Pact Averts Filibuster In Senate Today

By ED OVERHOLSER
AUSTIN (AP) — A behind-the-scenes agreement, apparently not of an filibuster action today on proposals to reshuffle the districts of Texas senators.

While senators settled down to a routine calendar after the filibuster faded, the House buzzed with talk about a plan to revise districts of state representatives. The plan, approved by a committee this morning, did away with several districts.

Both houses have to reshape their respective districts according to the 1960 census before the end of the regular session May 29 or a board of state officials will get the job.

Sen. Jop Fuller of Port Arthur did not oppose passage today of a motion that would let the Senate and House take up actual debate on the redistricting plans at any time between now and May 29.

Fuller talked down the motion Tuesday and Wednesday.

Later, Fuller said he did not try delaying tactics today because an agreement had been made off the floor that the redistricting bill in turn dropped his effort to get the bill sent back to the senate transportation committee, of which Fuller is chairman.

Sen. Jop Fuller of Port Arthur for two days has succeeded in stopping passage of a resolution allowing either house to consider the constitutionally-required redistricting bill at any time. Friday, if the Senate comes back with the bill.

Oliver Seeks Speakership

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. W. T. Oliver of Port Neches said today he will seek the speakership of the 76th legislature.

Oliver is a third-term legislator. He took active roles in the speakership races of both the 74th and the present 75th session. He backed Waggoner Carr's successful bid for the speakership and supported Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen, who lost to Rep. James Turman for the current speakership.

Oliver said at a breakfast that the gathering was for "officially telling those members who on major issues normally think alike, have an opportunity to consider my qualifications as speaker and decide for themselves whether I might more effectively represent their philosophies should I be elected speaker."

Generally considered a conservative, Oliver is the second to announce for the speakership. Rep. Will Ehrle, also a backer of Spilman, is the other contender.

Passage Of Wage Bill Gives Kennedy Program Big Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's legislative program has been given a tremendous boost by passage of his minimum wage bill after it was nearly throttled in the House.

The measure, cut and trimmed in minor areas in a successful effort to pick up support, emerged from Congress Wednesday with its key provision for extending minimum wage coverage.

The Senate, as expected, approved it resoundingly 64 to 29. The big surprise was in the House, which had twice rejected similar measures. The House approved it 230 to 196.

Hard prodding by the White House and the House Democratic leadership on wavering members, plus concessions written into the bill, enabled it to give the administration its comeback victory.

The bill, as it goes to the White House, raises the minimum wage for those covered from $1 an hour to $1.15 in 12 months, and to $1.25 two years later. Its chief provision, over which Congress has been battling for more than

New Countdown Starts

By RALPH DIGHTON
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — With a promise of favorable weather in the offing, the U.S. space agency today began a preliminary countdown aimed at launching astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. into space at 7 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Friday.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the weather had improved and it now looks like a better than 50-50 chance of launching Friday.

The Project Mercury weather support group said there would be "fair weather in the Cape area Friday."

In the capsule recovery area 200 miles down range the forecast was for partly cloudy skies with a few widely scattered showers.

The weather support group said there would be easterly surface winds of 10-15 knots with waves three to four feet high.

These conditions appeared to fall well within the acceptable limits for the launching.

Bad weather forced postponement Tuesday of the first attempt to launch the 37-year-old Navy commander on his 115-mile high ride.

Shepard and his backup, John H. Glenn Jr., today passed up further simulated tests in a mock capsule similar to the one perched on the Redstone rocket which will launch this nation's first manned space flight.

The men had simulated flights Wednesday such as they have been going through for several weeks in preparation for the flight. Each ran through one flight

Student Exchange Support Is Sought

All civic leaders of Snyder and the surrounding communities are urged to attend a meeting Saturday morning to discuss ways and means of re-organizing and sponsoring the American Field Service program.

This program, which encompasses both the Foreign Student Exchange and the Americans Abroad, has been sponsored for the past two years by the Snyder High School Student Council. The student council has carried the brunt of the expense and planning for the program here.

Saturday morning's meeting will be "Dutch treat" breakfast to be held at 7 o'clock at Sallie's Dining Room, 2415 Avenue S. Presidents of representatives of all local civic organizations and of social club groups are asked to be present. Also, any citizen who is interested in the continuance of the AFS program here is urged to attend.

For the past two years, two foreign exchange students have attended the Snyder high school.

The tests were to check out the complete Redstone and capsule system, said John Powers, NASA spokesman. "Each of them was very good."

