Ten ... posts to expire after '86

Ten county elected officials now face terms to expire at the end of 1986 — including four members of the five-member Scurry County commissioner's court.

Traditionally, announcements regarding the political futures of such offices occur at Christmas time or January 1 in Scurry County.

In normal election years, the commissioners court alternates between three and two expiring positions. Three would normally expire during 1986, but the death of Pct. 1 Commissioner Eldon Perry July 19 added the fourth expiring post.

The man appointed to replace him, current Pct. 1 Commissioner Dwaine Davis, must now seek election for the remainder of the unexpired term.

Other commissoner's court office holders facing expiring terms include County Judge Preston Wilson; Pct. 2 Commissioner Earl (Hassie) Sneed; and Pct. 4 Commissioner Ted Billingsley.

A second county office holder must seek election for an unexpired term also, County Attorney Mike Line, who replaced Gary Terrell early in 1985 after Terrell's move from the city.

Board appoints WTC dean as interim head for college

The action was in response to the resignation Tuesday of College President Dr. Don Newbury, who has been named the 14th President of Howard Payne University in Brownwood.

He is expected to be serving in a part-time capacity at Howard Payne as early as Monday.

Krenek's interim appointment came following a called meeting of trustees Friday morning on campus. Discussions for that meeting were in closed session.

At its conclusion, a statement from Bill Jones, WTC board president, said, "The board was unanimous in naming Dr. Krenek to begin serving immediately as acting chief executive officer. He will be in charge during Dr. Newbury's absence, and in charge on a fulltime basis beginning Feb. 1 until a new president is named."

Krenek said Friday morning, "When we return from the Christmas holiday, operation of the campus will continue as it has under Dr. Newbury." WTC administrative offices will be closed until Jan. 2 for the Christmas break.

Krenek noted following the Feb. 1 date, "My responsibility as dean of instruction will have to be shared by others," although he did not indicate what other interim appointments at the college might be required.

WTC officials indicated also the search for a new college president will begin immediately.

Jones said he expects at least a 60 day period to allow for these applications.

He noted the board will be ac-

Ask Us

Q. — Is it true some band students ineligible under House Bill 72 were allowed to march in the Christmas parade Thursday?

A. — School officials, who have been researching this portion of the law recently, say that some band students who had failed at least one grade last six-weeks were allowed to march. They add, however, that their interpretation of H.B. 72 mandates is that co-curricular activities — those unrelated to the UIL and at which no admission is charged — do not come under the guidelines. With the Christmas parade a noted exception, they said the general guideline at SHS is to exclude failing students from such activities, however.

Nuke plant owners okay settlement

AUSTIN (AP) — A 4-year-old legal battle over whether a former builder was responsible for delays and massive cost overruns at the South Texas Nuclear Project ended with the last of four partners accepting a $750 million settlement.

Austin City Council voted 5-1 Thursday for the settlement that Brown & Root Inc. and its parent firm, the Halliburton Co., had offered and gotten approved earlier in the three other jurisdictions.

Under its terms, Houston Lighting & Power gets $231 million, San Antonio Public Service $210 million, Central Power and Light of Corpus Christi $189 million and Austin $120 million, said STNP spokesman Terry Young.

The money will be paid quarterly over the next seven years, beginning in January, he said.

Austin had at one time hoped to use the settlement as leverage to get out of the project, but Thursday's 5-1 vote does not change the city's 16 percent participation in the project.

The lone dissenting vote Thursday was cast by Sally Shipman, who said the money was not nearly enough to compensate Austin for the additional costs it has had to pay for the Bay City power plant.

"It's less than Austin's actual damages, and for this reason my vote is no," Ms. Shipman said. She said later she believed Austin should proceed with the lawsuit on its own, even though its partners were settling.

But Mayor Frank Cooksey and other council members said the city should follow the advice of its attorneys.

"I think this particular settlement is one of the largest I know of in the history of litigation," Cooksey said.

Parade will be repeated

Thursday's first-ever lighted Christmas parade prompted such a crowd response, planners for the project say they are now planning to repeat the effort next Christmas season.

"I think it just shows that Snyder people were ready for something like this," commented Wedge Turner, who headed up planning for the parade.

Crowds of people lined College Ave. and the downtown square Thursday as the parade began shortly after 6 p.m. Eight floats were entered and the event included the Snyder High School marching band and a visit from Santa Claus.

Serving as judges for the parade were the county's four "judges," retired District Judge Wayland G. Holt; District Judge Gene Dulaney; County Judge Preston Wilson; and Municipal Court Judge Dan Callaway.

As the first place entry, they selected the "Winter Wonderland" float submitted by First Western Savings and Loan of Colorado City. The $300 first prize will be donated by First Western to SCOOP of Snyder.

Other float prize monies were: second place ($175), the "Toyland" float entered by the 4-H Kanine Kadets; third place ($100), the "Christmas Dream" entry from Cub Scout Pack 37; and fourth place ($75), the manger scene entered by St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

A tentative date for next year's parade has been set for the first Friday in Decemeber.

WINTER WONDERLAND WINNER — The "Winter Wonderfloat entered by First Western Savings and Loan of Colorado City was declared the winner of the competition Thursday in the first ever Snyder Christmas Parade. The first place prize money will be donated by First Western to SCOOP here. Scurry County's four real "judges" — Dan Callaway, Wayland G. Holt, Preston Wilson and Gene Dulaney — served as parade judges. (SDN Staff Photo)

Goodfellows slate food distribution

The largest Christmas food distribution program in recent years will get underway at 10 a.m. Saturday as the Snyder Goodfellows distribute 277 boxes of food to needy households.

