Company 'G' to meet again

The 10th annual reunion for World World II veterans comprising Company "G" — originally organized in Scurry County — is slated Saturday on the campus of Western Texas College.

During the war, the soldiers of Company G were mobilized for five years of fighting as part of the 142nd Regiment, 36th Division.

Approximately 70 returning and local vets are expected.

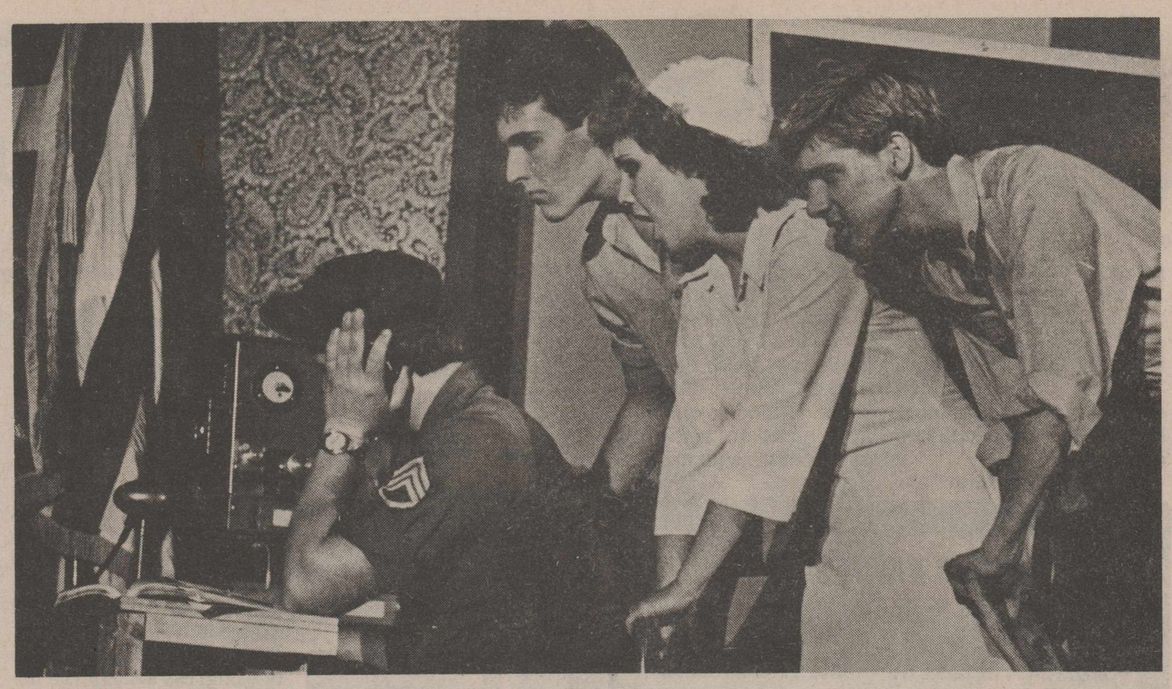

The reunion begins at 9 a.m. with registration at the WTC academic science building. This will be followed at 10 a.m. by the call to order, issued by the commander for this year's reunion, "Ches" Horsely. Assisting also is John C. Portis.

During the afternoon, reunion members will return for a business meeting to begin at 2 p.m. It will include the election of officers for the coming year.

It is estimated some 25 veterans of "G" Company still reside in Scurry County. The event was organized in 1973 to honor both the living and the deceased members of the World War II unit.

WAITING FOR NEWS — Commander Harbison (Larry Light), Nellie Forbush (Dana Parham) and Captian Brackett (Shane Sullivan) listen for news of their comrades, assisted by the radio operator (Bob Spikes) in a scene from the second act of "South Pacific." The SHS fine arts production is scheduled for two more performances at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Worsham Auditorium. (SDN Staff Photo by Noble B. Young)

Approval for defense billions nears

WASHINGTON (AP) — An adjournment-bound Congress is being asked to approve a military spending bill that gives President Reagan more than $249 billion but sets back his plans to add to the nation's arsenal of lethal nerve gas.

