W. Berlin Island Of Fearful Gaiety

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
 BERLIN (AP) — Children singing carols as U.S. Army tanks rumbled by... Minks and diamond studs at gay holiday parties and tattered refugees from the Communist East... A city blessed by prosperity and nagged by fear.

This is West Berlin at Christmas time — five months and four days before the Russian ultimatum for the withdrawal of Allied troops expires.

"We West Berliners are no heroes," says a newspaper editor. "But we will keep our nerve. There is no other choice."

So the 2,200,000 West Berliners celebrate Christmas in their traditional way. They try to forget their isolation in the heart of Communist East Germany.

Yet under the city's skin, there is a gnawing apprehension of the Russians, blockade and war.

It doesn't show plainly in the newspapers or in casual conversation.

"Pray this Christmas that the Russians don't gobble us up," said a young streetcar conductor.

When the Soviet ultimatum runs out, the Russians say they intend to end the four-power status of Berlin. Then the Reds might close the East Berlin border and block East Germans from traveling to West Berlin.

West Berliners think the danger of war will become acute when the Russians transfer to the East German satellite regime their controls over Allied supply lines to West Germany.

The United States, Britain and France say they will resist East German controls. And the Russians are retorting that an Allied effort to ram through to isolated West Berlin by force might trigger World War III.

West Berliners, surrounded by 400,000 Russian troops, know what their fate will be if war comes. Nevertheless, they have defiantly and overwhelmingly rejected the Soviet bid to convert their metropolis into a defenseless "free city."

New Film Explains Student Program

ATLANTA, Ga.—Prints of a new 15-minute color 16 mm film on the Southern Regional Education Board have been supplied to film libraries in sixteen Southern states. It was announced today by Dr. Robert C. Anderson, SREB director.

In Texas the film is available through the visual education bureau of the University of Texas Extension Division, Austin.

Narrated by U. S. Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama, the film tells the story of SREB's student contract program and also covers the major activities and programs carried out by the SREB since the Southern Regional Education Compact was signed in 1949.

"This film is an excellent device to stimulate discussion at any civic, community or professional meeting featuring higher education," Dr. Anderson stated. A speaker's guide accompanies the film to assist those planning a program.

DEAR ABBY OUTNUMBERED!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I think something should be done about the cowboy programs on television with 100 lynchings a day and 50 shootings in five minutes. Is this the way to entertain children? The monster pictures showing the earth being destroyed and people dying by the millions should also be outlawed. Life has become very complicated for a mother these days, Abby. We try to teach our children to strive toward a peaceful world full of love and respect for our fellow man but the competition from TV shows is stronger than we are. Isn't there something we can do about it? OMEGA

DEAR OMEGA: If enough people protest, some action could result, but all one mother can do is turn off her own television set.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are separated and we are getting a divorce. I am expecting a baby in about two months. My husband wants me to give my engagement and wedding rings back to him. I think that as long as I am going to have a baby I should be allowed to keep the rings so people will know that I have been married and the baby is legitimate. He said he doesn't want to have to buy another set in case he got married again. Also I would like to know how I am supposed to announce the birth of the baby as we are almost divorced. LIBBY

DEAR LIBBY: Give him your engagement ring and tell him that you'd like to keep the wedding band for the reason you mentioned. Under the circumstances, don't recommend any formal birth announcement.

DEAR ABBY: There is a man in town who is a mighty fine catch. He's never been married and brags that he's never going to be. He says that he's had a whirl with every good-looking woman in town—before they were married, and a few after. He says they tell him he makes their husbands look like bums. You can't point at a good-looking girl but what hasn't been out with her, I mean from 16 to 60. Even the good-looking with gray hair are included. What do you make of him? EDITH

DEAR EDITH: Either he's a heck of a man or he's a heck of a liar!

DEAR ABBY: Last evening I had my girlfriend over for dinner and my mother had the nerve to tell her to take her elbows off the table! My mother can be very sweet when she wants to be, but when she's in a bad mood she takes it out on me and my friends. How can I get my mother to be nicer to my friends? I was so embarrassed. EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: When your mother is in a good mood, ask her please not to correct your friends. But if she does explain later to your friend about your mother's "moods," if she has a mother of her own, I'm sure she'll understand.

Teen-Agers Happy With Triplet Sons

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP)—When the stork blesses two teen-agers with three bouncing sons, all in one swoop, how's it go?

"Fine," says Linda Voss, 17.

"Fine," says David, her 19-year-old husband.

And the triplet boys? Well, three can't bawl any louder than one, say their dad and mom. Not much, anyway.

There's no sleeping, David admits, through a three-alarm clamor at 2 a.m. So he gets up, when he can't avoid it, to supply the third hand which Linda sometimes can use.

In the three months since Johnnie, David and Stevie arrived, things have gone well. No major illnesses, no family crises.

But the young parents have made some changes.

It's no breeze to take on a full-blown family on $300 a month. The couple got a big boost, though from a television program on which Linda appeared. She won a year's supply of baby food; clothing for the boys and a number of other useful items, including a year's diaper service.

Linda feels her role isn't much different from that of most young mothers.

"Three or one," she shrugs, "it's all the same."

The boys look just alike to all but the parents.

"I can easily tell the difference, but nobody else could," says the dad.

Linda and David give folks a lift by habitually referring to "the biggest one," "the middle one," or "the smallest one."

Will this be their family? "It doesn't matter," Linda says. "But I'd really like a girl."

Dies In Collision
 HOUSTON (AP)—An Arkansas woman died yesterday in a two-car collision which injured six other persons near here. Dead was Mrs. Juanita Wilson, 34, Bradley, Ark. The automobile in which she was a passenger collided with a sheriff's patrol car driven by Deputy W. F. McCurry, one of the injured.

Legislators Still Hope For Pay Hike

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas legislators will find their stockings empty Christmas morning but some of them still have hope for pay raises in the new year.

Others are still trying to find someone to blame for the resounding defeat of the proposed constitutional amendment which would have called for annual legislative sessions and a $7,500 annual salary for law makers.

House members blame the Senate along with lobbyists and newspapers for defeat of the pay raise proposal.

The reasons for representatives' views include:

1. It's fashionable for politicians to blame lobbyists for everything.
2. The Senate is accused of weakening the pay raise bill with amendments and Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo led the protests against the proposal. Hardeman says he will offer legislation for pay raises only in the next session.
3. Newspapers are being blamed because several publications editorialized that the amendment was too fuzzy and contained too many loopholes to be added to the already patch-on-patch Constitution.

Although the pay raises annual sessions amendments was defeated Nov. 4 the legislators' complaints are still heard.

Rep. Bill Stroman of San Angelo sent Christmas greetings to fellow legislators in which he suggested that the House: (1) Take away floor privileges of news correspondents, (2) Evict newsmen from pressroom space in the Capitol Building, and (3) Close the doors of committee hearings to reporters.

Stroman's unique yuletide cards stirred some opposition.

"Making your laws is your business and the lawmakers are your agents," the Dallas News advised readers in an editorial answering Stroman. "You have a right to look over their shoulders. Newspaper coverage is the only practical way for you to do that and go on earning your own living while you do it. Open laws openly arrived at are more apt to be just laws."

"The Legislature will never get a raise—or annual sessions—until the public is more well aware of the needs and the problems," said a Denton Record-Chronicle editorial. "The only way we can be aware of these problems is through the newspapers. That is true of any governmental agency."

"I'll fight them down to the last level," Rep. John Crosthwait, dean of the Dallas delegation, said of Stroman. "I've been in the Legislature for 18 years and they are not going to change the rules so far as the press is concerned. If anything, we need more coverage of legislative processes. And secret meetings just won't do that."

Robert Eckhardt, a new representative from Houston with strong labor backing, says he will propose more adequate keeping of records of committee meetings and legislative sessions. He suggested tape recordings of all committee and legislative sessions with the tapes being available to the press and public.

One prominent Capitol source, who wants to keep his name out of the fuss, pointed out that a lot of legislators dropped their complaints after a canvass of Nov. 4 election figures showed only two representatives' districts which favored raising the pay of their area lawmakers. Rep. Oscar Laurel's district of Webb and Zapata counties went almost 72 per cent in favor while Rep. Bob Mullen's district of Brooks, Duval, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells and Starr counties went more than 65 per cent in favor.

In Stroman's district of Tom Green County the vote was 78.6 per cent against pay raises and annual sessions. Hardeman's 20-county senatorial district went 74.7 per cent against the proposal.

The districts of both candidates for speaker of the House voted down the amendment—Rep. Waggoner Carr's district by 72.54 per cent and Rep. Joe Burkett's by 77.53 per cent.

