9,600-Mile Trip Sets B-36 Record

FORT WORTH—(P)—A crippled B-36 superbomber landed at Carswell Air Base here Saturday with a new distance record for the giant planes.

The great silver ship, with two of its six pusher-type engines dead, touched earth after a 9,600-mile non-stop, non-refueling flight over the nation. For 5,000 of those 9,600 miles, the '36 toted 10,000 pounds of bombs.

Two propellers were motionless as the superbomber came in for a gentle landing. It had been airborne 43 hours and 37 minutes since roaring away from Carswell at 12:30 p. m. Thursday. The sensational flight topped by 687 miles the former B-36 record distance flight last December 6-7, a dramatic hop from Fort Worth to Honolulu and return, which ended on Pearl Harbor Day.

Carswell Base announced that the plane had two more hours of fuel left when it landed. Maj. John D. Bartlett, project officer for B-36 training for the 7th Bombardment Wing of the 8th Air Force, ordered the plane down because two engines had failed and weather was closing in on the field.

The route of the bomber took it northward over Minneapolis; westward to Great Falls, Mont.; southward across the nation to Key West, Fla., where President Truman is vacationing.

The '36, big as three five-room houses, dropped its tremendous load in the Gulf of Mexico at 1:15 p. m. Friday.

Viscera Of McCamey Man To Be Analyzed

FORT WORTH—(P)—The viscera of Sylvester Bagley, 37, of McCamey, whose body was found in a pasture south of Odessa Friday, was sent Saturday to a laboratory for chemical analysis.

The Star-Telegram was informed Bagley had bought a ticket for Crane at 3 a. m. Friday.

Editor County Attorney W. O. Shaffer said there was no explanation of the presence of Bagley's body in the field, half a mile from the nearest road to Odessa.

Truman Asks Compromise On Filibuster

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman Saturday night signalled for a settlement of the Senate filibuster.

The 12-day talkathon may be at an end. With his legislative program at an absolute standstill in the Senate, Truman gave his blessing to a conference called for Sunday to work out a compromise.

Any agreement would mean an end to his fight to smash the filibuster.

The Administration had lost in a test vote. Its only weapon left is to try to wear out the Southerners while vital bills gather dust.

Truman talked to his Senate lieutenants from Key West, Fla., where he is vacationing. Senator McGrath (D-R) reported the President is "agreeable to anything that will work out a solution."

The Senate recessed abruptly at 7:51 p. m. in the midst of a night session when it was announced a solution was to be attempted. Leaders of Administration Democrats, Southern Democrats and Republicans will be in on the Sunday huddle.

Majority Leader Lucas (D-Ill) told the Senate these groups expected to work out a settlement.

This would head off round-the-clock sessions which he had threatened to start Monday to break the filibuster.

Southerners Win Test Lucas and the Administration tried a parliamentary short-out and got locked Friday night by a smacking 46 to 41 vote. In the view of many lawmakers, this doomed not only the proposed rules change but the civil rights program as well.

Joined by 16 other Democrats and 16 Republicans, Lucas had filed a letter (debate limiting) petition. Vice President Barkley, who presides over the Senate, held the petition in order. Pending before the Senate was the motion to take up the rules change proposal.

The question before Barkley: Can the Senate apply cloture to a motion? He said yes.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), quarter-backing the Southern group, appealed from Barkley's ruling. The Senate overruled the vice president 46 to 41. Twenty-three Republicans and 23 Democrats voted to override.

Walter S. Hallanan, Plymouth President, Is Midland Visitor

Walter S. Hallanan of Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the Plymouth Oil Company, was a Midland visitor Saturday.

He came here in the company's twin-engine Lockheed Lodestar which carries the name, "The Wildcatter," following an inspection of Plymouth's properties in the Benedum field in Upton and Reagan Counties and the Susan Peak field in Southeast Tom Green County, which recently was opened by Hallanan's company.

W. M. (Mike) Griffith of Sinton, vice president and general manager of Plymouth's operations in Texas, accompanied Hallanan to Midland.

W. D. (Bill) Lane of Midland, general superintendent of the company's West Texas district took the visitors on the tour through the Benedum and Susan Peak fields.

Optimistic For Future Hallanan, chairman of the National Petroleum Council, is optimistic regarding the future of the oil industry in the Permian Basin.

He said he and his associates in Plymouth are well pleased with the way the Benedum field is developing and with the success of other (Continued on page 13)

Bitter Cold Wave Heads For Broad Midcontinent Area

By The Associated Press Snow flurries, cold air, and strong northerly winds swept into Montana from Canada Saturday night. It headed toward a broad area of the midcontinent.

By Sunday night the air mass was expected to overspread Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Kansas, Northern and Western Oklahoma, Eastern Wyoming and Colorado, South and North Dakota, and Eastern Montana.

Temperatures were expected to drop to from zero to five above Saturday night in Northwestern North Dakota and Northern Minnesota, to zero in Northwestern Minnesota, to 15 in Nebraska and to the middle 20's in Kansas.

The cold air will be accompanied by snows in Nebraska, most of Kansas and Eastern Wyoming, and snow flurries in Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas and the Colorado Mountains.

Discuss Cloture Motion

(NEA Telephone)

Senator Scott Lucas, left, Democratic Senate leader, and J. Howard McGrath, Democratic National Committee chairman, talk over Senator Lucas' cloture motion, a Democratic effort to stop current Senate filibuster. In an historic decision, Vice President Barkley ruled that a two-thirds vote may limit debate. His ruling was appealed by Senator Russell of Georgia, but Barkley was not upheld by a simple majority of the Senate.

Apartment Permits Push 1949 Building Past Million Mark

Building permits for three large apartment houses, totaling $240,000, were issued during the week ended Saturday, to help hike the 1949 Midland construction figure over the million-dollar mark.

Total building permits of the week amounted to $312,050 to establish the year figure at $1,008,900.

Midland Apartments, a firm, received two permits, each $90,000, total $180,000, for two brick veneer, 12-unit apartment houses in the 600 block on Watson Street in the Crestlawn Addition. Size of each will be 30 by 136 feet. Each will contain two floors.

D. A. McClachy received a permit for $15,000 alteration to a brick business structure at 515 West Texas Street. Size is 60 by 100 feet.

A permit for $11,000 was received by J. C. Hall to build a brick veneer residence with detached garage at 1700 West Louisiana Street. Size will be 49 by 35 feet.

Floyd Pace took a $10,000 permit to build a brick veneer residence with detached garage at 1901 West Ohio Street, size 35 by 53 feet.

Other permits of the week included: John Blomlingdale, $8,700, pump stone residence at 309 West Oak Street, size 29 by 40 feet; E. P. (Continued on page 7)

Slightly Cooler Is Forecast For Sunday

By The Associated Press Temperatures were moderately high over all of Texas Saturday, but somewhat cooler weather is expected in West and North Texas Sunday.

All of the state was cloudy. Light showers fell Saturday afternoon in Victoria and Austin.

Temperature readings generally were in the 70's except in the Panhandle, where they were in the 60's. Laredo, in the Rio Grande Valley, reported 68 degrees.

Ho Ying-Chen Is New Chinese Premier

NANKING—(AP)—Gen. Ho Ying-Chen got legislative approval as premier of Nationalist China Saturday.

The 60-year-old friend of Acting Li Tsung-Jen is expected to fly to Nanking from Hangchow Sunday and begin formation of a cabinet.

The government's efforts to arrange peace with the Communists have been stalled by lack of a cabinet since Premier Sun Fo and his Administration resigned Tuesday.

Suspect Is Arrested In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES—(P)—An 18-year-old youth who was befriended by the elderly dean of Texas Christian University's Graduate School was arrested here Saturday on a charge of murdering the educator.

Police Detective E. A. Romero said the young man, Arthur Clayton Hester, made a statement concerning the beating of 70-year-old Dr. John Lord, his guardian, but claimed he did not know Dr. Lord was dead when he fled.

"If he's dead I'm ready to face the music, but I guess I just wasn't in my right mind," Romero quoted Hester, who was arrested as he walked into the East Los Angeles home of his half-sister, Mrs. Anna Goldberry.

Hester told police he will waive extradition proceedings. He was taken to the county jail to await arrival of Texas officers.

Dr. Lord's body was found Thursday in his home near Cleburne, Texas. Hester, who lived with the educator, disappeared last Tuesday.

Police said Hester told them he had frequent arguments with Dr. Lord and that last Tuesday he was refused permission to take his guardian's automobile and go to Fort Worth, 12 miles away from the Post Oak Community where the two lived.

Didn't Know He Was Dead "I told him I was going away," Romero-quoted Hester. "I was pretty excited, I guess, and during the scuffle I picked up a piece of pipe and hit him. But I didn't know he was dead. I thought he was just knocked out. I knew I was in plenty of trouble. I took the car and started west, but I had to abandon the auto at Coahoma because the clutch burned out. I guess I set a record for hitch-hiking, though, because it took me only three rides to get out here."

Police said the youth told them he was in the Texas State Orphan (Continued on page 13)

Rent Control Bill Due For Vote Tuesday

WASHINGTON—(P)—Administration forces hurried around Saturday rallying House Democrats for a showdown on rent controls next Tuesday.

By Saturday night it looked as if they might be able to ram a control bill through without any more major changes.

But there may be a couple more big fights—to turn over controls to local authorities and to extend controls for only 90 days.

Democratic leaders agreed with Republicans that the scraps will be hard and close.

The rent bill the House is tussling with would extend controls 15 months, until June 30, 1950, instead of the 22 months the Administration asked.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the Banking Committee and Rep. Priest (D-Tenn), the party whip, both told reporters "We're over the hump." But like Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.), another Banking Committee member, they said the scrap is a close one.

The control bill would give President Truman some, but not all the power he asked to combat what Rent Director Tigue Woods has called a growing black market in rents.

The House put in a section saying that as far as practicable, rent ceilings shall be set high enough to assure landlords a reasonable return on the reasonable value of their property.

That was one change which both Republicans and Democrats agreed had undermined some of the opposition to the bill.

George Buffington Dies; Rites Sunday

George Earnest Buffington, 61, died at his residence, 506 South Baird Street, late Friday and funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. Sunday in the Southside Church of Christ. J. Woodie Holden will officiate. Interment, under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home, will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Buffington was employed in the construction department of the El Paso Natural Gas Company the last two years and prior to joining that company was employed by the City of Midland and the public schools.

He came to Midland in 1928. Survivors include his widow, three daughters, Mrs. J. T. Robison of Globe, Ariz., and Mrs. Tolly Wilson and Mrs. Pansy Lophore of Midland; three sons, Bill Buffington of Emporia, Kan., W. A. Bell of El Paso and J. O. Buffington of Shreve, Ark. and the following brothers and sisters: B. F. Buffington and D. C. Buffington of Midland; L. M. Buffington, and Luna Buffington of Jal, New Mexico; Mrs. F. O. Blount of Toledo, Texas; Hardean Giltfield of Apache, Okla., and Mrs. C. L. Littlefield of Jal, New Mexico.

Buffington was a native of Quitman, Miss. Pallbearers will be Jack Taylor, Marion Taylor, Truman Whitaker, Thomas Wright, Marvin Douglas, L. W. Taylor, L. M. Freels and Bob Eldson.

Gunman Kills Two, Wounds Another In Attempted Holdup

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—A short, squat gunman Saturday killed two men and shot down a third in a crowded big liquor store.

Men and women shoppers scrambled for exits and clerks fled as the dark-suited negro pumped bullet after bullet at his victims after he was thwarted in a holdup attempt.

Police could find no trace of the gunman who slipped out the door and lost himself in the late afternoon crowds of South Philadelphia.

New All-Purpose Tax Bill To Care For State Money Requests Is In Prospect

By DAVE CHEAVENS AUSTIN—(P)—A new all-purpose tax bill to help span the $80 million dollar canyon between state money requests and available revenue was in prospect Saturday.

It was reliably reported such a measure was being written for early introduction in the House as the first session passed the theoretical mid-way point and faced a heavy schedule of committee work.

Coming before House Committees for public airing were the three Senate-approved Gilmer-Alkin public school bills, controversial labor legislation, and an anti-Communism bill requiring state officers and employees to swear they are not members of that organization.

Hiawatha Stakes Ellenburger Wildcat In Southwest Terry

Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company will start operations in the near future on a wildcat to explore into the Ellenburger in Southwest Terry County, approximately 15 miles southwest of Brownfield.

The prospect will be Hiawatha No. 1, J. W. Robbins, et al. The drilling is to be in the southeast quarter of section 56, block D-14, C&MRR survey.

It is expected that the venture will have to dig to at least 11,000 feet, and possibly may have to go to 12,000 feet to find and test the Ellenburger.

Hiawatha has a block of more than 6,000 acres of leases surrounding the location. This acreage was originally blocked by Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware. It was checked by seismograph, and that survey showed possibilities of a deep structure on the block.

Seaboard turned the acreage to Hiawatha to drill and retained an over-ride.

Drilling with rotary is to start at the deep wildcat in the near future. Exact location will be announced in a few days.

Wadley And Adams Will Venture 5,000 Feet In Tom Green

J. K. Wadley of Texarkana and R. T. Adams of Fort Worth No. 1 J. Wiley Green is to be a 5,000-foot wildcat in Southeast Tom Green County, to test into the Strawn line of the Pennsylvania.

Rotary rig is being moved in for the project and actual drilling will start within the next ten days.

The venture will be 330 feet from north and west lines of section 186, district 11, SPBR survey. That makes it 16 miles southeast of San Angelo, and approximately one mile east of the nearest well in the Susan Peak field, where the production is from the Strawn line.

It is understood that if the Wadley and Adams venture fails to produce from the Strawn that it will be drilled below that formation to test lower horizons.

Adams Drilling Company, of which R. T. Adams is the operator, has the contract to drill the wildcat.

Seaboard, Republic Natural Take Lease In Garza And Kent

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and Republic Natural Gas Company have taken an oil and gas lease on the George Beggs ranch of approximately 38,000 acres in East Garza County and in West Kent County. Beggs lives in Fort Worth.

Consideration for the lease is reported to be the payment of $1.00 per acre to the landowner each year for ten years. No initial bonus payment is called for by the transaction, and no annual rental is included in the deal.

The contract does not carry any drilling obligation.

It is understood that the two companies are equal partners in the deal.

Coleman Palo Pinto Makes Flowing Oil For Mabee Wildcat

Guy Mabee No. 1 Kennedy, West-Central Coleman County wildcat, has discovered a new field from the Palo Pinto line of the Pennsylvania.

This prospect flowed an average of 22 barrels of oil per hour, through open two-inch tubing, with a small shakeout of acid water, for six hours, and is still flowing to clean out and test.

The production is coming from two streaks of pay. The zone at 3,071-76 feet had been treated with 4,000 gallons of acid, and the section at 3,109-14 feet had received a 3,000 gallon acid injection. No formation water has developed. The 8 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 3,015 feet.

Near Talpa.

The new discovery is 660 feet from north and west lines of the south half of F. Owen survey No. 310, and is four miles north of the Leonard field. It is one and three-quarter miles north of Talpa.

Mabee and associates have leases on about 7,000 acres surrounding the new field opener. The spread on which the well was drilled was assembled by Homer E. Ogden of Midland. He retains an interest in the acreage and in the new producer.

The wildcat indicated that it will also produce from the Gardner sand section above the Palo Pinto. No information has been released regarding any tests that may have been made on that formation.

Pennsylvanian Flows For Benedum Test

Attempts at Pennsylvanian production were being made by Republic Natural Gas Company No. 1-E

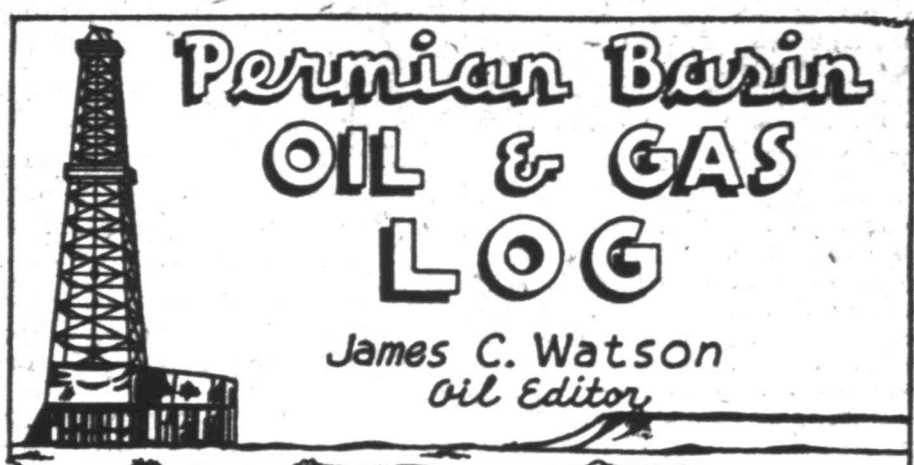

McGinty-Stephens Abstract Company

Microfilm Abstract Service

YOAKUM COUNTY

D. B. McGinty
L. Dene Stephens

Barnett, in the Benedum area of East-Central Upton County, 660 feet east and north from the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 3, block Y, GC&SF survey.

Total depth was 10,377 feet. Plug-back depth was 10,237 feet. The well kicked off and began flowing to pits, averaging one barrel of oil per hour. Gas volume was 2,000,000 cubic feet per day. Testing was continuing.

Richardson & Bass To Start Core In Upton

Richardson & Bass No. 1 Neal, et al, an outpost to a Pennsylvanian discovery in East-Central Upton County, was drilling ahead from 10,284 feet in Pennsylvanian lime and shale. Operator was to start coring around 10,300 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 8, block Y, GC&SF survey.

The pay section at 4,872-5,021 feet was previously treated with 14,000 gallons of acid.

Texaco Injects Acid In Andrews Devonian

The Texas Company was swabbing the West-Central Andrews County Devonian with its No. 1-W State, wildcat one and one-half mile north of the West Parker-Devonian field.

Bottomed on 8,450 feet, the venture perforated the section of pipe at 8,310-58 feet. Those perforations were washed with 500 gallons of mud acid. Operator was swabbing water and acid residue on last report.

This prospect is 965 feet from east and 662.8 feet from south lines of the north half of section 35, block 12, University survey.

Sterling Prospector scheduled For DST

A drillstem test was scheduled for an American Production Company and Taylor Refining Company No. 2 R. W. Foster, Southeast Sterling County wildcat to the southwest of the Marvin-Wickita-Albany field.

The examination was to be on the formation at 4,414-29 feet, which showed staining and slight saturation when penetrated.

This prospect is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 10, block 13, SPBR survey, about nine miles southwest of Sterling City.

Plymouth Oil Company No. 2 J. Wiley Green, third producer in the Susan Peak-Strawn field of Southeast Tom Green County, was flowing natural to clean out and test. It was averaging 12 barrels of oil per hour at last report.

Through perforations at 4,760-80 feet, the well kicked off and began flowing through 2-inch tubing. It was continuing.

This venture drilled to granite at 5,657 feet, then reduced hole to try developing shows in the Strawn-Pennsylvanian.

It is a one-location southeast extension to the pool and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 2, HE&WT survey.

Devonian Is Left By Yoakum Prospector

Possibilities of a Devonian discovery in the shallow Wasson field of Southwest Yoakum County have been abandoned by Fikes & Murchison as they investigate back their No. 17-C Elliott to investigate the San Andres-Permian, regular pay-in the field.

Total depth is 11,205 feet in granite. The venture has been making extended tests of the Devonian on 7,776 feet. Operator has now reduced hole to 5,940 feet with 41 sacks of cement. The project was waiting for the cement job to cure before undertaking further testing.

Location is 1,812 feet from south and 1,070 feet from east lines of section 632, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

Humble To Set Pipe And Test In Bronte

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Ash, one-half mile south extension to the Bronte-Palo Pinto field in Central-East-Coke County, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 453, block 1-A, H&T&O survey, is preparing to run 5 1/2-inch casing to start completion tests.

This project found free oil between 4,330 feet and 4,379 feet. Informal observers think that zone will produce sufficient petroleum to make a commercial well.

The venture ran a drillstem test at 4,379-4,449 feet, with the tool open for two hours. Gas showed at the surface in 12 minutes. The drill pipe started heading out oil and gas in 55 minutes. The flow died after 15 minutes. Recovery was 180 feet of heavily oil and

Lee Harrison Field Has New Producer

A commercial oil well has been completed in the Lee Harrison field, formerly called the Lubbock field, of Central Lubbock County.

It is Tube Foster, et al, No. 2-B Nairn, 330 feet from west and south lines of the lease in section 25, block A, Gibson survey.

On a 24-hour potential test, the well pumped 24 hours to make 117.05 barrels of oil, with gas-oil ratio of 400-1. Gravity of the petroleum was 25 degrees. The total fluid recovered was cut three per cent water.

The pay section at 4,872-5,021 feet was previously treated with 14,000 gallons of acid.

Wildcat Projected To Explore McKee And Permian In Lea

HOBBES, N.M.—Locations for a wildcat to go to 9,000 feet to explore McKee and Permian in the Simpson-Ordovician in Central-East Lea County, and for one to test into the San Andres-Permian, to around 4,100 feet, in Central-West Lea County, were reported Saturday.

Continental Oil Company, et al, No. 1-A-29 Warren unit is to be the 9,000-foot venture. It is located 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 29-206-36.

That puts it one quarter of a mile northwest of the same operators' recently completed discovery from the McKee to open the Warren field. That well had a heavy, natural flow from the sand pay above 9,000 feet.

Between Hobbs, Eunice.

This region is about midway between Hobbs and Eunice. Operations on the new development are to start immediately.

Edna M. Elliott, et al, No. 1 Phillips State is the 4,100-foot project in West-Central Lea County. It is located 660 feet from south and west lines of section 16-175-33e. The venture had spudded at last report, and had reached 233 feet, and was making more hole.

Edna M. Elliott, et al, No. 1 Federal-Keltnath, wildcat in East-Central Lea County, about six miles northeast of Eunice, appears to have definitely proven a discovery from the Wichita-Albany zone of the lower Permian, and is due to take official potential test and complete in the near future.

Flows Commercial Amounts.

This venture, located 1,980 feet from north and 1,855 feet from west lines of section 8-215-38e, had flowed at the rate of from 100 barrels to 120 barrels of oil per day, through a one-half inch tubing choke, from pay section between 7,940-7,463 feet.

That zone had been treated with acid, butane and with kerosene.

This development drilled to a total depth of 9,954 feet in granite. After it failed to produce in the lower formation, it was abandoned as a dry hole. Later it was taken over by the present operators, and cleaned out and tested, and the flowing production has resulted.

Amerada Petroleum Company No. 2-D State, wildcat adjacent to production from the Paddock line of the middle Permian in Eunice-Monument field in East-Central Lea County, and 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 1-206-36e, was bottomed at 7,877 feet in lower Permian lime, and was drilling out cement on a string of 5 1/2-inch casing which had been set at 6,942 feet.

To Test Open Hole.

The section, left uncased, has shown indications of possible production, and operator is likely preparing to make production tests on that interval.

Amerada No. 1-BTA State, deep wildcat in North 25 Lea County, 15 miles west and slightly north of Tatum, and 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 2-125-33e, had reached 9,537 feet in lime and was making more hole. It is to continue to 10,500 feet, unless it finds and explores the Devonian above that point.

