Santa Barbara Emerges Smiling

CITY RALLYING TO SUPPORT OF W. TEXAS C-C

Homer D. Wade Pleased With Co-operative Spirit Shown

162 NOW PLEDGED

Goal of 400 Will be Reached Here in Membership He Believes

Homer D. Wade, assistant general manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, reports splendid progress on the drive for 400 memberships to the organization in Wichita Falls. Up to Tuesday night 160 memberships had been written and quite a number are pledged and will be signed up Wednesday.

"Our organization is doing a wonderful work throughout West and Northwest Texas," states Mr. Wade, "We are working on an increased budget for the coming year and from every city and town good reports are coming in. Our organization desires to be of assistance to the people and we have already done much good for the people of this section of Texas.

City With Him.

"Wichita Falls citizens are with us and I am finding my work here very pleasant. A number have called me asking that I come and get their membership.

"We are especially proud of the recommendation given by some of the leading citizens of Wichita Falls among them being J. A. Kemp, J. T. Harrell, Walter D. Cline, Judge A. H. Britain and P. A. Rogers. In commenting upon our organization these men said:

"The business men of Wichita Falls have come to full realization of the real worthwhile work that is being done by this great organization. They realize that it is worthy of their financial support and their best thought in carrying forward the aims of this organization, to wit—real development of its wonderful resources and the like.

"Wichita Falls needs the West Texas chamber of commerce as few other cities in its class do. It needs it to extend and advance its jobbing interests and kindred lines.

"In addition to the foregoing, it has been determined that Wichita Falls should be a real contender at the Amarillo meeting next year as a candidate for the convention to be held in 1927. This convention is the largest by far of any convention held in the southwest We want it. To secure this convention we must necessarily support to the fullest this organization."

Many to Electra.

Mr. Wade says a large attendance is expected at the district meeting of the West Texas chamber of commerce to be held at Electra on Thursday and Friday of this week. A number of prominent speakers have been secured and the meeting will be in charge of Walter D. Cline.

The Wichita Falls chamber of commerce has had committees at work and expect to finish their canvas for delegates to the meeting today. Tuesday more than 40 merchants and professional men had pledged themselves to attend the opening ursday morning. The lo will meet at the Kemp hote ock Thursday morning where ge motor busses will convey to Electra.

The local chamber of commerce desires a large attendance at the opening session and if any person is overlooked they are requested to be at the Kemp hotel at the appointed hour to make the trip. Wichita Falls expects to have the largest delegation attending the district meeting.

Even the weather bureau admitted it was warmer Tuesday, and an official recording of 104 degrees was reported by the observation station maintained here by the Wichita Falls Electric company.

THE WEATHER

LYRICS OF LIFE
By Douglas Malloch.
Your Wealth.

GUARD well your wealth, your wealth, if great or small:
What wealth you gain, to gain it is not all;
For men will come with many a fairy scheme
And take the substance, leaving but the dream.
Guard well your gold, not only from the thieves
Of midnight hours, for man himself deceives,
Spends with extravagance or wastes with sloth,
And man must gain it and must guard it both.

Guard well your wealth, yet not misunderstand:
Wealth is not only coin you have in hand
Nor lands you hold. There is that other wealth
Of peace and joy and happiness, and health.
Whatever wealth of gold or lands you win,
There is that other wealth that swells within.
The quiet conscience and the heart that sings,
Guard well your wealth, but wealth is many things.

Guard well your wealth, and there is one wealth more
A house may hold; friends smiling at the door
And sitting by the hearth, or your grief
Bringing the wealth that is beyond belief.
Guard well your wealth, and let no act unkind,
No careless word, tomorrow morning find
You poorer by one friend, until life ends
Whatever else you squander, keep your friends.

A three or four day automobile trip through the lower Panhandle, winding up at Plainview about July 20 where the tourists will be present at the state railroad commission and interstate commerce commission hearing on the proposed extension of the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains railroad is being planned by the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce in connection with the endorsement given the project by directors of the organization. The support of the Wichita Falls chamber was unanmiously approvd at a meeting of the directors Tuesday morning, and later preparations were started for an auto jaunt through a large portion of the territory to be served.

Delegation to Hearing.

It is hoped that a delegation of perhaps 35 or 40 Wichita Falls men will leave here three or four days prior to the Plainview hearing. They will drive by way of Childress through Turkey, Quitaque, Silverton, Lockney and Lubbock, covering territory in Briscoe, Hall and Motley counties and a large section of the vast new area of rich farm and ranch land that the Denver's extension will open up. A committee appointed yesterday by J. T. Harrell, president of the chamber of commerce, will be certain to make the tour and no difficulty is expected in obtaining a representative number of addtional business leaders to make the trip. The committee appointed by President Harrell consists of J. C. Mytinger, T. L. Lawson, R. E. Penick and J. W. Chatham, Jr.

The committee will act as the city's official representatives at the hearing and will present the sentiments of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce on the matter.

Stayton in Charge.

The booster trip will probably be headed by Mr. Harrel and will be organized and directed by B. A. Stayton ,chairman of the trade extension committee of the chamber.

Additional matters taken up at Tuesday's directors' meeting included appointing of a committee to study the motor bus problem in and around Wichita Falls and the drawing up of recommendations to the city council for regulation of the industry. With six or eight bus lines running out of town in all directions it was considered that they would be an important factor in the development of the trade territory.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., June 30.—(AP)—The city of Santa Barbara, yesterday the victim of one of the most disastrous earthquakes in Pacific history tonight closed the biggest business day in its civic annals with the formulation of a program of reconstruction that foreshadowed a greatly rejuvenated community.

City Spirit Stirred.

The rise of the sun was the signal for the stirring of a city spirit that, in its optimism, swept aside the picture of ruin in the business district and left in its place a vision of tremendous construction. Facing an estimated loss of between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000, with possibility of $2,000,000 of earthquake insurance, the banking, business, industrial and civic leaders launched a program of immediate building based on a $20,000,000 lion, and a $2,000,000 earthquake aid fund.

Jumping into the financial breach, the banking chiefs broadcast to the clearing houses of the nation a request for the flotation of the $2,000,000 reconstruction loan through the Santa Barbara clearing house association.

Other Offers Accepted.

Simultaneously the business and civic leaders accepted the offers of San Francisco and Los Angeles to send their best engineering talent here immediately to direct the demolition of the antiquated buildings and to outline the plans of the new Santa Barbara.

"We have a wonderful opportunity to build the type of city that we have been talking of and dreaming of for years and years," said Dr. Rexwald Brown, president of the Santa Barbara chamber of commerce who presided at the reconstruction meeting. The $2,000,000 earthquake aid fund it was explained by the clearing house association, is to wipe out mortgages on the business section thus paving the way for the utilization of the entire $2,000,000 loan for new buildins.

Business as Usual.

An indication of the spirit that pervades the city was furnished by the statement that one of the bank presidents who said that of the hundreds who came to the temporary banking quarters amid the ruins today, the great majority made deposits and only a few withdrew cash.

It was cleaning up day in Santa Barbara. Firemen from Los Angeles swarmed over the twisted buildings removing dangerous overhanging brick and stone; storekeepers returned to their places of business and began the task of getting rid of the wreckage and salvaging what could be used; housewives went to market as they had done before.

Death Till Is 10.

On the grimmer side of the picture the death toll mounted to ten when the body of R. M. Litchfield, wealthy Santa Barbara resident was found under a pile of bricks on a State street corner. Earlier Herrado Charis, injured Mexican died at the Cottage hospital. This left the list of injured at 29 and hopes for the recovery of all were held out by the attending surgeons.

By nightfall the work of temporary rebuilding was virtually completed in the Santa Barbara telephone company's plant, and imminent resumption of local telephone service was promised.

The first broker's private wire to re-open for business was picked up

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 30.—(AP)—Jewels and bonds valued at $150,000, property of Mrs. Charles E. Perkins of Burlington, Iowa, earthquake victim, were found intact in ruins of the Arlington Hotel by detective Lieutenants Carl Williams and Allen Baldridge of Los Angeles. The detectives crawling in back of the pile of debris, located Mrs. Perkins' trunk and extracted the treasure of gems.

late today and once again Santa Barbara had direct connection with the money markets of the world.

Following tremors of dwindling intensity throughout the day, the people of th ecity, or the majority of them, made preparations to spend another night on their lawns. The confinement within four walls of a bedroom still was considered undesirable in the light of recent happenings.

Water Systems O.K.

The water and sewerage systems, never interrupted, are in good shape. While the Sheffield storage reservoir went out the Gibraltar dam stood intact and although the pipe lines have been reduced, there is plenty of water for all. The gas is still cut off.

Electric power also is conspicuous by its absence, but it, too, is looked for to stage a comeback within 24 hours. However, last night two of the main streets were lighted and tonight lights also are promised in the residential districts.

Supplies are coming in from outside cities but much bread is being turned out here over wood fires.

The issuance of building permits has been suspended during the survey period so that structures to be erected will not conflict with the final plan of reconstruction.

T. W. Quits Race; Names Lynch As Strong Entrant

East Texan Sees Gubernatorial Issue Ferguson Versus the Klan

WARNS ON NUMBERS

Ex-Lieut. Governor Urges Alignment Behind One Good Strong Man

AUSTIN, June 30.—T W. Davidson of Marshall, lieutenant governor during Pat M. Neff's second administration will not be a candidate for governor of Texas, at the next election, he announced in a statement issued today in which he scored the double primary election law.

He declared the double primary to be a failure and said that the next election will result in a runoff between the Ferguson forces and a klan-supported candidate. He indicated that he might be a candidate for governor at a later election.

At Bar Association.

Mr. Davidson is here to attend the Texas Bar association convention which opens Wednesday. He has been urged by many of his supporters in the last election, when he was defeated in the first democratic primary, to be a candidate in 1926. Because of his position with the bar association, he made the statement today, he said, in order to prevent it appearing that the organization is being used to advance his political interest as a candidate for governor.

The former lieutenant governor is secretary of the bar association and is in line for vice-president at the 1925 convention, and president of the 1926 convention.

"A careful analysis of the political situation must lead any one to conclude tnat if a large number of candidates enter the field at the coming election, the runoff primary will be between the Ferguson forces and a klan-supported candidate." Mr. Davidson's statement read. "If we had a preferential primary at which the voter might record his second choice while all the candidates were before him, or a convention where eliminations might take place, the candidate would be wholly different.

Calls Primary Failure.

"Our double primary is a great failure.

"The public mind in the next primary election will flow toward the polls through the main channels: first, the administration forces; second, the anti-administration forces; and third, a great body of more or less apathetic citizens who would like to see a new deal.

"The klan forces in Texas are not as dead as some seem to think, but will rally considerably to the anti-administration forces. This will tend to weaken the candidate that they espouse and to strengthen the administration. It will leave in the third group room but for one strong candidate. Lynch Davidson has already entered the field with a considerable organization. I am reasonably assured there may be other entries. Unless this group of more or less independent thinking voters, a majority of whom voted for one of the Davidsons in the last election, or for one of the other candidates receiving a smaller number of voters, can be aligned in a large measure behind one man, then the final or second primary will be between the administration candidate and the anti-administration candidate.

The Pendulum Swings.

"Our politics swing like the pendulum from one extreme to the other and in the absence of a preferential primary or a convention, it will be difficult to stop on any sane middle ground.

"We need first of all an amendment to the primary election system.

The people will not support a candidate in the coming race whose platform declarations are adverse to such a law. Texas will go on to the preferential primary or return to the old convention, and until we do, factions and organized majorities will run the politics of the state.

"I am conscious that my declaration will be a disappointment to many of my friends who are already so kindly offering their support in the coming campaign. To them I wish to say that in my judgment, the time is not auspicious.

Not "Retiring."

"I deeply appreciate the loyalty of these friends, who feel that my record in public office and fight for constitutional government merit for me the governorship of Texas, and I wish to assure them that I am neither losing interest in the affairs of my state nor am I retiring from the political arena. We won our fight and it is only temporary that we will be denied the reward. In two years many who opposed us will recognize the correctness of our fight. If during the next two years I can be instrumental in improving our primary elections laws, I shall have contributed a substantial service to the people of Texas."

T. P. AND G. TO TALK FINANCE IN TULIA MEET

Massmeeting Called in Effort to Raise Three Millions Today

TULIA, Texas, Jupe 30—The gilded spike of the Texas Panhandle and Gulf railroad will be smashed into the flexible texture of the transportation map of West Texas tomorrow when representatives of the administration corporation and affected territory, in mass meeting here dispose of the financial aspect of the titanic project.

Nocona Well Flows---Swabs 750 In 3 Days

NEWBLOCK IS RATED AT 200 BARRELS A DAY

Is Reckoned as Best Well In County; Heavy Black Oil

SAND AT 890-924 FEET

New Producer Located On Northwest Line of Production

Newblock Oil company has completed what looks like the largest well in north Montague county in its No. 1, Rolle, located midway between the Texhoma-Howard lease and the Humphreys high gravity well on the Hinton tract on the northwest edge of the north Nocona field. In three days actual swabbing and flowing the well has produced a trifle better than 750 barrels of oil.

The oil measures 21.4 degrees Baume, and is coming from sand at 890-924 feet, and is free from water. The well has been swabbed and has flowed ahead of the swab, showing a great deal of gas and pep with the oil. It is estimated by men on the ground as a good 200-barrel well, the first in the county to receive a rating that high.

It was expected yesterday that a thousand-barrel storage on the lease would be filled by night, the swabbing having started late last Friday.

The well is located near the center of the south line of a large lease on the Rolle tract, John Chambliss survey, on the north line of production in the field about midway between Texhoma's Howard lease and the Humphreys-Hinton well.