As in recent years, the food boxes will be distributed at the Scurry County Coliseum ag annex and individuals picking up boxes are asked to enter the coliseum grounds through the west parking lot.

The food boxes will be given out from the west porch of the ag exhibit building.

Each household eligible for the aid was mailed an acceptance card and those cards must be brought to the coliseum Saturday morning.

As of Friday, some $5,200 has been raised here by Snyder Goodfellows in their annual fund drive to defray costs of the food.

Those volunteers will remain on duty through next Tuesday — Christmas Eve.

Also included in that total is a contribution presented Thursday by representatives of the Snyder High School student body totaling $2,772.

The funds were raised by SHS students in an annual competition. The winning class will be treated to a party in January hosted by the losing classes.

In addition to the monetary donations, high school students also collected 781 pounds of canned goods for the drive.

The boxes will include fresh foods as well as canned goods and staple grocery items. The Goodfellows program has been sponsored here the past several years by the Snyder Kiwanis Club.

Snyder Rotary names president-elect, board

Snyder Rotary Club members have named a new vice president and two new members to the club board of directors.

The three will officially take office July 1.

Lee McNair was named vice president, a position which constitutes president-elect status. In this capacity, McNair will serve as Rotary president during 1986-87.

Named to the five man board of directors effective July 1 were Ralph Williamson and Jimmy Thompson. They will replace outgoing directors Bob Hargrove and Donny Brown.

Rotary president this coming July 1 will be Jeff Lowrance, who will replace current president Don Farmer. Other members of the Rotary board are Frank Miller, secretary-treasurer, Lee McNair, Bob Hawes and Cy Miller.

Walter Buckel, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, told about a passenger on a night flight who was talking to his pilot. "How do you manage to fly this airplane in the dark?"

"There's a light on the tip of the right wind, a light on the tip of the left wing, and a light on the tail. All I have to do is to keep the plane between the lights," the pilot explained.

O. G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, noted that efforts to keep drinkers from driving automobiles pick up steam this time of year. Said Nieman:

"If you absolutely cannot refrain from drinking, here's a money making tip suggested by the DPS.

"Set up a saloon in your home with the wife as bar keeper. Give her $20 to buy a gallon of whiskey and buy your drinks from her at only 70 cents a shot. There are 128 shots in a gallon.

"In four days time, when the gallon is gone, your wife will have $69.60 to put in the bank and $20 to buy another gallon.

"If you can make it for 10 years and buy all your drinks from your wife, she will have more than $63,000 on deposit. That's enough for her to bury you respectfully, bring up your children, pay off the house, marry a decent man, and forget she ever knew you."

Pentagon opposes Shultz

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the chiefs of the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency arrayed against him, Secretary of State George P. Shultz says he would resign before agreeing to have his loyalty checked through a lie detector test.

Breaking an eight-day silence Thursday, Shultz made what is believed to be his first public threat to resign during his 3½ years in office when he strongly opposed a new directive calling for the use of polygraphs to expose disloyal officials.

"The minute in this government that I'm told that I'm not trusted is the day that I leave," Shultz said, adding that he believes lie detector tests are highly unreliable.

White House spokesman Ed Djerejian refused to say whether Shultz might at some point be asked to take a lie detector test, but he stressed that the program is aimed at catching spies, not chasing down leaks to reporters.

"It is part of an overall approach to bolster the U.S. government's ability to face more effectively the threat of hostile intelligence activities directed against this country," Djerjian said.

Hours after Shultz spoke, the CIA issued a statement vigorously defending the use of polygraphs, calling them the "best deterrent to the misuse of sensitive information."

Spokeswoman Kathy Pherson said "the number of leaks of sensitive classified information in recent years makes clear that a growing number given special trust have not lived up to their obligations.

"The reality is that the loss of classified information is severely damaging our foreign policy and our intelligence capabilities," Ms. Pherson said.

She added that thousands of intelligence community officials routinely take polygraph tests in recognition of the need to protect secrets.

Farm bill won't end debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's signature on the 1985 farm bill will enable a lot of Republican lawmakers to breathe easier, but it apparently won't end the debate over what the federal role should be in supporting financially strained farmers.

When Reagan signs the bill in a ceremony expected to take place at the White House on Monday, it will be a Christmas present for farm state Republicans facing re-election next year who had worried about the effects of a possible veto.

It will be especially welcome for Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., the broker who put together much of the compromise bill and who might have had a hard time going home to Kansas without a wheat program to announce.

Despite the bill's passage by a substantial margin, the debate over its effects on farmers continues, in an increasingly partisan tone.

"I think there's going to be more and more difficulty in the farm sector for the coming months. No farm bill can prevent that," said Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., a senior farm policymaker. "There's going to be a sharp debate in the Midwest over whether the administration met the needs of the farm community" with the legislation.

A Democrat from the area suffering most from the farm depression, Rep. Berkley Bedell of Iowa, said he voted against the measure because it could require farmers to idle more of their acreage than under current programs, meaning lower production and a cut of up to 10 percent in farm income.

"I don't think my farmers are going to like it," Bedell said.

It's always a bit exciting to describe a deal where a slam makes with meager high-card strength in the combined hands. Today we see a slam easily making with 11 high-card points facing only 13, and three of the 13 — the club king — are not needed.

Some may take exception to the cue-bid of four spades by North. After all, there may be hands where even five hearts might be in jeopardy. However, North expected his opponents to sacrifice at four spades since they were not vulnerable. Since he intended to bid five hearts if that happened, it seemed right to let his partner know he had first-round control of spades and slam interest.

