Sweeping Change In Welfare Circles Asked Here

REPORT WOULD STRIP S. A. OF RELIEF WORK

Suggests Organization of New Unit to Carry On Social Activity

A change in the date of the community chest drive to eliminate a conflict with the annual chamber of commerce membership campaign, and several important changes in the administration of welfare work in Wichita Falls were recommended to Mayor R. E. Shepherd Tuesday night by a special committee appointed some time ago to survey the welfare situation in the city. The chest drive date has been changed in accordance with the recommendations and will be held this year in December instead of November as formerly. The exact dates have not been settled but will be announced later. By making the switch, it was explained, the community chest and chamber of commerce campaigns will not follow on each other's heels, with resulting benefit to both.

To Change S. A. Work

Chief among the recommendations of the committee were changes relating to the work of the Salvation Army and the secretary of the Municipal Welfare board. The former organization, principally because of conditions over which it has no control, has been able to accomplish little permanent good as a relief unit, the committee asserted. And the welfare board secretary, it also found, has been required to shoulder much more than her share of relief work.

The section of the committee report relating to the Salvation Army is as follows: "This organization has been attempting to administer the relief work of this community and no doubt has been doing the best they can under the present system, which is very inadequate and of little permanent good. It is impossible for the Salvation Army to do constructive work among the poor under their frequently changing personnel.

"After conference with the chairman of their advisory board and with his consent, we wish to recommend that the Salvation Army be relieved of the city relief work and that a branch of the organization of Family Social Work society be formed and that provision be made in the budget for the expense of carrying on such work. In the opinion of your committee, the financial report submitted includes many items that are not directly allowed by the chest, and only a small part of the Salvation Army's share is used in relief work."

Welfare Secretary Overworked

In commenting further on relief work in the city, the committee declared that "welfare work among the indigent of the city has broken down and that the work among the poor has recently largely been shouldered upon the secretary of the Municipal Welfare board."

The committee frowned upon the secretary filling the office of police matron; recommended that she be reimbursed for the salary of an office attendant, now paid out of her own; and that she also be reimbursed for the upkeep and expense of her automobile.

In line with recommendations that a new branch be organized to assume the relief duties administered by the Salvation Army, the report suggests that the mayor name a board of 12 members, six to be appointed from the citizenship at large and two each from the Rotary, Kiwanis, Optimists and Lions clubs and from the Ministerial Alliance and Trades Council. It was further suggested that this board function in general conformity to an outline prepared by one Francis H. McLean, entitled "The Organization and Family Social Work Societies in Smaller Cities."

Financial Report O. K.

In taking up its findings on the various units comprising the city's welfare and social service system, the committee made no important recommendations for the Red Cross, Camp Fire Girls, Y. W. C. A., Texas Children's Home and Aid society, Day Nursery, Boy Scouts and Colored Day Nursery. The financial reports of all these organizations is found to be "very satisfactory." It suggested some minor changes in the administrative work of the Colored Day Nursery which now, it said, was inadequately supervised. It also recommended that a separate board be named to supervise the work of the Travelers' Aid here which was deemed of sufficient import ce to warrant this. Some suggestions for an auditing committee and one or two other items complete the report.

The document was signed by J. H. Allison, committee chairman, and T. B. Smock, H. A. Gray Jr., Fred T. Couper and Joe Huckins III.

Gulf Storm Bares Bed of Oysters

HOUSTON, Sept. 21.(AP) The story of how the storm showed a new oyster bed in Mississippi Sound was told Tuesday morning by John Taylor, a caller at the Port commission office.

Taylor left his summer home on Mississippi Sound Monday afternoon just when the wind had reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour in that district. It had blown the water out toward the gulf so far that it left the bottom exposed over a large area.

In a place where he had never suspected oysters would live, he discovered a large bed of large sized ones. A negro carted off several wheel barrow loads of them, he said.

COURT HEARS GIRL WITNESS

Clerk Gives Evidence In Trial Of Daugherty For Fraud

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.(AP) Through a woman witness called five minutes before court adjourned, the government today struck from a new high angle in the conspiracy trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller. Miss Edith Haworth of Washington, a clerk in the alien property custodian's office was the witness. She identified documents intended to show that fifty nine days before the claims of Richard Merton, German metal magnate acting as agent for the Societie Suisse Pourvaleus de Metaux for shares of the American Metal company valued at $7,000,000 were recommended by Miller and approved by Daugherty, a claim made by a neutral and an American for part of the same shares was denied without the papers in the case being taken from the files of the alien property custodian's office.

Two File Claims.

The rejected claim was filed June 15, 1921 by Julian B. Beaty of New York, and Edward Greutert of Basel, Switzerland, as record owners of the shares. Beaty was vice president and treasurer of the American Metal company. They claimed twenty shares.

FERGUSONITES FACE SETBACK ON NOMINEES

Enough Votes to Block Confirmation Seen In Senate

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.(AP)—Enough strength to block the confirmation of Hal Moseley and John Cage, highway commissioners, was indicated in the senate of the 39th legislature in call session here Tuesday by supporters of Governor-Elect Dan Moody in the vote on amendments offered to a resolution by Senator A. E. Wood of Williamson county, providing for postponement of certain appointees of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson until the 40th legislature.

However the Ferguson forces showed considerable strength through their unity and when further consideration of the Wood resolution gets under way Wednesday, the supremacy of the Moody or Ferguson forces will be determined.

Prolonged Debate.

After prolonged debate over the fight for further consideration it was voted to resume consideration of the resolution at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, the motion carrying an amendment voted 18 to 10, that the session be executive. This was bitterly opposed by Senator Wood who demanded that the resolution be considered in open session and he is expected to resort to the constitution which provides that all meetings of the senate shall be open.

After the senators warming up in debate over the concurrent resolution by Senator R. A. Stuart of Fort Worth for the appointment of a committee to inform members of congress at Washington, opposition to infringement on state rights in regard to inheritance and other tax laws, which finally passed with an amendment cutting the appropriation for expenses to $1,000 Senator Wood's resolution caused the first real fight on the senate floor.

House Vote Cited.

The resolution pointed to the fact that the house of representatives had adopted a resolution directing the speaker to appoint a committee to investigate the highway department, the treasury department, the railroad commission and the board of pardons and granting of pardons, and urged postponement of consideration of confirmation of the highway commissioners, one prison commissioner, a member of the industrial accident board and a state's attorney.

The results of the investigation by the house committee, the resolution states, may have important bearing upon the question of whether appointees of the governor to the highway commission and the prison commission nominated to the senate at the present special session should be confirmed.

Wood's Resolution.

Wood's resolution states that the resolution adopted by the house "recites the existence of facts known to exist which have created a necessity and general demand upon the part of the people that the affairs of the state highway department be made the subject of investigation; and the existence of a necessity and general demand for legislative investigation of the granting of pardons, and the facts connected therewith, and the fact of public criticism directed toward the conduct of the text book commission and the agencies and influence invoked to effect its action in the performance of book contracts; and that the public interest demands the thorough investigation of all charges and complaints against the agencies which control and manage the affairs of the state to the end that guilt, if guilt there be, be established, mistakes corrected and reform had, which will advance and protect the public welfare as far as is humanly possible."

Amendments Offered.

With the resolution, three amendments were immediately submitted, one by Senator Edgar Witt of Waco to eliminate the state's attorney, Robert M. Lyles; another by Senator I. D. Fairchild of Angelina county to eliminate James Swayne of the industrial accident board and a third by Senator Lloyd E. Price to eliminate the prison commissioner, S. G. Granberry.

Points of order were raised that confirmation of the governors' appointees should be considered in executive session and after they were overruled, Senator John H. Bailey of DeWitt county appealed, the decision of the chair, which was upheld by a vote of 15 to 13, three absent, with Senator H. L. Lewis of Navasota in the chair.

Senator Wood charged, when motion was made by Senator Fairchild to put off consideration of

STORM MARKS WIDE PATH OF DESTRUCTION

No Additional Life Loss Report As Hurricane Moves West

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Leaving a long trail of destruction and hundreds of dead, injured and homeless, the tropical hurricane which came out of the Bahamas Friday to rage across southern Florida and along the eastern gulf coast finally has blown itself out in southern Mississippi.

With direct communication restored to the last of the isolated cities—Pensacola—it appears that there was no loss of life along the gulf, although the wind at times reached a velocity of 120 miles an hour comparable to that which leveled towns on the southeastern Florida coast leaving at least 400 dead; 150 or more missing; 5,000 injured and 50,000 homeless.

Property damage in Pensacola was estimated at $2,000,000, but at Mobile the loss was less than half that amount. Smaller towns in Alabama and Mississippi suffered some loss and crops in the southern sections of these states were badly damaged.

A report sent from the naval station at Pensacola to the navy department at Washington told of severe damage to the naval air station at the Florida port.

Litigation To Recover Funds For University Filed In Austin

Atty. General Charges Sale of Oil By Big Lake Concern Done In Manner To Defraud the State

AUSTIN, Sept. 21. (AP) A suit asking an accounting of all oil produced from university lands in Reagan county, $2,750,000 damages, and for cancellation of leases held by the Texon Oil and Land company and associated companies and the Big Lake Oil company was filed in the 53rd district court by Attorney General Dan Moody, in behalf of the University of Texas. The Texon Oil and Land company of Texas, group number one oil corporation, group number two oil corporation, Big Lake Oil company, Marland Oil company, the Reagan County Purchasing company, inc., the Humble Oil and Refining company and the Humble Pipeline company are named defendants in the suit.

Irregularity Charged

The petition alleges that the Reagan Purchasing company, Inc., as a corporation subsidiary to the Texon Oil and Land company, has purchased practically all oil produced by the Texan, group number one and group number two, at an average market price of 20 cents lower than the price at which the oil was sold to the Humble company and the Marland company and at lower gravity ratings than the resale gravity rating.

Dan Moody, R. J. Randolph, assistant attorney general, and Sanger and Saner, of Dallas, attorneys for the University of Texas, are signers of the petition.

States Loses, Charge

The petition alleges that a close inter-dependent relationship exists between the various companies named in the suit and was so effected by the said defendants with the intention and purpose of depriving and defrauding the plaintiff, the state of Texas, of its legal and rightful royalty due to it under and by virtue of the leases on said lands that the same has accomplished the said fraudulent design."

The action asks for a judgment of $500,000 against the defendants as a group, and a judgment against the Texon Oil and Land company, the Big Lake Oil company, group number one and group number two oil corporation for damages of $2,250,000. It further asks that the permit to do business within the state of the Reagan County Purchasing company, Inc., be forfeited.

Receivers Asked

The appointment of receivers to administer the affairs until a final judgment in court has been had, is asked.

An alleged contract between Texon group and the Marland Oil company, executed on October 28, 1924, provided for the organization by the latter of the Reagan County Oil company, with $1,000,000 of common stock, 51 per cent of which 25,000 shares of prefferd stock was delivered to the Marland Oil company for the sum of $500. The remaining 49 per cent of the stock was to be issued to the Texon and the Big Lake Oil companies, in proportion to the amount of oil sold to the Reagan County Oil company during the year ending December 1, 1926.

Agreement Cited

The Reagan County company agreed to purchase the oil produced by the two companies on an average posted price, "for the Mid-Continent field, and then later contracted to deliver the same oil to the Humble Oil and Refining company the same price plus 20 cents per barrel, on a true gravity basis, the petition sets out.

Oil purchased by the Reagan company from the time of its organization until February 28, 1926, amounted to 6,270,568.22 barrels, and 20,000 barrels have been delivered daily since that time, the petition says. On this oil, the Reagan company received $1,254,073.64 up to February 28. Since that time the company has received approximately $1,500,000, making its total receipts approximately $2,500,000. The petition alleges that the producing companies could sell the oil, if they desired, for the price to which the purchasing company was customarily selling to the Humble company, and the Marland company.

