Woman Killed In Accident Near Welch

A DAWSON county woman was killed and four persons were injured, one critically in two South Plains automobile accidents Tuesday night.

Mrs. Edith Galloway, about 40, a resident of near Welch, a farming community about 20 miles northwest of Lamesa, died of injuries about 10 p.m. last night after her automobile and a "bob-tail" truck driven by Charles R. Berry, 27, of Sweetwater collided at a highway intersection near Welch in Dawson county about 6:30 p.m. yesterday.

Three Hurt Near Idalou

Bessie Jean Galloway, 12, Mrs. Galloway's daughter, was critically injured in the accident, and was under treatment in a Lamesa hospital last night for a fractured thigh, a fractured ankle, possible skull fractures, and multiple bruises and lacerations.

Berry was not injured in the accident.

Three persons were injured and three others miraculously escaped death in another mishap when a car in which they were riding overturned two miles west of Idalou early Tuesday night.

Car Almost Demolished

Texas Highway patrolmen who investigated the accident said that Mrs. Galloway's car and the truck collided after Mrs. Galloway, who was going north, attempted to turn west onto the Welch cutoff. The officers said Berry, who is employed by the Pace Packing company of Sweetwater, was going south from Brownfield toward Lamesa when the mishap occurred.

The Galloway car was reported almost completely demolished. The truck careened almost 300 yards south after the crash before overturning on its side.

Mrs. Galloway and her daughter reportedly were brought to a Lamesa hospital by a Welch resident who came to the crash scene. Berry came to Lamesa and reported the accident to officers.

The Dawson county woman, a widow, lived on her farm three miles west of Welch. Her daughter is a sixth grade student in Dawson school at Welch. Mrs. Galloway had been employed the past year in the Dawson school cafeteria. Her husband, Bryan Galloway, a farmer and World War I veteran, died about three years ago.

Three Hurt As Car Overturns

Six persons miraculously escaped death or serious injury early Tuesday night when a late model club coupe in which they were riding blew a rear tire and overturned twice on the Idalou highway, about 5 miles from Lubbock.

The car was the last of seven in a convoy en route from Lorenzo to Mackenzie State park in Lubbock for a family get-together and picnic, one of the party said.

Lorenzo Man Injured

Three of the passengers in the club coupe were carried to Lubbock Memorial hospital for treatment of injuries.

George Hargrove, about 50, of Lorenzo, was treated for bruises and abrasions of the back, and was admitted to the hospital for further observation of the injured back.

His son-in-law, C. P. Butler, 29, of Blessing, suffered a cut on the back of his right hand. Mrs. Roy Huckabee, 26, of Lorenzo route 1, was treated for bruises and abrasions of the back and ribs.

Federal Trial Of Alger Hiss On Perjury Charge Is Opened

NEW YORK, May 31. (AP)—Alger Hiss, one of the federal government's bright young men a few years ago, came to trial in federal court today on perjury charges.

Selection of a jury of 10 men and two women was completed three and one-half hours after the case was opened. Foreman of the jury is Hubert E. James, a junior executive with the General Motors Acceptance corporation.

The government's chief charge is that the former State department official lied when he denied before a federal grand jury that he ever gave secret State department papers to Whittaker Chambers, self-admitted former Soviet spy ring courier.

The trial had been postponed six times.

HAPPY THAT "DEAD" HUSBAND LIVES—Mrs. Mary Martino smiles and hugs her two children, Lorraine, 7, and Edward, 11, in her home after hearing that her soldier husband, Anthony V. Martino, listed as missing in action in France in 1944, turned up alive in New York City. Rep. Rayburn Sets New Meeting Today

Move To End Fight On Tidelands Fails

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Speaker Sam Rayburn, Bonham, butted his head against a brick wall Tuesday afternoon in attempting to work out a compromise between the states and the federal government over ownership to tidelands.

He came away, bloody but unbowed. He will try again Wednesday afternoon, then with attorneys general of Texas, Louisiana, California again, and also U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark, Interior Secretary J. A. Krug and Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney, leading proponent of federal ownership.

Solution Is Studied

Price Daniel, Texas attorney general, who of course was muzzled regarding what went on in conference, said later: "I can say plenty about my views, however. My position is unchanged."

Rayburn mystified capitol newsmen when he said the terms of the proposed compromise were written on a piece of paper "which I received in an envelope two weeks ago." It has "no parentage," he said. The envelope came from one not in an executive position and the sender said he was not the author.

The conference was held in Rayburn's historic office where President Truman sat talking when notified to come to the White House to take the oath of the presidency.

When Rayburn emerged, he looked extremely weary. One thing only he said the parties attending agreed upon—"every one wants a compromise if he can get his own kind."

'Tired Of This'

He would not predict success. He would not even say progress had been made. However, no one was asked to come to an agreement at this time—they were told to go back and think it over.

'Dead' Ex-Soldier Shuns Legal Wife For Wartime Bride

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 31.—The New York Daily News says in a copyrighted story that Anthony Martino, listed for four years among the war dead, wants to go on living with his blonde, wartime sweetheart.

He prefers her to his legal wife who bore him two children before he dropped from sight in the Army, The News said after locating Martino in a New York hotel.

Martino, 40, was presumed lost on a French battlefield until he walked in and introduced himself to Army authorities a few days ago.

The Army department in Washington said First Army headquarters will conduct a full investigation into the strange case. The ex-soldier said he does not remember how he got home from Europe.

Martino Interviewed

Both his prewar wife and his wartime sweetheart clung to the handsome infantryman.

"I love the guy," said blonde Mrs. Dorothy Martino, 33, who dated him before the war, followed him to an Army camp and bore him a son.

"I hope his love for me is still as strong as mine is for him," said brunette Mrs. Mary Martino, 37, who reared two children after her husband went into the Army against her wishes.

On his first marriage, The News quoted Martino as saying "as far as I'm concerned, I'm washed up with that."

"I guess Dotty and I are pretty much in love," the newspaper quoted him.

He plans to surrender to Army authorities tomorrow, and tell them his whole story,

Detroit Police Stage Mass Raids In Search For Reuther Assailant

DETROIT, May 31. (INS)—Some 4,000 Detroit police suddenly were thrown into the search for the shotgun assailants of United Auto Worker's president Walter Reuther and his brother, Victor, late today.

Teams of officers swooped down on gambling dens, hoodlum hangouts and the Detroit race track to round up police characters.

Police Commissioner Harry Toy, Wayne County Sheriff Andrew G. Baird and State Police Lieutenant Howard Siler organized the operation and sent out an H-hour message by teletype.

The instructions specified that "all law-enforcement agencies in Detroit and Wayne county join in the investigation now underway of the brutal shootings of Walter and Victor Reuther."

Vishinsky's Plea Refused

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, May 31—It was the West's turn to say "no" to Russia today.

The United States, Britain and France refused the request of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky to invite a 22-man delegation from the Soviet-sponsored German People's Congress to present the German case to the foreign ministers council.

This was after Vishinsky said "no" to the western proposals for a merger of East and West Germany under the Bonn constitution on Monday and again for two and a half hours today.

Delegation Refused

In much shorter time but no less emphatically, U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman said "no."

That seemed to end in failure the discussion on the political merger of Germany. The ministers expected to pass on to the Berlin problem tomorrow. The question was whether the same deadlock would develop on that issue, too.

The delegation which Vishinsky asked the ministers to receive was chosen yesterday from a single slate in a show of hands by the People's Congress in Berlin. The congress was elected in Soviet zone balloting a little over two weeks ago from one list of handpicked candidates. About a third of East zone German voters cast "no" ballots. About a fourth of the delegates had been chosen by Communist organizations in West Germany to give color to the claim that the congress represents all Germany.

Group Questioned

"I do not believe this delegation of the Third (People's) Congress could or would express any views whatsoever other than those expressed by Mr. Vishinsky," Acheson said. "I prefer to look to Mr. Vishinsky himself for official expressions of the Soviet government."

Acheson said the United States

Jones Sentenced To Death July 8

(Special To The Avalanche)

CROSBYTON, May 31—W. Fred Jones, 40, today was taken to the state penitentiary at Huntsville, where he has been sentenced to die July 8 for the shotgun slaying of H. C. Love, jr., Sept. 27, 1946, in Floydada.

Jones, accompanied by three law enforcement officials, left Crosbyton by automobile at about 11:30 a. m. for Huntsville, immediately after the sentence of death had been passed.

Taking the condemned man to Huntsville were Sheriff Foy Addison and Deputy Sheriff J. N. Poteet of Crosby county and Sheriff Leland Hart of Floyd county.

Maintains Innocence

The Floydada grocer had remained completely calm today as he was sentenced to die by 72nd District Judge Dan Blair.

It was 10 a. m., and 40 persons including Jones' wife and several relatives heard the prisoner maintain his innocence and invoke God's blessings on the court and those who prosecuted him.

The incident was in this exchange:

The Court: "Stand up, Fred Jones. (The defendant stood.) Have you anything to state why sentence should not now be pronounced upon you?"

Fred Jones: "Yes, sir, if I may, Your Honor."

The Court: "Yes, sir."

Jones: "I should like to state

Half-Million Gallons Of Oil Go Up In Smoke In Blaze At Omaha

OMAHA, May 31 (AP) — Half a million gallons of oil had gone up in smoke tonight, and a similar amount was threatened by a spectacular fire which was roaring through a petroleum storage yard here.

H. A. Searle, head of the Searle Petroleum company, estimated that between 500,000 and 675,000 gallons of oil had been destroyed.

At least 11 of 33 huge storage tanks exploded sending orange shafts of flame several hundred feet into the air.

Among those still threatened was a 500,000 gallon tank. A south wind was keeping the flames from that tank.

HOUSE GROUP ASKS $50,000 FOR INVESTIGATION

Sweeping Investigation Ordered Into Effectiveness Of B-36, Alleged Irregularities In Procurement

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31 — A sweeping congressional investigation was ordered today into the effectiveness of the B-36 superbomber and alleged irregularities in its procurement, involving the Air and Defense secretaries.

The House Armed Services committee by unanimous vote directed its chairman, Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), to ask the House for power to subpoena witnesses and for $50,000 to pay for the probe.

Meanwhile, a succession of moves within the National Military Establishment indicated that the scheduled mock war between the B-36 and Navy jet interceptors may never take place.

Initial enthusiasm for the committee-ordered test evidenced by Defense Secretary Johnson and the Air Force apparently has cooled. Johnson has expressed concern that the "battle" might uncover too many secrets for potential enemies.

Today a Defense department spokesman said "weapons tests are all right but I hope they won't make a circus out of this one."

Whether the mock war is fought or not, the Armed Services committee is certain to delve deeply into Air Force claims—disputed by the Navy—that the B-36 "approaches invulnerability" at 40,000 feet. Vinson said today:

"This investigation involves a number of big issues. It deals with the reputation of men great in America today. It deals with the reputation of the National Military Establishment in the eyes of the American people.

"So I feel that we must be absolutely certain that this investigation is completely

Paving Work Here Okayed

Contract for 70 additional blocks of street paving to be finished by Oct. 15 was awarded to Holland Page, of Austin, on a bid of $148,986 at a recessed meeting of the City commission Tuesday afternoon.

The award increased the year's paving program to approximately 290 blocks, by far the largest in the city's history, the commission was advised by R. L. Oldham, director of public works. The surfacing will aggregate about 29 miles. A large percentage of the blocks in the program are double length and average about 10 to the mile, he said.

To Boost Total

When finished, the program will give Lubbock well over 100 miles of paved streets. The mileage at the beginning of this year was estimated at approximately 77.

Page's bid was the lowest of three submitted. Others were: L. A. Purtell, $154,805, and Kerr & Middleton, $161,980. Both unsuccessful bidders have headquarters in Lubbock. Streets in the new project follow:

East Ave. C and East D, from 19th to 26th; East E, Railroad avenue to 26th; North H, Maple to 2nd; M, 2nd to North 3rd; N, 2nd to Maple; O, 2nd to North 3rd; P, 1st to Santa Fe tracks at 2nd; Maple, North M to North O; Paris, 2nd to 4th; 1st, L to P; 23rd, U.S. 87 to Railroad avenue; 34th, Q to Monroe; and the widening of 10th from L to M.

Warm Temperatures Hit Most Of State

The South Plains is in for another warm day, the Weatherman says. And so is most of the rest of the state.

Summer apparently has arrived to stay for a while in the area, the Weatherman indicated. The mercury hit a top of 93 degrees Tuesday afternoon is expected to jump to 95 degrees today. Prospects for more than very scattered showers if any were said to be remote.

Scattered showers and some hail fell in eastern Floyd county and in the Matador area Tuesday, but no heavy rains were reported.

Meanwhile, the rest of Texas continued to roast. Presidio led the parade again Tuesday with a 105 reading. Laredo and Wink had 102s. Waco 99, Big Spring, Fort Worth and Dallas 97, the Associated Press said. Partly cloudy weather and scattered thundershowers were seen for parts of the state for the next two days, the Associated Press said.

Five Workmen Are Injured In Labor Violence At Beaumont

BEAUMONT, May 31. (AP)—Five employes of Brown and Root, Inc., construction firm, sustained minor injuries late this afternoon when violence flared between the workers and members of organized AFL crafts of Beaumont.

Blows were exchanged and bottle and rocks thrown when a bus in which the workers were riding from their jobs collided with a car driven by a member of local AFL craft.

L. T. Bolin, vice president of Brown and Root, said the car had followed the bus from the construction job south of Beaumont. The company is building a compressor station for the Texas-Eastern Transmission company. Bolin charged the automobile rammed the bus.

Artie Pollock, chief of police, said the bus ran into the car, according to nearby witnesses.

FBI Check Urged On AEC Scholarships

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31 — The Senate subcommittee handling appropriations for the Atomic Energy commission decided today to require FBI clearance of all scientists recommended for government-financed atomic study scholarships.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), subcommittee chairman, announced that the group will write into the AEC appropriation the requirement that all scholarship recipients be checked for loyalty.

AEC Chairman Lilienthal, charged with "incredible mismanagement" and scheduled to face a congressional investigating committee Wednesday, conceded last week that some Communists held scholarships in the nation's atomic energy development program.

Removal Demanded

O'Mahoney announced the subcommittee decision after the group heard testimony behind closed doors from Adm. John Gingrich, former AEC security director.

Gingrich resigned April 30. The commission had overruled his recommendation that access to secret information be denied Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards and Dr. Frank P Graham, now Democratic senator from North Carolina.

The appropriations checkrein proposal followed a demand made in the House earlier today that Lilienthal be removed from office because he "has betrayed his country."

Rep. Dondero (R-Mich), made the demand in a House speech as Lilienthal was ordered to take the witness stand before the Congressional Atomic Energy committee tomorrow to answer detailed charges of "incredible mismanagement."

Dondero told the House that

First Big Summer Weekend Is Last For 413 Persons

(By The Associated Press)

The summer season's first big weekend was the last for 413 Americans.

That number lost their lives in accidents on the highways, at the beaches and resort cottages and in miscellaneous observances of the three-day Memorial Day holiday. The period covered by the survey extended from 6 p. m. in all time zones Friday until midnight Monday.

Rodeo Boosters Go South Today

The second of a series of booster trips to advertise the forthcoming ABC-sponsored Boys club rodeo will leave Lubbock this morning under the leadership of C. B. Hardin, with Midland and Big Spring as the main destinations.

Stops will be made, however, at most of the towns and cities along the route, it was announced.

The first trip, which made stops at most major towns between Lubbock and Hobbs Tuesday, returned late yesterday by way of Lovington and Tatum, N. M., and Denver City and Plains in the South Plains.

Recorded music from two sound trucks, distribution of circulars describing the rodeo scheduled June 8 through June 11, and a great deal of enthusiasm and good will distributed along the way feature the trips to be made this week to cities and towns in West Texas and eastern New Mexico.

A group led by Fred Hinson will visit all places between Lubbock and Spur on Thursday, and Friday will find a large group under the leadership of Frank McElroy leaving for Clovis.

The Lubbock boosters are scheduled to meet with the Clovis ABC for lunch Friday noon.

WTCC Asks Help On Grain Storage Space

ABILENE, May 31 (AP) — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce wired Washington today asking help of Texans in Congress in an effort to get storage space for this summer's wheat crop.

A telegram went to seven representatives and to Senators Connally and Johnson. They were asked to contact the War Assets administration or other proper agency about getting 100,000 army tents or tarpaulins to help farmers provide storage.

The telegram said that if farmers of West Texas can't get storage to take advantage of a promised $1.87 government loan they may have to sell their wheat for as little as $1 a bushel.

It was sent after a meeting of the WTCC officers committee at Colorado City.

BUTTER, WHEAT PRICES SLUMP

Stock And Commodity Markets Take $1,400,000,000 Decline

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Staff Correspondent

STOCK and commodity markets tumbled sharply Tuesday, in some cases touching their lowest levels in nearly three years.

Declines on the New York stock market ranged from $1 to nearly $4 with one leader, U.S. Steel, reaching its lowest point since 1947.

Statisticians estimated the slump slashed $1,400,000,000 from the value of big board stocks.

The Dow-Jones industrial average showed a loss of $3.17 a share, the widest since last November's post-election break.

The price of butter on the New York and Chicago wholesale markets dropped below the government support price to the lowest figure since July 1, 1948, when the OPA ceiling of 57¼ cents a pound was in effect.

Today, the price tumbled to 58¼ cents in New York and 58 cents at Chicago. The government has been supporting grade "A" butter at 59 cents a pound for the past few months.

Grains also felt the slump, cash wheat premiums dropping 10 cents a bushel at Kansas City to $1.95. In Chicago, wheat dropped as

Most Products Are Affected

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan sent Congress today a draft of proposed legislation which would extend rigid government prodution control powers to most farm products.

Present laws permit use of such powers only on wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts. Control measures include acreage allotments, production goals and marketing quotas. They are aimed at preventing unmarketable surpluses and depressed farm prices.

New commodities which would come under the control program are:

Livestock, including hogs, cattle and lambs; poultry, including chickens and turkeys; whole milk, butterfat, eggs, hops, honey, honey bees, gum naval stores, corn-produced outside the commercial corn area, barley, oats, rye, grain sorghums, flaxseed, soy beans, dry edible beans, grass seed vegetables, including potatoes, cabbage and tomatoes; and fruits, including citrus fruits, dried fruits and deciduous fruits.

Subject To Penalty

Under Brannan's proposal, the secretary of agriculture would have authority to invoke marketing quotas on individual producers of all these crops and products whenever he deemed them necessary to prevent surpluses.

The secretary would have broad leeway in setting individual quotas.