This project has already proven for the discovery of flowing production of around 65 barrels of oil per hour from the section in the lower Permian, between 8,992 and 9,056 feet. The horizon at 9,056 feet to 9,172 feet showed only salt water.

May Plug Back.

If no better shows for production are this developed, in the time it reaches 12,500 feet, operator will probably plug back and complete from the pay which has already been developed.

In Southeast Chaves County, Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Levick, stepout from the southwest side of the Caprock field, and 660 feet from north and 661 feet from east lines of section 14-135-31e, was bottomed at 3,078 feet, in the Caprock sand, and was in the course of completion.

The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 3,017 feet. The project swabbed 41 barrels of oil in four hours after the shot at 3,048-78 feet, had been pay with 40 quarts of nitro glycerine.

The extender will be completed as a pump.

Wildcats Make Hole.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-X Crosby-BHU, in West-Central El Paso County, about 75 miles west of Carlsbad, and 660 feet from north and 661 feet from east lines of section 23-215-22e, had reached 2,356 feet in dry, brown lime, and was making more hole.

West of Hobbs Field.

Phillips Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Leonard-Federal, in extreme Southeast Lea County, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 11-206-37e, was drilling below 7,770 feet in lime.

Shaholind No. 1 South Mattix unit, Permian discovery in Southeast Lea County, and located 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 15-245-37e, had reached 8,380 feet in lime and was boring ahead.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 McCormick, wildcat in Lea County, located 660 feet from south and west lines of section 18-255-35e, had progressed past 6,003 feet in sand and shale and was continuing.

West of Hobbs Field.

Phillips No. 1 Shipp, three miles west of the northwest side of the Hobbs field, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 20-125-37e, had progressed past 11,413 feet in Permian lime and was continuing to make hole.

Amerada No. 1 Hamilton, ten miles east of the Lovington pool, and 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 25-135-35e, was making hole below 11,895 feet in lime and shale.

Amerada No. 1-CA State, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 2-106-36e, and three miles south of the Crossroads field, was drilling below 10,365 feet in lime and green shale.

Magnolia No. 1 Betenbaugh, five miles northwest of the Crossroads field and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 19-35-35e, had reached 1,290 feet in lime and was boring ahead.

Magnolia No. 1 Cox-Federal, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 1-106-36e, and three miles south of the Crossroads field, was drilling below 10,365 feet in lime and green shale.

Magnolia No. 1 Betenbaugh, five miles northwest of the Crossroads field and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 19-35-35e, had reached 1,290 feet in lime and was boring ahead.

Area Teachers To Meet At Lubbock

LUBBOCK—Approximately 2,500 teachers and administrators of public schools in Texas District IV of the West Texas Teachers' association have pre-registered for attendance at the annual Spring conference Thursday and Friday in Lubbock.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education at Texas Technological College and president of the 1949 conference, said the theme of the meeting, "Education as a Joint Enterprise," will be presented in a number of section meetings and general sessions. Opportunity for study of individual school problems will be possible in group meetings.

Other conference officers are: W. A. Miller, Odessa, vice president; D. A. Edwards, Crosbyton, treasurer; Mrs. W. O. Low, Big Spring, secretary; I. T. Graves, Floydada, membership chairman; and Floyd Honey, Lubbock, retiring president.

Anniversary Event Set By NTSC Exes

DeWayne Davis, president of the Midland North Texas State College Ex-Student Association, has been asked by L. Millard Collins, executive of the state association, to formulate plans for a North Texas day celebration March 31, 50th anniversary of NTSC.

The Legislature, on March 31, 1899, designated the old Normal College at Denton a state school, the institution becoming North Texas State College. Ex-students are attempting to establish March 31 as North Texas Day to be observed each year.

Dedication of the new Memorial Student Union Building will feature the anniversary day observance at the college, Davis said. He said a special session of the Midland unit likely will be held that day.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP—Tax Experts Sharpen Pencils For Crude Oil Output Slash

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON—(P)—This business of slashing crude oil products has tax experts sharpening pencils.

Domestic crude output has been cut 453,950 barrels daily since mid-December. Each slash forces state officials to revise anticipated petroleum income tax figures.

It is so serious in Texas that Governor Beauford Jester has said the State Legislature may have to levy new taxes for general revenue.

Texas' situation is more serious than in other oil producing areas in that the state accounts for 332,600 barrels of the national daily decline. The state's January 1 estimate that $318,000,000 would be available for general revenue spending has been reduced to $296,000,000.

Chances are the Texas Railroad Commission will give the downward trend another shove next Wednesday. The commission meets in San Antonio to set April's daily production allowances. Many producers and purchasers, particularly in West Texas, say daily flow continues to dwarf demand.

Such state oil and gas regulatory officials should be experts on patchy cures. They have had more than their share of problems since pre-war days.

Hold To Demand.

In most oil states these officials primarily are charged with preventing waste in oil and gas fields and in holding production to market demand.

Peak production sometimes had to be emphasized at the expense of the best conservation practices during World War II and the critical post-war supply demand period.

But now that there is a surplus of oil the conservation officials are faced with a reverse cycle. They have to cut the post-war peak production back to current market demand.

The cutback began to fall in December, near the close of a year that saw the industry record its greatest increase since 1937 in proved reserves of crude oil and natural gas liquids.

The American Petroleum Institute places crude oil proved reserves as of December 31 at 23,280,444,000 barrels, an increase of 1,792,759,000 within a 12 month period.

Natural gas liquid reserves totaled 3,540,783,000 an increase of 286,808,000 barrels.

Natural gas reserves zoomed to 173,869,340,000 cubic feet, a hike of 7,942,426,000 cubic feet.

Proved reserves discovered in 1948 totaled 396,481,000 barrels of crude, 34,883,000 barrels of natural gas liquids, and 4,129,080,000 cubic feet of natural gas.

Texas continued to dominate the reserves picture for both crude and natural gas. California ranks second in crude and Louisiana second in natural gas.

Reserve Lineup.

Otherwise the crude proved reserve lineup is Louisiana, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Kansas, New Mexico, Illinois, Colorado, Mississippi, Arkansas, Montana, Pennsylvania, Michigan, New York, Kentucky, Indiana, West Virginia, Ohio and Alabama, with Florida, Missouri, Tennessee, Utah and Virginia pooled into one total in the API tables.

There were only minor changes in the rankings during the year, with Illinois edging ahead of Colorado, Montana moving in front of Pennsylvania and Michigan passing New York.

Falling behind Texas and Louisiana in natural gas proved reserves are Kansas, Oklahoma, California, New Mexico, Mississippi, Wyoming, West Virginia, Kentucky, Colorado, Arkansas, Montana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Utah, New York, and Indiana, with Alabama, Florida, Missouri, Nebraska and Virginia not ranked.

Five states—Alabama, Nebraska, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania—recorded no new proved reserve discoveries for the year during the year, while Illinois, Indiana and New York reported none for natural gas.

Here And There.

Last year's demand for aviation gasoline has been placed at 42,967,000 barrels by a Bureau of Mines, a 61 per cent increase over 1947.

The Supreme Court has ruled unanimously that Oklahoma may tax oil produced by companies operating on Indian lands. . . . House committees of the Texas Legislature have recommended approval of bills calling for voluntary oil-gas field utilization and a one-cent tax on each 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas. . . . The Oklahoma Legislature has received proposals for hiking the state's gasoline tax by one-cent to a total of 6 1/2 cents per gallon. . . .

An Excellent Recommendation

The recommendation of a 70th District Court Grand Jury here last week that Midland County employ a juvenile officer who would work "thoughtfully and constructively with young people who make mistakes," is an excellent suggestion and one which should receive serious and careful consideration of all concerned.

The jury foreman, in his report to Judge Paul Moss, recommended that the county judge and the Commissioners Court investigate carefully and employ a juvenile officer with the powers of a deputy sheriff. The grand jury had made a thorough investigation of the juvenile situation before making its report.

To back up its recommendation, members of the grand jury said they will meet with the Commissioners Court Monday to give it the benefit of their thinking in the matter. The commissioners doubtless will hear the results of the grand jury investigation of juvenile affairs in the county.

There is little doubt that the Commissioners Court will welcome the recommendation and will give it favorable consideration.

A full-time juvenile officer long has been needed here, and there is no use in further delaying the employment of such a person. Members of law enforcement agencies and other groups have done remarkable jobs in matters involving juvenile delinquency, but they cannot be expected to accomplish as much as could a trained juvenile officer. Follow up work done by such an officer would be most beneficial to youngsters and to the community as a whole.

It is true the employment of a juvenile officer would bring an additional expense to the county, but the good accomplished would be far greater than the expense involved. And we believe the taxpayers are willing to foot the bill for such a progressive and far-reaching step.

The success of the program would depend largely upon the person employed as the juvenile officer. Just any person cannot work "thoughtfully and constructively" with the youths with whom he would come in contact. Needed for the job is a trained man, one who knows youngsters and their habits and conduct and who is willing to listen to their problems, yet one who can and will demand proper respect from youths.

Such men are available and it is up to county officials to find and employ the best obtainable man when the time comes. That is the most important part of the program.

It is hoped the Commissioners Court will follow through on the grand jury recommendation for the good of Midland County as a whole.

Closer Contest

A French Communist is said to have confessed that he gave information on French armaments to officials of a "people's democracy." With all the "confessions" that have been coming out of Hungary and Bulgaria lately, it is a little encouraging to get one from this side of the iron curtain. Sort of seems to make the cold war a little more even.

While the government is busy looking for new taxes we're busier looking for the old ones.

It's not against the law to think your neighbors are awful—just an awful waste of time.

From what we hear, if the old and young could change places we'd all be happy.

Why Not Carry The Gag A Little Further?

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Southern states fear racial intermarriage as result of Truman civil rights program; Truman non-committal on program's "terminus"; charity trust funds created to avoid paying taxes.

WASHINGTON—It's supposed to be a deep secret among Southern Senators but overtures were made to President Truman in advance of the filibuster which might have avoided the bitter North-South Senate snarl.

The overtures came from Senator Dick Russell of Georgia who did not join the Democrats in the last election and who called at the White House a week or more before the filibuster.

"You've got everyone stirred up and worried down in the South," was the gist of what the Georgia Senator said. "You'll probably win part of your program and we might not oppose some parts of it. But what we want to know is where is it going to stop?"

The President, perhaps taken by surprise and not realizing that he had a chance to head off a bitter sectional battle with the Southern wing of his own party, replied that he did not want his program to have any terminal.

Senator Russell went on to repeat that many Southern Senators might go along with part of the civil-rights program provided they knew what Truman's "terminal" was.

Russell has in mind the fact that many Southern States, including Georgia, have already abolished the poll tax but are worried over the ultimate intermarriage of the races. That, Russell feared, was what the Truman program would eventually lead to if no terminus was fixed.

The President gave no definite answer and Senator Russell departed not happy with the results of the conference.

Trust Funds Investigated
The Senate Banking Committee has just issued a highly revealing report on how a big textile company—Texton—built up a charity foundation for the purpose of evading taxes.

One of the most significant things about the official report is that the name of one prominent trustee is omitted—Senator Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

All other trustees are identified by name but fellow senators, in deference to a member of the club, left out McGrath's name. Senator McGrath, when queried by this columnist, said he would have much rather had his name mentioned.

"I suppose Senator Tobey (Republican of New Hampshire) thought he was doing me a favor by leaving it out," McGrath said. For serving as trustee of the Rhode Island Charities Trust, actually the creature of the Texton empire, McGrath gets a salary of $15,000—the same as his Senate salary. Significantly the other trustee, Benjamin Sturges and Godfrey Simonds, are also directors of Texton or its affiliates.

The Senate report minces no words in branding the Texton Charity setup as a tax-evasion scheme. It is the largest of several trusts, says the report, created ostensibly for charitable purposes but in reality it is for the purpose of tax avoidance and providing risk capital to Texton.

The fund was founded in 1937 by Royal Little, president of Texton, who paid the only contribution it ever received—$500. This pittance has been built into a multimillion-dollar fund by astute financial manipulations.

The sole beneficiary is the Providence (R.I.) Community Chest. Yet the chest has received only $65,000 from the trust from the day it was founded until the Senate report was written. This was considerably less than was paid out for salaries and fees alone.

Unfair Competitive Advantage
The Senate report charges that six trusts founded by Texton for the benefit of charity actually were operated to buy and lease equipment and make substantial loans to Texton and its affiliates.

"Over and over again the trustees have demonstrated that they have been at the beck and call of the president of Texton," the report continues, "to make available the trust funds for the benefit of this company."

"These trusts have never paid a cent of income tax," continues the report. "Thus, by this system of using charitable trusts, Texton has gained an unfair competitive advantage over the orthodox textile manufacturers and the burden of taxation has been thrown more heavily upon the shoulders of all other taxpayers."

The report also reveals that the Bureau of Internal Revenue wrote to the Rhode Island Charities Trust in 1947 calling attention to its activities and warning that it was not entitled to federal income-tax exemption.

Yet, charges the Senate report, 18 months have passed since the bureau's ruling and no action whatever has been taken by the Bureau to enforce payment of the taxes which it claims are due. Furthermore, none of the trustees has taken any steps to set aside a reserve fund for the payment of the taxes which, if enforced by the bureau, will amount to several millions of dollars.

"The commissioner testified," continues the report, "that the bureau was still of the opinion that current and back taxes are owing the government. Yet the bureau has taken no steps to enforce collection."

Denies Trust in Tax Averses
Senator McGrath denied to this columnist that the trust owes any taxes. The letter from the Bureau of Internal Revenue, he explained, was the result of a technical mixup founded on the fact of evading taxes. He brought no political pressure upon the bureau, he stressed.

The Rhode Island Democrat insisted that he had nothing to hide. He was invited by Texton to serve as a trustee four years ago when he was governor of Rhode Island, he explained. The Providence Community Chest, he also maintained, is satisfied with the way the money was being handled. The reason, he said, is that he had never given the Community Chest, McGrath naïvely claimed, was that the money was being held in reserve. He had no explanation, however, for the manner in which Texton had used this reserve to finance new machinery.

Note—Senator Tobey recommended that the trustees of all charitable trusts in the future be required to submit annual itemized accounts of the beneficiary and that the government make a periodic report to Congress. He also urged that no charitable trust be exempted from paying income taxes unless it had actually paid 85 per cent of its gross income to the beneficiary during the taxable year. Tobey pointed out that the practice of using charitable trusts to evade taxes is being indulged in to a large extent by many concerns throughout the country.

Communist Splitting
General Van Fleet, the American commander in Greece, has sent a highly important report to Washington revealing that the Greek Communists have begun to fight among themselves. Van Fleet says the leadership of the former Greek Communist leader, General Markos, has split the Communist movement wide open. Several thousand rebels have deserted the Greek Communist forces rather than follow the leadership of the Moscow-trained Communist who succeeded Markos.

And more desertions are reported each day. Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, Van Fleet reports, is encouraging this opposition because he wants to get hold of the Greek Communists and as a result they have been forced to rely on what meager help they can get from Bulgaria and Albania. The Bulgarian assistance is far from enough and lack of supplies is one of the main reasons the Communists recently suffered a crushing defeat in Florina. Van Fleet, delighted at the development, reports that for the first time he sees a possible successful end to the government's campaign to stamp out the Greek Communists by this summer.

Questions and Answers

Q—Under what flag did the Mayflower set sail for America in 1620?
A—The Union Jack, known also as the King's Colors, flew from the mainmast of the Mayflower which brought the Pilgrims to Plymouth in 1620, while the Cross of St. George was displayed from the foremast.

Q—What is the normal temperature of a cold-blooded animal?
A—The temperature of the blood of cold-blooded animals, such as fish and reptiles, remains practically the same as that of the surrounding environment. For this reason, they do not require as much food as we do, and can often go long periods with nothing to eat whatever.

Q—Which major baseball league drew the greater number of fans in 1948?
A—Last year the American League attracted approximately 11,150,000 spectators and the National League about 9,822,000.

Q—What is the oldest Indian tribe?
A—The Mayas are the oldest Indian stock of which we have knowledge. The rise of Maya civilization in Mexico and Central America dates from 500 B. C.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Secretary Of Defense Johnson Proves To Be Tough Citizen

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—In nominating 58-year-old Louis A. Johnson of West Virginia to be secretary of national defense, President Truman has picked a very tough citizen. He is one of America's leading exponents of all-out preparedness, of universal military training, of taking the profits out of war.

Johnson was assistant secretary of war from July, 1937, to July, 1940. Harry Woodring of Kansas was secretary of war, but he was ill and away from his office much of that time. Johnson filled in as acting secretary. As such he was in full charge of preparing industrial mobilization planning, with Acting Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison of New Jersey helping.

In October, 1947, Johnson himself reviewed all this early planning and furnishing before the Senate War Investigating Committee. The chairman then was Senator Owen Brewster of Maine. The record makes enlightening rereading now because it indicates clearer than anything possibly could what kind of secretary of national defense Louis Johnson may make.

Two mobilization reports were completed in the Fall of 1939. The first was prepared by the War Resources Committee, headed by Edward S. Stettinius, Jr. It was a confidential report to the President and was not made public.

Second was the real industrial mobilization plan of 1939. It was a full revision of the original mobilization plan of 1931, as further revised in 1933 and 1936. Louis Johnson worked two full years on that 1939 plan.

Advocates Strong Air Force
Johnson says he made more than 400 speeches, trying to sell this plan to the country. In one speech he advocated a U. S. Air Force of 10,000 planes. He was criticized from one end of the country to the other, and in speeches on the floor of Congress. President Roosevelt told him to take the punishment and then go make some more speeches, which he did. Later, Roosevelt raised it to 50,000 planes.

Secretary of War Woodring was against heavy aviation, which Johnson favored. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins opposed him on making the Civilian Conservation Corps into military training camps. Congress and the Budget Bureau cut his $100,000,000 stock-piling plan to $40,000,000 and then $10,000,000. Congress also bucked him on raising the arms export tax.

Finally, as Johnson told it to the Senate War Committee, "This program was, I think, without the President's knowledge, ditched by the brass hats, because it did not serve the ambitions of General (Brehon) Somervell, General (Smedley) D. Butler, and General (Douglas) MacArthur. Somervell, Butler and MacArthur started the reorganization of the War Department, and the press said he was getting rid of even General Marshall.

"This thing got involved in that conflict, and in the meantime the war was being fought. People ran helter-skelter without the knowledge of the President."

What actually happened was that the playing of politics in the War and Navy Departments got so bad that the President had to clean out both their houses. Henry L. Stimson was named secretary of war and the late Frank Knox secretary of the Navy.

But even after he had been eased out of the War Department, Johnson kept reporting to the President. "There were times when things were so bad," Johnson told the Senate committee, "that as an outsider I went to the President and complained. . . . Once after the President listened to a story from me he said, 'Go down to the War Department with those facts and give them to Mr. X, and unless he can disprove them, want him transferred to a gulf. He was transferred the next day."

"In the next war, if it comes, and God forbid, we are not going to have any Pearl Harbor," said Johnson, "we are going to have . . . 50 Hiroshimas. . . . Washington will be one of the 50 and one of the first. What we ought to plan is to get ready, whether some one country in the world likes it or not, and be so strong that no nations dare start a war to involve us."

In speaking of universal military service, Johnson said that in 1939 American public opinion was not ready to accept it. "But let me say to you that it is ahead of its time now," he added.

When Senator Owen Brewster of Maine asked Johnson what he thought about one $2,000,000 company that made $5,000,000—140 per cent profit—in one year, Johnson replied, "There should be no profit in war for anyone, sir."

So they say
Our theme is the revival of the greatness of Britain and the British empire. We are told we must not use the word empire. It is naughty. I know of no reason why any of us—liberal, conservative or socialist—should be ashamed of the word after the parts we all played in the late war.

—Winston Churchill.
We are in the process of getting ourselves a peacetime adjustment. The thing that is really scaring us is that we haven't had the depression that we have been waiting for. We feel it is long overdue.

—H. Kaplan, Brookings Institution economist.
A composer's work must be like a baby to him. Giving to a singer must be like leaving it with a sister.

—Lisa Kirk, Broadway singing star.
It is not only the fate of China that quivers in suspense; the future of all Asia hangs on the outcome of the Communist drive for China's conquest and utter subjugation.

—George Creel, head of Committee on Public Information, World War I.
Behind its iron curtain (the Soviet Union) is manufacturing fear. Out in the open, we, along with 51 other countries, are building peace without the knowledge of the President."

Recruit Training Period Lengthened
The former eighth-week course of basic training for enlisted men was revised to meet a new 14-week program of military training, according to word reaching Sgt. Shelby Wheeler in charge of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station at Midland.

The former eight-week course was inaugurated in the spring of 1946 in order to train as rapidly as practicable, volunteers and men selected for service by the Selective Service Act of 1948, who were required for the expansion program of the Army.

want to get out. I want to wear it all the time. I want to wear the sandy ground and looked at the man huddled there.

The dark hawk face was relaxed and babyish. The man's head was lopsided with swelling under one half of the muzzled silver hair. By Sgt. Shelby Wheeler's chest rose and sank regularly and an eyelid twitched.

"He didn't believe I was a cat," Faye crouched on the stable floor. Her mouth contracted viciously but the rest of her face was puzzled. "I think he said I mustn't use my claws. I don't like people who order me around."

"Would you like to go for a ride?" Thelma Loomis suggested soothingly. "Just the three of us. I know somebody you'd like to talk to, Faye. A man."

"Oh, that's a good idea," Faye bobbed her head excitedly. "I like to talk to men!"

MR. TRIM howled with laughter. His mouthful of irregular teeth was a wide circle and his shoulders shook. But the sound was thin, not carrying far enough to spawn an echo from the rock walls.

He stopped suddenly. "Shook can certainly produce a variety of comical expressions," Trim said with a final chuckle. "And yours rank with the finest in my collection. First, however—" his voice turned sharper. "—gently toss that 45 back to me, Corporal."

John Henry made his paralyzed hand reach for it. "Gently. Not that I trusted you with a loaded gun—but, on the other hand, you might now be tempted to club me with it."

Carefully, John Henry tossed the automatic to the other man. Trim snatched it deftly from the air and put it in his belt. Without shifting his gaze, he pounded his wooden pistol down sharply on the saddle horn. The painted lay shuddered. He peered at the broken pieces from around a short black revolver and lunged them at the canyon floor.

"No need for masquerade any longer, is there?" he commanded. (To Be Continued)

POP Goes the QUEEN

THELMA LOOMIS turned her spotlight up on the timber archway and read the twig letters carefully. Then she clicked off the spot and urged the car forward up the curved driveway. The Bell C Ranch house was dark, a somber bulk in silver moonlight. She braked the automobile in front of the door. On the parking lot were two cars—a convertible coupe and a gray sedan.

Miss Loomis moved quickly. From her big plain purse, she dug out a snub-nosed silver revolver. Expertly, she slipped the cylinder out and examined the shiny brass shells protruding from every socket. Satisfied, she eased out of the car and stuck the revolver in the wide belt of her policeman uniform.