Big Figures Quoted

As a result of the operations the Texon company will receive under the stock division agreement $1,280,000, out of the $2,500,000 profit already realized the petition recites.

A loss of $75,000 to the state is alleged on the loss computations due to dirt and pipe line waste. The producing companies contracted to deliver the oil to

Author of "Love Bound" "Her Man"

Illustrated and Copyrighted by Johnson Features, Inc., 1819 Broadway, New York City

READ THIS FIRST:

MERRY LOCKE, pretty and gay as her nickname, is a born flirt. Her sole ambition is to have a good time and plenty of beaus. At 20 she fails in her business course because she won't study. Then, when her father suddenly dies, she takes a job in LILLIE DALE'S little beauty shop at a tiny salary.

At that time she is having the first real love affair of her life. The man is the case is ANTHONY GAINES, a young lawyer, who wants to marry her. Their engagement ends when he learns that Merry goes out with other men. A year later she hears that he is going to marry a girl in Montana, where he has gone to live. She tries not to care.

CASSIE, Merry's older sister, marries her rich employer, MORLEY KAUFMAN. Merry envies her her soft and easy life, and decides that she is going to marry for money, too, if she can.

Through Cassie, she meets BILL ERSKINE, a well-to-do bachelor, much older than herself. She becomes engaged to him, but he keeps putting off the wedding date.

JINNY, the youngest sister, marries DERRICK JONES, who lives next door, and goes to live with his parents. Moms rents two rooms in her house to help make both ends meet. Lillie Dale comes to live in one of them, and a MR. HEFFLINGER takes the other. After a year Moms and he get married, and Dome is no longer the pleasant place it once was to Merry.

During one of Bill's absences from town, she goes out with an old sweetheart of hers, LES PURCELL, not knowing that he is married. His wife threatens to divorce him and name Merry in her suit. Then, on the day when Merry is going to explain matters to her, she tries to kill herself. Finally she and Purcell decide to patch things up. But in the meantime Morley's sister, MURIEL, hears the story and tells it to Bill Erskine. He writes to tell Merry he thinks they're not suited to one another; but Moms announces the engagement, anyway. One night Cassie comes home. She has decided to leave Morley because of his love affair with a MRS. FIFI PELL. She tells Merry that Bill Erskine is in town, and the next morning Merry looks out of the window and see Bill drive up to the house with Morley Kaufman!

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LIV.

Merry opened the front door and walked to the end of the porch that overlooked the driveway.

"Those trunks are to go back to Mrs. Kaufman's house," she told the driver. "She doesn't want them

The man stared at her dully.

"What d'ye mean?" he asked. "Do you mean I've gotta drag them all back to Overlook Heights?"

Merry nodded. "That's it," she answered. "They'll pay you when you take them back."

He shook his head stupidly, and climbed back on his truck.

As Merry turned away, Morley Kaufman was coming up the steps. His head was turned, as he watched the departing trunks.

"Hello, Morley," Merry greeted him, but her eyes were on Bill Erskine's figure.

He had not stirred from his place in the great closed car. He was hunched down in his seat, gazing straight in front of him as he puffed at his everlasting cigar.

If he had seen her, or heard her voice, he certainly gave no sign of it.

With a little toss of her bright head Merry darted down the steps and ran out to the car.

She opened the door and jumped into it.

"What's the matter with you, Bill Erskine?" she asked him, flashing the too-bright, ready-made smile that was as meaningless as a chorus girl's smile. "Why be so upstage? Weren't you even coming in to say 'Hello' to me? Cassie tells me you've been in town since yesterday!"

"Been in town since Sunday," Bill informed her without the ghost of a smile. "Been here on business." He offered no excuse for not coming to see her.

"It must have been awfully important business," Merry remarked after a minute or two, "to keep you from sailing me up, at least."

Bill jerked his cigar from his mouth, and savagely tossed it out of the window of the car.

Then he turned a pair of unfriendly eyes on her. "How about tonight, then?" he asked roughly. "Want to go out to dinner?"

It was not a cordial invitation. Not even a polite one. But Merry accepted it eagerly.

"Six o'clock?" she asked. That was the time he usually called for her when he was going to take her out for the evening.

"Seven," he answered shortly and she said goodby to him and got out of the car.

The door between the hall and the sitting room was shut when

"I'll Sue Him" She Thought Wildly—"I'll Sue Hi For Breach of Promise."

Merry went back into the house. But from behind it came the babble of high, excited voices—Moms' and Cassie's shrill sophanos. Merry caught the words, "Fifi Pell," once or twice.

Then a pause. And then Morley's deep tones: "I won't discuss the thing with either of you. This is all I have to say—Cassie comes home now, with me, or she never comes. That's flat."

Then silence.

Merry tiptoed up to the landing of the stairs, and stood there where she could hear without being seen.

After two or three minutes Cassie's voice came again—not high and nasal, but strangled and thick as if she were crying.

And then, presently, the door flew open and out came all three. Moms and Cassie and Morley.

Moms' arm was around her daughter's shoulders, but Cassie broke away from her and came running up the stairs.

Merry flew up ahead of her.

Cassie's face was mottled and swollen with crying, and the handkerchief that she tossed down on the dresser was a wet little ball.

"What were you doing, listening in?" she asked Merry between the sobs that still shook her.

"Are you going back home, really?" Merry answered her with a question of her own. For Cassie had begun to fling her brushes and night clothes back into her bag.

She sniffed and wiped her eyes and the end of her pink nose with a fresh handkerchief.

"I guess so," she said wearily. "What else is there to do?" Her chin quivered. "I can't get along without Morley. I hate him, but I'm crazy about him too."

She shook out the crumpled folds of the orchid nightgown and folded it into her over-night bag.

"I n-never knew how much I did care for him until he began to chase after Fifi Pell," she added, sitting back on her heels and looking up at her sister. "He can't be so awfully wild about her, or he wouldn't be here to take me home with him, would he?"

Her hard green eyes were actually wistful as she asked Merry the question. And Merry said she was sure Morley did not care a snap of his finger about Mrs. Pell.

"Men can make love to a woman ——and it doesn't mean a thing in their lives," she added, out of her young wisdom.

How many men had made love to her, in their time, without meaning anything!

She thought them over as she kissed Cassie goodby—Les Purcell, Cabby Marsh and Derrick Jones, and a dozen others whose very names she had half forgotten.

From the window of the bedroom se could see Bill Erskine, still sitting in Morley's car. He had lit another cigar and was blowing the smoke out of the window beside him.

"And Bill Erskine," she said to herself, "I wonder what I mean to him. I wonder if I even meant anything to him but a good-looking girl for a petting party."

She turned away from the window and opened the door of her clother closet to choose a dress for tonight.

The very sight of her clothes, hanging there, cheered her up.

By the time she had decided on an almond-green crepe, and a black hat, she was feeling herself again. She began to hum as she laid them out, and sprayed some perfume on them from an atomizer.

Gloom never lingered long in Merry's heart. She was, by nature, a sun worshiper. Instinctively she looked for brightness behind every black cloud.

"Bill Erskine was with Morley," she told Moms and Lillie, when she went back to the dining room for another cup of coffee. "What do you think of that? I didn't even know he was in town. I'm going out to dinner with him tonight. So I guess everything's all right with him and me again."

Lillie and Moms looked at her without speaking. Mr. Hefflinger got up and walked pompously out of the room.

"Did you see this piece about Les Purcell?" Lillie asked, when the door had closed behind him.

She shoved the daily newspaper across the table to Merry. On the front page was a single-column story about Les and Nonie Purcell.

The headlines seemed to spring out of the print at her,—"WIFE HINTS AT OTHER WOMAN."

The opening sentence struck terror to Merry's very soul. "Mrs. Nonie Purcell, who tried to commit suicide by taking poison last November, yesterday filed suit for divorce——"

"Oh, my soul—" she groaned, and fell back in her chair. "Do you suppose I'm the 'other woman?' You don't think I could be—do you?" Her eyes went from her mother's face to Lillie's, and they were like the eyes of a frightened, haunted animal.

"I can soon find out. I can find out from Les's own lawyer," Lillie suggested hopefully. "And then you won't have to mix up in it at all."

"And you'd better stay home today and not talk to anybody who calls you up," she added, getting out of her chair. "I'll get a girl I know to take care of the shop, this morning."

The morning passed quietly.

At twelve o'clock, while Moms and Merry were having a bite of lunch, Lillie called up.

"There's nothing about you in Nonie Purcell's divorce papers this time, Merry," Lillie said. "It must have been just newspaper talk—that 'other woman' stuff. Nonie probably had been spilling her soul to some reporter or other."

"Thanks for the good news, Lillie," she said. "I've been just a half-inch from panic all morning."

"If I ever got myself into the newspapers Bill WOULD be through with me, and no joking," she told her mother when she went back to the table.

The front doorbell rang.

"I'll go. It's probably only an agent," Moms said, and got up. "Every day somebody comes, trying to sell pins or buttons, or magazines, or something."

But when she returned she had a letter in her hand. It was a special delivery letter and the envelope bore the name of the Towers hotel.

"Why, it's from Bill Erskine! He must have written it just this morning," Merry said faintly as she opened it with a fruit knife.

It was not a long letter. Moms could see that it was only two pages of the narrow motel paper.

When Merry had finished it she sat statue-still for a minute. Then she flung the letter down on the table and looked across at her mother.

One corner of her mouth went up in a half-hearted smile.

"He—He says he's married," she said monotonously. "He married some girl I never heard of down in Florida, a month ago."

Her head went down into her hands. Moms thought that she was crying, but her eyes were dry.

There was no grief in her heart. Only a kind of rage—a blind fury.

"I'll sue him!" she gasped. "I'll sue him for breach of promise. I will —just as sure as I'm alive and breathing!"

Muriel Kaufman visits the beauty shop and gives Merry news which angers her. What does she do to get even? Read it in tomorrow's chapter of "The Petter."

Concrete streets are safe to drive on, wet or dry

What Concrete Streets Have Proved to San Benito

San Benito, Texas, has solved its street paving problems.

In the Spring of 1922, the city laid a short block of concrete—only 1,380 square yards—which caused the taxpayers quickly to realize the economy of this type of pavement. In October of the same year 38,000 additional square yards was contracted for on the city's main thoroughfares. Since then 85,000 square yards have been laid in the business and residential sections.

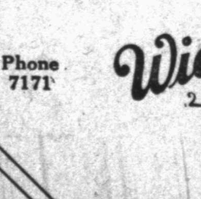

Experience has proved to San Benito that her concrete pavements cost little to maintain. Built according to present-day high standards, concrete streets meet permanently all the requirements of modern traffic.

What San Benito has learned about the value of concrete pavement may help your town.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

PLAINS' WELL MAY TOP ALL

No. 1 Turbeville Comes In Flowing 65 Barrels Per Hour

Flowing and swabbing at the rate of 65 to 70 barrels per hour, the No. 1 Turbeville well of the Plains Production company is showing up for the best well of the year in Archer county.

This well which is located in the northwest corner of the north 40 acres of the south 80 acres of the west 113 acres of block 171, Robert Carson survey, topped the sand several days ago at 1589 feet where casing was set and cemented. When the plug was knocked out the bit went seven feet deeper when the oil started to flow and the output was augmented by placing it on the swab. It at first made about 50 barrels per hour but increased. This new producer will probably eclipse the initial production of the Texas company No. 5 Turbeville which was completed in that field several weeks ago.

