Story Of Bold Banditry Told

Twenty-Year-Old Youth Is Held After Robberies Staged In Four Counties

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 18—A 20-year-old youth last night calmly told a tale of bold banditry in four counties. He was then whisked to Denton where Chief of Police Jack Harrison said charges of armed robbery would be filed against him.

Deputy Sheriff J. V. Green found Lawrence Edward Byrom at the home of his mother.

The youth told police his mother, Mrs. Edith Palmer, convinced him in tearful pleadings to give himself up.

Byrom admitted in a statement witnessed by a Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter and others two robberies Wednesday night—one in Dallas, the other at Denton—and the abduction yesterday of a Cooke county cotton farmer.

Manhunt Is Ended

The arrest of Byrom ended a manhunt that started here Wednesday night and that at one time had 30 officers and an airplane searching North Texas.

Byrom said he started his crime spree when he passed the Lawrence Scarborough used car lot here and saw an auto that looked "too good to pass up."

He took a 1937 model sedan and in ransacking the lot office picked up "about 25 sets of keys" and a rain hat belonging to one of the salesmen.

Snarled Operations

The salesman, Robert Burgess, said loss of the keys snarled operations at the lot yesterday. "We couldn't move a car," he said.

Byrom said he first drove to Dallas and robbed a service station attendant of "about $20 cash." Then he drove to Denton, where

Spending Cut To Eliminate Deficit Asked

President Repeats His Budget Ideas For "19th" Time

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—President Truman's new mention of a tax boost as the only way to erase the federal deficit touched off fresh demands at the Capitol today for a spending cut instead.

Mr. Truman repeated at his news conference late yesterday that he knows of no way to balance income and outgo without raising taxes.

Senator Millikin of Colorado, senior Republican on the tax-writing Senate finance committee, took issue with the President.

"The way to balance the budget," Millikin told a reporter, "is to reduce spending and there is plenty of opportunity to do it.

Excise May Be Cut

"I don't think you are going to see any tax increase next year. In fact, there may be some cuts in excise taxes."

The excise levies are taxes on such items as jewelry, cosmetics, electric light bulbs, transportation tickets and telephone bills. The Senate has a committee-approved bill on its calendar which would cut most of those taxes 50 per cent or more—back to 1942 levels.

Millikin said the general economy is in no condition to stand a tax increase. He added that it would "stifle the dynamic spending by business which is necessary for prosperity."

Milikin steered through the Senate the $5,000,000,000 income tax cut bill which Congress passed over Mr. Truman's veto in 1948. The President has blamed that reduction for most of the $5,500,000,000 budget deficit which the administration expects for this fiscal year, which began July 1.

Demos Not Checked

Another Republican leader, Rep. Wolcott of Michigan, agreed with Millikin that a tax increase next year is unlikely.

"I am against it," Wolcott declared. "The budget can and must be balanced by reducing expenditures. If we can't get along without deficit financing, then the future doesn't look very bright for us."

Democratic leaders in charge of the President's program in Congress were not available for comment.

The discussion of taxes at Mr. Truman's news conference got started when he was asked to comment on a published report which

Four Survive After Engine Causes Blaze

Plane Was Taking Off To Hunt For A Sister Craft

(By The United Press)

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 18—Five airmen were killed when a B-29 crashed and burst into flames in the mudflats on the edge of Tampa bay today after taking off for the giant search for another B-29 off Berumda.

Public information officers at Macdill air force base here said four men survived the crash. They did not know immediately whether the bomber carried a full crew complement of 11 men.

Engine Caught Fire

Lt. Lloyd Strot, base PIO officer, said the B-29 took off from here for the Bermuda search area and was only a few miles out when it informed the base tower that its No. 4 engine—right outboard—was on fire and that it was returning to the field.

The bomber came in from the south but it failed to make the runway and crashed into the muck and slime left by an unusually low tide on the edge of Tampa bay.

Crash boats were unable to reach the blazing bomber because of the low water level. Heavy crash trucks from the base could not reach its side because of the muck.

Based At Roswell

The bomber had flown from its home field at Walker air force base, Roswell, N. M., to take part in the search for the missing B-29.

The bomber came in low for its attempted landing. Just south of the north-south runway, its right wing dipped and sliced into the muck. The big plane cartwheeled, exploded and burned.

Were Thrown Clear

Strot said the four survivors and a fatally injured airman were thrown clear of the aircraft. The four men were unable to re-tenter the blazing plane to attempt a rescue of their comrades trapped inside.

Base personnel waded through muck to the scene with hand fire extinguishers which had no effect on the flaming gasoline that enveloped the bomber.

The injured man was carried to dry ground where an ambulance was waiting. He died en route to a hospital.

Walker air force base identified all but one of the dead. That name was withheld pending notice to relatives.

The other dead were named as

Heroic Mother Saves Two Of Her Children

Father, Son And Two Daughters Victims In Fire

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 18 — Flames which swept a three-room home here early today caused the death of the father, his two daughters, and an 18 months old son.

The dead are Bennie Saldana, sr., 25-year-old veteran, his daughters Gloria, 3, and Dora, 7, and Valentino, 18 months old son.

Valentino died nine hours after being rushed to a hospital with third degree burns.

Mother In Hospital

The 24-year-old mother, Mrs. Concepcion Saldana, is in the Robert B. Green hospital, suffering from hysteria, shock, cuts on both arms, and burns about the face.

The two children she rescued from the flames, her 27-day old son Andres, and 4-year-old Bennie Saldana, jr., are in the care of a relative, Vicente Saldana.

The mother was injured, police said, when she broke a window in an effort to get Valentino, Andres and Bennie jr., to safety.

The back door of the three-room house in which the Saldana's lived was blocked by flames, and the front door was barred by a chest of drawers which Mrs. Saldana said has been shoved against it to keep it from blowing open during the night.

Awakened By Flames

Mrs. Saldana told police she and her husband were awakened shortly after 1:30 a. m. by smoke and crackling flames. Her husband, sleeping in another part of the house, came to her room, she said, then went to the back part of the house where 3-year-old Gloria was asleep. He disappeared and never returned, she said.

After the blaze was brought under control, firemen and policemen found Saldana's body, face down on the floor near the couch where Gloria's body was discovered.

71-Year-Old Vice-President Of U. S. Takes Petite Widow, 38, For Bride In St. Louis

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—Vice President Alben W. Barkley and Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley exchanged wedding vows today, he with a resounding baritone "I will" and she in a low murmur.

Her voice would scarcely be heard in the comparatively small chapel of St. John's Methodist church.

A crowd which Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell estimated at more than 5,000 waited outside and cheered wildly when the couple appeared after the ceremony.

Tears In Her Eyes

There was a slight appearance of tears of happiness in Mrs. Hadley's eyes as she and the Vice President, arm in arm and beaming at each other, walked down the aisle from the altar.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt performed the ceremony with the assistance of the Rev. Albea Godbold, pastor of the church.

The only guests were members of the families of the bride and groom—33 of them—plus the vice president's civilian aide William Vaughan.

MRS. ALBEN BARKLEY

They sat on the right hand side of the chapel. On the other side were some 60 representatives of the press and radio.

There were no ushers.

Slight Delay Caused

The wedding was scheduled for 11 a. m. (CST). The crowd at the canopied entrance of the chapel caused a slight delay and it was at 11:05 when the organ rang out with "Here Comes The Bride."

Mrs. Hadley, wearing a woolen suit of "Barkley blue," especially designed for the occasion, walked down the aisle holding the arm of her brother, William Rucker of West Palm Beach, Fla.

As they stopped in front of Bishop Holt and Mr. Godbold before the altar, Barkley stepped over to her right side. With him as best man, his son, David M. Barkley,

Spy Ring Claimed Smashed As 35 Czechs Get Prison Terms

(By The Associated Press)

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 18—A Prague state court announced the smashing of a big spy ring today as it sent 35 Czechs to prison for sentences ranging from life to one year. They were convicted of aiming to overthrow the Communist government.

The group included two former members of the Czechoslovak security police. Three of the accused were women.

The court charged them with spying for an unnamed western power, with the goal of trying to overthrow the Czech government.

Most Held In Secret

The trial, which lasted eight days, was one of a series of treason trials going on virtually nonstop in Czechoslovak courts. Most of them are held in secret.

Sentences against another anti-government group are expected to be announced later today.

Indications that more espionage arrests and trials were contemplated in a special security police broadcast today urging greater vigilance against the "aims of the rotten western reactionary regime which sends spies and diversionist agents into our country."

Accused Of Spying

The group sentenced today in the court of Prague's big Pankrac political prison was headed by Oldrich Novotny, 27, former security police officer who was ousted when the Communists took over the government in 1948. He was accused of spying for a foreign power — presumably the United States.

Novotny was sentenced to death, but his penalty was commuted to life imprisonment. He was also fined 10,000 crowns ($200) and all of his property was confiscated.

Another major defendant was Dr. Josef Sejnoha, former chief of the criminal department of the Prague security police under the pro-Communist government. He was sentenced to 22 years in prison.

Fled To Germany

The state charged that Novotny fled to Germany in October, 1948, and went into the spy service of a foreign power. He returned to Czechoslovakia, the charges read,

Five Killed In Jeep Accident

SEDALIA, Mo., Nov. 18. (UP)—Five persons were killed and three injured, two critically, when their jeep was struck by a Missouri Pacific passenger train near Sedalia today.

Sgt. Frank Gamber of the Sedalia police department said the eight persons in the jeep were employed on a contract job for the Rural Electrification administration.

Dead Are Identified

The identified dead, Gamber said, included:

Joe Townsend, Sedalia; Mort Reed, Sedalia; Harvey Bird, Sedalia; Tommie Reese, Wellsville, Mo.; M. Schumate, Sedalia.

It was feared that Walter Schied, Sedalia, would not survive his injuries.

Gene McCoy, Sedalia, was reported in critical condition.

Frank Kabler, Sedalia, was among the injured but it was believed at Bothwell hospital that he would recover.

The crash occurred on old highway 50, three miles northwest of Sedalia.

Harvard Student Is Victim Of Accident

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 18. (UP)—Peter L. Harbury, 28, of Scarsdale, N. Y., Harvard graduate student and athlete, was accidentlly electrocuted today while conducting a radar experiment in a university laboratory.

Though his only apparent injury was a slight burn on one finger of his right hand, associate medical examiner Leo T. Myles gave electrocution as the cause of death.

"He was holding a volt meter during an experiment on a radar machine at the time," said Dr. Myles.

DIES OF BURNS

KILGORE, Nov. 18. (AP)—James P. Fears, sr., about 60, died late yesterday from burns received in a grass fire here. Highway patrolmen investigating the fire found the body of the unconscious man and rushed him to a hospital.

Man Escapes Trap In Floyd Gin Fire

(Special To The Journal)

McCOY, Floyd County, Nov. 18—An early morning fire completely destroyed the McCoy Gin company here today (nine miles southwest of Floydada) and one employe narrowly escaped a flaming death.

The blaze started in the cleaning room about 4:15 a. m. and the blackening smoke and fire trapped P. L. Buske, until other employes came to his rescue. They broke a window from the outside of the building and "talked" him to a safe exit, according to L. Z. Miller, manager of the gin.

Loss Is Heavy

Loss of the gin was estimated by Miller at $50,000 to $80,000, covered by insurance, but considerably less than the real value of the plant. Repairs amounting to $20,000 had been completed recently. Owners of the company are Tom Edwards, Crosbyton, George Edwards and Raymond Aiken, both of Plainview.

Also destroyed by the fire were five to seven bales of cotton and 50 to 60 tons of seed.

Six employes were operating the gin when fire broke out in the wooden cleaners. An alarm was given to the Floydada fire department, but they didn't respond, Miller reported.

"That might have been rather useless," the manager said, "since the water supply was low, and flames spread so quickly."

Levelled In Hour

The gin was practically leveled in one hour, Miller said. Cotton seeds were still burning shortly after noon, however.

Included in the loss were the main gin building 90 by 24 feet, an engine room 30 by 30, the seed house 24 by 60, and a big shed on the south side 30 by 40 feet and covering three driveways. All were frame structures covered with tin. An office building was saved only because the wind shifted from the north to the east, according to Miller. About 150 bales of cotton on the yard

Pastors Star As Bottle Smashers

ANNISTON, Ala., Nov. 18 (UP)—Ministers of the Gospel were guest stars at a bottle-smashing ceremony here in which $100,000 worth of whiskey, wines and beer were smashed against the courthouse wall.

Sheriff A. A. Pate invited the ministers to help him dispose of liquor confiscated over a period of several months. Alabama is a wet state, but a lot of its supply apparently tries to avoid taxes.

"This is the greatest thing that has ever happened in Calhoun County," said the Rev. A. J. Snider as he paused for breath. "It has saved 150 lives, 150 divorces and 5,000 children who could have starved to death."

Man Charged With Murder

AMARILLO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Billy Max Mann was charged with murder with malice in the rifle slaying of his brother, Donald Mann, 23.

Police arrested him last night in an Amarillo depot. His brother was shot to death about 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

Murder Charges Filed

District Attorney Lloyd King said murder charges had been filed against Billy Max Mann.

Police were told that Donald Mann was in the living room of a home in the southwestern residential section of Amarillo. He was making a phone call when Billy Max Mann appeared in a doorway leading to a hall. Police said Billy Max Mann began firing.

Ran From Room

Police Seek Convict From Gaines County

ANGLETON, Nov. 18 (UP) — A negro convict serving a life sentence for murder escaped from Ramsey prison farm near here at dawn today.

At large was James Latham, 28, sentenced from Gaines county. Latham was received into the state prison system Dec. 12, 1941.

Prison officials said he slipped away while working in the prison dining room, stole a mule from the prison farm barn and rode away.

Bloodhounds were brought into the hunt within an hour, but failed to immediately pick up the scent.

Coplon Must Stand Trial In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan ruled today that Judith Coplon must stand trial with Russian engineer Valentin Gubitchev on spy conspiracy charges.

Ryan denied a motion by the ex-government girl's lawyer, Archibald Palmer, to hold that the trial would put his client in double jeopardy—that is, put her on trial twice for the same offense.

Miss Coplon already has been convicted in Washington on a similar charge involving the theft of official secrets for passing on to the Russiasn.

Gypsy Girl Is Kidnap Target

An attempted kidnaping of a 14-year-old gypsy girl and a car chase from Brownfield to Lubbock that resulted were reported to the sheriff's department here early today by the girl's father, Auther Joe Mitchell.

Mitchell related that four men in a large dark car drove up to a trailer he, employe of American Midway show, occupies with his family at Brownfield.

Struck With Pistol

An attempt was made to pull the girl, Helen, into the car. She screamed, and Mitchell ran to her assistance.

The largest man of the four struck Mitchell down with a pistol. The men raced away in their car toward Lubbock.

Mitchell said he regained consciousness momentarily lost and that he took his wife Katherine, his son Dewey, and his daughter into his automobile and chased the other car all the way into Lubbock.

He said he lost trace of it at Nineteenth and College Ave.

Investigation Continues

Mitchell was advised to return to Brownfield and report the case to authorities there. He did so.

Two other attempted molestings were reported to officials here.

A woman living in 250-block Ruby went to her home Thursday night, opened the front door and started to step inside.

Broke Loose And Ran

Someone reached out of the darkness inside the house and attempted to draw her in.

She broke loose and ran. The woman ran to the place where her husband is employed, and he called officials to investigate. Whoever had been in the house was gone when they arrived.

Clear, Cool Weather Forecast For Texas

(By The United Press)

Weather over the weekend in Texas will be "made to order" for those who like hunting, fishing and football.

The U. S. Weather bureau at Dallas said that skies promised to remain clear for the next 48 hours and that temperatures would rise throughout the state tomorrow.

Fair and continued cool weather was forecast for this afternoon and tonight.

Temperatures were mild after sunup this morning, although Flats and Dalhart reported subfreezing readings of 30 and 31 respectively, during the pre-dawn hours. Laredo recorded a high minimum of 55.

Temperatures Thursday ranged from a low maximum of 62 at Guadalupe and Texarkana to 81 at Laredo.

CURRAN SEIZES MEETING CONTROL

Revolting Union Left-Wingers End Up Second Best In Brawl

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — "Plenty of blood" was threatened today by revolting left-wingers of the strife-torn CIO National Maritime union, who came off second best in a free-swinging general membership meeting last night.

Big Joe Curran himself used an iron hand trying to quell the rebellion and stop the brawls between right and left-wing factions of his members.

No Peace In Sight

But there was no peace in sight in the open warfare that started Wednesday.

The towering international president of the NMU stalked into a battling crowd of 4,500 seamen last night and seized control of their meeting from left-wing rebels.

Curran, who had flown back from Texas in a chartered plane in response to an S.O.S., dodged a barrage of eggs and brickbats as he tossed his weight around on the platform.

His narrowly outvoted opponents, refusing to admit defeat, shouted "wait 'til tomorrow. There'll be plenty of blood on 17th street."

NMU headquarters on west 17th street — near the Hudson river piers — was a battleground on Wednesday. Curran officers were besieged upstairs as 600 left-wing

Defense Plans To Be Studied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—Diplomats from the 12 Atlantic pact countries meet today to consider secret plans drafted by their military chiefs to defend the western world.

Secretary of State Acheson was to preside over the meeting—the first working session of the pact council since the nations formally banded together in a defense alliance last April 14.

Ready For Approval

Diplomatic officials reported the main item of business at the State department meeting would be discussion of a single strategic defense plan, which is now ready in outline form for the council's approval.

They said a final okay probably would be delayed until after December 3 when the pact military committee meets in Paris to consider details involved in putting the strategic plan into operation.

Two other reports, one by the defense financial and economic committee and the other by the military production and supply board, also were scheduled for consideration at this session.

Little Debate Expected

Approval of the supply board report was expected without much debate. It deals with the problem of which member countries should manufacture the munitions, guns and equipment needed by the At-

Gasoline-Soaked Man Burned By Attackers

DETROIT, Nov. 18. — A middle-aged garage mechanic was made a human torch by two assailants who splashed a bucket of gasoline on his clothes and then touched a match to him.

Victim of the assault last night was Leo Mack, 49, who suffered third degree burns about his body. He was not expected to live.

Through burned lips he told police that as he walked down a dark alley near his home he heard someone say "let her go."

The gasoline splashed over his body and then one of his assailants touched a match to him.

Lubbock Churches Plan Special Program

Annual Thanksgiving Service Scheduled In City Wednesday

Program for the annual city-wide Thanksgiving service to be held in First Methodist church Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock was announced today by a committee of the Lubbock Ministerial association.

The Rev. Abe Hester, pastor of the College Avenue Baptist church, will preach the sermon and the Senior High school chorus, directed by J. M. Penn, will sing "The Pilgrim's Chorus," Wagner, and Kipling's "Recessional," DeKoven.

The complete program follows:

Opening hymn, choir and congregation invocation, the Rev. Claude E. Canterbury, rector of St. Paul's on the Plains Episcopal church; hymn, choir and congregation; Scripture reading, the Rev. R. B. Kelly, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene; special music by the high school chorus; Thanksgiving prayer, Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church; offering and prayer, the Rev. Armed Services To Make Budget Cuts

BOSTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson said today that from now on the armed services are going to do their own budget-slashing instead of leaving economy up to Congress.

The defense department hopes to pare two billion dollars next year off the current $15,000,000,000 budget, he declared, by presenting a "scientific budget . . . which will be more indicative of rock bottom needs."

Secretary Johnson addressed the wind-up of the two-day 25th annual New England conference of the New England council.

APPLICATION THEME AT SANDIA

Atmoic Weapons Being Made In New Mexico Laboratories

By RICK RAPHAEL

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 18—A high atomic energy official declared today "we are no longer experimenting" with atomic weapons at Sandia laboratories of the atomic energy commission—"we are producing them."

Rear Admiral George P. Kraker told for the first time today some of what goes on in the top-level atomic installation.

Kraker is field manager for the AEC. A naval ordnance and industrial expert, he was wartime commander of the U. S. S. Marblehead.

Working with the armed forces special weapons project, the Sandia laboratories are no longer engaged in research and academic development, Kraker declared today.

That is left to other atomic energy projects. Application is the theme at Sandia.

Combat Use Studied

This application goes into the "gadgets" being produced at the labs. "Gadget" is the nickname the workers apply to the still-secret weapons being developed. These are being studied and learned for combat use by hand-picked men of the armed forces, who share Sandia base with the laboratories.

Formerly operated by scientists of the University of California, the laboratories recently went under the management of the Sandia corporation, a subsidiary of Western Electric.

Behind high steel fences, skilled technicians and engineers have replaced the scientists who produced the world's first atomic bomb.

How do these men react to their tasks of producing some of the world's most deadly weapons?

"To the majority of our people here," Kraker said, "this is just another skilled industrial job."

No Great Tension

There is no tension, no air of foreboding, no feeling of impending danger at Sandia.

"We have no need for fear," Kraker said, "for there is a minimum of danger involved in our operation. Every possible safety precaution has been taken and our people know it."

Kraker said the products of the minds and hands of Sandia workers spread across the nation into large and small industrial organizations. Machine shops everywhere are producing the parts and machinery which go into the constantly remodeled "gadgets."

No product of Sandia is ever finished—it is always just another step forward, the retired naval officer declares.

All the global operations and military aspects of the atomic energy commission, from uranium exploration to the test theories of nuclear fission, eventually funnel into Sandia.

Begins With Equation

From every corner of the nation come the black, closely-guarded vans and trucks of the AEC into the Santa Fe operations office, which includes both Sandia and Los Alamos.

Kraker said work on the weapons often begins with nothing more than a scientific equation developed in one of the other AEC projects.

Sandia technicians go into a huddle with the scientists and experts of the armed forces. A model is made, torn down, remade, thrown away and begun again. Then a pilot model gets the same treatment.

Finally from the AEC procurement division go orders to manufacturers throughout the country for parts large and small. Back come the parts to Sandia to the production and assembly lines of the lab and the nation is a little better armed than before.

Sandia laboratory was born a few short weeks before the world's first atomic explosion in southern New Mexico.

Secretaries Of War, Not All In Capital

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—District Attorney William McCauley briefed his new personal secretary on everything he considered important except for the joking title he used to refer to his wife.

He realized his omission when he wanted to speak to his "secretary of war" and asked that a call be placed to "the war department."

A few minutes later his secretary rapped on McCauley's door and said, "Washington is on the line, sir."

Man Picks Bad Hour To Call On Sorority

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18. (U.P.)—An Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity pledge at Ohio State University was let off with a warning after police found him hiding behind a davenport in the Phi Sigma sorority house at 3 a. m.

The pledge said his fraternity brothers had sent him to the sorority house on a scavenger hunt to get a light bulb, a telephone book and a piece of women's clothing.

Egyptian's Movie To Give Social Message

CAIRO, Nov. 18. (AP)—A young Egyptian is betting his bankroll that the lessons he learned in Columbia University sociology classrooms can be passed on to the Arabic world in popular motion pictures. Although the Egyptian film industry has turned out up to 140 full length pictures a year, pictures with a social moral are unknown.

Hassan Bey Amer, a Columbia student from 1945 to 1948, will premiere the first Egyptian film along this line in Cairo. Called "Watch Your Wallet," it contains under a sugar coating of popular stars and comedy, the point that Egypt's wealthy women could better use their riches in financing schools and hospitals than in high living. It isn't a dramatic "social message" by American standards—but it is precedent-shattering here.

NEW YORK—If there is such a thing as reincarnation—if we are born again—I want to be a motor car.

Other souls may prefer to come back and inhibit the body of a lion, a dog, a cat or a sacred cow. But if my spirit ever wanders onward again, I want it to dwell in the chassis of a sleek and shiny automobile. And I'll purr in contentment.

For if the motor car isn't exactly an object of worship in America, it is certainly a leading fetish.

A fetish is an object of unreasoning devotion which is supposed to help its owner gain from life whatever he wants. That is a perfect description of the place of the automobile in our civilization.

In slightly more than a generation it has gained a hold on the people such as no stone or wooden idol ever held on an African tribe. And its appeal is steadily increasing.

This year a record number of images of this four-wheeled demigod or our times will be turned out of the factories—about 5,500,000.

The automobile has cost more lives in the United States than two world wars, and it has changed the face of our nation and the pattern of our lives.

But the near-worship accorded it only grows stronger. Folks will do things for it they wouldn't think of doing for themselves.

Any number of people spend more money keeping their cars in shape than they do on their own bodies. A gent who lives on hamburgers and refreshes himself with bootleg corn will stoutly insist that his jaloppy gulps only the finest high-grade gasoline.

Cars Well Protected

Many carry more insurance on their cars than they do on their own lives. It casts $3 a day to keep a car in some indoor Manhattan parking palaces, more than a good middle-class hotel room used to. In 1938 I paid $35 rent for a small apartment here with kitchenette and bath. Some garages now charge $50 and up to care for a car 30 days—and it doesn't even have cooking privileges.

With this veneration of the automobile growing as it is, a man would be a fool to want to come back to America in some afterlife and waste his career as a mouse, an elk or a high-flying duck.

No, the thing to aim for—if you get a second chance—is to be an automobile. That's my goal.

Hereford Chapter Of Tech Exes Organized

HEREFORD, Nov. 18. (Special) The newest chapter of the Texas Technological college Ex-Students' Association was formed here Thursday night.

D. M. McElroy, Lubbock, executive-secretary for the association, was on hand for the organizational meeting. This is the last chapter planned by the group within the near future, McElroy said.

Marshall Formby, manager of station KPAN here, Jerry Stoltz, former vice-president of the San Angelo chapter, and Sylvester Slagle, local farmer, have spearheaded the movement for a local chapter.

MINISTER TO AMBASSADOR

Prior to the term of Grover Cleveland, England's envoy to the United States was a minister instead of an ambassador. On completion of Cleveland's term, the minister wrote home that his re-election would be advantageous to England, so Cleveland tendered him his passport.

what happened to the price of coffee and why!

DURING the past several years, the world's production of coffee has declined, while consumption has been on the rise. Thus the demand has become slightly greater than supply on a world-wide basis.

In recent months a severe drouth in one major coffee growing country, coupled with hurricanes and floods in other countries, has damaged the crop to be harvested next year. The extent of that damage is not certain, but it appears that early estimates were somewhat exaggerated.

protecting your supply

Many consumers, reading and hearing of this crop damage, have laid away an extra supply in their kitchens. This "run" on coffee in stores has produced a few localized and temporary "shortages."

If you have been limited by your grocer in the number of pounds of coffee you can buy, more than likely that is his voluntary attempt to protect his stock of coffee—and yours—until his next shipment arrives.

Remember, not a pound of coffee is grown in the United States . . . it is an imported commodity. Coffee companies here must depend upon growers in foreign countries for their entire supply.

where coffee prices start

Recently these growers, for the reasons mentioned above, together with other contributing factors, have been in a position to demand—and get—more money for their green coffee than ever before. Thus the prices of green coffees have risen by leaps and bounds. So rapid in fact, has been the climb, that we have been selling coffee to grocers and grocers have been selling to you, at prices below what was called for by the actual prices we were paying for green coffee in the producing countries the same day.

Coffee companies in the United States operate on a volume basis. The profit on each pound of coffee is small indeed. Without a tremendous volume there would be no profit at all. Likewise, the grocers of today sell coffee on a near-cost basis.

The increased price you are paying for coffee originates in the coffee growing countries—not with the roaster or your grocer.

No one can foretell how far this combination of unusual forces may push coffee prices upward, nor how long the situation may continue.

But we at Folger's believe that there is ample coffee on hand and in sight to supply the normal consumer demand for this special Mountain Grown coffee.

and we make this promise

When you buy Folger's Coffee it will be the same wonderful coffee with the individuality of flavor that has always set it apart from all other blends.

Considering how much pleasure a cup of Folger's Coffee gives you—surely you must agree that penny for penny Folger's still provides the most pleasure you can put on your table.

Dummy With Exciting History Hangs In Alexandria House

NEA Staff Writer

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 18—High in the wind-swept cupola of an Alexandria apartment building a shabby figure hangs from a piece of rusty wire, staring unseeingly across the city.

Its face is dark and misshapen. Matted black hair clings in sparse clumps to the head and the lone hand has no fingers. The other hand lies on the littered floor, with various other disintegrating parts of its ancient anatomy.

Don't get excited. He's a dummy. In fact he's a great pal of the police and probably the most famous dummy in the history of this city and nearby Washington.

He's been thrown from a racing car, hanged by his neck twice from Washington bridges, shot by a jealous husband, belabored by a fireman who thought he was a drunken arsonist, and scared more people than you could count.

Used In Exhibit

His permanent address is atop the Belle Haven apartment, where he has lived—except for minor interruptions caused by local jokers and newspapermen — since 1907.

He was put together as a fisherman in an exhibit in the Jamestown, Va., fair that year and after the exposition the government stored him in the building.

The dummy was discovered by employes of a spark plug factory, then occupying the building, in 1914. Wiseacres set him up in a third floor window to act as night watchman. In the summer, the dummy sported a straw hat; in winter, a derby.

His latest, and last, piece of haberdashery, according to John Loughran, owner of the building, was presented to him by the local police. It's a cop's blouse, complete with buttons and traffic insignia.

ALEXANDRIA'S dummy: He always comes back to his hook.

Seems the police had an objectionable citizen in one of their cells one night and scared the daylights out of him by placing the dummy, dressed as a policeman, in the cell. The citizen, it is said, has been an exemplary one since.

Dummy Is Shot

People fainted along Washington's main street when a pair of fortified newspaper reporters tossed the dummy into the gutter and sped away screaming at the top of their lungs.

Police were called to cut down (guess why) from under Taft Bridge. Again the dummy was pronounced a suicide when he was found dangling by the neck from a girder beneath Memorial Bridge.

Once a wag placed the dummy at the table of a lovely Washington lady who was waiting for her ever-loving, and jealous husband on the terrace of a fashionable hotel.

Hubby saw the pair and promptly shot the dummy through the heart. No one was arrested.

By now the police are used to the dummy's habit of turning up in unusual places. But they've grown quite fond of him and promptly return him to his hook when they find he has strayed.

"Talking" Starling Is Goal Of Woman

CLINTON, Ill., Nov. 18 (U.P.)—The common belief that you can't train a starling isn't shared by Mrs. Niles Bethel.

Mrs. Bethel, a bird fancier who has owned parakeets, sparrows, canaries, finches and cardinals, says she is going to teacher her starling to talk.