Negotiators for the House and Senate emerged from two days of closed-door deliberations late Thursday with the measure, which compromised separate bills passed earlier this month by the two chambers.

Leaders planned to bring the legislation, known as a conference report, to the floor for final passage today as Congress drove toward completing its 1983 session.

Reagan's signature is expected, even though the measure is more than $11 billion smaller than his budget request. At the same time, it is $17 billion bigger than the comparable legislation last year.

Much of Thursday's meeting was consumed reaching agreement on how much to give the CIA, whose money is buried in classified portions of the legislation, to finance operations against the leftist government of Nicaragua.

Conference leaders said the compromise permits $24 million for those operations to be taken from the agency's overall contingency fund and requires the CIA to seek a supplemental appropriation, probably next June, if it wants more.

The House had set the limit at $19 million and specified that none could be spent after April 1 unless the congressional intelligence committees decided otherwise. The Senate had earmarked $29 million, with no strings attached.

The money is to be used officially to interdict the flow of arms to Central America from Cuba and the Soviet Union, but it has been widely reported that the money is used largely to support guerrillas fighting the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua.

In contrast to the prolonged haggling over the CIA money, the decision to strip out the $124.4 million that the Senate had included for nerve gas facilities and production came in fairly short order.

The turndown marked the second straight year that Congress has refused to provide money to produce new nerve gas artillery shells and bombs.

Group honors WTC professor

Dr. Franklin B. Pruitt was honored for outstanding service to Western Texas College and its students in ceremonies held Thursday morning in the student center.

His name will be inscribed on a plaque to be hung in the student center, with the names of subsequent honorees to be added each year.

The award was announced by Danny Hunter, president of the WTC Student Senate and the Psi Zeta chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor fraternity for students in two-year colleges.

The two organizations planned the award and program as a highlight of Texas Community College Week being observed Nov. 13-19 by proclamation of Gov. Mark White. PTK is also calling attention to its Founder's Day on Saturday.

Pruitt joined the faculty at WTC in the fall of 1974 after teaching at Snyder High School for 22 years. He is currently devoting his teaching time to history courses.

He was graduated from Lindale High School and received the bachelor of arts degree from Baylor University. He was awarded the master of education degree from East Texas State University and earned his doctorate in education at Texas Tech University in 1978.

He served in the Coast Guard during World War II and in the Navy during the Korean conflict.

His wife, the former Elois McDow, is a native of Snyder. She was graduated from Snyder High School and received an associate in arts degree from WTC. She is employed in the office of the district clerk.

Scholarship group names officers

Officers were elected and a new member named to the board of directors of the Western Texas College Scholarship Foundation at its quarterly meeting this week.

Roger Mize, president of Snyder National Bank, was re-elected president of the board and named to a new three-year term. Also re-elected were Pat Falls, Scurry County rancher, vice president; and H.W. Cargile, chairman of the board of West Texas State Bank, secretary.

The new member of the board is WTC board of trustee member Bill Jones. Other board members are Billy McCormick, Jonisue Stiff and Bill Wilson.

The WTC Scholarship Foundation exists primarly to invest and earn money for scholarships and this year has about $42,400 available for awards.

The foundation has approximately $177,600 in investments and uses the interest from that fund for scholarships. WTC was able to award about 30 scholarships for the fall semester using Foundation monies. Students who are interested in scholarships are invited to contact James Parker, director of student financial aid, at the WTC administration building.

Two robberies lead to pleas

Seven criminal defendants — including two convenience store robbery suspects — offered guilty pleas in 132nd District Court this week.

Ruth Mae Bailey of Colorado City, indicted by the November grand jury for the October robbery of the C&W Food Basket at South College Ave., pleaded guilty to the charge against her. She was sentenced to seven years in the Texas Department of Corrections.

Steven Ray Harris of Snyder, charged with robbery in connection with the June 12 armed robbery of the C&W Food Basket at U.S. Highway 84 and Huffman Ave. in north Snyder, also entered a guilty plea.

He was sentenced to six years in the TDC for the robbery and received a second six-year sentence for burglary with intent to commit theft after he pleaded guilty to the Aug. 27 burglary of a building owned by Terry Williams.