East kept his finger in the pie by bidding five spades, but South was not deterred. Bolstered by the diamond strength he had not really shown, he carried on to six hearts. There might have been a problem if either defender was void of hearts, but such was not the case. The surprise on this deal was that West did not bid six spades. Against perfect defense, he would have given up 900, but that would have been a good bit better than the 1430 that North-South scored.

Girls host Pecos at 8 tonight

Snyder's Lady Tigers will try to rebound from their first loss of the season when they host Pecos at 8 tonight in a District 2-4A basketball game.

A junior varsity contest will start at 6:30. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Snyder goes into the contest with an 11-1 season record, 0-1 in district play. The Tigers lost to highly-touted Andrews in Andrews, 80-76, in the loop opener Tuesday.

Pecos also dropped its first district game, 61-38 to Sweetwater, and supports a 4-7 season record for tonight's ballgame.

In other 2-4A contests, ears will be pointed to Sweetwater to hear the outcome of tonight's Sweetwater-Andrews game. Sweetwater is 11-0 on the season and Andrews 9-0. Also, Lamesa, 7-8, 1-0, is at Fort Stockton, 7-6, 0-1, and Lake View, 8-6, 1-0, is at Monahans, 3-8, 0-1.

In playing Pecos tonight, Coach Ken Housden's troops will need to get off to a quicker start than they did at Andrews. The Tigers trailed 21-16 at the first quarter and 45-28 at half before coming back to make a game of it.

Snyder is led in scoring by 5-7 senior Karlene Thompson, who averages 26 points and 10 rebounds a game. Point guard Stephanie McKnight averages 14 points while Jill Roemisch puts in 8, Teri Sue Henry 7 and Donna Anderson 6.

Tonight's action will begin a three-game homestand for the Tigers, although they do not play again until Jan. 2. They entertain Lamesa on that date, then host Monahans on the 4th.

Giants battle for playoff; Steelers hope to save face

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - The Pittsburgh Steelers and New York Giants have far different goals heading into Saturday's final National Football League game of the regular season.

The Giants, 9-6, will be trying for a place in the playoffs while the Steelers, 7-8, will be playing for pride and to avoid a losing record.

The Giants can clinch a wild-card playoff berth - and the home-field advantage for the wild-card game - with a defeat of the Steelers in a nationally televised game at Giants Stadium. It would be their third wild-card in five seasons.

The Giants spent last Christmas in Fresno, Calif., preparing for a second-round playoff game against the San Francisco 49ers, the team that has the inside track on getting the second wild-card berth in the National Football Conference.

The Giants are tied with San Francisco and the Washington Redskins, all at 9-6, heading into the final week of the regular season, and New York holds all the advantages in the tiebreakers. New York could lose this weekend and still make the playoffs if either San Francisco or Washington loses.

The Redskins visit St. Louis on Saturday to face the Cardinals, 5-10, and on Sunday the 49ers will play host to the Dallas Cowboys, 10-5 and champions of the NFC East.

The long final weekend of the regular season opens tonight with Denver, still hoping for an AFC wild-card spot, visiting Seattle.

On Sunday, the Miami Dolphins look to sew up the AFC East title when Buffalo visits Miami's Orange Bowl. New England can clinch a playoff spot by beating visiting Cincinnati while the New York Jets can grab the other AFC berth with a victory over the touring Cleveland Browns.

The Browns, meanwhile, need a victory over the Jets or losses by either Pittsburgh or Cincinnati to claim the AFC Central crown.

In other Sunday action, NFC Central champion Chicago visits Detroit, Atlanta is at New Orleans, Green Bay is at Tampa Bay, Philadelphia is at Minnesota, San Diego is at Kansas City and Houston is at Indianapolis.

White doubtful

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas quarterback Danny White was downgraded Thursday from questionable to doubtful for Sunday's National Football League game against the San Francisco 49ers, a Cowboys spokesman said.

Play Monterey JV today...

Tigers control Clovis, 67-58

LUBBOCK – Snyder's Tigers took their fourth victory in a row here Thursday, stopping Clovis, N.M., in first-round action of the Reese Air Force Base Tournament, 67-58.

In other results from Thursday's President's Division of the three-day tourney, Crane defeated Fort Worth Eastern Hills 75-65 and Monterey junior varsity clipped Big Spring 70-65.

In games today, Snyder was to take on undefeated Monterey, 11-0, at 1 p.m. and Crane will face Roswell, N.M., at 4. Also, Big Spring and Clovis were to have played in the loser's bracket at 11:30 this morning.

"At times we played real well and at times we didn't. We made some mental errors and I think a lot of that has to do with the fact that our last three ballgames have been 20 points or better," said the Coach Larry Scott of Thursday's Tiger game. "It was a team we needed to play. We had to play hard.

"They beat us down the floor a couple of times. Our lack of offensive rebounding in first half and their fast break kept them in the game."

Snyder led 16-12 at the end of the first period and held a slim, 31-29 advantage at halftime. The Tigers also won the third quarter, 19-17.

Clovis kept fighting, however, and went in front 54-53 with 5:21 left in the game when Kelly Acy put up back-to-back buckets. Snyder came back to go ahead 57-55 on an 18-foot baseline shot from Mike McWilliams, who was playing for the first time since suffering an ankle injury in the Midland game (Dec. 10). The senior guard also bagged a pair of free shots to make it a 59-55 ballgame with 3:22 to play. Snyder never trailed again.

Clovis had been in a zone defense most of the game but went man-to-man in the final few minutes. Snyder immediately jumped into its 3-Game - a continuous motion offense designed to set up a high percentage shot near the goal - and got a couple of easy buckets.

