ON DRESS CODE

District Judge Upholds School Board's Ruling

A temporary injunction sought by a Pampa High School senior seeking reinstatement despite his long hair was denied today by a federal judge in Lubbock.

U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward issued a verbal order denying an injunction against the Pampa Independent School Board from re-instating Jon Whitsett, 17, who was suspended by school Aug. 31 due to the length of his hair.

Following the statement from the judge, school board president Jimmy Thompson said he had no comment.

Ross Buzzard, attorney for Whitsett, said he had talked briefly with the boy's father but he did not know what Whitsett's future plans are relative to the suit.

As of mid-morning, young Whitsett was not on campus at the high school.

Assistant school principal Marvin Bowman commented, "I am sorry he (Whitsett) has missed as much school as he has. He has not let us know his intentions."

"I would like to see him walking into my office right now. I'd say to him 'let's get down to the business of an education.'"

Hearing was held in the Lubbock court last Friday, with the youth's father and two school officials testifying. The school's dress code was also given in testimony.

Woodward said a written order and the basis for his ruling would be issued later. School officials said Whitsett's shoulder-length hair, tied in the back with strips of leather did not meet the school's dress code. The youth was sent home from school.

However, his father, Dr. Wilber R. Whitsett Jr., decided to seek the temporary injunction which would allow his son to return to school without having the hair cut.

It was not immediately known if the physician would appeal the ruling or not.

Mex-Ams' Walk Commemorates Anniversary

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (UPI) — Six hundred Mexican Americans marched Monday to the place where they demanded a minimum wage from former Gov. John B. Connally four years ago and declared "their political independence" from the two party system.

Four years ago, Mexican-American farm workers marched 500 miles from the Rio Grande Valley to meet with state government officials and ask them for a minimum wage and an end to discrimination against Chicanos. They were met in New Braunfels by Connally, former Attorney General Waggoner Carr and former House Speaker and present Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

The Labor Day march began at 2:45 p.m. with 250 persons at West End Park. But by the time they reached the site of the 1966 meeting, 600 persons had joined the marchers. The Rev. James L. Navarro, a Catholic priest from Houston, led the five-mile march.

Speaking at a rally following the march, Navarro said Mexican Americans in Texas should be given the opportunity and the right to participate in the political, educational and economic fabric of Texas. He said the 1966 march "united all Mexican Americans in the state."

His speech was interrupted intermittently with cries of "Viva!"

"On this historic place the Mexican Americans had the most significant confrontation with the political system," Navarro said. He said the system was personified by Connally and said the confrontation with the former governor gave ample warning Mexican Americans were becoming impatient with being sidetracked by political maneuvers.

"Today the Mexican American declares their political independence from the insensitive, decayed, unresponsive and unrepresentative political structure that we have at the town, county and city level," Navarro said. "We say to all of them our vote is not for sale. We say to the Republicans and to the Democrats prove yourselves before coming over and asking for our support."

Demand Million In Ransom

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) — U.S. and Brazilian Embassy spokesmen said today Tupamaro terrorists who kidnapped two foreigners have not communicated with them and denied knowledge of reports the kidnappers were demanding $1 million ransom.

Two Montevideo newspapers reported Sunday U.S. farm consultant Claude L. Fly, 65, of Fort Collins, Colo., and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Dias Gomide, 41, would be freed if the ransom were paid.

WHITE HOUSE DINNER CORDIAL

Nixon, Meany Celebrate Labor Day Together

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican President Nixon and usually Democratic labor leaders toasted each other Monday night at an informal White House dinner marked by cordiality.

Nixon praised AFL-CIO President George Meany for his support of the administration's foreign policy and Meany, who just last week blasted Nixon for his economic policies, said Nixon was no different than any other president, regardless of party — he wanted to do what was best for the American people.

Reviewing his relations with presidents dating back to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Meany blurted, "..... and let me tell you, Franklin Roosevelt, he was just as tricky a politician as anyone who bore the name of 'Tricky Dick' could be, and let me tell you, Lyndon Johnson was no slouch at politics."

Nixon and the guests broke into laughter and Meany continued with praise of Nixon as "dedicated to the preservation of the American way of life." His toast ended the dinner.

Meany headed a list of 70 national union leaders and their wives invited to spend Labor Day evening with the President in his effort to improve Republican relations with organized labor which nearly defeated him in 1968.

The continued attacks of Meany and the other union officials on the Nixon administration's economic and other domestic policies were brushed aside for the evening as Meany and the President traded compliments over champagne toasts in the East Room.

The two men instead emphasized their major point of agreement — the President's policies in Southeast Asia and other parts of the world to defend freedom.

The dinner was the first time any president had invited labor leaders to the White House on Labor Day. It was followed by a torchlight military marching and music ceremony on the south lawn, attended also by officials and employees of the Labor Department and labor unions with headquarters in Washington, along with their wives and children. The outdoor crowd of 4,000 persons sat in specially constructed bleachers as high as some football stadiums.

Nixon, in his toast, said Meany had supported both Democratic and Republican presidents when he believed "that served the interests of freedom, that kind of freedom which is so essential if a strong, free labor movement is to survive."

Polio Adds Victim To San Antonio's Plight

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — The mother of a 14-month-old boy who died of what is believed to be polio said today a hospital refused to admit the child because the family had no money.

Santa Rosa Hospital officials denied it.

"The first thing they asked for was money," said Mrs. Juan Mares, 20. "It's a shame they call themselves Catholics because they don't have any feeling for poor people."

The child, Juan Mares Jr., died Sunday of what doctors diagnosed as polio. Mrs. Mares said she took her son to Santa Rosa last Thursday and the hospital refused to admit him unless she paid a $100 deposit.

The mother said she took the boy back to the hospital Friday and Saturday, then took him to Bexar County Hospital, which takes care of charity patients. The boy was admitted there Saturday and died the next day.

Jack Finger, chief of community relations for Santa Rosa, denied the child was seen in the hospital's emergency room prior to Saturday.

But Mrs. Mares and her mother, Mrs. Guadalupe Ybarra, said they took the boy to Santa Rosa early Thursday and a doctor gave them two bottles of medicine to control the infant's fever and a cough. Mrs. Mares said the doctor told her the baby had a cold.

"They sent me home. Then Friday, I brought him back because I saw his arms were limp," Mrs. Mares said. "They took some X-rays and said his arms were okay."

Carswell, Faubus Top

Today's Runoff Races

By United Press International Political novice G. Harold Carswell of Florida and old pro Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas faced stiff challenges today as eight states held primary elections.

Carswell, the former appeals court judge whose nomination to the Supreme Court was rejected by the Senate, has been involved in a bitter campaign for the Republican nomination to the Senate against eight-term Rep. William C. Cramer.

Faubus, former six-term governor of Arkansas, sought the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in a runoff against attorney Dale Bumpers. Faubus was the front-runner in the eight-man primary, but failed to gain a clear majority.

Also holding primaries today were Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Utah, Wisconsin and Vermont. Georgia holds a primary Wednesday.

Team Makes Plea For Hijackers' Victims

By United Press International

A team of negotiators from the International Red Cross flew to Amman, Jordan, in hopes of negotiating the release of 326 hijack victims. Arab guerrillas have threatened to kill 210 of them aboard their planes unless their ransom demands are met.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP) which hijacked three New York bound planes Sunday and tried to hijack a fourth have threatened to blow up two planes and their passengers unless Arab guerrillas held in Western countries are released by 10 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

Another 116 hijack victims were removed from TWA and Pan American planes now being held by the guerrillas in the sunbaked desert of Jordan and taken to the Intercontinental Hotel in Amman. Their hotel came under mortar attack during the night but they were not hurt.

Switzerland, which is holding three Arab guerrillas for their role in an attack on an El Al airliner in Zurich, said it would meet the Arab guerrillas demand and release them.

So did West Germany which is holding three more Arabs for their attack on an El Al Airlines bus.

Britain, which has Leila Khaled in custody, was the lone holdout. Prime Minister Edward Heath held an emergency cabinet meeting today in London but announced no decision. Israel said it was waiving extradition proceedings against her.

Israel asked that none of the nations agree to "guerrilla blackmail" but Switzerland acted independently while representatives of the United States, Britain, Israel, Switzerland and West Germany met in Washington to consider the situation.

A White House spokesman said President Nixon was doing everything possible to secure release of the hijack victims.

Pampan Hurt When He Tries To Miss Deer

A 52-year-old Pampa man, Hermann T. Jarrad, 2124 N. Christy, was seriously injured in a one-vehicle accident about 7 a.m. today seven miles east of Pampa on U.S. Highway 60. He is reported in fair condition in Highland General Hospital where he is undergoing treatment for broken bones and severe lacerations.

Investigating officer Ken Evans said Jarrad, alone passenger in the car traveling east, apparently swerved in an attempt to miss a deer on the highway and hit a tree.

Jury Selection

For Murder Of Policeman

SHERMAN — Jury selection begins today in the murder trial of one of four men charged with murdering a Sherman policeman last December.

Walter Lee Morris, 23, of Dallas, goes on trial for the shooting death of Police Sgt. D.C. Arnold, who walked into a service station during a robbery Dec. 23, 1969. He was shot eight times, and the station attendant, Omer R. Chambers, was shot six times.

Morris also was charged with Chambers' death, but he was being tried only for the murder of the policeman.

The other three men will be tried separately.

The trial will be in the 59th district court of Judge David H. Brown.

BLAMES DEMOCRATS DALLAS (UPI) — Senate candidate Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., said Monday President Nixon is trying to cut spending but is unable to because of the "spend, spend" attitude of the Democratic controlled Senate. Bush said a change in Senate leadership was necessary to ending wasteful expenditures.

PAMPA AND VICINITY -- Clear to partly cloudy and a little warmer this afternoon through Wednesday. Slight chance of thunder showers this afternoon and tonight. High will be in the low 90s. The low tonight will be in the middle 60s. High Wednesday will be in the upper 90s. Southerly winds 5 to 15 mph.

The three Red Cross representatives flew in with food and medical supplies but said they were hampered in their attempts to negotiate because they still had not been informed officially of the U.S. and British positions.

Arabs themselves were beginning to express concern over the guerrilla hijack actions. In Cairo, the authoritative newspaper Al Ahran said the hijackings could turn the world against the Palestinian cause.

The Red Cross representatives arriving in Amman were Roland Maerti, chief medical adviser to the committee and head of the group, Andre Rochat, a veteran of Middle East work, and Louis Jacsimonout.

Arabs Permit Hostages To 'Stretch Legs'

DAWSON'S FIELD, Jordan (UPI) — Bleary-eyed hostages released briefly from a hijacked TWA airliner said Palestinian guerrillas boarded the plane Monday night and seized six Americans and Israelis, including a U.S. soldier.

One of the Americans was identified as Gerald Berkowitz, a New York City rabbi traveling with his wife and 2-year-old daughter Thalia.

The passengers were among an estimated 210 hostages aboard the TWA 707 and a Swissair DC8 hijacked to this desert airfield Sunday by Palestinian guerrillas. Another 116 hijack victims were taken to Amman where their hotel came under mortar fire during the night. None was hurt.

The guerrillas have placed explosives aboard the planes and have threatened to blow them up with their passengers if a number of Arab guerrillas held in Western countries are not released by 10 p.m. EDT Wednesday. But today passengers were allowed out to stretch their legs.

Guerrilla leaders denied any men had been taken from the plane, but Trans World Airlines Copilot James Major said the six were Israelis and Americans. He gave their names as Berkowitz, James Wood, John Hollingsworth, Abraham Harari Rafal and Joseph Harari but said he did not know the name of the sixth.

He said Berkowitz was an American but that he did not know either the nationalities of the others or their addresses or which one was the soldier.

Pampa's Budget Passes Easily

By TEX DEWEES
News Staff Writer

The public hearing on Pampa's $2,047,000 operating budget for fiscal 1970-71 lasted about three minutes at today's meeting of the Pampa City Commission in City Hall.

With exception of commissioners, city officials and newsmen, nobody showed up for the hearing. The visitors' section in the city commission room was empty.

Ordinances adopting the budget and setting the city tax rate were approved on first reading.

The new budget is $120,730 more than the estimated budget for the current 1969-70 fiscal year which ends Sept. 30.

The tax rate is $1.72 per $100 of assessed property value, the same as it has been since 1968. Acting City Manager B.M.

Wofford said Pampa has had a 9 per cent increase in operating costs since 1968, or an average of 3 percent a year. "I think this is a very realistic figure when you take into consideration the rising costs in our national economy during the last three-year period," Wofford said.

Wofford explained that the major portion of the $120,000 increase in the budget over last year was brought on by the state's new Tort Claims Act which accounted for $42,000 in insurance and compensation costs and $32,000 a year increase due to the new 56-hour week for city firemen.