Her flashlight beam probed over the other two cars, then swung back to the gloomy house. Thelma Loomis walked the length of the low porch slowly, her practiced feet making only the faintest noise on the tile. Above her hung dark stalactites of bridges and branding iron. Nothing stirred.

"Uh-huh," she murmured and clucked her tongue thoughtfully. Ignoring the brass knocker, she punched the button beside the door and stood listening to the distant loneliness of chiming. When the last tone had died, she tried the latch. The heavy door swung away from her on oiled hinges. Her flashlight cut a round hole into the blackness beyond. Lightly, she stepped after it and closed the door behind her.

THERE wasn't a soul in the house. Thelma Loomis was ready to make her professional reputation on that.

But somewhere there had to be people. The evidence of the two cars pointed that way. Of course, Lieutenant Lay might have been wrong about Robottom.

She opened the back door and let herself out into a little patio, where galvanized-iron trash cans and an electric garbage disposer kept silent vigil. Outdoors was brighter than ever after the inky interior of the house.

Miss Loomis vent around the corner and headed for the higher boxlike building a hundred yards away. Suddenly, she stopped short, her hand fumbling for the snub-nosed revolver. Midway between the house and the other structure, something dark hid itself on the ground, something that might have been a man. A darker blob crouched beside it.

"Good grief!" she ejaculated. The second shadow had moved. Thelma Loomis was staring at the outline of a huge cat, its ears erect, its eyes gleaming brightly at her. Her hand shaking, she tried to level the muzzle of her .32 at the giant animal.

"You nearly surprised me," the cat purred. "Not quite. Nearly."

Miss Loomis took a firm grip on herself to keep from breaking and running. She forced her legs to carry her forward, up to the cat. "Nice kitty," she said unsteadily. The cat stood up on its hind legs and stretched.

"That's right," Thelma Loomis felt her smile slackening as she scanned the other, the unmoving shadow, with professional interest. "You certainly surprised me. Both of you."

"It's pretty fur, don't you think?" Faye said and preened the woolly material of her costume contentedly. "It zips down the back so I can get out. But I don't

Court Ruling Bars Catholic Teachers In New Mexico

SANTA FE, N. M.—(AP)—District Judge E. T. Hensley Saturday barred 143 Catholic teachers from teaching in New Mexico public schools.

The state court's written judgment supplemented a verbal decision from the bench October 7 in the Dixon school case.

Hensley's verbal decision held that employment of members of the Catholic teaching orders in public schools violated the state and national constitutions.

The Dixon case arose from a dispute over alleged teaching of Catholicism in the public schools at Dixon, Little Northern New Mexico mountain community.

JayCee-JayShe Party Attracts 150 Persons

Approximately 150 persons attended a JayCee-JayShe "48-er" Party Friday evening at the Officers Club at Midland Airport.

Games and dancing were enjoyed. The party was a benefit event to raise funds for the "On To Galveston" committee's project. The state JayCee convention is to be held in Galveston and Midland will be represented with a delegation.

More than 50 newcomers were included among the JayCees, JayShes and guests.

Plumbers Discuss Texas License Law

The state licensing law was the topic of discussion Saturday when the Panhandle League, Zone Two, Association of Texas Plumbing Contractors, met in the Crystal Ballroom of the Scharbauer Hotel.

Jess Mulherrin of Amarillo presided and the main address was by Roy Downey, Odessa attorney.

The group attended a banquet and dance at the hotel Saturday night.

Texas Building Pushes Well Past Figures Of 1948

AUSTIN.—(AP)—A sharp increase in non-residential building pushed Texas construction awards past the twenty-five million dollar mark this week.

Non-residential awards accounted for $11,645,728 of the $35,531,988 let in contracts. The Texas Contractor, building trade journal, reported.

Residential building reached $2,678,115, and $23 homes, costing less than $7,000 each, accounted for $6,052,650 of the total. More expensive homes added $1,058,465, apartments $1,553,000 and duplexes $12,000.

Engineering projects totaling $5,308,222 were put under contract.

The accumulative total for the first ten weeks of the year stood at $304,663,450, compared to the total of $171,898,376 for the same period in 1948.

Bombardiers Would Be Surprised—

Buildings At Former Midland Army Air Field Become Attractive, Unique Homes

By SUE COLEMAN

GITs who were stationed at Midland Army Air Field during World War II never would know the old barracks if they returned to some of the buildings where they were housed or trained. Turned into homes for more than 500 families, the air field buildings now make up the town of Terminal, and they make attractive homes.

Unchanged in appearance on the outside in most cases, the barracks' barnlike interiors have been partitioned into apartments, painted, papered, supplied with window drapery and furnished in as many decorative styles as there are tastes among the occupants.

The monotony of the building appearance ends as soon as a door is opened. The visitor may find anything from pine-paneled rooms with fireplace and Early American furniture, to ultra-modern arrangements with bleached-wood and chromium furniture and bold color splashed on walls and floors.

In some of the buildings hired artisans did the remodeling, but in most of them the occupants themselves did most of the work, and in many cases families moved into bare buildings and literally built their homes around them.

One of these families was that of the Walter Sneads, which took one of the large buildings with only one partition in it, built their own apartment, then two others which they subrent. Mrs. Snead is a member of the Terminal Home Demonstration Club, as are several other women who have arranged attractive quarters for their families. The home planning skills which they learned in club work have been put to use in every room of their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Snead did all the work in their apartment except the plumbing. They built partitions with wallboard, painted the kitchen and bedrooms with water paint in pastel colors and paneled the living room with pine boards and plywood which is varnished in natural tones.

A large bedroom for the two children is divided by arrangement of wardrobe and chests, and a half partition between the living room and dining room-kitchen gives an effect of light and space and carries a blue color note from the living room drapes to the gingham-check kitchen curtains.

Home Features: Ample cabinet space and storage space, including a walk-in closet, feature the plan.

Mrs. E. O. Voge and Mrs. Woodrow Campbell, both home demonstration club members, have decorated comfortable apartments in building shared by their families. Both couples have done most of the work on their homes.

Deep blue linoleum covers all floors in the Voge apartment, uniting the decoration and blending with walls in various pastel shades. Grey walls, floral draperies and upholstery in soft colors and natural wood finishes in the furniture make a restful living room.

The kitchen and the bedroom of the daughter, Sandra, show Voge's skill as a carpenter and Mrs. Voge's as a decorator. He built the kitchen cabinet with its working surface at a height convenient for tiny Mrs. Voge. He built a wardrobe especially designed to hold Sandra's clothing and toys. It was painted a cheerful yellow and blue, and so was an old chest and the bed. Mrs. Voge made curtains of scraps of domestic, trimmed with rows of yellow braid. Voge also built the handy bench in the bathroom, with drawer space underneath.

There is one room still unfurnished in the Voge's apartment, which they use for storage and work. Mrs. Voge has her sewing machine and ironing board there, and Voge the equipment for his hobby of photography.

Movable Partition

The Campbells have a unique movable partition in their apartment. Composed of open shelves, about head-high, it can be set between living and dining rooms provide a private space for meals, or used to divide the kitchen from the dining room and thus make a large living-dining area to accommodate a large group.

Floors in the rooms have been sanded and covered with a clear varnish, while walls have a coat of soft green water paint. For accent, one side of the hall and the kitchen alcove are papered in a gay Scotch plaid. Large closets, one for the master bedroom and one for the son's belongings, add convenience.

Mrs. Frank Segrest, another member of the home demonstration club, found her apartment already partitioned and the walls finished when she moved in. She has made it attractive mainly by furniture arrangement and the emphasis on soft colors blended with woodrose carpeting in the living room and dining-L.

Growing Ivy

Low shelves of books, a piano, a mantel with a huge mirror above it flanked by matching tables holding red-shaded lamps, flower prints and growing ivy feature the living room.

A flowery guest room, a master bedroom furnished in maple, and a room where the grade school daughters, Sarah and Patsy, have space for their toys and souvenirs, are equally home-like. The plumbing arrangement in the building made it possible for the girls to have a private bath, in addition to the large bathroom.

Virginia Smith, who is employed by the City of Midland at its Terminal office, decided to take hammer in hand and see if she had carpentering talent when she surveyed the needs of her apartment. She had. She made a chest with drawers that work, and a coffee table as well as helping move partitions and panel a room with wallboard. When partitions were up, the outside walls of the rooms were pine paneled but the new inside walls were not. So she moved paneling from the outside walls of the bedrooms to the inside walls of the living room for a uniform effect. To gain a variety of building experience, she papered a bedroom.

Real Fireplace

The apartment of Kitti and John Davenport has a real fireplace. They don't know what the Army did with it, but it is the focal point of their huge living room, which has a kitchen marked off in one corner with head-high shelf units. Color makes this room attractive. It has pale green walls, white woodwork and mantel, drapes and couch upholstery in bold green, grey and white pattern, grey and beige rugs, a gay red loveseat and chair, and yellow chaise lounge.

Electric bulbs fitted into old lanterns hang from the beams to furnish light, and there are Western touches in knick-knacks and in the pattern of bedspread and bedroom curtains.

When Yolanda and Bob Meador surveyed their bare quarters, they decided not to try to make the place look like a home, but just to liven up the barracks. And they made the unconventional rooms serve as a background for furnishings which include fine antique pieces as well as souvenirs gathered by Meador during his World War II service.

Painted Walls

None of the walls are finished; they were simply painted, studding and all, and the cross bracing makes narrow shelves and frame effects to show treasured vases or pictures. Handsome hooked rugs made by Mrs. Meador's mother catch the eye in the living room, placed on the rough floor which is painted the same dull green as the walls.

Most of Mrs. Meador's antique pieces are Pennsylvania Dutch or sturdy Early American, which have an affinity for the unsophisticated background. Such touches as the kitchen curtains painted in Pennsylvania Dutch designs, the bedroom rug made of the skin of an Iceland sheep, a wall hanging with reindeer design from Newfoundland and the old wooden chopping bowl, highly polished, set on the trestle table in the dinette, make the home an interesting one, fitted to the Meadors' personalities.

The L. A. Rodenhiser's had a different idea for their home, to fit their own needs. Rodenhiser serves the City of Midland as superintendent at Terminal, and so is interested in a more permanent dwelling than many of the residents.

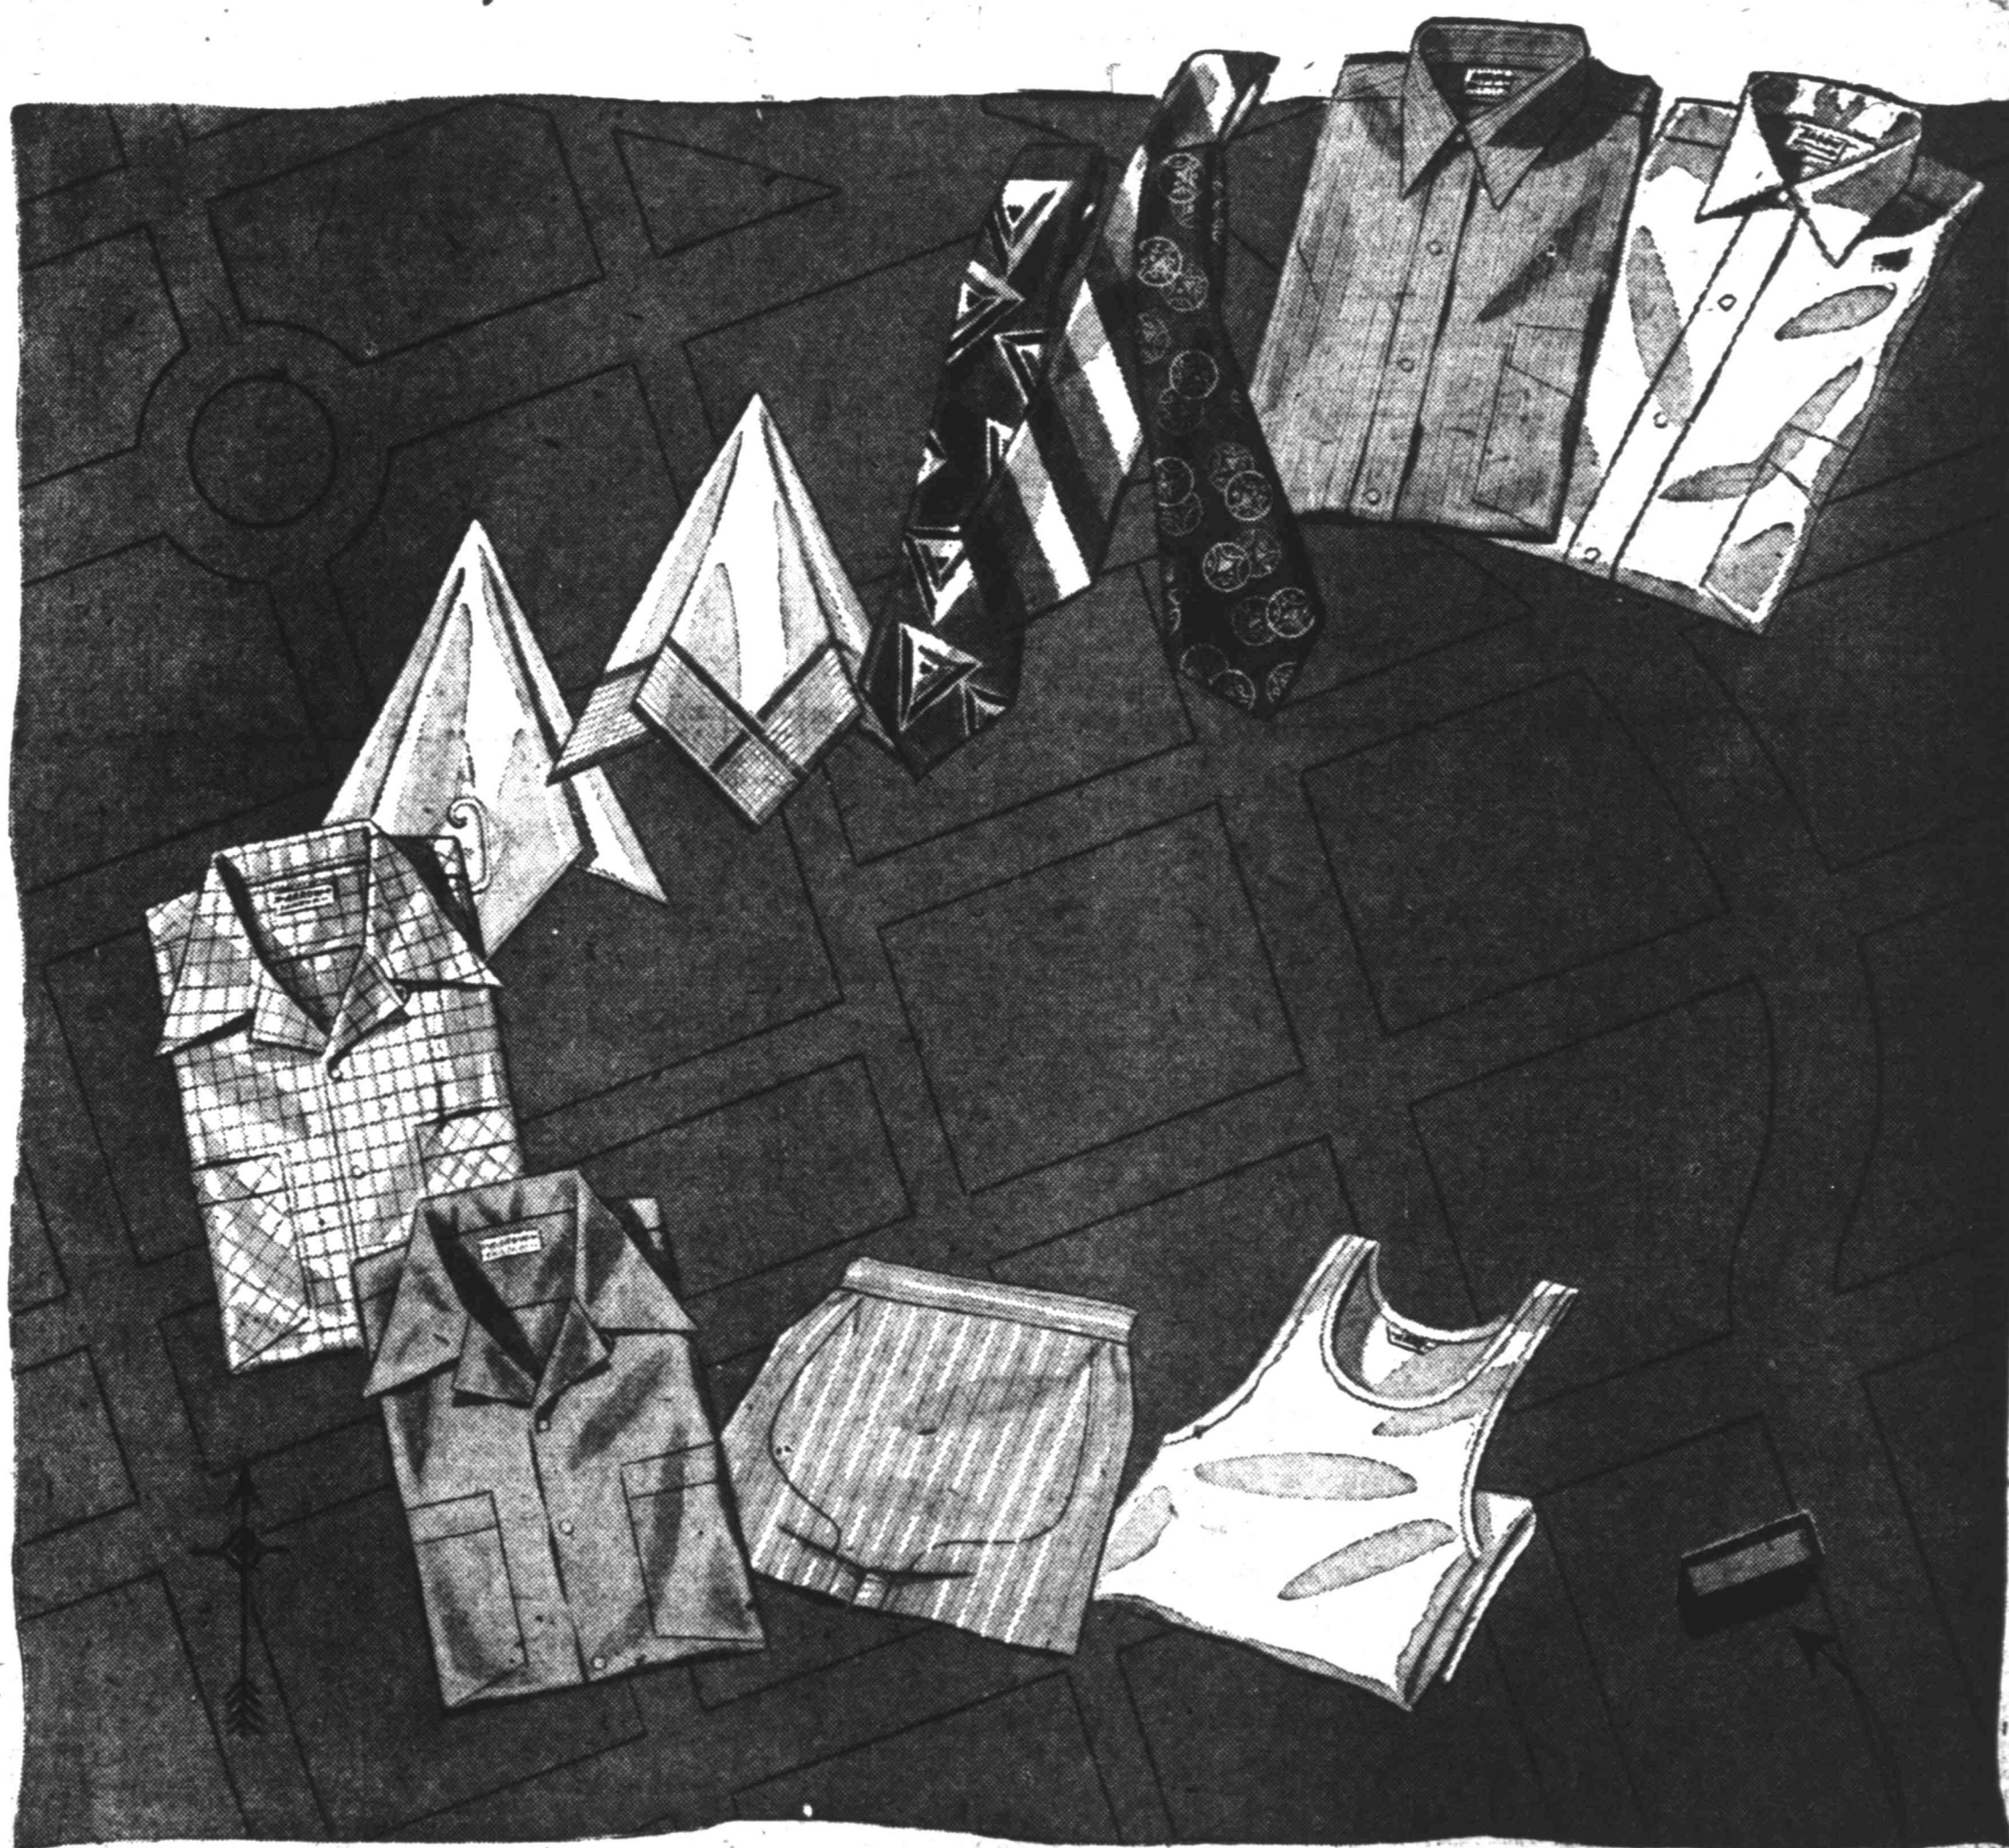

Eight-Room House

They have converted an entire barracks building into attractive and convenient rooms of the type expected in a well-planned modern house of eight rooms. A living room and dining room, both large and pine-paneled, the master bedroom, kitchen and laundry are on the first floor, with two more bedrooms upstairs. Large baths and closets take advantage of the abundance of space, and the unfinished remainder of the second floor takes care of more storage as well as serving as a playroom with floor space for square dancing.

Mrs. Rodenhiser's clever planning is evident through the house. Structural features of the barracks which could not be changed, such as the support posts which rose right in the middle of the living room, she used to advantage. Circular benches built around the two posts make room for more persons to sit around the gas logs in the central fireplace and, instead of an eyesore, are the decorative high spot of the room.

SPORTS SLANTS

SHORTY SHELBOURNE

Just as a matter of getting acquainted with the many sports fans in Midland and the Permian Basin, I have this to say:

Tanner Laine has covered sports events in the Permian Basin for The Reporter-Telegram for many years. He has done a splendid job during all that time. The ideals expressed in his daily column, "SPORTS SLANTS," have been the highest. His backing of MHS athletic teams and individuals and those in other phases of sports here has been the staunchest. In short, he has given you—the readers—a fine sports page for which I am sure you are thankful.

I have only one promise to make. I will give you the best I have at all times.

This column will continue to uphold Midland and its athletic teams. We are not here to criticize and belittle any team or individual.

I solicit the cooperation of coaches, sports officials, fans and everyone else in helping us give you the best sports coverage possible at all times.

To Sports Slants, this looks like the year for Midland in practically all sports.