25 Cent Premium For Pennsy Crude

The New York Times financial section of Saturday, June 27, carries the following notation with respect to crude prices in the United States:

"In the Pennsylvania districts it is reported that premiums as high as 25 cents a barrel are being paid for oil above the posted prices, compared with premiums as of five to fifteen cents prevailing heretofore."

Oil Investment Pool

Bridwell-Heydrick.

Bridwell and Heydrick have spudded and are drilling on their No. 2, Oil Investment company, located just 441 feet south of the No. 1, producer in the northwest corner of a small tract in the southeast corner of the John Richards survey, block 325 northwest of Archer City Oil Investment company fee.

The No. 1 is flowing by heads a nice well with no water and will be placed on the pump with the expectation of making a 75-barrel well or better from sand at 1,428-33 feet. The well is a substantial extension to the old Oil Investment company pool northwest of Archer City.

Humble-Gulf.

Humble is offsetting the producer to the west on their lease, while Gulf Production company is making a location for a well on the north of the new producer.

Cranfill-Muse Pool

Cranfill-Muse et Al.

Cranfill-Muse-Robertson have set casing on the sand at a depth of 1,243 feet on their No. 12 Lowe, offsetting the Humble's No. 2, southernmost of their three wells, to the west, east line of lot 2, Holeman survey, Crawford pasture subdivision, northwest of the Gambrell pool.

The No. 18, offsetting the new Root well to the east, on the west side of the Cranfill-Muse lease, is drilling past a last reported depth of 840 fet. Just two rigs are kept running on the lease.

The wells completed in this area settle to around 30 barrels a day with small water content, and from the shallow sand in which they are completed, are proving a profitable operation for the producers.

Root, Routon.

Root et al and skidding over 300 feet west from the No. 1, a well, Routon farm, Holeman survey, Crawford pasture subdivision, block 9, west side of the Cranfill-Muse pool, for their No. 2 Routon.

Humble, Hamilton.

Humble Oil and Refining company has three wells now from the usual pay below 1,200 feet on the west side of their Anderson lease, lot, 1, Holeman survey, Crawford pasture subdivision, located on the east side of the pool. The wells are in a line No. 1 in the center and No. 2 south, No. 3 north. No. 4 is drilling just a location east of the No. 1.

SE Baylor County

Shaw-Rathke, Mills.

Shaw and Rathke's No. 1, Mills, in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of block 2428, TE&LCO survey, offsetting the Richards-Sheldon (Hooser) discovery well to the north, has gone on the pump for an initial 24 hours production of 60 barrels, and a second day's output of about 25 barrels from a foot or so of sand at 1,452 feet. There is little water in the oil.

A location east No. 2 is rigging up; a location further east No. 3 should be down about 500 feet; No. 4, still another location east is spudding, while 5 and 6 are both locations on out the south line of the lease.

Texas Company, Mills.

The Texas company has reached the sand and is setting casnig to test on their hole in the northeast corner of the southwest quarter of TE&LCO survey, block 2428, offsetting the Sheldon-Richards discovery well to the west. Sand was topped at 1,455 feet and has been penetrated about a foot.

Maer-Staniforth, Mills.

Maer and Staniforth have spudded and are drilling on their No. 2, Mills, a location east of the No. 1, which is in the northwest corner of the east 50 acres of the southeast quarter of block 2428, east of the discovery well, southeast Baylor county.

Big-Company Wildcat Blocks Have Been Unsuccessful In North Texas

CERTAIN doleful influences in north Texas and Oklahoma have been prone over the past year to predict the end of the independent wildcatter, and to forecast the day when offset acreage would be turned down with one accord by the big companies with the wherewithal to buy protection for themselves.

"Blocking" by the big companies is predicted by these as the substitute for the new popular "selling off enough offset stuff to drill the well." The advantages of this system, that is, the acquisition of a large tract with exclusive development rights, are pointed out. It is a safe protection of big company interests in the market end of the industry for them to be able to monopolize the possibilities of any one given section of land, and thus be able to produce the oil just as they need it, without the necessity of drilling wasteful offsets, and spending large sums of money drilling ten wells where two or three will properly drain the sand.

Rarely Successful.

But be that as it may, the acquisition of large blocks and their development in north Texas has hardly proven successful investment as yet, save in one or two isolated instances.

Check the large solid blocks off on your fingers: The exas company's Waggoner estate tenure in Wilbarger, Wichita, and Baylor counties, the Texas company had some 207,000 acres of this under lease at one time; the Sun company's large block on the Farmer land in south Archer county (Bell county school lands survey, containing about 4,000 acres); Marland-Humble et al block of 1,960 acres on the Krupka land, east of Swastika; The Marland-Murchison-Fain block on the Harmel in southwest Archer county; the Texhoma's Portwood possessions in southeast Baylor county; the Humble's big block centering on their Stubblefield lease in eastern Throckmorton county; the Magnolia's block north of this area; Atlantic's Taylor land block north of the Gose pool; Superior's northeast Archer Wilson land block, and any number of others, ranging as those mentioned from two or three hundred acres to tracts of several thousand acres with an enormous annual rental fee alone.

Marland Hit.

Of these attempts, only one can be said to have as yet materialized into anything like a successful financial proposition for the investor, that of Marland-Murchison-Fain in southwest Archer county wher the east end of the Harmel pool is now located. The tract was geologized, as have been practically all of the rest, and the block formed around what was considered the structure. It was Marland's mistake in the blocking there that their block did not include the whole pool; otherwise their production now might be twice or treble what it is.

Marland and Humble have just finished a dry one on their 1,960 acres east of Swastika, Krupka pasture land. The block cost a lot of money, the well cost some more, and the any number of wells, which must be drilled to properly determine the value of the block, will cost a whole lot more.

Superior's hole the other day in the center of their 400 acres west of Luke Wilson station was dry; the whole block isn't condemned but it looks that way.

Atlantic drilled two and interested itself in one or two more on its Taylor block north of the Gose pool and then gave it up as a bad job.

Texhoma, Portwood.

Texhoma's big Portwood block in southeast Baylor has as yet proven unproductive, although just two holes have been drilled on it.

Humble's Stubblefield area, in Throckmorton county, even with one well on it, isn't paying expenses, and from the looks of things may never do much better. Magnolia's big block to the north is as yet untested but the well going down there now is being drilled more for research purposes than in the hope of making a producer that will pay out the block.

Sun Oil company has not developed any big production on their Farmer land lease in southwest Archer county, drilling so far having produced a very few small wells and a number of dry holes.

And so they go. To date, with the on exception mentioned, the "block" idea has proven a failure in north Texas. The three or four things learned from it, thus far, stand out in some relief.

First. It is an expensive exeprirment. The cost of the whole well and the maintenance of the block is thrown on the shoulders of one operator.

Second. The investment in the block and the wells drilled on it could be distributed among a number of wildcat well offsets with a probable far greater success from an ultimate production standpoint. It is pointed out in this connection that practically all big company production in north Texas has bee nobtained through the latter process.

Development Slow.

Third. That developmen tis slow, very slow, when the burden of prospecting over a large area is left to one operator, that operator be ever so big and financially able to take care of the drilling. It is possible that this is a point in its favor to some companies at least, in that it offers them a chance to draw upon their reserve supply just as it is needed, but to many, notably the small refiner and the royalty owner it is far from a favorable condition.

On the other hand the investment in offsets is never as great with the chance at production just as big, and a quick turnover for the investment insured, the gamble speedy and sure, with little need to continue rental and renewal once the lease is condemned.

The small operator's position seems secure, then; he offers value received in every hole that he drills for the assistance he gets in drilling it, and allon gas his business is founded on that basis, his standing may be counted assured in north Texas at least.

"WHEREVER THERE IS OIL THERE IS HELL."

An American in Mexico, in the years that have fled, once remarked, "wherever there is oil there is hell." Paul J. McCormick of California, is a federal judge. He has decided that the Doheny naval oil leases are tainted with fraud and null and void. He has intimated that the Doheny loan of $100,000.00 to Albert B. Fall was in the nature of a bribe. This for California and McCormick.

T. Blake Kennedy is a federal judge. Wyoming is his jurisdiction. He has decreed that the Sinclair oil leases are valid, that no taint or fraud attached to their making and that the liberty bonds loaned or given to Albert B. Fall bore no evidence of fraud or suspicion of bribery and had been easily and truthfully explained as a perfectly innocent transaction by J. W. Zevely. Now who is J. W. Zevely. He is the confidential agent and close personal friend of Harry F. Sinclair.

Judge McCormick in his decree, declared that Warren G. Harding as president was beyond the domain of the chief executive when he transferred the control of naval oil supplies from the secretary of the navy to the secretary of the interior while Judge Kennedy has decreed that the president acted within his rights as chief executive when he made the transfer of authority from the secretary of the navy to the secretary of the interior.

Judge McCormick vindicated the democratic contention when he declared null and void the Doheny leases and branded Edward L. Doheny as a bribe giver. Judge Kennedy vindicated the republican position when he upheld the transfer order made by the president and declared valid the leases which Harry F. Sinclair had sought and Albert B. Fall had granted. Sinclair is a republican; Doheny is a democrat. Zeverly is a democrat. It is customary for oil kings to contribute to the campaign chests of the two ancient political parties.

Now the government will appeal to the supreme court of the United States if necessary to reverse the verdict of Judge Kennedy and Doheny will appeal to the supreme court of the United States if necessary to reverse the decree entered by Judge McCormick declaring null and void his leases to the California naval oil reserve. Perhaps before the next presidential election shall roll around, the court of last resort will render final judgment in these cases.

A federal grand jury in and for the District of Columbia has returned indictments for conspiracy against Albert B. Fall, Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair. It is safe to predict that a conviction will never follow in these cases, although there are men who believe that Doheny may be made the goat. If the Zevely loan of liberty bonds to Albert B. Fall carried the stamp of regularity, why not the Doheny loan of a $100,000 to the former secretary of the interior. Why should Zevely, the agent for Sinclair, be exonerated and Doheny be branded as a bribe giver. Doheny had just as much real right to make a loan to Fall as Zeverly had. Wherever there is oil there is hell."

A FACETION PREACHER.

All the reading and thinking world knows that the Rockefellers are behind the new church in the city of New York to be built near Columbia university for the Rev. Dr. Harvey Emeros Fosdick. Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick. Rev. Dr. John Roach Stratton, is the pastor of the Calvery Baptist church of New York, and is the J. Frank Norris of Manhattan Island. Dr. Stratton is a very factious individual. He preached a sermon on the Rockefeller Baptist church, and suggested that it be called the Standard Oil church of New York, because of the Rockefeller influences behind Dr. Fosdick, and that it has as an alter piece a picture of the Rockefellers.

And then Dr. Stratton became sarcastic as well as facetious. He said not like a Christian, but like a militant political warrior, "all discerning citizens who have been held up on the highways by the modern robber barons, who exact their toll by taxing our powers of locomotion when we are joy riding, pleasure bent with the family, or even out for business only, will readily understand the symbolism and significance of that well known sign. It is understood by the initiated that the word Socony is simply an abbreviation of Standard Oil company of New York. The substitution of the one word church therefore, instead of company, makes the lettering still entirely appropriate. Instead of the Standard Oil company of New York it becomes the Standard Oil Church of New York or in brief the Socony church."

There are many gasoline service stations throughout the lands. These stations are maintained for men and women of all creeds who have the money to buy. Maybe the Rockefellers intend to establish religious service stations throughout the land for men and women of all creeds and no creeds as free will offerings to the cause of God and humanity.

Early in the springtime John D. Rockefeller Jr., said, the people were weary of man made creeds, but that they thirsted for the living waters which flow from the gospel of the lowly Nazarene. Dr. Fosdick and Dr. Stratton are as far apart in their creeds and their practices as the two poles. It is safe to predict that the J. Frank Norris of New York will not go to the Rockefeller bank for money to assist in the building of his proposed twenty-story office building with a church in the basement and on the first floor. His tactics are not of the money winning kind.

MAGIC VALLEY BREAKS THE RECORD.

There may be drouths in some sections of Texas, but the Magic Valley has broken all records this year. The lower valley has shipped 12,621 cars of fruits and vegetables so far during 1925, according to a report compiled by the valley chamber of commerce. This report shows the total number of cars shipped during the same period in 1924 was 11,803 giving 1925 a gain of 818 cars. Allowing 50 loaded cars to the train, the valley has produced and shipped during 1925 420 train loads of fruits and vegetables. Texas is on the map and the Magic Valley producers of wealth are doing their part to place the state on the map

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

HISTORY.

"History", said Voltaire in the year 1767, "is little else than a picture of crime and misfortune.

It is a fact that what startes or shocks people remains longest in their memories.

Trouble and conflict attract attention.

Peace and comfort may bring happiness, but they create no lasting impression. History is a picture of crimes and misfortune not because crime and misfortune have outweighed tranquility and well being, they have created the most interest.

The newspapers print stories of crime and misfortune today because their readers would soon cease to read them if they did not.

Let there be a great bank robber, and the people are eager for all the particulars in the next morning.

The same is true of railroad accident, or an earthquake.

The story that aroused the greatest interest during the life time of the writer was the sinking of the great steamship Titantic, then the biggest vessel in the world, on her maiden trip with a passenger list including hundreds of widely known people.

For days there was a public demand for all the news that could be had of the disaster, and there was not a moment during that time when the offices of the newspapers were not beseiged with telephone calls for further information.

But because trouble is interesting it does not follow that people are morbid, or want only crime news and news of trouble.

And because the salient points in history are wars, or misfortunes, it does not follow that there has been more war and more misfortune in the world than there has been peace and good feeling.

It has been struggles between races and nations that have made the world what it is today, and it is therefore the historian's business to set these down.

