Holman accused of discrediting board

By Ted Norman

With many shrimpers and their families to back her up Mrs. John Hyatt made an emotionally packed presentation at the Tuesday night meeting of the Aransas County Navigation District meeting in defense of Mr. Ambrosia Salazar who had his boat stall lease terminated allegedly because of non-payment of rent.

Mrs. Hyatt, in her talk, said, "first of all, I would like to say in my 14 years of dealing with this navigation district, to my knowledge, there has never been any controversy of any substance due to action taken by this board or the harbor master until recently."

She continued by saying, "Recent events, obviously perpetrated by newly

School board wants to work with boosters

By Becky Werhan

"We are definitely concerned and we're willing to work with them," school board member Jerry Brundrett said of the Rockport-Fulton Athletic Boosters Club.

Brundrett made that statement in regards to discussion at a workshop meeting of the school board, held Monday, Nov. 2. The workshop was called due to problems with the school building program, but according to board members Brundrett and Joe Ed Meyer, interviewed by phone on Thursday, Nov. 5, discussion of the booster club did come up.

School Superintendent Joe Randow, in a phone interview the same day, said there was no discussion of the booster club during the workshop. When asked if the board had, during the workshop, talked about the booster club and recent pressure they have put on the board, Randow said, "No. No, we did not."

According to Brundrett, the board "kicked the issue around" and discussed it. "We couldn't vote on the resolution they (boosters) had presented us, because we were in a workshop," said Brundrett, who added, "There are all kinds of problems with a resolution like that. We just can't do that, but we are not turning our back to it, by no means. We all want to work with the booster club, but possibly under some different guidelines."

Speaking of the board, Brundrett said, "We have to work both sides of the field and the boosters will have to realize that."

The board member said, "We really want to work with them if they want to work with us."

Brundrett stressed the fact that he had attended the booster club meetings. "I'm one of them," he said.

On the issue of whether or not the spectators could ring cowbells during football play, Brundrett said, "If they want to do it, they can. They're breaking the rules, but we won't stop them."

Meyer, vice president of the board said of the booster club issue, "When people are upset, we're concerned." Of the meeting held Monday, Meyer said, "We talked about some of the rumors we had heard. We think they're (boosters) accusing us falsely in some cases. They've jumped to some conclusions."

Of the bells, Meyer said, "I'm not going to stop anybody from ringing a bell. It's a District 15-4A rule; we looked it up. I don't know why it was put in the book. We thought the rules were make to

Aransas airport role to grow in future

Aransas County airport is destined to become the area's most important commercial airport, according to Don Carnes, operations manager for Texas Travelair freight service which operates five cargo planes out of the facility.

Carnes made the prediction during a luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at Sandollar last Wednesday when he was guest speaker.

He told Rotarians at the luncheon that the Rockport-Aransas Pass-Ingleside area has the potential to become the petroleum center of South Texas thanks to its strategic location with reference to booming offshore drilling operations.

But, he added, the "enthusiastic cooperation" of businessmen and civic leaders is needed to make this potential a reality. Citing an example of where such cooperation is needed, Carnes said the lack of housing in this area for oil industry personnel is critical. He added that the airport itself, while it has "many excellent facilities," also needs additions and improvements to meet growing demands.

Among these needs, Carnes said, are more extensive electronic navigation equipment, a new hangar, more ramp space and more area for parking. Last month, Carnes told Rotarians, a record 2,000 landings and takeoffs were made at Aransas County Airport.

Carnes cited several firms either building or planning facilities in this area, including Transco and North Bank Terminal in Ingleside, Milchem at Port Mansfield and Arco North Bank Docks.

Citing from his own company's experience, Carnes said Travelair picks up freight from cities throughout South Texas and brings it to Aransas County Airport where it is transferred to helicopters for delivery to offshore drilling rigs.

Most of Travelair's freight varies from five to 40 pounds, but some drill points weighing up to 150 pounds are often transported, he said.

Bahia Bay runoff concerns neighbors

A group of Palm Harbor residents concerned with drainage runoff from the new Bahia Bay project will appear at the next session of the county commissioners' court on Monday, Nov. 9.

Ernie Mülle, Frank and Betty Subjek and other residents living on Ocean Drive in Palm Harbor are on the court's agenda and will, according to Mrs. Subjek, bring up the matter of excess drainage from the new project running over existing capacity and flooding their street. Ocean Drive is the southern-most street in Palm Harbor and the Bahia Bay canal lies only a short distance away.

The problem arose during last Saturday's hard rain. Vermillion Construction, the company doing the work at the site, according to Mrs. Subjek had closed up a drainage ditch running parallel to Ocean Drive in order to move equipment over it. During the hard rain, the street flooded leaving water as high as three feet in some places.

"We had to move our car at 3:30 in the morning, the water was so high," said

Mrs. Subjek, who said that the water had washed out the sand that Vermillion had used to close the drainage ditch with.

Monday, the construction company came and re-closed the ditch. On the following Thursday (Nov. 5), a county machine came out and re-opened the ditch.

The Subjeks and neighbor Mülle inquired to commissioner John Lee about the drainage plans for Bahia Bay and according to Mrs. Subjek, no drainage plat was available for the project.

The county re-opening the ditch was acknowledged as a positive sign by the group, but they are still concerned. "There has to be some kind of satisfactory drainage out there," said Mrs. Subjek, "and it looks like we're just going to have to meet with all the commissioners to find out about it."

She added, "There are some of us who have been out here a long time and Bahia Bay isn't going to come in and do what they please and throw water back on all of us."

RCS lease battle goes on

The Tuesday night meeting of the Aransas County Navigation District turned into an emotionally unstable event as the district board members tried to resolve several controversial issues to a standing room only crowd.

After a quiet resolution in the matter of extending the lease for the Rockport Area Chamber of Commerce the evening got progressively louder as the meeting continued.