Products sold in excess of a farm's marketing quota would be subject to a penalty tax equal to half the government price support rate for the commodities.

In addition, Brannan has said it would be possible under existing law to deny price support aid to farmers who produced in excess of their quotas.

Today's proposal is in line with the new farm program plan the secretary outlined before Congress

Vet Loan Bill Is One Vote Short

AUSTIN, May 31. (AP)—Termed "socialistic," "unfair to free enterprise," "something for nothing," and a "handout," a $3,000,000 veterans loan bill was defeated by the slim margin of one vote in the House today.

The proposed constitutional amendment was offered by Rep. Miller, Walker of Beaumont. It needed 100 votes for final passage. It got 99. Twenty votes were cast against it.

The measure would let veterans of World War II secure loans up to $5,000 directly from the state to go into business or to build a home. The interest rate would be 4 percent.

Bitter Words Exchanged

"This country's more socialistic today than Russia" growled Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas in opposition to the plan. "How are you going to get the money back if a man doesn't put up collateral for the loan?"

"Isn't this just another case of the government competing with free enterprise?" inquired Rep. Tom H. Stovell of Alpine.

Supporting the bill, Rep. William B. Teague of Anson told the House: "Maybe the banks can't afford to make loans at 4 percent interest. That's their prerogative. But the veterans can't afford to pay more than 4 percent."

Hanna and Walker exchanged bitter words. Angered, Hanna called Walker an "Andy Gump," charged that Walker had never had the courage to vote his convictions since he was first elected to the legislature, and ended with the statement: "You haven't got the courage of a sheep."

"Anytime you want to test it, I'm willing," Walker retorted.

HST INVITED TO LAST REUNION

GAR Ranks Dwindled To 28 As Group Prepares For Final Meet

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Only 28 men aged 100 to 107 remain alive of the once mighty host which fought in 1861-65 to preserve the Union.

A few of them—possibly five—will meet Aug. 28-Sept. 1 in Indianapolis, Ind., for the 83rd and final encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

When another Memorial Day rolls around the once-great GAR, which gave the nation five presidents and whose members at one time numbered more than 409,000, will be no more.

HST Invited To Meet

A few old men will live on for a few more years, alone with their memories. They will dream of days gone by, of "Father Abraham," of the battles of Bull Run, Gettysburg, Vicksburg and Chickamauga, of their first encampment when thousands attended.

Then the final curtain will ring down on the "boys in blue." The Union Army will be no more.

President Truman can make these few old men very happy. They have asked him to attend their final reunion in the city where they held their first conclave in 1866. So far he has neither accepted nor refused. Another invitation will go out to him early in August. The old men hope he can come.

Special Stamp Urged

Congress can also make the few remaining survivors of the Union Army very happy by granting them one last wish. At their 1948 encampment in Grand Rapids, Mich., the six veterans who attended adopted a resolution requesting that a special postage stamp be issued to commemorate the final get-together of the GAR.

Only 20 members remain alive. When they last met, there were 28. On the government's pension rolls, maintained by the Veterans administration, are eight more veterans who are not members of the GAR.

According to Miss Cora Gillis, GAR secretary, a check shortly before Memorial Day disclosed that there are still 10 state departments in existence: California, with four members; Illinois and Kentucky, with two; and Connecticut, Iowa, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington, Wisconsin, with one each. There were also two members-at-large in New York and one each in Idaho, Minnesota and Michigan.

Negroes Among Survivors

The remaining non-GAR veterans, according to VA, live in Kansas, Missouri, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Washington state.

Miss Gillis said three of the GAR members are negroes, one, aged 105, an ex-slave. The youngest GAR member is Thomas Ambrose, of Chicago, who became 100 this month. The oldest is James Albert Hard, of Rochester, N.Y., who will be 108 July 15.

Hard enlisted in the Union Army in May, 1861 at the age of 19 and was mustered out of service in June, 1863.

To Theodore A. Penland, 100, of Vancouver, Wash., goes the sad honor of being the last commander-in-chief of the GAR. Penland joined the Army of the Potomac in 1865 when 16 years of age and served with Indiana's Company A, 152nd infantry.

'Great' Parade Planned

Penland was invited to President Truman's inauguration, but was unable to attend. He is determined, however, to lead the last and final parade of the GAR in Indianapolis. He stated:

"We will march in a great parade. But there will be a marked difference. When I attended the first reunion, our comrades came in thousands."

Miss Gillis said five of the six veterans who attended last year's encampment hope to be present for the final conclave.

They are Charles L. Chappel, Long Beach, Calif., 101; Albert Woolson, Duluth, Minn., 102; James A. Hard, Rochester, N. Y., 107; John H. Grate, Atwater, Ohio, 103 and Theodore A. Penland, Vancouver, Wash., 100. The sixth, William H. Osborn, Joplin, Mo., died at the age of 105.

Confederates Plan Reunion

The comrades, as they called each other, have already taken the necessary steps to wind up their organization. Their books will go to the Library of Congress and their flags will go to the Smithsonian Institution.

At the 1943 encampment in Des Moines, Iowa, it had been agreed that the GAR would continue "as long as one of the Civil War veterans lived," but the six old vets at last year's reunion decided to wind up their organization this year.

As Osborne sadly put it to his comrades:

"Like everything else, it must come to an end."

The "boys in gray," the Confederate veterans, will also hold what will probably be their final reunion—their 59th—this year in Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 27 to 29.

States Honor Veterans

The United Confederate Veterans is headed by J. W. Moore, 104, of Selma, Ala. The federal government pays no pension to these veterans who marched with General Lee and no central check of their number is available. Last year, however, it was estimated that there were 57 of them alive. At the time, there were 52 known survivors of the Union Army.

Memorial Day, as a day of remembrance for Union veterans, was first proposed by John A. Logan, GAR commander-in-chief, May 5, 1868. He designated the 30th day of every May, "for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country."

Other days are set aside in the South to honor Confederate veterans: Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama, April 26; North and South Carolina, May 10; and Louisiana, Tennessee and Kentucky, June 3.

Jet Plane's Loss Of Fuel Tank Is Blamed On Faulty Mountings

DETROIT, May 31 (AP) — Faulty mountings were blamed today for a 1000-pound jet plane fuel tank crashing through to the basement of a home here, narrowly missing three occupants.

The wing tank of an F-80 jet fighter came loose in flight, tearing an eight foot hole in the roof of Herman W. Miller's home. It split open in the basement.

Miller, 70, was asleep when the wing tip tank crashed through the roof, just three feet from his bed yesterday. His wife, 64 and a son, Walter, 34, were eating in the kitchen.

The other wing tank of the plane, piloted by Lt. Albert White of Selfridge Field, was jarred loose by the sudden change in weight. It dropped into a street shattering windows. No one was hurt.

Arthur Lee Ivey Files Appeal From Murder Sentence Here

Appeal of Arthur Lee Ivey, 50, from a five-year murder sentence was announced here Tuesday.

Ivey's motion for a new trial was overruled Monday by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue, whereupon the defendant was formally sentenced.

He had been convicted May 17 of murder without malice of Leonard Bailey, who was fatally stabbed in a Myrtle drive dugout after a gambling game.

GOP Leaders Make Thorough Study Of Vote Results; Claim Congressmen Won For HST

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 31—The Republican National committee is out today with a book full of figures and footnotes seeking to answer the question, Who won the 1948 election?

There is no dispute about who lost that election. The Republicans lost it, and the committee does not attempt any fast figuring to challenge that fact. But the Republicans do argue that labor claims too much when it takes credit for Mr. Truman's election.

In 44 pages of text and upward of 100 pages of statistical tables, the committee has analyzed last November's returns more thoroughly than any previous election ever was analyzed. If you have wondered by what percentage the Gallup Poll overestimated the nationwide Republican vote for President last year, the answer is 4.4 percent. The Crossley poll was wrong by 4.8 per cent.

Congressmen Won Races

Don't be too hard on the poll takers. These fresh Republican statistics show that the American people voted last November against the trends and against tradition.

The American political trend for 20 years or more has been for a presidential ticket to build up popularity and momentum sufficient to sweep into office many congressional candidates who were not strong enough to win on their own. Scores of congressional candidates rode the late FDR's coat tails to such victories.

The Republican election analysis shows that President Truman was not able to give 1948 Democratic congressional candidates such a lift. In nearly a dozen big industrial cities, Mr. Truman ran behind the Democratic congressional candidates. These cities were Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Denver, Detroit, Jersey City, New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis.

The same lag in Mr. Truman's vote compared with the vote for Democratic congressional candidates was noted in seven big industrial states, some of which he won and some of which he lost. These states were Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

Of these state and city returns, the committee analysis says:

"They lend proof to the fact well known during the campaign that labor leaders, believing Mr. Truman had small chance to win the election, concentrated on returning Democratic members of Congress and gave the Democratic presidential ticket only half-hearted support."

Continuing the analysis, the Republican statisticians found that Mr. Truman's surprising weakness in some industrial areas was matched by the astonishing weakness of the Republican presidential and congressional candidates in many farm areas. Mr. Truman could not have won with the labor vote, the Republicans concede, but they argue that it was Republican weakness in the farm areas that kept the president in the White House.

Borden Wildcat Shows Promise

Strong indications of the discovery of a new oil field in northwest Borden county, 31 miles northwest of Gail, have been developed at Sinclair Prairie Oil Company No. 1 Sterling Williams.

This wildcat, which is located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey, had a recovery of 7,300 feet of clean oil, plus 250 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut drilling mud, during a three-hour drilstem test at 9,878-9,928 feet. The drillpipe unloaded some fluid while being pulled.

Free Oil Shown

This venture has logged signs of possible oil and gas production since it reached 9,570 feet. A section just above the zone covered by the latest drilstem test also made some free oil on a drilstem test.

So far no formation water has been developed by the horizon which is making the oil and gas. There is no official identification of the formation. Some observers think it is probable somewhere in the Pennsylvanian.

It is understood that the prospector will drill ahead until it finds and tests the Ellenburger. If that zone fails to produce the hole will probably be plugged back and an effort made to complete a producer and a new discovery from the sections which has already shown the good indications of making an oil well.

A wildcat test into the San Andres-Permian of southwest Cochran county is slated as The Atlantic Refining company No. 1-C. F. O. Masten.

The drillsite is 694.4 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of labor 18, league 133, Armstrong CSL survey, about 16.5 miles southwest of Morton.

The San Andres is expected to come in above 5,100 feet. Drilling with rotary tools is starting at

Arizona Negro Killed By Police After Shooting Couple To Death

PHOENIX, May 31. (AP) — A berserk negro killed the father and mother of nine young children today, wounded two persons, and then was killed in a gunfight with deputies.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Feliz Jaso, were killed in their home when the negro, Eddie R. Washington, 49, opened fire without warning.

Mrs. Jaso was holding her three-year-old daughter, Ermalinda, in her arms when she was killed. The child escaped injury, but another child, 9-year-old Espinrazo Jaso, was wounded.

Washington opened fire through the window of the Jaso home with two .38 calibre pistols. The motive for his attack, if any, was not known. The parents were killed instantly, and the Jaso boy was wounded in the right shoulder.

GOOD TURNOUT ATTENDS SESSION

FBI Report Is Handed To Court In Texas City Disaster Suit

By MAX SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GALVESTON, May 31 — The federal courtroom here overflowed with spectators today as the $200,000,000 Texas City disaster damage suit trial moved within 15 miles of the site of the disaster.

Many survivors of the disaster were present to see the trial opened here after being in session in Houston since April 25.

They had come to see:

Report Given Court

1. A secret Federal Investigation report on the disaster delivered under seal to Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly.

2. J. Curtis Trahan, Texas City mayor at the time of the disaster, tell of his actions the day of the waterfront explosion and fire.

The courtroom was half filled an hour before the 76-year-old judge entered.

It was a sharp contrast to the Houston scene of the trial. Only court attendants and many of the 200 attorneys involved witnessed sessions there.

Court To Make Study

The FBI's secret report, subject of lengthy legal debate in Houston last week, was not introduced into the trial.

Kennerly, after consulting attorneys for the plaintiffs, approved a government request that the court study the report and rule whether its contents are material to the case and whether its introduction into the trial would jeopardize the public's interest.

Last week two FBI agents ignored the court orders to make the report available. They said a Justice department regulation permits only the attorney general to release FBI material.

Kennerly on May 24 issued another order directing Galen N. Willis, agent in charge of the Houston, FBI office, to bring the report into court here today.

Instead, Asst. U. S. Dist. Attorney Joseph W. Cash, Houston, presented a formal reply as signed by U. S. District Attorney Brian S. Odem, Houston.

Attached to the reply was a copy of a telegram from Peyton Ford, assistant to the U. S. attorney general.

Ford advised Odem there is no "apparent reason" why the justice department's order on release of FBI material should be set aside. It said Willis should be instructed to carry out his orders in this respect.

The government's formal reply said that "pursuant to instruction of the attorney general of the Unted States, the report ordered to be produced for the plaintiffs is respectfully declined, but the report is being directed to the court for inspection under seal."

Services Held For Garza County Pioneer

POST, May 31 (Special)—Funeral services for Augustus Stone, 80, pioneer Garza county resident who died early Monday in Lubbock Memorial hospital, were held at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Church of Christ at Graham community, near Post.

Paul Mayr, Church of Christ minister of Post, officiated, assisted by S. D. Lofton, retired Church of Christ minister, and Rev. A. B. Cockrell, pastor of the First Methodist church of Post.

Burial was in Terrace cemetery, Post, under direction of Mason & Company Funeral home.

Grandsons were pallbearers, and granddaughters were flower girls.

Stone, a retired farmer, was born June 13, 1868, in Marion county, Ill. He married Eva Baker in 1893 in Benton county, Ark. He had been a member of the Church of Christ more than 40 years.

Survivors include the wife; five sons, Noah, Virgil, James, Dale and Albert Stone, all of Garza county; a sister, Mrs. Minnie Red of Chowchilla, Calif.; a brother, Ed Stone of Spokane, Wash., and 16 grandchildren.

Man Sought In Indiana Auto Thefts Arrested In Oklahoma

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (U.P.)—George H. Sturm, 47, who allegedly courted two Evansville, Ind., widows and fled with their new automobiles after marrying one of them, has been arrested in Oklahoma City, the FBI here said today.

Harvey G. Foster, local FBI head, said Oklahoma police arrested Sturm on a federal charge of flight to avoid prosecution for burglary.

Sturm courted the first Evansville widow in April, 1946, and stole her car after promising marriage, Foster said.

The next month he courted the second widow, married her on May 10, fled with her car the same day and returned five days later to burglarize her home, Foster said.

The FBI also discovered that Sturm married another woman last June 30 and deserted her several days later.

Sturm also is wanted in Oklahoma, North Dakota, Illinois and Washington for passing fraudulent checks, Foster said.

Broadway Hit, 'Where's Charlie?' Rumored As Next Ray Bolger Film At Warners Studio

By DOROTHY MANNERS
INS Staff Correspondent

Editor's Note: Loueiia—5½-pt.

HOLLYWOOD, May 31—Warners has first dibs on Ray Bolger's next movie. Maybe you think they won't exercise it as soon as he finishes the run on "Where's Charlie?" on Broadway.

You can't get anybody at the Burbank studio to admit that the plan now is to re-team him with June Haver in "Where's Charlie?" but that's what they're burning up the long distance telephone about.

June and Bolger were together in "Look For The Silver Lining." A repeat performance would be box office. June, as you know, is due on the Warner lot for another picture before the year is out.

Star Switches Roles

Leo Genn, who was signed in London for "Quo Vadis," was the last to learn that it has been postponed until next year. Mr. Genn unpacked his bags and set about getting another job.

Such a good actor never waits long. So he has just signed for "No Place For Jennifer," co-starring Rosamund John (not Jennifer Jones). The comedy starts in two weeks at a studio just outside London.

Meanwhile, Leo is "sweating out" the London run of his Hollywood hit, "The Snake Pit." He saw it in Hollywood before the British censors had deleted three of the most grueling scenes. In spite of the "cuts," "The Snake Pit" is doing sensational business in England.

Autobiography Completed

Alla Nazimova's autobiography, which she was working on at the time of her death in 1945, has been completed by her secretary of seventeen years service, Glesca Marshall. Within a few weeks it will be in the hands of the publishers.

Even if the book had been completed during the lifetime of the Russian actress, it would not have been published. Because of certain heretofore unrevealed material about herself, Nazimova insisted on posthumous publication.

It might interest producers, sure to be interested in this biography, that Louise Rainer was Nazimova's personal selection of the actress to recreate her life story.

Actress Goes To Italy

In the excitement over Ingrid Bergman, everybody forgot that it was Roberto Rossellini who imported another Hollywood gal, Marilyn Buferd ("Miss America" of 1946) to Italy to make movies.

Well, she is doing all right, now speaks Italian like a native. Her next picture is a comedy with Mischa Auer, remember him?

Marilyn is not listed in the large sorority of Rossellini's ex-girl friends. Her big romance in Rome is Paul Le Pere, assistant to Gabriel Pascal.

Baby's Name Picked

Hollywood in shorts: If it's a girl, Dorothy Lamour will call her baby Dorothy Selinda.

George Sanders and Zsa-Zsa, his bride, are in New York for a few weeks before taking off for Europe. They bought a house in Cannes for a wedding present. Whatta life!

Laraine Day and the two kids left by train Monday to join Leo Durocher in New York—happy people.

Sid Miller says he saw this double-feature marquee the other night on a Sunset boulevard theater. Several of the lights had gone out on "Mother Is A Freshman" and "The Red Pony" so it read: "Mother is a Red Pony."

Singer Ends Tour

Mario Lanza is back from his personal appearance concerts. My money is up that he will be one of our next big stars after you hear him in Norman Taurog's "That Midnight Kiss."

Cyd Charisse moved into her and Tony Martin's new Brentwood home all by her lonesome. Tony is still in New York breaking theater records.

Nora Eddington Flynn is getting the press on her side up at Las Vegas. She is being friendly and co-operative and has even appeared at several civic shindigs.

Gabriel Pascal is in Hollywood and has been huddling on the MGM lot.

Rex Harrison and Lili Palmer are living in a New York hotel until sailing time for London.

If you are working on the American Weekly's masked man of mystery contest why don't you try the leading bazooka player of screen and radio as you answer to the current puzzler?

BISHOP SPEAKS OUT

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., (U.P.)—William Appleton Lawrence of the western Massachusetts Episcopal Diocese figured out his church members contribute less than three cents weekly to religious services. Trouble is, the bishop said, "many are unconvinced Christians—lukewarm, half-hearted with a completely casual and irresponsible attitude towards the obligations they have assumed."