A history of England that did not tell of the conquest, and of the contests of ambitions of rulers, would not tell what has made Englishmen free and prosperous people,

A history of the United States that did not devote much space to its wars would give the young American no idea of his country.

Education is knowing all that it is possible to know of the world and the people in it, of their character, their temperament, their vices and their good qualities.

History is a valuable part of education.

Without it no man can pretend to understand other men, much less himself.

And history is one study which can be successfully pursued without teachers, without laboratories, without anything save a desire to read, and a public library or a book store close at hand.

Whether it be still only a record of crimes and misfortunes, it is worth studying and understanding. For the future we must build out of the past, and we must know what the past has been before we can even plan the future.

ON THE PRISON FARMS.

Prison farm commissioner, Walter Sayle, reports that a more production on fewer acres contest is now being conducted on each of the prison farms. There is keen interest and competition, he says among the farm managers for the prizes offered by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, and that although a large area of Texas is suffering from a severe drouth, the crops of corn on prison farms are an average and better on some of the farms, and that the condition of the cotton crops look very favorable. Furthermore, he says the cotton continues to grow and is fruiting well.

Governor Ferguson has offered $250 for the five-acre tract that yields the most cotton. $150 for the second best and $50.00 for the third. On each prison farm there is a five-acre tract laid off where extra attention is given, more fertilizer is applied, careful records are kept covering the farm practices and cost of producing and the yield per acre on these small areas.

Texas has a prison survey commission. This commission will launch a campaign this fall for the education of the people as to the relocation of the prison system. This includes the sale of the widely scattered farms and the centralization of the plant and the prison management. Lynch Davidson is out on the road advising that able bodied convicts shall be employed as road builders.

This reminds the writer that South Dakota has a governor who is a powerful champion of the Davidson idea. Governor Gunderson of South Dakota has recommended that the labor of convicts in his state shall be utilized in a road building sense. Furthermore, the lawmakers of South Dakota authorized the construction of two large cement manufacturing plants. These plants are ready for operation and will turn out the supply of cement needed by the road builders of South Dakota.

This is said to be the Lynch Davidson plan. Former Lientenant W. A. Johnson, now in his grave would have made road builders of the convicts of Texas and he favored state owned and operated cement plants. Another lieutenant governor, T. W. Davidson, has been a strenuous advocate of the plan for many years.

Many of the penologists of Texas believe that the state should abandon agricultural pursuits; that it should not operate farms in competition with the cotton and corn growers of the commonwealth, but that a small textile factory should be established for the manufacture of supplies for state institutions and that a farm of 10,000 acres should be maintained in order that food supplies for the inmates of the state institutions might be produced at a small cost to the taxpayers.

It goes without saying that the sale of the prison farms and the relocation of the prison system will be one of the important issues of the campaign of 1926. Luck may favor the management this year, in cotton production but all unselfish men admit that the prison system has been a costly white elephant and that a change must come in the near future for the protection of the pocket books of the property owners of Texas.

POPE FOR PUBLICITY.

Down in the coast country on Corpus Christi Ray, the natives call him Bill Pope. Newspapers writers refer to him as W. Elmer. Photographers pose him as the Hon. W. E. Pope. Dismissing all this, the former watchdog of the Texas treasury and the fighting bull dog of the lower house of the legislature, is of the opinion that the use of the pardoning power of the governor is just what it should be, and that there are 800 convicts in the penitentiary who should be given their freedom.

As for the text book row, he is for the governor regardless of the supreme court decisions and the attitude taken by a former governor whose sneering critics often refer to him as petrified Pat.

Now the politicians are asking if the watchdog of the treasury and the former bull dog fighter of the power house is coming back as a lawmaker or will toss his hat into the ring as a candidate for governor.

What Today Means to You

Cancer

Today's planetary aspects are favorable until noon, after whihc time they become decidedly adverse. The task you began yesterday, if not completed, can be pushed to the utmost during the morning, afte which it is advisable to take stock of your efforts, and to devote your active attention to the ordinary duties of the day. No correspondence of an important nature should be attended to in the afternoon, nor should any decisions for a far reaching character be made. In the evening, especially in the home circle, it will be found very difficult to exercise self-control in order to dominate a tendency to become ill-tempered and mentally out of sorts.

A child born today, will, in a physical sense, involve many complications, and the strictest regard for regular nutrition and an abundance of out-door air will be needed to enable it to attain physical normalcy. This child will have a rather peevish disposition, and will, in all probability, carry through a greater part of its life a proneness to find fault and an acute sense of self-dissatisfaction. This chronic condition can be ameliorated, if not cured, by forced association with others of a similar age. It will have a keen mind and a caustic wit, which will sometimes hurt more than physical cruelty.

Your character, if today is your birthday, is very temperimental, and you are easily swayed by all external influences. You are very "touchy" and an added word or a careiss look, which would pass unnoticed by one of tougher fibre, causes you untold misery and unhappiness. You love for art is strongly developed, and of music you are exceptionally fond, while you have a certain degree of the wanderlust in your veins. You are never contented or satisfied with the drab humdrum of the average life, and are always seeking some unknown outlet for your ambition and hopes. You are very careful, however, of appearances, and a great stickler for social conventionalities. You are, within certain limits, eager for success, and if you could only be a trifle more practical in your "go-get-it" moments, you would easily reach the goal of achievement.

Irrigation

The Cost of Our Storage Compared With Some Others.

The cost of a dam will vary according to the type and size. Where a dam impounds water its cost is not based to much on the actual dollars and cents expended in its construction as on the cost per unit of the water impounded.

In oher words, an irrigation storage dam is judged as being costly or cheap according to the cost per acre foot of the water retained by it.

Lake Kemp dam is reported to have set the district back $1,500,000. The diversion dam on the other hand only about $1,000,000.

If Lake Kemp holds only 500,000 acre feet then the cost per acre foot is about $3. The diversion dam has a capacity of about 50,000 acre feet. The water it impounds therefore stands at $20 per acre foot.

Lake Kemp storage is cheap. Just compare $3 per acre foot with some of the storage costs on the following projects now before the reclamation service for construction.

The stored water on the Kittitas project in Washington is estimated at $6.50 per acre foot.

The Baker project in Oregon is higher. It is thought that storage can be provided at $10 per acre foot.

On the Vale project, also in Oregon, the storage cost will be about $8.

The settlers on the Owyhee project in Idaho and Oregon will have to pay on the basis of $11, while the Spanish Springs in Nevada will be $20 per acre foot stored.

Lake Kemp storage is cheap storage.

HOW IT STARTED

"Dark as Erebus."

This phrase, signifying the blackest darkness, which is frequently met with in literature and sometime in speech of a high sounding and classical flavor, takes its origin in the pages of the old Greek mythology.

Erebus was a term used by the ancient Greeks and Romans to denote the darkness of the lower world, and so the lower world itself. To Erebus went the souls of the departed and at its entrance waited Cerebrus, the three headed dog with snakes for hair who turned on those who entered but detoured all who attempted to return.

Personifying everything as they did, the ancients called Erebus a son of Chaos and father of Aether (air) and Hemera (day).

LAND'S END

-By William Almon Wolff

They slept there, the two of them, while the fire broke up into glowing, crumbling embers, and the shadows lengthened in the room, and the surf sounded its soothing, peaceful murmur, and dusk began to come, outside, and darken the sea that rolled in upon the beach.

CHAPTER XVII.
The Awakening.

When Pete awoke, with a sudden start, with an indefinable sense of something alien, sinister, it was almost dark. A faint glow from the hearth still lighted the room, fitfully; in a sudden flaring up of the dying fire he could see Elizabeth, still peacefully asleep, her face flushed. He could hear her low, even breathing. But he was on his feet, awake all over, tense, startled, watchful.

He didn't know what had awakened him. Some sound, certainly. But now, as he listened, he could hear nothing. Only the tranquil note of the surf, beating in its steady rhythm.

"Elizabeth!" he said, his voice pitched low. "Elizabeth!"

She turned, stretched her arms.

"Yes? What is it?" She sat up lazily, luxuriously; stretched her arms again. "I've been asleep! Oh, Pete! I feel so good, so rested! I don't know when I've slept like that! For heaven's sake, how dark it is! What time is it?"

He looked at the illuminated face of his watch.

"Can't quite make out—the stuff's worn on this watch. Some time after seven, though. You didn't hear anything, did you?"

"No—did you?"

"Something woke me up. I don't know what. You stay here—keep your gun handy. I'm going to have a look around."

"Gun in one hand, flashlight in the other, he went through the house. Nothing had been disturbed; everything seemed to be as he had left it, especially the barricade at the cellar door. He frowned. And then, when he went to the front door he made his discovery. It was locked—and his key refused to turn. Swiftly he tried the other doors—to find them similarly secured. So with all the ground floor windows—they were wedged from the outside.

He went back to Elizabeth with his report and they stared at one another.

"Locked in!" she said. "But—for heaven's sake, why? What object could anyone have" They wanted to keep us out first—"

"I was a fool to fall asleep," he said. "There's something doing, all right—something mighty queer."

Here was the first definite, concrete thing he had had to face. And it had, somehow, a disproportionate significance. All that had gone before assumed, now, a new and more sinister importance. He had been angry before—but half amused too, as at a game that was being played, a joke, with himself as its butt. But this—this looked serious. He was vaguely alarmed. More than ever he was afraid because Elizabeth was there. Dragging her into a mess like this!

But if Pete was rather vaguely alarmed, there was nothing in the least vague about his anger. He was going to see this thing through, now, no matter what happened. And he was going to show these people, whoever they were, and whatever their object might be, that they'd tackled the wrong man.

Getting out was not, as a matter of fact, particularly difficult. They could smash a window. But Peter wasn't sure that the time for such a step had come yet. Nor that, for that matter, he wanted to be outside. The house was the focal point of the mystery; it was wholly possible that this whole trick of locking him in had been intended simply to serve as a means for getting him out. When he suggested this idea Elizabeth agreed that it was plausible.

"We'll wait awhile, anyway," she said. "Pete—the key to the whole thing's in the cellar. I don't know how or where—but that's the place we ought to watch."

"I think so, too," he said. "But we've got to go easy, Bet. We don't want to get separated, unless it's absolutely necessary."

"No," she said. "Pete—I am scared. The whole thing's so—so unreasonable! If you could figure out why they should act this way! But it just makes my head ache when I try—and I don't get any nearer knowing—or even guessing!"

"Look here," he said. "They're probably watching us. But they mayn't know we've found out being locked in—I didn't make any fuss when I went around. Let's act just as naturally as we can. I'll build up the fire again—"

"And I'll get something to eat—it's my turn, and I can easily fix up a meal in the kitchen. Thank Heaven it's an oil stove."

"Good! You know, when you get right down to it, we've probably got them guessing, too. They probably can't figure us out at all."

"I don't wonder either! I suppose we're the prize idiots of the world. Pete—coming down here and getting caught like this, all by ourselves—"

"By Jove! That's another thing!" said Pete. "How do they know we haven't cooked it up to have our gang coming along later? They saw me come along—and they probably saw you. They may not know you're a girl—you don't look like one, a little way off, in those things. And for all they know we've got relays of re-enforcements coming. They've got a few things to think about, too!"

It was a line of thought the accuracy of which, of course, only the event could prove. But it did serve to cheer them up, and to make dinner a more amusing and enjoyable meal. They ate in the kitchen for convenience.

CHAPTER XVIII.
Attempted Escape.

"I say, Bet," Pete said presently. "I don't want to—I mean—how about Denny? This isn't exactly going to make him sing hymns of praise is it? I mean—won't he think it's pretty sour"

"Oh, I suppose so!" said Elizabeth. "Poor Denny!"

She sat silent and thoughtful.

"Elizabeth, it is a queer show, isn't it? You and Denny. I mean—honestly, you've got about as much in common as a trout and a machine-gun!"

She laughed; she couldn't help it. And she wanted to know which she was.

"Oh, I'm not trying to be funny, Bet! It just gets me, that's all."

She looked at him soberly, curiously.

"It got me, too, Pete," she said. "That's why."

He started. "I don't know what you mean," he said.

"The whole thing," she said. "Me. The way things are going. Do you realize that I'm awfully tired; sometimes, Pete? Tired of working? Tired of just—oh, just keeping on? Doing things we aren't really meant to do—girls, I mean? Because we're not. Men are right about women in business; it's not the game. Oh, they're good at it! I'm good and so are lots of other women. You'd be a good cook, too, if you worked at it—but you wouldn't want to do it, no matter how much you got paid.

"I suppose it's biological, when you come down to it. We want—oh, all of us do, even if we won't admit it! to stay home, and have a man go out and provide for us. We want to have kids, and a home that isn't just a place we come to after work, when we're too darned tired to appreciate it."

"Well—but—what in the world's all that got to do with Denny?" Pete asked. Because, after all, being engaged to Denny certainly hadn't changed things much for Elizabeth. Not yet, anyway.

"Lots," she answered. "Denny's different. What sort of men did I know before? Nice infants, making fifty dollars a week. Or delightful wasters like you who wouldn't do a stroke of work except when you absolutely had to! I might have fallen in love with some of you—maybe I did! But how the dickens could I marry any of you If I had I'd have had to go on working, anyway. You know it darned well too, Pete Ashe! You asked me to marry you—but you didn't want us to be married at all. You just wanted us to live together—"

"Elizabeth! I never—good Lord, I never even dreamed of such a thing!"

She laughed.

"Oh, I know you wanted us to be married—have a wedding!" she said. "But what difference does a ceremony make? It might just as well have been the other thing, so far as anything that really mattered went. Just think, Pete! Think of all the people we know like that. Both of them working—because they've got to to make ends meet. What sort of marriage have they got?

