Woman Claims She's Afraid For Her Life

Russian Request To Change Her Hospital Denied

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The State department today promised asylum for two Soviet school teachers who have figured in current congressional spy investigations if—as expected they want to remain in this country.

At the same time, the department displosed that the Russian government's claim that official agencies of the United States were involved in "kidnapping" at least one of the teachers have been denied directly to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov by American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (UP)—Louise Budenz, former editor of the Communist Daily Worker, had this to say about Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina's jumping from a Soviet consulate window: "I'd hate to be in (Soviet Consul General Jacob) Lomakin's shoes. This probably will mean the firing squad for him."

Moreover, department spokesman Michael J. McDermott also vigorously denied a report broadcast by the Moscow radio that Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett had told the Russian ambassador in Washington last Monday night that one of the teachers, Michael Ivanovitch Samarine, "was subject to interrogation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

FBI Interview Voluntary

McDermott characterized that Moscow radio report, which was represented as the official version of what Molotov told Smith Wednesday night, as being "pretty rough."

McDermott said that Lovett actually told the Soviet ambassador that all he knew was what he had read in the newspapers about the case and that the newspaper accounts showed Samarine had voluntarily requested an interview with the FBI.

The element of individual rights of the Russian school teachers was stressed by McDermott at his mid-day news conference at the State department. It was in this connection that the question of asylum arose. It brought the first precise official statement of American policy in the Samarine case as well as that of Mrs. Oksana Stepanova Kosenkina.

McDermott was asked whether Soviet Consul General Yakob Lomakin or any other official had the right to demand the return of Mrs. Kosenkina to Russia.

Individuals Have Choice

McDermott said Secretary of State Marshall had made clear at a news conference Wednesday "that the right of choice resides in the individual." Broadening his answer to include the Samarines as well as Mrs. Kosenkina, he added:

"If they want to stay here, they stay. You know people who are in the United States and are afraid to return home are given the right of asylum and go to work."

Meanwhile, in New York Mrs. Kosenkina rejected the suggestion of a Soviet vice-consul that she be

Fourth Annual Reunion Opens This Morning

Business, Social Events Feature Two-Day Session

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

Men who went into battle together and who later were interned together behind the walls of Japanese prison camps are attending the fourth annual reunion of the Lost Battalion which opened this morning.

Ninety-nine men had registered up to 2 p. m. at Lubbock and Hilton hotels, and others were expected to register later today. About the same number of wives and children were estimated to be present.

Memorial Service Tonight

A gathering was scheduled from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at Lubbock hotel.

A memorial service will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the First Baptist church in memory of 113 men who lost their lives in battle or in prison camps and other members of the battalion who have since died, said J. H. (Cotton) Bryant of Lubbock, one of the arrangements chairman for the reunion. The service will be open to the public.

It will be followed by a dance at Lubbock hotel for members and guests.

The reunion, which will continue through Saturday night, provides opportunity for men of the battalion to get together for pleasure, but it also has its serious aspects.

To Discuss Legislation

Heinen made clear this morning that veterans of the battalion will discuss legislation and proposals of former prisoners of war for legislation with the aim of having frozen assets of Germany and Japan divided among former prisoners of war. He was discussing that subject informally with veterans and said a discussion "in detail" will take place at the reunion business session at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at Lubbock hotel.

"The legislation that has been passed is entirely inadequate," Heinen said this morning. "It is not complete in itself. It does not embrace any comprehension of the disabilities we actually are suffering." He pointed out he was using the present tense in referring to suffering—not the past tense referring only to the period when the men actually were prisoners of war.

Mistreated By Captors

"I think it is known that the majority of these men are physically disabied as a direct result of mistreatment at the hands of our captors, in violation of the existing international laws covering such points," he said.

He said former prisoners of war

Youths Sought In Hijacking

Two Mexican youths were sought in a dragnet here today in connection with the claim of a Kermit man that they hijacked him of $16 here late Thursday night and fled, leaving a .22 rifle in his truck, after he had suddenly fought back.

Paul M. Moore said the youths followed him to Ninth and Ave. G about 11 o'clock, robbed him, got into his truck cab with him and forced him to drive away.

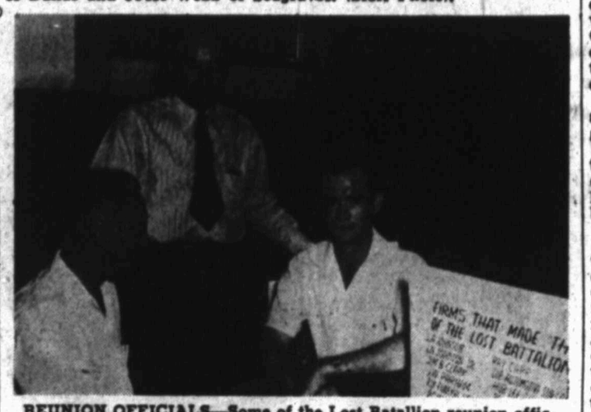

Both Were Armed

One had a knife, the other the gun when he began fighting, the victim told police.

The man's billfold was found empty this morning in the railway district.

Moore gave police a good description of the two suspects. One of them was said to be about 19 years old, weighing 145 pounds, wearing a white shirt and dark trousers, and was believed to have blood on his shirt from the brief fight. The other youth also was be-

Rainfall Over Area Light During Night

West And Northwest Sections Of Plains Get Most; More Hot Weather Forecast

Thunder growled over Lubbock and vicinity throughout the night and electrical displays gave promise of good showers, but the heavens failed to yield more than a teaser of rainfall for South Plains crops in most areas.

Officials at the U. S. Weather bureau station north of the city reported only .06 of an inch rainfall measured here up to 7 o'clock this morning, but said thunderstorms were intermittent "at and near the station all night." The downtown area fared somewhat better, the fire station reporting a measurement of .21, and the Tech rain gauge showing .27 up to 6 a. m. today. The experiment station east of the city recorded .11.

Most of the rain fell west and northwest of Lubbock, with good showers in Hockley, Lamb and Hale counties, according to a check made of morning wire reports of the Santa Fe dispatcher. In the "over-a-third - of - an - inch" class last night were Sudan, .50; Littlefield, .75; Tulia, three-eighths; and Levelland, .33.

The area south of Lubbock was apparently overlooked and areas east of the city received amounts averaging less than one-eighth of an inch. Lorenzo and Crosbyton

East-West Division In Germany Complete

Russian Flag Stripped From Four-Power Berlin Building

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Aug. 13 — The Russians evacuated the Allied four-power Kommandatura building in Berlin today and hauled down their flag.

This action appeared to complete the division of Berlin between the East and West—at least as far as the Russians are concerned.

The Russians withdrew July 1 from the Allied Kommandatura, which had provided four-power administration for this city for three years. They pulled out with the comment that "the Kommandatura no longer exists."

They then announced they would retain their sentry and flag at the building until their archives have been removed. The Kommandatura is situated in the American sector of the city.

Although they walked out on the Allied control council for Germany on March 20, the Russians still fly their colors and maintain sentries at the Allied control authority building.

They also maintain a rep-

Eight Others Are Hurt; Ship Burns Following Crash

LEVELLAND, Aug. 13 (Special) — Information was received here today that Loris Brewer, who had been in service about eight years, was one of the men killed in the crash of a superfortress near Roswell.

Brewer formerly lived in Levelland and attended school here. He was a farmer before entering service. He married Miss Merle Cox, daughter of Joe Cox of Levelland. Mrs. Brewer and their two children, James Byron, 13, and Betty Sue, 7, were in Roswell, where Brewer was stationed and where their home is located, when the crash occurred.

No information had been received here early this afternoon concerning funeral plans. Brewer was estimated to have been about 35 years of age.

NEWSPAPER REPORTS TWELVE ARE KILLED

ROSWELL, N. M., Aug. 13 (AP)—Twelve crewmen were killed and eight others were injured last night in the crash of a B-29 superfortress, the Roswell Record said today.

The ship crashed three miles south of Walker Air Force base near here.

Col. John D. Ryan, field commandant, announced that eight men escaped but declined to say how many were dead pending notification of realatives.

Source Not Revealed

The Record said its count on the death toll came from a responsible source but one which could not be quoted.

Colonel Ryan said the big bomber crashed and burned while taking off on a routine flight. The crash occurred about 11:30 p. m. (MST) 12:30 a. m. CST.

The ship did not catch fire until after it struck, the officer said. An investigation to determine the cause of the crash began immediately.

Jaycees Face Theft Charge

FORT MYERS, Fla., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Nearly 200 of Fort Myers' most prominent citizens went on trial here today for stealing a house.

Judge Jack Shearer set the hearing for noon and scheduled it in the city park, because the courtroom is too small to hold all the defendants."

The entire membership of the Junior Chamber of Commerce—182 to be exact—were the defendants. The city of Fort Myers was the plaintiff.

Judge Is Defendant

The junior chamber decided it would be a good thing if the city had an information booth at the northwest gate and voted to establish one. Without further formalities a committee took a truck to the former Page Army airfield, chose a suitable building and hauled it away.

That made city building inspector Bert Pinkston mad. He declared the action violated city ordinances and swore out a warrant against the entire organization. It was served on President George Whitehurst.

As the trial approached, most of the Jaycees weren't too worried. Judge Shearer is an active member of the Jaycees. That makes him a defendant, too.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—A 19-year-old mother was held on an open charge today after she confessed that she strangled her two-month-old baby because "I didn't like him."

Deputy County Coroner Roy Heron said Mrs. Margaret Hartmann, confessed that she choked the child with her bare hands. Heron said fingerprints were found on the baby's neck.

LUBBOCK RESIDENTS CELEBRATE

Old Bugaboo Of Friday, 13th Strictly "Icky" These Days

By SCOTT RAFFERTY
Journal Staff Writer

Did you know that;

If you live in Lubbock, Texas, the total number of letters, including the comma, in your address is 13?

If you walk under ladders you're liable to get hurt, regardless of whether it's Friday, the 13th, or Wednesday, the umpteenth?

If you have the nasty habit of breaking mirrors, it'll cost you, money and possibly cut hands?

If you are born on Friday, August 13, your birthday really comes only about 15 times every 100 years?

These in mind, it's time to realize that the old Friday the 13th bugaboo is strictly "icky", to use the bobby-sox term. Many Lubbock residents are celebrating birthdays, anniversaries and various and Sundry other glad events today so why not ignore that black cat and throw away those cumbersome horseshoes—but be careful.

"THE IRON CURTAIN"

Starving Man Was 'Enemy Of People'

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

Igor Gouzenko, former cipher clerk at the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa who startled the world with his exposure of the Russian spy network in Canada, was born in 1919. From early childhood he became inured to the hardships and lack of freedom of the fear-dominated Soviet system. Like other Russian children of his generation, he blindly accepted what was drilled into him. As a member of the Komsomols—the Young Communist Youth—he embraced wholeheartedly his role as a potential leader. When a friend and fellow Komsomol, a lively, popular girl named Potekina, was accused of being an "enemy of the people" because her father had been arrested as a Trotskyite, fear and veiled threats drove him to join in the unanimous vote to expel her.

INSTALLMENT 4

In 1937, at the age of eighteen, I was accepted by the Chemko Art Studio for a course in drawing and painting. To pay for my tuition I obtained an assignment as teacher at a school for illiterates attached to a foundry near the city limits.

I have subsequently read, in non-Russian newspapers, accounts of the Soviet's "progressive step toward educating the adult." It was obvious to me that much had been missed but, of course, correspondents can only write about what they see and hear. And seeing and hearing, as far as foreigners in the Soviet are concerned, is thoroughly restricted to what the Soviet wants one to see and hear.

During my year at the foundry's "adult school," I achieved little. The school was nothing but a farce. However, the year I spent there did give me an opportunity to get to know the workers.

Poverty Astounding

Frequently I was invited by the handful of men who stuck at the course to visit the community boarding-house. Invariably their poverty astounded me. None of the workers had any belongings except what was stored in the trunk under each bed.

About 100 men occupied each dormitory, and half of the beds were occupied almost continually by either the night or the day shift. Those waiting to go on shifts were invariably a noisy lot. Nobody paid the least attention to the sleepers.

On one such visit as a guest of a young student-worker, I was looking around and mentally deploring such living conditions for such hard-working men. My escort touched my arm and pointed proudly to some windows on which were some cheap muslin curtains, rarely seen in a worker's house.

"Pretty cultured, isn't it?" he said proudly. "We are in competition with a neighboring community boarding-house, and this month we beat them, largely due, the judges said, to the cultural touch given by such things as these curtains."

Blushed With Pleasure

The young worker actually blushed with pleasure.

Years later I was to remember those curtains, during my first train ride in Canada. There were curtains on the windows of every house, not because of factory competition, but because they were the ordinary things of life.

As we approached Winnipeg on the train, I saw from the window a factory, outside of which automobiles were parked, filling a vast yard. I pointed them out in some excitement to a Canadian soldier whom I had met.

"Look at those automobiles! The government must be making a big inspection."

The soldier looked at me queerly for a moment.

"Hell!" he roared, "those cars belong to the factory workers!"

It was absolutely unbelievable. I was convinced that the soldier was deliberately attempting some lying propaganda. After all what

Meat Costs Up Despite Strike

(By The United Press)

Meat prices have remained at high levels—and even zoomed higher in many cases—despite the price strikes waged by housewives this week, a survey of more than 25 cities showed today.

But the women were determined. They vowed to continue their fight until prices dropped. The movement spread today to Camden, N. J., where 2,500 housewives pledged to stop buying meat for 10 days beginning Monday.

The survey of stores across the nation showed that the average price of lamb chops rose from 86.02 cents to 87.09 a pound. T-bone from 98.6 to 100.3 cents and pork chops from 80.8 to 83.4 cents.

Exceptions To Average

Bacon remained about steady, selling for 72.62 cents this week to 73.09 last week. Roast ham also was about steady at 73.95 cents compared with 73.86 last week, as well as ground round steak which sold at 87.17 cents this week compared with 87.61 last week.

However, the averages did not show the full picture because numerous increases were outweighed by a small number of extreme price drops.

Ham, for example, rose two to three cents at Los Angeles, Char-

Texas Hunters Put Guns Into Shape For Summer Deer Hunt

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Writer

A number of Texas hunters were putting their shooting irons into shape today for the opening of "fall" hunting in five East Texas counties Aug. 16 when it will be legal to bag a deer.

The advance guard of Texas nimrods will put the official touch on the season's opening in what may be the last of hot weather deer hunting.

The month's deer season, to stretch to Sept. 14, will overlap the opening of the season on mourning doves in the northern zone, to run from Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.

Wardens To Be On Hand

A concentration of game wardens was set out to be on hand for the deer season in Jasper, Sabine, San Augustine and Tyler counties.

But there were indications that the season, which last year marked the first time that deer had ever been hunted in the summer in Texas, may be wiped off the books by the 51st legislature next year.

The Game, Fish and Oyster commission said that it is going to keep an "open minded policy" on the summer deer hunting.

But W. C. Glazener, Game Restoration director, added:

"We can reaffirm our intentions of not doing any further deer restocking in those counties until we are satisfied that the summer deer season is not harmful to our game restoration program."

Hunters Swarm Over Area

In 1947, a large number of outside counties and some from out of state, swarmed over the area in search of deer.

Glazener said the commission would "have to be shown" that the counties can permit hunting of deer 10 weeks a year, compared to the six-week deer season in the rest of the state, and "not defeat our restoration program."

There also were reports from the five-county East Texas area that the same sportsmen who asked the 50th legislature for the summer season are going to ask lawmakers in the next session to abolish it.

The regular deer season runs from Nov. 16 to Jan. 1.

Prospects for the mourning dove season opening in the northern zone on Sept. 1 were reported to be "very good."

Reports Are Received

H. E. Faubion, assistant executive secretary of the game commission, said he had received reports that there are "a good many birds."

Hunting in the southern zone will be legal from Oct. 20 to Dec. 3.

The white-wing dove season, to be conducted in the Rio Grande valley on Sept. 17, 19 and 21 from 4 p. m. to sunset, also was reported to be "as promising as the time last year and possibly a little better."

Faubion said white-wing doves were expected to be scattered more than last year when there were virtually none in some areas but heavy concentrations in others.

The commission has noted a northern migration of the white-wings as more nesting areas in the valley are placed under cultivation. White-wings have been reported as far north as Cotulla and San Antonio.

Antelope Report Expected

Game commission officials expected a report soon from the trans-Pecos area on prospects for the antelope season for 1948.

The report, by Game Biologist Frank Etheredge of Alpine, will show census findings and recommend the number of antelope which may be hunted in the season opening Oct. 1.

The game commission regulates the number of antelope which may be bagged and issues permits, usually by drawing, to those eligible for the hunt west of the Pecos.

The season will open Oct. 1, 2 and 3 in Brewster, Jeff Davis, Pecos and Reeves counties and end with hunts in Hudspeth and Culberson counties on Oct. 14.

Last year some 700 permits were issued by the game commission, and about 600 antelope were bagged by hunters.

Nation Said To Lack Leaders In Politics

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—A professor of educational psychology with 50 years of teaching behind him believes the nation lacks competent political leaders today.

He blames the situation on neglect of bright children.

"The current search for political leaders," said Dr. Benjamin Simpson of Western Reserve University, "is due to neglect of the most promising intellectual students.

"If the training of the most promising children had not been so accidental, the country would have one hundred times more statesmen to draw on for public service now."

Dr. Simpson believes that the more desirable the traits of a child, the more guidance is needed to make a leader of him.

He said that while public schools have provided numerous special classes for dull students, the intelligent boys and girls have been left to their own devices.

Restrictions For Polio Prevention Make Life Very Hard For Kentucky Youngsters

By THOMAS E. GISH
UP Staff Writer

FRANKFURT, Ky. Aug. 13. (U.P.)—Life has become intolerably dull for hundreds of Frankfurt children who have been kept at home, away from swimming, movies, drug stores and friends as the city fathers battled to stop the spread of polio.

Under a proclamation by Mayor Ernest Jones, no one aged 17 or younger could appear in any public place. Polio had not yet reached epidemic stage, but with about a dozen cases in a town of less than 11,000 population, no one was willing to take a chance.

Sunday schools were closed. As a substitute, the local radio station broadcast special one-half-hour Sunday school lessons, but most children agreed that "it isn't the same."

One four-year-old girl cried every Sunday because she was kept home. She didn't know what polio was, but she heard the word often enough to call it "polly." "Polly won't let me go to church," she told everyone.

One boy, 17, who only recently came into use of the family car, was especially unhappy. He had to cancel plans for swimming parties, and hasn't yet been able to take his girl out and demonstrate his car-driving technique.

The town's merchants also suffered. One druggist complained that he hadn't sold a comic book in days, and that ice cream and soft drink sales had dropped more than half. Bubble gum sales were at a standstill. Parents forgot, or just didn't care to take such things home with them.

Saturdays, with westerns featured at all theaters, were especially trying on boys of all ages. Thirteen-year-old Harry Gaines said the ban on shows was "darn silly."

No Use Trying

But even if Harry could persuade his parents to let him go, or if he slipped away from home, he still couldn't get into the show. If he got downtown, the policeman on the corner probably would send him back home, and if not, theater attendants would refuse to admit him.

One 22-year-old and his pride of 21 were refused admittance to a show because they had nothing with them to prove they were over 17.

For parents, the ban on child activity was a blessing. Mrs. E. W Wolfe said "it makes things easy on mothers." She explained that she always knew that her young daughter, Mary Jean, was at hand. But for Mary Jean, cooped up at home away from playmates, "it isn't much fun."

Couple Re-Married After 35 Long Years

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—A quiet wedding ceremony united Mary Harbison, 77, and Charles Harbison, 78, for the second time in 54 years.

Mary and Charles were first married in 1894 but were divorced in 1913.

"I never stopped loving him," Mrs. Harbison said, "but he was drinking too much and I couldn't stand it."

Charles moved to Cleveland where he became a salesman. Mary chose to live here among her old memories.

The childless couple spent 34 lonely years apart. Then, a year ago Charles wrote Mary that he'd stopped drinking and wanted to come back to her.

"We only have a few years left," he wrote. "Let's spend them together."

Mary replied with permission for him to visit her so that she might see for herself if he could stay away from liquor. She found he had "conquered himself," she said, so they were reunited by a minister in Mary's home.

"It's never too late to correct a mistake," Mary said. "Maybe our story will help other lonely couples cast aside their stubbornness and find happiness again."

Strike-Bound Plant Will Reopen Monday

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 13. (AP)—The Celanese Corporation of America said it would reopen its strike-bound synthetic chemical plant at Bishop next Monday.

Plant Manager Kenneth Bowen last night said letters notified the 700 CIO Oil Workers International union members on strike that they could return to their jobs with a 15-cent-an-hour increase. He said the union had declined this increase in negotiations.

The union members struck July 26.

Truman Holds Little Hope For Reduction In Cost Of Living

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13—President Truman held out little hope today for a drop in the cost of living as he prepared to act on the Republican anti-inflation bill.

The President took issue at his news conference with a prediction by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that prices may level off soon.

He hopes that Taft is right, the President said yesterday. But he added he doesn't agree with the Ohioan.

Signature Is Expected

The expectation in Washington was that Mr. Truman would sign the credit-curbing bill passed by the special session of Congress which refused to give him the price-wage controls and rationing authority he asked.