Ford Agrees To Contract Talks

DETROIT, May 31 (INS) — The Ford Motor company today agreed to start talking terms of a new wage contract with the CIO United Auto Workers while a majority of its 106,000 hourly-rated workers are still idle from effects of the 25-day strike.

The company accepted a union invitation to open negotiations Thursday on union demands for $100-a-month pensions, a health insurance plan and a wage boost sufficient to restore the purchasing power of July, 1946.

Contract Talks Delayed

The acceptance came while 43,000 of the 59,000 Rouge strikers still awaited back-to-work orders, but followed by more than two weeks the original union demand that contract negotiations open May 16.

The company flatly refused to discuss a new contract until the strike of 62,000 Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury employes was settled.

Ford today released tentative dates for re-opening Ford division assembly plants shut down during the strike.

The first plants scheduled to resume production are those in Chicago, Buffalo, and Louisville, Ky., where assembly operations will commence June 7.

Other Plants To Open

Slated to follow June 8, are Atlanta, Chester, Pa.; Edgewater, N. J.; Kansas City; Norfolk, Va.; Memphis, Tenn.; Somerville, Mass.; and St. Paul.

The Dallas plant will re-open June 9, and Long Beach and Richmond, Calif., June 13.

Company and union officials today appointed representatives to a six-man committee which will spend the next two days trying to agree on a single arbitrator to rule on the crux of the speed-up dispute that inspired the walkout. If they fail to agree by Thursday, the issue will be turned over to a three-man panel provided in the strike settlement.

72nd District Jury Panel Reports Today

A 72nd judicial district petit jury panel will report at 9:30 a.m. today to Judge Dan Blair.

The damages action of I. D. McClish against R. C. Young Feed and Seed company will be called for announcements, court officials indicated.

Second on the list of cases is that of H. Y. Pearson against Trinity Universal Insurance company, a suit to set aside award, it was announced.

The law firm of Boling, Smith and Allen represents both plaintiffs. The firm of Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam is counsel for both defendants, and the firm of Carr and Carr also is counsel for the feed and seed company.

WRONG PENNY

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (U.P.)—John C. Penny of Dalton didn't pay a cent when brought into district court on a minor traffic charge. Police said they had the wrong Penny—John C. didn't own a car.

Beaumont Man Aids Police In Probe Of Missouri Shooting

JOPLIN, Mo., May 31. (U.P.)—Officers today expressed hope that the mystery surrounding identity of a man whose body was found in a vacant lot in Joplin May 15 may be solved. The man had been shot to death.

Detective Chief Luther Laster reported receipt of a information from Beaumont authorities, indicating the victim may have been a man who identified himself as George McCann in the purchase of a revolver April 14 at the Victors Loan company in the Texas city.

The revolver which was traced to Beaumont was found beneath the body. Laboratory tests showed it was the weapon which inflicted a fatal wound.

Laster reported that Sam Spector of the loan company at Beaumont, said the description of the dead man fitted that of McCann exactly. Texas officers checking the home address given by McCann found it to be fictitious.

Lubbock Woman Describes Life In City Of Trieste

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Charlie Jackson, native Lubbockite, who is in the Army exchange service at Trieste, spent several days in Venice in April with the woman's editor of The Avalanche-Journal, Miss Ruth B. Ford and Mrs. John D. Lynch of Grosse Pointe. Today's article, another in a series describes life in the free territory of Trieste.)

By MARGARET TURNER

A PLEASANT addition to our party during our stay in Venice was occasioned with the arrival of Miss Charlie Jackson from Trieste. Charlie, a native of Lubbock, is in the Army exchange service in that city, seat of government of the free territory of Trieste. She enjoys her work and considers her stay there as a great adventure.

Trieste, once the hot spot of Europe, lies on the narrow ground between the Adriatic sea and the Carso plateau and most of its expansion is made over the surrounding hills. It is a city of modern buildings and fine thoroughfares and Charlie told us that all seems peaceful at present.

Refining and storing of oil are important industries in Trieste and she is preparing to make a bid for her former place as one of the world's leading commercial ports.

ALTHOUGH there are several American women in civil service work in Trieste, Charlie is the only woman with the exchange service. Allied Military government headquarters is on Corso in the downtown section, known as the Wall Street of Trieste. Charlie has a room at the Grande hotel and eats most of her meals there. Her long time friends in Lubbock know that she would be the last person in the world to complain about anything but Charlie admitted she tired of eating cauliflower last winter.

Miss Jackson arrived in Trieste in mid-November. There was no great variety in the food, except in the ways of preparing the cauliflower.

"After you have eaten cauliflower for breakfast, lunch and supper in every guise for days, it does not matter how it is disguised, it remains cauliflower," she laughed in recalling that time. "Now the food is much better and we have sufficient vegetables, butter and meat."

AMERICANS in Army and civil service offices are never at a loss as to how they will spend leisure hours, Miss Jackson says. The castles of San Guisto, Miramare and Duino would provide entertainment hours for weeks and then there are the churches, museums, art galleries, not to mention the great scenic beauty.

Miramare castle, constructed on a rocky promontory that juts into the Adriatic just north of Trieste, was constructed for the Austrian Archduke Maximilian, contemporaneous with the Civil war. It has been the site of considerable tragedy and romance and Miss Jackson says so far she had seen nothing in Europe to compare with its beauty.

During the German occupation the grounds were heavily mined and over 1,000 have been removed up to the present time. When the Germans occupied the castle, they also pilfered twelve valuable paintings that have not been restored yet, Charlie told us.

WHEN Charlie first went to Trieste she found it difficult to become accustomed to the low, damp weather. However, she stuck it out and now she says she thoroughly enjoys her work and the association with other Americans and with the natives who are in the exchange building.

We asked if the Russians ever gave them cause for worry. Russians? No, was the answer. But the Italians are sources of annoyance to the Americans who go across the border to Gorizia. For example:

An American soldier, who had been dating an Italian girl in Gorizia, was invited to spend a weekend at her home. He set out, having in his possession two cartons of cigarettes, the limit allowed for one person. An official checking his luggage protested that there were too many cigarettes and took the soldier to jail, where he was held incommunicado from Saturday until Tuesday. When the American failed to show up for work Tuesday, an authority from the AMG got in touch with the police in Gorizia and demanded his release. That afternoon the soldier was released, but when he called for his car he was told to pay a fine of 20,000 lire.

The soldier, more than annoyed and having in his possession only 10,000 lire, hiked out to his girl friend's home to borrow the amount. When he returned to claim his car, he was told the office was closed until the next day.

Told to report for trial in three weeks, the soldier did so; was informed no charges had been preferred and then he told the court a thing or two. He said the trial would have to be held without his presence, as he had to work for a living and could not be coming over all of the time.

The present status is that the soldier continues at work in Trieste and is on probation if he ever shows up in Gorizia.

CHARLIE said another American soldier was stopped by Gorizia police and given a ticket because he had no license to show he had a radio in his car. He took the ticket but did not do anything about paying his fine.

Hair Styles For Summer Will Be Individualistic

Summer hair-dos will be shorter, close to the head and worn in individualized styles. This is according to Lee Self of El Paso and Vernon Isbell of Fort Worth, who were lecturers at the district meeting of the Texas Association of Accredited Beauty Culturists held during the weekend at the Hilton hotel. Self is state president of the association.

At the recent hair and clothes fashion show in Washington, hair styles were shorter, with extremely low neck line and the ends barely turned, Self said. Head sizes are smaller and the woman with heavy thick hair must prepare to have it tapered, Isbell cautioned.

A new pyramid curl, that stands out from the head and dries in half the time of the flat curl, was illustrated at the culturists' school.

Vows Are Announced

Miss Bobbie Warren and John McLeod, who met when they were attending the School of Nursing in State Sanatorium, were married Saturday night with Rev. H. E. Snell, pastor of Carlsbad Baptist church, officiating. The service was read in an apartment in the medical building at the sanatorium.

Mrs. McLeod is field representative for the Lubbock County Tuberculosis association. Mr. McLeod, a salesman, formerly attended school in San Antonio. Both are graduate nurses from State Sanatorium.

Mrs. Frances Floyd was matron of honor and Dr. C. J. Quintanilla, of the staff and formerly of Monterey, was best man. An altar was formed of flowers and fern. Punch and wedding cake were served during a reception that followed.

The bride wore an ivory colored suit with pink and brown alligator accessories.

The couple is at home at 905 Ave. N.

WORKED IN REVERSE

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—These days it's hard to get a farmer and his mule to come into the city and plow a garden spot. So two men used their automobile and hooked a plow to the bumper. It worked best when they drove in reverse.

Ex-Students Of College Are Married

Miss Betty Berry and Warren Cudd, both former students of Texas Technological college, were married recently at the First Baptist church of Wellington with Rev. Howard J. Jones officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom B. Berry of Wellington and the bridegroom is the son of J. E. Cudd of Perryton.

John Harper, organist, and Miss Lenora Lowe of Lubbock, soloist, provided wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blush satin with a fingertip veil which fell from a half bonnet of satin. She carried stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Miss Grace Schneider of Plainview attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore pale blue taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of multicolored sweetpeas and pink carnations. Other attendants were Mrs. Cecil Tevis and Mrs. Gene Cudd who wore dresses identical to Miss Schneider's.

Brother Is Best Man

Benton Berry, brother of the bride, was best man. Cecil Tevis and Gene Cudd were ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception given in their home.

For travel, the bride chose a navy blue silk shantung dress with a matching bolero and navy and wisteria blue accessories.

Mrs. Cudd is a graduate of Wellington High school and Tech where she was a member of Las Vivaraches social club. She has been employed for the past several months by the Perryton schools. Mr. Cudd, a graduate of Perryton High school, is a former student of Tech where he was a member of Double T association. He served four years with the Army Engineers; at present he is farming and ranching near Perryton. The couple will be at home in Perryton following a wedding trip to the Texas coast.

Blackwell-Tibbets Ceremony Will Be Read At High Noon

Miss Sherry LaRue Tibbets and William Allen Blackwell who are to be married at high noon today at First Christian church were honored at a rehearsal luncheon given Tuesday at Mackenzie State park.

STATE OF SIEGE IS DECLARED

Bolivian Soldiers Battle 2,000 Dynamite-Hurling Tin Strikers

By ALBERTO ALVESTEGUI
Associated Press Staff Writer

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 31.—A detachment of 200 Bolivian troops battled 2,000 dynamite - hurling strikers today for control of the Patino company's Huanuni tin mines.

Superintendent Howard Keller, a U. S. citizen, was held captive by the miners, who struck to enforce a demand that the government return 28 men—union leaders and others—deported to Chile Friday.

It was a continuation of violence, which the government described as a politically inspired "state of civil war," set off at the weekend in the tin mining region of the Andes southeast of La Paz. A state of siege, or modified martial law, was imposed last night.

Foreigners Evacuated

U. S. citizens and other foreigners were being evacuated from the mining area. Sympathy strikers crippled railway service.

Unofficial reports said the death list might total 50.

The government announced that 14 persons had been killed and 25 wounded, but its figures were incomplete.

Two miners were killed and six wounded yesterday in an attack on the federal police station at Huanuni. Several policemen were wounded.

Troops were dispatched to the scene. The miners threw sticks of dynamite from surrounding hilltops, as others had done in a vain stand Saturday at the Siglo Viente mine of the Patino group, 15 miles away.

Two Americans Killed

The government list of dead included two American engineers, T. J. H. O'Connor of Pasadena, Calif., and Albert Krefting of Seattle, Wash., and two Bolivian employes whom miners had seized as hostages at the Siglo Viente mine.

The country had been in a state of siege from May 1 to May 20 as a result of political disturbances after the May 1 congressional elections in which the government party lost some ground to rightist groups.

The topsy-turvy Bolivian situation apparently pits the left-of-center government against unions which it charges are affiliated with rightist nationalistic groups attempting to start a revolt.

The acting president, who replaced ailing President Enrique Hertzog three weeks ago, called on citizens to support the government and keep Bolivia from "falling into the arms of anarchy."

The strike originally broke out at a mine owned by the Patino group, Bolivia's largest tin combine. Fifteen management officials, including seven Americans were seized as hostages and beaten severely, the company general manager said.

An interior ministry communique said American engineers T. J. H. O'Connor of Pasadena, Calif., and Albert Krefting of Seattle, Wash., were dead when Bolivian troops reached the hostages Sunday. At least two Bolivian mine officials also were killed.

The rioting strikers at first fought off the troops by hurling dynamite bombs at them. Three soldiers were listed as dead in the communique. Unofficials reports said about 20 strikers were killed and 70 persons were severely wounded.

BIG THAW BEGINS

'Weather Beaten' Cowboy Is Feted

DALLAS, May 31 (AP) — The "world's most weather-beaten cowboy" blushed and then relented—he let the pretty cowgirls kiss him.

He is big, bow-legged Jack Lael of Northport, Wash., and he was given the "weather-beaten" title by the Madisonville Sidewalk Cattleman's association.

As he stepped off an airliner here today, Lael was greeted by a swarm of cowgirls from Madisonville. They kissed him. He thawed out.

Then he was taken triumphantly through downtown Dallas—seated on the back of a big convertible. His greeters took away his blue denim pants and jacket, and gave him an expensive embroidered western outfit.

Had Tough Winter

The 200-pound cowboy won the title of "world's most weather-beaten cowboy" by playing nursemaid to a herd of cattle during last winter's big blizzard. For seven weeks the temperature stayed below zero except one day when it rose to 12 above. The cows started dropping their calves. The calves were the worst problem. "I saved all I could on canned milk," Lael recalled.

There was some friendly scoffing about the "most weatherbeaten" title today from some old time Texas range riders.

"Texas has thousands of cowboys more weatherbeaten than Lael," said Tom Arnett, foreman of the Spade ranch at Smyer, Hockley County, Tex., for the last 40 years. "One winter 30 years ago I rode up what I thought was a hill. I looked down and my horse was standing on the backs of hundreds of frozen cattle."

Tomorrow in Madisonville the six-foot cowpoke will meet Miss America of 1948, Bebe Shopp of Minneapolis. He will be entertained by Miss Texas of 1949, Miss Bonnie Bland of Orange, and he'll be guest of honor at a barbecue, square dance jamboree and fat stock show.

Senate Group Okays Funds For Trinity

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations committee late today voted to provide $500,000 for starting levee construction work along the Trinity river in the Fort Worth, area.

The group adopted an amendment, offered by Senator Connally (D-Tex), to the pending second deficiency appropriation bill so it would include funds for the flood control work. The measure now goes to the Senate floor for passage.

Although the Senate two weeks ago refused to approve a similar amendment by Connally to the then pending Army Civil functions appropriation bill, the Texan predicted that the new move would be successful.

Approval of the Trinity project funds amendment came after Fort Worth City Manager W. O. Jones and William Holden, manager of the city's chamber of commerce, went before the Senate group at noon to request the money.

Rep. Lucas (D-Tex) said he would make every effort to get the House to retain the Trinity item if it is approved by the Senate. The bill already has passed the House, but must go back for action on any changes voted by the Senate.

Rep. Burleson Presides Over U.S. House For Brief Period

WASHINGTON, May 31 (Spl.)—Rep. Omar Burleson, Anson, presided over the House of Representatives today. It was his first time to do so.

While the House was considering amending the contracts settlement act, Speaker Sam Rayburn, Bonham, handed the gavel to his fellow-Texan.

Burleson thus became one of the few Texas congressmen other than Speaker Rayburn to preside.

The bill would extend government contract settlement legislation to embrace a group heretofore uncovered, those who provide strategic materials. The House passed the bill.

Soviets Reported Planning UN Drive To Solve Balkan Dispute

LAKE SUCCESS, May 31 (INS)—Reliable sources at the United Nations said today that the Soviet Union has decided on an all-out campaign in the September session of the General Assembly to solve the Balkan dispute.

These sources disclosed that the Soviet UN delegation already has been instructed to plan for the co-ordination of their September moves with the representatives of Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria —plus Czechoslovakia.

On this basis, a spokesman from one of the iron curtain countries predicted privately that the Balkan war would be settled in the Assembly next September — "whether U. S. Secretary of State Acheson likes it or not."

Reds Closing In On Nationalist Bastion

CANTON, May 31 (AP)—Southbound Chinese Communist troops today were reported closing in from the north and east on Changsha, the Nationalist stronghold 400 miles north of Canton.

Central news agency said the Communists were reinforcing at Changshu, 180 miles east of Changsha, for a drive from the east.

The agency predicted a big battle. It said Nationalist troops also were being reinforced at positions about 30 miles west of Changshu.

Communist troops who captured Hankow resumed their drive southward after a lull during the Battle of Shanghai. This threatens Changsha from the north.

These forces are moving down the railway from Hankow to Canton. This is a possible route for a Red drive on this refugee capital.

(The Communist radio in Peiping said these troops had captured Tungcheng, only 90 miles northeast of Changsha. They also seized Puchi, on the railway 80 rail miles of Hankow, said a broadcast heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco.)

Northern Portugal may soon have a major shipbuilding industry.

Spy Trial Evidence Names Former Ickes Aide As Red Contact

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—A secret FBI data slip citing a girl aide of former Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes as a reported Soviet "contact" was introduced today at the espionage trial of Judith Coplon.

Miss Coplon, 28, a former Justice department analyst, is accused of stealing government secrets with intent to aid a foreign power, Russia.

The FBI memo, seized in Miss Coplon's purse when she was arrested last March 4, contained a report on a woman named Ursula Wasserman and read as follows:

Name Found In Book

"In March 1946, subject had in her address book the name of Ruth Gruber. Gruber has been reported to have been a contact of foreign attache Gerinin of the Soviet embassy, Washington. Gruber was secretary to Harold Ickes, secretary of interior."

(Interior department records show that Miss Gruber was a department employe for five years, but was never Ickes' secretary.)

Reached by telephone at his Maryland farm, Ickes commented explosively:

"If that's a test of the accuracy of the FBI, they better disband.

"Some fool writes her (Miss Gruber's) name on a slip of paper and they try to smear her. If she's a Red, I'm a Hottentot."

Ickes said he knows Miss Gruber well and "she's a damned able person.

"But the Interior department has no secret information, anyhow," he said. "What do we have to do with atomic bombs?

"This is just a smear. They'll be smearing me next."

In New York, Miss Gruber said "I never knew or heard of the Coplon girl until her name appeared in the newspapers . . . I never was a contact person for anyone. My job was not secretary to Mr. Ickes, which might imply I had access to secret papers. I had none.

MacArthur Report Says Soviets Hold 469,000 Jap Prisoners

TOKYO, May 31. (INS)—General Douglas MacArthur, despite vastly different Russian figures, announced again today that the Soviets are holding 469,000 Japanese prisoners of war.