The budget now awaits final passage on Sept. 22 and is scheduled for filing with the Gray County Clerk and the State Comptroller on Oct. 1. (See BUDGET, Page 2)

IMF REPORTS

Inflation In U.S. World-Wide Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The International Monetary Fund says the stability of the world's money system is threatened by U.S. inflation. It hinted the Nixon administration should get tough with business and labor leaders to check rising prices.

The IMF, in its annual report, said U.S. inflation had spread economic trouble to most non-Communist countries. It placed America's inflation problems at the top of the world economic priority list.

The IMF works to stabilize the value of money. It often makes loans to countries having trouble protecting the soundness of their currency.

The IMF was critical of the Nixon administration's efforts to check inflation.

"At this juncture, the domestic stabilization plan developed by the U.S. authorities early in 1969 is clearly behind schedule in slowing the pace of price and cost increases and, at the same time it has had a more severe impact on the real economy than was hoped for," the report said.

The IMF noted that U.S. prices increased at an annual rate of 5.5 per cent during the first half of this year, the worst inflation since the Korean War, while unemployment reached a five-year high of 5 percent.

"The importance of arresting the U.S. inflationary spiral and restoring price and cost stability can hardly be exaggerated," the report said.

"At stake are the checking of the inflationary trend on a worldwide basis, the long-run stability and efficiency of the U.S. economy, the much needed strengthening of the U.S. balance of payments and the sound functioning of the International Monetary System."

IMF Managing Director Pierre-Paul Schweitzer issued the report in advance of the fund's annual meeting, scheduled to begin Sept. 21 in Copenhagen.

Midland Man Charged In Wife's Death

MIDLAND, Tex. (UPI) — Bernard Wayne Uboski, 25, of Midland Sunday was charged with murder with malice in the shooting death of his wife, Peggy. Bond was denied by Peace Justice Bob Pine.

Police Sunday found the body of the 25-year-old woman buried in a shallow grave in the couple's back yard. She had been shot twice in the head, and once in the left knee.

Uboski was arrested less than an hour after the body was found.

SPEED READING COURSE SET FOR PAMPA

One Million Words? In a Single Week? CAN YOU handle that?

Yet, if you are a student or an average person in a position of average responsibility you are expected to read up to, and in many cases even more than, one million words in a single week. Think of the flood of printed material you must cope with daily. There is more and more material in print every day — and more and more people, including you, have read it.

How rapidly DO you read? And more importantly, how well do you understand and retain what you have read? Is it a chore for you to read a book? Do you back-track repeatedly? Let your mind wander to other things? Silently pronounce words to yourself as you read? If you do any of these, chances are that you not only need but would profit greatly from the Speed Reading Academy's course in Rapid Reading which is set for discussion in Pampa.

Mr. Wayne D. Scott, SRA president, said arrangements have been made to offer SRA's exclusive 7-week, 24-hour Rapid Reading course to a limited number of students in Pampa.

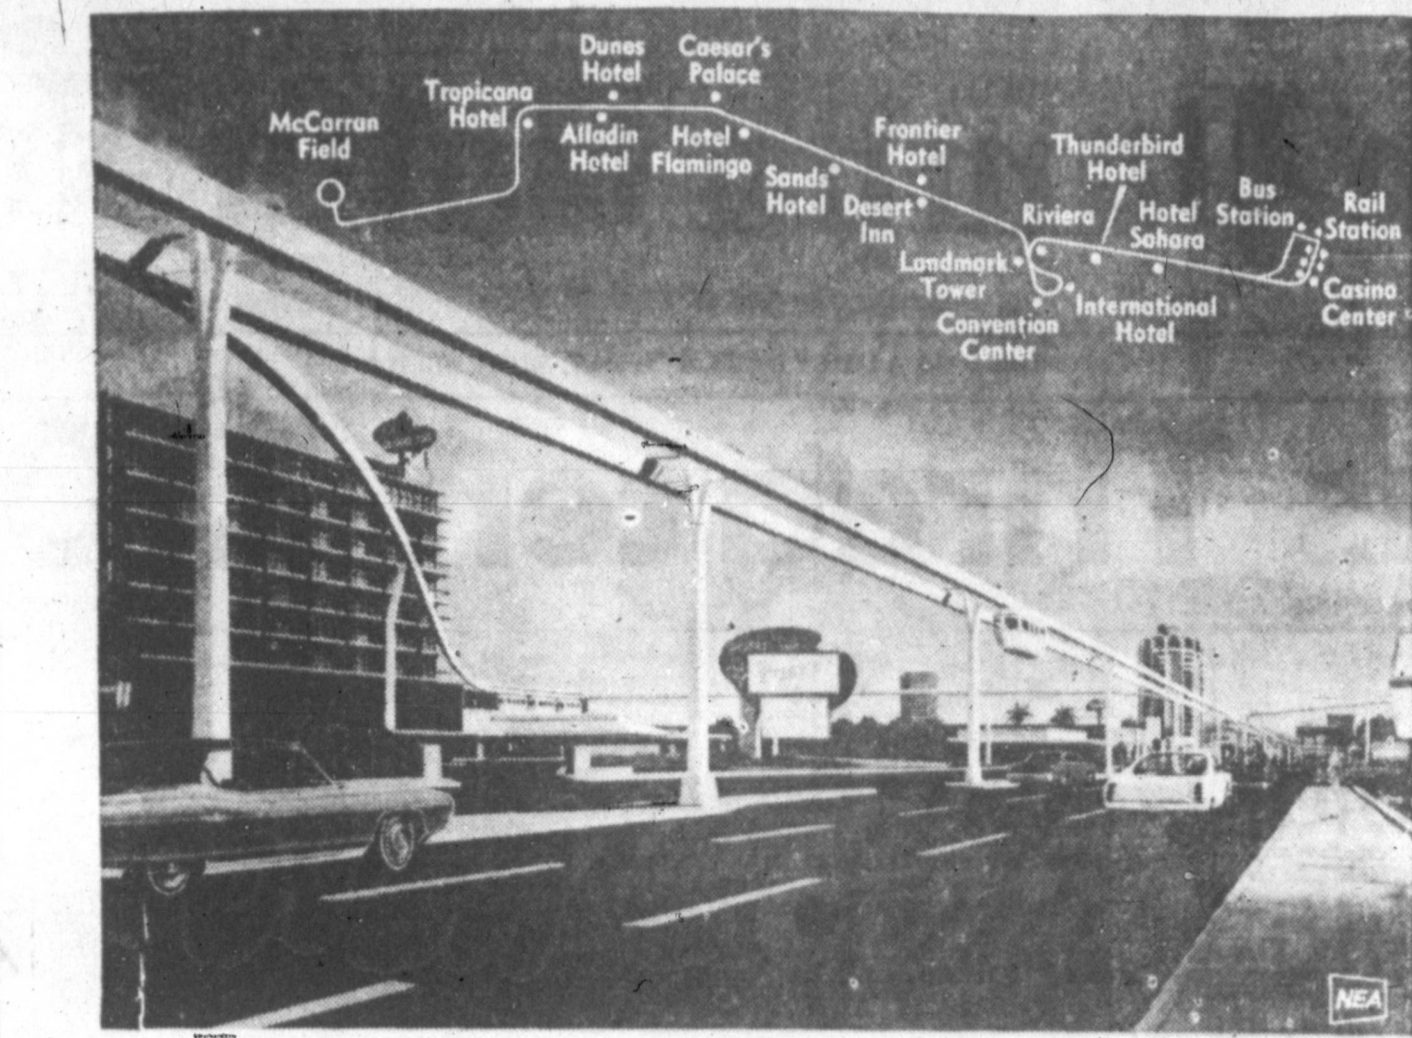

The course is designed primarily for the college-bound high school student, the college student and professional — but anyone over 13 years of age of average intelligence, and without visual weaknesses can quickly master the speed reading techniques of the S.R.A. Method. The average college student today reads anywhere from 150 to 250 words per minute, retaining about 50 per cent or less of what they have read, Mr. Scott said. "We guarantee that you can learn to read 1,000 words per minute, or more with better comprehension, retention and enjoyment or your tuition will be refunded."

Thousands of people who have completed the course have an average reading speed of 2,000 words per minute, with 80 per cent or better comprehension. In order to enroll in the course — you must attend one of the free orientation lectures mentioned below and the reading counselor will explain the course in detail — and give you a brief reading test to determine your present reading speed and comprehension.

Most people are shocked to find how slowly they actually read and how low their rate of comprehension really is. How do YOU rate as a reader?

Students enrolling will be required to attend one class per week for seven weeks. Classes are limited to twenty students — and class places will be filled on a first come, first served basis. A series of one hour orientation lectures to acquaint interested persons will be held in Pampa, at the Coronado Inn, Sabola Room 7:30 Daily Sept. 10-11-15-16 and twice on Sat. Sept. 12, 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. (Adv)

GANGLAND THREAT MADE

Sinatra, Casin Head Scuffle In Vegas Over Gambling Stakes

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The district attorney has issued an invitation to Frank Sinatra to have "a little talk" about the singer's possible underworld connections.

The invitation came Monday in the wake of Sinatra's latest donkeybrook with a Las Vegas casino executive. Sinatra flew to Palm Springs, Calif. Sunday and canceled further appearances at Caesars Palace Hotel after arguing with Executive Vice President Sanford Waterman, over gambling credit in a high stakes baccarat game.

Charges Filed Against Mother Of Dead Nine-Months-Old Girl

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Police officials said murder charges would be filed today against a teen-age mother whose 9-month-old girl was found dead last weekend. Authorities said the child died of dehydration, starvation and neglect.

Irene Martinez, 19, was arrested Sunday night in connection with the death of her daughter Yolanda. Lt. David N. Kenne head of the homicide department said murder charges would be filed today.

Police took a statement from Mrs. Martinez who told them she could not feed her children on the $130 a month she received as a military allotment. Her husband is in the Army serving in Vietnam.

"I was tired of them," Mrs. Martinez told police. "I just couldn't feed them. I don't like my husband and I don't like my children."

Miss Texas Pins Title Hope On Lucky Crab Help

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) — "Keep your fingers crossed," Phyllis George sent that message home Monday from where she is trying to become the first Miss Texas since 1942 to be elevated to Miss America.

"It's been a long time since Miss Texas won a Miss America title and I figure we might as well work on it this year as it is the 50th anniversary of the Miss America pageant," Miss George said.

Miss Texas went to New Jersey with her chaperone and her good luck charm — a live crab. She had the pet with her when she won the Miss Dallas crown and also in the Miss Texas competition.

Holiday Death Toll Exceeds Nat'l Estimate

By United Press International. The nation's Labor Day weekend traffic death toll today passed the National Safety Council's low estimate of 570 deaths.

The council had estimated between 570 and 670 persons would die in traffic during the 78-hour weekend which began 6 p.m. local time Friday and ended midnight Monday.

A breakdown of accidental deaths: Traffic 571, Drownings 21, Planes 78, Miscellaneous 70. Total 740.

California led the states with 61 traffic deaths. Texas had 44, Michigan 24, Virginia 23. The Florida and New Jersey 20 each when the bolt struck, injuring 22 others.

Lightning killed two high school football players in Florida, high winds blew a barn and lightning started a grass fire in Texas, and Arizona was still counting storm victims as a weekend of violent weather came to a close.

Heavy precipitation was confined to two general areas today — a band from the Upper Midwest to Northern Texas and along the Gulf of Mexico. Light precipitation continued in the North Rockies.

Quartermaster Vincent Williams, 16, and tackle Robert Newton were killed Monday when a bolt of lightning hit the Gibbs High School practice field in St. Petersburg, Fla. The team was huddling for a play when the bolt struck, injuring 22 others.

Leaves One Man Waiting At Altar, Kidnaps Child

DUNCAN, Okla. (UPI)—Marvin Tommy Fondren Jr. and his new bride, the former Debbie Dollar, were honeymooning in the Stephens County jail Monday.

The couple told officers they were married in Fort Worth, Tex., and had been in the Fort Worth area most of the time since Debbie failed to show up a week ago for her scheduled wedding to another man.

Authorities had feared that Debbie had been abducted, and charged Fondren with kidnapping 5-year-old Larry Don Sartin who disappeared with her. The child, son of the man Debbie had been scheduled to marry, was returned to relatives last week.

Fondren, 28, of Rush Springs, Okla., and Debbie, 18, of Duncan, surrendered Sunday night at Loco, Okla., to Stephens County Sheriff Marshall Thomas. The sheriff had contacted Fondren's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Doner of Fort Worth, and arranged for the surrender.

Both Fondren and Debbie were jailed in Duncan and held for further questioning.