Item number two under new business - Protest against Rockport Sail Club to construct 15-boat slip at Key Allegro - was taken up by the board members.

Mr. Tom Martin, property owner near the proposed sail club area appeared before the navigation district board to represent himself, Don Douglas, 68 Nassau; Allegro Isle Condominiums, Herb and Billy French, 59 Nassau; Casa Allegro Condominiums (24 units) and Kathryn Wilcox, owner of the property across the street from the right of way area in question in the lease.

Martin presented his case to the board members and suggested that the navigation district does not have the authority to lease land to the Rockport Sail Club, or anyone else.

He told the board members, "It is my opinion that this entire matter has been conducted and carried out without regard to the laws of the State of Texas or the property owners who will be affected by this action."

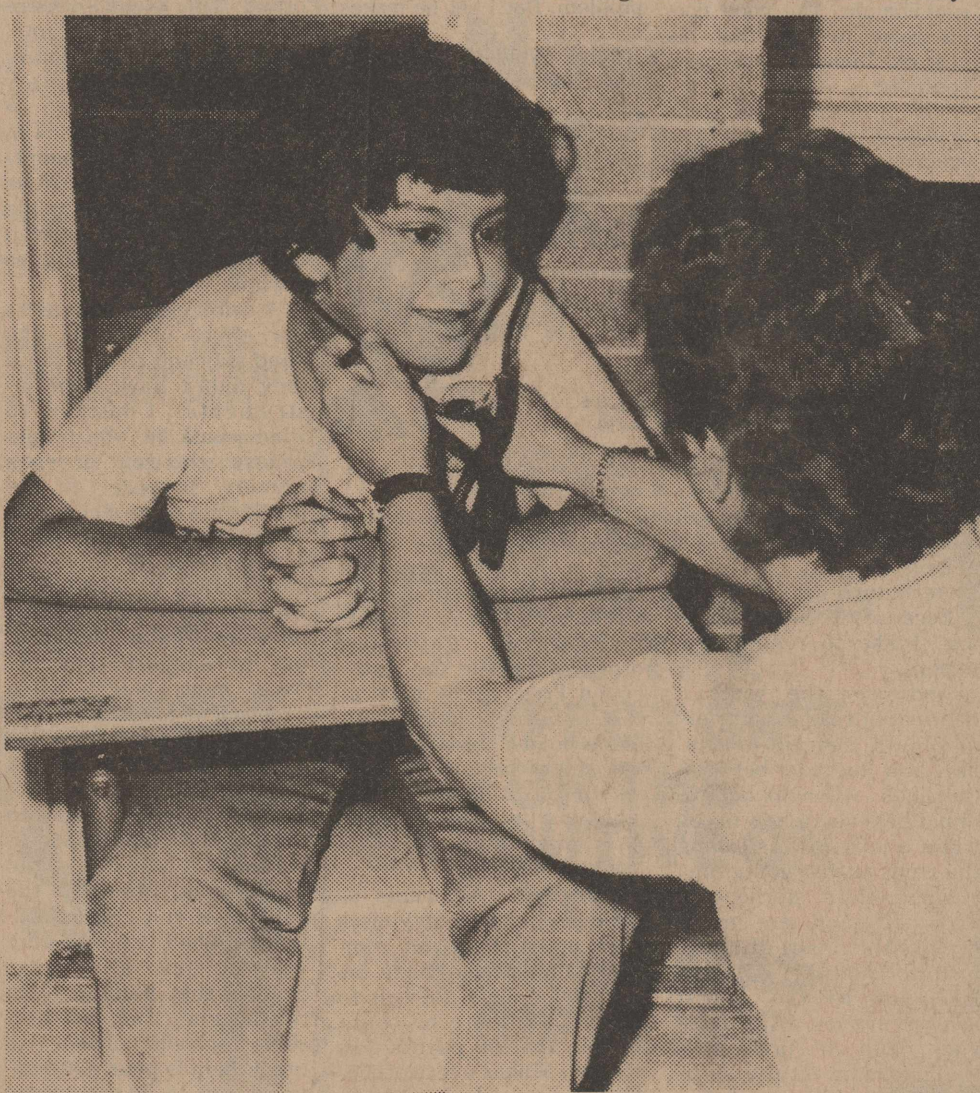

Martin continued by saying, "I think the sailboat club has had a varied history

Redistricting work session scheduled

In this, the first of several sessions, the firm is expected to present an evaluation of current precinct plans after which, alternative plans will be discussed.

Cable seeks rate increase

Rockport Cable TV will seek a rate increase to go into effect Jan. 1 in Monday night's city council meeting.

According to Assistant City Secretary Helen Braffett, the cable company is seeking an additional $2 per month from its customers.

Also scheduled on the agenda for the 7:30 p.m. meeting will be a council decision on two nominees for the Aransas County appraisal district board and reconsideration of a letter from Aransas County Sheriff Bob Hewes asking for an increase in the amount Rockport pays the county to handle city prisoners.

In other business, the city will open bids for a new garbage truck and packer.

Packing plant lost in history

by Pat Blair

Whatever happened to John Weber's replica of the Marion Packing Company plant?

Back in April, 1955, Weber, a Fulton resident, was the subject of an article in the "Houston Chronicle Rotogravure" — at that time, a Sunday supplement. Or rather, his handiwork was.

"With a butcher knife, a hammer, a saw and a few boards," the article noted, "he (Weber) has reconstructed the buildings that stood on Aransas Bay when he was a boy."

Specifically, Weber had recreated in miniature the buildings and cattle pens of the Marion Packing Company, probably the best-known of the meatpacking plants that flourished in Aransas County back in the days when cattle — not shrimp — were the area's prime industry.

According to the article, Weber was around 70 in 1955 when his replica was featured, and he had created it from a combination of his memory of the plant after it had closed down and his concept of what it must have looked like in its heyday.

