Extended Phone Service Asked for Rural Areas

A move to secure extended telephone service for the rural areas of Collingsworth County was initiated Monday night, May 8, when Wayne Goodrum, district manager of General Telephone Company, Memphis, met with members of the Builders Club.

Henry Sullivan, club chairman, stated the problem as lack of telephone communications between the areas north and south of Salt Fork River, as well as lack of extended telephone lines.

Mr. Goodrum explained the company's viewpoint, policies and FCC regulations. Rural residents wanting service must pay a charge of $525 per mile for construction of lines, with the first one-tenth mile free.

The actual construction costs, he said, are $978 per mile for aerial wires and $1,680 per mile for underground cable.

When new customers are added to a line, not only must the new line be built, but the existing line must be rebuilt all the way back to town to care for the increased load, Mr. Goodrum explained.

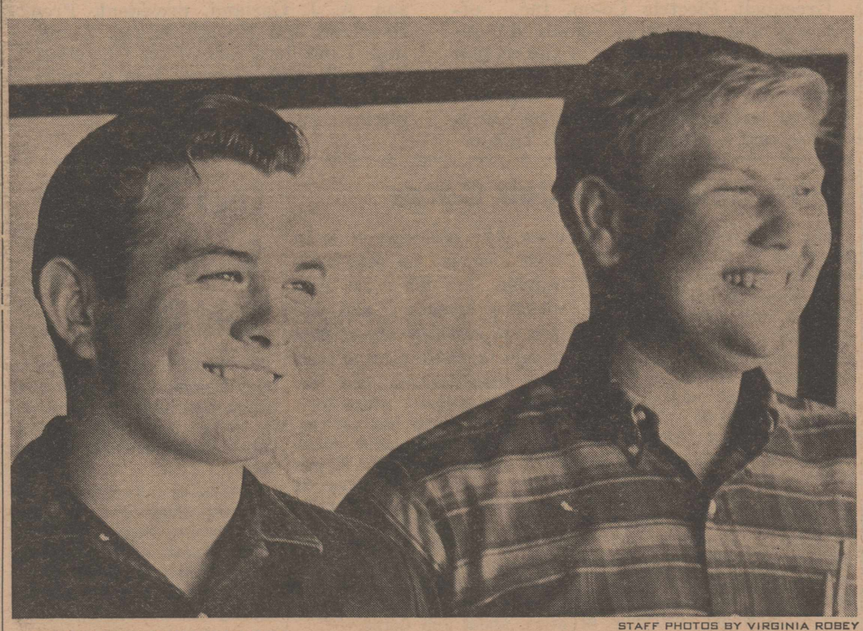

Each town must stand on its own rate, and the earnings of one area cannot be used to build lines in another. Nor does the Federal Communications Commission permit the use of earnings from the long distance rate to be used for construction, Mr. Goodrum said.

He told of technical improvements now being tested and which possibly will lower construction costs in the future.

Extended Area Service, or EAS, was suggested by which the Shamrock, Wellington and Dodson exchanges could be connected and subscribers of each could dial the others direct, and no long distance toll would be charged. This plan however, would require rate

Work Due Soon

Buried Phone Cable Due Along Marian Airpark

Telephone lines along the north side of Marian Airpark will be removed by General Telephone Company and replaced by buried cable, a distinct step in the improvement of Wellington's airport facilities.

County Judge Zook Thomas was informed of the plans recently by Melvin Jennings, Division Manager of General Telephone Company, Memphis.

"The structural and electrical specifications have been analyzed and decided on," Mr. Jennings said. "Actual placement now depends upon availability of special cable and equipment needed. It is expected that this material will be available within the next three months. Immediately upon arrival of this material, the construction will begin."

Mr. Thomas contacted the division manager about two months ago concerning the problem arising from the aerial lines across the north end of the airfield, and their danger to aircraft landing and taking off.

CAP Squadron Sought for Wellington Area

An attempt to form a CAP Squadron will be made in an organizational meeting Monday, May 22, at 8 p. m. in the dining room of Cherokee Inn Restaurant.

Plans were announced by J. C. Hartman and David Baumgardner, both pilots.

Lt. Col. O. G. Pate Minden, Commander of Group I, Texas CAP, and several members of his staff will be present to explain the work of CAP, the requirements which must be met, and the organizational procedure.

"If you want to form a squadron right then, they will have the necessary papers and we can go from there" Hartman said.

"Anyone can join CAP. We need more than pilots. Support personnel is just as important, and it takes a little bit of everybody's talent to make it work," Hartman declared.

Both men and women are eligible for membership it was pointed out.

It was also pointed out that approximately 12 planes are based at Marian Airpark and all of these would probably be available if they were needed fo rsearch and rescue operations.

The building and its grounds cover almost an entire block. There will be no services Sunday night, since the baccalaureate services for Wellington seniors will be held.