A renewed blast at the GOP Congress for this omission was almost certain, since he already has tabbed it a do-nothing Congress.

The Republicans were ready with their answers.

Senator Watkins of Utah disclosed their rebuttal line in advance.

He told a reporter that Congress had approved controls that "go to the root of the matter" of inflation. He said the Republicans had refused to go along with the "unwise steps" of bringing back price controls and rationing.

"What we didn't do was as important as what we did do," Watkins declared

To Reinstate Controls

The Republican bill authorizes the federal reserve board to reinstate wartime controls over time payment buying. The board could fix the down payment required on many articles and the overall time limit for payment in full.

Up to last November, when these controls died, one-third of the purchase price was required first on most articles like washers and radios, with full payment in 15 months.

The new regulations—which one official said would be issued "very quickly" after the bill becomes law—were expected to be more drastic in one respect than the board's previous "regulation W."

That rule exempted any purchases below $50 or above $2,000. But because of the steep climb of automobile and other prices, the new top figure will be closer to $4,000, this official said.

Credit Is Tightened

The Republican bill also tightens up bank credit by authorizing an increase in the reserve requirements behind bank deposits and bank notes.

Both moves are designed to make it harder for individuals and businesses to get credit, so they won't spend so much on a market that doesn't have enough goods to meet demands in most cases.

As a further brake on credit, nine of the 12 federal reserve banks yesterday announced a boost from the present one and one-fourth per cent to one and one-half per cent in their rediscount rate.

That means, effective today, it will cost member banks one-fourth of one per cent more interest to get money from the federal reserve—secured by their government bonds and other securities—to lend to their customers.

Might Slow Buying

The expected result would be to make it a little more costly and difficult for people to get bank loans. This might slow up their buying and ease demands on scarce goods and commodities. The three other federal reserve banks are expected to follow suit.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that he got poor results from Congress on his requests for action on the cost of living and other issues.

Leaving no doubt of his dissatisfaction with anything short of government controls, he said he has been hearing every week since they went off in 1946 that prices are going to level off. They haven't, he added.

A reporter asked about the possible effect of bumper grain and other crops on prices.

Well, the President said, big crops should be a help—in time—in bringing down prices. But he observed that it may be a long time before we know what effect they have. He reminded that most of the crops haven't been harvested yet.

Officer Threatens Oil Well Closure

HOUSTON, Aug. 13 (U.P.) — Oil wells in the Conroe or Humble fields which are allowing salt water to reach the San Jacinto river today were threatened with closure.

John R. Steele, deputy sheriff for the Railroad commission, said he would take a crew of five or six men to investigate the fields Monday and that he would close any offending wells without warning.

The salt water entering the San Jacinto is endangering the already limited supply of water needed for Houston industries.

"The oil men know they are violating the state law if they allow salt water to reach the river," Steele said.

"So if we find them guilty of this practice, we won't give them any further warning. They will have to shut down at once until the situation is corrected.

PREHISTORIC BOWLING BALLS?—A highway crew, blasting near Yreka, Calif., discovered these sandstone balls. The residents like to think they were bowling balls, used by prehistoric inhabitants of the California coast. Science probably has a simpler explanation. Senator Proposes Limiting Russian Activities In U. S.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 13 (AP)—A proposal that Russian activities in the United States be limited was made last night by U. S. Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH).

Bridges, who is chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee, said Russians should be barred "especially" from American industrial plants "lest they learn secrets to be used against the United States."

"There is no place for the Russian secret police in this country," he said.

Limitations Urged

He urged that Russian officials be limited to the "same narrow terms to which American officials are confined in Russia."

He continued:

"We are a friendly nation but there is no sense in allowing our friendliness to be imposed on to the point where we will be destroyed because we trust spies and traitors."

The Senator's proposal was made in commenting on what he termed the "tragic and dramatic escape" of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina from the Russian consulate in New York.

Representatives from 47 South Texas counties were expected to hear detailed reports from seven districts comprising the South Texas region.

Gov. Jester is scheduled to make three talks.

Others expected to take part on the day's program are John D. McCall, Dallas; Col. B. L. Robinson, army engineers, Galveston; R. W. Sundstrum, U. S. geological survey, Austin; Trigg Twichell, U. S. geological survey, Austin; V. C. Marshall, Texas state soil conservation board, Temple and E. V. Spence, state board of water engineers, Austin.

There's Secret Of How To Stoke Up Stogie

Guys Who Distort Face With Cigar Ostracized By Women

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—The cigar is sending up smoke signals of prosperity—amid some feminine cries of complaint.

Last year 15,500,000 smokers in the United States did away with about 6,500,000,000 cigars. This June almost 430,000,000 cigars were released to the trade, 11 per cent more than a year ago.

But these figures bring small cheer to many women who persist in the strange delusion that a man who smokes cigars probably also takes opium and eats small children.

Why? The cigar is as American as the vanishing redskin.

Yet the cigar smoker today is the victim of a widespread female conspiracy against him. If he lights up his Colorado Claro in an airplane, the stewardess flutters up like an angry butterfly.

"Cigaret smoking only!" she says, ferrying away the offending hunk of weed.

Wives Throw 'Hissy'

You stoke up in a friend's house and what often happens? His wife throws open the windows, ties back the curtains, turns the fan on you—and sits glaring with a baleful eye.

My own wife does it. It does no good for me to remind her that she thinks Clark Gable packs terrific he-man glamor, and Gable smokes cigars.

"If you are going to try to compare yourself with Clark Gable," says Frances, "let's start from scratch."

Nor does it influence wives to point out that the Duke of Windsor, who did give up a kingdom for love, didn't forsake the fragrance of a good Havana.

Remembering what happened to the fine old lost art of tobacco chewing, the worried Cigar Institute of America has undertaken a campaign to placate the ladies.

It said a survey disclosed that many women basically object to the way a cigar is usually smoked, rather than to the cigar itself. It gives these etiquette tips:

"1, Look before you flick—for an ash on the try is worth two on the vest.

"(2) Puff a good cigar gently. Laying a smoke screen may easily turn the puff that pleases into the cloud that chokes.

"(3) Please—no butts. A collection of unsightly butts parked promiscuously around the house will antagonize the most angelic wife.

"(4) Don't chew the cigar or talk with a Perfecto clamped in the mouth. Cut the cigar with a sharp blade; don't bite off and spit out the end. And light it with a match that has burned off the sulphur. It helps keep the aroma."

There you are, men. Now light up a big two-for-fifteen Corona deluxe extra hemp special—and watch your wife's face beam in tender pride and understanding. To keep her happy there is one more thing you can do.

Swallow the smoke.

Traffic accidents during 1946 caused 33,500 deaths, 1,150,000 injuries, and property damage and destruction valued at $750,000,000.

Parking Fine Box Comes Into Being

BRISTOW, Okla., Aug. 13 (AP)—A young police officer on the Bristow force now comes up with a parking fine box.

It's just a small metal box attached to a parking meter. Instead of the conventional traffic ticket for overparking, the cop sticks a special envelope under the windshield wiper. All the motorist has to do then is stick the specified amount of the fine in the envelope and put the envelope in the box.

Hinson, a World War two veteran, had some of the boxes made by hand to install in Bristow. Sapulpa, Okla., wanted some, too, and the parking fine box is spreading.

Divorced Wife Of Sailor Found Dead

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Thorpe, 18-year-old divorced wife of a sailor and mother of a 17-month-old baby, was found dead today in the gas-filled kitchen of her home.

The baby, Patricia Anne, was asleep on a living room couch when the dead girl's father came home and discovered his daughter's body. He took the baby into the outside air to prevent harm to her from the gas.

Mrs. Thorpe was married in January, 1946, to Francis Thorpe of Bay City, Texas. She had not seen her husband in two years, her mother said.

New Record Is Set For Baling Cotton

LYFORD, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—The Lyford cooperative cotton gin may have set a new record for baling cotton.

In the last 45 days the lower Rio Grande valley gin has turned out 8,000 bales. Ed Murgerson, manager, said he believed that no other gin in the U. S. ever turned out as many bales in a six-week period.

He said that he expects the gin to handle 2,000 more bales before the season ends on Aug. 31.

Coal production in 1947 in West Virginia was 160,000,000 tons, the greatest ever reached in the nation's major coal state. It was an increase of 13,000,000 tons over 1946.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL . . .

Miserable In America At First, English Wife Now Is Reluctant To Return To Native Land

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a war bride from England and have been here two years. My husband is a fine person and I love him dearly; also my child, now 18 months old.

The trouble is that I can't settle down. I cried a great deal the first months I was here, especially after receiving a letter from home, and felt so homesick I thought I'd die.

I'm beginning to realize I was very childish during the first year, but coming from a very fond family and suddenly having to do everything for myself, including having a baby, was too much to swallow at one go.

Ned's parents haven't been very friendly, due to religious bias, and I find myself always longing for my own mother, whom my husband adores, and for the rest of my family and friends.

SHE CAN'T EXPLAIN NEW FLUX OF FEARS

JUST RECENTLY, after many many months of bad luck and getting into much debt, Ned has suggested returning to England to live, after we've cleared ourselves, of course; and now I find myself wondering if I really want to go. Why is this?

The offer has everything to my advantage. At last Ned and I could go out together, with my mother acting as baby sitter whenever we want. I could work at my much loved profession again, add to our income and obtain many of the material things we've gone without these two years.

Oh, there are heaps of things I could look forward to; so why am I afraid to take the step? Is it because I'm afraid Ned will be as unhappy there as I've been here? I can't think of anything else, and the work of trying to make up my mind is awful. I'd hate to do the wrong thing and mess up our lives. I'm sure I'd be happy again once I got home—but please advise.

Signed C. T.

NEUROTIC ANXIETY DARKENS HER LIFE

DEAR C. T.: It seems to me that basically you are the prey of an anxiety neurosis. You are suffused with "free floating" anxiety, which tends to focus on fear of responsibility since you married.

This would account for your woebegone homesick doldrums as a bride required to take an entirely new way of life in stride; for your feeling that "having to do everything for yourself," including having a baby, was too much to swallow at one go; for your constant longing to get back to mamma—i. e., to the protected child status—etc., etc.

Also it would explain your morbid reluctance to act on Ned's offer to settle in England as soon as local creditors can be appeased, a reluctance which refers to fear that you are responsible for his suggestion, owing to your dreary displeasure with all aspects of the Canadian scene; hence would be "responsible" if he became a malcontent in England and perhaps repeated his econmic failure there, thus humiliating you before family and friends.

WORK OUT PROBLEM ON FAMILIAR SOIL

TO ACHIEVE psychological freedom from these somewhat irrational fears, you would need to understand the infantile composition of your anxiety neurosis. For instance, a childish residual of guilt feelings, or inferiority feelings as regards one's social competence compared to others', or sometimes a conditioning in extreme dependency on overly solicitous parents, are typical components of the diffuse anxiety from which you suffer.

The person thus afflicted ordinarily is incapable of thriving apart from group-support, unless and until he achieves substantial progress toward emotional maturity, with the aid of psychiatric therapy in adult years; hence I think it advisable for you to snap up Ned's offer to return to England, where you can start with feet on familiar ground to work out your central problem, namely: fear of life and distrust of self.

Seventeen million bushels of wheat annually is the toll paid in America because England hired 18,000 Hessian soldiers to help fight the American Revolution. A little insect hitch-hiked the Atlantic in the bedding of the German soldiers, and today, known as the Hessian fly, this pest is the number one enemy of New World wheat farmers.

The man's reply of "I am the owner" still causes the pretty brunette some embarrassment when she remembers it, and the possibility of meeting the motor scooter rider again, is the only thing that keeps her from wanting to return to the Colorado university.

Man Killed In Jukebox Tiff

HOUSTON, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—One person was dead today and two persons were injured, one critically, as the result of a tiff over a jukebox.

The dead man was George Pope, 35.

C. E. Lively, 32, stepson of the owner of the grocery store where the shooting took place, told police he was working on a wall switch when Pope came in and began cursing and fighting with him because the jukebox would not play.

Woman Hit In Hand

William R. Moye, 27, employe of a nightwatch patrol service, said he saw the fight from across the street and broke it up.

Moye said Pope left but returned a few minutes later with a gun, which he fired twice. He hit Ross Valdez, 61, who was sitting on a box drinking a bottle of beer, in the groin and Mrs. E. I. Werth, wife of the owner of the store, in the hand. Moye said Mrs. Werth was hit as she pushed him out of the line of fire.

Moye said he pulled out his own gun and fired five times and that Pope fell back out of the door dead.

Valdez is in a critical condition at a Houston hospital.

Bids Submitted For Museum Completion

Low bids totalling $229,381.00 have been submitted by three contractors for completion of the West Texas Museum building located on the Texas Tech campus.

Directors of the museum association met today in the Hilton hotel for an informal discussion of the bids. At a meeting last night, Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the museum, said the bids were far in excess of earlier estimates of what the building would cost when completed.

The building, when completed, will add two stories to the present first floor-basement structure.

The general construction bid of $186,240 was submitted by W G. McMillan of Lubbock. The Anthony Company of Lubbock submitted two bids, one of $25,265 for heating and air conditioning and a $4,900 bid for plumbing. A bid of $12,876 for electrical work was submitted by American Electric.

In addition, O. R. Walker of Lubbock, architect, has informed the assiciation that his fee for plans and specifications will be $4,000. The original fee, three per cent of the lowest composite bid, was reduced by nearly $3,000 as a gift to the association.

Checker Champs Will Meet At Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—The vanguard of an invasion of top-notch checker players had jumped onto the scene here today as preparations continued for Monday's opening of the world's initial three - place restriction checker tournament.

The early arrivals included J. E. Ingram of West Palm Beach, the Florida state champion, and the Pacific coast champ, Jess B. Hanson of Tacoma, Wash. Hanson had stopped en route at Oakland, Calif., for a workout in which he trounced the California state titlist, Neal Schaller, 4 to 1.

Hanson, the author of the book "Winning Checkers As Played By Experts," was a member of the U. S. team which defeated Great Britain last year.

Man Tries To Hold Up Spokane Hotel

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 13. (U.P.)—"An Indian is trying to hold up the Coeur D'Alene Hotel," a tipster notified police.

Four prowl cars and 15 policemen descended on the hotel.

There they found Joe Antonio pushing with all his might against the north side of the building. Antonio said he was trying to hold up the hotel so it wouldn't tumble into Trent Ave.

Antonio was booked on suspicion of being drunk

Shooting Fatal To Ex-Officer

BANDERA, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Bink West, 37, former Harris county deputy sheriff and operator of the Silver Dollar tavern, was shot to death last night in an argument over a business deal.

A charge of murder was filed against Vance West, Bandera cafe operator and realtor. He was no relation of the dead man.

Sheriff Billy Burns said about 20 customers were in the tavern when the incident occurred. He said the two men got into "a hot argument" about Bink West's selling out his interest in the cafe.

Sheriff Makes Arrest

Vance West left but returned a few minutes later with a gun and fired once at the tavern owner, who was standing by the bar, Burns said.

West died soon after reaching a Kerrville hospital.

"I grabbed the man and arrested him," the sheriff related. "He said he hoped the bullet had missed Mr. West."

Besides being a sheriff's deputy, the dead man had been a lieutenant in the Houston auxiliary police force and a deputy for the Brown Shipbuilding company.

Ku Kluxers Endorse Georgia Candidate

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 13 (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan of Georgia last night officially endorsed Herman Talmadge as its favored candidate in Georgia's governor race.

Grand Dragon Samuel Green standing beside an electric cross, announced the klan's stand at a meeting of several hundred masked and white-robed klansmen in front of the Baldwin county courthouse.

"The Ku Klux Klan . . . endorses Herman Talmadge for governor on the platform he is running on," Green said.

Talmadge, son of the late Gov Eugene Talmadge, is campaigning on a platform of "white supremacy."

Frustrated Teachers Squelch Initiative Of Some Children

By RICHARD TOMPKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 13 — What makes a frustrated school child frustrated? Psychiatrists think it's a frustrated teacher.

That's what the international conference on child psychiatry was told here today. The speaker was Dr. Gordin Stephens, chief psychiatric consultant at the Winnipeg Child Guidance clinic.

A frustrated teacher, he said, is like a bad apple in a barrel. The teacher's personality is taken up by the pupils. A drab teacher increases the drabness of an old schoolhouse and many such teachers are incapable of paying even lip service to the modern concepts of human behavior, Stephens said.

Teachers Thwart Pupils

Such teachers, he declared, regard spontaneity, humor or emotional disturbances—except their own—as highly immoral. The great concern of psychiatrists today, Stephens continued, is the teacher who thwarts her pupils, their initiative and other evidences of growth "to the extent that pathological submission is the only acceptable behavior reaction."

Such a teacher, he went on, will kill initiative, enterprise and any other outward growth in a child in order to make the child obedient. They resort to ridicule and other means of deflation to compel such obedience, thus doing more harm to the child's emotional growth than a whipping would do.

One big trouble, said Stephens, is that the teaching profession is placed on the same "exalted" plane as that of the clergy and the medical profession.

Public Meddlesome

"Possibly th's is the reason why we find that children more frequently comply to frustrating teachers than they do to frustrating parents," he added.

And why are teachers frustrated? Very probably, Stephens thinks, because their initiative is smothered by too rigid supervision. Public meddling in a teacher's personal life also is a cause. Many teachers cannot relax with a cigarette because prejudiced school trustees frown on smoking by teachers.

At the same time, however, too many teachers are inclined to choose their profession as a means of escape from "aggressive and more mature adult environment," Stephens said.

"The same," he added, "can be said about some psychiatrists."

Secrets Of Thyroid Probed By Science

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13. (AP)—Science now is probing the secrets of the vital thyroid gland with the aid of atomic energy.

A husband and wife scientific team has devised a new method of detecting submicroscopic chemicals from body fluids by using atomic isotopes.

These isotopes serve where the most powerful microscopes fail, Dr. Robert Fink, clinical physiochemist at Birmingham Veterans hospital told an atomic medicine seminar yesterday at the University of California at Los Angeles. Dr. Fink said he worked out the process with his wife, Dr. Kathryn F. Fink, a physiochemist at UCLA.

Trailer Residents To Fight City Tax

LARGE, Pa., Aug. 13 (AP) — Residents of Large's trailer camp said today they are going to court to fight Jefferson township school board's trailer tax.

Attorney Harry J. Benjamin, representing the trailer residents, said the $50 levy is unjust because it is a flat sum and makes no allowance for differences in trailer values.

He said also the trailer tax is at a higher rate than that on residences. On a similar basis, said Benjamin, "trailer residences should have to pay no more than $4 per year."

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Signs of the times:

Suddenly, a huge B-29 flew very low over the street. At the same time a dilapidated model-T Ford chugged by.

The youngsters gaped at the car 'til it passed from sight.

One Of Every Six Adults Receiving Money From Federal Government, Survey Reveals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—One of every six adult Americans now is receiving money from the federal government, a United Press survey disclosed today.

Regular payments go to some 15,830,899 citizens. The largest single group are war veterans and their dependents. Others are government employes, members of the armed forces, federal pensioners, social scurity beneficiaries, and farmers.

Federal expenditures during this fiscal year threaten to hit an all-time peactime peak of about $42,000,000,000. That is some 6½ times as much as the government spent in 1920, when the budget called for only $6,403,343,841. Nineteen twenty is a good year to compare with for two reasons. Prices were just about as inflated then as thy are now, and 1920 was a postwar year the same as 1948 is.

Who gets this money under the current budget?

Farmers Biggest Class

Today, 2,900,000 veterans or their dependents are drawing federal pensions. Another 542,560 veterans are getting GI unemployment insurance. Another 2,538,000 are attending school or college under the GI bill, and 545,945 get on-the-job training benefits.

The government also hands out pay checks to 2,086,000 federal employes and meets a cash payroll for 1,412,000 members of the armed forces. Some 125,000 retired civil service employes draw federal checks.

In addition, 2,471,000 persons now draw federal benefits under the social security system. Some 3,205,131 farmers also receive annual chcks ranging from a few dollars to several hundred for soil conservation practices.

Why is the federal government such an expensive proposition now as compared with 1920?

Services Expanded

For one thing this is a much bigger country than it was 28 years ago. Roughly 34 million more people live hre now than in 1920.

(The population today is 143,000,000). Other things that have contributed to the expense bulge are the unprecedented national debt (resulting largely from the second World War), national defense, foreign aid, veterans benefits and the increase in federal services to taxpayers as a result of New Deal "reforms."

Here is the picture in more detail:

1. Public debt: The national debt now stands at something over $253,000,000,000. It costs $5,250,000,000 to pay the interest alone on this debt this year. All government spnding in 1920 totalled only about $1,000,000,000 mor than it cost snow just to pay the interest.

2. Defense and foreign aid: The accelerated defense program has added several billion dollars to this year's budget estimates. Defense spending this year will be around $14,000,000,000 compared with $2,350,000,000 in 1920. Foreign aid is budgeted for around $7,000,000,000 this year.

National Income Boosted

3. Veterans benefits: They total more than $7,000,000,000 this year —exceeding the entire national budgt of 1920.

4. Federal services to taxpayers: The increase here results in the main from such New Deal masures as social security, soil conservation and price support programs for farmers.

While costs of government have been growing, so has national income.

National income was $69,800,000,000 in 1920. Now it is booming along at a rate of $216,300,000,000 a year.