Weber's father was originally a teamster at the plant then, after it closed down, became a night watchman and caretaker for the aging structure, according to the "Chronicle" account.

At one time, 10,000 or more cattle passed through the Marion Packing Company where they were rendered into meat, hide, tallow, bone meal . . . A dozen or more such plants were occupied in reducing the animals to shippable products in Aransas County during the 1870s.

But the focus of the cattle industry shifted elsewhere and the plants closed. Marion Packing Company was finally dismantled and only a rendering vat remained to mark where it had been.

Today, if you follow Fulton Beach Road to the Bay Shore Courts and turn left on Chaparral Street, you'll come to what's left of the rendering vat. Beside it is an historical marker that touches a little on the history and purpose of Marion Packing Company and the other plants that once flourished here.

Directly across Fulton Beach Road from the plant site is the location of Fulton's new public fishing pier-to-be. So people using the new facility will be able to look back over their shoulders and catch a faint echo of Fulton's past.

But — back to the original question: What ever happened to John Weber's replica . . . ?

She wants to say thanks to everyone

by Ted Norman

"God works in mysterious way." Or so says Mrs. Juan Valdez of Rockport.

Mrs. Valdez, a licensed vocational nurse, works at the Fulton Elementary School in Fulton and is the mother of four and the wife of a hard working man.

She is proud of her husband and proud of her children and like so many other families they were all working hard to make a family work, beat the odds of inflation and try to do something for the community that has given so much to them.

Juan Valdez, the husband, had to suffer the inconvenience of commuting to Lake Charles by plane where he worked on a dredge.

If he worked 12 hours a day seven days a week, for a month he could make enough money to support the family and then come home for a few days rest.

Mrs. Valdez was struggling equally as hard in her efforts to help provide for the family.

Several months ago, Diana, the youngest daughter began to faint and have dizzy spells. Mrs. Valdez took her to see Dr. Kovacs for an examination. The good doctor recommended that six year old Diana be taken to a specialist.

"If a doctor ever tells anyone to take their child to a specialist for God sake they should do it." Said Mrs. Valdez.

The specialist found a large brain tumor in Diana, and on Oct. 5 they operated and successfully removed the tumor.

Diana is well now. Mr. Valdez quit his job in Lake Charles and stayed with the wife and children through the ordeal and Mrs. Valdez says, "I knew he loved us but I never knew how much until now."

Mr. Valdez now has a job with Garrett Construction in Aransas Pass and gets to spend more time at home. During the ordeal money was hard to come by in the Valdez family and Mrs. Valdez says she would like to thank everyone who helped and prayed.

She especially wants to say thank you to VFW Post 3904 of Rockport who helped so much.

Tonight Mike Valdez will play his last football game for the Rockport-Fulton Pirates. He wants to go to college but once again money is a problem. But I bet he makes it.

Mrs. Valdez graduated from Del Mar 16 years ago and is a credit to the community. Diana, hurry up and get well we all miss you.

The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassburr farm has found a news story he can't believe.

Dear editor:

Because it beats working, I like to read newspapers.

And over the years a newspaper reader naturally develops certain skills, like how to read between the lines, when to believe or not believe, or how to tell when a politician is telling the truth or just going on.

Some news stories you know off-hand are made up, like the report of a prehistoric monster in some lake just as the tourist season arrives. An interview with a prehistoric Congressman on the steps of the Capitol is always good for a paragraph or two, but it doesn't attract many tourists.

I got to thinking about truth in news when I read an article in a newspaper last night. It read:

"A county clerk in Elizabeth, N.J. has asked for a 22 percent cut out in his $19,260 annual salary, saying his job is getting easier. The clerk said there is no reason why he should receive so much money. He recommended it be cut to $15,000. He said several techniques used to streamline operations in the clerk's staff have reduced the amount of time needed for the job."

Although the Associated Press reported this story with a straight face, it's bound to be spoofing.

You mean to say that a great news gathering organization like the Associated Press really expects the public to believe an office holder has asked that his salary be cut? It's unheard-of. It's unbelievable. It's un-Congressional. It's un-state-ish. It's un-county-ish.

Moreover, AP wants us to believe that county clerk says automation and computerization have made his job easier, he's got less to do and therefore he ought to cost the tax payers less money. Makes every officeholder across the land point his index finger toward the side of his head and twirl it in a circle.

When it runs out of regular news, the Associated Press ought to stick to lake monsters and giant footprints found in some creek bed. However, if that story is true, we ought to capture that one-of-a-kind clerk and exhibit him at state fairs around the country and televise him on the Capitol steps in Washington. The steps will be as far as he gets. You know Congress won't let him inside.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

Government by default

An interesting event happened Tuesday in Texas.

Everywhere across the state, an overwhelming minority made decisions that will affect all of us for possibly years in the future.

In Aransas County, 750 voters — out of a total registration of approximately 7,300 — cast ballots for or against proposals to establish a water trust fund . . . to grant residence homestead exemptions . . . to exempt livestock and poultry from taxation . . .

And what was true here was true throughout the entire state: a small — in many instances, a very small — number of voters made the choices that we will all have to live with.

And that's the point: If we fail to vote in an election, we aren't merely abdicating our responsibility as citizens.

We are abdicating our control — the only control many, if not most, of us have — over the laws that govern us. We are trusting others to make the decisions that affect our lives and our taxes.

We're familiar of course with the counter-argument that "I only have one vote. It won't make that much difference." And it's correct. One vote probably won't make much difference in the overall scheme of things.

But in Tuesday's election, in Aransas County alone, 6,550 voters chose not to cast their "one vote". If all of those "one votes" had been added to Tuesday's election results, who knows what the outcome would have been? It might not have been essentially different from the actual outcome as recorded in the county clerk's office Wednesday morning.

But if nothing else, we would have the assurance that decisions are being made as they should be in a democracy — by a true majority rule. What we had Tuesday is government by default.