Harold Webb is working like his usual self, picking up high caliber baseball players to help defend the Longhorn League pennant which now rightfully belongs to the Midland Indians. Webb is a fine baseball man. We predict he will produce another winner here this year.

A new era in Midland High School sports is just around the corner. Tugboat Jones has our full support. We believe he is the man who will lead the Bulldogs to many wins on the gridiron. Under his leadership and through the work of his very capable assistants—how can MHS fail to see a new era in sports?

We will be glad to hear from fans and participate in all classes of sports wherever The Reporter-Telegram may go. To us, the great Permian Basin produces teams which rate with the best throughout the nation. We wish to have a part in backing them to greater victories.

Midland and surrounding territory are not completely new to us. We have been around here off and on for 25 years. Many a sparkling broken field run, we have seen Jay Francis make in the days when Midland had a winner on the gridiron just like we'll have again before many months pass.

We remember like Mike Buffington as a football player and Golden Gloves participant. We knew Jess Rogers when he wrote The Reporter-Telegram's sports.

Sports in Midland were considered good in those years but activity has increased to many times what it was then.

It's a great feeling to be back in Midland.

HALF SLANTS ... Charles Akay, Midland Country Club pro, is going into the golf business, but right. He's reported to be opening a golf club manufacturing business in Dallas.

Ernie Nelson, ace hurler for the Midland Indians last season, is visiting his mother in San Antonio.

Nelson, incidentally, hasn't signed his 1949 contract ... Jim Watson is one of five lettermen from the University of Texas Longhorns this year. That leaves the Texas League clubs to have scheduled 111 exhibition games with teams from college classification to those in the major leagues.

The annual Southwest AAU Girls Basketball Tournament opened in Dallas Sunday. Girls on 24 high school teams and nine commercial clubs are entered.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the World Champion Cleveland Indians thinks the caliber of the players on his team is fast returning to pre-war standard. He isn't the only one who thinks it about the Indians. In fact, managers of the 15 other major league clubs probably concur.

The Cardinals and the Browns failed to settle their park rental feud at a meeting with Commissioner A. B. Chandler last week. The rent situation is tough all over ... The grapevine says George Surdiant, former manager of the Lamesa Lobos in the West Texas-New Mexico loop, is being considered for the pilot's job at Roswell. George is a good ball player but as a manager, well ... Now the churches are doing it. The first State Church Basketball Tournament is underway in Dallas. When the Methodists meet the Baptists and the Presbyterians tangle with the Episcopalians it'll be, "Oh Lord, give me strength to make this tree throw."

Golf Team, Messersmith To Represent Midland At Southwestern Track Meet

Midland High School will be represented by Larry Messersmith and a four-man golf team at the Southwestern Expedition Track and Field Meet in Fort Worth Friday and Saturday. Coaches Audrey Gill and Joe Akins will accompany the group.

Golfers scheduled to make the trip are Graham Mackey, Kent Miller, Johnny Ward and Reane Puett.

Messersmith, an outstanding athlete in practically all sports, will enter the high jump and possibly the broad jump contests.

Coch Jack Mashburn is sending his 35-man track squad through daily workouts at Memorial Stadium. Larry Buckingham is showing promise for sprint races and several others are rounding into form.

Mashburn is making an effort to schedule a dual track meet with Big Spring in the near future.

Tennis players, under Coach Carl Knox, are keeping the courts busy every day.

The baseball squad is being trimmed in preparation for the conference season, which opens late this month. Coach Garvin Beauchamp has the boys moving through all phases of conditioning work. Batting practice has been dominant during the last few days.

633 Schoolboy Nines To Compete In IL Program

AUSTIN.—(P)—Texas Interscholastic League baseball will have 633 competing schools this Spring. Conference B, the loop for small schools, leads the way, with 364 teams.

The four-conference total is slightly greater than last year, when 599 schools were entered, reported Rhea Williams, league athletic director.

Conference A boasts 175 schools; AA, 75; City, 19.

Williams reminded AA, A and B schools that May 14 is the deadline for certifying district baseball champions. Conference AA bi-district champions will be certified by May 28, and the state championship playoff will be held June 6, 7 and 8 in Austin.

Conference A regional championships must be settled by June 4. That also is the date for Conference B bi-district playoffs.

City Conference district championships must be certified by May 28, and the state playoff for that class will be held June 10-11 in Dallas.

Teams playing in Class AA are the following: Amarillo, Borger, Brownfield, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview.

2. Childress, Electra, Graham, Quanah, Vernon, Wichita Falls.

3. Abilene, Big Spring, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Sweetwater.

4. Austin (El Paso), El Paso, Ysleta.

5. Bonham, Denison, Greenville, Paris, Sherman.

6. District 1, Amarillo, Borger, Brownfield, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview.

7. Breckenridge, Cisco, Mineral Wells, Stephenville, Weatherford.

8. Gladewater, Henderson, Kilgore, Marshall, Texarkana, Longview, Tyler.

9. Cleburne, Corsicana, Hillsboro, Temple, Waco, Waxahachie.

10. Bryan, Conroe, Jacksonville, Lufkin, Palestine.

11. Beaumont, Orange, Port Neches, South Park (Beaumont), Thomas Jefferson (Port Arthur).

12. Freeport, Galena Park, Galveston, Pasadena, Robert E. Lee (Baytown), Texas City.

13. McAllen, Corpus Christi, Kerrville, Laredo, Victoria.

14. Brownsville, Edinburg, Harlingen, McAllen, Robstown.

Bowling In City Keg Tournament To Open Here Monday Night

The annual City Championship Bowling Tournament is scheduled to get underway at Plamor Palace here at 8 p. m. Monday with the eight teams in the Major Bowling League squaring off. Teams in the Automotive League will roll Wednesday night and teams in the Petroleum League enter competition on March 24.

Survivors of the three-game first round will roll doubles and singles following the team events.

The Midland Bowling Association will present the sponsor of this year's championship team with a large trophy. The association also will award individual medals to members of the winning team and the doubles, singles and all-events winners.

The annual tournament drew much attention last year. Buri's Standard won the five-man team honors with a net score of 2,565 and a total score of 7,930.

The two-man team event was taken by Ernie Crites and "Donk" Roberts with a net 1,117 and a total score of 1,238. James Beggs won the singles with a 547 net and a 622 total score. All-events went to J. O. Sehon who rolled a net score of 1,582 and a total of 1,897.

Teams scheduled to keg Monday night are Odessa Shell, Tommie's Electric, Haney's Humble, Pabst Blue Ribbon, Houston Hill, Banner Creamery, Scharbauer Hotel and Reporter-Telegram. Tournament play will end March 26.

All bowlers who plan to enter the tournament should contact R. L. Tharp, for final information.

Reporter-Telegram Receives Oil Edition Congratulations

Congratulatory messages in the form of editorials and news stories in several papers, letters from organizations and individuals, and comments from scores of residents of the Permian Basin have been received by The Reporter-Telegram since publishing its 152-page 1949 Oil Progress Edition two weeks ago.

Editorials concerning the edition have appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, San Angelo Standard-Times, Wichita Falls Daily Times and the El Paso Times. News stories have been seen in the Gainesville Register, Andrews County News, Stanton Reporter and others.

Letters of congratulations have been received from the Dallas Bureau of The Associated Press; Brad Mills, executive vice president of the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors, Dallas; H. B. Fell, executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, Tulsa; Sam T. Mallison, director of public relations, Benedum-Trees Companies, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Hal Korda, Chicago newspaperman; Moorhead Daily News, Moorhead, Minn.; Texas Chamber of Commerce; Kern Chamber of Commerce; Monahan Chamber of Commerce; A. F. Phillips, district manager, Carpenter Paper Company, Lubbock; S. W. Papert, Texas Daily Press.

Malin said he used the special edition to illustrate his idea of good journalism in one of his West Texas State College journalism classes.

Congratulations by word of mouth are too numerous to mention.

LUBBOCK MAN CHOSEN JACKSON, MISS.—(P)—Knox T. Thomas of Lubbock, Texas, was elected president of the Southwestern Savings and Loan Conference here Saturday. He succeeds Herman Steger of New Orleans.

Carson City, Nev., with less than 2,500 population, is the smallest state capital in the United States.

Midland, one of several booming cities in the Permian Basin, has been transformed by petroleum from a ranch town to a modern city of more than 25,000 population.

The San Angelo Standard-Times editorial said, in part:

"The Midland Reporter-Telegram prescribes in eloquent and attractive fashion the part oil development is playing in that part of Texas and more particularly, of course, Midland's impressive relation to that development. Petroleum Promotes Progress is the edition's keynote."

"The edition is a credit to the city and section."

Fell, in his letter, said "the edition makes one wish that they lived in Midland, which is the center of an area with such great and wonderful resources."

Mallison said the edition was filled with material that was not only interesting, but most of it was worthwhile preserving.

"I also subscribe to the New York Times and when I picked up the oil edition of The Reporter-Telegram, I thought it was the New York Times," Korda stated in his letter.

Sidewalk Cattlemen Seek Most Weatherbeaten Poke

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

MADISONVILLE, TEX.—(P)—Are you a weatherbeaten old cowboy who really took a weather-beating this winter?

If so, partner, light and listen. This is your chance to win a free trip to (ugh) Texas.

Send no box tops. This is the annual contest of the famed Madisonville Sidewalk Cattlemen's Association, the outfit that regulates bootwearing in Madison County. You can't come around Madison County in boots unless you own cattle. Fellows that break this law get dipped in one of two home brews on the shady courthouse square of this East Texas town.

"We dipped a few strangers the other day," Dr. J. P. Heath, president of the association, said.

Last year the association held a contest to pick the out-of-state war veteran who hated Texas most. Ray Halloran of Cincinnati won and was feted all over the Lone Star State. When he was safe back home he said he hadn't changed his mind.

This year, the cattlemen are looking for the most weatherbeaten cowboy in the United States. Winner Must Ride.

"We heard all about those blizzards they had through the West," said the tall, booted Dr. Heath. "We figured to give some poor old cowboy who fought snowdrifts all winter a real sunny vacation."

"We'll fly him to Texas and see that he gets around the state. We'll set him up with some high-cotton entertainment. He'll be honor-guest at our annual barbecue June 2."

So just write your hard-winter story to Dr. Heath, attaching your picture.

But get this:

"We don't want slicker cowboys from New York, Boston or Cleveland," said the doctor. "The winner has to ride in our annual rodeo and if he can't ride, we won't pay his way home."

The cattlemen also are flying Miss Bebe Shopp of Minnesota, the current Miss America, to Madisonville for the rodeo.

"We don't care if she can ride or not," Dr. Heath said.

FHA Regulation Is Aid To Housing Cooperatives

WASHINGTON, D. C. — To provide additional encouragement for the development of housing cooperatives, FHA Commissioner Franklin D. Richards has broadened the Administration's regulations to permit cooperative groups to obtain an analysis of their project, even before financing has been arranged with a lending institution.

Up to the present time a group of individuals planning the development of a housing cooperative had to have a financial institution willing to make the loan before an application could be submitted to the Federal Housing Administration for analysis as to eligibility for mortgage insurance under Section 207 of the National Housing Act. The amended administrative rules permit deferral of the execution of an application until after FHA has analyzed the case.

Insurance Plans

"The Housing Act of 1948 provided several cooperative housing insurance plans," Richards pointed out, "and we in FHA have utilized every facility at our disposal to permit the benefits of this legislation to be received by groups interested in developing housing cooperatives. Today's amendment to the Administration's requirements is just another means of smoothing the way for cooperative groups."

Under the amended rules it is no longer necessary for sponsors to find a lending institution willing to make the loan before the proposed project can be analyzed by the FHA. Most mortgage lenders have so far had little or no experience in lending on cooperative projects and prior analysis will be helpful in encouraging financing of this type.

Modernization Of Old Homes Alleviates Housing Shortage

Greater emphasis should be placed on the need for modernization and repair of old dwellings as a means of alleviating the nation's housing shortage, many experts believe.

They point out that a majority of families needing homes cannot afford to build new ones. Rehabilitation of old houses can, in a great many instances, provide years of added service for dwellings which now are deteriorating. Thousands of such homes become unusable each year as a result of long periods of neglect. Through modernization and repair, the experts explain, the life of those homes can be prolonged considerably.

Rejuvenation of old dwellings can be a sound investment for the future, authorities assert. They say that many modernized homes will prove more attractive to buyers and renters than houses built during the postwar shortage. This belief is based on the fact that the older homes usually are conveniently situated near schools, churches, shopping centers and transportation facilities.

With the modern building materials now available it is possible to spruce up a run-down house at moderate cost, provided it is structurally sound.

Among the materials especially well suited for this purpose are asbestos cement building products. Produced in several forms for such specific uses as roofing and siding, these materials are fireproof and weatherproof. Due to their low maintenance cost they are unusually economical.

Hardwood Flooring Is Available In Numerous Grades

If you are planning to build and want to keep materials cost as low as possible here's a tip: Hardwood flooring is made in a number of types and grades. The cost, naturally, varies with the grade. Serviceability, however, is virtually the same in all grades. The selection of a lower grade will save money without sacrifice of structural strength or wearing qualities.

Oak and other popular hardwood floorings are graded carefully at the mills. The grading is based mainly on appearance. Factors considered are such characteristics as knots, streaks and other natural variations. In strength, durability and resistance to wear all grades rank high.

There are three grades of quarter-sawn oak and four of plain-sawn. Quarter-sawn flooring is cut from the log at an angle which brings out the full beauty of the large flaky figures known as wood rays. Because less work is entailed in its manufacture, plain-sawn oak flooring is more economical. Designations of plain-sawn grades, in descending order, are clear, select, No. 1 common and No. 2 common. The quarter-sawn grades are clear, sap clear and select.

New Delhi To Have Diplomatic Area

NEW DELHI, INDIA —(P)—The government will soon start work on a diplomatic colony for this overcrowded capital.

A spokesman for the works, mines and power industry says 700 acres of a 1,600-acre tract in southwest New Delhi will be developed. The government will spend 16,500,000 rupees ($5,000,000) leveling land and constructing roads, water and sewer systems and shopping centers. Foreign governments will have to put up their own buildings.

Many embassies now occupy former New Delhi palaces of maharajahs. Some late-comers have had to make hotel rooms their headquarters.

McCamey Man Found Dead Near Odessa

ODESSA—The body of a man found one mile south of Odessa Friday afternoon was identified as that of Silvester Bagley, Jr., of McCamey. Officers said he had been dead about 20 hours.

Identification was determined from papers found in the man's clothing.

Justice of the Peace M. Newman said he expected to return a verdict of death from natural causes.

Rankin Men Injured While Loading Pipe

RANKIN—Junior Burton, 25, is in a San Angelo hospital suffering from injuries received Thursday afternoon when a truck load of four-inch pipe rolled over on him, crushing one leg and causing other injuries.

Burton, an employee of the Lane Brothers Trucking Company, was helping load pipe destined for the Benedict Field out of a railroad car onto a trailer float when the accident occurred. He was covered in pipe up to his neck.

Emergency treatment was given before Burton was rushed to San Angelo by ambulance.

C. A. Gilbert also was injured in the accident, but his condition is not critical. He is in a McCamey hospital.

West Texans Head Trans-Pecos Teachers

EL PASO—(P)—Mrs. Marguerite Smith of El Paso was elected president of the Trans-Pecos State Teachers' Association here this weekend. She succeeds Dr. R. M. Hawkins, president of Sul Ross College, Alpine.

Other new officers include G. E. Thompson, superintendent of Kermitt schools; Mrs. A. Hedler of El Paso and John J. Prude of Fort Davis, vice presidents; James Kemp of Alpine, treasurer, and Lynn B. Davis of El Paso, secretary.

A legislative proposal for the Texas state school superintendent to be appointed instead of elected was endorsed by the group.

Proctor, Rowe Lamb Is Champion

Leonard Proctor, prominent Midland rancher and chairman of the Rodeo Committee of Midland Fair, Inc., shares the honors with Archie Rowe and his 170-pound crossbred lamb which won the championship of the county division of the Midland Livestock Show. The champion is a Proctor lamb, as was the animal Rowe showed in the 1948 show. Proctor furnishes all the crossbred lambs for the Midland FFA Chapter. Rowe's 1949 champ sold at $115 a pound to the Santa Rita Wool Company of San Angelo. The concern also bought four other lambs at the show's auction sale.

Clothes Designer Runs Into Trouble

FOCATELLO, IDAHO—(P)—Designing women's clothes is more of a job than you'd think. Phil Lindley, 25, radio operator on a bomber in World War II, is somewhat discouraged over his first attempts to restyle feminine apparel. The hardest hurdle was taking the course with a classful of code.

Lindley, a junior at Idaho State College, is an art major. He found last fall he'd have to take a course in dress designing.

full of enthusiasm," Lindley declared. "I had hopes of turning out to be a great designer—might even shorten the hemlines." But—the first day in class, students had to fill out a questionnaire, listing waist and bust measurements. Lindley found he was a "perfect 40."

Little things like that kept coming up. Now Lindley thinks he'd rather do another bombing mission than take any more dress designing courses.

Longoria Reburial Investigation Is Moved To Austin

THREE RIVERS, TEXAS—(P)—The Felix Longoria reburial investigation was recessed Saturday. House probers had spent two and a half days taking testimony.

The five-man investigating committee is trying to determine whether use of a funeral chapel here was refused because Longoria, a soldier killed on Luzon, was a Latin American.

The committee recessed here about noon and will reconvene next week in Austin, where several more witnesses are scheduled to be heard. The investigators had been asked to report to the House by March 15, but Rep. Cecil Storry of Longview, committee chairman, said he would request an extension of time.

The probe opened last Thursday. The committee was instructed to find out if racial discrimination played a part in the Latin-American soldier's body being reburied in Arlington National Cemetery instead of in Texas. He was killed in action on Luzon.

One group of witnesses consistently testified that Longoria's family was denied the use of a Three Rivers funeral chapel because of differences between the widow, Mrs. Beatrice Longoria, and his parents.

Another group of witnesses said funeral chapel use was denied because of Longoria's racial origin.

T. W. Kennedy, Jr., director of a Three Rivers funeral home, and mayor J. K. Montgomery were recalled to the witness stand Saturday. Earlier Saturday, Sara Moreno, sister of the widow, said Kennedy told her that he couldn't allow use of the chapel for Longoria's reburial "because the white people would not like it." She said he did not say anything about family trouble.

Pepper Sees Defeat For Proposal Slash In Hospital Building

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) Saturday predicted Congress will reject President Truman's proposal to slash new hospital construction for the Veterans Administration.

Pepper is chairman of a Senate Labor subcommittee investigating the VA hospital program. He made his prediction to a reporter after hearing testimony from representatives of the Disabled American Veterans.

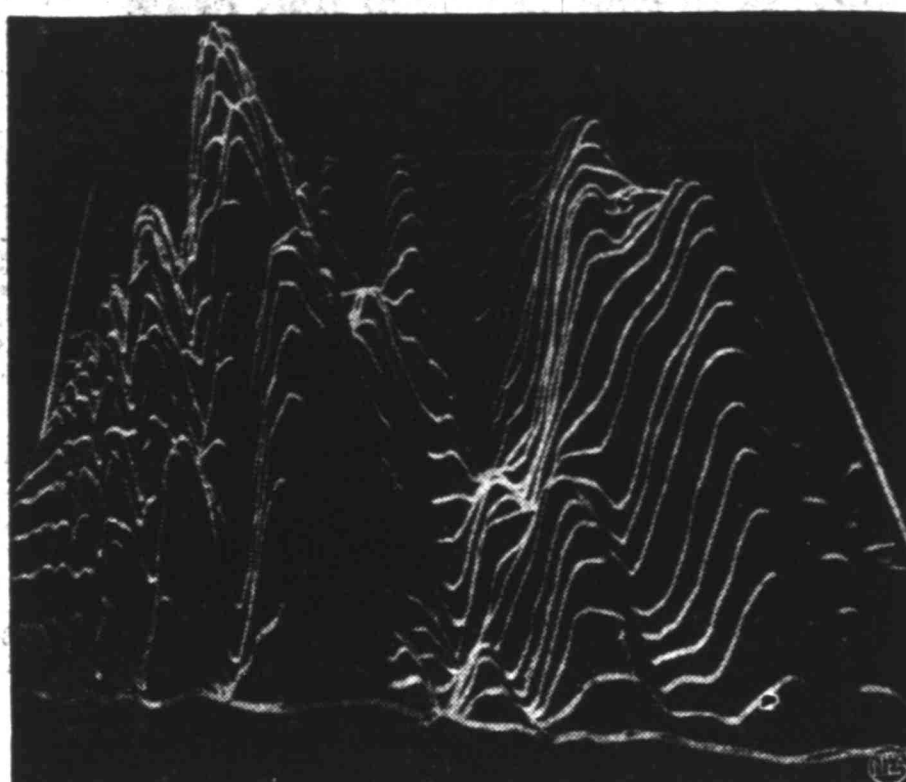

Truman last January ordered a reduction of 16,000 beds in the program. To carry this out, VA announced plans to cancel construction of 24 new hospitals and reduce the size of 14 others. All were in the planning stage.

At the same time, Truman had no comment on the Senate's defeat Friday night of Majority Leader Lucas' attempt to shut off the anti-civil rights filibuster.

Likewise, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, the President's spokesman, said Truman had nothing to say on John L. Lewis' call for a two-week work stoppage by soft and hard coal miners as a protest against appointment of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

One highly-placed but unquotable aide recalled Truman's speech to the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner February 24 in which he said he

Things Aren't Always What They Seem

Moonlight on the Grand Canyon?

Might be a big ditch—but it isn't.

X-ray of a fractured spine?

Got 'em figured out yet? Well, that "moonlight" scene is a three-dimensional model showing how electrical peaks and valleys can build up as a simulated lightning stroke travels through a specially-wound copper coil. It is used in research at the General Electric laboratory at Pittsfield, Mass. Not to be outdone, GE engineers at Schenectady, N. Y., produced the "X-ray of a fractured spine" above. It's really a high-speed photograph of a single large drop of water undergoing shock break-up under pressure of a wind stream. The "big ditch" is a study in perspective of a 1,285-foot metal flume near Merced, Calif.

Truman Keeps Mum On Senate Rebuffs, Coal Mines Walkout

KEY WEST, FLA.—(P)—President Truman met Capitol Hill re-buffs with a smile Saturday while his aides speculated about the growing possibility of a presidential stumping trip to save his program.

At the same time, Truman had no comment on the Senate's defeat Friday night of Majority Leader Lucas' attempt to shut off the anti-civil rights filibuster.

Likewise, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, the President's spokesman, said Truman had nothing to say on John L. Lewis' call for a two-week work stoppage by soft and hard coal miners as a protest against appointment of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

One highly-placed but unquotable aide recalled Truman's speech to the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner February 24 in which he said he may take another train trip around the country to let the voters know what is going on in Washington. This aide said nothing has been decided on such a course, but "the possibility is growing."

There was no hint of this worry on the smiling face of the President, however, when reporters saw him greet Chief Justice Vinson as the latter arrived at the "Little White House" from Washington.

Girlstown, U.S.A., Opens Its Doors Sunday At Buffalo Gap

By MARTHA COLE
BUFFALO GAP, TEXAS—(P)—Girlstown, U. S. A., will open its doors Sunday for the girl who needs a home.