The Texas company No. 9 Turbeville is swabbing better than 800 barrels per day from 30 feet of the sand topped at 1491 feet.

Panhandle Output Continues To Soar

The production in the Panhadle of Texas continues to soar upward, the daily average for the fiscal week just ended, totalling 121,228 barrels from 442 wells. This as compared with the previous week is an increase of 2,844 barrels, with 27 new wells producing.

Gray county is getting a new well drilled by Young and others in their No. Holmes, in the southeast corner of the north east of section 106, block 3, I. and G. N. survey, which found the sand at 3160 feet, and at six feet in, failed 800 feet with oil. The 6 5-8 casing is being run preparatory to drilling in.

Wilcox Co. Tests Are Nearing The Pay

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 21.—The H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas company has several wells nearing the producing formations on its leases near the town of Pampa, in Gray county, of the Texas Panhandle field.

No. 10 Wilcox-Worley, in the northeast corner of the northwest of section 62, block 3, I. & G. N. survey, has landed the six inch casing at 2975 feet, and now has about 50,000,000 feet of gas and is spraying oil. No. 11, in the northwest corner of section 62, is showing oil at 2186 feet; No. 12, in the southwest corner of the northwest, is on top of a sand at 2967 feet, and making considerable gas and spraying 100 barrels a day; No. 14, in the southwest corner, had 5,000,000 feet of gas at 2700 feet, and this increased to 10,000,000 feet at 2785 feet, and oil is expected around 2885 feet; No. 8, in the northeast corner of the southeast, is drilling at 2960 feet; No. 9, in the northwest corner of the northeast, is drilling at 27,50 feet, and No. 13, in the northwest corner of the southwest is drilling at 2,400 feet.

Wilcox production on the Wilcox-Worley farm is holding up wonderfully, being considerable over 3300 barrels a day.

Magnolia's Slash Is Not Matched

Word from Amarillo says that no purchaser of Texas Panhandle crude has met the reduction of the Magnolia Petroleum company of late last week.

In the Crane-Upton area of west Texas, the Humble Pipe Line company has served notice on producers on the basis of the new schedule in the territory, it will pay producers on the basis of the new schedule posted by the Kay County Gas company, the Marland purchasing subsidiary, on September 15.

SHALLOW WELL IN WHARTON

Keller No. 2 On Boling Dome Good For 900 Barrels at 435 Feet

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 21. (AP) Word received here Monday said that James Weed completed his Keller No. 2 well on top of Boling Dome in Wharton county Saturday for 900 barrels from a total depth of 435 feet.

This well, no doubt, establishes a record production of this amount from this shallow depth. The gravity of the oil is approximately 18 degrees, the regular heavy grade "A" costal crude characteristic of the shallow production obtained by Weed in several other wells.

CROWD SEES SPUDDING

BRYAN, Texas, Sept. 21. (AP) The beginning of the second oil test in the Brazos county during this week was witnessed Friday afternoon when one of the Harris-Edge wells was spudded in near Stone City in the Brazos bottom.

Forty feet of hole was made before the drill was stopped. This test is ten miles west of Bryan on a 10,000-acre lease and is one of several that are to be drilled. J. W. Roberts of Uvalde is in charge of drilling operations.

You don't guess when you shop

Shopping helps you obtain the best value and greatest satisfaction possible for your money. For instance in buying towels you don't guess when you first compare one towel with another. You find comparison helpful in making a decision.

So with coffees. By comparing their flavors you can easily choose the one coffee you like best.

We could tell you of the refreshing goodness of Folger's Coffee. Its rich, pleasing flavor. Its delicate, inviting aroma. How you would enjoy each hot, cheering cup of this fine coffee.

Instead, we ask you to compare Folger's Coffee with the brand you are now using by making the Folger Coffee Test. It is the logical, easy way to shop for coffee.

The Folger Coffee Test: Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. You will decidedly favor one brand or the other. The Best Coffee Wins. That's fair, isn't it?

FOLGER'S Coffee Established 1850

See that the name Folger's is on the can. Make it your buying guide for coffee. It is the mark of distinction.

MANY STORMS BORN IN GULF

10 Hurricanes a Year Is Average Blow From Carribean Sea

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. (AP) About ten hurricanes are born every year between July and October somewhere east of the Carribean sea, the national geographic society has found, in going through its records of tropical storms.

The task of spotting these disturbances and issuing warnings for protection of shipping and life and property ashore is the burden upon the shoulders of the weather experts here.

Forecaster Mitchell, who has had years of experience in charting the routes and locations of hurricanes, found himself confronted last week with three tropical storms.

Two of them apparently dissipated themselves over the ocean, but the third, that which struck the Florida coast, was recognized by him almost from the first as holding great peril.

To make his warnings of the approaching hurricane more solemn, Mr. Mitchell began last week to add to the laconic weather bulletins recording barometeric pressure the unusual caution that the disturbance, then in Bahama waters, was of the severest character.

According to the geographic society the West Indian hurricanes usually swept to the westward then northward, and finally back northeastward, their paths forming parabolic curves.

The primary factor in the births and careers of these storms is believed by the society to be an area of high atmospheric pressure that exists practically permanently over the middle Atlantic.

FIREMAN INJURED.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 21.(AP)—Damage of $100,000 was caused and one fireman was possibly fatally injured when fire swept the $200,000 plant of the San Antonio oil works today. The flames were brought under control after an hour and a half with the aid of every available fireman and all of the city's fire fighting apparatus.

IOWA WANTS CONVENTION

IOWA democrats are booming Des Moines as a convention city for the democrats in 1928. Now just why should the democrats go to Iowa? Iowa is a radical republican state. It never cast its electoral votes for the democrats in its history. It will vote Coolidge and his running mate in 1928. There are no Iowa congressmen. There is an Iowa senator, Daniel Steck, who was elected by the republicans and who is more of a republican than he is a democrat.

Texas is the banner democratic state. Texas elects two senators and a solid delegation of congressmen. Texas gave John W. Davis three or four hundred thousand majority when thousands of Iowa democrats knifed him. If the democratic convention is to be held in the west, then Texas should be given the honor.

Texas will give three or four hundred thousand majority for the standard bearers of the democratic party in 1928 and Texas will contribute to the campaign as generously as the democrats of any American state. In November all the states will vote on members of congress and many of the states will vote for United States senators. It will be well to await the results of these elections before lining up for a convention site in 1928.

States which are overwhelmingly republican should be modest about their claims. San Francisco would like a convention again. Los Angeles would like it. Los Angeles and San Francisco will elect republican members to congress. These two cities, if they run true to form will re-elect Samuel Shortridge, republican, to the United States senate. California will elect republicans to all state offices.

As for Iowa,, Smith Wildman Brookhart, who is back in the republican fold, is certain to be elected senator. All the congressional districts are certain to elect republican congressmen. This, regardless of the threats of the republican corn growers to teach President Coolidge and the eastern leaders of the republican party a valuable lesson.

As for the Dakotas and Minnesota and Wisconsin and Kansas, throw in, regardless of all the demands for farm relief, the insurgents continue to march under the republican flag and vote the republican ticket in presidential years. For 32 years William Jennings Bryan plotted and planned and campaigned to unite the republicans of the west and the democrats of the south.

He lost in every campaign he ever made. He died a disappointed man, discredited and broken hearted. He was of and for the west and he fought the battles of the republican farmers of the west or imagined that he was fighting their battles for almost a third of a century.

And what did the west do in every campaign that he ever made for the presidency? Well the west overwhelmed Bryan and rejected his economic policies.

CONVERSION OF CLANCY

THIS is a news editorial or skit on the Conversion of Clancy. Four years ago he was a democrat and a congressman from Detroit. Two years ago he ran for re-election and was defeated by a republican. This did not appeal to Clancy. He decided to tackle the job again.

How did he do it? Well, early this year he announced that like Saul or Tarsus, he saw a great light. He deserted Jefferson and became a Abraham Lincoln republican. He contended with the same republican for a nomination, who had defeated him two years ago. After the votes had been counted, Clancy was declared a winner. A new convert to the republican cause had put a life-long republican out of the run.

This is what happened to Clancy. He will be a republican member of the new congress. Party lines are going to smash in many American states. They may go to smash in Texas some day.

Cullen F. Thomas was born a democrat, rocked in a democratic cradle and has voted the democratic ticket more than 30 years.

He was defeated for a senatorial nomination in 1922. In 1926 he canvassed the state against the house of Ferguson, and in one of his speeches this is what he said:

"The truth is that the brass color age in politics is passing. In the days to come, conscience and country shall be above iron clad party regularity. What Texas needs, what the nation needs, is more courage and independence in politics. Sometimes as men's convictions change, they change their party."

Clancy of Michigan, like Cullen F. Thomas, became convinced that the brass collar age in politics is passing. He jumped from the donkey to the elephant.

Cullin F. was one of the 40 immortals that nominated Woodrow Wilson at Baltimore. In defense of bolting, he said in his Corsicana speech, "Did not Woodrow Wilson bolt Bryan and want to knock him into a cocked hat?"

This immortal of the 40 may be a candidate for office "some day away down in Texas."

If so, will the brass collar age be passing?

WHO GOT THE MONEY

RICHARD MERTON, German metal magnate, testified that he paid John T. King large sums of money, and that Jesse Smith got the money when the checks were cashed. All this in the Harry M. Daugherty trial staged in the city of New York in a federal setting.

Jesse Smith committed suicide; John T. King died five days after he had been indicted by a federal grand jury. Now who got the money? Magnate Merton testified he never handed Daugerty a dollar and he had no communication with Daugerty.

This former attorney general of the United States is a lucky man. His close friend, Jesse Smith, dreaded the day of reckoning and shot himself into another world. His other close friend, John T. King, high in the councils of the republican party and its boss in the state of Connecticut, could not face the facts, could not face his friends and preferred death to a trial in open court.

This is a rummy old world. Death was kind to Warren G. Harding when he was called away. He had friends who betrayed his confidence and humiliated his pride. They were the gray wolves of politics and they are found in all political parties and administrations.

ALPHONSO AND HIS PEOPLE

SPAIN is said to be ripe for revolution. Alphonso is in danger of losing his crown. A dictator of noble origin that is of socalled noble birth, has been in the saddle in Spain for some time. Barcelonia is the great industrial province of Spain and the Barcelonians for years and years have been opposed to a monarchial form of government.

There are other provinces where the people have grown weary of kingly rule and the price they are compelled to pay. There was a time when Spain was the mightiest of nations. There was a time when the colonies of Spain, the crown colonies, paid rich tribute to Spanish royalty and the overlands of Spain. Came the Spanish-American war and the pride of Spain was humbled and the colonies of Spain disappeared.

Cuba became a republic. Porto Rico became a territory of the United States. In the far Pacific the flag of Spain disappeared from the Philippine Islands and the islands were lost forever to the Hidalgos and their henchmen. Long ago Spain ceased to be even a third great power. Now the people who believe in self-government and not the rule of the monarch and nobility, may tear down the flag of Alphonso and throw to the breezes the free flag of a republic.

Italy has a king, but Mussolini is the master. Belgium has a king, but the people rule in Belgium. England has a king, but the commoners are in the saddle. Wilhelm of the house of Hohenzollern, pulled down monarchs and monarchial form of government when he brought about the distruction of his own royal house and the royal house of Hapsburg and then fled to Holland to spend his days a lonely exile under an alien flag.

A new civilization was swept through out Europe and throughout Asia when the black eagles of Germany lost the gigantic battles staged for the domination of the world.

SMITH FOR FOURTH TIME

GOVERNOR ALFRED E. SMITH of New York has been drafted by the democrats of that state for a fourth term for governor. His running mate for the senate will be Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner, a product of New York City and said to be one of the ablest lawyers and most popular jurists of the empire state of the east.