"And Denny—well, he was different. He'd expect his wife to stay home. He wouldn't marry at all until he could do everything he wanted to do. He won't now. He doesn't even think about it. He wouldn't let me go on working one day after we were married. Can't you see, Pete?"

"I—yes, I guess I can," said Pete "I guess I didn't stop to do an awful lot of thinking. If I had—"

"Yes!" she said. Her voice was hard, suddenly, and sounded as if she was sneering. "But you've got to think things like that out yourself, Pete! You can't have them told to you. I tried—"

She stopped. But she needn't have been afraid of giving herself away. Pete was thinking now, all right, however much he had failed to do so in the past.

"Gee," Elizabeth!" he said slowly, "Things look—you know, it seems to me, just lately, that I'm a lot older. As if I'd grown up, somehow, since I got that money. I see what you mean exactly. And I—you know—if we had got married, when I asked you to, first. Bet, I'd have made you stop working, too. I can see now that the other sort of thing wouldn't have helped a bit, really. And I could have done it, too I—I guess I've loafed an awful lot—"

"Oh, you're all right, Pete," she said wearily. "Sh-h! Listen."

"What is it"

"I thought I heard something." They waited, tense, a full minute. Then they relaxed. "Just my imagination, I suppose," she said. "But it's pretty nearly time for them to do something, Pete, don't you think?"

"I'm going to work on one of the windows, he said. "There's one that isn't wedged as well as the others—I'd rather get one loose than break the glass, because they could hear that. But I noticed this one, in the hall. Come on."

"They can see us, can't they?" said Elizabeth, as she went with him to the window.

"Oh, sure—if they're looking. But this is on the wrong side of the house. They're more likely to keep watch out in front, I think. See—the frame's warped a little. I think I ought to be able to work around it with a knife and get it loose enough to push out."

"Isn't there some way you can get a pane of glass out quietly? Every one ought to study elementary housebreaking. I think—every one gets locked out, some time or another!"

"There is a way—but you've got to have a glass-cutter to work it. And a year's practice, probably, too. No—if I can't loosen the wedges I'm just going to take a good swing and let 'em hear me!"

She held a flashlight steady for him while he worked. They hadn't found out how to make the electric light plant work; the batteries were probably out, anyway, Pete said, and he'd forgotten to ask Mr. Crocker about it. They'd found candles, though, and managed pretty well.

The job Pete had tackled proved to be one of those tantalizing and maddening ones that seem always on the verge of being finished and never are. He got his knife into play easily enough, but the wedge he was attacking was extremely obstinate, and it was ten minutes before he pushed it out.

Tomorrow: Elizabeth Disappears.

Society

WITH a desire to make the event an annual one, the Altar and the Daughters of America Societies entertained with a lawn part Tuesday evening at the Academy of Immaculate. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake, home-made candy, lemonade and other drinks assisted in making the cool and moonlit evening more enjoyable. Music rendered by Shay's orchestra, served to lend a soft and restful atmosphere to the lawn very prettily adorned with booths and tables for serving and swinging Japanese lanterns.

Faithful in their co-operation and help towards the success of the evening were the ladies who assisted on various committees for refreshents. For the cream, Mesdames Kelleher, Morse, Davis, Rest, Hull and Wass formed the committee assisted by Mesdames Fitzgerald, Lewis, Bullit, Moran and Herschey, who furnished the cake. In an attractive booth with a post at each corner wrapped in pink and white crepe paper to represent a huge stick of candy, the Misses Betty Hull, Lois Fitzgerald, Ethel Moran and Frances Mulligan and Mrs. Keim were in charge with dainty pink and white aprons on and small caps of the same colors. Patriotic in their sale of soda pop Mesdames Duffey, Whitehill and John Oechner had their booth decorated in red, white and blue with the flag waving over it. At "Lemonade Well" the old oaken bucket was forgotten when lemonade was served by Mrs. Norwood, Moulder and Gannon. The moss also was replaced by twining sunflowers and a huge bow of pink and green. Dame Fortune was present with Mrs. James Maloney, Delaney and Varmouth at their wheel of fortune. Numbers were obtained and a wheel turned, then prizes from a quaint booth similar to an antique shop and prettily decorated were given to the winning numbers.

Those who were probably not fortunate in the wheel of fortune went immediately to Mrs. Herbert Davis, fortune teller, to learn of their possibilities in life and of their luck.

Other assistants of the evening were Mrs. Easton and Kelleher, the ticket committee, and Mrs. Riddle, cashier.

So that their appreciation might be generally known, the Sisters of St. Mary thus expressed their thanks. "To the Altar and Daughters of America societies we wish to express our appreciation. So unselfish in your labor, so sincere and tireless. Only through co-operation such as that which you have lent can a successful and enjoyable event as our lawn party, be accomplished. Also to Father Lawrence Hoyt do we wish to express our thanks for his splendid address on Sunday evening. It is due to his sincere message that this much desired evening of refreshment and friendly social association has been made real, rather than a hope."

"Encouragement and sanctioning was necessary, and this was offered by Father Lawrence to the two societies and the sisters who were prepared to do their duty," added Mother Superior.

Through A Woman's Eyes

MORE POWER TO THAT JUDGE.

A man in New York, just sued for non-support, has just been ordered by the court, not only to support the family, but to smile three times a day.

A unique sentence! And the part about smiling is to be regarded as quite important as supporting his family, the culprit was told. Failure to smile at least three times a day, the judge warned, would be attended by quite as dire consequences as any breach in the financial arrangement.

The name of the magistrate who imposed this sentence is Kochendorfer. While we have no say in the election of judges in New York state, we should remember his name. A man of his perspicacity deserves to go to the White House, and if he should get his deserts and be nominated every woman in the country should work to elect him!

There are women judges in various states, yet it took a man to place the first official recognition on the obligation of a husband to smile!

There are husbands, and those of us who have lived long enough have met them, who think that when they have paid the rent and supplied the food for the family, they have done all that can within reason be expected of them. A man who did not support his family they might deem to be somewhat culpable, but once he fulfilled this unfortunate necessity, he would become in their eyes immune to any other presumption on his nobility and self-sacrifice. A smile within the domestic circle would cause too much excitement to be risked. A weary wife might expect a "raise" and the children would probably take advantage of it to ask for something. A smile in the home may be allowed as one of the foolish indulgences of the honeymoon, but that a married man should be required to smile while supplying the wherewithal to feed and house and even clothe a family, would seem too much!

Every woman knows, however, that to the often sorely tried mother and impressionable chidlren, food for the body can be bitter in the cup without the smile of cheer and encouragement and affection that is food for the soul. They know that one is no less important than the other, if any semblance of happiness or tolerable existence for the family is to be achieved; and though we cannot be too hopeful of a smile that is engendered by a court order, more power to that judge!

More About Perfume.

Already I've spoken of the dangers of perfume used the wrong way on the wrong girl.

I've pointed out that the loveliest scent, if used in too great quantities cheapens and vulgarizes its owner.

But more and more, lately, there have come to my notice all sorts of glaring errors in the matter of using scent, and it occurred to me that it might be a good thing to give my girls another warning.

For one thing, a great many women make the fatal mistake of lavishing scent on their clothes, applying the stopper to the neck of a dress or the lace on a collar.

This is all very well for the first day the dress is worn, but thereafter the scent stales and each time the dress is worn a faint odor of stale perfume hovers about the wearer no matter how many fresh applications she may make.

Then there are girls who use some heavy scent and apply it early in the morning.

Heavy perfumes are all right in the evening, if they suit the wearer, but can you imagine anything more unpleasant than sitting down to breakfast beside someone from whom emanates a heavy cloying fragrance more suitable for a ballroom.

Don't use perfume too early in the morning. Somehow it doesn't go with the fresh morning air, and the brisk workaday spirit that seems to pervade the atmosphere between the hours of ten and one.

Rather let the delicate scent of your soap or powder be the only perfume about you in the morning.

Later in the day you may go in for your favorite scent in moderate quantities, but you'll find difficulty at a house party in interesting a man when you spoil his eggs and bacon by infesting the atmosphere with a deep Oriental fragrance.

Then you can't be warned enough against the inadvisability of introducing perfume into the office.

It's not only bad taste, it's bad business, for you will impress all those with whom you come in contact as a rather lightheaded young person who doesn't know the place for perfume is in the home and not in the office.

When a man rushes into an office to give some dictation and is overwhelmed with the exquisite fragrance of a French perfume he's usually annoyed and rather disgusted at the wearer.

Somehow it will definitely create an impression in his mind that the perfumed lady can't be very businesslike.

So, you see there are all sorts of rules and regulations to go by, principally these: Suit your perfume to your personality. Don't apply it to your clothes. Don't use it early in the morning and don't wear it during office hours.

ATHLETE SAYS HE DID SHOOT SCHOOL GUARD

Nightwatchman Killed By Bullet From Gun Of Friend

DALLAS, June 30.—William Jennings Bryan Goodman, president of the University of Tulsa Y. M. C. A. and college football star, who is held here charged jointly with Joe Brown with the slaying of Charles S. Swinney, a nightwatchman here recently, denied in an alleged written statement that he fired the shots that killed Swinney. He declared in the statement that the night watchman fired at him after stopping the pair and that a bullet from Brown's pistol struck Swinney.

Goodman was said to have been a favorite with the student body at the University of Tulsa and had a good scholastic record. Goodman's worst fault was "coming into the dormitory at all hours of the night," Dr. Franklin G. Dill, acting president of the university, declared today, when told of Goodman's arrest, advices received here said.

Goodman requested that Clinton S. Bailey, United States commissioner, be present when he made the statement.

DEAD MAN IS REPORTED, BUT BABY IS FOUND

Six-Hour-Old Infant is Discovered on Road By Officers

VERNON, June 30.—To be summoned to hold an inquest over a dead man and to find instead of a gruesome corpse, a healthy baby boy was the pleasant experience of Judge T. J. Griffiths this morning about 6 o'clock. A telephone message to the sheriff's department stated a dead man had been found near the bridge over Pease river on the Colorado-Gulf highway was reported, so Boyd McLendon accompanied by Judge Griffiths set out to find the body.

About 150 yards the north side of the bridge and lying near the edge of the pavement, where he would likely be discovered by passing motorists, was found a boy baby. The infant was partly dressed and wrapped up in other clothing and was about six hours old. The baby was brought to a sanitarium here and seems to be all right after spending part of the night on its hard bed on the highway. No clue as to its parentage has been discovered. The men reporting the find to the sheriff stated another man had telephoned him to notify the officers.

Wheelers Companion Is Under Indictment

SPOKANE, Wash., June 30.—(AP)—Gordon Campbell, Montana oil man, was indicted by a federal grand jury here late this afternoon on charges of "devising schemes to defraud the public by representing the firms in which he was interested possessed oil lands to which they did not yet have title."

The case of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana was not considered, federal officials said.

District Attorney Ben F. Kiser stated after the indictment was returned that he was under instructions from the United States department of justice to bring the Campbell case to trial here as soon as Campbell's pending appeal from conviction in Montana is decided.

It was charged that Campbell used the mails to defraud.

The jury was dismissed.

"Call of the Wild" Shows At The Garden Today and Tomorrow

Jack London's "The Call of the Wild" is a favorite book in American literature and for that reason its picturization should be of particular interest. The picture and story tell of the return of a big St. Bernard dog, Buck, to the primitive after it is stolen from a country estate in California.

The thief takes the dog to Alaska during the gold rush and attempts to train him as the husky dogs of the north are trained—with a club. This is not successful and he sells the dog to another man, who trains the animal with kindness rather than force. When his master is killed Buck is left alone and he gives in to the call of the wild strain in his blood and mates with a wolf. The story closes with Buck at the head of a pack of wolves that are the terror of the Yukon region.

"The Call of the Wild" will be the feature on the program at the Garden theatre. It is the first serious drama to be produced by Hal Roach, famous producer of Harold Lloyd's and other comedies. It's a Pathepicture.

Backless Coats Are Latest Hot Weather Styles In England

LONDON, June 30.—Suits in subdued rainbow hues, "backless" waistcoats and pale grey or fawn-colored derbies are among the hot weather novelties for men in the brighter clothes movement. A new Irish tweed, so lightly spun that it is nearly transparent, comes of pale blue and green. This material is very much in demand for the flappy "elephant leg" trousers now affected by young men.

The "backless" waistcoat is double breasted and is held in place by braces across the back. It is worn with an unlined loosely fitting jacket.

For shirts "ice colored" silk is the latest. The material is exceptionally thin, of a bluish grey and very expensive.

IRRIGATION IN HANDS OF NEW MANAGER NOW

G. A. Remington Arrives Tuesday to Succeed T. B. Noble

Active direction of the Wichita county water improvement districts will pass today from T. B. Noble, manager of the district, to G. A. Remington of Boise, Idaho, newly appointed manager, who arrived in Wichita Falls Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Noble, however, who has been active in the affairs of the project from the first, will continue to serve as a director of the project.

Mr. Remington has been actively engaged in irrigation work for the past 23 years, the last 14 of which have been spent in Idaho and other northwestern states. He comes here after resigning as general manager of the Nampa-Meridian government project near Boise. He started his association there in 1911, serving at first as secretary. In 1919 he was made general manager and has held that capacity since.

While entirely unfamiliar with the project here, Mr. Remington stated on his arrival that he had heard much of the possibilities of the Wichita Falls project and was confident that it was capable of development into one of the finest and most productive in the country. He will meet Wednesday morning with the officials of the district to take up some of the more important details. For the present, he said, he contemplated no change in the personnel of the working force here and stated an intention of retaining, insofar as possible, those executives now at work.

Mr. Remington is a cousin of N. H. Martin, vice-president of the Texhoma Oil and Refining company.