Mrs. Bethel explains that starlings have a knack for imitating the songs of other birds, such as guinea hens, ducks and chickens. And she believes she can get her starling, named Wack because that was the first sound it uttered, to mock the human voice.

So far all Wack does when Mrs. Bethel speaks to him is ruffle his feathers.

Christmas Is Held Early For Victim Of Fatal Leukemia

XENIA, Ohio, Nov. 18. (AP)—Two-and-one-half year old Tommy Page, a victim of deadly leukemia, was going back to children's hospital in Columbus today. But for him that did not dim the fact he saw Santa Claus yesterday.

Twice, in fact. One was sent by Xenia business men. The second came from Dayton.

But two Santas were none too much for Tommy: He may never see another.

Physicians have told Tommy's parents he won't live until Christmas. So Christmas in the form of Santa, friends and relatives bearing gifts, came to him prematurely.

Complete With Snow

There was a tree and a wreath in the window in the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pace.

Even the weatherman seemed to know it was Tommy's Christmas. Snowflakes fell for a few minutes in the afternoon.

Tommy, weaker than usual yesterday, didn't say much, but his eyes grew bigger in the excitement of seeing Santa. He even opened a few of his packages.

He was very happy.

Two Youths Arrested For Dallas Robbery

DALLAS, Nov. 18 (AP) — Howard Grant Foreman and Frank Charles Walton were charged with the $96 robbery of R. A. Cosby here Tuesday night. They told police they were from Paris, Tex.

Cosby told police two youths forced him into an alley and took the money from his billfold.

Japanese Bombs Still Plague New Guinea

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—Unexploded Japanese bombs and ammunition are holding up reconstruction work in the Rabaul area.

A five-man Australian bomb disposal unit has collected about 2,000 shells and 200 bombs at Rapopo, new site for Rebaul township, in the past month.

Rapopo is littered with explosives and construction of the new town cannot begin because workers hesitate to use tractors and bulldozers for fear they may be blown up.

Army bomb removers responsible for disposing of remaining war explosives in New Guinea say that at the present rate they will be on the job for another six or seven years.

Thanksgiving Motif Featuring Socials

The golden motif of the harvest tide is being featured in socials for church classes and clubs.

First Baptist Mary Martha class attended a luncheon Thursday afternoon in the annex with Mrs. Carl Owens in charge.

Mrs. Pat Muckleroy gave the invocation and the meal was served by group 2 of which Mrs. Alfred Veasey is captain.

The program included two solos, "For the Beauty of the Earth," and "Thanks Be to God," by Mrs. C. N. Hallmark, accompanied by Mrs. B. H. Meskimen; a prayer, Mrs. W. H. Trice; devotion by Mrs. W. C. Fry based on Psalms, 100.

Mrs. Walter Wright presided for a business hour at which group captains and chairmen made reports. It was voted to have the class Christmas social Dec. 15 at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. J. F. Nix, 3003 Twenty-fifth.

Dismissal prayer was by Mrs. I. W. Hicks, teacher.

For Homebuilders Club

Homebuilders club attended a Thanksgiving dinner in the home of Mrs. R. E. Guthrie on route 6 last night. Co-hostesses were Mrs. J. C. Dean and W. A. Lindsay

The serving table was centered with an arrangement of berries and leaves which was repeated on the foursome tables. Placecards in the form of turkeys were lettered with Bible verses and roll call was answered by quoting from the Psalms.

Mrs. E. J. Dresser told a Thanksgiving story, "Much Obliged, Dear Lord."

An election resulted in the following: Mesdames W. A. Lindsay, president; Bates Witt, vice president; A. S. Westbrook, secretary-treasurer and J. C. Dean, reporter.

Mrs. J. C. Dennig was received as a member. Mrs. H. L. Bradford, Kathlyn Guthrie and Joanne Dean were guests. Other members present were Mesdames George Birdwell, E. J. Dresser, J. W. Hendryx, N. S. McBride, H. R. Miller, Adeline Rogers, Florence Sanderson, Wayne Thrush.

For Carousel Club

Ted Crager's orchestra will play for dancing at the Carousel Dancing club's dinner-dance tonight at 8 o'clock at the Hilton hotel.

Table decorations will depict a Thanksgiving theme. Centering each table will be a pumpkin, flanked by autumn leaves, green and red peppers, yellow squash and fruits in fall colors. Orange candles will furnish light.

In O'Neal Home

Twenty-one members and one guest, Mrs. R. L. Thurman, of Amiga club had a Thanksgiving luncheon in the home of Mrs. J. T. O'Neal at 1924 Twenty-ninth Thursday.

The club's Christmas party will be given Dec. 15 at 2 p.m. at Mrs. A. C. Sanders', 1512 Ninth.

Honor Vallas Pair

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Vallas, sr., who celebrated their 29th wedding anniversary Thursday, were honored when Forty-Niners Needle club met in their home, 1811 Eighteenth. Mrs. Marshall Lewis and Miss May Horne were new members. Guests were Mrs. J. K. Cawthron and Mrs. T. E. Burkey.

The serving table was decorated with bronze chrysanthemums.

Secret pals will be revealed at the Christmas party to be given in the home of Mrs. R. S. Hobgood, 3601 Thirty-fourth, Dec. 8 at 2:30 p. m.

Foreign Students Will Be Guests Of Altrusans

Foreign students of Texas Technological college will be guests at the Christmas dinner to be given by Lubbock Altrusa club Thursday, Dec. 15, at 7 p. m., at Hilton hotel, according to plans made at the club's November dinner Thursday night at the Hilton.

The 20th annual District 7 convention of Altrusa International held in Shreveport last weekend was reported by Mrs. Reuby S. Rhodes, Mrs. Lottie Hilton and Miss Murl Ratliff, delegates from Lubbock. One hundred ninety-four Altrusans from 36 of the 39 clubs of the district attended.

Mrs. Rhodes quoted Miss Mamie Larsh, former president of Altrusa International, as saying that the grants-in-aid program is the greatest project to be undertaken by Altrusans. The program provides scholarships of $250 to $750 for Latin American women to study in the United States. Miss Larsh is an attorney in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Wilma Robbins was a dinner guest. Others attending were Mesdames Jack Hagelstein, Helen Massie, Zack Kimbro, C. A. Burrus, Fay Westmoreland, Mary Moore, R. S. Wilkinson, and Misses Esther Sorensen, Effie Puryear, Ella May Butler, Clara Pratt, Dr. Pauline Miller and Dr. Esther Snell.

Luncheon Club Lists Nine New Members

New members of Welcome Luncheon club who met with the group Thursday at Hilton hotel were Mesdames Bob A. Aikin, W. M. King, Maybelle Morgan, Jack Cole and Roy Quarles.

Among the guests was Mrs. M. Norvel Young who described her summer trip abroad. Other guests were Mesdames W. G. Williams, Tom Rooker, Ed Durkee of Levelland and Bill Richmond of Levelland.

Twenty-two members were present.

Sign Charter At Luncheon

Delta chapter of Delphian society attended a charter signing party and luncheon in Hilton hotel Yaqui room Thursday following a morning program meeting held at Hub Lee Tire company. Mrs. Vernice Ford directed the party and Mrs. W. H. Hearn was program leader.

The following topics under the subject, "The Mental Hygiene Movement," were discussed as follows: "Mental Disease, A Serious Problem," Mrs. Paul Cates; "Our Approach to the Problem," Mrs. H. E. Archer; "Present Resources," Mrs. Jack Hazelstein; and "Problems Facing the Profession," Mrs. Clyde Tatum.

Twenty-one members attended.

H-D Club Luncheon Is In Vickers Residence

A Thanksgiving luncheon was served to Plainview Highway Home Demonstration club members Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. James Vickers.

A program on "How To Tell Your Children About Sex" was presented by Mesdames C. W. Benson, J. L. Moore, G. C. Vaught, Ralph Robinson and Vickers.

Mesdames T. J. Davis, jr., and Milt Kinman were guests.

Calvary Baptist TEL Class Plans Party

When Calvary Baptist TEL class met with Mrs. Bonnie Norwood, 1620 Ninth, Thursday night, plans were made for a Christmas party Dec. 15 at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. J. H. Comer, 1614 Ave. Q.

Mrs. Selina Martin led a devotion and Mrs. E. F. Williams presided for a business meeting.

Twenty-eight members and two guests, Rev. and Mrs. C. J. McCarty, were present.

P-TA Notes

Talks by four members and a Thanksgiving program given by fifth and sixth grade pupils featured the George M. Hunt Parent-Teacher meeting in the cafeteria Thursday afternoon.

The group sang "Our Battle Hymn for Children." Miss Anna V. Moren directed the children's program.

The talks were: "Parents as Equal Partners," Mrs. Sam Dial; "Your Wants for a Son and a Daughter," Mrs. Raymond Anthis; "Parent-Teacher Relations," Mrs. J. E. Hamilton; "Inherited Slowness," Mrs. Hugh Newton.

Mrs. Newton, vice president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Eugene Knox, who is attending the state P-T convention in Waco. Room count went to Mrs. Jane Smith's room.

Second grade pupils of Mrs. Peggy Phillips at Chris Harwell school presented a Thanksgiving playlet for the P-TA Thursday afternoon at the school. The guest speaker, Mrs. L. L. Miller, discussed "Teamwork Between Parents."

Howard Day, principal, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ralph Cline, who is attending the state P-T convention in Waco.

Mrs. J. G. Wilkerson, membership chairman, reported 136 paid memberships in the unit.

The Thursday afternoon meeting of Dupre P-TA was opened with four Thanksgiving songs presented by pupils of Mrs. Leon Tabor. Afterwards, a panel discussion on "Teamwork Between Parents and Children" was given by four Senior High school students, Norma Smith, June Franklin, T. W. Moss and J. C. Chambers, under the direction of H. J. McCabe, dean of boys at the high school. A general discussion of the question was conducted after the students had spoken.

Mrs. T. L. Sampson presided. Members voted not to have a parents and children Christmas party which had been discussed previously, but room parties for children of the school were decided on.

A social hour followed the meeting, and 100 persons attended.

Miss Mary Lou Hawkins, supervisor of the 19th child welfare unit in Texas, spoke for Cottage School P-TA Thursday afternoon. Her subject was "Teamwork between Agencies of the Community That Make for Good Citizenship."

Thirty-eight members and six guests were present.

Members of Westerner Mothers club were guests, and two of the group, Mrs. Garnet Reeves and Mrs. E. K. Hufstedler, jr., told the history of the organization which was begun in 1938.

Mrs. P. E. Golden, program chairman, presented Carolyn Daniels in an impersonation of Al Jolson. Mrs. S. W. Brunson presided.

Approximately 70 person attended.

Steps In Making Custard Pie

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Who wouldn't like to be able to make a perfect custard pie—crust crisp and not soggy, filling delicate and smooth as silk. Of course custard pie-making perfection comes with experience, but isn't that true of everything?

Here are two special points to remember. A critical factor in making custard pie is testing for doneness. Notice in the following recipe that the pie is tested halfway between the center and the outside edge, not in the middle. There is enough heat left in the custard and the outside baking dish to complete the cooking at the center when the pie is removed to the cooling rack. Over-cooking custard helps to make it perforated and watery. From the standpoint of the pastry it's best to use a heavy pie plate—heat-resistant glass or earthenware.

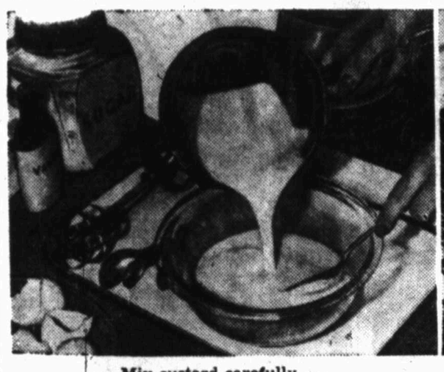

CUSTARD PIE

Ingredients: Pastry for 1 crust, 4 eggs (beaten slightly), ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring, 2½ cups milk (scalded), nutmeg (if desired).

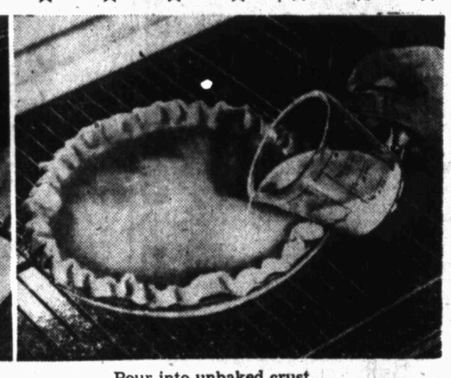

Method: Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Be sure there are no bubbles under pastry and no holes in it. For best results have pastry about 1/8-inch thick. Place in refrigerator while preparing custard filling. Add sugar, salt, vanilla, and almond flavoring to the eggs and mix. Stirring constantly, slowly pour on scalded milk. Pour into pastry-lined pie pan; Bake in a hot (400 F.) over for 20 to 30 minutes or until knife inserted halfway between outside and center comes out clean. Remove promptly to cooling rack. Do not cut pie until just before serving. Sprinkle surface with nutmeg if desired.

Note: Do not leave pie at room temperature for more than 2 or 3 hours. After cooling to room temperature store in refrigerator.

Writers Are Organized

The newly organized Manuscript club met for the first time Thursday morning at the Lubbock Women's clubhouse, 2020 Broadway.

Officers elected were Mesdames T. E. Buckner, president; James H. Goodman, vice president; Ethel Hamilton, secretary-treasurer; E. V. Nickell, critic; and Claud Keeton, reporter.

Other charter members are Mesdames W. M. Blake, M. V. Gray, W. L. Baugh, E. L. Robertson, G. E. Long, Ethel English, J. C. Davis, E. L. Huntsman, G. A. Foote and Jewell Roberts.

Charter membership has been closed, but there are openings in the regular membership, according to Mrs. Buckner. Associate membership is open to out-of-town writers.

The Manuscript club is open to anyone who does any type of writing professionally.

PARENTS OF SON

Mrs. Paul Hardwick has received word that her niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Austin, of Worland, Wyo., are parents of a son born Tuesday. Mrs. Austin is the former Pauline Green of Lubbock.

Dinner-Dance Will Be Given By Tech Club

The annual November dinner-dance for DFD social club of Texas Technological college will be given tonight from 7 until 11:30 o'clock at Hotel Lubbock. Patronesses of the club are to be hostesses.

After the dinner, which is to be served from tables decorated with cornucopias, a program dance will be held.

Officers Are Elected By Friendly Menders

A Christmas party was planned when Friendly Menders club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. R. D. Johnson, 3105 Ave. L.

Officers were elected as follows: Mesdames Vernon Whitson, president; Bill Gregg, vice president; Earl Davenport, secretary-treasurer and G. A. Weatherford, reporter.

Fourteen members were present.

Sorority Is At Program

Miss Pauline Myers directed a program on "Poetry" when Alpha Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority met at the Women's clubhouse Thursday night.

Mrs. Henry Tryheart presided.

Members present were Mesdames Paul Mills, Eldridge Rayburn, A. L. Hawkins, jr., Donald Helm, F. W. Hess, Marihelen Millington, Dan Alford, Lucian Moore, R. P. Brown, Warlick Carr, L. B. Copenhaver, J. W. Smith, Dale Allen, Misses Betty Furgeson, Bert Hartzog, Martha N. Wood, Betty Milford, Jo Tyson, Misses Velda Hilton and June Raymond.

Roosevelt Pupils Are Guests For Party In Mackenzie Park

Roosevelt school eighth grade pupils attended a Thanksgiving party at Mackenzie State Park Party House Thursday night. Arrangements were made by two room mothers, Mrs. Ferd Trotter and Mrs. George Klattenhoff. The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of candied apples, holiday candies and leaves and miniature chairs, which were presented to the guests by Mrs. C. E. Holeman.

Games were played.

Attending were Claudette Trotter, Ernestine Harkey, Ramona Holloway, Shirley Ann Clancy, Dorothy Nell Dennis, Myra Jean Klattenhoff, Larry Anderson, C. H. May, Gene Edward Holeman, Curtis Lee Aycock, David Dalton Durham, Joe Bert Andrews, Billy Glenn Holmes, Tommy McAllister, James Cooper, David Lynn Wiley.

Winsome Class Meets In Gibson Residence

In the home of Mrs. O. L. Gibson at 2817 Twenty-fourth Thursday morning, a coffee was given for the First Baptist Winsome class. Forty-two persons called.

"I Thank Thee, Father," was title of the devotion given by Mrs. Earl Hobbs, in which she stressed the importance of Christian heritage. Mrs. R. E. L. Pattillo and Mrs. Gradie Bownds offered prayers.

Refreshments and decorations were in the harvest theme. A large centerpiece of fall fruits and vegetables was arranged on the serving table at which Mrs. Aubrey Faulkner presided. Mrs. M. M. Ewing and Mrs. R. A. Burford, fellowship chairmen, were in charge, and were assisted by Group 2 of which Mrs. John Cocanougher is leader.

Add a cup of grated American cheese to the standard muffin recipe for a flavor change; but do not use more than two tablespoons of sugar in the recipe.

Play Read Thursday

The first meeting of City Federation of Women's clubs to be held at Lubbock Women's clubhouse, 2020 Broadway, was conducted Thursday afternoon with Mrs. D. A. Wellborn as guest speaker.

A reading hour based on Sir James Barrie's play, "What Every Woman Knows," was presented by Mrs. Wellbron who is an instructor of English at Texas Technological college. Mrs. Russell Denison, vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. L. D. Marshall, and introduced the guest.

The tea table centerpiece featured an autumn motif and was composed of fall fruits and leaves and yellow candles. After the meeting, the fruits were taken to Milam's home.

Members of the houseparty were Mesdames M. T. Leon, Ira L. Spann, L. H. Kirby, Troy Peeples and W. H. McKelvy of Pierian-Sorosis Study club, Mesdames J. E. Winder and Joe Nislar of Shakespeare club, and Mesdames Groves Denman, Harry Holcomb, John Duncan and Miss Lula Mae Cravens of Junior Twentieth Century club.

Approximately 50 women were present for the monthly meeting of the Federation.

Good Neighbor Club Has Luncheon Hour

After a Thanksgiving luncheon served for Arnett-Benson Good Neighbor club Thursday at Mrs. J. P. Legg's, 2401 Second, members quilted for the hostess.

Attending were Mesdames C. T. McLain, I. T. Weed, P. H. Nall, Ed Branch, C. D. Bevers, A. E. Jones, T. C. Ellis, W. M. Boyd, E. W. Taylor, L. D. Beadle, and guests, Mrs. O. A. Lambert, Mrs. Henry Johnson and Miss Sue Beth Legg.

Members voted to change their meetings from the first and third Thursdays to the first Thursday and third Friday. Mrs. McLain, 2726 Second, will be hostess Dec. 1 at 2:30 p.m.

YWA Election Staged At Dinner Meeting

A dinner was served at Calvary Baptist church Thursday night for an Intermediate YWA which met to organize and elect officers.

The officers are: Frances Cate, president; Lianne Lewis, vice president; Kay Coward, secretary-treasurer; Theresa Martin, program chairman; Sandra Price, membership chairman; Patsy McPherson, social chairman; Sue Puckett, song leader; Mary McKinley, pianist; and Betty Saunders, reporter. Another charter member attending was Sara Lewis.

Mesdames J. A. Giles, Bill Diggs and Herschel Martin served the dinner. Meetings are to be held by the YWA on first and third Tuesdays.

Scout Association To Stage Open Meeting

All adults interested in Scouting are invited to a meeting of the Lubbock Girl Scouts association Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the chapel of First Methodist church.

Officers will be elected and a new constitution will be adopted.

A junior chorus of Scouts will sing.

Square Dance Club To Meet First Tuesdays

The Belles and Beaus Square Dance club, which was organized recently, will have dances each first Tuesday at the barbecue pit at Mackenzie State park.

Mrs. John W. Wilson is president and the membership includes 14 couples.

MARINE SCHOOL GROWS

Cairo announced that 150 cadets and 25 engineers will join Egypt's Merchant Marine School next year and a third ship has been bought for training purposes.

LIGHTNING KILLS TWO

A man and child were killed recently by lightning in County Galway, Eire, as were horses, sheep and ponies, in the worst storm in the west of Ireland for years.

Westerner Musicians Present Numbers At ABC Club's Luncheon

Lubbock High school has in its student body some very talented entertainers.

For proof, ask members of the American Business club who were treated to a musical program by five Westerner students at a luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel today.

In fact, the members gave a standing ovation to Travis Hammer, a slender 16-year-old junior with a deep baritone voice.

His first song was the currently popular "Some Enchanted Evening." For an encore he sand the all-time favorite "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes."

Gerre Hancock and Ned Hardin provided a piano duet rendition of "Chopsticks' and Hancock came back to close the program with "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and the "Saber Dance."

A comedy pantomime skit of "Baby, It's Cold Outside" by J. C. Chambers, Don Hancock and Rossi Stiles also won the club's approval.

H. J. McCabe, dean of boys, was in charge of the program.

Club President George Dale announced at the meeting that completion of the Boys club building program will probably come next week, when date for the formal opening will be set.

Guests were Oscar L. Slaton, Bill Holmes, John Caldwell, K. N. Clapp, Jeff Lewis, A. J. Burg and A. O. Walker.

Pilot Club Hears Solon's Secretary

Miss Dorothy Rylander, secretary to Congressman George Mahon, addressed Lubbock Pilot club at a dinner Thursday night in Hilton hotel, telling of the manner in which a bill is introduced and procedure it goes through before becoming law.

More than 6,500 bills were introduced in the 81st Congress, but only about 800 became law, she said.

Miss Hadena Hester, treasurer, reported that the club received $105 from a rummage sale held Saturday.

Members present were Misses Lois Alexander, president, Sannie Callan, Evelyn Clewell, Lois Graves, Peggy Hess, Hester, Peggy Martin, Avey Leeh Smith, and Mesdames Irene Ausburn, Josephine Ballenger, Ila Beal, Ida Markleroad, Jewel Hule, Mattie Sanders, Letha Simpson and Pearl Smith, and three guests, Miss Jo Flack and Mrs. Bonnie Crain and Mrs. Martha Gordon of Denver, Colo.

Bond Vote For Lamb Courthouse Sought

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 18. (Special)—Peitions are being circulated in some sections of Lamb county asking that the county commissioners call a bond election to finance construction of a new courthouse and jail, the County-Wide News says.

Earth, Sudan and other towns in the county were reported to be circulating petitions.

Proponents of the plan to build a new courthouse point out that jurors now have to sleep on the floor, that the jail is totally inadequate and all county officials' offices are crowded. In addition, facilities for safekeeping records in the county clerk's office are said limited.

Proponents believe the bonds could be voted and sold without further increases in taxes or tax valuations, and want to vote the issue now while low interest rates are available.

Charming Man's Attention Emancipates This Divorcee; Her Daughter Resents Romance

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Several years ago you gave me peace of mind with your calm advice. Perhaps this time, too, you may be able to help me solve a problem.

As a divorcee of 11 years' standing, I have managed to support my young daughter and myself without assistance from her father. However, in so doing I gave up all social contacts in order to devote myself to maternal responsibilities—a mistake of which I recently became aware.

One enchanted afternoon about two months ago, across a sandy tennis court, I met a jolly stranger who charms me with his gentility, a man who has revolutionized the concept I've held for a decade regarding the character of men.

HOW EASE CHILD'S ADJUSTMENT PAINS?

THE problem is that although my 13-year-old Ann is courteous in John's presence and participates with apparent pleasure in most of our activities—tennis, cycling and badminton—nevertheless she deeply resents his encroachment on my time.

Inasmuch as I have no intention of relinquishing his friendship, which has emancipated me from an unwholesome uncivilized past, I should be very grateful for suggestions on how to ease the adjustment pains she is suffering because of my newly acquired zest for living. Incidentally, she is an able student, doing well in school.

(Signed) E. D.

MOTHER DOESN'T UNDERSTAND GIRL

DEAR E. D.: How ease Ann's adjustment pains? To help, you must first understand what ails her. And I'm not sure you've covered the subject when you say she resents John's encroachment on your time.

It is equally possible that she is disturbed by the pitch or pattern of your behavior in his company, or perhaps by something in his manner towards you that rouses indefinable anxieties in her. Or perhaps her emotional resistance to the sudden friendship stems from ingrained fear of "the character of men,"—just that and nothing more.

In saying that John has revolutionized your unfavorable concept of men, which you had held for a decade, you illuminate an aspect of Ann's "conditioning" in that time.

In years when Ann had no mental defenses against first impressions, when she was as receptive as a fresh new blotter to the feelings and example of her mother, her sole parental protector, hence the greatest influence on her character,—in those years you were down on men, soured against them, distrustful of them, due to your tribulations with her father, from whom you'd parted.

HELP CHILD SEE PARENTS CAN GROW

ALSO you were a refugee from social contacts in that time, theoretically to save energy for duty, but basically because you were retreating involuntarily, with embittered anxiety, from the complexities of human interchange.

Thus you would tend involuntarily to concentrate on your child as a companion and sounding board, because so long as you were alive and rational, your gregarious instincts—allied to the will to survive—would continue functioning to that extent. Hence Ann would absorb the full impact of your emotional quarrel with her father's sex, and such may be the story back of her mixed reactions to your recent zestful romancing with John.

In short, it seems likely that Ann feels betrayed, yet knows not why she feels this way—as if you had convinced her men were anathema, then suddenly opened your arms to John, leaving her alone in her fixated distrust of men while you frolic happily with a representative of the alleged enemy camp. To redress your mistake, open your mind and heart to her, in greater awareness of the difficulty, and in patient lucid discussion help her realize that you're still growing and learning too.—M. H.

SOCIAL SECURITY IS MENACED

Labor Demands For Company Pensions Worry Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (U.P.) — Some government officials are frankly worried about labor's demands for bigger and better company-paid pensions.

They see in industrial pension programs a threat to the government's own social security concept. They point to these two reasons for their worry:

1. Industrial pensions increase the retirement benefits of some of the 35,000,000 persons now covered by federal social security. But they do nothing for the millions of farm workers, domestic servants and other wage workers who do not have social security coverage or any other old age security plan.

Danger Is Seen

2. Industrial pensions may offer a false sense of old-age security to workers in some companies. A sound pension plan with a large reputable company is something quite different, they say, from a shaky pension plan established by a company with an uncertain future.

At least one high government official has suggested that President Truman appoint a special commission to study the relationship of industrial pension programs to the federal social security program.

For instance, the so-called "Bethlehem plan" which ended the steel strike provides generally for $100 a month pensions. But the steel companies pay unly the difference between social security benefits and the amount guaranteed under the pension contract.

No Recent Estimate

The great danger, as this official sees it, is that the heavy pressure for industrial pensions will retard the growth of the social security system and leave millions of workers with no provision at all for their old age.

No government agency has made a recent estimate of how many workers are covered by the 12,000 to 13,000 company pension and profit sharing programs which have been approved by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. In 1946 the bureau said about 3,500,000 workers came under such plans. Current estimates from other sources run from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000.

Government labor experts agree that virtually all of those covered by industrial programs are also covered by social security. Future private plans, they say, will almost certainly be developed in commerce and industry where workers are generally covered by the social security law.

Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley Wears Smartly Tailored Blue Woolen Suit At Wedding

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley's wedding dress was a smartly tailored woolen suit of "Barkley blue"—a light slate blue.

It featured a nipped-in waist that curved over the hips and was highlighted in front by four rhinestones.

The skirt was straight and hung 12 inches from the floor.

Wore Satin Blouse

With the suit, the bride wore an ice blue satin blouse with short sleeves and a deep modified heart-shaped neckline.

Her hat, was of blue chiffon felt cloche with a narrow rippling brim, covered with matching veil and trimmed with a small pink silk rose.

White doe skin gloves and black doe skin shell pumps set off the ensemble. Slung from the bride's shoulder was a black purse trimmed with rhinestones and on her wrist was a diamond watch, a gift from the vice president.

Purse Is Present

To and from the church, the bride complemented the ensemble with a beautiful Norwegian silver-blue fox jacket.

The going-away outfit was a chic blue-gray wool coat dress fastened from throat to hem with bone buttons. It featured a midnight blue velvet collar and cuffs.

The hat was a small gray felt with a face-framing brim turned back against a wide band of feathers. The purse was of red alligator, also a present from Mr. Barkley.

Rutgers Runs Unique Student Loan System

NEW BRUNswick, N. J., Nov. 18 (AP) — Money aid to students who do not have to pay back loans has been tried by Rutgers university. Most students do pay back the money and effective aid is given, a report on the project says.

The aid is given students who need small sums—$25 to $50—to stay in school. Such a loan often can fix money troubles and put the student at ease. There is no interest and no time limit on repayment. He is not compelled to pay it back. Sometimes years pass before payment. But very few loans are not repaid, Rutgers says.

Lower prices, not lower sales, recently caused a 15 per cent drop in the dollar value of sales in Cuba.

MEET THE MANAGER—Hulen J. Penney, manager of the Midway Theater, 1805 Broadway, was born at Roaring Springs, Nov. 5, 1921. He moved to Lubbock in 1928 and started to school here, being graduated from Lubbock High school in 1939. He attended Texas Technological college for two years, during which time he worked for the Midway. In August, 1942, he joined the Navy and served in a photo-reconaissance squadron in the Pacific. He was released Jan. 31, 1946 and returned to Lubbock to resume his work at Tech and to become manager of the Midway. In 1948 he received a bachelor of business administration degree in management. His hobby is photography. He is a member of Lubbock Exchange club and Broadway Church of Christ. Mr. and Mrs. Penney and two children, Lois, 7, and Barbara, 6, live at 3507 Twenty-seventh. Beating About Bush Old English Custom

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP) — The expression, "beating about the bush," is derived from the old pastime of beating about the bush. World Book Encyclopedia researchers say the diversion began in the 1400's in England, and it resulted in many a night out for men who hunted birds and were known as batfowlers. It adds:

"The batfowlers, armed with a light and a weapon resembling a baseball bat, cautiously surrounded a large bush. Then one hunter would beat the other small bushes nearby to frighten the birds in the large bush. Dazzled by the light, the birds floundered about while the hunters swung their clubs, trying to render the birds senseless with a blow on the noggin. It was from this 'sport' that 'beating about the bush' wormed its way into our language."

Where the boys went from there is lost in the mists of history.

Brother Finds Sister After Untiring Hunt

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—Edward D. Monds, Anchorage, Alaska, lost track of his sister, Mrs. Henry Thornburg, about 21 years ago.

Monds came to Minneapolis recently and looked through the phone directory for her name—it was a habit to do this.