The Tigers, now 8-2 on the season, got 17 points from Bobby Scott, 11 apiece from Chris Garrett and Trey Tippens and 9 from Don Osborn.

McWilliams also punched in 9, including 5 from the free throw line, while Jackie Anderson added 8.

The Tigers were led on the boards by Garrett, who pulled down 14.

Clovis was led by Vernon Dobbs, who scored 28 points.

"It seemed like no matter how he put the ball up and no matter how well we defensed him, the ball was going in the hole," said Coach Scott of the 6-0 senior.

Kelly added 15 points.

Monterey might not appear as top competition since they are a junior varsity unit, but Coach Scott said he believed they would be a good test for the Tigers.

"They are undefeated and they won the Midland JV tournament," he said. "They are mostly sophomores with a couple of juniors. They just have two players under 6-foot and they have three 6-3s. These players are Monterey's future for the next couple of years. I'm expecting a good ballgame."

Excited to be there...

Sweetwater's Stapler finally at state

By BILL HART
Abilene Reporter-News

SWEETWATER, Texas (AP) - In the past, Sweetwater coach W.T. Stapler would be starting his off-season program this week, getting ready for next year.

The shoulder pads, helmets, pants and jerseys, shoes, etc., would be put away, and the seniors would be told goodbye.

He would also be thinking of the Christmas holidays and trying to forget the past football season.

But that's not the case this year. For the first time in his 28 years of coaching, Stapler's football season isn't over.

He's preparing the Mustangs for the Class AAAA state championship game against Tomball Saturday in Fort Worth's Amon Carter Stadium.

Sweetwater has been in a state championship before, in 1957, against Nederland, losing 20-7. But, this is Stapler's first state title game and oddly, it falls on Dec. 21, the same date the 1957 Mustangs played.

So, what's different about this week?

"Well, the assistants will be doing most of the coaching, like they always have," Stapler said. "I don't have to worry about making playoff plans for next week. This is the last game.

"I'm getting more telephone calls. We're getting more media attention, and you can see by the letters on my desk. I have't had a chance to read all of them."

A couple of the letters were from head coaches in District 2-AAAA, of which Sweetwater is a member, wishing the Mustangs good luck against Tomball.

Others are from old friends Stapler hadn't heard from in a long time, and others are just from well-wishers.

"This is a week to enjoy, and that's what I'm gonna do- enjoy it the best I can. We'll be busy, but I've never been this excited before."

Stapler's memory is short. He jumped at least three feet off the ground Saturday when Anthony Norman pulled in a Neal Hoover pass for a 63-yard touchdown.

That tied the score at 21 against Austin Westlake, but it put Sweetwater ahead on penetrations. Sweetwater eventually won the game on penetrations, 7-4, to make the final.

Watching that game from the pressbox was Morris Southall, the retiring Brownwood assistant who gave Stapler his first coaching job at Winters in 1958.

Two years later, Stapler joined C.D. "Chuck" York's staff at Conroe. York, the year before, had won a state championship at Brady after Stamford had been stripped of the title because of violated University Interscholastic League rules.

"I really hadn't planned on staying at Conroe over a couple of years, then I was coming back to West Texas," Stapler said.

Those two years turned out to be 20.

In 1963 he became head track coach, and one of his stars was Dave Roberts, who later became a world record holder in the pole vault.

In 1969, Stapler was named head football coach at Conroe, but none of his or York's teams never got past the second round of the playoffs.

There were many reasons why York's and Stapler's teams at Conroe didn't make it to the finals:

- John Tyler High School beat Conroe 10-7, and it went on to win state. Among its players were Earl Campbell (perhaps the greatest high school running back of all time) and Ronnie Lee and Gary Don Johnson, (who went to Baylor and are now in the pros).

- Plano beat Conroe in 1973 and went on to win state. Among Plano's star was Billy Ray Smith, a future Arkansas standout now in the pros.

- Three years of playing against Curtis Dickey and his Bryan standouts, Norm Bulaich of LaMarque, Steve Worster of Bridge City; and Mile Langhenning of Brenham, who went to Texas Tech.

In 1980, Sweetwater offered Stapler that chance to come back to West Texas, and he took it.

Sweetwater wasn't the likely spot to think playoffs, much less state championships.

There hadn't been a winning season since 1971, and that was 6-4. After that came 2-7-1, 2-8, 0-10, 1-9, 4-6, 3-7 and 1-9 years.

Sweetwater won six of its first seven games in 1981, but injuries set in, and the Mustangs lost their last three games.

In 1982 Sweetwater came out of the blocks in high gear, winning the first six games. Again, injuries and no depth killed the Mustangs.

The next year Sweetwater went 7-2-1 with "a bunch of ragnots who didn't want to do anything but play football," Stapler said. Seven were sophomores.

Last year, the Mustangs won their first district championship since 1964 and got to the semifinals before losing to Denison, 31-7. Denison went on to win state.

Sixteen players from that team returned this year, and despite injuries virtually every week, the Mustangs kept winning and are now set for the biggest game of of their lives.

Of the 14 games, 11 have been blowouts. The Mustangs lost to Abilene High, 18-0, then had to rally for a 14-10 victory over Monahans to win district. They also had to come from behind against Westlake.

"I'm humbled, and I know I'm fortunate after coaching all these years. I can't imagine what it's like playing for a state championship," Stapler said.

Grocery Checkout Policy Poses a Relative Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This letter seeks your advice about a problem that is probably familiar to many of your readers. The supermarket where I am employed has a policy that forbids customers from purchasing items that will be rung up at the register operated by a relative.