Officials of five of the leading tire companies indicated that tire prices may have to be increased soon if no relief from the crude situation is found, but they have as yet planned no definite increase.

Northern Baptists Told Sinister Movements Are At Work

SEATTLE, Wash., June 30.—(AP)—Before three thousand persons in the first church here the Rev. Clinton Wunder of Rochester, N. Y., today opened the annual meeting of the northern Baptist convention with a cry for peace within the church. He warned against "sinister movements masquerading as American and Christian."

The Rev. Mr. Wunder exhorted the 2,000 delegates and thousands of other hearers of his sermon against "camouflaged bearers of hate and discord."

He had announced Sunday that his key note today would be a call for neglect of the conflict of old and new ideas on the relations of religion and science and for the church to press forward united in "the real work of christianity."

To this announcement the Rev. W. B. Riley of Minneapolis responded with the declaration that "the plea for peace without reform will make little or no appeal to thousands of our loyal evangelicals."

Electricity Plays It's Role

In the photographic process, drying and other processes electricity plays an important part well, transferring the most minute details of the picture from the paper photograph to the hard metallic plate.

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP).—Stock prices resumed their upward movement today on the assurance that the California earthquake damage had been confined largely to the city of Santa Barbara, and the growing conviction of professional traders that high call money rates were only temporary. Net advances of one to five points were scattered throughout the list, with pool activity stimulating the demand for many popular shares.

Merchandising issues gave one of the best demonstrations of group strength. Woolworth, which pays a dividend of only $3, soared nearly eight points to a new peak price at 151⅝. One sale of S. S. Kresge took place at 420, or about 27 points above the previous transaction. May department stores showed a net gain of 4 points at 115 after having sold two points above that figure. United Cigar Stores recorded an extreme gain of four points by touching a new year's maximum at 96. Substantial gains also were recorded by Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Associated Dry Goods and International Shoe.

Bear traders made a futile attempt to force a reaction in the early trading on the announcement that the directors of the American Can Company had declared only the regular dividend, setting at rest rumors that the long awaited split up would be authorized at this time. Can, which had been bid up three points to 190 before the announcement was made, dropped to 182½ following the dividend declaration but soon snapped back to 188⅝, closing 1¼ points below that figure for a net gain of more than 4 points on the day.

Strong buying support also was in evidence in other standard industrials. Baldwin was bid up 3½ points to 115 on buying probably influenced by the announcement that the company's new diesel engines were ready for delivery. U. S. Steel common closed at a point higher at 115⅛.

Strength of the rubber stocks was in further reflection of the recent davance in tire prices.

U. S. Rubber common and first preferred and Fisk mounted to new 1925 high levels. Opening of the new night airplane mail service between New York and Chicago tomorrow furnished the bas sifor a bullish demonstrarion in Wright aeronautical, which was bid up over two points to a new peak price at 31⅝.

Rails again lagged behind the industrials, although good gains were recorded by Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago, Rock Island & Chicago Great Western and "Nickel Plate," the last named moving up over five points on a few sales.

Call money opened at 5 per cent, the highest renewal rate since January 2, advanced to 5½ and then slipped back to 5. There was a further calling of loans by banks at the opening in belated preparation for July 1 requirements. A slight stiffening was noted in the time money and commercial paper markets with the ruling rates at 3¾ and 4 per cent.

Establishment of new high records by Norwegian and Danish kronen at 17.88 and 20.16 cents, respectively, featured the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held firm around $4.85⅝ but French francs eased slightly to 4.51½ cents.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, June 30.—(AP) — The cotton market today was extremely quiet in fact a typical pre-bureau report affair with leaders unwilling to enter on new committments until the report is out of the way. Market news was lacking, except the continued drouth in the west and that would have been bullish but for fears of what the government report will show Thursday. As a result prices fluctuated within a very narrow range and for the greater part of the day long intervals existed between trades.

At the lowest of the morning after a slightly easier opening four to five points below yesterday's close, October traded at 23.40 and December at 23.52. When the weather map showed there had been no rain overnight in the western belt and especially when the forecast promised continued fair and warm weather in the west the market recovered the early loss and a little besides and for a good part of the late morning and early afternoon prices ranged a point to two points above the previous close. In the late session prices rallied slightly and trading a trifle brisker with new crop month positions at new crop months but a loss of 15 points on July, that month having been inactive throughout the day.

Exports today 11,852 bales.

BILL BROWN

given in the Sledge case. That the three boys, Harry Sledge, Bill Brown and Ted Elliott asked the girls to go to the Sledge home, dance for a time and play the victrola. That Lilly refused to go but that Ethel, who had had previous dates with Ted, consented to go if two other girls would accompany them. That they were only able to persuade Bill Morrison to go, another girl refusing, and that instead of going to the Sledge home they went to the Sledge farmhouse, which was tenantless at the time and there the assault took place.

Brown on Stand Today.

There were one or two minor discrepancies in the testimony of the girls which the defense brought out on cross examination but in all the main points of their story was repeated as it was first told on the stand against Harry Sledge. The defense is seeking to prove that while Bill Brown was with the boys and the two girls that night, that he was not a confederate in crime, that the assault was not premeditated and planned and that Bill was innocent that any wrong doing was intended.

Tomorrow morning, Bill Brown, a big, good-natured looking chap, will take the stand in his own defense and court room habitues are wondering if he will make as good a witness for himself as he did for Harry Sledge. None of the girls today have done as well as they did on the stand two weeks ago, due to the nerve strain and excessive heat, or because they are physically worn out with it all. The jurors in the case are Allen Thurman, T. N. Kendall, J. L. Harper, J. L. Whitsall, Bird Middleton, C. C. Foster, J. L. Alsup, J. B. Sollman, P. W. Fulsom, W. T. Griffin, I. E. England and W. D. Man Believed Lost At Sea Arrested For Arson On Eight Year Warrant

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 30.—David J. Borun, formerly of this city, arrested in Long Beach, Cal., Monday, according to information received by the state fire marshal's office, on a charge of arson, will be returned here for trial. The warrant on which Bourn was arrested is eight years old and was filed away as worthless when word was received here that Borun had fallen or jumped overboard from the steamer Indiana November 28, 1917.

Conrad Smith, deputy state fire marshal, was responsible for the arrest of Borun, whom everyone, including members of his family, believed dead until less than a year ago.

According to the findings of Asmuth, Borun had a friend place a dummy in the state room assigned to him for a trip on the Indiana and on the night of November 28, 1917, the dummy was flung overboard. From the clothing and papers found in the state room there was plenty of evidence that Borun had been lost overboard, but one life insurance company refused to pay the claim of Mrs. Borun, and Asmuch remained on the trail until be obtained evidence shortly after Mrs. Borun and her two daughters moved to Long Beach, Cal., that Borun was alive and making his home with his family.

The warrant charged arson in connection with a fire at the North American Automobile Body plant in North Milwaukee in 1916.

DEVELOPMENT OF TRADE AREA URGED ON WF

Fred Haskett in Ad Club Address Discusses Possibilities Here

A statement that Wichita Falls had greater possibilities for trade development than any other city in Texas and had done less, perhaps, than any other city to take advantage of these opportunities was made Tuesday noon by Fred L. Haskett, assistant manager of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, in an address before the Ad club. He went into some detail in explaining why this condition existed, pointing out that up until a few years ago the boom days had given merchants no time for exploitation in fields outside of Wichita Falls.

The time has now come, though, he declared, when Wichita Falls business men must go into and cultivate trade territory increasing distances from home if they were to realize the profits that are rightfully theirs.

Non-competitive Market.

"There are few cities in Texas that have as large a non-competitive market population as Wichita Falls," he said, "and perhaps no city has done less to win the trade of its territory. There is a reason for this inactivity, however, for during the last five years Wichita Falls has enjoyed a wonderful trade because of its oil activity, which has drawn in large numbers of people from the immediate trade territory. Merchants have been so busy, few have had time to explore their trade territory and create more business."

Mr. Haskett then pointed out that conditions have changed radically in the past few years and that business men here are now realizing the necessity of increasing their trade area. He attributed this in part to the constant extension of the oil fields.

"In the retail area of Wichita Falls," he went on there is a population of about 200,000 people.

More than 125,000 of this number is urban, leaving a rural population of 75,000. From a buying standpoint, as the greatest consumers, male and female adults are more important to the retailer. It is safe to estimate that there are 52,000 male and 48,000 female buyers.

Should Be 65 Per Cent.

"It is utterly impossible to get all this business into Wichita Falls but at least 65 per cent of the number should buy here, if only occasionally, and more especially those desiring the better class of merchandise.

"Suppose of the 65 per cent who should buy in Wichita Falls that 50 per cent live within the city or its immediate surroundings. This leaves 15 per cent outside our immediate bounds and it is surely worth while to interest these buyers. Perhaps the best way is through our daily newspapers with advertisements of an artistic nature. Most people read pictures and more especially those who are educated. That pictures are attractive to the better educated is evidenced by the editorial policy of the National Geographic Magazine, which is profusely illustrated with beautiful scenes. This magazine has perhaps the most select readers of any publication in the world.

After pointing out how advertising was the logical means of educating this territory to come to Wichita Falls, Mr. Haskett went on:

"Wichita Falls is credited by R. G. Dun and company with 125 manufacturing plants. There was a production on oil of $15,000,000 for 1924. Our old refineries had an output value of $13,100,000. The retail business of Wichita Falls is estimated at $75,000,000 for 1924, and the wholesale trade amounted to $50,000,000. These figures are rather out of line, some people claim. The jobbing trade should be much greater and if figures are correct it is proof that the wholesalers and jobbers have not expanded their business as they should. From visits to many little cities and towns in the Wichita Falls trade territory we are inclined to believe that business interests of Oklahoma City, Amarillo, Fort Worth and Dallas are more active in Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma than a majority of our concerns.

Farm Crop Values.

"It is next to impossible to secure accurate reports concerning farm production. Cotton production reports are the only ones available. In the wholesale and jobbing area of Wichita Falls there was raised last season 1,558,065 bales of cotton. This is more than one-third of the total crop raised in Texas. True, all of this cotton did not pass through Wichita Falls, but much of it did. We can expect Wichita Falls to become a larger cotton mart in the future. More concerns will locate here when warehouse facilities are more adequate.

"The speaker then discussed cotton and other crop production of the Wichita Falls trade territory and touched on the labor situation. He gave comparative figures on crop and labor in this section and in East Texas and then concluded:

"We have need for agricultural education in Wichita county, as our crop figures do not compare so well with those of our neighbors. Wilbarger, Tillman and Clay counties averaged close to a $10,000,000 cotton income last season. Our cotton crop brought around $1,400,000.

"We do not hesitate in saying there is plenty of room for growth in the Wichita Falls retail and wholesale business. We have only one panacea to offer and that is a more neighborly feeling, which can only be secured by personal contact."

CITY LIABILITY IN PARKS NILL SAYS DECISION

Houston Freed of Blame For Drowning of Little Girl

HOUSTON, June 30 (AP)—A decision of far reaching importance, not only to Houston but indirectly affecting all municipalities of the state, was handed down by Judge Charles E. Ashe in eleventh district court here Tuesday, when he ruled that the city of Houston was not liable for injuries received by any one in the city's parks. The decision was the result of a suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vanderfort for $25,000 damages on account of the accidental drowning of their two-year-old daughter in the wading pool at Settegast park last August.

Judge Ashe sustained the general demurrer of the city on the grounds that the handling of the parks constitutes a governmental function of the municipal government, as distinguished from a proprietory duty in its corporate function, regardless of the acts of negligence on the part of city employes, agents or servants.

The case is the first of its kind ever decided in Texas, according to City Attorney Sewell Myer and his assistant, J. H. Painter, who handled the case for the city.

Should the case reach the state supreme court, its attorneys predict that it will, municipalities over the state will watch its progress with interest, in as much as it involves the question of whether cities are responsible for injuries received by children or others on amusement devices in the public parks, among other things.

New Dusting Method For Watermelons To Insure Bigger Crops

AUSTIN, Texas, June 30.—With the new and economical method of dusting melon vines with nicotine sulphate becoming more widely known, an increase in water melon and cantaloupe acreage in Texas can be expected in the future, according to J. M. Del Curto, federal and state plant pathologist, and J. S. Woodard of the state agricultural department. The method is used in exterminating plant lice or aphids.

Recently, Mr. Woodard gave a demonstration of applying the nicotine sulphate at McDade, which caused considerable interest among melan growers, some of whom have stopped raising melons because of the depredations of the lice. Mr. Woodard placed the nicotine sulphate in two gunny sacks tied on the end of a pole and walked down the rows of melon vines, shaking the pole. The substance, which has to be kept fresh in order to impound the necessary gas, sifted to the ground and rebounded underneath the leaves, immediately killing millions of the pests, which suck the life blood from the melon vines and starve the melons of nutriment.

Heretofore, in order to apply the old wet solution effectively, it was necessary to lift the vines and daub them with a brush dripping with the solution. This method is slow, inefficient and expensive. The dust method is far superior, Mr. Woodard said.

Lady beetles, predacious insects, feed on the aphids, but many farmers believe they come from the lice, as they are always found in their company, Mr. Del Curto said. But, this is a misapprehension, he said, as the lady bettles are not vegetarians and are friends of the farmers.

ELEEMOSYNARY SCHOOL HEADS TO BE NAMED

Board of Control Will Meet July 15 For Action

AUSTIN, Texas, June 30.—Superintendent of the state eleemosynary schools and homes are to be elected by the state board of control on July 15. Many of the present office-holders will be re-appointed for two-year terms, it is indicated.

Storekeepers of the 17 institutions are also to be appointed for two-year terms.