Rep. Vernon Stewart of Wichita Falls, who campaigned for the proposal, saw a district defeat it by 75.48 per cent. Another pay raiser booster, Rep. Louis Dugas Jr. of Orange, got 54.19 per cent opposition to a pay raise.

In the district of Rep. W. S. Heatley, who has been rumored as head of the influential House Appropriations Committee if Carr wins, the proposal lost by 85.07 per cent.

2 Men Sucked To Death In Granery

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—Two men were sucked to their deaths Monday in a whirlwind of wheat at the bottom of a grain storage tank.

They were Vernon Gile of Falun, Kan., and Cornelius Cooper of Salina. A third man, Bob Mundell of Salina, was carried through a 10-foot discharge chute and escaped.

Gile and Mundell were trapped and Cooper died trying to help them. The men were shoveling grain toward the discharge chute when they were trapped by a sudden shift of the wheat.

Convict Due Freedom After Angry Sentence Is Banned

WICHITA (AP)—Wallace Johnson will be freed from the federal prison at Leavenworth in a few days, relieved of the necessity of serving a 15-year sentence imposed in 1940 by a federal judge in a moment of anger.

Judge Delmas Hill issued an order in federal court yesterday making it possible.

Johnson, 39, originally was sent to prison for 25 years for robbing and assaulting the postmaster at Devers, Tex.

He was in court again Jan. 4, 1940, before Judge Richard Hopkins in Kansas City, Kan. on a charge of assaulting a federal prison guard.

Hopkins imposed a 15-year sentence on the new charge. At first he specified it would run concurrently—Johnson could earn credit on both sentences at the same time.

Hopkins a few moments later ruled the new sentence was consecutive—Johnson would not start earning time on it until he finished the 25-year sentence for the crime in Texas.

Hill on Dec. 18 heard Johnson's plea that this was unfair.

Lester Luther of Dodge City, who was an assistant district attorney in 1940, said Judge Hopkins changed the "concurrent" to "consecutive" in anger.

Luther testified Hopkins imposed the concurrent sentence and asked Johnson:

"Why did you try to kill that guard?"

Johnson replied: "Because I was mad at him."

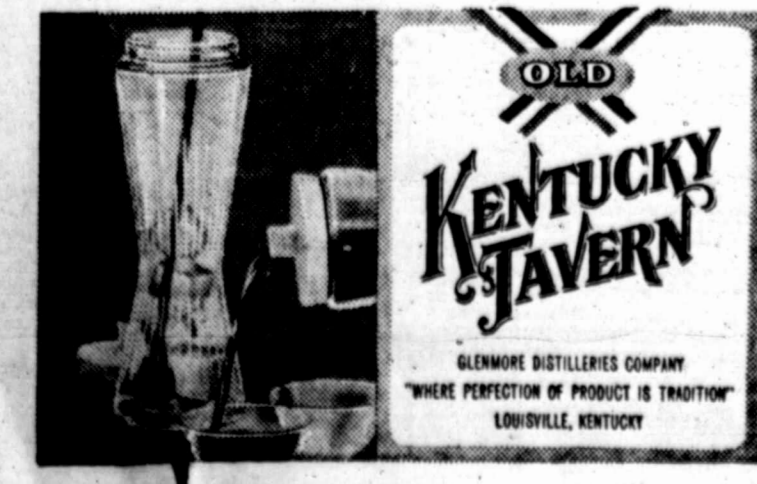

Luther said the judge's face reddened and he changed the sentence to consecutive.

Job Hunter Plays Santa In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the job-hungry on Capitol Hill, Lacey C. Sharp looks a lot like Santa Claus. Sharp is head of a group set up to help find new jobs for congressional aides whose Senate and House employers were defeated in the November elections. The Democratic sweep sent about 650 secretaries and stenographers scrambling for new bosses among the incoming members. Competition is keen for the Capitol jobs. They pay from $4,200 to $13,300 for full time work, with top Senate jobs paying a few hundred dollars more than in the House. Sharp, chairman of the Congressional Secretaries Club Placement Committee, said about two-thirds of those displaced by the November elections have found new jobs. "I think we'll find jobs for about 100 more," Sharp said. This would reduce the casualty list to around 100. Some, mostly oldsters, have retired. Sharp has no worry about his own job. A veteran of 22 years on Capitol Hill, he is top aide to Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex) who is back for another two-year term. When a senator is turned out of office, some 15 hired hands have to look for a job. When a House member is beaten, four to five office helpers lose out. Hardest hit are administrative assistants to senators and of secretaries to congressmen. New members like to bring in their chief aides from their home areas. "The fellows who have held top-paying jobs are reluctant to take lower-paying assignments," Sharp said. Oldsters have trouble, too. Most new members want young aides. Women workers have an easier time getting new jobs. This is because most have minor assignments. New members want aides with know-how in dealing with constituents and federal agencies. Sharp said a new member often will take employees from a predecessor who wore an opposite political label. Employees, too, have few compunctions about working with a new boss with a different political affiliation. However, some have drawn the line. Quite a number of displaced workers have found jobs in private industry, with trade associations or in the executive department. Few have given up and gone back home. "You see," Sharp said, "they've all got Potomac fever."

Judge Refuses Integration

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph Lieb refused Monday to order integration of Dade County schools and told Negroes to seek relief under the state's pupil assignment law. Lieb did not rule on legality of the pupil assignment law which he noted has never been challenged in the courts and is valid until declared unconstitutional. Lieb held that a state law and a section of the state constitution which require separate but equal schools for the races is unconstitutional. He said these requirements violate the provisions of the U.S. Constitution. Lieb told the Rev. Mr. Theodore Gibson, Miami Negro who brought the integration suit on behalf of his young son, that he had not taken advantage of all appeals permitted by the state's pupil assignment law. The suit was filed against the Dade School Board. Under the pupil assignment law enacted by the 1957 Legislature, county school boards may assign pupils to schools on the basis of location, social and other grounds except one of race or color.

Ware of Irving. A younger brother, Ronnie Ware, 6, was pinned by the boulder momentarily but managed to escape and run to a neighbor for help.

Demos Hit 'Unrealistic' Ike Budget; 'Fine,' Says GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's plan for a 77-billion-dollar balanced budget next year was described by Democrats as unrealistic today, but Republicans called it a welcome Christmas present to the taxpayers. Eisenhower's announcement of his budget plans, unprecedented in advance of the opening of Congress, said defense spending would be higher and other expenditures "consistent with the public interest" without any general increase in taxes. His approximate 77-billion-dollar spending figure would be two billions below this year's estimated $79,200,000,000 total. At that level, a 12-billion-dollar deficit is expected this year, partly because the recession cut expected federal revenues.

Eisenhower originally had forecast a 500-million-dollar surplus for this year, based on lower spending, higher revenues and a postal rate increase higher than that Congress later provided. Without giving details, Eisenhower said "reductions in total spending will be achieved in part by reason of the ending of temporary programs in agriculture, unemployment insurance and housing."

Due to expire next year as part of the soil bank program and a recession-born program of extended unemployment compensation benefits. Although no general tax increase is to be asked, Eisenhower said—again without giving details—that his budget will request higher postal rates and gasoline taxes, and some new user charges for government services. Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) whose House Appropriations Committee will have first crack at Eisenhower's appropriations requests, said he is gratified at the plan for a balanced budget "but I am quite dubious about it. I don't see how he is going to get the extra revenue."

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) said the announcement seemed to him to include "more wishful thinking than any realistic approach" to budgetary problems. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Senate Democratic leader, commented that "I can't see a gas tax increase" as being in the cards and said Eisenhower will have trouble, too, in getting Congress to vote another increase in postal rates. "I don't see how he can expect to balance a budget of 77 billion dollars of outgo with an anticipated income of 75½ billions for the next fiscal year," Mansfield said. Like Mansfield, Cannon discouraged another postal rate increase, but he saw more chance of a rise in the present 3 cents a gallon federal tax on gasoline. There has been increasing talk er's budget-balancing plans, but said nothing about spending cuts or higher taxes. "It is refreshing to realize that the budget is in balance, and it is up to Congress to keep it that way," said Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.), House Republican leader. "The economy must be maintained on a sound financial basis to protect the future stability of our country."

Similar emphasis on financial stability came from Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, and Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn.

Republican leaders rushed out statements welcoming Eisenhower's budget-balancing plans, but said nothing about spending cuts or higher taxes. "It is refreshing to realize that the budget is in balance, and it is up to Congress to keep it that way," said Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.), House Republican leader. "The economy must be maintained on a sound financial basis to protect the future stability of our country."