Receiving county jail terms for felony DWI were David Mark Merritt and James Edward Neblett. Both pleaded guilty to respective charges.

Neblett received a six-month jail term while Merritt was sentenced to 90 days in the county facility.

Defendants drawing probated prison terms included Mike Martinez, James Keith Prather and Sterling Dale Williams.

Martinez had been charged with one count of felony DWI and one count of aggravated assault on a peace officer on Sept. 30. He entered guilty pleas to both charges and was placed on probation for five years.

Prather, indicted in May for hindering a secured creditor, was placed on probation for 10 years after entering his plea.

Sterling Dale Williams, indicted in October on one count of rape of a child (under 17 years of age),

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Failures are divided into two classes--those who thought and never did, and those who did and never thought."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

O. G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, says that he now knows why he always feels tired. Thanks to a survey of newspaper people, the cause is the terrible stress of meeting deadlines every day.

"The Gannett Newspapers issued results of a survey based on responses by 544 editors and 358 spouses. The results revealed that nearly four out of every 10 editors believe they have a health problem that is job related.

"The most oft-cited malady, says the survey, was an inability to sleep. Other problems cited in the survey included a feeling of constant fatigue, gain of weight, hypertension, and a need for aspirin or other daily medication."

Like Nieman, inability to sleep is not our problem. We can catch a quick snooze standing up. The wife says our job-related malady may be a four-letter word--L-a-z-y.

Another newspaper friend, Terry Neill, is publisher of the Ballinger Ledger. A couple of weeks ago he got married despite the protest of the bride's mother.

Neill wrote:

"But mother," the bride said, "you always told me not to marry for money."

"That I did, dear, but the least you can do is to try for minimum wage."

Stephen Henry, in the Levelland News-Press, says a county in California has a novel approach to cope with overcrowded conditions in their jails.

Some convicted criminals will serve all or part of their sentence at home. At first glance, it appears to be another case of pampering the criminals. "But on the other hand, it could be that the wrath of the little woman at home might be worse punishment than confinement in the county jail."

Most jails and homes now have TV's. The punishment might be more severe if inmates were required to watch TV--especially the daytime variety.

Citywide service for Thanksgiving

The Scurry County Ministerial Alliance will sponsor its traditional community wide Thanksgiving service at 7 p.m. Sunday at Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Offering the sermon Sunday night will be the Rev. Ken Coffey, minister, First Christian Church.

In addition, the service will include both a mixed children's choir and a mixed adult choir comprised of the membership of First Baptist, Colonial Hill, Trinity Methodist, First United Methodist and First Christian Church.

The children's choir will feature some 100 voices with the adult group equaling some 70 singers.

A slide presentation prepared by Jerry Neill, music director at First Baptist, will be offered also in addition to a children's hand bell choir.

The membership of all Snyder churches and the general public are invited.

Ask Us

Q. — Why doesn't the city rotate the dumpsters between the houses served?

A. — City officials say if requested and if space allows, the dumpster will be moved. They note that the dumpster can be placed only on one side — since they are of the side-load variety — and that the city tries to place these so that walking distance is as equal as possible. Residential dumpsters are placed so that a maximum of four houses are served.

In Brief

Marines begin maneuvers

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Nearly 1,000 U.S. Marines were ready to land today on an isolated beach in northern Honduras, kicking off two weeks of joint military maneuvers with Honduran forces.

The leftist Sandinista government in neighboring Nicaragua sees the maneuvers, coming on the heels of the invasion of Grenada, as the prelude to a U.S.-backed attack on Nicaragua.

Sandinista leaders are stepping up preparations for war, but the U.S. ambassador in Nicaragua said Thursday the fears of a U.S. invasion are "exaggerated."

Elsewhere in Central America, Costa Rica declared its "permanent ... unarmed" neutrality, and journalists who traveled to three towns in northern El Salvador were told army troops had killed more than 100 leftist sympathizers, including women and children. The army said the victims were "terrorists" and "subversives."