My mother-in-law thinks this policy is an insult and refuses to shop here even though she has shopped here exclusively for years. (She has to go out of her way to shop elsewhere.)

I am not the only member of the family working here—there are three of us! We have tried to tell "Mom" that this is a common practice among retail stores and is not meant as an insult to its employees or their relatives.

We employees think our relatives should patronize this store, as it helps the volume of sales.

We would appreciate your views as well as those of your readers.

CASHIER,
NIAGARA COUNTY, N.Y.

DEAR CASHIER: The policy that prevails at your place of employment was established for a valid reason. Everyone involved—employees and their relatives—should realize this, and accept it without feeling offended or resentful.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You stated in a recent column that a stepmother is the wife of one's father by a subsequent marriage, and a stepfather is the husband of one's mother by a subsequent marriage.

Abby, I may be wrong on this, but I always believed that as long as one's mother or father is living, there is no actual "stepparent"—they are introduced as "my father's wife, Mary," or "my mother's husband, John."

MRS. R.,
CLEARWATER, FLA.

DEAR MRS. R.: When a parent marries again, regardless of whether the original mate is living or not, the new mate is a stepparent to the children.

For help with a stepfamily problem, and the locations of the chapters near you, write to: The Stepfamily Association of America Inc., 28 Allegheny Ave., Baltimore, Md. 21204. Please include a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am upset and disgusted by a recent experience and hope you can tell me how to cope with the hurt.

I am the mother of three daughters, ages 4, 2 and 6 weeks old. The youngest was just christened in the Catholic Church, as were her two sisters when they were 6 weeks old. All three wore the same christening dress, which was given to me by my husband's sister. (I'll call her Dee.) Dee herself had been christened in that dress, and I was thrilled and honored when she gave it to me for my first daughter's christening. Afterward, I carefully put it away.

Last week, after the christening of my third daughter, Dee just plain took the dress off my bed and walked off with it!

I am hurt to the core because all three of my daughters were christened in that dress and I was saving it for them to use for their children one day.

If Dee had told me she was only lending me that dress, my brothers and sisters who were the godparents to all my children would have bought me one.

Who is wrong, Abby? Dee for repossessing the dress? Or me, for assuming it was mine when she gave it to me for my first daughter's christening?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Dee should not have repossessed the dress without informing you. And since she gave you the dress without making it clear that she wanted it back, you had every right to assume it was yours to keep.

I advise you to call your sister-in-law and address your questions to her. Only she can answer them.

Angry kin denounce no pass rule

TOM BEAN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Mark White calls the incident "unfortunate," but Chuck Miller's family had harsher words for Texas' no pass, no play rule that kept the boy from singing Christmas carols to his blind grandmother.

Miller, a Tom Bean seventh-grader who failed life science during the second six weeks of school, was barred Wednesday from joining his classmates to sing Christmas carols at the Whitewright Nursing Home.

But the real victim, according to Chuck's mother, Jackie Miller Kingston, was the boy's 77-year-old grandmother.

The boy was instructed to stay in detention hall while the other choir members sang "Silent Night" and "Jingle Bells" to the elderly citizens of the nursing home, including Chuck's grandmother, Lois Miller.

"We had already told my mother that he was going to get to come. She said, 'Oh, I can already see him and hear him singing to me.' It was pretty hard to go up there and tell her that he wasn't," Mrs. Kingston said.

Glenn announces air safety probe

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. John Glenn, citing allegations of safety abuses in the U.S. airline industry, says the Senate's investigatory unit will launch a probe into all facets of air safety.

Glenn, D-Ohio, a member of the Senate Subcommittee on Investigations, said Thursday in Washington that he is alarmed by reports of airlines' "corner-cutting" on safety.

Happy 16th Wade

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Dec. 21, 1985

In the year ahead, you will be instrumental in organizing an interesting enterprise. It will be something grander in scale than you've dealt with previously.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It will take the edge off of your good time today if you neglect your duties. Get responsibility out of the way early, then go have a ball. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If anyone is entitled to have a good time today, it's you. But don't take this as your cue to overindulge. Know when to call it a night.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you might feel compelled to make some improvements around the house, but don't undertake a major renovation. You could lose interest before it's completed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In friendly conversations with pals today, try not to introduce volatile topics. Religion or politics could lead to heated debates.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be reasonably good at managing your personal affairs today, but you might not be as adept at handling things for others. Be careful about your involvements.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Confidential family matters should not be discussed in front of outsiders today by either you or your mate. Talk only when others aren't present.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Profitable results are possible today, but you must handle business matters with extreme care. Don't demand too much or give away more than is necessary.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) At a social gathering with friends today, don't try to be the center of attention. You'll be more effective if you're a bit laid back.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It will be a mistake if you take things for granted today where an important issue is at stake. Indifference could cost you victory.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Weigh your every word before speaking today. Unless you are on guard, you might unintentionally blurt out something others will find offensive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's best today that you make do with what you have and not borrow anything from others, especially money. Hard feelings could result if you don't repay promptly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Show your mate the same consideration and attention you show friends today. If he or she feels neglected it could lead to harsh words.

Ask The Preacher

"Is Dec. 25th REALLY Jesus' birthday?"

By Randall Gray

Probably not.

An interesting fact about Christmas is that it is celebrated on different dates in different countries across the world. Other popular dates include March 25th and January 6th.

As a rule, most churches in Western countries agree on December 25th as the date to be set aside, but certainly not because the hard evidence supports this date. In the final analysis, scholars simply do not know.