Air Walkout Pact Seems Far Away

By The Associated Press
A pre-Christmas settlement of paralyzing strikes against American and Eastern Airlines appeared beyond reach today — normally one of the busiest days of the year for the grounded lines. Efforts of National Mediation Board officials in Washington Monday brought no immediate plans for a resumption of contract negotiations between American and the striking Air Line Pilots Assn. The board reportedly sent telegrams to both sides suggesting new bargaining procedures. Mediation Board Chairman Leverett Edwards said talks might begin again in a few days. There was no development in the stalemate between Eastern and its mechanics and flight engineers. An Eastern spokesman said today's booking for canceled flights had numbered about 31,000—highest in the line's history. American estimated it would have carried about 30,000 passengers today and Wednesday. American estimated its daily loss at a million dollars since the pilots walked out last Friday midnight. Eastern has been grounded since Nov. 24. Nonstruck airlines, buses and railroads expanded facilities to fill the gap in the crush of holiday traffic. Serious delays in airmail deliveries were not widespread. A reassuring note came today from Capital Airlines in Washington. In a statement it said was cleared with the rest of the industry. Capital advised: "Although it is difficult to obtain seats on specific flights and at certain hours of the day, most airlines have space available between major U.S. cities. If the public can adjust departure plans slightly, all should be able to get reservations." Capital also said nonstruck lines have hired additional personnel, including many employees furloughed by struck carriers. Eastern has laid off most of its 16,000 employees.

There was enough plasma for everybody that needed it, but nearly everybody in Brownfield, it seemed—and I'm not forgetting the size of the town—wanted to donate blood.

Registration Of Needy For Yule Aid Closes

Registration for Christmas baskets has closed, but that doesn't mean that needy late comers will be unable to secure toys.

"In order to order supplies for the baskets," said Capt. Fred Overton of the Salvation Army, "we simply had to have a registration deadline. These families have been screened and the orders placed for supplies necessary for filling the baskets."

"Registered families will be given priority in selecting toys because their needs have been screened," he explained.

"But if there are other needy people who do not have playthings for their youngsters on Christmas, we will supply them so long as we have toys left."

Last minute filling of baskets, however, will be another matter. Except in cases of dire emergency, only those needy whose applications were received before the deadline will receive the basket. There will be more than 300 of these.

Capt. Overton urged that individuals with problems which cannot be worked out with staff members see him personally.

"In spite of everything we can do, I know there may be some omissions, and we will not be able to satisfy everyone perfectly," he said, "but we earnestly want to hold these to the smallest possible minimum."

Water Usage Falls

Water consumption dipped in November further reflecting a moist autumn, the monthly summary of the Colorado River Municipal Water District shows.

Deliveries to the member cities of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder and to other customers amounted to 579,064,000 gallons as compared with 638,658,000 in November of 1957.

Revenues, however, were up due to rate adjustments at the first of the year to open the way for further capital financing. The gross revenues were $130,289 as compared with $113,480 in November of 1957. This included $56,006 from Odessa, $27,839 from Big Spring, $7,500 from Snyder, $27,907 from SACROC, $3,276 from Lion Oil, $4,478 from Sharon Ridge unit, $491 from Texas Gulf Producing, and $2,060 from rural users. Recreational facilities brought in $928.

Expenses of operation aggregated $32,251, leaving $98,038 excess available for transfers into the net revenue and other indebtedured funds of the CRMWD.

November disbursements included $2,997 for operation of the city water production systems, $2,431 for water royalties, $4,119 maintenance, $16,604 operating expense, $4,473 administrative and general, $1,624 recreational.

Revenues for the first 11 months amounted to $1,447,958 as against $1,340,366 for the same period last year. Expenses aggregated $1,501,514 as against $1,389,954, thus the net difference remained virtually unchanged.

Lawyers To Keep Pushing Plan For County Court-At-Law Here

Members of the Howard County Bar Assn., although disappointed at the lack of enthusiasm shown by the Howard County Commissioners Court toward its proposal that a county court at law be established in this county, plan to push ahead with their efforts.

Carroll Smith, president of the bar, said that the committee which drafted the measure and which submitted it to the court on Monday, will be back after Jan. 5 to renew its plea to the court. Three new members will be seated in the commissioners court on Jan. 5. Smith said that the bar committee which drew the bill was composed of George Thomas, who did a majority of the research and drafting of the measure; Robert Burnett, Wayne Burns, and Clyde Thomas, Smith, as president of the bar, Hartman Hooser, vice president, and Jack Little, secretary, were ex-officio members of the committee.

Consideration of the plan began last spring. The original bill was studied by the association as a body and several revisions were made of the text. The proposal submitted to the court Monday was approved by all members of the county bar who could be contacted, Smith said. He estimated that more than 95 per cent of all practicing attorneys in the county has endorsed the plan and that others, if they have opportunity to do so, would add their own endorsement.

If a county court at law is established in this county it will have to be enacted by the state Legislature. Since the proposal is strictly of a local nature, approval in Austin would be assured. Local members of the Legislature, the bar members said, are willing to submit the bill if it is desired by the county.

Under its provisions, all criminal cases would be handled by it and the judge of the court would be a full time official, devoting his talents to keeping the county criminal docket current; handling all juvenile court cases; sharing in the disposition of probate matters with the regular county judge presiding in all condemnation hearings which come before the court, acting as appellate judge on cases appealed from corporation and justice courts. The court would also have some of the jurisdiction of the justices of the peace and handle the cases which now are generally placed in the justice court.

The court would have four terms a year and, in practice, would be in session all of the time. It would hear pleas of guilty assessing fines, jail time and costs; it would try, as jury cases on regular schedule, all cases in which defendants enter not guilty pleas. The county would be required to provide office quarters for the new county judge who must be an attorney at law and who will be prevented from engaging in private practice while serving as judge. His compensation would be fixed by the county commissioners at not less than $9,000 per annum.

The committee suggested that such a court, operating around the calendar, would be more than self-supporting because of the anticipated increased revenue from fines, costs and fees.

It was pointed out by Thomas in his statement to the commissioners that under the present system, it is generally believed that a plea of not guilty in a county criminal case is tantamount to an end to the matter.

"The defendant posts bond, is released from custody, and far too often that's the last time for him," he said.

If a county court at law is established, the regular county judge would be freed to carry on the administrative duties of the county and have no duties in the courts at all.

R. H. Weaver county judge who leaves that office on Jan. 5, spoke heartily in favor of the plan.

He said that his time as county judge has amply demonstrated to him, the utter impossibility of one judge adequately carrying out all of the duties assigned to him. Particularly difficult to handle is the matter of presiding in the county court and keeping the docket of criminal cases up to date, he said.

case is ever heard of," Thomas said. He added that this is not the fault of any official but is, in his opinion, blameable on the system which has to be followed.

Laws covering operation of a county court are based on a rural economy which has ceased to exist in most counties, he pointed out. Today, larger counties, faced by the problem of mounting dockets of untried county court criminal cases have turned to the establishment of county courts at law in the search for better law enforcement, more equitable justice and to conduct the courts in a more business-like manner. Counties where such courts have been established are well pleased with the results — the dockets are kept current; income from fines and fees is increased and justice is better served.

The regular county judge, who now is charged with serving as chairman of the county court of commissioners, acting as titular head of all county administrative business, presiding in the sessions of the county court, civil and criminal; acting as juvenile judge; serving as probate judge and presiding at all hearings where applications for admission to state hospitals are pending, along with many other civil and official duties, cannot cope with the situation, Thomas said.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A minister failed to have Santa Claus tossed in jail.

Santa, or Joe B. Hyden as he is known outside his costume, is circulating a petition calling for repeal of Oklahoma's whisky prohibition law.

Atlas Is Termed 'Rubbishy Stunt'

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — The United States Atlas satellite now in orbit is a "rubbishy propaganda stunt," Edward Argyle, Dominion Astrophysical Observatory scientist, said Monday.

"The Atlas is a gross misrepresentation done deliberately to deceive the U.S. public," he said. "Their satellite program is still a year behind the Russians."

Argyle said the actual payload of the Atlas is but 150 pounds and there is no scientific equipment aboard. He said the third stage of Russia's Sputnik III weighed 7,500 pounds and its payload, or the satellite which is still in orbit, weighs 3,000 pounds.

World Service Program Of YMCA Is Being Explained

YMCA members and friends of the Y are being informed at this season of the year about the World Service program and are being asked, if the feel inclined, to make a modest investment in it.

This is the arm of YMCA activity which is comparable to the foreign mission program of churches, yet is distinctively different. As a Christian institution in action, World Service seeks to undergird the programs of the churches by serving as a bridge in the 76 countries where there are YMCAs. Many of the people in these countries are not readily open to churches, but being sympathetic to the Y program they are drawn into a Christian atmosphere that often leads into participating church service.