Just as Boys Town, Nebraska, offered refuge for neglected boys, Girlstown, U. S. A., hopes to become a haven for the girls who are neglected, wayward or homeless. The two-story home stands in the middle of this little town of 300 population. It has 32 bedrooms, consultation and study rooms, an athletic field and stables.

Its founder is Miss Amelia Anthony, formerly of El Paso, who has been engaged in welfare work for 12 years.

Its backers are those who have come from the wide open spaces with open hearts and open pocket-books—West Texans.

West Texas First
"Girlstown will provide a haven for girls of West Texas first," Miss Anthony said. "If we have space, then girls will be accepted from other sections of the state. We expect Girlstown to grow."

Miss Anthony continued: "Girlstown has been established because of the need for such a project. There are many provisions for homeless boys but the girls who need homes have been neglected."

Boys towns, boys ranches and boys homes around over the nation. Havens just for girls are few and far between. Orange, Texas, opened a big home a year or so ago for neglected girls. Waco has a girls' club. The Catholic Church has three homes for girls in the state—at Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. And the state maintains at Gainesville the State Training School for Girls convicted of delinquency.

Miss Anthony said girls would be accepted from homes where problems have arisen which would leave the girl homeless, from homes where the mother alone may be unable to provide for the girl and from homes where parents believe their daughters may need help in working out their individual problems.

The girls will be required to attend public school.

IN CRITICAL CONDITION
Frank Koonce, for many years a resident of Midland and Martin counties, is reported in a critical condition at Martin County Memorial Hospital in Stanton. Doctors say he is suffering from a heart ailment.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —
By DON MCGREGOR

Midland Livestock Auction reported 500 head of cattle sold during the sale Thursday. The market was reported strong and active on all classes.

Fat calves and yearlings went at $22 to $25; medium calves and yearlings, $19 to $22; fat cows, $17 to $18; medium cows, $16 to $17; canners and cutters, $12.50 to $15.50; fat bulls, $19 to $20.50; medium bulls, $17 to $19; stocker steers calves and yearlings, $24 to $28; stocker heifer calves and yearlings, $24 to $28; stocker cows, $18 to $19; cow and calf pairs, $180 to $210.

The 1949 Midland Livestock Show is over and forgotten by many. It never will be forgotten by others. It was a successful show in every respect and credit should be given where it is due. The list of men who worked hard and put in long hours is lengthy and never will be seen in its entirety, but in order to afford some slight recognition for hard work we have tried to compile a list of most of those behind the scenes.

E. H. Barron headed the show as president. Doing the footwork was Hubert Martin as secretary. In charge of preparing the grounds was J. R. Cuffman.

Then begins a list of men who worked hard at a myriad of jobs that had to be done. The list would include Les Floyd, L. T. Sledge, Charles Bush, Lanky Lane, Buck Buchanan, Warren Skaggs, A. G. Bohannon, Kelley Llewellyn, R. C. Vest, A. A. Jones, Don Estes, Harris Easham, R. L. Miller, Forrest King, Andy Fasken, Tom Sloan, J. P. Gibbins, J. R. McCarter, Perry Collins, Gordon Holcomb, Gerome Grayum and many others. These men were the ones behind the show that contributed in every way from hard work to contributions that made the show and auction a success.

Special thanks should go to Frosty Barnett for the use of the Scharbauer Hotel lobby Monday night for exhibition of the prize animals and to Don Estes and Mac MacConal for auctioneering. Also to Estes for the use of the auction facilities.

Many merchants and numerous individuals of Midland were instrumental in raising and donating prize money and buying animals at the show.

Bobby Howard of Midland County showed the fourth place calf in the heavyweight milk-fed division of the Sand Hills Hereford Show at Odessa Thursday.

Grand champion steer of the show was one shown by Bill Slaton of the Fort Stockton 4-H Club.

Another Midland placer was Norman Drake's calf took ninth in the heavyweight milk-fed class.

A general Farm Bureau meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the County Courtroom. All persons in this area who are interested in agriculture are invited to attend.

The meeting will be held for the purpose of discussing group hospitalization and medical insurance. George Walters, Midland medical insurance agent, will attend the meeting to explain the set up. Those so desiring may take out the insurance during the meeting or anytime before April 1. After March 31 another opportunity to obtain the insurance will not be presented for a year. R. C. Vest, secretary said.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Sherwood O'Neal, John M. King, Jr., Oswald Raggett and W. M. Bramlett of the Midland County Farm Bureau attended a meeting of the Texas Legislature during a discussion of rural roads last week.

A chicken breeder trying to keep exact records of the number of eggs laid by each fowl of his 12,000 subjects, came up with an economical and time-saving plan by wiring the hen houses for use of a wire recorder.

As each chicken is taken from the nest, the farm hand reads the number on her leg band into the microphone and makes appropriate comments on her productivity for that particular day. At the end of the day, the recorder is carried into the office where permanent production records are compiled and transcribed.

NEA recently released the following on the development of farm animals and proposals for the future: Experimenting with pigs, chickens, cattle, turkeys and sheep, Department of Agriculture scientists have improved old breeds, and developed new ones that promise to give the whole meat industry a tremendous boost during the next couple of years.

Most sensational results have come from research on hogs. They've literally stretched the pig, giving it more pork chops—bigger, leaner roasts—more lean bacon—juicier, tastier hams—less fat.

The story behind this development goes back to the days when Americans started to use vegetable oils for cooking. Until then, hogs had been the only source of shortening and frying fats. When the demand for hog fats began to ease up, farmers realized that they needed more meat and less fat on their pigs if they were going to continue making a profit on hog-raising.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture came to their aid. Danish pigs which had most of the meat characteristics which the farmers wanted were imported. The problem was to strengthen the Danish breeds so that they could survive in the U. S. climate.

Perfect Pigs

That was in 1935. After tireless work, two "perfect pigs" now are ready for American farmers. Much of the work was done in cooperation with the state of Minnesota and one of the new breeds is called the Minnesota Number One. It is already being raised by the farmers in that state. The other new breed which resulted from crossings with the original Danish hogs is called the Hampshire. It is just beginning to be supplied to the farmers. Both breeds are long, have very little fat and produce a much lighter percentage of choice cuts of meat than any other American breeds.

Millions of Americans have already tasted what has been done to the turkey during the past couple of years. Breeding and improved methods of feeding have put several pounds more meat on the average holiday bird. It makes turkey raising more profitable for the farmer and gives the consumer more meat and less bone for his money. The modern turkey also tastes much better and is less dry after being cooked.

The same work is now being done on the chicken. A&P Food Stores in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture are working on a program in an attempt to find the "Chicken-of-Tomorrow." A&P sponsored a contest designed to encourage chicken breeders to try to develop a better broiler. It produced a cross-breed which has one-third more meat than any previously known American broiler. A second contest, which will last three years, to try to get an even better broiler, now is under way. Some breeders predict that the chicken of the day after tomorrow will have twice as much meat as the chicken of tomorrow.

Experimental breeding to improve lamb has had to solve a very unusual problem. Researchers discovered that some of the theoretically best meat producing weren't producing good meat because wool grew over their eyes, blinding them and keeping them from finding enough food. Breeding finally got the wool out of their eyes. The accomplishment has been a tremendous boon to sheep raisers.

All kinds of curious combinations of breeds have been tried. The most successful of the latest tests is an animal which is five-eighths Hereford, one-quarter Angus and one-eighth Shorthorn. Its growth characteristics are best and the meat is of exceptionally high grade. It will take years, however, to develop an established breed from this combination.

It is the hope of the scientists who are working on these projects that their efforts will help to satisfy the tremendously increased demand for meat in the U. S. At the same time they hope to give the people better grades at cheaper prices.

They are even working to put more and better meat on rabbits, too.

Senate Panel To Play Prosecution Of Church Leaders

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Saturday began preparing a resolution to condemn the prosecution of Catholic and Protestant clergy in Hungary, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Chairman Connally (D-Texas) said the protests voiced in Congress will be combined in a single resolution. The committee took this action after hearing a report on the Cardinal Mindszenty trial from Selden Chapin, minister to Hungary.

Connally said the State Department will assist with advice in preparation of the resolution. It will combine protests against the prosecution of Cardinal Mindszenty of Yugoslavia, Lutheran Bishop Lajos Ordas of Hungary, 15 Protestant clergymen in Bulgaria, and other church leaders.

Tax Bill—

Atlantic Pact May Bring Solution For U.S. Base Problem

WASHINGTON — (P) — Danish Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen said Saturday he had discussed "several aspects of the Greenland problem" with high State Department officials.

The United States set up air bases on the great island of Greenland, which Denmark owns, during the last war. The question whether this country could continue to operate the bases in peacetime has been at issue two years and many high officials believe it will be solved finally in terms of the North Atlantic Security Treaty.

The treaty has been completed after months of negotiation and will be signed here the first week of next month.

Rasmussen is here seeking information about Denmark's obligations and benefits if it joins the projected alliance, as it is expected to do. He said he may leave for home Tuesday evening after another conference with Secretary of State Acheson, probably that afternoon.

Denmark and Italy are expected to line up formally with the Western defense bloc before the actual signing of the treaty next month, thus increasing the number of original signers to 10. Portugal and Iceland may come in also.

Completion of the treaty draft was announced Friday night by the negotiating team which has done all the work on it. The eight nations represented are the United States, Canada, Britain, Norway, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The State Department issued a formal statement saying several minor points had been cleared up during the session, that the text will be made public Friday, and that "the treaty will be signed the first week in April in Washington."

Champion Lightweight Barrow

Ervin Baumann of Midland annexed the champion honors in the lightweight class for barrows in the Midland County show with the hog pictured here. Baumann's entry also placed high in the district show.

SHELLS IN OVEN

FATAL TO BOY
HAMBURG, GERMANY — (P) — A housewife in Helmstedt found her cake form was too light so she weighted it down with two shells. She then pushed it into the hot oven. In the ensuing explosion her ten year old son was killed and she lost a leg.

SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

BIG SPRING — Voters of Big Spring Independent School District, will ballot March 25 on a proposed $200,000 bond issue. The bonds, if authorized and issued, will finance alteration of present school buildings and some new construction.

SHAKE HANDS WITH AN AD!

I HAPPEN to be an advertisement. And goodness knows, you've read hundreds of ads.

The object of an ad is to sell somebody something. And what I have to sell today is advertising itself.

Just look at all the other ads all through this paper. You usually look at them to find out what you want to buy. But look at them a little differently today.

Look a little more closely and see the job they're doing. Every ad is selling something—goods, an idea, services.

And every job in America ultimately depends on somebody selling something to somebody else. That's what makes the wheels go 'round. And advertising is the lowest cost way yet devised to sell goods.

So no matter what kind of job you have, be thankful to the ads like me. The advertising you see and hear is selling goods. And in the last analysis, that's what makes your job secure.

This rise in the standard of living for you and yours is unequalled in all history. Advertising helped raise this standard—is needed even more today to sell industry's new developments.

OTHER WAYS ADVERTISING HELPS YOU AND YOUR FAMILY

- 1 Brings you better goods for less money.
- 2 Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
- 3 Gears consumer demand to production, to create prosperity.

Coal Pit Walkout, Express Slowdown And New Wage-Hour Demands Stir Labor Front

By The Associated Press
More than 50,000 railroad workers felt the impact Saturday of John L. Lewis' order directing his United Mine Workers to stay out of the

Home when he went to Dr. Lord's home one day in 1946, begging food. The educator took him in and he remained there until he enlisted in the Navy in 1947.

Officers said Hester informed them he went AWOL, was arrested in Fort Worth and sentenced to 20 days in the brig and fined $240. He was dishonorably discharged from the Navy last December for going AWOL again and then returned to live with Dr. Lord.

Hester was described by Moyne L. Kelly, superintendent of the Orphan's Home at Corsicana, Texas, as a youth "who could move in on your heart faster than any kid I ever knew." Kelly, who had charge of Hester at Corsicana, said he had a "wonderful personality."

Planned To Re-Enlist
The youth is being held for the arrival of Texas officials by Clark and L. H. Rafferty were waiting in the living room at Mrs. Goldberry's home.

They said that when Hester walked in he looked at them, grinned widely and said, "This is it, ain't it?"

The youth told the officers he planned to visit relatives here, then attempt to re-enlist in the Navy. He said he never knew his parents and had been "shuffled" from one orphanage to another before Dr. Lord adopted him.

Hester was wearing a sweater he won as a left halfback on the football team at the Cornsana home.

Dr. Lord's body was found in a bedroom of his home. His head bore deep gashes. County officers started a search for Hester.

At Cleburne county seat of the county in which Dr. Lord and Hester lived, Sheriff Houston Walling said he would leave Sunday for Los Angeles to return Hester to Texas.

He said warrants had been mailed to Los Angeles police.

District Attorney John A. James, Jr., said at Cleburne the grand jury would take up the Hester case as soon as possible and that if Hester is indicted he will ask for the death penalty.

Earlier Saturday, a road block was set up at Las Cruces, N. M., after a motorist reported he picked up a hitchhiker fitting Hester's description. A suspect was questioned in Sweetwater, Texas, but was soon ruled out as Hester.

Friday, a man was detained in El Paso, after a motorist became suspicious of a hitchhiker.

exploration activities of the concern. Plymouth and Slick-Urschel Oil Company opened the Benetum field in December 1947. The engine trouble, the plane could have exceeded 100 miles.

Both Bartlett and Lt. William Grabowski, Bergenfield, N. J., flight engineer, who were on the flight, also made the distance trip on Pearl Harbor Day.

Crew Of 13 Men
The super-bomber, with Capt. Roy R. Showalter of Mobile, Ala., as pilot and commander and Lt. Clarence E. Horton of San Antonio as co-pilot, carried a crew of 12 men instead of the usual 15.

Other crewmen were Capt. Earl N. Yaden, London, Ky., bombardier-navigator; radar man Maj. Joseph A. Brown, Gillespie, Ill., responsible for dropping the bomb load; M/Sgt. John L. Corley, Fort Worth, and M/Sgt. Carl W. Arey, Susquehanna, Pa., flight engineers; T/Sgt. J. P. Fleming, Weston, Wyo., radio man; and S/Sgt. Clarence E. Padgett, San Antonio, Tex., navigator.

T/Sgt. Tampa, Fla., and Albert L. Claggett, Fort Worth, gunners.

The flight failed by 1,336 miles to equal the non-refueling distance record of 11,236 miles. This record was made by the Truett Truett, a two-engine Navy patrol plane, which flew from Perth, Australia, to land at Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 1, 1946.

definite agreement had been reached as yet but quickly added that a compromise is possible.

Trans-Jordan, which signed a cease-fire pact for the whole Palestine last Friday at Rhodes, has informed Britain officially of the Israeli advance to the Red Sea shore. Israel says the territory is hers under the United Nations partition arrangement.

Although Israel disclaimed any intention of attacking or transgressing, Britain obviously is viewing the situation as dangerous.

Israel Grab Charges
Amman quarters accused the Israeli of trying to grab what they want and present the UN with an accomplished fact, as they did with the seizure of Arab Beersheba from the Egyptians last October.

In London, the British War Office issued this statement: "The War Office announces that the British detachment at Aqaba is being reinforced." Britain has a treaty with Trans-Jordan which would require her to go to the aid of King Abdullah's nation if it should be attacked. About 1,000 British troops were sent to Aqaba in January at Abdullah's request.

British informants refused to tell the size of the reinforcements, where they would be sent from or whether Abdullah asked for them.

Britain Charges Deliberate Bulgarian Attack On Religion

LONDON-(P)-Britain charged Sunday that Bulgaria has no intention of living up to her peace treaty guarantee of political and religious freedom.

The charge was made in a sharp protest note against the trial of 15 Protestant church leaders. It declared the churchmen's confessions that they should be British were "completely false," and added: "Religious freedom in Eastern Europe is under a deliberate general attack."

Television Queers Their Pitch, Say British Magicians

MANCHESTER, ENGLAND-(P)-The Magician's union complained Saturday that television is queering their pitch.

More and more conjuring acts are being performed before the cameras of the British Broadcasting Corporation, said delegates to the annual meeting of the National Association of Magicians Societies.

The result is that the public is getting help to how it's all done. They decided to appeal to the BBC to keep the inner workings secret.

Woman's Club Will Hear Maurine Hearn

Speaker for the Midland Woman's Club at its March meeting Thursday afternoon will be Maurine Hearn of College Station, Texas, reared and educated, a sister of Mrs. Harrie A. Smith of Midland, and holder of the top woman's job in the Texas Extension Service.

As State Home Demonstration Agent and Vice Director for Women in the Extension Service, Miss Hearn heads the vast organization of home demonstration clubs in Texas and also directs the extension service staff concerned with home-making woman's part in food production, community service and farm home activities.

Honored By College

She is serving now as president of the Texas Agricultural Workers Association, the first woman to hold that office. She became state agent after a number of years' work with the extension service, first as a county agent then as district agent supervising the work in several West Texas counties.

A graduate of Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Miss Hearn was one of the 300 ex-students selected as distinguished alumnae to be honored at the college centennial of 1945. She also did graduate study in Cornell University.

Modern Study Hostess

Her talk to the Woman's Club will deal with home demonstration work in Texas, and she plans to illustrate it with slides. The program will be in the City-County Auditorium at 3 p.m. Thursday with the Modern Study Club as hostess.

The Woman's Club, called the City-County Federation of Women's Clubs before it adopted a change of name last month, comprises 17 member clubs whose members are invited to the meeting. It includes four home demonstration clubs of Midland County: Garden Addition, Prairie Lee, Valley View and West-side.

Mrs. W. G. Epley, president, will be in charge of the business session. Mrs. F. R. Schenck heads the Modern Study Club, whose members will serve as hostesses.

Class Honors Midland Girl

Mary Jane Glahn, Midland, has been chosen "Freshman Favorite" by her classmates at Our Lady of Victory College, Fort Worth. Results of the annual election for the yearbook honor have just been announced by Sister Mary Beatrice, dean.

Mary Jane Glahn

The Midland student is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Glahn, 2501 West Holloway Street. She is a former student of John M. Cowden, former High School here.

It has been chosen for review by a guest, Mrs. J. R. Cotton, at the St. Patrick's Day silver tea to be given by the Eva Cowden Class of the First Baptist Church Thursday in the Social Building of the church. The class invites the public for this program.

The book, Douglas' eleven novel, follows the pattern set by "The Robe," in which Douglas turned from modern subjects to a setting of New Testament times with some historical personages as characters.

Fishing Boats

In "The Robe," the main character was fictional; "The Big Fisherman" is a story of Simon Peter the apostle of Jesus. It presents him as a powerful, profane and irreverent fishing boss on the Sea of Galilee, who lays down his nets to follow an ideal for the remainder of his life. The review will stress his spiritual development.

The reviewer has been a resident of Midland for three years, is active in women's organizations of the First Baptist Church and is a member of the Twentieth Century Study Club.

The former Betty Jo Kemp, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kemp of El Paso and holds a B.A. degree in journalism from the Texas College of Mines.

Her husband is a geologist with The Pure Oil Company here, and they have two children, Jimmie and Linda Grace.

Crafts Included In Plan For Art Class

Instruction in crafts as well as in painting will be offered in classes being organized by Bonnie Bogardus to meet Wednesdays in the Palette Club Studio. Children's classes are being formed now, and adult classes are planned later.

Mrs. Bogardus studied five and a half years at the Honsey College of Fine Arts and Crafts in London, her former home, where she learned methods of teaching art, commercial advertising, book illustration, sculpture, ceramics, line-cutting, wood engraving and other crafts. She holds a "Drawing Group" diploma for line drawing, architecture, perspective and composition.

Children who make up a tape but cannot write it down, and do not have a teacher or parent who can write it for them, are invited to notify Mrs. Thomas in order to get the necessary help from the committee.

Bride To Live In Midland

Mrs. Ben J. Renshaw

Bell-Renshaw Rites Solemnized In Crane

CRANE—A marriage ceremony solemnized at twilight Saturday united Melba Ray Bell, daughter of Mrs. Addie Bell of Crane, and Ben J. Renshaw of Midland, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Renshaw of Midland. The Rev. Raymond Dunn, pastor, officiated in the Tabernacle Baptist Church.

An arch covered with huckleberry leaves, plumous and white stock made a background for the wedding party. On either side of the arch were tall baskets holding stock and pink carnations, tied with white satin bows, and white tapers in two pairs of candelabra lighted the altar.

Gordon Tunnell of Stanton, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. Her only attendant was Dorothy Nolan of Eunice, N. M., and the best man was Charles W. Gray of Paducah, J. F. Miller and Don Whitaker served as ushers.

Song Precedes Vows

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Raymond Dunn sang "Because," D'Harlelot, with Mrs. A. B. Williams as accompanist. Mrs. Williams played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was dressed in a suit of ice blue gabardine with a bouquet of white carnations pinned at the shoulder, and a flower wreath hat.

Her mother wore a blue sheer gown, and the bridegroom's mother wore a brown ensemble, both with corsages of pink carnations.

After the wedding the couple received good wishes from friends at a reception in the Community Hall, which was decorated with flowers in the white and pink colors of the wedding. Beth Barsley of Midland presided at the guest register.

Guests from Midland for the wedding and reception included the bridegroom's parents and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Oatman, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Oatman, Alton Hilson, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Tunnell. Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Johnny Poole of Longview, James Malone of Troupe, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tunnell and Mrs. S. W. Tunnell of Stanton, the Buster Oatman family of Lubbock, Buck Oatman of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cardwell and Mr. and Mrs. John Hurst of Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Innes of Grandfalls.

BACK FROM TEMPLE

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Reiger have returned from Temple where their daughter, Mrs. Adale Thiele of Saltillo, Mexico, recently underwent surgery. Mrs. Thiele's condition is reported to be satisfactory.

Young Models Rehearse Style Prevue

Gift Tea Is Event For Bride

Green and white, the colors chosen by Julia Edith Midkiff for her wedding Tuesday in the ranch home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herd Midkiff, were used in decorating for a gift tea honoring her Saturday afternoon. She is the bride-elect of Glenn Drake.

The tea was in the home of Mrs. Lynch King on the Big Lake Road, with Mrs. Hunter Midkiff as co-hostess. White flowers and greenery decorated the rooms.

In the receiving line with the hostesses were the honoree and her mother, and Mrs. V. R. Drake, mother of the bridegroom-elect. Guests registered in the bride's book where Mrs. Bob Calote presided.

Alice Midkiff and Maydelle Midkiff alternated at the punch bowl, which was set on a table centered with an arrangement of white sweet-peas flanked by candelabra holding green tapers. Loyce Midkiff was in charge of the gift display.

Civic Music Club To Complete Series In Program Tuesday

The final program in a year's series grouped under the subject, "Contrasts and Parallels," will be presented by Civic Music Club members and guests Tuesday night, when the club will meet in the First Methodist Church.

For the two remaining months of the club season, special programs will be presented. The Odessa Music Study Club will supply a program of opera music in April, and a program observing National Music Week is to be arranged for May.

Composers chosen for the contrasts and parallels of the Tuesday program are Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and Joseph Haydn.