Our Readers Write

This is in regard to various articles and comments that have been made regarding school spirit and the attitude of some of our students. Our local Athletic Booster Club wants an apology and I'm ready to make one. My apology goes to all the band members' parents for keeping them out in the rain at the Calallen game in order to humor our Athletic Boosters. This could possibly accurately described as an act of stupidity.

Spirit is not something you shove down a person's throat with a "resolution" which forcefully requires people to support an organization. Do you really expect to instill spirit in a school with such immature methods? All you have accomplished is pitting one organization against another by trading comments intended to belittle each other rather than support.

The last portion of the Athletic Boosters' Resolution states that it is not intended to offend teachers and students. Well, you failed! I feel a booster club should be used to do exactly what it states by boosting their appropriate organization: not by demeaning other organizations and students.

The students and organizations of this school have been successful in many areas, including athletics. If some people would get their noses out of the 50 yard line on Friday night, they would realize they have a J.V. football team with a very successful season and a girls' athletic organization which has always made its school proud. This is not to mention the music, drama, industrial arts, and literary organizations which every year manage to place or bring home trophies. I'm sure some of these people would appreciate less generalizations being made to the effect of no spirit in athletics or in the school as a whole.

A comment was made to the effect of having the band stay and cheer even if they didn't have their instruments. Contrary to what some of you might believe, the sole or even primary purpose of the band is not to be a cheering section, but rather to foster a knowledge of music in students. If in doing this, we can serve our athletic program that's fantastic, but to suggest that the band meet solely as a cheering section is to ask the organization to do something which it was not intended for.

Regarding the fan with the cowbell, this helps explain why it is so difficult to teach some students the validity of rules and regulations. The U.I.L. rules are written for all Texas Schools that participate in the League. The fact that some schools choose to break them is poor justification for us to do the same.

I tend to agree with the statement made by one of the Athletic Boosters to the effect that "Friday the 23rd should go down as a night of shame and disgrace" for that night we had a group of adults act like spoiled 2 year olds.

Sincerely,
s/Roland Zapata,
Director
Rockport-Fulton High School Band

Dear Editor:

In view of a recent resolution and article in your paper, November 1, 1981, I would like to express my views as a citizen, parent of a Band student and President of the Rockport-Fulton Band Boosters Club. First of all I want to say we are very proud this year to have such a very capable and qualified Band Director as Mr. Roland Zapata. We are very pleased with his associates Mr. Blaylock and Mr. Denman also.

Some would lead you to believe that the loss of the game to Beeville was in part the fault of the Band. If that be true, then all games won must likewise be credited to the Band. Chalk up 4 wins for the Rockport-Fulton Band this year.

I was a band student 5 years in public schools and 2 years in college myself. The band is the step-child in any school system as it was then, so it also is now. Band students are "expected" to perform their hearts out for any occasion demanded, come Hell or highwater. I never saw a football player selling magazine subscriptions or candles, or working in a booth at SeaFair in order to buy his own letter jacket or the equipment to play with or his admission to training camp.

You may tell me football games earn a lot of money. Keep in mind the Band is expected to play free at all games and concerts.

Mr. Zapata was entirely correct in dismissing the Band when bad weather may pose a health problem for the students. Personally I think some of you football parents should consider the fact that many players have received broken necks on soggy wet fields. The game with Calallen should have been stopped in the last quarter due to rain. Shame on you parents for not taking better care of your boys.

It seems one of the biggest problems with the Athletic Boosters Club is that they don't support their coaches and communicate and work with them enough.

Band parents are behind Mr. Roland Zapata and his staff 100 percent. We work together with him and communicate with him. We have successfully raised almost $4,000 for urgent Band needs since Sept. 1, 1981.

If you feel that all parents and all organizations in the school should support each other you now have the opportunity to show your support of the Rockport-Fulton Band. They will be in a U.I.L. Marching Contest, Saturday, November 7, 1981, 3:00 o'clock p.m. in Robstown. Will you be there to show your support?

Also the Band Boosters Club meets first Tuesday of each month, 7:30 p.m. at the Band Hall. You are welcome to attend and help us support this fine scholastic activity which is also an extra curricular activity.

I wish my name signed to this letter and if anyone feels need to comment, my phone number is in the book.

Sincerely,
S/Clouis Fisher

Rockport B&PW holds Bosses Night

Monday, Oct. 26 was "Bosses Night" for the Rockport Business and Professional Women's Club. This is one night of the year when members honor those who are the helm of various businesses in Rockport. This is the club's way of saying, "Thank you, you are appreciated."

The annual banquet was held at the Sandollar Restaurant. The speaker was Municipal judge Olive Holmes, who related some interesting anecdotes of her years on the bench.

Each year the Rockport Business and Professional Women give a Torch Award to recognize and honor business firms and industries which have, through fair and enlightened management policies, afforded women employees equal opportunity for achievement, remuneration and executive status.

Such firms and industries deserve commendation for having recognized women's rights and opened doors which permit women to serve their maximum capacities in their chosen fields of industry, business or in the professions.

This year's Torch Award was presented to Rockport Yacht and Supply Company, Inc., represented by Peggy Ratliff and Joyce Hill, in charge of inventory control.

Woman's Club hosts social hour for visitors

Members of the Woman's Club of Aransas County and winter visitors met for the first social and card party on Monday, Nov. 2. The meeting was held at the club house.

Hostesses for the party were Mrs. Ted Keller, Mrs. C.A. Skrobarcek, Mrs. Frank Skrobarcek and Mrs. George E. Smith.

In canasta first place was won by Mrs. Herbert Hasehoff of Rockport. In bridge, first place went to Mrs.

Katherine Bowen of El Paso and second place winner was Mrs. Beulah Merchant of Pampa. The finale was won by Mrs. Leona Dittberner of Taylor Oaks Trailer Park, Rockport.