Smith named his own ticket.

He would not agree to run until representative men of the empire state were agreed upon as his running mates.

Justice Wagner hopes to defeat James W. Wadsworth, republican. Wadsworth is a wet and the dry republicans of the rural districts of New York threaten to bolt his nomination.

If the democrats sweep New York this year there is going to be an interesting presidential election in 1928.

Mickey (Himself) McGuire

The Infernal Machine

By F. Britten Austin.

Such, he knew it, was their position now, rolling sluggishly fathoms down—how many, he wondered?—below the surface of the sea, sinking gently, ever sinking, down, down, down, down in the darkness towards the bottom. That darkness! The awfulness of it came upon him suddenly in a renewed access of horror. He put his hand out in it, invisibly. That darkness, utterly black, blacker than the blackest night, which enveloped him and seemed to choke him as he gasped in his terror—that darkness would never be lifted again. It was black, stifling darkness for him, for all that was left of his life—darkness, complete, unbreakable, inexorable, until—until death—death in that blackness! He shrieked again and again, purposelessly, for he knew there was no hope of rescue, shrieked stridently in a mere blind escape of energy from overcharged nerves.

For an indefinite period of time, hideously prolonged, he sat huddled and gasping, crouching against that wet wall of his lightless cell. How long was it since it had happened, since the engines had fallen silent, since their relapse into darkness? It seemed an eternity, was certainly many, many hours. Long, long ago they must have disappeared below the surface of the sea. He imagined bulkhead after bulkhead bursting under a torrent of unillumined water as they sank deeper and yet deeper, narrowing and ever narrowing the margin of his life. Presently the last bulkhead would burst, and then . . . Or perhaps it would not burst. Perhaps it would hold and then, in a few days, as he used up the limited supply of air, he would suffocate. In a few days! He had been here, in this darkness, days already-days and days!

Yes, days and days he had been here and he was suffocating—he was suffocating now! He felt his heart, big and thumping heavily, in his breast, swelling as though it would choke him. He tried to rise to his feet upon that unstable, sloping floor, reached for an unfound support in the blackness, and sank down again, gasping.

. . . Then, in that pitch blackness, the ship gave a heavy . . . lurch, lifted once more as with difficulty, subsided in a long roll that threw him against the wall. The neath him. He clawed himself partially upright and shrieked, with his last breath, curses—curses—curses upon Rosa Bauermann, upon the 'comrades,' upon that diabolical little German-Jew. Yes, she was going now—going finally. He shrieked once more in that awful, oppressive blackness, shrieked, his ears singing that infernal machine in his head-behind the eyes tha could not see—whirring madly to a climax, shrieked with his heart seeming to burst his breast, shrieked—there was a mighty crash somewhere. The last bulkhead! He esse.ed one more shriek that was soundless, would not come beyond a gurgle, put his hands blindly to his face, felt them, with a feeble wonderment, wet with a warm fluid from his mouth, reeled dizzily upon that sloping floor. Ah! at last, thank Gawd! thank Gawd!—there were lights, lights!—flashes and stars of dancing light! He pitched, headforemost, into a gulf of blackness.

. . . . As dawn broke, the S. S. Gargantuan, crippled by a couple of . . . . smashed propeller-shafts, and afflicted with a heavy list to port that caused her captain to analyse expletively the ineptitude of an amateur stevedore gang at stowing cargo, was picked up by a large freighter with a nose for salvage. Her passengers, who had whiled away the anxious hours by singing hymns or playing poker, according to their various tastes, had all of them long ago forgotten the temporary inconvenience caused them by a ten-minutes break-down of the electric-lighting dynamos at the critical moment.

A few hours later, the ship's doctor wrote out, for the behoof of two exasperated detectives, a technically exact certificate of the death of Jake Bravinsky from natural causes. "Burst blood-vessel," he interpreted laconically, as they scratched their heads over his book diagnosis.

About the same time, the American manager of the shipping company was dictating a letter to the harbour-authorities wherein he expressed himself a slightly dissatisfied with tehir attitude in regard to freight-car No. 34518, laden with bunker-coal for the S. S. Gargantuan, and hurled into the dock by a mob of infuriated strikers the night before the ship called.

If the spirits of the departed can re-visit this earthly sphere, it is pleasant to think that possibly around that irate manager hovered the equally irate but ipotent shadow of Jake Bravinsky frightened out of existence under false pretences.

DOROTHY DIX

Questions from the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

No Woman Is Called Upon to Make A Life-Saving Station of Herself For Any Man—Her Duty Is To Make the Most of Her Own Life, Not Waste It Being the Understudy of a Reformatory.

A pretty girl, very young, and knowing little of the world, sat at the corner of my desk the other day and told me her story.

It manily concerned a young man. A young man who had been her friend since childhood, who belonged to a fine family and had been given every advantage of education. Who had, indeed, distinguished himself at college, but who was very wild and dissipated. Always he had had trouble with his eyes, and the life he is leading is aggravating his affliction. The occulist has told him that unless he stops drinking that within a year he will be totally blind.

"And, Miss Dix," the girl said with a tremor in her voice, "he says that the only thing that can stop him is me. That he will never touch another drop of liquor if I will marry him. I don't love him except in a sisterly way. But blindness! Think of the horror of being blind Isn't it my duty to save him if I can?"

"Not at all, my dear," I replied, "no woman is called upon to make a life-saving station of herself for any man. Your duty is to make the most of your own life, not to waste it in being the understudy of a reformatory.

"Believe me when I tell you it is a useless thing to marry a man to save him, and a tragic folly to marry one out of pity. oBth end disastrously.

"In the first place, no woman can save a man. All reformation has to come from within, and if manhood enough to go straight of his own accord and for the sake of his own self-respect, he will not do it for any woman. Especially he will not do it for his wife.

"Of course, there is an occasional man who does stop drinking and have braced up and turned from the error of his ways whether he had married or not.

"There are men who, in the folly of their youth, sow one wild oat crop and then stop, and go about the serious business of life. There are other men who are perpetual wild oats farmers, and all that their wives do is to help them reap the harvest. They cannot prevent its being sowed.

"All of this talk about the sacred influence of a wife is hokum. It flatters women's vanity for them to be told they hold a man's fate in their hands and can do with him as they will. And it is a great alibi for men that they have worked ever since Adam laid the blame for his evil doing on Eve's influence, but in reality there is nothing to it.

"The most that a woman can do for a man is to be an accelerator. She can speed him up on the way he is going and make him travel faster. She can make a bad man worse or a good man better, but she can't change a weak man into a strong man, or make a lazy man industrious, or turn a self-indulgent man into a self-controlled one.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

WHEN YOU CAN'T SLEEP

Are you the kind that cannot sleep
A lot of times? Well, so am I;
And I suppose that people keep
On telling you the reason why.
The preacher sternly will suggest
Your conscience will not let you rest.
While other persons are inclined
To say it's all a state of mind.

If you and I would just compose
Our minds the way they tell us to,
We'd slumber just as well as those
Phlegmatic folk who always do—
Or so they say. Or if, perhaps,
We lived a life like other chaps
Who ever sin, we'd gently snore
Eight hours, or nine or ten or more.

It all sounds very well, of course
And yet its truth I greatly doubt.
They have the cart before the horse,
It's just the other way about.
We do not lie awake because
We're busy thinking over laws
Or other things that make us weep—
We think because we cannot sleep.

I know the need of righteousness,
The quiet slumber that it brings,
But good digestion counts, I guess,
For righteousness means many things,
If you will only slowly eat,
And less of pastry and of meat,
Refreshing sleep you'll likely find
A state of stomach, not of mind.

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. What percentage of strawberries is water?
2. What percentage of milk is water?
3. What percentage of potatoes is water?
4. What animals can live without water?
5. What is it about water that makes it so important to life?
6. What is absolute humidity?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

PROBLEM FOR DRY AGENTS

When you wipe a glass with a towel you may think you have dried it; you have probably got rid of 99.9 per cent of the water, but that one tenth of one per cent, a microscopic film, will remain, and even heating the glass to boiling point will not drive it off. In delicate chemical experiments it is sometimes necessary to have an absolutely dry vessel, and strange to say the only way it can be made dry is by washing it in what is generally considered the "wettest" of all substances, alcohol. Alcohol has such a chemical affinity for water that it will absorb that last one tenth of one per cent.

Now what do you know about that

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. Only about one tenth of the energy of coal is captured by the machines that burn it.
2. The coal supply is not giving out, since it is edequate to our present needs, and though at the present rate we may soon exhaust the known coal supply, there may be undiscovered reserves.
3. The original source of all energy is the sun.
4. Beside coal, petroleum is an important source of energy.
5. The energy of ocean waves is not capable of use, but the regular tidal motion is used to turn water wheels and would be more used if coal and oil were not still abundant.
6. The energy of a hammer blow on steel is transformed to heat and sometimes also to light, if a spark flies off.

California Couple Slain From Ambush

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.(AP)—Homer E. Ranes, an official of the chamber of commerce of Belvedere Gardens, a suburb, and his wife were shot and killed at their home there last night, the assailant firing two shots through the screen of the front door, according to a neighbor, and escaping in the darkness.

The position of the bodies indicated the couple had gone to the door together, evidently in answer to the bell. Police were unable to learn a moti

PONZI APPEALS.

AUSTIN, Sept. 21 (AP)—Charles Ponzi, Boston financial wizard, on Tuesdy filed an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the court of criminal appeals, as an appeal from the action of the Harris county district court, resisting return to Massachusetts where he is wanted to serve a sentence of from seven to nine years on conviction of "being a common and notorious thief."

CALM ON TEXAS COAST.

GALVESTON, Sept. 21. (AP)—Not the slightest indication of unsettled weather of any sort at Galveston could be found in the records of the United States weather bureau here today, and reports of a "rapidly falling barometer" were declared to be wholly without foundation.

The Fun Shop

By Maxon Foxhall Judell

Let's Stick To Sports All Year Round!

Let's keep up summer's program, Folks,
Let's hike on fun-trails, fish for jokes,
Go bathing at the glee-side, too,
And stay good sports the whole year through!

TOO Much!

Judge: "So this young man annoyed you and you want him arrested? All he did was ask you if you wanted a ride in his car. I wouldn't call that an insult."

Margie: "You would if you had seen the car."

MY FAVORITE SEASON
A Personal Preference Divulged To Sunny.
By Hers-To-Command.

Some folks I know like Winter's snow
And sunshine on the icy trees.
I hate such scenes! To me it means
Hard colds, with racking cough and sneeze.
And there are those, in verse and prose,
Who sing the praise of dear old Spring;
But Springtime days and Springtime haze
To me no special pleasure bring.

You cannot beat the Summer heat
In the opinion of most folks;
In cars they ride both far and wide
To loll beneath the pines and oaks;
Or on the beach, with squeal and screech,
They play in very skimpy suits;
And that is fine, I do opine,
Especially as some are beauts!

But after all give me the Fall
When Nature seems to paint the hills
In colors rare beyond compare;
It is one of the grandest thrills!
And, Sunny dear, Fall of the year
Keeps in my mem'ry ever new
That other fall, the best of all,
The time, dear, that I fell for you!

THE BROKER AT HOME.
(Observed By Lorraine Verree)

His Wife—Breakfast's ready. By the way, where were you last night?

Broker—Let me consult the ticker. Ah! I was at the office putting over a big deal.

His Wife—When you came in last night the ticker said two o'clock! What is big deal? Three cards or four? You sit down and eat your breakfast, wretch!

Broker—Bull.

His Wife—What did you say?