Interest centers in whether Dr. Carrie Weaver Smith, only woman superintendent of a state institution, will be reappointed. She and the board of control clashed over the proposal to build a wire fence about the girls' training school at Gainesville, of which she is superintendent. She fought the idea of "penning" the girls, as she termed it, and won out by getting the legislature to kill the fence item. This came however, after the legislature struck out the entire girls' training school appropriation, and for several days the state faced the prospect of closing the school entirely. Women's organizations, represented by the "petticoat lobby" enlisted their efforts to save the school and to keep the $10,000 wire cage appropriation out.

The superintendents whose terms expire Sept. 1, and for whose places election will be held July 15 are:

Dr. Currie Weaver Smith, Girl's Training School, Gainesville; Dr. J. G. Springer, Austin Insane Hospital; T. M. Scott, School for Deaf, Austin; Col. E. Winfree, Confederate home, Austin; M. B. Brown, Blind School, Austin; Mrs. S. J. Thomas, Confederate Woman's Home, Austin; J. D. Martin, Deaf, Dumb and Blind School for Colored, Austin; Dr. J. W. Bradfied, Feebleminded Hospital, Austin; Dr. C. W. Castner, San Antonio Insane Hospital; Dr. George F. Powell, Terrell Insane Hospital; Dr. W. M. Shytles, Rusk Insane Hospital; Superintendent of Boys' Training school, Gatesville, place now vacant by death of E. S. Repp; Dr. Odie Minetra, State Orphan Home; Corsicana; Dr. J. B. McKnight, Tuberculosis Sanitarium, Carlsbad; Dr. T. B. Bass, Epileptic Colony, Abilene; E. B. McMordie, Home for Dependent and Neglected Children, Waco; Dr. J. W. Johnson, Senile Insane Hospital, Austin, Dr. F. S. White, Wichita Falls Insane Hospital.

100 Lightning Bolts Per Second In World

LONDON, June 30. — (AP) — Scarcely a second passes, year in and year out, winter and summer, when there are not at least 100 lightning flashes somewhere in the world, according to the recently issued Blue Book of the meteorological office of the British government service.

During a year, says the book, the world experiences 16,000,000 thunder storms, or an average of 44,000 a day. The amount of energy released by these flashes is too stupendous for the human mind to grasp, the book points out. It is suggested by the meteorologists that the water power of the earth, which has already been harnessed, be used as a measure. Figuring on that basis, it is estimated that double that amount is represented by one flash of lightning, consequently in any given second there is released from the clouds more energy than the world's water power stations yield in six months.

TIMELY VIEWS & WORLD TOPICS

OHIO SENATOR NAMES THREE MAJOR PROBLEMS AWAITING CONGRESS.

Tax revisions, changes in the senate rules and adherence by this country to the world court are the principal things which the next congress must undertake, Senator Willis of Ohio declared recently in Washington.

"At the regular session of congress beginning next December three major problems will press for solution," said Senator Willis.

"First, tax reduction. Lightening of the tax burdens of the people is made possible by the satisfactory returns from the tax laws now in force, and by the substantial economies wrought by the administration of President Coolidge. Congress actively cooperated with the president and the budget commissioner in bringing about these economies; indeed, in some cases, congress reduced appropriations even below the budget estimates.

"A Million a Day Cut Away."

"The $100,000,000 surplus this year and the estimated surplus next year of $300,000,000 make certain important tax reduction. 'A million a day of tax cut away' will be the slogan of this congress.

"The financial legislation of this congress should be limited to tax revision and tax reform.

"General revision of the tariff is not desirable and will not be undertaken. Tariff tinkering would cloud the industrial skies with an uncertainty and cause more industrial ills than it would cure. The present law is working well. Any change in rates vitally necessary can be made through executive action under the elastic clause. Give the president and American business a chance.

"The second major problem is such revision of the senate rules as will facilitate public business yet preserve the right of legitimate debate. Under the present cloture rule, there can be ninety-six hours of debate after the rule of cloture is applied; in other words, after debate is 'closed.' Under rule 22, the question could still be debated two solid weeks, eight hours every day, or four days and nights with the senate continuously in session.

"Will Correct, Not Cure."

"A reule requiring debate to be confined to the subject before the senate would aid very materially in correcting, but it would not cure, the situation I have described. Vice President Dawes is not, as I understand him, proposing any specific change in senate rules, but he is calling the attention of the country to the need for revision to eliminate filibusters and prevent abuse of power by any individual. In so doing, General Dawes is, in my judgment, rendering an important public service which the country approves.

"A third problem, solution of which must be taken up early in December and pressed for final decision, is that of the world court. The republican party must keep its solemn pledge. In numerous national platforms the republican party has endorsed an International court of justice. With the vision which only the rapt and parting soul may know, President Harding pleaded for American entrance into the world court; Secretary Hughes argued for it; President Coolidge urged it; the republican national convention at Cleveland endorsed it, and the people at the polls approved it. The time has come for the republican party to redeem its pledge to the people."

Jefferson County Farmers Show An Increase in Blacks

AUSTIN, Texas, June 30.—Of the 650 farmes operated in 1924 in Jefferson county, white farmers operated 589 and negro farmers operated 61, according to the 1925 farm census taken by the department of commerce at Washington and announced today. In 1920, 401 of the 419 farms were operated by white farmers and negroes operated 18. Owners operated 396 farms and there were six managers and 246 tenants on farms in 1924 compared to 231 owners, 16 managers and 172 tenants in 1920.

In 1920, 130,230 acres were in farm land, but in 1924 acreage decreased to 116,780. In 1924 there were 24,704 acres in crop land, 23,935 of which were harvested, 149 failed to produce and 780 were idle. About 90,189 acres were pastured, 70,386 were plowable, 8,234 were in woodland and there were 11,560 acres of waste land. Woodland not pastured amounted to 723 acres and all other land amounted to 1,113 acres.

On January 1, 1925, land and buildings were valued at $4,662,670 compared to $5,505,960 in 1920. Land was valued at $3,734,820 and buildings at $928,850 this year compared to $4,616,210 and $889,700 respectively in 1920.

Beginning 1920 there were 1,000 horses, 1,114 mules, 32,435 cattle and 2,160 swine on farms, compared to 1,492 horses, 1,747 mules, 13,281 cattle and 3,801 swine in 1920. Of the cattle in 1924 there were 13,480 beef cows, 13,629 other beef cattle, 3,913 dairy cows and 1,413 other dairy cattle. There were 214 breeding sows. In 1920 there were 5,376 beef cows, 3,754 other beef cattle, 1,368 dairy cows and 783 other dairy cattle and 720 breeding sows on farms.

CHINESE CONTROL MANILA

City Boasts 58 Per Cent of Merchants Are Chinese.

MANILA, June 30.—(AP)—The Chinese control 58 per cent of the retail stores in Manila, the Filipinos 36 per cent and the Japaneses 6 per cent, figures compiled by the bureau of commerce and industry show.

There are in Manila 1,935 retail stores, known as "Sari-Sari Stores," where articles necessary in the household are sold.

STUDENTS PRACTICE SHOOTING

TOKLO, June 30.—(AP)—The Students' Musketry society has been organized by students of the different universities in Tokyo. Its purpose is to improve the physical condition of the members and to give them training in rifle shooting.

Seek to Open Old Crypt to Study Books of Cortez

MEXICO CITY, June 30.—(AP)—Negotiations are being pushed by Mexican historical societies to secure the descendants and heirs of Hernando Cortes, Spanish conqueror of Mexico, prohibiting the examination of the archives of the conqueror. These have been guarded for centures in the ancient hospital de Jesus, which Cortes founded in Mexico City, and which is still being conducted under the patronage of Prince Pignatelli y Cortes, of Italy, the present heir to what is left of the vast estates of the Marques del Valle.

During the Caranza administration an order from the department of the interior to transfer the 300 volumes to the national library brought action from the Italian legation, which sealed the room containing the books on the ground that they were private property. The seals since have been unbroken.

Another discovery which is exciting students of history is that of R. P. Mariano Cuevas, author of "The History of the Church in Mexico," who has announced that he has encountered five unedited letters by Cortes himself in the general archives of the nation, and the last will and testament o fthe conqueror in his own handwriting.

Portland To Be Host To Order of the Elk

PORTLAND, Ore., June 30 (AP).—Elkdom will own Portland for one solid week, from July 12 to 18, when the sixty-first grand lodge reunion of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be held in this city.

More than 30 special trains have been arranged to bring delegates and club members from all parts of the country, and thousands are expected to come by automobile and by boat. There will be bands, drum corps and drill teams, and many of the lodges have arranged to send their delegations in special uniforms.

The outstanding spectacular event of the convention will be the grand lodge parade, July 16, in which 75,000 members of the order are expected to participate. Many floats are being prepared for this parade. Anchorage, Alaska, the most northerly lodge, has announced that it will be represented by a float. The parade is being planned under the direction of Charles H. Grakelow, of Philadelphia, grand esquire.

Slave Children In China Tell Tales Of Labor Torture

SHANGHAI, June 30.—Thirteen boys, some of whom have been imprisoner in a filthy, airless sweat shop for six years, were identified and claimed by parents in French Mixed Court here recently. The lucky youngsters were a part of a group of 31 rescued by the French police.

The identification came as an intrlude in the trial of Yu Pa-hong, proprietor of a workshop, accused, together with his wife, concubine, amah and three other accomplices, of maintaining a slave pen in which the children in question worked from early morning until midnight, underfed, beaten and never allowed to see the light of day except such as filtered through a small barred window.

Tales of torture for insufficient industry, attempted revolt or inability to labor on account of illness were told by the waifs in a manner to bring tears to the eyes of listeners. Many of the children were stolen from their parents and sold to Yu for $5 each. Others were hired out as apprentices by parents little mindful of their fate. They were employed in making brass articles, glassware and matches which Yu disposed of in a store on Seward road. Three or four died as a result of harsh treatment, the court was told.

Yu was given a jail term of 15 years to be followed by expulsion from the concession. His wife received a 10 year sentence, and Yu Ching-dong, accomplice, who assisted in kidnaping, got a similar term. The concubine and amah, who appeared to have befriended the boys on all possible occasions, were released. The store and workshop were ordered sold to defray the cost of trial and to pay for maintenance of the unclaimed children.

EGYPT HEARS EUROPE.

Broadcasting Stations on Continent Heard in Africa.

CARIO, June 30.—(AP)—A number of broadcasting stations in Europe and the British Isles are usually heard well in Egypt, and Egyptians as well as Europeans living here are not slow in taking advantage of the music. The stations heard best are London, Newcastle, Aberdeen, Bournemouth and Chelmsford in England, the Savoy bands of London relayed on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays being especially popular.

Rome, Munster, Stuttgart and Vienna also are heard and a resident of Cairo can listen to a concert and news in Italian from 8:40 to 9:30 p. m., then get the news and the weather from Stuttgart in German, and before turning in for the night he can enjoy a late cabaret concert from Vienna.

STREAMLINE SHELL WON

New Style Racing Boat Proves Very Popular.

LONDON, June 30.—(AP)—Despite the fact that the Oxford university boat crew lost the university boat race this and last year in a "streamline" shell designed by Dr. Bourne, there has been a growing demand for this kind of racing craft from the builders at Putney.

American, Continental and British boating clubs have placed a number of orders for "streamline" shells to carry fours and eights, thus testifying to the growing favor and popularity of this kind of racing craft.

T. U. WILL GET HUGE SUM OUT OF OIL LANDS

Engineer Estimates The Total Production at 80-000,000 Barrels

AUSTIN, Texas, June 30.—Oil from the Ragan county university lands will exceed eighty million barrels, or about $160,000,000 worth of production, according to Frank T. Pickdel, general manager of the Texon Oil company, one of the two operators in the field.

The production will be run up from around 75,000 barrels daily to nearly 200,000 barrels a day, within a few months, as the result of drilling now under way by the Texon and Big Lake companies, Pickrell announced.

May royalties of over $223,000 have been paid to the university for production; and the least agitation in the recent board of regent's meeting has apparently left the operations under university leases moving smoothly, production to be stepped up rapidly, and royalties probably to reach the rate of $5,000,000 a year by the end of the present year.

The university would receive a total of $20,000,000 from oil in the one field, if Mr. Pickrell's estimate of ultimate production is sustained. He predicted the production would easily pass the 20,000,000 figure used, with untold possibilities above that.

The Big Lake compank has now run its number of wells up to 40, and the Texon company, up to 29. The wells are spaced out about 600 feet apart, by agreement between the two companies, and the Reagon field has been shown to have a proven arear of between six and seven square miles.

26 Millions Boost In Clearings Here

An increase of $26,314,634.77 in bank clearings for Wichita Falls during the first six months of this year over those for the same period in 1924 was reported Tuesday by the Wichita Falls Clearing House association. Another notable increase was scored by the month of June, 1925, over that of 1924, when a gain of $5,353,348.20 was recorded. Figures for June, 1924, were $9,062,656.86, while in the month just closed they leaped to $14,-418,005.06.

Lake Wichita Host To 450 At Picnic

Lake Wichita was crowded yesterday with 450 picnickers who were guests of the lake free at the annual outing of the Volunteers of America. Throughout the day the people enjoyed themselves and in the evening returned tired but contented.

Free transportation was furnished for 300 to the lake by the Wichita Traction Company, while it was estimated that over 500 went to the pleasure resort in other conveyances. Exactly 450 plate lunches were served. The lunches consisted of food and candy donated by local merchants, and each plate contained all and more than was wanted. Following the plate lunch ice cream cones were served, the cream being the gift of the local creameries.

All the concessions at the lake, the ferris wheel, the pavilion, the smaller stands and the swimming pool were thrown open free of charge to the visitors. Everything was free of charge.