Shrimp Tot runner-up

Christi Carter, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Carter, tied for first place and was named first runner-up in the Miss Shrimp Tot competition at the Aransas Pass Shrimptoree celebration recently. She was sponsored by Panoramic Landscaping and Antler Pump Services, both of Corpus Christi. Miss Carter is the granddaughter of Elaine Smith of Rockport.

Lost appetite can be recaptured

COLLEGE STATION
Lost your appetite?

That's serious, and it signals a need for immediate action, says Mary K. Sweeten, a food and nutrition specialist.

Sweeten is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

WHY NO APPETITE

Senses of taste and smell play a key role in appetite, especially in relation to flavor, Sweeten explains. Smell is so closely related to flavor that when smell becomes distorted, the sense of taste suffers drastically, she says.

Permanent or temporary loss of these senses may result from allergic conditions, long-term physical disease, emotional illness or accidental fractures of the jaw or nose involving surgical correction.

Many older adults also suffer from a loss of taste and smell, and they lose their appetites.

Certain dental problems cause bad tastes, and this can affect the appetite, Sweeten notes.

RECAPTURING APPETITE

Putting the appeal back in a meal creates quite a challenge in some cases, Sweeten admits, so experimenting with several ideas is her "worth a try" advice. Here are a few suggestions:

1) Try a glass of meat broth or a glass of wine before meals. These stimulate the gastric juices, and that can result in better appetite.

2) If certain types of meat no longer have appeal, try others, such as beef, veal, lamb, chicken, pork, turkey or fish. Or try dairy products or eggs.

3) Barbeque meats, especially strongly flavored ones, for a more exciting taste adventure.

4) Try a variety of marinades to enhance meats. Sweet fruit juices, wines, Italian dressings or tomato juice will add flavor.

5) Use more and stronger seasonings in cooking, such as basil, tarragon, bay leaf or oregano.

6) Experiment with tart flavorings, such as lemon, vinegar or orange juice — these tend to enhance other flavors, too.

8) To add flavor to soups and sauces, add wine or mayonnaise. To increase their protein, add chunks of meat or cheese.

9) To help remove strange tastes from the mouth, drink more liquids, such as tea, juice or water — or eat fresh fruits or hard candies.

WHY RESTORE APPETITE

Appetite is important and necessary to maintain good nutrition, Sweeten says. Proper recovery from an illness or surgery, in fact, requires extra protein and other nutrients for repair of the body tissues, such as skin, hair, muscles and organs.

When appetite is lost, the desire for protein foods often decreases, she adds.

This can become a really serious problem, because when protein intake is not adequate, the body uses stored protein as its energy source instead of using it for the needed repair. That interferes with the healing process, Sweeten stresses.

'MENU MUSTS'

With all the discussion about appetite, what are the "menu musts" for good nutrition, adequate body maintenance and body repair?

Sweeten says eat at least two or more three-ounce servings of meat-group foods, which includes meats, poultry, eggs or cheese — every day — for needed protein.

Most people need two or more servings of milk-group foods each day, depending on age. This group also contains protein.

Eat four or more servings every day of both the fruit-vegetable group and the bread-cereal group.

A generally "non-essential" food group — mostly high-fat and concentrated sweet foods — is necessary only if you can afford it calorically, she adds.

Nursing Home News

By Maxine Mayer

Activities at the Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center had a very good week of social activities, volunteers out to visit and friends and relatives out to cheer our residents.

Lydia Trevino and Annie Stancy were out Monday morning, and Monday afternoon, the Future Homemakers of America from Ingleside High School came over in costume to visit all of our residents and to give out gifts to some.

Everyone really enjoyed this group of girls and their sponsor.

Tuesday afternoon, Lydia was here again to visit and help with making our shut-ins happier.

Also Shirley Loftin was out to visit with any of our residents. Also Tuesday afternoon Florence Brooks and Judy Yarbrough brought the Ingleside VFW Junior Girls to give out Halloween cards and to visit with everyone.

Wednesday morning, Lydia was back again to visit one-to-one with us.

Wednesday afternoon, the W.M.U. of First Baptist Church of Aransas Pass was out for our monthly birthday party. Esther Yeager played the piano while refreshments were served to all and gifts given to all having a birthday in October.

Then they played various games with all who wished to participate. This is always a highlight for all the residents.

Wednesday evening, the Aransas Pass Lulacs Chapter 636 were out to play games with our residents.

Thursday afternoon, Lydia was out to do her volunteer visiting and to help Ginger Muse and myself serve ice cream to our residents.

Also out visiting were Mrs. Connie Johanson and Juanita Buckmaster. Friday morning was paint class time with Sarah. Frankie and Sadie, with a very good group in attendance.

Friday afternoon, Father James Hamilton of St. Mary's Star of the Sea Catholic Church of Aransas Pass was out to hold Mass for our Catholic residents. Assisting in this service was Dora Rodriguez.

Due to the bad weather, our Halloween Dance and costume party was postponed until next Saturday night.

Also, morning worship services had to be canceled. Each morning, we had our reality orientation and exercise classes and our coffee hour each morning and afternoon. Thanks to those who brought clothing, books and flowers to our people. We appreciate your kindness very much.

Waiting to hear

Life without a mailbox would be lonely indeed. Everybody wants to hear from someone.

Why is communication so essential to man's well-being? Because we feel that life is incomplete without the fulfillment that comes to us from other lives.

And yet a wide circle of friends can also leave gaps in our lives. And so we pray. For we require divine guidance as often as we need human support. Just as we need to renew the ties of family and friends, so always we need to be in touch with the God who is Father of us all.

Would you like to hear from God? Before you even realized it — God was waiting to hear from you! Prayer is that simple . . . that universal.

Pet talks

by Dr. Hap Lutz

Dr. Lutz is a former instructor of diseases of dogs and cats in the college of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University.