Bentsen's Fund-Raising Dinner To Feature Illustrious Names

HOUSTON (UPI)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson and former Gov. John B. Connally will speak Thursday night at a fund raising dinner for Democratic Senate candidate Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr.

Singer Jack Jones, who subs for Johnny Carson tonight on Carson's "Tonight" television show, will be the featured entertainer at the $100-a-plate dinner.

"We are delighted that Gov. Connally and President Johnson who have made so many contributions to our state and our nation, will both be on hand when Democrats from all over Texas gather in Houston," dinner chairman Fred Hofheinz said.

"I think it is obvious that Lloyd Bentsen's opponent (Rep. George Bush, R-Tex.) has been spending tons of money all summer and we understand he will be getting plenty more from the Northeastern states," Hofheinz said. "We are relying primarily on this dinner to raise the funds necessary for Lloyd Bentsen to get his views across to the public. Our hope is that all the voters will get to know Mr. Bentsen this fall and that we will have a record-breaking turnout of voters on Nov. 3."

Bus Overturns When Road Shoulder Buckles

CROSSVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Eight persons were hospitalized Sunday in the crash of a Continental Trailways bus en route from Dallas to New York.

A spokesman at the Cumberland Medical Center said none of those admitted was believed in serious condition. The other 18 passengers were treated and released.

Don Spain, a spokesman for the Tennessee Department of Safety, said the bus driver, Merle H. Dunlap, 43, of Wall, Tenn., told state troopers he was slowing to avoid an automobile turning into a service station when the accident happened.

Dunlap, who was not injured, said he eased the bus onto a shoulder of the road which collapsed, and the bus overturned. The accident happened on U.S. Highway 70, near Interstate 40, six miles east of here.

The injured included Maggie Hutson, 70, Fort Smith, Ark., and Lillian Agee, 64, Corsicana, Tex.

Nixon Outlines How To Woo Voters

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon Administration is telling Republican candidates that its Vietnam troop withdrawals and its attitude toward crime and unrest will convert many blue collar workers into Republican voters in the Nov. 3 elections.

This message, written by a high administration official, is contained in a confidential memorandum being circulated to GOP candidates for governorships. Its substance also has been discussed with senatorial candidates.

The memo said that working people are "squarely behind the administration on two really big things—first, scaling down the war and, second, taking a firm approach to crime and unrest at home."

"The blue collar man feels strongly on these things," it said. "Here he's with us all the way."

The cabinet level official wrote that the same reaction could be found in the AFL-CIO national headquarters and that AFL-CIO President George Meany and his associates knew how their members felt.

It said that labor critics of the administration had only one issue, the economy, and that even on that issue everyone agreed on the need to check inflation. Unemployment was described as a matter of concern, but not a "front burner issue" except in a few areas like Los Angeles and Seattle.

"So, if we tell our story right," it said, "the criticism of the current sluggish economy can be muted."

"The way the world is turning, at least some of these unions and certainly many of their people are among the most conservative elements in the country today. They're not a lost cause for the Republican Party. Steadiness in foreign affairs, firmness with unrest at home, promise of a return to a healthy noninflationary policy and fairness in treatment is going to bring a lot of them around in November."

People To Be Fined For Death Of Fish

DALLAS (UPI)—Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, says the persons or companies responsible for the death of thousands of fish in a Dallas lake last Friday should be held for criminal and civil prosecution.

"In addition to the fines in this case, I would also like to see those responsible pay the cost of cleaning the lake and restocking it with fish," Mauzy said.

The fish were found floating by the edge of the lake and biologists said the lake's oxygen content was cut to one third of what it should have been. The biologists say industrial pollution was the cause of the fish kill.

Large Drug Haul Taken

LONGVIEW, Tex. (UPI)—Police Chief Roy Stone led officers on raids Saturday night and Sunday morning that netted 20 different types of drugs, drug equipment and eight persons who were charged with possession and sale of dangerous drugs.

Stone said it was one of the biggest hauls in East Texas history although he did not estimate the value of the drugs on the market.

Two 17-year-old girls, in addition to the eight arrested, were taken into custody and then released to the custody of their parents.

The four men and four women arrested were placed under a total of $300,000 bonds.

Stone said the raid climaxed three weeks of investigations.

Texas, Florida Next Targets For Chavez

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI)—Texas and Florida will be the next targets of Cesar Chavez's nationwide farmworker organization attempts, an aide of the union leader said.

Higinie Raneguel, 41, said Chavez's successes in California with the United Farmworkers Organizing Committee would make it easier to gain recognition of the union nationwide.

"If we organize in these two states, it will be easy in Michigan which has the second largest migrant labor force in the nation," he said. "Some 60,000 to 70,000 farmworkers migrate to that state from Florida and Texas to work."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market's current strength is broadly based and profit-making has so far been well absorbed, with institutional buying more than adequate to take up traders' offerings, Goodbody & Co. observes. Consolidation of recent advances seems likely, but should prove limited in extent and duration and have little impact on the better situated industry groups.

The advance, which has carried the Dow Jones industrials from the 710 level to the 760-770 area, appears to be losing momentum, TPO Inc. says. In view of the list's overwrought condition, the firm adds traders would be well advised to wait for a correction before making further commitments.

The bond and stock market rally, which was triggered by evidence of sharp cutbacks in discretionary new commitments by business—these cutbacks being taken as assuring corresponding restoration of financial stability and a decline in interest rates—is barreling along into dangerously overbought territory.

Thousands Mourn Lombardi's Death

NEW YORK (UPI)—Thousands of mourners gathered in St. Patrick's Cathedral Monday to pay last respects to football coach Vince Lombardi, who died Thursday at the age of 57.

The 3,000-seat Cathedral was jammed for the 11 a.m. EDT Funeral Mass celebrated for the former coach of the Green Bay Packers and the Washington Redskins by Terence Cardinal Cooke, a personal friend of Lombardi. Thousands lined a blocked-off section of Fifth Avenue near the Cathedral.

A hearse from the Abbey Funeral Home arrived at the Cathedral at 10:45 a.m. bearing Lombardi's body, about 25 minutes after the Lombardi family had taken their seats in the Cathedral. Included in the throng were the entire 1970 squads of the Packers and Redskins, as well as many luminaries from the world of sports.

Burial was scheduled later in the day at Mt. Olivet Cemetery near Red Bank, N.J.

Packer quarterback Bob Jeter before entering the church, said he was awed by the number of people entering the cathedral.

"He was an inspiration in my life, a sort of second father to me," said Jeter. "That was the type of image he had. I am personally going to miss him a lot."

Team mate Max McGee, whose pass catching played a major role in the Packers' victory in the first Super Bowl, said, "He was the only guy I know who could transfer his own excellence to other people. That was the secret of success."

The honorary pall bearers, including Packer quarterback Bart Starr and former Packer running back Paul Hornung, lined the steps leading to the main entrance of the Cathedral as the casket was carried into the church for the beginning of the service.

12 Prisoners Escape Jail

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI)—Twelve prisoners — being held on charges ranging from first-degree murder to hot check writing — escaped from the Garland County Jail Saturday and Sunday nights. Only one has been apprehended.

Seven white prisoners escaped Saturday night and five black prisoners escaped Sunday.

The seven who escaped Saturday night picked the lock on two doors and sawed the bars off a jail window in the three-story brick building constructed in 1905.

The five who escaped Sunday forced one door, broke the lock on another door and fled the window route laid out the night before.

A deputy in the Garland County sheriff's office said today it was believed that some were still in the county, but that others had headed for Illinois and California.

Vietnam Veterans End March Protesting Vietnam War

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI)—A group of Vietnam veterans which has been a target of harassment as well as the subject of sympathy ended a four-day 86-mile march Monday made in protest against the war.

Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW) sponsored the march from Morristown, N.J., to Valley Forge Park. Sixty-six men started the hike Friday but sympathizers joined them along the way and increased the ranks to about 150 expected at the finish.

"The whole point that I think these fellows are trying to make is that we've been there; nobody can say we're cowards," said William Shaffer, a member of the Gwynedd Friends Meeting, Shaffer and others acted as hosts when the men camped at the Friends Meeting Church grounds Sunday night near Schuylkill.

coming in cars had one of two reactions. They either smiled or looked grimly like who are those freaks?" said Jason Gettinger, 27, a New York City attorney.

Gettinger, in Vietnam from May of 1969 to May of this year, participated in the march. At one point, he said, a youth pointed a rifle at the marchers in Redding Twp., N.J.

"I was up near the front of the column and a couple of the guys suddenly started diving into the bushes and running and everybody's saying 'there's a guy with—a gun.' Getting related. Charges were filed against the youth, he said. Gettinger said the marchers staged incidents in several towns with the Philadelphia Guertilla Theater to show residents what Vietnamese people experience when American troops go through their villages.

demonstrate to the people something what the war is really like and how hostile a force might be in coming through your community," Shaffer said.

Laywomen To Be Given Special Consecration For Virginity

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican authorized bishops today to give special consecration to laywomen taking a personal vow of virginity.

The ruling, described by the Vatican as a gesture of esteem for women, placed virgin living in the world on a religious level very similar to that of cloistered nuns.

Both nuns and women living in the world can be admitted to virgin consecration, the Latin-language decree read. It said the requirements for consecration of laywomen were:

(1) "That they were never married and never publicly or obviously lived—in a state contrary to chastity."

(2) "That through their age, their wisdom and their commonly recognized good behavior they give reason to trust that they will persevere in a chaste life, dedicated to the service of the church and of their neighbors."

(3) "That they are admitted to consecration by the bishop of their diocese."

"The promulgation of this rite... is an act of esteem for woman: whose dignity is sometimes assailed by society, dominated as it often is by myths of vulgar hedonism," a Vatican press release said.

Father Confused When Four Babies Are Born

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Richard Soto described himself as "more confused than anything else" today after his wife, Norma, gave birth to quadruplet girls.

The babies, who only carry the names A, B, C and D, were in good health in the intensive care center of the Tucson Medical Center and were expected to live.

Authorities believed it was the first birth of quadruplet girls in Arizona.

Mrs. Soto, now the mother of seven children, gave birth to the quads Sunday.

Soto, an insurance agent, said it never occurred to him to take out a multiple-birth insurance policy.

Writer Not Impressed By Nudity

By DAVID COHEN
FREELTON, Ont. (UPI)—It was a beauty contest like any other beauty contest except the finalist wore no clothes.

The "Miss Nude World" pageant may sound exciting to some but I was there and I was not impressed. When you've seen one group of 1,000 naked people, you've seen them all.

The non-nude jury picked as "Miss Nude World" Miss Ronda Lee Stallan, a 21-year-old Toronto bookkeeper who stands 5'1" in her unstockinged feet, weighs 110 pounds, and measures 36-24-36.

There were more Mrs. than Misses in the Miss Nude World contest with 10 of the finalists being married women. Their husbands are nudists too and were present at the judging.

Runnersup to Miss Stallan were Mrs. Barbara Uldricks, 27, a mother of four from Burlington, Ont., and Mrs. Annette Greef of Hamilton, Ont.

Asked if she was embarrassed, Miss Ruth Newberg of Hamilton, Ont., replied, "No, you have nothing to hide when you're a nudist."

Miss Stallan won two trophies topped by nude female figures, one of carved wood and the other of gold-finish metal, a trip to Florida for two, and some clothing.

Happiness is a pretty girl, a beguiling smile and braids. This sleek hairstyle was created by Ragn of Copenhagen and tinted to match the burnished brightness of The Old Copper Shop in Copenhagen.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market's current strength is broadly based and profit-making has so far been well absorbed, with institutional buying more than adequate to take up traders' offerings, Goodbody & Co. observes. Consolidation of recent advances seems likely, but should prove limited in extent and duration and have little impact on the better situated industry groups.

The advance, which has carried the Dow Jones industrials from the 710 level to the 760-770 area, appears to be losing momentum, TPO Inc. says. In view of the list's overwrought condition, the firm adds traders would be well advised to wait for a correction before making further commitments.

