Penny Solomon, currently an administrative assistant to Dr. Peter McLeod of the First Baptist Church in Hattiesburg, Miss., has been named manager of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Solomon was hired during a board of directors meeting Thursday night after a screening committee selected her and Kay Fite of Colorado City as the top two applicants from the eight applications received.

She will be filling the vacancy created by the recent resignation of Linda McCombs. The decision to hire Miss Solomon came on a motion from Joy Morris, seconded by Tom Lovell. The vote was unanimous. Board member Cecil Oursbourn, whose wife Janice is a sister to Miss Solomon, abstained.

Miss Solomon will be paid $1,000 a month, plus $250 a month car allowance, the same salary paid to the previous chamber manager. The chamber office will be open from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1-5 p.m. weekdays.

Wolves fall to Gatesville

By Tony Franco
Sports Editor

The Gatesville Hornets sank 61 percent of their free throws compared to Colorado City's 50 percent and made a final spurt to pull away for a 55-42 victory over the Wolves in bi-district basketball action played at San Angelo Lakeview Gym last Friday night.

Gatesville, 8AAA champions and now 19-8 on the year, advances to the area round against the winner of the Abilene Wylie and Decatur match.

The Wolves, 7AAA runners-up and playoff representatives for a second consecutive year, ends the season with a 12-9 record.

"It came down to the foul situation," said Colorado City coach Mike Hart. "I was pleased with the hustle but we're not as quick and fast as they are."

"It boils down to free throws."

Starters Ruben Rivera, Doug Chitsey and Armando Rivera picked up quick fouls in the first half, sat out much of the game because of it and then fouled out for good in the second half along with Ken Woods.

Cold shooting hampered the Wolves from the start of the game and they went on to make only 14 of 43 field goal attempts.

Gatesville made only two more goals but had a 23-14 edge on free throws. Charles Mayberry led the Hornets with eight goals and 10 free throws for 26 points.

Information day draws crowd

The annual Cotton Information Day drew cotton farmers and land owners from Mitchell County and surrounding counties Thursday at the Civic Center to hear specialists present programs on weed control and herbicide application, the 1985 insect situation, the economic situation and the 1985 cotton program.

Sponsored by the Mitchell County Pest Management Steering Committee and the Mitchell County Extension Service, the meeting got under way at 10:30 a.m. with Alton Raschke, chairman of the Pest Management Steering Committee, and Extension Agent Mike Mauldin welcoming the guests.

Dr. Willis Gass, extension agronomist, presented a slide program on weed control and herbicide application. He noted that following a dry year such as 1984, soil moisture and temperature are both important in breaking down herbicides. He noted the importance of plowing to dilute band applied herbicide residues in topsoil and plowing to reduce broadcast applied herbicides.

Gass also noted that many farmers in the Rolling Plains are using furrow diking to reduce water runoff and to increase utilization and storage of rainfall. He said that the cost of dikers is $100-275 per row and that equipment is coming on the market that puts up good dikes at high speeds and with reduced maintenance problems.

He said 26 years of research at Spur indicates cotton yield was increased by diking 75 percent of the time. However, no increase in either extremely wet or ex-

Mahons to be honored

Historical group eyes goals

Members of the Mitchell County Historical Commission discussed a number of goals for the coming year during their regular meeting Wednesday including honoring former Cong. and Mrs. George Mahon with some sort of bronze bust or plaque on the courthouse grounds.

Jim Baum, newly named chairman of the commission, said that "I think we really need to do something" in honoring the Mahons. Mahon was a long-time congressman and he and Mrs. Mahon returned to Colorado City after retiring from Washington.

Baum said that $13,000 was raised several years ago on short notice for a bust to honor Omar Burleson and predicts the same can be accomplished for the Mahons. Baum along with Gus Armstrong, Vista Harrell and Glen Coon will investigate the matter further.

Other goals discussed by the group include:

- Doing something with the old Majors house on Chestnut Street. Baum said he will check on the status of the house concerning ownership.
- Obtaining a historical marker for an old concrete horse trough in Loraine. Armstrong said the trough needs to be preserved and was appointed to investigate the matter.
- Obtaining a historical marker for the old jail in Westbrook and for the old drug store and post office which now houses the Golden Age Club in Westbrook. Trey Smith was named to check further about those two structures.

Other goals discussed by the group included obtaining historical markers for the old train depots in Loraine and Westbrook and for the old salt works and for Jake's Restaurant.