The Sunday services are not the first meeting planned for the new building. If it is possible, the North Fork Baptist monthly workers conference will convene there Thursday at 5:30 p. m. for a board meeting to be followed by the general session at 7:30.

National Guard Rates High on Inspection

National Guard Battery A, Wellington, received a superior rating at the recent Command Maintenance and Material Inspection, Capt. Chappell commanding officer reported. The unit scored 96 out of a possible 100 points.

CWO Harrison of the Guard headquarters at Austin was the inspecting officer.

The battery lost two points on small arms, due primarily to little, easily overlooked things, one point on motor maintenance and one on kitchen equipment, the commanding officer said.

The score, however was considered very good and was second high in the battalion. The unit losing only to Shamrock Battery B which had a score of 98.

"The work of the men primarily was responsible for the good grade," Capt. Chappell said. "When you get a good grade you know your troops are putting it out."

The next Guard drill will be May 21 and 22, when the men will prepare for summer camp, which will be held June 3 to 17 at Fort Hood.

Prairie Chickens Fade in Panhandle

WHEELER. — Fading remnants of once numerous lesser prairie chickens in the northeast corner of the Texas Panhandle are being counted on ancestral breeding grounds now, reports Richard DeArment, Panhandle project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

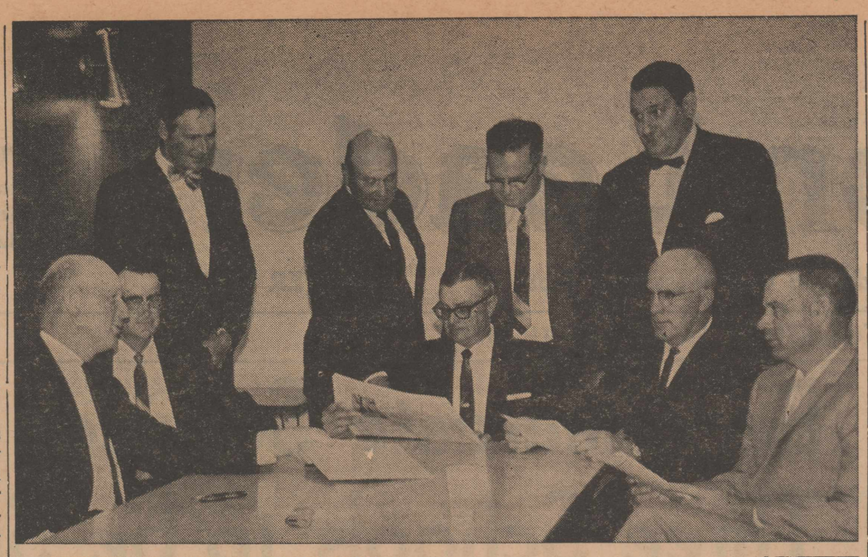

Each year DeArment silently approaches two established lesser prairie chicken booming grounds in Wheeler and Hemphill counties in the dim light of early morning to count the number of the rare chickens assembled there. These are study areas and used for population trend data.

These surveys began as early as 1942 but were curtailed during the war years and resumed in 1950. Since that time there has not been a break in records.

Except for a minor increase in prairie chicken numbers following the drouth of the 50's and during the past three years a general decline has prevailed.

Biologists attribute this to the loss of tall grasses and sagebrush nesting areas plus the widespread use of herbicide and insect sprays.

Honey bees are not native to America but were brought to Florida by the Spaniards in 1763.

John Wayne Plays Davy Crockett in 'Alamo' Movie

There are hundreds of actors in Hollywood and many of them are great ones. But there was only one who could play the role of the American frontiersman Davy Crockett in the opinion o fmany, and that one was John Wayne.

Because he seems to be the quintessence of the western pioneer, hero-soldier; re: "The Big Trail," "Stagecoach" (his first big hit); "Tall in the Saddle," "Fighting Kentuckian," "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," and, of course, as the memorable cavalry fighter Col. Grierson in "The Horse Soldiers."

Which is why Wayne is Crockett in "The Alamo," the historical spectacle in Technicolor, the United Artistsre-releast which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. The film is a Batjac Production and Wayne not only appears in it but he produced and directed it from an original screenplay based on the historic facts by James Edward Grant.

And knowing what an authentic frontiersman should be, he selected Richard Widmark to play James Bowie—he of knife fame—and Laurence Harvey to portray the Alamo's martyred defender Colonel William Travis. oBth take full star billing with Wayne in "The Alamo."

Wayne also felt that there was only one player in all of Hollywood who could do General Sam Houston properly, and that's why Richard Boone is in the cast, with guest star billing.

That Wayne is a battler offscreen as well as on is apparent from his recent bount with a malignancy from which he appears to have completely recovered.

NOT SO UFO

A pair of 10-year-old boys from Iron River, Mich., told police they saw an unidentified flying object parked in a yard. They said it was six feet high, surrounded by three rings and resting on springs.