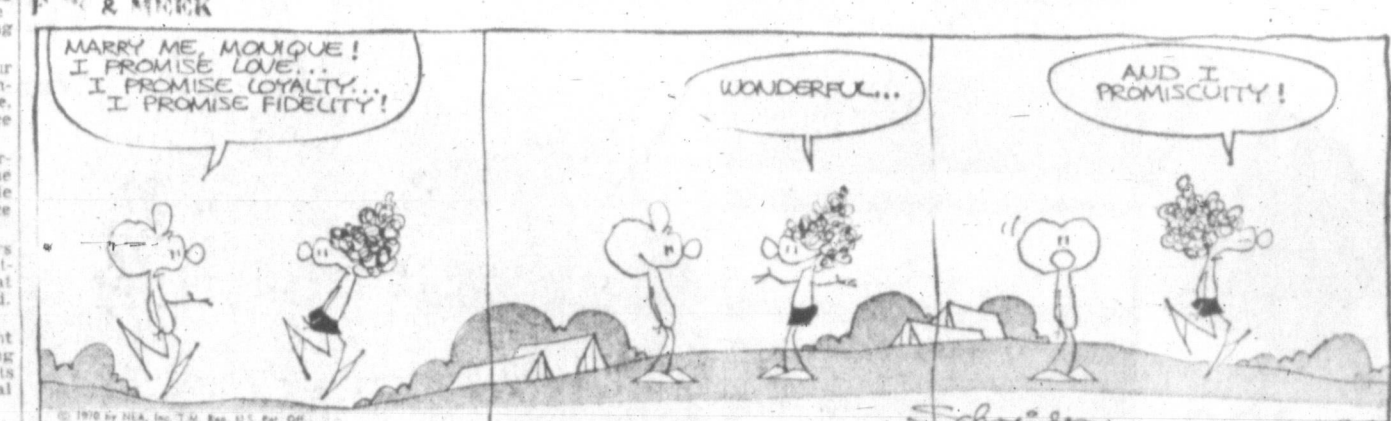

The bond and stock market rally, which was triggered by evidence of sharp cutbacks in discretionary new commitments by business—these cutbacks being taken as assuring corresponding restoration of financial stability and a decline in interest rates—is barreling along into dangerously overbought territory.

Thousands Mourn Lombardi's Death

NEW YORK (UPI)—Thousands of mourners gathered in St. Patrick's Cathedral Monday to pay last respects to football coach Vince Lombardi, who died Thursday at the age of 57.

The 3,000-seat Cathedral was jammed for the 11 a.m. EDT Funeral Mass celebrated for the former coach of the Green Bay Packers and the Washington Redskins by Terence Cardinal Cooke, a personal friend of Lombardi. Thousands lined a blocked-off section of Fifth Avenue near the Cathedral.

A hearse from the Abbey Funeral Home arrived at the Cathedral at 10:45 a.m. bearing Lombardi's body, about 25 minutes after the Lombardi family had taken their seats in the Cathedral. Included in the throng were the entire 1970 squads of the Packers and Redskins, as well as many luminaries from the world of sports.

Burial was scheduled later in the day at Mt. Olivet Cemetery near Red Bank, N.J.

Packer quarterback Bob Jeter before entering the church, said he was awed by the number of people entering the cathedral. "He was an inspiration in my life, a sort of second father to me," said Jeter. "That was the type of image he had. I am personally going to miss him a lot."

Team mate Max McGee, whose pass catching played a major role in the Packers' victory in the first Super Bowl, said, "He was the only guy I know who could transfer his own excellence to other people. That was the secret of success."

The honorary pall bearers, including Packer quarterback Bart Starr and former Packer running back Paul Hornung, lined the steps leading to the main entrance of the Cathedral as the casket was carried into the church for the beginning of the service.

12 Prisoners Escape Jail

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI)—Twelve prisoners — being held on charges ranging from first-degree murder to hot check writing — escaped from the Garland County jail Saturday and Sunday nights. Only one has been apprehended.

Seven white prisoners escaped Saturday night and five black prisoners escaped Sunday.

The seven who escaped Saturday night picked the lock on two doors and sawed the bars off a jail window in the three-story brick building constructed in 1905.

The five who escaped Sunday forced one door, broke the lock on another door and fled the window route laid out the night before.

A deputy in the Garland County sheriff's office said to day it was believed that some were still in the county, but that others had headed for Illinois and California.

Vietnam Veterans End March Protesting Vietnam War

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI)—A group of Vietnam veterans which has been a target of harassment as well as the subject of sympathy ended a four-day 86-mile march Monday made in protest against the war.

Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW) sponsored the march from Morristown, N.J., to Valley Forge Park. Sixty-six men started the hike Friday but sympathizers joined them along the way and increased the ranks to about 150 expected at the finish.

"The whole point that I think these fellows are trying to make is that we've been there, nobody can say we're cowards," said William Shaffer, a member of the Gwynedd Friends Meeting. Shaffer and others acted as hosts when the men camped at the Friends Meeting Church grounds Sunday night near Schwenksville.

coming by in cars had one of two reactions. They either smiled or looked grimly like who are those freaks?" said Jason Gettinger, 27, a New York City attorney.

Gettinger, in Vietnam from May of 1969 to May of this year, participated in the march. At one point, he said, a youth pointed a rifle at the marchers in Reddington Twp., N.J.

"I was up near the front of the column and a couple of the guys suddenly started diving into the bushes and running and everybody's saying there's a guy with a gun," Gettinger related. Charges were filed against the youth, he said.

Gettinger said the marchers staged incidents in several towns with the Philadelphia Guerrilla Theater to show residents what Vietnamese people experience when American troops go through their villages.

demonstrate to the people something what the war is really like and how hostile a force might be in coming through your community," Shaffer said.

Laywomen To Be Given Special Consecration For Virginity

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican authorized bishops today to give special consecration to laywomen taking a personal vow of virginity.

The ruling, described by the Vatican as a gesture of "esteem for women," placed laywomen living in the world on a religious level very similar to that of cloistered nuns.

"Both nuns and women living in the world can be admitted to virgin consecration," the Latin-language decree read. It said the requirements for consecration of laywomen were:

(1) "That they were never married and never publicly or obviously lived in a state contrary to chastity."

(2) "That through their age, their wisdom and their commonly recognized good behavior they give reason to trust that they will persevere in a chaste life, dedicated to the service of the church and of their neighbors."

(3) "That they are admitted to consecration by the bishop of their diocese."

"The promulgation of this rite... is an act of esteem for women, whose dignity is sometimes assailed by society, dominated as it often is by myths of vulgar hedonism," a Vatican press release said.

Writer Not Impressed By Nudity

By DAVID COHEN
FREETON, Ont. (UPI)—It was a beauty contest like any other beauty contest except the finalist wore no clothes.

The "Miss Nude World" pageant may sound exciting to some but I was there and I was not impressed. When you've seen one group of 1,000 naked people, you've seen them all.

The non-nudist jury picked as "Miss Nude World" Miss Ronda Lee Stallan, a 21-year-old Toronto bookkeeper who stands 5'1" in her unstockinged feet, weighs 110 pounds, and measures 36-24-36.

There were more Mrs. than Misses in the Miss Nude World contest with 10 of the finalists being married women. Their husbands are nudists too and were present at the judging.

Runners-up to Miss Stallan were Mrs. Barbara Uldricks, 27, a mother of four from Burlington, Ont., and Mrs. Annette Greef of Hamilton, Ont.

Asked if she was embarrassed, Miss Ruth Newberg of Hamilton, Ont., replied, "No, you have nothing to hide when you're a nudist."

Miss Stallan won two trophies topped by nude female figures, one of carved wood and the other of gold-finish metal, a trip to Florida for two, and some clothing.

Happiness is a pretty girl, a beguiling smile and braids. This sleek hairstyle was created by Ragn of Copenhagen and tinted to match the burnished brightness of The Old Copper Shop in Copenhagen.

Father Confused When Four Babies Are Born

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Richard Soto described himself as "more confused than anything else" today after his wife, Norma, gave birth to quadruplet girls.

The babies, who only carry the names A, B, C and D, were in good health in the intensive care center of the Tucson Medical Center and were expected to live.

Authorities believed it was the first birth of quadruplet girls in Arizona.

Mrs. Soto, now the mother of seven children, gave birth to the quads Sunday.

Soto, an insurance agent, said it never occurred to him to take out a multiple-birth insurance policy.

VIOLENCE DEGREE UNCERTAIN

Campus Unrest: Round Two Due This Fall, UPI Survey Indicates

By DAVID AYLWARD and CAROL ANN ROSS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's college campuses are in for another round of trouble this season according to the consensus among students and educators.

How violent that trouble will be, what will be its catalyst and how the universities will deal with it are the variables.

UPI reporters interviewed people on 72 campuses in 31 states to determine the outlook for a renewal of the violence that dominated many campuses the past school year.

We Can't Communicate
One of the gravest forecasts was issued by Eugene Klingman, assistant vice chancellor for student affairs at the University of Wisconsin:

"We can't communicate with them (the trouble-causers). What we are hearing is that there will probably not be the degree of mass confrontations we've had in the past but the tactic will be hit-and-run, by a small, hard core group of very dedicated people whose tactic will be destruction."

The Madison, Wis., campus already has experienced that sort of thing, in the Aug. 24 bombing of an Army mathematics research center.

Robert Perrin, vice president for university relations at Michigan State University, said, "It would be foolish for anybody to try to predict what will happen. But we know of no outstanding issues that would provide any excuse for violent action this fall."

An administrator at Wayne State University in Detroit, who asked that his name not be used, responded: "We are optimistic of chances of campus peace in the upcoming school year. However, student concern over the war in Vietnam continues and the fall election campaign could provide other causes for militants."

A spokesman at Rice University in Texas: "There is a better chance for peace. Violence has already peaked and proved to be ineffective."

A University of Rhode Island dean who preferred to remain anonymous said President Nixon's actions in the coming months will be a crucial factor in whether there will be unrest on his campus.

An anonymous administrator at Bowdoin College in Maine said: "Our problems will have to be resolved within the context of national and international problems."

"In a sense, colleges are helpless to control campus peace. If the current trend toward de-escalation of the Vietnam war is reversed, it could be disastrous to college peace."

Faubus' Says Life Threatened

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he had been told that if he becomes the gubernatorial nominee of the Democratic party in Tuesday's election, "I will be dead in 30 days."

The plain implication is that I will be assassinated, Faubus told a news conference.

The threat, which he said was reported to him by a reliable source, "came from a left-wing group."

Faubus also denied what he alleged was the involvement of Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in the Democratic gubernatorial runoff primary between Faubus and Dale Bumpers, a Charleston attorney.

Such a tivity, Faubus said, "constitutes the most despicable occurrence in the Democratic party in the past 25 years."

Faubus refused to "name names" or elaborate on his assassination threat, but said he was in the process of informing law enforcement agencies of the report and he said he would provide those agencies full details.

Faubus said he wanted "the people to vote for me" anyway. "I'll take my chances with anything that comes afterward," he said. "The fact that this thought would arise or occur to anyone is repulsive to the great mass of decent, fair-minded Americans."

Swimming Pool Dedicated To Jailed Teamsters

SALINE, Mich. (UPI)—Acting Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons today called on the American working man to vote out of office "those who try to make organized labor the scapegoat for all of our national ills."

Speaking at the dedication of a swimming pool in honor of imprisoned Teamsters president James R. Hoffa, Fitzsimmons, in prepared remarks, said that too many of the nation's problems go unsolved while "politicians play the game of politics."

The American labor movement, Fitzsimmons said, must also welcome the youth of the nation into the fight to solve the problems of war, high prices, inflation and national unrest over many issues.

Fitzsimmons, who took over as acting head of the 1.6 million-member union when Hoffa was imprisoned for jury tampering, said the nation's domestic ills won't be solved until the Vietnam War is ended.

"We can help impoverished nations. But we cannot be the world police force. It costs too much in American lives and American dollars."

The Olympic-sized pool named in honor of Hoffa, whom Fitzsimmons called a "political prisoner," is located at a 67-acre family recreation center for members of local 299 of Detroit. Hoffa's home local.

After the speech, Fitzsimmons was scheduled to return immediately to Washington, D.C., to attend a White House reception. The great shame of Labor Day, 1970, is the imprisonment of Hoffa, Fitzsimmons said.

Suspects In Voting Irregularities Free

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI)—All 22 persons indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of vote fraud in Starr County in connection with the May Democratic primary are free on bond.

The last seven of the 22 appeared Saturday before U.S. Commissioner Laurie McDonald to post bond. The other 15 posted $2,000 personal recognizance bonds earlier in connection with an indictment returned July 30 by a federal grand jury in Brownsville.

The July indictment was dismissed Thursday, however, when the second grand jury handed down another indictment naming 16 of the original 18 persons plus six others in connection with the alleged voting irregularities in absentee balloting for the May 2 primary.

Those who posted bonds Saturday were:

County Commissioner Armando Pena, chief deputy sheriff Paul Pena, county clerk Jose S. Hinojosa, school board trustee Heberto Barrera, Rene Jorge Gonzalez, and Fidencia Salmon. All are Starr County employees.

McDonald advised the seven of their constitutional rights, gave them copies of the criminal indictment against them, then remanded them to the custody of U.S. Marshal Robert A. de la Paz who took them to Hidalgo County jail where the defendants were fingerprinted and photographed before being released.