Broker—I was just talking about the bulls and the bears—brokerage terms, you know, dear. Ah, I see that the waffles are 128 1-2—when they reach 130 sell out to me. And if the quotations on the sirup are favorabe, pass me some. There is also a strong demand for the butter, but the coffee is weak.

His Wife—John, I don't take any stock in that story of yours!

Broker—Then won't you take shares? I can give you fifteen shares of the common at 128 1-2 or ten of the preferred at 178! Hey! Leave that rolling pin alone, dear, I—Help! Ow! You've wiped out my margin, and the bottom's falling out of the market! I'm a ruined man! I'll sell! I'll sell! I was a fool for taking stock in this matrimony concern, anyway!

The Reason.

Mrs. Hale: "And why not?"

Mrs. Hickson: "She hates sea stuff."

I'M THE GINK

I'm the gink who knows the train schedules. I refer to the trains by number and make a study of time-tables. I know when the "flyer" gets in and when it departs. I know all the trains by name, too. I entertain you by telling you the respective merits of the trains. "It isn't my fault that you missed the train. I told you the exact time. Oh, the Flyer? I thought you said the Speeder. Oh, well, call the ticket office yourself." Of course people aren't interested, but I just must tell you about the trains.

BY WAY OF PROPER PREPARATION

There is a judge in a Massachusetts town who, behind a benignant exterior hides an occasional surprise for persistent evildoers. Once there came up before him two youths for sentence who had been guilty of a long sequence of misdeeds. Both were under age, each having just passed the 19th birthday. Having been caught with the goods on them they pleaded guilty in the hope of getting off with a light punishment.

The judge adjusted his glasses and through them gleamed softly at the young lawbreakers.

"Now then, boys," he said softly, "I'm going to send you two to the state reformatory until you come of age"—his voice suddenly changed—"and while you're there you can both be studying for the state penitentiary."

Boston Jumps On All Offerings of Pete Donohue Vigorously

BOSTON, Sept. 21.(AP)—Boston once more proved bad medicine for Cincinnati today, winning the last game of the series 4 to 0, and making it three straight against the second place Reds. Pete Donohue met the same fate that Eppa Rixey and Luque, other Cincinnati pitching stars, encountered in previous games. He was knocked out of the box in the 5th inning. Genewich kept the eight Cincinnati hits scattered and received brilliant support. Three double plays helped him considerably. In the third with two out singles by Genewich, Smith and Bancroft brought in the first Boston run. In the 5th the Braves made ten run. In the 5th the Braves made three runs on singles by Burrus, Smith and Bancroft, J. Taylors double and sacrifice flies by Genewich and Welsh. In the ninth Pipp led off for Cincinnati with a triple, but was unable to score.

SELL-OUT-TO FIGHT.

New Attendance Record Foreseen When Dempsey Battles.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.(AP) If the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight battle Thursday is a "sell out" and it was almost that Tuesday——the paid admissions will exceed by approximately $46,000 the highest previous attendance record for boxing.

Tex Rickard figures that he will have 127,000 paying customers in the Sesqui-centennial stadium. The greatest number of paid admissions at any previous battle, he says, was 81,000 for the Firpo-Willard bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, in 1923.

It has been estimated that 90,000 or more saw Dempsey defend his title against Carpentier in 1921 at Boyle's Thirty Acres, but Rickard is authority for the statement that only 72,000 actually paid to see "the battle of the century."

Allowing for 5,000 employes, policemen, firemen, newspapermen and others who will not pay to go through the turnstiles, Rickard figures that 132,000 will see the fight.

Fluke Run Wins Gridiron Contest

Texas Tech Eleven Defeats McMurray College By Touchdown

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 21. (AP) Scooping up the ball on his own 42-yard line in the last quarter, Archibald, halfback, raced 58 yards for a touch down and a 7 to 0 victory for Texas Tech over McMurray College in the opening game of the college football season at the West Texas fair here today.

Completely outplayed, Tech succeeded in taking advantage of the one big break of the game to win. McMurray punted and one of the players grounded the ball. He released hold of it, however, before the referee's whistle sounded Archibald saw his opportunity gathered in the ball and made his uninterrupted dash for a touchdown.

McMurray scored twelve first downs to Tech's five. A brilliant passing attack was conducted by McMurray. Ten passes out of twelve attempted by McMurray in the first half were completed.

Rickard Sells Right to Broadcast Returns of Bout.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.(AP)—The Dempsey-Tunney fight is to be broadcast directly from the ringside by WEAF, WJZ and some 30 allied stations.

It is announced that the broadcasting rights have been sold by Tex Rickard to the Royal Typewriter company. The price is not disclosed. Some reports place it at $35,000.

The contract of sale has no inhibitions against radiocasting of press wire accounts of the fight, it is stated.

Odds Heavy For Champion To Win

Wall Street Gets Large Wager On Nose Of Dempsey

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.(AP)—Odds on Jack Dempsey to successfully defend his heavyweight title in his match with Gene Tunney at Philadelphia Thursday night jumped to three to one in Wall street today when a group of enthusiastics from Atlantic City placed a wager of $15,000 to $5,000.

With the concession that the St. Louis Cardinals have clinched the pennant Wall street wagering firms announced odds at six to five that the New York Yankees will win the world series. A bet of $3,000 against $1,000 was made that the Cardinals do not capture the first two games.

PINCHOT REFUSES TO STOP FIGHT

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 21. (AP)—Governor Pinchot will not interfere with the Dempsey-Tunney fight. Instead he will attend it himself and he hopes Gene Tunney will win.

Cards Drop Hard One To Brooklyn

National League Leaders Bow Before Arm of Jass Petty

BROOKLYN, Sept. 21.(AP)—Jess Petty held the league leading Cardinals to six hits today while the Robins staged a four-run rally in the eighth to beat their old time foe, Bill Sherdel, and won the opener of a two-game series by 4 to 3. As the Reds bowed to the Braves today St. Louis retained its two-game margin on first place. The Robins wasted their earlier opportunities but went to work in earnest in the 8th. Singles by Deberry and Cox, coupled with Sherdel's wild throw on Petty's grounder, filled the bases with one out. Grover Alexander was called to the rescue by Carey's single, a pass to Herman and Butler's single drove in all the Brooklyn runs. Bottomley's triple followed by Lester Bell's sacrifice fly gave St. Louis a run in the second inning. In the 9th Douthit led off with a single and Holm, pinch hitting for Southworth, flied out to Cox. Hornsby came through with a double to center scoring Douthit. Carey fumbled the ball and Hornsby took third. Bottomley lined to Herman who threw over Marriotte's head in attempting to catch Hornsby off third and Hornsby registered at the plate. Lester Bell popped out to end the contest. Score:

Ruth and Lazerri Get Homers to Boost Season Totals

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.(AP)—New York retained its three-game margin over the Cleveland Indians today by swamping the White Sox, 14 to 6, while Cleveland defeated Boston, 7 to 4. The league leaders went on a batting rampage against three Chicago pitchers. Babe Ruth knocked out his forty-fourth homer with a man on base and Lazerri collected his eighteenth circuit blow with a mate on the sacks. Lazzeri featured the attack. Waite Hoyt held Chicago to two hits, one of which came in the 7th when Sheely singled and the other in the 9th when Collins hit safely. Aside from the first inning when a base on balls and an error put two men on base, Hoyt pitched a perfect game.

Three Buffaloes Go To Cardinals

Dick Whitworth, Once An Austin Senator, Gets Chance

HOUSTON, Sept. 21. (AP) — Three Buffalo stars of the 1926 season have been sold to the St. Louis Cardinals, Fred Ankenman, Houston baseball club president, announced Tuesday.

The men sold were Outfielder Homer Peel, Pitcher Carlisle Littlejohn and Pitcher Dick Whitworth.

Both Peel and Littlejohn have been on a Cardinal roster in times past. Homer was first discovered by Charlie Barrett, Cardinal scout, while the youth was a player with the famed Cameron Comets. He was turned over to the Buffs in one of the numerous deals between the two clubs, and for two seasons he served an apprenticeship in the class D East Texas league.

Littlejohn is a product of Texas college baseball, having attracted attention of Cardinal scouts as a pitcher with Austin college at Sherman. This year he was known as the "hard luck hurler" of the staff. He won 12 and lost 16 games, but almost invariably the Buffs hit poorly when Carlisle was curving.

Whitworth is the veteran whose work in the first half of the Texas Association race gave the Austin Senators the honors. After that campaign was over, Whitworth came to Houston, pitching two fine games, one of which he won and the other he lost.

In return for these three players, the Buffs get an unnamed amount of money and five players. President Ankenman refused to give the identity of the men or the amount of money involved.

Electra Star Will Lead Steer Linemen

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.(AP)—Murray Moore of Electra, star guard and tackle Monday was named line captain of the 1926 Texas Longhorns. He is playing his third year and is expected to bid strongly for an all-conference berth.

Moore likely will be used at tackle, where his great strength and fight should serve the Steers well.

RAIN DELUGES DIAMOND FOR DIXIE SERIES

Virtual Sell-Out Of Seats For Baseball Classic Reported

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21. (AP) With a virtual complete sell out of the New Orleans baseball park for the coming Dixie series between New Orleans and Dallas tomorrow, officials of the two teams tonight were faced with a possibility of fighting out the first game in a deluged park.

The rains accompanying the tropical storm which whipped across the gulf coast yesterday and last night descended upon New Orleans today and had not ceased tonight.

A virtual complete sale of every available reserved seat in the park was reported today. For the past several days the New Orleans management had been endeavoring to rush to completion a new section of the grand stand and last minute efforts brought members of the Pelican team into activity swinging hammers instead of bats for their daily workout.

The Dallas Steers arrived in New Orleans today, were officially welcomed and escorted to their hotel by a parade.

The official list of New Orleans players eligible to participate in the series was announced today. They were:

Pitchers—Cvengros, Roy, Martina, Moss, Hilton and Scott.

Catchers—Dowie and Lingle.

Infielders—Hendrick, Ewoldt, Gardner and Deal.

Outfielders—Tucker, Vick and Ostergaard.

Utility—Whaley.

Barrage of Legal Fire Aimed At Dempsey For Control of His Income

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21. (AP)—The heaviest legal barrage to which the Dempsey-Tunney battle has yet been subjected was laid down today.

Firing from legal bulwarks resulted in no less than six court "shots" being directed at Dempsey as well as Promoter Tex Rickard and Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager by the two outstanding foes of the champion—Jack Kearns, the champion's former manager and B. C. Clements, Chicago promoter, who is fighting to sustain the validity of a contract to match Dempsey and Harry Wills.

Application for an injunction to stop the fight, made by Clements, was the outstanding development in the court maneuvers and loomed as the only possible obstacle to the bout being held as scheduled on Thursday night in the giant sesqui-centennial stadium. This will not be decided, however, until tomorrow at a hearing on common pleas court at 1:30 p. m., Clements based his application on grounds which resulted in an Indiana court granting an injunction which was not recognized here. The Chicago promoter claims that Dempsey in signing with Rickard to meet Tunney violated a prior agreement to meet Wills in Chicago but the champion's answer has been that Clements did not live up to his own contract terms.

Clements simultaneously filed four actions claiming damages individually and collectively against Dempsey, Rickard and Gibson while Kearns in addition to moves already made in New York and Atlantic City, obtained a writ of attachment here against Dempsey's share of his purse.

Rickard was named as garnishee in the writ and bail was fixed at $600,000 representing twice the amount of Kearns' claim. This was covered by surety bond arranged by Rickard.

Dempsey's share of the purse, it was revealed by Frank Wiener, chairman of the Pennsylvania boxing commission is a flat guarantee of $450,000 while Tunney's share is fixed at $200,000. No percentages are involved Weiner said.