The amphibious landing by Marines, accompanied by a Honduran infantry battalion at Puerto Castillo on Honduras' Caribbean coast, is a highlight of the Big Pine II excercise that began in August and is expected to last into March.

Smoke scare investigated

Snyder firemen were called to a smoke scare and a minor truck fire Thursday.

A minor kitchen fire was the reported cause of smoke reported at 11:50 a.m. at the Asidrio Martinez residence in the Oasis Trailer Park.

A fire in the engine compartment of a 1972 Ford pickup owned by Willie Berkley of Mineral Wells took firefighters to the 3600 Block of Ave. X at 6:12 p.m.

Minor property damage was noted after both incidents.

Assault charge filed

A district attorney spokesman said Friday felony aggravated assault charges were to be filed against a 29-year-old Scurry County man who turned himself in to city police Thursday evening.

The arrest followed reports received around 8 p.m. that an armed man was threatening a woman in the Varsity Square parking lot.

After responding to the call, officers say no suspects were noted at the scene.

Around 10 p.m., Warren Drexel Sales of Rt. 1, Snyder turned himself in at the city police station in connection with the incident. He was released from custody late Thursday night on a $750 personal recognizance bond.

Planetarium show Sunday

"Constellations of North America" will be shown in the planetarium at Western Texas College at 2 p.m. Sunday. The show is free to the public.

This will be the last showing of this program, Steven Kennedy, planetarium operator, said. A Christmas program is being prepared for December.

Campus visitors are also invited to attend the opening of an exhibit of paintings by LaVerne Lee in the Fine Arts Gallery. A reception honoring the artist is planned from 1:30 until 3 p.m.

They were 'out to get her'...

Youths slay elderly woman

HOUSTON (AP) — A 77-year-old woman was brutally gunned down in her east Harris County home, apparently by youths who "were out to get her," police said.

Rose Curry, her body riddled with at least six .22-caliber slugs, was found by sheriff's deputies Thursday after neighbors became concerned that her lights had remained on.

Investigators said she apparently had been knitting Christmas ornaments Tuesday evening as she sat on her living room sofa when at least two intruders burst into her home. Her body was found in a bedroom where she apparently had tried to flee.

Police said the woman's purse, containing about $100, was missing.

Sgt. Joe Seckler, with the Harris County special investigative unit, said he believed the murder was vindictive, not just a robbery.

"It just looks like some kids were out to get her," he said.

Investigators said the telephone line to her house had been cut.

When the Cubans we expelled from Grenada returned to Havana they were greeted at the airport by Fidel Castro.

His lips said they were "heros." His eyes mirrored "defeat."

Florida Congressman Bill McCollum proposes that we now send home to Cuba the criminals and mental patients which Castro sent to the United States in 1980.

And 220 other members of Congress second the notion!

Congressman Bill McCollum is not a heartless man. Three times this year he has sought donations and organized airlifts of medical supplies to El Salvador.

While government agencies were "thinking about" it, he got busy and did it.

The first such medical aid from the Agency for International Development will not get under way before next year.

But Congressman McCollum, a member of the House Subcommittee on Immigration, thinks that Castro threw us a spitball when he emptied his prisons and mental hospitals on us during the Mariel boatlift of 1980.

We are still housing at least 1,180 of those criminals in our federal prisons at a continuing cost to American taxpayers of $10,000 each.

Other hundreds are getting care in mental health facilities at a cost of $40,000 a year.

Eighty, in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D.C., are costing American taxpayers $75,000 a year—each.

Despite the obvious advantages to us of returning undesirable Cubans to Cuba, admittedly international law and logistics pose problems.

Conceivably they could be sent back to Cuba with the Grenada deportees but inevitably this would raise Geneva Convention considerations relating to the treatment of prisoners of war.

The unwanted ones could be marched through the gate at Guantanamo — but risks retaliation by Castro against our garrison at Guantanamo.

One suggestion offered by Congressman McCollum is that they be placed aboard an obsolete ship and set adrift in the Gulf Stream off Haiti from where they would inevitably drift into Cuban waters.

Political repercussion? Perhaps.