I'm not so sure, however, that it really matters anyway. The point of Christmas, it seems to me, is that we have designated a day, nationwide, when we give praise and thanks and celebration to honor the event of the Savior's arrival.

I really see Christmas and Thanksgiving in a very similar way. Thanksgiving is a day we set aside to thank God for His physical blessings. Christmas we set aside as a day to thank God for the greatest of His spiritual blessings to mankind, the baby Jesus.

Merry Christmas!

Children die in father's suicide

AUSTIN (AP) — Sam and Dorothy Evans say they didn't really want their grandsons, Brandon and Zachery Salinas, to go with their father when he picked them up at the Evans' home last Saturday.

The boys feared their father, who had beaten his wife for 12 years and threatened the family before. Things had become so bad for Amanda Salinas, she was divorcing Juanito "Johnny" Salinas.

The Evans' concerns increased Saturday when Zachery, 4, complained of a stomach ache and Brandon, 9, suggested a trip to the library instead of a movie with their father.

The boys often made excuses to avoid seeing Salinas. But their grandparents told them everything would be all right and that Salinas, 31, would bring them home by afternoon.

They never returned.

The bodies of Salinas and the boys were found Sunday east of Georgetown. They were poisoned after Salinas ran a rubber hose from his car's exhaust pipe inside the vehicle.

Just two weeks before, Salinas had threatened to commit suicide if Mrs. Sallinas, 30, divorced him and took the children.

The boys were buried Wednesday, eulogized as "victims of sin." The telescope Brandon wanted for Christmas was in the coffin with him. Zachery's favorite doll was buried with him.

"Our only solace is that they're with God in heaven and that they didn't have to lead a hard life to get there," said Evans, 62, a home repairman.

Salinas' death ended 12 years of self-described torment for his wife, who met him when they were in the sixth grade in Galveston.

Mrs. Salinas said they began dating when she was 14. By 18, she was living with him. She stayed by him when he was picked up on a murder charge after a stabbing outside a topless bar in Galveston in 1972. The charge was dismissed. They moved to Austin in 1974.

Maybe it was schoolgirl infatuation or a sense of loyalty that kept Mrs. Salinas with her common-law husband for years and eventually allowed him to possess and dominate her, she said.

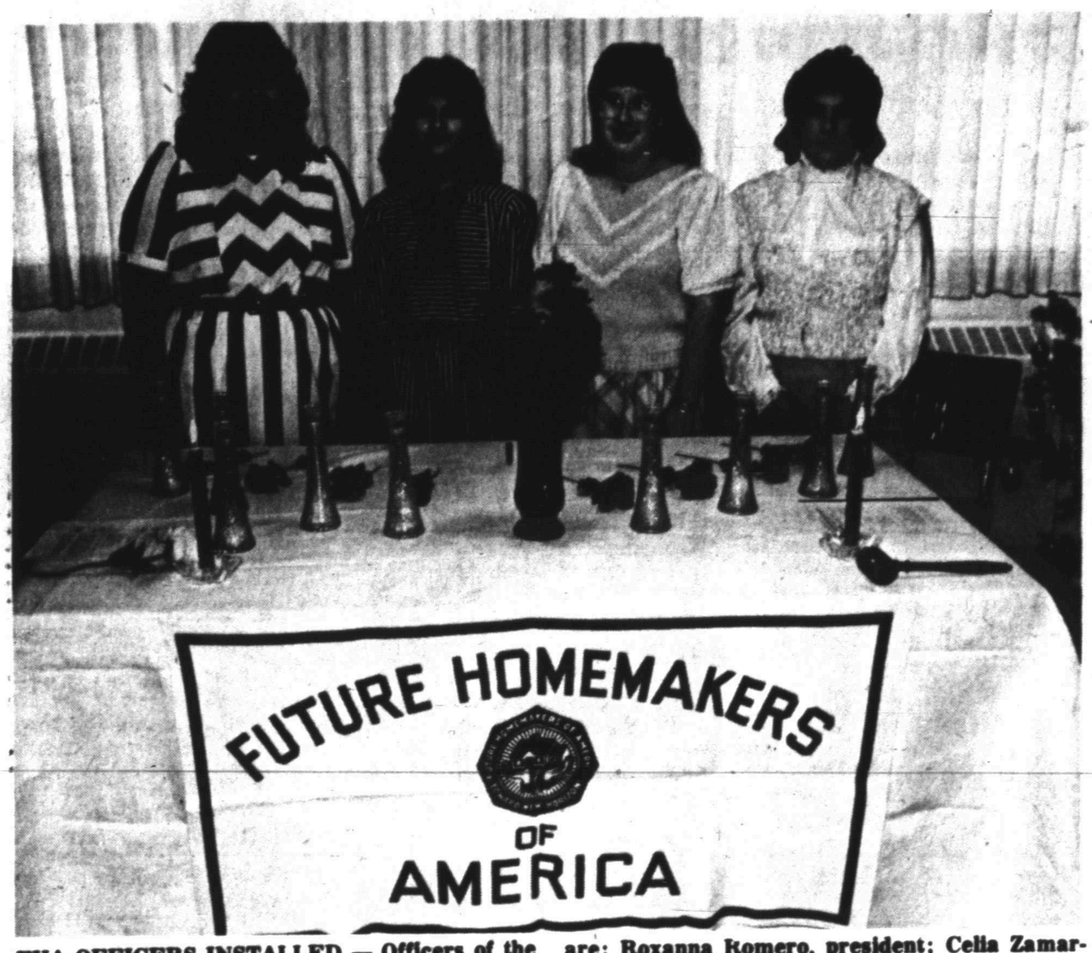

"I guess I stayed with him mostly out of fear," she said. "For 12 years my mind was a blank. He would beat me one night and then the next day say he was sorry and say he would never do it again. But I never believed him. And I would never go through it again."