The percentage of national income devoted to federal spending as a result of increased taxes, however, has more than doubled in that span of time.

The $6,403,343,000 spent by the treasury in 1920 was 9.1 per cen: of the total national income then. If present rates of federal spending and national income continue, the governmnt outlay in this fiscal year will be a little more than 19 per cnt of the national income.

On a per capita basis, it cost $60 for every man, woman and child to operate the federal govrnment in 1920. The cost per person today has increased to about $300, not including the expense of state and local governments.

The average American will eat 380 eggs during 1948.

Wallace Explains Difference Between Reds And Progressive Party Members

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (AP)—Henry Wallace says his Progressive party will not tolerate "anyone who preaches the overthrow of the government by force and violence."

The third party presidential candidate made the statement last night in an NBC network broadcast, his first official campaign talk.

He added, however, that "I have not conducted—and never intend to conduct—a purge of the Progressive party on the basis of past political affiliations . . ."

"I have said that I do not believe in Communism, and the Progressive party does not believe in Communism," Wallas said. "Nobody has tried to make the Progressive party believe in Communism.

Party Beliefs Told

"The difference between us and the Communists is that most Progressives, while completely distrustful of monopoly capitalism, still think it is possible through an aroused electorate and decentralized government planning to develop a progressive capitalism which will prevent war, scarcity and depression."

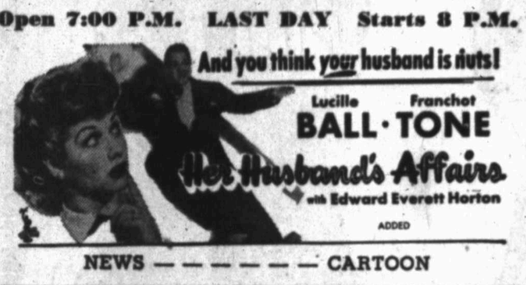

"The Progressive party certainly does not believe in force and violence," he said, "and we will not tolerate in the Progressive party anyone who preaches the overthrow of the government by force and violence, or who commits any act which undermines our constitutional government."

Europe's Refugees Brave Ocean In Tiny Craft For New Country

By WILLIAM HORSEY
United Press Staff Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 13 — A strange exodus from Europe to Latin-America is in progress.

In small boats, hundreds of men, women and children are fleeing for refuge in a new land, as the Pilgrims, Puritans and other groups did when the North American continent was first opened up.

Some brave the dangers of the Atlantic to escape the aftermath of World War II. Others hope to avoid being caught in World War III which they fear is in the making.

In the happier days of the '30s, crossing the Atlantic from Europe to South America in a small boat was left to magazine writers seeking material or to foolhardy adventurers. Now a stream of tiny craft carries frightened Europeans to their imagined land of promise in the Latin-American continent.

Norwegians Get In

Nine Norwegians who escaped from jail in their fatherland, where they were serving terms for quisling activities, left Bergen in a 73-foot steel barge, the Solbris, more than a year ago. They fought for their liberty from a Brazilian prison when the Oslo government started extradition proceedings and carried them to the supreme court. The proceedings were quashed. The hardy Scandinavians have just reached Buenos Aires.

Previously, another group of northern Europeans of mixed nationalities arrived here in the yacht Falken, 75 feet long, after many months of breasting the Roaring Forties and the Trade Winds. They almost lost their lives in the English Channel in bad weather. From Stockholm to Buenos Aires, the voyage lasted more than six months.

Belgians, Dutch and others who said they feared World War III was both imminent and inevitable, got here in Till Eulenspiegel, a converted submarine chaser. They seemed to be mostly fairly well-to-do if not wealthy people. Most came ashore for good, a few elected to return.

La Guaira reported that 30 Republican Spaniards — including a woman and two small children — arrived there in a tiny schooner after 26 days crossing. For that matter, most of the craft carry women and small children. This is only one of many boats putting into Venezuelan ports after a trans-Atlantic crossing.

Poles Captured

Fourteen Poles were seized in a closed motor van by the Uruguayan police as they neared the Argentine frontier, but they steadfastly refused to identify the boat that brought them.

Similarly a shivering group of Jews were found in a long canoe in the labyrinthine waterway system of the Tigre Delta, north of Buenos Aires, by the maritime police flotilla. They were also "brought in" by mysterious agents.

Norwegian embassy officials believe there is a regular organization for getting former collaborators out of Europe and into South America. The majority of the 1948 imitators of Columbus seem to be northern or eastern Europeans fleeing from the countries facing and behind the Iron Curtain.

Thus far, most South American countries have granted them that generous hospitality for which they are famous and most of these huge lands are population-hungry.

Folsom's Political Bug Can Hibernate

COLUMBUS, Ga., Aug. 13. (AP)—Rather than "grow old and be a broken down politician," Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama says he's giving up politics at the end of his term in January, 1951.

The tall chief executive, giving formal confirmation to what he has discussed openly for some time, said yesterday he plans to return to his insurance business when he leaves office.

Folsom came to Columbus to inspect Alabama national guard units at Fort Benning.

"I want to get the political bug out of me while I'm young," the governor said. "I have always said I would never run for office after I'm 40. Well, I'll be 40 in October."

'ONE FALSE MOVE, AND I'LL DRILL—MYSELF'—Jack Webb, Ponca City, Okla., rancher, used to amaze rodeo fans with trick riding and shooting. He's retired, but he keeps his eye with this stunt. His pet rifle is clamped to a coverted typewriter stand and a target is fastened to his hat. Then, a long string, careful sight and—boom—that's all there is to it!

New Flame-Fog Apparatus May Be Means Of Ending Fire Threat In Grass-Belt

SEATTLE, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Prairie fire, the scourge of the grass-belt farming areas around the world, may be licked eventually.

An apparatus has been devised that produces a searing blast of flame and a cloud of fire-quenching fog side by side to do the trick.

Burning Oil And Gas Used

A powerful jet of burning oil and propane gas is shot towards the advancing prairie fire from the back of a truck to lay a fire break at speeds up to 15 miles per hour. The artificially burned-off strip is bounded on the downward side by wet grass "fire-proofed" by streams of fine spray.

The rig has stopped grass fires on the benchlands of western Washington in winds as high as 35 miles per hour. Attached to a four-by-four tank truck, the 200-pound burner and drenching unit can be driven over the roughest prairie at close to eight miles per hour.

Ambrose B. Everts, who has spent the last 25 years fighting fire with the U. S. Forest Service, built the first pilot model of the "firefog unit" three years ago at a cost of $30.

Patent Is Applied For

The 45-year-old inventor has applied to the government for permission to patent his latest model, which succeeds three experimental machines.

The flames from the three burners of the new model is hot enough to scorch a 15-foot path through the thickest grass. Backing up this "quick burn" are eight fog nozzles which dampen an area up to 10 feet in width.

Ranchers who watched tests of the model in western Washington this year said that with improvements they could use the rig to handle sagebrush fires, too.

In western Washington, prairie fires have been known to sweep 20,000 acres in a single afternoon.

"We've been trying to fight prairie fire with wet sacks and plowed lines too long," Everts said.

Bible Is Reported Popular In Japan

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Protestant Christianity has a "most welcome" place among Japan's 78,000,000 people according to Soichi Soito, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Japan.

In an interview here Toito said there is a tremendous Bible reading movement in Japan. "The Japanese people consider the teachings of the Bible one of the principal reasons for the greatness and progress of the American people," he added.

Soito is visiting American Y.M.C.A.s.

Maharajah Books Passage To India

PARIS, Aug. 13. (AP)—Trans-World Airline officials said today the Maharajah of Baroda has booked passage to India for tonight.

The 42-year-old ruler, one of the world's richest men, dismissed as "absurd" last night in London charges that he misappropriated almost $10,000,000 in Baroda state funds.

Officials in Baroda said, however, they expected the Maharajah to return this weekend to answer the charges.

Resting at his Headley, Surrey, home in England after a trip from the United States aboard the Queen Elizabeth, the ruler let it be known he wasn't mad about demands for his abdication.

"Why should he be?" said his secretary, Chotalal Bhatt. "These charges and allegations are not news to us. It is repeatedly going on. It is what happens in India."

Negro Woman Freed On Liquor Charge

A verdict finding Helen Boswell, about 35, a negro woman, innocent of a charge of having sold whisky to Ray A. Hutcheson, a state Liquor Control board inspector, was returned Thursday afternoon by a county court jury.

Special County Judge Ralph Brock presided. Foreman of the jury was W. G. Clayton.

The defense set up a plea of agency, in efforts to convince the jury that the defendant did not make the charged sale herself; rather that she, acting for and through request of the inspector, bought the spirits for him.

Hutcheson testified at the morning session. The Boswell woman and three of her witnesses testified for the defense. She was represented by the firm of Denton and Salyars. The prosecution was handled by County Attorney John Steele and his assistant, Winston Brummett.

Between . . . The Lines

— By JOE KELLY —

The American Legion nine fell victim to Dallas power last night at Paris in the opening game of the state American Legion tournament, but they aren't out yet. The Lubbock boys, undoubtedly nervous and tense in the rarefied atmosphere of the big city players, never got started. But baseball being what it is, whether it is sandlot, amateur, semi-pro or professional, it wouldn't surprise us a bit to see the Lubbock nine rebound at the expense of Beaumont. That would keep them in the tournament and give them another chance. We hope, for their sake, that that is what happens.

Over at Wichita Falls Jackie Neel set the softball fans on their ears by coming within one man of a perfect game. He had plenty of glory in his no-hit, no-run game and it would have been a minor miracle if he had faced only 24 batters during the eight-inning span. As it was, two batters reached base, one on a walk and another on an error. The walk was erased by a good throw on an attempted steal; the error runner remained on base to break the perfect spell. Of the four hits by Lubbock players, James Abbott had two doubles, but was left stranded; Roy Butler had a single, but was left stranded; and Byron Clark had a home run to win the game.

Tonight the Thomas-Sunbeamers go after their second win and if G. W. Warden is in top form, don't be surprised if he turns in almost as good a performance as Neel. The Texas Tech student is really good when he is at his best and such a tournament is the kind of challenge he likes best. He might be the surprise of the Lubbock team; or he might not. Whatever the outcome, Warden will have done his best tonight, win, lose or draw, and the Thomas-Sunbeamers will have cut their mark among the big city teams. We'd like to see the local nine keep right on winning until they take the biggest plum of all, the A.S.A. state title.

Babe Curfman, the Texas Tech athletic star of recent years, is about to transfer his residence, but not his affections, to Abilene. Abilene will profit by his presence, Lubbock will lose. The genial ex-head football coach of New Mexico A and M has been living here since his resignation at the Border Conference institution. He has been active in local sports and activities. He has been a good influence, a good neighbor. We're sorry to have him leave, but hope that he will come back soon. Babe works for a sporting goods firm that has changed his territory, but don't be surprised if the next time you see him he's in uniform—and not as an advertisement.

An Avalanche-Journal ex, Carlton Keedy, now sports editor of The Tyler Morning Telegraph, comes up with the following gem about an ex-Hubber manager, whom you probably will remember, Hack Miller. We quote: "Hack Miller is a young man in his early thirties, with a quiet disposition and an extremely pleasant manner. A nice personality." Margaret Turner, our capable society editor who goes to all the games, brought it to our attention. Not to cast any aspersions on Hack Miller, from what we have heard, Mr. Keedy is shooting slightly wide of the mark. As one of the local ball fans put it, "Hack was the Lippy Durocher of West Texas-New Mexico League." It has been given us on good account that Mr. Miller is young and in his early thirties. But if he has changed into a "quiet disposition," it will be welcome news to the fans of Abilene, Amarillo and other points in the WT-NM loop.

Coach Dell Morgan of the titanic Texas Tech Red Raiders, faced with the toughest schedule in several years, has departed this fair city for Chicago. It's strictly a pleasure trip, with only a casual glance at the Chicago Bears' training camp. The 'casual glance,' however, is apt to last ten days, during which he and Tipp Mooney will pick up some pointers that both Southwest and Border Conference foes may do well to look for this Fall. Dell is dumb like a fox. He's a master of the T formation and called on daily for advice on its intricacies. But if he can learn a thing or two from George Halas, who's had pretty fair success with it, power to him.

That was quite a slugfest the Hubbers had last night, while creeping ahead of Pampa into third place. What we liked most of all was the fine pitching of Roland Miller and the timely, well-distributed hits among the Hubber lineup. Virgil Richardson went hitless, but not so the other players. Every single one of them took part in the massacre of Clovis. As for Miller, he pitched a whale of a game until rain twice gave him too much rest and allowed him to get cold. He had everything persons who saw him beat Amarillo said he had — and some to spare. He's the neatest acquisition the Hubbers have made this year. We hope he has a chance to duel with Frank Stone, Virgil Butler or Don Cantrell of Albuquerque.

THE ROUNDUP: Football tickets for Tech home games are on sale at the athletic office now . . . Gene Hixson makes those catches in centerfield look easy . . . Did you notice that the British, in a special relay race, re-won the disputed relay in a special event? . . . Ray Sanders, while batting last night, had special attention drawn to him by an announcement that he was recently married. Unnerving, to say the least . . . Bowland's sale by Abilene to Mobile of the SA couldn't happen to a nicer, or more deserving, guy . . . Tuffy Nabors called his folks night before last, said he was working on the single wing eleven and probably would be used only on defense.

Hubbers Ease Into Third Above Pampa

The Hubbers did some climbing last night.

They swamped the Clovis Pioneers 15-5 behind the effective hurling of Roland Miller and the heavy hitting of themselves, while Pampa and Borger were being rained out. And they sneaked a game closer to Amarillo, which dropped a 16-13 slugfest to Abilene. The only nine on whom they didn't gain was Albuquerque, the Dukes taking a 7-3 victory from Lamesa, to remain ten games ahead of Lubbock.

Crues Hits 56th

Lots of things happened last night. First of all, Bob Crues hit his 56th home run of the current campaign to climb within one of the total that Bill Serena hit for Lubbock last year. The Gold Sox rightfielder won't set a new minor league record at his present rate, but with about 30 games left, he should have little trouble going over the 60 mark.

And secondly, Art Bowland, former Abilene manager, was sold to Mobile of the Southern Association for two players and an undisclosed cash sum. Bowland served this year as Blue Sox manager until July 12, when Dixie Davis reported from Pueblo, Colo., to take over. He sported a batting average of .383 and had played both outfield and infield with the Sox.

Face Hard Task

And thirdly, in Lubbock, the Hubbers finally climbed over the Pampa Oilers to lead them by half a game and to trail the Gold Sox by only one contest. But they are faced with a tough break. While they meet the always-tough Borger Gassers, Pampa plays host to Clovis, Amarillo invades slipping Lamesa and Albuquerque goes into Abilene. Of all the teams, the Hubbers face the hardest task in the next two nights.

Also last night in Lubbock, it was announced by General Manager Larry Larsen that Fred Groth had been assigned to Odessa, subject to Gainesville option, and two hurlers, Cotton Russell and Bob Clodfelter, has been taken off the disabled list. In fact, Russell is the probable Hubber chucker tonight as the Gassers invade Rosenthal Field.

Clovis couldn't put up too much opposition against the slants of Roland Miller last night. The newly acquired Lubbock chucker lived up to advance notices in the abbeviated contest, even though he ran into trouble in the eighth. By that time the Pioneers were so far behind that it didn't matter.

Singles At Right Time

And the Hubbers were hitting Chick O'Neill and Tootie Dobbs hard. They only had one double, two triples and a home run, but the singles were potent and coming at the right time. Chick Fowler picked up his 21st homer of the year in the sixth; Manager Jackie Sullivan drove in the first run in the first with a double, scoring Gene Hixson, who had tripled; and Sullivan had a triple in the sixth to lead off the inning.

Wilcy Moore also contributed a damaging three-run error, dropping a fly to left that allowed Miller to score all the way from first.

But Mel Serafini salvaged some glory for the Pioneers. He homered in the sixth with no one on and got his second consecutive circuit clout in the eighth, this time with two on.

So tonight, if weather permits, the Hubbers will go after another victory and the possibility of going into a tie with Amarillo for second, as well as putting more open space between themselves and Pampa.

Cardinals Defeat Red Sox 12 To 5

Don Kerr pitched the Cardinals to a 12 to 5 triumph over the Red Sox in a Pee Wee League game Thursday afternoon, while in the Junior league, the ABC's defeated the Exchange Club, 3 to 2 behind the pitching of Truman Jones.

Wray Clark paced the Cardinals with two singles in four times up. For the losing Sox, Gary Pruitt hit a double that drove in three runs.

Truman Jones hurled for the winning ABC aggregation. Lyndle Bailey had a double and a single in four and also drove in the winning run with a long fly to left field, which was caught by Melvin Taylor. For the Exchange Hulen Haley homered in the last of the first for the best hit the losers managed to get.

Friday, the White Sox meet the Dodgers in the Pee Wee League and Jaycees meet Methodist Men in the Junior League tilt.

CONROE BOUNCES BACK

WACO, Aug. 13 (AP) — Conroe bounced back into the victory column of the state semi-pro baseball tournament last night, pounding Angelo's of Houston, 14-2.

By winning the remainder of its games, Conroe can go into the finals Sunday with the Waco Dons.

Olympics Will End Saturday

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP) — The United States entered the Olympic home stretch today with an imposing total of 35 first place medals. Sweden, its nearest rival, has 11.

The games of the 14th Olympiad close tomorrow afternoon, but before that happens the American basketball team will add another championship—unless most of its members meet with some mishap.

By tradition the Olympic games are for individuals. No squad titles are given, or officially recognized.

How Others Stand

Following the United States and Sweden in the list of coveted first places in all sports are Turkey with 6, Holland, Italy, Hungary and France, 5 each; Denmark 4; Britain 3; Finland, Australia and Egypt, 2 each; and Jamaica, Czechoslovakia, Argentina, Belgium, Austria, Norway, Peru and Switzerland, 1 each.

In a non-Olympic, but traditional appearance, the U. S. men's track team defeated a picked squad from the British Empire, 11½ to 3½ yesterday and then set out for Paris to meet the French Sunday and Monday. The team won't be here for the closing ceremonies.

The British scored one track victory that did much to sweeten their bitter tea. The empire sprint quartet knocked off the Olympic 400-meter champions—the U. S. team that won so easily last Saturday only to be disqualified and then restored to good standing.

Australians Added

It was the addition of two Australians to the team that made the difference—John Bartram and John Treloar. Two faulty American baton exchanges helped the British cause.

Olympic champion Bill Porter glided to victory in 14 seconds in the hurdles, followed by Clyde Scott and Craig Dixon, the same American trio that swept the Olympic high hurdles.

Although professional American boxers lead the world, the amateurs had difficmulty in the Olympics.

Welterweight Horace Herring of St. Petersburg, Fla., was the only U. S. boxer to reach the finals. He polished off Eladio Herrera of Argentina in the quarterfinals and Doug Dupreez of South Africa in the semifinals.

Equestrian Contests

In the second day of equestrian competition, Capt. B. M. Chevallier of France led the endurance test with only four faults. He was followed by Lt. Col. C. H. Anderson of Westminster, Calif., with 15 faults and Lt. Col. F. S. Henry of Cambridge, N. Y., with 21.

Denmark, Sweden and Czechoslovakia swept canoeing and Finland took the lead in gymnastics, which had to be compressed into two days instead of three.

Yachting, which finished up at Torquay yesterday, witnessed a thumping American victory. The U. S. took two firsts, one second and one third in the five classes. The Americans won the six meter class and the star class—the latter with the father and son combination of Paul and Hilary Smart of Norton, Conn.

Women's Softball Tourney Launched

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 13. (AP)—Four teams swept through first and second round games as the double elimination women's state softball tournament got underway here last night.

Paris Cafe of Austin, City Refrigeration of Fort Worth, Pepsi Cola of San Antonio and the San Angelo Red Chicks were the double winners.

In first round games, the San Angelo Red Chicks downed the Austinettes, 12-0; Sid's Cafe of Georgetown trounced Wooten's Orphan Home of Fort Worth, 21-3; Pepsi Cola defeated the Brazos Port Starlets of Velasco, 12-1; and the Paris Cafe blanked the Abilene independents, 3-0.

Second round winners' bracket games saw the Refrigeration team, which drew a first-round bye, whitewash Sid's Cafe, 11-0; Pepsi Cola shut out the Temple Flyers, 7-0; the Paris Cafe whipped Lone Star Clothing of Galveston, which had a bye, 10-1; and the Red Chicks edged the Alazan-Apache club of San Antonio, another bye team, 7-5.

First round losers' bracket tilts saw the Austinettes trim Wooten's Orphan Home, 10-1, and the Abilene independents shellack the Brazos Port Starlets, 10-2.

Lubbock Legion, Defeated By Adamson, Tackles Beaumont

PARIS, Aug. 13 (Special) — Powerful Adamson of Dallas moved toward another state championship in the American Legion junior baseball program by drubbing Lubbock, Area 1 winner, 29-0 in the opening tilt of the Legion state tourney here Thursday night.

Austin's potent Buddies chalked up a win in the nightcap of the opening twin bill, blasting South Park of Beaumont, 20-1.

Losers Tangle Tonight

The two first night losers — Lubbock and Beaumont—will tangle at 9 o'clock tonight in the second round of the double elimination tournament, with the winners—Adamson and Austin—meeting in the 6:30 o'clock setto. Since both Lubbock and Beaumont have one loss each in the meet, the loser in the second tilt tonight will be eliminated from competition.