Japanese and American officials were shocked recently by the Russian announcement that only 95,000 Japanese are held in Soviet zones.

MacArthur's headquarters refused to comment on today's announcement but it was apparently in answer to the Soviet's figures.

Dukes Win In Tenth, 7-6

Hubbers Give Up Lead Twice

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 31 (AP)—A double by Dick Dawson in the tenth—his first hit in the last 16 times at bat—gave Albuquerque a 7 to 6 ten-inning West Texas-New Mexico league victory over Lubbock tonight.

Albuquerque spotted Lubbock a four-run lead in the first four innings, tied the ball game up twice, and came dramatically in the tenth to take the win.

Dawson's double—on the first pitch—scored Frank Shone from second base to even the series.

Lubbock Starts Strong

It lengthened Albuquerque's lead in the league to two and a half games.

Lubbock started off with a bang—scoring three runs in the first inning. Joe Wisniewski was hit by a pitched ball, Nelson Davis hit to Dawson who threw to Maul and the resultant scramble for the ball in the dugout enabled two men to score.

Bo Dempsey then doubled, Al Duarte singled and Dempsey was held on third. Barnise hit Mike Dooley to load the bases and Jackie Sullivan's high out scored Dempsey.

Lubbock added another in the fourth on a bunt single, a sacrifice and a wild throw.

Dukes Catch Up

The Dukes batted 10 men in the fourth, with Frank Shone's triple to centerfield scoring three runs and Okrie's single later bringing Shone home.

Lubbock went ahead two runs in the fifth on an error, a single, a walk, an out and Sullivan's single.

In the eighth, Okrie tripled to the left center fence, and a balk later produced the tying run.

Dawson's hit came with two men out.

HEY, MILTON, LOOK!—No, this wasn't in a West Texas-New Mexico League game, but it might have been after all the rhubarbs that have taken place this year. Actually, Umpire Bill Stewart isn't leading with his right. He's merely calling Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn shortstop and lead-off man, out at first base during a National League game.

Dodger Win Drops Giants To Third Place

Braves Defeat Phillies, 7-6

NEW YORK, May 31 (INS)—Carl Furillo's fourteenth inning homer touched off a two-run Brooklyn rally tonight that gave the Dodgers a 6-4 victory over the Giants in a long overtime game, lasting almost four hours.

The defeat dropped the Giants to third place, one game behind the Dodgers and Braves, tied at the top of the National league standings. Furillo's game-winning blow was followed by Roy Campanella's triple and Jack Banta's single for the second Brooklyn rally.

Banta further contributed 4 2-3 innings of hitless relief pitching from the ninth onward.

Larry Jansen, seeking his fifth victory, apparently had the game won, 4-3, going into the ninth but Gil Hodges' 425-foot home run deep into the left field stands sent the issue into extra innings.

It was the second time the Dodgers pulled up to a tie during the night, having gotten to Jansen for three runs in a fifth-inning rally.

Gilmore faced only five men and was relieved by Damon Hayes, who wild-pitched the final run of the inning home.

The Indians came up with three runs off Roy Sanner in the first but were throttled the rest of the way. Clarence (Hooks) Iott took over from Sanner in the eighth and finished without trouble.

Wilkinson To Coach College All-Stars

CHICAGO, May 31. (INS)—Coach Charles "Bub" Wilkinson of the University of Oklahoma will coach the College All-Star Football team against the Philadelphia Eagles, National Football league champions, in the sixteenth annual spectacle in Chicago the night of August 12.

Appointments of Wilkinson, whose Oklahoma team defeated North Carolina in the 1949 Sugar Bowl game, was made today by the game's sponsors, who announced that a group of prominent college coaches from other sections will be named soon as Wilkinson's assistants.

Wilkinson is the first former all-star player to return to the summer grid classic as a head coach, having competed in the 1937 all-star game after starring as a guard and quarterback at Minnesota.

In the two years he has been head coach at Oklahoma, Wilkinson's teams have won 17, lost three and tied one.

Henderson By A KO

James Gets TKO In Second Heat

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

LEVELLAND, May 31 — Bill Henderson pulverized Chino Alonzo here tonight before a highly partisan home crowd of over 1,200 persons, chopping a short left uppercut that landed flush on the jaw of his opponent and sent him down for the knockout at 1:14 of the third round.

Up until Henderson suddenly unloosed all the savagery within him, it had been a nip and tuck fight. Alonzo twice hurt Henderson with short, savage blows and the Levelland boy had rallied to send his left to the body and his right to the head with telling effect.

Peres Stages Good Show

The five-bout card, sponsored by the Levelland Junior Chamber of Commerce, produced good action in all fights. Pedro Garcia of Juarez and El Paso, a classy little bantamweight, won his opening bout in easy style and a pair of negro heavyweights also staged an interesting waltz number.

Probably the best of the preliminary fights, a four-round go between Sammy Galvan of Juarez and Trinidad Perez of Mexico City, saw Galvan go down to another defeat.

Gene James of Lubbock, fighting as a heavyweight, was surprised within 30 seconds of the first round by Floyd Bennett of Denver, Colo., fighting as a light heavyweight. Bennett dropped James with a right solid to the nose. But James returned to win the bout on a TKO at 1:10 of the second round.

The main event started slowly, with both fighters sparring lightly and experimentally. Henderson landed a glancing left to the head and after a brief exchange midway through the round, landed a solid right that opened a cut over Alonzo's left eye.

Henderson moved in, but Alonzo covered up well and weathered a stormy session, getting in some good blows of his own.

Alonzo carried the fight to Henderson in the second heat, staggering him once with a hard right and landing several good body blows. But Henderson fought him off and went to work with his left to the body. Finally, just a second before the bell, Henderson shot a straight right to the jaw that dropped Alonzo and left him groggy.

Henderson tore after his opponent when the third round opened and dropped him with a solid right, followed in quick succession by a left, right and left. Alonzo recovered to land one right only to run into a flurry of blows by Henderson. A solid left uppercut started Alonzo down and quick right, left, rights finished the job.

Bo Sexton of Lubbock, third man in the ring, tolled the count that sent the Levelland crowd home happy by the showing of its pride and joy.

James, as mentioned earlier, almost got too much too early. Bennett came out swinging like a windmill and James ran into a right to the nose. It brought blood and dropped him as though he had been felled over the head. When he jumped up, James' face wore a look of bewildered surprise.

But Bennett failed to follow up his advantage and James weathered the round. In the next stanza, James was the aggressor, finally landing a terrific right chop that dropped Bennett and left him groggy. Sexton stopped the fight.

Holland Takes Home $51,575

Speedway Drivers Divide Prize Money

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (INS)—Bill Holland officially was awarded $51,575 of the record $179,150 jackpot tonight for his triumph in the 500-mile auto Speedway classic at Indianapolis Monday.

The winner's share was the second-highest individual award in history, running less than $600 behind the $52,100 won by the late Billy Arnold for his Speedway victory in 1930. Arnold won a fat hunk for leading for 197 of the 200 laps, whereas Holland was ahead for 146 laps.

In addition to the cash awards, Holland was given the new Oldsmobile convertible which served as the pace car yesterday, an Admiral television set, an oil portrait of himself, a ring, and free meals for a year at an Indianapolis restaurant.

He's a resident of Reading, Pa., so there's doubt as to how many of the meals he'll get to eat.

The actual first prize for winning the race came to $25,360. Holland won $14,600 in lap prizes, $200 for his performance during the qualifying trials, and the remainder in accessory prizes, heftiest of which was a $4,000 check from the Firestone company.

This year's speedway prize purse exceeded by nearly $800 the previous record $171,175 of a year ago. A small percentage of the accessory prizes was not earned by anyone.

For finishing second, freshman driver Johnny Parsons pulled down $18,250. George Connor, finished third in the Blue Crown spark plug special that was kin to Holland's car, won $11,675.

Other top winners: 4—Myron Fohr, $8,575; 5—Joie Chitwood, $6,950; 6—Jimmy Jackson, $5,625; 7—Johnny Hantz, $4,690; 8—Paul Russo, $4,940; 9—Emil Andres and Walt Brown, $4,420; 10—Norm Houser, $4,075; 11—Jim Rathman, $3,195; 12—Troy Ruttmann, $3,150; 13—Maurice Rose, $2,605; 14—Duane Carter, $2,640; 15—Duke Dinsmore, $2,565.

Lubbock Plays Lamesa Friday

Only a light practice was held by the Lubbock High school baseball team yesterday at Chapman field due to the absence of several players. Regular practice will begin at 2 p.m. today at Chapman field diamond in preparation for a game with Lamesa Friday and the Texas Interscholastic league schoolboy tournament next week in Austin.

Lamesa has a strong team and recently won the District 3-AA title but lost out to Bowie of El Paso in the bi-district race. The game with Lamesa should keep the Westerners tuned up for the forthcoming state tournament June 6-7-8. All three Lubbock pitchers—Jimmy Hamilton, Jimmy Richards, and Bennie Day—will see action in the contest. In district and bi-district play Richards and Day have won four games and lost none, and Hamilton won two while dropping one contest.

The state tournament will be held for the first time in the history of the TIL, and the top eight teams in Texas will be vying for the coveted state championship.

Lubbock Meets Austin

On June 6, the first of three days of the single-elimination tourney, Beaumont will play Waco, Stephenville meets Bowie of El Paso, Marshall tangles with Denison, and Lubbock takes on Austin.

The best season's record is held by Beaumont with 15 wins and one loss. Other records include: Lubbock, 19-3; Austin, 12-3; Marshall, 13-2; Denison, 11-1; Waco, 14-2; Bowie, 15-3; and Stephenville, 14-1.

Coach Fred Taylor's Westerners have drawn the team to beat for the title in the first round of play. Austin by virtue of superb fielding, excellent hitting, and three good pitchers has the nod of Central Texas sports writers and coaches as the pre-tournament favorite.

Strong Hitting Club

In nine high school games three Austin pitchers—Jack Brinkley, Riley Verdine, and Bill Hees—hold three victories each. Eight Maroons are hitting above the .300 mark. Pitcher Verdine, who does outfield duty also, leads the club with .409. Behind him are Dick McCoy, second base, .400; Charlie Leissner, shortstop, .362; Joe Miles, first base, .354; Danny Burger, third base, .351; Ted Tate, catcher, .324; Travis Eckert, first base, .319; and Luther Knebel, rightfield, .308. These percentages are in the nine high school games.

Westerner averages over the whole 22-game series are not so high, but they are, nevertheless, impressive and present a clearer picture of what each player has been batting all season. In some cases the averages are much higher if only the nine district games and two bi-district contests are considered.

Some of the batting records over the season are: Bob Brown, shortstop, .388; Charles Galey, second base, .381; Morris Turner, catcher, .352; Powell Hinson, third base, .299; Jesse Fullerton, first base, .273; Jimmy Hamilton, pitcher, .270; Dean White, right field, .265; Jimmy Sexton, right field, .243; and Garnet Reeves, centerfielder, .224.

WAITING AT RIGHT TIME—Pee Wee Reese took a perfect throw from Rightfielder Carl Furillo and was waiting for Johnny Hopp, when the latter tried to stretch a single into a double. Hopp went into a long belly slide at Ebbetts Field, but all it got him was sand in his shirt and maybe a busted button. The Pirates ran into the same sort of trouble themselves in this game, the Dodgers whaling them 11 to 6.

Hobbs Tourney Is Set June 2-5

A large number of Lubbock linksmen are expected to participate in the Hobbs Invitational Golf tournament at the Country club in Hobbs, N. M., June 2-5.

Following the first day of qualification Thursday, match play will begin, and the finals will be played on Sunday. It is an amateur tourney.

One of the pre-tourney favorites is Jack Williams, Plainview golfer who won the San Angelo Invitational last Sunday, defeating Don Cherry, Odessa, in 36 holes.

Herb Schroeder, Country club pro, said that golfers going from the club included T. E. Patterson, Don Mitchell, Ross Mitchell, George Canon, and Bill Tatum.

Names of all the golfers who received invitations from Meadowbrook Publinx are unknown, but the list is expected to include A. B. Holton, Dave Lawson, Kenneth Holton, Bob Ewerz, and Mause Allen.

According to Paul Jones of Meadowbrook, the prizes awarded to the winners in the Hobbs tournament equal those given by any club in the country for a tournament of the same caliber as the Hobbs Invitational.

Boys Club Indians Beat Dodgers Twice

In Boys club baseball yesterday the Indians in both leagues won overwhelming victories over the Dodgers.

The Pee Wee Indians racked up 17 runs to defeat the Dodgers, 17-4, and Bill Nicholson hit a home run with two on to take slugging honors. Nelson Starr, Dodger batter hit a home run and a single in two times at bat to pace his teammates.

The Pygmy team had little or no difficulty in disposing of the Dodgers, 13-5. A three-run triple by Billy Cross greatly aided the Tribe. Dodger Buddy Robertson knocked two singles in two times at the plate.

The schedule today pits the Red Sox against the Pirates in both leagues. The Pigmy game will be played at 2 p.m., and the Pee Wee game will come at 4 p.m.

Organization of the Junior league will be made at a meeting in the clubhouse at 6 p.m. The Junior league is for boys 12 and 13 years old.

TYLER MAY BE SOLD

TYLER, May 31 (AP) — Harry Faulkner, owner of the Tyler Baseball club franchise for the past three seasons, said today he may be forced to sell it because of financial difficulties. The Trojans, in seventh place in the East Texas League, have been playing to small crowds.

First To Take PGA And Masters

Snead Easily Wins PGA Meet 3 To 2

RICHMOND, Va., May 31 (AP)— Sammy Snead swung a skittish putter, a sizzling niblick and his usual terrific woods today to win the PGA from Johnny Palmer 3 and 2.

The great victory for the money minded mountaineer from the borderlands of the Virginias, included nearly every kind of revenge and comeback a golfer can ask.

Snead found putting in March at the Palmetto, S. C., Pro-Amateur, he carried it with him to victory at Greensboro and used it to win the Masters crown and he still had it for ten trips around Richmond's old 6,677-yard Hermitage course.

Good Iron Shots

With his putting touch weak he brought out a sure iron game to match his 275 and 300-yard drives, and together they were too much for the grim retriever from Badin, N. C.

The slump in Snead's putting was match for the slump in Palmer's iron work. Before today Palmer chipped and approached his way out of rough and bushes to slaughter nearly every opponent.

During the seven-day PGA Sammy had to overcome many early match lapses. Repeatedly he lagged so far behind that the gallery which loved him gave up. But in each match he found his game late in the day and won them all.

Fourth Time Entered

Snead's entry into the final marked his fourth such trip and only once before could he win a PGA championship, the 1942 tournament. However, this victory in the 31st meet is sweet for other reasons.

Snead thus becomes the first man in golf to win the PGA and Masters in one season. And at 37 he is the oldest man to win a PGA—putting to shame Gene Sarazen's often quoted speech that you can't win big championships after you're 35.

On the 12th and final journey today around the par 71 course, Snead gave a repeat performance of his early rounds.

Takes $3,500 First Money

But it wasn't quite like the other rounds Sammy won. For his work today he wins $3,500 first money as well as becoming the year's top money winner. Snead's 1949 total now is $12,610.83.

Whoever won the PGA, and the crown injured Ben Hogan could not defend, was sure to replace Lloyd Mangrum who was knocked out by Palmer yesterday.

Sammy now stands fourth in points for the Ryder Cup with Palmer fifth.

This tournament was Palmer's second PGA and as runner-up he wins $1,500. Palmer, who is 30, flew 21 missions in the Pacific as a bomber pilot.

Costa Rica's health department has cracked down on use of sodium hydrosulphate in connection with sugar production.

Estes Appears In Mat Final

In the main event at Sled Allen's wrestling arena tonight Bob Cummings of Seaside, Oregon, will meet Balk Estes, the ladies choice from Elk City, Okla., in the two out of three fall event.

The two grapplers will be swapping holds for the better part of an hour, and Cummings, who was very much of a favorite here in the late 1930's, will be making his first appearance in the local ring since returning to this territory. Cummings is a rugged wrestler of the old school with plenty of power and know-how. He can dish out plenty of punishment to an opponent.

Estes Capable Fighter

Estes is a very capable fighter, and he can meet any situation that is likely to come up. He is one of the more scientific matmen appearing in the local arena, but he can get rough too. The two boys are evenly matched, and this should be a thriller from the start.

In the semi-final event George meets George In this case it is George Dusette, the strongman from Boston, against George Bruckman. Bruckman packs considerable strength and will be forced to extend himself with Dusette. Both boys will be out to win, but Dusette prefers a clean fight while Bruckman is not particular how he wins a match.

Curtis Meets McDonald

In the 20-minute preliminary George Curtis and Danno McDonald will give the fans a taste of scientific wrestling in a fast match. Both boys are speedy, young, and aggressive and willing to mix it, and the match should warm the fans for the ones to follow.

Tickets are on sale at Wylie's Drug store until 5 p.m. today. Matches start at 8:30 p.m.

BLUEBONNET DOWNS VFW, 6-2

In Major league softball last night at Jumbo Webster field, Bluebonnet Laundry defeated VFW, 6-2, behind the steady pitching of Stringbean Pope and G. W. Warden, as they collected nine hits off Cecil Hale. Warden hit a homer, and Joe Reiger, John Norvell, and Willis James doubled for the winners. Cain and Baker hit two-baggers for the VFW.

More Smiles per Gallon with Dynaflow Drive

White sidewall tires as illustrated, available at extra cost.

THERE'S the smile when you slip the selector lever into Driving notch—and realize that's all there is to do.

There's the smile when you swing smoothly up to cruising speed without halt or check or break of stride. There's the smile at traffic lights when you halt, wait, then move away with never a thought about shifting.

But the broadest grin of all comes at the end of a long day's drive and you find you've covered more miles more easily. Even your treadle-foot—so likely to become tired and cramped maintaining an even speed in direct-drive cars—appreciates the fluid ease of Dynaflow.

For Dynaflow Drive† is not merely a new transmission. It's a new experience—a new luxury in driving. In ten minutes you are handling it like a veteran—in two days you wouldn't be without it.

†Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER models.

Small wonder, then, that Dynaflow is the drive with which all new developments in transmissions are compared.

Not merely "something better," it is something entirely new, the first exciting chapter in a whole new book.

Go learn for yourself how abundantly rich in pleasure every gallon becomes when you have Dynaflow.

Your Buick dealer will be glad to demonstrate—glad to quote delivered prices—glad to talk terms of as fine a deal as you could want.