School Service Centers Told

Collingsworth County school heads were in Amarillo recently to hear of a new educational development. Education Service Centers, to be set up in 20 regions of the state.

The centers were authorized by the 59th Legislature and coordinate and encourage development of supplemental educational services and centers under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Through the media services, these regional centers will provide participating school districts with such visual aids as motion pictures and slides, a magnetic tape duplicating service for audio and video tapes, and a visual duplication service to reproduce transparencies and film strips.

Other services will cover needs which may vary from region to region, and will also provide for regional resources to contribute educational planning.

Schools which join the plan will pay $1 per pupil per school year for the services, said J. L. Harper, superintendent of Wellington schools.

Attending from Collingsworth County were J. L. Harper of Wellington, Robert Dwight of Samnorwood, Lloyd Patterson of Dodson, E. P. Haynie of Quail, T. E. Lennon, county superintendent, and B. W. Beaird acting superintendent.

Over 2,600 buildings in the heart of Baltimore were destroyed by a fire in 1904.

Go forth, young man

...we can't use you here

Is this the word to our young people — able and beloved — when they've finished school and are ready to start making their own living?

Too often it is, in the smaller communities like ours.

Why don't we have more job opportunities and more business opportunities right here, so that more of our sons and daughters can establish their homes and be happy and prosperous here at home?

It's partly circumstance. Partly the natural limitations of the economy of our area. Partly because we haven't been quite aggressive or enterprising enough to build and grow more.

But it's also partly because many of us have let ourselves get into the habit of spending too much of our money somewhere else.

Every dollar that we spend away from home is a dollar less to circulate among us and to account for 2 or 3 or more dollars of added trade volume as it moves from hand to hand.

Keeping more of this easily available trade volume at home is one way by which we could create and sustain more local opportunities for our young people. And for ourselves.

Notes

from Your Home Demonstration Agent

By Loleta Kees

Bleaches

There are two chemical types of bleaches for home use. Chlorine bleaches are available as liquids and powders. Oxygen bleaches come in powder form.

Chlorine bleaches shouldn't be used on fabrics containing silk, wool, or spandex fibers, or on fabrics with a chlorine-retentice resin finish. Fabrics with these finishes are usually marked "Do Not use Chlorine Bleach' 'on the label. The Chlorine bleach could yellow rather than bleach these fabrics, and could cause serious fabric damage.

Liquid chlorine bleaches are fast acting and should be mixed thoroughly with the wash water before clothes are added. Never use more than one tablespoon of liquid chlorine bleach to one gallon wash water. Never add bleach to rinse water.

Dry chlorine bleach is slower in action than liquid bleach. It doesn't need to be mixed with water before adding to the washing solution.

The whitening effect of flourescent whiteners present in laundry detergents is reduced by chlorine bleaches. To get maximum effectiveness from both whitener and bleach, agitate the clothes with the detergent solution for about four minutes before adding the bleach.

Oxygen bleaches are safe for all fibers, natural and manmade, and for resinfinish cottons. They are likely to cause damage to fabric if improperly used than chlorine bleaches.

Knowing A Good Egg

You'll never know just by looking at the outside shell whether an egg is good. It takes a look inside to really show.

There's a big supply of eggs on the market now at reasonable prices. But, how can you know the eggs you buy are good?

You can use aggs graded AA (Fresh Fancy) or A for all purposes, but they are especially good for frying and posching where appearance is important. Grade B eggs may be lower priced, and they are good for general cooking and baking where appearance is not important.

Within each grade there may be some eggs that look different from others. Here are some of the most common questions homemakers ask about aggs, and answers.

Why do some eggs have whitesh Cloudy or milky whites are noticeable in freshly laid eggs or eggs which have been oil-treated while fresh. The cloudiness indicates that the carbon dioxide naturally present in fresh eggs has not yet escaped as a gas through the shell.

Are eggs getting smaller? Consumers sometimes observe that today's broken-out eggs seem to be small. They point out that eggs do not cover as large an area in the frying pan as they once did. These consumers are right. Eggs are not covering as much area as they once did, but this does not mean that they weigh less. as the egg is stored, the amount of thick white decreases and the eggs tends to spread and cover more surface.

Why are some hard-cooked eggs difficult to peel? This condition is related to the freshness of eggs. As eggs are stored, they lose carbon dixide and become easier to peel when hard-cooked. The consumer should understand that eggs which will not peel easily when hard-cooked are freshly laid and generally of high quality.

What are the stringy white pieces in egg whites? These are perfectly normal components of eggs — the chalazas. The chalazas anchors the yolk in the thick white. Presence of prominent chalazas tend to disappear. Some users, mistakenly think the chalazas are evidence of fertile eggs, very diligently pick them out. This is not necessary, as the chalazas are normal, wholesome parts of the egg white.

Home Economics Briefs

Whether you wash quilts and mattress pads by hand or machine, use more soap or detergent than for other articles. These items are especially absorbent.