Lubbock's fading hopes for a state crown will rest on the good left arm of Jackie Martyn, fireball southpaw ace of the South Plains crew. Martyn will start on the mound for Lubbock tonight, with curve-ball artist Billy Jamison slated to twirl for the Beaumont nine. The remainder of the Hub city starting lineup will probably be the same boys that battled Adamson, if injured Outfielder Dorrance Guy is able to play, with Jack Cook catching; Jesse Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, second; Bill Tatum, third; Bob Brown, short; Guy, left field; Jimmy Richards, center field; and Garnet Reeves, right field.

Too Much Power

The Adamson Leopards had too much power for Lubbock in the opening tussle Thursday night.

Led by their slugging second baseman, Kal Segrist, who smashed six hits in six trips to the plate, including two long homers and a triple, the Adamson Leopards crushed their opponents by pushing across runs in every inning. The Dallas crew turned the game into a rout with an eight-run fourth stanza and a 12-run sixth. The game was called after seven innings by agreement.

The victory was Adamson's 26th straight win in an undefeated season.

Ray Fitzpatrick hurled the first five innings for Adamson, giving up just two hits and striking out 12 batters. He was relieved by Robert Aiton, who yielded one safety and struck out three in the final two frames.

Slender Hulen Fowler, Lubbock's ace right-hander, was the victim of the Adamson hit-barrage. Fowler was shelled for 11 hits and 13 runs in 3 1/3 innings, before he was relieved by big Jim Wilson. The Dallas sluggers collected five hits and eight runs off Wilson in two frames, bringing in reserve hurler Jimmy Hamilton.

Nine Lubbock errors contributed heavily to the lopsided final tally.

The South Plains squad suffered a blow when Left Fielder Dorrance Guy fell after making a sensational catch in the fourth inning and had to leave the game. Late reports indicated that Guy had suffered a painful, but not serious, injury of his right shoulder.

Awards Presented

In pre-game ceremonies, state department Commander G. S. Berry presented special awards to individual members of the Adamson and Lubbock teams. Co-captains Dorrance Guy and Bill Tatum received the awards for the Lubbock team.

Commander Berry threw the first ball across the plate, with national Committeeman J. M. Caviness of Paris as catcher, before the Adamson team took to the field.

The Lubbock nine will have a final opportunity to remain in the race for the state championship at 6:30 o'clock Friday night, when the West Texans tangle with the South Park Greenies of Beaumont.

Austin trampled Beaumont, 20-1, in the second game of the doubleheader tonight.

Cleveland Indians Slip Into Second; Idle A's Grab First

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians staged one of their biggest days in history last night, yet were knocked out of first place in the whisker-close American league pennant race.

Held to a split in their doubleheader with the lowly St. Louis Browns, the Indians dropped into second place, two percentage points behind the idle Philadelphia Athletics.

Beaten 8-4 in the first half of the twilight-night twin bill, the Tribe bounced back to bury the Browns under a 26-3 avalanche, but the damage had been done.

Half Game Advantage

The Indians now have captured 63 games and lost 42 for an even .600. Connie Mack's surprising A's, who rose to the top without lifting a finger, have won 65 and lost 43 for .602. They also boast a half game advantage.

Aroused by the first game defeat, which dumped them out of first place for the first time since Aug. 2, the Indians went on the warpath once the lights were turned on, scalping five St. Louis hurlers for 29 hits, good for 48 total bases.

It was the biggest hit total ever made by a Cleveland club since it quit the National league to join the American at the turn of the century, and fell only one short of equalling the league record of 30 set by the New York Yankees July 28, 1923. The major league record of 31 was set by the New York Giants in 1901.

Four Home Runs

Four home runs were hit by the Indians, pitcher Gene Bearden, Larry Doby, Jim Hegan and Walt Judnich hitting circuit blows.

Bob Feller relieved Bearden on the mound in the eighth when the Indians were ahead 26-1 and gave up two St. Louis runs in the ninth.

Joe Ostrowski, making his first major league start, spaced 11 Cleveland hits in the opener to rack up his second victory. The Browns jumped on former teammate Sam Zoldak early, scoring six runs in less than four innings to knock the lefthander off the mound. Dick Kokos pounded out three doubles and Eddie Pellagrini batted in three runs with a double and triple.

The Boston Braves gained a full game on the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals by defeating the Dodgers 2-1 in a thrilling pitching duel in Boston. They now lead the Dodgers and Cards by four full games.

Pirates Beat Cards

The Cards were beaten 3-2 by the Pirates in Pittsburgh when Wally Westlake singled with two out and the bases full in the last of the ninth to drive in the tying and winning runs.

The Braves also won in the ninth. Tied at 1-1, the Braves counted the winning run when Ralph Branca let loose with a wild pitch, allowing Sisti to cross the plate.

Warren Spahn went all the way for the Braves, allowing only five hits. It was his ninth victory.

The Cards appeared all set to move into second place as they went into the last half of the ninth with a 2-1 lead. Murry Dickson, who had permitted only three hits in eight innings, had singled in the third and scored on Marty Marion's bingle. After the Pirates tied the score in the sixth, Dickson singled in the ninth to drive in Enos Slaughter with what appeared to be the winning run.

The Pirates set the stage for Westlake's winning hit when a single by Max West, an error by Marion, a sacrifice and an intentional pass to Dixie Walker loaded the bases with one out. Dickson forced Ralph Kiner to pop out, but Westlake came through with the payoff wallop.

The victory moved Pittsburgh into the first division by .0008 over the New York Giants, .5204 to .5196.

The only other scheduled game — Boston at New York in the American league—was postponed by rain.

Jinx Day For Loop Possible

(By The Associated Press)

This could really be a "jinx" day for San Antonio.

If Beaumont knocks off the Missions tonight and Shreveport makes it three in a row over Houston, the Texas League is going to have a newcomer to the first division.

Shreveport climbed within half-game of San Antonio's fourth place spot last night by beating Houston for the second time, 5-4.

San Antonio squared its series with Beaumont, 10-3.

In other games, Oklahoma City pounded Fort Worth again, 7-5, and Dallas split with Tulsa. Paul Hinrichs pitched the Rebels to a 2-1 decision in the opener, but Tulsa took the nightcap, 9-8.

Shreveport pushed across a run in the top of the tenth to beat Houston.

San Antonio collected an even dozen hits off three Beaumont pitchers while Ray Shore won his second game.

Pete Deem's three-run pinch homer in the seventh brought Oklahoma City from behind and clinched the Indians' victory.

Winners In City Tournament Named

Bobby Boles, representing Carlisle park, emerged champion in the city-wide carrom playoff held Thursday afternoon at Carlisle park. Runner-up was Chuck Strehli from Wagner park.

Two players, first and second winners in the local tournaments, represented each park in the playoff.

In the first round, Jimmie Roberson of Burns was defeated by Bobby May of Carlisle; Chuck Strehli of Wagner won over Charles Roberson of Burns; and Jimmie Evans of Wagner and Don Boles of Carlisle advanced to the second round when both players from Pioneer park defaulted.

Jimmie Evans was defeated by Don Boles and Bobby May lost to Chuck Strehli in the second round.

The city-wide playoff among park champions in ping pong will be held at 3 p. m. Monday at Pioneer park. Playoffs in "Wari," checkers and horseshoes will follow.

Local contests are also being held in storytelling, with the city-wide contest to be held August 24 at the Barbecue pit in Mackenzie park. Mrs. Gladys Sims is arranging this last event.

Park playgrounds will not be supervised this afternoon, because of the picnic for city employees, for which playground directors are planning and will conduct games. Morning hours will be observed as usual today and Saturday, however, according to announcement from the Recreation department.

Tennis Tournament In Second Rounds

DALLAS, Aug. 13 (AP) — The Texas Amateur Athletic Federation tennis tournament moves into its second round today with most of the favorites still in the running.

Except for the default of San Antonio's Jesse Pfeiffer to Frank Arrington of Austin in men's singles, favorites advanced with little trouble yesterday.

Play started yesterday in ten of twelve divisions and the men's and women's doubles open today.

Jackie Neel Hurls A No-Hit, No-Run Tilt In ASA Tourney

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 13 (Special)—G. W. Warden probably will hurl for the Thomas-Sunbeamers softball team here tonight when they face the B-1 Bottlers of San Antonio in an A.S.A. state tournament second round softball game in Scotland Park.

Warden will face one of the strongest teams in the tourney, a nine that is seeded in the top four and given the best chance of winning the state title. They won their first round game last night by default, while the Lubbock nine was battling overtime.

No-Hit, No-Run Game

And the eight-inning battle between Lubbock and Lysaught Furniture was won in the bottom half of the inning on Byron Clark's pinch hit home run, after Jackie Neel had hurled a no-hit, no-run game.

Neel almost hurled a perfect game, only two Lysaught batters reaching base, one by a walk and one by an error. It was the latter who ruined Neel's perfect game, making him face 25 men in the eight-inning stretch.

Neel In Command

The moon-faced chucker was in command of the game all the way, striking out 16 batters and walking only one. The lone stroller during the contest was erased on a great throw by Catcher Willis James, who caught the runner on an attempted steal.

Knowland Weeks, Neel's opponent tonight, almost matched pitch for pitch with the Lubbock man, but could not quite rise to the same heights. He fanned 11 Lubbock batters and walked only two in facing 29 men in eight innings.

The fatal eighth opened with Wally Fowler becoming the 11th whiff victim. James Abbott, who had hit two doubles, grounded out and Texas Tech's Charley Reynolds came to bat. At this point Manager Blackie Hilliard tried strategy. He yanked Reynolds and inserted Clark.

Clark didn't wait long. He caught the first pitch coming in and lifted it over the leftfield fence, the ball easily clearing the barrier 280 feet from home plate. That was the ball game.

The line score:

Lysaught	000 000 00—0	0	1
Lubbock	000 000 01—1	4	1

Bambino's Condition Improved; Hosts Of Friends Await Word

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Babe Ruth's condition remained improved today.

The latest hospital bulletin said last night that his condition remained unchanged, after he rallied yesterday morning.

The home-run king still was on the critical list, but his wife, Claire, told newsmen "he's feeling better."

Ruth, the idol of two generations of baseball fans, has been in the hospital since June. He has been sick for the past two years, but his condition suddenly became worse Wednesday morning after he contracted a cold.

His physician said the cold developed pulmonary complications and his temperature climbed alarmingly.

Yesterday morning, the Memorial hospital center for cancer and allied diseases, reported his "condition improved, although still critical."

Babe Declares Men Golfers Are Sissies

NORTHFIELD, N. J., Aug. 13. (AP)—When you get right down to it, says Babe Zaharias, the men golfers of this country are practically sissies—they are afraid to let her play in their big tournaments.

Mrs. Zaharias, favored to win the Women's National Open which begins today after a day's postponement because of rain, recalled her attempt to enter the men's open last spring.

The Babe said she made an informal request to play in the open.

"You know what they did?" she asked. "Changed their rules. Inserted the word 'male' somewhere. They made it strictly a man's tournament."

Mrs. Zaharias feels she can outplay quite a few of the nation's leading men golfers. It's not a matter of satisfying her pride, this desire to compete with men. She says current women golfers are not strong enough to bring out her best game.

Second Rounds Are Played In Tourney

Several of Lubbock's top golf aces chalked up second round victories in the championship flight of the annual Lubbock Country club tourney Thursday, Pro Herb Schroeder reported last night, with favorites continuing to set the pace in the feature meet.

Lofton Burnette gained a decisive win over Ted Tipps, 5 and 4, in a feature setto; while Dr. W. A. Schaal dropped Lawrence Banks, 4 and 3.

Other results included: M. R. Tripp defeated Melvin Best, 3 and 2; Chick Trout, sr., eliminated John Raley, 6 and 5; Jimmy Goldman bested Fenner Tubbs, 5 and 3; Raymond Marshall edged Jack Markham, 3 and 2; Lindsay Telford beat Hiram Parks, 5 and 4; and Kay Bradshaw topped F. L. McRee, one up.

Third round matches in the championship flight must be reported not later than tonight, Schroeder said.

In the weekly ladies' golf play, Mrs. George Soash copped top honors in the 18-hole flight. Mrs. Culver Hill won the nine-hole event, while Mrs. Ira T. Dunlap took first in the nine hole beginners' flight.

Deadline On TAAF Entries Is Tonight

All entries for the district TAAF softball tournament, scheduled here Aug. 16-21 at Jumbo Webster park, must be in meet headquarters not later than tonight, officials have announced.

Entries may be phoned or mailed to Curtis Barrett at the City Recreation department in Lubbock. An entry fee of 20 dollars per team will be required.

Show Stolen From Favored Mangrum

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Cal., and Henry Ransom, Ravinia, Ill., stole the show today from pre-tourney favorite Lloyd Mangrum in the $15,000 St. Paul open golf tournament.

Demaret and Ransom both fired five-under-par 67s in the initial 18-hole round yesterday, while Mangrum was three strokes off with a 70 at the start of today's second round.

Mangrum, golf's leading money winner in 1948, could blame erratic putting for most of his troubles. Time and again he missed short putts that could have given him the lead in the four-day 72-hole tourney at Keller course.

Demaret, who was last year's top money man, and the veteran Ransom both put together rounds of 33 and 34.

Three other professionals, Bill Nary of Phoenix, Ariz., Ky Laffoon, of St. Andrews, Ill., and Otto Grenier, of Baltimore, were a single stroke behind with 68s.

Abilene beat Santa Cruz, Calif., 3-0; St. Paul blanked Austin, 1-0, and Toledo defeated Kansas City, 2-0, to advance.

Body Of Nude Blonde Found

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—The body of a nude blonde who had been stabbed to death was found today in a Greenwich Village apartment and a few hours later police arrested a Cuban seaman who, they said, admitted "striking" the woman.

The unidentified body was found by the owner of the apartment who said he had loaned the place to the seaman, Alfredo Hornego, "for several hours" last night.

Immediately afterward police sent out an alarm for Hornego who was picked up at the midtown apartment of another woman.

Picked Up In Bar

Hornego told the police he picked up the woman, who appeared to be about 35 years old, in an uptown bar. He said he took her to the apartment of his friend, William Quentano. However, he gave no motive for striking the woman.

Quentano found the body of the blonde lying across his bed when he returned from work about 4 a. m. He notified police and gave them the name and description of the seaman to whom he said he had loaned his apartment.

Police said that the woman's body had several stab wounds in the neck. Her clothes lay on a nearby chair

Meat Prices

leston, W. Va., Detroit, Washington, Columbus, O., and Indianapolis, but the averages failed to show this because of two big reductions, 12 cents at Minneapolis and six cents at Kansas City.

Pork chops and lamb chops increased in more cities than any other type of meat.

Pork Off In Oklahoma

Pork cuts were up from one to four cents at Washington, Columbus, Minneapolis, Indianapolis, Buffalo, St. Louis, Raleigh, N. C., Salt Lake City, Fort Wayne, New York, Milwaukee and Atlanta. A six cent increase was tacked on today at Boise, Ida.

Oklahoma City was the only one besides Kansas City and Minneapolis reporting a decrease, from 75 to 72 cents, on pork chops. Butchers there said that "pork was reduced because it always moved slow in summer-time."

Lamb chops rose from 99 cents to $1.09 at Washington and Philadelphia and lesser amounts at Cleveland, where a meat strike was launched yesterday, Los Angeles, Raleigh, and Pittsburgh. One Columbus, O., chain boosted its price four cents but another held it steady.

The only decrease in lamb chops was at Kansas City, where prices dropped from .98 to .89 a pound.

T-bone steaks showed the biggest fluctuations from last week, rising from .95 to $1,17 a pound at Los Angeles and .99 to $1.09 at Washington. One Columbus store chain boosted its price six cents but the other one checked knocked it down two cents.

At Dallas, where the meat strike movement first started, officials of two big grocery chains said sales reduced this week "but not much." No changes in prices were reported and one chain manager predicted prices will jump, despite the buyers' strike.

Other cities which reported no changes up or down in prices included Boston, Memphis, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Tacoma, Wash., Pierre, S. D., Des Moines, Ia., and Madison, Wis. Many others, however, reported increases or decreases on only one or two types of meat.

Rainfall

In the Panhandle, Pampa reported .62, Amarillo, .06, and Clarendon, .15.

The local weather prediction this morning for Lubbock and vicinity calls for the possibility of more scattered showers this afternoon and tonight, with the maximum temperature again in the high nineties. The minimum humidity this afternoon will probably be about 35 per cent, it was estimated. Yesterday's figure was 29 per cent.

No relief from a state-wide heat wave was in sight this morning, according to a report issued by the Associated Press. Pampa had the state's coolest weather in the early morning hours with a 67. El Paso was the coolest spot yesterday with a high reading of 91

Elsewhere it was plain hot. Mineral Wells reported 107. Abilene, Corsicana and Crystal City registered 105 scorchers. Laredo, Wichita Falls and Presidio showed 104, and Fort Worth, Dallas, Bryan and Tyler, 103.

Hall County Picnic Planned For Sunday

Attendance of 300 to 500 former Hall county residents now on the South Plains is expected at their annual picnic in Mackenzie State park Sunday afternoon, according to Mrs. R. E. Stroup, of Lubbock, president.

Chas. Whitacre, secretary of the association, invited all former Hall county residents to attend, regardless of whether they are members of the organization.

Futures closed 40 to 75 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Negro Sentenced In Slashing Of Woman

When C. W. Jones, about 25, a negro, pleaded guilty of cutting a negro woman, Sally Jane Logan, with a knife, special County Judge Ralph Brock sentenced him to 60 days in county jail.

The assessment was made this morning. Jones admitted an Aug. 8 aggravated assault.

Two other persons were assessed fines of $50 and costs and their drivers licenses revoked six months after pleading guilty of drunk driving. They were William Manuel McLaury, 24, of Spur and A. J. Brooks, about 42, of Lubbock, court officials said.

The court granted a defense motion for trial continuance of a liquor law violation charge naming Wade Boswell, a negro. The case was passed to Aug. 24, after counsel for Boswell alleged that the same jury panel that would have tried him today listened to evidence Thursday in a case naming Boswell's wife Helen.

moved to another hospital, saying "you kept me a prisoner, you would not let me go."

The suggestion was made by Vice-Consul Zot I. Chepurnykh who visited the police-guarded hospital room of the Russian teacher, seriously injured yesterday when she jumped three stories from the Soviet consulate building.

Hospital Scene Described

Detective William Dyczko, a Russian-speaking officer who was in the hospital room during the vice-consul's visit, said Mrs. Kosenkina said, "no" when Chepurnykh advanced his suggestion.

The detective said that after the vice-consul and a secretary arrived at the hospital and asked for permission to arrange for a visit from the consul general, he and Inspector Michael E. J. Ledden went upstairs to the teacher's room.

They told Mrs. Kosenkina there were two persons from the Soviet consulate who wanted to speak to her, Dyczko said.

"We told her 'we are going to bring them in and see if you can identify them'."

A few minutes later they escorted Chepurnykn and the secretary into the room.

"The injured woman's eyes were open," Dyczko said. The vice-consul earlier had said her eyes were closed.

"Do you know this man?" the detective said he asked Mrs. Kosenkina in Russian.

"Yes," he quoted her as answering.

"Who is he?" the detective said he asked. The woman identified the vice consul.

Russians Accused

The vice-consul, the detective added, then told her in Russian that Soviet Consul General Yakov Lomakin wanted to see her. Mrs. Kosenkina replied: "I do not want to talk to anyone. I do not want to see anyone."

Then, the detective said, came the vice-consul's suggestion that Mrs. Kosenkina consent to be moved from Roosevelt hospital to another hospital, and her refusal with the accusation that "you kept me a prisoner, you would not let me go."

The interview was terminated then by Inspector Ledden

A high police official said that the heavy police guard was stationed at the hospital room solely on the department's own initiative. Mrs. Kosenkina, he said, did not request a bodyguard.

When Cheputnykh emerged from the interview he did not tell newsmen of Mrs. Kosenkina's refusal to be transferred to another institution. He did say, however, that if "possible the consul general may have her moved to another hospital so a Russian-trained nurse or observer could be on hand."

The critically injured teacher expressed fear of consulate officials who went to the hospital with friendly gestures and tried to see her, police said.

"I do not want to see anyone from the Russian consulate," a detective quoted the teacher as saying. "I'm afraid to see them. I fear them and will not see them."

Condition Is Critical

Mrs. Kosenkina—pawn in a cloak-and-dagger struggle between Red and anti-Red Russians—suffered internal injuries, a fractured right leg, a possible fractured pelvis and back injuries. She was placed on the critical list at midnight.

Hospital attaches said she "rested fairly comfortably" last night and at times was cheerful. She slept very little, they said.

Excitement ran through the fashionable neighborhood when the teacher leaped at 2:20 p. m. -CST yesterday from the ornate consulate. The building had been a center of attraction all week as scores of policemen and newsmen were posted outside during the rapid-fire developments in the controversy over Mrs. Kosenkina.

Taken To Highest Level

Vice-Consul Zot I. Chepurnykh said "the whole incident is being taken to the highest level," as the 52-year-old woman's dramatic leap heightened U. S.-Russian tension against a background of alleged espionage.