And you'll find glad surprise in the delivery dates he is now mentioning.

BUICK alone has all these features

Silk-smooth DYNAFLOW DRIVE† • FULL-VIEW VISION from enlarged glass area • SWING-EASY DOORS and easy access • "LIVING SPACE" INTERIORS with Deep-Cradle cushions • Buoyant-riding QUADRUFLEX COIL SPRINGING • Lively FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT POWER with SELF-SETTING VALVE LIFTERS plus HI-POISED ENGINE MOUNTINGS • Low-pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • Cruiser-Line VENTIPORTS • DUREX BEARINGS, main and connecting rods • BODY BY FISHER

U.S., Brazil Work On Pact To Launch HST Development Plan

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Quietly, the United States and Brazil are working on what may prove to be the "pilot" treaty for President Truman's "bold new program" of development of the world's undeveloped areas.

Chief problem is now to arrange for American investors to get their money back in dollars. Not that there is to be any guarantee of profits. Merely a system of collecting them if there are any.

Business Men "Cold"

American business men, as represented by the National Foreign Trade council and other organizations, are cold toward government guarantees, believing they open the road to onerous regulation. But they have expressed willingness, after a period of hesitation, to tackle the foreign development job if they can do so under conditions anything like those at home.

To meet the demand for a system which will permit withdrawal of profits in dollars, U. S. and Brazilian negotiators, still working in the tentative stages, are discussing the establishment of a joint fund by the two governments. It would operate as a reserve to meet temporary balance of payment deficits.

Tax Repeal Seen

There also is involved a Brazilian statement of policy leaving the development of the country, except for the major public utility fields such as water power, to private enterprise. Some special taxes on foreign business, such as the one on remittances abroad, are to be reduced or repealed.

The Brazilian constitution already provides equality of treatment and other safeguards for foreign business.

The treaty with Brazil will not embrace all of the problems which will be met as the world program expands. Previous cooperation makes it one of the easiest points of approach. But it will be taken as a guide of sorts by other countries and by American business.

Oklahoma Drys Abandon Court Fight Against Repeal Election

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 31. (U.P.)—Oklahoma United Drys today abandoned their Supreme court fight against an election on repeal—and wets immediately called on Gov. Roy J. Turner to put the question on the Sept. 27 special election ballot.

The drys declared they have "no fear" that Turner will set the vote at this time because he has made "repeated promises he would not set this initiative petition at a special election."

Dave Shapard, attorney and executive secretary for the drys, filed a request that the court dismiss their appeal from a decision by Secretary of State Wilburn Cartwright, who ruled the petition is sufficient.

Traffic Death Ratio Reported On Decline

CHICAGO, May 31. (U.P.)—The number of persons killed in traffic accidents this year is below last year in relation to the increased motor travel, the National Safety council reported today.

However, the council said, the actual number of dead is higher.

During the first four months of 1949, the council said, 8,870 persons were killed, three percent more than the 8,650 killed in the same period last year but below the 9,318 killed in the first four months of 1947.

The council said, however, that during the first three months of this year, travel mileage increased six percent.

That meant that 7.2 persons were killed for every 100 million miles of travel this year compared to 7.5 last year. In 1941, the rate was 11.6.

A total of 182 cities reported that they had no traffic deaths during the first four months of the year.

Rating various cities on the number of deaths for each 10,000 registered motor vehicles, the council said the following were the safest in the 200,000-500,000 population group: Portland, Ore., (1.4), Oklahoma City (1.4), Newark (1.6).

The 50,000-100,000 population group was led by Lansing, Mich. (0.0), Springfield, Mo. (0.0), and Battle Creek, Mich. (0.0).

20 Hurt As Bus Overturns In Mississippi After Collision

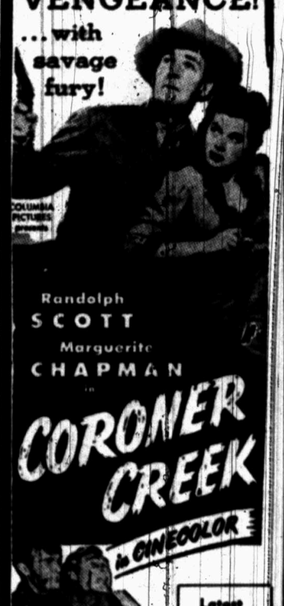

COMO, Miss., May 31. (AP)—Some 20 persons were injured today when a Southern bus lines coach, en route from Jackson, Miss., to Memphis, turned over after a sideswipe collision with a truck near here.

Only one person, Nathan Pack of Iuka, Miss., was reported in serious condition. A physician at a Memphis hospital said Pack suffered a spinal injury.

Record Oklahoma Wheat Crop Seen

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 31. (U.P.) Recent bad weather will not prevent Oklahoma's wheat crop from setting a new all-time record—which may reach 112 million bushels or more—the Santa Fe crop forecaster C. W. Lane predicted today.

Lane said it is "almost certain" that the new crop will not only set a new high mark but will "actually top the last official forecast of 108,856,000 bushels."

Two Burglaries Are Probed Here

Two burglaries were under investigation by city police Tuesday, but nothing had been reported missing from either place, police reports showed.

A glass door to an upstairs office at 1114 Texas was broken so that the burglar could reach through and turn the night latch on the inside of the door.

A residence at 1415 Sixteenth street had been ransacked, but residents of the house had found nothing missing late yesterday. Entrance to the building was made by cutting a window screen and raising the window.

Anton Man Held

A 27-year-old Anton man, who police said had a previous record of check law violations, was held last night in city jail after he had passed or attempted to pass worthless checks amounting to $20. The suspect gave two $5 checks, one to Milam's Department store at 107 North College, and the other to Henly's Dry Goods store at 208 North College. The other check, for $10, was to a Piggly Wiggly store at 206 North College. The checks were on Littlefield and Anton banks.

A 27-year-old negro was charged with firing a prohibited weapon in the city limits and failure to obey a lawful order of a police officer after he had fired a shotgun at another negro man in 2600-block East Ave. F last night, police said. The man for whom the shot was intended declined to file charges, police said in explaining the lesser charge filed against the shooter. The negro caused arresting officers considerable trouble on the way to police headquarters, the official report of the incident showed.

Russian Plea

wanted to give an eventual hearing to "duly elected representatives of the German people" when a peace treaty is written, but he added:

"I do not believe for one minute that these delegates in any way represent the German people, or even the people of the Soviet zone."

Schuman said if the eastern Germans were invited to present their case, the representatives of western Germans who are setting up a government at Bonn would have to be invited also. He said this would turn the Big Four conference into a debate between two sections of the defeated enemy.

Confer On Strategy

Bevin answered along the same lines as Schuman and Acheson.

Earlier the French foreign ministry announced it was withholding action on a request for French visas for the delegation until the council acted. The council's decision meant the delegation would not even be allowed to visit Paris.

In his two and a half hour clause-by-clause attack on western proposals for unification of Germany, Vishinsky repeated over and over that the western powers were violating the Potsdam agreement, were guilty of dollar diplomacy, were splitting up Germany and were trying to force a "dictate" on Russia.

Before the council met, Acheson, Bevin, Schuman and their top advisors conferred for about three hours at the French foreign ministry. Presumably they wanted to get together on their strategy when the next items are taken up.

It was reported the three western ministers decided to avoid the technical aspects of Berlin currency, a chief point of contention, and discuss only broad principles. Technical questions would be left for experts.

Orange Man Charged In Fatal Shooting Released On Bond

ORANGE, May 31 (U.P.) — Bond of $5,000 was set today for E. E. McDowell, 45-year-old tavern operator, charged with murder in the slaying Sunday night of a 23-year-old war veteran.

Assistant county attorney Bill Sexton said McDowell would be released today from the county jail, where he has been held since Elmer Dunlap, jr., was shot to death on a downtown street.

Police said Dunlap had struck McDowell earlier when the two argued in a lodge hall. Dunlap was shot twice when McDowell confronted him near the Southern Pacific freight station.

Military rites for Dunlap were held today.

Robinson, a member of the Hale county district board of supervisors, received the $100 third place award on behalf of his soil conservation district. Kay Moore of New Home, a member of the board of supervisors of the Lynn County Conservation district, was present to accept the $100 fourth-place award.

B. A. Morrow of New Home and Tom Lockwood of Crosby county were among those who received plaques for being outstanding farmers in their soil conservation districts. Morrow is in the Lynn county district; Lockwood is of the Crosby county district.

Lubbock Man Honored

Two other South Plains farmers who also received such recognition, but who were not present at the ceremonies today, were J. C. Porter of Pettit and Cecil Brashear of Lubbock.

Porter will be awarded his plaque at the next meeting of the board of supervisors of the Hockley County Soil Conservation district, and Brashear will receive his award at the forthcoming meeting of the board of supervisors of the Lubbock conservation district.

At today's ceremony, also, the following West Texas young people were presented awards for outstanding essays on soil conservation and allied fields: Frances Holloway, Spur; Margaret Wood, Spur; Frances Shaller, Canadian; Nancy Alexander, Canadian; Leva Dell Cherry, Bovina; and Maurine Youree, Crowell.

Principal speaker at today's gathering was Jay Taylor, Amarillo cattleman, who spoke on some of his experiences with soil conservation work. Uncle Ray Linn, Amarillo radio entertainer, was master of ceremonies.

The Save the Soil and Save Texas program is now in its fourth year. It is designed to boost and promote good soil conservation practices. It has been commended as one of the most outstanding and successful such campaigns in the nation.

here will depend upon what form it takes, he said.

"I certainly hope they come to some kind of agreement or law," said Rayburn. "I'm getting tired of this."

Besides Daniel, Bascom Giles, state land commissioner, and Robert Lee Bobbitt, San Antonio, former attorney general and now State Bar association tidelands committeeman, attended for Texas. Bill Kittrell, Dallas, wandered about outside.

Danniel's comments indicated a dreary outlook.

Outlook Bleak

"How can we expect the federal government to keep their word on a new agreement—we have an agreement with them now and they have not kept their word as to that.

"I think we should hold our original boundaries.

"The federal government seeks to give us stuff they haven't got. Congress has never asserted any ownership to this land before. When Congress speaks, it will be the first time that any determination on this land has ever been made.

"These states are not going to be quick to give up what they have had for 100 years.

"I think that persons who say we can't win in the courts and can't win in Congress are doing us a terrific damage. Judges and congressmen read the newspapers. Our case is far from lost. I'll not say the case can't be won. I say it can be won and is going to be won in Congress or the courts."

New Mexico Woman's Permit To Hunt Gold Cache Is Extended

SANTA FE, May 31 (INS) — The permit of a Hot Springs woman to continue search for "gold bars stacked like cordwood" in the San Andres mountains has been extended to August 10 by New Mexico's Land commission.

She is Mrs. Ova Noss, former wife of M. E. "Doc" Noss, who told of finding the treasure in a cave in Hembrillo canyon. Entrance to the cave was later said by Noss to have been blocked by a cave-in.

Noss was slain in Dona Ana county early in March.

His former wife was given renewal of her prospector's permit after the State Bureau of Mines reported she had done the required amount of development on her claim.

Jones To Face Death July 8

again that I am not guilty of this charge, that I have told nothing but the truth in my defense. I can not prevent this court from taking my life, but I can take the truth to the grave with me. May God bless you and those who prosecuted me. I thank you."

The Court: "Having considered your statement, the court naturally appreciates the position that you are in, and I trust that you appreciate the position that this court is in."

Jones: "I do, Your Honor."

Judge Blair Speaks

Judge Blair then rejoined:

"By virture of an indictment returned by a grand jury in Floyd county, you were charged with one of the most serious crimes known to the law. You were not tried by the citizens of Floyd county, but your case was transferred to Hale county. The citizens of Hale county failed to agree with you on your plea of not guilty, but found you guilty of the offense of murder with malice and assessed your penalty at death.

"Your cause was appealed to the highest tribunal within our state, and at their hands, your case was reversed and sent back for another trial. Thereafter, your case was transferred to Crosby county, where your rights were again passed upon by 12 of your peers. Again differing with you, 12 jurors of Crosby county found you guilty of murdering a fellow man—making a total of 24 citizens of your choice who have passed upon your fate—and the court of criminal appeals acted again upon your case and their mandate was returned and filed with the clerk of this county on May 24, 1949.

Path Was Protected

"The strong and patient arms of the law, and extremely capable and distinguished attorneys of your own choice, have protected your path all the way.

There was a sound of sobbing in the courtroom, and Judge Blair continued:

"W. Fred Jones, this is a sad, solemn and trying moment to you, and a most unpleasant one to me. I am now called upon to perform one of the most painful duties of my nearly 20 years of public life; but it is my duty, my high and solemn duty; a duty I owe to society and government, and which I must perform. Had you performed the obligations resting upon you as a man and citizen, I would have been spared the painful feeling of this occasion.

"You have taken the life of a human being and sent a creature bearing God's image unbidden into His presence.

"There is a law that is said to have been penned more than 3,000 years ago. It has come down to us over the long path of time—'Thou shalt not kill.' The penalty attached to its violation was penned about the same time: 'He who sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed.' This law you have violated. You have been indicted once, tried and found guilty twice, and it now becomes my painful duty to pronouce the terrible sentence of the law upon you.

Advice Is Given

"May I give you this humble advice as my parting word. Remember, there is an unerring Judge of the universe, before whom all will one day appear; He is infinite in mercy. He is understanding. Send your prayers to His throne. He will still hear you, and may say your sins are forgiven.

"The sentence of the law is that you, W. Fred Jones, shall before the hour of sunrise on Friday, the 8th day of July, A. D., 1949, at Huntsville, in Walker county, Texas, be electrocuted by causing to pass through your body a current of electricity of sufficient intensity to cause your death, and the application and continuance of such current through your body until dead."

The court further ordered that "... the clerk of this court shall within 10 days issue a death warrant in accordance with this sentence and direct the same to the warden of the state penitentiary . . . and deliver same to the sheriff of Crosby county, Texas, to be delivered by said sheriff to the warden of the state penitentiary, who shall execute the same in accordance with the law in such case provided:

"And the said defendant . . . shall be delivered to the warden of the state penitentiary . . . with the death warrant in this cause to await the execution of this sentence.

"And may God have mercy on your soul."

Taken From Jail

Jones, a handsome 6-footer who weighs 190 pounds and whose curly hair is beginning to gray at the temples, presented a well-dressed and distinguished appearance when he was taken from Lubbock county jail a brief time before the hearing.

He smiled at jailers and other acquaintances as he directed the stowing of his effects in the back of a car driven by Hart and occupied also by Addison and Poteet.

His hands were manacled to his waist.

Jones' second death conviction in the slaying outside the defendant's Floydada grocery story recently was affirmed, and the court of criminal appeals May 18 denied a rehearing motion.

Judgement was entered by Judge Blair April 3, 1948, after the jury verdict in the Crosby county trial.

Since that time Jones has been held in jail at Lubbock and at Vernon.

Jones slew Love after a drinking party at Jones' store.

His defense was that he had discovered the presence of an illicit relationship between Love and Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Jones supported that defense when she took the stand, and said she had been intimate with Love a few minutes before the slaying.

Col. E. A. Simpson, who with Dusty Miller of Amarillo represented Jones, was in court when the sentence was handed down. District Attorney John Stapleton of the 110th district and 72nd district and 72nd district Attorney Lloyd Croslin of Lubbock, also were in the court.

Brannan Sends Draft

last month. At that time, he said the government should have power to regulate production of crops not now covered by control laws.

There has been no indication, however, that quotas would be invoked in the near future on any commodity other than tobacco, peanuts, cotton, wheat and potatoes. Quotas are, in effect this year only on major types of tobacco and peanuts.

Brannan already has sent Congress a draft of price-support provisions of the new plan. Those provisions were included in the legislative draft submitted today.

New Approach Proposed

The program features a new approach to support of producer prices of perishables.

Prices of the perishables would be allowed to move freely in the market. When prices fail to give the farm a predetermined "fair" return, the government would make up the difference in the form of a production payment.

Under the present program, where there are surpluses, the government buys a part of the supply in order to keep prices from dropping below the fair return. The new program would retain that method in providing supports for products that can be stored.

Dread Black Fly Is Reported Within 200 Miles Of Border

BROWNSVILLE, May 31 (AP)—Reports that the dread black fly has been found only 196 miles south of here prompted a closed-door session today of members of the Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The pest, a serious threat to the valley's lush citrus industry, formerly had reached no farther north than Valles, Mexico, 342 miles south of the valley.

Chamber members met with O. D. Deputy, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology's Mexican border quarantine. Chamber Manager Jack Drake said the talks were preliminary and that no conclusions were reached.

Fernando Berlanga, chief of the regional black fly committee at Valles, notified Drake by telegram that the black fly had been found at Victoria, Mexico, a little less than 200 miles south of here.

Former Dallas Police Captain Re-Billed On Bribery Charge

FORT WORTH, May 31. (U.P.)—The Tarrant county grand jury today no billed Norman D. Bailey, 52, former Dallas police captain charged with attempted bribery of City Councilman M. M. McKnight.

Bailey was alleged to have offered McKnight a $500 weekly gambling payoff. McKnight and police officers worked together in trapping Bailey in a downtown Fort Worth hotel room when he reportedly presented his proposition.

The grand jury action came after study of a report from the Veterans hospital in Waco on Bailey's mental condition. Bailey claimed he was shell-shocked in World War I and entered the Waco institution after being charged and released under bond here.

Market Drops

much as 5¼ cents a bushel but recovered slightly to close 3¼ cents off at $1.88. Cotton cracked $1.65 a bale.

Fears Reflected

The slump was attributed to a variety of causes.

The stock market break apparently reflected Wall Street's fears that declining trends in business and industry still have some distance to go.

A major influence was U. S. Steel's drop of $2.37 following a weekend company announcement that it will curtail furnace operations in the Pittsburgh area because of lighter demands.

Other steel issues also touched bottom.

Rails Are Off

Major losers included the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad, off $3.75; Santa Fe railway, off $3.12 and Allied Chemical off $2. Of the 1,084 stocks dealt in, 231 hit new lows for the year.

A flood of selling followed early failure of the market to meet support at the same levels that had proved a turning point on two previous occasions this year. Total sales were 1,240,000 shares, the heaviest in more than a month.

The downward plunge in wheat and other grain prices reflected an "adjustment to new crop prices" in anticipation of heavy new crop harvests.

Butter quotations were deflated by the heavy increase in butter stocks, with production averaging 15 to 18 percent above a year ago.

FEDERAL PAYMENTS FOR CORN STORAGE OFFERED

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The Agriculture department today offered to pay farmers 10 cents a bushel to store a surplus of upwards of 500,000,000 bushels of 1948-corn on their farms another year.

