EVEN their coaches were skeptical; they didn't believe it could be done, at least by the Matadors who looked so pitiful against Baylor a week ago. Nor did too many fans believe they could do it, at least by comparison of the big licking the Christians handed the Canyon Buffs a week ago.

But we're here to tell you the, did do it, and in so convincing a manner that there was no doubt as to who was superior on Matador Field last night when Captain "Bull" Durham urged and led the Tech Bullfighters to a 26 to 6 triumph over Bugs Morris' Abilene Christian college Wildcats.

When queried after the game as to their reaction Tech's coaches, Pete Cawthon and Dutchey Smith, jocular as usual but with ill-concealed pride and joy, still contended that "I told you A. C. C. had a good ball club. We almost got beat. Our boys played lousy football part of the time, but they were up against a ball club." All of which takes none of the honor away from the Matador gridsters.

Yancy Price, whose name has flashed into print many times, first as an all-state end on the Lubbock High team, then as a shining end on the Tech freshman team last year, was Tech's big offensive gun last night. Possibility Of Concerted Withdrawal Of Diplomatic Representations Considered By League Members

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Nov. 6.—Possibility of a concerted withdrawal of diplomatic representations from Tokyo as the next move in the Sino-Japanese conflict was considered by League of Nations leaders tonight in planning for the next meeting of the council in Paris Nov. 16.

In fact, the legal section of the secretariat, under orders from Secretary General Sir Eric Drummond, was studying article 15 of the league covenant to determine whether the member nations could be asked to remove their ambassadors and ministers in event Japan continues to reject measures of arbitration. This practice deals with sanction of a military and economic nature to be invoked against an aggressor nation.

Three-Fold Program

It is understood this examination also envisages the practicability of levying an economic boycott against Japan, but such action remains in the background for the present. When the council reassembles a three-fold program will lie before it, according to league authorities.

First, a supreme effort will be made to induce Japan to adopt a conciliatory attitude toward China and restore the status quo in Manchuria in accordance with the lea-

Stories Of Heroism Are Revealed As Death List Mounts In Navy Disaster

Seven Dead; Others Are Not Expected To Recover

(By The Associated Press)

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Nov. 6.—Bravery of wounded sailors who aided comrades more seriously injured was told today as the death list from a series of three accidents involving the United States naval forces along the Pacific coast mounted to seven.

Stories of heroism came from the U. S. S. Colorado, where an anti-aircraft gun exploded while the ship was 45 miles at sea yesterday engaged in an attack upon a mythical enemy of the air. Four men, an officer and three enlisted sailors, were killed as broken steel, hurled like shrapnel, raked the decks. Another sailor died today and a sixth was on the verge of death.

Twenty-Two Hurt

A recheck of the list of injured, originally placed at ten, disclosed that twenty-two were hurt.

The twelve additional injured were sailors who had disregarded their wounds in the hours following the explosions and had worked side by side with those who escaped unscratched to help the seriously hurt and dying.

Not until they had given all possible assistance did they seek treatment.

Bravery Is Revealed

"One officer, Ensign George F. Kosko, former football star at the naval academy and a resident of Long Beach, Cal., aided fallen comrades while he himself suffered from a piece of metal driven into his thigh.

Another, Claude A. Coulter, seaman first class, of Jefferson City Mo., worked with the injured while his elbow joints were splintered with metal. Seaman Chancey Stover of Lansing Mich., with back injuries, and Herbert E. Lutz of San Diego, suffering four leg cuts, joined in the rescue work before seeking assistance.

Sixth Is Added

To the five dead on the Colorado a sixth fatality was added with the death of Chief Petty Officer J. J. Plummer, who died today from a crushed back and chest, received

He Had Reasons In Seeking Aid

(By Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6.—Harry Ploszy, 20, had reasons for looking up state aid officials. He is trying to aid a widowed mother, but he couldn't get a job without shoes. And he couldn't get shoes because his feet are really big. His shoe size is 18 1-2 D.

State aid authorities could find none in stores, and appealed to Frank Weyenberg, shoe manufacturer, to make a special pair. He did, and the cost of leather, labor and special last totaled $85.50. When he learned the circumstances he reduced the price $20, and Harry is now hustling a six-pound pair of shoes around town looking for a job.

Barrett Given Life Sentence After Slaying

Castro County Farmer Calmly Receives Verdict Stating He Will Not Appeal; Killed Young Daughter-In-Law

(By The Associated Press)

DIMMITT, Nov. 6. — A Castro county jury who yesterday heard Frank Barrett, farmer, plead guilty to the slaying of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nona Barrett, today recommended a sentence of 99 years in the penitentiary as his punishment.

Barrett heard the verdict and then calmly announced that he would accept the sentence without appeal. Sentence was passed immediately. State's attorneys had asked for the death penalty.

Shortest In History

The murder trial was the shortest ever held in Castro county. Selection of a jury began Thursday morning, and the case was given to the jury the same night. Barrett used only four witnesses to testify to his "peculiar mental spells." He offered no other defense.

Barrett, who is 42 years old and the father of a large family, went to the home of his daughter-in-law in the Big Square community on the morning of June 8 and shot her down in the presence of her baby daughter. He then took the baby to his own home and led friends back to the scene of the shooting. He escaped when a neighbor notified the sheriff's office, but was arrested the following night and confessed. He was held in jail at Hereford until a week ago, when he was transferred to Dimmitt for arraignment.

Finance Plans Of Scouts Are To Be Changed

New Program Is Adopted Here Friday At Council Session; Each Member City To Hold Its Own Campaign

As an emergency measure for the ensuing year only, a new finance plan for the South Plains Boy Scout area was adopted Friday night by the executive board in meeting at the city hall.

Each town will be responsible for its own finance campaign and its participation in the area work will be determined by the amount of money it raises, according to the new arrangement. Each town desiring the service of the central scout office here will be required to pay $25 per troop. This sum will be used to cover postage, office supplies, certificates and records.

To Limit Trips

The plan permits the various towns to determine the number of trips the scout executive will make during the year in the communities. Each trip will be paid for at the rate of six cents per mile plus $5 a day.

The $25 per troop is to be paid when the campaign is put on in the town and the trip payments when the scout executive reaches the town on each trip. It was the board's recommendation that each town conduct its own campaign and handle all collections.

The group also discussed selection of a community of five or six, a sub-division of the executive organization, to handle details of the council work between council meet-

Completion Of Extension From Amarillo North By Santa Fe Indicated By Application To State Land Board

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Nov. 6. — Indications that the Santa Fe railroad is preparing to complete the extension it has been building north from Amarillo, Texas were seen in an application filed with the state land board today for rights of way in Bent county, Colo.

Though the Dodge City and Cimarron Valley Railway company, a subsidiary, the Santa Fe asked for rights of way across certain school lands south of Las Animas, Colo.

Completion of the Amarillo branch has been delayed by a controversy over whether the line should run through Springfield, or Prittchett, Colo. The applications filed today do not indicate which route will be used.

Capone was taken to the union station in a patrol wagon with other prisoners from the county jail in custody of Deputy Marshal James O'Neill. Only a crowd of the curious was on hand.

Another Republican Considered Unlikely From Texas; Rules Call For Special Election Within 30 Days

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 6. — Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin, the only Republican representative in congress from Texas, died unexpectedly in a hospital here today of complications which set in after an operation for appendicitis.

His passing suddenly weakened Republican ranks in congress and strengthened the probability that the house will be organized by Democrats in December and that Rep. John N. Garner of Uvalde, another Texan, will become the speaker. The house standing became: Democrats 217; Republicans 214; Farmer-Labor 1; Vacancies 3.

Strong Following

So strong was Wurzbach's personal following that Republicans today were without a suggestion of a single outstanding candidate who would be able to win the same support, making it doubtful another Republican could oppose successfully some well-known Democrats likely to aspire to the vacant seat.

Wurzbach was 57 years old. He had served in congress from the fourteenth Texas district since 1921 and last November won his hardest-fought triumph at the polls.

He was the central figure of many spectacular political battles, not only with Democratic opponents but with members of his own party as well. Despite opposition from R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman, and other party leaders in Texas, Wurzbach repeatedly was the only Republican able to win a congressional office in

Seed Taken From Lung Of Patient

A cotton seed was removed from the left lung of 14-month-old Martha June Dilton Friday afternoon and the little girl is breathing with that lung for the first time since early Thursday.

The seed, lodged in the tube leading to the left lung, cut off all air to or from that member, the attending physician said. Condition of the child, being treated at the Lubbock sanitarium, was reported to be fair. She is expected to recover unless complications result, her physician reported Friday night.

The child was brought here Friday afternoon from Enoch, her home, by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Dilton. The parents said the girl sucked something into her lung Thursday morning. They did not know until Friday what the foreign object was. The seed was removed with a bronthoscope. The attending physician said the lodging of the seed in the left side of the lung was unusual, as the right side opening is the larger.

New Council Officers To Be Named At Meeting Saturday

New officers of the Lubbock county home demonstration council will be named at a meeting of the council Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the courthouse. The session will be held in the district courtroom on the second floor.

Present officers are Mrs. R. L. Stewart, New Hope club, chairman; Mrs. V. L. Cade, Union club, vice-chairman; Mrs. E. L. Slater, Union, secretary. There are eleven home demonstration clubs in the county and each club is entitled to send three representatives. Other workers and communities in which there are no clubs are invited to attend, the home demonstration agent, Miss Ruth Stockton, said.