At the luncheon Friday, awards will be made in district contests on yearbooks, club reports, scrapbooks, poetry and art. Entertainment will be a novelty dance routine by Roger Kirby, with Mrs. Joseph H. Mims accompanying.

The breakfast Saturday morning will open with entertainment by the Midland Lions Club International.

Tejas Garden Club Slates Review By Mrs. Earl Chapman

A morning book review in the Tower Theater Tuesday is announced by the Tejas Garden Club, which will present Mrs. Earl Chapman as guest reviewer. The book is "The Big Fisherman," novel by Lloyd O. Douglas.

Mrs. J. D. Dillard, president of the Tejas Club, announces that the public is invited for the review, and that tickets are on sale by all members of the club. They may also be obtained at the box office, preceding the review at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Funds from this program will be contributed to the Midland Woman's Club Building.

Will Be June Bride

Jill Parrott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Parrott, 1117 North Colorado Street, will be married in June to Ira Joe Holder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Holder of Goldsmith, her parents are announcing. The day of the approaching marriage has not been set.

Convention Ticket Limit Approaching

Tickets for the meals which will be served during the annual Spring convention of Eighth District Federated Women's Clubs here April 7-9, recently placed on sale in federated clubs of Midland, are to be purchased by local members before Tuesday night, Mrs. F. N. Shriver, ticket chairman, reminds club women.

The tickets are for the presidents' dinner of the night of April 7, the luncheon of April 8, and the breakfast which will close the convention on the morning of April 9. Some of the main convention speakers will be heard at these meals, and program numbers arranged locally have been announced by Mrs. James O. Simmons, Jr., chairman of that phase of convention arrangements.

Speakers at the presidents' dinner, which will be the only formal event of the convention, will be Mrs. J. J. Perry of Sweetwater, president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. J. M. Montgomery of Fort Stockton, Eighth District president. This dinner will honor all club presidents, and will be open to convention delegates and visitors.

Greetings From City

Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, will give the city's official greetings to the convention at this dinner. He will be introduced by Mrs. J. Howard Hodge. Mrs. Frank Thompson will sing solos, with Mrs. Frank Miller as accompanist.

At the luncheon Friday, awards will be made in district contests on yearbooks, club reports, scrapbooks, poetry and art. Entertainment will be a novelty dance routine by Roger Kirby, with Mrs. Joseph H. Mims accompanying.

The breakfast Saturday morning will open with entertainment by the Midland Lions Club International.

Convention Orchestra, with Duke Jimeron as master of ceremonies.

Midland women were asked, through their clubs, to purchase tickets early so that hostess chairmen for the meals may estimate the number of places to prepare. Mrs. Shriver urges those not reached at club meetings to notify her, by Tuesday of the number of tickets wanted, to honor Mrs. Hodge.

Other convention programs will not require tickets. These include a tea Friday afternoon, April 8, with the Fine Arts Club of Midland as hostess honoring Mrs. Hodge, one of its members who is a candidate for presidency of the Texas Federation for next year.

The annual convention fine arts program is scheduled for Friday night in the First Baptist Church auditorium, where daytime business sessions also will be held. The night speaker will be Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

Music in the fine arts program will open with a trio arrangement of the "Club Woman's Collect," sung by Vera Lee Goins, Nellie Clark and Anna Joyce Streeter, with Mrs. Raymond G. Hall as director; selections by a string trio, Mrs. E. S. Hitchcock, Mrs. Charles F. Henderson. (Continued on page 2)

Patch Testing Is Started In Public Schools Of Midland

The annual tuberculin patch testing program sponsored by the Midland County Tuberculosis Association was started last week in public schools here. John J. Redfern, Jr., association president, announced. The school system is cooperating in the program.

The tests are offered free of charge to students in the first, fifth and eighth grades and to all new students of associated grades. An audience of associated grades are selected for the tests each year.

The first tests in the 1948 program were made in the Terminal, Greenwood, Latin American and Carver Schools, Redfern said.

The testing is done under the direction of Mrs. Linnie H. Davidson, executive secretary of the association, and Mrs. Max David, chairman. Members of P-TA units assist in the program.

The written permission of parents is required before the tests are made. Results of the tests, negative or positive, are sent to the parents in written form. Sponsors said that even though a child may show a positive reaction, it is not to be alarmed over except that it merits further checking and consultation.

Patch testing, a painless procedure, is said by sponsors to be one of the best ways to help find unrecognized cases of tuberculosis.

Holder board members are Ledbetter, Atkin Cook, Wayne Adams, and Elmo Glass.

Piano Team Gives Music Program Of Classics, Moderns

Two pianos were played so unerringly together by Arthur Gold and Robert Fisdale in the Civic Music Association concert Friday night that the audience received the impression that the four hands were directed by one mind.

The performance achieved a smoothness that drew attention, not to the fact that two performers were managing to stay together in difficult passages, but to the quality of the music produced. An audience of associated grades are selected for the tests each year.

The pre-intermission program was from the classics, starting with the "Sicilienne" of Bach transcribed for the two pianos by Guy Mader. Its quiet simplicity gave way to a show of technical brilliance in Mozart's "Sonata in D Major, K. 448." The final selection in this group was a set of nine variations by Brahms on a theme by Haydn, a piece of varying moods and rhythms to tax the skill of the pianists.

Present-day composers were interpreted by the duo-pianists in the second half of the concert. Two of the numbers were composed especially for Gold and Fisdale. Vittorio Rieti, Italian composer, wrote the "Rite Chamber" for them, and "Darius Milhaud, one of the group of modern French composers who became known as "The Six," wrote for them the suite, "Carnival in New Orleans," from which they played the movement, "Creole Masquerade."

"Danse," a dream-like waltz by Germaine Tailleferre, only woman member of "The Six," was another modern French piece.

One species of solitary wasp will feed only on spiders; another requires a certain type caterpillar; and others dig exclusively for beetles, grasshoppers, ants, crickets or cockroaches, to name a few specialties.

Another Milhaud composition, a samba called "Brasiliere," was presented with rhythm enough to please the most ardent lover of South American dances. Remaining pieces of the program were by the American, Aaron Copland. His "Dances" sent the key-boards into Cuban rhythm, with the pianos sometimes sounding together and sometimes answering each other in a dance. The final number, titled "Hoe-down," is an excerpt from the ballet, "Rodeo," and abounds in square dance tempo.

Insistent applause brought the pianists back for a series of short encores. They played "Walking Song," Thompson; "Flight of the Bumblebee," Rimsky-Korsakov; Brazilian number, "Playing Tag," and a Tchaikowsky waltz.

The piano team was presented by the Oddessa Civic Music Association Thursday night, their second appearance in the city. They were scheduled by request of association members for whom they had played two years ago—S. C.

Texas Writer Will Review Her Own Book About Missouri Here

"The Years of the Locust," prize-winning novel which the author, Louisa Grace Erdman of Canyon, will review here on March 20, is one book by a Texan which is not about Texas, and its title does not refer to grasshoppers.

The title is from a Biblical passage found in the book of Joel, "and the Lord said, I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten." The setting is a rural community in Missouri, like the one where Miss Erdman was born and grew up. She has been an instructor in the Department of English in West-as Teachers College several years, and before that taught in the Amarillo schools, but her childhood was spent in Saline and Lafayette Counties, in Missouri.

Literary Cinderella. The fact that she has been away from her childhood home for a number of years, she believes, gives her the long-range view that enables her to write about it. The novel is a narrative of the lives of one family and their acquaintances, in the farmland "out from the river." It is not a river story and is not autobiographical, the author says.

Miss Erdman worked on the story for three years, mostly during summer vacations, before she wrapped the manuscript in a men's underwear box and mailed it from Blackburn, Mo. She had no idea that it would make her the year's literary Cinderella by winning the $10,000 Redbook-Dodd Mead prize. It first was published in Redbook Magazine under the title, "Lest We Lose Our Eden."

Sorority Is Sponsor. Before she submitted it in the contest, her agent in New York had seen the manuscript and advised Miss Erdman to "file it away and forget it." She already had a number of short stories published, but her two previous books were "career novels" for young people. She since has published another novel, "Lonely Passage," also set in Missouri and also praised for its high literary quality.

Miss Erdman will be presented in the Sunday afternoon review here by the Alpha Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. The program will be in the Midland High School Auditorium with Mrs. Joe H. Roos, Midland pianist, assisting. Tickets are on sale by members of the chapter, which is headed by Rosemary Black, president.

Proceeds of the book review will make possible a contribution by the chapter to a national Epsilon Sigma Alpha project, an auricular foundation which supports such work as mobile units to test hearing of school children, and aid to hard-of-hearing children and adults.

CRMWA Will Seek Creation Of Area Water District

BIG SPRING—R. T. Piner, chairman of the executive committee of the Colorado River Municipal Water Association, announced a meeting of the committee will be held in Austin March 21, at which time a conference also will be held with senators and representatives from this area.

The meetings will deal with legislation to establish a water district to supply Odessa and Big Spring, Bills, co-authored by Senators Hudson of Pecos, Corbin of Lamesa and Bullock of Colorado City have been introduced to create the proposed district and permit cities to contract with such district for municipal water.

The proposed district would include Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa, but Colorado City has arranged for its own supply from the Texas Electric Service Company reservoir at nearby Morgan Creek, and the Midland City Council recently went on record as not favoring the program in its present form.

Tea To Introduce Painter And His Work Will Be Given Sunday By Palette Club

The Palette Club will introduce Robert Atwood, New England artist now living in West Texas, to art enthusiasts of Midland and nearby cities at a tea Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. G. H. Butler, 934 North Baird Street.

Atwood, teacher and painter of landscapes and portraits, comes from Vermont, but spends the winters in West Texas and is living in Abilene at present. He started classes in painting at the Palette Club Studio here Monday, and also teaches in Abilene and San Angelo.

Invitations to the tea have been sent to persons known by Palette Club members to be interested in painting, but others who wish to meet Atwood and see his paintings are invited. Mrs. F. H. Lanham, president, said.

Classes conducted by Atwood will meet in the Palette Club Studio at 1 p. m. each Monday and Tuesday, and at 7 p. m. Mondays. Afternoon classes this week will be held outdoors if the weather permits, the teacher has announced. Persons interested in joining the classes are asked to telephone No. 2396-W for information.

Judge Will Rule in Civil Damage Case

After attorneys representing both sides in the civil damage suit of Jordan Drilling Company vs. J. W. Starr failed to agree on the jury's verdict, District Judge Paul Moss Friday afternoon asked that briefs be presented to him and he will hand down a final decision.

The jury's decision was on each of the 14 issues of the case which involves $4,500 requested damages for failure to complete an oil well as per contract.

The Jordan company alleged that responsibility for the proper placing of the cement in the hole through seven-inch casing belonged to the defendant, J. W. Starr, the contractor.

The company contended that solidifying of the cement in the casing was the cause of the failure of the firm to drill the well to the contract depth. The firm further pointed out it was not required to drill through the solidified cement in the casing on its own time.

In a counter-claim Starr pointed out the defendants deviated from the vertical in drilling the hole approximately 15 degrees, or some lesser deviation exceeding three degrees, and which he alleged is a violation of the implied duty of the defendant to drill the hole in a good and workmanlike manner.

Starr further alleged the defendant failed to drill the well to a depth of approximately 1,700 feet, but drilled only to an approximate depth of 1,584 feet, at which point casing was set and an effort made to cement. After the defendant had failed in efforts to cement the well, Starr contends 500 feet of cement was allowed to set and harden inside the oil string.

Excessive deviation of the hole and hardening of the cement in the hole made it impossible for the defendant to complete the well as per contract, according to Starr.

Dallas Symphony To Play Odessa Civic Music Program

The Dallas Symphony Orchestra and its conductor, Antal Dorati, will be presented Thursday in the final concert of the season for the Odessa Civic Music Association. The orchestra will play in the Odessa High School Auditorium. Under the leadership of Dorati, who reorganized the Dallas Symphony after World War II, the orchestra has brought musical fame to Texas by broadcasts over major networks, recording for Victor with such distinguished soloists as Yehudi Menuhin and Artur Schnabel, and playing this season in cities of Texas, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico and Old Mexico.

County-Wide Blood Typing Program Slated This Week

Sponsored by the Midland Business and Professional Women's Club, in cooperation with Midland doctors, a county-wide blood typing program will be launched Monday evening in the City-County Health Center on South Colorado Street. The program will continue through Friday.

Melody Club Elects Officers At Stanton

STANTON—Sue Jane Zimmerman was elected president of the Melody Club when it met Thursday in the home of Mrs. O. B. Bryan. Other officers chosen are Walter P. Eiland, vice president; Ina Joy Williams, recording secretary; Jessie L. Burns, corresponding secretary; Linda Bess Bryan, treasurer; and Anna Bell Heckler, historian.

Games were directed by the club sponsor, Mrs. Williams, and refreshments were served. The club will meet next on March 29.

ists will be on hand from 5 to 9 p. m. daily to handle the blood typing and recording. A system has been worked out whereby the process can be completed in five minutes per individual.

Termed by the sponsors as a most important and worthwhile program, an effort will be made to type the blood of every citizen of Midland County. The full cooperation of residents is requested. The program is strictly voluntary and citizens may call at the health center any night of the week.

Central Filing
The information will be recorded and placed in a central filing system, which will be available to all members of the medical profession. The name, address, blood type and whether or not the individual would be willing to donate blood in case of an emergency will be listed on each card. Persons are not obligated to donate blood unless they so desire, B&PW members said. The files will be kept temporarily at the Western Clinic-Hospital, but will be moved to the Midland Memorial Hospital when it is in operation.

Individuals having their blood typed will be furnished small personal cards bearing essential information. This card should be carried at all times in case of an emergency.

The B&PW Club was asked to sponsor the program and has spent considerable time, money and effort in perfecting arrangements and in obtaining equipment and supplies.

City-Wide Support
The program is supported by the Medical Association and by various other organizations, including the churches, school, Chamber of Commerce and civic, service and women's clubs.

Microscopes used in the project are furnished by Dr. William Waters, Dr. R. Penn, Dr. Glen Walker and the City-County Health Unit. Miss Fannie Bess Taylor will be on hand in the health unit's receiving office each evening to greet citizens and to answer questions concerning the program.

Members of the Medical Association, sponsors said, long have felt the need of such a source of information and several meetings concerning the program were held before final arrangements were made. The program is a major project of the year of the B&PW Club.

West Texas Kennel Club Slates Annual All-Breed Dog Show

The West Texas Kennel Club's second annual All-Breed Dog Show will be held March 30 at the Ector County Pavilion in Odessa, with a record number of entries from Texas and neighboring states expected. The show is licensed by the American Kennel Club.

Carl Wavat of Midland is president of the West Texas club. Other officers are Mrs. Dorothy W. Kelly, vice president; Mrs. Aletha M. Conner, secretary-treasurer. Directors are C. L. Davenport, Mrs. Myrtle Cook, T. J. Gregg, T. A. Ayers and Dr. M. E. Roth.

Cash prizes, trophies and ribbons will be awarded winners in the various classes. Thursday noon is the closing date for entries in the unbench show. Entries must be mailed to Dog Show Superintendent, Elliott Hotel, Odessa.

The show will be open from 8 a. m. to 11 p. m., with judging scheduled to start at 9 a. m. Hans Oberhammer of New York City, one of the nation's top dog show judges, will officiate. Other judges include Alf Mitchell of Philadelphia, Fred Gant of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Bob Pringle of Bovina, Texas.

A number of Midlanders will enter dogs in the various divisions of the show.

A piece of radium will lose half its radiating power in 1,600 years.

'Death On Highway' Subject For Guest Speaker To Council

Common courtesy is one of the most important factors in highway safety, Sgt. John Cundieff of the Texas Department of Public Safety told members of the Midland County Home Demonstration Council to which he was a guest speaker Friday.

The council's monthly meeting was held in the assembly room at the courthouse. Cundieff's topic was "Death on the Highway," and in addition to urging courtesy as a guide to safe driving, he reminded his hearers that the State Highway Patrol is an organization to protect motorists, not to frighten them, and that drivers are invited to enlist the aid of patrolmen for motor safety and convenience.

Delegates Elected

Delegates to the annual district convention of home demonstration clubs, scheduled April 8 and 9 in El Paso, were elected by the council. Mrs. I. H. Howard, Mrs. H. O. Allen and Mrs. Walter Sneed were named delegates. Mrs. J. C. Stevens and Mrs. J. T. Harris alternates. In addition, a number of other club members from the county plan to be convention visitors.

Others present at the meeting Friday were Mrs. D. M. Bissell, Mrs. O. O. Reid, Mrs. Bill Broxson, Mrs. Woody Campbell, Mrs. O. E. Sherman, Mrs. J. W. McKenna, Mrs. E. S. North, Mrs. A. L. Repecka and Mrs. Nettie B. Messick.

McCAMEY LEGION WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

McCAMEY — Commander Ray Coats of the Price Pool Number 421 Post here announced an anniversary party of the American Legion would be held at the Legion Hall March 15. Refreshments will be served and dancing will complete the program.

Air Cadet Prospects Invited To Interview

Captain John G. Henry, USAF, the Aviation Cadet Project Officer of the El Paso Recruiting District will arrive in Big Spring Tuesday to interview area young men interested in pilot training and a career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. 1st Lieutenant Fred N. Massey, in charge of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station announced.

Captain Henry will have his headquarters in the recruiting station at the Post Office Building in Big Spring and will give examinations to applicants for Aviation Cadet Training between the hours of 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. Tuesday.

Applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 28 1/2 and must have two years of college or the ability to pass an equivalent Air Force examination. Lieutenant Massey explained that under a recent ruling both single and married men now are eligible for officer and pilot training.

The first ski club was organized in the United States at Berlin, N. H., in 1882.

Steel Bottle Necks

Are Hard To Break

West Texas Gas Company is spending approximately $2,250,000.00 this year to meet your demands for natural gas service.

Although most materials are available for the 1949 improvement and expansion program... there is still one big "bottle neck." The "bottle neck" is largely in the scarcity of steel pipe in the quantity and quality required.

To meet the demand for natural gas service, large sums of money are being spent replacing various sized lines on our transmission system and in our distribution plants with larger pipe.

When a line is replaced it is necessary to recondition the pipe we take out before it can be used elsewhere.

Pipe that we remove from the ground is cleaned, inspected and tested with all the meticulous care of new pipe. It is subjected to high pressure tests and pipe that will not stand "above normal usage" is discarded.

Costs of reconditioning pipe, new steel pipe, wages and other items have risen sharply during the past few years... yet despite the increased costs... natural gas service for your home and business is still furnished you at pre-war prices.

"New Look" Presented In Petroleum Training

A remarkable story of progress in vocational education carried on within the oil industry during the past 15 years which has benefited more than fifty thousand oil company employees was told by John A. Ritter, Southwest production superintendent of the Sun Oil Company, and John Woodruff, co-ordinator of Petroleum Training in division, in a joint presentation before the spring meeting of the Southwestern District production division of the American Petroleum Institute in Galveston, last week.

More than sixty-five thousand copies of texts, each validated by API committees whose members worked largely on their own time, have gone to oil workers in every state in the Union and to 37 foreign countries, Ritter said. Most of the courses validated by the committees were also written by them, he said.

Started in 1933

The vocational training program had its origin in 1933, when a special topical committee on vocational training was formed by the API to cooperate with the various states in promoting vocational education among workers. The committee prepared outlines of subjects based on workers' needs, and followed through to the classroom point by preparing and validating texts and working with federal and state vocational authorities.

Post-war improvement and streamlining of the petroleum program was characterized by Ritter as the "new look" in vocational training.

It includes the further development of cooperative programs, individual advice and counsel to individual company members, the provision of training materials for use by any group, improvement in training techniques and the preparation of a bibliography on materials and practices.

Mobile Training Unit In addition, the University of Texas is this year the beneficiary of a $15,000 grant from the Institute to permit enlargement of the scope of the program in Texas. This, Woodruff said, would make possible additional instructional facilities and personnel.

Recently approved by the committee are two new courses on pumping equipment and the treatment of crude oil emulsions. A mobile unit in which the necessary laboratory equipment is mounted on a suitable truck for traveling from field to field is being prepared to make the instructional facilities accessible in any locality. A full-time instructor will move with the mobile unit, giving the courses which can be completed in approximately ten meetings.

In addition, "stationary" courses requiring immobile equipment will be assigned to local junior colleges near oil fields in various parts of the country. Junior college instruction will be offered both as pre-employment instruction for full-time students preparing themselves for futures in the oil industry and extension courses in evening classes for people now employed.

Appropriately— Shamrock Hotel Will Be Opened On St. Pat's Day

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON —(AP)— Glen McCarthy's greatest dream—a $20,000,000 hotel—becomes a reality St. Patrick's Day.

The 41-year-old Houston oil millionaire formally unlocks the huge glass doors of his 18-story Shamrock, a 1,100-room apartment-transient hotel, March 17.

The Shamrock, in all its modern beauty, is only a small part of the empire which McCarthy has carved since 1932, when, as a man of only modest means, he turned to the oil industry at the age of 25.

He brought in his first producing oil well in 1933. Since then there have been nearly two score field discoveries. As the empire grew, McCarthy placed his money in a wide variety of activities.

He is a rancher, banker, newspaper publisher, exporter, importer, motion picture producer, and owner of a radio station, steel mill, gasoline plant and chemical plant.

Reports on the various activities are funneled into McCarthy's office in a 22-story downtown Houston building, one of his real estate properties.

Television In Every Room Every piece of furniture in the Shamrock, located approximately four miles south of downtown Houston, was designed and built on special order. There'll be television in every room.

The hotel faces northeast, at the curved base of a triangular plot of 15 acres. It is flanked by a five-story garage-exhibition building and a 183-foot swimming pool.

The first three floors of the hotel contain public rooms, offices, dining rooms, kitchens and a $100,000 medical clinic for employees and visitors.

Floors four through eight hold single, double and twin bedrooms, ten through fifteen have doublets—efficiency apartments—and suites. Apartments on sixteen through eighteen are for permanent guests. McCarthy will be the first guest to register St. Patrick's Day, but he will be accompanied by many special guests.

The oilman is arranging a special streamlined train to carry 175 Hollywood actors and writers here for the opening and for the world premiere of his first movie production, "The Green Promise." The premiere will be held at two downtown theaters.

Special plane flights from the East and Midwest will bring 150 other newspaper writers, governmental and business figures.

On opening night McCarthy will honor his guests at two dinners. Reservations are being sold at $42 and $33 per person.

Delbert Jones Is Given Party For Twelfth Birthday

Delbert Jones was honored on his twelfth birthday Friday with a party given by Artie Jones, Katrina Jo Shelburne and Larkie Lester. After outdoor games, refreshments including a decorated birthday cake were served.

Guests were Zella Booth, Cecil Kelly, Reba Harry, Benny Booth, Jerry Lester, Larry Sapp, Stanley Burris, Nell Lester, Prentice Blansett, Willie Daniels, Ruth Julian, Florence Julian, Edmund Julian, Richard Heard, Herbert Williams, Vernon Williams, Danny Lesley, Charles Collins, Yvonne Williams, Marvin Williams and Troy Lesley. Mrs. J. K. Betts, Mrs. Joe Shelburne and Mrs. E. F. Jones assisted the hosts.