Man says Jesus born in summer

BETHLEHEM, Occupied West Bank (AP) — New evidence suggests Jesus was not born Dec. 25, the date on which Christmas has been celebrated for 16 centuries, and that Halley's comet, rather than a star, alerted three wise men to his birth, according to a Biblical scholar.

Jim Fleming, founder and dean of the non-profit Jerusalem Center for Biblical Studies, also says Jesus probably wasn't born in the year 1 A.D. as popularly believed, but in 12 B.C.

Supporting that date is a new translation of a tablet that shows a population census was ordered in region in 12 B.C., and evidence that Halley's comet was visible that year, Fleming said.

Luke's Gospel recounts that Jesus' parents, Mary and Joseph, had traveled to Bethlehem to be counted for the census when he was born in the stable of a crowded inn. The family lived in Nazareth.

Fleming, 42, a native of East Meadow, N.Y., said one popular belief about Jesus' birth does appear correct: he apparently was born in Bethlehem near the present-day Church of the Nativity, if not at the exact spot marked inside the church.

Archeological evidence shows a church first was built on the site in the 4th century, on the edge of biblical Bethlehem, where an inn could have been located, he said.

Reports link Nicaraguan rebels to cocaine trafficking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nicaraguan rebels operating in northern Costa Rica have engaged in cocaine smuggling, using some of the profits to finance their war against Nicaragua's leftist government, according to U.S. investigators and American volunteers who work with the rebels.

The smuggling activity has involved refueling planes at clandestine airstrips and sometimes helping transport cocaine to other Costa Rican points for shipment to the United States, said U.S. law enforcement officials.

The officials, who refused to be identified by name, said the smuggling involves individuals from the largest of the U.S.-backed Contra groups — the Nicaraguan Democratic Force (FDN) and the Revolutionary Democratic Alliance (ARDE) — as well as a splinter group known as M-3.

A leader of M-3, Sebastian Gonzalez Mendiola, was indicted in Costa Rica for cocaine trafficking a year ago. No other Contra leaders have been charged.

FDN spokesman Bosco Matamoros denied any drug involvement by his group. He said FDN provided support for Contra troops in Costa Rica, but never conducted any operations in that country.

Levy Sanchez, a Miami-based spokesman for ARDE leader Eden Pastora, said ARDE has "never been involved in any drug traffickiffg."

A new National Intelligence Estimate, a secret CIA-prepared analysis on narcotics trafficking, alleges that one of ARDE's top commanders used cocaine profits this year to buy a $250,000 arms shipment and a helicopter, according to a U.S. government official in Washington.

President Reagan this year accused the leftist government of Nicaragua of "exporting drugs to poison our youth" after a Nicaraguan government employee, Federico Vaughan, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Miami.

A spokesman for the Drug Enforcement Administration said DEA investigators are still not sure if Sandinista leaders were involved.

Costa Rica, located south of Nicaragua, is a short flight from the drug-producing areas of Colombia.

Contra leaders claim a combined force of about 20,000 men, with most fighters based in Honduras. The Costa Rican-based rebels — several thousand at most — are less organized than those in Honduras and very poorly financed.

Associated Press reporters interviewed officials from the Drug Enforcement Administration, Customs Service, FBI and Costa Rica's Public Security Ministry, as well as rebels and Americans who work with them. The sources, both inside government and out, spoke only on condition that they not be identified by name.

Five American rebel supporters said they were willing to talk about the drug smuggling because they feared illegal activities would ultimately discredit the war effort. Several of the volunteers said they supplied information about the smuggling to U.S. investigators.

Three U.S. officials who monitor drug traffic from Colombia through Central America to the United States said they began receiving reports about Contra involvement in cocaine shipments in 1984, about the time Congress cut off CIA funding to the Contra rebels. Each official said he considered the reports "reliable."

Court breakout attempt reported

NANTES, France (AP) — Gunmen holding 13 hostages inside a courthouse tried to break out of the building with their captives early today, but lost heart and turned back when they reached the darkened lobby, a source at the scene said.

The source, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said one of the three gunmen fired two shots during the pre-dawn escape attempt, and that in the confusion, a woman court clerk who had been taken hostage was left behind and escaped.

She was the 22nd captive freed since a self-proclaimed Palestinian guerrilla and two robbery defendants commandeered the courtroom on Thursday. The source's report could not immediately be confirmed by officials.

Heavily armed police commandos ringed the Nantes courthouse as the standoff entered its second day. One of the gunmen warned in a nationally televised broadcast that "the slightest attempt by police to intervene will be immediately met with a response in the seconds that follow."

Michel Chauty, mayor of the city about 300 miles southwest of Paris, visited the courthouse at 9:30 a.m. and reported that "negotiations are continuing and there is great tension," the mayor's spokesman, Daniel Devisme, said.

Officials face expiring terms

Other Scurry County elected officials with four-year terms to expire at the end of 1986 are: District Clerk Polly Underwood, County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth, County Treasurer Billy Wayne Thompson and the county's two Justices of the Peace, Dan Callaway and R.C. Nixon.

Two mishaps occur in city

Two traffic accidents — one officially recorded as major — were reported in Snyder Thursday.

Christy Bruns of 2906 Ave. V and Michael Browning of 2376 Sunset Dr. both sustained minor injuries in a three-vehicle mishap at the intersection of 37th St. and Ave. V at 5:45 p.m.