To figures the true cost of clothing, remember that the original cost plus the cost of upkeep equals the total cost of a garment.

A medium size sweet potato supplies about twice your daily Vitamin A requirements and about one-third of the day's Vitamin C needs. It also contributes some calcum, iron, thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin.

By 1975 there may be underground pipelines which will deliver both food and prescription drugs to your home. Other coming innovations include moving store aisles, robot services and drive-stores. Crazy? So were the Wright brothers!

A new fabric is on its way to the market. It is Chamelon cloth, a printed fabric that can be given a second set of colors when the buyer tires of the original set. The color is changed by putting the garment into hot water containing a special powder that comes with the garment.

The average housewife washes 340 tons of dishes in a lifetime.

Did you know that there are 240 marketable species of fish and shellfish? No mater what the season ,there are usually food buys among the wide variety of fresh, frozen and canned fish.

2nd Debut Face-Lift gives an ageless look– more fascinating than either youth or beauty!

Tell yourself it's true, because you'll see it happen to you, and nothing could bring you more happiness when it does. This new, 2nd Debut face-lift will give you the look you have desired desperately, the appearance of agelessness—the look so thoroughly unrevealing, your cleverest rival could not guess how old or young you really are. Yours will be the ageless look that fascinates college seniors and retired widowers alike. The experience and charm that make a woman so intriguing will be in your face, but not the harsh lines that unjustly announce the year in which you were born.

The principle of the 2nd Debut face-lift is rational and simple. It offers the advantages of result—certainly without risk—and best of all—no sagging later on. Your lift can be as permanent as you want it to be. A self-given application, with fair frequency whenever you feel so disposed and your new ageless look will remain with you indefinitely. Women in their 60's, abroad and here, are enjoying the fruits of their 2nd Debut face lifts every day.

HOW TO GET IT FOR YOURSELF

Your lift is in a bottle containing a non-oily, pleasantly scented emulsion named 2nd Debut. At night, before retiring, and after your make-up has been removed and your facial skin is free from traces of cleansing cream, you smooth a small amount of 2nd Debut over your face and neck. Covers it gently with a circular motion of your finger tips, until it vanishes into your skin. Now is when your lift begins. There is no stretching the skin—no peeling—nothing more than just a simple and delightful few minutes with yourself each night before retiring for a half dozen or a dozen nights in succession. You will accomplish much by actually lifting the age lines out of your face. Day by day you watch the lines around your eyes, over your cheek bones, around your nose and at the corners of your mouth lessen and lessen as they become more difficult to find. This simple nightly routine will keep your face in this new state as long as you want to enjoy an ageless look. Discontinue the treatment whenever you wish. Resume it when you see the need to. Succeeding courses will be every bit as effective as the first.

After age 25, in the female, the cells of the skin usually begin to shrink in size due to reduced ability to obtain water and retain it. Skin then dries and "falls in." These areas are the lines that are so worrisome because lines can become wrinkles that give the "over 35" look a grasp on appearance that is difficult to break.

It is by making water moisture available to this dried out skin that surface lines are first softened until they nearly, or completely vanish from even the closest scrutiny of the skin's surface—your face. The discovery by German scientists for getting youth-giving water to the dried out skin is regarded so importantly that scientific journals in many countries herald it as a major contribution to knowledge in this century.

The process is simple and natural. It is based upon resupplying to the skin the natural ingredient, or "aid," through which the skin obtains and retains water-moisture. This ingredient is designated CEF, which means *C*ellular *E*xpansion *F*actor. This "aid" to water-moisture absorption, when spread over the skin's surface, actually carries with it molecules of pure water to the water-starved skin. It is then the "lift" begins. It is then facial lines on the surface start to smooth out to become less and less visible on the surface. CEF is available in the U.S.A. in the form of a non-greasy, lightly scented emulsion labeled 2nd Debut. You can get it in two potencies; 2nd Debut (with CEF 600) for the woman under 45, and 2nd Debut (with CEF 1200) for the older woman. Either will make and keep every woman looking younger than her years—truly ageless.

The place was the colosseum and what happened there was several hours of fun. It was the annual junior-senior banquet, Roman style, held Saturday evening, May 6, in the Bura Handley Community Center.

Blue streamers were spread across the ceiling to create a summer night-sky. White Corinthian columns were placed at intervals along the side walls, and at the top of each purple or gold balloons were hung, like clusters of grapes. Ivy covered the south wall.

A sparkling plume of water played from a fountain at the center, and the overall effect was that of a Roman antrium, prepared for a splendid banquet.

Entertainment matched the setting. Guest musicians were a girls vocal quartet from Arnett High School, including Shirley Norman, Sharon Sikes, Marilyn Clay and Alice Whitson, directed by Maurice Moore.

City's Action to Improve Airport Answers Urgent Need

The city's steps to meet the urgent needs for airport improvement are most gratifying to all who have any contact with the world of flying.