Kearns' writ which is expected to mean tying up of the gate receipts was obtained after withdrawal of an attempt to stop Rickard from paying either of the fighters before the bout in violation of the Pennsylvania boxing law. Rickard himself took the stand to deny he had paid any money either to Dempsey or Tunney out of the receipts for the fight although the promoter admitted he had made "personal loans" to both.

Rickard, after spending most of the morning in court, expressed confidence that none of the pending legal moves would block the fight and devoted the rest of the day to inspecting the construction work at the stadium.

Texas Longhorns Lose Some Sleep

Coach Stewart Gets His Crew Out for Grid Practice Early

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.(AP) — The small squad of Longhorns were routed from their beds early this morning to go through their regular morning workout on the Texas Memorial stadium. The shift up of the time for work-out was done to accommodate the players that were due to register in the university during the morning.

Coach Stewart devoted the majority of the time in the afternoon work to drills in plays, and to giving new plays to his prospective team. Drawing pictures of the plays and new signals on a black board in front of him, Stewart kept his men in an hour and a half from the sweltering heat that beamed down on the stadium turf.

the purchasing company allowing a flat three per cent deduction for these items, and this oil was resold on a basis of one per cent deduction, the petition says. A loss of $100,000 is alleged as the result of sale of oil as of 38 gravity whereas more than 32 per cent is of gravity greater than 38.9.

Citation to the oil companies named in the suit were mailed out Tuesday night to the sheriffs of the various counties in which the offices are located. Service will probably be had on all companies early Wednesday, if the plans of the attorney general's department work out.

The permanent fund of the University of Texas, formed chiefly through royalty payments from the oil field leases, now amounts to more than $4,500,000. If the judgment asked is obtained the amount available will be increased approximately 60 per cent.

If the receiverships asked for the Texon group and for the purchasing company is granted and the leases are ordered cancelled, the acreage and the wells drilled for the benefit of the University of Texas, Judge Randolph declared after filing the suit. This operation would continue until an order of the sale of the leases was issued by the court.

In case this situation should come about ,the university would probably then receive the full and complete revenue from the sale of the oil instead of the one-eighth royalty which it now receives.

The revenue from the oil field credited exclusively to the permanent fund of the university, now averages in excess of $200,000 per monh.

the resolution and amendments until 10 o'clock Friday morning, that it was an attempt of Jim Ferguson to obtain enough time to send out wires to the people to demand that the senators vote for the confirmation of the governor's appointees.

Senator J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls, declared that the confirmation of the appointees or the postponement of consideration was not a question between the Moody and Ferguson supporters, but for the best interests of the people.

A fight was precipitated on the motion to refer Wood's resolution to the governor's nomination committee, which lost by a vote of 14 to 12. The "yeas" were Berkeley, Bowers, Fairchild, J. Roy Hardin, Holbook, Miller, Parnell, Parr, Real, Russek, Strong and Ward. The "nays:" Bledsoe, Davis, Floyd, Lewis, Moore, Pollard, Price, Reid, Smith, Triplett, Westbrook, Wirts, Witt, Wood. Those absent, Bailey, Carl C. Hardin, Murphy, Stuart and Woodward.

Charges Made.

Fire of Senator Fairchild was drawn by Wood, and the former charged that Wood had violated a gentleman's agreement in regard to offering no action on confirmation, which Wood denied saying the agreement was relative to executive and not open session of the senate.

When Wood saw that the senate would not further consider the resolution today he offered an amendment to Fairchild's motion to postpone consideration until Wednesday instead of Friday, and then Bailey's amendment that the session be executive was adopted by an 18 to 10 vote.

How They Voted.

The vote:

"Yeas:" Bailey, Berkeley, Bowers, Fairchild, Roy J. Hardin, Holbrook, Miller, Parnell, Parr, Price, Real, Reid, Russek, Strong, Stuart, Triplett, Ward, Wirts. "Nays:" Bledsoe, Davis, Floyd, Lewis, Moore, Pollard, Smith, Westbrook, Witt, Wood.

For the first time this season Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller was called upon to vote off two ties, in which they stood 14 to 14. It was his vote that killed the amendment to Stuart's resolution that would have eliminated the $1,000 expense money, and his vote made it possible for the resolution to pass.

82 Bills Passed.

Besides passing 82 validation bills the senate engrossed a score more, received the message from Governor Miriam A. Ferguson asking for an increase in gasoline tax from one to three or four cents per gallon for the schools and state highways, and the following recess appointees were submitted for confirmation:

They are: G. N. Holton, fire insurance commissioner; Ralph Bailey, J. R. Frobese, Richard A. Haley, members of the state board of health; Mrs. John A. Haley, member of the Texas Technological college board of regents; S. A. Lilliard, Jr., member of the Texas A. and M. board of regents; Ell Marks, E. C. Brand, W. D. Hood, D. C. Giddings and R. L. Thornton, members of the Texas rate making board.

HIGHWAY OFFICERS WILL BE QUIZZED.

AUSTIN, Sept. 21. (AP)—As the result of a concurrent resolution introduced Tuesday in the house of the 39th legislature here in special session, highway department officials Wednesday morning will lay before the house committee on highways and motor traffic the financial status of the department. The resolution, presented by Representative Purl, Petsch, Avis and Teer, requested and urged the highway commission to desist from letting contracts and making allotments based upon revenues for future years.

The committee on highways and motor traffic to which the resolution was referred unanimously voted to invite a member of the commission, the state highway engineer and commission secretary. Representative W. A. Williamson of San Antonio carried the invitation to Eugene Smith, secretary of the commission. Mr. Williamson told the Associated Press that Smith said, "we'll be there."

Moseley To Appear.

Smith, A. C. Love, highway engineer, and either Chairman Hal Moseley or John Cage, highway commissioners, are expected to appear before the committee.

Chairman Williamson appointed Represetatives Teer, Fly and Lane to inquire into the legal phases of the allegations that the commission has pledged state funds for several years in the future.

From the floor of the house, Representative Purl of Dallas has a number of times charged the commission recently awarded Carson county more than a million dollars in state aid, to be distributed over several years beginning in 1928, and has declared it is commonly rumored the commission awarded aid on a hard-surfaced road to be constructed within the city limits of Fort Worth.

ATLANTIC HOP IN DISASTER

Two Killed When Fonck's Super-Plane Goes Up In Flames

WEST BURY, N. Y., Sept. 21. (AP)—Disaster struck down the giant Sikorsky biplane S-35 within two minutes after its attempted hop-off today for a non-stop flight from New York to Paris. A mass of twisted wreckage and the charred bodies of Charles W. Clavier, radio operator and Jacob Islamoff, mechanic tonight were the tragic aftermath of what was to have been one of the most daring ventures ever attempted in the history of aviation.

Captain Rene Fonck, commander of the flight, and Lieutenant Lawrence William Curtin, U. S. N., navigator saved their lives by scrambling from the plane an instant before it burst into flames.

Plane Top Heavy.

The flight which it had been hoped would take Captain Fonck and his intrepid companions on a 3,600 mile trip across the Atlantic ended in tragedy when the monster airplane, carrying a record weight of 28,000 pounds was unable to lift itself from the ground and crashed over an embankment on Roosevelt field.

There was an instant flare of flames and black clouds of smoke billowed to the sky. Trapped inside the cabin of the plane, Clavier and Islamoff perished almost instantly.

A crowd of more than a thousand that had cheered the flyers two minutes before, stood helplessly by, awe struck, unable to attempt a rescue of the two trapped men, while the 23,000 gallons of gasoline in the plane burned with the intensity of an inferno.

18 Months Wasted.

Eighteen months of work spent in building an expected super-plane for strength and endurance in long distance flying had gone up in smoke within 15 minutes after the craft had roared down the field. More than $100,000 had been spent in building the craft and America and France were to have shared in the laurels, had its flight been successful.

The exact cause of the disaster may never be known. A slightly unfavorable wind was conceded to have handicapped the heavily weighted biplane in its attempted take-off, but wrecking of the plane's rear landing gears when it passed over a rough spot near the end of the runway was ascribed as the immediate cause.

VICTORIA, Tex., Sept. 21.(AP)—Mrs. Norma K. Miller, 23, wife of A. A. Miller, bookkeeper at the Victoria National bank, was found dead at her home this morning. A charge from a shotgun, according to testimony given at an inquest, had blown away a part of her head.

DIXIE SPECIAL OFF

1,000 Fans Leave Dallas For New Orleans.

DALLAS, Sept. 21.(AP)—Three special trains, two of them and Pullmans, pulled out of Dallas early tonight for New Orleans carrying 1,000 fans bound for the Dixie series between New Orleans, Southern champions and Dallas, Texas League champions. The trains will pick up additional Texas baseball fans along the route.

3-CENT TAX

on vehicles, and base fees solely on weight. For passenger automobiles the weight charge would be halved on all types on trucks, the weight charge would remain the same; and motor busses would pay a fee of $4 for each passenger they carried in addition to the weight charge.

$200 Fine Penalty.

A charge of $5 would be made on motorcycle registration fees and would be turned over to county road and bridge funds. A fine of $200 would be imposed for violation of the motor bus charges.

A resolution presented by eight former students of Texas university asked the speaker to appoint five members to confer with the president and regents of the university regarding the $10.50 compulsory blanket tax, or student activities tax.

University Fee Quiz.

The resolution provides the committee shall investigate all other expenses and fees incident to the university, "looking especially to the athletic fees and disbursements and that the committee report back to the house recommending such steps as may be necessary to correct this unfortunate and deplorable situation."

On a point of order that time for presentation of resolutions had expired, the resolution went over until Wednesday for action.

Authors of the resolution are Representatives Pope, Sheatz Woodall, Young, Lane of Harrison, Sanford, Kinkle and Hornaday.

Payment Compulsory.

Payment of the blanket tax entities the student to attend athletic contests, lyceum offerings, musical concerts, and to receive campus publications. Sheatz, Woodall and Hornaday criticized the action of the regents in making the tax compulsory, and declared no students could exempt themselves from the fee, save by taking a "pauper's oath."

The resolution set forth, "there are boys and girls of Texas attending the university who are unable to finance football games and other sports, and who can get better advantages by being permitted to pay only the fees pertaining to the actual support of the University of Texas."

The house finally passed 22 district road bond validating bills and engrossed 38 others.

Validation Voted.

The first opposition to engrossment of a validating bill came with submission of a bill by Representative Albritton of Yorktown, validating road district seven in Dewitt county. Representative Gray, member of the house judiciary committee, pointed out there was considerable opposition to creation of the district, and that bonds issued had not been sold.

Representative Albritton pointed out the district had been created by a vote of about 900 to 100, and in a fiery speech urged validation. The house engrossed the bill, 96 to 6 votes..

$2,000,000 for Schools.

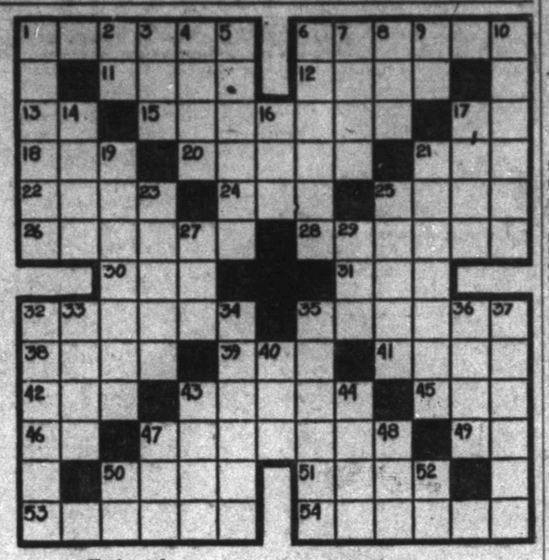

Representative Wallace of Freestone, one of the signers of the gasoline tax bill, said he believed it would be necessary to appropriate about $2,000,000 from the general revenue fund, in addition to receipts from the gasoline tax, to raise the per capita scholastic apportionment from $11.50 to $15. He predicted the governor would submit the general revenue appropriation.