Signed,

Dear Dr. Lutz,

I have a registered Persian male cat. A friend of ours has a female alley cat. My friend wants to borrow our cat for breeding the next time she comes in heat. Would it damage or hurt my Persian Cat to breed him with an alley cat? I do plan to breed him with a purebred Persian sometime in the near future.

Signed,

A Worried Cat Owner

Dear Worrier,

Your purebred's reputation? You could keep the affair quiet, at least in blue blood circles. As to damaging something else, that depends on the female's temperament as well as your Persians timing and expertise as a lover (bedside manner).

RFTA holds Open House

Members of the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association played host to a gathering of winter visitors and well-wishers from surrounding communities at an Open House celebrating the RFTA's new location Monday evening.

The event which began at 7 p.m. came several hours after the ribbon-cutting ceremony that officially opened the new RFTA office at the Paws & Taws Building on Fulton Beach Road.

Coffee and refreshments were served and Allen Re Moers, RFTA president, spoke briefly to those attending, announcing that the RFTA goal of 100 members had been reached last week and exceeded — by one — this week.

The Open House launched the RFTA's season of activities for Winter Texans, which include game nights on Tuesdays, potluck suppers and entertainment on Wednesdays and eight bus trips scheduled for this year beginning Dec. 4.

Youth soccer games become 'Mud Bowl of 1981'

By Terry Cody

The final week of regular season play in Rockport's Youth Soccer Program will probably go down in history as the "Mud Bowl of 1981". Classic soccer it wasn't — but everyone agreed — "It sure was FUN!"

Torrential rains last week left a few areas of standing water (lakes) on the playing field but league officials decided to wrap up the regular season play and get on with the season-ending tournament. A hundred soccer players begging them to "Let us play! Please, let us play!" may have been the deciding factor.

When the mud finally settled and a thousand dollars worth of soccer uniforms went home to soak, the Aztecs had earned a berth in the pee-wee division tournament, the Strikers handed the Tornados their first defeat of the year and the String remained the only team to make it through the regular season undefeated.

In the Pee-wee Division the Aztecs and the Rowdies met head-on to decide who would advance into the semifinals of the playoff tournament. Both teams had a little trouble passing the ball around the puddles but once they were on the dry field things were back to serious soccer.

After a scoreless first half, Rufine Martinez of the Aztecs scored the winning goal to lead his team sponsored by Saltwater Resources into the playoffs with a 1-0 victory over the Rowdies. Marianne Kanzenbach had several outstanding plays for the Aztecs to help her team to victory.

The Rowdies, who are sponsored by Duck Inn Restaurant, battled hard during their last game of the season but just couldn't find the needed goals to defeat the Aztecs. Jon-Michael Kowall and Gregg Bennett led the offensive and defensive attack during the game but everyone on the Rowdies team impressed the spectators and their coaches Jim Kowall, Loren Bennett, Cy Richards and Pat Valenzuela with their never-give-up enthusiasm.

In the intermediate division the Strikers who are sponsored by the Crazy Daisy and Sound and Marine Center pulled off the upset of the week with a 2-1 victory over the previously unbeaten Tornados.

Dean Wix scored both goals for the Strikers in the first half of the soggy game and had lots of offensive help from teammates Brad Bechtol and Rolando Rios.

Russell Crawford led the Striker defensive assault that did an outstanding job of containing the powerful Tornados front line.

Josh McWhorter scored on an excellent shot for the Tornados whose game plan seemed to be affected by the wet conditions. Both teams spent a lot of time in the water and the Strikers came out ahead at the final whistle.

The highest scoring game of the week was the battle between the Hurricanes and the Cosmos. The Hurricanes avenged their earlier defeat to the Cosmos with a 4-2 victory.

Playing with only eight men the Hurricanes got two goals each from Gene Garcia and Jason Mills during the first half to pave the way to victory.

The Cosmos coach admitted to a tactical error in the first half by using an inexperienced goalkeeper. After quickly finding his team behind 3-0 Cody made some lineup changes but could not generate enough offense to overcome the hustling Hurricanes.

Paul Wilson of the Cosmos fired a shot around the mud puddles and Eric DeWolfe made a beautiful shot over the Hurricane goalkeeper to score the Cosmos goals. Greg Guerra of the Cosmos played a fine Game of ball control on the forward line and Brian Cody and Clint Carter led the Cosmos defense attack that shut the Hurricanes down the second half.

In the Junior High Division the Sting, who are sponsored by Country Corner and Gary's Taxaco, earned their second victory of the season over the Hornets by a score of 2-0. Jeff Groseclose scored both goals for the Sting on beautiful open-field moves that froze the defense and left him one-on-one with the Hornet's goalkeeper.

Groseclose received lots of offensive support during the game from Ross Roberts. Patrick Flenniken and Jimmy Don Wright had several outstanding plays for the Hornets, who are sponsored by the Bull, but could not generate the momentum necessary to score on the Sting defense led by Lisa Ann Devenport.

League officials would like to emphasize the division championships are still undecided since the final standing will be based on tournament play which takes place the next two weekends.

The playoffs begin with the Tornados playing the Hurricanes and the Strikers vs Cosmos in the intermediate division.

Pairings in the Pee-wee division find the Barracudas going against the Chiefs and the Kicks battling the Aztecs.

Final regular season standings:

Pee-wee Division	W-L-T
Barracudas	3-1-0
Kicks	3-1-0
Chiefs	2-2-0
Aztecs	2-2-0
Rowdies	0-4-0

Intermediate Divi	W-L-T
Tornados	4-1-1
Strikers	3-2-1
Hurricanes	2-2-2
Cosmos	1-5-0

Junior High Divi	W-L-T
Sting	2-0-3
Hornets	0-2-3

Two Texas lakes have special rules

AUSTIN — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials remind fishermen special limits on largemouth bass are in effect at one newly opened reservoir and another about to be opened.