Paving a runway will make it possible for almost any type of plane which would be coming to Wellington to land in any weather. One of the major complaints of pilots not based here has been that landing on the dirt is jarring to delicate navagational instruments and often puts them out of operation, and it is also hard on planes in general.

Ag pilots and others based at Marion Airpark have taken the inconvenience in their stride.

Interest in air travel in and out of Wellington is growing. Flight instruction is available again, and the county probably never has had as many men with the ability to fly a plane.

Once more, Wellington is without bus service, and this places greater emphasis on the need for greater airport use.

Paving the present runway at Marion Airpark will answer the needs of the present, and it will also put the city in a better position to act if the need grows.

High School and Marriages

American high schools, frequently sniped at for a long list of alleged failings, are now facing a new extra-curricula problem that may prove hard to solve. Student marriages, it is reported, are increasing and some parents and educationists are becoming worried.

Should these young married couples be allowed to continue in school? There have been court cases to decide the question. A recent study showed that early marriages are becoming the vogue. Among girls, one in four aged 18, one in six aged 17 and one in 16 aged 16 were married.

These student marriages seem to argue a frivolous attitude to a high school education. The sloppy-sentimental mood that has become prevalent in recent years makes it increasingly difficult for sensible people to denounce the nonsense of a school child being allowed to marry without being accused of harshness and narrowness.

The fact that in many cases the young married couple will be dependent upon parents for a livelihood seems to be no deterrent. Isn't that what parents are for—to help out?

In the easy-come, easy-go lotus land of material plenty, education is no longer a stern, exacting challenge. If American high schools are allowed to become marriage bureaus, social problems of the future will be compounded.

Nothing But the Best

State Capital NEWS
By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN TEXAS —Redistrict-bills are ready for test votes in the House.

A court reapportionment measure which would add 16 courts, eliminate two and provide for district realignment, was reported favorably by the House Committee on Judicial Districts.

It would combine district courts serving Hill and Freestone Counties with other counties. It provides for abolishing the 88th District Court, effective January 1, 1970, and the 82nd iDstrict Court, effective January 1, 1971.

Candidates for the new judgeships would run for office next year, taking over on January 1, 1969.

A congressional redistricting bill, required by an order of the federal court, is complete. But it has been held back due to controversies.

Congressional redistricting as drawn by the House Committee would require no incumbent congressmen to run against another incumbent. Committee Chairman Gus Mutcher of Brenham said the bill would carve 23 new districts which vary no more than five per cent in population.

Mutcher indicated that the redistricting measure for House seats is virtually complete and will follow congressional reapportionment by about 10 days.

Horses Gallop Again

In less time than it takes a fast stepping thoroughbred to romp a mile, the House Committee on Counties approved, on a local-option basis, a bill to legalize pari-mutuel horse race betting in Texas.

House sponsors said they are not sure when they will ask for a floor vote.

Here's what the House bill proposes: Racing would be permitted in counties where voters want it, with 85 per cent of the betting pools going to betters, two per cent to counties where tracks are operated and 13 per cent to be split between the state and the track operators. State would, in turn, divide half of its share (on a population basis) among the counties having no tracks. Bookmaking and off-track betting with bookies would be made a felony.

Senate bill has been out of committee since February but, so far, the sponsors haven't brought it to a floor test.

"Open Meetings"

A bill to outlaw closed-door meetings of government agencies passed the Senate unanimously.

However, an amendment would exempt departments, agencies and political subdivisions not supported by or spending tax funds.

Misdemeanor fines are provided for violations, and "any interested person" may launch court action for mandamus or injunction against closed meetings.

Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena handled the measure in the Senate. It now goes to the House where Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville is sponsor.

Revision Plans Advanced

House overwhelmingly passed a resolution proposing a method of state constitutional revision. A 20-member commission assisted by a 20-member citizens advisory committee would report recommendations to the next legislature for submission to voters.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria is author of the House resolution.

Senate State Affairs Committee approved a bill to establish a 45-member constitutional revision commission. Under this bill, by A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, the commission would be limited mainly to recommendations. It would offer suggestions to the Legislature for eliminating obsolete and repetitive sections.

Pollution Measures Cleared

House passed the Senate bill to strengthen water pollution control and establish a new Texas Water Quality Board as a separate agency. Amendments will send the bill back to the Senate.

Meanwhile, the Senate has approved a bill to provide the mechanism for enforcing air pollution control measures. An amendment would allow the Air Control Board to set different standards for agricultural processors (including cotton gins) than are set for industries.

Grant Approved

U. S. Public Health Service has approved a $315,659 grant to Texas for a statewide immunization program.

Funds will be used for immunization campaigns in cooperation with local health agencies and medical societies against mealels, polio, diptheria, tetanus and whooping cough. Propect will continue through April 30, 1968. An adtional year has been tentatively provided for with a $325,000 grant. Supplemental budget of $35,775 for polio vaccine has been requested.

