.

This is a program that permits federal agencies to hire certain Vietnam Era veterans without going through the regular civil service competitive employment process.

In Fiscal Year 1979, for example, VRA accounted for nearly half of the new Vietnam Era veterans hired by the agency.

Since the enactment of the VRA in 1979, VA has used it to employ 53,662 veterans, more than a third of the total for all federal agencies.

The VRA program is open to veterans whose military service was between August 5, 1964, and May 7, 1975, the official dates marking the beginning and end of the Vietnam Era.

In total, VA has 85,831 veterans of all wars on its rolls.

Letters To The Editor

April 3, 1980

To the editor and all the wonderful friends there, especially to the Earl Bishops:

I have known the Bishops as long as I can remember. They were neighbors in Mt. Blanco Community when I was a small child. I grew up with and around their children. I always wanted to be as big and good looking as Davis. I never made it.

I remember my mother saying when she heard that Lula May was marrying Riley, "I hope he's worthy of her." HE WAS. Dink was a good neighbor for many years. He was a model referred to many times, like, "Dink Bishop would not do that," or, "Dink Bishop would do this or that."

I remember when the Powells moved in next door (1 mile away) to us. "Look out all you girls." Sure enough, three of those boys married three of

Clear Up 'Fog' Between Sliding-Door Panes

Clear Up 'Fog' Between Sliding-Door Panes

Do-it-yourselfers can remedy "fog" between the two panes of double-glazed sliding glass doors.

Usually, dead air space between the two panes of glass serves to insulate the glass area and the home against heat loss and heat gain.

However, prefabricated double-glazed doors are subject to condensation between the two panes of glass.

The most common type of double-glazed door is two panes of glass seperated by a hollow aluminum mullion.

Usually the mullion is filled with a desicant, such as silicagel granules so air between the panes in continuously dried.

Problems with condensation generally occur after long-time use of the unit. Breaking of the seal causes the desicant to become waterlogged and condensation forms between the panes of glass.

Do-it-yourselfers can correct the problem for the cost of a tube of sealant and about two hours of actual labor.

Solving the probelm involves taking the unit apart, drying out the silica granules and putting the unit back together with new sealant.

Follow these steps:

First, remove screen and then the sliding section of the door by turning screws to relieve tension on rollers.

Pry the door up and, with a helper, lift the heavy panel out. Place on a flat surface resting the unit on the metal edges rather than the glass. Remove metal edging from the sides, top and b

Individualized Treatments

Pat Walker has recognized for years the importance of individualized programs. Your needs and your neighbor's needs may be very different. The first step in any Pat Walker program is a free figure analysis to determine exactly what kind of program you need and to tell you exactly what it will cost.

Positive Motivation

An important part of any figure program is motivation. If you are self-motivated enough to start, our counselors are experts in keeping you resolved to succeed . . . because most of us have used the Pat Walker method to overcome our own figure problems. Many of our successful patrons decide to make a career out of helping others "lose weight and lose it like a lady."

Juanita Weaver of Houston was so delighted with her Pat Walker Figure Perfection treatments that she soon brought along her daughter, Pam and later her mother, Mrs. Mildred Wells. After a few months, we took this picture of a very happy grandmother, mother and daughter. Mrs. Wells lost 34¼ inches and 23 pounds. Juanita lost 25 inches and over 15 pounds. Pam lost 19 inches and 15 pounds. They all look just great. It's not a question of age. Anyone can look younger and more beautiful with the Pat Walker method.

Clements Proclaims April Cancer Control Month In Texas

Governor William P. Clements has proclaimed April Cancer Control Month in Texas. Governor Clements met at the capitol with Dr. Jim C. Terrell, Jr. of Stephenville, state President of the Texas Division, American Cancer Society and Dr. James R. Walker, an ASCS cancer research scientist from the University Of Texas at Austin.

In an Executive statement the Governor urged all Texans to heed the lifesaving messages of the American Cancer Society and to provide generous support for its 1980 Crusade.

Dr. Walker is one of 40 American Cancer Society researchers doing work in Texas. Over $4.4 million of ACS research grants are currently in effect at 11 Texas institutions. In accepting the Proclamation Dr. Terrell announced that the chairman of the Division Crusade Committee, Mrs. James (Juandelle) Lacy of Midland, had recently made a $27,500 contribution toward one of those research projects; a new anti-tumor substance known as Interferon. Mr. and Mrs. Lacy have also announced a special statewide campaign to raise an additional $2 million for research on the promising drug. According to Dr. Terrell the National Society has already committed over $5.4 million toward Interferon research; some of which is being carried out at M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston.

Funds given to the American Cancer Society are used to support its three-part program of Research, Service to cancer patients and Education. 29,536 patients were given assistance such as sickroom equipment loans, transportation, blood, rehabilitation and counseling last year. 2.8 million Texans attended ACS Public Education programs; including 580,000 who participated in "Actions" programs, such as Stop Smoking programs, free cancer screening clinics and personal instruction in Breast Self Examination. The fund raising goal of the Texas Division for 1979-80 is $7,000,000.

Veterans Administration News

...risoners of war ...held in captivity for ...or more are now ...any dental care ...essary by the Veterans Administration.

Also eligible are certain veterans whose service-connected disabilities are permanently rated at 100 percent.

Veterans who believe they may qualify for the expanded dental benefits should contact the VA health care facility nearest their place of residence for applications and assistance.

Dental treatment for former prisoners of war was previously limited to dental problems rated as service connected. The new legislation--Public Law 96-22--distinguishes between former POWs held captive for less than six months, and those who were prisoners for six months or more.

Short term prisoners are presumed not to have suffered irreparable dental damage while those held prisoner for six months or more are considered to have suffered such damage.