Baum said he has been in touch with Union and Pacific Railroad officials about the possibility of obtaining an old locomotive and-or caboose to be displayed permanently near the railroad tracks.

The history of Mitchell County and Colorado City is "entwined with the railroad," said Baum. "Thanks to the railroad we're here."

tremely dry years was noted.

Dr. Tom Fuchs, extension entomologist, discussed the 1985 insect situation and said that Mitchell County farmers should "be in fairly good shape this year." He said however, that since this year is starting out wet, a larger population of fleahoppers can be expected.

Extension economist Robert Kensing discussed the economic outlook for the coming year.

"All of us are aware that farming is high risk," he said. "Farming requires as much investment as any industry we have."

He stressed the importance of knowing production costs.

"Know your production costs," he said. "Know what your business is doing for you."

"If you will make your program work on paper, you'll be pleased at the end of the year," he said.

Don Stewart with the local ASCS office, highlighted the 1985 farm program and stressed the importance of signing up for the programs.

"Make yourself available for deficiency payments," said Stewart, noting that the last day to sign up is March 1 and all interested parties must have signed the contract by March 15.

Raschke reported on the Pest Management Committee, and noted that although a referendum failed which would have kept the entomologist in Mitchell County, that farmers should still try to keep the uniform planting date. He said the uniform planting date "has helped us enormously on insect control."

He said the Pest Management Committee plans to stay active in the county and said that another referendum might be forthcoming.

Those attending the annual cotton information day were treated to a catered barbecue lunch sponsored by several chemical companies which had exhibits and presented brief programs as well.

Miss Solomon also is serving as an intern consultant for the adult services program at the University of Southern Mississippi at Hattiesburg where she developed a public relations-marketing plan designed to attract the adult student market. She also helped develop a positive image plan for the adult services program target in adult population in a six-county area.

She has been attending the University of Southern Mississippi working toward a Bachelor of Science degree in communications-management. She attended Baylor University in Waco from 1972-73 and Mid-America Nazarene College in Olathe, Kan. from 1971-72.

Miss Solomon said Friday that she is "looking forward to working with a fine group of board members" and plans to start work on March 11.

Wolves

A few turnovers and the missed scoring opportunities gave Gatesville a 13-5 lead after one quarter.

Don Randle, who led the Wolves with 20 points on six goals and eight free throws, scored all of Colorado City's first period points.

The Hornets increased their lead to 12 points for a 19-7 lead early in the second period, but the Wolves made their first of three comebacks to pull within two of 19-17.

Chitsey began that run with a goal and two free throws then Randle followed with three free throws for the 19-17 score.

The Wolves shot well in the second period, making eight of 10 free throws, but Gatesville made six of nine and took advantage of five Wolf turnovers late in the period to take a 27-21 halftime lead.

Colorado City quickly closed the gap in the third period and trailed by only one point at 33-32 with 3:40 remaining in the period. From that point Mayberry's jump shooting and Gatesville's offensive rebounding gave the Hornets 10 unanswered points and a 43-32 lead after three periods.

The Wolves got three goals from Randle and two from Chitsey early in the last period to make one final run at the Hornets. It pulled Colorado City within six at 48-42.

The rally ended short as the Hornets used offensive rebounding and free throws for the game's last seven points and the victory.

He further noted that the first train came to town on April 16, 1881. He suggested some sort of ceremony on April 16 of this year to commemorate the railroad.

The next meeting of the historical commission is scheduled for April 17. Kit Neumann, an official with the state historical commission, is scheduled to speak.

News from . . . .

Soil and Water Conservation District

By the Board of Directors
Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District

We are living in a time when our world seems to be upside down. We have grain without a market in this country. Yet on the TV news, we are seeing images of thousands of people in Africa who are starving to death. What the news media doesn't tell you is much of the starvation in northern Ethiopia is the direct results of soil erosion along with drought and government policy. Lands devastated by years of soil erosion cannot sustain a crop in times of drought.

This year if we can muster the dollars to buy and send American grain overseas, we can help the starving "temporarily." But what of the future–not just next year, but in the years to follow? If we do not care for our soils as a natural resource, will we be able to continue providing food to others in times of need?

It is those questions which our nation's leaders should be asking as they look at the federal budget cuts. Instead what do we find? A nation, temporarily secure in its resources, trying to eliminate the federal conservation programs! That proposal by the federal office of Management and Budget should get the response it deserves from the American public, strong opposition.

As a nation, we treasure our national resources. Our soils and water are the sound basis of the most economical agricultural system the world has ever known. But that does not mean we can begin to take them for granted or adopt a national policy of ignoring their value.