No Arrests Are Made After Start Of Slot Machine War

No arrests had been made and no complaints filed in the city's most recent move against slot machines and punch boards, Chief John Lemond said Friday night.

Negro Spirited Away As Mob Gathers Following Attack On Texas Woman; Threatens Life

(By The Associated Press)

DANGERFIELD, Texas, Nov. 6 — Barney Lee Ross, 23-year old negro ex-convict, was whisked to safety before a rapidly forming mob today a few hours after a 45-year-old white woman was criminally attacked at her home four miles west of Dangerfield.

The woman went to the Morris county jail where the negro was held and identified him as her assailant.

Officers rushed the prisoner to an unnamed jail.

Condition Serious

The incensed citizens dispersed immediately after word was sent to them that deputy sheriffs had spirited the negro away.

The woman was believed to be in a serious condition from shock and bruises caused by the negro's fists as he beat her before fleeing in a dilapidated automobile.

He was captured by three Cason men, John Tidwell, Jim Montgomery and Louis Bassett, about two miles north of Cason only a few minutes after the alarm was spread throughout the small community. He offered no resistance.

Simultaneously with his incarceration in the Dangerfield jail groups of farm folk and townspeople began arriving. About 200 men gathered in the court house yard.

The woman was attacked shortly before noon as she sat alone eating lunch. The negro formerly worked for her husband.

Her husband and brother were

Democratic Arkansas Senator Dies Suddenly Late Friday In Hospital; Wife Returns At Call Of Nurse

Lived With Philosophy That "Everything Comes To Him Who Waits And Fights;" Was Fiery Orator

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 6 — Fighting Thaddeus H. Caraway, 60, United States senator and Democrat of the first rank, died unexpectedly tonight in a hospital here. Death was caused by closing of arteries which feed the muscles of the heart.

The senator underwent an operation October 29, and his recovery appeared certain. At no time was his physician alarmed at his condition.

Laughter and happy conversation with his wife preceded by only a few minutes his sudden complaint of "terrible pains." Mrs. Caraway stepped from the room for a moment and returned on the call of the nurse to find her husband asleep in death.

Senator Caraway was born October 17, 1871, and his three score years were filled with his philosophy that "everything comes to him who waits—and fights." He had often spoken of his parents and other close relatives who had died before they felt the sting of old age. He only recently told Senator W. J. Harris of Georgia that "I believe I will not live much longer."

The farmer had no better friend in congress than "fighting Thad." He was raised on a farm and had

Famous Screen Star And Wealthy Irish Sportsman Married August 16 By New York Mayor; May Face Charge

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6. — Whereabouts of Gloria Swanson, an acknowledged "queen" of Hollywood still was undisclosed tonight, while the movie colony avidly speculated as to whether she might be open to bigamy charges for marrying Michael Farmer, Irish sportsman, in New York Aug. 16.

Her divorce from the Marquis Henry De La Falaise is not due to become final until tomorrow.

The actress and Farmer were traced to various places in California today but could not be located.

District Attorney Buron Fitts expressed opinion tonight any action against Miss Swanson for "jumping" her interlocutory divorce decree would be up to authorities in New York where she was married, and not those of California.

Three superior court judges, however, said marriage of a person whose interlocutory decree was not become final is defined as a bigamist under California law.

Shoe Stylists Predict For Winter

NEW YORK (AP)—Color in women's shoes has emerged as a leading note for Palm Beach and spring, both for sports and street wear.

There'll be a brighter note in footwear in the parade of fashionables at the various resorts.

At least this was the prophecy of a recent New York conference of shoe and leather men.

As they forecast it, the well dressed woman will make her selection from a varied assortment of colored kid shoes.

They will include Indies and swagger brown, admiralty blue, sea sand—which is a pale, pinkish beige—solid color shoes with trim to match costume accessories, and, for late spring, white with trim in sun colors.

These sun colors will include cabana green, hi-li red, orange glow, sun rust, topic yellow and biscay blue. Black will lead for universal wear.

Kid's predicted dominance will continue to hold it in the spotlight. Light weight calf and patent leather follow in order of preference indicated at the conference.

For evening wear sandals are expected to hold a place of importance, and they will be seen in a variety of hues, if the colorful predictions are realized.

Prominent among these will be white with color combinations, and sun colors alone or with white.

New features of the afternoon sandals will be the new spike Cuban heel and the rounded toe.

White kid opera pumps trimmed with yellow are worn here with a yellow cotton pique costume.

Camp Fire Grounds Will Attend Hike

Camp Fire Girls in the city are to attend an annual gypsy hike beginning at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The parade is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

Each girl is to be in gypsy costume and is to bring a musical instrument if she has one. Games and other entertainment is planned for the afternoon at the park.

Critics marvel at aroma and flavor of Hills Bros Coffee

Matchless flavor produced by Controlled Roasting—Hills Bros' patented, continuous process

Rare blend is roasted evenly, continuously, a little at a time

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . .

a little at a time

. . . so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time.

Critical people everywhere, who have tried Hills Bros. Coffee, buy it again and again. For no other coffee is more dependable! Today, next month, next year . . . Hills Bros. Coffee tastes the same . . . mellow, smooth, refreshing!

Controlled Roasting does it! Instead of roasting in bulk, Hills Bros. roast a little at a time . . . evenly, continuously, by Controlled Roasting. This patented, automatic process doesn't permit any underdone or overdone berries to pass from the roasters, to the grinders, to the vacuum cans—to you!

Remember, Hills Bros.' cans are vacuum packed. That is important to you! Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out and kept out of these cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. comes to you in its full flavor, always!

Words could never describe the delight you will find in Hills Bros. Coffee. You have to sip a fragrant, steaming cupful. Then, and then only, will you know what an improvement Controlled Roasting is over ordinary, bulk methods! Order Hills Bros. Coffee by name. Look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

Lamesa Tornadoes And Post To Battle For Championship

LAMESA, Nov. 6. (Special)—Lamesa Golden Tornadoes will meet Post Antelopes here Armistice day, Wednesday afternoon, next week, for the championship of the southern half of District Two, Class B. The game promises to be of sectional-wide interest, and to attract a large attendance.

The Antelopes have won the championship of their section while the Tornadoes, having defeated Brownfield in their last tilt, won the southwestern division of District Two. Local high school officials predict an evenly matched contest, and one that will be hard to win by either team. However, the locals are in splendid condition, Coach McCollum asserts.

Old Rivals To Clash On Tech Gridiron At 3

Westerners Expect Courageous Opposition By Bobcats When Teams Meet In Non-Conference Battle Today

Old rivals meet on the Texas Tech gridiron this afternoon when the Lubbock High Westerners and Childress High school Bobcats fill a protested contract. The game is to start at 3 o'clock.

While the Westerners are conceded a victory today, they expect a tough battle on the part of the visitors and practice for the last few days has been directed principally to the game. Childress is a Class A club of District 2 now, until this year a member of District 1 and an annaul opponent of Lubbock in the district race.

After all is said and done, the Westerners and Westerner fans welcome the coming of the Childress team. At first it was with some hesitation and prospects of possible grief that the game was announced but a hard game now may be the very thing for the Westerners, victors over Pampa last week in what many consider the most important game in the district.

The following comes from the Childress Daily Index:

"The majority of the footfall fans of Childress are still skeptical about the game with Lubbock Saturday—skeptical about the score, for a Lubbock victory is practically conceded by all who know football, but the fans here are still scratching their heads, wondering how and why. Following their sensational victory over the Pampa Harvesters last Saturday, the Westerners became the favorites of West Texas, and in fact the heavy favorites to win the Texas schoolboy football champion unless the Golden Sandstorm trouble them Thanksgiving. There seems to be more talk concerning the game Thanksgiving between Lubbock and Amarillo than the game Saturday between the mighty Westerners and the Bobcats.

"Last year the Lubbock Westerners came to Childress and defeated the Bobcats, 20 to 0, only after the Felines had almost drowned them in the mud and water that was present on the gridiron that day. It is an established fact that the Westerners do not have any love for the Bobcats, but nevertheless they will have the opportunity of showing their affection for the Felines Saturday.

"Coach Ballard's Bobcats have been working hard all week getting in shape for the encounter, though valuable experience is about all they hope to derive from the game. It is true that the Bobcats are suffering from an inferiorty complex, but just the same they will go into the game with their eyes open, their heads up and the determination to play the best game they have played thus far this season.

"That same clicking quarter composed of Thurman Carter at quarter Leo Howard and Bernie Davis at halfbacks and Leo Smith at fullback will face the trio composed of Scoggin, Barnett, and Britton who showed so brilliantly against the Harvesters. In the line will be Marshbanks at center facing that great linesman, Bob Crawford, reputed to be one of the best centers in the state but who will have to contend with Electra's great pivot man before being awarded such a title. It was Crawford who smeared the Pampa plays and was the star on defense.

"Marvin Tucker will start at left tackle, while the other positions will be divided among Francis Sport, George Wright, Jim Neathery, Bert Hargrave, Felton King, Delbert Newberry and Raymond Overby."