Powers said that one of the main reasons for the rainout today was to check an electrocardiograph sensor in the capsule which will radio back information on Shepard's heart during the flight.

The sensor had not worked properly during the countdown Tuesday.

Today's countdown was to last five to seven hours and give most of the rocket's major system a complete check.

The final countdown is scheduled to start 12:30 a.m. Friday morning. If it goes without a hitch, Shepard will be airborne at 7 a.m.

Shepard and Glenn performed Wednesday's mission, dressed in sport clothes and did not don their silver-colored space suits.

Mercury officials planned a mid-night conference to take a last look at the weather forecast before deciding to go ahead with the final countdown. A similar mid-night briefing was held before the first attempt on Tuesday.

It is estimated that the cost of organizing the local AFS program—a meeting was held last Sunday afternoon with 10 civic and social clubs represented. Twenty-five involved Snyder citizens attended the discussion meeting and, together with the high school student council.

At the Sunday afternoon meeting, Rader Robertson was named temporary chairman by the group. Mrs. M. H. Joe was named temporary co-chairman. They will take the lead in re-organizing the AFS program in this immediate area.

Neutralist Prince Assumes Top Role In Laos Planning

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The royal government today accepted ex-Premier Souvanna Phouma's invitation to peace talks Friday on the front north of Vientiane.

It was the biggest breakthrough so far in getting major cease-fire and political talks started between the government and pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, who agreed Wednesday to stop fighting.

Premier Boun Oum said the government will send a military mission to the front north of the town of Hin Hiep, 50 miles north of Vientiane on the main north-south highway.

Government acceptance of Souvanna's invitation still left unsettled a major point: The government has insisted on the formation of both sides meet in the future to draw up an armistice line and other details of the cease-fire before political leaders meet.

Gen. Phomm, Souvanna's deputy premier and military strongman of Boun Oum's regime, said he was insisting on this point.

The government announced its officers were rebuffed by the rebels when they met on the front 35 miles north of Vientiane Wednesday night. The rebels said all their negotiations would be handled by Souvanna, a self-styled neutralist who appears to be assuming a dominant role in the formation of a new government for Laos.

There were no strong expectations in Vientiane that the dispute would lead to any resumption of the fighting. But the controversy was considered an indication that peace negotiations in the coming weeks will be delayed and stalled on many points.

In Bangkok, Thailand, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's group of representatives held a special session on Laos, despite signs of decreasing tension. There was no official word on what was discussed at the meeting, the sixth in 11 days.

Souvanna proposed the talks be held in the village of Ban Namone, in no man's land 85 miles north of Vientiane.

But he said if government representatives could not go to Ban Namone, they should proceed to Hin Hiep, five miles further south.

He proposed the talks cover political as well as military questions. The government announced that it was sending only a military delegation appeared to leave some disagreement over the issues to be discussed.

The ex-premier's plan was broadcast in the conference would include representatives of his "neutralist government," the royal government and Pathet Lao, the pro-Communist guerrillas.

Negotiators should first consider the question of forming a coalition government, he said, and appointment of a Laos delegation to attend the 14-nation international conference on Laos scheduled for May 12 in Geneva.

In Phnom Penh, Cambodia, the government announced it will not participate in the conference because of Laos' king's refusal to sign a statement that Laos alone must settle its own problems. The information ministry said Cambodia "in conformity with its policy of neutrality" would respect the king's wishes. Cambodia originally proposed the conference.

CIA Review Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today ordered a sweeping review of the work of the Central Intelligence Agency and other government units that dig up information abroad.

Kennedy established a new foreign intelligence advisory board, headed by Dr. James R. Killian Jr. of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The White House described the new group as a reactivation, "under broadened terms of reference, of the conference on foreign intelligence activities set up by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956."

In creating his own board, Kennedy gave it this assignment: "To advise the President with respect to the objectives and conduct of the foreign intelligence and related activities of the United States which are required in the interests of foreign policy and national defense and security."

IRS Takes Aim At Expense Accounts

By EDMUND LEBERTON
WASHINGTON (AP)—An armed with examples of expense accounts, the IRS is taking aim at the "look-see" of local fire-fighting and civil defense equipment. The IRS is also entering in the procession featuring an emergency-type unit.

Members of the House Ways and Means Committee didn't get a chance to question Dillon Wednesday on President Kennedy's proposals for sterner treatment of business deductions for entertainment and travel.

But he left them a study by the Internal Revenue Service of 30,000 returns on which travel and entertainment were claimed as business expenses.