McDonald also advised them to remain in close contact with their attorney, Sen. Jim Bates, D-Edinburg. He also said they had to receive permission from

Child's Death May Be Related To Polio

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Health officials Mon. were confronted by the possible expansion of the city's diphtheria epidemic and the death Sunday of a child thought to have polio.

A suspected case of diphtheria was reported Sunday 140 miles southwest of San Antonio in Eagle Pass. An inoculation program was begun today in Eagle Pass to protect the estimated 95 per cent of the population never immunized.

The death Sunday in Bexar County Hospital of Juan Mares Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Mares of San Antonio, raised the fear of an outbreak of polio once again in San Antonio.

Two weeks ago the 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Rodriguez contracted polio and has been in Bexar County Hospital since in poor condition. The youth became ill in Mexico, however, and health officials felt the disease had been caught there.

The Rodriguez child was the first case of polio in San Antonio since June, 1968.

The parents of the dead boy have refused to grant permission for an autopsy, but doctors said all tests indicated the child died of polio. Further tests are being conducted.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

America was named for Amerigo Vesputi, an Italian reputed to have made four voyages to the New World (1492-1503). The World Almanac says that Martin Waldseemüller, a German geographer, first used the name to honor Vesputi in a book published in 1507.

Holdup Suspect Taken In Church

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—A youthful suspect in a filling station holdup Monday, was caught minutes afterwards, lost again, stopped again, lost again, then finally arrested in a church where mass was in progress.

A police officer acting on a description of the escape car broadcast after a Shamrock station was robbed stopped the auto and searched its occupant.

While the policeman summoned help, the youth dashed into his car and fled.

A chase by four patrol cars at speeds of more than 100 miles per hour crossed the west side of the city. The youth was finally boxed in by the cars on a narrow street. He then jumped from his car, and disappeared into the San Juan de los Lagos Catholic Church.

Police followed and, though mass was in progress, arrested him.

They found $250, the amount taken from the station, and a pistol on the front seat of the suspect's car.

Hollywood In Review

By ROBERT MUSEL
NEW YORK (UPI)—Glenn Ford makes his television acting debut in "The Brotherhood of the Bell," a suspense drama, which opens the sixth season of the Thursday night movies on CBS-TV, Sept. 17.

The networks always launch film series with good, solid, proven Hollywood products so the choice of a new feature movie made specifically for television for that distinction is something of a first.

Like its respected competitors, CBS is placing great reliance on films in the new season—Thursday and Friday are the movie nights on that network—and with everybody scrambling for the 4d-windup stockpile of Hollywood products is busily filming its own.

This is being done by a subsidiary, Cinema Center 100. After RECENT PREVIEW OF "The Brotherhood of the Bell," Gerald L. Adler, vice president of the production company, spoke of the thinking behind the program.

Television obviously cannot spend the money a film company could in the days when Hollywood dominated the world film market, so Adler said the CBS product has to be meticulously prepared to fit into a tight five-week shooting schedule using expensive big stars for shorter but more intensive periods of work.

At the same time the photography is carefully planned to give the illusion that what is on the screen is lush and expensive. Adler thinks "The Brotherhood of the Bell" is a good example of what he means. To make allowances for the small screen as many scenes as are possible are shot with the actors in closeup.

"This sort of production, cross between film making and television programming, is coming into its own this year," Adler said.

Dear Abby

By August Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are in our fifties and our children are married, so there are just the two of us home.

A few weeks ago, while I was on a short business trip, my wife exchanged our large double bed for twin beds. I didn't raise any objections at the time, but now I wish I had.

After having slept like two spoons for more than 30 years, I didn't realize it would make such a big difference in our lives. There is something about sleeping together that seems to generate a feeling of security and reassurance, and makes life's daily problems easier to cope with. It made going to bed something to look forward to. All of that is gone now and I feel that we have lost a certain closeness.

What infuriates me is that my wife seems pleased with the new arrangement. I often go to bed so angry I have trouble falling asleep. She drops right off and sleeps like a log.

I haven't made a big deal out of it, but I have complained mildly a couple of times. I'm sure if I insisted on going back to the double bed she'd agree, but what would I gain if she did it against her wishes?

CHEATED: Make a "big deal" out of it, because as far as you're concerned, it is a big deal. If you don't tell her how you feel, she won't know. (She may be flattered.) On the other hand, you may snore, hog the bed, yank the bed clothes. Talk it out and settle it. Don't just lie there, full of resentment, and feeling "cheated."

DEAR ABBY: I recently had a party at my home. My parents fully approved of it, in fact it was my mother's idea. As I had hoped, many of my friends showed up. But so did a lot of kids who were not my friends, and also a lot of kids I didn't even know. It was this unwanted group that brought beer, obstructed traffic in front of our house, littered the neighbor's yard with beer cans, and finally caused the police to finally to quiet the disturbance.

Now my parents blame me for the trouble caused by that rowdy gang, and I am now grounded at night. But worst of all I have lost my parents' trust and respect. What can I do?

GROUNDING IN WHEATON, MD. DEAR GROUNDING: If your parents are holding you responsible for the misconduct of uninformed hoodlums who forced their way into your home, then they are being unreasonable. But, if you made the rowdy gang welcome when they showed up uninvited, you deserve to be grounded. It's too late now, but the police should have been called as soon as those crashers showed up and refused to leave.

DEAR ABBY: I have a thoughtful mother in law who is also very generous, but listen to this: Whenever she sends me a gift for any occasion (even Christmas) she sends the gift, with the sales slip enclosed, the price tags right on the gift, saying if I want to take it back and exchange it, it will be easier.

This doesn't seem like a gift. It's more like a donation. Don't you think part of the thrill of getting a gift is having it come all nicely gift-wrapped?

DISAPPOINTED: DEAR DISAPPOINTED: This is one for the "you can't win" department. Your mother in law is thoughtful, generous and practical. And you are lucky! (What do you want? Egg in your beer?)

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter from "shook in Montana" who had never heard of a shower being given for the bridegroom: My husband's friends gave him a "bath." The host sent invitations reading, "Mable had a shower, let's give Lou a bath," and each guest brought a tool. They had a lot of fun, and the tools were very welcome.

Summer-Worn Hair Requires Conditioning

NEW YORK (Sp) — Summer is notorious for the hard time it can give hair. It can turn what should be shining bouncy hair into problem hair. If your hair shows signs of any difficulties listed below — it needs rescuing.

To get your hair back to first-rate shape you have to follow a conditioning routine as faithfully as you would a diet or exercise plan, according to the September issue of a women's magazine. A few slap-dash attempts won't work. The chart below organizes a conditioning plan for every type of hair. Find yours and then follow it for the healthiest, shiniest, most controllable hair you've ever worn.

Straw hair is usually fine, dry hair or hair that's been chemically altered — dry or oily. This kind of hair is difficult to comb through, especially when it's wet. Follow conditioning routine B.

Frizzy hair has ends that look like steel wool and is dry, brittle, likely to break. It's usually caused by too many permanents, too much tinting or bleaching. Give this kind of hair an intensive care treatment.

Federated Clubs Name Speakers At District Meet. Mrs. Kermit Lawson of Pampa, president of the Top of Texas District of Texas Federated Women's Clubs, will be a featured speaker at the district's Fall board meeting in Spearman Oct. 8.

Mrs. Lila Vars of Canyon, district junior director, will also address the 200 club women who are expected to attend the meetings and luncheon in the United Methodist Church in Spearman.

Members of the Spearman clubs who will host the meeting are the Twentieth Century Club, directed by Mrs. Frank Davis, with Mrs. Sandra Ladd serving from the Spearman Study Club, a junior unit.

then follow up with conditioning routine A. Hair breakage is usually caused by abuse — too many permanents, overcoloring or excessive teasing. Start with the intensive care plan, then follow with routine A.

Dry hair usually has the texture of straw and is difficult to curl. Follow conditioning plan B.

Flyaway hair is usually fine, dry hair or sometimes newly washed fine, oily hair. The problem is caused by the hair's light weight. Conditioning can help by depositing protein and oils inside the hair shaft and making it "heavier," more manageable. Follow routine C.

Dull hair has no shine. Subtle highlighting usually remedies this. Follow routine C.

Split ends make hair look rough and whitish at the ends. First and most important, have a good haircut to get rid of any split ends as possible. Then give yourself an intensive care treatment and follow with routine A.

Limp hair is usually fine and oily and has a "wet" feeling. Oily hair gets limp a day or two after shampooing and this condition worsens when hair is abused chemically. Follow routine C.

Intensive care routine has five steps for more manageable hair. After you've shampooed, apply a generous application of deep-penetrating conditioner.

Family Sponsors Party In Wheeler. WHEELER (Sp) — Faculty members and employees of the Kelton School were honored with an ice cream supper in the home of Superintendent of Schools, Mr. and Mrs. Roger McFarren.

Guests playing forty-two, dominoes, and cards were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wheeler, Kim and Wayne, Mrs. Tom Williams and Debbie, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Waiser, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Abernathy, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Killingsworth, David, Sharon and Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Davis Harvey, LaRhonda, Shelby, Brenda, Lorrie, and Mrs. Harvey's nephew from Perryton, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger McFarren and Kyle.

and comb it through so it covers every strand of hair. Put a plastic bag over your hair and pin it securely with a bobby pin at your forehead and back of your neck. Cover plastic bag with your shower cap and sit under a dryer, set at medium to hot for 15 to 30 minutes. Remove all head coverings and rinse hair thoroughly with warm water.

Conditioning routine A requires use of a mild shampoo and creme rinse for dry, normal, oily, tinted or lightened hair, depending on your type. Instead of a creme rinse, it suggests an instant conditioner after every shampoo (one to five minute application). Conditioning treatment once a month, body-builder or setting lotion with conditioner in it and hair creme on ends between shampoos if ends still seem dry.

Conditioning routine B also suggests the same shampoo and rise treatment as Routine A and advises an instant weekly conditioner, one to five minute application, with a deep conditioning treatment once a month for 15-30 minutes and a body-builder or setting with conditioner in it.

Conditioning routine C advises the same shampoo and rinse treatment as A and B, or suggests the shampoo plus using the instant conditioner once every two weeks one to five minute application, a deep conditioning treatment once a month (15 to 30 minute application), and body-builder or setting lotion with conditioner in it.

Conditioning routine to maintain normal healthy hair requires use of the same shampoo and rinse treatment or shampoo plus, a 15-30 minute deep conditioning treatment once a month, and a body-builder or setting lotion with conditioner in it. If your hair is fine you may want to leave the creme rinse because of its softening effect. It's never necessary when you use a conditioner, instant or deep penetrating.

Shepperson Wins Top O' Texas Golf Tournament

It was John Shepperson all the way in the 33rd annual Top O' Texas Golf Tournament which ended here Monday.

Shepperson, a student at Texas Tech from Odessa, shared, or was just one stroke off the lead after each round of the 72 holes in the championship flight.

Saturday Don Lackey of Borger tied Shepperson with a one under par round of 70 which was low for the day.

Sunday found Shepperson one stroke out of the lead when he carded a 73 and Robert McKinney, also a student at Tech, toured the 18 with a 68 for the low round of the day. Lackey turned in an even par round to tie with McKinney for the lead after 36 holes.

Monday morning's low round honors were taken by Pampa's Max Hickey with a three under par, 69. Hickey, favored by many to win the tournament this year, finished in fourth place with a 72 hole total of 288. The afternoon low round was shot by Jackie Coffey of Borger.

Shepperson put two, one under par, rounds together Monday.

McKinney was able to share the lead at the end of Monday morning's round with an even par total for 54 holes.

With both he and Shepperson tied at 213 at the beginning of the final round, it looked as if a playoff was in the making.

However, McKinney faltered and Shepperson maintained his consistent play. McKinney lost strokes to the champion on both the 16th and 18th holes.

The winner of the first flight had to be determined by a playoff when both Elmer Wilson of Pampa and Harry Wilbur of Canadian turned in 54-hole totals of 229. Wilson nosed out Wilbur in the sudden death playoff.

Championship Flight Winners

John Shepperson, Odessa, first (283); Robert McKinney, Lubbock, second (285); Danny Edwards, OSU, third (286); Max Hickey, Pampa, fourth (288); Jim Whittaker, Tech, fifth (290); tying for 6th, 7th, and 8th places were: David Parker, Pampa; Scott Stegner, Odessa; and Don Lackey, Borger, all at 292; Ladd Larson, Pampa, ninth (293).

McGinnis, Pampa, all at 231; and James White, Pampa, ninth (232).

Racing Completes Full Weekend

By United Press International
It was a weekend that showed both sides of auto racing — from the extravagant opening of the new $25-million Ontario, Calif. track with the California 500 to the death of the world's leading driver, Jo Rindt.