The picnic was made possible by the Volunteers of America under Captain A. Holley, and represents the annual summer picnic to the public.

Who's Who

H. N. RODENBAUGH.

Years of special training prepared H. N. Rodenbaugh, vice-president and general manager in charge of operation, traffic, construction and valuation of the Florida East Coast Railway company for the herculean task of directing that road's $85,000,000 improvement program. He is widely known as one of the foremost railway construction engineers in the United States.

As engineering assistant to the regional director for the southern region of the United States railway administration during the war, Mr. Rodenbaugh was in charge of all maintenance and construction matters concerning the railroads under federal control in that area which extended from Sioux Falls to Key West, and from Washington to New Orleans, supervising about 56,000 miles of railroad under government control. In March, 1920, he became regional engineer of the Southern and Pocahontas railroad systems of the United States railroad administration.

On July 1, 1920, he became chief engineer of the Florida East Coast Railroad company. On January 1, 1923, he became general manager of the road, and during the last year became its vice-president and general manager.

In his present position he is initiating and directing one of the largest improvement and construction programs ever undertaken by a carrier in the southeastern states. When the present work is completed the railroad will have made a cash outlay in construction and improvement of $85,000,000. In contrast the total outstanding funded debt amounts to $47,175,000, which includes a recent bond issue of $15,000,000 through J. P. Morgan company, which will be applied to the construction program.

The program involves a double track main line from Jacksonville to Miami, Fla.; the construction of half a dozen span bridges, including a two million dollar bridge over the St. St. Johns river at Jacksonville; the building of a belt line of 19 miles around Miami, and of a terminal and shops at that city; the purchase of 84 Mikado type locomotives; of several hundred freight and passenger cars and other equipments, and pushing a new road through the Everglades.

He was educated in the public and high schools of Norristown, Pa., and entered the department of mechanical engineering of the University of Pennsylvania in September, 1897. In October, 1908, he entered the course in engineering structures at Wagner Institute of Science, Philadelphia.

Before that he had been a draftsman with the Norfolk and Western Railway company, and in 1903 he had entered a great steel works to acquaint himself with modern methods of manufacturing stee'. By 1905 he had become assistant engineer of bridges for an important railway in the middle southern states. In 1906 he assisted in building about 80 miles of heavy railway work in the mountains of southwest Virginia, being in full charge of designs and specifications.

In 1911 he was engineer in charge of terminal construction for the Southern railway, undertaking many large and extensive terminal projects.

Mr. Rodenbaugh had full authority in handling valuation cases and in reaching the agreements between the interstate commerce commission and the railways comprising the Southern Railway system in 1917.

Mr. Rodenbaugh is actively interested in public work and large public improvements in St. Augustine, Fla., where he lives.

The Old Home Town

Phil Laughlin, who has been in Wichita Falls for several days, returned yesterday to his home in Fort Worth.

P. A. Rogers of the Wichita Falls Electric company is in Dallas on business.

Little Miss Grace McMillan of Mason, is spending a few days at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Daniel, at 1705 Monroe street.

W. F. Hooser, Seymour cotton man who is connected with R. O. Harvey and company, was in Wichita Falls Thursday on business.

C. E. Basham, vice president of the City National bank, returned Tuesday morning from a business trip to Houston.

D. M. Perkins has announced the opening of a real estate and insurance office in the Waggoner building.

G. O. Hargrave of Dallas is in Wichita Falls for two or three days on business for his firm, the International Life Insurance company. He is connected with the Wittliff organization at Fort Worth and Dallas.

Ray Wheatley, president of the Amarillo Bank and Trust company who was in Wichita Falls conferring with P P. Langford, president of the City National bank, has returned to Amarillo.

Only two marriage licenses were issued Tuesday by the county clerk. They went to Clifford H. Smith, Burkburnett, and Miss Willie Mae Tigarett, Burkburnett; Robert Edward Farmer, Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Lynda Braumen, Wichita Falls.

A number of Wichita Falls attorneys intend to be in Austin within the next few days to attend the state bar association meeting to be held at the Stephen F. Austin hotel. Judge A. H. Britain, Tarleton Morrow and A. H. Carrigan left Tuesday and others are expected to follow today.

Dan F. Abshier, who was painfully injured Saturday evening in an automobile crash at the corner of Tenth and Polk streets, is reported much improved at the general hospital where he was taken following the accident. It is thought that he will be able to return to his home within the next few days.

All banks have been authorized, according to W. S. Abbott, assistant cashier of the City National, to release Stone Mountain coins, all of which are half dollars, but are sold for one dollar each. The extra 50 cents is to be used in defraying the expense of finishing the Stone Mountain monument, which is to be a memorial to the Confederacy.

W. A. Little of Galveston arrived in Wichita Falls Tuesday to take up his duties as division freight and passenger agent for the M-K-T railroad. He comes to succeed H. G. Smith, who has served in that capacity for several years past and who has been promoted to the post of general freight agent of the Texas lines of the Katy. Mr. Smith will leave Wednesday for Dallas to take up his new work.

The month of June lived up to tradition in the matter of brides and marriages and such, for a check of county clerk records yesterday—the last day of the month, showed that 113 licenses to wed had been issued in the 30 day period. Originally between 70 and 80 is considered a good month's work. The divorce mill also enjoyed a profitable month of it with 39 suits filed.

With more than 4,000 acres watered during the month of June and prospects ofapproximately 5,000 acres being watered in July, developments of the irrigation district are coming rapidly. A new watering record was set in the month just closed, P. A. Welty, chief engineer of the district announced Tuesday in stating that irrigation water from Lake Kemp had been put on more than 4,000 acres of land.

A movement designed to land the presidency of the Texas State Bar association for Judge A. H. Britain of Wichita Falls is to be made at Austin this week by local attorneys, friends of the Wichita Falls man now in Austin for the annual convention. Judge Britain is well known throughout legal circles of the state and it is believed he has an excellent opportunity to be elected president of the association.

Five Mack busses, each with a capacity of 25 persons, are now in operation between Wichita Falls and Electra, it was announced Tuesday by the Wichita Falls Bus company with the arrival here of another big grey Leviathan of the road. The machine was immediately put in service. Approximately 425 people are carried daily between this city and Electra, Z. P. Owens, treasurer of the company, said Tuesday.

Thirty quarts of pre-war liquor were seized Monday night by members of the sheriff's department in a raid on a Polk street residence in which two men were arrested. Charges were filed in the state courts Tuesday morning against Bill Tidwell and Earnest Pool, charging possession of whiskey for the purpose of sale. Such familiar brands as Canadian Club, Three Star Hennessy, Black and White and John D. Ware were included in the seizure.

CLOTHES HARM HEALTH

Physician Believes Nude Men Would Be Healthier.

LONDON, June 30.—(AP) — By way of a change from religious and philosophical topics, Dean Inge has entered the realms of hygiene. Presiding at a dinner of the Sunlight league, which aims at the abolition of smoke and slums, he said in his opinion sea bathing could be employed to the betterment of health.

"The present practice," he continued "of mixed bathing, with the body completely clothed may be an agreeable social function, but hygienically it is practically useless. I deprecate the absurd restrictions of some of the town councils of our seaports in this connection. I suggest that at certain hours of the day on certain parts of the beach, men be encouraged to run about with the minimum amount of clothing, an exceedingly healthy recreation.

BUILD NEW COUORED HOUSES

English City Council Grows Tired Of Orthodox Colors.

LONDON, Jpune 30.—(AP)—The London county council is tired of the orthodox white or red brick house and is going to experiment with buff, brown, red and white colored concrete buildings.

The council's architect, G. T. Forrest, said recently there was something monotonous in a long series of dingy grey houses and, having noticed on a recent visit to the United States an attempt had been made to relieve this conotony by the use of colored materials, he intended to follow suit.

On the council's Becontree, Essex, estate, some 3,000 houses will be erected in which the American idea of mixed colorings will be adopted.

KEMP WARNS OF POLLUTION IN LAKE WATER

He Tells Bob More Contamination Will Not Be Tolerated There

What amounted to a virtual ultimatum that contamination in any manner of the waters of Lake Kemp would not be condoned was served Tuesday on R. L. More of Vernon, manager of the W. T. Waggoner estates, in a letter sent by J. A. Kemp, chairman of the board of directors of Wichita county water improvement district No. 1.

The communication was the second sent Mr. More relative to the fencing in of Lake Kemp and the proposed establishment of a recreational resort on the banks of the lake. No answer has been received from Mr. More relative to the first note, and in his letter yesterday Mr. Kemp asked for "a candid reply from you, informing us fully of what the Waggoner estate intends to do with reference to the matter herein referred to."

Pollution of the waters of the lake with sewage from existing and proposed hotels, Mr. Kemp pointed out, would constitute a serious menace to the health of approximately 100,000 persons. For that reason he denied the right of the Waggoner estate to use the shores of the lake for camping and resort purposes. Mr. Kemp's letter follows:

"Waggoner Estate, Vernon, Texas.
"Attention Mr. R. L. More:
"Dear Sirs:
"In re: Lake Kemp:
"The attention of the Wichita County Water Improvement District No. 1 has been called to the fact that the Waggoner estate is offering to sell or lease for the purpose of residence and camp sites land around the present shore of Lake Kemp, which lies below the level of the spillway and which land will necessarily be overflowed and covered with water when the lake is full.

"We recognize your right to use this land for grazing but deny your right to use it for residence and camping purposes, as such use must necessarily result in the contamination of the water.

"If residences and camps are permitted below the level of the spillway the filth will necessarily drain or be washed into the lake and even if pits or other such means are provided whenever the lake fills the contents of such pits will get into the lake.

"We very much desire to avoid litiga- [illegible] permit you for the purpose of making money to contaminate our water supply of approximately one hundred thousand people.

"We would be glad to have a candid reply from you, informing us fully of what the Waggoner estate intends to do with reference to the matter herein referred to.

"What has been said herein with reference to Lake Kemp applies also to the diversion lake."

ORANGE MAN FATALLY SHOT

Altercation Said to Have Arisen Over Saw Mill.

ORONGE, June 30.—Tom Barker 45, was shot to death at Pruitts Bluff, 12 miles north of Orange today, in an altercation said to have arisen over disputed possession of a saw mill at that place. Lemon Juice Whitens Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softene rand beautifier.

Massage into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

JUST BE PATIENT

Though Greenland's icy mountains
Extremely distant are,
And Afric's murmuring fountains
Lie—so to speak—afar,
Though one must widely travel
Through many scattered lands
To view the golden gravel
'Round India's coral strands,
A patient person I am
And merely sit and smile—
For Henry Ford will buy 'em
If just I wait a while.

No land of milk and honey,
No land of pearls and gold,
But maybe had for money
As often we are told.
And not a King or Duke or
A Rajah ever known,
Has half the store of lucre
That Henry soon will own.
He does things circumspectly,
He's shrewd, but never fear—
He'll buy these things directly,
And bring 'em over here.

Just now the ether sunders
Our planet from the stars,
We've never seen the wonders
Of Jupiter or Mars,
We can't observe a comet
Upon its heavenly raid,
We're far too distant from it
To know how it is made.
But maybe by next autumn
We'll view them close abroad—
For Henry may have bought 'em
And painted on 'em, "FORD!"

Pap Peyton started for Texhoma and looked good in the way of stuff which his opponents couldn't hit, but the big Texas Longhorn heaver couldn't find the plate and seven walks and two hit batsmen proved his undoing. Young McDuffy went to his rescue and pitched fine ball the rest of the way.

"Oklahoma Lee" Courtney led the hitters with a single, double, triple, and a sacrifice fly. Hershel Johnson collected two singles and a double in four tries.

Three double plays featured in the field, two of these went to Texhoma.

Four in First.

Security counted four times in the first inning. V. Brown's single past first. Stanfield was safe when Peyton dropped Thompson's toss to first. Montgomery sacrificed V. Brown over the pan with a neat bunt to first and was in turn safe when Thompson playe dthe ball to the plate. Courtney doubled to center, scoring Stanfield, Taylor, and Montgomery.

The Bankers scored again in the third. Montgomery walked and stole second. "Oklahoma Lee" drove him home with a scorching triple to center.

After Parker had walked in the fourth and had gone out stealing, V. Brown was passed and Peyton hit Stanfield and Taylor. McDuffy was sent to the rescue and he hit Montgomery, forcing Brown over the pan, Stanfield counted on Courtney's sacrifice fly to left.

Bank Two in Sixth.

Again in the sixth the Bankers counted a pair. V. Brown sent a long triple to right. Montgomery doubled to right after two had been retired scoring Brown. Courtney smashed a single to left scoring Montgomery.

Texhoma did their scoring in the final two rounds. Johnson's single, Boone's triple, a walk and stolen base, followed by Thompson's single scored three men in the sixth.

After Ross and McDuffy had been retired in the seventh, three more were chased over. Singles by Johnson, Boone, Hale, Thompson, sandwitched in with an error in center field scored the runs.

Only one Pirate reached second base and that was in the ninth when Moore doubled after two were out. Grimm's single a sacrifice and Adams double in the eighth resulted in the only run of the game. Mickey To Depend On Force; Greb To Bank On Speed

NEW YORK, June 30.—(AP) — Although Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, will outweigh Mickey Walker between eight and ten pounds, the middleweight champion will call upon an abundance of speed centered in an aggressive attack to defend his title against the welterweight king Thursday night in one of the two 15-round feature fights of the Italian hospital fund boxing show at the Polo Grounds.

A whirlwind offensive under which he attempts to smother the opposition in a wild flurry of punches has been the reliance of the middleweight champion in his long and successful career.