"As usual, I cheeked the phone book," he said, "and there it was. Henry Thornburg. I didn't think there could be two of them, So I got in my car and drove out without calling first.

"She answered the door, but she didn't recognize me at first. Then I said 'Sis,' and she threw her arms around my neck, and just couldn't say anything."

When his sister recovered her composure, Monds learned for the first time that he had been reported killed in an automobile accident five years ago.

Milk Bottles Piling Up For Dream Home

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 18 (U.P.)—For six years now, G. B. Massaro has been collecting milk bottles and piling them in front of his house.

His wife thinks it's silly, but Massaro has ideas.

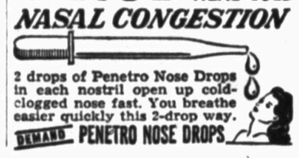

He plans to build a glass house when he gets 6,000 bottles. He already has 4,000, from every state in the United States and one from Argentina.

LOVES TO SERVE

ABERDEEN, Wis. (U.P.)—W. G. Peugh joined the First Baptist church here when he was 14. He is now 77, but his record of religious service totals 166 years. He's been a church member for 63 years, a deacon for 34, a trustee for 23, treasurer for 23, clerk for 21, and Sunday school superintendent for two.

House May Make Little Woman Jittery

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18. (U.P.)—The home she lives in may be the direct cause of a wife's bad temper.

Prof. James T. Lendrum of the University of Illinois small homes council cited stresses imposed by such things as noise, glare, drafts or a poor heating system, color or room size.

They may not be sufficiently severe to cause a complete nervous breakdown, "but they may ruin an otherwise excellent disposition," he said.

Woman Is Granted Annulment From Her Under-Age Mate With Brother's Name

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (INS)—Mrs. Jean Henry, 18, believes there is plenty in a name.

The recent bride was granted an annulment from her under-aged husband today and promptly announced she would wed his older brother.

It won't be any change for pretty Joan because the younger brother, Thomas Henry, 17, married her under his older brother, Neil's, name and age.

He used Neil's birth certificate to obtain a marriage license and Neil's age to impress his wife.

When Neil came home from the merchant marine, he demanded his name back. The annulment was the result.

Now Jean wants Neil's name back. Jean said she and Neil will be married in a week.

SEEKS TO BOOST MILITARY AID

Shah Of Iran Will Talk With American Joint Staff Chiefs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—The shah of Iran meets with the U. S. joint chiefs of staff today to discuss his country's need for increased American military assistance.

The visiting ruler arranged a meeting with Gen. Omar Bradley and other defense chiefs following two days of official functions and sightseeing.

He has made a frank bid for a boost in the military aid the United States already is giving his Middle Eastern country, which is a barrier to any southward expansion by Soviet Russia.

Speaks At Dinner

This aid includes American advisers to the 115,000-man Iranian army, the sale of surplus Thunderbolt fighter planes and other World War II material, and a small share in the new $1,314,000,000 arms aid program.

The Shah declared last night that the security of his country is important to world peace and especially to the stability of the Middle East. He spoke at a dinner which Secretary of State Acheson gave in his honor.

Acheson praised the 30-year-old monarch for the manner in which Iran has faced up to postwar problems, including a series of crises with its powerful Soviet neighbor.

"No country has met greater dififculties than Iran, nor met them with greater resolution," Acheson declared.

Lunches With Newsmen

The shah's response was that Iranians know that "in the United States we have a great and powerful friend."

"We are determined, with vigor and pride, to maintain our independence now, against all threats from whatever source arising, at whatever cost," the shah declared.

Before going to the pentagon late in the day, his schedule called for formal wreath-laying ceremonies at the tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon and at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National cemetery.

He also scheduled a visit to the capitol and a luncheon meeting as the guest of the overseas writers, an organization of newsman.

Bull Infuriated By Red-Colored Sedan

PULASKI, N. Y., Nov. 18. (AP)—Lafayette Petrie's red sedan is in the garage for repairs. A jersey bull could not stand the sight of it.

Petrie reported he parked his car off a rural road near here Sunday while he hunted rabbits. When he returned he found the bull getting set for a new charge. The animal already had banged in one side and the rear of the car, Petrie said. He drove off the bull with rocks and strong adjectives.

All In A Lifetime — The Kid Brother

Bookkeeper Signs Kidnaping Charges Against Relatives

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 (INS)—Kidnaping charges were filed today against the mother, stepfather and cousin of Bernice Hough, 28-year-old bookkeeper, who asserted that the trio drugged her and spirited her back to Missouri last Nov. 5.

Miss Hough swore out the complaint in the district attorney's office and charged that her mother, Mrs. Ethel Mager, 48, of Springfield, Mo., has a "mother fixation" and forcibly removed her to the midwest state.

Held Her Captive

Miss Hough said that she was held captive in the home of Mrs. Mager and her stepfather, Roscoe Mager, 56, until she managed to smuggle a letter to a Los Angeles friend, Jack Roth, telling him of her plight.

The bookkeeper asserted that the Magers and her cousin, Herbert Stubblefield, 33, unexpectedly visited her in Los Angeles last Nov. 5, persuaded her to take an auto ride and then had her administered a hypodermic by a West Covina physician.

The district attorney's office said that steps will be taken to extradite the Springfield trio to bring them to Los Angeles for trial.

Partisan Peacemaker Paid With Interest

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—Aurelia Rushton now believes it's true what they say about peacemakers.

She was treated for face injuries at a hospital after trying to settle an argument between a married couple she was visiting.

Her efforts in behalf of the wife drew the husband's wrath, she said.

Lubbock To Battle Midland In Loop 3-AA Clash Tonight

Win At Bulldogs' Field Will Clinch Title For Westerners

Midland's Memorial stadium is expected to be filled to less than half the 11,000 capacity tonight for the 8 o'clock encounter between Lubbock's Westerners and the Midland Bulldogs.

What may be the deciding game in District 3-AA is in the balance for the Westerners. If the Lubbock eleven wins, then it will represent the district against the 4-AA winner in the playoff for the state schoolboy championship.

Lubbock is a heavy favorite to take the contest by virtue of a superior showing in its previous games this year and its experience and manpower.

A slim following of Lubbock fans will make the trip to Midland for the contest. Advance ticket sales at the high school reached only 203, E. J. Lowrey, athletic business manager reported Thursday night. This is a far cry from the large bands of more than 5,000 fans that followed the Westerners to Amarillo and Odessa.

Co-captains for this all-important game are Wayne Stroud and Charlie Williams, the two regular halfbacks. Both have been top performers all season.

The Westerners will go into the scrap with a change in the starting lineup for the first time this season, due to knee injuries to Guard Freddy Gray and Tackle Joe Brock and an ankle injury to Fullback Malcolm Young. Gray and Young were injured in the Odessa clash, while Brock was hurt in practice. Young's injury is not serious.

Coach Pattison said Thursday that he was expecting a strong fight from Midland. "The Midland boys are young," Pattison commented, "but they have lots of spirit and hustle."

Coach of the Bulldogs, Tugboat Jones, was singing the blues when contacted by telephone. Two of his heaviest boys, Stan Coker and Alfred Baze, are not expected to see action, leaving his squad weak at the tackle positions on defense.

The Midland squad is composed mostly of juniors and sophomores with only four boys being lost this year. Until the season opened, not a single man in the lineup had ever started a varsity game before. Coach Jones said that the team operates from the single and double wing, with the single wing attack being used the most.

Quarterbacking the attack is Reed Gilmore, 145-pounder, and Ralph Brooks, 157 at left half; Jack Burris, 151, right half and L. C. Thomas, 157, fullback, round out the starting backfield.

In previous starts this season, the Bulldogs have won three games and lost five. Victories were over Brownfield, Plainview and Big Spring. In district play Midland defeated Brownfield and lost to Odessa, 55-7.

Over the full season the local eleven has put together eight victories without defeat to rank second in the weekly poll of Texas sports writers. Last week's 7-6 victory over Odessa was the closest margin of victory all year, also being the first time Lubbock was held to less than 33 points in a game.

Practice this week has been centered around the offense and two days of hard scrimmage were held. Blocking came in for lots of attention, and holes were opening up in the defensive line with frequency in the scrimmage Wednesday, allowing the ball carriers to race through for long gains.

Passing in scrimmages was excellent, and End Billy Wright appears to be reaching peak form in the pass-snagging department after a slow start.

Thursday's practice was limited to dummy offensive and defensive drills, with defensive patterns coming in for most of the attention.

Coaches Pattison and Fred Taylor will accompany the team to Midland on a chartered bus which will leave from Chapman field at 12:30 o'clock today. Line Coach Bill Floyd will remain in Lubbock, having been ill with a strep throat infection all week.

GABREL STILL LEADS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 18 (AP)—Harvey (Pug) Gabrel of Texas Western enters the stretch of the football campaign boasting a comfortable margin in Border conference ball-carrying. The conference statistical bureau shows Gabrel to have taken the ball 122 times for 705 yards — 87 yards more than Charles Wright of West Texas State, who has made 618 on 89 runs.

Raiders May Play In Sun Bowl Tilt

EL PASO, Nov. 18 (LP) — Georgetown university of Washington, D. C., will meet the gridiron champion of the Border conference in the annual Sun bowl game in El Paso Jan. 2.

C. D. Belding, chairman of the Sun bowl selection committee, made the announcement yesterday, following a talk with the athletic director at Georgetown.

The Washington school's team has won five games and lost three this season, having defeated Holy Cross, Wake Forest, New York university, Boston City college and Denver university.

Georgetown has lost to Maryland, Fordham and Villanova.

The eastern school will meet the Border conference champion, yet to be decided, in the annual grid classic.

Texas Tech presently leads in conference standings, but still must face New Mexico at Albuquerque tomorrow and second-place Hardin-Simmons at Lubbock Nov. 26.

Tech already has indicated it would accept the bid, but the acceptance will not be official until the conference season is completed, sources said.

Cowhands Cop 50-0 Victory

Plainview's B team fell by a 50-0 count before the Lubbock Cowhands yesterday at Chapman field in a game marked by fierce line play.

In coasting to their sixth win of the season against only one defeat, the Cowhands boosted their average number of points per game to 41, having scored 287 points over the season while limiting the opposition to 43. No more games are on the Cowhand schedule, but Coaches Freddy Brown and Pat Farris are trying to get a game for next week.

End Don Jones was the scoring leader for the Cowhands, making three touchdowns and kicking one point after against the Plainview eleven. Fullback James Sides accounted for two six-pointers, and Charles Hodges, Cecil Austin and Bo Sexton made one each. Charles Brewer kicked one extra point to account for the other point.

Lubbock scored two touchdowns in each of the first two quarters, resting at halftime with a 25-0 lead. One tally was called back and another made in the third period, and three touchdowns were made in the final stanza, one on a 65-yard return of a pass interception by Sides.

All Lubbock scores came on long runs, the longest being 90 yards and the shortset 40 yards.

Jones tallied first in the opening quarter on an end-around play that covered 60 yards. In the same period Halfback Hodges skirted right end and raced 75 yards.

Early in the third quarter Halfback Austin went around left end and sidelined his way 90-yards downfield, with Dale Clark carrying out the last defender. Brewer converted. Sexton skirted left end on a revised version of the statue of Liberty play for 40 yards in the closing minutes of the second quarter.

A 50-yard gallop early in the third period by Austin was nullified, but two plays later Hodges hit Jones with a long pass and the speedy wingman raced on to paydirt. Tatum converted to give the locals a 32-0 lead. Early in the fourth quarter Duane Rampy passed to Jones on a play covering 75 yards, Jones taking the ball on the 50 and outrunning the two defenders.

Sides went over right guard for the fifth Cowhand touchdown, traveling 70 yards to score. His interception and 65-yard return accounted for the last talley, with Milton Beech throwing a hard block on the last man to challenge Sides and keep the path to the goal line open.

Play was rough throughout the game, with several players being ousted from the contest.

The middle of the Cowhand line was hard to crack, with Billy Breedlove, Bill Waters, Dale Clark, Thomas Cadenhead and others stacking up Plainview players at the line of scrimmage.

Four Loop Crowns At Stake Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

Four "big games" are on tap tonight as Texas schoolboy football moves toward the playoff.

District titles go to the winner of these games in Class AA: Vernon-Wichita Falls, Temple-Corsicana, Austin-Corpus Christi and Baytown-Galveston.

Several other clubs in Class AA and City conference can almost start making playoff plans with victories tonight. These include Lubbock, Breckenridge, Abilene, Highland Park of Dallas, Sunset of Dallas, Alice, Marshall and Sunset have already cinched playoff spots.

Corsicana is undefeated, untied and Baytown is unbeaten but tied. Both can very well get licked tonight.

Port Arthur, Wichita Falls and Lubbock are the only other three teams with perfect records.

Lubbock meets Midland tonight in a 3-AA contest.

Robinson Is Voted Award

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP) — Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers, batting champion and second base spark of a pennant winner, has been elected most valuable player of 1949 in the National league.

First member of the negro race to make the grade in modern big league ball, the 30-year-old former UCLA collegian from Cairo, Ga. drew a total of 264 points to 226 for Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals. Robinson said he was "very happy" over his selection

Twenty four members of the Baseball Writers association, three from each city in the circuit, acted as a committee. Each listed 10 players in order of their value and 12 of the 24 put Robinson on top.

Enos Slaughter of the Cards and two of Robinson's Brooklyn teammates, Pee Wee Reese and Carl Furillo, each received two first place ballots. The other one went to Lefty Ken Heintzelman, the Phillies' 17-game winning pitcher. Only Robinson and Musial were on every ballot.

On a point basis with 14 for first, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth, Slaughter with 161 was third and Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner, the home run king and runs batted in leader, was fourth with 133. Reese, Dodger captain and shortstop partner of Robinson's in a fine double play combination drew a fifth place total of 118 points.

SERVICE TEAMS MEET

FORT WORTH, Nov. 18 (AP) — Carswell air base and Randolph air base tangle here today in a game that may produce the air force's "unofficial" football champion.

Red Raider Squad Leaves For Grid Tussle With New Mexico

Texas Tech's heavily favored Red Raider football squad, 40 strong, was scheduled to leave West Hall this morning at 8 for Albuquerque and a Saturday Border conference game against New Mexico.

Coach Dell Morgan took one more man on this trip than made the journey to El Paso two weeks ago. Quarterback Milton Rathbone, who has been out of action with a trick knee, is back in form again and will be depended upon for his forward passing.

Halfback Walter Maloney, out since before the Texas Western game, was left behind. Maloney has been bothered with a knee injury and Coach Morgan decided not to risk further injury in this game. He will be kept out so that he will be ready for action in the Hardin-Simmons game next Saturday.

The Raiders went through another spirited workout yesterday and looked better than at any other time. Most of the squad worked extensively on offensive work again, with special emphasis on the aerial game. Coach Morgan intends to pass extensively against the Lobos, since other teams have gained easily this why and also because New Mexico has four tackles weighing over 230 pounds.

Defensive Line Heavy

The defensive Lobo line is a ponderous affair and could cause Tech consibedable trouble by playing a tight formation, unless the defense can be opened by effective passing. This will be the Raider strategy Saturday and, if it is as successful as Arizona, the Raiders shouldn't be too troubled.

A big pep rally in Jones Stadium, held during the final home workout, was the sendoff of the season for the Raiders. The band was on hand to help out and Coach Morgan demonstrated one typical sequence of plays the Raiders use, sending his players through offensive drill.

The 40-man squad making the Albuquerque trip includes:

Petersburg Defeats Pioneers, 12 To 7

PETERSBURG, Nov. 18 (Special) —Scoring in the first and second quarters, the Petersburg Buffaloes downed a fighting band of Lubbock Pioneers, 12-7, here last night for their fourth win of the season against five losses.

Lubbock's lone tally came on the opening kickoff of the second half when Harry Estil ran back the kick 80-yards behind precision blocking. Although playing hard, the Pioneers were never able to threaten again.

For the Pioneers it was the fourth defeat to go with four victories and one tie over the full season's route.

Petersburg scored in the first quarter when Fullback Kenneth Regan crashed over from the five-yard line. A second quarter score netted six more points to give Petersburg a 12-0 halftime advantage, the tally coming on a 15-yard pass from Buddy Saffel to Paul Main.

Petersburg led in first downs, 9 to 7, and net yards gained, 271 to 241.

SCHREINER GETS WIN

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 18 (AP) — Schreiner Institute took a 14-0 decision from Texas' southmost junior college last night, Frank Alexander passing 13 yards to Tommy Toliver for one score and Teddy Giles making the second. Billy Thompson kicked the extra points.

Gun Club Barbecue Is Slated Tonight

Lubbock Gun club members will hold a barbecue and election of officers tonight at 7:30 at the Gun club and all members are urged to attend.

Reservations should be made with Mrs. Rogers at the Tom French company, 2-6996.

Saturday's Games Expected To Determine Southwest Conference Gridiron Champion

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Tomorrow will be the most important day in Southwest conference football. A champion may be born.

Rice's mighty Owls meet dangerous underdog Texas Christian at Fort Worth in the big one. Rice can clinch at least a tie for the title by licking the Horned Frogs.

Over at Dallas, Southern Methodist will be trying to help their conquerors, the Owls. The Methodists play Baylor and a victory over the Bears coupled with a Rice win would end the championship race in favor of the Owls. A win for Baylor would put the showdown on Nov. 26 when Baylor plays Rice.

Baylor, knowing that if it wins the next two games the Cotton bowl gates will swing wide, since in the event of a tie for the title the team that beat the other in regular season play gets the bid, will be throwing everything it has into its battle with Southern Methodist.

Texas Christian, staging a garrison finish of a campaign that once appeared hopeless, can be expected to give Rice a terrific struggle. The odds say Rice is 10½ points better and that Southern Methodist has a 7½-point bulge over Baylor.

While Rice swipes at Texas Christian and the Baptists and Methodists stage their annual feud, one other conference member will be playing an intersectional game. Arkansas will be entertaining William and Mary at Little Rock. Arkansas is favored by six points.

Texas and Texas A. and M. do not play this week. They will meet next Thursday to end the season for both teams, each having been eliminated from title consideration.

Our record for the season is 28 wins, 7 losses and 2 ties. It has been getting worse each week. But we had no reputation left anyway, so here goes for tomorrow:

Rice vs. Texas Christian at Fort Worth—The Christians upset Texas but the incentive isn't so great this week; Rice knows what it's in for—Rice by a touchdown.

Southern Methodist vs Baylor at Dallas—It's been a long, long time but we see no reason for it not going another year—Southern Methodist by two touchdowns.

Arkansas vs William and Mary at Little Rock—Arkansas couldn't be that bad two weeks in a row—a good ball game but Arkansas by two touchdowns.

Course Record Set By Marlene Bauer

Lubbock Country club today has a new women's course record which probably will stand for some time to come—unless little Marlene Bauer, the 15-year-old Los Angeles golfing sensation, returns to play the local layout again.

Miss Bauer re-wrote just about every record on the CC books Thursday as she fired a sizzling 32-37—69, and when she had finished galleryites were almost unanimous in agreement that no other star now in sight in the feminine ranks stands much chance of bettering her glittering round over the 6,233-yard Lubbock course.

Despite the poker-faced Californian's superb performance, however, she and her 22-year-old sister, Alice, lost their special exhibition match with Raymond Marshall and Jimmy Goldman by a 1-up margin, as the two Lubbock men rallied to overcome a three-hole deficit at the nine-hole turn.

The younger Bauer girl's round easily bettered the local official women's record of 72, set by Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite last June. Moreover, Marlene's score was shot from the men's tees, which are more than 200 yards longer than the women's tees, and she played most of the round in a stirr wind. To top all this, she wore a lengthy white skirt instead of the shorts she usually prefers on the links.

She posted a brilliant 32—the best nine-hole score she had ever recorded anywhere—on the outgoing nine. Coming in, she "slipped" to a 37, one over men's par. This gave her the 18-hole total of 69, two below men's par and five under the feminine standard.

Alice Bauer finished with a 36-38—74, while Marshall had 35-35—70 and Goldman 37-34—71.

The Bauer sisters, booming 250-yard drives down the fairways and dropping putts with startling consistency, had a best-ball score of 30 on the first nine. Marlene needed only 11 putts on the round, as she went out with four birdies and only one bogey—the result of a short putt that rimmed the cup and missed on No. 8.

Men Take Command

Three down at the turn and subject of some friendly heckling by male acquaintances in the gallery, Marshall and Goldman took command on the incoming nine. Marshall won No. 12 with a birdie four, Goldman took No. 12 with a birdie two, and Marshall grabbed 13 with another birdie four to square the match. Then, on No. 16, both came through with birdie three's that won the hole and—eventually—the match.

Both Marshall and Goldman were below par coming in, with 35 and 34 respectively.

The gallery which had increased to nearly 100 persons by the time the match reached the final green, actually was stunned by Marlene Bauer's superb play. Although the chunky California miss came here with a reputation as one of the nation's top feminine amateur golfers and a potential all-time great, few expected to see such a spectacular performance. From tee to cup, she displayed an uncanny touch that already has brought her some three dozen tournament titles, and which quite probably will carry her to the very top of the women's golfing world.

"Slightly" Out-Driven

At present, the younger Bauer girl holds the Women's Western Junior and Women's National Junior championships. She was a semi-finalist in this year's Women's National Amateur, where she had the low aggregate score for the rounds in which she competed.

Her sister, Alice, who is quite a golfer in her own right, was not up to Marlene's brilliant standard in the match here, chiefly because of a sputtering putter. Both Alice and Marlene hit for remarkable distance off the tees, in view of their respective weights of 105 and 115 pounds, although in general they were slightly outdriven by their male opponents.

The two girls, accompanied by their parents, currently are en route to their home in Los Angeles, after a highly-successful summer and fall tour on the major women's tournament circuit. They will leave Lubbock early today to make another exhibition appearance at Midland.

Cage Coaching School Slated

The Fourth Annual Clarence Fox Coaching school, a non-profit venture, will be held at Chapman Fieldhouse Nov. 27 and 28, with area high school basketball coaches and their squads expected to pour into Lubbock for the event.

The Sport Center will sponsor the school, Fox announced yesterday, with over 100 high school coaches anticipated being here from both the North and South Plains. Most of them will bring at least three members of their squads, although they are free to bring all the players they wish.

Basketball squads of Texas Tech and West Texas State college will be used to demonstrate plays and will play an exhibition game Monday night, final night of the school. It will not count in Border Conference standings.

No Registration Charge

Polk Robinson, Texas Tech coach, and Gus Miller, West Texas State college coach, will serve as instructors for the school. They will use their respective Red Raider and Buffalo squads to demonstrate their tactics.

Coaches in the area interested in attending the school should submit reservations immediately to Fox, in care of the Sport Center, 1512 13th street. There is no charge for registration.

The program will open Sunday, Nov. 27, at 9:30 a.m. in the Hilton hotel, when all coaches are invited to attend an officials meeting of the Border Conference. Rules and interpretations will be discussed at the meeting and it will take the place of a separate rules interpretation meeting for the school.

The regular school will get under way at 2 p.m. in Chapman Fieldhouse, opening with an address of welcome by Coach C. R. Pattison of Lubbock High school.

Lecture Slated

Coach Miller will conduct a lecture session and Coach Robison will follow with a lecture at 3 p.m. The two lectures will be followed by a demonstration of tactics put on by the Texas Tech basketball squad.

Sunday night will be free so that visiting coaches and squads may attend the churches of their choice.

At 10 Monday morning, the West Texas State college basketball squad will present a demonstration and there will be lectures in the afternoon by Coach Robison, at 2 p.m., and Coach Miller, at 3 p. m.

An exhibition basketball game between the Raiders and the Buffs will be played that night in Chapman Fieldhouse with the game open to the public.

Fox pointed out that the school was coming at a fine time for area coaches to arrive Saturday for the Hardin-Simmons-Texas Tech football game Nov. 26, followed by the two-day school. He said that he never had no less than 100 coaches in the past and that he expected that many af this school, his fourth.

Dallas Will Renew Lamesa Agreement

LAMESA, Nov. 18 (Special) The Dallas Eagles of the Texas league intend to renew their working agreement with the Lamesa Loboes of the West Texas-New Mexico league this year and in addition, the Loboes hope to have a working agreement with the Boston Braves.

Manager Jay Haney returned only this week from Dallas, where he, President H. A. Duke and Club Director Dr. R. F. Nix conferred with Bobby Goff, Eagle manager. Goff, according to Haney, promised the Loboes all the help the Eagles could spare this season.

Haney and Walter Buckel, business manager and former Lobo shortstop, plan to attend the winter meeting in Baltimore next month. While there, the Lobo skipper hopes to complete arrangements for a working agreement with the Braves, National League contenders.

Even if a working agreement is obtained, the Loboes still will accept help from Dallas, which has 78 players under contract, according to Haney.

Lamesa may have the services of both Glenn Selbo, shortstop, and Pitcher Bob Upton again next year, Haney reported. Both players belong to the Eagles.

Selbo hit .321 and Upton won nine and lost seven for Lamesa last season.

Duke said that the proposed seating capacity of the new park, which will be finished in time for the opening of the 1950 season, is 3,500 persons.

Henderson Is Winner By KO

Billy Henderson, Levelland's gift to the lightweight boxing ranks, today was seeking new fields to conquer after his easy three-round knockout of Tony Olivas, El Paso, in the main event of Thursday night's card at Sled Allen's arena.

A crowd estimated at 650 fans saw Henderson floor the El Pasoan in every round before putting him down for keeps in the third with a right cross to the chin. Olivas struggled to regain his feet, but failed to beat Referee Elmer Tarbox's ten count.

Although Olivas landed several solid punches, Henderson never was in serious difficulty. He opened cautiously, but midway through the first nailed Olivas with a short right that dropped the invader for a count of eight.

Olivas hit the deck twice in the next stanza, and on the second occasion would have been tolled out had not the bell intervened at the count of eight.

Then came the fateful third, when Henderson, who had been the aggressor all the way, applied the finisher after 2 minutes 35 seconds.

The semifinal between Lubbock Heavyweight Gene James and Eddie Lamar, Oklahoma City, was a one-sided affair with James completely in command all the way until the bout was halted after four heats. Lamar, a former state heavy champion who was sadly disappointing in this bout, was down a score of times—usually because of sheer exhaustion. His infrequent offensive flurries never seriously troubled James, who did a workmanlike—though awkward—job in carrying out his 14th successive win as a professional. It was James' second straight over Lamarr, and was so convincing as to erase any possibility of additional re-matches in the future.

Duncan Beats Gray

Leonard Duncan, Hale Center middleweight, disposed of Art Gray, an El Paso collegian, without working up a lather. Gray, whose big shortcoming was his inability to absorb a wallop, went down three times in the first and then took the count after being tagged with a solid left after 2 minutes 40 seconds of the second.

Charley Neff, Petersburg lightweight, subbed for Augustine Guiterrez, Pecos, when the latter failed to appear for his four-round opener with Tommy Mannoai, El Paso. Neff might have done well to have stayed home, too, because he took a thorough lacing from Mannaoi, who won the unanimous decision.

The show was staged by the Texas Tech collegiate chapter of the Future Farmers of America, with all profits slated to go toward establishment of a scholarship fund. Henderson, James and Duncan also contributed their entire purses to the fund.

Four Games Slated Today At Boys Club

Top game of the day at Boys club Thursday was the Senior league battle between the Dirty Demons and Seventh Street Thugs, with the Demons winning, 22-21, as Bobby Nabors scored eight points. High for the Demons was Jack Hawkins with nine points.

Today's games feature two Junior league contests, with the Fancy Five meeting the Hornets and the Midget Eagles try the Raiders.

Three other tilts were played Thursday.

Bobby Tollison looped in 15 points as the Sorry Lot dropped the Five Fools, 35-23. For the Fools, Dennis Calvert was high with 10 points in the Junior loop contest.

The Palominos romped through the Galloping Ghosts in the Midget league to win by a 26-12 count, with Ben Shipman counting nine points for the Horses. High for the Ghosts was Douglas Tucker, and he scored four points.

In the Pee Wee contest, the Maulers lived up to their name, beating the Buffaloes, 8-3, as Paul Sikes hit the basket for six points of the winners' eight. The Buffs were led by Reed Loflin with all three of their markers.

BAYLOR FROSH WIN

WACO, Nov. 18 (AP) — Bobby Brooks led the Baylor Cubs to a 22-19 victory over Southern Methodist university's freshmen football team last night. He gained 99 yards on nine carries and counted the Cubs' first touchdown in the third quarter.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Lubbock High school's Westerners ought not to be bothered greatly by Midland, despite loss of two players. Joe Brock and Freddy Gray will be missed by the Westerners, but those reserves the high school have could be playing regularly almost anywhere else. Coach Tugboat Jones probably will have the Bulldogs keyed up for the game and probably will be a good tilt for the first half. After that, Westerner power should assert itself. We can't, in all honesty, see anything but positive victories for the Westerners in this and the Brownfield game; and a close score in either game will be a great surprise to us. However, we've been surprised before and anything can happen in schoolboy circles.

At the start of the season, Tech's initial year team was rated as one of the greatest in the school's history. Now, historians are beginning to shudder, roll over in their graves and long for the good old days. The Picadors emulated a firecracker that has had most of the powder drained from it. They started off with a jet propelled action, only to fizzle and emit a weak pop. The weak pop was consecutive lickings by Odessa Junior college and Hardin-Simmons' freshmen. They now have won two and lost the same number. It's been anything but a good year and in their last two games, the freshmen have looked anything but a championship club. We're told that Carl Madison and Waldo Young are the cause of the trouble, that their attitude is destroying the morale of the squad. We hope they settle down in this final game so that the squad can make the school proud.

In that connection, we've saved a clipping since a week after the Picador-Buffalo game. It's taken from Bob Bray's column in the Amarillo Times and reads: "After seeing the session Thursday (WTSC Frosh-Sandia Air Base), we couldn't figure out how the Tech frosh happened to beat the Calves so bad a week ago. Either Tech has an even greater frosh powerhouse than even it suspects, or else the game was one of those inexplicable flukes that come up once in a while. Anyhow, the two teams meet again in a few weeks and the game will be interesting to watch. Our guess is that Tech will think the Buffs went out and recruited a new frosh squad when they meet again." We might point out that New Mexico's frosh beat Sandia Air Base 34-7, while the WTSC frosh turned the trick only 7-6. And the Texas Western frosh beat Odessa JC 28-19.