Occupationàl Safety

House and Senate both have passed the compromise occupational safety bill. It now awaits Gov. John Connally's Signature.

As finally passed, the bill is a compromise among labor, management and the governor. It would create a Division of Occupational Safety as a part of the State Department of Health.

DOS would have the power to make and enforce rules and regulations on safety, plus authority to inspect places of employment. A qualified safety engineer would be hired to administer the program.

Regularte Rainmakers

Senate has passed and sent to the House a licensing bill to regulate weather modifiers — or would-be modifiers— under the Texas aWter Development Board.

Apparently the bill is aimed more at encouraging research and development in the field of legitimate weather modifying than at bogus rainmakers.

Board would be given full control over the entire field of water modifying including annual livensing and permits.

Appointments

Governor Connally named Carlos Castillon of Laredo as 49th district attorney to replace Oscar M. Laurel who recently accepted a federal post in Washington.

Connally named to the Dallas-Tarrent board of park commissioners W. T. Overton, Jack Evans, David Bruton Jr., O. Norsworthy of Dallas. Also Jr., Vernon S. Smith and T. W. B. English, George A. Nicoud Ernest J. Wilemon of Arlington and Murry Kyger, David O. Belew Jr., John L. Lewis, James C. Fuller and Dick Lowe of Fort Worth.

Dr. Bevington A. Reed, formerly of Cisco and Rlpine, now chancellor of the Board of Minnesota State College, was named assistant commissioner of Texas Higher Education for Senior Colleges and Universities.

Water Projects Asked

Texas Water Development Board has asked federal agencies for $40,500,000 for recreational facilities at the U. S. Corps of Engineers water projects and $2,800,000 for investigative studies of 16 projects suggested by President oJhnson.

Board is seeking $55,000 from the $810,000 appropriation the president recommended for water and pollution study. Among other projects urged were these: A $25,000 study of the Red River above Denison Dam; $25,000 for the Canadian River and tributaries; $100,000 for the Nueces River and tributaries study; an increase for modification of Lavon Reservoir near Dallas and east form channel improvements; $750,000 to begin construction of Cooper Dam in Delta and Hopkins Counties; $150,000 to initiate planning of the Arkansas-Red River chloride control project; and $75,000 for flood control work on the Pecos River.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

It says in the daily news about idiots that a new crusade has been organized, called "Negotiate Now!", which aims to get up a petition ordering President LBJ to negotiate the war to a close

My non-negotious neighbor says he has always thought that negotiation takes two or more people, like same as a fight or a holdup.

But he reckons if the negoitationists find a way for the President to negotiate solo, the same system may fix it so one person hereafter can run a see-saw or produce children.

People who don't seem like can think of any other problems to discuss keep bringing up the subject of whether to let 18-year-old citizens vote.

Some argue that anybody having to pay taxes is entitled to vote. One-day-olds, of course own taxes if they become property owners at birth, so this would force politicians to work out some kind of a free-rattlors program to round up the diaper vote.

But my seniorized citizen neighbor is all for lowering the voting age to 18, because he recalls that when he was 18, he knew a whole lot more than he does now.

The TV people tell us they run the same programs over and over because of public demand.

Which shows mankind hasn't progressed much from when cave people's non-participatory home entertainemnt was just sitting and looking at the same old pictures on the war year after year.

My nostalgenic neighbor says he reckons somebody does demand that TV re-run these old shows, but it wasnt' him. However, he would take part in a public demand for a re-run of 1959 model cars, so he could be in style on the highways again.

In the wonderful world of new economics, it appears that a deficit is an asset, on account of—in the manner of LSD—it creates a happy halluciantion of prosperity.

My Out neighbor says deficit prosperity is not plumb new. Back before credit bureaus got to tattling on everybody, many enterprising deadbeats lived high by deficting in one town until the stores shut off their credit and then moving to a new green pasture.

Says he reckons this is why the federal deficiteers ars so bent on opening a Lunar Trail, so when nobody on earth will let them have any more credit, they can go up and bankrupt the moon.

Gallup poll computes that 57 per cent of us people think religion is losing the influence it used to have on American life.

Which may be true, because Religion is generally deemed to be for people with troubles, and who has got troubles as long as he has plenty of credit cards?

And, while it has not been claimed that the Lord will accept any credit cards except those issued by Him as good for room and board in Heaven, there is always Satan's program of a warm welcome for all comers.

Guided-news pipelines tell us that some of our hired thinkers feel like a form of lottery in the only fair way to decide who gets drafted.

Which could lead to a totally Fair Society, where everybody's name will be put into a barrel and a blindfolded child will pick out who serves as President, congressmen, bureaucrats, judges, etc.

And where everybody will be required by law to draw a name from this same barrel to determine who to let overhaul his car or take out his apuendix.

Price Bill Would Curb Flag Abuse

A bill to curb deliberate and defiant desecration of the American Flag was introduced today by Representative Bob Price.