It described, for instance, the luxurious hunting lodge mainained by a manufacturing company owned by only a few shareholders. It also pointed out that many small businesses are maintained by family members and that many of the expenses are for entertainment of key personnel or taxpayers.

In three years, the IRS allowed business deductions for the lodge totaling $17,417.

The IRS says that as long as the law reads as it does now, it has no choice but to allow such deductions. The administration is asking for a tightening of the rules on expense accounts, along with many other things to bring in enough revenue to offset tax allowances it proposes for businesses who will invest in modern, competitive plants. The allowances for more productive facilities would cost about $1.7 billion a year in revenue.

Another of Dillon's example concerns a father and son who are president and vice president of a taxpaying corporation. They belong to a club in which each member is supposed to give a party once each year for the other.

Nixon Ends His Silence

By ARTHUR EDSON
NEW YORK (AP)—For Richard M. Nixon, the long period of self-imposed political silence is over. The man who came so close to the White House last year has now spoken his mind. Before it is finished, he will visit New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Columbia, Ohio.

Nixon came here Wednesday night from Washington. Mrs. Nixon and the girls are remaining in the capital until school is out for a series of private appointments. Among those whom he will see are former President Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Tonight Nixon is the honored guest at a dinner given by Gardner Cowles, editor and publisher of Look magazine and president of the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

The Cowles dinner, in which business and civic leaders are invited, is off the record. Undoubtedly Nixon will say privately many of the things he will soon be saying publicly.

Castro Spurs Anti-Church Activities

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The Fidel Castro government has stepped up its activities against the Roman Catholic Church in the port city of Nancarrow, arrested its priest after they found a pistol and United States currency hidden in the altar, Havana radio reported Thursday.

The broadcast said a large amount of United States currency also was seized during a search of a Catholic school in Nancarrow. It also said counterrevolutionary propaganda was discovered in the school, causing the arrest of a staff member.

In Santiago, the government nationalized more than 20 private and parochial schools, according to Havana radio.

The priests and nuns who had operated the Catholic schools which were taken over by the government were reported to be ready to leave the country. During his May Day speech Monday, Castro announced that severe restrictions would be placed against the Church in Cuba. He said foreign clergymen would be expelled and private schools, including Villavieja University, would be nationalized.

The slender, brown-haired high school sophomore carried a knapsack and had $5 when his 1,200-mile flight from home was halted.

Stephens vanished Sunday while searchers were looking for Carol Lee, 11, and Margaret Chambers, 12, who had disappeared the afternoon before while picking wild flowers near their homes just outside Holland.

The bullet-riddled bodies of the girls were found under mounds of leaves in a Lake Michigan sand dune area Monday.

Two police officers left Michigan Wednesday night by car to take custody of Stephens. They were expected here late today or tonight.

"That's mine," he said, holding up a picture of a boy.

Youth Is Held In Slaying Of Pair

KADOKA, S.D. (AP)—James Scott Stephens, 16, was held for Michigan authorities far from home in this prairie country town today after police said he admitted the rifle slayings of two Holland, Mich., schoolgirls.

South Dakota officers said Wednesday night that the teenage boy Scott admitted the slayings "with no emotion" after being questioned all day Stephens was quoted as saying the slayings were accidental.

Don Licht, state crime bureau agent, and Warren Pearson, Jackson County sheriff, refused to give details of the youth's statement, saying they had been instructed by authorities at Holland.

Britons Urge Full Probe

LONDON (AP)—Pressure mounted in Britain today for a top-level probe into the nation's security system following the conviction of another agent who spied for the Soviet Union while working for the government.

Fear grew that the United States might reconsider sharing its own secrets with Britain lest they fall into Communist hands. A nationwide uproar followed the revelation of more than nine years of treachery by George Blake, a Foreign Office official sentenced to 42 years in prison for dumping vital secrets to the Soviets.

The disclosure of Blake's defection, coming soon after the conviction in March of five other spies who passed naval secrets to the Soviets, sparked new demands from shocked members of Parliament for a nonpartisan commission to inquire fully into the security services.

Plane's Wreckage Believed Sighted
EL PASO (AP)—Search planes have sighted the wreckage of a plane believed to be a Cessna 172 missing with two El Paso men aboard.

Bill Thompson of the El Paso Times spotted the wreckage Wednesday 30 miles southeast of El Paso, in a Chisos Mountains area.

The plane crashed upside down in very rugged terrain.

Miss Cobb Would Like Rocket Ride

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Edition

NEW YORK (AP)—When the rocket carrying the first American into space blasts off at Cape Canaveral, Jerrie Cobb's heart will be in her mouth.