While most of the World Service efforts are evidenced in the 56 Y secretaries serving on foreign fields, it contributes to the World's Committee of YMCAs. Thus, World Service has a part in helping restore bombed out YMCA

Prayers Answered, Family To Be Together Christmas

Blanche Gonzales had prayed that her family would be together for Christmas, and it will be so.

Seven of the nine children of Mrs. Gonzales and her husband, Lucas Gonzales Jr., live in a little hut in northwest Big Spring. Two of their children are in state hospitals and homes, at Abilene and Mexia. Abilene is not far and transportation could be arranged, but it was different for Renaldo, 14, who is in the Mexia State Home.

A woman's club which has helped the family asked the crippled children's society if it could assist, but depleted funds would permit holiday travel. Officials of Cosden Petroleum Corporation, who learned about the problem from George Zachariah, crippled children's chairman, supplied the answer to that prayer.

Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock the Cosden (Dove) airplane was to land at Waco to pick up Renaldo, who was brought there by an instructor from the Mexia school. Mrs. Gonzales' prayers were more than answered—she was flown to Waco to meet her son.

IN NOVEMBER

Department Store Sales Up 18 Pct.

Sales in Big Spring department and apparel stores in November registered an 18 per cent increase over sales in the same month in 1957 and Big Spring stores showed the largest percentage increase of any town in Texas.

These figures were released by the Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Over Texas as a whole the estimated Nov. 1958 retail sales were $1,064.3 billion. This total was not materially greater than October when the sales were $1,064.1 billion and a little under the $1,067.6 billion in Nov. 1957.

In 26 of the 30 reporting cities dropped below the Oct. 1958 figures and sales in 13 were above the Nov. 1957 totals. Twelve cities showed increases for the January-November interval over the same period last year.

Big Spring with 18 per cent led in the increase over Nov. 1957. Lubbock, 15 per cent; San Angelo 7 per cent and Brownwood, Corsicana, Sherman and Waco, each 5 per cent placed in the order named.

For the 11-month cumulative period, Big Spring showed an 8 per cent gain second only in the state to Edinburg with 10 per cent.

Larry Chittenden's Ballad

Larry Chittenden has been dead these 24 years (September, 1934) but the Cowboy Christmas Ball he inspired is making its usual pre-Christmas run at Anson, with the final round scheduled for tonight.

The original Christmas ball Larry Chittenden made famous took place at the Star Hotel in Anson in 1885. It was revived in 1934, the year of his death, and has been going like a house afire ever year since. It comes as near being as unique a holiday event as Texas affords and the people of Anson are due a great deal of credit for making it an outstanding occasion, carried on as near to its original pattern as possible.

The ballad which commemorates a rollicking one, full of local color and with the real names of the original participants woven in.

It so happens this writer knew Larry (William Lawrence) Chittenden quite well, from about 1915 until he died. We interviewed him on numerous occasions and corresponded with him between-whiles.

He was born in Montclair, N.J., March 23, 1862, and worked as a newspaper reporter in New York City. In 1883 he came to Texas as a traveling salesman and correspondent, on a borrowed capital of $50.

He started a ranch near Anson with his uncle, a Brooklyn congressman, in 1887, and soon after bought his uncle out.

He finally put together a spread of 10,000 acres, but spent most of his time in his latter years at various homes — one in Red Bank, N. J., a winter home in Palm Beach, and a summer home at Christmas Cove, Me., where he founded a unique autograph free library. His visits back to his Texas properties became more infrequent in his later years (he died at 72), but he always seemed to enjoy them, and his love of West Texas people never waned. The lad from New Jersey was completely fascinated with the speech customs and pastimes of cowboys, as his Christmas ballad shows.

He became widely known as "the poet ranchman." His Ranch Verses, brought out in 1899, had gone through 16 printings by 1929 and his Bermuda Verses (1909) contained some of his finest work. A critic called his "Wild White Steeds of Neptune" on a par with the best of Tennyson. (Larry Chittenden loved the sea and the ranch country in about equal proportions.)

He was a dapper little man, as neat as a pin, his mustache always in perfect trim, his manners impeccable, his voice gentle and low. His last letter to us, shortly before he died, asked for information on oil prospects in Reeves County, where it seemed he owned a couple of sections.

Big Spring folks, especially those who remember the old days, have a personal interest in Chittenden's poem, for "Windy Bill" was the late Mr. Wilkinson, the father of our own Bart Wilkinson.

Some Seasonal Odds And Ends

Winter has begun. After today, only one more shopping day to Christmas.

Have you been forehanded, or do you still have some odds and ends to clean up?

Do your feet hurt? If so, you're probably a postal worker or a salesperson. A reminder: Be careful of fire. Don't overload your house circuits with a lot of Christmas decorations calling for more electric power than your circuits will carry.

Garden clubbers want you to gather up the wrapping paper and other litter peculiar to Christmas and place it where the trash-haulers can get at it quickly. Don't try to burn it yourself, but do get it out of your house and into containers. The firemen join in this request.

The firemen also urge you to dismantle that Christmas tree before it gets dry. No burning candles anywhere near a tree or draperies, please. You want to set the house afire?

No fireworks anywhere within the city limits: it's against the law, and the law is a good one, and it should be obeyed. The patrol'll get you if you don't watch out.

Be sensible. Be doubly careful of fire and traffic. Don't be a litterbug. Litter is uncivilized. And dangerous.

Marquis Childs

'Moderates' In Control In England

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
(For Marquis Childs, who is on vacation.)

LONDON—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's ruling Conservative party, which continues to look stronger than its Labor opposition, is depending on a strictly middle-road approach to maintain its power.

This is made plain in conversations with top people in the government.

Indeed, there is a curiously strong and unexamined parallel between the political views and techniques of the Conservatives here and of the controlling "moderate" Democrats at home.

The next national election here, under law, must be held no later than the spring of 1959. It is in the power of the majority party, however, to call an earlier election—at whatever time it chooses. Thus, the general view here is that actually the Conservatives will order an election this spring if Macmillan's appeal still seems on the up curve.

If the Conservatives win again, the two great countries of the West will be in control of centrist and high professional politicians. For in Washington it is fair to say that the real operating power in our government has largely passed from the Eisenhower White House to the middling Democrats who will run the new Congress.

On various specific issues, of course, there are differences between these middle-road Democrats and the Macmillan Conservatives here. But even on specific issues there is much in common.

Both sets of dominant politicians, here and at home, basically believe that a freer and ever-enlarging world trade is perhaps the best guarantee for the future of the West.

Neither set is at all prepared to submit to Russian clamors for a kind of atomic disarmament that would leave the West militarily weaker in the net than the Soviet Union.

But both sets believe most of all that the way to operate politics is not to try to force any absolutely clear division among the people on issues. Rather they seek the favor of what in both countries has become the decisive middle section of the voters.

The Macmillan government is no more willing than are the controlling Democrats at home to make of politics a straight-out contest between "good" and "evil"—the guys in the white hats against the guys in the black hats, so to speak.

Indeed, this first truly entrenched British Conservative government since Winston Churchill's retirement prefers to make effective and tolerable policies rather than speeches of fighting ideology.

The government is carefully cutting away into some of the heretofore pro-Labor vote by keeping just far enough to the left in public welfare programs not to become out of date in public thinking. It is not interested in maintaining old Tory ideas absolutely intact—as the Republicans disastrously tried to do in our recent Congressional elections.

On the other hand, this government will not allow demands for more welfare to push it so far to the left as to leave it trying to out-Labor the Labor party.

What is very odd about it all is this: For some reason successful politics has come to mean about the same thing on both sides of the Atlantic. This is a practice of performing more or less in the interests of a majority of the people and of forgetting all about the demands of the extremes on left and right.

Harold Macmillan in a way symbolizes the declining aristocratic tradition in England. All the same, this rather handsome, quiet and extremely savvy politician understands the ruling force today in British as well as in American politics. This is not to sigh for a past uterly gone and also not to rush too heedlessly to meet the opening future.

We Both Need A Real Present

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans and Russians on the same day this week got a little notice in their Christmas stockings. It was an announcement by both their governments on how much they expect to spend next year.

There was the one lesson to be learned, above all others, from the announcements.

If the two countries could learn to trust each other and stop their fantastic armaments race — running into billions upon billions of dollars — people in both countries could live better because their taxes would go down and they'd have more money.

By a coincidence of history these things happened on the same day.

President Eisenhower said his budget for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, would call for spending 77 billion dollars but that he expected to get in the same amount in taxes, thus balancing the budget.

Therefore, he said, there will be no call for a general tax increase.

In Moscow, with Premier Nikita Khrushchev nodding approval in the background, Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev pledged to boost the government's spending for industry, scientific research and social welfare next year. And he added, there would be no direct tax cuts.