Yet the wide-spectrum support for Congressman McCollum's proposal in both houses of Congress reflects a frustration, an impatience with this bush-league dictator's arrogance and a frustration with the larger problems of immigration.

The sense of Congress seems to be that while we can't seem to do much about the larger problems, we should do this that we can do.

Rod's no show angers judge

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — If rock singer Rod Stewart continues to duck a court appointment in a case concerning his hit song "I Was Only Joking," the judge says he'll prove that he's not fooling around.

The British performer has repeatedly failed to make himself available for a deposition in a copyright suit filed against him by a songwriter, U.S. District Judge John Nixon said Thursday.

Housing area is stabalizing

By The Associated Press

The rate of construction starts on new housing in October was 3.8 percent lower than the month before, and one banker predicts the homebuilding industry is settling down for "a long winter's nap."

The Commerce Department reported the latest decline on Thursday, and Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said he believed housing starts were settling into a period of stability at approximately October's 1.61 million rate.

New construction hit its highest level in nearly five years during August and then dropped sharply in September in a decline largely attributed to a rise in interest rates.

Mark J. Riedy, executive vice president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America, said Thursday he expected interest rates over the next few months to be stable.

Riedy said the housing industry "is settling down for a long winter's nap. They will wait to see what rates are going to be in the spring."

The October report said starts on single-family homes fell 7.2 percent, while those for buildings with five or more units rose 3.3 percent.

In a sign of some increases ahead, the Commerce Department said permits taken out for future construction rose 3.9 percent after declining 8.8 percent in September.

GM wants lawsuit tossed out

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Corp. wants a federal judge to throw out a government lawsuit seeking to force the recall of 1.1 million 1980-model X-body cars.

GM contends the automaker should get a chance make its case to federal safety authorities.

Through his questions U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson indicated Thursday that he was skeptical of the legal merits of GM's procedural move. But he gave no indication as to when he might rule.

Rapists given choice: prison or castration

ANDERSON, S.C. (AP) — A judge who offered three admitted rapists the choice of spending 30 years in jail or being castrated says the sentence fits the crime, but a lawyer calls it "cruel and unusual" punishment.

In offering the castration option, Circuit Judge C. Victor Pyle Jr. said Thursday he felt he was handing down an "appropriate sentence" because the rape was the most horrible he had ever heard of.

Pyle said the 23-year-old victim nearly died after being severely beaten and repeatedly raped by the three men on April 6. Roscoe James Brown, 27, of Pendleton, S.C., Mark Wallace Vaughn, 21, of Clemson, S.C., and Michael Braxton, 19, of Sarasota, Fla., all pleaded guilty to the crime last month.

The three men appeared stunned as they listened to the sentence in Anderson County General Sessions Court, according to Solicitor George Ducworth.

Theo Mitchell, a Greenville, S.C., attorney who represents Braxton, described the sentence as "cruel and unusual punishment" and said he would appeal.

"It was a heinous crime. But there's no question about it, the sentence is prohibited by the U.S. Constitution," Mitchell said. "The voluntary castration option has tainted the entire sentence."

In a telephone interview Thursday from the Anderson County Jail, Brown said he and his co-defendants would issue a statement on the sentence today. Glenn Thomason, the attorney for the other two defendants, made no immediate statement.

Although Pyle specified physical castration in his sentencing order, he said he "wouldn't be opposed to the use of chemicals."

Chemical castration is a controversial procedure accomplished by administering the drug Depoprovera, a female hormone which researchers believe reduces the male sex drive.

A 29-year-old San Antonio, Texas, man who pleaded guilty to two rape-related charges was sentenced to undergo Depo-provera treatments, and is now receiving the injections weekly at Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore, officials said.

Pyle said he had never before imposed a sentence involving castration, and was "not aware of there being any provision in the law providing for such a penalty as castration."

"I would not have done it if I didn't think the law provided for it," Pyle added. "It's nothing mandatory. It simply provides each defendant with a viable alternative to incarceration."

If the men choose castration, they will be put on five years' probation, he said.

Pyle said the men will be sent to Perry Correctional Institution in Pelzer, S.C., and can decide to take the castration option at any point during their incarceration.