The offer is aimed at preventing overcrowding of commercial storage facilities.

The department hopes it will encourage many farmers to build additional storage to handle both the surplus corn from last year's record crop and grain to be harvested this year.

A similar re-sealing program was in effect in 1938 and 1939. The fee was seven cents in 1938 and five cents in 1939. None was offered last year.

A somewhat similar restorage offer was made early this month on surplus wheat, oats and barley. A fee of 10 to 11.5 cents a bushel was offered for re-sealing wheat, the amount depending upon the area, eight cents for oats and 10 cents for barley.

Fort Worth C Of C 'Reassures' Nation After Disastrous Flood

FORT WORTH, May 31 (AP) — Fort Worth was never knocked off its feet, much less kayoed.

It's knocking right along at a normal gait, despite the disastrous flood of two weeks ago.

The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce Tuesday sent out letters of reassurance to 1,200 chambers.

Chamber officials feared that folks who live in other parts of the state and nation may figure the city was washed away.

". . . We believe that Fort Worth's calamity has been over publicized," William Holden, executive vice president of the chamber, wrote in the letter.

"Fort Worth is not prostrate nor is she helpless.

"Less than five percent of our municipal area, less than five percent of our business establishments and less than five percent of our citizens were affected by the flood."

Holden, declaring "we have no intention to minimize it," says in the letter that the "major flood disaster" toll was "10 lives lost, 3,000 homes and 300 business establishments inundated and a financial loss of 10 to 15 millions. . . ."

But, he asserted, "Fort Worth never was down and is far from out."

granting of an atomic scholarship to an avowed Communist, Hans Freistadt, "places the issue squarely before the country."

To Confront Lilienthal

The Michigan Republican asserted that Lilienthal "has betrayed his country and should be removed at once from public office."

The atomic committee ordered Lilienthal's appearance tomorrow as the first witness in a public inquiry into operations of the Atomic Energy commission.

In secret session, the committee set the stage for a dramatic showdown between Lilienthal and his principal accuser, Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) said that Hickenlooper will confront Lilienthal with a "bill of particulars," including the charge that the AEC chief has allowed Communist influences to seep into the atomic program.

Evidence Promised

An appropriations subcommittee headed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) meanwhile resumed its probe of atomic security. Rear Admiral John Gingrich, who resigned last month as AEC security chief testified in secret session.

Hickenlooper promised to bare evidence supporting his charges that Lilienthal is unfit for stewardship of the nation's atomic secrets.

The senator told newsmen that if necessary he will "name names" to back up his charges that "numerous persons with strong Communist leanings" have been employed by the commission.

The senator added that he expects to spend "five or six days" questioning Lilienthal. The Iowan declared:

"I will present my facts in an orderly way. The case will go directly and solely to the question of management, control and policy of the commission under Mr. Lilienthal."

Complete Report Pledged

McMahon said that the investigation will be broadened to include "all phases" of AEC management.

The committee chairman explained that one objective of the inquiry is to lay the foundation for legislation banning Communists or Red sympathizers from participation in the atomic scholarship program.

McMahon pledged that Hickenlooper's charges will be thoroughly sifted. He added:

"The American people are not going to be satisfied with anything less than a pretty complete report. This committee is determined to meet that problem."

'Dead' Ex-Soldier

The News added.

Mrs. Mary Martino of Waterbury, Conn., said there was "constant bickering" between her and her husband before he went into the Army in March, 1944.

She saw him during a furlough in July, she added, and then he went overseas. Her last letter from him was dated Sept. 30, 1944.

The Army picked up the story from there. His record showed he left his outfit Sept. 27, 1944, to go to a hospital for a non-battle injury.

There was no record that he ever arrived at the hospital. The Army was unable to tell what became of him. So he was declared missing as of Sept. 27, 1944. One year later, according to Army policy, he was listed as presumed dead.

A few days ago, Martino appeared at an Army recruiting station to check his Army record. His fingerprints were the same as those of the presumably dead soldier.

Two Bullets Only Clues To Slaying Of Georgia Negro

IRWINTON, Ga., May 31 (U.P.)—Authorities today dug two bullets from the battered body of 28-year-old Calib Mill, jr., after the sheriff here said they were the only clues in the apparent lynch slaying of the negro prisoner.

Sheriff George W. Hatcher said he was out looking for his gun in the pre-dawn hours yesterday when the young negro was kidnaped from his cell, beaten and shot to death.

Hatcher ordered two bullets removed from the body for ballistics tests when a coroner's jury ruled that Hill met death "from gunshot wounds . . . by hands unknown."

After hearing evidence at the inquest last night, the sheriff said that Hill was apparently lynched by two attackers.

Two other prisoners testified at the inquest that they heard some men come into the jail, on the second floor of the sheriff's house, and take Hill away.

Tom Carswell, a negro prisoner, said that two white men came for Hill, but he could not identify them. He said he thought it was just a routine release.

Texas Poultrymen Compete In State Show At Gonzales

GONZALES, May 31. (U.P.)—Texas poultrymen are in competition here this week in a new three-year "chicken of tomorrow" program designed to develop faster-growing and meatier chickens.

More than 1,600 birds are in the local show. Birds with the outstanding meat qualities will win state awards and qualify for a share of $10,000 in prize money provided by A&P food stores, sponsor of the nation-wide poultry research program.

Winners will be announced Friday at a poultry educational program being held in co-operation with the Gonzales County Fry Frolic.

Eisler Reaches Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 31. (AP)—Gerhart Eisler, bail-jumping Communist, slipped out of England to Czechoslovakia by plane today.

Slated for a leading role in the Russian zone of Germany, he said he was enroute to Berlin and then to a university chair at Leipzig to "do everything I can to help the Communist party."

He said he left England without advance notice to avoid "American tricks," and expressed gratification at being in Czechoslovakia "instead of in the America of that damn fool Tom Clark and the Un-American Activities committee."

U.S. Drops Fight

Clark is the attorney general of the United States who tried his best to extradite the 52-year-old Communist from Britain. Eisler had fled from New York on the Polish liner Batory while two prison terms were hanging over his head.

(In Washington, the Supreme court in effect upheld Eisler's conviction and prison sentence for concealing Communist connections when applying for an exit permit in 1942, International News Service reported. This resulted when the tribunal refused to grant a time extension on Eisler's appeal from his passport fraud conviction, on which he was sentenced to serve one to three years in prison.

(Meanwhile, the United States abandoned its fight to regain custody of Eisler. The Justice department announced that after conferences with the State department it has decided that it would be "impossible" to get Eisler back.)

thorough in order to ascertain all pertintent facts—to let the chips fall where they may. This will be no whitewash investigation.

"We will find guilty anyone who ought to be found guilty. We will exonerate anyone who has been wrongfully charged."

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa), a committee member and veteran of both World Wars, declared last week that an inquiry should be made into "ugly, disturbing reports" linking Johnson and Air Secretary Symington with Floyd Odlum, who controls the company which builds the B-36.

Symington called the reports "demonstrably false" and said he welcomed a full, open probe.

To Select Counsel

Certain formalities will delay opening of the investigation for possibly two weeks. A resolution by Vinson authorizing the inquiry must be cleared by the House Rules committee and approved by the membership. The request for $50,000 must clear the House Administration committee.

Further, Vinson has to select a special counsel to conduct the investigation. His committee decided to divorce its regular staff from the inquiry.

Van Zandt last week called attention to Odlum's reported large financial support of the 1948 Democratic campaign, to Johnson's political fund-raising activities. He said Johnson was employed by Odlum before he took over the defense post.

Wealthy Californian Killed In Self Defense, Secretary Claims

RIVERSIDE, Calif., May 31 (INS) — Mrs. Agnes Garnier, 52, declared from her jail cell today that she killed wealthy John E. Owen in self defense following an argument over actress Irene Rich.

The divorcee said that jealousy over Owen's attentions to Miss Rich was not the motive for the slaying. Mrs. Garnier declared:

"How could I be jealous of her? He told me he was going to divorce his wife and marry Irene and I begged him to do it. But I knew there could never be any love affair between Mr. Owen who was 68 and Miss Rich who is nearly 60.

"He was very drunk . . . he said he was going to kill me and lurched at me. I pleaded with him and grabbed at the gun and got it somehow. It seems to me I had the gun frozen in the air and saw a flash."

Owen was slain in his lavish Jurapa hills ranch house last April 22. Mrs. Garnier was indicted for his murder.

Special Health Board Urged For Houston As Result Of Survey

HOUSTON, May 31. (U.P) — A formal report on the city of Houston Health department suggested today that a special board of health be named and that the city and county health departments be consolidated.

Dr. George A. Denison of Birmingham, Ala., hired last year by a specially-named committee to survey the city's health operations, named 23 different steps to be taken in improving the set-up.

City Health Director Dr. Fred K. Laurentz immediately endorsed the plan for a board of health, and although Mayor Oscar Holcombe has made no official comment, authoritative sources said such a board would be established.

Consolidation Favored

The mayor has long been on record as favoring consolidation of Houston and Harris county health departments.

Dr. Denison, chairman of the Department of Preventive Medicine and Public Health at the Alabama Medical college, minimized the sale of horse meat as a health hazard. He was more critical of the scarcity of milk inspectors and the "pollution" of Houston's bayous.

"While every effort is being exerted, the tremendous job of safeguarding the milk supply cannot be done adequately with a limited staff," the report said. "There are only seven staff men and one supervisor to conduct dairy farm inspection, and two men to cover 27 plants within the city," he pointed out.

Health Bureau Defended

Defending the health and police departments, Dr. Denison said that any "organized racket" in horse meat cannot be entirely eliminated, regardless of measures taken against it. The sales can be minimized, however, "by spot checks on numerous establishments," he suggested.

The professor recommended a re-vamped program to include establishment of at least six city health centers, construction of a 300-bed tuberculosis hospital, employment of an assistant health officer, and revision of a program to combat venereal disease.

Dr. Denison stressed that conditions in Houston compare favorably with those in other cities.

Producer Linked In 'Romance' With Film Star Seeks Divorce

ROME, May 31. (AP) — Italian producer Roberto Rossellini's lawyer said today Rossellini is getting a divorce.

Rossellini and Hollywood star Ingrid Bergman are making a film together on the remote Mediterranean island of Stromboli, and rumors of a romance between them have persisted despite a recent statement by Miss Bergman that she is not planning to divorce her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

The lawyer, Gino Sotis, said he had been in Vienna arranging Rossellini's divorce, but added: "a marriage between him and Miss Bergman is excluded, however."

Rossellini has been separated from his wife for two years.

STATE OFFICIALS, OPERATORS HIT

Lewis Calls For Law To Enforce Safety Measures In Coal Mines

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP) — John L. Lewis today bitterly denounced state officials and coal mine operators for what he called their failure to assure safety in the mines.

The United Mine Workers' chief called on Congress to "act now" by passing a bill which would give federal inspectors the right to close mines in cases where they felt there was imminent danger.

He declared some mine operators have no concern for human life and contemptuously referred to them as "polecats." Seven state mine inspecting agencies, he asserted, "choose to ignore completely" the safety provisions of the present laws.

Points To Heavy Casualties

Lewis testified before a Senate Labor subcommittee which is studying that bill.

Glowering in his usual manner, speaking now in a thundering voice, now in a whisper, Lewis said that during the last 19 years 1,259,081 miners have been "maimed, mangled and killed" in the coal pits.

He added that during the first two years of World War II, casualties in the mines exceeded those in the armed services.

"For the one (the service casualties), there was concern," Lewis declared. "For the others, there was unconcern in any public sense."

Alluding to Merlin, the legendary magician of King Arthur's day, Lewis told the committee:

"If I had the powers of a Merlin, I would march that million and a quarter men past the Congress of the United States. The quick and the dead.

Paints Grim Picture

"I would have the ambulatory injured drag the dead after them."

The UMW chief said he would have the maimed and the mangled crawl past "so the Congress might see them trailing their bowels after them." He added:

"I would have the concourse flanked by five weeping members of each family."

He painted a picture of 6,250,000 people "wailing and lamenting" while they filed past the Congress members.

Lewis spoke for a solid hour without a single interruption by any of the subcommittee members. At times he stared into space while he talked. Then he would swing around in his chair and look squarely at the senators across the table. Occasionally he pounded the table for emphasis.

Lewis said the bill before the subcommittee, sponsored by Senator Neely (D-WVa), "is the last hope for abatement of the killing and the mangling of the bodies of the American coal miner."

Aly Khan Roughs Up Photographers At Cannes Chateau

CANNES, May 31. (INS)— Prince Aly Khan punched and caned photographers today just before he and Rita Hayworth dashed by car from his chateau near Cannes and headed for Paris.

Three photographers, including a woman, were overwhelmed by the sudden change in Aly.

Four days ago the Moslem prince was courteous toward photographers and newsmen when he was married to the film star with lavish display in the village of Vallauris.

Today Aly shouted angrily, "Get out—you're a bunch of bores."

The victims of the prince's wrath were Jacques Levy of the Associated Press and Germaine Traverso of International News Photos, and her assistant.

The photographers appeared at the Chateau De L'Horizon to take parting pictures of the famous couple. Aly ordered them to leave when he saw them, and they answered, "We've got a job to do."

The scuffle followed with the prince trying to break their cameras. He was joined by Lee Elroy, Miss Hayworth's Hollywood business manager, Aly's chauffeur and two servants.

Fail To Get Picture

The outnumbered and indignant photographers were prevented from getting a picture of Rita, the new Princess Margarita Aly Khan.

"If you want pictures," Aly later called out, "take them outside the grounds. You can get a good photograph of the exhaust pipe of my car."

Aly, Rita and their friends left in rainy weather. Despite this fact both wore dark glasses — the Hollywood attempt at disguise and a means also of defeating good photography.

Mail Deliveries Start For Outlying Areas Today

Streets Named For New Setup

House-to-house mail delivery will be initiated this morning in eight Lubbock suburban areas.

Two mounted routes operated by mailmen in postal trucks will go into effect today in the eight areas, where Uncle Sam has taken a hand in the naming of streets and numbering of houses.

The new service affects an estimated 3,000 to 4,000 individuals, in more than 1,000 families, said Ernest Ohnemus, superintendent of mails at Lubbock postoffice.

More Than 30 Miles

Residents in the areas involved heretofore have received their mail by calling for it at the general delivery window at the postoffice; by installing mail boxes on rural routes, sometimes one-half mile or more from their homes, or by maintaining boxes at the postoffice.

The entire area to be covered includes slightly more than 30 miles, half of which will be covered by each of the two route men. They will leave the office at approximately 9 a. m. and probably will have covered the routes by 12 noon, said Ohnemus.

Wednesday morning, mail will be delivered only to those who have installed the required mail boxes bearing the street number and the name of the resident. Mail will be provided others by the plan already in effect—either in rural boxes or at the office. Gradually, the service will be added to those providing boxes and filling in required change of address cards.

A Bridge In Delivery

Mounted routes, Ohnemus said, are considered a "bridge between rural delivery and foot delivery. We don't think it will be many months before foot delivery will be offered in some of the areas."

Numerous residents today were installing their boxes and removing their rural boxes on routes not going directly by their homes.

The names of streets and numbers of houses was devised by Lubbock postoffice and, in some cases, by persons who developed the areas concerned, which are the Clayton-Carter-Coffee development north of Lubbock; the Flake subdivision, Moore tracts, Simpson or Avinger tracts, and Whitehead & Morrow tracts, all located east of Lubbock, and the Stratton subdivision, Butler Estates subdivision and Suburban Homes development, all located in what is sometimes called the Overton chapel section southeast of Lubbock and most of which is bounded by Thirty-fourth and Forty-eighth street and Ave. A and Ave. H.

In giving reasons the postoffice had proceeded with the naming plan, Ohnemus said that on Nov.

Hall Fined $500 In Liquor Case

The Sidney Hall liquor case—which produced contempt commitments for two Lubbock attorneys May 5—was disposed of Tuesday afternoon by a plea of guilty and a county court fine of $500 and costs.

It was Burton S. Burks and Buck W. McNeil, who compose the law firm of Burks and McNeil, who were adjudged by County Judge Walter Davies in contempt of his court. The case was continued after the verbal fireworks.

Hall, 36, is a negro. The complaint naming him charged upon oath of C. D. Matthews of the Liquor Control board that Hall sold whisky and gin April 8. The complaint set up two former final convictions of liquor law violation, for purpose of asking an enhanced penalty as punishment upon conviction in the latest case.

The assessment was paid.

Otherwise, in county court, W. E. Boston, 48, of Wolfforth pleaded innocent of drunk driving and posted bond of $500 for trial appearance; and O. J. Schumacker and Howard L. Carruth each was fined $5 and court costs after pleading guilty of check law violation.

Management Change At Ward's Made

Change in the managership of Montgomery, Ward & Co.'s local store was announced Tuesday.

A. W. Lawrence, assistant manager, will be in charge of the store until the new manager arrives.

Maas, who owns a farm at Monroe, said he had no particular plans for the present, but expects to take an extended vacation before entering business again.

Sudan Woman To Start Practice Soon As New Lawyer

Oath as an attorney was administered to Miss Patsy Smith of Sudan Tuesday afternoon by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue here.

The pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith of Ralls plans to enter law practice soon at Sudan.

She was graduated in January from Southern Methodist University School of Law, and was notified only this month that she had been admitted to the Texas bar. Taking the oath was the last prerequisite to actual practice, court officials here said.

The daughter of a Ralls gin operator was graduated from Ralls High school and, in 1946, was graduated with a B.A. degree from Texas Tech.

She will be the only woman practicing attorney in this entire section of the state, court officials said they believed.

Denman Named Lions Club Head

Groves Denman, Lubbock insurance man who has served as secretary of the Lubbock Lions club the past three years, Tuesday was elevated to the presidency of the civic group in its annual election of officers at a noon luncheon at the Hilton hotel.

Denman will succeed Wayne Henly, retiring president, on July 1.

Other officers elected were: Dallas Whaley, first vice president; Dr. Clyde C. Craig, second vice president; Thord Dockray, third vice president; Ed Merriman, secretary-treasurer; Floyd (Cotton) Thompson, lion tamer; Rev. Travis White, tail twister; and W. D. (Dub) Rogers and Dudley Brummett, directors.

Installation June 21

The new officers will be installed on June 21.

The election was featured by the nomination of two slates of officers by The Steamrollers and The Knife and Forkers and a parade by the latter group was staged at the opening of the luncheon in an effort to swing support to their candidates.

Showing of a motion picture, taken by Vernice Ford, on last year's bus trip to the International convention at New York featured the luncheon.