Wallace figured the three-cent tax would bring to the school fund about $4,000,000 but of this amount one-third has already been figured in the $11.50 apportionment. He said he has prepared a bill providing for an appropriation from the general revenue, which he will present, should the governor submit the matter.

Auto Registration.

The proposed weight registration fee for automobiles would be 20 cents for each 100 pounds or fraction thereof of automobiles weighing from 1,000 to 2,000 pounds 25 cents in the 2,001 to 3,500 pound class; 30 cents for the 3,500 to 4,500 pounds class, and 40 cents for the 4,500 and up class.

Injunction Contest In Election Dated

DALLAS, Sept. 21. (AP)—Hearing on application for an injunction by which attorneys for Allen Seale are seeking to keep the name of Schuyler Marshall, Jr., sheriff, off the official ballot for the November election is scheduled to get under way in the fifth court of civil appeals here Wednesday morning. Seale, who opposed Sheriff Marshall for nomination in the July primary was declared the nominee by the county democratic executive committee, but the decision was reversed by a district court after a four-weeks' hearing before Judge Claude McCallum.

COTTON PLEAS URGENT HERE

Additional Cities Sending In Appeals For Pickers; Many Acres Go to Waste

With every community in Wichita Falls trade territory sounding the common cry of "we want cotton pickers" estimates of the number of hands needed in the cotton fields of this section range into the thousands. Appeals for 1,500 additional pickers were received yesterday from Olney and Byers, the former community being in need of 1,000 hands while the latter needs 500 to handle the crop now ready for picking.

E. C. McKenzie, of Iowa Park, is already on his way to east Texas as representative of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce in an effort to get 2,000 pickers to work the fields in the immediate vicinity of Wichita Falls. At the same time reports from many east Texas counties are to the effect that a shortage of pickers exists there. Lateness of the Texas cotton crop, bringing the picking season to a head in many different sections of the state at the same time, makes the dearth of pickers more serious this year.

Many Bales Unpicked.

Hundreds of bales of cotton remain unpicked in the Olney territory according to word from Olney Chamber of Commerce, which is co-operating with the farmers in an effort to obtain pickers to relieve the situation. A similar condition exists in the Byers section where it is estimated that 5,000 bales of cotton have opened for picking, with a total crop prospect of from 12,000 to 15,000 bales, the biggest in territory's history.

Efforts of Byers farmers to bring negroes to the fields from the Waurika, Okla., territory during the last few days have met with signal failure because of reports that negroes have been subjected to whippings by Byers citizens. Learning that they were wanted at Byers, a large group of Oklahoma negro pickers refused good bonuses offered them, giving the whipping reports as an excuse. That negroes have been whipped in the Byers section is called an entirely false report by a statement issued yesterday by leading farmers of that section.

B. HALL CASE IRES SOLONS

Former University Studes In Legislature To Enter Fight

AUSTIN, Sept. 21. (AP)—Their ire aroused by the "firing" of three of their number from Texas university jobs, former residents of B Hall campus dormitory, will decide Thursday night whether to ask a legislative investigation of the acts of the regents and President W. M. R. Splawn in connection with their efforts to convert the historic dormitory into a class building.

Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler, a former resident of the hall, now attending the special session of the legislature, said he would attend the Thursday meeting. "I want the full facts in this case, for it appears a grievous injustice has been done," he said.

A score of former B Hallites are members of the house, and most of these will also attend. Among this group is Representative Grady Woodruff of Paradise, who was manager of the dormitory when its abandonment was ordered.

Three Are "Fired."

Percy Woodard of Austin, George Hefley and Bob Massengale of Cameron were the three students "fired" by the regents. Woodard and Hefley are plaintiffs in a suit against the regents and President Splawn (pending here in the fifty-third district court). They charge university acted in bad faith in the dormitory episode, as the student abandoned the hall with the promise it was to be refitted for their occupancy this fall.

The students were granted a temporary injunction halting alteration of B Hall and the case is to go to trial on its merits during the October term.

Massengale failed to abandon his room in the hall, as officials ordered, it was charged. Woodard was a faculty mail carrier. Hefly, an assistant in the library and Massengal, special campus policeman.

Gift For Dormitory.

The late Colonel George Brackenridge in 1892 contributed toward building the dormitory, and the students contended in their court petition the hall was given as a trust.

Woodruff and other former residents have signified their willingness to withdraw the suit, if the regents would pay $50,000 for the hall, with the understanding the B Hallites must raise a reasonable sum for another dormitory before the $50,000 could be used.

A number of prominent former residents of the hall who are not in the legislature will attend the Thursday meeting, among them Joe Montague, district attorney at Fort Stockton.

ARMY SLEUTH SOLVES FIRES

Incendiarism For Excitement Is Laid At Hands Of 18 Soldiers

FORT SILL, Okla., Sept. 21. (AP)—Having masqueraded as a soldier to investigate the numerous fires which in two years have consumed millions of dollars worth of government property at the army post here, a government agent resumed civil life again today, his job completed.

In the guardhouse, partly as a result of his efforts, were locked 18 soldiers, some of them members of the post fire and military police departments, charged with incendiarism, to which they resorted for excitement. Officers allege some of them have confessed.

A month ago the operative, whose name is withheld, donned olive drab, sat at mess, drilled, did kitchen police duty and with his ears open manifested willingness to hear about the fires.

Army officers expressed belief that the most sinister fire ring ever existing in a military camp has been broken. For two years warehouses, hay stacks and barracks have been consumed, the damage being estimated in the millions of dollars.

STORM MARKS

000 injured during the day, many of them only slightly hurt.

At Hollywood the list of known dead was 32 with possibly eight other bodies to be brought in and with seventy persons listed as missing. Earlier reports had included many of the missing as definitely dead and the total had been announced as 75 known dead.

Many Flee Inland.

It is believed now that many of those missing fled into the interior when the first hurricane approached and while many possibly perished, it is regarded as more likely that they were only injured. There were about 250 injured listed at Hollywood today and slightly over 200 of them were definitely located and treated. A score or more at Hollywood were listed as seriously injured.

Fort Lauderdale's death list remained at 13 during the day, but the list of seriously injured increased to 300 as the interior sections were reached and the victims brought in. Of the seriously injured probably a score will not survive. There are 500 others less seriously hurt in the Fort Lauderdale, Floranada and Progreso neighborhood. The Red Cross relief stations were crowded with injured and refugees.

More Bodies Found.

Reports from other localities indicated little change in the death list with the exception of Dania and Davie, both of which reported several additional bodies had been located, but could not be removed until high waters receded and broken trees were removed and tangled underbrush was cut away.

The injured from these sections continued to increase.

The menace of sickness and possible epidemic which threatened yesterday as the result of the lack of sanitary drainage and sewage methods was dissipated today by the arrival of additional relief trains bearing necessary medicines, anti-toxins and badly-needed chlorine, lime and formaldehyde.

GLASGOW, Sept. 21. (AP)—The Duchess of Somerset, attending a fete at Culloden house, Inverness, apologized for the actions of some of her "kin" in the troubled days of old.

The duchess had an ancestor who led the English army against Scotland at the battle of Pinkie. Discussing past events the duchess begged that the conduct of former Duke of Somerset be forgiven. Had she been living at the time, said the duchess, she would have an ardent Jacobite.

BLUFF COUNTERS BLUFF IN ODD MARITAL MIXUP

CHICAGO.—Bluff by wife met bluff by husband in a strange domestic case that came up in the police court here. As far as can be told now, both won. An ex-member of the Royal Irish Constabulary, Frederick Angel, who was charged with attempting suicide, stated that he received from his wife a note saying she loved another. In order to bluff her he collapsed in her presence, saying he had taken poison, and she rushed him to a hospital, which notified the police. Mrs. Angel said her note was also a bluff and was not true. As they promised to go home and live happily together ever afterwards, the court dismissed the case.

A SURE CURE.

LONDON, Sept. 21.(AP)—Plato had a "sure cure" for hiccups, as described by Dr. C. F. T. East in the Lancet.

Aristophanes, so Plato says, had the hiccups so badly he could not speak. So Eryximachus, the physician, was called in.

"Hold your breath, and, if, after doing this for some time, your hiccup is no better, gargle with a little water. If it still continues, tickle your nose with something and sneeze. After you have sneezed once or twice the most violent hiccup is sure to go," the doctor prescribed.

Aristophanes was cured after he reached the sneezing stage.

SHOP LIFTERS BUSY

LONDON, Sept. 21.(AP)—Seven hundred and seventy-eight women shop-lifters have been caught in the last five years by Miss Gertrude Hunter, a detective employed in one of London's largest department stores.

"I detect shop-lifters by instinct," Miss Hunter said. "Professional thieves always specialize. Sixty-seven yards of ribbon were found in the bag on one thief I caught. Eighteen silk dresses were packed in another. I know whether a woman intends to steal the instant I put eyes on her."

in the claim register of the alien property custodian's office and a file card that revealed the claim had not been removed from the file prior to its rejection on Aug. 2, 1921. It was on Sept. 30, 1921, that Miller handed Merton checks for $6,453,979.97 at a champagne dinner in the Ritz-Carlton hotel here. The remainder of the property value which totalled $6,997,979.97 was sent Merton by post in liberty loan bonds. On April 19, 1921, Merton's testimony showed, he talked to Miller about his claims and met him again about the time Beaty and Greutert filed their claim.

Bonds Distributed?

It was from the bonds that Merton, according to his testimony, paid John T. King, former national committeeman from Connecticut, $391,000 as 'commission' for speeding payment of the claims. King, Merton said, had previously been paid $50,000 as a "retainer."

The government tomorrow will begin the offering of physical proof of the alleged distribution of these two sums between Daugherty, Miller, King and Jesse W. Smith of Washington Court House, Ohio, who was Daugherty's aide and confidential agent in a reorganization of the office of the attorney general under the Harding administration.

SHE'S RIGHT

LONDON, Sept. 21. (AP)—Sheila Kaye-Smith, the novelist, believes that novels which just grow and are thought out carefully in advance are generally pretty hard reading.

"I once discovered when half way through one of my books that one of the female characters was a man and the change had to be made before the book could be finished," she said. "Now I am careful to find out exactly what my characters want to be called and which sex they wish to belong to. I now make a careful plan of a book in which every chapter is worked out, almost down to the paragraphs."

W. F. Sterley of Denver Road Is Called By Death

W. F. Sterly, general freight and passenger agent of the Fort Worth and Denver City railway, died early Tuesday morning at his home in Fort Worth.

In his passing the Denver lost one of its veteran executives who played an important part in the development of the great railway system that serves the Panhandle and Texas.

He was well known in this city where he was a frequent business visitor, and his death, which came unexpectedly, was the cause of widespread grief here.

Business associates of Mr. Sterley were quick to pay tribute to his ability and the unswerving loyalty he constantly manifested for his road.

Mr. Sterley joined the Fort Worth and Denver in June, 1887, and advanced rapidly from a minor position to that of general freight agent which he assumed in December, 1902. A few years later he was made general freight and passenger agent, a post he held continuously since then.

STOCK-A-DAY

The Chicago and Alton, operating about a thousand miles of road from Chicago to St. Louis and Kansas City, is in receivership. The funded debt exceeds twice the amount of the capital stock and increases in fixed charges prevented the company from obtaining funds for necessary improvements and current financing. This resulted in a receivership on Aug. 30, 1926.