Walker, on the other hand, while by no means slow, has placed his dependence in crushing body blows which have studded his meteoric career with sensational knockouts. Boxing men consider the lighter man by far the more dangerous hitter of the two but whether he will be able to score readily upon the fast moving Greb owing to limited opportunity "to set" for his punches, remain an all important question which only the actual contest will determine.

Charley Weinert, of Newark, N. J., who faces Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, in the champion 15-round feature took only a short road run today. Wills boxed with several sparring partners and said he would weigh approximately 210 on Thursday.

The other figures on the card, Jimmy Slattery and Dave Shade, who meet in a six-round contest and Joe Lynch and Jack Sharkey who are opponents in a four-round preliminary were reported by their trainers as ready for the gong.

Kearns Barred From Fund Bouts

NEW YORK, June 30—(AP)—The state athletic commission today threw down the gauntlet to Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey and Mickey Walker, when it refused his application for a second's license and served notice on him that he would be refused admittance to the Italian hospital fund matches at the Polo Grounds Thursday night in any capacity.

American League Grabs Collegians

CHICAGO, June 30—(AP)—The American league has sifted from the June crop of college graduates more than a score of college baseball stars, about equally divided between infielders and pitchers. The Chicago White Sox, managed by one of the outstanding college diamond stars of the Major leagues, Eddie Collins, has signed the larger number of college graduates but the other clubs are following Collins' lead.

The fand lots and the minors appear neglected by the American league magnates, who are combing the college diamonds.

Southern colleges figure largely in the rush, with middle-west schools next in the size of the crop of youngsters deemed almost good enough for the major leagues.

The Holy Cross twirler, Gwen Carroll, obtained by the Detroit Tigers, has so far netted the most favorable impression of the 1925 college output.

Among the college stars signed this spring by American league clubs are:

Baylor university—Carl Freeze, pitcher, signed by the White Sox.

Texas Christian college—Leo Tankersley, catcher, signed by the White Sox.

Southern Methodist university — Gene Bedford, three-letter man, infielder, with the Indians.

Boomer Leads Glen Eagles Golf Tourney

GLEN EAGLES, Scotland, June 30 (AP).—Aubrey Boomer of the St. Cloud Country club, near Paris, with a score of 6, led the field of more than 100 professional golfers today in the first qualifying round for the annual Glen Eagles 1,000 guineas tournament. Boomer's score broke the course record. Abe Mitchell, English pro, was only one stroke behind Boomer.

Joe Kirkwood, the only American entrant in the Glen Eagles tournament, took 90. He must do much better tomorrow to survive, for from the scores turned in today there is little hope for any entrant with an aggregate above 153 being among the 32.

George Duncan, who won the tournament last year, is in an even more precarious position as he took 81 today.

Morgan Wins Number 11 When Spudders Wop Santone

TOP O' MORN STUFF

By BLONDY CROSS.

WE SHALL NOW PREPARE FOR MORE AND MANY ALIBIS BY JINX TUCKER.

Texas league schedule infringes on Spudders by billing them a three-day stand in Waco, starting with this afternoon.

* * *

It may be recalled that Tucker averred Waco was a first division club by right instead of a six-placer, something like a month ago, and that Wichita Falls did not belong in fourth but in sixth place.

* * *

That was on the eve of a Waco-Wichita Falls series. Let us chronicle that the Spudders merely improved their hold in the first division during that series, also that Wichita Falls is still in the first division and Waco today remains at the sixth notch.

BOYS MISSED THEIR GUESS.

The lads who couldn't see Dick Morgan at the start of the season have missed their chance to cash in on a truly highly effective hurler. Dick scored his eleventh triumph yesterday. He'll win more games this year than any other member of the Spud staff.

Let us have Bob Osborn this afternoon on the hilltop.

* * *

Williams, however, will be seen on the mound most any day now, and it is possible the veteran will be ready to step out today. He'll see service before the Brazos river series is out.

ABOUT DUKUM.

Speaking of Duke Trammel, which if we intended to be doing, his chance of defeating, nay stopping Cowboy Padgett, the toughest customer Trammel has ever been carded with, are greatly enhanced in the eyes of the wagering population following words of wisdom(?) uttered by the lips of Wold Bill McDermott, probably the closest follower of events fisticuff, Tuesday afternoon.

* * *

"Duke," avers Bill, "Duke, if he will step in there and fight, really fight, he'll knock Padgett out!"

* * *

Trammel, as you probably have observed by now, has been matched in the ten-round legion final of Friday eve at the Eleventh and Ohio arena with the tough-as-a-tank and wildly socking Cowpuncher Padgett, who, strange to inform, now calls Chicago his residence.

Public Opinion.

One of the most press-agented fighters in the welterweight class, mean, a riotous mixer, and with all of it a smattering of cleverness backed by a pile-driver wallop, Padgett, many of Wichita Falls fandom believe, will stop Trammel cold in his tracks for the first knockout in the career of the youthful Fort Worth socker.

Bill's Verdict.

But not so Bill McDermott. "Cowboy is tough, and he'll probably give Duke all that he can handle, and all that, but if Trammel tears in there and slugs with Padgett who usually is a bit too willing to exchange punches with an opponent, Duke should knock him out."

Cowboy a Catcher.

It might be added that Padgett as a rule stands back and takes a punch in order to get over one of his own. Fancy boxer steps in and socks at Cowboy, he doesn't budge, catches the clout, and then swings across an overhand right on his hapless opponent, not many of which does it take, as a rule to stop the other fellow all sudden-like.

Won't Catch Many.

But Padgett won't take many of Duke's starboard hooks. In fact, if he takes but one or two more than likely it will be the siesta for the former broncho buster. For there are few in the country at Trammel's weight who can hit any harder, and offhand we wouldn't venture to name this few.

* * *

Taking it all and all, those friends of Duke's who are worrying about his chances with the highly rated rough and tumbler from the Windy City may as well calm down, take a little soothing syrup or something for their nerves. Duke, if he jars loose and wages the same style of battle he has displayed in his last several bouts here, more than likely will take ample care of himself.

THE LOWDOWN.

After Trammel knocks Padgett out of the ring, let them bring Bobby Green up here and then you'll see some real fighting, confides Spencer, our press room sport critic who hasn't failed in making a correct sport prophesy yet.

Split All Settled.

Now that that's settled, let us to another matter: that Texas league split season situation. Moguls probably will gang up about the third and settle the matter, but in the meantime, John (Oscar) Parker, one of the Spudder officials, has arrived at a solution, so he avers. Says John Oscar: The correct answer to the example is to trade the Fort Worth franchise for the New York Giants, and then seven other Texas league teams will have a chance to grab the gonfalon and also avoid the embarrassment of dividing the race.

Immediate action, let us assure the palpitating public, shall be taken on the matter.

Another Cochran Reign.

Now to the next problem: Texas golfers, it now seems assured, are in for another Cochran reign. Which is as it should be. For, lo, Thomas has obtained a new set of clubs. The two-time Texas state cow pasture pool amateur champeen already is making preparations for next year's foray against Texas golfing talent in the annual titular tournament.

As J. William, the baseball expert, puts it (what he knows about golf we don't know), "Thomas has been presented by Cap Freeman a set of sticks that takes in everything from soup to nuts."

* * *

The next subject we shall discuss, aided by the staff poet, will be swimming, entitled "Modern Methods:"

"Mother, may I go out to swim?"
"Yes, my darling Rose;
Before you go to the bathing beach
Be sure to don some clothes."

* * *

"Cheer up. The sun is still shining." Framed something or other we deciphered in a home we visited yesterday.

Oh, how we wish it wasn't.

* * *

Pitcher Jake Freeze, the former Baylor star, recently reported to the White Sox, and one wisecracking Chicago scribe up and hoped in print that he wouldn't prove a frost, also declared he had heard he was a bolshevik from Texas.

These up-north authors are so-o-o-o subtle.

BODIE DOUBLES TO SEND OVER PAIR OF RUNS

Dick Allows Eight Safeties While Domestics Pole Dozen

SAN ANTONIO, June 30. Pitcher Morgan held the Bears under his thumb with an alternating overhand and underhand delivery while the Spudders took liberties with Lindsey's curves and batted out a 6 to 4 victory in the final game of the series here Tuesday. It was Morgan's eleventh victory.

The clubs were on even terms at the close of the second frame with the score standing at 2-all. Fitzgerald opened the Spudder half of the inning with a single to center, but was forced at second by Turgeon who hit to the pitcher. Dorman struck out, and then the two Spudder runners put on a twin steal. Turgeon scored, and Golvin was safe at second. Query was purposely passed, and Morgan singled to left, scoring Golvin. Tanner ground out to short. After there were two out, Meyers beat out a blow at the shortfield, and scored when Booe followed with a three-bagger to right. Warwick singled to center scoring Booe. Lindsey flied out to center.

San Antonio scored one in the third and another in the fourth. With one out, Gonzales doubled to left. He went to third after Fitzgerald took Rosenthal's long fly to center. Nason doubled to center, scoring Gonzales. The Bear run in the fourth came as result of singles by Meyers and Booe, a forceout and an overthrow by Turgeon.

The Spudders broke loose in the fifth and scored four runs, winning the game, for neither team could cross the plate thereafter. Morgan led off with a single to center. Tanner walked. Callaghan popped a single to left, loading the runways. Bodie doubled to left, scoring Morgan and Tanner. Fitzgerald singled to center, scoring Callaghan and Bodie. Turgeon popped out to second. Golvin hoisted out to center, and Fitzgerald was thrown out stealing.

MASCART SAILS UNDER BAIL

NEW YORK, June 30—(AP)—Edouard Mascart, featherweight champion of France, sailed for home today on the French line steamer Suffren under $1,000 bail following his arrest last night on complaint of Coney Island stadium promoters. He will be sued for $10,000, the stadium management announced, for failure to observe a contract requiring his appearance tonight in a bout against Babe Herman of California.

Bench Orders Call For Bell's Presence

AUSTIN, June 30.—Judge James R. Hamilton Tuesday ordered the issuance of a bench warrant for the return from the penitentiary of Foster Bell of Bellville, charged by grand jury indictment with murder in connection with the killing of Robert Schaffner at Sealy, September 5, 1922, during the Sealy street battle in which four men were killed and two injured.

Bell is now serving a five year sentence in the penitentiary in another case. The court ordered the sheriff of Travis county to have Bell before the criminal district court in Austin Monday morning, July 6, in order that a moton on change of venue in the case now pending before the court may be acted upon at that time.

Bell, together with John Miller, also of Bellville, faces a charge of murder in the criminal court growing out of the street battle at Sealy. The two men were indicted by the Austin county grand jury in January, 1923, and the case was later transferred to Travis county.

Shepherd Now Faces Long Will Contest

CHICAGO, June 30 (AP).—William Darling Shepherd, acquitted last week of the murder by typhoid inoculation of his millionaire ward, William Nelson McClintock, tomorrow faces the first tilt in what promises to be a long drawnout litigation to break young McClintock's will. It will come when an effort will be made by Shepherd's attorneys to probate the instrument. The will, drawn by Shepherd, leaves most of the $1,000,000 estate to Shepherd, except for an $8,000 annuity to Miss Isabelle Pope, McClintock's fiancee. Ten cousins of McClintock and Miss Pope are contesting the probation.

Americans Go Out in British Tennis Meet

WIMBLEDON, June 30 (AP).—Three Frenchmen and an Australian will fight out the semi-final matches in the all-England men's singles championship at Wimbledon. The Frenchmen are Jean Borotra, the champion; Rene Lacoste and Henry Cochet. The Australian is J. O. Anderson. The French colors flew gaily at the masthead in every match in which Frenchmen played today. This was particularly true in the match between Cochet and John Hennessey, ex-wolfish, the last American competitor in the championships. Hennessey looked like a world beater for two sets, but he went to pieces and lost the next three and the match to the Frenchman. The score was 7-9; 4-6; 6-1; 6-3; 6-0.

Borotra won from Barclay 6-3, 5-7; 6-3; 6-3, and Lacoste defeated Jacob 6-3; 6-8; 6-0; 6-4.

In the fourth big match Anderson used little of his reserve to beat the young Oxford student from Indfs, C. Fisher winning in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4. The only real upset of the day was the defeat of Hennessey.

There was another American loss a few minutes later when Charles H. Garland of Pittsburgh and Lawrence R. Rice of Boston fell before the Italian expert, Baron de Morpurgo and the Hungarian, Baron Bela von Kehrling, in the men's doubles. The score was 6-8, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

Borotra and Lacoste, after their singles matches, crowned their success of the day by winning their third round in the doubles from L. A. Godfree and J. D. P. Wheatley of England, 6-2, 9-7, 10-8. This match was one of the most interesting of the day.

In the women's doubles Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Elizabeth Ryan advanced another step by eliminating Miss E. Boyd and Mrs. H. S. Uta, 6-0, 6-2.

SIX MONTHS IN PERMITS WAY BEYOND 1924'S

They Exceed by Almost 2 Millions Same Period Of That Year

Building permits in Wichita Falls for the first six months of 1925 have exceeded by $1,965,712 permits for the same period in 1924, and have beaten by $837,730 the entire new construction record for all of last year. Figures compiled Tuesday by W. E. McBroom, city clerk, show that the first half of the year has seen new construction to the amount of $3,181,443 started in Wichita Falls.

From January 1, 1924, to July 1 of the same year, permits amounted to $1,215,731, while for the entire 12 months they were only $2,343,713. A record this year of $5,000,000 is not unlikely, officials estimate.

Permits for June dropped off somewhat from the record of May, but at that they mounted to $491,300, which is a very respectable showing. This figure was reached, furthermore, without the help of any large individual structures. A total of 147 permits were issued in all, most of which were for moderately priced residences.

An extensive building program in prospect for this fall, large school improvements and possibly a new hotel and warehouse give promise of running the final totals for the year to even loftier heights.