Southwest Texas Teachers Win Over McMurry Indians

SAN MARCOS, Nov. 6. (AP)—The Southwest Texas Teachers college defeated McMurray college of Abilene 18-0 in a non-conference football game today.

Ward, Bobcat end, scored the first touchdown after a fumble gave San Marcos the ball on the Indian's 25-yard line. He went over the line standing up on an end around play.

The Indians opened a passing attack on the second and drove to San Marcos' 25-yard line but lacked the punch to score.

Ward scored again in the second quarter on a pass from Pyland.

In the third period Sanders took Smith's punt on his own 35-yard line, circled to the right and then reversed the field, to score San Marcos' third touchdown.

T. C. U. Horned Frogs Hope To Pluck Feathers Off Owls

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6. (AP)—The Horned Frogs, driving toward a goal attempted only once before, will attempt to lighten their task with feathers of Rice Institute's Owls on the T. C. U. gridiron Saturday afternoon. If enough of the Owls pin feathers are taken — in ten yard helpings—the Frogs will be one game nearer their second Southwest conference football championship.

If the Owls fail to yield their down to the Frog pluckers, the Christians still retain a chance of resting on the championship bedding by winning their remaining games. And it'll throw the Rice Owls back into the middle of the fight which is being fought with anything but down pillows.

Four Of Undefeated Contenders For National Grid Honors To Play Today

Notre Dame Favored To Win Game With Pennsylvania

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—At least four of the remaining undefeated contenders for national college football honors—Notre Dame, Harvard, Georgia and Northwestern—tackle the first November hurdles tomorrow.

All four are favorites to continue their unbeaten gallops. Notre Dame's resources appear adequate to repulse Pennsylvania, one of the few remaining eastern teams with a clean slate. Harvard likewise appears too strong for Dartmouth. Northwestern has the edge on Minnesota. Georgia has come a long way from home to find cold weather as well as New York University's aroused team ready to make it difficult for the southerners.

Expect Big Crowds

More than 200,000 spectators will witness these four spotlight engagements in the east and mid-west. The day's biggest turnout, figured around 100,000, is expected to see Pop Warner turn his unbeaten Stanford eleven loose against Southern California in quest of revenge for a 1930 shellacking on the huge Olympic stadium at Los Angeles.

Sectionally, the two big climax games are Northwestern-Minnesota and Stanford-Southern California. Conference championships may be decided by the outcome of each.

Intersectionally, the Georgia-New York and Notre Dame-Pennsylvania games share major interest with Navy-Ohio State at Columbus, Fordham-Detroit at New York, Louisiana State-Army at West Point and Marquette-Washington and Jefferson at Milwaukee.

Georgia and Notre Dame, each ambitious to achieve national recognition again, are playing two of the toughest schedules in the country. Georgia has unbeaten Tulane as well as Southern California to play later this month. Notre Dame also meets Southern California between tilts with the Navy and Army. There will be a good basis for comparison between the southern Bulldogs and the fighting Irish, if both keep up their sensational pace.

Tulane Faces Auburn

Tulane must dispose of Auburn tomorrow to keep abreast of Georgia and Tennessee in the southern conference race and Auburn is no setup this year.

Southern Methodist, another undefeated outfit with national title aspirations, is favored to beat Texas A. and M. Texas Christian, by hurdling Rice, can keep pace with S. M. U. in the Southwest Conference tussle.

Utah, perennial Rock Mountain Conference champion, figures to have no trouble bowling along toward another title at the expense of Colorado college.

The Kansas Aggies, in the Big Six group, are favored to beat Iowa State while Nebraska steps into the Big Ten to tackle Iowa.

Harvard has the stiffest assignment in the race for eastern sectional honors, playing Dartmouth.

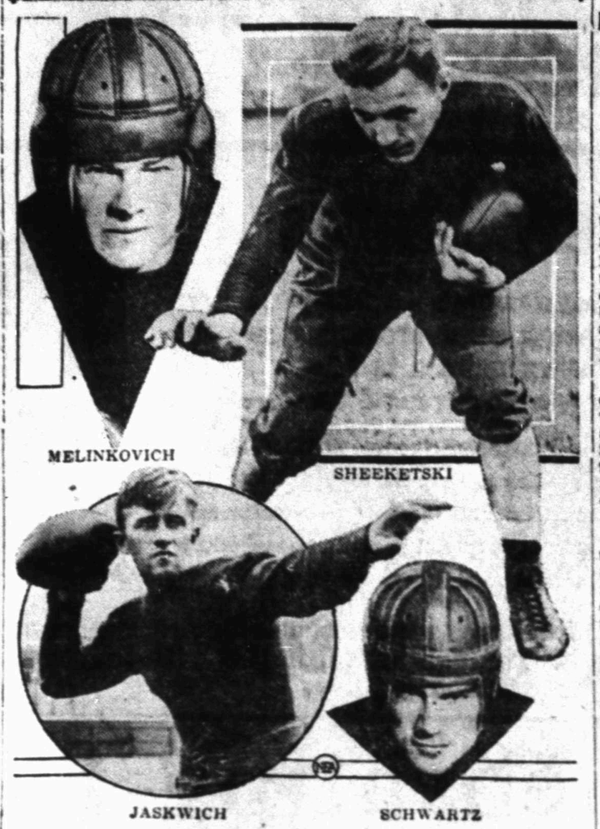

Tech Picadors Do Not Play Wayland

Contrary to previous announcement, the Texas Tech freshmen will not play the Wayland college Jackrabbits at Plainview today. The game has been called off as a result of mutual agreement between Coach Del Morgan of the Tech team and Coach Frank Kimbrough of Wayland.

Due to various and sundry complications, among the most important of which is the injury suffered by Eldon "Lefty" Mitchell, co-captain and backfield ace of the Jackrabbit team, which keeps him in a Roswell hospital recovering from a fractured skull, it was decided to cancel the game at this time. The teams may arrange a game later on. Mitchell was hurt in the Wayland-N. M. M. I. game at Roswell last Saturday. Several other members of the team were more or less seriously injured.

In a telephone conversation yesterday, Kimbrough said the condition of Mitchell was slowly improving and it was thought his recovery was a certainty. At first the 'Rabbit star was given little, if any, chance to recover.

Pennsylvania At Notre Dame

Slaton Second String Wins 12 To 0 Over Tahoka High

The Slaton second string defeated Tahoka's first team 12 to 0 at Tahoka Friday afternoon. Stewart Mahle, Slaton fullback, went across for touchdowns, one in the second quarter and the other in the second period. Robert Gear's try for points were wide.

Slaton marked up eight first downs to six by Tahoka. Of 21 attempted passes, Tahoka completed only three, as compared with five attempts and two completions by Slaton.

Longhorns Down Aggies In Cross Country Meet Friday

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 6. (AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns defeated the Texas Aggies 25-32 in a cross country meet this afternoon.

Hector Fuentes, Aggie sophomore, ran the 3.8 miles course in 19.23 to finish first but the Longhorns captured five of the first eight places.

Mustangs Slight Favorites; Rice Must Beat T. C. U. To Stay In Running; Baylor Clashes With Longhorns

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 6.—Unless they can conquer Southern Methodist Mustangs and Texas Christian Frogs, respectively, the Texas Aggies and Rice Owls tomorrow will fade from the 1931 Southwest Conference championship race. And unless they beat back the predictions of critics and wallop the University of Texas Longhorns, the Baylor Bears also will be listed in the also ran class.

This is the Southwest Conference outlook tomorrow when three games will be played. Southern Methodist and Texas Christian boast unblemished conference records. Texas A. and M., Rice and Baylor are tied for second place with one conference victory and defeat each.

Mustangs Are Favored

Coach Ray Morrison and his Mustangs embarked tonight for College Station to battle the Aggies in their fourteenth annual game. Undefeated and untied this season, the Mustangs are slight favorites, but beating the Aggies at Kyle Field is a difficult task. The Mustangs will have the advantage of experience and weight to go with a powerful running and passing offense. To balance against the Mustangs, the Aggies will depend on sheer fight and speed from such backfield stars as Domingue, Graves, Davis and Spencer, four boys who have speed and enough power to worry the Southern Methodist linemen. A. and M. spent this week preparing types of defense to meet any offense Southern Methodist tries. Weldon Mason, ace ball lugger in the Mustangs backfield, will get a lot of attention from the Aggies.

The Rice Owls, who defeated the University of Texas but lost to Southern Methodist, are at Fort Worth to entertain Texas Christian with a lot of deception worked from a Notre Dame offense. While the Texas Christian varsity has been drilled to the limit this week on a defense to stop the Notre Dame shift, the Frogs fear trouble and will probably get it when Jack Frye, Richard Jamerson and Tim Driscoll, hard driving Rice Owls, swing into action.

Boswell Out of Lineup

Ben Boswell, giant all-Southwest Conference tackle last year, will not be in Texas Christian's lineup tomorrow. He is out with an injured knee. Boswell's absence may mean the difference in the ball game. Foster Howell, 192 pound tackle, who has been out for several weeks because of injuries, is a probable starter against Rice. Madison Pruitt, end and signal barker for Texas Christian, is expected to make his supreme bid for an all-conference position in tomorrow's game.

Hoover Sends His Respects

President Wishes For Canal Association Early Completion Of Work; Reports Are Made At Session

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 6. (AP)—A telegram from President Hoover felicitating the Intracoastal Canal Association of Louisiana and Texas was read today at the opening session of the twenty-seventh annual convention of the organization.