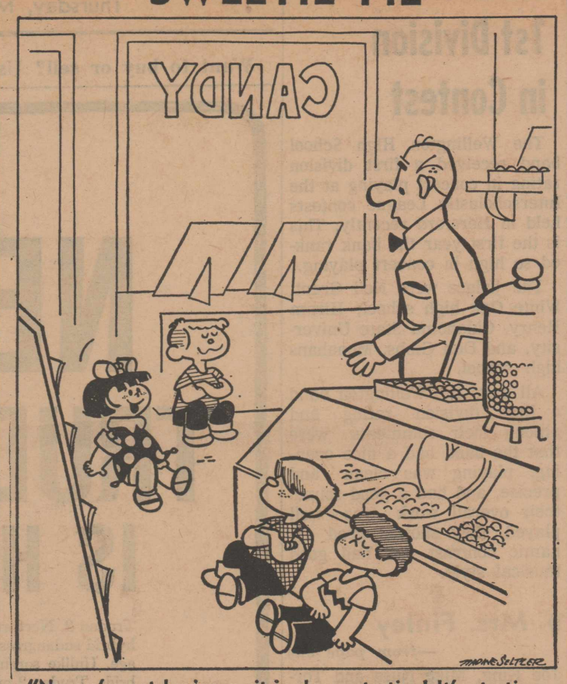

The House Judiciary Committee will begin hearings on Price's bill next week. Price said he would appear before a Judiciary sub-committee with Texas Senator John Tower and Tower's brother, Lawrence, who is the President of the American Flag Foundation.

"It is strange indeed," Price said, "to see on the same day in the same newspaper pictures of Aemrican young men dying in Viet Nam and also pictures of other young men burning their nations flag in the safety of an American port. Certainly, the Bill of Rights was never intended to protect those who contemptously set fire to the American Flag."

"One of the greatest strengths of this nation," he added, "is the right of dissent. This right was established by our Founding Fathers and must remain inviolate. However, the right of dissent from particular policies or with particular individuals was never intended to sanction the desecration of the American Flag which is the symbol of our national heritage and unites all Americans in their allegiance, "To the Republic for which it stands."

Price's bill would authorize punishment of descration of the U. S. Flag by up to a years imprisonment and a $1,000.00 fine.

Greenspan New ASCS Program

Greenspan, a part of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Cropland Adjustment Program, is becoming increasingly popular, according to John W. Carson, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. Reports he has received show that cities, counties and other public entities confronted with conservation, recreation and open-space problems, are turning in increasing numbers to the Greenspan program for help.

The Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP), authorized by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, is divided into two parts. One part applies to farmers, the other to public entities. For farmers, it provides adjustment payments and conservation cost sharing to help to shift land out of certain crops and into conserving uses for periods of 5 to 10 years.

The Greenspan provision of CAP authorizes equivalent help to public entities — local, state or federal — desiring to buy cropland for permanent conversion to nonfarm uses such as the preservation of open spaces and natural beauty, wild life habitat and recreation, and the prevention of air and water pollution.

Greenspan rates of assistance are based on the smaller of 50 percent of the cost of the land diverted from eligible crops or what a farmer would have received under a 10-year CAP agreement. The grant will be determined by the number of acres and the farm yield per acre.

Greenspan help is being applied to a wide variety of uses —wildlife ponds, fishing and boating waters, nature trails, beautification areas; picnic, camping and wilderness areas; children's playgrounds, football fields, baseball and softball diamonds, golf courses, tennis, badminton, and basketball courts; and swimming pools.

State or local officials, farmers, and other persons interested in details of the 1967 Greenspan program should call, write or visit the ASCS county office.

Last week the two cooperatives of our city published a joint advertisement headed "What Cooperatives Mean to Wellington and Collingsworth County." The total listed as being spent in the county was over half a million dollars—$533,044.44 to be exact. Actually the sum was much more for each cooperative had expenditures that were not duplicated by the other and were not listed and there were items which were not spent entirely in this county but which had a beneficial influence on our economy.

Half a million dollars in circulation is an important amount of money changing hands especially when you consider that $175,679.28 was for wages and salaries and another $259,598.36 was for dividends and earnings. The cooperatives are a vital part of our economy; but the citizenship of the people who direct them and operate them is a contribution to the welfare of our community that I appreciate even more. Without fail you will find some of their number in the forefront or taking an active part in every worthwhile endeavor in our town and county. They are good neighbors and good citizens.

The Skyrocket, the annual of Wellington High School, was distributed this week and an excellent and interesting book is this verbal and pictorial record of the activities of the students of WHS during the 66-67 term. Congratulations are in order for Mrs. De Holliman, the faculty advisor and to Beth Smith, the editor, and the entire staff. Mrs. Holliman, in particular, deserves mention for it is her first year in performing the exacting task that has been handled by Mrs. Paralee Coleman for the past several years. The Skyrocket has a tradition of excellence and this years edition is no exception.