Coletto Creek Reservoir in Goliad and Victoria Counties currently is open for fishing, and the daily limit on largemouths there is three per day, six in possession. Also, no largemouth bass under 16 inches in length may be retained.

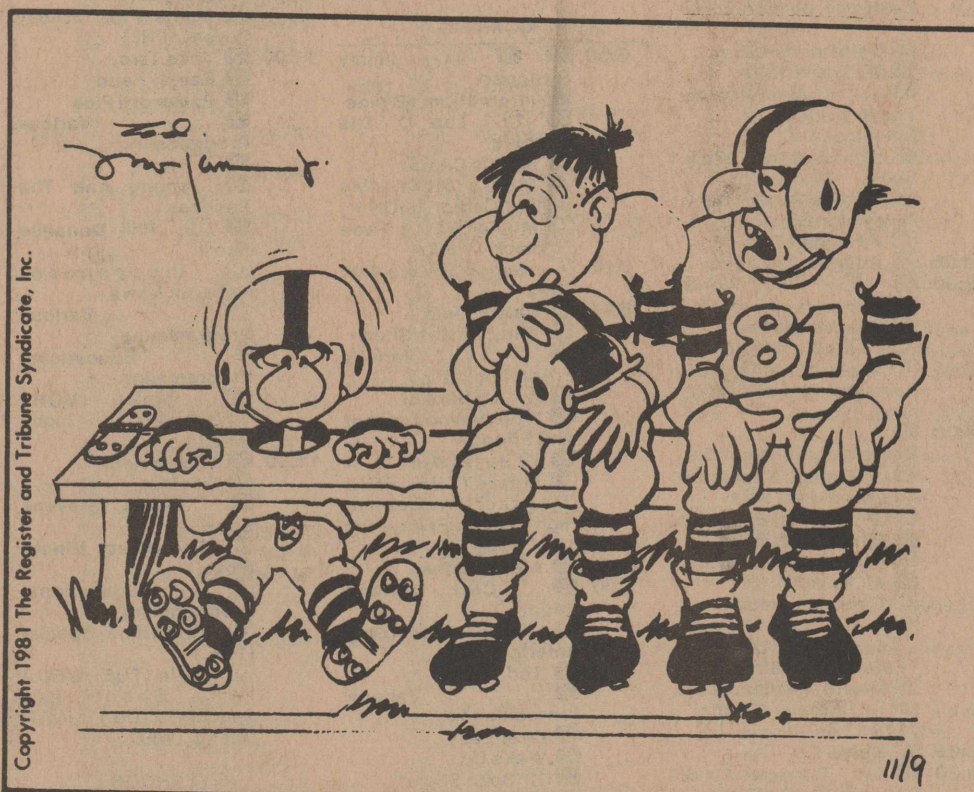

The same limits also are in effect on the Squaw Creek Reservoir which will open sometime in the next few months. Squaw Creek is a 3,500-acre cooling reservoir for the Comanche Peak nuclear power plant near Glen Rose, Hood and Somervell Counties.

Also at Squaw Creek, a limit of five hybrid striped bass and possession limit of 20 will be in effect.

The 16-inch minimum and three per day largemouth bass limit already was in effect for two other Texas lakes — Fayette Power Project Reservoir near La Grange and Lake Nacogdoches near Nacogdoches.

Other special limits which differ from the normal 10-inch minimum and 10 per day bass limits include Lakes Monticello near Mount Pleasant and Calaveras near San Antonio. Both these reservoirs have a "slot" limit which specifies that no bass (largemouth, smallmouth and spotted) between 14 and 18 inches may be retained, but all other sizes may be kept by anglers.

The 16-inch minimum length limit is designed primarily to protect new lakes from overharvest in the first years after opening, and extend the quality fishing. Bob Bounds, the department's inland fisheries management coordinator, said slot limits have been established experimentally in an effort to create a balanced bass population by protecting three and four year old bass. "Maintaining good populations of this size class should allow them to control populations of small fish, including sunfish," Bounds said. "Also, in some reservoirs the slot limit may help more bass graduate into what fishermen consider trophy size."

Friday night, Nov. 6, the Rockport-Fulton Pirates will host West Oso for the final game of the 1981 season for the Pirates. It will also be the last game for some 20 varsity seniors on the team. Those who played their last game Friday are: Scott Meyer, Adam Harden, Lupe Contreras, Ernest Gonzales, Paul Beck, Michael Simmons, David Kelly, Scott McMillan, Carl Conn, Bill Jennings,

Jeff Woodman, Michael Sanchez, Gene McElveen, Jon

Shaw, Michael Arthur, Michael Henderson, David Torres, Michael Kautz, Dennis Hull and Eddie Naro.

Area fishing report

Key Allegro — Fishing has been very good here with lots of fishermen landing some very nice speckled trout. Also the redds have been abundant with most of the action being in the flats. All the conditions seem to indicate that the good fishing will continue. Bait is limited but available. 729-2761.

Kleine's Rattlesnake Point — Tom Muier and Charles Jett of Bastrop caught lots of trout and redds, Thursday morning they landed a red that weighed in at 9½ pounds. Also Peggy and Herman Babbs of Rockport brought in 16 trout and 3 nice redds. Travis Wilcox was back out again and he took home a mess of fish as he almost always does. One man from Houston got himself a 7½ pound red. Plenty of dead bait is ready for the weekend, the waters are calm but the fog at noon Thursday was very heavy. 729-2892.

Copano Causeway — Catching lots of nice trout and redds, one red weighed in Wednesday at 9 pounds. Some sheepshead are showing up. Even though the weather is cooler most of the fishing is still at night under the lights. No live bait but most of the action is with artificial lures. 729-8633.