Jim McElreath took the lead in the closing laps Sunday to win the $150,000 first prize in the California 500. Runner-up Art Pollard lodged a protest that he was the winner by a lap but withdrew it after studying the tapes of the race and settled for second place.

McElreath, Pollard, Dick Simon, Gordon Johncock and Peter Revson, who was named the outstanding driver, took down the first five places after such well known drivers as Mario Andretti, A.J. Foyt, Lee Roy Yarbrough and Al Unser dropped out.

McElreath, 42, who began racing stock cars in 1945, took his Coyote-Ford from 18th to first place, grabbing the lead for good on the 198th of the 200 laps.

"I was in second place about five seconds behind Pollard," McElreath said. "But I knew I was picking up one second on him for every lap. With 10 laps to go, I knew there would be no problems."

Baker Wins Southern 500
In Monday's big races, Buddy Baker wore down Donnie Allison and Cale Yarborough to win NASCAR's Southern 500 at Darlington, S.C. England's David Hobbs gained his second consecutive victory in the S.C.'s Continental Championship series by taking the Inver House Grand Prix at Lime Rock, Conn.; and Al Unser took the USAC 100-lap Ted Horn Memorial at the Du Quoin, Ill., Fairgrounds.

Baker, whose father Buck had some of his greatest successes at Darlington, averaged 128.817 mph for the victory in his Dodge. Yarborough, who led for 35 laps, flipped his car on the 331st lap, and Allison went out 15 laps later when he hit the wall. Baker then coasted home a lap ahead of Bobby Isaac, also in a Dodge.

"It's a dream come true," said Baker, surrounded by relatives after the race. "That car was set up perfect, it was ready to win."

Hobbs, driving a Surtees Formula A car, broke his clutch 30 laps from the end of the Continental race, but he continued to take the victory by nearly a lap over George Follmer in a Lotus-Ford. In the Continental Formula B race, Mike Eversly of Salem, Ore. clinched the season title with his seventh victory in 10 races.

Rindt, who led the point standings and is almost certain to become the first posthumous world driving champion, was killed Saturday in time trials for the Monza Grand Prix in Italy. Rindt's car hit a guard rail on Monza's parabolic curve and broke apart, but the Austrian continues to lead the drivers' standings with 45 points compared to 25 for both Jackie Stewart and Jack Brabham with three races left.

Teammates Pull Out

Rindt's Lotus teammates, Emerson Fittipaldi and John Miles, pulled out of the race the next day along with Graham Hill, but Clay Regazzoni of Switzerland, saying he refused to be frightened, charged through the parabolic curve to set record time of 1:39:06.88 and give Ferrari its second victory of the season. Stewart was second in a March Ford, and Jean Pierre Beltoise of France third in a Matra.

Another death occurred Monday when a spectator was run down by a stock car at the State Fair track in Syracuse, N.Y. Raymond Dean of Sidney Center, N.Y. was killed and six others, including his wife Gertrude, were injured when Lee Millington's car leaped the seven-foot fence on the track's third turn.

Defending champion Don Prudhomme of Granada Hills, Calif. won the AA Fuel Class in the National Hot Rod Association Nationals at Indianapolis, Ind. when Jim Nicoll's dragster split in two. Prudhomme was clocked in 6.456 seconds for an average of 230.76 mph. Jack Jones of San Diego won the top gas eliminator title and Don Schumacher of Park Ridge, Ill. the funny car category.

LARRSON WINS FREESTYLE

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI)—Swedish Gunnar Larsson set a world record Monday by winning the 400-meter freestyle in the European Swimming Championships. Larsson, clocked in 4:02.6, beat the record set by John Kisealla in the U.S. Championships two weeks ago by two-tenths of a second.

UNSER SETS RECORD

DU QUOIN, ILL. (UPI)—Al Unser set a track record Mon. to win the USAC 100 lap Ted Horn Memorial race at the Du Quoin Fair Grounds. His time was 1:01.766, bettering the 1:02 time A.J. Foyt set in 1964.

Mets Maybe Gaining Momentum

By United Press International
Donna Clendenon believes the New York Mets may finally have acquired the momentum which produced the "miracle" world Series victory of 1969.

"We haven't played good ball as yet this season but I still think we have the club to do it all," said the outspoken first baseman after the Mets beat the Montreal Expos, 5-4 and 5-1 Monday. "The first game gave us momentum and I think we can carry it through the rest of the season."

Cleon Jones hit a two-run homer and Jerry Grote added a run-scoring single as the Mets rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to win the first game. Reliever Danny Friesella won his sixth game after Tom Seaver allowed four runs and six hits in seven innings.

Tommye Agee hit a three-run homer and Clendenon a two-run double in a five-run second-inning rally which enabled Jim McAndrew to breeze to his ninth victory in the second game. The Mets are now in second place in the National League East, 1½ games behind the Pirates and a half-game ahead of the Cubs.

The Pirates romped to an 8-3 victory over the Cubs in their opener as Richie Hebner drove in four runs with two homers and a double and Bob Moose pitched a seven-hitter for his ninth win. But Ron Santo hit two homers and Billy Williams and pitcher Ferguson Jenkins one each as the Cubs rebounded for a 9-2 triumph in the second game.

The Philadelphia Phillies defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-1 and 3-2 in 13 innings, the San Francisco Giants beat the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3, and 4-3, the Houston Astros topped the San Diego Padres, 10-5 and 9-4, and the Los Angeles Dodgers tripped the Atlanta Braves, 4-3 and 6-1 in other National League games.

In the American League, Minnesota swept Milwaukee, 7-6 and 8-3; Oakland beat Chicago, 7-4 and 2-5; New York shaded Washington, 4-3; Cleveland topped Boston, 8-2 after a 4-3 loss; Kansas City beat California, 4-1, and Detroit downed Baltimore, 5-2.

Larry Bowa ignited a four-run first-inning rally with a triple in the first game and singled home the winning run with two out in the 13th inning of the second game as the Phillies swept the Cardinals. Chris Short pitched a six-hitter for his eighth win in the opener and reliever Joe Horner won his ninth game in the nightcap.

The Giants whipped the Reds in a doubleheader with Juan Marichal squaring his record at 10-10 in the first game and reliever John Cumberland winning his first game in the nightcap. Willie McCovey hit a three-run homer for the Giants in the opening. Tito Fuentes infield hit and a throwing error by second baseman Darryl Chaney helped the Giants score three runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap.

Larry Howard drove in three runs with two homers and Bob Watson hit a grand slam homer for the Astros in their opener at San Diego and Joe Morgan had five hits, including a two-run double which capped a four-run rally in the fourth inning of the second game. Jack Billingham pitched a seven-hitter for his 11th triumph for the Astros in the second game.

Los Angeles' two victories over Atlanta moved the Dodgers to within 11 games of the first place Reds in the West Division but time is definitely on the side of Cincinnati. Back-to-back doubles by Wed Parker and Bill Sudakis accounted for three runs for the Dodgers in the nightcap as Alan Foster won his ninth game while Willie Crawford's two-run homer helped Don Sutton notch his 14th victory in the opener.

Texas League Goes Down To Wire, Memphis Champs

By United Press International
Say what you will about the Texas League but it doesn't let a baseball season just fade away.

Take what happened Monday night at San Antonio for example where Ron Schueler of the Shreveport Braves pitched a no-hitter on the last day of the season.

Or what happened in El Paso when two teams scored a total of 39 runs in one game and the losing team collected 26 hits.

Or in Little Rock, where the Memphis Blues backed into the Eastern Division title. The Blues by the way, return to Memphis today where they begin the defense of their Texas League title against an Albuquerque team that is rated one of the strongest in the history of the Texas League.

"I had a real good curve and there was no pressure on me to win," Schueler said after he pitched a no hitter that denied the San Antonio Missions part of the Eastern Division title.

"We were just playing and that made it a little easier."

The Braves finished with the second worst record in the Texas League winning 57 games and losing 77. They would have had the worst but the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs beat Amarillo 4-3 Monday night and the Giants finished with a 57-78 slate.

Had San Antonio won, the season would have ended with the Missions tied with the Blues for the Eastern Division lead.

The last thing on anyone's mind in El Paso was a no-hitter when Albuquerque out-slugged the El Paso San Kings 21-13 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Dodgers got their 21 runs on 24 hits while El Paso scored on 26 hits. Seven homers were hit in the game and the Dodgers scored 13 runs in the sixth inning, a season league record.

The Kings scored a run in the bottom of the final inning to win a 1-0 nightcap 7-6.

The Blues lost to Arkansas 8-2 but still won the Eastern title by one game over the Missions. The Blues have won 14 less games than the Western Division champs. But then the same thing happened last year when the Blues played the Amarillo Giants for the title and the Blues won it in straight games.

That goes to show anything can happen to a farm team of the New York Mets.

extremely well," assistant coach Jerry Tubbs said Monday. "He's doing better than he did last year and he did all right last year. He doesn't make a lot of spectacular plays but talk about consistency. He just doesn't make mistakes."

Cowboys Stay With Seasoned Linebackers, No Rookies

DALLAS (UPI)—The battle of the linebackers is over on the Dallas Cowboys and Dave Edwards, Chuck Howley and Lee Roy Jordan are winners and still champions.

The Cowboys announced Monday Edwards, Howley and Jordan will be the Cowboys' starting linebackers for the 1970 season just as they have been the starters since 1965.

Tom Stincic was touted as the man to break the trio's domination and Edwards was regarded as the weakest link. But Edwards reported to training camp in his best condition ever and now appears to be in command of the strong side linebacking spot.

Swede Lee Comments

By HARLAN HYSMITH
News Staff Writer

The Fighting Harvesters edged by the Vernon Lions 22-21 last Friday night in Harvester Stadium.

A lot of people were out, but a lot of people missed a good game with lots of action. The Green and Gold will play the Hereford Whitefaces next Friday night in Hereford.

Head coach "Swede" Lee was asked some questions about last Friday's game, the upcoming game against Hereford, and the Harvesters' chances for the rest of the season.

The following comments were made by the coach:

Question: "Were you satisfied with the way the Harvesters played against Vernon?"

Lee: "I liked the way they played in the second half. There was good player response in coming from behind and surviving the bad situation that occurred in the last few minutes."

Question: "What specific errors are you going to eliminate or improve on?"

Lee: "There were too many fumbles. We need more pass protection. The forward pass is used sparingly in our type of offense (the Wishbone-T), but when we do use it, we want it to be successful. There were some busted assignments in both the offense and the defense. And since this was only our seventh time in pads, we obviously need more conditioning."

Question: "Who would you point out as being instrumental in your victory over Vernon?"

Lee: "Both Quarterbacks Dan Hood and Dale Ammons called fine games. They did well in play selection and general execution. Johnny Clark, our fullback, did a great job of running. He also did a good job of defense, as did Hood and Clark. Linebacker Dewayne Glover did a tremendous job. He started our scoring with that pass interception."

Question: "How do you think the Harvesters will do against Hereford?"

Lee: "We haven't seen Hereford since last year. They have typically strong linemen, a good split end, and a good running back. They are a good sound team and are well conditioned. We will have, hopefully, smoothed over the rough spots that showed up against Vernon. One thing I'm sure of is the team's character and mental attitude. They really want to win."

Murphy's 17-Under, Wins Hartford, Equals Low

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—Bob Murphy is heading for the land of his Irish ancestors with his first golf win in two years and he hopes to sweeten his newly won pot of gold on the Erin Isle.

Murphy liked to call it luck and maybe there were some leprechauns in his golf bag, but a little skill would not underestimate Murphy's play that gave him a 17-under-par 267 to win the Greater Hartford Open and equalled the tour's 72-hole low this year.

His win by four strokes Monday over Paul Harney, 41, who finished with 13-under 271, gave him a pot of $20,000 and a car that his wife wants him to keep. Harney won $11,400.

Harney, a 10-year veteran from Sutton, Mass., who doesn't travel with the tour, kept Murphy from making it a runaway and came as close as three strokes in the final round.

He came closest when he birdied the 10th and 11th while Murphy bogeyed both.

The victory, his first since 1968, is sweet and timely for Murphy, who heads for Ireland to take part in the $125,000 Alcan Tournament at Dublin and try for the $55,000 first prize.

Murphy who had three successive rounds of 66 to equal the tour's 54-hole low for the year set by Homeros Blancas in Memphis, wisecracked, "It wasn't so boring today. I had a bloody 69 and a lucky week. I haven't won in two years although I finished second twice and third twice."

In third place was Dave Weiskopf, 27, of Columbus, Ohio, who fired a 67 to stand alone at 12-under 272.

Local pro Jimmy Grant, now playing out of Atlanta, had a 69 to join newcomer Steve Opperman at 11-under 273.