Mrs. Kosenkina summoned Vladimir Zenzinov, an anti-Communist White Russian friend, to her bedside at Roosevelt hospital last night, and he quoted her as saying:

"Iwas struggling to break out. . . . I was like a bird in a cage. I had to get out."

Mrs. Kosenkina was guarded by two policemen in her room, six detectives on the floor and six patrolmen and a sergeant at the hospital entrances.

White Russians have said Mrs Kosenkina has been fighting against return to Russia after a teaching assignment here because she fears she would be killed.

He said he was referring not to former prisoners of war who are veterans of the Army alone, but also to men of that classification who were in the Navy and Marines.

Heinen said that representatives of the Bataan Veterans organization will be present for the business session. He said Joe Smith of Albuquerque, N. M., commander, and Emanuel Armijo of Santa Fe, vice commander, of that organization are expected to come in later.

The business session will be the first event on Saturday's program. Other Saturday events will be a barbecue at 1 p. m. at the barbecue pit in Mackenzie State park, a gathering Saturday afternoon at Lubbock hotel and a buffet supper and dance Saturday night at Lubbock hotel.

The Lost Battalion, which was the 131st field artillery, received its designation of "Lost Battalion" after the men dropped from sight of Java. They had been taken as prisoners by the Japanese.

At tonight's memorial service, Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of First Methodist church, is to officiate and Robert W. Sisson, manager of the regional office of the Veterans administration is to speak. Announcing a change from the previously announced program, Bryant said this morning Rex Webster would sing a solo, "The Lord's Prayer," and Mrs. C. M. Trout would be organist. The Allied control building also is situated in the American sector. At both buildings flags of the four powers have flown side by side and four-power sentry staffs have been on duty since the Western Allies joined in the occupation of Berlin in July, 1945.

After the Russian withdrawal from the Kommandatura—an act which the U. S., Britain and France refused to recognize legally—the elected German city government alone remained to hold Berlin together.

Since then, however, the anti-Communist administration has been under constant Communist attack and several of its branches have been split between the East and West. This includes the police force and food administration.

A U. S. official told Germans in the U. S. sector last night that polls taken back in the States show the Americans want a strong stand against Russia.

The American military government spokesman, broadcasting on a U. S. zone hookup, declared last night that four out of five Americans said the United States should remain in Berlin even if it meant war.

Iron Curtain

workers could ever earn enough to afford an automobile? Even if they did manage to save such a stupendous sum of money, how could they ever secure permission to buy what belongs only to the government?

Full Of Surprises

My education in the free way of life was full of such surprises. By this very contrast the whole misery and suffering of Soviet life began to be apparent to me.

At every new surprise, my mind would go back to the foundry in Moscow, to the sweating, toiling masses. Their drab existence was relieved only by the feeling of fright less they would lose even their meagre sustenance by an overheard grumble, an unrestrained sigh and so exchange their "freedom" for the chain gang of a forced-labor camp.

Much has been said and written about the happy condition of labor in modern Russia but, believe me, what you hear from Communist soap-boxers is in decided contrast with the real picture.

For example, I was utterly amazed to read of all the strikes taking place, even during wartime, throughout North America. In Russia, there is no such thing as a strike.

Secret Police Busy

The secret police represent a key part of the Soviet regulations regarding industrial plants They are instructed to eliminate the slightest possibility for workers to organize a strike, and hundreds of agents of their "special committee" members have ears continually open for anyone uttering anything resembling a complaint. The trade unions had been, in reality, converted into branches of the NKVD.

Shortly before the war, several workers went on strike in a plant in Gorky. They charged that they were overworked and spent with fatigue. Their families, they added, were at the point of death. Their demands: more food.

The case was given national prominence as a lesson for any strike-minded workers in plants elsewhere throughout Russia. The strikers, fourteen of them, were shot and the shootings given full coverage, including all the lurid details.

Exiled To Siberia

But that was not all. The remaining workers in the plant were exiled to Siberia. Even the NKVD chief of the plant's Special Section was punished for allowing the strike to progress to the action stage. This, of course, was a public warning for all NKVD agents elsewhere to keep on their toes—or else!

New workers were installed in the plant and the controlled press of the Soviet went all-out in telling how happy they were.

It took me a long time after my arrival at Ottawa to accept as truth, and not falsified propaganda, what we read of organized labor in the Western world. It seemed utterly unthinkable that workingmen should be permitted to form tehmselves freely into nationally powerful trade unions with a voice in making decisions affecting rates of pay, the length of the working day and labor conditions.

Nothing can be done about it in Russia today. The new generation of workers has no conception whatever as to the real meaning of a free trade union. They have grown up as a new type of slave: a submissive, patient slave who honestly believes he is free and privileged above all workers anywhere in the world. The worst of it is, there's no way to get to the workers of the Soviet Union. Even if it were possigle to reach them with the facts in written or spoken word, they wouldn't believe what they read or heard.

Thorough, Efficient

The role of informer pays off very little in the Soviet's system of intrigue within labor's ranks. Yet it is both thorough and efficient.

Several workers from each department and in each shift are enrolled as informers by the Special Section, that is, the NKVD. All it means is that they get an extra kilo of bread or an extra pound of sugar per month. It seems a miserable reward for playing Judas to your fellow-workers, but you'll never understand, I hope, the proud joy a worker in a hungry land gets from bringing home extra bread and sugar. The pleasure in his wife's eyes, the happy shrieks of the children, mean that he is a successful provider.

In addition to the eavesdropping hordes, the small-fry informers, the workingmen face a distinctly more dangerous type of spy He is the specially trained NKVD agent who toils as a workingman with the special mission of instigating provocation.

His job is to lull away caution with easy conversation and then draw out the workers into careless talk. He must develop friendships with persons whom the Special Section suspects of "political unreliability.

Taught In Secret Schools

The provocateur, taught in secret schools conducted by the NKVD in every Soviet industrial center, is placed also among the engineers, the administration and even Communist Party and Komsomol members. Graduates are required to sign a pledge under pain of death not to divulge their school's location or even its existence

All such provocateurs have code names, known only to the NKVD headquarters Even the Special Section branches within the plants are generally unaware of these highly trained agents so that, actually, an NKVD agent will frequently report another NKVD agent without either of them suspecting the other's identity

They are immensely powerful. On their word alone a worker may be put into jail or sent to a concentration camp. That is especially true when the worker is doing something particularly dangerous—voicing, perhaps a suggestion for better working conditions—that readily meets the backing of his fellow-workers. Punishing him in the open might incur some disapproval from the general body of workers, so it is much simpler just to have the troublesome one vanish.

As a rule, the head of the local trade union is an agent of the NKVD, which is rather shrewd business. Naturally this would prevent him from ever thinking of organizing a strike.

In this atmosphere of constant spying, eavesdropping and distrust, what chance could there ever be of organizing anything like your trade unions?

man Whiteside of 1920 26th.

Not only is today her birthday, but she was born on Friday, August 13. And, to prove that today is a happy day for Mrs. Whiteside, she even revealed that the year was 1919. Congratulations, Mrs. Whiteside.

The fact that today's his birthday doesn't make much difference to Randall M. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs A. L. Jones of Lubbock. Black cats, ladders, mirrors or calendars don't bother him.

He's three.

It probably means very little more to six-year-old Kenneth Wayne Davis, son of Mrs. D. O. Davis, 2021 Fifth.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Kenney, of San Angelo, visiting relatives in Lubbock, are celebrating their thirteenth wedding anniversary today. They are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J W. Kenney, who live west of Lubbock, and Mrs. Agnes Black, who lives at 1514—you guessed it—13th street.

Among others celebrating birthdays is George (Smidge) guy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Guy, 2610 Twentieth. "Smidge" is 13 and quite proud of it.

The glad day has also rolled around for Mrs. Buster Pharr, 2311 Second, Mrs. Pearl Anderson, 713 Ave. C; Mrs. H. D. Martin, 2123 10th; O. B. Southard, 2202 23rd and Sterling Emens, Texas Tech.

Today is also the third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gee of Route 3. They were married August 13, 1945.

The Thirteenth is fun for these people, and it can be for all of us. Don't let those old superstitions scare you. They went out with the ark. Sudden thought.

TWO U. S. PLANES CRASH IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP) — Two United States four-engined "Flying Coalman" planes spanning the Soviet blockade of Berlin crashed while landing during a heavy rainstorm at Templehof airdrome today.

One smashed through a fence and burned but the crew of three escaped through an emergency hatch.

The other plane, coming down through clouds, landed on a half-completed runway and was heavily damaged. The crew was unhurt. It was a near miracle that the crew was not killed in the plane which burned. Bystanders who usually crowd the end of the field where the plane crashed narrowly escaped injury.

Plane Is Damaged

A few minutes earlier another C-54 coming out of the clouds on instruments came down on a half-completed runway. The plane was ripped by the rough landing but the crew was not hurt.

This morning's crashes brought to five the number of crashes since the air lift to Berlin was started. Five Americans have been killed in these accidents.

The coal-carrying planes were the first four-engined craft to crash in the cargo-carrying operation.

Other Thefts Probed

Another residence burglary was reported to police Thursday afternoon by Mrs Oceil D. Wadsworth of 1502 Ninth street.

Stolen were articles and money amounting to about $50.60, police reports indicated. Included on the missing list were a brown suede handbag valued at $15, a black suede handbag valued at $5, a coin purse, a rhinestone bracelet valued at $5, a woman's skirt, a small bank and cash in the amount of about $22.

Adell Thompson of 1212 Ave. O said that a billfold containing $20 and papers was stolen from her residence. A 14-year-old suspect was later apprehended at Post and most of the money recovered. Being a juvenile, she was released to relatives.

Women Are Fined

Thirteen women who had been arrested by police and charged with vagrancy by prostitution were fined $25 each, by L. W. Forrester, acting city recorder in absence of J. Solon Lea, who is on vacation. The calendar, one of them wryly observed, read Friday 13th. All paid fines.

C. E. Luce, deputy U. S. marshal, removed three youths from county jail and left with them for Mt. Clements, Mich., where they are charged under federal complaint with Dyer act violation.

Allen Oliver Pingle, one of them, is 18, the others juveniles. The youths had admitted in signed statements that they committed several burglaries in Michigan and several others in route to Texas, where they were arrested by Lubbock police. They also admitted to theft of several automobiles in the last year or so.

Peace Bond Set

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, set a peace bond of $250 for Joe Cox, 33, after a hearing on affidavit of the man's wife, Mrs. June Cox, that he had threatened to stomp her. It had not been approved early this afternoon.

Mrs. E. W. Dean of Lorenzo informed police that someone had stolen a pair of $35 glasses, checks and an apron from a purse in her car, parked here.

ABC Club Hears Talk By Lubbock Oil Man

Members of the American Business Club meeting for luncheon today at the Hilton hotel heard a brief talk by Melmut Klaus, president of a local oil exploration company, on the principal uses of oil and the possibilities of human action along lines of endeavor suggested by these uses. Following the talk, a question-answer period was held on oil problems peculiar to the South Plains.

The group also was entertained by an American Tobacco company colored, sound film shown by R. C. Barnes, traveling representative of the company. Announcement was made of the tentative program for the Sixth District convention of the American Business Club, set at Oklahoma City on Sept. 17-18, and of the reappointments of J. A. Fortenberry and Gradie Bownds to the Boys' club committee.

Price Of Wheat Below Support Level Despite Action By U. S.

By WILLIAM FERRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 — Wheat is selling today below the government's theoretical "floor" in most parts of the country. Efforts to hold up the price have bogged down under the weight of heavy sales and lack of storage room.

Recent support efforts have included increases in scheduled exports for September, an official statement that the crop year's export goal will be raised above original intentions, and an Agriculture department campaign to get producers to hold wheat on farms.

But the price of wheat continues below the "support level".

Numerous Loans Reported

The government supports wheat mainly through a loan, based upon 90 per cent of parity. Loans at various terminals are now in effect. Grain experts believe farmers have applied for loans in very large number, but official figures have not been issued.

Prices of wheat yesterday compared with the government loan for the grade of wheat on which the price is quoted were:

Chicago, price $2.21½, loan $2.28; Kansas City, price $2.14-$2.18½, loan $2.23; Minneapolis, $2.18 7/8-$2.24 7/8, loan $2.25.

Major cause for the slump of wheat below the loan, grain men said, appeared to be inability to obtain storage room. To get the loan, wheat must be stored to meet government specifications. With storage space filled, some wheat has had to be dumped on the market.

Loan Price At Peak

However, the government also will give farmers "purchase agreements" on wheat at the same price as the loan. The producer has the option to deliver the wheat to the government at the loan price any time before May 30, 1949. Storage requirements are not as exacting as under the loan.

This year's loan price is the highest on record. Since the program was started in 1938 the loan has increased each year. The national loan level each year, plus the number of bushels placed under the loan, follows:

Year	Loan Average	Bushels
1938	$0.59	85,700,000
1939	0.61	167,700,000
1940	0.64	278,400,000
1941	0.98	366,300,000
1942	1.14	408,100,000
1943	1.23	130,200,000
1944	1.34	180,400,000
1945	1.38	59,700,000
1946	1.49	22,000,000
1947	1.83	31,200,000

Meanwhile, some grain trade sources criticized the loan program. One grain house said, "the whole support program was started at a time of reduced agricultural income, and was designed to prevent disaster to the farmer but was never intended to assure him higher prices year after year."

Government officials have asserted the support program was desireable to assure the farmer there would be no price collapse similar to that following the last war. Because of this, farmers have been encouraged to produce record crops at a time when the world most need them, the officials have stated.

TOOTH-A-MONTH —Around Denver, Colo., they call him "Tooth - a - Month Tommy." He's Thomas Lee Walker, who is eight months old and proudly sports eight teeth. He seems happy about the whole thing.

Wheat In Kansas Puzzle To Farmers

NESS CITY, Kan., Aug. 13 (U.P.) —The amazing Kansas wheat crop is mostly out of the fields now. Sidelight stories of the crop which came from the dust of last fall and winter are popping up much as did the wheat itself when the rains came.

They are stories both of money in the bank and of heartbreak in misjudging the capacity of wheat to bounce back.

Take the case of Ted Groendycke of Medicine Lodge, who owns considerable land in Ness County. He prepared 400 acres for seeding last fall. It was dusty. So he never planted his 400 acres. In May he returned to look at the land.

A wheat crop was growing on it, volunteer wheat. The crop he never planted made him $14,000.

On the other hand, there was the $30,000 mistake made by Frank, Mike and Bill Polcyn of near Russell. They dusted in 600 acres of wheat last fall. Early in the spring they decided it was a colossal bust. They plowed up the wheat while their neighbors left theirs in the dry ground and prayed.

The neighbors got wheat, 20 to 23 bushels to the acre.

The Polcyn brothers figured their hasty plowing cost them $30,000 worth of wheat.

Sister Of Lubbock Woman Is Claimed

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bradbury of 2515 Twenty-fifth street left Thursday night for Hillsboro after being informed of the death of Mrs. W. T. Bradbury's sister, Miss William Sims, 43, in a Dallas hospital earlier last night.

Funeral services for Miss Sims, whose home was in Texarkana, will be conducted in Hillsboro at 5 p. m. this afternoon, according to information given Mrs. Bradbury last night.

Man Posts Bond In Farwell Death Case

Sidney Miller, 41, of Fort Worth, was arraigned in Farwell Thursday on charges of murder in the death Aug. 3 of O. T. McDaniel, Melrose, N. M., farmer and former county commissioner, according to an Associated Press report to The Evening Journal.

It was also learned in Lubbock last night that Miller had been charged in Littlefield with swindling and had posted a bond of $3,000 in connection with the case Thursday afternoon.

Both Bonds Posted

Miller arrested Thursday in Lubbock when he surrendered to Ranger Capt. Bob Crowder, waived preliminary hearing in Farwell on the murder charge and was released on $7,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Ness Newton, the Associated Press reported.

The Fort Worth defendant is scheduled to appear before the Palmer county grand jury Oct. 11.

Sheriff Earl Booth said he understood that Miller operates a liquor store at Fort Worth.

Four other persons also have been charged in connection with the Farwell case.

At the same time, it was disclosed that another of the suspects had been released after questioning.

Arrested by state Rangers of the Lubbock Ranger district, Capt. R. A. Crowder and Raymond Waters, the men were taken to Littlefield, Farwell, Clovis, N. M., and to Melrose, all of which places figure prominently in the investigation.

The 41-year-old man positively was identified Thursday as having been identified with a lease deal that swindled McDaniel of $12,600, it was announced.

McDaniel was found dead in his parked car, a .22 rifle near the body. That was two days after he had purchased what allegedly turned out to be a spurious oil lease on a Mills county farm.

1948 Housing Units Top Record Of 1947

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)— Over 550,000 housing units were started during the first seven months of 1948, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. This is 120,000 units, or 28 percent, more than in the same 1947 period.

Builders started 94,000 units in July, as compared with 96,000 in June and 97,000 in May, the peak month this year.

As it did in 1947, Los Angeles leads in housing permits issued this year. New York City is second. Three Texas cities—Houston, Dallas and San Antonio—were among the leading 10 cities in number of housing construction permits in both 1948 and 1947.

Naming Autos A Snap For Three-Year-Old

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—At an age when most children are interested in no vehicle more complicated than a stroller, Michael Yavorsky, 3, has already become an automobile-identification expert.

Michael's mother, Sylvia, says it started on a recent bus trip. "There goes an Oldsmobile Hydromatic," he remarked after a casual glance out the window. A couple of men passengers, after assuring themselves that they weren't hearing things, tried unsuccessfully for half an hour to stump the boy on the recent makes and models.

A reporter, to make sure there was no trickery involved, tested Michael while the two of them drove alone. The boy came through the identification with flying colors.

WASN'T APPRECIATED

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 13 (U.P.)— Margarita Romero Garcia, 22, told police today she attempted suicide because her lover, a grave digger, did not appreciate her sacrifices in living with him in a graveyard. She said she swallowed 20 aspirin tablets and drank three quarts of intoxicating pulque after her lover struck her during a quarrel.

Lad, 10, Learns An Expensive Lesson

OMAHA, Aug. 13. (AP)—Lester Faison, 10, is plumb disgusted with his first business venture.

Not that his merchandise wasn't salable—how could it be otherwise when he sold $20 bills for 25 cents each?

Lester said he found a small paper container in a trash can in which were two $20 bills and $1 bill. The $1 bill he knew was good. So with it he took himself and his friends to the show.

But the other he "thought was play money." He sold the twenties for 25 cents each.

"If I had only known it was real," moaned Lester.

Official Says Spain Has No Commitments

BARCELONIA, Spain, Aug. 13. (AP)—Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Artajo said today Spain "has not made any commitments" to fight with the Western Powers in the event of war.

And there have not been any conversations designed to align Spain with the West in a war, Martin Artajo said in an interview granted Antonio Sanchez Gomez, director of the newspaper Lo Prensa.

Tito Reaffirms Solidarity With Russia, Agency States

LONDON, Aug. 13. (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito has reaffirmed the solidarity of Yugoslavia with Russia and Eastern Europe's Communist bloc, the official Yugoslav news agency reported today.

At the same time, in a speech made Tuesday before a Communist party meeting in Belgrade, he accused his critics in the Cominform—the Russian-led Communist International Information bureau—of slandering him, the agency said.

The speech was believed to have been the first public comment by Tito on the Cominform's recent denunciation of him and his chief lieutenants. The Cominform said they were not hewing to the party line and were unfriendly to Russia.

Agency Quotes Tito

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency, quoted Tito as saying:

"It would be wrong to think we ever reckoned on going into Socialism alone, that the Soviet Union or the countries of the peoples democracies were no concern of ours, that we want to proceed isolated and that we are endeavoring to proceed isolated.

"We never thought of building Socialism alone. I think our country made a sufficient contribution in this great past struggle to prove sufficiently its solidarity with them in the most difficult days both of the Soviet Union and the enslaved peoples.

"We never could have presumed that today they would be placing at stake that cooperation with us, we never even thought of it."

Affirming his devotion to Marx, Engels and Stalin and accusing his critics of slandering him, Tito said:

Difficulties To Be Overcome

"There is considerable difficulty today but we will—thanks to the unity of the party, thanks to the unity of the people of our country—overcome these difficulties and prove we have been unjustly charged.

"This is not a case of this or that leader, this is a question of Socialism in our country, this is a case that we should prove to the whole world . . . that the interests of our Socialist country are not narrow and nationalistic as we have been reproached but that they are part of the interests of the workers of the whole world."

Earlier, it was learned in Belgrade that a special pamphlet containing the exchange of letters between Tito's Communist party and the Bolshevik party of Russia has been issued. Communist party members have promised to make it public, but not just now.

Johnson Visits San Antonio, Stevenson Plans Radio Talk

(By The Associated Press)

Coke Stevenson, campaigning in East Texas, was to go before a radio microphone in Nacogdoches today to make a statewide broadcast on civil rights measures while his opponent in the runoff race for U. S. Senate, Lyndon Johnson, was to wind up a political visit in San Antonio.

George T. Hinson of Mineola gave Stevenson added encouragement.

The state headquarters of Stevenson at Austin said Hinson wrote that Texas railroad workers were not consulted about the endorsement of Johnson for Senator "by several eastern labor leaders."

Wrote Hinson, local chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen:

"I and the men that work with me are your supporters, regardless."