The telegram, addressed to Roy Miller of Corpus Christi, active president of the association, read:

"Please present my cordial greetings to the citizens of Louisiana and Texas attending the annual convention of the Intracoastal Canal association celebrating the early completion of the waterway from the Mississippi to Corpus Christi. The ultimate extension of this waterway to the Rio Grande and the Mexican border would bring important benefits to the southwest. I trust that your convention may give impetus to the development of inland waterways and a coordinated system of transportation."

Miller, reading the president's message, referred to him as the "outstanding waterways leader of America," and said adoption of the present national waterways system was due more to Mr. Hoover than any other man.

Miller previously had delivered his annual report, in which he predicted that the intracoastal canal from the Mississippi river near New Orleans would be completed to the Sabine district in less than 18 months, to the Houston-Galveston district within two years, and to Corpus Christi within three years. He said it ultimately would reach the Rio Grande.

C. S. E. Holland of Houston, who called the little meeting at Victoria in 1905, which began the intracoastal canal movement with its motto "From Mississippi to the Rio Grande," in annual address also touched on railroads.

He said he "sympathized with some of my good friends connected with railroads on account of the loss of tonnage and revenue caused largely by truck competition on the highways for which railroads have paid their proportion of taxes, and believed some protection should be given railroads because they are taxed for construction of highways used by trucks in competition at rates that probably cannot be met by the railroads."

Over 200 delegates attended the meeting.

National Defense Program Defended

HOUSTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Daughters of the American Revolution today had come to the defense of state and national defense programs and organizations.

Prior to adjourning their thirty-second annual convention here yesterday, members, by resolutions, recommended retention of the Texas border patrol; that the army and navy be kept up to standard and that no national defense projects be allowed to fall below the provisions of the 1922 national defense act.

They likewise urged that transportation of revolutionary firearms on Texas highways be prohibited and an investigation be made of school books attacking national heroes.

Delegates planned to motor to Huntsville today to present a program in the Sam Houston State Teachers college auditorium as a final feature of the 1931 meeting.

HEARING IS SET

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Final hearing on the application of the Abilene and Southern railroad for extension from Ballinger to San Angelo will be argued before the full membership of the interstate commerce commission Dec. 17, according to information wired here from Washington today. Decision of the commission is expected by February of next year.

MUSICIANS MEET

SHERMAN, Nov. 6. (AP)—Musicians from 14 North Texas counties convened here today for the seventh annual district meeting of the Texas Federation of Music clubs.

e entered into the synagogue.

How hopeful was Paul, never despairing of his own people, always expecting them to receive the good news of their Messiah, in spite of their repeated rejection of him at Antioch of Pisidia and the nearby cities, at Thessalonica and at Corinth. "Reasoning and persuading, as to the things concerning the kingdom of God." "We pause for a moment to think of the amount of work of all kinds implied in this short record. The daily labor as a tentmaker went on as before (Acts 20:34). The Sabbaths saw him evening and morning in the synagogue preaching, as he had done elsewhere, that Jesus was the Christ, and setting forth the nature of his work and the laws of his kingdom."—Dean E. B. Plumptre.

SPEAKING EVIL OF THE WAY

"The Way" was the common name for Christianity, being derived from our Lord's saying that he was "the way, the truth and the life." They blasphemed Christ and repeated base charges against his people, seeking to prevent other Jews from becoming Christians. "He departed from them, and separated the disciples." Paul no longer taught in the synagogue, and his converts also withdrew from it, since connection with it no longer brought good results. "He hired the school of Tyrannus, v. 9—some heathen sophist of that not very uncommon name. This new place of worship gave him the advantage of being able to meet the brethren daily, whereas in the synagogue this was only possible three times a week."—F. W. Farrar.

"And this continued for the space of two years." Counting from the time when Paul withdrew from the synagogue; Paul's whole stay in Ephesus lasted for three years (Acts 20:31)—his longest stay in any one city. "So that all they that dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord." By Asia is meant the western part of Asia Minor, from which the entire vast continent took its name in later centuries. Doubtless Paul took journeys here and there away from Ephesus, founding many churches.

PAUL'S MIRACLES, v. 11

"And God wrought special miracles by the hands of Paul." Five years before, in Philippi, Paul had cured the slave girl who was possessed by an evil spirit, but we have no record of any other miracle until now. These miracles at Ephesus were special, extraordinary.

"Inasmuch that unto the sick were carried away from his body handkerchiefs or aprons." "Handkerchiefs" is the Latin word soaria, articles which, on account of the heat and the dust, are constantly in the hands of the Orientals. It is possible that these handkerchiefs and aprons were brought to Paul that he might touch them, by those who desired to be cured. "And the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out." Paul in that city of false magic, was given genuine powers to prove the superiority of his religion. His garments received such efficacy as Christ's possessed when by touching them the woman with an issue of blood was instantly healed. Our Lord, before his ascension, had promised such powers to his disciples (Mark 16: 17, 18).

"STROLLING JEWS, EXORCISTS,' v. 13-16

"But certain also of the strolling Jews, exorcists" These Jews, wandering from place to place, pretended to cure diseases by solemnly pronouncing over the sufferers magical words or longer charms. They were of the same class as Simon, the sorcerer of Sammaria; see Acts 8: 9-24. Klymas in Cyprus was another Jewish sorcerer (Acts 13: 6-12).

"And there were seven sons of one Scova, a Jew, a chief priest, who did this." v. 14. Scova may have been at some time the head of one of the courses of priests at Jerusalem.

"And the evil spirit answered and said unto them, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are ye?"

"And the man in whom the evil spirit was leaped on them, and prevailed against them, so that they fell out of that house naked and wounded." The demon tore their clothing from them and beat them, driving them from the house. "They undertook to use the same sacred invocation as Paul, but it proved, like the censers of Korah, Dathan and Abiram, a strange fire kindled against their own souls."—Num. 16: 1-35.

THE BONFIRE OF BAD BOOKS, v. 17-20

"And fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified." The event showed the pre-eminence of the Lord Jesus, that he was really what he claimed to be, the Son of the Most High God.

"Many also of them that had believed." They had "joined the church," making a public confession of Christ, but evidently their faith was imperfect, they had not been "soundly converted." "Came, confessing, and declaring their deeds." Some of them, doubtless, had continued to use magic, and were terrified by the punishment which had fallen on the sons of Sceva.

"And not a few of them that practiced magical arts, brought their books together and burned them in the sight of all." The books which contained their mysteries, formulas of incantation, nostrums and the like. "And they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver." "Greek drachmas. Roman denarii, worth from fifteen to seventeen cents each, or a total of about $8,000 equal in purchasing value today to about $100,000. The books were rare and were regarded by the superstitious as exceedingly precious.

"So mightily grew the word of the Lord and prevailed." "Grew" is the Greek imperfect tense, denoting a continuous process. The power of the gospel over human hearts kept on increasing, more and more overcoming the many evils in that city.

a CUPFUL for the ENTIRE WASH

Use an economical soap for washday as well as for every other household use—White King Granulated. White King is in tune with these modern days when housewives are seeking the product which gives them the greatest value for their money.

The White King Package contains only condensed, pure soap. Bigger value than any package soap you ever used. When it is made, all the moisture and air which accounts so much for the bulk of ordinary soap, is removed. White King packs in the carton like sugar, and every grain yields a full measure of soap value.

Pure vegetable and nut oils go into the making of your White King Granulated Soap. Quick suds in the cool or lukewarm water best for hands and fabric alike are the result of the use of these fine oils. Clothes wear longer, colors stay brighter, and wash-day time is shortened when White King is used.

You'll save money because no bleach or bluing is necessary, and you'll save on the soap bill, too, when you use White King Granulated—the condensed soap that gives greater value.

Subscriptions To Operating Capital Of Credit Pool Now Asked; Three Chairmen Are Named By Adams

DALLAS, Nov. 6. (AP)—Active solicitation of subscriptions to the operating capital of the $500,000,000 National Credit corporation, organized at the suggestion of President Hoover, was in progress today in the eleventh federal reserve district.

Nathan Adams, president of the First National bank in Dallas and director of the corporation for the eleventh federal reserve district, called together a few leading bankers yesterday and divided the district into four sections to expedite the work of organization member association in the corporation.

Bankers attending gave assurance they would subscribe their part of the rest of this section's quota. Dallas banks already have subscribed $2,000,000, leaving between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 for the other banks. Adams previously had indicated a goal of $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 for the district.

Three sectional chairmen named by Adams to actively enlist bank subscriptions and organize member associations were: W. E. Connell of Fort Worth, West Texas; Sam R. Lawder, of Houston, South Texas; and J. H. Frost of San Antonio, Southwest Texas.

The corporation was organized for the purpose of aiding banks by putting "slow assets" into more liquid form.

New Gang War Outbreak In Suburban Cicero Reported

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—A new gang war for control of suburban Cicero was seen by police today in the slaying of Salvatore Loverde.

Loverde was found wounded fatally in a club in Cicero yesterday. He had been shot three times. Police said they believed he was a member of the Capone gang and added they attacked considerable significance to the fact Loverde was slain on the same day Ralph Capone joined his younger brother, Al in the county jail as an income tax dodger.