The Alton leases the Joliet and Chicago railroad, the Kansas City St. Louis and Chicago railroad, Louisiana and Missouri River railroad and the Rutland, Telaca, and Northern railroad.

The company is, to a large extent, a soft coal carrier as about 50 per cent of its freight comes from mines. Passenger traffic on the road from Chicago to St. Louis is very heavy. This stretch is double tracked and the equipment condition of the company is above average.

Funded debt totals $89,673,900 and the company has guaranteed bonds of affiliated companies to the extent of $72,387,000. Capital stock consists of $868,700 outstanding in 4 per cent, cumulative, prior lien and participating preferred shares of $100 par; $19,544,000 outstanding in 4 percent, non cumulative, preferred of $100 par and $10,542,800 outstanding in common stock of $100 par.

Gross revenues in 1925 exceeded those for 1924 by $223,054 and net operating income gained $1,035,242 in the previous year. For the first 5 months of 1926, gross revenues were $12,089,379 and net operating income $1,285,657.

Various plans for reorganization have been discussed many of them involving assessments on holders of both common and preferred stocks. As of Dec. 31, 1925 current assets were $5,329,828 and current liabilities were $24,751,022.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.(AP)—The cotton market was under continued pressure of liquidation and southern selling today, and prices made new low ground for the movement after a moderate early advance. December contracts sold off from 16.15 to 15.85, or 20 points net lower and 240 points below the high price touched just before publication of the government crop report on September. December closed at 15.98, the general market closing steady at a net decline of four to eight points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline on one to five points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and over-night selling orders which were supposed to include a good deal of southern hedging. After these early offerings had been absorbed, there were rallies and reports of heavy rains in the area affected by the southern storm. October selling up to 15.96 and January to 16.25, or 9 to 13 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

On the whole the storm news seemed to create little bullish sentiment while the rally met increased southern selling with renewal of liquidation. Prices weakened and the market broke sharply during the early afternoon, October selling off to 15.69 and January to 15.95, net declines of 17 to 20 points on active positions. There seemed to be a little more trade buying below the 16-cent level for December, however, and last prices showed rallies of 10 or 13 points from the lowest on covering.

Some local brokers estimated that hedges have been sold against over half a million bales of cotton during the past two weeks and while these offerings have been offset to some extent by trade buying on a scale down, they have not unduly weighed on the market, but encouraged a more bearish average of sentiment.

No additional crop reports were issued today but the selling has been accompanied by comment to the effect that the market is probably discounting a government crop indication on Thursday of around fifteen and a quarter million bales. Reports that Lancashire spinners and American cotton were considered against curtailment may have contributed to the decline.

Exports today 4,623 making $89,606 so far this season. Port receipts 32,468; U. S. port stocks 923,713 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.(AP)—The cotton market was only fairly active today and price fluctuations were erratic but within a narrow range. The fear that the storm may do damage in the eastern belt was responsible for an early advance of 20 to 22 points. The market soon reacted on the map showing of America's cotton area in the western centinued fair weather in the western belt and the official forecast for fair weather rain Texas. There was also considerable hedge selling and these combined influences during periods drove 28 to 29 points from the highs. During the afternoon the market experienced a fair rally which caused a recovery of 18 to 19 points owing to fears that the bad weather resulting from the storm might work into the western belt. There was also some trade buying particularly for December. The rally was maintained to the end the close showing net gains for the day of 7 to 10 points.

The market had a steady opening as Liverpool came in decidedly better than due. First trades showed gains of 8 to 10 points and during the first hour October traded up to 15.92, December to 16.11 and January to 16.16, or 20 to 22 points abotve the previous close. These levels proved to be the highs for the day.

After the weather map was posted the market eased off and declined steadily under pressure of hedge selling until October traded down to 15.64, December to 15.82 and January to 15.88, or 25 to 28 points down from the early highs and six to eight points under the previous close.

The rally of the afternoon carried October up to 15.81, December to 16.00 and January to 16.07, or 18 to 19 points up from the lows. The close was virtually at the best of the rally.

Exports for the day totaled 4,623 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.(AP)—A general recovery took place in today's stock market which overcame an early selling attack and bounded upward under the leadership of prominent issues such as U. S. Steel and Allied Chemical. Spirited rallies were staged by a number of high grade rails, public utilities and industrials among which net gains of three to six points were common.

A 5½ per cent renewal rate for call loans, the highest since March 1, had a temporarily unsettling effect on the markes since it was believed that its retention would soon compel an advance in the federal reserve re-discount rates. This selling, however, was easily absorbed and prices headed upward aided by the covering of short lines put out after the first reports of the Florida disaster yesterday.

The recovery in U. S. Steel carried that stock up to 146⅝ at the close, a net gain of nearly four points while Allied Chemical soared six points to the year's top price of 144⅝. A rise of more than 10 points in Adams Express which reached a new peak at 123½, also carried American Express and American Railway Express substantially higher. Case Threshing Machine, Westinghouse Air Brake and Commercial Solvent "B" and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe moved up three to 6½ points.

Aside from the establishment of a record high price by Nickel Plate at 154½, there were few outstanding features in the railroad list. A strong demand for the sugar shares, centering particularly in American sugar, South Porto Rico and Cuba cane preferred was predicted on the favorable trade position of the industry. Large sales of both raw and refined sugar recently have been made at the best prices of the year.

Motor stocks, after feeling the full force of the early selling movement, recovered most of their losses in the subsequent recovery. General Motors mounted to 159⅜, the highest price since the deduction of the stock dividend, but closed two points under the top for a fractional net loss. Hudson Motors closed a point higher at 58.

Foreign exchanges were slightly lower in dull trading. French francs at 3.73 cents were about 25 points below the high level quoted early in the month and Belgian francs were about 18 points lower at 3.67 cents. Demand sterling held below $4.85.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.(AP)—Wheat prices made a rapid advance today in response to brisk general buying. Secretary of supplies at Liverpool, together with crop falls delaying the spring wheat movement both sides of the Canadian boundary did much to stimulate demand. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were strong, 2¼ to 2¾c net higher, corn ¾ to ⅞c up, oats at ½ to ⅝c advance and provisions unchanged to 25c down.

Corn and oats borrowed strength from wheat. Besides, a cool wave was expected to spread over the middle west tomorrow. Provisions reflected a downturn in the hog market.

REALTORS SET FOR BIG MEET

Committees Planning For State Convention Next Week

Committees from the Wichita Falls Real Estate Board are drawing to a close their plans for the state convention of real estate boards which convenes here next Tuesday. W. S. Curlee, chairman of arrangements for the convention, said the members had functioned well and an elaborate entertainment has been provided for and an excellent program prepared.

Literature telling of Wichita Falls has been sent to the boards of the state, and Tuesday telegrams were also sent to the organizations on Texas.

Meeting Held Monday

It was announced that the next meeting of the board will be held Monday at noon at the Kemp hotel for the final discussion of plans prior to the state convention.

In the absence of the president A. L. Huey who is ill, P. S. Richardson presided.

The local chamber of commerce will assist the realtors in the coming convention and will underwrite $500 for the convention.

J. C. Hunt, street commissioner, told the realtors that the street flusher would be here September 26 or 27 and that all streets would be spick and span in time for the convention.

W. B. Hamilton, one of the promoters of the Country Club estates addition, presented those present with a beautifully bound, illustrated booklet, showing scenes in the Country Club estates. Mr. Hamilton made a short talk and he commended the efforts of Street Commissioner Hunt in making clean the streets of the city. He complimented the members of the city council for their work. "Our city council is a good one and we have men there who are giving patriotic service at their own expense.

City Rebuilt

"The early planners of the city did not believe this city would ever develop to its present proportions. In the year when Walter Cline became mayor, the city had to be rebuilt. The sewers sanitary sewers, streets and water supply had to be rebuilt. It takes money.

"We are a new section, growing and, we have to bond ourselves to carry on the development for tax assessments are not enough to carry on the work."

The club voted that the resolution recently passed on and sent to the city council concerning the building line of certain streets in the city should be reconsidered and that the city council be notified and asked that any action toward the resolution be deferred until a future time.

Dale Mendenhall, who was injured Sunday at the Texas-Oklahoma fair ground race track when he was thrown from his motorcycle, is reported resting very well in the Clinic-hospital. A gash was cut in his knee and a cracked shoulder bone along with numerous bruises were included in the injuries.

The accident occurred at almost the same place where Mr. Mendenhall was seriously injured two years ago when he was trying out a racing car which he expected to enter in the automobile races at the fair. The car was wrecked and he was hurt severely and unable to enter the races.

Undertaking Poor Business To Boost, Merkle Asserts

"Advertising a Business You Can't Advertise," was the subject which George Merkle, undertaker, spoke on Tuesday at the weekly meeting of the Advertising club. He explained that the undertaker cannot advertise a great deal for nobody wants his merchandise, but it is possible to get his firm before the public by service. Undertaking companies may feature the services of good equipment, ambulances, hearses, relieving a family of responsibility at a funeral and offering the use of a funeral chapel. "The best advertisement a business man can have is a friend," he said.

Discussion of advertising the Texas-Oklahoma fair was brought up by T. A. Bradley who suggested that each firm which had consented to such a practice run a line about the fair in each advertisement. He also announced that the chamber of commerce had asked the business houses to decorate their buildings by September 28 when the convention of Texas real estate boards meet and to leave continues from October 2 which continues from October 2 to 7.

Queen of Fair Pageant Is Chosen; Her Identity To Be Held a Secret

No sooner had Hal Worth, promoter of the pageant of progress to be staged at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, announced that the all important matter of a queen had been settled than considerable speculation has become rife within the city.

The queen of the pageant has been chosen, but who is she? All inquiries made to Worth and to the officers of the fair association have brought only the response that it is a secret and will not be disclosed until the night of the coronation.

What lovely Wichita Falls girl will be accorded the honor of ruling the city in the make believe pageantry of olden times Will it be a modern flapper of the younger generation or some more stately young lady of the social set? There are dozens of eligibles, and the choosing was all the more difficult because of the fact that historical fact was a factor along with beauty and grace and queenly qualifications.

Sufficient to say Her Majesty the Queen has been chosen, but her identity for the present remains concealed in the shrouds of secrecy.

'SOAP, SOUP IS CHURCH'S AIM'

Faith Healer Says Material Things Cause Trouble These Days

"The business of the church is to seek that which was lost. What is needed in this city is not more hospitals, cathedrals and churches, but the church of the living God," declared Evangelist A. E. Davis at the interdenominational revival and healing meeting on Eighteenth and Holiday last night.

He took his text from the 15th chapter of St. Luke, and in his sermon, he told the story of the lost sheep, the prodigal son and the lost coin, and he emphasized that each was like the sinner who must be found and brought to God for salvation.

"Healing is a second issue, and the salvation of souls is the important thing. Where healing is talked about in the scriptures there was always the saving of souls."

"It is difficult to have a revival meeting where there is wealth. Wichita Falls needs spirituality.

"The program of some churches is soap, soup and salvation. When you place God emphasis, Bible, Holy and Christ emphasis on Salvation, the church won't have to be interested in the soap and soup. If a person from China or India should suddenly be brought past a church window and smell the odors from the basement, he would believe the American's God was the belly."

Evangelist Davis spoke of tithing and made a brief talk on the necessity of tithing to carry on God's work. "Follow the program of Jesus and you'll have no trouble," he admonished the audience.

A small crowd was present for the services, but interest in the revival was shown. Services will be held at 9:30 this morning and at 7:30 o'clock tonight.