Through a mutual friend, we received a clipping from a West Coast (California) paper that will be of interest to Lubbock football fans. It concerns Gene Ussery and without further ado, we'll print the article word for word. "Gene Ussery, hard-tackling Jet (Naval Air Station team) center, is the best player on the team this year, according to his teammates, and 'as fine a center as will be found on the West Coast' in the opinion of his coach. A member of the Recreation Division, Ussery has played superlative football all year. 'His linebacking and offensive playing has resulted in his making 60% of all tackles every game' said Coach Charles "Chuck" Butler, 'and I consider him a good candidate for the All-Navy team.'

"Butler's 'little team' recently captured the 12th Naval District championship, and he feels that if the Jets' schedule has included competition with the southern area, the results of the 11th Naval District championship race might have been very different. Gene, who played three years of high school football in his home town of Lubbock, Texas, has developed a high accuracy in centering the ball, as well as an almost phenomenal ability for line-backing. He stated: 'one of the main things that wins our games is spirit and that's part of coaching, too. The whole team feels that and personally, Butler is the best coach I've ever played under.' There are two games left on the schedule. . . Spectators will see a fine team sparked by a center wearing jersey number 26. That is Gene Ussery, Jet 'outstanding player of the year' and prospective All-Navy Material."

And discussing a 13-2 victory over Mt. View Athletic club, the article says: "The greatest standout of this ball game was the exceptional, near perfection, defensive play of Jet Center Gene Ussery. The Apaches had nothing but praise for Ussery's line backing tactics. Surely, recognition will be given this boy when the All-Navy selections are made. It is commonly concluded hereabouts that Ussery could play center on any ball club, bar none." So ends the report, which is our "Lubbock Gets In" for today.

From Wilbur Evans, tub thumper supreme for Texas university, comes the tale about the high school kid who finally traded a clarinet in the band for a position in the backfield throwing passes for the football team. The coach was Eck Curtis; the school was Breckenridge High eight years ago; and the licorice stick tooter was Paul Campbell. Campbell's parents had just bought him the clarinet and it took some plain and fancy talking by Eck to get the parents to allow Campbell to play football. Finally it was agreed that he could try the B squad for one year and if he liked football better than he did the band, he could make the change. Today Coach Blair Cherry is thanking every lucky star he has that Eck was able to talk the Campbells into letting their musical son play football. Today, Paul Campbell is leading the Southwest Conference passers.

The ROUND-UP: Last week, the day of the Colorado game, an Albuquerque newspaper headlined the New Mexico game Saturday with Tech! Underneath, in small print, was the fact that the Lobos were to play Colorado that day. . . Glad to see The Dallas Morning News got Lubbock off the hot seat by rating them No. 2 in the state, instead of No. 1. . . Coach Dell Morgan ought to sign up E. Y. Gibbs. If the amateur magician, who is good, could make John Ford and Hook Davis disappear, he'd be doing Tech a favor. . . The Raiders are under serious consideration for the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla .. . Can't understand Dr. Litkenhous still rating Texas Western and Hardin-Simmons ahead of Tech. Even Paul Williamson has the Raiders ahead of both schools. . . La-Grave Field in Fort Worth will be rebuilt for the 1950 baseball season. . . Boxing show in Dallas featuring Sugar Ray Robinson in an exhibition attracted only 1,000 fans.

Bowling Results

There was no change in the first position of the tight Ladies City Bowling league following last night's games as Plamor Number One and Home Lumber each won two games to maintain their tie for first.

Plamor One took two from S&J Upholstering, with Jo Trammell kegling 169-427 for the winners. Wildering Smith was high for the losers with a 156-419 series.

Home Lumber salvaged two games from Miller & Miller. Arcine Haseloff was high for Home Lumber with 168-405. Lovie Beavers paced the Miller keglers with 150-443.

Plamor Two moved closer to the top by taking three games from Brooks Trailers. Mary Payne turned in a nice 160-468 for the winners, which was high for the night. Frances Huckabee led Brooks with 102-288.

Plamor Two had high game for the night, 674, and chalked up 1,923 for high series.

Boy Who Led Police On Merry Chase Seven Weeks Captured

TEXARKANA, Tex., Nov. 18. (AP) —A thin, wiry, 14-year-old boy who has led officers of three states a merry chase for seven crime-packed weeks, was captured today at his Texarkana home.

The boy, small for his age, launched his crime wave seven weeks ago by stealing a coon from the Texarkana zoon.

Since then, officers say, he has:

1. Stolen a long string of automobiles, motorcycles and even a motor scooter.

2. Burglarized an ex-police commissioner's home of $580.

3. Escaped from officers three times. Once was a thrilling getaway from a 30-man posse when he jumped from a car while handcuffed.

Hidden In Closet

Tipped that the boy was back in Texarkana after escapades in Houston, Arkansas and Louisiana, detectives and policemen from Texas and Arkansas found him hiding in a closet of his home here and he surrendered without resistance.

Texarkana, Tex., city Detective Homer Goff said the boy was "as far back in that closet as a person could get."

Here is the boy's crime career as outlined by officers:

He was caught and released after he had stolen the coon. Then he stole two motorcycles here.

He was apprehended after stealing the first motorcycle but broke away from the officers who had him in custody.

On the second motorcycle he rode to south Texas. He wrecked it and stole a motor scooter in Houston.

He visited the Houston home of his stepfather but ended the visit abruptly by stealing $58 from the home of his stepfather's car.

He drove the car to Texarkana and abandoned it.

Then he went on to Nashville, Ark., and burglarized the home of an ex-police commissioner of $580. He also stole a couple of cars in Nashville. He went on to a town near Shreveport and stole another car.

He drove that car to Houston and parked in front of the home of an aunt. He went in the house and went to sleep. The aunt called officers to come and get him, but he awakened and heard them coming. He jumped through a window and hid in a woods till they were gone.

Jumped From Car

They made the mistake of leaving the stolen car in front of the house. The boy promptly got in it and drove away.

He was next spotted in a woods near Addicks, Tex., in Harris county. A 30-man posse called for him to come out, but he didn't. They waded into the woods and caught him. Officers in the group handcuffed him and placed him in their car and headed for Addicks.

En route, the boy opened the back door of the car with his toes and leaped out. This time, the posse didn't catch him.

The next word of him was the telephoned tip to police here last night that he was in town. It resulted in his arrest.

COAL OPERATORS SCORE STAND

Action By Truman In Dispute Urged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—President Truman's statement that he will use the Taft-Hartley law in the coal dispute if there's an emergency brought an operator cry today that there already is one.

Mr. Truman took his stand at his news conference late yesterday; he would not say whether he thinks an emergency would come with another walkout of the miners Nov. 30. That is the end of the present working period decreed by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine workers.

Emergency Declared Here

Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers association, replied from Lexington, Ky., that "there already is a national emergency." Moody added in a speech that Mr. Truman "obviously is up against a Nov. 30 deadline even though he denies the existence of a national emergency."

Mr. Truman's stand—keeping out of the dispute for the present—left the way open for a new peace meeting between Lewis and the operators before the present truce runs out. However, no immediate conference was arranged and Moody said he saw no present hope for resuming contract negotiations.

Mr. Truman surprised most people watching the coal situation by flatly stating he would not step in until an emergency arose, and was relying on the Taft-Hartley act in that event. The law provides for an 80-day court injunction to keep production going if necessary to the public welfare. He has used the law before although it was passed over his veto.

Board Appointment Favored

Most of the President's advisers had suggested the appointment of a fact-finding board that would look into the dispute and recommend a solution. Mr. Truman had done this in the dispute between CIO president Phillip Muray and the steel industry.

But Mr. Truman decided yesterday to sit tight and allow Lewis and the operators to try to make their own terms before the strike was due to resume.

The coal mine owners had been all set for appointment of a fact-finding board; they said they were confident it would find that Lewis was entitled to no wage or welfare-pension advances this year.

Panel Discussion Scheduled At Tech

A panel discussion which opened at 1 o'clock this afternoon was to be the concluding feature of a three-day dairy manufacturers' short course held at Texas Technological college under auspices of the department of dairy manufactures.

All speakers present were to take part in the discussion.

Approximately 110 persons from several states have registered for the short course.

Speakers this morning were Dr. J. J. Willingham, head professor of dairy manufactures at the college, who spoke on "Getting the Most from Ice Cream Flavors;" N. W. Lamb of Houston, of the Borden company, who spoke on "Problems of Processing in Milk and Ice Cream Plants," and Dr. G. M. Trout of Michigan State college, "Homogenized Milk."

RED FLARES, RADIO SIGNALS RAISE HOPES

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 18. (AP)—Reports of two red flares and faint radio signals sent rescue planes and ships rushing today to an area 345 miles northeast of Bermuda, seeking survivors from the U. S. air force B-29 which crash-landed Wednesday with 20 men aboard.

Fifty or more search planes were scheduled to be in the air today. The Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent, 500 miles west of the scene where the flares were reported, and two U. S. coast guard cutters were on their way to the area.

Sighted At Dusk

The flares were sighted just at dusk last night by one of the 80 planes which through the day had patrolled the Bermuda area. The missing England-bound bomber radioed Wednesday it was going to "ditch" in the Atlantic when its radio navigation equipment broke down and its fuel supply ran out.

Soon after the flares were seen, another rescue plane heard faint radio signals. The searchers thought they could have come from a portable radio set carried in the B-29 life raft kits.

More search planes were ordered out from Kindley field here as soon as the flares were reported sighted. But night searchers failed to disclose any trace of the missing airmen.

Weather To Clear

Weather conditions were reported only fair early today for the area where the flares were reported seen. But local officials said they expected the weather to improve with daylight.

The water temperature in the region was approximately 73 degrees.

The Canadian carrier, with an escorting destroyer and frigate, interrupted a fall cruise yesterday to join in the search.

By last night the patrol had covered 360,000 square miles of ocean. Air force officers in charge of the operation said if necessary the planes and ships would criss-cross over 750,000 square miles of area.

SILK STOCKINGS STAY

Northern Ireland folks were happy when advised that the nylon factory at Enniskillen had been allowed to allocate 1,300 of its daily production of 4,000 pairs to the home market.

Banditry

he got $58 or $60 in a holdup at the Jack Hill service station.

Byrum overturned the automobile on a country road near Era early yesterday morning. He was fleeing from Texas Ranger Lewis C. Rigler, who had spotted him between Valley View and Gainesville.

After hiding in fields, Byrom walked up to Herman Tatum, 28, an Era farmer, as Tatum picked cotton near where Byrom overturned the automobile.

He ordered the farmer into Tatum's 1933 model car and forced him to drive to Fort Worth.

Tossed Him Money

Tatum said when Byrom left the automobile in Fort Worth he tossed five one dollar bills onto the seat and said, "take that for your trouble."

Byrom went to two movie houses after leaving Tatum's automobile.

Harrison recovered the car lot's keys from the automobile Byrom wrecked near Era. Two pistols also were found in the car. Byrom said one was taken in a car prowl here Oct. 20 and the other during a robbery in Jacksboro Oct. 31.

When Green arrested Byrom, the youth pulled from under a table $85 which he described as part of his loot.

Byrom said he received a conditional release four months ago from a federal prison, after serving three and a half years of a four and a half year sentence for violation of the Dyer act.

MARKET DRIVES AHEAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — The stock market drove ahead for the third session running today, with automobile issues supplying the main motive power.

Closing prices were at or near the best levels of the day.

Chrysler and General Motors were strong contenders for first place, each gaining around a point. Studebaker trailed with a factional advance.

Gains elsewhere ranged from fractions to more than a point.

Advances were scored in rapid-fire trading and sales expanded to one of the largest totals of the year.

Turnover reached a rate of around 1,700,000 shares for the full session.

The particular interest in Chrysler, according to a rumor making the rounds of the financial district, was the possibility that the company's board might vote a year-end dividend. The board is scheduled to meet Dec. 1.

Higher prices were paid for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward, Admiral Corp., Radio Corp., American Power & Light common and $5 and $6 preferreds, Standard gas & Electric $4 preferred, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, General Electric, Westinghouse Electrict, International Paper, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ) and Gulf Oil.

Demand for corporate bonds perked up.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady in early dealings on aggressive mill buying and short covering. Hedge selling and liquidation in nearby December later developed in greater volume, with the market losing most of its gain.

Renewed active buying in textiles and growing tightness in the supply of good quality cotton in the frpe market influenced some buying.

Futures closed 15 cent sa bale lower to 10 cents higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP) — A small-scale buying movement was enough to record gains ranging to around a cent in major grains on the board of trade today. All cereals participated in the upturn with the market featured by a lack of selling pressure.

Export business in corn, and the possibility of some developing in wheat, served as the spark to set off the buying. There also was an unconfirmed rumor that the federal crop insurance corporation might buy red wheat, which has acted as a drag on prices here.

Wheat closed ⅞-1⅛ higher, December $2.11¼-½, corn was 1 to 1½ higher, December $1.22⅝-¾, oats were ⅝-¾ higher, December 74⅝, rye was 2¾ to 3 cents higher, December $1.33½-¾, soybeans were 2 to 2¾ higher, November $3.75.

Broken Ankle Fails To Halt Man's Work

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—Max Landenburger broke an ankle when he fell out of a pear tree. Doctors told him he would be in bed for weeks.

Landenburger said he was too active for that. He went into his basement workshop and soon turned out an artificial leg.

He gets around at his work now as the foreman in the dies department of a large factory.

Doctors examined the arrangement, which took all strain off the ankle, and pronounced it okay.

"I just made it from odds and ends. I think I spent 25 cents for new materials," said Landenburger.

RETRIEVER—Obviously this ambitious little explorer isn't going to get very far while the Boston terrier has his mind made up to keep him out of mischief. Howard Nickerson, of East Norwalk, Conn., won third prize with this picture in a contest sponsored by the Gaines Dog Research Center, in New York City.

Third Note In Case Is Found

SOUTHLAND, Nov. 18. (Special) —Garza County Sheriff E. M. Bass of Post today announced the finding of a third note presumably written by Mrs. Marvin Truelock, 41, who was found dead here Wednesday afternoon with a gag in her mouth, a burning stove over her face and her hands held behind her back with a rope.

The unsigned note, penned in the form of poetry, was found late Thursday on a day bed in the kitchen by her mother, Mrs. W. H. Fletcher of Plainview, according to the sheriff.

Contents Not Disclosed

Although the sheriff did not disclose the contents of the poem, he indicated the contents were similar to those in two other notes found in a comic book at the scene of the bizarre death.

Justice of the Peace J. D. King of Post Thursday night ruled Mrs. Truelock died "from suffocation from a gag in her mouth."

"It's the only verdict I can give right now," King said, "and it could be changed if any new evidence is presented."

King said he will probably file his verdict Dec. 5 when the district court grand jury convenes at Post.

Services were to be conducted at 3 p. m. today in the First Baptist church of Southland. Rev. P. D. Fullingim, pastor of the church of which Mrs. Truelock was a member, was to officiate with burial in the Southland cemetery under the direction of the Mason Funeral home.

Tax Boost

a reporter said indicated the administration had abandoned any effort to balance the budget and that there would be no tax hike.

The report, Mr. Truman shot back, was incorrect. Next question: Would he ask for a tax increase?

That matter will be covered in his messages to Congress in January, the President replied. Then he added that he already had said about 19 times there is no other way to avoid deficit financing.

Mr. Truman was asked for his opinion of the proposal of Senator Douglas (D-Ill) to cut federal spending next fiscal year—starting July 1, 1950—by about $4,400,000,000.

The President parried: Why didn't Congress do that kind of a job at the last session on his $42,000,000,000 budget for this fiscal year? He said he sent Congress a tight budget, but that the lawmakers sent one back which exceeded his recommendations.

It is easy, he added, to talk about cutting spending, but much harder to do it.

Douglas refused to comment on Mr. Truman's remarks.

Mr. Truman said the budget he will send to the capitol in January will again be a tight one and an honest one. And, he added, it again will be hard to cut.

The new budget will run somewhere between $40,000,000,000 and $45,000,000,000, Budget Director Frank Page, jr., recently told reporters. He cited the possibility of an increase over this year's $42,000,000,000 despite an expected reduction of about $1,000,000,000 in Marshall plan aid.

Cornerstone Of New Church To Be Laid

Laying of the cornerstone of the Broadway Church of Christ building under construction in 1900-block Broadway will take place at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, following a covered dish luncheon, said Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister.

The covered dish luncheon will open about 12:30 o'clock, following the 11 o'clock church service in the present building of the church in 1500-block Broadway.

B. Sherrod, chairman of the building committee, will speak on plans for completion. Hershel Dyer, minister of Pioneer Park Church of Christ, and Dr. Young will speak. Liff Sanders, pioneer minister, will be asked to offer a prayer. Others, including all members of the building committee, will take part in laying of the stone.

The building is approximately half completed. It is expected to be ready for use by July of next year.

Newsbriefs

Twenty-nine Mexican nationals who had entered this country illegally were loaded aboard a bus of the immigration border patrol this morning and started for Presidio, port of entry to their homeland. They were arrested within the last week and lodged in county jail.

Bob Smith, of 1830 Ave. D, reported his 1941 black Dodge coupe, license AR 9705, stolen Thursday night.

Dean Andrews, 17, has been returned here from Canyon, where he was convicted of theft and sentenced to two years, so that a 99th district court probation term of five years can be set aside and the youth sentenced to serve that time in the penitentiary for theft by bailee, the sheriff's office said.

W. C. Cummings was fined $150 and county court costs on a Thursday afternoon plea of guilty of liquor law violation, county officials said. His plea was entered for him by an attorney.

Theft of a radio valued at $22.50 from an office of the First Methodist church, at 1411 Broadway, was reported to the police this morning by J. T. Carter, church executive assistant.

Fifteen-year-old Eddie Hogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hogan of 2112 Eighth, returned home today from Lubbock Memorial hospital where he received treatment for an eye injury sustained Saturday when an airgun accidentally discharged a pellet into it. His mother said physicians had not definitely determined whether the eye would be saved.

Homer D. Powell, 25, of Seminole, charged Oct. 11 with rape of a 23-year-old Lubbock waitress, was arrested Thursday night in a cafe, in 1100-block College Ave., by police. Bond of $1,000 was set by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, to await action of a grand jury reporting Nov. 28 in 99th district court.

Pete Hubbard, a police patrolman for several years, has been transferred to the city detective bureau, it was announced Thursday afternoon. He qualified by examination. Hubbard for months has been assigned to occasional investigations similar to those he will work on under his new duties. Robert West, who had worked in the detective bureau the last several months pending the naming of another detective, returned to duties as a radio car patrolman.

The Civil Service Commission announces examinations for the position of construction inspector at entrance salaries ranging from $3100 to $3825 per annum. Lt. Clem Explains Air Force Commands

Air reserve members of the 9172nd VART group were brought up to date on the organization of the Air Force and were given a report on efforts to whip supply problems in case of war at a meeting last night in the Tech military science building.

Lt. James H. Clem, of Tech ROTC training unit, outlined the assignment of Air Force commands to various parts of the U. S. and their functions, including those of smaller units. He also explained the new chain of command at top levels.

Lt. Col. James W. Postlewaite reviewed the latest achievements in handling Air Force material. He recently returned from a two-weeks tour of duty at Brookley Air Force base, Alabama, where government, business and military experts on supply problems were guests lecturers.

Attendance of approximately 50 men was almost double that of the first meeting on October 6. Lt. Col. Harlan A. Hodges, group commander, presided. Capt. James H. Ackley, 12th AF liaison officer, El Paso, was also present.

Veep's Wedding

of Paducah, Ky.

Then the pastor began:

"Dearly beloved, we are gathered here in the sight of God and in the presence of these witnesses, to join together this man and this woman in holy matrimony. . . "

Bishop Takes Over

Bishop Holt took over for the actual giving of the wedding vows.

That was the culmination of a romance that started last July and proceeded apace through the summer and into the autumn with Barkley's flying trips to St. Louis while the nation speculated as to whether he would win the hand of the widow.

He will be 72 on Thanksgiving day; she is 38.

Courtly and calm, Barkley wore a pin-stripped dark blue suit.

Leaving the chapel, Barkley and his bride paused at the door for her to puton a coat.

Scores of photographers were waiting in front of the canopy. Mrs. Hadley was overheard to say, "I hate to go out to that mess."

Showered With Rice

When they finally stepped out and faced the photographers, the crowd tossed a shower of rice. The couple stood and chatted for about 10 minutes while pictures were taken.

At length the bride said:

"Alben, I don't think they're going to let us get out of here."

Barkley said, "it looks like it, doesn't it." Then he gave the "V for victory" sign, made famous by Winston Churchill, apparently to signify his successful suit for the lady's hand.

They started toward their limousine but the crowd refused to give way.

Police Of Little Use

Barkley said, "it looks like we'll have to call the police."

Even then there was a cordon of police around them but they had been having little success in curbing the cheering multitude.

When the couple did get into the car it was tightly wedged in the crowd.

Police rushed the crowd back and the vehicle edged along slowly until it got to a motorcycle escort.

Following the ceremony an informal family luncheon was planned at the home of Mrs. T. M. Sayman, friend of Mrs. Hadley with a limited number of press, radio and television representatives permitted to attend. A three-tiered wedding cake about 2½ feet high had been prepared for the bride to cut.

The newlyweds then planned to leave on their honeymoon for "Shangri-La," as "the veep" called it. Rumor has it that they are going to Key West, Fla., where they will shortly be joined by President Truman and his family

Will Visit Home

After the honeymoon the couple will visit Barkley's Paducah home, "The Angles," and later go to Washington where a new and strange (to her) social whirl awaits the new second lady of the land.

The vice president arrived here late yesterday by plane from Washington. He was met at the airport by Mrs. Hadley and a large crowd of newsmen, photographers and others. With his bride-to-be at the wheel, the smiling veep drove away in the new $3,000 convertible he recently gave her as a wedding gift. A brief wedding rehearsal at the church was followed by dinner at the home of friends.

Barkley and his bride met the night of July 8 last, on a trip down the Potomac river. She was on vacation, visiting friends, special counsel Clark M. Clifford of the presidential staff, and Mrs. Clifford.

The courtly Kentuckian, whose first wife died in 1944 after 44 years of maried life, was immediately impressed. He gave a luncheon for the charming young widow at the Senate and a cocktail party at his Washington apartment.

Flies To St. Louis

Shortly afterward he flew to St. Louis for a private luncheon with Mrs. Hadley and a small group of her friends. Soon the news was out. Public interest was intense. It mounted steadily during the courtship of four months.

The engagement was announced here Sunday night, Oct. 30. The Kentucky gentleman gained the distinction of being the first vice president to marry while in office.

Mrs. Hadley is the widow of Carleton S. Hadley, Wabash railroad general counsel, who died in 1945. She is a native of Keytesville, in north central Missouri.

Mrs. Hadley's eldest daughter, Anne, 17, is a freshman at Sophie Newcomb college in New Orleans. Jane, 14, attends high school here and lives with her mother.

Truce, Strike Decision Due

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—The AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots union decides today whether to continue a 30-day truce or strike East and Gulf coast shiping at noon Tuesday.

The union originally was scheduled to walk out at midnight last Tuesday, but the strike was averted then by a tentative 11th hour truce. Local representatives met to ratify or reject the agreement.

Informed sources said there is some question whether the union will agree to the postponement. The strike would tie up all dry cargo ships operating from East and Gulf coast ports and half the nation's shipping eventually would be affected.

Under the truce plan either the union or the 38 companies represented by the American Merchant Marine Institute can reject the postponement by Monday. If the union does so, it could walk out at noon the following day.

William N. Margolis, assistant director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation service, was scheduled to meet with union negotiators today as a prelude to resuming joint mediation sessions. He probably will hold a similar meeting with shipping spokesmen early next week.

Margolis said he will urge the union to continue the truce and seek its assurance that the agreement will be approved.

But approval of the truce by the union's rank and file was far from certain. There were reports that some spokesmen are opposed to accepting a postponement.

The left-wingers, who charged that the Curran-controlled meeting last night was invalid, held their own session afterward and called another meeting at union headquarters today.

Fist-fights were raging and chairs spinning through the air last night as Curran walked into St. Nicholas arena to take control of the meeting where grievances were being thrashed out.

Curran jammed through a resolution, by a slight margin, censuring his left-wing foes led by deposed New York port agent David Drummond.

Members of the embattled factions sat staring at each other like bulldogs for 15 minutes after Curran declared the meeting adjourned. Then Curran and his right-wing aides walked out of the sports arena. The left-wingers' meeting ended the tempestuous night's proceedings.

DECEMBER HIKE IS EXPECTED

Decline In Unemployment In Lubbock Area "Encouraging"

A decline in unemployment this month in the Lubbock locality is construed as an "encouraging indication that the economic situation is balanced and sound," a report by B. T. O'Connell, manager of the Lubbock district office of the Texas Employment commission showed.

A drop from 700 to 600 this month in the number of unemployed persons is a by-product of the harvest season and is seasonal in nature, O'Connell explained.

Slight Boost Seen

"It is very likely that a sligh increase in unemployment will be seen by Dec. 1, because by tha time workers will be returning from the cotton harvest and will again be seeking employment in non-agricultural industries. Unless n o n-agricultural establishments step up their hiring for the Christmas season, unemployment may increase rapidly during December to reach a possible 950 or 1,000 by the first of the year," O'Connell said.

At mid-November the total non agricultural employment in the Lubbock labor market area was estimated at 25,400, a net decrease of 350 or 1.4 per cent. The decrease was caused chiefly by withdrawal of a large number of workers from non-agricultural employment to work in the cotton market.

Employment Holds Own

Although isolated cases of hardship caused by the lack of unskilled workers have been reported, this action has had no crippling effect on local industry, TEC officials say.

Employment in non-agricultural establishments has held its own so far during the harvest season with some slight increase; however, fewer extra employes have been hired for the fall trade than in the past few years. The only possible explanation appears to be that the buyer is more conservative about spending his money than in previous seasons.

Reports from employers to TEC research workers reflect less than the usual optimism on the volume of fall trade despite the bumper crop, it was reported.

Although Lubbock is considered normally a balanced area as far as demand and supply are concerned, the demand and supply come nearer meeting at mid-November than at any other time during the year, O'Connell explained.

Surplus Labor Used

It is at that time most of the surplus labor is drained into farm work and few job seekers are left for non-agricultural employers to choose from.

TEC figures reflect that condition at present. Office traffic and new applications for work are at a low ebb and have been for several weeks. However, since only a small demand is being shown by employers for the next month, and since workers will be returning from the cotton harvest soon, the supply will begin out-numbering demands by the first part of December.

The immediate Lubbock area has about 30,000 migratory cotton pullers at present, the TEC estimates. The harvest is approximately 30 per cent complete with enough pullers and machines on hand to finish the harvest by Dec. 15 if good weather continues. Outmigration of harvest workers has already started and will continue as the weather becomes colder.

Remains Of Sea Cow Found In California

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 18. (U.P.) The remains of a sea cow which inhabited the earth some 30,000,000 years ago have been unearthed.

The fossil deposits were found near Coalinga by Roy H. Reinhart, University of California scientist.

The sea cow belongs to an order of mammals known technically as the sirenians. Previous to the Coalinga discovery, only two skulls, two partial jaws and some of the teeth of the beast had been unearthed by fossil hunters.

The sirenians are best known as forming the basis for the legends regarding mermaids, creatures considered to be half human and half fish.

Railroad To Build New Freight Cars

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18 (AP) Southern Pacific announced today it will acquire 3,100 new freight cars and overhaul 900 box cars as the next step in its expansion of freight carrying facilities.

The company said it is considering building a substantial number of the new cars in its own shops, where the overhauling program will be carried out.

British Government Spokesman Proud Of Her U. S. Education

By GERALDINE HILL
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 18 — Britain's first official spokesman for the Foreign Office speaks with a faint trace of an American accent.

The accent was scarcely intelligible to Britons but to American interviewers it prompted a surprised whistle.

The "official supokesman" 29-year-old Joan Birbidge, said she had learned her three R's at a public school in Larchmont, N. Y.

"I went to American when I was six years old," she said, "and returned to Britain when I was 14. After the public school I went to Rye county school, where I reached tenth grade."

Joan, who joined the Foreign Office in 1945, is the first woman to be given the responsibility of handing out news to diplomatic correspondents, both European and American.

Let In On Secrets

She attends off the record Foreign Office talks and is trusted with many official secrets. It is her job to decide what to tell enterprising newsmen concerning Britain's foreign affairs of state.

In her large office in the Foreign Office this young girl, who is one of Britain's 12 women in the diplomatic corps, told her success story.

"America was my first home. I loved the American way of life. I was a bookish child at school but joined in at sports with my American friends. I had my first date in America and I still long for those hot dogs we ate together.

"My father returned to Britain when I was 14 and I finished my education here. I got a degree in medieval history at Oxford University."

Back In America

After her first job earning $20 a week in the British Broadcasting Company, Joan joined the Ministry of Information and began the work that has led her to today's post.

"I returned to America once during the war to work in the British Information Service in New York and again in 1946 to work in the British Embassy in Washington," the tall, brown-eyed girl said.

She said that she had little time for relaxation.

"I garden a little and write detective stories when I have time. I have had two stories published, 'Curiosity Killed the Cat,' and 'Villainy at Vespers'."

Joan said she hoped her new job would lead her to more important diplomatic posts.

"I hope one day to return to Washington in a political position" she ended.

Wedding Of O'Dwyer Ex-Model Is Talked

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Nov. 18. (AP)—Whispers of "married" and "going to be" spun about Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York and ex-model Sloane Simpson today in this resort city.

They arrived at the Gideon Putnam hotel late yesterday to spend the weekend, and O'Dwyer sent word he would meet with reporters today. He didn't say whether he would talk of wedding bells.

They are guests of Martin Sweeny, a friend, who leases the plush hotel from the state.

The 59-year-old mayor, a widower, and the striking, 35-year-old Miss Simpson have been the subject of romantic rumors for weeks. But they refused to discus the reports, one of which was that they would be married Nov. 18.

Sweeny told a reporter the mayor and Miss Simpson would not be married during their visit.

Shallow Wildcat To Be Drilled In Garza County; Exploration Planned Five Miles East Of Hobbs

Drilling is to be started at once on a 2,606-foot wildcat in Southeast Garza county, two and one-half miles southwest of Justiceburg.

The venture will be P. W. and R. S. Anderson of Midland No. 1 R. Clyde Miller. Location is 330 feet from south and 1,650 feet from east lines of the north half of section 29, block 6, H&GN survey.