The 30-year sentence is the maximum penalty for first-degree sexual criminal conduct, Ducworth said. The three men were each given an additional five years in prison on a criminal conspiracy charge, which will run concurrently.

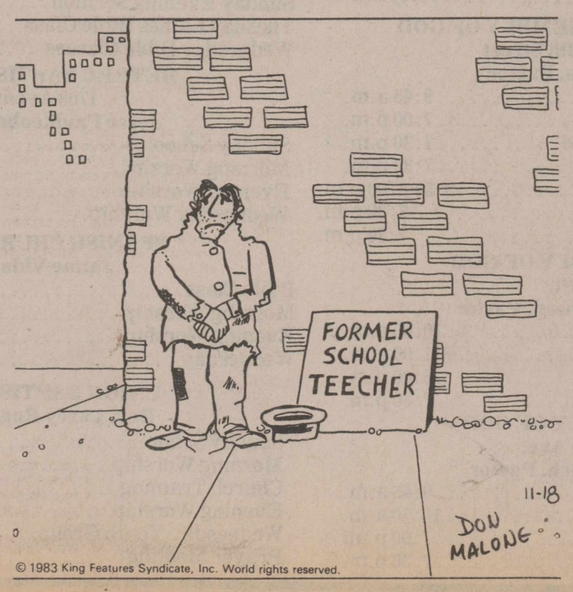

Jackson kicks off campaign

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson brought his presidential campaign to San Antonio in an attempt to forge black and Hispanic voters into a "rainbow coalition," which he hopes could lead him to the White House.

"The old minorities in coalition are the new majority," said Jackson, the eighth Democrat and first black to enter the presidential campaign.

He met briefly with City Council members Thursday night and later addressed a packed crowd at a rally sponsored by the League of United Latin American Citizens.

Receives million dollar vindication

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Rep. Charles Wilson says he received "a million dollar vindication" from the House ethics committee, which spent $1.5 million to conclude there is no hard evidence of illegal drug use by current House members. But the panel found "substantial evidence" that three former lawmakers used drugs.

The committee's special counsel, Joseph A. Califano Jr., said Thursday that former Democratic Reps. John Burton of California and Frederick Richmond of New York confessed "under oath after a grant of immunity" that they used drugs.

Ex-Republican Rep. Barry M. Goldwater Jr. of California admitted to no drug use but Califano said, "There was substantial evidence of such activity." Goldwater called Califano's statement "outrageous. Absolutely inaccurate."

The 147-page report released wove a tale of marijuana and cocaine use inside the U.S. Capitol, saying that one of the three ex-congressmen, doorkeepers, tour guides, pages, and even Capitol Police officers sometimes bought the drugs in the building.

The report did not spell out, by name, which former congressman had done what — and Califano, when questioned by reporters, refused to be that specific.

Dear Abby

Woman Launches Mercy Mission of Matrimony

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading your column for years in the Scranton Tribune but never needed to write before this. I am 62 and have been taught from childhood to help my fellowman.

I know a wonderful 27-year-old man who is as nice as they come. He's served four years in the U.S. Army, believes in God, and has no prejudices whatsoever.

Can you rush me a list of missionaries, institutions, religious orders and lonely hearts magazines where he could find a nice girl who maybe has had a hard life and would appreciate a tall, handsome, slim, young white man? Religion doesn't matter. He could give her a nice home, children, marriage and a happy future. He doesn't care if she's divorced, widowed or has had a child out of wedlock. And it's even OK if she's Oriental or American Indian. Thank you.

A FRIEND IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR FRIEND: Your friend sounds like a fine young man, but if you want to help him, please encourage him to find his own wife. He can begin by socializing where decent, worthwhile people spend their time. He could volunteer his services to the elderly, disabled, disadvantaged children and veterans. All these people have friends and relatives. All he has to do is let them know he is interested in meeting a nice woman. Nice young women are standing in line to meet a decent young man.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Is it right for my family (brothers and sisters) to invite my ex-husband and his new wife to family parties where I am invited even after I have specifically requested them not to? And to add insult to injury, his new wife was the woman who broke up our marriage. They are all aware of how he mistreated me during our marriage, but they continue to include him in family gatherings.