Jess Ewing, president of the Texas City Lions club, and Frank Hale of Sherman were out-of-town visitors at the luncheon.

Motor Bus Directors To Meet Here Today

Problems affecting motor bus operators will be discussed and the annual election of officers will be held.

Jess C. Levens, president of the association and vice-president of TNM&O bus lines, will preside.

SEARCH FOR PEACE IS ELABORATE

Big Four Paris Meet Conducted In Midst Of Historic Grandeur

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 31—Man's search for accord and peace has been, for many centuries, conducted amidst the trappings of grandeur. His latest effort, the meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers, is in keeping—though probably not one of them could explain just why the search must be so all fired fancy.

The over-all effort to build a home for peace on New York's East Side, the permanent headquarters of UN, will cost several hundred millions. A good percentage of the palaces and statelier public buildings of Europe have been nesting places of the restless dove of peace. The dove has died so many deaths. Can it have been of suffocation?

Surroundings Are 'Plush'

Just what the boys will be able to accomplish at the Palais Rose which they could not have achieved in a couple of three dollar rooms off the Palace de la Concord must await the peeling of the calendar. If their efforts fail again in the marbled halls they might have failed in the homeliest fleabag in town. But one will never know, for peace-makers seem committed to the plushiest surroundings possible, though concerned, as they have said for so many generations, with the hopes and fears of the common man.

The common man would get the biggest bum's rush of his life if he attempted to look in on the present conference which is deciding what might well be his fate. So would the common man's main intermediary in such matters, the foreign correspondent.

Meetings Closely Guarded

The meetings are secret; their leading figures guarded by, respectively, the FBI, the MVD, Scotland Yard and the undercover section of the Surete. For window-dressing there is a sword-brandishing bevy of light operetta soldiery, the Garde Republicain. No chance for anyone to crash this particular party. Or to know precisely what goes on within.

The ghosts of the past which must haunt all peace-makers as they toil in their templed halls showed up in force for this Paris meeting. About $5 million of Anna Gould's dough was piled into the Palais Rose at the turn of the century, when $5 million meant just that. The gaudy place, the color of deep-frozen strawberry ice cream, was copied generally after the Grand Trianon at Versailles.

Famous Stairway Copied

The breath-taking stairway inside is a copy of the Escalier Des Ambassadeurs at Versailles. The one-time dining room of the palace opens on an emerald-green swimming pool, complete with bronze heron. There was nursery space enough to provide current office space for a Russian delegation of about 50 persons.

The grand salon in which Acheson, Vishinsky, Bevin and Schuman meet each day is heavy with the echoing footsteps of a day when the daughter of the American railroad tycoon tossed her bizarre parties for the friends of her husband, Count Boni De Castellane.

It remembers, too the seemlier fetes of the period when the Gould girl married the Duke De Talleyrand-Perigord. And it still creeps with the presence of Gen. Otto Von Stuelpnagel, Nazi commander of capitulated Paris, who entertained Hitler in the very room in which four men now wrestle for a variety of the spoils. There is a long crack in the blue, angel-studded ceiling over the heads of the foreign ministers.

Conference Table Covered

There is a curious added touch of swank to the seating arrangement around the 15-foot circular conference table. The table itself is discreetly covered in pool-table green with ten cent store ashtrays in front of each place and a little fern centerpiece impaled with four tiny silk flags. Most of the chairs around it are little more than camp chairs. But the four chairs for Acheson, Vishinsky, Bevin and Schuman would have been considered gilded enough and grand enough even for Boni De Castellane.

We hope it all helps. But just for the heck of it, some generation, let's try for peace in a motel.

Mississippi Police Probe Events Leading To Veteran's Suicide

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., May 31 (U.P.) — Pplice today sought to unravel a complex chain of events which caused a young war veteran to blast himself to death with a shotgun inside a telephone booth while talking long distance to his ex-fiancee.

Just a few hours after Jimmy Lee Feather 26, killed himself, officers said, the mangled, beaten body of his cousin was found in a wooded area near here. The cousin was Louis Holmes, 27.

Police would not connect the two deaths officially. But they learned from two women in Feathers' life—his ex-wife and his ex-sweetheart—that the two men had been together during much of the holiday weekend.

Marshal Asa Holbrook said he was in the downtown cafe here early yesterday when he heard a terrific blast from the direction of the phone booth.

Inside he found Feathers' body, a double-barrelled shotgun lying across it.

HISTORIC LETTER BACK

BOSTON, (U.P.)—A letter written in 1659 by Gov. Peter Stuyvesant of New Amsterdam—now New York—to Gov. John Winthrop of Massachusetts is back in the state house from which it was stolen in 1917. An alert Harvard librarian recognized the letter when a New York book dealer offered it for sale for $800.

Mukden Post Is Closed By U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 31. (INS)—The United States diplomatic consulate in Mukden, Manchuria, was ordered closed today because of a Communist-imposed communications blackout dating back to Nov. 18.

The State department announced the decision, even as top Washington officials conferred with a dozen other governments over a united approach to the Communists who are wresting China from the Nationalist government.

The department has been unable to get in touch with Consul General Angus Ward and his Mukden staff since the Communists completed their conquest of Manchuria over six months ago.

Communist authorities have been asked to provide facilities for withdrawal of Ward and his staff.

Speculation Aroused

This situation aroused speculation over the future relationship between Washington and the victorious Communist regime.

The western powers, it was indicated, look with suspicion on Soviet Russia's move in withdrawing its consular representatives from Shanghai.

Officials recalled that the Soviets on the surface have adhered to their four-year-old agreement that Chiang Kai-Shek's regime should be the world-recognized government of China. But the west has its fingers crossed.

Diplomatic observers commented that Russia has nothing to lose by going through the motions of following the Nationalist government into its Canton retreat, while the western powers would be deprived of their last contacts behind the Communist lines.

Bureaucrats Charged In Grain Congestion

DENTON, May 31 (AP)—The secretary of the Texas Grain and Feed Dealers association charged today that President Truman and "bureaucrats" deliberately caused grain storage congestion in the wheat belt.

G. E. Blewett of Fort Worth addressed the Denton Kiwanis club. He said the administration wants to discredit the grain business and influence Congress to pass new restrictive laws.

They "intentionally and maliciously caused this congestion by deliberately withholding sales and loading orders on old crop grains, thus keeping present storage facilities filled," Blewett said.

In his charges, Blewett named President Truman, the Commodity Credit corporation, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Production and Marketing administration, Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan, and other bureaucrats unknown to me."

A SOLUTION FOR:

Doctors In Uniform

THE DRIVE of the past several months to recruit doctors and dentists for the armed forces is conceded even in the highest official circles to be a monumental flop. Reasons for the failure are obvious.

Members of the two professions, as an overwhelming whole, naturally prefer private practice because of its being tremendously lucrative, free of military restraints and offering an opportunity to secure themselves if the time should return when doctors and dentists face a competitive problem.

Failure also was inevitable for attempts to force men of these professions into uniform through "moral suasion." This maneuver required, for success, the public support and sympathy which would have made doctors and dentists feel like slackers as civilians. Any realist should have known that civilians, who more frequently than not have difficulty getting attention for their own ills, would not support a drive which would aggravate the condition.

Prospects do not appear encouraging that present methods of recruiting will obtain now; or while peace continues, the doctors and dentists needed by the armed forces. The shortage may best be made up by drafting those educated, during wartime, at taxpayers' expense but now reaping great financial harvests as civilians. But the armed services high command could solve its medical-dental problems permanently simply by training its own doctors and dentists.

This approach obviously would not help now. But within a few years, it could become the permanent solution of the problem. And, by reducing the drains by the military, it could help the lot of the civilians who, as a whole, now contend with a serious medical-dental shortage of their own.

A Sound Policy

UNLESS all the accepted barometers of public opinion are in error, Americans overwhelmingly endorse that portion of U.S. foreign policy which refuses large scale help to so-called Nationalist China. There has been no evidence of any kind from any reputable source that large numbers of the people in this country would alter this policy.

If this is the American attitude, it does not reflect lack of sympathy for the masses of Nationalist China, nor sympathy for the Communist armies which are over-running that land.

It merely is evidence that most Americans are taking an entirely practical view of a tragic condition which could not be corrected except by enormous sacrifices at tremendous risks they are unwilling to assume.

They know they already have given billions in aid to China. The evidence is virtually uncontradicted that much—if not most—without strengthening materially the abilities of the Nationalist forces to resist communistic aggressions.

The logic also is conclusive that there is only one way to insure that further American help to China would be used to oppose Red armies. That would be by sending American forces over there to do the Nationalists' fighting for them. Americans simply aren't going to do that, and everyone knows it.

The attitude is sound, intelligent, realistic and practical. Its existence supplies one example of a major foreign policy which is shaped by public opinion—the proper arrangement for any democracy. This is one case where the horse is in front of the cart, or the dog wags the tail, in obedience to natural and democratic laws.

New import restrictions are turning hair gray in Johannesburg, South Africa, for stocks of hair dye are running low, no more will be allowed in, and the blonde, the brunette and the jet black are slowly turning gray.

Flying squads of the Public Health department in the Mexico City area swooped down on more than 50 stands which were clandestinely selling pulque (fermented liquor made from the agave) and the sewers ran with several thousand gallons of it.

Passengers again may make the five-to-six-day boat trip up the Parana river from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Asuncion, Paraguay, after an eight-month interruption of service between the two capitals, during which passengers had to transfer at Corrientes, Argentina.

Vermin Hides In The Woodwork

Island Of Escape

By HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Bea Cosgrove is not satisfied that the death of Lilly Warren on Spears Island is suicide. There are nine people on the island who might have done it, including Bea whose pistol was found beside the body. One of the nine is Miguel Oak, a fishing boat captain, whose presence is unknown to all but Bea. George Bascombe comes to tell Bea that Fred Sillwell, his boss, whose yacht was wrecked offshore, wants to talk to her. In his conversation George reveals there is blood in a cave where he has hidden a supply of whiskey. He thinks one of Harding's sheep was killed there. Bea also learns that Lilly knew a rumor that there was hidden gold in the cave. Bea takes leave of George and goes to talk to Sillwell.)

XXII

FRED nodded approval. "I thought you were smart."

"Now it's my brains he admires," she said.

Fred's eyes narrowed. "I pay my way as I go, but you can't hold me up."

"We'd get somewhere quicker if you told me what it is you want."

"Information."

Bea showed surprise. "About more whiskey?"

"No. But thanks for the reminder." He drank and hid the bottle again. "I want to know what goes on here. I don't know for sure whether the radio's broken or not. Does Harding want to keep us here? And if so why?"

"Mollie," Bea suggested.

Maybe. And if that's all, it's one thing. If it's something else, I want to know. As I told you, I'll pay well for information."

"You knew Lilly Warren before didn't you?"

Fred sighed. "I suppose she told you. But it isn't any secret as far as I'm concerned. I used to see her around. She was a pretty girl, and getting too old for it. Maybe she thought this was her last good chance to get set."

"You think that's why she killed herself?"

"How should I know? Could be. And everyone's got a nice alibi for the death time Harding set."

"You mean he could have changed the time to suit?"

"Let's put it this way." Fred Sillwell's eyes were sharp, probing. "Maybe he knows enough to fix a time that accurately. He fixed Mollie up as if he knows what he's doing. He's the only one here that does know though. He could have fixed up the time to suit himself."

"That souhds as if you think Lilly Warren was killed," Bea Cosgrove said softly.

"Don't go putting words in my mouth," Sillwell snapped irritably. He lit a candle, stuck it in the neck of an empty bottle. "My last match," he grumbled. "We're wasting time and it's getting late. You're nosey. You can make some dought out of it. I want to know what goes on."

"IF there's something wrong," she pointed out, "it wouldn't be very healthy to go nosing around."

"No. But you can get away with it where I couldn't."

"I'll think it over," Bea said.

"You do that. Think hard. Remember, no pay unless what you dig up is exclusively mine."

Miss Cosgrove nodded, walked to the door. It opened before she could touch the knob. Mollie Stark hurried inside, stopped abruptly when she saw Bea.

"Oh. Oh. I see. Did I interrupt?" If the words were innocent, the look she gave the rumpled cots left no doubt as to her meaning.

"Shut the door when you go out, Miss Cosgrove," Fred ordered.

She closed it gently behind her because she felt like slamming it. Lights from the main house showed through the gathering dusk. It would soon be time for the evening meal. She could almost hear Hardin's dictum, "There is work for the daylight hours. Time enough to eat by night." But Bea knew there was work that could be done by night too.

"Hi."

She jumped at the tiny whisper, made out the figure of George Bascombe peering around the corner of the hut. She walked toward him, saw the finger on his lips as he asked for silence.

"If you want to eavesdrop," he whispered, "go around back. There's a good place there." He did not wait to see if his suggestion was carried out, but strode up toward the main house.

MISS Cosgrove dismissed the reason for the information, put it to use. She skirted the sides of the cabin, saw a chink of light coming through a misshapen small hole where a knot had fallen from the unseasoned timber. George had been accurate. She could hear very well.

"I told you not to come here again," Sillwell said.

"I don't care. Mollie's tired looking at old drizzlepuss. It's no fun. He doesn't do anything. Just talk. Mollie wants to have fun like she used to."

"You'll do as I say. It won't be much longer."

"Too long already," Mollie said and Bea could visualize the pout.

"Much too long. This is a nasty old island. And he's a nasty old man."

"You didn't think so. He's rich."

"But he doesn't do anything," Mollie repeated.

"It won't be long before you'll be back in L.A. with all the money you want. Think of the fun you'll have then." Sillwell was patient, but Bea could sense a strain.

"That'll be fun," Mollie said. "But it better not be too long."

"I told you it wouldn't be. Give me a couple of days. And stop coming down here. He might see you and get ideas."

"Ideas? Mollie doesn't think he could get an idea. But I'll be good. I know you can't do without me."

Bea heard the door close. Fred Sillwell swore softly, viciously.

There was the sound of a cork being drawn. He laughed then, a low, wet sound without humor. "Don't be too sure, Mollie. Don't be too sure."

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

HISTORY may be being made in the village of Bishops Itchington, Warwickshire, England, during the next four years.

Before I go any further or begin to make puns about the village's name, let me tell you that Itchington is not pronounced Itching-ton, as you would assume. The proper pronunciation, according to my best information, is Icetone. This pronunciation is recorded in the "Domesday Book, England's official register of its lands, as ordained by William the Conqueror in the year of 1085.

BRANDEIS

At any rate, the village of Bishops Itchington, will, for the next four years, be governed by a Parish Council consisting of six women and one man.

When asked his opinion, Harry Robinson, Icetone's oldest inhabitant—he is eighty-six—remarked: "Good luck to them. I voted for them because they've got a darned sight more push than most of the men around here."

So here we will have concrete proof of what women can really do when they are given full opportunity to exercise their civic talents, an opportunity for which they have been fighting for more than a century.

Far be it from me to prognosticate the success or failure of this innovation. But I shall watch Bishops Itchington closely and keep you informed on developments.

In connection with the taking over of government by the female sex, I must report another bit of news.

If women should eventually invade the town halls and legislatures of our country on a wholesale basis, this bit of news may be of utmost importance.

A Harvard professor has just predicted that food, as it is now known, is on the way out.

Spectacular triumphs are being accomplished by scientists, he said.

Steaks, eggs, fried chicken, nice crisp bacon, and all that sort of thing are on the way out according to the professor.

By eating so much meat and so many eggs, we are destroying the very stuff that produces our food.

After we have eaten up all the cows and the eggs, there will be no more cows to produce calves, and no more hens to lay the eggs that will become chickens.

So, we will have to eat chemicals, pills and capsules that contain the same nourishment we get now but which, won't taste nearly as well and, certainly, are not going to be garnished with parsley.

SUITS ARE UNSETTLED

OPA Muddle Remains

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The official confusion and hysteria which attended liquidation of OPA during President Truman's first exciting months in the White House may mean a loss of millions of dollars to the government and taxpayers through bureaucratic delay in filing suits to recover for alleged overcharges during the war.

Even in death, this controversial bureau of economic controls survives as a threat to certain industries, farm processors and retailers. Its evil shadow still lies athwart the economic landscape.

TUCKER

Although Department of Justice lawyers now handling the legal autopsy are reluctant to criticize even a defunct agency, they admit that the price control boys left an awful mess of litigation behind them. Meanwhile, numerous defendants will remain in doubt for years as to whether they must some day shell out huge payments to Uncle Sam.

REASON: Attorney General Clark's cleanup squad cannot estimate the number of cases of this kind still before or on their way to the courts, but there are 109 in the Chicago area alone. Nor can they compute the amount of money involved in the complicated claims, but it runs into many millions of dollars.

The reason for the insecure state of the government's legal position is that the suits were not filed by OPA counsel within six months after each change in the identity of the OPA Administrator, or after the expiration of the law itself, as the original act provided. And in OPA's last few years price and rationing bosses were shifted almost as frequently as the playing members of a Notre Dame football eleven.

PLAINTIFF: When Leon Henderson gave way to Paul Porter, for instance, OPA's lawyers should have made Mr. Porter the plaintiff on all official documents instead of the talkative, roly-poly economist. Similarly, when handsome Paul was supplanted by Chester W. Boles, there should have been another substitution. The last OPA boss was Philip Fleming, but his name appears on only a few of the important papers.

In prosecuting the cases now, D. of J. lawyers argue that it makes no difference whether these changes were made. They maintain that the governing fact is that the United States is the key plaintiff.

Two federal courts, one in Chicago and one in Florida, have held against the government. It has won in a St. Louis decision. Thus, the question will have to be decided finally by the Supreme Court. Incidentally, the legal costs alone will amount to a sizable sum for the government and defendants.

HEADLINES: The liquidating lawyers have uncovered evidence of some fuzzy-wuzzy operations by OPA lawyers and economists—fuzzier, in fact, than some of their activities which hit the headlines during Hendersonian days.

Although the suits brought actually asked only for recovery of specific overcharges, OPA's publicists clamored for headlines by highlighting the "treble damages" they expected to obtain for the Treasury. D. of J. prosecutors are demanding treble damages only where shady blackmarketing practices can be proved.

COMPLEX: OPA also urged the "projection method" to compute alleged overcharges. If it found that an industry had overcharged $1,000 on a $10,000 shipment, and if its annual business totalled $100,000, they multiplied the alleged $1,000 overcharge by ten, making $10,000 the amount of the suit for recovery.

Under this system, a California firm was sued for $1,150,000, and it turned out that the actual proved overcharge—and that a mistake resulting from OPA's complex and inconsistent regulations—was only $118!