Saturday is the day to have your dogs and cats vaccinated for rabies. The veterinarian will be at the city work shop from 9:30 in the morning until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. This is a preventative measure taken by Wellington officials every year. The presence of a number of rabid skunks in the county makes the vaccination program more imperative than ever this year.

The problem of disposing of the stray dogs that are not vaccinated is comparitively simple; but the half wild alley cats provide an entirely different worry to the law enforcement officers who are called upon to exterminate those that have not been immunized. Take my alley for instance that is populated with cats. I started feeding a small group of the wild young things in order to get them gentle enough to catch and haul off. Now I have three sort of gentle; but two of the red and white males are so pretty that I would like to keep them. That is the reason Donald Nunnelley makes people identify cats as their own before he will shoot them.

It will be a sad day for me when I have to call on the law to dispose of these beautiful felines; but the fact remains that you can't have birds if you keep cats.

My pecan trees on the farm that was called Fresno before time and "progress" eliminated the rural communities developed rosettes and unhealthy branches. A little checking revealed the fact that the soil was deficient in zinc so I bought some zinc sulphate to put around them. The ash trees in Roy Horn's yard, another one on Dallas street, and on my own yard are dying because of the lack of zinc. Don't confuse this with a lack of iron, a condition from which many shrubs suffer in this area. The pecan and the ash trees need zinc and you can buy it from J. M. Strong.

Ocie Scott has tomato vines in his hot house that are eighty feet long and will be well over 100 feet in length before he calls an end to the productive life of the plant. Only four feet of the vine is held upright by twine. On this tomatoes grow in clusters. As the ripe tomatoes are gathered the leaves of that part of the vine are shredded and the old trunk is laid on the ground. The sole purpose of this long trunk is to channel juices from the roots bearing life giving elements to the leaves to be manufactured into vi tamin filled vegetable known as the tomato.

If the brevity and clariety of how Mr. Scott grows tomatoes in a hot house leaves you bewildered and thinking of mud, perhaps you had better go out there and take a look yourself. Do not enter smoking or you may be thrown out bodily, for the tomato plants are sensitive to tomacco. It causes a virus that makes white spots on the tomatoes which ruins their value in the market.

Many interesting things can be seen in the short distance between the corner and The Farmers Coop Gin. One is the Jack on the Harwell & Leach Shetland Ranch. How come this male has been there over a year and yet there are no mule or half burro colts on the premises?

History: Earl Alexander and Harris Royal say that the name of the man who ran the Crown Bottling Company was McMinn and not Mims. Mr. Mims built the first water system.

If you can remember when you had a round chart that hung in front of your house and you set it to indicate whether you wanted 25, 50 or 100 pounds of ice you don't need to worry about anything except Medicare.

Husband: I am not trying to be difficult ,either. I simply want to know why we are the only family on the street that still has ice delivered.

Film to Be Filed

Microfilm Records of County Documents Begun

A microfilm machine has been installed in the office of Lorene Jenkins, county-district clerk, to record county records and to provide a microfilm of each document filed.

County Judge Zook Thomas said the cost of the new method does not exceed what has been paid for material used by the old recording system. He said the county will pay a fee of $100 per month to Southern Microfilm Corp of Houston which will cover up to 330 pages of documents per month.

The average number fined has been 288 per month.

Processing is done at the Houston company, and so far, delivery has been on a four-day basis. The sheets are filed in binders and are handled just as the records have been previously.

An added advantage, Junde Thomas pointed out, is the microfilm record which will be stored in a fireproof place, and which will make available the country records in case the court house is destroyed by catastrophe.

The old machine will be kept to make copies of instruments for the public or other needs that may arise.

ing in the county, transfer of allotments to other counties for the period 1968 and 1969 will be permitted. The transfer of allotments is authorized in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965.

The first vote on the transfer of allotments was held Nov. 23, 1965. At that time growers in 349 upland cotton producing counties voted to permit transfers. A second vote was held in mid-May of 1966. Growers in additional counties approved transfers, making a total of 412 counties. There are 1,059 cotton growing counties in the U. S. Only those counties which did not approve transfers in earlier votes will need to vote this month.

The May 15-19 referendum will be the second to be conducted by mail. Ballots will be mailed on May 12 to all cotton growers of record in counties holding referendum. Officials said a mail vote has proved to be more convenient for growers, rather than having to appear in person at their polling place, particularly during a busy season. To be counted, all votes should be in the office of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee before the close of business on May 19, or be postmarked by midnight May 19.

It was also brought out that if an animal suspected of having rabies is penned, and another animal comes by the pen, he can contract rabies either by being bitten or through close contact.

Chief Nunnelley named dogs, cats, calves, bats and skunks as principal carriers of rabies. The larger than usual skunk population during the winter and spring is thought by many to have a bearing on the number of cases rabied domestic animals.

Explorer Scouts will assist with the pet vaccination and will receive 25 cents of each fee.