In San Antonio, Johnson was confident of getting a big majority in the Bexar county capital.

He said he based his belief on a swing-over of support from followers of Houston attorney George Peddy, who ran third in the primary.

"Every report on the campaign's progress continues to be encouraging," Johnson said. "In Houston, El Paso, and in San Antonio, we have found the first primary supporters of George Peddy working with us."

He was to spend most of his time today in Alamo Heights, adjacent to San Antonio.

Stevenson has headquarters in Tyler. He is concentrating on East Texas. He was in Van Zandt county yesterday. His broadcast today from Nacogdoches was scheduled to go out on a string of 20 stations, some on a delayed basis.

Flight From Jungle Ends In Los Angeles Divorce Court

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13 (AP)—A flight which began in a South American jungle has ended in a Los Angeles divorce court.

Juanita Roddy-Eden Patino, 28, former dancer, won a divorce yesterday from Ramon Patino, nephew of the late multimillionair tin magnate, Simon Patino.

Mrs. Patino who married Patino at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., in 1942, said he took her to Colambia last November, ostensibly to sell his rice mills and sugar refinery and then return to this country.

When they reached Barranquilla, Colombia, she said, Patino told her he had tricked her and that he didn't plan to return to the U. S. She said he told her that under Colombian law she could never leave him or own property.

Private detectives were hired to guard her, she said. She added she drugged them and fled to Ecuador and finally back to this country.

The court awarded her custody of their two children and gave her possession of a home here.

An estimated 90 per cent of all kraut packers are sold out, they reported, and add that kraut fanciers had better pray for good weather.

Alabama Cotton Crop Attacked By Disease

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—An unidentified disease is attacking cotton fields in a wide area of western Mobile county, Agricultural Agent Charles J. Brockway reported today.

The disease causes leaves to curl up and fall from the plants, exposing the rapidly maturing cotton bolls and interfering with their development.

City's Population Gain Is Estimated

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—New York City's population has risen to an estimated 8,067,000 as of last July 1.

The annual population estimate, made yesterday by the department of health, indicated a gain of more than 600,000, or about 8.2 per cent, over the 1940 U. S. census total of 7,454,995.

Agent Lists Musts For Bush Leagues To Broadway Hopefuls

BY LEO TURNER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—Three hundred new ones walk bravely into white-haired Chamberlain Brown's office each week and smile.

Good luck smiles at maybe 10 of them.

"They all want to be great actors," Brown said he sat in the rear of his five-room agency, lined with photographs and playbills, most of them yellow with age.

"Five hundred youngsters get a break on Broadway each year," Brown said. "That's more than folks imagine. But only 50 of them make good. And some of those never do too good because they take too many people's advice instead of using their own good sense.

"The first ones I weed out are those who pop in and say 'What's cookin'?'

Fees Necessary

Brown listed three requirements for the kids from the sticks who want to be a Barrymore or a Cornell.

1. Money.
2. Talent.
3. Guts.

"The first thing you have to have before you can go into rehearsals and let a producer see what you've got is $109 for an Equity membership," Brown said. "That's too darned much, but there it is. Then you've got to have money for good photographs and food."

The worst thing a beginner can do is try to copy a famous actor or let a dramatics teacher coach him for a special part for a tryout, Brown said.

City Has Record

"More young actors came from Bridgeport, Conn., than any other town," Brown observed: "Some one there knows how to let them develop their own personality."

"If an actor doesn't have any personality of his own to put into a part, he hasn't got anything to offer."

A young man with twinkling blue eyes came into the room and balanced himself on the balls of his feet.

"Where are you from?" Brown asked.

"Uniontown, Pa.," the boy said.

"I may have that New Jersey thing for you tomorrow," Brown told him.

"His name's Joseph Palvoski," Brown said when he left, "When he first came to me he was sleeping in subways and doing without meals. Where's he going to get money for a union card?"

Formula Reversed

Brown has a partial answer for that. Producers capitalize on the fact that well known names, not talent nor good plays, draw people to box offices. Brown capitalizes on producers. He hash 2,500 theater-goers organized into the "Theater Record Club," who boost their favorite youngsters to producers and sometimes put up the cash to put a promising youngster over.

It all doesn't end in headaches.

Lonnie Chapman, a dock worker who never had any dramatic training and had never read a play until he walked into Brown's office a few weeks ago and said he wanted to act, picked up a Hollywood contract off Brown's desk.

"He had what it took," Brown said. "It's as simple as that."

Final Summer Camp For Children Held

Approximately 45 children attended the culminating summer camp sponsored by the City Recreation department Wednesday afternoon and night at the barbecue pit of Mackenzie State park. The camp was held for those boys and girls selected as best campers during the seven summer camps, and for those who have given assistance as volunteers to Mrs. Gladys Sims, camping director of the department.

An Indian theme was carried out during the camp with the campfire program as the highlight. The group was divided into four tribes, Aztechs, Navajos, Black Siouxs and Tejas, with the tribes led by Mary Ruth Sims, Joyce Worrell, Orville Ray Lightfoot and Billy Pearson.

Chiefs Princesses Named

Deanie Parcell and Keith Morgan were voted to be princesses of the camp, and Mike Rogers and Dixie Smiths were chiefs. They were crowned by Helen Tollison and Tom Lane, who were voted best boy and girl city-wide campers.

Trophies were given to the best campers. Awards were given to Pearson and Lightfoot, Joyce Wheeler and Dixie Smith for outstanding councilling.

The camp was dedicated to Pearson and Lightfoot, who have been volunteer assistants to Mrs. Sims for five summers.

Indian songs were sung by Daphna Temple, Sharlley Fullerton and Doris Lee Vest. Indian oances were presented by a group from the Boys club under the direction of D. J. Reeves, Indian lore director.

A hoop dance was presented by Weldon Cobb. James Solley and Don Webb sang cowboy songs with guitar accompaniment Skits were presented by the four campfire tribes. Billy Sims and Don Mitchell from the Sious tribe won the campfire building contest. Peggy Jim Hamilton told the story of Pocahontas.

Joyce Worrell, Mary Ruth Sims, Orville Ray Lightfoot, Billy Pearson, Dixie Smith and Joyce Wheeler assisted Mrs. Sims with the camp. Approximately 50 parents of the campers were in attendance for the program.

Chance For Engagement Ring Better Now Than During War

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Fashion Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—The average American bridegroom pays from $150 to $200 for his girl's engagement ring, and she has a better chance of getting one today than she did during the hurry-up-wedding war years, jewelers said today.

Engagement and wedding ring manufacturers interviewed at the 43rd annual convention of the American National Retail Jewelers association couldn't agree, however, as to which party usually picks the engagement ring.

Ring Popped As Surprise

Three out of four engaged young men pop the ring on the girl's finger as a surprise, Henry A. Gochman, president of the White Rose Jewelry Manufacturing company, said.

But Herbert Jacobson, president of the Coronation Diamond company, said he didn't think so.

What a young man does, Jacobson said, is go into a shop, look around, maybe pick something out and then bring the girl back to decide.

Then, said Jacobson, is when the salesman really gets to work "showing her the more expensive rings. The guy's in a bad spot. He loses."

Jacobson admits the girl may not like the boy's choice, but he says she can always take the boy's selection back for exchange—alone. That way, she's still in his original price range.

Wedding ring sales go right along with the marriage statistics, and they're off a bit since the war years, Jacobson said. But the sale of engagement rings is determined by other things—right now they're increased because engagements are longer, Jacobson believed.

Whoever buys the engagement ring, it's the bride who picks out the wedding band, Gochman said. And three out of four brides, he estimates, are buying one for the bridegroom along with their own. The average wedding band sells for $20 to $25, he said.

BLOOMIN' NICE—The Queen of the Long Beach, Calif., Flower Show naturally chooses to deck herself out in a few blossoms, as she begins her queenly duties. She's pretty Joan Wagner. Her costume consists of a few well-placed orchids.

Can't Stand To See A Hungry Man Around

STILLWATER, Okla., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Clay Potts is becoming known as the barbecue king.

More than 250,000 persons from all over the nation have tasted his barbecue or fried chicken, and calls for his services come from almost anywhere in or out of the state.

Potts is director of the Oklahoma A. and M. College short course department. He says he "can't stand to see a hungry man around."

When he first was placed in charge of A. and M.'s food units, Potts' job was to see that some 5,000 people were kept well fed and to handle meals for visiting groups on the college campus.

He has served meals to more than 50,000 persons during the last 12 months.

Medical School Has Team To Fight Polio

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. ... (U.P.)—Northwestern University medical school operates one of the nation's four polio teams, on call to aid polio-stricken communities anywhere in the United States.

The team, headed by Dr. Emil D. W. Hauser, assistant professor of bone and joint surgery, consists of seven faculty members who specialize in bone diseases and physical therapy.

When an epidemic of infantile paralysis appears, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis assigns the crew to duty, and pays its expenses.

Crew members' duties include:

Giving consultation to doctors in the community.

Teaching local nurses proper bed posture for patients and how to apply hot packs.

Instruction in techniques of muscle re-education and general exercises.

This is the Northwestern crew's fourth summer of duty. The nation's other three teams are operating from Stanford and Harvard Universities and from the D. T. Watson school of physical therapy, at Leetsdale, Pa.

Doctors Would Ease Fears Of Children

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Don't laugh at your child's fear of the doctor. You may have taught it to him.

According to the Wisconsin State Medical Society, a child is afraid because he is imitating someone else, or because someone has suggested to him that he ought to be afraid.

If you want to avoid creating such fears, the society has these suggestions:

1. If it's going to hurt, say so. Tell the child about the little hurt that will keep him from being hurt much worse later on. That applies especially to preparing the child for injections or vaccinations and visits to the dentist for filling or drilling.

2. An appeal to the child's pride will increase his ability to "take it," if he has been taught to recognize pain as a normal thing.

3. If he is going to the hospital, tell him what to expect. Acquaint him with hospital routine and don't allow others to frighten him with stories of their hospital experience.

4. Visit the doctor even for minor disturbances. Don't let the child associate visits with major catastrophes.

5. Don't use the threat of a visit to the doctor when you can't control a youngster.

Libya's Fate Being Debated At Big Four Meet In London

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
AP Staff Writer

The fate of Italy's North African colonial empire—Libya, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland—again is being debated by the Big Four deputy foreign ministers in London, with the lime-light still centered on Libya.

Libya was the pride of Mussolini, for it was in the Mediterranean washed province of Cirenaica that he created his garden of Eden. Across these fruitful acres, whose fertility even is mentioned in Homer's Odyssey, Il Duce laid out a great agricultural development and settled upon it thousands of Italian colonists, whose neat, white farmhouses bore on their fronts in huge black letters the single prideful word "Duce." It could have been a lasting monument to his vanity had he not sold his birthright for a mess of sauerkraut.

Libya Has Military Value

However, Libya's chief importance doesn't lie in her rich acres. It isn't due to the fact that her Mediterranean coast is so pleasing that even in antiquity it was a favorite resort for the peoples of many neighboring lands. They do say that Cleopatra used to frequent Derna, and I can well believe that, having seen the attractions of that little seaport myself.

No, Libya's importance is the same old story. It has great military value as a Mediterranean base.

The country holding Libya would be in a powerful position. If it also controlled the big island of Crete to the north, it could dominate the lifeline through the Mediterranean to the Suez canal, for the Libyan port of Tobruk and Crete form a saddle over the ship route.

Is Bone Of Contention

Small wonder that the disposition of Libya is a bone of hot contention between Russia and the Western powers. Neither side wants to see the other get control there.

Not so long ago Russia was asking for a Mediterranean base. Now, however, she has proclaimed herself in favor of returning all the colonies to Italy for rule under United Nations trusteeship, pending a granting of independence.

Most of the Western allies, however, want to see Libya split up into its component provinces of Cirenaica, Tripolitania and the Fezzan. Cirenaica, and perhaps Tripolitania, would come under British protection, either as a U. N. trusteeship or as independent states bound to Britain by military treaty. Fezzan would go to France, who has been administering it since the war.

Russia's abnegation — backed by five Eastern European satellites is more apparent than real. The idea of turning the colonies back to Italy is a shrewd one from two very important viewpoints:

(1) Moscow still hopes to gain control of Italy through the latter's big and militant Communist party, and such an eventuality would bring Libya into the Red fold; (2) The very fact that the Soviet Union advocates returning the colonies to Italy is calculated to strengthen the hand of the Italian Communists in their fight for power.

The question of independence looms large with the native Libyans, who long have been working for their liberty. Their paramount leader is the Grand Senussi, the princely personage who is both spiritual and temporal head. I interviewed him in Cairo in 1943, and found him to be a striking personality of much culture.

His Highness expressed great hope for the development of his country, and for the education of the masses. I could see that after the war some sort of protectorate likely would be proposed for Libya, and I asked him if he expected this.

"We feel that we should have our freedom first," he replied. "The rest easily can be arranged. We certainly shall need guidance in our new state, and we shall need help in developing it."

That's the story of the Senussi, but I suppose you won't be satisfied until I tell you the prince is a story-book shiek. All right, then —he is. He is tall and handsome, and rides and shoots as per specifications. He also is immensely rich, and when I saw him was wearing a green jade ring which would have been the ransom for a king.

Beavers To Do Work On California Soil

SCONDIDO, Cal., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Thirteen golden beavers have been trapped in Merced County and transferred by truck to the San Diego County back country.

In their new home they are expected to benefit the country. They are counted on to dam up streams, helping conserve soil and water, forming meadows; adding generally to the underground water table and assisting in the propagation of all wild life.

The beavers are highly protected and cannot be trapped or otherwise taken for their fur or meat.

MIDLAND MAN ARRIVES

KOBE, Japan, Aug. 13. (AP)—John W. Burnett of Midland, Tex., has arrived here to serve as American vice-consul, the Eighth Army announced today. Burnett has spent more than five years in Japan.

IN CASE OF A HEAD WIND—Sooner or later, some hat designer was bound to copy Junior's propeller-equipped beanie. Keneth Hopkins, of Beverly Hills, Calif., whipped up this felt job, modeled by the movies' Jeff Donnell. Her 5-year-old son, Mike Anderson, gives it his approval.

Bogart Believes Some Crime Pictures Should Be Stopped

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13.—Now that a new protest is rising about the number of crime movies, Humphrey Bogart—of all people—admits that some of them should be stopped.

Last winter, the Johnston office quieted a furor of protest by clamping a ban on the making of gangster movies. Today theaters are playing a new crop of films about crime and certain commentators and pressure groups are starting to complain again. After issuing a Bogartian tirade against the complainers, the actor continued: "Some crime pictures shouldn't be made."

Bogart cited the prison film, "Canon City." "It was a story of a bunch of bad eggs who broke out of the stir and finally were put back there where they belonged," he related. "I can see no reason for the picture."

Bogie Goes Straight

When the late Mark Hellinger called Bogie to see how he liked another prison movie, "Brute Force," the actor replied: "why did you make it? A picture should have either entertainment or a moral. This one had neither."

Don't get the idea that Bogie is going straight (as some San Quuention cons accused him of doing when he started playing detectives.) He's still agin' the characters who think crime pictures should be abolished entirely.

"It's stupid to think that movies can foster crime," he declared. "When I was young, we were reading about Billy the Kid, but that didn't make criminals out of us.

"If you want ot find out what turns kids to crime, look at their environment and particularly their family life. Parents who let 10-year-old kids stay out at night are the ones responsible for making criminals."

New fires were lighted in their hearths by the ancient Aztec Indians of Mexico when the new year began.

Magician To Appear On Program At Tech

Dr. Harland Tarbell, billed the world's master magician, who has amazed the keenest minds in the world with his performances of magic, will appear on the Texas Technological college artist course at 8:30 o'clock tonight on the Administration building green.

Tarbell, reported to be one of the few magicians to have perfected a "sixth sense," has taken every country in the world by storm with his feats of driving in traffic while blindfolded, predicting news stories as high as four days before they break, slipping large metal rings through small ones, and doing everything with eggs except lay them. He is said to have predicted the death of Ghandi four days before he was assassinated.

Stories of previous performances describe his show as being characterized by magic, philosophy, science, art, originality, showmanship and personality. In addition to performing magic, Tarbell is the teacher and counselor of magicians all over the world, and originated many of the most astounding of the Hindu "rope-miracles."

Admission to the artist course will be by season tickets for all students of Texas Tech, and $1 for townspeople.

New Drug Appears Promising In Battle Against Leukemia

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13. (AP)—A recently developed chemical relative of one of the B vitamins has made a promising start against Loekemia in children, the American Pharmaceutical association was told today.

"Preliminary cures" have been obtained, said Dr. Coy W. Waller, researcher for Lederle laboratories, Pearl River, N. Y., in a high percentage of youngsters under experimental treatment in several hospitals.

It still is too early to tell whether the drug justifiably can be called a real cure, Dr. Waller added. Also it has the drawback of being toxic to some patients, particularly adults. Experimenters are trying to modify the chemical to make it less toxic.

This substance is a derivative of folic acid and is known commercially as aminopterin. It is not yet available to doctors. Only a little of it has been made, Dr. Waller said, and all of it is being used experimentally.

Of 16 children treated by Dr. Sidney Farber at the Children's Medical clinic in Boston, 10 were restored to health, Dr. Waller reported. Similar results have been obtained in treatment centers elsewhere. But whether these youngsters will stay cured remains to be seen. That may take five years, Dr. Waller said.

How the chemical works is not yet known. Folic acid, one of the B vitamins, promotes the building of blood cells and is used as a treatment for anemia. Aminopterin crowds out folic acid in the digestive process, but whether it counteracts leukemia by interfering with the mechanism which produces white blood cells has not been determined.

Disease Is Cancer-Like

The number of cases of gonorrhea in the United States continued to increase in the last half of 1947, but syphillis appeared to be levelling off, Dr. Walter A. Clarke of New York, executive director of the American Social Hygiene association, reported.

Even with the change in syphillis rates, he said, it is 72 times more prevalent than smallpox, 36 times more than infantile paralysis and 4½ times more than tuberculosis.

A good source of pure water for automobile batteries is the frost on the freezing compartment of electric refrigerators. It has no chemical impurities because it is condensed from moisture in the air.

Settlement Made In $50,000 Suit

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. (AP)—One of two janitors questioned in the Suzanne Degnan kidnap murder has effected an out of court settlement of a $50,000 damage suit against 11 policemen.

The janitor is Desere Smet, 35, who was questioned by police during the hunt for the little girl's slayer. He charged he was mistreated and asked $50,000 damages. His attorney, Allen A. Freeman, announced settlement yesterday but declined to reveal the amount.

The second janitor, Hector Verburgh received $20,000 in a similar settlement of his suit for $125,000 against 17 policemen.

William Heirens was convicted of the murder—as well as those of two grown women—and is serving a life sentence.

Children Get Course In Ice Cream Eating

FALLS CITY, Neb. Aug. 13 (U.P.)—If there weren't limitations, Mrs. James Duncan probably would be swamped with applications for a class for children she has opened here.

The classes are only for children with speech defects.

Mrs. Duncan said that when some handicapped children have learned to use their tongue to lick an ice cream cone, they have made a first, long stride toward speaking correctly.

House Quits Moving When Gusher Capped

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Clarence Hoover's farm house has finally come to a standstill.

The house broke through the ground while a driller was sinking a new well. The well spouted a barrel of water a minute. All efforts to stop the gusher resulted only in its breaking out in surrounding spots.

By the time the well was sealed off, the farm house had one wall cracked and had settled several inches away from a new chimney that had been added to it recently.

Stunt Pilot Seeks Bendix Race Record

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—A soft-spoken movie stunt pilot will attempt on Sept. 4 to do what no flier ever has done, which is to win the Bendix transcontinental high speed air race for the third time in a row.

He is Paul Mantz of Burbank, Calif., and the plane he hopes to do it with is the same P-51 Mustang in which he rang up a spectacular time of 460 miles an hour in capturing the $10,000 top money last year.

The 2,050-mile free-for-all classic, from Los Angeles to Cleveland, is the annual curtain raiser of the National Air Races.

As a movie stunt flier, Mantz is famous for doing the impossible, but he will have tough competition in this year's race.

With the event open for the first time to foreign aircraft and pilots, approximately 20 of the speediest pilots in the business are expected to make a bid for the trophy and total prize money of $25,000.

Two of Mantz' strongest competitors will be the same two men who finished second and third behind him last year. They are Joe DeBona, who will fly a P-51 entered by the movie star Jimmy Stewart, and Edmund P. Lunken of Cincinnati, who also will fly a P-51 Mustang. Last year DeBona came in one minute and 18 seconds behind Mantz.

Only one other man, Frank W. Fuller Jr., ever has equaled Mantz' record of being a two-winner in the Bendix race, and even Fuller didn't win in consecutive years. He was first in 1937 and again in 1939.

Jimmy Doolittle won the first race in 1931 and among other winners have been Doug. Davis, Roscoe Turner, Ben Howard, Louise Thaden and Jacqueline Cochran.

Nebraska Employer Plays Santa Early

HUMBOLDT, Neb., Aug. 13 (U.P.)—Christmas came six months early for the 300 employes of a flour and feed company in this little southeastern Nebraska town.

O. A. Cooper, owner of the company, turned Santa Claus on his employes, their wives, and children to a picnic.

After the feast, he gave each wife of an employe a $5 bill, each child a $5 bill, announced that the company will take over the life, accident, hospitalization, medical and sickness insurance policies of all employees, and granted a five cents an hour pay increase.