Cable tools will be used to dig the project. It will be one-half mile east of the Proven Oil company No. 1 Herd, which pumped about five barrels of oil per day from the San Andres for a considerable time before being depleted and abandoned.

The Anderson prospector is projected to the San Andres.

WILDCAT TEST SLATED IN GAINES COUNTY

Amerada Petroleum company No. 1 W. M. Breckon is to be a 6,500-foot wildcat in Southwest Gaines county, five miles east of Hobbs, N. M.

The drillsite will be one and one-quarter miles northwest of Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation No. 1 Nichols, wildcat which has had some shows in the Glorieta and Clear Fork sections.

No. 1 Breckon will be 467 feet from the south and 1,113 feet from east lines of section 25, block A-9, psl survey.

Mid-Continent No. 1 Nichols was drilling below 6,853 feet in lime toward its contracted depth of 8,500 feet.

Some sources say that the Amerada operation will be carried on down to at least 7,500 feet. Drilling on the venture is to begin in the near future.

Newman Brothers Drilling company of San Antonio and associates, No. 1 Hugh Boren, Central-West Scurry county wildcat one mile west and one mile north of the closest completed oil wells in the Kelley-Canyon field, topped the Canyon lime reef at 6,630 feet to give it a datum of minus 4.187 feet on that marker.

On that top the prospector should have at least 216 feet of Canyon pay above the water level in that formation. It was drilling below 6,767 feet and was to go on to 6,796 feet and then set casing to complete.

The section of the reef so far drilled has not yet been tested but samples show that it will make a producer.

PERMIT SOUGHT FOR WILDCAT NEAR SNYDER

R. C. Lipscomb of San Antonio has filed an application with the Railroad commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill an 8,000 foot wildcat in Southwest Scurry county, 12 miles southwest of Snyder.

The project, No. 1 N. C. von Roeder, will be one mile south and one mile west of the nearest production from the Canyon lime reef on the southwest side of the Sharon Ridge field. Location is 467 feet from north and west lines of the east half of section 75, block 25, H&TC survey.

The projected depth should carry it into the Ellenburger.

Drilling is to begin by November 25.

Drilling on an 8,200-foot wildcat to find and test the Ellenburger is to begin at once in Central-West Scurry county, 12 miles west of Snyder.

The prospector, Spartan Drilling company, N. 1 J. H. Langford, is to be located 467 feet north and 660 feet from east lines of the southeast quarter of section 240, block 97, H&TC survey.

It is three and one-half miles northwest of Canyon production in the Diamond-M field, and one and one-half mile south of Arah.

This wildcat is on a 445-acre lease which was turned to Spartan by A. P. Barrett, jr., and J. C. Ratliff, jr., both of Midland. It is understood that these operators received some cash and an override in the deal. This transaction was reported about 10 days ago.

NEW OFFSET COMPLETED BY CITIES SERVICE

Cities Service Oil company No. 1 Von Roeder, south offset to the recently completed Standard-Fryer Drilling company No. 1 Wilkinson, discovery between the North Snyder and Kelley-Canyon fields, has been completed for a 24-hour calculated potential of 1,124 barrels of 43-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 716-1.

No. 1 Von Roeder was completed from open hole between the 5½ inch oil string cemented at 6,630 feet and the total depth at 6,735 feet in the Canyon, topped at 6,625 feet.

The flow was natural through a three-quarter inch tubing choke. No formation water was reported.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 16, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

Standard-Fryer No. 1 Wilkinson was completed as a discovery between the Kelley-Canyon and North Snyder fields, but has recently been designated in the Kelley field.

Another new producer for the Kelley field has been completed at Spartan Drilling company and Gene Goff No. 1-A Hardy.

The well was finished as a pumper and made an initial daily production of 92.30 barrels of 42-gravity oil, plus 33 1-3 percent water. Gas-oil ratio was 800-1.

The production was from open hole between the 7-inch oil string set at 6,863 feet and the total depth at 6,883 feet. That interval was treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

The new pumper is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 207, block 97, H&TC survey.

EXPLORATION PLANNED IN NORTH SNYDER FIELD

L. M. Lockhart of Corpus Christi has filed an application with the Railroad commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill his No. 1-A H. E. Rosser as a 6,900-foot exploration on the southeast side of the North Snyder field of North Central Scurry county.

The venture will be 467 feet from north and west lines of section 178, block 3, H&GN survey, and three miles north of Snyder.

In the Diamond-M field of Southwest Scurry county, Lion Oil company is to begin drilling in the near future at its No. 34 McLaughlin, slated 6,900-foot exploration to test the Canyon reef lime.

No. 34 McLaughlin will be 1,996.9 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 196, block 97, H&TC survey. That puts it ten miles southwest of Snyder.

Youngblood & Foree of Dallas No. 3 Wilkirson is to be a new project on the northeast side of the Kelley field in Central Scurry county.

The exploration, slated to drill to 6,800 feet, will be 467 feet from south and west lines of section 40, lot 19, Kirkland & Fields survey and four and one-half miles northwest of Snyder.

Operations are to begin immediately.

WILDCAT NEAR LAMESA REPORTED IN SANDY LIME

Reagan J. Caraway No. 1 Loe, Northwest Dawson county wildcat to 10,700 feet to explore into the Pennsylvanian lime, seven miles northwest of Lamesa, is reported by unofficial sources to have entered the Spraberry sandy lime of the lower Permian at 7,404 feet.

In drilling to 7,411 feet the project is credited with having had soft drilling and to have logged some oil stains and some florescence.

Unofficial observers report that the operator was slated to drill to 7,454 feet and run a drillstem test.

No official geological information is available on the structural position of this venture.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 12, league 3, Taylor county School Land survey. The above report has not been officially verified.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Whatley, Central-North Scurry county wildcat, over a plugged back total depth of 7,775 feet, after failing to get any shows of commercial production.

The prospector was drilled to a total depth of 8,340 feet in the Ellenburger, but that horizon made only salt water, with no shows of oil or gas.

Operator then plugged back to its present bottom of 7,775 feet in the Strawn. That section showed 7,400 feet of salt water.

The dry hole is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 548, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it two miles north of the North Snyder-Canyon field and 12 miles north of Snyder.

Suburbs Hit Harder By Polio In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (U.P.) — Suburbs generally are considered to be healthier places to live, but polio struck harder in the outlying districts of Chicago than in the metropolitan area this year.

Cook County's health directors, Edward A. Pizszcek, said the polio rate was 30 cases per 100,000 people in the suburbs, but only slightly more than 10 per 100,000 in the city.

The difference may be in the fact that suburbanites travel more, Pizszcek said.

Taxi Driver Who Hit Author Has Accident

ATLANTA, Nov. 18. (AP)—Hugh D. Gravitt was injured in an automobile collision last night, less than two days after his involuntary man-slaughter conviction for the traffic accident death of Author Margaret Mitchell.

Gravitt and his wife were treated and released from Grady hospital after Gravitt's car and a truck collided. Neither was seriously hurt.

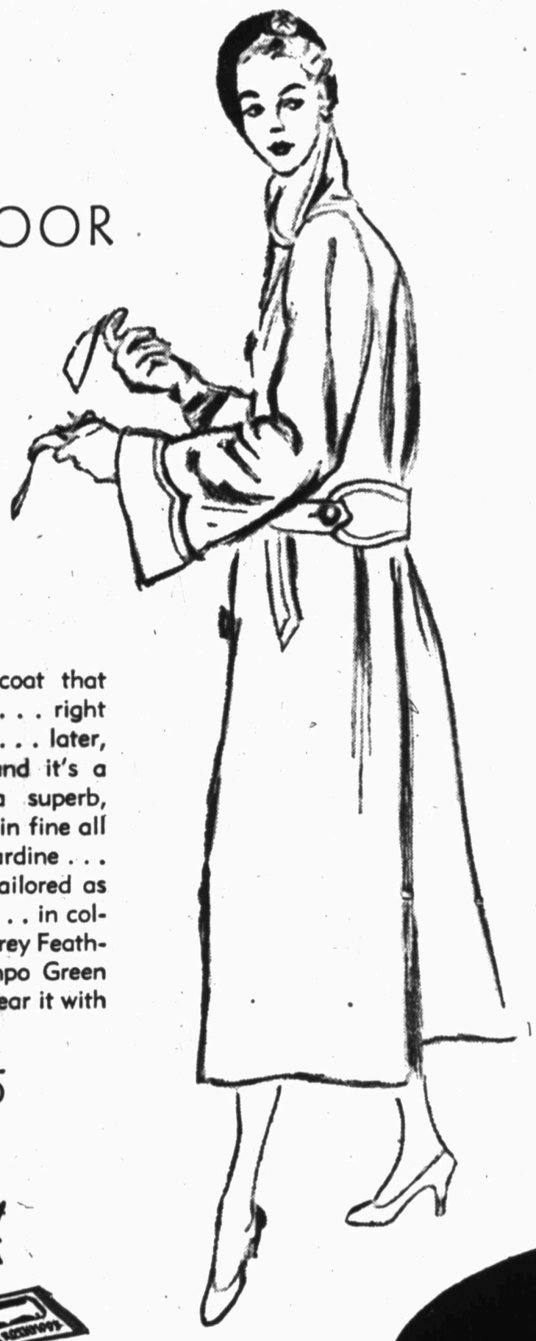

DeKalb county Police Capt. Harry Christian said Gravitt's car hit the truck as it pulled out of a side road. He said no charges were placed against either Gravitt or the truck driver.

Earlier yesterday, Gravitt's attorney A. L. Henson said the former cab driver would not appeal his conviction for Miss Mitchell's death. A Fulton superior court jury recommended that Gravitt be given a jail sentence of 12 to 18 months. Sentence is to be passed Nov. 23.

Giant Computer Checks Planes, Saving Engineers Much Labor

DALLAS, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—A giant computer, which engineers suspect can do about anything except eat and sleep, imitates an airplane in flight at the Chance Vought aircraft plant here. It does its tricks even before the airplane is built.

The computer, lent by the Navy's research section for use in Vought's plant on the outskirts of Dallas, is operated by electronics.

To hear the engineers describe the process, it's simple. They admit, however, that it takes years for an operator to learn how to interpret the answers the machine comes up with.

Once the mathematical components of the airplane have been plugged into the computer, the machine records the rate of climb of the airplane to any height. On paper, the airplane-to-be can be made to turn at any angle, dive or fly full speed ahead.

Used In Experiments

The machine, a series of cabinets filled with relays, amplifiers and other instruments, is being used in experiments by Vought's engineers.

Engineers said use of the machine will bring about a great economy as soon as they have adapted it to operations.

As an example, a new model airplane is not maneuverable as is desired. The engineers may decide the problem can be solved by changing the size or shape of the rudder.

Previously, engineers would have incorporated it into an experimental airplane.

Much Labor Saved

If it did not produce exactly the expected results when tested, however, another rudder would have to be built. That would result in further delay in completion of the airplane.

The computer adds to an electronic "airplane" a mythical rudder of any size or shape without expending shop labor or material.

Phases of a flight test can be simulated in a short time on the computer and, if the rudder does not produce results, other variations can be used until the correct answer is found.

Engineers emphasized that the machine would not eliminate the necessity of flight tests but pointed out that it would reduce the actual flying time, supplement the information and check it for accuracy.

New Deal Grid Banquet Held

Members of the New Deal High school football squad and their dads and the coaches were honored last night at a banquet in the Hilton hotel, with Finis Vaughn, former football coach, farmer and grid official, relating, as the principal speaker, what a wonderful inspiration football coaching had been to him.

A crowd of approximately 75 persons, made up of New Deal supporters and guests, listened attentively to the graying Vaughn make a fine speech. The dinner also served as a pep rally for the Lion squad, which tonight meets Meadow in the game that will decide the District 4-B conference race.

A. L. Faubion, superintendent of schools, served as referee (toastmaster) for the banquet, with invocation by C. S. Wales. W. L. "Toby" Waggoner gave the speech of welcome and the response was given by Co-Captain Robert Gentry, team quarterback, and Assistant Coach E .V. Bartley.

Coach H. T. Pior spoke briefly, introducing every player, who in turn introduced his father. Coach Pior paid tribute to the players and said that he pitied every man who wasn't a coach, for a coach was father to every boy on his squad. He went on to say that the coach was with the boys on the field, in the dressing room, on the bus and everywhere, which made a close tie that could not be achieved any other way.

Lawrence Ivey supplied piano music during the dinner and at dinner intermission, after which Supt. Faubion called on several "sideline quarterbacks."

Vaughn in his speech, spoke on what coaching had meant to him. He said that he refused to consider the fact that he was a farmer now, instead of a coach, for coaching was such a rich experience that he couldn't really leave the profession.

He related that what money there was in it, or what glory, couldn't begin to compensate for the satisfaction of doing the job and of making lasting friendships. He stated that he could go anywhere in the nation and meet boys who either had served under him or with whom he had served.

Vaughn also related specific incidents in his life to show what coaching meant to him, paying tribute to the game, to the men who made up football and all athletics and to the coaches.

Squirrel-Hating Tomcat Puts Bushy-Tailed Pests To Flight

HIGH POINT, N. C., Nov. 18 (U.P.) The South's beloved coon hound, fox hounds and bird dogs are taking a back seat nowadays, at least in High Point Nimrods of the residential districts are training squirrel cats.

In theory, a squirrel cat is about the same as a squirrel dog except that the cat is on 24-hour duty and carries the fight to the tree-tops, where Fido would be at a distinct disadvantage.

The wooded hills of the lovely Emorywood section have become overrun with squirrels to such an extent that tired business men came home to a session with the rifle or shotgun in the backyard.

That tended to make the backyards more than a little dangerous. Chances are the place would be knee-deep in shotgun shells if it hadn't been for a cocky tomcat which sauntered into the midst of the evening battle.

Tom sent the squirrels heading for cover and then headed up the tall timber with them.

That did it.

That plus the fact that a good fightin', spitting, clawing, squirrel-hatin' cat costs a good deal less in upkeep than does an active shotgun.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

SPOKANE, Wash. (U.P.) — An anonymous truck driver is quietly doing his bit to further safety on eastern Washington highways. On each rear fender and plainly visible to drivers approaching from the rear, is a sign. The one on the left reads "passing side" and the sign on the right says "suicide."

200-Year-Old Chapel Still Without Tower

BOSTON, Nov. 18 (U.P.)— Celebrating its 200th anniversary, historic King's Chapel still is without a steeple, even though George Washington once kave 5 pounds to help build a tower.

The sturdy granite building is one of the oldest Episcopalian worshipping places in the country. Before the present structure went up, Gov. Edmund Andros ordered a wooden chapel built on the site in 1686. The building later was used as a riding hall for British officers during their occupation of Boston.

One relic of the cruelty of religious thought in Puritan days is a tiny airless room just beneath the clock. Here, condemned men were shackled the last Sunday before their execution and compelled to listen to the minister damning their souls in the sermon below.

Daniel Defoe wrote "Robinson Crusoe" at Tooting Hall, Tooting, England.

Plenty Of Advice Is Pouring In To Vice President Barkley

Recipe For Marital Bliss: A Whipping Every Morning, If She Needs It, Kiss Every Night

(By The United Press)

While the nation concentrated on the headline wedding of Vice President Alben Barkley today and the rumored altar plans of New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer, a few footnotes to marriage were being written across the nation.

Andrew McAffrey, of Miami, Okla., a 75-year-old groom of six months, advised the 71-year-old Barkley in a congratulatory letter, that he "could make a go" of his marriage if he gave 38-year-old Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley "a whipping every morning, if she needs it, and a kiss every night."

McAffrey is 35 years older than his wife and 50 pounds lighter. He said he did not consider his marriage a June-December match and he "saw no reason why the Barkley's should either."

While 59 - year - old Mayor O'Dwyer and lovely Sloan Simpson, 33-year-old model, have not set a date, it was rumored that they may wed at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., this weekend.

A 65-year-old bride of last February was equally reluctant to reveal any news about her marriage. Mrs. Barkeley Burris at Bristow, Okla., confirmed that she is seeking a divorce from her 72-year-old husband, but said "that's all I'll tell."

The Burrisses were first married in 1904. They were separated a few months later when Burris went to Texas to hunt a job and never returned. When Mrs. Burris was advised that her husband was dead, she remarried.

Four years ago Mrs. Burris' second husband died and Burris reappeared to woo her. They were married. Then Burris discovered that he had lost his old age pension when he left Texas to live in Oklahoma. Mrs. Burris is charging him with non-support, cruelty, and desertion.

Plans Second Marriage

In Chicago Joan Schettler, 19, planned to marry a second time. She had fallen in love with the men her first husband impersonated.

Joan married Thomas Henry, 17, last July. Thomas was too young to get a marriage license, so he passed himself off to Joan as his elder brother, Neil, and used Neil's birth certificate to satisfy the legal requirements.

When 21-year-old Neil came home from the merchantmarine, Joan discovered the deception and won an annulment. Yesterday Joan's lawyer came back to court and asked Judge Rudolph Desert that Joan wants to marry Neil.

"It was love at first sight," said the lawyer.

Socialistic Trends Scored By ACC Head

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 18. (Special)—Approximately 59 members of the Brownfield Lions club and their wives attended an annual ladies night banquet held at the Esquire restaurant at 8 p. m. Thursday.

Principal speaker was Don H. Morris, president of Abilene Christian college. Morris attacked the socialistic trends of today insofar as they concern education. "Federal aid to education," he said, "will ultimately bring federal control and create a situation by which a person or group might gain control."

Morris went on to state that centralization in government weakens the ability to produce while the same evil in business breaks down the system of free enterprise.

Guest of honor at the banquet was Miss Ann Smeideker, recent winner of the Harvest Festival Queen title. Miss Smeideker leaves early Friday morning from Lubbock for Hollywood where she will be the guest of the Rotary club for 10 days.

The Brownfield council of Girl Scouts presented corsages to the ladies as they entered the banquet hall.

Mrs. James Warren was hostess chairman. Hostesses included Mrs. Tess Fulfer, Mrs. W. G. McDonald and Mrs. Billy Glick.

ROOM FOR TWO

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—Mrs. H. E. Robbins' brother and cousin found an equitable way to share their bed, since they had been squabbling over who got the larger portion. They stretched a rope from head to foot and divided the bed exactly in half.

'O-MI-GOSH . . . THAT LITTLE?'—One-year-old Mary Ruth DeVor, above, stares in disbelief at a four-pound baby girl in an incubator at St. John's Hospital, Cleveland, O. What Mary Ruth doesn't realize is that just a year ago she checked in at St. John's, slightly premature, and weighing only one pound, 14 ounces. Now she's a husky 17 pounds, 8 ounces. Photo below is Mary Ruth at age two weeks, her worried little brow reflecting the anxiety of her parents, the doctors and nurses over her small size. Showing Mary Ruth around on her birthday visit to St. John's, is Sister Agnes Therese, who cared for her as a tiny tot.

DECIDES SHE'S OLD

AVOCA, Pa. (U.P.)—Mrs. Hedwig Slazyk had planned to go mushroom-picking on her 105th birthday but called it off at the last minute. "After all," she said, "I'm getting a bit older now and can't get around like I used to."

DREAM COMES TRUE

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (U.P.)—H. E. McGinley, a druggist, dreamed that he was being robbed. When he opened his store in the morning he found that a thief had rifled the cash register of $63.

Poultry Group Asks Support

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (INS)—The poultry industry asked the government today to continue price supports on eggs, chickens and turkeys in 1950 although the new farm law does not require price props on these commodities.

Industry spokesmen, conceded, however, that supports should be at a lower level than the 90 per cent of parity now in effect as a protection against the encouragement of over-production.

Representatives of the poultry industry urged Agriculture Secretary Brannan to support eggs and chickens at 70 to 75 per cent of parity and turkeys at 75 to 80 per cent of the parity level.

Lower Prices Seen

The present farm law requires Brannan to support chickens, eggs and turkeys at 90 per cent of parity but the new farm legislation effective Jan. 1 will give the secretary discretion to set support at 0 to 90 per cent.

Leon Todd, secretary of the Associated Poultry and Egg industries and ten other poultry associations predicted that the reduced price props would result in "slightly lower retail prices" and encourage greater consumption.

The poultry leaders, who met with Brannan briefly this morning, said the cut in price supports was necessary to discourage overproduction and the output of low-quality produce.

Supply Exceeds Demand

The representatives forecast a production of 400 eggs per person next year under the present support rate and said that this will be about 30 eggs per capita in excess of probable demand.

Meanwhile, the Commerce department reported that wool yarn output in September averaged 13.7 million pounds per week, 2 per cent less than the August weekly average of 14.0 million pounds and 1.2 million pounds below the September 1948 level. Production of woolen system weaving yarns was down 9 per cent compared with August, decline not completely offset by increases in the output of other yarns.

HE NEVER MIXES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—President Truman says he never mixes in primaries. This was his reply yesterday to a news conference request for comment on James Roosevelt's bid for the California governorship. Mr. Truman would not comment specifically on the Roosevelt race.

Easy and delicious!
sweet potato puffs on ham
and really super coffee

Hills Bros. Coffee brings you a special, wonderful goodness. And you can enjoy this goodness every day, for Hills Bros. Coffee is deliciously uniform. It's a skillful blend of the world's finest coffees . . . and "Controlled Roasting," an exclusive Hills Bros. process, roasts the blend a little at a time—continuously—for flavor-perfection. Hills Bros. Coffee is vacuum-packed for utmost freshness.

SWEET POTATO PUFFS

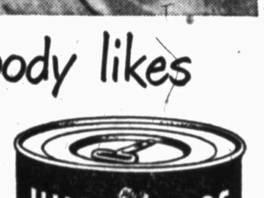

3 cups riced cooked or canned sweet potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 egg
1 tablespoon water
1 cup coarsely crushed corn flakes
4 to 6 slices fried ham, pressed ham, or Canadian bacon
4 to 6 marshmallows

Blend riced potatoes with seasoning and melted butter or margarine. If very stiff, add a little milk. Form into 4 to 6 balls. Beat egg with water. Dip balls first into egg, then into coarsely crushed corn flakes. Place ham slices on baking sheet and on each place potato puff. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 10 minutes until slightly browned. Then top each puff with a marshmallow and return to oven for about 3 minutes until marshmallow has melted and browned slightly. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Serve with Hills Bros. Coffee

PICKETING FIGHT CASE DECIDED

Members Of Electrical Union Are Found Guilty Of Assault

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. (AP)—Fourteen members of the united electrical workers local yesterday were convicted of assault with a deadly weapon during a picket line disturbance.

Five of the 14, including three union officials, were sentenced to a year in jail and fined $1,000 each by Judge Leonard C. Reid in criminal court. He fined the nine other members of the UE local $500 each. Eight other defendants were acquitted by Judge Reid who tried the case without a jury by agreement.

The six weeks trial was in connection with a disturbance last April 5 outside the strikebound Elkay manufacturing plant in suburban Cicero. Six men were injured and a non-striking AFL worker was hospitalized 16 days.

Clubs Used

Witnesses testified blackjacks, bricks and ball bats were used in the fracas. The fighting broke out a day after an AFL teamsters workers local was recognized as bargaining agent for Elkay employes, supplanting the striking UE local 1119.

The UE struck at the Elkay plant last February, protesting the firing of 13 workers. During the trial prosecutors charged the UE officers resorted to violence to settle a union dispute. They contended communism was widespread in the UE local and officers were unable to refer to the National Labor Relations board because they had not filed the non-Communist affidavit required under the Taft-Hartley law.

The Communist allegations were denied by defense attorneys. The UE, at the time of the strike, was affiliated with the CIO. But the UE recently was ousted from the CIO, which charged the union with being under Communist control.

Preacher Assured Of An Attentive Listener

COLOMBUS, O., Nov. 18. (U.P.)—Chester S. Williams, 19, not only had to go to church each Sunday for one month, but he had to pay attention to what was said from the pulpit.

Williams, accused of burglary and larceny, was placed on probation for three years and ordered to attend church each Sunday for one month by Common Pleas Judge John R. King. The judge ordered Williams to report the contents of each Sunday sermon back to him.

HE'S THE "HEAVY"—Wee Willie Davis, a 285-pound, six-foot-six wrestler and movie actor, has little trouble holding aloft two pint-size people, Jerry Maren, left, and Billy Curtis. Wee Willie has the role of a "heavy"—Hollywood term for villain—in the picture "Samson and Delilah."

Flapper Fashions Most Unglamorous Ever Imposed On Female Public, Actress Says

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (U.P.) — Shirley Brown, who brought the flapper back to Broadway in the musical review "Lend an Ear," says she hopes the cloche-hatter jazz girl isn't back to stay.

"The audience howls when I slink onto the stage in my long-waisted, short-skirted dress," she said. "Then I go shopping and find Fifth Avenue stores selling similar styles in all seriousness as the last word in fashion!"

Shirley, a former Pittsburgh, Pa., radio actress, said she hopes she isn't responsible for the trend back to the 1920 days of flaming youth when the "boyish look" was all the rage for women.

"Flapper fashions were the most unglamorous styles ever foisted on women," she declared. "If women accept their return, I think they are doing the worst thing they can to their figures, faces and sex appeal."

Designers Fall In Line

The vivacious burnette has joined the cast of the smash-hit musical review in the role of Ginger the Yahoo Girl, which she originated at the Pittsburgh Play House in 1941. Ever since "Lend an Ear" made its Broadway debut last December, New York life has quickened to the carefree tempo of the show's 1920 skit.

American designers set the fashion trend with bare-look blouses, skirts dripping with fringe, uneven hemlines, and diamond-buckled satin shoes. Jacques Fath gave the nod of Parisian approval on his recent visit here when he agreed that the new look was the "little boy look."

Cosmetics dealers already are drumming up trade for flat white powder, heavy mascara, and scarlet lipstick for pouting Clara Bow mouths. Hair dressers are shingling hair and creating bangs to fit the new head-hugging hats.

Trend Manufactured

"It made me sick when my hair was clipped for my role," said Shirley. "A woman's hair has always been her crowning glory. With nothing peering out from your hat but your face, you've got to be beautiful or you are just plain unattractive—and how many women are really beautiful?"

Shirley said she was amazed by the way Americans are beating a retreat to the roaring '20s in fields other than fashions.

Movie-goers are flocking to revivals of Ben Turpin, Harold Lloyd, W. C. Fields and Rudolph Valentino movies. F. Scott Fitzgerald's first biography is being published and Anita Loos' "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" is returning to Broadway. Tiffany is selling a new line of silver hip flasks and pendant earrings.

"Some people say we are reverting to an 'I don't care' attitude because the world is so full of tensions," Shirley said. "In my opinion the trend was manufactured for purely commercial interests. Any business man will tell you that a change in fashions and tastes means a boost in his profits."

School Broadcasters Using "Wired Radio"

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. (AP)—The Intercollegiate Broadcasting system, with headquarters at Bethany, W. Va., now comprises 83 "campus - confined broadcasting stations."

The "broadcasting" is done by "wired radio," with transmission limited to the college community. About 3,000 students supply operating staffs. A wide range of programs are handled, including entertainment.

Swarthmore Co-Ed, Caught In Raid On Campus, Is Heroine Of Counter-Attack

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 (AP)—Betty co-ed would turn over in her raccoon coat if she heard about Ruth Merson, pretty Swarthmore college senior.

Ruth's alma mater meets Haverford college in their annual football tussle tomorrow. For the past week, students of the two schools have been carrying out raids and counter-raids.

Yesterday Ruth got into the swing of things, too. With two other Swarthmore students she infiltrated the Haverford campus, bent on burning a big "S" right in the middle of the Haverford football field.

Escaped For Raid

Before Merson's marauders could carry out their mission, Ruth was nabbed and paraded around the Haverford campus as a "prisoner of war." Then she was locked in a room. But not for long. With the aid of a boy scout type pocketknife, she picked the lock and escaped.

While imprisoned, Ruth overheard plans for an impending Haverford raid. Once free, she hurried back to Swarthmore to warn her fellow students.

The raiders arrived about the same time as Ruth. Someone pulled the master switch, dousing lights in a building housing the Swarthmore college radio station. Several piles of leaves were set afire.

But when the smoke had cleared, four of the 80 raiders were captives and Ruth was the heroine of the hour.

SHIPS ARE RETURNED

YOKOSUKA, Nov. 18 (AP)—All 27 patrol type frigates loaned to Russia under wartime lend-lease have been returned to the U. S. Navy, it was announced today.

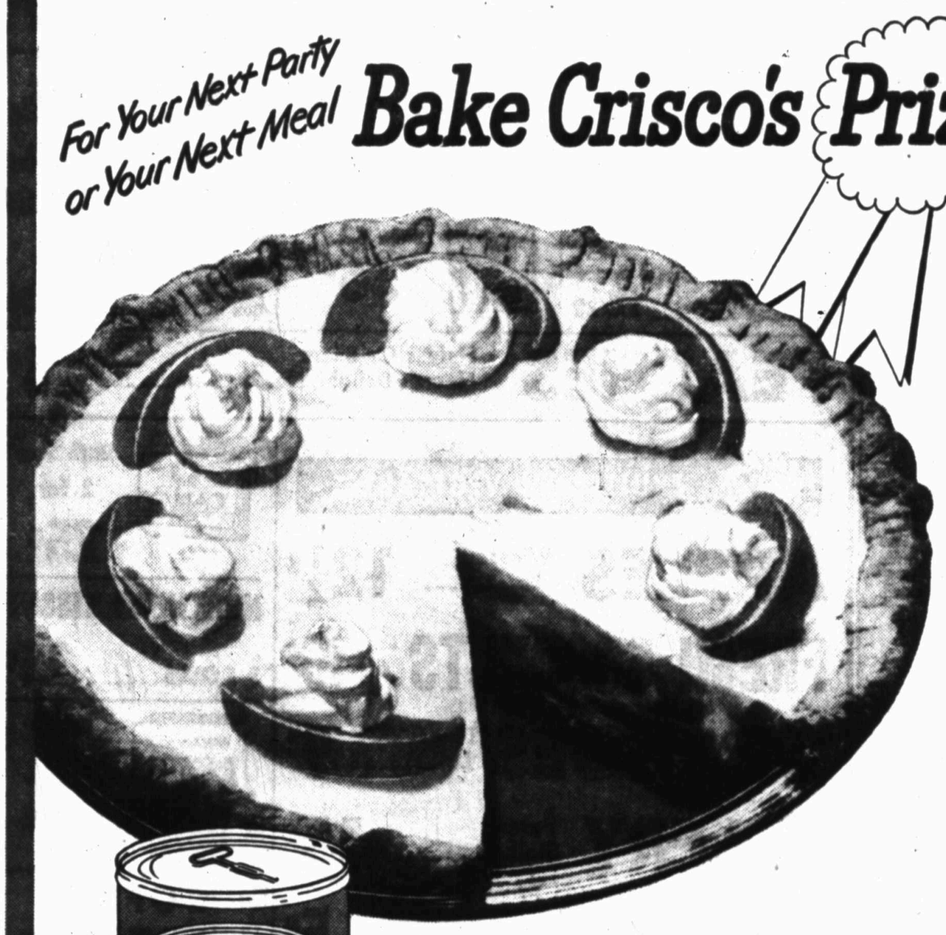

For Your Next Party or Your Next Meal

Bake Crisco's Prize Peach Pie

Crisco—the one and only—discovered this sure way to perfect pie crust!