Whereas Eisenhower spoke of spending 77 billions, the Soviets say they'll spend in rubles the equivalent of almost 177 billion dollars at the official rate of exchange. That looks like 100 billions more the Russian government is spending.

But the figures are misleading, and not only because the ruble is not considered here to be worth its official exchange value.

Eisenhower's total was for the federal government's expenses, and did not, of course, include the money being spent for all purposes by states, counties and city governments or by private enterprise on expansion or production not connected with the government.

The Russian figures include all the country's governmental units, from the smallest local districts up. Included are figures for the nation's industry, transport and trade, all run by the government.

Eisenhower's 77-billion figure for next year is about 3 billions less than the American government is expected to shovel out this year. He intends to trim expenses in a number of places to bring the spending down.

By the time Congress has voted the final dollar — which will be next summer — total spending for the fiscal year beginning next July may be over this year's 80 billions. The reason: arguments on what should and shouldn't be cut, and new expenses cropping up.

But one place Eisenhower said wouldn't be cut is the defense program. That's going up. Eisenhower said he didn't say how much up. But this year defense spending is hitting more than 40 billions out of the total of 80 billions to be spent.

The Soviets are far less frank about their defense spending. Zverev brushed over defense spending very fast except for noting that the budget for the armed forces would be about the same as this year, or around 24 billions. In fact, that would be just a little less than this year.

But what Zverev revealed is far from the whole picture. Other forms of military spending are hidden in other appropriations and cannot be estimated.

For example: Construction of defense plants is included in capital investment spending. Research on military projects comes under science and educational appropriations.

Zverev said the defense fund reflects a peace policy "but the Soviet Union cannot disregard the fact that some aggressive countries are threatening peace and increasing tensions and the dangers of war."

To a statement like that the United States, of course, says look who's talking.

But in both countries the people would have a far richer life — since they would have more of their earnings left in their pockets — if both governments by some miracle could bury the hatchet, and not in each other's head.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat, did not elaborate when he told American correspondents in Moscow, "the man who is elected President of the United States in 1960 will be the most unhappy man in the world."

What did he have reference to? Humphrey has been in Moscow in connection with a proposed International Health Year patterned after the highly successful International Geophysical Year. He made his remark before he visited the Kremlin and in the course of which he had talked for eight hours with Premier Khrushchev.

He came back with messages from Khrushchev to President Eisenhower about Russian missiles, nuclear weapons and proposals on Berlin.

Humphrey's remark about the prospect confronting the next U. S. President was not partisan. He did not distinguish between Democrat and Republican when he prophesied that the next President will be an unhappy man. Could he have meant the gathering of war clouds, even war itself?

Around The Rim

Poverty Has Its Advantages

It was close to midnight on a Christmas Eve. The day's run of news had been meager; wire news was dull. The newspaper was so poverty stricken we had to watch every inch of type to save money yet on this night, we hadn't enough copy to fill the few lean pages we were printing.

The competitive newspaper had closed down that afternoon — not to reopen until the day after Christmas. The big city dailies which came into our town had closed out their earlier editions and these were the papers which would reach our town.

Suddenly the phone began to ring. It was a prolonged ring — the kind which used to mean a long distance call. It was the Associated Press bureau calling. They had a story, said the voice, which we might want.

I slipped a headset over my ears rolled some paper into the plate of the old Woodstock and told the AP man to send it. It seems there had been a Christmas Eve party at a rural school in the southeast part of the state. Nearly every family in the little community was at the party. There was a big Christmas tree. The tree was a thing of beauty; lighted by dozens of twinkling tallow candles. The one room building was jammed with men, women and children. There were many children.

Just when the festivities were at their peak, the tree suddenly blossomed into flame; a candle had ignited the resinous needles. Panic struck and the audience had dashed for the one front door. The door, like nearly all such doors in that day, opened inward. The terrified spectators pushed against the front line and the door could not be pulled open. In the rear of the room, the flaring tree strove blazing embers; the dry interior walls ignited. The smoke dimmed out the dull illumination cast by the kerosene lamps on the walls. The flames ate their way through the ceiling and through the roof. The fire gnawed its way into the walls.

A few of those inside managed to squeeze their way to life through the narrow windows. But the bulk of them died — piled in a tragic tangle against the blocked doorway.

It has been too many years and I have forgotten the number of fatalities.

Best of all, I remember the detailed story which the AP man was reading to me in the peculiarly toneless monotony employed for what we called the "pony" wire. I remember the list of dead; how long it was and how complete it was in detail. And all this, I realized, was within an hour or an hour and half after the catastrophe itself.

I marveled that night and I still marvel at the remarkable completeness of this unsung reporter's work — as I recall there was no occasion next day to add any names to the list of dead; no reason to take any away. How this reporter was able, at the scene of this fire, to achieve this almost perfect story so quickly I'll never know.

I remember, too, that our poor little newspaper with its few thin pages and its meager circulation was about the only publication in the state to carry the story of that tragic fire on Christmas morning. The other papers had gone to press before the story broke.

We couldn't go to press. We had to have some more copy. We were late — it was already Christmas morning before our battered old press began to hammer out the edition.

Actually, because of these things, we scored an almost complete scoop even over the big metropolitan dailies. There wasn't much Christmas for me that day. Things were pretty tough. But I did get a sort of kick out of the fact that the readers of the Press were about all the newspaper subscribers anywhere who had first chance to read about this grim tragedy.

How Asinine Can A Contest Get?

There are days, and this is one of them, when I think the only way to stamp out juvenile delinquency is to stamp out adults. And, also, that the only way to save free enterprise is to take it away from some of its irresponsible practitioners.

Despite the news blackout in New York I have heard the story of the 10-year-old boy in Burlingame, Calif., who won $1,000 in a contest, sponsored by a sizable corporation, with the proviso that the child spend the entire sum in one day.

Fortunately, the little boy, Philip Bertetta, seemed to have a lot more sense than the adults who egged him on in a wholly indefensible spending spree. I think Philip will undoubtedly turn out to be a credit to his parents and his country, but I would surely like to have the authorities put under observation the addled directors of the corporation offering the prize, as well as their crackpot press agent who probably dressed up its terms.

Philip won a nationwide contest to name a rocket ship, and his reward of $1,000 was to be spent on the spot. A company representative was on hand to see that the child abided by this asinine rule. When Philip at first didn't seem able to throw money away on schedule, the company representative understandably reminded the little boy "you have to go faster than this."

The child, after loading up on toys, a new bicycle and presents for all his family (a teevee set for his parents and another for his grandmother), was finally allowed to buy a $100 savings bond, as well as make a donation of $50 to his church.

If Philip had been permitted to spend $25 on himself and stash the rest of his prize away in a savings bank, the boy would probably have been just as happy, if not happier. And $900 plus in the bank when he is ready for college would have been a lot more to the point than a houseful of new toy trains and model airplanes.

Innumerable American corporations today are making substantial cash contributions to all kinds of beneficial youth programs and to higher education. They are supplying thousands upon thousands of excellent scholarships every year to high school students who are college-bound.

Free enterprise, in the current crisis in education, has been a tremendous and continuing factor in trying to help solve the problem that confronts the nation. It has done and continues to do important work in the field of juvenile delinquency and disturbed children.

But it is a pity when one corporation sullies the record with an award of $1,000 to a little boy, coupled with inexcusable demands that he behave like Diamond Jim Brady or Bet-a-Million Gates or Tommy Manville. This is a throwback to the years when irresponsible American tourists lighted their cigarettes with the depressed paper currency of other nations.

The easy-come-easy-go era, egged on by all the cheap easy-come-easy-go leeches contests, certainly doesn't prepare kids to earn their bread by the sweat of their respective brows. When I was Philip's age, the schools used to teach thrift, in conjunction with a thrift program.

But thrift is today a dirty word, if not actually against the law. The watchdog now is spendthrift. And it seems to me that Philip was not so much the winner of a foolish contest as its victim.

One Businessman Sees 1959 As 'Plateau'

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without William K. (Bill) Davis, vice president of the father-son Penn Fibre & Specialty Co., Inc., of Philadelphia. He's willing to try his skill again at the New Year's predicting game.

Last December he promised that in 1958 "there will be business for those who go after it—use their wits and their equipment. The first six months are going to get tougher before business gets better."

"Washington will recognize this and a heavy building campaign will be sponsored... roads and public buildings... federal grants to school districts... a stepped-up defense program... Electronics will boom... By late fall we will again be surpassing the year before."

Bill gets an "A" on 1958. Now he writes on '59:

"Dear Joe: "I was sure lucky in knowing what 1958 would bring forth. Our sales are about 5 per cent over last year and adjusted profits about the same. I shall be able to pay a bonus at Christmas time of $7,000 to 16 employees, not including myself.