Federal Judge Says He Would Kick Prohibition Agents Off His Place

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP)—Federal Judge William Clark, who a few months ago ruled the eighteenth amendment was unconstitutional, has now announced from the bench that if any prohibition agents went on his property he would "kick them off so fast you couldn't see them for dust."

William Harris, counsel for George Paglie, appeared before Judge Clark yesterday to have a search warrant quashed. Harris said the warrant to search Paglie's property was illegal but he was afraid to tackle the agents.

"I know what I'd do if prohibition agents came on my property," Judge Clark remarked. "I'd kick them off so fast you couldn't see them for dust. And if I needed any help, I'd call in the chief of police of Princeton, where I live, and he would help me kick them off."

After examining the warrant, Judge Clark criticized it as being "as carelessly drawn as are many search warrants presented by the prohibition department."

"Go to the police and have the agents kicked off," he told Harris and directed him to have his client in court tomorrow to thresh the whole matter out.

Court Debate Costs County Total Of $246

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Two packages of ciragettes, J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert estimated today, cost the county $246.

He stood with a stopwatch in his hand yesterday while the county board of commissioners debated the question of whether they should pay 30 cents for the two packages, the cost of which was listed on a bill for meals for a jury.

Mrs. Glenn Plumb, one of the commissioners, protested, contending cigarettes are not lunch.

The debate which followed lasted 15 minutes in the end the commisisoners decided they could not be expected to furnish smokes for jurors.

"I've been doing some figuring," Jacobs said. "At the rate you commissioners and the Stenographers and other employes are paid, it cost the county $246.

"And that doesn't count the cost of heating this room."

Why Not Try These Amazing Mountain Coffees, In Which Nature Herself Leaves Out Rank Noxious Oils

DRINK all the coffee you like, doctors now tell us. For within reason, coffee—real coffee—is not only good, but good for you.

There's only one thing to fear in coffee. The so-called "ills" of coffee, such as indigestion and nervousness, they now tell us actually come from rank, noxious oils that abound in cheap, doubtful coffee.

So let your taste be your guide. The finest, richest, and most invigorating coffee is probably safest from distressing after effect. That is why thousands are changing to Folger's.

From Central America

Folger's is not just another "brand" of coffee. It's a different kind. It is made from Central American coffee—high grown, in which nature herself leaves out the rank, offensive oils. Furthermore, it comes to you packed in key-opening vacuum tins as fresh as it was 30 minutes after it left the roaster.

Only recently we received reports from 2,571 doctors* who, after testing samples of Folger's coffee, confirm what we say about it.

Try Folger's for a week. Note its finer flavor. Note its wonderful invigoration. Note its after-effects. If you do this, we'll wager you'll never go back to ordinary, and doubtful coffees.

Signed statements to this effect, from 2,571 physicians who have actually tested Folger's Coffee, are on file in our offices.* 124

Opposition Is Developing

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

Library of Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. — Congressional ratification of President Hoover's foreign debt moratorium generally has been regarded hitherto as a foregone conclusion.

It begins to look now like less of a certainty.

A deal of opposition to the plan is developing, as the lawmakers gather in Washington. There will be a fight, anyway. Whatever may be its final outcome, it is quite among the possibilities that ratification will not have been voted by December 15.

This, in itself, will involve an embarrassing situation.

On that date the next batch of payments will be due to Uncle Sam from America's European debtors. Having proceeded on the supposition that it will not be required, they will not have the money ready. Lacking congress' approval, President Hoover will be in no position to offer any further concessions.

A more uncomfortable predicament for Mr. Hoover and the debtor governments would be difficult to imagine.

HAD THE president called an extra session of congress directly after broadcasting his moratorium program, ratification of his policy unquestionably would have followed in short order.

First comment, regardless of its origin, was largely in the moratorium's favor.

At first thought, with hardly an exception, legislators evidently were of the opinion that the announcement's effect would be to improve business, at least, temporarily. Naturally, even anti-administrationists were chary of appearing to align themselves against business betterment.

BUSINESS, however, has not improved, if at all, as much or as fast as was expected.

Skeptics concerning the moratorium's merits have had an interval to recover their nerve and venture a few adverse criticisms. They have had time especially to rub in the idea that the American taxpayer will have to foot the bill for every cent's worth of relief granted by the United States to Europe.

The supplemental concept that one debt postponement is the inevitable precursor of subsequent postponements and ultimately of another drastic slashing of all war indebtedness, doubtless leading at last to outright cancellation, now is being strongly emphasized.

IN THE COURSE of the coming controversy the official account of the recent conversations between Mr. Hoover and French Premier Pierre Laval is sure to figure extensively, and not to the moratorium's advantage.

As Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota remarked on the day of the Gallic statesman's arrival in Washington, "Whatever may be the object of M. Laval's visit, it is for no country's good but France's."

Just at a juncture, too, when bi-metallic sentiment is showing a formidable revival throughout the United States, the statement summarizing the result of the Hoover-Laval conference refers to "the importance of monetary stability as an essential factor in the restoration of normal economic life in the world, in which the maintenance of the gold standard in France and the United States will serve as a major influence."

That this suggestion is taken far from kindly by proponents of easier money doctrines goes without saying.

PERHAPS still more to the point, as particularly stressing the moratorium issue, is the attitude assumed by "tariff reform" lawmakers.

"If," says Senator Cordell Hull of Tennessee, notably this group's spokesman, "our country and other countries under our leadership are to pursue, as they have been doing for some years, a policy of ultra high tariffs and severe restrictions upon international trade, so that nations cannot exchange surpluses in order to pay external indebtednesses, few things in the future are more certain than the repudiation or forgiveness—in any event the cancellation—of the $11,000,000,000 in war debts due to America.

"Conversations and movements for repeated moratoriums are but preliminary steps in the certain direction of the early wiping out of such debts. Any discussion save in the light of these facts is futile."

CONGRESSIONAL indorsement of the originally-proposed one-year moratorium clearly would have been safest at an extra session.

Even, however, at the coming regular winter session, it is unlikely it would now be facing the threat of really serious opposition, were it uncomplicated by talk of subsequent moratoriums—even before the original one has been acted on.

Indeed, it is more than mere talk.

President Hoover and Premier Laval are jointly on record as recognizing that, "in so far as inter-governmental obligations are concerned, prior to the expiration of the Hoover year of postponement some agreement regarding them may be necessary."

This is vague, but sufficient to furnish material for a great deal of argument on Capitol Hill in the next few weeks.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE BLIND TYPIST:

Miss Laura Gregory, now employed by the Virginia Electric & Power Company, of Richmond, Virginia, has the distinction of performing a task which would be extremely creditable even for a stenographer-typist with excellent vision and the best of training—and she is totally blind.

Miss Gregory takes dictation direct to the typewriter as fast as a person ordinarily speaks, and in one day she transcribed 119 letters without error, by actual count—and "no doubt even more on other days when I did not have time to count them," she says. However, 119 individual letters in eight hours is an enviable record for anyone.

COLLISION BY MEN OF THE SAME NAME:

The fact that the drivers of two cars, involved in a collision, gave exactly the same names, caused a careful investigation by the Police of Honolulu when William Simao crashed into William Simao at the intersection of Harding and 11th Avenues, March, 1931. But thorough investigation revealed that the drivers really had identical names—so we take it that "Simao" in Honolulu is like "Smith" in the United States.

CHAPTER XLVIII

There was no light in the hall and the room was in dusk. The figure outlined in the doorway was indistinct.

One glance told Norma that it was not Chris. "Oh!" she said. "I—I thought it was someone else!"

She stepped forward and at the same moment the man in the doorway moved. Norma could see his face more clearly. Suddenly she felt as though the floor were sinking beneath her. Her heart pounded terrifically and something hot and burning caught in her throat. "Mark!" she cried hysterically. "It isn't you! Mark—?"

"I hope I didn't startle you."

Mark's voice! Oh, but there was no doubt of it. Mark staring at her as though he, too, could not believe his eyes.

"I telephoned, Norma, but they told me you weren't here. I couldn't wait any longer and so I came—"

"But it can't be! It can't be you, Mark!"

The girl swayed. She put out one hand and felt Mark's arm about her. A long way off she seemed to hear his voice. He was saying something about cold water. What was that blackness before her eyes? How was it that Mark was there and she could not see him?

"Mark!" the girl cried again in a trembling voice. "You— have you come back?"

He helped her to the davenport, rested her head against the pillows. Then she felt something cold on her forehead. Mark was holding a cup to her lips, urging her to drink.

"I'm all right," Norma protested. She could see him now. Across the room the table lamp was burning. Mark was on his knees beside the davenport. His face was close to Norma's.

"Better now?" he asked.

The girl's deeply fringed eyelids widened. She said in a voice barely above a whisper, "How did you get here?"

"I'll tell you. I'll tell you everything just as soon as you're feeling better. It's not much of a story! Might have known the shock would do something like this. Idiot that I am: Here—can I fix those pillows more comfortably?"

Norma shook her head. "It's as though I'm dreaming," she said softly. "You'll go away when I wake up, won't you?"

"I won't go," Mark reassured her, "unless you send me. I didn't know you'd been sick, Norma. You're thinner. You look pale, too." As the girl struggled to rise he added, "Don't move. Just lie there and rest a little longer.