PGA champion Dave Stockton and veteran Doug Sanders were paired at 274, 10-under.

A total of 43 scores under par were registered on the final day for a four-day aggregate of 191. The cut at 142 was the third lowest of the tour.

Murphy donated $1,000 of his prize to the Greater Hartford Jaycees toward their "halfway" home for retarded children.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Quick now, what do the 1970 census report and the current list of best-selling books have in common?

Give up? Good. If you knew the answer, I would be deprived of this opportunity to contribute to your enlightenment.

Preliminary census figures released this week show that the U.S. population increased only 11.7 per cent during the last 10 years, as compared to an 18.5 jump during the previous decade.

In searching for the reason for the slowdown, we need look no further than the best-seller list. There we will find that three of the top 10 non-fiction leaders are "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex," the "Sensuous Woman" and "Human Sexual Inadequacy."

All three of these volumes are, in effect, instruction manuals for what is essentially an instinctive activity. And why, all of a sudden, is there such a heavy demand for information that should be intuitive?

In searching for the reason for that, we need look no further than the aforementioned census report.

When the population rate decline and the best-seller list are viewed together, the inescapable conclusion is that thousands of Americans have lost the knack of procreation and are frantically taking refresher courses to help them remember what they are supposed to do.

Considering that we have been in the midst of a population explosion for a number of years, the situation is not at this point alarming and may even be salubrious as a short-term development.

Implications Are Ominous
But when we recall what happened to the dinosaur, the long-term implications are ominous.

The dinosaur was the mightiest creature ever to appear on the face of the earth. Yet it became extinct. Why? Although paleontologists may argue the one point, a good guess is that dinosaurs simply forgot how to reproduce themselves.

And since no books on the subject were available in those days, it was curtains for the entire species.

The human race, or at least a portion thereof, appears to be taking a similar course. The trappings, rituals and ground rules associated with human procreation have grown so complex that many people become confused and hazy about the fundamentals.

Eventually, perhaps, it will all come back to us. Meanwhile, it's probably a good idea to keep one of those best-sellers under your pillow.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—NBC-TV is betting heavily on Flip Wilson's new variety series in the coming television season, and if he succeeds it will be another significant breakthrough for black entertainers.

For, while Negro performers such as Bill Cosby and Diahann Carroll scored big in non-musical video series of their own, rarely have black stars had lasting success as regular hosts of weekly variety shows. Sammy Davis and Leslie Uggams are among those who failed to make it through a season in this format.

Wilson, whose hour series begins Sept. 17, may have a much better chance because of his talent in comedy, a field that is basically secondary to singers Davis and Uggams. In addition, he has gotten tremendous exposure and experience as a guest host on the "tonight" series, where he acquitted himself very well.

Two other major variety series join NBC-TV's lineup in the new video season. One will be hosted by Don Knotts, the other by Red Skelton. And, like the Wilson hour, each will open a prime time evening every week as NBC-TV tries to hook audiences for whole nights.

Knotts, who won a fistful of Emmy Awards as a deputy sheriff on the old Andy Griffith situation comedy series, bows in with his new hour series on Sept. 15.

Skelton, who was dropped by CBS-TV after last season despite high ratings—because he supposedly wasn't appealing to the young adult audiences sponsors are aiming at—arrives on NBC-TV Sept. 14, cut to 30 minutes weekly from his former one-hour format. Vice President Agnew will introduce him on the premiere.

A fictional daughter of the president of the United States is, meanwhile, the heroine of another new NBC-TV series, "Nancy," a weekly half-hour that starts Sept. 17. Renée Jarrett stars in the title role, and Celeste Holm is featured as a White House representative who is her companion and confidante.

A unique one-hour NBC-TV series, "Four-in-One," debuts Sept. 16—unique because rather than being a single show lasting all season, it will consist of a quartet of separate series of about six episodes each. The first, "McCloud," concerns a New Mexico deputy on assignment in New York and stars Dennis Weaver in the title role.

Two other NBC-TV series, meanwhile, are getting major revamping. "The Virginian" has been retitled "The Men from Shiloh," and has Stewart Granger as a new regular star when it returns Sept. 16. And "The Bold Ones," a trilogy of dramas about men in medicine, the law and politics, has added Hal Holbrook, famous for his one-man show on Mark Twain, as a rotating star, portraying a U.S. Senator, beginning Sept. 13.

RING REALISM
WATERLOO, Iowa (UPI)—Harley Race, 27, a professional "bad guy" wrestler, had just won his match and was engaging in a few preplanned jibes with the audiences.

Joseph Widner, 31, a spectator, took exception to what was said and smashed Race in the face with the starting bell. Race retaliated with several punches and both men were taken to a local hospital for treatment of injuries.

SIGNS OF TIMES

Park Service Adds To Visitors Confusion

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hey, gang, here's good news. The National Park Service is adopting a new sign system. But before I tell you about it, let me say a few words about the old sign system. Everyone knows that half the fun of visiting a national park is getting lost. Toward that end, the park service has posted many signs to guide visitors along the roads and trails and jumping-off places. These signs, which frequently are the most interesting things in the park, were put up by two rangers. Every time they came to a place where a visitor might get lost, one ranger would blindfold the other ranger and spin him around three times. Then the blindfolded ranger would plant a sign. So much for the old system. Symbols Will Be Used Under the new system, which should add to the fun of visiting a national park, the signs will be imprinted with symbols rather than words. This will provide a new game that the whole family can play. The game is called "Guess What the Symbol Means." Suppose, for example, that you are wandering through the Waukeesha National Park trying to find the mighty Waukeesha Natural Bridge, which is the 417th wonder of the world, give or take the Waukeesha Unnatural Bridge. Suddenly, you come upon a sign bearing simply a question mark. Can you guess what that is the symbol of? If you are like the average park visitor, you probably will guess that the sign points to some strange object which the park service has been unable to identify. Actually, however, the sign will point to the place where you can get information. Such as What the other signs mean. Code Difficult to Break Although the park service says the 77 symbols in the sign code are "universally recognized," some of them are overlapping, or ambiguous. Which makes it difficult to break the code. One sign shows the silhouette of a man on skis. It obviously identifies a ski area. Another sign shows the silhouette of a man in a wheelchair. Which also could be used to identify a ski area. The main thing that concerns me, however, is the fact that 77 symbols aren't enough to provide all of the signs that a national park visitor might need. He needs at least 78. The missing symbol is an exclamation point. Signifying surprise upon finding the right place.

Rented Luxury Cars Cheaper For State

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Like some favored members of congress, most state governors are traveling the highways in luxury automobiles leased at out rates, but the real savers in their case are the taxpayers. Many states now lease, rather than buy, the official cars that their governors use, and the savings are considerable. An overwhelming number of the cars are Lincoln Continentals, leased by the Ford Motor Co., for $750 a year. A UPI survey completed Monday showed that only two governors, Republicans Russell Peterson of Delaware and Frank L. Farrar of South Dakota, lease their cars, both Lincolns, privately. Two others, Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and William T. Cahill of New Jersey, were so skittish they refused even to let the state take advantage of the Lincoln offer. Cahill acted shortly after UPI disclosed that at least 24 senators and 18 House members had accepted luxury model automobiles from manufacturers who charged only a fraction of the usual commercial leasing fee. Many of the legislators held key positions in congress. The Senate Ethics Committee ruled against the practice, instructing senators to return the cars. Asked about his private leasing of a Continental, Gov. Farrar of South Dakota said: "It costs me about $2,800 a year for the lease, gas, oil, license and other upkeep. This I pay out of my own pocket as a donation to the state. If this is wrong, I will give the car back and discontinue the donation to the state. If the public doesn't want me to pay for it, that's fine. It is certainly no break for me." The survey showed that 33 states leased cars for their governors, most of them at the $750 fee that usually takes care of maintenance, insurance and other expenses except for gas and oil. California and Massachusetts still rent Cadillac limousines for the governors at much higher rates. The rest of the states buy their own cars usually from the lowest bidder, and some officials claim it's actually cheaper than leasing.

Defense Tightens Security On Military Research Campuses

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mounting hostility toward military research, particularly on the campus, has forced Defense officials to tighten security requirements and set up special emergency plans at universities and industries across the country. Most of the actions so far have been aimed at protecting classified information held by more than 13,000 research installations from the relatively new dangers of bombing, burning, riots and other forms of civil unrest. "We are in a new era where destruction can happen with little or no notice," an official of the defense supply agency's Office of Industrial Security, charged with overseeing protection of the nation's classified material, told UPI. "We're assuming that every one of our facilities could be subjected to this kind of pressure." The gravity of the situation was underscored last week when Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird told newsmen it was time to consider whether federal research should be moved completely off the college and university campuses. Laird's views were prompted by the bombing in late August of the Army Mathematics Center at the University of Wisconsin, a facility the defense secretary got for the university in 1968 when he was a congressman. But he said the considerations should extend to all federal research plants, not just those of the Defense Department. "They can be near the universities but not necessarily on their campuses. I haven't come down on any firm conclusion on this, but I think before we go ahead with building any more facilities we ought to study the problem very carefully." STOLEN: ONE HOUSE MANILA (UPI)—Mrs. Aurora Cipriano reported to police her two-story house in nearby Pasay City was stolen at the height of last week's floods. Mrs. Cipriano, 40, a junk dealer, told police she last saw the wood frame house Aug. 27, shortly after her tenants moved out. She said the building's windows were barred and all the doors locked on both floors. Police found only a cement foundation and the iron grill which had covered one window when they investigated Sunday. Investigators said they believed the "house-nappers" started by dismantling the galvanized iron roofing and worked their way down during the storm which brought more than 34 inches of rain to Manila in five days. The house, built two months ago, was valued at $500.

Braless Bit Is A Bust

One of the women's liberation movement is the braless battalion.

All of a sudden it has been discovered that the well known undergarment is nothing more than an instrument of male chauvinism designed to turn women into sex objects and degrade them as human beings.

Presumably this nonsense is believed because brassieres improve most feminine figures, either enhancing natural assets or providing assets that nature may have neglected — and if there is one thing some of the liberationists apparently don't want, it is to look feminine. It could also be a reaction to their mothers having strapped "training bras" on them at the age of nine.

But as usual, the extremists ignore all of recorded history as irrelevant.

Though the brassiere is a technological triumph of more recent date than the automobile or the airplane, its forerunners can be traced from ancient Grecian times, when girls wore strips of cloth under their gowns for support, modesty and allure, all the way to the "bust corsets" of the turn of the century.

Ironically, when the brassiere — both the item and the name — began to come into use during World War I, it was hailed as liberating women from the rigid imprisonment of whalebone stays and metal cups. Its introduction coincided with the gathering movement for women's rights, which culminated in the voting rights amendment of 1920.

After a brief eclipse during the flat-chested Flapper days, when girls tried to look like boys, the modern "bra" came into its own in the '30s. Technological — some would add, architectural — refinements continued to be made through the '50s and '60s as new synthetic fabrics and elastics were introduced, nationwide and in recent years right here in Pampa.

This braless business is likely to turn more women off from the liberation movement than anything the feminists could come up with.

Women who need brassieres will continue to wear them for reasons of health, comfort and looks. Women who don't need them will also continue to wear them for the last of these reasons.

And if the braless bunch think that going without brassieres will cause men not to notice their gender, they might recall that two of the greatest sex symbols of our time, Jean Harlow and Marilyn Monroe, owed much of their fame to their well-advertised bralessness on the screen.

Off-screen they turned to the bra as an essential piece of feminine equipment.

And, meanwhile-business is booming out at Pampa's Marie Foundation's bra manufacturing plant.

The Fate Of Phosphate

Something interesting could be happening on the anti-pollution front.

Public opinion is being given an opportunity to express itself in the most effective terms — dollars and cents — by a move under way in some super-markets around the country to post notices informing customers of the phosphate content of detergents and other washing products on their shelves.

Phosphates, of course, are the supercleaners that mean a bright, white wash but which environment preservationists have fingered as a major culprit in water pollution.

The case made against phosphates is that while they get the dirt out of the wash, you can't get them out of the wash water. They do not break down in sewage-treatment processes. Released into water sources, they are a super-fertilizer for algae, the microscopic life that can rapidly turn a lake into a smelly pea soup.

While there still is some question as to how much of the water-pollution blame phosphates should rightly bear, since other known polluting agents are also at work, there clearly has been an increase in the algae problem coincident with the widespread use of the phosphate-rich detergents.

The situation has spurred legislative action to control or ban phosphates — 10 bills on the subject are in the congressional works — and a public education campaign oriented environment — oriented organizations, of which the super market notices are a tangible result. Specific products are neither condemned nor pushed. The customer is merely informed of phosphate content and left to choose for herself, to buy or not to buy.