"I spent more money on sales promotion and we have added 275 new customers. These are not transient customers. We have made dies and tools for them and they will repeat. By maintaining our force and inventory we picked up several customers from our competitors who were unable to give prompt service.

"We have pushed one new item, dust guards for railroads, and have sold them to 11 railroads and one car-building company. The item is now in test with about 50 railroads. In 1959, I plan to introduce and push two new items and spend more money on sales promotion.

"In my book, the word 'plateau' is going to characterize business in the coming year. The dictionary defines a plateau in a graph as 'a relative absence of progress, a flat extent.' I figure that defense spending will be about the same as it is now; that the real estate market will be sticky because of greater interest costs; that the automobile industry will not do much more in sales until the introduction of the newer economy models provides a push in the latter half of the year.

"I feel that the soft goods industries will have a good year. The tendency toward larger families will have an effect. Mom and pop will have to do without and buy more for the kids. They will make the car last longer. They will spend less for entertainment and more for nourishing food. They will spend more time at home and do more yard work. Gardening sales — grass seeds, mowers and equipment—will thrive.

"As the war babies graduate from high school, the cost of going to college will take money from other things. Also great numbers of 18-year-olds will enter the labor market... and will have a tough time finding jobs. Automation will continue on the farm and in industry. By the end of 1959 we will have a larger number of unemployed than this year with about the same number of employed.

"I do some investing in the stock market—mostly special situations that apply to my business. I think prices will be 25 per cent lower by the end of 1959... bringing stocks more in line with earnings.

"All businesses will have to keep earnings up by new methods because they will not get raw materials any cheaper and wages will creep up. I trust that this is not too gloomy. It's the future as I best can see it."

Bill may think his forecast is gloomy, but what I get from it is that he's going to push again—by introducing two new items and spending more on sales promotion. He's neither going to lie down on that flat plateau nor take it lying down.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:
 Fight promoter GOLDIE AHERN, on the reason Yvon Durelle failed in his recent Lighthweight championship scrap with Archie Moore:

"Durelle made a mistake, aiming for Moore's chin. You don't go for the chin. You know how little it is. You go for the body. It's bigger. That's how you hurt a man who's in trouble. And at his age, Archie's reflections ain't so good any more."

JIM LEE HOWELL, coach of the New York Giants:

"If a player carries out 60 per cent of his blocking assignments, he's played a real good game."

NICK PIETROSANTE, Notre Dame fullback:
 "Purdue, not Iowa, was the best all-around football team we played."

DUFFY DAUGHERTY, Michigan State football coach, commenting on the disastrous season his Spartans had:

"I got an anonymous letter that really burned me up. It wasn't what the letter said, but the envelope was addressed to Duffy the Dope and the postmaster knew where to send it... I'm sure there are lessons to be learned in losing. Of course, you can learn them by losing only once or twice. You don't have to do it five times."

EARL COX, Louisville, Ky., sports writer:

"Whether his name is Blanton Collier or something else, no University of Kentucky coach is going to turn the Wildcats into a Southeastern Conference powerhouse without importing expensive out-of-state talent in wholesale lots. Not enough Kentucky high schools play football and many of the ones that do play don't really stress football enough. Only a few schools can afford enough competent coaches to prepare players for college football. The vast majority of Kentucky high school players are years behind those in other Southern states because they have not played organized football in junior high school."

TOM NUGENT, Florida State football coach, when asked which Oklahoma State University film he wanted to exchange for his own, prior to the recent Blue Grass Bowl game in Louisville, Ky.:

"Just the films of your three losing games. We want to show them to our boys and build up their confidence."

PETE ELLIOTT, University of California football coach, in reply to criticism of his Rose Bowl-bound team:

"Maybe we're not the best team in the world, but we've done everything asked of us this year. We're not too bad."

STEVE VAN BUREN, former pro football great, when asked how he would go about stopping the Cleveland Browns' hard-running Jimmy Brown:

"I'd get a stolen car and pull a hit-run job outside Cleveland Stadium."

DR. GEORGE BENNETT, Johns Hopkins University:

"It is unnatural to throw a baseball. The human arm is not constructed for it. The underhand bowling motion is natural. But throwing a baseball is entirely unnatural and the arm must get a great deal of care. Even then it has to suffer injury some place along the line."

JOE GUYON, the famous Carlisle Indian footballer, who played in the same backfield with Jim Thorpe:

"We were playing Army one day and Coach Pop Warner was giving us a final pep talk. He'd said about everything, but just as we were going out the door, he held up his hand and finished: '... And if you win this game, I'll get the government to make you American citizens.'"

BILL CAN'T SAY MUCH

Veck Is Seeking White Sox Stock

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Veck, baseball's wandering merchant, is negotiating to buy into the Chicago White Sox.

The former owner of the Cleveland Indians and the St. Louis Browns said Monday night "there have been some discussions" between himself and Mrs. Dorothy Rigney, largest stockholder of the White Sox.

Mrs. Rigney, wife of co-Veek President John Rigney and sister of co-Veek President Chuck Comiskey, confirmed sale of her stock shares to an outside syndicate may be imminent.

"My White Sox stock has not yet been sold," said Mrs. Rigney, "but I have to admit that our attorneys have been negotiating the sale of the stock. Yes, negotiations are going on."

Veck, visiting relatives in suburban Downers Grove, apologized for not being able to give out more information.

"I hate to be uncommunicative and usually I'm not," he said. "But I cannot say anything right now. I'm sure Mrs. Rigney can say more about it and whatever she says will be correct."

A source close to the American League baseball club said Veck, who made a previous offer for Mrs. Rigney's interest in the White Sox, now was pondering a higher price asked in a counterproposal.

Veck has been out of baseball since the Browns were transferred to Baltimore in 1954. He bought the Indians in 1946 at the age of 32 and won a world championship in 1948. He and his partners sold out in 1949.

Since being out of baseball, Veck unsuccessfully tried to buy the Detroit Tigers in 1956 and Cleveland last summer.

He a while, Mrs. Rigney's brother, Chuck, has been eager to gain control of the club since the death of his mother, Mrs. Grace Comiskey, in 1956.

Comiskey expressed surprise when told of negotiations between his sister and Veck. "I don't know anything about it," he said and added he still has hopes of buying out his sister's shares.

Relations between Comiskey and his sister have been strained since the death of their mother. In her will, Mrs. Comiskey left her daughter 500 more shares of stock than she did her son, assuring Mrs. Rigney control of the board of directors which has five members.

Chuck, however, succeeded in getting a court action to limit the board members to four, thereby giving him equal authority.

Kentucky Elevated To Top Position In AP Cage Poll

By The Associated Press

Kentucky's basketball coach Adolph Rupp had a Merry Christmas two days early today as the nation's sportswriters and broadcasters voted his Wildcats the top team in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Baron, whose team is defending national collegiate champion, was still enjoying the results of a successful weekend when informed of the Wildcats' choice as top team.

"We're simply delighted," he said.

Kentucky won its own invitational tournament over the weekend, defeating Ohio State and West Virginia. The Wildcats also had a victory over Maryland last week. Results of games through Saturday determine the poll positions.

Cincinnati, first a week ago, dropped to second, receiving 61 first place votes compared to Kentucky's 71. The Wildcats tallied 1,443 points to Cincy's 1,415. Both are unbeaten, Kentucky with an 8-0 record, Cincinnati 5-0. Unbeaten North Carolina (5-0)

- is third with 19 first place votes, and 1,076 points. The points are awarded on a 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., basis.
- The Tarheels made the biggest jump, coming from 10th place, with three triumphs in four days including the Blue Grass invitational title.
- Xavier of Ohio is 10th, a one position drop.
- The top ten teams with won-lost records through Saturday, Dec. 20 in parentheses:
- 1. Kentucky (8-0) 1,443
 - 2. Cincinnati (5-0) 1,415
 - 3. North Carolina (5-0) 1,076
 - 4. Kansas State (6-1) 831
 - 5. West Virginia (7-2) 597
 - 6. North Carolina St. (6-1) 581
 - 7. Mississippi State (7-0) 563
 - 8. Auburn (5-0) 451
 - 9. Michigan State (4-0) 403
 - 10. Xavier (5-0) 376
- Second ten: Tennessee 225; Northwestern 209; Bradley 181; California 52; Villanova 44; St. Louis 41; Marquette 39; Memphis State 37; Washington 33; Dayton 32.

Tournament Trophies

As the above picture so graphically shows, much will be at stake for the competing teams in the seventh annual Howard College Basketball Tournament scheduled here Jan. 1-2-3. The loot, which is valued at close to $400, goes to coaches and individual standouts, as well as the teams. John Dibrell (left), chairman of the tournament committee; and Harold Davis, tournament director and HCJC coach, are pictured with the trophies.