Norma objected. There was nothing wrong with her, she said. She wanted to know where Mark had come from? What had he been doing?

"I—I've never heard anything about you," she said, "since went away. I didn't get any letters—"

* * *

The young man sat facing her. "It's a pretty rotten story," he said soberly. "I ought to be ashamed to tell you—and I am! Only I had to come to see you, Norma. I had to talk to you. All this that's been in the papers—I didn't know anything about it until I got a letter from Hollis Stone. That was three weeks ago. I've been traveling ever since."

"But you didn't tell me where you've been."

"Didn't I? South America. Oh, I forgot—of course you don't know. Norma, I came to tell you there's nothing I wouldn't do to erase the injustices you've been through. I was to blame for part of them. Oh, yes I was! Only a blind fool like myself would have believed the things the lawyers told me in Paris. I couldn't understand why you hadn't written—"

"But I did write! So many letters!"

"While I was in Paris? You wrote to me there?"

Norma nodded. Mark said bitterly, "So that's another way they tricked me! Well, that about makes it complete. I guess you've been glad to be rid of me all right. About as poor a specimen of husband as ever lived! I don't expect you to take me back, Norma. I didn't even come here with that hope. I only want to tell you I know you've been fine and square all along. I knew that even when I listened to their lies."

For a burning instant their eyes met. It was Norma who was first to look away.

"It's good of you to say that," she told him slowly. "But you mustn't blame yourself for everything. I've

Plans For New Plainview Building Will Be Completed In Near Future

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 6. (Special) — Plans for the new Plainview postoffice are to be ready shortly, the supervising architect of the Treasury department has advised Senator Tom Connally, according to word received here from Washington.

The plans are to be finished in December, probably the latter part, Senator Connally was advised by the architect. Bids will then be asked with the letting of contracts early in February. Should the plans be completed early in December the contract will be let the last of January.

Site for the federal building has been chosen and soil tests made. It is almost across the street from the present structure.

Congress made an appropriation of $152,000 for construction of the building here. That is the limit of the cost, it was explained.

Delay in the completion of plans is due to the fact that the treasury department decided to have a private architect draw the plans and specifications. Some difficulty arose and this was abandoned after the work was started. Further delay followed when the government began its work.

Because of the heavy building program of the national government all federal architects are swamped with work. Some of the larger jobs are let by contract to outside architects.

The board of city development and agriculture made a vigorous protest on the delays and then took the matter up with Senator Connally, who made a personal investigation. He was given assurances of early action.

In the last year Poland's population increased twice as much as that of Great Britain.

Nearly 250 exhibits were displayed at this year's Ideal Home Exhibition in Glasgow, Scotland.

EVIL EFFECTS OF CONSTIPATION

Constipation locks up poisons in the body, and allows them to begin dangerous work against your health. Keep the bowels active. If constipated, one of the best things to do is to take Thedford's Black-Draught for prompt relief. Mrs. LeRoy Brack, 2810 Poplar St., Cairo, Ill., writes: "My mother used Thedford's Black-Draught in her home for years. She thought it was so good, she had me use it. I find it is fine for sour stomach and gas. A few doses, taken for several nights, makes me feel like a new person. I have found it very good and dependable."

Made from the leaves and roots of medicinal plants — free from mineral drugs.

Sold at Drug Stores. 204-10

made mistakes—lots of them."

"But I do blame myself! You did more for me than anyone else in the world ever has. Those months with you were the happiest of my life and I threw that happiness away." Travers went on after a pause, "Seems odd finding you here in the old apartment. I didn't know where to look for you I telephoned because I thought Chris might be here."

Norma said, "I'm still living with Chris."

Mark glanced about, noting the shabby furnishings. Obviously there was not much money here.

"I'm working in an office in the same building where Chris works," Norma explained. "I'm secretary for a literary agent—Frederick Stuart. But you haven't told me what you've been doing in South America. When did you go there?"

"Over a year ago. I—well, I didn't want to come back when I thought you were gone. My father told me you'd ran away. I didn't know how to find you so I went to South America with an engineer I'd met in the copper mines. We've been working together ever since. Nice fellow. Allen's his name. You'd like him, Norma. I don't know anything about engineering but he's been teaching me. It's a wonderful country down there. I'm going back again."

"To South America?"

Travers nodded. "Oh, I couldn't hang around here. Nothing for me to do in Marlboro."

They talked of inconsequential things—as men and women who have a great deal to say to each other so often do. Finally Mark arose. He strode to the window and came back.

"Norma," he said, "there's something else. I want to make a set allowance for you. As though it were alimony. It's been bothering me for months wondering if you had money, thinking you were working too hard. Besides it's only fair—"

"But I couldn't take it!" the girl interrupted. "I couldn't, Mark! It's kind of you but please don't say any more about it."

He seemed disappointed. "I want to tell you it's my own money I'm talking about. I' mnot rich but we're getting along fairly well. You see it was really you who taught me how to work, Norma. That's one of the things I'll always be indebted to you for."

She smiled. "As a floorwalker in a department store?"

"Yes, as a floorwalker. Those weeks at Blossomdale's were good for me." Impulsively he added, "We used to have fun—didn't we?"

Norma's smile disappeared. "Yes," she agreed. "We had fun."

There was a pause. Travers fingered his hat. "Well," he said, "you're tired and I shouldn't stay longer. I'm only here for a few days but I'd like to see you again before I go."

"I don't think we'd better, Mark. It's—rather useless."

"You mean you don't want to see me?"

"Something like that. Of course I wish you luck—and lots of happiness."

Abruptly he caught her hand. "Norma — !" Travers began and stopped abruptly. The door from the corridor had opened. Chris Saunders stood there. In her arms was a tiny blanketed figure.

"I didn't know anyone was here!" Chris exclaimed. "Why—is it you, Mark?"

There came a wail from the bundle of blankets. In two bounds Norma had the infant in her arms. "Darling!" she cried. "Oh, you little precious! How did you get him, How did you?"

"By going to the Friendship Home. You could have had him back days ago only after that threatening letter we didn't think it was safe."

Norma was not listening. She was pulling off the clumsy blankets and the baby's cap. The brown hair, curling and downy, became visible. Brown eyes smiled seraphically. "Bhrr—bhrr!" the baby gurgled gaily. "Bhrr—bhrr!"

Norma's face had become rapturous. She pressed the child close in her arms. "Mother's precious," she crooned. "Oh, you darling! You're never going to be away from me again! Never—never!" She swayed slightly, rocking the child.

Travers' voice broke in excitedly. "Norma, you didn't tell me—you don't mean—?"

He stared from one girl to the other.

It was Chris who supplied the answer. "Yes," she said briskly. "It's your son, Mark. You ought to be introduced to him. Only don't think love nor money will ever get him away from her. Not the slightest chance!"

Travers dropped to his knees beside Norma and the baby. "Why, Norma!" he exclaimed, "why didn't you tell me! Oh, you can't hate me the way I thought you did! You darling? I love you so, Norma. I'll do anything in the world if you'll only give me another chance. You and me and—the baby!"

"Mark," Norma said the words softly, "do you—really mean you want me?"

"More than my own life! Say you'll come back to me, Norma. Say you will!"

There were tears of happiness on her lashes. They made the blue eyes even more star-like. "Of course, dear," she murmured. "Mark—kiss me!"

The baby's voice rose in a dissenting wail and Chris made a grab for him. "Let me have that child! Come to your Aunt Chris, angel, before your parents abuse you. By the way—will somebody please enlighten me as to what's been happening here? I'm beginning to think I'm seeing things."

"You'll see a lot more", Travers told her. "Can you come to a wedding tomorrow? First thing in the morning! Norma's going to marry me and we're sailing for South America."

"South America? But you wouldn't Norma!"

The other girl nodded. "Anywhere," she said. "Anywhere at all Mark wants to go!"

Chris sat back. "Well, of all the idiots!" she exclaimed. She saw that they were not listening. Chris raised her voice. "If you two weren't completely lost to the world," she said. "I might give you some news of my own."

"News?"

Chris nodded, blushing. "While you're talking about weddings it might interest you to know there's going to be another soon. I told Bob two days ago I'd marry him."

"You—and Bob? Oh, Chris, that's wonderful!"

"Didn't you guess? Bob told me he tried to talk to you about it. Wanted to ask if you thought I'd have him. As though there'd be a doubt. Oh, Norma, I'm crazy about Bob. I have been for a long while!"

Travers said, "Why don't you come along tomorrow? Let's make it a double wedding."

"Do Chris!" Norma choursed.

"Well," she said, "it sounds crazy but I'm willing to if Bob is. I promised to telephone him—and I guess you two will excuse me all right."

They were perfectly willing to do that. As the door closed Norma's head sank to Mark's shoulder. Eager, demanding lips crushed hers. Mark's arms, protecting, irresistible, were about her.

It was a long kiss—it was paradise!

And then after what seemed such a long time Norma heard his voice. The same tone, the same laughing, teasing words she had heard so many times. "Happy, kid?"

"Oh, Mark!" the girl breathed. "We're always going to be happy now. Always!"

And so they kissed again.

Kissing Bandit Back In Prison

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Edna Murray, Kansas City "kissing bandit," and two other women inmates who escaped from the women's prison were captured yesterday while hiding in the wooded country a short distance from the prison. Two negro trusties found them. The trio escaped over a high wire fence.