"But he'll make it," she says confidently. "There are hundreds of things to check and recheck. But once he goes, I'm sure he'll make it."

Jerrie doesn't know the astronaut, but she knows the astronaut.

If any woman understands the special hardships—and lure—of flight beyond the earth's atmosphere, it's this pretty, blonde-powdered Oklahoma woman who was the first of her sex to undergo tests for space travel.

More than anything, except being rocketed "up herself," Jerrie wants to be in Canaveral for the shot. But an aviation meeting is grounding her in New York this week. She was up all night before the postponed Tuesday blastoff receiving periodic reports by telephone from friends working on the countdown.

"I have a lot of hope I'll get into space, but I know it will be no time immediately."

"Men have always been the true pioneers," she says, with only the faintest trace of a smile, "and nobody's trying to take anything away from them."

The truth is, men and women are uniquely suited for different assignments. There is absolutely no competition with men. Both will be needed."

Jerrie, who has logged more than 8,000 flying hours, could pilot her dad's open cockpit plane at 12. In her teens she parked and waxed planes, played women's semipro baseball for money for her first car.

Her father, a retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, and her mother, who's interested in her daughter's work but doesn't fly herself, live in Ponca City, Okla.

She shares a huge house in Oklahoma City with a newspaper woman and has no plans for marriage, "although like any woman I'd like to marry some day. But right now, space is the most important thing in my life."

She couples being consultant to the Lovelace Foundation for women astronaut testing with a full-time job for a light plane manufacturing company.

Mrs. Olan Johnson Hostess To Hermleigh H-D

The Hermleigh Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday afternoon for their regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Olan Johnson.

Roll call was answered by eight members who gave their chosen subjects for the year. Mrs. Roy Patterson opened the meeting with prayer.

The club voted to donate $5 to the Mental Hospital at Austin. Miss Ruby Butts gave an interesting program on "Keeping Young By The Way You Work."

Mrs. Fred Swint and Mrs. Ben Henderson were welcomed as new members. Mrs. Roy Causton was a guest and awarded the lucky lady gift for the day.

Refreshments of tuna salad, coffee and Cokes were served.

California Broccoli

1 bunch (about 1 1/2 pounds) broccoli
1 strips bacon
1 medium onion and 1 clove garlic
put through fine knife of food chopper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
Salt and pepper

Wash and trim broccoli, divide into large stalks lengthwise and stalks will be of even size. Cook, covered, in small amount of boiling salted water until tender-crisp; drain dry. Fry bacon until crisp; remove bacon leaving drippings in skillet. Put cooked broccoli and bacon through food chopper. Add chopped onion and garlic to bacon drippings in skillet and saute; remove from heat.

Remove from heat, add onion and garlic to broccoli-bacon. (Discard bacon drippings.) In a saucepan melt butter over low heat; stir in flour. Add milk; cook and stir constantly over low heat until thickened. Add broccoli mixture and salt and pepper to taste; bring to a slow boil. Makes 4 servings.

Revision To Be Discussed

DALLAS (AP) — High school coaches in Dallas and Fort Worth want the Texas Interscholastic League to revise its setup for track competition.

Among other things, coaches decided to ask during the state track and field meet in Austin this week-end that eight regional meets be held to qualify athletes for the state finals.

Qualifying sites were reduced from eight to four in 1959 when coaches voted to enlarge the state meet from three to five divisions. At the same time state preliminaries were dropped in all but Class B.

WE'VE GOT A SUGGESTION-

Snow Shovels Have Big Hand In Rapid Growth Of Tucson

By INEZ ROBB
TUCSON, Ariz. — The Tucson Chamber of Commerce, if it had an ounce of gratitude in its soul, would decree a special award of merit for the manufacturers of snow shovels.

That symbol of Northern servitude is one of the prime factors for the fantastic growth, not only of Tucson and Arizona, but of the whole sun-soaked Southwest.

If the snow shovel sends hordes of newcomers into this area, so does another tough factor known as "competition." To my surprise, it bothers a lot of would-be Arizonians as much as galoshes.

In 1960, the Tucson Chamber of Commerce answered 63,000 letters of inquiry which, like Gaul, can be divided into three main categories. In the first group, the writers want to know if "our climate really cures sinus, or asthma or arthritis" as the case may be.

But an almost equally large batch of correspondents are eager to learn "if competition or pressure is as stiff or mean," "back-breaking," "crushing" as in, say, Boston, New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Atlanta, Milwaukee, Birmingham or Seattle.