DON McNEIL, a radio performer making a pseudo race for the Presidency, says if elected he will give each Texan six Alamos. Even better, he might promise each Texan 100 hens which, if they lay like the Dallas News reports they do, would make us all financially independent.

According to the News' Washington bureau — which handles figures like a New Deal economist —Texas hens laid on the average of 1,376 eggs each over the first six months of 1948, compared to "only" 1,283 in 1947. That's an average of something more than seven eggs per day, per hen—which ain't bad.

A. L. Burnett, who operates a service station at 1801 Texas avenue, called our attention to Texas Biddy's remarkable production, as computed by the Dallas News.

Mr. Burnett says the reason undoubtedly is that with most radio comedians off the air for the Summer time, the hens have accepted the responsibility of laying radio's eggs, in addition to their own, until Benny, Cantor, Skelton, et al, finish their vacations!

THE wheels of justice never ground more slowly than in the case of the American Indians who only last week, were finally given the right of ballot in these United States.

For years illiterates, foreign-born with little conception of our government and countless persons whose only interest in the U.S. has been to tear it down have been welcomed at the polls. But not American Indians, regardless of qualifications. They, according to the law, didn't have sense enough to vote.

Now and finally, that's all changed, but no one need be very proud of the fact that it took us too long to make the change.

Sudden Thought: Next to breaking into a safe with a powder puff, the hardest thing to do is to get one's name off a government bureau's publicity department mailing list!

That Man on Avenue Q says a quick way to lose your appetite is to watch a heavily lipsticked girl eat corn on the cob!

JAMES CAREY, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, remarked the other day that what Congress needs most is fewer lawyers and more laborers within its membership. Thus his mental approach to the problem of how to rescue an abler Congress is typical of the kind of thinking—political and otherwise—that is forever coming out of the CIO.

Carey adopts the view generally voiced—if not actually shared—by most professional labor front men that if a man works with his hands, the fact that he does so guarantees that he is wise, just, honest and sufficiently responsible to be placed in Congress, or in any other position of great trust.

'T'ain't necessarily so.

Just as some of the lawyers referred to by Carey are lousy congressmen, so would be some of his CIO brethren. Just because a man is an editor, a doctor, an automobile manufacturer, or a coal miner—and even if he is successful in whatever line he follows—is no guarantee that he'd be equally successful, or even acceptable, as a congressman, a President, a governor, or a constable.

For better government, and in the best interests of the whole country and its people, Congress always had needled more able, energetic, honest and responsible men than it has had in any one session.

Congress needs this strengthening today, in order to do a better job.

But Congress doesn't need more blue-eyed members, or more bowlegged members, or more members who belong to the CIO, UNLESS the blue-eyed, bowlegged, or CIO additions are better sounder men than those they replace.

WHAT can be said about the needs of improved personnel in Congress also can be said about the need for improved personnel in all other divisions of the government; in all businesses, all professions, and all labor organizations. But neither Carey, nor anyone else, is on firm ground when he suggests improvement simply by adding members who happen to be working with their hands, or because they are Presbyterians, Rotarians, or baldheaded.

We suspect that what Carey really is contending for is not more congressmen who are laborers because they are laborers, but, instead, more congressmen who will jump through the CIO hoop at every command.

That's the usual CIO conception of a "better congressman."

FELLOW name of Bert Hull is president of the Arabian-American Oil company. Oil men in Lubbock say he is very well thought of in the industry.

We're willing to take their word that Mr. Hull is a smart oil man—but if we ever ran across an industrial bigwig who needs a public relations man with "savvy," that guy is Bert Hull.

Bro. Hull was featured on one of the world's most uninteresting radio programs the other day. He was led through an "interview" by a tiresome commentator named Earl Godwin. In the "interview," Mr. Hull was describing the Arabian terrain through which his company's pipeline is running and called it a "terrible desert, like that of Eastern New Mexico and West Texas."

Mr. Hull may know a lot about the oil business and Arabia, but there's no one-eyed Mongolian more ignorant about West Texas than he is.

If he has sense enough to run a big oil company, he should have sense enough not to libel a whole section of a great state by lumping it all together as wasteland and desert.

If he'd said "like some of the wastelands in some of the remote areas of the Western part of Texas," nobody could fall out with him. But he lumped all the Western part of Texas into a "desert," and there are about a half a million people who will fall out with him when they hear about it.

MR. HULL ought to leave New York and Arabia and look around the country a little if he insists upon making radio speeches from coast-to-coast.

He'll find some desert country in many parts of the U. S. In West Texas, he'll find—if he can understand anything except oil—some of the finest and most fertile agriculture and ranching areas in the world.

In his radio program, Mr. Hull told about how many people his company is employing and sending to the far ends of the earth to "help put over the European Recovery plans," and, we assumed, to help Mr. Hull get richer. He'd better hire at least one more man—one who can help him get up his speeches so they'll neither make Mr. Hull appear ridiculous, or libel a great country and a great people.

Bright spot in the whole business is that very few people heard Mr. Hull's radio program if they were close enough to their receiving sets to twist the dial.

For our part, we're glad we were lying abed, too lazy to walk across the room and get something interesting.

Otherwise, we'd never have heard his "bust," and, therefore, had the opportunity of correcting it!

BY DREW PEARSON: REP. THOMAS PAYS SOME OF HIS STAFF FROMCOMMITTEE FUNDS

Solon Tries To Pull Fast One On Insurance Co.

WASHINGTON.—Here is more of the Parnell Thomas story—the story about the congressman who hasn't learned that those who live in glass houses cannot throw stones.

PEARSON

One of the nice things about being chairman of the un-American Activities committee is that you can pay some of your office staff from funds of that committee. And bouncing Congressman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey has learned to do this to perfection. He transfers clerks and stenographers back and forth between his own staff and the committee's as if he were taking kings on a checkerboard.

One of his transferees has been Mrs. Vera Halyburton, who happens to be the congressman's favorite secretary, and who at the moment draws the handsome secretarial salary of $5,000.

When in Washington, Congressman Thomas usually lunches in his private office with a bottle of premixed martinis and Mrs. Halyburton. He also loans Mrs. Halyburton his car from time to time, and as a result, on Nov. 25, 1945, came near upsetting his insurance partnership.

Though some people do try to pull fast ones on insurance companies it is not considered a patriotic practice, especially when you are in the insurance business yourself.

It so happened that Mrs. Halyburton had been enjoying some alexander cocktails at the home of a friend, on the afternoon of Nov. 25, and insisted on driving home on her own. Pouring the remainder of her cocktail in a bottle and despite the advice of friends, she climbed into the congressman's car and was off.

Shortly thereafter she tearfully reported that she had collided with two parked cars, with considerable damage to all three.

Thomas Hungry For Headlines

The police report of the accident states that "Mrs. Halyburton was taken to Casualty hospital in scout car 91 and treated by Dr. Richard Gitter of the staff for abrasion to left knee and contusion to chest. Not serious. Not admitted."

Officer John Burton of precinct 9 also reported that the vehicle involved had failed "to give full time and attention," that the vehicles were "in apparent good condition," that the road was straight, the surface dry, the weather clear, and that it was daylight.

How hungry Congressman Thomas is for headlines was indicated by a telegram he immediately sent to Rossman Wynkoop, managing editor, Bergen Evening Record, Hackensack, N. J. It read:

"For immediate release. Miss Vera Halyburton, assistant secretary to Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, was seriously injured early Sunday night when a sedan she was driving crashed into two parked cars on Maryland Avenue, Washington, D. C. Miss Halyburton . . . will not be able to return to her desk for some time. Rep. Thomas explained he had instructed his secretarial assistant to use his car on Sunday in order to keep the battery from running down. Both of the cars into which Miss Halyburton crashed were badly damaged, and Rep. Thomas's car was demolished.

(Signature) Parnell"

THE facts, however, were just the opposite.

Mrs. Halyburton went to see Dr. Robert Bosworth on Nov. 26 who told her she was suffering from shock and nothing more. He advised her to return to work. Because she complained about her chest, however, Dr. Bosworth sent her to Sibley hospital for an x-ray and later in the day phoned the congressman's office that the x-ray showed nothing wrong.

Next day, Nov. 27, despite the above medical report, Representative Thomas got busy to collect insurance. The congressman runs his own insurance firm, Thomas and Godfrey, and he wrote a letter to his partner, Spencer K. Godfrey, estimating the damage to his car at $612.

"It is important that the insurance company give every consideration to Miss Halyburton's case," he continued. "The injuries to Vera are bad. The doctor believes she has a slight concussion; she has been x-rayed for chest injuries; has various bruises and is in a highly nervous state."

Representative Thomas received word back two days later that the matter had been turned over to the Employers Liability assurance corporation. His policy, he was reminded, contained a $500 medical-reimbursement clause.

Mrs. Halyburton did not work that week, but on Friday felt well enough to motor all the way to Ambler, Pa., and the next day was able to sit out in the cold to watch the Army-Navy football game. Next Monday she came back to Dr. Bosworth complaining that her chest hurt. He told her it was exposure from cold at the football game.

Meanwhile, the congressman continues to harass his own insurance partner.

"I am certain," he wrote on Dec. 4, "that Miss Halyburton's doctor has advised that the shock of the accident has brought about a complete collapse of her nervous system. My observations of Miss Halyburton since bears this out.

"It will, therefore, be necessary to make a settlement for her shock, over and above the injuries to her head, chest and back."

Applies Pressure For Insurance

Two weeks later, Representative Thomas again wrote his insurance partner, Godfrey, that the Employers Liability Assurance company is "giving us poor service in connection with claims arising out of the accident in which my car participated." He said he had personally told the company's adjuster "that I thought $2,000 was a fair settlement for Miss Halyburton," but no settlement had been made.

Now, Thomas continued, he was "beginning to think that the amount was too low." Miss Halyburton's condition seemed to be getting worse.

"Over the past week end," wrote the congressman, "it was reported to me that she was very hysterical; further, the injury to her chest has resulted ir pleurisy. The nervous state is getting so bad I have advised her to go under the care of a psychiatrist.

"I think the longer the insurance company delays the settlement in her case, the more they will be called upon to pay. I certainly would be forced to testify in favor of Miss Halyburton and I am confident that everyone else will testify in her behalf, which would be very bad for the insurance company if the matter had to go to court, but naturally I would like to avoid a court trial.

"We have given quite a lot of business to the Employers Liability Assurance company," concluded the congressman. "Now I want justice in return and frankly if the insurance company doesn't do something, I will have to insist that we don't give them any more business."

Representative Thomas's insurance associates have known him a long time and apparently they are not bluffed as easily as some of the Hollywood screen writers. For a letter came back, dated Dec. 22, 1945, and signed by J. D. Burroughs. It was brief and to the point.

Regarding Representative Thomas's threat to testify for Mrs. Halyburton, he was reminded that: "The contract of insurance contains a clause which reads: 'The insured (Thomas) shall cooperate with the company, and upon the company's request shall attend hearings and trials and shall assist in effecting settlements, securing and giving evidence, obtaining the attendance of witnesses and in the conduct of suits'."

In the end, the insurance company refused to be bluffed. Despite the ranting and wailing of the man who now poses as a great American and as an example to other lesser Americans, there was no payment to Mrs. Halyburton. Furthermore the congressman got not one cent for damage to his car.

The musicians in certain Saratoga spots do not know yet what ther pay is to be. Contracts have been signed with that important item left blank. The idea there is something like this, and has so been for years: For eleven months (all except August) when Saratoga is only a sleepy town where a few old people come to take the baths, bandsmen get $60 a week. During the 31 days of racing and sporting life, they get $112. If—and that isn't yet definite in any of the places — there is gambling, they draw $160 each. The employers agree to that and will come through with the difference if, as and when.

In new shoulder pads, the shoulder line is less built up and is squared off.

"Goodness! Is This All The Further I've Come?"

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

THE mothers of one or two were marvelling at how the mother of five managed when it took all of their time to care for one or two children.

MILLETT

"It's really not so hard," the mother of five explained. "I just cut out all the non-essentials. Actually I don't suppose I work many more hours a day than you do. But everything I do is something that has to be done."

That's the secret, of course, of how one woman can manage to bring up five children while another woman thinks she is doing all she can to bring up one or two.

It's a matter of getting back to the essentials in child care and cutting out the frills. It's being satisfied to give children the necessities of life without bothering because they don't have every so-called "advantage."

POSSIBLE SOLUTION

BUT simple as it sounds, it is a solution a great many women don't realize is possible. Because they keep busy catering to every demand of one child, they figure five would be just five times as much work.

But it doesn't work that way. With each additional child a woman learns that she has to keep cutting out unnecssary fuss and bother. She must trim her daily schedule down to where everything she does is something that has to be done.

If more mothers of one and two realized that, there might be more families today of three, four, or five or more children.

IN the new musical revue, "Inside U.S.A.," Beatrice Lillie tells the sad saga of a Massachusetts mermaid. As she herself confides, with a saucy flip of her tail, "there's a saga born every minute."

In the same show, a youthful commentator named Herb Schriner (hailed by critics as "another Will Rogers") tells about a terrific windstorm in Indiana. "There was a hen standing with her back to the wind," says Schriner, "and believe it or not, that wind blew so hard that the hen laid the same egg six times!"

MARK Twain was visiting his publisher one day. The latter showed him a manuscript and said, "I believe this script is full of libel. Our lawyers are checking it now. Want to look at it while you're waiting for me?"

Twain glanced through the manuscript and remarked, "I don't know whether it's full of libel—but it certainly is full of robbery. It contains at least six stories that are stolen from me!"

Settlement Of German Issue Is Key To UN Effectiveness

WASHINGTON—In the introduction to his third annual report as Secretary-General of the United Nations, Trygve Lie has made a powerful and convincing defense of the role being played by the U. N. in the world of today.

It has become fashionable in some quarters to write off the U. N. as a well-intended but frustrated and largely futile organization. In the last regular session of Congress, for instance, a move even got under way to bring about a radical change in the composition, structure and membership of the new world organization.

That move failed, as it was bound to fail. The choice before us is not between the U. N. as it is and an organization of nations closer to our heart's desires. The choice is between the U. N. and no world organization at all.

It is precisely for this reason that Congress agreed, though not without some doubts, to authorize a $65,000,000 loan for the construction of a permanent site for the United Nations at New York. It was one of the very few pieces of legislation that got through during the late special session.

U. N. Suffers Defects

Certainly the U. N. is not the kind of organization many hoped it would become at the time the Charter was being drawn up at San Francisco in 1945.

There is no doubt that it suffers from serious structural defects, not least of which is the manner in which the great power veto can be and has been abused. But the most serious handicap of the U. N. derives from the kind of a world in which, perforce, it lives, moves and has its being.

Under the circumstances, the amazing thing is not that the U. N. has accomplished so little but that it has accomplished so much.

Mr. Lie's report, it must be pointed out, is not without its element of special pleading.

"The United Nations," he says, "has interposed law and human decency and the processes of conciliation and cooperation between the world's peoples and the naked lawless use of power. The United Nations has continued to stand for brotherhood in the midst of all the voices that talk of national policy in terms of military strategy and tactics—as if the building of peace were a matter of offensives and counter-offensives, of break-throughs and infiltrations, of blockades and ideological Maginot Lines."

LITERALLY interpreted, this would mean that the United Nations has an existence apart from the nations that compose it that somehow it has succeeded in being a reflection of their better selves instead of mirroring, as it fairly accurately does, their conflicting aims, ambitions, hopes and desires as well as their realization (sometimes acted on) that the world's work can be done only cooperatively, through a pooling of effort and a minimization of differences.

Being, as it were, above the battle, Lie does not single out particular nations for praise or blame. He is a servant of them all. But no one who has followed the proceedings in the U. N. to even the slightest degree has any doubt that some nations—Russia, in particular—have contributed very little, indeed, to making the U. N. an effective instrument for "law and human decency" and against "the naked use of power."

The Secretary-General is on far firmer ground when he points out proudly that "the organs of the United Nations are now virtually the only place where regular contact and discussion have been maintained on a continuous basis between the Western Powers and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics."

* * *

Observation Is Made

He then make the pertinent observation that:

"The conflict between East and West has been the cause, direct or indirect, of many setbacks of the United Nations during the past year; yet it is equally true, though far less often admitted, that the United Nations in its turn has acted as a restraining and conciliating influence upon the parties to this conflict."

The fact that Russia and the Western powers have had the

REAL COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Panhandle-South Plains Fair association has made many important uses of the several barracks buildings it obtained when the Civilian Conservation corps camp on the fairgrounds was discontinued about 10 years ago. But we don't know of any better or more appealing use than for such events as the annual 4-H club encampment held this week.

More than 250 boys attended. They represented 18 counties of the South Plains territory. The boys learned a great deal. They had a wonderful time. Many individuals, groups and organizations—such as the civic clubs—had a part in making the stay in Lubbock a pleasant one for these young leaders of tomorrow.

But their pleasure does not equal that of the people of Lubbock in having been privileged to be their host. It is the sincere hope of the vast majority of the people of this city that the 4-H camps will grow bigger and better with the years, and that many other similarly constructive and pleasurable uses for the barracks buildings can be found.

Union To Vote On Wage Hike

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Aug. 13 (AP)—Three thousand atomic plant workers will vote soon on whether to accept their second wage boost within nine months.

Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp. and local 288, CIO United Chemical Workers, agreed late last night on increases ranging from five to 24 cents an hour.

The union and the company announced that the wage negotiations begun a month ago were the shortest in the history of this atomic city.

Minimum Wages Given

They were a sequel to extended negotiations which ended in a contract last Dec. 9. That contract provided wage increases of 10 cents an hour and shift differential and classification adjustments.

It contained also a clause for re-opening wage negotiations in eight months and an 1-month no-strike agreement.

The CIO members are employed in the gaseous-diffusion atomic process plant, largest of three atom plants here, all of which are operated for the Atomic Energy Commission by the Carbide corporation.

Their minimum wage under the new contract would be increased from $1.06 to $1.11. The contract will be signed, the company and union said, after the union membership ratifies it.

Long Dispute Ended

Carbide on June 13 came to agreement with another union—the AFL atomic trades and labor council—and ended a long labor dispute at Oak Ridge national laboratory.

The dispute began last March 1 and was marked by an 80-day government injunction which prohibited either a strike or lockout at the laboratory. It was the first time the "cooling-off" provision of the Taft-Hartley act had been used.

That agreement resulted in wage increases averaging 15½ cents, vacation and other benefits for the laboratory's 875 employes. Their average wage, before the agreement, was $1.38 an hour.

U. N. as a common meeting ground does not mean, however, that the U. N. has to any degree served to bring the conflicting nations together. Except on the Palestine issue, Russia and the United States have differed as sharply inside the U. N. (witness the fiasco on the international control of atomic energy) as they have on matters not within the U. N.'s purview.

It is precisely for that reason that Lie is entirely right in declaring that a settlement of the German problem, the biggest bone of contention between Russia and the West, holds the key to the ultimate effectiveness of the world organization.

Whether such a settlement can be made at this time remains dubious. But until it is made and tensions between Russia and the Western powers, particularly the United States are eased, the U. N., will fall for short of the high hopes placed in it.

Austin Newsman To Join Jester Staff

AUSTIN, Aug. 13. (AP)—Addition of Weldon Hart, Austin newspaperman, to the secretarial staff of Gov. Beauford H. Jester was announced yesterday.

Jester said he was greatly satisfied in securing Hart as an assistant to executive secretary William L. McGill.

"Hart is exceptionally well-informed on matters of government. He has the admiration and confidence of state officials and legislators, and he is a most genial and gracious person", the governor said.

Hart, who began his newspaper career in 1933, has been a staff writer, columnist and sports department head for the Austin American and Statesman.

He is best known for his coverage of football. He has been a contributor to national sports magazines and helped athletic director D. X. Bible of the University of Texas prepare his textbook on "Championship Football."

Hart did political reporting during 1945 and 1947 Texas legislative sessions, then returned to the sports department of the American-Statesman as sports editor.

Contracts Let For Airport, Paving Work

Members of the city commission let contracts for a $358,000 airport terminal building and for more than five miles of street paving costing over $150,000 at their semi-monthly meeting Thursday afternoon.

They also approved an action which insures that a camp for the use of itinerant Mexican cotton pickers in the fall will be built here despite the refusal of the county commissioner's court to participate in the project.

Contracts for the new Municipal airport terminal were awarded, conditional upon their approval by the Civil Aeronautics authority. This approval is regarded as being more or less routine, since the CAA has been in close touch with the preparation of plans for the building and the bids were in line with estimates.

Separate Bids Okayed

Separate contracts were let for the actual construction, and for plumbing, heating and air conditioning, and electric installations. The low bidder was awarded the contract in each instance, the total of the amounts being $358,559.

The low bidders and the amounts of their bids were: General construction contract, W. G. McMillan, Lubbock, $279,719; heating and air conditioning, Anthony Co., Lubbock, $41,200; electric, Nelson Electric Co., Lubbock, $20,345; and plumbing, Samson Co., $17,295.

The contract calls for completion of the structure within 400 calendar days.

Other bidders for the various contracts and the amounts were:

General—Tom McAbee, $293,450; G. G. Construction Co., $300,000.