The other two were Mary Grace Hamel, 18, serving 35 years for bank robbery, and Della Hazel, 18, serving two years for stealing an automobile.

It was Mrs. Murray's second escape. She was captured in Chicago and returned to the prison in September of this year after nearly four years of freedom. She became known as the "kissing bandit" in connection with the Kansas City robbery for which she was sentenced to 25 years in prison in October 1925.

After Mrs. Murray and two companions had kidnaped H. H. Southward, grocery store manager and ordained minister, April 6, 1925, and robbed him of $195 she offered in parting to kiss Southward but he declined.

Texas Youth Is Exonerated In Slaying Of Young Dancer

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 6. (AP)—The supreme tribunal of justice in the state of Tamaulipas, Mex., has indicted Arnulfo De La Rosa, policeman at Rio Rico, on a charge of negligent homicide for the fatal shooting of Miss Mina E. Clark, La Feria telegraph operator, at a Rio Rico cabaret several months ago.

Miss Clark was dancing in the cabaret with a friend when struck in the neck by a bullet. The tribunal found that De La Rosa's pistol fired the bullet.

After reviewing incidents leading up to the shooting, the tribunal exonerated Dee Ham, Weslaco youth, who had been charged with murder in connection with Miss Clark's death.

SAFER THAN A SAFE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—If robbers had broken into the home of Sam Letsinger and had opened one of the drawers of Mrs. Letsinger to get her money, they would have been as horrified as she was. She pulled the drawer partly open and then decided to put on her hat first before getting her pocketbook. Her husband happened to glance into the drawer and shouted. A snake was coiled around the pocketbook. He managed to get the reptile out of the drawer and killed it.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6. (AP)—The cotton market alternated between periods of activity and quiet today. Price fluctuations moved with variations in wheat and stocks, developing a moderate upward trend.

The opening was 1 to 2 points down in sympathy with cables and later values eased off further due to easier wheat and stocks, losing 3 to 6 points from the previous close.

In the last part of the morning the market improved owing to rather bullish mill takings for the week and continued to advance after noon in sympathy with a bulge in the other markets gaining 13 to 15 points from the lows.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—An early decline in cotton today was followed by advances with the market becoming more active and decidedly firmer in late trading.

January after selling off from 6.63@6.56 rallied to 6.77 and closed at 6.75 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 9-15 points.

December sold up to 6.71 and March to 6.94 making net advances of 14 to 19 points on the active months and the close was only a few points off from the best on realizing.

The fire followed an explosion of barrels and drums of borate of potash on a freight car.

Market Is Left But Little Choice And Advances Strong In Last Hour

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—Wheat's rebound from an early decline, another new high for bar silver, easier money conditions and a brisk demand for bonds left the stock market little choice of action today and it advanced strongly in the last hour.

There was some hesitation in the morning while Wall street traders were waiting to see what wheat would do, and many principal shares sold off a point or so. Fresh support for grains and a reduction in bankers acceptance rates—the second in less than 24 hours—reflecting a more substantial inquiry for that form of short term investment turned the tables for shares which fell in behind the lively advance by metal issues.

The market's average gain was 2.6 points, putting the Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite at 89.3, a new high for the recovery. Thus, after several futile attempts, prices were at last able to negotiate what the technically minded called a favorable step. Activity increased sharply on the upturn and the volume, which approximated 1,400 shares early in the last hour swelled to a 2,299,712 share total.

gue's recommendations. Failing that, the next proposal would be a declaration calling for all members and probably all Kellogg pact signatories to remove their envoys.

The latter could be voted validly without Japan's approval for it would be only a recommendation, but officials believe it would have a tremendous moral effect. It probably would be prefaced by a condemnation of the Japanese as a violator of the covenant and the pact of Paris.

If Japan is still adamant, the council carrying out plans now under discussion would consider ways and means of putting a boycott into operation.

The league is counting on support of America executing these steps. A Tokyo report that the United States ambassador had informed Foreign Minister Shidehara of his government's approval of the council's recent resolution was received here with great satisfaction.

It would be perfectly proper, however, for authorities of the other state to file charges.

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6. (AP) — Cattle arrivals around the eleven market circuit totalled 13,900 against 16,581 last Friday. Supplies were limited and trade resolved itself largely into a cleanup affair at steady levels. Small lots of fed yearlings scored 10.25@11.35 with other consignments up to 9.25. Short fed steers bulked at 5.25@6.50 with a few grassers at 4.00@5.00. Stockers and feeders found quotably steady market with most replacement steers of quality to sell at 4.00@6.00. Demand centers largely on yearling stockers and stock calves rather than older cattle.

Approximate consignments of hogs numbered 74,000 against 91,334 a week ago. Values were mostly unevenly steady to 10 lower although at markets where outside demand was broad prices were slightly higher.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6. (AP) — Hogs 500; market 10-15 higher; top 5.50 paid by small killers for part load light weight rail hogs; truck top 5.45; bulk better 180-250 lb. truck hogs 5.35@5.45; packing sows at 4.25 or steady.

Cattle — 1,700; including 500 calves; trade poorly tested; butcher cows and low cutters active and strong; some sales showing moderate advance; others quotably steady; slaughter steers 4.00@6.25; common grassers 3.50@3.75; choice fat yearlings 6.00; butcher heifers around 3.00@4.50; good fat cows 3.25; low cutters 1.50@1.85; heavy bulls up to 2.50; good mixed stock calves 4.85@5.00; heavy slaughter calves to packers 4.00@4.65; cull sorts 2.50@3.00.

The seventh death was that of Lieutenant Commander O. W. Erickson, veteran navy pilot, killed when his airplane plunged off the deck of the aircraft carrier, U. S. S. Saratoga, as a landing was being attempted.

Lists Announced

The list of dead on the Colorado follows:

Lieutenant Ralph P. Bradford, jr., 32, Pontiac, Ill. Maurice G. Hawkins, seaman first class, Hastings, Mich. Lewis A. Clark 18, seaman, second class, Los Gatos, Cal. J. J. Schnur, seaman first class, St. Louis, Mo. Clarence E. Swift, 19, seaman first class Los Angeles. Swift died today.

Expected to die:

Robert O. Duff, seaman first class, Ages, Ky., back riddled by steel.

H. J. Hintin, seaman first class, Wichita, Kas., fractured skull.

Captain A. W. Johnson, commander of the Colorado, said he wished to stress that the explosion, while the cause remains undetermined was not a result of a slip by personnel but could be laid to material.

Two boards of investigation convened. Their findings will be forwarded to Washington.

ings. This proposal will be presented at the annual meeting.

Committee Named

A committee composed of Dean J. M. Gordon and T. E. Buckner, to work with Scout Executive D. T. Jennings, was named to set the time of the annual meeting. Tentative plans call for this session some time in the first five days of January. This committee will meet next week.

K. N. Clapp and O. H. Cline were named to nominate candidates for 1932 officers. They will report at the annual session.

Attending were R. D. Moxley, acting chairman, K. N. Clapp, O. H. Cline, W. G. McMillan, Dr. J. M. Gordon, J. D. Dyer of Lamesa, Mr. Jennings and T. E. Buckner. J. Ed McLaughlin of Ralls telephoned his approval of the new finance plan.

PAROLES ISSUED

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (AP) — Governor R. S. Sterling today issued general paroles to ten inmates of the Texas penitentiary.

They were: C. E. Howington, Ward county, violating prohibition law; Tat Hadnot, Jasper county, violating prohibition law; Lucas Lopez and Pedro Barrientos, both of Bastrop county, turkey theft; Tommie Lee, Morris county, violating prohibition law; Guy W. Lampman, Bexar county, burglar; Earl McDermott, Dallam county, burglary, and Joe McDaniel, Wilbarger county, forgery.

Furloughs were granted M. S. McClury, Jefferson county, violating prohibition law, and Roy McNeely, Bosque county, theft.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6. (AP)—Wheat and corn sold at new highs of the season on the cash grain market today with good demand reported at the advance. Other grains were strong under keen demand.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas Gulf ports—export rate—or group three points, freight paid:

Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 70 1-2@71 1-2; No. 1 hard 13 per cent protein 71 1-2@72 1-2; 14 per cent 75 1-2@76 1-2; 15 per cent 79 1-2@80 1-2; 16 per cent 83 1-2@84 1-2.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 45 1-2@46 1-2; No. 2 white 46 1-2@47 1-2; No. 2 yellow 82@83.

Barley, No. 2 nominally 42@46.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 90@92; No. 2 kaffir 90@92.

Basis delivered group three: oats, No. 2 red 26 1-2@27 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 6. (AP)—Unexhausted reserve buying power from outside the ordinary trade channels whirled wheat up today to within 1-4 cent of the season's top point. Earlier the market here had been forced down more than 2 1-2 cents by severe price breaks at Liverpool, but many standing orders to purchase on downturns hoisted values anew almost 4 cents from the day's bottom. Fresh jumps in values were aided by reports ominous of crop curtailment both in domestic spring and winter wheat territory and by greater attention to war like happenings in the orient.

Wheat closed nervous 3-4 to 1 3-8 cents higher than yesterday's finish, corn 5-8 to 1 1-4 up, oats unchanged to 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents down.