For this reason they are now eligible for any dental care, as determined necessary by VA, on an unlimited treatment basis.

Under certain conditions, veterans living in localities remote from VA health care facilities may be authorized treatment by private dentists.

ATTIC FANS

Cooler attics mean cooler houses.

An attic-ventilating fan installed near the roof peak -- with air intakes in the eaves or in the gable sidewall -- will reduce attic temperatures and ultimately the interior of the home, says Sue Young, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Pay Taxes Due But Not In Cash

When paying your Federal income tax, send either a personal check or money order, but never cash, the Internal Revenue Service warned. Using a check or money order is safer from two standpoints, the IRS explained. First, a check or money order is harder to steal; second, the cancelled check or money order will serve as a record that the payment was made.

The IRS advised taxpayers to put their social security number on the check or money order directly below the signature. That way the taxpayer will be certain to get credit for the payment should the check or money order by detached from the return.

The IRS noted that no matter what type of check is used, the tax is not considered paid until the draft is honored by the bank in which it is drawn.

Wrong Social Security Numbers Delay Refunds, Says IRS

Tax refunds can be delayed by incorrect social security numbers and inaccurate addresses, the Internal Revenue Service warned.

To guard against unnecessary refund delays, the IRS encourages taxpayers to use the peeloff identification label provided with the tax package. The label is preprinted with the taxpayer's name, address, and social security number, and needs only to be affixed to the tax return before it is mailed, according to the IRS.

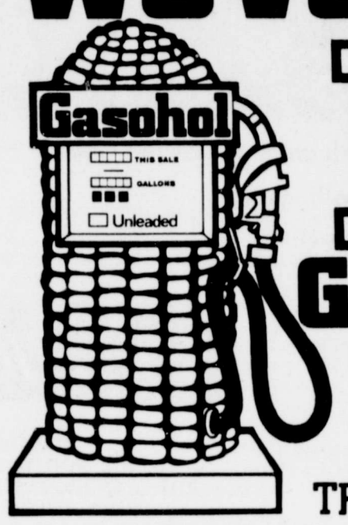

The IRS reminded taxpayers to check the information on the label before using it, however, to be sure all information is correct. Any changes should be made in ink on the label itself.

The IRS reminded those persons who changed their names last year to report the new name to their local Social Security Administration office. This insures that the new name will be assigned to the proper social security number.

Clements Urges Congress To Overturn Action

Elimination of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA), as proposed by the Budget Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives, would kill the program which currently provides $620,678 for 23 ongoing project grants to support criminal justice agencies in Congressman Charles Stenholm's 17th Congressional District of Texas, Governor Bill Clements said today.

"It is my philosophy that the primary function of government is to protect the lives and property of our citizens. Unfortunately, this congressional action threatens the successful continuation of this function throughout Texas," the Governor said.

In urging members of Congress to overturn the committee's action, Govenor Clements pointed out that there are noe 687 ongoing LEAA grants in the State, totaling $37,159,273, involving law enforcement, courts, corrections and juvenile projects.

Since the inception of the LEAA grant program, nearly 7,000 grants totaling $333.7 million have been disbursed to local and State criminal justice agencies throughout Texas.

The Govenor said an unprecedented non-partisan colition is working for the restoration of the LEAA program. The coalition includes Chief Justice Joe Greenhill, Supreme Court of Texas; Presiding Judge John F. Onion, Jr., Court of Criminal Appeals; Colonel Jim Adams, Department of Public Safety; Dr. Jarvis Miller, President of Texas A&M University; Chancellor Allen Commander, Acting Chancellor of the University of Houston, Downtown College; the State Bar of Texas; Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association; chiefs of police; sheriffs; prosecutors; adult and juvenile probation officers; citizens crime prevention groups including the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs; and many others.

"Every city and county in our State -- in fact every Texan who wants effective law enforcement -- will be adversely affected if the Congress elinimates LEAA. At a time when crime is rapidly increasing because of rising inflation and unemployment, we should be increasing our defense against the criminal elements, not stripping it of needed financial resources," Governor Clements said.

"At our State level, I am strongly advocating additional State funding for the Department of Public Safety and for increases in the number of DPS personnel with an improved salary scale. We need to upgrade our law enforcement capabilities, not cut them back," the Governor said.

"LEAA grants are used to meet local needs and are being employed to improve the entire criminal justice system. Congress must not destroy a program that is vital to defend the people of Texas against the onslaught of crime and drug trafficking."

Social Security Fraud Continues

A Hammond, Louisiana woman was sentenced in Federal Court March 27 on a charge of defrauding the Social Security Administration, according to Ray Purcell, manager of the Plainview Social Security Office.

Purcell said Irma Jean Sexton, 24 was sentenced in U.S. District Court, New Orleans, to service six months in confinement.

Sexton plead guilty in February 15 to a charge that she falsely stated to the social security administration that she was a fulltime student in order to continue to receive social security benefits, Purcell stated.

Purcell said the Sexton case was developed by a unit of full-time investigators who are assigned the job of uncovering social security fraud in the five-state Dallas region.

DRIVELINE

Believe It Or Not! In Tennessee it is illegal to drive a car while asleep . . . In Lille, France, it is against the law to carry a certain kind of cheese into a taxicab. The English translation of the cheese's name, "The Old Stinker," explains why!

PERPLEXED ABOUT BRIDGES. "What is the law in Texas about passing on a bridge that has two way traffic?"
—S.C., Vernon

It is illegal to pass when you are approaching a bridge and are within 100 feet of it. However, once you are on the bridge you can pass, provided there is no double stripe down the middle of the road.

Maybe we could replace gasoline with jackrabbits on treadmills. Our old West Texas buddy (Actually dubbed the Lepus californicus by scientists) can accelerate from zero to 40 mph in three seconds. Economical to operate, too . . .