Neither Bruns nor Brown required medical treatment.

Bruns was the driver of a 1971 Chevrolet which was involved in tha collision with a 1976 Pontiac driven by Brown and a 1981 Oldsmobile driven by Ruby Mixon of 2408 42nd St.

The day's first minor accident report was filed at 8:21 a.m.

According to the report, a 1983 Ford pickup owned by Blankenship Packer Service of Snyder was struck Wednesday night by a vehicle which left the scene.

The truck was damaged while parked in the 2600 Block of Ave. U between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 6:45 a.m. Thursday.

Grass fire is northwest of city

Snyder firemen were called to extinguish a grass fire northwest of the city Thursday afternoon.

Firefighters were dispatched to a location about six miles northwest of Snyder off Farm Road 1611 at 12:05 p.m. and the blaze was extinguished with no property damage reported.

cepting inquiries from all interested personnel, indicating applications will be welcome from both inside and outside the WTC campus.

The letters notifying the college president search is underway will be mailed to all college presidents in the state, he pointed out.

At Friday's meeting also, the board officially accepted Newbury's resignation. It will be effective Jan. 31.

"On behalf of the entire board, we are extremely sorry Dr. Newbury is leaving Scurry County," Jones said. "He has been extremely effective leading our college, and he and his family will indeed be missed. All of us wish only the best for him and his family on the new work at Howard Payne."

Krenek's appointment as acting chief executive officer is the latest development in his 14-year tenure at WTC, the past three as dean of instruction.

"Dr. Krenek has been an effective faculty member and administrator during his 14-years here, and we are pleased to have a person of his caliber to perform this important interim assignment," Jones said.

Surviving tot has problems

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Doctors at Wilford Hall Medical Center have given a clean bill of health to John Afentakis, the only surviving quintuplet born last year to his Greek parents.

But Dimitrios and Kyra Afentakis say they are hoping doctors will be able to solve one more problem. Their son is blind.

Doctors say problems with sight are common among babies born as premature as John.

John and his four siblings were born Nov. 23, 1984, at Wilford Hall. Within a few days, all but John had died.

Doctors said John survived partly because he was free from a bacterial infection the others contracted in the womb.

"He survived because of a miracle," Afentakis said. "I need another doctor to do another miracle for his eyes."

The baby's retinas became detached because of scarring from injuries suffered because of his prematurity, said Col. Donald Null, the newborn specialist who cared for the quints.

"With babies born premature at 22 to 24 weeks, eye problems are very common," Null said.

Afentakis said an eye specialist in Memphis, Tenn., recently has given the family hope that he can treat John.

Pupil says he bought grades

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Math teacher Dennis Shannon's offer to accept money for better grades started as an open and longstanding joke, Eastern Hills High School student Steve Moore said.

Later, it turned into a serious proposition, said Moore, 17, one of five juniors who admitted to school officials that they had bought grades from Shannon.

"I'm not real crazy about geometry. I didn't see how it would help me in any way later on," Moore said. "I wouldn't have done it if I didn't think I could get away with it."

Moore said he paid $75 for a grade of 91. The four other students said they paid $50 each for C's.

Shannon resigned from the Fort Worth school district Dec. 3, one day after Eastern Hills Principal Johnny Largent said he learned of the allegations. A week later, the school board accepted Shannon's resignation.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

See specialists for jaw pain

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — In 1977, I got a lick from a tailor machine in the cotton mill. My jaw felt like a knife going up and down. I went to a nerve doctor, who put me in the hospital and deadened the nerve. Now the feeling has come back, and so has the ache. My jaw is swollen up and I have headaches. I have spent over $5,000 on my jaw, and the doctors all say that they can't do anything. Has the government given orders to doctors to do nothing for old people?

DEAR READER — Federal policies seem more and more to disregard patient care in favor of cost-effectiveness. Although the government has not, to my knowledge, ordered doctors to ignore old people's ailments, I can understand your frustration at not being able to obtain help. Before giving up hope, make an appointment in the maxillofacial clinic of a university hospital. Specialists in facial injuiries may be able to help you.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have a noise in my left carotid artery. Two years ago I had a sonogram, which the cardiovascular surgeon said showed a little irregularity in the artery. I just had it rechecked and nothing's changed. What do you suggest?

DEAR READER — A noise in the carotid arteries, the two major blood vessels in the neck, usually indicates a partial obstruction (from an artereosclerotic plaque) or from kinking of the artery. You apparently have an artereosclerotic narrowing in your carotid that is producing an irregularity in the arterial lining. Clots can form in this roughened plaque, subsequently break off and be carried to the brain, causing a stroke. So I'm concerned about your disorder.

Although there are risks in having a carotid angiogram, this type of X-ray test will tell the doctors if your "bruit," or noise, is something requiring treatment. Ask your physician if such a test would be advisable in your case.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had surgery twice for kidneystones. After extensive testing, my endocrinologist prescribed a diuretic to be taken on a daily basis for an indefinite period. I'm 28 and would like to become pregnant in the very near future. What are the possible side-effects of diuretics on the fetus?

DEAR READER — There are many diuretics and each has its own side-effects and complications. Many physicians believe that any drug taken early in pregnancy may affect the fetus. Ask your gynecologist if the medicine you are taking could affect pregnancy. You might also question your endocrinologist about the use of a special diet to prevent kidneystones. With your two doctors working in concert for your well-being, you should be able to get through an uneventful pregnancy without the threat of kidneystones.

If you have questions about MENOPAUSE, you can get answers in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Menopause.