The third and final category simply states, "I am tired of bucking the winter up North." Usually, by the time the C. of C. receives that missive, the person who wrote it is already on his way. He has a "breviary snow" for the last time and given his long John to the neighbors.

What do you tell the persons in categories one and two? I asked a Chamber of Commerce spokesman who thoughtfully adjusted his sunglasses before speaking. "We don't promise any hard and fast cures for sinus or arthritis or asthma," he said. "But we tell them that they are certain to enjoy great, even extreme, relief in this dry, sunny climate and we can point to a number of miracle cases."

It is my experience that the Chamber of Commerce doesn't have to point to the "miracle" cases; they — the cases — point to themselves. The middle-aged woman who washed and set my hair a few days ago flexed the fingers of her right hand and then her left arm. "Look at that!" she proudly demanded. "When I came here three years ago, I had arthritis so bad I couldn't lift my arm."

But what do you tell "em about competition?" I prodded. "It depends on who writes the letter," the spokesman answered. "Here's a letter from a Chicago shoe-repairman who is tired of winter and wants to know what his economic chances would be here. I am writing to tell him that if there is one place that could use a good, quality shoe-repair shop, it's Tucson."

"But this inquiry from a St. Paul plumber is something else. I'll just send him these seven pages from the Yellow Book listing Tucson plumbers and plumbing supplies, and let him decide whether he wants to buck some competition in a town with a population of 263,000."

However, the chances are that the plumber, who is worn out by snow shovels and northern competition, will come anyway. In the decade between 1950-60, Tucson doubled in population, and the Chamber of Commerce prophesies that by 1972, the population will exceed 500,000. Fifteen hundred new families move into town every month, and — again to my surprise — a great many of them come from that paradise of the Pacific, California.

"But why?" I asked. "The freeways that do it," said the C. of C. spokesman, referring to southern California's vaunted highway system. "Folks coming from the East or the North or the South go to southern California and the freeways terrify 'em. They get caught up in all that fast traffic and it stuns 'em. Before you know it, they're heading for palm trees and six-foot geraniums here without all that traffic jazz." The C. of C. man concluded.

Endurable Wife Brings Man Cheer

By HAL ROYLE
NEW YORK, AP — It was one of those rainy days when people speak their doubts about life.

Frances, my wife of 24 years, would you suggest I get married again?

"Please do," she said.

"Why?"

"Because, Rover," she replied, "I couldn't rest quiet in my tomb if I thought there was no one to call you when you are spending an evening at your club with your rowdy friends and remind you it is time to come home and get your sleep."

"That isn't exactly the kind of a second wife I had in mind," I murmured.

"Well, just what kind of a second wife do you have in mind?"

"To tell you the truth, she'd be about 23 years old and docile, with graduate degrees in political science and sociology so she could tell me what's wrong with people and the world, but wouldn't interrupt me when I discussed the future of baseball."

"She would be ravishingly beautiful with long auburn curls and green eyes and a fine old father, rich in money but poor in health."

"Just what would you do with a second wife like that?" asked Frances.

"I'd invite her dear old father to move into our house to live with us," I answered, "and soap the stairs. Then if he kicked and the heat came to the worst—heaven forbid—I'd try to console her with her inheritance."

"Do you honestly think you really could be happy with a rich and lovely wife half your age?" asked Frances. "Don't you think there would be wide gulfs between you?"

"None I wouldn't be willing to try to broad jump," I told her cheerfully. "A fellow has to make the best of life as he finds it."

"And if something happened to me?" I said, "would you marry again?"

"Certainly," replied my wife, indignantly.

"Oh, huh."

"Who? Some young deadbeat that would steal the insurance? I left you and break your heart and leave you alone?"

"Then who?" I demanded.

"Why I'd marry another pot-bellied, middle-aged, bald-headed, daydreaming old just like you," said Frances. "Once a woman gets used to a husband like that, what would she do with another kind—except feel lonesome?"

The sun came out then and the world smiled. You can't beat an endurable wife.

Suit Is Filed In Crash Of Airliner

HOUSTON, AP — A $127,024 damage suit was filed Wednesday by the parents of a Braniff Airways stewardess who was killed in a 1959 plane crash near Buffalo, Tex.

Named defendants were the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and General Motors Corp., manufacturers of the plane's engines.

The suit, filed by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winkler, Fairbault, Minn., alleges the death of their daughter, Miss Leona M. Winkler, 25, was caused by faulty construction and testing of the plane, a Lockheed Electra.