Just follow Crisco's sure-fire pastry method (given below and on every Crisco label) and your pie crust is bound to be perfect . . . as digestible as it is delicious! With pure, all-vegetable Crisco and Crisco's "can't-fail" pastry recipe, even a beginner can be sure of flaky, tender pie crust every time!

CRISCO'S PRIZE PEACH PIE
(Makes one 9" pie)

CRISCO SURE-FIRE PASTRY METHOD:

1⅓ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup Crisco
3 tablespoons water

All Measurements Level: Sift flour and salt into bowl. Remove ¼ cup flour. Cut Crisco into remaining flour until the pieces are the size of small peas. Mix water with flour to form a paste. Add flour paste to Crisco-flour mixture. Mix, shape into a ball. On a floured board lightly roll a circle of dough 12" in diameter and ⅛" thick. Line pie plate; fold edge under and flute. Prick closely. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 12 to 15 mins. until lightly browned.

PEACH FLUFF FILLING:

2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup peach juice
16 diced marshmallows (¼ lb.)
1 egg
1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1⅓ cups canned, sliced cling peaches
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup heavy cream

Combine sugar, flour, salt and juice in double boiler and heat over hot water. Add marshmallows; cook until thick (about 15 mins.). Stir in beaten egg and cook 2 to 3 mins. Add gelatin dissolved in water. Cool slightly, pour over drained peaches. Add lemon juice and rind. Whip cream; fold into cooled mixture. Fill pie shell. Chill and decorate.

SHE'S BACK IN LAP OF LUXURY

Teen-Age Runaway Girl Finds Railroad Station Bench Hard

ATLANTA, Nov. 18. (AP)—The "missing" daughter of a Cincinnati business executive was back in the lap of luxury today.

But, since last Monday, 16-year-old Dorothy Jennings had learned that a jail is no fun and a railroad station bench can be an awfully hard place to sleep.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Jennings was found yesterday by Policewoman Ruby Barrett, "broke, dead tired and sleeping in the restroom at the railroad station."

Mrs. Barrett said she knew that "she wasn't a case for the juvenile home and that's why I brought her to police headquarters."

Miss Jennings subsequently was released to her uncle, R. A. Craighead, president of the Progressive Life Insurance company.

Worried About Studies

When she left the jail, Miss Jennings was a tired, frightened child. Her fingernails had been bitten almost to the quick.

Interviewed just before her release, the girl said, "I just don't know" to questions about why she left home.

Her disappearance Monday set off a "feared kidnapped" alert in the midwest which finally led to Chattanooga, Tenn., where she entered a hotel searching for relatives.

A relative said Miss Jennings had been feeling under par for some time and was worried about her studies at an exclusive boarding school. She was excused from her classes Monday when she said she was ill.

Heroic First Marine Division Is Subject Of New Book On War

NEW YORK. (U.P.)—The First Marine Division, one of the best fighting units in World War II, has become the subject of one of the best books to come out of the war, "The Old Breed," by George McMillan. Publication date coincides with the 174th anniversary of the Marines.

The book, published by the Infantry Journal Press in Washington, is a far cry from the usual official history of a fighting unit. Read it and you become part of the unit.

The book itself is handsome with combat greens for the binding and the famous Guadalcanal patch blazoned on the cover. It is full of maps, photographs and combat drawings by men of the Marine Corps.

The First Division went in to action on Guadalcanal in the United States' first offensive, an offensive that heightened sagging morale. It went on from there to Cape Gloucester, Peleliu and Okinawa, blazing a trail of glory.

Men's Own Story

The author, a sergeant, experienced most of its history. But instead of depending on memory and the official documents at his disposal, he talked with the men who were the First Marines. It is their story, too.

Col. John W. Thomason, who captured in earlier writings the Marines' exploits in France and in old Peking, once said:

"They were the Leathernecks, the old breed of American regulars, regarding the service as home and war as occupation, and they transmitted their temper and character and viewpoint to the high-hearted volunteer mass."

And that, in a way, was the story of the First Division, an old corps who transmitted their feelings to the new men of World War II. The author has captured this feeling well, whether he describes active combat, rest periods or leaves in Australia.

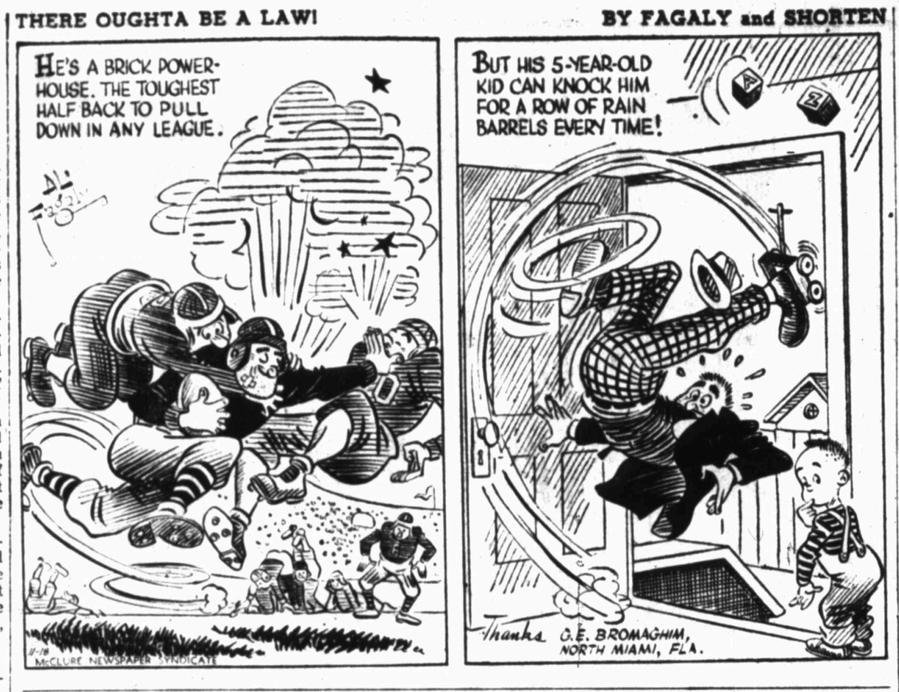

Not A False Alarm, Just A Short Blaze

LOGAN, O., Nov. 18 (U.P.)—You really can't say it was a false alarm.

The alarm bell at the fire department sounded. Oakie Hysell, assistant fire chief, shut off the alarm, dialed the operator. Silence.

Youthful Farmers Supply Lunch Room

NEWBERRY, Fla., Nov. 18 (U.P.) Members of the Newberry Future Farmers of America have made a deal with the high school which pleases everyone concerned.

The budding farmers have agreed to furnish the school lunch room with all the vegetables, both fresh and canned, that it needs. In return the boys get the lunch room garbage to feed their hogs.

The student-in-the-classroom is the real winner. The arrangement makes it possible to reduce lunch prices about 25 per cent.

Lemming Grows Shoes To Suit The Weather

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18 — Lemmings, famous for their immigration problems, grow their own snowshoes in the winter and shed them with the spring thaw.

Sally Carrigham, nature writer, has brought one of the tiny rodents from Alaska to the California Academy of Science here. Between the toes of its forepaws, it has grown thick pads. The lemmings use their seasonable enlarged feet to burrow under the hard frozen ground.

Lemmings multiply rapidly and from time to time, the population gets too much for itself. When this peak is reached, thousands of the rodents embark on a mass migration, settling in another country or part of the Arctic region. Sometimes, they all march right on into the sea and perish.

Philadelphia Man Arrested In Setting Shotgun "Booby Trap"

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 (AP)—A 62-year-old man was under arrest today after detectives said they found a shotgun "booby trap" rigged up at the entrance of his North Philadelphia home.

Police said the specific charge placed against Charles Pope was reckless use of firearms.

Detectives Charles Ziegle and George Kelly said they went to Pope's home last night in response to several complaints by neighbors.

Warned by one of the neighbors, the detectives said they opened the front door cautiously. Attached to the door knob, Ziegle said, was a string extending to the trigger of a shotgun with the barrels pointing toward the doorway.

Ziegle said he cut the string before opening the door wide.

Under questioning, Pope told police he rigged up the shotgun because he feared someone might rob him.

Fried Right with BAKE-RITE

Chicken fried in Bake-Rite comes out crisp and temptingly brown on the outside, yet juicy and tender on the inside. There is no sputtering fat, no black charred spots, just clear hot Bake-Rite (365°F.).

Try this simple 3-step Bake-Rite way of frying chicken. Your family will love that tasty outer-crust that crisps so beautifully in Bake-Rite. Some cooks like to add a bay leaf and a pinch of curry powder to the hot Bake-Rite for extra aroma and flavor.

Clip this advertisement so you can follow the three simple steps given—the Bake-Rite way to the best fried chicken you've ever made. Eleanor Lee Wright

1 In a paper bag, blend ½ cup flour, 1 tsp. paprika for color, ½ tsp. salt, and ⅛ tsp. pepper. Dry the sections of chicken, drop in bag and shake bag until coated with flour mixture.

2 Gradually heat skillet, then add Bake-Rite to come ½ inch deep when melted. When fat is sizzling hot, brown the floured chicken over a low heat. Leave space between pieces so Bake-Rite can cook sides of meat. Start cooking larger pieces first. Turn to brown all sides.

3 Serve Bake-Rite Fried Chicken with pride. It will be the best you have ever made. Crunchy crisp on the outside. Sweet, tender and juicy on the inside.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Johnson Is Nostalgic, Turns Hollywood Clock Back To '38

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18. (NEA) If Hollywood goes on reissuing old movies I'll just have to go on reissuing old columns.

Today's news doesn't mean a thing any more.

The way the reissue epidemic is going, yesterday's news is more important. So here is yesterday's news — from 1938 — to go with 1938 reissues:

Johnson

Martha Raye went glamorous on the screen and Paramount started exploiting her legs instead of her mouth.

Robert Taylor admitted in a national magazine advertisement that: "Biscuits are my first love." B. Stanwyck had no comment.

Mickey Rooney was making more money for M-G-M than Clark Gable.

Censors frowned on one of Robert Benchley's short subjects, "The Love Life of a Newt," and M-G-M changed the title to "The Courtship of a Newt."

Sam Goldwyn was quoted as saying:

"The popularity of Charlie McCarthy and the Seven Dwarfs proves that people are getting tired of people."

Jimmy Cagney, who won fame as a woman slugger, was socked by Ann Sheridan for a scene in "Angles With Dirty Faces."

Robert Taylor was getting a he-man build-up for his role of a prize fighter in "The Crowd Roars."

John Barrymore was going collegiate with a skull cap and a turtle-neck sweater in a college movie.

Hedy Lamarr co-starred with Charles Boyer in "Algiers" and was an overnight sensation.

An extra telephoned a Los Angeles cooking editor during a film production slump, and asked:

"How do you cook a wolf?"

Lupe Velez and Johnny Weissmuller got a divorce after 10 or 12 separations.

Clark Gable nixed M-G-M's idea that he should wear lipstick and powder as a chorus boy for "Idiot's Delight."

Darryl Zanuck topped the Chicago fire in "In Old Chicago" with a tornado in "Suez." Ty Power fell in love with Annabella while working in the same picture.

Wayne Morris told me:

"Screen love is the bunk but it's a living and a man has to eat."

There was a sign on a Los Angeles theater marquee reading: "Glenda Farrell and Four Gas Ranges Free."

Gypsy Rose Lee shed four inches of hair—the only thing the censors allowed her to take off while she was in Hollywood.

Phyllis Brooks got lipstick all over Cary Grant's face when he sailed for Europe.

Sam Goldwyn's Norwegian discovery, Sigrid Gurie, admitted she was born in Brooklyn.

ASKED TOO MUCH

June Lang went to England for a movie and came right back home when they said she'd have to be fitted for a gas mask.

Deanna Durbin was playing her first puppy love scenes with Jackie Cooper.

Simone Simon's gold keys (to her apartment) were newspaper headlines from coast to coast.

Marie Wilson was practicing to be Irma. She walked into a drug store and said:

"I want a chocolate sundae a la mode."

Joan Bennett wore a black wig for "Trade Winds" and looked more like Hedy Lamarr than Hedy Lamarr.

Frances Langford married Jon Hall.

Errol Flynn bit a dog for a scene in "Four's a Crowd."

Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone separated but he continued to visit her on the set.

Richard Arlen turned down $10,000 for a role in a Columbia picture because he didn't want to be co-starred with a horse.

M-G-M started a campaign to build up Nelson Eddy as a he-man.

Freddie Bartholomew got his first pair of long trousers.

David Niven became Merle Oberon's husband for a scene in the picture "Wuthering Heights." After the "ceremony," and when the director said cut, Niven said to Merle:

"A year ago I asked you to become my wife and you turned me down. I guess this is the next best thing."

That was Hollywood in 1938.

Kilgore Man's Death Probed By Officials

KILGORE, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—Authorities investigated today the death of John D. Sears, 60, whose burned body was found in a vacant lot seared by a grass fire.

Highway patrolmen saw the grass fire behind a tavern yesterday and notified the fire department. As they put out the blaze, firemen found Sears lying on the grass.

He died in a Kilgore hospital an hour later.

Reeves Photographic Plant Holds Opening

Several hundred persons Thursday night were shown through the enlarged Reeves camera store and photography plant at 1717-1719 Broadway.

The open house last night was by invitation only, and was attended by old friends and customers of the firm.

The general public is invited to attend an open house tonight at the plant. A broadcast over station KCBD will originate from there between 7:30 and 7:45 o'clock tonight.

Reeves now has approximately 10,000 square feet of floor space in its plant, and is one of the most modern equipped plants of its kind in the Southwest.

The new building which was recently completed and which adjoins the original Reeves plant houses the camera store, engraving plant, and wholesale photo finishing departments. In the old portion of the building, which has been completely remodeled, are located the portrait and commercial photography departments.

Last night, a four-tier birthday cake was served to those attending open house. In addition to celebrating the opening of the new store, Reeves also is celebrating the completion of 12 successful years in business in Lubbock. Refreshments are to be served tonight.

Winston Reeves is owner and general manager of the firm.

Trapped Woodpecker Sends Blackout SOS

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—A confused woodpecker was responsible for a blackout that struck one of the huge letter "T"s in the neon sign atop the First Security Bank building.

An engineer repairing the metal sign heard a faint tapping from the bottom of the three-foot-high letter.

He found a woodpecker which apparently had flown in through a drain hole and couldn't get out. While inside the letter, the bird tried to get a meal off the wiring.

YELLOW CAB

SMOOTH-RIDING TRACTOR SEAT—How to take the jerks and bumps out of tractor driving has plagued engineers for years. This new tractor seat with a pair of rubber torsional springs mounted underneath was developed by U. S. Rubber to solve the problem. The springs are the cylindrical objects mounted below the arrow. As the tractor rides over rough ground, these springs—rather than the rider—twist and turn with each jolt, cushioning the shock for the operator.

Lubbock Infantryman Is Parachutist Grad

Pvt. James C. Scott, son of W. S. Scott of 2131 Nineteenth, was recently graduated from the basic airborne class at Benning, Ga.

He was graduated as a qualified parachutist from the Infantry school according to an announcement by Major General Withers A. Burgess, commandant.

The course is designed to train volunteer officers and enlisted personnel from all branches of the service as qualified parachutists and glidermen. Students are required to make five jumps with full equipment.

The airborne course is but one of thirteen at the Infantry school open to officers and enlisted men of the regular Army, Organized Reserve and National Guard. Courses range from training recruits to be parachutists to training regimental commanders and division general staff officers.

IDEA OR COST CREATES OPPOSITION

Congress Is Claimed Against President's Health Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—Rep. Priest (D-Tenn), a key man in the matter, said today President Truman's compulsory health insurance program "hasn't got a chance" in the next session of Congress.

Priest is a member of the Democratic high command in the House and chairman of a commerce subcommittee handling health legislation.

He told a reporter he doesn't think the health insurance plan even can get through the committee.

"There is enough opposition, based on the idea or on the cost, to block it in the committee," Priest said.

Under the plan, doctor and dentist bills would be paid through a government insurance system and the people would chip in on the cost with premium payments.

Other Bills Pushed

Opponents say the President is trying to socialize medicine. Backers say the program is intended to see that the people get proper medical care at reasonable costs.

There is enough of a split in Congress so that no urgent effort to enact it is likely before 1951, at the earliest.

But Priest is figuring on shoving through a couple of other bills he already has steered through the commerce committee.

One is intended to increase the number of medical doctors, osteopaths, dentists, optometrists, nurses and public health specialists.

The other would create a national science foundation to foster the development of fundamental research needed to keep America up to the minute on the latest scientific trends.

Need Said Urgent

Priest said there isn't much opposition to either bill and he thinks they wil lbe brought to the house floor for action early in the next session.

"The need for the science foundation becomes more urgent every day," Priest said.

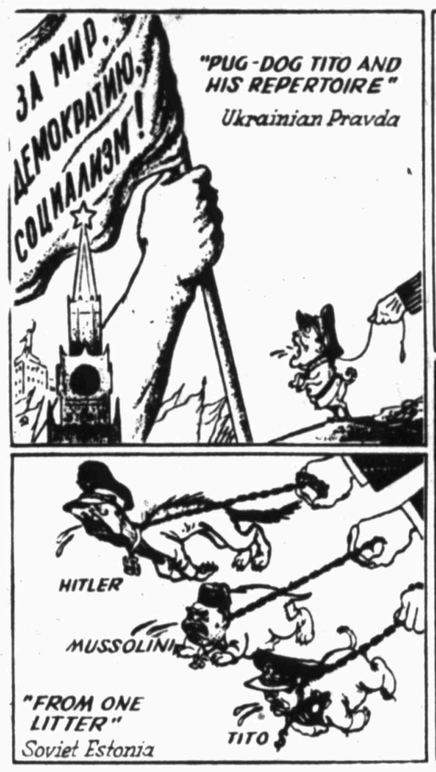

The legislation to create it provides for government assistance to schools and laboratories for basic scientific research—the new discoveries that are necessary before new gadgets and weapons and ideas are put to practical use through applied science. It also would provide for scholarships and fellowships in order to increase the number of scientists.

Priest said there is a big shortage of doctors and nurses now and it may get worse. Furthermore, he said, tuition fees don't come close to financing the cost of their training in schools.

So the commerce committee has okayed a bill to help make up the deficit.

For the average enrollment in the 1947 to 1949 period, the bill would give the schools in which they train from $100 to $1,000 per pupil. And it would give them an additional $50 to $1,000 for each student it enrolled beyond the average as an incentive to increase the output of doctors, dentists and nurses.

In addition, the bill would provide some help on a construction program to supply new buildings.

Marshal Tito Leading "Dog's Life" In Soviet Newspapers

By TOM WHITNEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Nov. 18 — Tito has become the principal target of Soviet political cartoonists during the past several weeks.

This applies not only to the Moscow press where many political caricatures directed at the Yugoslav political leader have appeared but with equal force to the provincial press.

Shown With Chain

He is shown often as a "pug-dog" frequently with paws bespattered with blood and almost always on a chain being held by a hand labelled Wall Street or Uncle Sam or Britain and the United States.

He is often portrayed as an executioner carrying an axe or gallows.

Invariably he is pictured wearing an officer's hat often with the emblem of skull and crossbone on its and always resembling the type of hat which Himmler wore.

Often in these cartoons Tito pictured as a dog is shown barking in the direction of the Soviet Union, the "peoples' democracies" and the "camp of peace, democracy and Socialism."

He also is shown frequently in the company of such figures as Franco, Tsaldaris, Churchill, de Gaulle, Blum, Hitler and Himmler.

Furthermore, the Fascist symbol the swastika is often to be seen in the cartoons usually attached to the figure representing Tito.

"Why," demanded the prof, "did you come to college, anyway?"

"Well, sir," answered the kid, "there seems to be a difference of opinion on that. Mama says it's to fit me for the Presidency; Uncle Joe says it's to give me an opportunity to sew my wild oats; my sister says it's for me to find a chum for her to marry—and Pop says it's to bankrupt the family!"

THE PARENTS of Doak Walker, SMU football star, have every right to be proud of the gridiron prowess of their son. *Numerous football experts, including coaches, professional players and veteran reporters, have characterized Doak Walker as "the greatest all-around football player I ever saw."

But more striking than the deserved praise given the playing prowess of young Walker is the unanimous opinion of those most closely associated with him as regards the young man's character.

Fellow players, opponents, schoolmates, professors — literally everybody close to Doak Walker —call him a grand boy, totally unaffected by the spotlight. He does the big things, the generous things, say those who know him best, "because doing the big and generous things come natural to him."

When a fellow is constantly in the spotlight, when his name, constantly is on the lips of thousands daily—when any individual excels in anything to the point where his head sticks high above that of his fellows, he is a natural target for criticism, for snide remarks, for "confidential stories" about transgressions, real or imaginary.

Yet Doak Walker is one luminary about whom no derogatory stories are ever peddled; whose 'scutcheon remains untarnished by evil report, true or untrue.

The SMU star certainly must be a very fine young man. His character must be unassailable.

For this his parents should be prouder than they are of the fact that he frequently is called "the greatest football player I ever saw."

THE next time someone makes a "cutting remark" to, or about you, don't get too upset. The chances are he does so out of pure envy.

An analysis of such remarks which show that in most instances they are aimed at some talent, or other possession, of the target of the remarks which the critic uttering them does not have but would like to have.

Therefore, in cutting at another, he seeks to bolster his own ego, make up for his own deficiencies —all by use of a psychological defense effort.

The victim of a cutting remark, instead of being angry at his critic should feel sorry for him nine times out of 10.

He should say to himself: "I'm sorry Joe hasn't the talent, or the possession, he wants so much that it hurts him to see me have it."

If you are a normal individual, you have among your acquaintances someone who makes a career out of voicing personal criticisms of friends, or other persons whom he knows. If you will listen to this individual talk, and analyze what he says, you'll discover why he is the way he is.

In most cases, you'll discover that he would like to have, himself, those talents, or possessions, which he professes to despise in others.

DO you permit little things to irritate you far more than they should? Do you permit yourself to be upset by persons whom you dislike, or with whom you have nothing in common?

When "things go wrong" in a most unimportant way, do you fret and fume, even inwardly?

Are you uncomfortable in the presence of people whose only crime is that they bore you?

If you answer any of these questions in the affirmative, you're not as happy as you should be and you should call upon your strength of character to conquer your feelings.

Some few fortunate—or especially well-balanced—individuals can and do conquer their feelings of distaste and frustration over "little things," like unavoidable conversations with bores, having a pen run out of ink in the middle of a letter, being out of matches when matches are needed, or reading a long diatribe, palpably untrue, by some stuffed-shirt public figure. When these perfectly normal human reactions can be curbed, the individual is much happier, lives a much more satisfactory existence.

Marion Sanford, the insurance fellow, adds a good thought along this line.

"When you see someone who can beat down the little irritations," he says, "you'll notice he doesn't have any big troubles, either."

Maybe he's got something there.

THE feeling grows in Texas political circles that Wilbert Lee O'Daniel will be in the governor's race next year.

If the effervescent, ebullient master of the flim-flam does run, some zing which otherwise might be missing will be injected into the campaign.

Some viewers of the state scene, remembering O'Daniel's past successes in fooling most of the people most of the time, believe the ex-flour merchant might be elected. Others, knowing O'Daniel's unquestioned business acumen, think that if he makes the race it will be only to pick up $50,000 to $75,000 over and above his campaign costs—purely a business undertaking.

Any proven vote-getter can always get money to run on from people who feel the risk is sound business on their part. O'Daniel has always done well in bleeding the "fat boys" for contributions of one kind or another, as well as in picking up countless quarters and dollar bills from trusting souls who look on him as a sort of political messiah. The way campaigns are financed in Texas, with pressure groups often "kicking in" to several candidates "just to be on the safe side," Wilbert Lee might make a killing, financially speaking, next Summer while not expecting to win the race.

Keep your eye on the biscuit man. Whatever his shortcomings, he is sharp.

BY DREW PEARSON: PARTY BOSSES PRACTICE VOTE DISCRIMINATION AGAINST YOUNGSTERS

White House Holds Out On California Young Demos

LOS ANGELES — While President Truman has been preaching civil rights for the south, he has practiced exactly the same kind of vote discrimination toward groups of young Democrats as he has criticized in Southern states.

PEARSON

The national convention of Young Democrats in Chattanooga this week illustrates this vote discrimination, and also highlights the fact that the Young Democrats once a live wire, progressive organization, in many states has become a Charley McCarthy for Democratic bosses, sometimes bought and paid for.

The Young Democrats of New York state, for instance, are no more representative of the Democratic party than Boss Hague of Jersey City. New York Democrats are not even permitted to hold an election. Their president is appointed, not elected—by Paul Fitzpatrick, Democratic state chairman, who keeps an ironclad hold on the young Dems organization for fear they will bolt to young Congressmen Franklin Roosevelt.

Undoubtedly the great preponderance of Young Democratic voters in New York would definitely be in the Roosevelt camp—if they had a chance. Fitzpatrick has his eye on the governorship of New York himself next year, and he doesn't want control to slip into the hands of Franklin Roosevelt, a potential rival candidate.

California Case Flagrant

The throttling of Young Dems in New York state is not Truman's fault. But definitely at Truman's doorstep can be laid an even more flagrant case of vote denial—this one in California.

In that state the Young Democrats of California, Inc., has disintegrated into a group of about 100 jaded party hacks who, in effect, have sold the letterhead of their organization to any political faction that would reward them with jobs. When David Price and Edwin T. Thayer of the California Young Dems were given jobs by George McLain of the California old-age pension group; the young Dems promptly lent their letterhead to promote McLain's old-age pension plan.

As a result, a rival group of Young Dems—"the California Young Democratic clubs" has mushroomed up to 4,000 members, in contrast to fewer than 100 members for the old regulars. And on July 8, the new group officially applied for recognition by Washingon. their application was signed by Mrs. Edward Heller, Democratic national committeewoman; James Roosevelt, national committeeman; and Oliver Carter, California chairman of the Democratic state committee.

FURTHERMORE, It developed that the old and decrepit Young Dems had not paid their dues. They had borrowed $1,250 from Ed Pauley and Jimmy Roosevelt in 1947 to pay their dues, but something happened to their money—perhaps too much entertainment at conventions. Instead, a promissory not was deposited at headquarters for $1,560 in lieu of dues. This promissory note was never paid.

Under the Young Dems' constitution, the state organization which pays for its dues is supported by the state committeemen and gets official recognition. But in the case of California, the White House mysteriously intervened.

Perhaps, however, it wasn't so mysterious. For Matt Connelley, secretary to the President, got a phone call from George Luckey, California cattleman friend of Mr. Truman's, asking that the new Young Dems not be recognized.

This was on July 8, and the application of the new group has cooled on ice until this week.

Rop Baker, national chairman of the Young Dems, has ordered recognition of the new California group. Bill Boyle, chairman of the Democratic national committee, had promised recognition on Sept. 14. The Los Angeles county central committee voted 189 to 1 for recognition. But, thanks to White House intervention, 100 old shopworn "Young Dems" continued to represent the entire state of California until this week, while 4,000 new members remained out in the cold.

NOTE—One trouble with the Young Democrats in many states is that the party bosses don't want intelligent youngsters in the organization. If the youngsters are intelligent they are discouraged. For intelligent youngsters don't make good party hacks.

In spite of this, however, 33 critical areas are still harassed by hard times, of which eight are worse off than during the depression. The London subways, it is reported, are the deepest in the world and would escape atomic radiation. However, the subways will be reconditioned immediately. . . The real estate lobby is nibbling away at rent control in Los Angeles by pressuring suburban towns into decontrolling on their own. Governor Warren, however, will not approve decontrol.

If you estimate it will take you a day and a half to paint a lattice fence, by working hard you should be able to finish the job in a week.

The Great Gold Rush Of Forty-Nine

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Prospectors Search Colorado Region With Geiger Counters

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., Nov. 18 —This crumbling old ghost town, once the turbulent mecca of a gold rush, hangs sadly on the side of a steep hill but shows signs of perking up again.

RUARK

Something of the old spirit, the old fever, is beginning to rustle once more in this neck of the woods. It is not gold madness this time, although this area once was called the richest square mile in the world. Now it is uranium fever.

Near Central City years ago the first pitchblende was discovered. Pitchblende is a mineral which yields a rather important little substance in today's world—uranium. It is the basic yeast of the atom bomb and hence is somewhat more desirable than platinum, since it is scarcer than co-operation among the armed forces.

They are apt to sneer at gold today, because the expense of gold-mining is almost prohibitive. But the government offers a $10,000 bounty for discovery of sites which will yield a reasonable amount of fissionable mineral.

Colorado is thickly smeared with deposits of carnotite, aunolite, vanadium and pitchblende, from all of which can be extracted minute quantities of potentian bomb-sutffing.

Cost Is Higher

It costs more to produce this stuff here than to buy it from the Belgian Congo, and the combined yield of Canada and the United States provides only about 20 per cent of what we need for our atom foundries. But the fever is running high.

Again, not so high as in the days of Cripple Creek and the other bonanzas, the handly little instrument which busses fretfully when it is confronted by radioactive matter. Geiger counters can be purchased fairly cheaply—from $50 to $100 fo rmachines of varying worth.

There must be at least 1000 at large in the state. The miner of today and tomorrow carries no pick and drives no burro. He rides in a jeep and his counter chuckles and blinks as he takes the pulse of the vast mineral deposits of the Colorado mountains.

OLD AND sorrowful wounds in the earth, the played-out mines of the gold and silver and copper strikes, are being probed again in the hope of finding a lucky concentration of pitchblende or vanadium.