Relates Girl Scout History To Brownies

McCAMERY—Mrs. Burl Williams, leader of Brownie Troop 3 related a Girl Scout history in story form to the troop when it met recently in the Girl Scout "Little House." She was assisted by Mrs. Ed Sherry.

Miss Judy Cooper was in charge of the refreshments and 30 members and one guest were served cookies and cold drinks. Mrs. Cooper assisted.

Antiques Of Early American And More Elegant Periods To Be Entered In Show

Early American pieces are to be featured in a display at the Modern Study Club's Antique-Hobby Show next week by Joy King, Midland collector and dealer. If a truck-load of antiques on the way from Pennsylvania reaches here in time, Mrs. King plans to arrange a room with all furniture and accessories of the period.

In her home and in the workshop-storage house in her backyard, Mrs. King has several pieces of furniture and various other articles of the Early American period. A cherry-wood jelly cupboard holds a part of her varied assortment of china in her kitchen, and three Windsor chairs keep it company.

Other Periods Represented A full set of Allerton Edge Willow china is displayed in a pine cupboard in the workshop, where there is also a spoon-dyed of solid, walnut, a pair of rabbit-ear chairs and an old cobbler's bench. Such accessories as a wooden churn, a coal-oil lamp, holder with reflector back, a set of pressed glass in the panel thistle pattern and a variety of china and pottery including a pair of mulberry porcelain plates from Pennsylvania are among the early Americans.

Her collection is not confined to one period, however. She has several interesting pieces of rosewood furniture in her home, starting with a loveseat hand-carved in a grape design, a French cabinet of rosewood inlaid with fruitwood, a card table with graceful legs and a folding top, a scalloped table with scalloped marble top, a marble-topped dresser with a large mirror in a carved frame, a marble-topped chest and a bedroom suit with elaborate carving on the head of the bed, a small chest and a dresser with wig cabinets.

Chair For Music Other pieces of furniture include a French desk and chair with inlay decoration surrounded by a carved design. The chair has a compartment built under the seat where a music box formerly was set.

Among her extensive collection of china are several sets of French Haviland, and a Meissen compote with the bowl upheld by figures of cupids, which has been made into a lamp. Another unusual lamp is a tall piano lamp with a brass stand, onyx shelf, and a globe of hand-painted camphor glass.

One of the most unusual pieces she owns is a Josiah Wedgwood covered tureen on a tray. It is gray in color, with panels of the characteristic Wedgwood blue and design in relief with silver lustre trim. The figure of a cow on the cover, and heads of cattle, a horse and a dog around the bowl stand out in relief.

DISEASES REPORTED Twenty-five cases of measles, five cases of chicken pox, two cases of pneumonia, three cases of strep throat and one case of influenza were reported to the office of Dr. F. E. Badler, director of the City-County Health Unit, last week.

An estimated 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 Americans are ski enthusiasts.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

Bomb Explosion Near Sub Provides Unslated Thrill For Texas Representative

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Olin E. Teague of Bryan got a brief but concentrated look into naval operations when he witnessed the recent mock war in the Caribbean Sea.

An unscheduled thriller was the explosion of a depth bomb close to the submarine in which he was an observer far below the surface.

Hailing from an inland central Texas district, with a background of army service in World War II, the six-times wounded combat veteran was invited by Chairman Vinson (D-Oa) of the House Armed Service Committee to view the Caribbean maneuvers.

"As a member of Congress who must pass on legislation affecting every arm of service," he said, "I believe it a duty to know something of the working of all branches of our fighting forces."

"The Congress wants to provide adequate national defense, but I share the opinion of many members who are carefully checking large requests to see that we get a dollar's worth of defense for every dollar spent. The defense budget for 1950 is over 14 billion dollars, the largest single item in the money bills to finance our government."

Teague flew from here to Key West, Fla., where a full day was devoted to intensive briefing on the latest methods of offensive and defensive sea warfare. Then they headed out to sea aboard one of the latest German-type snorkel submarines.

"It's as long as a football field," said Teague.

"It is equipped to stay under the surface for days at a time."

At one stage in the war games a destroyer was hard on the chase of the submarine on which he was aboard. They were many fathoms down when they heard the distant whoomp of an exploding depth charge.

"Then there were more, which I knew were closer than I had been figured on," continued Teague.

"Everyone was getting a little jittery, when one went off so close the whole submarine shuddered. Some lights went out and dishes broke."

"We were sweating there for a few minutes. We got an unnecessary scare once when a youngster operating one of the detector devices called out over the public address system that a destroyer was passing directly over us. It turned out to be a mistake."

Teague said he was distressed to encounter considerable evidence of hostile feelings among branches of the armed forces, notwithstanding the moves toward unification.

Texas peacemongers have a stake in the pending Agriculture Department appropriation bill. The bureau of entomology now operates a peacemaking station at Brownwood, but has ordered it closed as an economy measure.

Reps. Clark Fisher of San Angelo, Homer Thornberry of Austin and Omar Burleson of Anson went before a House Agriculture Subcommittee studying the bill and urged that money be earmarked for continuing the Texas laboratory.

The city of Brownwood furnishes space to the government, and research into ways of combatting and preventing peacemaking diseases is valuable to growers far out of proportion to the mere $8,000 yearly it costs to operate the station, said Fisher.

Hailing from a big producing section of West Texas, Fisher tells this joke on himself.

Early this session he introduced a bill authorizing issuance of a postal stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Angora goat indus-

Building Program Continues At Pecos

PECOS.—Pecos still is enjoying "growing pains."

Construction has started on two buildings and plans for other buildings have been announced.

L. A. Richards and son, Kenneth, have started the construction of a new building, 40x50 feet, a half block east of their present garage location. The building they now occupy will be remodeled and converted into five modern offices by owners Barney Hubbs and Louis Roberson.

On the west side of the city, George Pecos is converting a small frame building, 20x30 feet, into an office. It will have a brick and stucco front.

The Pecos building will be completed by April 1 and will be occupied by Dr. C. L. Young, a dentist, who is moving to Pecos from Douglas, Ariz., with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Young.

Jack Rogers, building contractor, announced plans to construct a large planning mill on a 50x50 foot lot on Fourth street, between Cedar and Ash.

try in the United States. (It all started when the Sultan of Turkey sent over several of the goats as a gift in appreciation for the work of an American scientist seeking to improve Turkish cotton.)

Time was passing and Fisher wanted action on his stamp bill, so he went to see Rep. Tom Murray of Tennessee, head of the committee to which it had been referred. He started off by telling Murray it would be mighty helpful to him in his district if he could get through a special stamp bill he had introduced.

Murray got the idea, but replied a little too soon. Without waiting for Fisher to identify the particular measure in question, he blurted out:

"You know we just can't pass all the stamp bills. We've got 60 or 70 of them pending in our committee. Why one congressman even introduced a bill to memorialize a goat!"

At the request of Rep. Lindsey Beckworth of Gladewater the Agriculture Department plans to send a scientist to the rose-growing Tyler area in May or June to study diseases of the plant Dr. D. L. Gill, pathologist at Spring Hill, Ala., now working on an azalea disease, will make the study.

Stainless steel can be drawn into wire so fine that one pound will stretch out for 25 miles.

Quick-Dry Treatment Freshens Hair Safely

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

When sniffles rule out shampoos, it's good to know that you can restore fluffy freshness to hair by quicker-drying methods.

One trick of freshening up hair thoroughly without wetting the head is to swab scalp and locks clean with a wad of cotton dampened with quick-drying witch hazel. This lotion can be used to cleanse hair and at the same time to impart to it a flattering luster. The test of cleanliness of each strand that you pull through your damp swab is the absence of any trace of soil on the cotton. So plan to have a roll of fresh cotton ready for frequent renewals of the cleansing pad. If the swab used is damp, not wet, one strand of hair will be dry and fluffily fresh before you go on to the next. When locks are swabbed clean, you can give yourself a fresh set of curls, using witch hazel as a setting lotion. Use it to barely dampen the ends of each strand of hair that you wind up into a pin curl.

Cancer Society Schedules New Radio Series

A dramatic new radio series entitled "It Can Happen to You," which describes the nation's war against cancer, has been scheduled for 13 weeks by KCRS, Midland, H. Winston Hull, chairman of District 2, Texas Division, American Cancer Society, announced Saturday.

The first broadcast of the series will be heard at 9 p. m. Monday, according to Wayne Harrell, station program director.

Narrated by Ralph Bellamy, stage and screen star, the broadcasts "show the fatal results of the taboo against the use of the word 'cancer' and explain how cancer can be cured if caught in time," Hull said. The series is a part of the year-round educational program being conducted by the American Cancer Society in Texas. Programs will be broadcast during the annual membership and fund-raising drive of the society this Spring.

WCTU Sounds Call For Texas Women To Combat Liquor Bills

By MARTHA COLE

AUSTIN—(AP)—A new call for the women of Texas to rise against liquor is peeling from the state capital.

"Statewide prohibition is coming and it's coming rapidly," Mrs. Claude De Van Watts, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, declared confidently.

Mrs. Watts sat in the library of her Austin home and pointed to the clutter of papers spilling over a table and stacked in boxes in the corner.

"We are in the midst of the greatest petition since repeal. We've sent these petitions by the thousands to every community in Texas asking the women to combat liquor bills before the Legislature and to work toward strengthening the laws we have."

"We have had the greatest response we've ever had. The petitions, with signatures, are pouring back in and we will present them to the Legislature."

"Abolition of the liquor traffic is coming. I don't know when and I don't know how."

Seven Point Program: Mrs. Watts said the WCTU had hoped to get seven points through the Legislature this session.

"So far we've had only two introduced—making it unlawful to have any liquor container with a broken seal in a car and to deliver liquor within 300 feet of boundary lines of school, church or eleemosynary institution."

"We hope to get another bill this session prohibiting the sale of liquor in or near filling stations."

The WCTU currently is fighting a bill introduced this session permitting sale of liquor by the drink.

Mrs. Watts said she wished to cast no reflection on anyone—"but it's the old-fashioned idea of letting the women do the work."

"And so we work. Agitate, educate, organize and legislate—those are our watchwords."

"The deplorable part in the past has been, not the influence of the wet, but the indifference of the good people, the good Christians who are dry. But the sentiment is growing among these good people for abolition of liquor traffic."

"I cannot tell you our numerical strength in Texas. We have key women in every community of the state and we work through the churches, all churches; we are non-denominational."

"Our unions are well-organized in all the larger cities—in Dallas, Austin, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur and many others. Lubbock is one of our largest. So is Corsicana. The Valley is well-organized."

Corrosion-resistant stainless steel drums now are used to ship acids and other chemicals in solid or liquid form.

Construction Jobs Awarded At Kermit

KERMIT—Two major construction contracts for Kermit were awarded last week to Dunlap Construction Company of Abilene, low bidder on both projects. One was for primary school facilities for the Kermit Independent School District, and the other was for construction of a new postoffice and business building.

G. E. Thompson, superintendent of Kermit Schools, announced Dunlap's bid was $188,700, and calls for doubling the size of an eight-room primary building which was completed a few weeks ago. Funds for this new construction were made available in a recent $1,400,000 bond issue. Of this issue, approximately $1,000,000 will be used to build a new, ultra-modern high school plant. Thompson stated bids for the high school probably will be called in July. Tentative plans already have been drawn and a scale model is on display.

Work on the primary extension is expected to start within the next two weeks and the contractor is allowed 240 working days to complete the project.

Eile E. Lam, who holds the contract from the Postal Department for a new postoffice, stated total bids for his building were $49,977. The postoffice portion will be 50 by 80 feet, and the other section, which will be occupied by a drug store, a tailor shop and a barber shop, will be 100 by 100 feet. The building is to be of masonry construction. Work is to start March 21 and contract calls for completion in 100 working days.

Midlander Is New Cisco Phone Head

CISCO—William H. McNally of Midland has been named manager of the Cisco group of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, succeeding Chariton A. Deusehle, who has been promoted to district manager at Mineral Wells.

McNally will supervise exchanges at Cisco, Breckenridge, Eastland, Ranger and other towns in this vicinity.

Ribbon Tones Suit

Spring tonic for this black winter suit are the cuffs and facings of jacket revers made from black and white striped ribbon.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Easiest-to-take Spring tonic which you can give a Winter-weary suit is a touch of awning-striped ribbon.

By using bold stripes to face the revers of a suit jacket and again to make a pair of matching cuffs, you can do what designers are doing this Spring to stamp dark suits with new style interest.

To face the revers of a suit jacket, use striped ribbon—black and white stripes for a black suit or gray and white stripes for a gray suit would be an excellent choice—in a matching width which allows you to use a selvedge edge at each side. Then, the only turn in hems you'll be bothered with will be at the top of the revers where the ribbon facing joins the collar, and at the bottom where the facing turns in for the jacket-closing.

If you make matching cuffs, measure ribbon for over-all size over the sleeve of the jacket. By using selvedge edges of ribbon, the only sewing entailed will be that of seaming up the cuffs. If you plan to make linked cuffs, allow a margin of width for buttonholes and hem raw edges which you will leave open for link closings instead of seaming up.

Book Collections Donated To Library

Two large collections of books recently have been presented to the Midland Public Library, Mrs. Lucille Carroll, librarian reports. A number of other gift books have been received, among them gifts to the Memorial Section of the library which is sponsored by the Woman's Wednesday Club.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Fitzgerald were the donors of a collection of 222 books and pamphlets, most of which are books of poetry. These will be made ready for circulation as quickly as possible, Mrs. Carroll said, and will be marked as memorials to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fitzgerald and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Baird.

The other collection, comprising 180 books, was presented by Mrs. Harvey Hardison.

Church Of Christ Starts Series Of Gospel Services

A series of gospel services, which opened Friday night at the Northside Church of Christ, corner of North A and Tennessee Streets, will continue this week, J. Woodie Holden, evangelist, said Saturday.

Forrest R. Waldrop, nationally known evangelist of Abilene, is conducting the meeting.

The Sunday schedule calls for Bible School at 10 a.m., worship service at 10:30 a.m., youth training at 6:30 p.m., and evening worship at 7:30 p.m.

During the week, morning and evening services will be held.

Church officials said the public is invited and urged to attend any or all of the services.

'Florist Shop' Will Be Contest Play

The Florist Shop, a comedy by Winifred Hawbridge, has been selected as the one-act play for the Interscholastic League contest in April.

The play has been double-cast and will be presented by both casts late this month in the Midland High School Auditorium. These performances will be open to the public.

Judges will be present at these performances to select one cast to produce the play for the Interscholastic League contest.

The play is centered around the office girl, Maude, who sends out complimentary flowers encouraging business for the shop and creating friendships.

Joy Guyton and Pat Pryor portray the role of Miss Wells, a lady to whom Maude sends flowers. Clint Dunagan plays the part of Miss Wells' fiancé, Mr. Jackson, and Lois Thompson will play the same part in the second production. Maude, the florist's bookkeeper, is played by Shirley Harrison and DePhane Tabor. Jim McGraw and Bob Short have been chosen for the role of Mr. Slovis, the Jewish proprietor of the florist shop. Richard Hull and Charles Ferris play the part of the office boy, Henry.

Is This Etiquette?

By JOAN WYCHE

Students! Do you know the Ps and Qs of Etiquette? There are many social securities that many of us lack. Some students are always asking questions as to what they should do if this or that happens. Usually the person they ask doesn't know any more about it than they do.

This week the Journalism class would like to offer a prize to the person who has that so called social security. If you can answer these questions correctly drop by room 208 Monday and pick up your beautiful prize.

I-What should a boy do when a girl enters the room? (a) stand on his head, (b) ignore her or (c) yell, "X-You're a boy!"

II-When a boy asks a girl for a date and the girl replies, "I'm sorry, but I already have a date," what should the boy say? (a) Who, with? (b) Good deal, or (c) Are you sure?

III-How should a girl refuse a date if she doesn't want to go with the boy? (a) Are you crazy? (b) I've got a headache, or (c) Goah! You're no fun.

IV-When a boy calls for a girl for a date, the girl should (a) Never be ready, (b) Stand out in the street and wait or (c) Sit on the porch and wait.

V-When eating, where should you keep your left hand? (a) On the left side of the plate, (b) On your neighbors shoulder or (c) On the floor.

VI-When you are introduced to someone you should say (a) Well, I guess you're O. K., (b) Gee, you're funny looking or (c) Where did you come from?

VII-When a boy comes for a girl for a date he should (a) Honk, (b) Yell for her or (c) Go on if she isn't out in the street waiting.

VIII-Who wrote Emily Post's Book of Etiquette? (a) Bob Short, (b) Miss Boyd or (c) Jasper.

IX-Where should the boy walk when with a girl? (a) across the street, (b) On the telephone wires or (c) On his ears and hands.

X-What should a girl do if a boy tries to hold her hand? (a) grab his hand before he changes his mind, (b) Scream or (c) Cry.

XI-When should a girl get out and walk? (a) When driving 90 mph down a street, (b) When the boy speaks to her or (c) When he starts to take her home.

XII-What should a boy do when he is driving down the street and he sees a girl walking? (a) Run over her, (b) Lock all the doors and wave or (c) Shift to second and fog.

XIV-What is a good topic for conversation on a date? (a) Life on the bottom of the sea, (b) Pig or (c) How to stand on your head and stack BBs.

MHS Tennis Boys Prove Themselves Very Industrious

By PATRY PRYOR

It looks as if the tennis boys are really getting things done! If you don't quite understand this statement, perhaps the following will clear up things.

It seems as if the boys decided that the MHS tennis courts could be a little more attractive than they have been and they wanted to do something about it. The first thing they did was hoe the dirt and grass from the edges of the courts, which proved more "tiring" than they had planned for.

However, the sore hands and blisters have not discouraged industrious boys. They plan to paint the boundary lines green and level and beautify the grounds surrounding the tennis courts.

Another thing in this program they have started is the putting up of new tennis nets which are badly needed.

Frank Blackwell and Duane Frits are the two boys laboriously working on the courts.

This beautification program is being done in preparation for the tennis tournaments which will be held in Midland later in the year.

Baseball Or Ranch For MHS Student?

By PAT PRYOR

Marion Newton Treadaway was born on April 29, 1932, in Big Spring. After almost 17 years in this kind old world, he has attained impressive height of five feet and ten inches and weighs 153 pounds. Marion is blond and has blue eyes.

Included in the subjects Marion is taking are: radio speech, P.E., geometry, English 31, English 32, and baseball. He would be willing to bet that baseball is his favorite.

Marion's hobby is raising registered, milking, short-horned cattle. He has three head now, two of which he raised from calves. "If the future," says Marion, "I hope to have a good herd." And to prove that his mind is always running on the same track, his favorite pastime is riding his horse, Lucky, and roping calves off him. Lucky is sorrel and going on three years old.

Moot's favorite color is red, his favorite food is fried chicken and he likes western movies and shows about the out-of-doors. Gregory Peck and Joan Leslie are his favorite actor and actress. Marion also plays a guitar in the FFA Band and with a little coaxing they will play "Under the Double Eagle," which is Moot's favorite song.

This ambitious boy is kept busy with his conflicting interests, baseball and ranching and farming. He would like to play professional baseball, but he also would like to be a farmer and rancher in Midland county. At either or both, he's sure to be a success.

Girls Give Approval To Shorthand Shift

The third-period shorthand class of Miss Fannie Reeves was in the process of being broken into two periods this week. One of the classes will remain about 30 students while the other will have approximately 15. The extra class will be tutored by Miss Reeves herself. She will relinquish her former second period typing class to the new member of the faculty, Coach Rutledge.

The project met with complete approval. Here are some of the comments:

"The students will get much more out of shorthand now"—Miss Reeves.

"We can talk more in class"—Peggy Whitson.

"I'm real glad"—Sarah Lew Link.

"I think I'll get more out of it"—Glenda Shoemaker.

"We had too much to talk about when there were 36 of us"—Sara Kreischer.

"I'm glad we did, Coach Rutledge hasn't been here and we haven't been having any teacher"—Joan Montgomery.

"I like the room and the hour better"—Pauline Norwood.

"I think it's neat"—Nell Cole.

"We'll learn faster. Results: It will seem like we get out faster"—Anne Klebold.

Candidates Elected For Drill Squad Majorettes

By PEGGY LOU WHITSON
Adele Blackman, Margie Carter, Peggy Charlton, Dorothy DeWulf, Wilma Green, Emily Hamilton, Gwen Roberts and Ann Wells were elected as candidates for the 1949-50 "Walter Jacket" Majorettes.

The drill squad elected these eight girls Thursday during club period to attend a majorette school this summer. The best four will be the Gold Jacket majorettes next year.

The other girls trying out were Evelyn Adams, Vi Jean Fuglar, Wanda Hankla, Maxine Hill, La Wanda Huckaby, Nancy McKlin, Lay, Lella Norwood and Georgia Faye Stump.

Adele Blackman is a sophomore this year and is taking biology, Spanish, English, speech, acapella and algebra. Her favorite color is pink. She likes to eat fried chicken and her favorite teachers are Miss Jackson and Miss Harris.

Margie Carter said, "I didn't believe it" when told she was to be a candidate. She is classified as a junior and claims her pet peeve is cattle people.

Peggy Charlton was so startled that she couldn't say a word. This is a belief because this little sophomore can be found in the gym at almost any time. Her ambition is to be a lawyer.

Dorothy DeWulf has high hopes of being a laboratory technician someday. She likes the idea of having a majorette school because "The most deserving people will receive the honors."

Wilma Green is a cute five feet, two-inch brunette with brown eyes whose ambition is to be a majorette. She is a sophomore and her favorite color is green because it goes with her red hair. She would like to be a nurse when she finishes school.

Gwen Roberts wants to be a good majorette if she is chosen. Her pet peeve is stuck-up people and she really likes chocolate ice cream. Mrs. Cheatham is her favorite teacher and baby blue her favorite color.

Ann Wells thinks the secret of being a good majorette is to really work at it. Some day she would like to be a model. At present she is a sophomore taking Spanish, algebra, driving, health, typing and English.

Frank Ingham—"Most anything." George Glass—"Give it to charity."

Margaret Finch—"I don't know." Coach Gill—"Worry about paying the income tax."

Jimmy Chauncey—"Buy a certain someone a blue Oldsmobile convertible."

Carol Glahn—"Start me a Quiz Program."

Etta Ruth Murray—"Faint."

Midland Delegates To Attend Meet

The entire MHS faculty, the band and the greater part of the student council will meet Friday to attend district West Texas Teachers Convention in Lubbock. There, Midland will be well represented along with Odessa, Brownfield, Lamesa and Lubbock.

Cars and buses will be on hand early Friday morning to transport the Midland representatives to the meeting. The Midland High School Band was chosen to afford the entertainment for the convention by presenting a concert for the entire group of delegates.

The student council will meet with the student councils of the other schools and will discuss their problems and make some plans for the next year.

The faculty will attend lectures and group discussions regarding the problems and future development of teaching. Dr. D. M. Higgins of Texas Tech and Dr. H. H. Hill of George Peabody College in Nashville will speak to the assembly. The primary purpose of the meeting is to promote better interschool relations in this district.

The entire group of Midland representatives will attend the luncheon. They will return Friday night. All Midland public schools will be closed all day Friday.

It is expected that a great deal will be accomplished at this convention.