It could come to nothing, as consumer crusades so frequently do. There are still those among us who can recall, some years back and several index points lower on the high cost of barely living, those sporadic boycotts of high-priced meats. Look at the price of bacon now.

And then again, a shift in buying patterns could well have a telling effect on the phosphates issue long before the legislators get around to acting on it.

Never underestimate the economic power of the housewife.

Letters To The Editor

Few newspaper traditions are older or more cherished than the letter to the editor.

And by all indications, the tradition has never been more alive and kicking than currently. Editors everywhere these days are receiving a sharply increased flow of reader mail.

In a report on the phenomenon, the Wall Street Journal notes that the New York Times' mail has nearly doubled in the past five years. The 1969 total was 37,449 letters. Although the scale may be smaller, the trend is similar on papers across the country with many, like the Times, increasing the space allotted to their writing readers.

Our strenuous times — plentiful domestic and foreign crises, civil controversy at a high pitch on a number of issues — undoubtedly largely account for it. Currently critical attitudes toward the press itself are also involved. It's frequently the editor himself that a writer wants to tell off.

But it must say something about the press as a democratic institution that at a time of supposed widespread public disenchantment with its performance, it is to the press that the public turns in greater numbers than ever to let off steam.

Plan Safer Camps Now

As summer and the camping season end, it might be well for legislators on both the federal and the state level to turn their attention to developing codes that will insure the safety of all campers when 1971's season rolls around.

Again this past year, too many youngsters were injured and some killed because precautions were not taken to prevent unnecessary accidents. It is too easy for private camps and even those operated by publicly supported funds to provide camping experiences for children under conditions that are less than desirable.

Strict licensing requirements and thorough personnel standards are every bit as essential to organized camping as cabins and campfires.

Land Bureau To Protect Rio Grande

The Rio Grande is a rugged river, nowhere more so than in its upper reaches where, despite the westward course of American empire that has overwhelmed many another wilderness outpost, it remains "least civilized, least polluted and least accessible."

And that is in the description of Boyd L. Rasmussen, director of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, is the way it is going to stay. Rasmussen recently presided at the dedication of a 48-mile stretch of the stream between the historic Indian pueblo of Taos in New Mexico and the Colorado border, as the "Rio Grande Wild River, the first such under the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act of 1968.

What it means is that this much of the 1,900-mile Rio Grande, running through a gorge up to 4,000 feet wide and 800 feet deep, is now legally off limits to man's heavy and often devastating touch as represented by dams, lumbering, mining and even extensive road building. Some trails and basic camp sites will be constructed, but only to make the gorge minimally accessible while preserving to the greatest extent possible its character — as an unspoiled wilderness.

The Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, the latest addition to the park and forests system, is another case of little and almost too late in recognizing and protecting an irreplaceable part of the national heritage. Very little of our vast river network did not bear the marks — usually detrimental — of human activity by the time Washington became aware of the danger and legislated preservation.

Forty-eight miles out of 1,900 is not much, but it is a start. Already scheduled to join the Rio Grande gorge as federally protected wild rivers are sections of the Clearwater in Idaho, Eleven Point in Missouri, Feather in California, Rogue in Oregon, St. Croix in Minnesota and Wisconsin and Wolf in Wisconsin.

And possible later inclusions are sections of the Skagit in Washington, Little Miami and Little Beaver in Ohio, Hudson in New York, Youghiogheny in Maryland and Pennsylvania, Susquehanna in New York and Pennsylvania, Capacon in West Virginia, Niobrara in Nebraska, Suwanee in Georgia and Florida and Buffalo in Tennessee.

Predictably, they claim "moral victory" in coralling 39 votes for Hatfield-McGovern. The truth is it is much easier today, when the President is pulling men out, to muster votes for a specific timetable and fund cutoff date than would have been possible two years ago.

Everyone knows the national mood has changed. It is not dovish in the sense of peace at any price, but people are sick of casualties and weary of the futility of an indecisive war.

It is Nixon, not the doves, who acted in accord with this trend. Their moves this year are an undertaking to cop a free ride on a wagon he is driving.

Their only hope for a piece of the action has been to grab at the whip and holler at him for speed. They are not convincing.

A feeling appears to persist in the nation, and seems to be reflected in the Congress, that if the war debate has resolved itself into a matter of withdrawal timetables and cutoff dates, the President is in the best position to make sound judgments.

Some senators who strongly oppose the war clearly believe Nixon should have the flexibility that goes with setting the pullout pace. Keeping Hanoi uncertain about final dates may be one faint hope of getting the Reds into serious negotiation at Paris. Dove arguments that it would work better the other way around are not persuasive.

The Hatfield-McGovern forces gained no credibility on this matter of timetables when more than once they altered the proposed cutoff date in the attempt to woo additional support.

Nor were they convincing, however sincere, when many argued it was time the Congress reasserted its clear constitutional power to involve itself in war policies.

National Mood On Vietnam War Has Undergone Change

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The defeated Hatfield-McGovern proposal to end Vietnam war funding by late 1971 or early 1972 was at heart an effort by Senate doves to regain a political initiative taken from them by President Nixon more than a year ago.

Once he undertook unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam, a step the most vigorous doves never urged even at the height of their earlier antiwar rhetoric, the ball slipped from their hands.

They have fumbled every attempt to get it back. Not this vote, nor repeal of the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin Senate resolution which presumably authorized presidential action in Vietnam, nor any shouts of "Faster, faster," seem likely to pull much credit their way.

It is hard to avoid the judgment that in all these moves they are trying to vent their long-frustrated anger over the war and to exact a kind of after-the-fact revenge against its managers in the White House and the Pentagon.

Predictably, they claim "moral victory" in coralling 39 votes for Hatfield-McGovern. The truth is it is much easier today, when the President is pulling men out, to muster votes for a specific timetable and fund cutoff date than would have been possible two years ago.

It is five long years since Lyndon Johnson sent ground combat forces in large size into Vietnam, and the lawmakers have heavily supported this venture with money every step of the way. The senator who today says, "We want to share the burden of war decision with the President" is too late to sound other than hollow — if not hypocritical.

The fact that Nixon has stolen the doves' ball does not mean he and they have the same view of the war. Almost everything he does and says indicates he wants to salvage something for the South Vietnamese if not directly for us, that has at least the aroma of victory. The doves see the fate of Vietnam as of no consequence to this country.

Polls long have shown Nixon closer than they to the U.S. mood on this score. Until he either fails or succeeds in a way unmistakable to all, dovish moves like Hatfield-McGovern will make little dent. They will look more like political frame-playing than anything else, and the appearance will not be far from reality.

Q — I have acne rosacea. What causes it and what is the best treatment?

A — Although the cause is unknown, emotional upsets, exposure to extremes of heat or cold, alcohol, spices and drinks that contain caffeine are contributing factors. A recent report indicates that a small daily dose of tetracycline, a prescription drug, by mouth will control the disease but, when the medicine is stopped, the rash returns.

Q — I am taking Pervotran. How long can one safely take it? Is it habit forming?

A — This antidepressant is not habit-forming but it should be taken under careful medical supervision. Although no time limit has been set on its safety, prolonged use is usually inadvisable.

JOHN GOLDSMITH

NEW HAVEN Conn. — As a result of Connecticut's first primary elections, 38-year-old Joseph D. Duffey, Democratic practitioner of the "new politics" is currently riding high here.

There is, however, rather widespread speculation that Duffey's ride will have its fall when the general election comes along in November.

In the Democratic senatorial primary, Duffey was the victor in a three-way race. The state Democratic Committee was ostensibly neutral, but state chairman John M. Bailey — old politician and former Democratic national chairman — backed Alphonse J. Donahue, who came in second.

Duffey is a Congressional minister from Hartford, a long-time civil rights champion, whose political career dates only from the peace crusade of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., in 1968. Duffey is currently the president of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), the party's liberal activist offshoot.

For these reasons, the Duffey campaign is being billed nationwide as an important test for the "new politics" Duffey has received endorsements, and campaign cash, from new politicians outside the state.

He has also been endorsed by a number of top Connecticut Democrats including New Haven's former mayor, Richard Lee, former Governor Chester Bowles, and most importantly, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who had the support of Duffey's fledgling organization when he ran for reelection in 1968.

PLENTY OF PARADOX — Already there has been plenty of paradox and much that is unusual in Duffey's Connecticut version of the new politics. For one thing, it has succeeded by excelling in the old and tested political ways.

In Anne Wexler of Westport, Duffey has come up with a talented political organizer who clearly did the best job of preparing for a primary under the previously untested 1955 primary statute. From the 1968 start, the organization has now reached into 109 of Connecticut's towns — the local units for politicking here.

Duffey's workers, mostly volunteers, did the doorbell-ringing and telephoning to get their voters to the polls in the recent primary while Bailey, the old pro, did little for Donahue after getting him the endorsement of the state Democratic Convention.

Despite the youthful orientation of the new politics, the Duffey campaign has made very careful and sparing use of student canvassers. After an unhappy experience after the Cambodia incursion in May, the word went out that Duffeyites would use only Connecticut students in contacting voters — an only in their own eight- and only in their own neighborhoods.

With all of this, however, it appears that the most difficult irony for Duffey and his dedicated campaign workers may be yet to come in November. The problem is that Duffey's successful insurgent campaign, which captured the senatorial nomination from the old guard, is itself threatened by a Democratic insurgency.

DODD A SPOILER? — The insurgent who threatens Duffey is Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, the Democratic incumbent, who passed up the primary to run as an independent this year. Even if he does not win, Dodd, a conservative, could take away enough Democratic votes to defeat Duffey. That would hand Dodd's Senate seat to Rep. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., victor in the Republican primary.

In the wake of the Democratic primary, Dodd's supporters (and Weicker's) are reported happy that they are to face Duffey, whom they view as the easiest Democrat to beat. There was even speculation that Dodd's supporters in some areas voted for Duffey in the Democratic primary in the hope that Duffey would be nominated.

Statistics from the primary give few clues as to what might happen in the general election. Duffey got 43 per cent of the vote in the three-man race, but that amounted only to some 79,000 votes altogether. Well over a million voters are expected to go to the polls in November, and that will dwarf the primary totals.

There are other clues, however, and they are not happy ones for Duffey. One of them appeared last week at a political clambake in nearby Cheshire for Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario, the Hartford congressman who won the Democratic nomination for governor without having to undergo a primary race.

Fall Battle With Ballots Being Planned By Students

BY PAUL HARVEY
Students, distressed about the war or whatever, disrupted campuses last year, focused some attention on their grievances — but more on themselves.

So when the tear-gas clouds were wafted away the status remained quo.

This next fall students aim to do battle with ballots and this next effort is organized.

Within days after President Nixon ordered American troops into Cambodia, angry students met in the Princeton University gym. They voted to strike to protest the escalating war. And they voted 3,800 to 200.

But at that meeting they decided to do more; to go to work within the system to elect peace candidates to Congress this next fall.

Their effort became known as the Movement for a New Congress. The rapidly with which it spread to 400 campuses holds hope that students who were becoming disillusioned about our political system now recognize that whether it works for them or against them it is up to them.

Now 28 regional centers report to Princeton headquarters that they have 20,000 students prepared to campaign and they expect to have 300,000 thus involved by October.

In Santa Clara County, California students, themselves ineligible to vote, recruited new voters; helped 1,000 register the first week.

The youth movement has its roots in opposition to the Indochina war. As that war phases out, enthusiasm may wane. But at present count the Movement has adopted 60 peace candidates for the House and six or seven for the Senate, intending to mobilize bipartisan support for these.

And since other antiwar student organizations have participated in spring primaries it is difficult to assess the effects of any or all.

And the students have no illusions about being able to student conservative constituencies. But where there were less than 15 percentage points separating the winners from the losers in 1968's elections—wherever there is a reasonable hope of affecting the outcome of an election—the Movement will concentrate its efforts.

Canvassers are urged not to be argumentative, snobbish, unkempt or too noisy.

They are urged to memorize voting records and to be prepared with proper quotes from candidates they want elected or those they want unelected.

One of the national leaders of the New Congress is Bob Durkee. He believes student political involvement hastened the retirement of President Johnson.

He believes that, beholden to no political party, the Movement for a New Congress is a proper alternative to violence and proper basic training for a generation of concerned citizens.

Right in the newspaper. Or magazine.
Men will clip you. Women will clip you. Kids, too. And if your dollar volume begins to swell, swell.

But first, you've got to set yourself up for it. Putting coupons in print media is the best way. Print lets people clip and save your message. Or file it. Or compare it. Or pass it to a friend. Or mail it back to you.

And that's not all. Print shows your product off to its very best advantage. It flashes its color. Struts its style. Displays its beauty. Shows its uses.

Print can do lots of things for you. Even get you clipped.