Wurzbach

Texas. He often said he could not stay in congress if it were not for the support of Democratic voters.

Was Party Man

However, when Wurzbach was asked to support Representative Garner for the speakership as a matter of state loyalty, Wurzbach refused with the reply, "No, I'm a strict party man."

Although Wurzbach and Creager refused to work together, both supported Herbert Hoover for the presidential nomination.

In 1928, Wurzbach was defeated for re-election on the face of first official returns, but challenged the count and was seated instead of his opponent, Augustus McCloskey, San Antonio Democratic leader. A case against Wurzbach charging solicitation of funds from federal employes to further his 1926 campaign was dismissed early this year.

Survived By Widow

Wurzbach was a native of San Antonio. He is survived by his widow, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for his place in congress.

Under the Texas law, as interpreted by authorities here, a special election could be held and returns canvassed in time for the winner to take his seat when congress reconvenes on Dec. 7.

Funeral services for Wurzbach will be held Sunday.

away from home at the time, digging potatoes in a nearby field.

The negro knocked at the door and when the woman opened it she said he grinned fiendishly, saying: "I've got you at last."

The woman said the negro carried a long bladed knife with which he threatened her. She wrested the knife from him as they struggled and it fell down the back of her dress.

After the attack the negro asked her what had become of the knife and when she pretended she had not seen it he knocked her down and placed a rug over her head.

The woman said she told the negro the officers would get him "before sundown." She said he laughed at her.

Virtually the entire male population for miles around joined in the search.

The negro came here recently from Abilene although he was born and reared in Morris county. He recently was released from the penitentiary after serving a term for car theft.

Hearing On Truck Permits Is Continued Until Monday

DALLAS, Nov. 6. (AP)—Hearing on approximately 100 applications for state railroad commission permits to operate trucks and busses as common carriers in the Dallas district has been continued until Monday, at Waco, by Commissioner Pat M. Neff.

Neff said applicants could either appear Monday or wait until he conducts another Dallas hearing Nov. 18. The hearing began Monday, but only three applicants testified. The postponement was granted at the request of certain applicants and witnesses.

GOP Will Not Give Up Fight

Representative Snell States That His Party Will Carry On In Face Of Majority On Democratic Rolls

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—In spite of the reverses which for the first time in 13 years have put them in the minority, the Republicans plan to dispute Democratic organization of the house.

The gain of a numerical superiority by the Democratis was said today by Representative Snell of New York, one of the Republican contenders for the speakership nomination, not to have altered Republican plans.

"We are not going to quit just because the lord has taken some of our members," he said, adding:

"We are going to be an important part of this congress regardless of whether we or the Democrats organize.

"We will hold our conference November 30 as planned to select a nominee for the speakership. We will go right ahead with our organization as if we were in the majority. It will not be determined until the roll is called for the election of a speaker whether the Democrats or the Republicans will control the new house."

Snell pointed out that sickness of members or additional deaths might be the controlling element in the organization and noted that there had been three deaths in the last three weeks and the organization of the house is four weeks away.

The latest was that of Representative Wurzbach, Republican, Texas, early today. His death left the house division standing at 217 Democrats, 214 Republicans, 1 farmer-labor, and 3 vacancies.

few advantages, but his determination and resourcesfulness carried him from a farm hand, railroad section worker, book agent, teacher and lawyer to the senate where his fights with local affairs had girded him with strength for greater battles.

He fought with Albert B. Fall for his Tea Pot Dome affair and severely criticized President Coolidge for vetoing the revised McNary-Haugen farm relief bill which Senator Caraway had helped re-write.

Senator Caraway's first verbal fights of consequence began when he was prosecuting attorney.

Born on a farm in Missouri, Senator Caraway moved to Arkansas when he "was old enough to realize my horrible mistake." This he told Senator Jim Reed of Missouri during a senate debate in which the Arkansas tongue-lashing solon had bitterly berated Reed and Missouri.

Caraway, riding into the senate on the record of his predecessor, sought re-election as a strong supporter of Woodrow Wilson and his opponent was easily defeated.

He had been in the senate since 1920 and had been a member of the house of representatives for seven years before that.

Under Arkansas law, the vacancy caused by Senator Caraway's death will be filled by an appointee of Governor Harvey Parnell, and a successor will be elected in the next general election.

Senator Caraway's term expires March 3, 1933.

Gin Records Are Likely To Break

The first four days of the week should be record breakers for gins over the entire South Plains according to reports here.

Around most of the gins, especially in the towns, from 40 to 75 wagons may be seen from early morning, waiting their turn for ginning. The older and most established gins have generally the largest group of wagons.

West of Lubbock the gins are reported working 24 hours a day, without a letup. Littlefield, Anton, Amherst, Sudan, Shallowater, Levelland, Brownfield, and Meadow, Ropes and other towns are crowded from morning until night.

Members Of Troop 8 Hosts To Parents Friday Evenin

Members of troop No. 8, Boy Scouts, were hosts to their parents at the American Legion hall Friday evening. More than 50 parents, scout officials and boys were present.

Both the parents and the scouts joined in a series of games. The program was started with a demonstraton by the boys of a model troop meetng. It included a field day inspection. The scouts served chili and coffee. Short talks were given by the parents. Tom Everheart is scoutmaster of the troop, composed of 18 scouts. The troop is sponsored by the Allen Brothers Post, American legion. Charles Whitaker is chairman of the troop committee.

American March King Celebrates

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—America's march maestro—John Philip Sousa—celebrated his 77th birthday anniversary today.

It was not known how he intended to observe the day but it certainly wasn't to be writing a commemorative march.

He decided thus in 1927, when he celebrated his golden jubilee year. At that time the march king was pressed by friends to compose a piece to mark the event. It was the first time he said, "I can't."

Mrs. Velma Creighton Favored By Jury Verdict In Second Trial On Charge Of Receiving Stolen Goods

HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 6. (AP) — Mrs. Velma Creighton was acquitted by a district court jury here today of receiving property stolen last February in the $27,000 Hastings National bank robbery.

She wept as she heard the decision, shook hands with each of the jurors, and said she would return to Nowata, Oklahoma, and start work with a telephone company. She was employed as an operator, she said, before her marriage to James Creighton, a suspect in the robbery who has been sentenced since then to death for a Webb City, Mo., murder.

It was her second trial. Last month a jury failed to reach a verdict.

A hearing was planned this afternoon on disposition of $1200 which was found in possession of Mrs. Creighton. The state charged it was part of the loot from the robbery. She asserted she had received it from James Thomas, who has been sentenced to 25 years in prison for the robbery, and had been directed to give it to his wife.

Mrs. Creighton, captured with Thomas the day after the robbery said her two children were at Nowata with her mother. One of them was ill, she added, and so was unable to bring them to the trial.

Large Figures Presented In Gas Hearing; Witness Heard

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 6. (AP)—Figures running far into the billions were mingled with other statistics as a witness and attorneys sought today to establish the value of the Cities Service company's extensive gas reserves in the mid-continent area.

The witness was Ralph E. Davis, consulting geological engineer. In testifying at the public service commission's investigation into reasonableness of inter-company charges entering into retail gas rates charged by Cities Service subsidiaries in Kansas, he estimated the "intrinsic value" of the organizations gas reserves, including wells, at $20,588,000. Davis said more than 98 per cent of the Cities Service gas reserves are in the Amarillo field in Texas and the new Hugoton field in southwestern Kansas. Company reserves in Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas, excluding the Hugoton field, were placed by the witness at 23 billion cubic feet.

Trial For Burning Cotton Is Carded In City Today

Trial of P. W. Crawford, about 45, charged with burning about a bale of unginned cotton owned by G. E. Seal, a deputy sheriff, is set in county court Saturday morning. Seal was instrumental in the arrest of Crawford as a swindling suspect some time ago.

Tracks leading from the burned cotton were followed Friday 12 miles to Crawford's home in the Woodrow community, County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson said. A sack identified as that which had been used by one of Seal's pickers was said to have been found at Crawford's home.

County Attorney Wilson said Crawford pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling and received a jail sentence and fine. He was released later because of his physical condition.

Two Are Injured In Mishaps In And Near City On Friday

Cannon Appeal To Court Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP) — Counsel for Bishop James Cannon, jr., has withdrawn an appeal for a writ of prohibition against the senate campaign funds committee investigation into his political activities.

The writ was denied by the District of Columbia supreme court and the senate committee immediately completed its inquiry.

Cannon called on his counsel to appeal the case against the senate committee but it was learned today that as soon as the action was filed it was withdrawn by his attorneys.

The southern Methodist churchman had challenged the jurisdiction of the senate committee.

He is making the same complaint now against the grand jury that indicted him recently on charges of violating the corrupt practices law.

"On the same date last November we had disconnected 96 subscribers. We had received only 23 orders for new connections, compared with 39 this year."

Mayor Ernest O. Thompson countered with the charge that the telephone company representatives were promising those who rescinded their "disconnect" orders a month's free service if the rates were not reduced, as an inducement to keep thir telephones connected.

"Telephone customers will at least get a month of free telephone service," the mayor said.

Hailey emphatically denied that any concession was being offered those keeping their telephones. "We merely explain our side of the issue," he said.

Mayor Thompson said each mail brought new orders to disconnect telephones. He said the total at noon today was 1,652 subscribers.