St. Charles Bay — Fishing has been very good this week and excellent Wednesday. One man landed 14 redds that all weighed over 8 pounds. Lots of fishermen have been taking out coolers filled with fish, perhaps as many as 350 fish have been caught in this area in the last few days. Plenty of dead bait. 729-2053.

Sea Gun — Lots of good fishing reported from this area with some very nice redds and trout being landed. The live bait ran out early Thursday but the boat was out getting more. Also frozen and fresh dead is available. 729-2341.

Palm Harbor — Some pretty good catches of red and trout from this area and a lot of the really good fishermen are showing up and we probably will have a nice picture from here soon of a good stringer of fish. Plenty of live bait for the weekend and they're still selling that magic lure that has produced such good results. 729-8540.

Fulton Beach Marina — No report. 729-8609.

Fulton Harbor Bait — Still catching redds and trout but lots of sheepshead moving into the area. The fog kept the boat in Thursday but they say there will be plenty of live bait for the weekend. 729-8532.

Beach Road Bait House — Some nice stringers of trout being landed, not many fishermen out during the early part of the week but the winter folks are just now starting to show and some good fish should be caught this weekend, plenty of live bait for the weekend. 729-8614.

Sandollar — Fishing is pretty fair here with some nice trout off the pier. Lots of good redds being caught from the boat. And some flounder are still in the area. Fresh dead bait available for the weekend. 729-8562.

Waterfowl seasons to start as scheduled

AUSTIN — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials, after consulting with appropriate state and federal officials and wildlife scientists, have concluded that the recent incidence of Endrin residues in waterfowl in Montana should not jeopardize the upcoming waterfowl hunting seasons in Texas.

Ted Clark, director of the department's Wildlife Division, said this evaluation was based on analyses of information received from a number of agencies, including the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Environmental Protection Agency, Texas A&M University Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Science, Texas Department of Health, Texas Department of Agriculture, and other state wildlife agencies in the Central Flyway.

The agencies concurred that unless additional information is received to indicate otherwise, there is no reason to close or delay Texas' waterfowl seasons. The duck and goose hunting seasons opens in West Texas Oct. 27 and in the remainder of the state on Nov. 7.

The highly publicized incident began in early September, when residues of the pesticide Endrin were detected in waterfowl and other wildlife in the farming region of Eastern Montana where wheat crops had been sprayed for control of cutworms.

Clark said Montana wildlife officials already have approved normal opening of their duck season, but delayed opening the goose season until Nov. 15 only in the eight counties where Endrin had been sprayed.

The Texas situation is vastly different from Montana, Clark noted. "First of all, we have no reports that Endrin was used on or near the water areas used by most of the ducks and geese in Texas," he said. "Second, the chance of an individual hunter getting a contaminated bird from Montana is fairly small because of the dilution with large numbers of waterfowl from other areas, and the odds of his taking more than one are extremely remote," Clark continued.

Claud Wilkerson won't do it unless he does it right

Claud Wilkerson with head foreman Dale Floyd

"We're the best," says Claud Wilkerson of his building company.

Wilkerson, who says he's been in the building field all his life, has owned his own business for 37 years. He's worked in the Rockport area for five of those years.

"Rockport is a good place to work," says the builder. "The people are nice and that makes it great for us."

Wilkerson employs "anywhere from three to 20 men, depending on the job."

The company handles all facets of construction - painting, redecorating, remodeling, patio work and even driveways.

Wilkerson estimates that he's built between 40 and 50 new homes in the Aransas County area, including jobs in Aransas Pass and Refugio, and done hundreds of repair and remodel jobs. He's had jobs in Key Allegro, City-By-The-Sea, Palm Harbor - as he puts it - "all over everywhere. Wherever it is, we just go and do it."

Wilkerson things his experience is a definite factor in his success as a builder. "The amount of years I have in the business and the amount of time I've been doing it helps," he says.

Of his crew, Wilkerson states, "I've got some awful good men. I've got complete faith in all of them."

Wilkerson's company uses all of its own equipment on jobs. "I use all my own equipment," he says, "and if I don't have what I need for a job, I'll buy it." "Whatever it takes, that's what we do," says Wilkerson, who adds, "I won't do a job unless I do it right."

The phone number for Wilkerson's company is 729-7770.

[Most Often-Asked Questions on Nutrition]

By Jean Glowka

Q. Will you please list all the B vitamins? I don't think that I've ever seen them all listed in one place. Also, what are good food sources for this group of vitamins?

A. The known B-complex vitamins are B-1 (thiamine), B-2 (riboflavin), B-3 (niacin), B-6 (pyridoxine), B-12 (cyanocobalamin), B-12 (orotic acid), B-15 (pangamic acid), biotin, choline, folic acid, inositol, pantothenic acid and PABA (para-aminobenzoic acid). Although there is some controversy, many authorities classify laetrile as a B-complex vitamin, calling it B-17.

All the B vitamins except B-17 occur abundantly in liver, brewers' yeast, wheat germ and rice polish. Natural sources of B-17 include the whole kernels of apricots, apples, cherries, peaches, plums and nectarines.

Another important source of B vitamins is production by valuable bacteria in the intestine. It appears that these bacteria grow best on milk sugar and cannot grow unless fat is supplies them. The ingestion of sulfa drugs, antibiotics and certain other substances completely destroy these valuable bacteria; symptoms of multiple B vitamin deficiencies may quickly develop unless food which promotes the growth of desirable bacteria, such as yogurt, is eaten.

Q. Do all vitamin C supplements contain ascorbic acid? Like rose hips, acerola cherries, etc.?

A. Ascorbic acid is vitamin C. Any vitamin supplement which contains ascorbic acid contains vitamin C and vice versa. Check your labels to see what you're getting. The exact amount of vitamin C (ascorbic acid) will be listed there. If any of the C is derived from rose hips or acerola cherries, the supplement may also contain some bioflavonoids, which are helpful nutrients that work well with (and in much the same way as) vitamin C.

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!