TARGETS: Administration and labor politicians now concede that outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley act is impossible at this session. But they will keep alive agitation on this issue for practical considerations.

The recent compromises proposed by A.F. of L. President William Green provide a slight chance that a new statute may be written, for they incorporate the major demands of the group which insists on some governmental control. Mr. Green's action is explained by the fact that he must obtain at least a change in the name of the law to Thomas-Lesinski, so as to demonstrate to union members that he has some influence at the Capitol.

Jack Kroll, director of the C.I.O.'s Political Action committee, insists on a Senate roll call so that labor will have a definite "black list" for the 1950 Congressional elections.

The House vote on the Wood substitute furnished him with campaign material for use against that measure's supporters. Now he wants a similar nose-counting in the Senate, with Senator Byrd of Virginia and Senator Taft of Ohio as his principal targets.

POLITICS: President Truman also seeks a showdown so that he can renew his "do nothing" charges against the G.O.P. in an early fall swing around the country, or in the critical year of 1950.

In short, politics rather than economics account for keeping this question before Congress, even though it delays action on many other major foreign and domestic problems.

TRUMAN PROGRAM STALLED

Solons Blamed For Slowing Work

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — A very intriguing new propaganda technique is developing here in connection with the President and Congress.

It points, first, to the molasses-like slowness with which Congress is moving on the President's program and then blames the failure of Congress to legislate on President Truman's refusal to "compromise."

STOKES

Compromise on what and why?

The President advocated specific legislative proposals in his campaign last year. When he was elected, he presented them to Congress. He stood by his pledges.

Congress has always insisted that it was its job, yea, its prerogative, to write legislation. The trouble just now is that Congress has done a poor writing job, though it has done more than it is given credit for. The record is not entirely bare, and a little plugging in committees would get a lot more to the floor and up to the White House for the President's signature.

Writing of legislation is, itself, a process of compromise in the first instance. Every President knows that and accepts that fact. When a President receives a bill from Congress, with its compromises, he decides whether the principles he advocated are compromised too far. He never expects to get everything he asked, and usually accepts the compromise as the best possible under the circumstances.

But it is not up to him to "compromise" in advance. Nobody really expects him to, despite the advocacy of such a course now.

As a matter of fact, the Senate passed a housing bill that represented a compromise with administration proposals. Likewise, the House Labor committee approved a wage-hour bill that was much less than the President asked, and the same compromise process is now going on in the case of social security expansion in the House Ways and Means committee. That is a normal process. Housing, minimum wage, and social security extension are three major items in the President's program.

Where Congress is falling down is in not pushing those and other bills on to enactment, with whatever compromises are necessary. It will fulfill its responsibility when it does that. And that is its responsibility, not the President's.

The President knows that if Congress does not do its part, the people will blame it. That's what the voters did in the last election, and the President is confident they will do it again. He is sure that the things he advocates are going to become law sooner or later, whether in this Congress or the next or the one after that, for that's what the people want. His record is clear, and he intends to keep it clear and let the voters decide.

GOP Again Blamed

The President is confident, too, that when it comes to fixing the blame in Congress, itself, the voters are now discerning enough to recognize that it is no longer a straight party matter, but that it is really a new party that is holding up his program. That is the coalition of Republicans and the Southern Dixiecrats whom he has disavowed.

He is certain that the Republican strategy in tying up with the Dixiecrats is just as unwise for the Republican party as it proved to be for them in the last election. He expects to gain from it. Quite a number of the outstanding Republican collaborationists with the Dixiecrat element were weeded out last November. More are sure to follow when the voters get another chance.

Republicans are engaged in another familiar piece of strategy now of the type known in tactics as "diversionary," that is, to distract attention. This is the trumped-up case on David Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, in the attempt to create another Communist scare. Anyone who knows anything of Mr. Lilienthal and his administration of AEC knows it's so flimsy that it will fall of its own weight and probably have a boomerang effect.

An attempt to create a Communist bogey through the Un-American Activities Committee failed in the last election. The voters didn't fall for it.

Additional Mail Service To Start

17 the Postoffice department authorized two mounted routes to serve those outlying areas and "to relieve the burden on rural routes and give all people in those areas better mail service." Up to now, he said, many of the persons served on rural areas have lived within a mile and one-half of Lubbock city limits.

Ohnemus said initiation of routes service had been postponed until the master naming plan devised by the City Planning commission could be placed into effect. "The postoffice feels that further waiting would be depriving the patrons of better mail service which has been authorized for them several months prior to this date," he said.

In general, he added, the postoffice and persons who have developed the subdivisions have sought to cooperate with the naming plan of the City Planning board.

Happy To Cooperate

"If a larger plan is devised by the City Planning board," he said, "we will be happy to work with them and what we have done can really be changed over to other street names."

Under the naming plan devised by the postoffice and by some of the men who have developd the subdivisions involved, names of avenues east of Ave. A will be: Burke, Clayton, Doak, Easter, Floyd, Gilbert, Harvey, Indian drive, Jones, King Ave., King's Place, Leland Ave., Leland Place, Myrtle drive (same name in use previously for that street), Noble, Oliver, Paul, Queen, Royal, State, Tice. The naming goes only so far as Tice, since no avenues beyond that are included in the mounted routes and the only purpose of the postoffice was to name streets for mail service.

Those avenues were designed from proper names of persons, mostly picked from the telephone book. The plan differs from the City Planning commission plan which recommends naming of streets east of Ave. A alphabetially for trees. The change was adopted in the mail service plan, because some streets in Arnett-Benson bear names of trees, said Ohnemus.

Named For Universities

Several streets in Clayton Carter-Coffee development were named for universities, in alphabetical order; East Stanford, East Tulane, East University, East Wabash and East Yale.

The streets and avenus in Clayton Carter-Coffee development are those five streets named for universitis, and avenus from Burke through Indian Drive—all names chosen by Clayton Carter. That addition begins about three miles north of Lubbock county courthouse, east of the Plainview highway.

Avinger addition includes 700 and 800 blocks on East Fifth, East Sixth, East Seventh, East Ninth, East Tenth and an extra street, East Tenth Place, East Main, East 11th Place, and the 600, 700 and 800 blocks on East Broadway. The addition is east of Lubbock and north of East Broadway, bounded on the east by Indian drive (even with the drive in Clayton Carter addition).

Others Are Designated

Whitehead & Morrow addition, located south of East Broadway, takes in blocks from 700 through 1100 on East Thirteenth, East Fourteenth, East Fifteenth, East Sixteenth, East Seventeenth and East Eighteenth streets. Avenues included in that area will be Gilbert, Harvey, Indian drive, Jones, King Ave., King's Place, Leland Ave., Leland Place and Myrtle drive.

Flake subdivision, which begins about two miles east of Lubbock, contains streets from Broadway to about East Eighth. Names of several avenues were designated by T. E. Flake. They are Paul, Queen, Royal, State and Tice.

The Moore addition joins Flake and extends to East Fourth. It is bordered on the east by the experiment station farm on the west by Idalou highway.

Stratton subdivision and Suburban Homes development are bounded, generally by Thirty-fourth and Forty-eighth streets and Ave. A and H and streets were named accordingly. The Butler Estates subdivison contains several streets already named and which were changed in keeping with the general plan. The 900 and 1,000 blocks on Foryt-third previously were known as Buckeye and 900 and 1,000 on Forty-fourth were previously known as Highland. The same blocks on Forty-fifth were previously known as College View.

"Every patron in all of these have been personally interviewed and given cards with their house numbers on them. No mail will be returned as result of the change, but will be held at the postoffice until we get it all straight," said Ohnemus.

"We will change no mail until we receive instructions from them." Change of address cards left with residents may be given to carriers, or may be deposited in a mail box," he said.

"All that we have done," he said, "was what was absolutely necessary to start service to them and we have spent many hours in giving them correct numbers so the numbers would be in order."

MARKET HITS NEW LOW

NEW YORK, May 31. (AP)—The stock market today plunged to the lowest average level since mid-March last year.

It was the market's worst walloping since the savage selling drive which followed the presidential elections in November.

Individual issues cracked 1 to around 4 points at the worst, many selling at the lowest prices of the year or longer.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 1.4 points to 60.8, lowest since 60.5 was hit on March 16 last year. The market now has only a trifling distance to go to reach the 1948 low of 60.3, which in turn is just a couple of points above bottom for 1947.

Besides breaking through the lows, buying power was throttled by other influences. Most important, probably, was another slash in steel production schedules for this week, seventh straight cut built in a row.

Steel is just about the last of important commodities to achieve a post-war balance in supply and demand. And production trends in steel are considered an accurate gauge of production trends throughout the economy.

Among them were U. S. Steel old common, down 2⅜ at 65¼ (bottom since 1947); Bethlehem Steel, off ⅝ at 25½; Youngstown Sheet and Tube, off 2⅝ at 59; General Motors, off 1⅛ at 55; Chrysler, off 1⅝ at 47½; Montgomery Ward, off 1⅛ at 49⅜; Patino Mines, off 2 at 10¼; American Smelting, off 1¼ at 43½; Radio Corp., off ⅝ at 10⅝; International Paper, off 1¼ at 44⅜; Santa Fe, off 3⅜ at 84⅜; Southern Railway, off 3⅝ at 28¼; Nickel Plate, off 3¾ at 45; Standard Oil (NJ), off 1¼ at 64⅜, and Westinghouse Electric, off ⅞ at 30⅜.

Corporate bonds nosedived 1 to an extreme of 8 points, with the railroad and industrial groups at new lows for 1949. U. S. government issues were marked down 1.32 or 2.32 of a point in over-the-counter dealings.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP)—Wheat futures suffered a sharp decline at today's board of trade session. The break came on word that the cash market at Kansas City had been reduced to around 10 cents under Saturday's closing figures.

At times wheat was selling at around 8 cents under the close Saturday, but some short covering checked the decline. Other grains reflected the action of wheat.

Private crop estimates of bumper production, and excellent weather prospects were also factors in the selling. Corn and oats showed considerable resistance, at the start of the selling, but were under the influence of wheat toward the close.

The first of the new wheat crop is beginning to move, and there is much speculation regarding how much storage space will be available.

At the close wheat was 2¾ to 5 cents lower than Saturday's close, July $1.88-87¾. Corn was 1 cent to 1¾ lower, July $1.36¾. Oats were 1⅛ to 1½ lower, July 86⅝-⅞. Lard was unchanged to 10 cents a hundredweight lower, July $11.27.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Cotton futures declined today under pressure of commission house and New Orleans selling along with scattered hedging. Liquidation was encouraged by weakness in outside markets, the declining domestic consumption of cotton and the lack of aggressive demand in the export market. Offerings were absorbed through scale down trade buying and short covering. New crop months were sold partly on the idea that the cotton parity may decline substantially in the next two months. The loan on the 1949 cotton crop will be based on the mid July parity.

Late afternoon prices were 70 cents to $1.00 a bale lower than the previous close. July 32.28, Oct. 28.78 and Dec. 28.59.

A renewed burst of liquidation carried cotton into low ground for the day in closing trading.

Futures closed $1.05 to $1.65 a bale lower than the previous close.

Burned Vernon Boy Rallies From Coma For Brief Period

VERNON, May 31. (AP)—Donnie Woodard, 10, rallied from a coma today enough to talk to his father about "Old Jersey" the cow he milked each day until he was burned.

For 21 days Donnie, his body 70 per cent covered with burns, has fought for life. He has passed more than 12 hours of the "24 to 36 hour" period a specialist said may prove a turning point.

He lapsed into a coma yesterday. But today he was able to recognize his father, James Woodard, tenant farmer of near Vernon.

"Don't let anybody else milk the cow," Donnie murmured.

Funds Pour In

There is a bank beside his bed and funds are pouring tnto it to take care of his medical expenses and buy a pony he has been promised. He talked a little about the pony, too.

On May 10 an older brother accidentally threw a bucket of burning gasoline on Donnie as the two were burning weeds.

The boy's physician, Dr. Jack Restivo, said Donnie's condition continued to improve slightly all day.

Dr. Carl Moyer, professor of experimental medicine at Southwestern, Dallas, was called here quickly when Donnie went into a coma. As the boy rallied he gave Donnie a fighting chance to live.

He returned home, but a plane was standing by for a quick trip to Dallas to get Moyer if Donnie takes another turn for the worse.

His bank fund is near $4,000 tonight. Contributions and messages were pouring in from points as far as Canada, the Pacific and East Coasts. His expenses are about $100 daily.

Uprising Threatened If UN Okays Italian Rule Of Tripolitania

TRIPOLI, May 31 (AP) — The one-eyed mufti of Libia says he would lead his more than 700,000 Moslem folowers in a fight to death if the United Nations re-imposed Italian rule over Tripolitania.

"It would not be another Palestine," the 70-year-old Shiek Mohammed Bulas Ad El Alem said in an interview. "We would never leave the battlefield alive."

Rioting broke out here recently while the UN Assembly in New York was deliberating over a British-Italian plan to cut Italy in on a split-up of the African empire Mussolini lost in the war.

The assembly finally put over the question until its fall session and the former colonies remain under British military administration.

The Libian mufti said the Tripolitanian Moslems have cached arms they got during the war both from Montgomery's famous British 8th army and Rommel's defeated Afrika Korps.

Reliable neutral sources here express belief Arab warfare is a certainty if the UN should authorize Italy's return to Tripolitania as was envisioned in the defeated British-Italian plan.

PUPILS GET AIR BONUS

COLUMBUS, Ind., (AP) — Grade school children at Walesboro county school near here got more than a report card at the term's end. They got an airplane ride. Airport officials at a nearby field took more than 50 youngsters up and they all liked it. Parents were grounded.

Looking At Life

appetites with music and dance," said the professor.

In other words, a festive dinner will consist of a few pills and a phonograph record.

The reason I mention these things—the Itchington thing and the food thing—together, is this:

When all the women are busy with government, there will be none left in the kitchens. And when that time comes, we will all have to live on pills.

However, according to the professor, our present food supply is still good for many thousands of years.

I hope the same applies to the domestic instinct of our dear ladies.

ADJOURNMENT RESOLUTION LOSES IN HOUSE

Senate Gives Approval To Money-Producing Phase Of Gilmer-Aikin School Reorganization Program

AUSTIN, May 31. (AP)—The Senate today gave its final approval to the money-producing phase of the revolutionary Gilmer-Aikin school reorganization program.

In the House, a move to consider a resolution which would set the final adjournment date of the legislature for June 17 was defeated 87-67. The resolution remains in a committee for further action.

After about an hour of debate the senators refused, 19-8, to send the conference committee's report on Senator Ottis Lock's minimum foundation bill to another compromise group.

Then the upper house voted 23-4 to accept the report, giving it the majority needed to go immediately into effect if the report is approved by 100 votes in the House.

Veterans Bill Loses

Rep. George Nokes of Corsicana, House sponsor of the G-A plan, announced late today he would ask the House tomorrow for its approval of the minimum foundation measure.

Senate opposition to the conference group's compromise centered around allocations for student transportation and the method by which counties were allotted their financial responsibility of the plan.

Earlier today 99 of 120 members present in the House voted for a veterans business and home loan bill, but that was one vote short of the number needed for final passage.

100 Votes Needed

The vote on Rep. Miller Walker's proposed constitutional amendment was 99-20, with one member present but not voting. A hundred votes are required to give a constitutional amendment final approval.

Walker's measure would authorize the state to issue $300 million in bonds with which to finance loans up to $5,000 to World War II veterans. The loans, at four per cent, would be for establishment of building firms for building of homes. The state would make direct loans, to be paid back in 20 years.

Opponents said the plan amounted to a handout with no guarantee the state would ever recover the money it loaned.

Earlier, Speaker Durwood Manford named House members who will join senators appointed by Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers to settle differences over appropriation bills for state courts, departments and colleges.

Resolution Circulated

Conference committee action on these essential money bills will bring the 51st legislature much closer to final adjournment.

The desire of many representatives to wind up business and go home became strongly apparent. Rep. Jack Ridgeway collected 93 signatures on a resolution setting the date of sine die (final) adjournment for June 17.

He tried to secure a vote on the resolution during the morning, but delayed the attempt temporarily after a conference with the speaker. Manford opposes final adjournment until the legislature decides how it is going to make its spending program jibe with the amount of money coming into the state treasury the next two years.

No conference committee has been named to work out an agreement on the eleemosynary appropriations bill. It is this measure which Gov. Beauford H. Jester says should include $21 million for new hospitals, that is giving legislative leaders the biggest headache.

Loan Bill Debated

Ridgeway's adjournment resolution appeared to be a challenge—at least indirectly—to Jester's declaration that he would call the legislature back for a special session if the eleemosynary building program is not taken care of now.

Ridgeway said he merely wanted to set a date toward which the legislature could work.

The Senate spent the morning debating a bill to place small loan companies under strict regulation by the State Banking commission.

Senator Gus Strauss of Halletsville, author of the bill, said Texas borrowers are being beld out of $80 million a year in illegal interest paid to such companies. He said there were instances in which more than 300 per cent interest had been collected on small loans.

Licensing Urged

The state constitution makes it illegal to charge more than 10 percent interest.

Strauss' bill would provide for licensing of all companies making loans of less than $500. Violation of the act would result in suspension of the license.

Debate continued into the afternoon when Senator Keith Kelly of Fort Worth attacked the measure as unconstitutional.

Kelly said the bill would permit the charging of up to 69 percent interest, 59 percent more than is expressly permitted by the constitution.

The Senate quit until 10 a.m. tomorrow without taking final action.

Reds Quiz Four U.S. Consular Employes

HAMBURG, Germany, May 31. (AP)—Four American consular employes were held by the Russians for more than 24 hours after their sail boat drifted onto the shore of the Soviet zone during a weekend holiday.

They had set out for an hour's sail in a small boat from the British zone side of Travemunde bay. A strong wind carried them to the Soviet zone side and they went ashore for food and safety.

It wasn't until the next evening that they were permitted to reenter the British zone.

Russians Courteous

The four were Vice Consul John Perry, Boston, Mass; Miss Margery Ann Combs, Montclair, N.J.; Miss Katherine Davis, Conroe, Tex.; Miss Mona Meier, Kansas City, Mo. All work in the U.S. consulate here.

Miss Davis said today that they were all well treated "by Russian standards." She added:

"Both Germans and Russians were courteous and perfect gentlemen to us. They were always asking us questions. They seemed curious about everything. They asked about the atom bomb, the Marshall plan, unemployment in the United States and our work at the consulate.

"They were puzzled by us because we looked like a bunch of refugees. We were wearing old clothes and had no shoes. We were wet, tired and hungry. They couldn't understand how we could look the way we did and claim to be in the diplomatic corps."