Heating and air conditioning—Rountree Plumbing Co., $44,950; Builders' Supply Co., $50,645; Harris and Beeman, of Fort Worth, $53,530; Nunn Electric Co., $60,452; and Hamilton Heating Co., $68,370.

Electric—American Electric Co., $21,552; Fletcher Co., $23,059.

Plumbing—A. P. Kasch, Big Spring, $19,000; Rountree Co., $19,876; Anthony Co., $21,900.

CAA To Aid In Costs

The CAA has allocated $175,000 toward the cost of the building. The city will pay the remainder, practically all of it coming from bonds voted for airport improvements in 1945.

The action taken by the commission followed the recommendation of the city airport board, composed of Ray F. Hinchey, Bob Walker and Robert H. Bean. O. R. Walker is architect for the project.

Contract for the paving was awarded to L. A. Purtell, of Lubbock, whose base bid of $150,965.94 was the lowest of six submitted.

Plains, Yoakum Oil Center, Is Forging Ahead

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

PLAINS, Aug. 13—What South Plains county seat is not an incorporated town?

Plains has that unique distinction. Although it is a trading center with a population of 600, and near the center of the vast Yoakum county oil field, Plains has never been incorporated and has no city taxes.

Nevertheless, one finds a civic spirit in Plains that could well be emulated in other towns.

The residents are eager to show you the progress that this Yoakum county seat is making.

One, in particular, is a Plains booster. He is Till W. Read, who has lived in the county for more than 23 years.

He introduces himself as "mayor" of Plains, and in the minds of Plains people he certainly holds that respected, if unofficial title.

Owner of ranch lands and business buildings in the town, Read has opened a feed store, more to have something to do than for any other reason, he will confess.

His wife has been postmistress at Plains 23 years, and she too is an active booster of the area.

Plains is located near the center of Yoakum county at the junction of north-south highway 214 and east west highway U. S. 62-380.

The county is, like most of the plains area, level to slightly rolling, with grass and "shinnery" oak over wide areas. The county was organized in 1907, having been named after Henderson Yoakum, pioneer author, jurist and soldier in the Mexican war.

The county's cattle ranching is important, but many farm crops

Test Is Slated On Terry Well

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 E. M. Hinson, northeast Terry county discovery from the Cisco lime of the Pennsylvanian, swabbed 126 barrels of oil in six hours and was still swabbing to clean out and test.

The pay section between 5,405 feet and the total depth at 5,445 feet, had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid, and then treated with 2,000 gallons of regular acid.

No formation water has been developed. However, operator has not been able to swab out all of the drilling fluid which has been absorbed into the pay horizon.

Heavier Yield Seen

It is expected that further swabbing, the well will soon kick off and start flowing clean pipe lime oil at a heavier yield than it is now recovering on the swab.

City's Council Seeks Aid Of Governor

Fighting Mayor Shakes Fist At Group Demanding Removal

POMEROY, O., Aug. 13. (AP)—Pomeroy's battling mayor says he can "take care" of himself—with fists if necessary—in his fight against the village council's attempt to oust him.

Mayor Delmar A. Canaday, a former professional boxer who was known in the ring as "Kayo The Kid", said yesterday "if anybody gets in my way, to obstruct the performance of my duties, he is going to get hurt."

A majority of the council has asked Gov. Thomas J. Herbert to remove Canaday, whom they accused in a letter to the governor of "malfeasance, nonfeasance and misfeasance."

Canaday, the Democratic nominee for Congress in the 10th district, likened his position against the council to that of President Truman and Congress.

"The President has a Republican Congress and I have six Republicans on the council," he said.

The council charged the mayor with making purchases without its permission, withholding public information, fining defendants in his court without giving them an opportunity to prove their innocence and with threatening bodily harm to council members.

The 43-year-old mayor, Pomeroy's first democratic mayor, called the accusations "untrue."

Of the council, he said:

"They insulted me in council meetings and I killed them with kindness. I did tell them that if a single guy swung on me, I would lower the boom on him."

As for "lowering the boom" Canaday said he had the welterweight championship of West Virginia for 1922-23 to back-up his statement. He said he fought 200 times before retiring.

He said when he took office the town had a debt of $125,000. He is trimming the deficit at the rate of $500 a month, he said.

RECKLESS DRIVING

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 13. (U.P.)—Emerson J. Reese, 69, had his driving license suspended for 90 days for reckless driving. Patrolman Irvin Hampton cited him for driving his car between five and eight miles an hour on a busy street. Reese pleaded guilty.

Spy Witness Is Demanded By Russians

MOSCOW, Aug. 13 (AP) — The Soviet Union has officially demanded that the United States turn over Michael Ivanovitch Samarin, a Russian school teacher, and his family to the Soviet consulate in New York.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov summoned U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith to the Kremlin Wednesday to convey the demand, Tass disclosed last night.

The official Russian news agency said Molotov also protested what he described as the "kidnaping" of Samarin and another Russian teacher, Mrs. Oksana Stephanovna Kosenkina.

Tass said Smith "promised to bring to the attention of the United States government the statement of the Soviet government and assured V. M. Molotov that American authorities would investigate the facts set forth in his declaration."

Soviet Citizenship Renounced

(There was no immediate comment from the State department in Washington on Molotov's protest. Samarin testified before the House committee on un-American activities at a closed session yesterday. The committee is probing charges that a wartime Communist spy ring reached high into Washington official circles.

(After the secret session the teacher announced that he and his wife have renounced Soviet citizenship and that he and his wife would be shot or imprisoned for life if they were sent back to Russia.

(Mrs. Kosenkina plunged from a window of the Soviet consulate in New York yesterday and was injured critically. Molotov's protest did not demand her release since she was at the Soviet consulate on Wednesday when Molotov summoned Smith.)

Tass said Molotov demanded "punishment for all persons participating in the kidnaping of the Soviet school teacher Kosenkina" and protesting the "laxity (of) United States authorities in permitting (these) criminal actions regarding Soviet citizens."

Russian Accuses FBI

Molotov was said to have repeated Soviet charges that Mrs. Kosenkina was kidnapped with the participation of the Tolstoy fund and was held at the Tolstoy farm against her will until her "rescue" by the Russian consul general.

(Alexandra Tolstoy, a former countess who operates the farm, said in New York last night that Mrs. Kosenkina's leap proved she wanted to escape the Soviets. Miss Tolstoy has claimed Mrs. Kosenkina came to the foundation seek-

Jews Reject Cease-Fire Order Given By Palestine Mediator

ROME, Aug. 13, (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte said today the Jews have turned down his latest try to bring peace to Jerusalem. "They are taking an enormous responsibility," he commented.

The United Nations Palestine mediator had asked Arabs and Jews in Jerusalem not to return any fire directed at them after 6 a.m. GMT (1 a.m. EST) today. He received a cable from the Jews rejecting the order a short time before he left Rome for Red Cross conferences in Geneva and Stockholm. The Arabs had agreed to the request.

The count had hoped the new order would bring peace to the shell-ridden Holy City. Sniping has been heavy ever since the truce began.

The cease-fire order was the first step in Bernadotte's latest attempt to bring about the demilitarization of Jerusalem.

U. N. Guards Needed

Bernadotte said last night he thought Arab irregulars were to blame for yesterday's Latrun pumping station blast.

The act, which has held up Jerusalem's water supply, enraged the Jews and further endangered the Holy Land's shaky peace.

"I am very disappointed with this destruction," the United Nations Palestine mediator said. "I repeat once more that if I had received United Nations guards, I only asked for 40, who would have guarded the place day and night, this would not have happened."

In Tel Aviv the Israeli government declared the act constituted a glaring breach of the U.N. truce "fraught with the gravest consequences." Bernadotte stopped off here enroute to an international Red Cross convention at Stockholm.

Arabs Hold Station

The Latrun blast wrecked U.N. plans for delivering water to Jerusalem today. The station was one of a series of booster points to lift water through from the coast to the Holy City.

The station had been held by the Arabs, but was placed in a "no-man's-land" Wednesday by agreement between the Arab legion and the U.N. control was taken over by U.N. personnel and the Arabs had withdrawn about 1,000 yards away.

A U.N. spokesman at Haifa said the blast had been reported to the Security Council at Lake Success as a truce violation by the Arabs. He said the Arab legion was in control of the Latrun area and must be held responsible. He added, however that a truckload of Arab "irregulars" had been seen near the station an hour before the blast.

Investigation Requested

Bernadotte told newsmen in Rome he still is optimistic that his new attempt to halt shooting in Jerusalem will succeed. He asked the Jews and Arabs to refrain from returning fire directed at them after 1 a.m. EST today

The mediator said he believed this would be the first step in demilitarizing Jerusalem. The Arabs have agreed to the request and he said "it will be difficult for Jews to reject it."

The mediator said both Arabs and Jews had been asked to investigate the Latrun explosion. He said he had given orders that Jewish troops in the Latrun area remain in their forward positions during the probe. Previously he had ordered these troops drawn back.

Prof. James MacDonald, head of the American diplomatic mission in Israel, arrived at Tel Aviv yesterday and was greeted by large crowds.

Met Opera May Open Season After Talks

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP) — Prospects for a Metropolitan opera season this year appeared brighter today.

Following a meeting last night, union and management representatives said in a joint statement they were hopeful of "a basis for agreement" on plans for a 1948-49 season.

The Metropolitn Opera association last week announced cancellation of the forthcoming season, blaming the decision on financial difficulties and its inability to meet union demands.

Although neither side would reveal what was discussed at last night's session, the joint statement said the Met's board of directors would call a special meeting early next week to consider points discussed.

It said union heads also would meet with their memberships to discuss results of the joint session.

George A. Sloan, chairman of the Met's board, said:

"Each group knows the other's point of view now. It won't be necessary for the joint committee of the union leaders to meet with us again. All discussion will be concluded by not later than Monday week—which is Aug. 23."

Asked if the opera season still could open Nov. 8, dspite the previously announced cancellation, Sloan said the matter was up to Edward Johnson, the Met's general manager.

Filipino Guerrillas To Get Vet Benefits

MANILA, Aug. 13 (U.P.)—The U. S. Army has recognized 260,715 Filipinos as war-time guerrillas, entitling them to American veterans' benefits.

The men and women were sifted from more than 1,200,000 claimants.

Army field investigators covered the entire Philippine archipelago before the claims were decided. Tons of personal documents and official records were checked. Hundreds of thousands of persons were interviewed.

Veterans' benefits will be paid to the guerrillas on the basis of the number of months or years they took part in active operations against Japanese occupation troops.

Contracts Let

bids were 65¼ blocks of paving, but this may — and probably will — be increased by as much as 25 per cent at the same rates provided in the contract. So, actually, officials said, the letting probably will mean 80 blocks — almost eight miles — of new street paving. It is well scattered over the city.

Plans call for the laying of caliche base and the installation of curb and gutter for the paving before winter. The actual paving, under the contract, must be completed before next July 1.

Other bidders for the paving contract were: Kerr & Middleton, $171,740; Elliott Taylor, $172,918; J. R. Fanning, $174,296; T. C. Cage and Hugh Field, of Temple, $183,455; and Pecos Valley Construction co., of Carlsbad, N. M., $184,043.

Labor Camp Assured

The action to insure a camp for Mexican cotton pickers was taken after members of a chamber of commerce committee named to work on the project reported that the county commissioners court had refused to assist.

They quoted the county officials as saying they legally could not contribute to such an undertaking — a claim which has been questioned by Vaughn Wilson, city attorney, and other local lawyers.

The city commission, at its previous regular meeting, had complied with the committee's request to appropriate $3,250 as half the estimated cost of the camp and to supply the site. Members of the committee, which included legislative Rep Preston Smith and Hop Halsey, said they hoped to get the remainder of the money from the county.

The camp, they said, is needed urgently for several reasons.

One is a safeguard to public health in both city and rural areas by providing a place where the Mexican pickers can observe the ordinary rules of sanitation. In the past, they have had no place to go when they came to Lubbock except to loiter on the streets.

Workers Are Needed

Another reason, it was explained; is the danger that pickers will avoid Lubbock unless the conveniences of a camp are provided. Numerous other towns of the area have built them. The consequence has been a direct warning reported to the chamber of commerce that the whole Lubbock area will be blacklisted by those who direct the routings of the pickers unless a camp is erected. Without pickers, officials warned, much of the cotton crop might be lost.

When the city commission first appropriated the $3,250, it was conditional upon, and with the expectation that the county would match that sum. Advised Thursday that the county commissioners had turned thumbs down on the project, the city commission removed the requirement that matching help had to be obtained at the courthouse.

Members of the committee expressed confidence that the remainder of the money will be obtained, but they were uncertain as to how. A subscription may be the answer.

The camp will consist of little more than the shell of a concrete block building, divided into compartments for the occupancy of cotton picker families or groups for continuous periods of not longer than 48 hours. The camp will be equipped with hotplates for cooking, running water, shower baths and toilets. It will be near "Mexican town," where most of the pickers prefer to be. Mexican park is nearby where children will have limited recreational facilities.

Officials believe that it will attract a great many more of the intinerants ot Lubbock than have ever come to this city before to seek picking jobs, to shop, to renew acquaintances and for social and recreational reasons.

One of the important functions of the camp will be to provide a meeting place where farmers can find pickers and pickers can find jobs.

Other business transacted by the city commission included:

Contracts to drill three new city water wells were let to Z. Nordyke, whose bid of $1,861.50 was the lowest of four submitted. Others were: George Andersson, $1,867.50; R. M. Armstrong, $2,092.50; and L. A. Peeples, $2,302.

The commission directed the city attorney to prepare an ordinance making it unlawful for owners to allow dogs to run at large.

Assurance was given a committee from the Lubbock Insurance exchange headed by L. E. Davis that the commission intends to comply as rapidly as possible with recommendations made recently by the National Board of Fire Underwriters to improve fire protection in Lubbock.

Holland Cox, an insurance man, was appointed to succeed Dr. Marshall Harvey as a member of the city recreation council.

Portions of the 1600, 1700 and 1800 blocks on Ave. K were shifted from a residence-apartment house to a retail business zone on recommendation of the city planning commission.

The commission declined the offer of C. A. Pierce for a mineral lease on the city's water field northeast of the city limits. He offered $10 an acre, with $1 per acre per year for periods of five to 10 years for the lease, involving approximately 1,200 acres.

The city attorney was authorized to negotiate a settlement with Ralph L. Holcombe, 214 North Adams avenue, whose young daughter, Judy, was fatally injured July 17 in an accident involving her bicycle and a city garbage truck. A letter from Holcombe asked reimbursement for hospital and funeral expenses for the child, totaling about $1,000.

The commission refused the request made by E. W. Napier on behalf of H. S. Brown to close an alley on Avenue K between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth. Napier's letter said Brown wanted to build on the alley.

Harry N. Roberts was commissioned to make an engineering study and recommendations on enlarging the city sewage disposal plant on a bid of $500. Hasie & Green bid $750.

Present at the meeting were Mayor W. H. Rodgers, Commissioners W. B. Price, John Spikes, Clarence Whiteside and E. K. Hufstedler, jr.; City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr.; City Secretary Lavenia Williams, and the city attorney.

Plains

are grown and irrigation is becoming important, with this year particularly seeing the drilling of many new wells.

As of January 1 of this year, the county tax assessor-collector's office had registered 1,495 oil wells in Yoakum county. The drilling progress is shown by the number of wells on Jan. 1 of each year: 1938, none; 1939, 175; 1940, 541; 1941, 942; 1942, 1,176; 1943, 1,241; 1944, 1,286; 1945, 1,359; 1946, 1,395; and 1947, 1,423.

Grain sorghums, cotton, corn, peanuts, alfalfa and vegetables are grown.

Plains in recent years has felt the prosperity brought by good crop years and by the oil field's encroachments.

There are now 23 business firms in Plains, which give most of the services necessary to a community. Two new school buildings have been completed recently.

A $400,000 courthouse is under construction, which will enable the present courthouse building beside it to be used for a community, recreation center and offices.

There are three churches in the town. The Baptist church has a new $20,000 brick building, still incomplete, but on which work is being speeded. Rev. Curtis Jackson is pastor. The interior is finished and the high school baccalaureate was held there this year.

Town Has New Theater

The Methodist church last year completed an extensive remodeling program which has improved the church property, along with construction of a parsonage. Rev. C. M. Ryan is pastor. The third church in Plains is the Christian church.

A new motion picture theater was constructed by Mr. and Mrs. Don McGinty last year at a cost of $40,000. Plains is proud of the late pictures shown there and of the fact that visitors come from Brownfield and Denver City to see movies in Plains.

Among finer new residences constructed in the Plains area is one just built by Johnny Fitzgerald, rancher, just east of town. It is a light buff-colored brick home, built by W. D. Light of Plains.

Plains Consolidated School district is one of three school districts serving the county. It has a tax rate of $1, has an operating budget of $192,000 per year. Ten school buses bring the children to school from a wide area.

The other school districts in the county are Sligo Consolidated school district at Denver City and Bledsoe Common school district.

Mr. and Mrs. Read like to recall the difference in the county now and even ten years ago.

They remember that ten years ago Yoakum county had an assessed valuation of $500,000 or slightly more, with the county warrants going begging at 30 cents on the dollar.

Now the county, with approximately 1,500 registered voters, has a valuation of $40,000,000. The county's credit is excellent.

The county is constructing a park and swimming pool just north of Plains.

And as to whether Plains will continue to grow or not, one resident had this answer: "Twelve new families moved here last Sunday."

Much transient business is obtained from the oil field. Two tourist courts help house workers and their families. One, owned by County Judge G. P. Bean, has just undergone extensive remodeling and installation of additional cabins. The other court is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Moore.

Postal receipts, according to Mrs. Read's records hit a new high in 1947, totaling $3,711.39. Plains has a third class postoffice.

No Action On Trieste Seen

By MAX HARRELSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 13. (AP)—Top United Nations officials are convinced that settlement of the Trieste dispute must await a general east-west agreement.

For that reason, it is generally believed here the Security council will side-step any decision at this time on Yugoslavia's complaint against Britain and the United States.

The council resumes debate on the Yugoslav charges, originally filed two weeks ago.

Gist Of Charges Told

The Gist of these charges is that the two western powers are violating the Italian peace treaty by plotting to turn over to Italy the British-American zone in the free territory.

So far the council has heard declarations by Yugoslavia, the United States, Britain and Russia which served mainly to show that Trieste is one of the many potential sources of trouble between east and west.

The United States, Britain and France repeated their appeals to Russia to consider giving Trieste back to Italy, but Russia again refused.

No formal proposal for action of any kind has been laid before the council and it appeared the Trieste question, like many others, probably would be allowed to go on the shelf after another meeting or two.

Timing Is Mystery

It is still a mystery here why Yugoslavia brought the case before the council at this time. One theory, advanced by persons familiar with Communist policies, is that Marshal Tito wanted to raise an issue which would demonstrate that the Slav bloc still could unite on external issues despite the Comintern's break with Yugoslavia.

Another theory, expounded at some length by U. S. Delegate Philip C. Jessup, is that Tito brought the charges against the U. S. and Britain to divert attention from his own alleged plans to annex Trieste.

ing refuge from Soviet officials.

The Tass announcement came as Mikhail Mikhailov, one of the Moscow radio's top commentators, charged that the Federal Bureau of Investigation was implicated with the "white guard" in the current cases. His broadcast was heard in London.

Mikhailov said the Russian public is "deeply indignant" over the Samarin and Kosenkina cases and added:

"The facts indicate that the notorious committee on un-American activities is also involved in the abduction of Soviet citizens. The acting president of this committee, Congressman Mundt, is displaying suspicious activity in his efforts to use the case of Kosenkina and Samarin in his anti-Soviet campaign.

"Here we see the Thomas-Rankin-Mundt committee in the role of corrupt foreigners residing in the United States for the purpose of turning them into traitors to their country."

Proceeds Of Church Sale To Be Divided

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 13. (AP)—Everybody's tabernacle, valued at $75,000, will be sold and the proceeds divided between Evangelist Ethel R. Willitts and disgusted members of her congregation who alleged she "squandered and dissipated" the assets of the edifice.

Federal Judge John W. Holland so ruled yesterday at the end of a three-day injunction hearing.

Parishioners, who filed suit in the wake of reports that the tabernacle was to be sold and converted into a night club, wanted the building turned over to them under a federal receivership.

Miss Willitts, who has a tabernacle worth $300,000 in Detroit, testified the church was her personal property.

Judge Holland appointed a special master to determine which members of the congregation should share in the money.

UN Children Appeal To End This Year

GENEVA, Switzerland, Aug. 13 (AP)—The United Nations appeal for children, which has collected some $16,000,000, is due to close. The U. N. Economic and Social council voted eight to seven yesterday to wind up the organization by the end of this year.

The liquidation resolution was proposed by New Zealand and had the support of the United States, Britain, France and Canada. There were three abstentions.

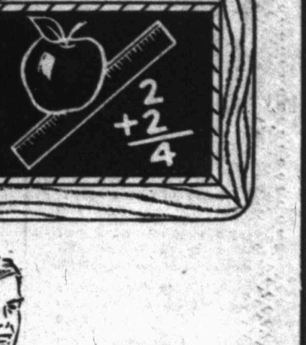

Advocates of the measure said National Children's Fund organizations could continue to operate without the expense of an international coordinating body.

Australian Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt led the opposition to the resolution.