The gieger counters whirr in the haunted shafts and the nostrils of the prospectors twitch in anticipation. To date no exceptional finds have been recorded, although there are some operations at Durango, at Caribou, at Grand Junction.

It is highly possible that there are no heavy deposits of ore of sufficient high grade to cause a sharp change in our atom economy. But nobody can tell for sure and so the hope exists. The prospector is an eternal optimist. He figures that what one man did he can do, and atomic energy has provided him with a fresh horizon for his hopes.

This optimism not only has infected the brash young geologists with the dude clothes and the college educations, but has spread to the cynical, whiskery old timers.

Little Is Known

As one mining expert was saying in Denver the other day, nobody yet knows a great deal about atomic fission, or what is finally splittable and what ain't.

One of these days some sheepherder with a second-hand gieger counter may stumble on a craggy hill so vitamin-rich with the ingredients of destruction that the Comstock lode might appear as a penny-ante poker pot.

It isn't likely, the man said, but it isn't impossible, either, and there isn't any law against trying.

THE claim that a certain car is bigger on the inside than on the outside is without foundation. The only thing of which this is true is a hungary boy.

Fable: Once upon a time there was a person who borrowed a fountain pen and returned it without being requested.

This was once the land of the free. That was before a business committeed a crime because it had become too big.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

YOU want your boy to be a good son. But have you ever thought whether or not you are bringing him up to be a good husband? Do you really care whether he is or not?

MILLETT

If you do want him to be a good husband some day these are all points for you to remember.

One. Don't wait on him hand and foot. As a mother you may enjoy catering to him, but you can be pretty sure his wife won't want to keep it up.

Two. See that he doesn't pick up a superior attitude toward women. Squelch him every time he starts low-rating women in general.

Three. Don't give him the idea that any girl who gets him is plenty lucky. He may get the idea, anyhow, but don't encourage him in it.

GIRLS AREN'T SO BAD

FOUR. Don't run down modern girls to him. Today's girls are every bit as worthwhile as today's young men—and chances are he'll get as good as he is.

Five. See that he picks up after himself. A man who tosses his clothes on the floor, leaves the bedroom looking as though a cyclone had struck, etc., isn't any woman's idea of a perfect husband.

Six. See that he knows how to talk to girls and women. The husband who won't talk to his wife is no bargain in any woman's mind.

Seven. See that he learns how to make small household repairs. It's as important for a husband to be a skilled handyman as for a wife to be a good cook.

Eight. Give him some idea of what it costs to run a home, what a woman's clothes cost, etc., so it won't all come as a complete surprise to him some day.

Nine. Don't blame the wife every time a marriage breaks up. A lot of mothers do that—but it certainly gives a son the wrong idea of marriage.

Ten. See that he is considerate of you. That will pay off for you and for the girl he marries some day.

"Try And Stop Me"

ARTHUR Daley, New York baseball authority, has statistics to prove how seldom ball players' spring holdouts result in better contracts from the management. One of the few times the player won out was when Hi Myers, of the old Brooklyn Dodgers, outfoxed Prexy Charles Ebbets.

The letterhead on which Myers wrote that his proffered contract was inadequate bore the flamboyant heading "Myers' Championship Stock Farm." Ebbets didn't know that the stationery had been printed specially for the occasion, and that Myers' elaborate holdings consisted of one spavined horse, one cow, and a couple of chickens. "This fellow must be independently rich," thought Ebbets. "I better go right down to his farm and placate him."

Now it was Myers' turn to grow panicky. But when Ebbets arrived he saw a fine herd of fat cattle in the north pasture, and dozens of sleek horses in another. Obviously, Myers' Stock Farm was flourishing. Ebbets gave him the raise he demanded and departed. Myers spent the next two days returning cows and horses to friendly neighbors within a radius of fifty miles who had come to his rescue when the need was greatest.

Today's Journal Editorial

AN IMPORTANT HONOR

No food is more important to the health of a community than pure milk. It therefore, should give Lubbock residents much satisfaction that the dairies serving this city have retained their places on the milk sanitation "honor roll" of the State and Federal health departments.

To earn this distinction, the milk handlers must score 90 per cent, or higher, under a rigid code designed by the State and federal health authorities. It is a code calculated to safeguard the sanitation of the milk in all stages of handling, including the health of the cow, until it is delivered to the consumer. The Lubbock score was 91.3 per cent.

Honor roll cities are relatively few. Only about a dozen in Texas, including Lubbock, qualified when the last previous ratings were announced two years ago. The number probably will be larger this year because the distinction is one for which nearly all communities seek.

Lubbock's achievement, therefore, justifies pride along with satisfaction. But the fact that our rating still is short of the perfect 100 per cent is proof that there is room for further improvements, for which our health authorities and dairymen doubtless will strive before the next inspections are made.

Huge Oak Is Claimed ndian Trail Marker

SOUTHPORT, N. C., Nov. 18(U.P.) A huge live oak at the river-mouth town is one of the few and rare relics of Indian trail-marking skill.

The giant oak, built when young and lashed to the ground, grows horizontally for several feet before towering vertically. Indians are believed to have trained the tree to mark important turns in their trails.

It is believed that comparatively few examples of these ancient road signs still exist.

Employes Of Firm Honored

An award recognizing 38 years of service with the Southwestern Public Service company was presented to Hubert L. Allen Thursday night during a dinner honoring 52 South Plains employes of the company.

The presentation of the award to Allen, who is vice-president of the company and manager of this division, was made by J. G. Ausman of Amarillo, executive vice-president of the company. Similar awards for services ranging from five to 29 years were made by Ausman to employes from ten South Plains offices.

Honored Workers' Service

The dinner was the first to be held here for the presentation of service awards, made by the company in order to acknowledge publicly the meritorious service of the veteran workers in the company.

Next in line behind Allen was Elbert Wilson, line foreman from Slaton who has completed 29 years of service with the company. Walter S. Anglin of Lubbock, right-of-way agent for the company, received a 28-year service award.

In making the presentations, Ausman was quick to point out that the awards were not just on the basis of number of years employes have been with the company, but for their years of service.

"Besides being a service award, it should also be considered an award of merit," he said.

Allen's Service Tops

Allen's 38 years with the company brought the top award for active service among 453 persons in the entire company receiving the certificates and medallions denoting their years of service. The medallion presented to him was studded with two diamonds.

The company covers the Panhandle, South Plains, parts of Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Others Are Honored

Besides Wilson and Anglin, members receiving awards for 25 years or more of service were William S. Jones of Lubbock and Homer S. Moss of Denver City, 27 years each; J. B. Morrisset and Samuel H. Batton, both of Lubbock; L. Bilbrey of Denver City, and Leonard D. Moss of Seagraves, all 26 years; and George A. Stallworth of Levelland, and Marvin

THE QUESTION

Do you think Congress should amend the laws governing mailable matter? (This would put a stop to the Red propaganda that is being sent to various schools throughout the country).

THE ANSWERS

D. H. SCOTT, Capital hotel, switchman for Santa Fe railroad: "Absolutely. I think that this type of literature should definitely not be permitted in the mail or in the schools, or any other public institution for that matter."

L. H. CARMICHAEL, 1503 Ave. F, optician: "I think it would be a good idea for Congress to amend the mailing laws. I just feel like the material being circulated now will put ideas into people's heads that shouldn't be there."

GEORGE WOOD, Box 1196, cook at Waffle Shop: "I think that the Communists should be allowed to send their material through the mail, and then let the people who receive it be the judges whether to use it or not."

J. B. MARTIN, 2908 N. Third, clerk in the post office: "I would say that the amendment should be passed. If not, it might be the start of big trouble. It would definitely help to spread Communism in the United States if something isn't done."

ROBERT FINE, Bangs, Texas, employe of warehouse: "I guess they should make the amendment. I don't think that Red propaganda should be allowed to be spread through the mail. I hope this will put a stop to it."

JOE GRIFFITH, Bangs, Texas, farmer: "I think that such an amendment should be passed. If Red propaganda continues to spread, the United States might turn Communistic. I surely wouldn't like to see that."

STILL NO TONGUE

BOSTON (U.P.) — When, many years ago, Bostonians discovered that a sculptor, Thomas Ball, had neglected to put a tongue in the horse's mouth in his George Washington statute in the public garden, there was a storm of protest. However, Washington's horse still remains tongueless.

High School Halts Free Seat "Racket"

FALLS CITY, Neb., Nov. 18 (U.P.)—A colorful pre-game ceremoney started at high school football games this year has been discontinued.

The ceremony provided for dousing all the lights during band maneuvers, with miniature lights on the caps of band members outlining various formations.

Officials stopped the practice for financial reasons:

When the lights went out a near-avalanche of non-paying fans streamed over the walls and dashed for seats.

Swift Justice Will Be Given

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18. (AP)—Muttering "I don't deserve to live," pasty-faced Fred Stroble, 66-year-old baker, braced himself in a county jail cell today for swift grand jury action in the sex slaying of six-year-old Linda Joyce Glucoft.

Stroble, the grandfather of one of Linda's favorite playmates, poured out his sordid story to District Attorney William Simpson as a 48-hour fugitive search throughout the west and into Mexico wound up yesterday on a stool in a downtown Los Angeles bar—about five blocks from central police station.

Blames Wine Brinking

Simpson said Stroble, formally charged with murder, admitted that he strangled and bludgeoned the pudgy little girl to death when she resisted his improper advances. Arraignment is scheduled at 9:30 a. m. today in municipal court.

"I had been drinking all day—wine. I wouldn't have done it if I hadn't been drunk," Stroble was quoted. Simpson said the ashen, gray-haired grandpa—who liked to buy kids ice cream and candy—then told of enticing Liinda into a bedroom of the home where he lived with his daughter, her husband and their two children. The story:

"I was playing with her . . . (Simpson said this involved an act of molestation, but not rape) . . . when she started to scream. She was resisting me.

Wasn't First Time

"This wasn't the first time. I had played with her once before.

"I strangled her first with my hands, then with a tie. She was quiet. I wrapped her up in the blanket and carried her out to the incinerator . . . I stabbed her with the ice pick, and then I slammed her with the flat side of the axe six times on the head. . . .

"Then I went back into the kitchen and got a (butcher) knife. I remembered a trick I learned while watching the bull fights in Mexico. I stabbed her in the back, just below the skull, between the shoulder blades. That makes death come easily and fast.

"The little girl did not suffer too much. She was dead within eight or ten minutes."

That was about 5 p. m. Monday, Stroble said. Linda's body was found the next morning and the search started.

Stayed In Beach City

Speaking a low monotone as stenographers and a recording machine took his statement, Stroble told how he boarded an interurban train for Ocean Park and stayed in cheap hotels at the beach city for three nights.

He said he had thought about

End Near For Santone Boy

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—Little Jackie Bickson celebrated his birthday with a cheerful smile yesterday. But before the day ended, he was taken to a hospital, perhaps to await death.

The game youngster awoke at 2 a. m. to tell his mother, "wish me happy birthday. I've reached 11."

But what Jackie didn't know was that he would never reach 12. His parents hadn't told him that he had cancer.

All Jackie knew was that for several months he'd had an awfully sore arm that had kept him from playing baseball and football. Then there were many visits to specialists in San Antonio and New York, although Jackie didn't know why.

But to Jackie's mother, all the specialists said the same thing—no hope. They gave him only a few weeks to live, and as he celebrated his birthday in his bed at home, time was running out.

Because of the expense of treatments, the father—electrician Jack W. Bickson—was unable to get his son the birthday gift he really wanted. There was no money left, not even for a small bedside radio.

Friends Contributed

But there were 100 friends interested in Jackie. And those 100 friends contributed $100. Enough, Jackie thought, maybe to buy a television set.

At first he said he would buy a football suit. Then he remembered. "But you know I'll never get to play," he told his mother.

"Sure you will," she said, choking back a lump in her throat.

A few hours later Jackie lapsed into a coma and was taken to a hospital. And his mother knew that the end was near.

Bachelor Was Ready But Widow Said No

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—James B. Freemond applied for a license to marry a woman who never heard of him.

He got the license, because state law says only one person need to apply.

Mrs. El Veina Munig, a widow with two children, read of the application in the newspapers and had no doubt that she was the woman named as a prospective bride.

So she called up the bachelor and told him she had no plans to marry any one. Freemond canceled the license.

SALVATION ARMY KEEPING BUSY

Annual Christmas Drive Is Planned

Final plans are underway here for the annual Salvation Army Christmas offensive.

The Salvation Army in Lubbock expects to help more than 300 families during the holidays with gifts of cash, clothing, food and toys, said Miss Jean Wilhite, 21-year-old secretary of the organization. More than 400 dolls have been ordered for the offensive.

"We are busy now preparing food baskets and repairing used toys to be donated to those who otherwise would find Christmas just another day of the year, only a little colder than most," Miss Wilhite explained. "Those we help do not have to be of any special religion or have to join our religious group," she said. "They just have to be poor."

Lubbock's "Army" takes care of the impoverished and needy of the surrounding 10 counties. The 15-man group is headed by Capt. Wesly T. Gregory, a minister in the Salvation Army. Most of the members are Lubbock residents with the exception of Bill Robertson of Waco, the Army's case worker.

The Army gets its financial ammunition from donations and an annual slice of the Community Chest. The money is used to help anyone in need. Last year, Miss Wilhite revealed, 881 individuals were given financial assisstance by the Army. Of these, 68 persons were Lubbockites.

The group, founded in 1865 by General William Booth, a Methodist minister, in London, is primarily a religious organization. "We believe in helping a person physically before trying to give him spiritual aid," Miss Wilhite said. "Although," she hastened to remark, "we make no moral demands of those we help. They can be of any religion and there are no strings attached to any benefits they receive."

The employes or "soldiers" in the Salvation Army are salaried, but their wages are far from extravagant. Miss Wilhite, a competant secretary, receives $25 weekly.

Bill Robertson, the case worker,

Dr. Norris To Speak In City

The "old time faith" is needed in America, Dr. J. Frank Norris, noted preacher and revivalist, said in Lubbock Thursday afternoon.

"The one thing that all denominations agree on is that we need to repent," said the minister. The great revival in which he believes will take the form of "the one call to repentence," with all denominations observing it with different methods but the same aim, he believes.

To Speak Tonight

Dr. Norris, widely known and quoted Fundamentalist minister, said he would preach on "Why I Believe that the World is Headed for a Great Revival" in his sermon at 7 o'clock tonight at Tabernacle Baptist church, 1501 Ave. N.

We've tried everything else and we're in confusion," he said. "We've built skyscrapers, great churches and great universities. I'm for these, but man cannot live by bread alone. God can do without us, but we can't do without God. I have recently talked to the top industrialists of America and the outstanding labor leaders and they agree we must have a coming back to the old time faith.

"The old time is the faith of the Bible, and we've come far away from it."

Dr. Norris, who has made five trips to other countries, now is preparing to go to Japan, England and Palestine. "The biggest issue this year has been the official action of the United Nations in giving Palestine back to its rightful owners, the Jews," he said. "It's the first time in 1,879 years that land has been under control

BOMBERS CRASH FIVE MILES UP

18 Airmen Die In Midnight Collision

STOCKTON, Calif., Nov. 18. (AP)—Eighteen airmen perished in a midnight collision of two B29 bombers five miles up in a mock bombing raid.

Three crewmen survived the double crash.

One of the bombers crashed in flames early yesterday on McDonald island in the rich delta land 18 miles northwest of Stockton. The other broke to pieces on muddy Rindge tract, two miles away. It did not burn.

Workers recovered seven of the eight bodies from the wreckage on Rindge tract, from which two men parachuted to safety. The eighth body, tightly pinned in the battered mass of wreckage, will be removed today.

Bodies Burned

Only one person escaped the McDonald island crash. Three bodies were thrown clear by the impact. Six remained in the plane and were reported burned beyond recovery.

Rescue was hampered in the early hours by a thick, low fog. However, skies were clear in the supper atmosphere where the two superfortresses collided.

Lt. Warren L. Sharrock of Jamestown, Calif., pilot of the Rindge tract plane, was first reported to have survived and to have staggered into a fishing resort.

Later his body was found and authorities at Hamilton field said it was Staff Sgt. Robert S. Kluge, member of Sharrock's crew, who had found his way to the resort.

Accident Unexplained

Kluge, 25, of Spokane, Wash., was dazed. He said he had mentioned Sharrock as the pilot of the plane. In the excitement, the resort owner's wife took that to be Kluge's name.

The other survivor of Sharrock's plane was T-Sgt. Frank D. Schmidt of Negley, Ohio, engineer.

Pvt. Keith R. Burns, 19, of Boise, Idaho, radio operator, was the lone survivor of the flaming crash on McDonald island.

The three survivors, who received cuts and bruises, were taken to the Fairfield-Suisun air force base hospital. None could give any reason for the disastrous accident.

The extent of the damage to the planes was emphasized by an air force announcement that there would be no attempt to salvage any parts from the B29's.

The two bombers were from the Spokane, Wash., air base. They were part of a 92nd bombardment group flight of 13 and were flying in a formation of five planes when they collided.

The flight was a non-stop mock bombing raid over Sacramento, San Francisco, Stockton, Salt Lake City and back to Spokane.

Largest Telescope Ready For Service After Face-Lifting

MT. PALOMAR, Cal., Nov. 18 (U.P.)—The mirror of the world's largest telescope, taken out of operation last May when a flaw on the surface was discovered, now is "as nearly perfect as possible" and should be scanning the skies again by the first of the year.

Even with its 20-millionths of an inch flaw on an outer edge, the 200-inch Hale telescope last spring reached out into space and photographer a star formation one billion light years away from the earth.

Dr. Ira S. Bowen, director of Mt. Wilson observatory, near Los Angeles, and Palomar Observatory, near San Diego, said he hoped the mirror could be re-coated with aluminum and put back into service by Jan. 1.

Flaw Deliberate

"We knew when the mirror was taken from the California Institute of Technology to the observatory that its surface was slightly high in this area," Bowen said. "It had been deliberately left high because we had anticipated some snag when it was placed in the telescope."

Bowen said the snag did not develop and it was then that additional polishing was decided upon.

"Although we believe we have now obtained a surface as nearly perfect as possible, we cannot be absolutely certain until the telescope has been tested further under actual operating conditions," Bowen said.

More Efficient

"The efficiency of the mirror has been improved considerably by the additional polishing."

Astronomers at Palomar believe the 200-inch telescope will give observers their first look at solar systems beyond our own.

The one billion light years photo was the first picture made that would indicate that there are other systems outside the one of which the earth is a part.

One-third of the original nine-inch layer of topsoil which covered the United States has been blown or washed away.

REALISM RIDES SANTA'S RANGES THIS CHRISTMAS—A large share of the $300,000,000 worth of Christmas toys sold in the United States this year will be realistic imitations of the things grown-ups use. Typical of these toys that transport the kiddies into the land of make-believe are those above, being enjoyed by New York youngsters. LEFT: Six-year-old Glenn Ehasz rides roughshod after transforming an ordinary tricycle into a snortin' cow-pony with a special horse-head and tail set. The inexpensively priced set can be attached to such things as brooms or scooters merely by loosening a few bolts. CENTER: Barbara Ravold, 6, a modern young "mother," uses her new "formula" set as she sterlizes dolly's bottles. The baby-care set even includes a small-size diaper disposer. RIGHT: "Big" toy news lies in these giant redwood blocks being enjoyed by Joanne Murphy. The blocks are decorated by easily recognizable animals nursery characters and town and country scenes.

Fathers Serve As Officers Of P-TA

Fathers of school children replaced regular officers of the Roscoe Wilson chapter of the Parent-Teachers association in a meeting held at Hutchinson Junior High school Thursday night.

Guest speaker was Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Tech, introduced by Frank Junell. His topic, "Teamwork Between Parents," stressed the importance of schools and homes as the factories in which the community's most important product, the child, is produced.

Special officers for the meeting were:

Dr. J. William Davis, president; Glenn Woody, secretary; and Raymond Painter, treasurer. Music was supplied by a quartet of Tech students, the "Chord-Board Four."

Britons Oppose Road Over Robber's Grave

HEMEL HEMPSTEAD, Eng. Nov. 18. (AP)—Trustees in charge of 158 acres of local pastureland objected today to a town development plan because it would involve cutting a road through the grave of William Snooks.

"The people of Hemel Hempstead are jealous of this unique possession," said a spokesman for the trustees, who control the land given the town by the Earl of Leicester in 1594.

UN DEBATES GREEK CIVIL WAR

Compromise Talk With Soviet Is Sought By British Delegate

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Britain appeared to be taking the lead today in efforts to see whether Russia is willing now to compromise on some of the deadlocked east-west issues in the United Nations.

Thus far only tentative moves have been made. There is no specific indication that the Soviet Union is ready for conciliation.

Delegates noted, however, that Britain's minister of state, Hector McNeil, for the past two days has made it clear that his delegation would welcome talks with the Russians.

These cautious moves to determine the Russians' present attitude on such issues as an independence treaty for Austria and the admittance of new members to the U. N. coincided with debate in a plenary session of the general assembly on the Greek-Balkan dispute.

Russia Claimed Provoked

That debate continues today at the Flushing Meadow assembly hall with delegates of Yugoslavia, White Russia, the Ukraine, Turkey and Czechoslovakia listed among the speakers.

Yesterday Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said the western powers had provoked the Soviet Union into repeated use of the veto in the security council by proposing the same candidates for membership time after time.

Referring to that statement, McNeil said: "I thought this was as near as the distinguished Soviet delegate ever comes to a plea. If it was a plea, my (British) delegation would be the last to set it aside." McNeil added that if Vishinsky wants to discuss the membership question reasonably the British delegation is ready to talk things over.

Ministers Confer

Immediately after yesterday's adjournment Vishinsky conferred earnestly for 15 minutes in the empty assembly hall with McNeil. The Soviet foreign minister refused to say what was discussed — except maybe the weather, which was crisp—but McNeil said they had talked about an Austrian independence treaty, a continuing issue of consultations in New York among the big four deputies.

Greek Vice Premier Constantin Tsaldaris late yesterday made a new bid for peace with Greece's Communist neighbors. He said; "On several occasions we stretched a hand to them. We do it here once more."

Vishinsky was as adamant as ever in his argument on the Greek case. He said Greece's refusal to give up claims to northern Epirus, now part of Albania, had wrecked Balkan conciliation efforts.

The Soviet foreign minister described the Athens government as a "hangman's regime" and said that the reports of the United Nations special commission on the Balkans (UNSCOB) were full of distortions and lies. Those reports had accused Greece's northern neighbors of aiding the Communist-led Greek guerrillas.

War Danger Reduced

Replying McNeil said the Soviet Union repeatedly had fallen into the trap of assuming the assembly could be led to believe that "the angels are always on the side of the Soviet proposals and the cowardly devils are on the other side."

American Delegate Benjamin V. Cohen said the danger of a Balkan war has been substantially reduced.

"This does not mean that vigilance on the part of the United Nations is not necessary to see" that the guerrillas do not again take up arms, he added, however.

The assembly has before it two proposals on the Greek-Balkan conflict. A Russian minority proposal would provide for the liquidation of the U. N. Balkans commission and the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Greece. A western resolution provides for the continuation of UNSCOB and the imposing of an arms embargo on Albania and Bulgaria until they stop aiding the Greek guerrillas.

LIFE'S DARKEST MOMENT

TACOMA, Wash (U.P.)—Mrs. Arthur Sivertsen made a hole-in-one but missed the thrill of watching it. She lost the ball in the sun after her tee shot and spent several minutes looking in the rough on a 139-yard hole.

LESSON IN SAFETY—A more powerful plea for traffic safety could hardly be found than this tragic tableau caught by a photographer in New Hyde Park, N. Y. While the youngster's bicycle rests against the bumper of the car which struck him down, first aid is given to Bobbie Schuman, aged 10. The boy suffered a broken leg and serious internal injuries.

Lessons On English Language Popular

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—One-eighth of the Danish population has listened to the English lessons on the Danish radio in the course of 20 years.

This figure illustrates the great interest among the Danes to learn English. American and British tourists in Denmark are surprised that most Danes have a basic knowledge of English.

For 20 years, P. O. Boisen has been teacher of this radio class in English, lecturing three times a week, and a total of 500,000 listeners have been his pupils.

POWER OF SUGGESTION

MILWAUKEE, (U.P.)—Officials of the Marine Exchange Bank of Milwaukee, sponsors of a local television show, are somewhat perturbed over the "spot" it gets. Immediately preceding it is a show called "Break the Bank."

Robber Has Bad Luck In Attempted Holdup

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP)—A robber strode into Hiram Bloodgood's grocery. He shoved Bloodgood against a shelf. Down came a deluge of canned goods.

The robber tried to hurdle the counter, but tripped. Down with him went a pile of boxed eggs and doughnuts. The robber yanked out the cash drawer. The money rained down on the litter of merchandise on the floor.

The robber stooped, plucked a $20 bill and left, without throwing a single custard pie.

SHARE IT TOGETHER

WARE, Mass. (U.P.) — A letter written in 1945 from William H. Wade to Theodore Pajak, then a soldier in Germany, finally has been received by Pajak, now a civilian. When Pajak got the letter, he took it over to Wade and they read it together.

Two bats which left London by night for the zoo at Copenhagen, Denmark, traveled in a black-out van to a pitch-dark airplane to protect their eyes.

Italy Preparing For 1950 Tourist Season

ROME, Nov. 18. (AP)—Italy is getting ready to harvest a lush crop of "average" tourists during the 1950 Holy Year. The Central Tourist office, in a progress report on efforts to make Italy more attractive to tourists, disclosed that 20,000 establishments over the country now offer 365,000 beds for the visitors.

Since the postwar tourist crop is more on the quantity than quality side, the office seeks to provide modest accommodations rather than deluxe hotels.

Minneapolis Law To Keep Citizens Warm

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 18 (U.P.) — In Minneapolis, the law will keep you warm.

The city has adopted an ordinance that requires the temperature of rented property used as living quarters to be maintained at specific levels from Sept. 15 to June 1.

The temperature must be kept at a minimum of 60 degrees Fahrenheit at 6:30 a. m., 65 degrees at 7:30 a. m. and 68 degrees from 8:30 a. m. until 10:30 p. m. The maximum penalty for violation is $100 fine or 80 days in jail.

Engineer Pushes Plan For Air Ambulance Service In America

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (U.P.) — A dedicated Man is William F. Samaloa. He wants medicine and doctors put on wings so they can get to more people faster.

Samayoa thinks the matter more urgent than ever, now that people are wondering about civilian defense against atomic attack.

So Samayoa is pounding on government doors and persistently advancing his 10-year-old dream of a national air ambulance service to be financed like other group health and hospitalization plans. Eventually, he would like to see it take on international scope.

Nothing but encouragement has met his efforts for years but you can't run even a non-profit, humanitarian enterprise on encouragement alone.

Now the Guatemala-born aeronautical engineer and language instructor thinks he may have the solution. He believes the Civil Air Patrol, which has wings in every state, is a proper framework within which to build an ambulance service using helicopters and hospital planes.

Given Encouragement

Without committing itself, the Air Force has written Samayoa an encouraging letter. He caries it with dozens of others. One is from Eleanor Roosevelt suggesting he take his plan to American Airlines, Inc. Another is from Thomas W. Ryan, New York state director of safety, introducing him to the Mayo Clinic and emphatically stating he is "NO crackpot."

"Somebody has to fight for this," the engineer said. "To stop now would be like swimming 10 miles and drowning 10 feet from shore."

What he proposes is this:

That a national air ambulance service be established with initial financing from fund-raising campaigns and the government. He believes charitable organizations, hospitalization schemes, labor unions, industrial enterprises and flat fees from non-members would keep it well in the black.

Invaluable In Disasters

The helicopters and airplanes could perform pinpoint rescues at train wrecks, aircraft accidents, on mountain peaks and in otherwise inaccessible places.

They would be invaluable in disasters, epidemics or in mining communities where other means of rescue frequently fail. In case of atomic attack they would be a means of evacuating wounded and dead and getting doctors and supplies.

They could take patients from small towns to hospitals in large cities.

"This plan could mean co-ordinated, nation-wide medical service," Samayoa says. "And the wounded or ill could be transported much more smoothly and rapidly."

Statistics Cited

He packs statistics. More than 1,000,000 persons are injured, 100,000 of them permanently, in automobile accidents every year. Some 30,000 are killed. There are 22,000,000 subscribers to various hospitalization plans and 10 per cent use the facilities made available every year. There are 150,000,000 Americans.

From all those figures, Camayoa deduces that he could rally a large block of customers for his proposal. Probably 150,000 persons would use his ambulances the first year.

The scheme might cost $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 annually, but he is confident it could be made to pay. The Minnesota house of representatives endorsed the plan in a resolution several years ago.

Gael Sullivan, when executive director of the Democratic national committee, mentioned the plan to President Truman, Samayoa said, and the reaction was that "opposing it is like opposing virtue."

Production Climbing In Plastic Industry

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—America's plastics industry set a production record of almost 1,500,000,000 pounds last year.

It is doubling its output every three years and will overtake steel production by 1970 if the present rate is continued, an expert says.

Dr. W. E. Lindquist of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. told the Minnesota section of the American Chemical Society that there is every reason to expect that plastics production will continue to rise rapidly.

"There are several relatively new fields in which plastic promise to become more and more a part of every day existence." Lindquist said. "New synthetic fibers similar to nylon is one of the most important of these fields."

Lundquist said there is a "tremendous" market for textile materials and many of the larger chemical companies "are spending large amounts of money for development of new synthetic fibers.

Thin, transparents films resembling cellophane, for use particularly in packaging is another important field, Lundquist said.