BUCKEYE BACK BIG BOGIE MAN

By HUGH FULLERTON JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob White, Ohio State's big, willing and able fullback, turned in the most sensational one-game performance by any football player of the 1958 season when he led the Buckeyes to a 38-28 victory over Iowa's Big Ten champions.

That opinion was expressed by sports writers and broadcasters answering The Associated Press post-season questionnaire. The margin was nearly 3 to 1 over any comparable feat although Notre Dame's George Izo thrilled almost as many of the experts in the course of the season.

Of nearly 200 replies to the questionnaire, 26 listed White's one-man show against Iowa the most spectacular. In that game, White carried 33 times and gained 269 yards—just short of the Big Ten one-game record. More important, he lugged it 11 times as the Bucks smashed 61 yards in 14 plays for the winning touchdown in the final quarter.

That game previously had been listed as the outstanding performance by one team or two teams in a game by the voters.

Marquette Is Going Great Guns Under Eddie Hickey

By ED CORRIGAN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Hickey, the old maestro from St. Louis, quit his job as basketball coach and athletic director there nine months ago to take over at Marquette.

St. Louis always had been a basketball power and there was no reason to believe Hickey wouldn't find himself in clover again this year if he stayed around.

But Marquette, not exactly a doormat, just about kept around the 500 mark. Last season, the Warriors wound up with an 11-11 record after losing their first 4, Jack Nagle, who had coached Marquette for five years, resigned at the end of the season.

In April, Hickey entered, and as of today, Marquette has an 8-1 mark.

Monday night Milwaukee fans carried him and Ed Smith, his assistant, off the court following Marquette's 86-71 victory over previously unbeaten Xavier of Ohio.

Hickey's newly installed, blazing fast-break left Xavier befuddled. Mike Moran, Marquette's 6-3 pivot man, collected 28 points.

Xavier is No. 10 in the current Associated Press poll and was the only member of the top 10 to play Monday night. Marquette is No. 17, one spot, ironically, behind St. Louis.

Northwestern, knocked out of the select circle after being dumped by North Carolina in the final of the Blue Grass tournament, dropped Washington 75-69 in an inter-sectional game. The Wildrats had to score 11 points midway through the second half to erase a four-point Huskie lead.

Seattle, runner-up to Kentucky for the NCAA championship last year, recorded its sixth victory against one loss to Xavier, (no less), by rebounding from an eight-point halftime deficit to whip Marshall 91-80.

St. Bonaventure stayed unbeaten with a 91-43 breeze against Ohio Wesleyan. Idaho State ran its winning string to seven after dropping its opener by beating Arizona 71-51.

In other important inter-sectional games, Minnesota clipped Stanford 74-62, Ohio State breezed past Utah 92-69 Georgia Tech swamped Wyoming 110-78, Texas Western outlasted Missouri 75-71. College of Pacific triumphed over Iowa 76-63, and Oklahoma State vanquished Southern California 66-54.

Hartons To Spend Holidays In ET

Vernon Harton, head basketball coach at Big Spring High School, left this morning with his family to spend Christmas in the Jacksonville area in East Texas.

He plans to return here Saturday, at which time the Longhorns will resume practice.

The Steers next see action against Plainview there Dec. 30. They are entered in the Odessa Tournament, which starts Jan. 2 and continues through the following day.

Big Spring has drawn Lamesa as a first round opponent in the tournament.

More Trickery Due From The Giants

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—What new trick will the New York Giants come up with against the Baltimore Colts in the National Football League championship game next Sunday?

Fans in this suddenly professional football crazy town still were buzzing about the razzle-dazzle double reverse lateral that produced the only touchdown in last Sunday's spectacular 10-0 New York triumph over Cleveland for the Eastern division title.

"That was the Brown special," Coach Jim Lee Howell confided today. "We called it 'the thing' all week but we finally decided on a better name."

If the Giants had a "Ewbank special" to throw at Coach Weeb Ewbank's Colts next week, they weren't saying. It's a safe bet they'll practice any new play in private.

AT NOTRE DAME

Kuharich Begins Setting Up House

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Joe Kuharich, Notre Dame's newly appointed football coach, begins setting up house today.

Kuharich, who Monday officially succeeded the ousted Terry Brennan, returns to his native South Bend and alma mater to meet with university officials and the press.

Kuharich might reveal some of his plans for the 1959 season but it is doubtful he will name his staff at so early a date.

The present Notre Dame staff includes assistant coaches Bernie Crammins, Hugh Devore, Bill Fischer, Bill Walsh, Bernie Witucki and John Zilly. There were indications some will be retained.

Kuharich, 41, a former Irish guard, signed a four-year contract—the longest ever given by Notre Dame.

"I am flattered and proud that they (Notre Dame) decided to give me the opportunity," said Kuharich. "It always has been my hope to return to Notre Dame."

In 1951, he guided the University of San Francisco to an undefeated season and then signed to head the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League. He left collegiate ranks with a 25-14 record.

After a 4-8 season with the Cardinals in 1952, Kuharich left the team following a flareup with managing director Walter Wolfner.

Kuharich returned to the pro ranks in 1954 and piloted Washington to a 3-9 season. The following year when Washington finished with an 8-4 record.

The Redskins have been slipping ever since. They were 6-6 in 1956, 5-6-1 in 1957 and 4-7-1 this season. Nevertheless, Redskins owner George Preston Marshall thought enough of Kuharich to sign him to a five-year contract last year.

Marshall released Kuharich of his commitments and immediately signed Mike Nixon as head coach. Nixon had been Washington's backfield coach. Nixon has been coaching for 15 years—13 with the pros—but never has been the boss man.

Brennan, meanwhile, is looking for a job at the age of 30. He says he's interested in coaching if the right opportunity comes along. His qualifications include five years of experience at Notre Dame where his teams won 22 games and lost 18 for a .640 percentage.

Three Ackerly Teams Triumph

WILSON (SC)—The Ackerly Eagles won a 36-35 basketball thriller from Wilson here Tuesday night.

The War Birds, now 9-2 on the season, led until the final minute of play but Wilson rallied to grab a one-point lead. It took a crisp shot by Royale Lewis in the final 30 seconds for the Eagles to pull ahead again.

Lewis wound up as the leading scorer for the Ackerly team with 12 points.

The Ackerly girls' B team won its ninth game in 10 starts, 46-22, as Wanda Carroll scored 24 points.

Cliff Prather's Ackerly girls' A team finished on the long end of a 65-51 score in another game.

Dorothy Williams scored 30 points for the winners, Janice Beardon had 24, Betty Clanton eight and Janie Kunkel three while Baxley and Schneider paced Wilson with 27 and 19 points, respectively.

The Ackerly girls have now won 13 starts, compared to two losses.

WILSON BOYS (25)—Egan 11-3; Wind 5-2; Weaver 7-16; Schneider 2-7; Crowson 0-11; Tatum 15-9-36.

ACKERLY BOYS (36)—Mentz 6-8; Ingram 2-18; Lewis 6-13; Ortiz 3-17; Adams 2-6; Tatum 17-36.

Score by quarters:

Wilson	7	20	28	35
Ackerly	19	26	30	35

Prairie View Is 3-TD Favorite

HOUSTON (AP)—Prairie View, the national Negro college football champion, will be a three-touchdown favorite over Langston in the Prairie View Bowl game here Jan. 1.

The Panthers have won nine, tied one and lost none this season, beating Florida A&M 26-8 in the Orange Blossom Classic at Miami, Fla., to sew up the national title.

Langston will bring a 4-3 season record here. It will be playing in the Prairie View Bowl for the third time.

Christmas Eve Services Set

As for the past decade, the First Presbyterian families will gather for Christmas Eve services at 7 o'clock Wednesday in the church sanctuary.

Everyone is invited to share in the brief ceremonies which include responsive readings concerning the prophecies, the preparations and fulfillment of the prophecies of the birth of Christ. There also will be singing of the favorite Christmas carols, followed by a brief meditation by the pastor, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd. His message will be "We Beheld His Glory."

As a climax to the service, the pastor will light the big candle in the altar. From this, the ushers will light their tapers and while the congregation sings "Silent Night," each individual will light his or her candle from that of the ushers.

School Tax Office Closing For Yule

The Big Spring Independent School District tax office will close its offices at 5 p.m. today and remain closed until Monday morning.

J. O. Hagood, tax assessor-collector, said that all the mail receipts had been cleared out and that work was now under way receiving large loan company payments. Before the end of December all these likely will be cleared, and the collection figure may approach 85 per cent of the current roll. All payments this month or postmarked not later than midnight Dec. 31 will earn a 1 per cent discount, Hagood reminded.