The federal soil conservation program has made us the envy of the world for our soil conservation knowledge. In 1985, we should be using that ability not dismantling it. At one time or another almost every farm and ranch in Mitchell county has benefitted from SCS technical expertise and in many cases received financial assistance from applying a conservation practice. The help of this organization is still needed in Mitchell County. The Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District is asking every person who has benfitted from the work SCS does to write Senators Bentsen and Gramm, Representative Stenholm and Jamie Whitton, chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture, as soon as possible.

THESE GRADUATES of the Western Texas College cosmetology program were honored at a reception on Feb. 20 in the cosmetology lab. On the back row are Kathryn Mann of Roscoe, Glenda Cook of Roby and Sandra Potts of Haskell. They will be taking Texas Board of Cosmetology examinations for licensing in March and April. Miss Franco will take her tests in April.

Free enjoys cooking for family

Fredda Free

Fredda Free took Homemaking in high school, but learned to cook from her mother and grandmother.

"When I was growing up, my sister and I would take turns cleaning and cooking. One week I would cook and the next week my sister would cook.

"My mother said the house was immaculate when I cleaned the house, because I liked to clean, better than I liked to cook."

Now though, Mrs. Free does like to cook and most of the time she cooks from scratch.

She cooks a lot of casseroles in the winter, "because everyone is going in different directions."

Mrs. Free usually fixes one big meal, which is supper and she broils meat instead of having so many fried foods.

She also fixes a big dinner on Sunday. Usually her son and daughter-in-law come over to eat with them.

While most people's favorite things to do are bake or make sweets, Mrs. Free's favorite time to cook are for the holidays.

"I like holiday cooking and to fix things for parties."

Mrs. Free's family would eat most of everything she would cook, so they really weren't picky eaters.

Of course, we're all familiar with movies. One movie that everyone can remember is something that's called "The Big Blob."

After Mrs. Free got married, she and her husband went to see her grandmother.

She takes up with the story.

"When we were at my grandmother's, she fixed chicken and dumplings. Paul thought they were real good, and he asked me to fix them.

"I called my grandmother and got her recipe. I fixed them the way she gave me the recipe.

"There was one thing she forgot to tell me. She makes her dumplings out of biscuits and she didn't tell me to cut the biscuits in quarters.

"I took the whole biscuits, about six or eight of them and put them in the pan.

"When I took the lid off the pan, there was one whole dumpling.

"My husband stood there laughing and I stood there crying. It was just one big blob."

By the way, Mrs. Free has not made chicken and dumplings since then.

She is employed at Cox Quality Meats and is married to Paul Free. They have one son, Scott, who is married and a daughter, Staci, a senior at CHS.

Today Mrs. Free is sharing four of her recipes with RECORD readers.

Fox presents club program

The Self Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. Jewell Tiller Feb. 15 with Mrs. Charles Williams, president, presiding.

The club collect was said in unison and led by Mrs. L. B. Elliott. The pledge to the flag was given and the minutes of the previous meeting read and approved. The treasurer reported that the $1 per member to the GFWC national convention had been sent. Mrs. Earl Brown donated a number of boxes of get well and birthday cards to sell as a money-making project for the club.

The program was a report on "Why Russia is Behind in Computer Technology" by Mrs. Wilfred Fox. She stated that secrecy is the watchword as Moscow remains reluctant to introduce fundamental changes which would offer a short-cut to prosperity. She further stated that if anything, the Kremlin's aging leaders shy away from western-style innovation that could turn around Russia's faltering $1.7 trillion economy, the world's second largest after America's. She also said that Moscow has computers in some of its high schools and colleges, but refuses to permit their widespread use.

Mrs. L. B. Elliott gave the legislative report on legalized gambling which is before Congress now.

Mrs. W. L. Watson gave the federation report about the UNESCO educational organization based in Paris, France. The U.S. contributes a fourth of all funds for this organization. Those who are against U.S. participation in this agency should write to their elected officials.

The hostess served refreshments to Mrs. Linnie Williams, Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. Paul Beeman, Mrs. L. B. Elliott, Mrs. Eddie Barclay, Mrs. Wilfred Fox, Mrs. Leslie Keith, Mrs. Pearl Watson and Mrs. Dona Reed.

Kite flying rules listed

Kite flying season is here again and Texas Electric Service Company urges young kite flyers to follow a few simple rules for their own safety.