Family Of Ten Gets Free Hotel Service

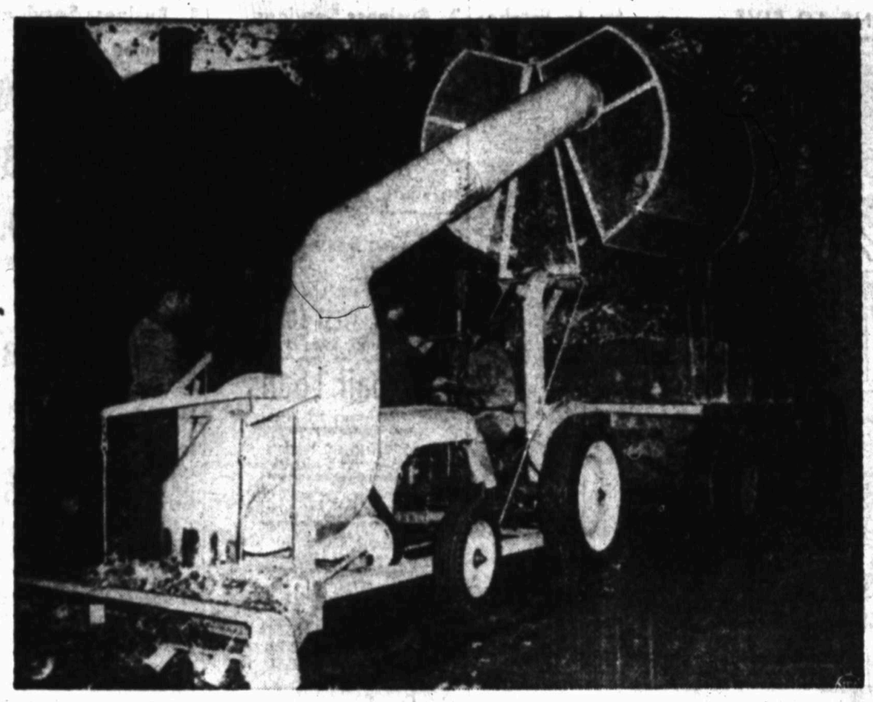

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—The George Washington hotel long has advertised: "Children welcome."

The manager, Callye Anderson, got a telephone call from Moberly, Mo. C. L. Craig asked if she meant that about the children. She acknowledged it.

"Well," said Craig, "there'll be myself and the wife and eight children."

Miss Anderson, taken back somewhat, said, "Anybody willing to travel with eight kids and a wife is entitled to special attention."

When the Craigs visited the hotel the bill was on the house.

NEW RAKE FOR OLD LEAVES—This mechanical raker leaves little to be desired when it comes to that yearly chore of clearing away mountains of fallen leaves. Invented by Harry Clements of La-Porte, Ind., the machine scoops up not only leaves, but sticks, stones, bottles and bones as well. The machine will sell for $3200.

Pension Talks At Standstill

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18. (AP) — Pension negotiations between the United Steelworkers and the Aluminum Company of America are at a standstill today after the union rejected an offer covering 16,000 workers in nine states.

In announcing the union's decision yesterday, USW vice president James G. Thimmes said:

"The company's proposal is substantially inferior to any agreement made by the union in the basic steel industry. The company refused to provide pensions and payment to disabled employes which live up to the standard set by other large companies in the related steel industry."

The basic agreement reached by the USW and steel firms in ending the nationwide steel strike provided for a company-financed $100 pension, including social security, for workers 65 years old and with 25 years service.

A company spokesman said the union's wage demands had been rejected and added:

"The union is considering the pension-insurance offer of the company and its representatives said the union notify the company of the next negotiation conference date."

Thimmes said the union will continue to negotiate through a sub-committee which will seek "a real pension and disability plan, ajoint insurance program, paid holidays and a fair wage scale."

Between 16,000 and 20,000 ALCOA workers went on strike last Oct. 17 at nine company plants. The company on Wednesday reached an agreement with the AFL - International Council of Aluminum workers, covering 10,000 workers at other plants.

MAN WHO CAME TO STAY

ROCKWOOD, Tenn. (U.P.)—The president of the First National bank here, William Ensminger, loves his hotel room. Ensminger, a bachelor, has lived at the Hotel Hendry for 45 years. Recently, he has just paid the hotel for another 10 years rent in advance.

Mother Thankful For Girl's Improvement

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 18. (AP)—Next Thursday will be a special Thanksgiving day for Mrs. Wilma Latsha.

Today she is thankful that her six year old daughter, Janet, is alive.

Janet was flown here from Oklahoma City a month ago for treatment for asthma which doctors said was killing her.

Now, she lays beside her bed. She hasn't had an attack in a week.

Mrs. Latsha is formerly of Nacogdoches, Tex. She's working as a dietitians assistant in the Catholic St. Joseph's hospital here where Janet is being treated.

Rayburn To Speak At Houston Demo Rally

HOUSTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—Sam Rayburn has promised a "straight from the shoulder" speech tonight at a giant Democratic rally.

The speaker of the House will be honor guest and principal speaker at the rally, climax of the first day of the Texas Association of Democratic Chairmen convention.

State Democratic Chairmen John C. Calhoun said it was fitting that Rayburn should be honored.

"Sam Rayburn is one of the greatest Democrats in the nation," he said. "He has served the people of Texas long and well."

A group of Rayburn's Washington friends are flying here for the rally and most of the Texas congressional delegation will attend.

Spouse Doesn't Rate $1, Court Decides

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—The will of the late Mrs. Alice M. Costello left $1 to her husband "if that is necessary."

But Judge Robert V. Bolger decided in court it wasn't. There is nothing in the law, he ruled, that makes it necessary for a man or wife to bequeath any part of an estate to a surviving spouse.

The judge authorized distribution of Mrs. Costello's $1,302 estate—minus the $1 legacy to her husband. Her three children are the beneficiaries.

BODY IS DISCOVERED IN CANAL

Criminal Attack In Kidnaping Of Young Idaho Girl Revealed

BURLEY, Idaho, Nov. 18. (AP)—Blonde Glenda Joyce Brisbois, "a friendly little girl," was criminally attacked before her body was thrown into an irrigation canal, police said last night.

An autopsy revealed the attack on seven-year-old Glenda who rode to her death in a dark blue sedan. The little first grader's body was found yesterday by a friend of the family, 18 hours after she had been kidnaped from near her home.

Cassia County Coroner Vern McCulloch, who with Sheriff Saul Clark, reported the autopsy revealing the girl had "definitely" been criminally assaulted, said "we have two or three leads . . . to follow up . . ."

Hope for a quick capture of the girl's kidnaper faded yesterday after two men, one in Idaho and another in Utah, were picked up for investigation but released after questioning.

Glenda stepped into the car, which police said was driven by a round-faced man in his twenties, at 5 p. m. Wednesday. Her beaten body was found yesterday in the canal, one mile southeast of this aroused and angry Idaho farming community of 5,300 persons.

Nearly a foot of water partly covered the small body which was fully clothed. Her head had been gashed deeply by three blows from a sharp instrument—police said it probably was a hatchet or an axe.

While the prostrate parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brisbois were secluded in their Burley home, police continued to trace out a pair of meager clues. The father is a truck-driver. Glenda, who was born in San Diego, Calif., has an older sister, Sandra Lee, 9.

Footprints Found

Burley Chief of Police Bill Williams said a man's footprints were found on the canal bank near where Glenda's body was found, along with some automobile tire tracks from which plaster casts were made.

Police ordered that the canal be drained in hopes the murder weapon will be found on its muddy bottom. Also a roundup of all known sex offenders in southern Idaho was ordered.

A playmate said the vivacious first grader talked briefly with the smooth shaven, ruddy complexioned man before she stepped into the sedan—a 1939 to 1942 model, clean and kell kept and bearing Idaho license plates.

"She had been warned repeatedly about accepting rides from strangers," her grandfather, B. C. Bishop of Payette, Idaho, said. "She must have forgotten."

The grandfather added that "Glenda always was such a friendly little girl."

IRENE HOSKINS AND PUPIL: She has to teach them to read Navajo so they'll be able to read English.

Iowa-Born Quaker Missionary Brings Education To Navajos

FORT DEFIANCE, Ariz., Nov. 18 (NEA)—A Navajo girl, away at a school in Phoenix, was coming home for a visit. She wrote her mother a letter, telling her the good news. But when she arrived home her mother wasn't there.

The older woman couldn't read. She'd gone on a journey for several days, looking for someone to read the letter to her. And because she couldn't read she missed her daughter's visit.

That story is typical of life on the Navajo reservation, where 80 per cent—some 52,000—of the Indians are illiterate. There are schools for only a third of the Navajo children. It's that condition that Irene Hoskins, Iowa-born Quaker missionary, and others are trying to correct.

Sponsored By Council

For more than two years, Miss Hoskins has driven her truck and trailer over some 16,000,000 acres of desert in Arizona, New Mexico and Utah, bringing the ability to read to the people. Her job is sponsored by the interdenominational Home Missions Council of North America.

Before she set out on the road, to bring education and the church to the Navajo's bee-hive shaped "hogans," she had taught in reservation schools.

Since two-thirds of the Navajos speak no English, she feels that the first step in teaching them to read English is to teach them to read Navajo. She is still learning the difficult Navajo tongue, and keeps up her own lessons while teaching others.

Huge Area Covered

Her "parish" is an immense stretch of desert, dotted with tiny settlements. Roads are poor, making her work all the more difficult.

During one day's "classes," Miss Hoskins and her Navajo intermediary and translator, Mrs. Edna Maloney, may visit four or five "hogans," covering 12 miles.

She finds that most of the Navajos, who have several names, want first to learn to write their English names. Some of them don't even know the correct pronunciation of their English names, having had them written out by missionaries and preserving the paper carefully for many years.

Very Hospitable Race

Miss Hoskins finds the Navajos, despite their poverty, a very hospitable race. In the tiniest, crudest "hogans," she and her assistant will be honored guests. The family brings blankets to stretch on the floor for the visitors' comfort.

The children fetch ears of brightly colored corn, and throw them on the fire. They take their best—and only—tin cups and scrub them with sand and water. And, after a short while, the youngters hand plates of mutton and corn and cups of hot coffee to the guests.

Besides being a teacher, Miss Hoskins often finds herself pressed into service on the reservation doing other things for the natives. Once she stopped her truck at the desperate hail of a Navajo grandmother. There was a sick baby that needed help. Miss Hoskins turned her truck into an ambulance and drove the child to the nearest hospital, 40 miles away.

"I have often wondered," Miss Hoskins says, "what would have happened if the grandmother had stopped someone who knew no Navajo."

Dr. Norris said he believes that when the "great revival" comes, ministers will lay aside their planned sermons and call for repentence of sins. "Churches need to repent, preachers need to repent, laymen need to repent," he said. Every great revival in history has had the characteristic of repentence from sin, he said.

Dr. Norris is pastor of the First Baptist church in Fort Worth and Temple Baptist church in Detroit. He is to return to Fort Worth following his sermon here.

K. Young of Ralls, 25 years each. Medallions for these men were studded with two rubies.

Besides guests from several South Plains towns, a number of company officials from Amarillo were also present. Some of those were L. A. Lacy, assistant comptroller; Roy Tolk, statistical engineer; Victor O. Shawgo, personnel director; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Annett, editors of The Southwesterner, employe publication of the company; and Edward G. Weber, advertising manager.

Ernest F. St. Clair, jr., of Lubbock, commercial manager here, assisted Ausman in the presentation of awards.

Other awards went to: Carl Wilson, John A. Burns, and Elsie V. Link, all of Lubbock, 24 years of service; Samuel H. Campbell and John H. Austin, both of Lubbock, 23 years of service; Edgar Horner of Seagraves, 22 years; Sadie B. Bownds of Lubbock, 21 years; Wilbur L. Pearson of Lubbock, and Gordon R. Hammond of Levelland, 20 years.

Sidney M. Wadley of Lubbock, 18 years; Willis G. Clarke of Tahoka, Horace C. Taylor of Seagraves, and Benjamin E. Elliston of Denver City, 14 years; Harry N. Stone of Seminole, 13 years; Eugene M. Copp, Tom Z. Ogg, and George R. Bunton, all of Lubbock, and Daniel L. Cass and Clarence A. Heald, both of Levelland, 12 years; C. Curtis Campbell and Wallace S. Pool, both of Lubbock, and J. Lewis Hollingsworth of Slaton, 11 years;

Yancy L. Wright of Denver City, Joel R. Blocker of Crosbyton, and Travis W. Thomas of Seagraves, ten years; Thomas J. Clark of Lubbock, and Patten McFarland and King W. Collins, both of Denver City, nine years; Johnnie Reasonover, Marvin O. Tudor, and Walter F. Young, all of Denver City; and Sam Mitchell, negro, of Lubbock, eight years; Annie C. Reynolds and J. Earl Bloodworth, both of Lubbock, and James L. Patrick, jr., and Raymnold M. Goeth, both of Denver City, six years; Jeff V. Monk and Conley D. Hart, both of Denver City, Viola B. Cunningham of Levelland; Jasper M. Edwards of Seagraves, and Ted R. Hibbs of Post, five years.

Awards to Bilbrey, Burns, Miss Bownds, Pearson, Elliston, McFarland, Young, Goeth, Monk, and Cunningham, were made in absentia.

suicide, by jumping off the pier, but decided yesterday morning to return to Los Angeles and "give myself up."

He had just returned on a bus and gone into the bar for a glass of beer when a laundryman, Bill Miller, spotted him and told rookie traffic policeman, Arnold W. Carlson. Carlson confirmed the identification and Stroble submitted without protest.

"I don't deserve to live," Simpson quoted Stroble at one point. "Any man who would do a thing like that doesn't deserve to live.

"I figure I'd have to pay in the next world, so I might as well pay in this."

The only time the little baker showed emotion was when he was asked, "did you kill anyone else?"

"My God, no!" he spluttered. "It's bad enough this way."

Has Molested Others

Simpson said Stroble, a bond jumper on a previous charge of molesting a 10-year-old girl last April, admitted the first time he molested a child was 10 years ago. Since them he has molsted four or five other children in the Los Angeles area, he told Simpson.

But Dr. Marcus Crahan, county examiner, said "there is nothing insane about him" after an examination last night.

A grand jury indictment, indicated today, would take the case straight to superior court, without need of preliminary hearing.

Stroble resided at the home of his daughter Sylvia and her husband, Ruben Hausman. Their six-year-old daughter Rochelle was the chum Linda was seeking when she came over to the Hausman home, just across the street from her home.

Linda's father, Jules Glucoft, 36, a commercial artist, told reporters: "We are glad the law has been so swift. Now we want swift justice and the supreme penalty."

The mother, Mrs. Lillian Glucoft, said tearlessly: "I am happy that he has been found, so that this thing can happen to no other child."

investigates families or individuals requesting assistance. Very few, if any, are found to be dishonest. Most people needing help apply directly at the Salvation Army headquarters, but sometimes when donations are received, information of people in need is included.

As Lubbock has grown in the last few years, so also have the poor of the city. "Our Army has shown an amazing growth in the 28 years it has been in Lubbock," Miss Wilhite said.

Not only those of Texas and the United States are given help, but anyone else that asks, Miss Wilhite stated. "We have helped many of the Latin American cotton field workers since they have arrived. Mostly by giving them shoes and clothing."

The Salvation Army is an international group. "We have members in most foreign countries, including Russia," Miss Wilhite said. "But, we have heard very little from our Russian branch lately," she said thoughtfully.

The Salvation Army gives "open air concerts" three times weekly, twice on Saturday nights and once on Sunday. "Capt. Gregory plays his accordian and one of us beats the drum while the others sing," Miss Wilhite said. "We average a financial collection of about $8 on a good Saturday night but make few converts out on the street."

The uniforms the Army wears are furnished by the individual members. They can be of any design but must be predominately blue and red as far as color goes.

Medical Projects To Get Baruch's Money

VIGOROUS VICE PRESIDENT IS LUCKY THING

Differences In Ages Of Barkley And Bride No Great Problem, Marriage Expert Says

BY BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — A 33-year difference in age can keep many men and women from finding real happiness in a December-June marriage, but the problem should be several times easier to solve when the man is vice- president of the United States, one of the nation's noted marriage counselors said today.

Dr. Abraham Stone, president of the American Association of Marriage Counselors and winner of the 1947 Lasker award for his distinguished leadership in that field, said that 38-year-old Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley and 71-year-old Vice President Alben Barkley should be able to look forward to "15 years or more of a good, happy life together."

Problem Reduced

"Maybe he will live even longer than that," Dr. Stone said. "We are fortunate in having a vice-president who is so vigorous."

Dr. Stone said the fact that Mrs. Hadley had been married before and presumably replaced the romantic illusions of youth with an understanding of "the need to make compromises and cooperate" should also make the difference in age between her and her bridegroom less of a problem.

The fact that Barkley is vice-president of the United States has two advantages, Dr. Stone said. First of all, it should prove that he's a good deal younger in both body and spirit than most men his age.

"Age can no longer be counted chronologically," Dr. Stone said.

Excitement Assured

Secondly, he said, the vice-president's social and political position offer an excitement for both his bride and his new step-daughters which could, if necessary, make up for any limitations imposed by his age.

The burden of making any "December and May" marriage a success is largely on the woman, if she is the younger, Dr. Stone said.

"She must adjust the tempo of her life to his," he said. "If she finds he is unable to keep up with her more youthful energies, she must find an outlet for them by participating actively in work or cultural pursuits outside her home.

"Like Eleanor Roosevelt," said Dr. Stone, "she had an active life of her own and participated in the events of the day without calling upon the energies of her husband."

Widowhood Minor

Dr. Stone said there were three major reasons why people married and the most important of them is "companionship and the sharing of life together."

Physical gratification, he said, is second in importance. The begetting of children he placed third. And lots of couples, Dr. Stone said, have eminently happy marriages through gratification of only two of those three essential desires.

The probability that the young bride must look forward to years of widowhood is of minor importance in even an age and youth marriage, Dr. Stone said:

"After all, most women outlive their husbands these days."

Weddings In Official Circle Are Recalled

Veep's Romance Creates Most Interest Since Wilson's Time

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP) — You have to go back 34 years to find another marriage in high government circles that created as widespread romantic interest as the Barkley-Hadley nuptials.

That was the wedding of widower President Woodrow Wilson and widow Edith Bolling Galt, beautiful Washington socialite and descendant of Indian Princess Pocahontas.

Wilson was 59 and Mrs. Galt 43 when they were married in the bride's home here the evening of December 18, 1915.

No Best Man

Mrs. Galt wore a wedding dress of black velvet and a "stunning, black-beaver picture hat." She wore only one piece of jewelry, a "superb brooch of diamonds which was the gift of President Wilson."

There were no trappings of state at the ceremony. The President dispensed with the services of a best man and the bride had no attendants. Only members of the Wilson, Galt and Bolling families and a few intimate friends attended.

After the wedding the couple eluded a large crowd gathered at the Union station to see them start their honeymoon trip, by driving to Alexandria and boarding the President's private car there. They spent their honeymoon at Hot Springs, Va.

The only president to be married in the White House was Grover Cleveland, in 1886. He had decided that the guarded executive mansion was the best place to shield his young bride, pretty Frances Folsom, from nuptial publicity.

Most Popular Wedding

The marine band, led by John Philip Sousa, played at the Cleveland wedding, which was attended by members of the cabinet and their wives and a few friends.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a train 15 feet long.

The wedding of Alice Roosevelt and Rep. Nicholas Longworth in the east room of the White House was probably the most popular and brilliant in the annals of the national capital. More than 700 guests attended the ceremony at high noon, Feb. 17, 1906.

"Princess Alice's" wedding-gown train of silver brocade was 18 feet long and she wore a bracelet which was the gift of the German emperor. She was given away by her father, President Theodore Roosevelt.

One unusual wedding present was a hogshead of popcorn from a manufacturing firm. Another was a $15,000 span of horses from the citizens of Cincinnati, Longworth's home town.

Another famous White House wedding was that of Nellie Grant, daughter of President Grant, and England's Algernon Sartoris in 1874.

Gifts to the bride were valued at $60,000 and among the refreshments at the wedding breakfast were woodcock and snipe on toast, and pudding a la nesselrode.

Aussies Get Hooked On Used U. S. Cars

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 18 (U.P.) —Used 1949-model American cars are bringing fantastic prices these days. Dealers are cashing in on the cut in dollar allocation fo rautomobiles.

Distributors of new cars are being offered bonuses as high as $2,240 "under the lap" by private buyers who resell them to used-car dealers.

One leading American distributor said the car racket has reached unprecedented proportions since devaluation of the Australian pound. "Buyers are offering us as much as a 1,000 pounds sterling extra for a new car selling for A 1,400 pound sterling ($3,136). They can sell it next day, easily for A 3,000 pounds sterling ($6,720)."

One city dealer advised customers to lose no time because "It will soon be impossible to buy a car at a reasonable price."

His "reasonable" price included:

A 1949 Hudson, done 2,000 miles, A 2,700 pounds sterling ($6,050).

P-TA Group Presents New Vice Presidents

WACO, Nov. 18 (AP) — Four new vice presidents were presented last night to the Texas convention of the Parents and Teachers association.

The new officers are Mrs. C. A. Cawthorn of Paris, region two; Mrs. I. M. Smith of Elsa, Hidalgo county, region four; Mrs. C. N. Bustin, jr., Austin, region six, and Mrs. E. M. Pittman of Anson, region eight.

The new vice presidents were introduced by Mrs. H. F. Godeke, vice president from Lubbock.

Maurice T. Moore, New York City attorney, spoke at a dinner for the association last night.

Mrs. H. G. Stinnett, jr., of Plainview and Mrs. N. H. Keller of El Paso led forum discussions.

RUB-A-DUB-DUB, three Arab children in Mrs. Ida Hegnauer's tub means a triumph for her Swiss ideas of cleanliness over age-old Bedouin belief that bathing is a semi-religious function.

Swiss Woman Converts Arabs To New Ideas Of Cleanliness

By CORRINNE HARDESTY
NEA Staff Writer

GAZA, Palestine, Nov. 18—Mrs. Ida Hegnauer's Swiss passion for cleanliness almost touched off an international incident among Arab refugees in Gaza, but at last, in a manner of speaking, it's all come out in the wash.

Mrs. Hegnauer, who manages the food distribution center for 80,000 homeless in this area, thought it would be a good idea if the refugee women and children could stop off to take a bath or do some laundry during the long waits for their food rations.

So she set about getting a laundry, showers and baby baths built next to the unused mosque which houses the food center.

Youngster Is Bathed

When it was finished, she showed it off to the refugee women by gently bathing a little Bedouin girl in one of the tubs, and then taking a shower herself.

The youngster went away scrubbed and happy. But the next day, the sheik and other dignitaries of the Bedouin tribe called on Mrs. Hegnauer. What, they wanted to know, was the reason for her enormous crime? Why had she outraged a time-honored custom among Bedoins, who keep themselves clean but consider bathing a semi-religious function?

Mrs. Hegnauer had no intention of giving up her idea without an argument. As one of a team of 45 volunteers from 11 nations who work for the American Friends Service Committee to administer UN relief in southern Palestine, she had fought hard to build this "plus" item, for which no funds are available.

She suggested that the shiek let the women of the tribe decide whether any crime had been committed. That meant she had to demonstrate the showers and tubs all over again for the women and children.

First thing she knew, so many women and children—including the Bedouins—wanted to use the bathhouse that Mrs. Hegnauer had to ration baths just the way she rations food.

Now 20 women can use it at one time and stay there, scrubbing their clothes, their youngsters and themselves, for three hours.

No one can use the bathhouse more than once in 10 days, but all day long, six days a week, it's a scene of amiable uproar. A jolly Sudanese woman manages matters inside and serves as wet nurse for hungry infants whose mothers are too busy. Outside an elderly refugee man runs the pump and water heater while he nods and smiles at the feminine chatter on the other side of the wall.

And the Bedouin sheik no longer regards the Quaker woman with Swiss ideas of bathing as a criminal.

Hybrid Corn Species Produce Good Yields

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP) — Higher corn production is expected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Department experts have produced hybrids which will give 10 bushels to the acre more than those now used. Hybrid corn revolutionized U. S. farming and boosted production to new high levels.

Department experts say that still other hybrids are being used in different sections of the country. First attempts to use the early hybrids in the South, for example, were dropped because corn bred in Iowa did not grow well there. New hybrids adapted to the area are being used.

Marksman Gets By Without Using Gun

SMITHFIELD, N. C., Nov. 18. (U.P.)—The champion pistol marksman of all the law enforcement officers in North Carolina, a veteran of 14 years on the highway patrol, never has fired his pistol in the line of duty.

Sgt. George A. Stewart, 36, annually defeats the best handgun marksmen in the state to win the prize target pistol. He has made more than 3,000 arrests.

And he says he hopes he never touches that trigger anywhere but on a target range.

Wayland Fiesta Queen To Be Crowned By Mexican Consul

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 18 — The Mexican consul from Amarillo is expected to crown the queen at a Pan-American fiesta at Wayland college Saturday night.

Mrs. J. P. Woodward, fiesta sponsor and head of the Wayland foreign languages department, said today that Consul E. V. Pesqueira would take this part on the program unless hindered by last-minute duties.

Picked From Classes

The queen will be picked from eight girls selected from the Spanish, Latin, and French classes at the college. One of them, Carolyn Haithcock of Plainview, was the Wayland representative at the first similar fiesta, held last April in Canyon.

Other nominees are Margaret Green of Floydada, Mary Watkins of Littlefield, Frances Guice of Vernon, Lucy de Sousa of Sao Paulo in Brazil, Maxine Ware of Brownfield.

Students Are Guests

High school students of Spanish and Latin here in Plainview also will be guests at the fiesta, along with their teachers, Mrs. Cecil Witt and Mrs. Fred N. Joachim. Another Wayland teacher helping to sponsor the event is Jose de Arevalo, associate professor of Spanish.

Featured during the evening will be pictures of the last fiesta at West Texas State college. Also included on the program are selections by the Wayland music department and a display of paintings from the are department in Guadalajara.

Jail-Born Idea Good For More Thinking

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Nov. 18 (U.P.)—George Moody got an idea in jail which netted him cash when he got out but which put him back in.

Testimony in Edinburgh high court showed Moody had gone to relatives of his old prison mates and told them he could arrange early release of the convicts. He collected 31 pounds sterling in cash, a bicycle, and a suitcase of clothing before police heard of his game.

He was given a three-year prison term.

TAFT-HARTLEY LAW IS INVOLVED

Truman Statements On Strike Powers Are Found Puzzling

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—President Truman puzzled people with a statement he made last February. They're puzzled all over again by a similar statement he made yesterday.

When the nation is faced with a big strike which may hurt it badly, the President can stop it for 80 days—but for 80 days only, and not permanently—by using the Taft-Hartley labor act.

He does it by declaring a national emergency. Then he gets an order from a federal judge forbidding a strike for 80 days. After those 80 days, though, the workers are free to strike.

HST Dislikes Law

This is the first and only labor law explicitly giving the President power to stop a strike. But neither Mr. Truman nor his labor-leader supporters like the T-H act.

The act was passed in 1947 when the Republicans controlled Congress. This year the Democrats had control. As soon as they came into session in 1949 they set out to wipe out the act.

But many people raised this question: If T-H is killed and there is no law explicitly giving the President power to stop a big strike that might endanger the nation, what can be done?

The President was asked about that at a news conference Feb. 3, 1949.

Repeal Efforts Fail

He said the constitution and implied powers of the President are sufficient to meet any national emergency, and need not be spelled out in a new law.

And he said his attorney general told him the President has ample authority to deal with any strike crisis without using the labor law.

Precisely what he meant by all that has never been explained. But Congress went home this fall without, after all, changing the T-H act. It still stands as the law.

Now the nation may have another coal strike. When John L. Lewis on Nov. 9 sent his miners back to work after a 52-day strike, he said it would be until Dec. 1.

Would Use Law

After that date, he's free to strike unless the President does something to prevent it. Would Mr. Truman use T-H to do it?

Yes, the President told a news conference yesterday, but—only if there's a national emergency. He would not admit there'd be an emergency if the miners struck Dec. 1.

He said he was relying on the T-H act, if needed. He said he would not in that case hesitate to use T-H and all the laws on the books.

But aside from T-H, what laws—specifically—give the President power to stop a strike? The President didn't clarify his statement yesterday any more than he did his statement of Feb. 3.

It was to the T-H act that Mr. Truman turned when the chips were down before. He used the act several times in 1948 to stop strikes. One of them involved Lewis' coal miners, the others concerned maritime and atomic workers.

South Dakota Prison Puts Ban On Comics

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 18. (AP)—Comics are forbidden in the South Dakota penitentiary. Warden G. Norton Jameson insists he has no quarrel with comics or with pulp magazines, either. But, he argues, when the men in his custody have access to more than a dozen national top-flight magazines to which the prison subscribes, plus a library of more than 3,200 volumes, why not use what's at hand?

Then penitentiary librarian, a 30-year-old lifer who as a youth killed a man in a robbery, reports more than 11,000 books were checked out in the last year. He says 81 per cent of them were fiction.

GOOD BALANCER

Balancing feats come naturally to the sea lion. In the wild state, the animal tosses fish and catches them broadside so that they can be eaten head first.

HEAT GENERATOR

An automobile motor running a car at 60 mlies per hour creates enough heat to warm a seven-room house in zero weather, according to experiments.

Experts Disagreeing On Boundaries Of Near, Middle And Far East Territories

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (U.P.)—The problem of orienting the Orient seems to have forced the State Department and the United Nations into a state of academic disagreement, and left the reading public in a geographical quandary.

Where, for example, does the Near East end and the Middle East begin?

Not even geopolitical experts can agree on the answer. The State Department deftly sidesteps this geographical problem by avoiding the term Middle East. In regional groupings within the department are the division of Near Eastern affairs and a division of South Asian affairs, both included within the office of Near Eastern and African affairs.

Within the United Nations and among British and American journalists, however, the term Middle East is used frequently to apply to the same general area thought of as Near Eastern within the State Department.

Phrases Confused

This apparent geographical confusion probably arises from the fact that the terms Near East, Middle East, and Far East, always have been phrases of convenience to split up the vast subcontinent lying south of the mountain range extending from the Caucasus to the Himalayas. The terms never have had official status and the boundaries of the regions always have been rather vague.

Dating back to the historical point when explorers first began to define the East, writers have described the area with reference to Europe as the center of the world. Near East referred to the fringe of countries along the Asiatic mainland nearest to Europe.

The Far East became that area farthest from Europe. The term "Middle East" was used occasionally by some writers in a hazy way to cover parts of the intervening territory.

American Style

Among American writers and geographers, Near East was considered generally to apply to Turkey, Syria, Palestine, and sometimes Egypt. In some cases Iraq, the Hashimite Kingdom of the Jordan (formerly Transpordan) and parts of northwestern Arabia were included.

The State Department's division of Near Eastern affairs embraces Egypt, Iraq, Israel, Lebanon, Palestine, The Jordan, Saudi Arabia, and other countries of the Arab-Peninsula, Syria, and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. Its division of South Asian affairs, in effect completing the Middle East, includes Afghanistan, Burma, Ceylon, India, Nepal, and Pakistan.

Offshore, Japan and the Philippines are regarded as part of the Far East. The islands of Indonesia, or the Malay Archipelago, are at times referred to as a portion of the Far East, but more frequently they are classed separately, as is Australia.