Jack Reed Receives 25-Year Pin For Service With Cosden

Surrounded by company officials and other friends, Jack Reed was honored Monday evening for rounding out 25 years as an employee of Cosden Petroleum Corp.

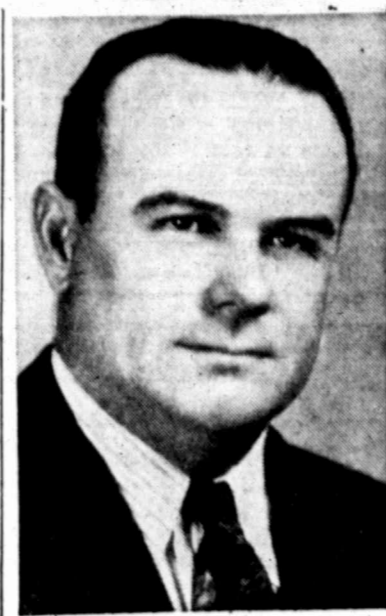

That's the length of his continuous employment, although his contact with Cosden dates back nearly 30 years.

A native of Howard County, Reed takes pride in his company, his associates, his job, his church and community.

Walter Jackson Reed was born Aug. 23, 1907, on the farm of his father, the late W. T. Reed, near Fairview Community. His father had grown to be an elderly man by the time Jack reached high school, so Jack had to lay aside his books to help on the farm. When he was 20 his father died and he and a brother, Walker (who is a 20-year-man at Cosden himself) took over the responsibility of running the place.

Jack Reed got his first brush with the petroleum industry in 1928 when Converse Co. of Tulsa offered him a job insulating refinery pipes. This took him to a number of places and finally back to Big Spring later that year to insulate the old Foster stills for Cosden.

That was a stroke of sheer good luck, for while back home, he drove past Fairview where a big picnic was in progress. His eye fell on Violet Berryhill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Berryhill and one of two teachers at the school. The young school marm was pretty popular and he had trouble getting a date, but he did and on July 29, 1929, they were married in the home of a friend, Johnny McLaughlin, in Pasadena community near Houston.

They have one son, Carroll Lynn Reed, who works for Phillips in Bartlesville, Okla., and one granddaughter who has completely carried the Reed name.

Nineteen years ago the Reeds bought a home at 1305 Nolan and have lived there continuously since. They have remodeled but talk about building someday on the lot they bought across the street years ago. Mrs. Reed has been a teacher in the Big Spring schools for 16 years and in all has about a score of years teaching experience to her credit.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed came back to Big Spring in 1930 and he got an intermittent construction job at Cosden. Rent was high ($30 a month in depression days) so they moved to the farm as soon as Jack could build a small house there. While plastering a cistern, a rope broke and he fell to the bottom of the hole and suffered a broken leg which still bothers him some. His first regular job with Cosden dates back to Dec. 4, 1933, when he took a place as insulator.

After nine years he was offered a job as welder and for the past eight years has been assigned to that department. A meticulous worker, he gets most of the small, tedious jobs which require patience and exactness.

Reed's main interests are his home, his church and his hobby of gardening. One look at his tomato patch is enough to convince anyone that this is a case of taking the boy out of the country but not the country out of the boy, for he still possesses a deep love for the soil.

Thirty-six friends attended his party at the Cosden Country Club with R. L. Tollett, president, and Dan Krausse, senior vice president manufacturing, presenting him with his 25-year pin and a month's vacation pay.

MEN IN SERVICE

S. Sgt. Doyce C. Piper of Big Spring recently reported to Pope Air Force Base, N. C., for duty as an air freight specialist with the 46th Transportation Squadron.

A veteran of 19 years' service, he went to Pope from Foster Air Force Base, Victoria, Texas. He has served overseas tours in the Philippines, Iceland, Greenland, Greece and Morocco.

Sgt. Piper, 44, is the son of Mrs. Myrtle A. True, Big Spring, and he attended Big Spring High School before entering service in February 1939 with the U. S. Army. He entered the Army Air Corps in June 1941.

Pope Air Force Base is home of the 46th Troop Carrier Wing (Assault), a unit of the Tactical Air Command's Ninth Air Force. The base is located on the Fort Bragg Military Reservation, and principal wing mission is support of the Army's airborne forces.

In performing that task the wing's Fairchild C-123 "Provider" transport aircraft each year carry or drop over 100,000 paratroopers on various types of missions and also airlift thousands of tons of supplies and equipment.

Autopsy Ordered

DALLAS (AP)—Randle Horager, 37, died at Parkland Hospital yesterday after he reportedly fell from his upper bunk at the city jail, where he was an inmate. Peace Justice W. E. Richburg ordered an autopsy.

Patterson Case Closed; Con's Story 'Hoax'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Albert Patterson murder case was closed again Monday when Alabama abandoned as a hoax the confession of a Virginia convict.

Atty. Gen. Johnson issued the following statement about the new angle to his father's slaying in Phenix City in 1954:

"I have had investigated the statement of Calvin W. Pruitt in which he claims to have killed my father. It has been established that his story is untrue and a hoax.

"I say once more that we have one of my father's murderers, Albert Fuller, serving a life sentence in Kilby Prison."

The attorney general's statement came a week after he sent two assistants to Virginia to investigate the signed confession of Pruitt, 28, who is serving sentences totaling 170 years for murder, robbery and burglary.

Pruitt, whose wife and two children live in Haleyville, Ala., claimed he killed Albert Patterson in a robbery attempt while a debt-ridden soldier stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Patterson's murder sparked the Phenix City vice cleanup he had pledged shortly before in winning the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

John Patterson took office in his father's place. He was elected governor this fall and will take office Jan. 19.

Albert Fuller, former Russell County deputy sheriff and one of three indicted in the slaying, was convicted and sentenced to a life term. Former Circuit Solicitor Arch Ferrell was acquitted. Atty. Gen. St. Garrett never stood trial.

Bing Is Back In Robes, As 'Hep' Priest

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bing Crosby has ended a two-year absence from the screen by donning priest's robes again.

Producer-Director Frank Tashlin has him playing a Roman Catholic priest with Debbie Reynolds and Robert Wagner in "Say One For Me."

"He's a pretty hep character," Bing explained about the role as he relaxed (I've never seen him otherwise) in his dressing room. "His church is St. Malachy's at 47th Street and Broadway in New York, he had to acquaint himself with show talk so he could communicate with his parishioners. He also has an early morning mass, as they do in Las Vegas, so the people in shows can attend."

The role harks back to Bing's successes in "Going My Way" (1944) and "Bells of St. Mary's" (1945).

After a 13-year lapse, Bing finds that the church is more liberal in what it will permit the movie makers to screen.

"I think they've loosened up on a lot of things," he remarked. "For instance, I saw Helen Hayes in a television play the other night that portrayed the confessional. I had never seen that done before."

"In this picture, the priest takes off his clerical garb and goes to a night club in civilian clothes. Priests often do that when they go hunting and participate in sports. In this case, the priest has to go to the night club as part of his job, and he would be too conspicuous in his church clothes."

Watching over such details is Msgr. John Devlin, who also was technical advisor on the previous Crosby priest portrayals.

"He was new then," Bing recalled, "and we pulled a gag on him at the end of 'Bells of St. Mary's'. There was a scene where Ingrid had to leave the parish because of illness. I gave her a real, back-bending kiss."

"Everybody knew about the gag but Father Devlin. . . Nobody laughed and Father Devlin was fit to be tied until we finally let him in on it."

Martians, Go Home

By HAL COOPER
LONDON (AP)—London walls are developing a sense of humor, and a welcome change it is from the usual whitewash slogans urging "Peace," "No nuclear war" and that old Communist standby "Yanks go home."

The humorist is known around the neighborhood as Tipperary Bill, because he claims to come from Tipperary.

Bill regards a bare wall as a personal challenge, especially when in his cups, and he used not the usual whitewash but paint, with plenty of oil and white lead in it.

Others cover the walls with such propaganda slogans as "Hands off Suez" or "Hands off Korea."

Bill has nothing but contempt for such ax-grinders. With him, painting wall slogans is a labor of love.

"I'm over in the Kilburn area the other night," he told an interviewer.

"When it got good and dark, I went around and fixed up a couple of walls with something to make them think: 'Martians go home' and 'Hands off Patagonia'."

"Some of me other recent wall jobs have been 'Flying saucers go home', 'Hands off the moon' and 'Justice for Kahoe'. I don't know anybody named Kahoe at the moment, but if there is such a man, why shouldn't he have justice?"

When not painting wall slogans Bill does free-hand commercial sign painting.

"I always carry a little tin of paint and a brush in an oilskin pouch in me overcoat pocket," says Bill, "so'm ready to go into action whenever the mood comes to me."