B. B. Hardee, Colorado City manager, warns them of the danger of flying kites in the vicinity of electric power lines. "If your kite becomes entangled in a power line, don't attempt to get it down by pulling on the string or climbing power poles," Hardee said. "Don't touch any dangling string or wires. Notify Texas Electric."

Hardee also recommends the following safety rules for flying kites:

--Use only kites made of wood or paper. Never construct kites from wire or metal.

--Fly your kite with dry string only. Never use wire or any other metallic substance instead of string.

--Fly kites where there are no electric power lines.

--Don't fly kites on busy streets and highways.

--Stay away from any fallen electrical wires.

--Don't fly kites near TV or radio antennas.

--Don't fly kites on rainy days or during a thunderstorm. Lightning tends to strike the highest object it finds and that could well be you and your kite.

Young people following these rules will get more fun out of flying kites and at the same time will keep from getting hurt or losing their kites, said Hardee.

He also added that these same rules apply when flying model airplanes.

FTA attends convention in Ft. Worth

The Colorado High School chapter of the Texas Future Teacher Association attended the 36th annual convention in Fort Worth Feb. 15-17.

Seven members, accompanied by their sponsor Rojean Hicks, attended. They include Frank Salazar, president, Kent Ruth, Kevin Norman, Jimmy Sanchez, Aurora Melendez, Tammy Miller and Margie Beltran.

Meetings and workshops were held at the Americana Hotel and the Convention Center to accommodate the 2,500 members.

Besides attending meetings, the local group was also able to go ice skating at the Tandy Center, roller skating, dine out, ride the horse-drawn carriage downtown and attend a disco dance in the Americana ballroom. They also toured the Fort Worth Art Museum and saw "Behold Hawaii" performed at the Omni Theater. They went to Billy Bob's and also ate at the Spaghetti Warehouse at the Stockyards.

The 27-member group is planning an outsiders' volleyball tournament to help raise money to purchase a microwave oven and small appliances for the concession stand at Wolf Gym.

A LARGE TURNOUT of Mitchell County farmers attended the annual Cotton Information Day activities last Thursday at the Civic Center. The annual event is sponsored by the Mitchell County Pest Management Steering Committee.

Eating habits can be changed

By Debbie Christian
County Extension Agent

Do your children seem to "live" on candy, cookies, popsicles, sugared cereal and cola? Like many parents, you may be worried that too much refined sugar is leading to tooth decay and reducing the nutritional quality of your childrens' diets.

You may be able to do something about the problem, especially if your children are still young. But it could require changing some of your habits and attitudes as well as theirs.

Children come by their desire for sweets honestly. Studies have shown that infants are born with a preference for sweetened liquids over plain liquids. This preference will continue, especially if children have continued positive experiences with sweets.

As parents we create many of these positive experiences by offering sweets to comfort or reward our child, to express affection and to celebrate special occasions. We sometimes use sweets to compensate when we're busy or tired, or to keep the children distracted or quiet.

But that doesn't mean we need to give up birthday cakes, or put carrots in the Christmas stockings. In fact, some recent research from Cornell University shows that giving children sweets in "positive contexts," is not the only reason for their attraction to sugared foods.

Far more important, according to the research study, is how often children actually eat sweets. And this is determined mostly by the parents' own consumption of sweets, and how much television the family watches.

What and how parents eat has powerful effect on children. Children learn to be sweet-eaters from their parents, just as they learn many other food preferences, such as liking meat or disliking vegetables.

The researchers also suggest that children who watch more television tend to eat sweet foods more often because they are bombarded with commercials for highly sweetened foods, especially during Saturday morning cartoons. Because they watch at least some of the shows their children see, parents may become more familiar with the foods advertised and more receptive toward eating the foods themselves and serving them to their children.

So if you really want to change some of the sweet-eating habits of your young children, you will probably need to cut back yourself. You may also need to talk with them about the differences in the variety of foods we eat for good health in "real life" and what they see in the make-believe world of television.

Beauty Lawn
Offers Core Aeration

Does your lawn seem to be in the 5 year slump-does it not respond to watering and fertilizer? If so, aeration may be your answer!

Core Aeration is the removal of small cores of soil (5/8" in diameter by 3" in length) in order to allow air, moisture and fertilizer to reach your lawn's root zone. This in turn creates healthy roots and thicker more beautiful lawns.

The core removal also helps reduce soil compaction and help retard thatch build-up by increasing micro-organism activity thus allowing thatch to decompose naturally.

Aeration Can Save Up To 50% Off Your Watering Bill