Soph Journalists Discovered In MHS

Two sophomore journalists have been discovered inside the walls of Midland High School. They are Joyce Howell and June Hazlip. These two girls are writing the column "Youth Center Chatter" for the Youth Center of Midland. This column appears in The Reporter-Telegram every Thursday.

About five weeks ago Mrs. Bill Collins, wife of the editor of The Reporter-Telegram, suggested that these girls see her husband about writing the column. He interviewed them and seemed to like their ideas and gave them a space in the paper.

June and Joyce are both very interested in journalism and hope to qualify for the 1950-51 Bulldog staff.

MHS Boys Feted By Midland Lions

For the past four weeks the Midland Lions Club has been having as its guest an MHS boy.

These boys are chosen for their outstanding work in scholarship, league participation. Each boy is a guest at the Wednesday luncheon meeting for two consecutive weeks.

The first boy to go was Neal Adams who was chosen because of his outstanding work in scholarship.

Neal is a member of the National Honor Society, sports editor of the Bulldog, editor of the '49 Catolco and a member of the Student Council.

For the past two weeks Donald Deel has been the honored guest because of his sports record. Donald, a member of the "M" Association, is a two year Bulldog letterman, a letterman of the basketball team, the '48 baseball team and is a member of the '49 baseball team. He hopes one day to be a coach.

There will be two more boys honored by the service club in the next month.

This editorial is different. It is one of the very rare editorials that ask a favor in a nice way. Your mind now being prepared—the editor would like to call to your attention the fact that it is a fine day. It is a good day for laughing and talking.

This second paragraph, which will precede the third in that order, starts off in a different direction. The editor would like to call to your attention the fact that Midland is a big town.

Now, all you students who like to laugh and talk please answer this simple question: why do our halls in MHS persist in being some of the noisiest places in town?

MHS Lettermen Receive Awards During Assembly

By NEAL ADAMS

March 8 was a big day for the lettermen of Midland High School. A special assembly at 1:30 p. m., the congregation blossomed with new color as numerous athletes donned their awards. These letters were presented for both football and basketball.

"A" squad football lettermen were Alfred Baze, Dee Bivens, Dan Branham, Larry Buckingham, Jim Davenport, Donald Deel, Reed Gilmore, John De Greene, Eugene Hull, Lloyd Henderson, Bill Little, Jack Lynch, Roy Mann, Mickey McGee (mgr.), Larry Messersmith, Kent Miller, Jimmy O'Neal, Frank Patton, Robert Price, Richard Robertson, Harrie Smith, Cecil Steinhilber, L. C. Thomas, Charles Wheat and Bob Wood.

Reserve lettermen were Bob Burks, Duane Bush, Don Downing, Arnold Drake, Duane Fritz, Harry Loskamp, Bill Secor, David Weaver and Jack Mobley who did not receive a jacket because of a mix-up in the order.

B squad lettermen were Glenn Baker, Freddy Bilbo, Ted Bivens, W. H. Black, Jr., Ralph Brooks, Richard Burke, Mark Burns, Dalton Byerley, Don Clark, Stan Coker, Preston Conner, James Culp, Charles Crowley, Ronnie Eick, Pete English, Bobby Evans, Don Frazier, Charles Garvin, Leo Hatfield, Frank Ingham, Buddy Johnson, Johnny Kennedy, Jim Lineberger, Jim Lock, Larry Lynn, Jack McClarty, Graham Mackey, Billy Medart, Luther Mooney, Frank Moore, Billy Morningstar, Jimmie Richard, Loren Roberts, John Steinberger, Gaylon Strickland, Charles Trauber, James Weathered and Dickie Glass (Mgr.).

C squad lettermen were Jimmy Adams, Dan Black, Joe Bob Capps, John Gray, Charles Hendrix, Don House, Don Leason, Mark McKenney, Carrol McKnight, Charles Overend, John Ratcliff, Gary Throckmorton, James Wallace, James Wells.

Although basketball A squad lettermen had already received their sweaters, they were reviewed for the benefit of the student body. Here are the varsity cagers:

Don Bizzell, Larry Buckingham, Jimmy Conine, Don Deel, Reed Gilmore, Max Harris, Lloyd Henderson, Mickey McGee, Larry Messersmith, Kent Miller and Harrie Smith.

Eleven B cagers earned silver basketballs. They are Bill Branch, Bob Burke, Duane Bush, Jim Chackney, Norman Drake, Buddy Johnson, Jackie Mobley, Bill Phillips, Oliver Phillips, Walter Spiller and David Weaver.

These boys lettered on the C squad but have not received awards as yet. Ted Bivens, Dan Black, Ralph Brooks, Alan Harris, Frank Ingham, Johnny Kennedy, Don Leason, Mark McKenney, Corky Moss, Billy Phillips, Loren Roberts, Walter Spiller, James Weathered, L. D. Whigham and Max Williams.

In the group of five calves Midland County placed second.

Sport poutings

By NEAL ADAMS

Coach Garvin Beauchamp has split his baseball players (how cruel). What at present looks like the main team, now has full use of the practice field near Memorial Stadium. The rest of the squad must not practice until this squad moves to Indian Park, probably about March 15.

We wish to congratulate Midland's volleyball players in their recent triumph over the Indians.

Friday, March 4, the girls went to Andrews and came back with winning scores. The A squad slapped them down with a score of 58-23 but the B squad did just as well with a 58-20 win. March 8 Midland defeated Odessa B 40-35. Midland varsity whipped Odessa first squad 29-18. Good going kids!

The tennis players are putting out physical effort to smooth up the courts. The machinery consists of shovel and hoe!

The managers of track and baseball certainly deserve recognition. Jack handles the track. Eugene Heil and Larry Lynn are baseball managers. Eugene is also an outfielder.

Pete English's dad was a catcher for the Chicago Cubs once upon a time. Pete, who has been a boy for the Midland Indians, is at present trying to follow in his father's footsteps as far as the Bulldogs are concerned.

When Napoleon made his home in it, the Chateau of Fontainebleau, near Paris, contained hundreds of lavishly furnished apartments.

One could go on forever citing examples of its use, but here's more about the machine itself. The "Ditto" machine does it all. It is run off the principal's office. Any student or teacher is welcome to use it if they wish. It is very simple to operate. All you do is type or draw your information on Ditto paper; put it in the machine and run it off. It even shows the number of copies you make. If you ever need any printing done, just get permission from Mr. Matthews or Mrs. Spain and put the machine of 1,000 uses to work.

Some of its more familiar (to the student) products are the absentee lists, announcements, tardy slips, and of course, the student passes.

These passes are only a few of the uses of the machine. They are run off on the duplicator. Many tests, as well the machine.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Barkley important balance wheel in government; defends Truman actions, criticized by others; scorns Secret Service protection on trips around U. S.

WASHINGTON—Vice President Barkley is a kindly, much-loved Kentucky gentleman, not given to feuds. However, he is having a slight altercation with Capitol Architect David Lynn. Lynn wants Barkley to move out of the traditional vice president's office into more modern quarters, but the vice president refuses to budge. He is in love with the ancient but historical room for one quite special reason.

Hanging in the vice president's room are two magnificent chandeliers, made of highly polished glass prisms and brought to this country by Thomas Jefferson. Jefferson acquired them when serving as ambassador to France, later presented them to the U. S. government and for many years they hung in the White House. Then Teddy Roosevelt objected.

The Rough Rider President couldn't stand the chandeliers because they were so delicately balanced that they tinkled when anyone walked across the floor. So they were banished to the vice president's office on Capitol Hill, where sentimental Alben Barkley likes them and wants to keep them in his office.

Alben also is having another minor row with the President of the United States, the secretary of the Treasury and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. They are determined that the vice president have either a Secret Service man or an FBI man to protect him on his many trips around the U. S. A.

But Barkley says no. "It isn't that I'm going to do anything I'm ashamed of," he explains, a little plaintively, "but I value my freedom more than anything else in the world. I don't think anyone is going to attack me. Besides, if anyone really wanted to get me, one Secret Service man wouldn't be much good anyhow."

Modifying Influence
Today Alben Barkley is the most important balance wheel in the government, and the most effective modifying influence on his Chief in the White House. If Barkley had had an opportunity to be with the President before or during his unfortunate remark about a majority vote on stopping filibusters, the Senate would not have snarled itself up in Southern oratory. Nothing could have infuriated Southern senators more than Truman's intemperate remark and Barkley, knowing this, would have given his eyeteeth to have sidetracked it.

No matter what Truman does.

however, his vice president remains 100 per cent loyal. Barkley has even explained away Truman's reported snub to Governors Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Herman Talmadge of Georgia when scores of newsmen witnessed the fact that Truman did not raise his hat to salute these two Dixiecrats.

Barkley loyally maintains that Truman did lift his hat to Governor Thurmond, while, in the case of Governor Talmadge, Barkley points out that the Navy had asked the President to pass judgment on the and brought to the National Gallery of Art where both Governor and Mrs. Thurmond and Governor and Mrs. Talmadge were greeted cordially by both the President and me, and they stopped and chatted with us for a moment in a very pleasant way. If either had felt they had been deliberately slighted during the parade, I am quite sure they would have shown some sign of it.

The vice president has been most meticulous about preserving the Kentucky spirit of hospitality with all Dixiecrats, and he refused to attend the mayors conference in Columbia, S. C., because he was tied up in the Senate.

Jeffersonian Authority
It is rare that vice presidents are related. However, Barkley was a second cousin of Vice President Adlai Stevenson, who served under Grover Cleveland, which also makes Barkley the third cousin of Illinois new governor, Adlai Stevenson.

Barkley has been getting around the country quite a bit lately—though Senate leaders wish he would spend more time acting as balance wheel at the President's elbow. Reason for Barkley's trips is that he has become the Democratic Party's favorite speaker at Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners.

This also is close to Barkley's heart, for he is a walking encyclopedia on Jefferson, having studied his life intently while a student at the University of Virginia. When the vice president speaks on Jefferson he seldom reads a manuscript, partly because his eyes are not good, but also because it is relatively easy for him to draw from his bottomless vat of knowledge on Jefferson.

People's Friendship
No man in the Truman administration has traveled more widely than the vice president. He has visited almost every country in the world, and still has a photo of himself saving wood with some Russian peasants prior to World War II.

Wax Trains Unruly Eyebrows With Ease

Waxing eyebrows will curb unruly tufts of hair or make well-behaved brows look better groomed. Wagner demonstrates the technique of grooming brows by brushing on wax with mascara brush.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Eyebrows unruly? You can discipline the most wayward little tufts by using wax—the same kind which a man uses to train his mustache to lie flat.

Even well-behaved eyebrows can be made to look glossier and better-groomed by using a tiny touch of wax.

Before waxing, pluck eyebrows clean of stray hairs. After plucking brows it is always wise to apply an antiseptic lotion and to allow time to elapse for pores to seal before dressing up brows. When they are ready for that, brush into the curves which you want to control, and tint, if darkening is needed.

Now, using an ever-so-light application of colorless mustache wax, brush eyebrows to lie flat. An extra mascara brush may be washed clean and used for applying wax.

Quite often unruly eyebrows will settle down into good behavior after they have been trained to lie flat by the disciplining effects of wax.

Clinic For Palsied Children Scheduled

LUBBOCK—A clinic for the examination of Cerebral Palsied children will be held Monday, April 4, at the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, 1317 Tenth Street, Lubbock. Orthopedic specialists from Amarillo and Plainville will be present to examine patients. Cerebral palsy is sometimes referred to as spastic paralysis or birth injury and may be evidenced by the child's inability to sit alone, stand alone, walk or hold objects at the age these things are accomplished by the average child. Research has shown that treatment is most effective if started within the first few months of the child's life although children respond to treatment begun at a much later age. Parents planning to bring children to the clinic are requested to register the children at the Center prior to the date of the clinic.

THE GLUTTON IS NOT GLUTTONOUS. The Arctic animal known in North America as the wolverine, is known as the glutton in Great Britain. It is a carnivorous animal of the weasel family; its reputation of being an excessive eater is false. 1—"Uncommon Knowledge"—Geo. W. Stimpson.

Daddy Ringtail

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Count To Ten

Huffy Tuffy, the monkey boy, was walking along in the Great Forest. He was the huffiest, and the toughest, somebody anywhere, he said. He said it to Mugwump Monkey one fine day. He said it when they were walking along the Elephant Path.

not far from the Whispering River. "I'm the huffiest, and the toughest, somebody anywhere, he said."

"Do tell!" said Mugwump, which meant that he didn't care how huffy or how tuffy Huffy Tuffy was.

"Do you want to fight?" asked Huffy Tuffy, because he liked to fight.

"Can't do it," said Mugwump. "I promised Daddy Ringtail I would count to ten before I did any fighting."

Mugwump sat down on a rock, there by the Elephant Path, just beneath a coconut tree. Huffy Tuffy sat down beside him. Said Huffy Tuffy: "What is it you're supposed to count to ten before you do any fighting?"

Mugwump didn't know. "Birds, maybe?" asked Huffy Tuffy.

Mugwump shook his head from side to side in the way that means "no." It wasn't birds that Daddy Ringtail wanted him to count to ten before he did any fighting.

Mugwump could see some birds—many more than ten—down by the Whispering River.

"Coconuts, maybe?" asked Huffy Tuffy, thinking maybe that Mugwump could fight if he counted up to ten of coconuts.

Mugwump looked up in the coconut tree. There were coconuts growing there. And coconuts were growing too in the next coconut tree, and so on. There were many more than ten of them.

Mugwump shook his head from side to side again to say "no." It wasn't coconuts that Daddy Ringtail wanted him to count to ten before he did any fighting. Said Mugwump: "Daddy Ringtail must have meant strawberries, I think I guess."

"Too bad," said Huffy Tuffy, for he knew that strawberries wouldn't be growing again for a long, long time, not until early Summer came once more. There weren't any now to count to ten.

And so Huffy Tuffy, and Mugwump too, didn't do any fighting that fine day, and I suppose they won't be fighting again until Summer when strawberries grow once more. Happy Day! Happy many days—without any fights!

Texas Learns Midwest Corn Tricks, Stages Big Comeback

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff

COLLEGE STATION, (AP)—Texas farmers, tired of growing rubbin' corn, are stealing tricks from mid-west corn planters. And it's just like pulling rabbits—and money—from a hat.

Texas corn was in a sorry plight a few years ago. The quality was poor compared to the huge, uniform ears grown in the big corn states.

Yields fell drastically. In the 1940s it declined to one-third that of 1910 and yield was still less.

Production costs were too high, yield and quality too small. Farmers found wheat, cotton and grain sorghums paid better. So they abandoned corn for other crops.

Still there was a lot of corn produced—about 45,000,000 bushels yearly. Each of the 254 counties except 11 grew some. But only about 20 per cent. found it way into commercial markets. The farmer's hogs, cows and chickens got the rest.

Caught Like Wildfire

Then a few Texas farmers were persuaded to try hybrid corn, which was going great guns in the major corn belt. Hybrid corn development began about 45 years ago. But not until six years ago did Texas do anything much about it. Then it caught on like wildfire.

In 1941, the hybrid acreage in the Lone Star state was one per cent. It climbed to 23 per cent by 1943. Last year, half the corn grown came from hybrid seed, the Texas A&M College extension department reported.

Results amazed the Texans. E. A. Hicks of McLennan County raised 97 bushels per acre last season. He had extremely fertile ground. But that's good corn in anybody's league.

Oliver Chambers of Sabine County raised 45 bushels on fertilized land compared to 18 on unfertilized, which proved to a lot of people that the combination of hybrid corn and fertilizer pays off. R. I. Washburn and Carrol Morrow averaged 80 bushels in Henderson County. R. C. Muddell raised 87 and 177 bushels per acre in Brazoria County.

Last year, Texas wheat production per acre dropped 41 per cent as compared with 1947. Oat production dropped 22 per cent. But corn, subjected to much the same weather conditions as other crops, maintained its state-wide average of 16.5 bushels, the same as the previous year.

New Varieties

And still more production per acre is in sight. Texas A&M's extension service, which already has a handful of new hybrid varieties to its credit, has come up with two new ones.

These will be ready for planting in 1950. In experiments, one showed an increase of 39 per cent over open-pollinated corn and the other showed 27 per cent.

Already, the college service can boast a hybrid strain called Texas 24, which has outyielded the highest corn pollinated variety 52 per cent. Texas No. 20 gave increases of 27 per cent. Several other varieties have been developed to meet particular soil and climate conditions.

Hybrid corn as planted commercially is a combination of two distinct lines which have been inbred. Inbreeding is a process of placing bags over tassels and ear shoots of selected plants, then at the proper time pollinating the corn silks with pollen from the same plants.

Finally, after five or six years of inbreeding, strains are produced which possess one characteristic never before found in corn—complete uniformity.

Single Cross

But that merely starts the process. Two inbred strains are combined and the product is called a single cross. Then the single cross is combined with another single cross to produce the seed which the farmer plants.

Naturally such seeds cost money—a lot more than open-pollinated varieties. But it proves it's worth the money.

New seed must be obtained each season from persons who make a business of growing it. For hybrid seed produces its maximum yield the first year. Second year planting shows a marked reduction in production.

Because of the added cost, many farmers have preferred the open-pollinated varieties. But Farmer Hicks' 97 bushels are making them change their minds nowadays.

Location Important

J. S. Rogers, agronomist of the Texas experiment station, points out there is as much difference between the different corn hybrids as there is between open-pollinated varieties. Farmers must realize this, Rogers says, and be certain to plant those hybrids best adapted to their location. Experiment station tests show Texas 20 has a wide range of adaptation and may be planted in most corn growing areas. Texas 8 and 18 have performed best in the blacklands and the Western part of the corn growing area. Texas 12 has done well in East Texas.

Texas 24 and Texas 11-W have given excellent results for the last three years and are the best yellow and white hybrids respectively for most corn growing areas in the state.

WE the WOMEN

By BETH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

New acquaintances who will probably never become friends:

The woman who looks over your shoulder while she is being introduced, so afraid she that if she gives you a few minutes of her undivided attention she'll miss something.

The woman who starts right in to tell you what a horrible experience she has just been through—it can be about anything from her operation to losing her maid.

The woman who surveys you from head to toes with her eyes, obviously putting a mental price tag on every piece of your wearing apparel.

The Charmer

The woman who is so intent on making a charming impression that it is impossible for you to make any impression on her at all.

The woman who finds out where you're from and then starts in to find out if you know any of the "very prominent" people from there she has met or heard about.

The woman who starts right in to tell you how busy she is. It never seems to dawn on such women that the rest of the world is rather busy, too.

The woman who has met you several times before but never remembers.

These are types you meet over and over, and never leave thinking, "I'd like to know her better."

New Look Puts Jap

Girls On Prowl For Eligible Bachelors

TOKYO (AP)—Along with the New Look, which some Japanese women have adopted, many have adopted a new outlook on life.

Instead of the meek, mild little wren who came at the male's beck and call, Japanese women today are growing aggressive.

In fact, this aggressiveness has a lot of males worried—particularly those of a marriageable age.

The war left Japan short of men. Husband hunting Japanese women have taken to pursuing men of their choice, whether they are married or not. Husband snatching is becoming common.

The new tactics have the men puzzled. It shocks some to see Japanese women obviously on the make.

Eligible bachelors are reluctant to head for the altar. There are many reasons for this—the housing shortage, the high cost of living and the high cost of the marriage ceremony itself.

It costs 10,000 yen (about $29) for only a routine wedding.

NEW METHOD

Baking bricks without fire and curing pottery without kilns are possible with a combination of infra-red and induction heating apparatus recently patented. The infra-red is used optionally in connection with the electrical heating.

Boy Scout Crusade Launched At Pecos

PECOS—Pecos Boy Scouts joined hands with 2,200,000 Scouts and Scouters Saturday in launching a two-year crusade to make Scouting stronger.

The 40th anniversary crusade is called "strengthen the arm of liberty" and plans for the local program.

The program included a 15-minute concert by the Pecos High School Band, bugle calls by Grover Cleveland, presentation of colors, pledge of allegiance with County Judge R. C. Slack leading, colors posted, and an explanation by Alton Hughes, master of ceremonies. Mrs. Evelyn Day, as the spirit of liberty to District Scout Chairman Ray Horton, who presented it to Henry Allen, representative of the unit leaders. Allen presented the torch to Jim Sam Camp, who represented all Boy Scouts in the city.

The Vatican estimates the number of U. S. Catholics increased from about 22,000,000 in 1839 to about 26,000,000 in 1948.

WHY INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS MUST BE A

"TWO-WAY STREET"

Industrial peace is the key to our country's economic welfare, now and for the future.

Harmonious industrial relations depend not on labor alone and not on management alone, but on labor and management working together as a team to achieve greater production of goods and permanent prosperity for all the people.

Both derive the benefits of our great FREE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM. Both must share the responsibilities and obligations of maintaining industrial peace and the nation's economic well-being. Their relations are like a "two-way street" on which there must be a balanced flow of "gives" and "takes."

Our country stands on the threshold of the greatest period of prosperity in its history—and on the brink of a serious recession that might hurt nearly everyone. Which way shall we go?

JUST TO KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT

In today's battle of political and economic ideas we are being fed with half-truths, untruths and hokum by some politicians, some labor leaders, parlour pinks and pseudo-economists, not to forget some plain "crack-pots," until the average man finds it is difficult to separate truth from propaganda.

Strife, turmoil and confusion on the home fronts have followed every war. We have seen what happened to Russia, Germany, Italy, France and other European countries following World War I. In our present economic crisis we should profit by their mistakes . . . and protect America's system of free enterprise at all costs and against all aggressors.

Even JOSEPH STALIN said: "Without American production the United Nations could not and would not have won the war."

Even JOHN L. LEWIS said: "I want FREE ENTERPRISE, FREE COLLECTIVE BARGAINING and FREE COMPETITION. They have acted in the past and will act in the future as a brake on profits and will bring lower costs to the consumer."

We are the only Nation in the world which is in position to assist other countries back on their feet. Inflation has not nor will not make the inroads on our National economy that it has in many European and Asiatic countries.

No nation on earth, regardless of its form of government, ever gave to human beings so much liberty and material prosperity as our own Constitutional form of Freedom. We started out as thirteen little States, ridden by poverty and threatened by savages. We now represent the utmost in individual freedom and individual prosperity. Compare our United States with any other land on earth. The workingman here is a king compared to the workingman in any other country. Nearly all of us have modern homes, electric lights and power, gas cooking, telephones, automobiles, automatic refrigeration, electric washers and irons, radios, insurance policies. Most of us own bonds and have money in the bank, plus a thousand and one other conveniences and luxuries.

WHAT OF GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF AMERICAN BUSINESS? Government ownership has proven woefully inefficient and wasteful where ever it has been tried. One has only to think what effect government controls, would bring to this country if the individual were deprived of reward for his honest effort.

Take away incentive and competition from the American economic picture and you will cause retrogression, stagnation, depression and lower standards of living for all the people.

This is the first of a series of educational messages brought to you as a reminder that THE AMERICAN SYSTEM OF FREE ENTERPRISE has made us the healthiest, wealthiest and happiest nation in the world. It is sponsored by the following firms and individuals who know our system must be maintained for the benefit of humanity.