I want to be with my family—particularly for the holidays—but not if he is going to be there.

HURT IN BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

DEAR HURT: Since your family is aware that your "ex" has mistreated you and you are uncomfortable in his presence, but they invite him anyway, then they have made a choice. And it's not you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I wish kids would stop calling it "making love" when it's simply "having sex."

Sex is the icing on the cake. To make a cake, you assemble the right ingredients, combine them properly, bake and cool. Then apply the icing!

Thanks for listening.

DISGUSTED IN SAPULPA, OKLA.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Right! The most important part is letting the cake cool.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago you ran a letter that still bothers me. It was signed "Can't Decide." She couldn't decide if she should marry the "wonderful, considerate, generous" man she had been dating for two years because he was "short, stocky and bald." She said she was afraid that any children they might have would look like him.

Abby, I'm so glad you advised her to not marry him because she was unsure. I have an even greater concern for any children they might have: They might grow up to think like her.

Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Your ingenuity in financial areas will be considerably heightened this coming year. It looks like you're going to put together some solid deals.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Financial opportunities are around you today. Something profitable might be suggested by a close associate. Scorpio predictions for the year ahead are now ready. Romance, career, luck, earnings, travel and much more are discussed. Send $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be a person of both ideas and action today. When you conceive of something clever, don't let any grass grow under your feet in putting it into motion.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You should be able to get a better handle today on matters over which you've had little control lately. Now you'll be able to set the course you desire.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you've met a new friend recently whom you would like to know better, take the initiative today and invite him or her to your place.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In a situation where you have been competing against others, there will be a beneficial shift in circumstances today to give you the edge.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Bright ideas are likely to come to you in rapid succession today, especially for improving your material interests. Be sure to make them count.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Information denied you previously can be brought out into the bright light of day today if you ask the right probing questions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who hasn't always been supportive will sincerely want to asist you today. Take him up on his offer.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you feel that you and your friends have gotten into a rut in your social habits lately, try to introduce some novel changes today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be alert for career opportunities today. Something promising could develop through someone you'll meet in a chance encounter.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Use your ingenuity today to help find new ways to get certain things you've been wanting for the family, things you couldn't swing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be a good listener today. You might be able to pick up valuable elements from conversations that will go over the heads of others.

BRIDGE

Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

A nightmare defense

We really sympathize with the unlucky expert who held the South hand. He arrived at a very normal four-heart contract, only to have East produce an unusual double and West produce the surprise lead to start the defense on its way to glory.

Against the normal jack of spades lead, South has no trouble at all bringing home 11 tricks. In fact, the game was duplicate and every other North-South pair scored plus 650. The U.E. scored minus 200.

West thought a long while about what his partner's double could mean and finally decided that East had extended the Lightner slam double (which asks for an unusual lead) down to the game level.

He opened the nine of clubs. East ruffed for the first defensive trick, thought a long time and eventually came up with the only series of plays to get two more tricks. He led a low spade!

South rose with his king and led a trump to East's ace. Then East came up with the crusher. He led a second low spade.

West got in with his jack and led a second club for East to ruff.

The defense had been unbelievable — so unbelievable that we think our unlucky friend made the whole thing up.

Clayton scores 29 as...

Dusters advance in tourney

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

BIG SPRING -- Roby sophomore Mary Nell Clayton blitzed the hoop for 29 points here Thursday to lead Western Texas College past Weatherford, 79-70, in first-round action of the Hawk Queen Classic.

The Dusters, now 6-1 for the season, are to play New Mexico Junior College today at 6 p.m. as the three-day tournament continues. NMJC was a 75-71 winner over Navarro.

A case could be made that Western Texas won this one from the freethrow line. Even there, Clayton stood out. Western went to the line 23 times and converted on 19 - Clayton was 9 of 10 - while Weatherford took 33 trips but made only 16.

The nine-point difference in the final score wasn't an indication of WTC's dominance, but neither could fans fault Weatherford for taking advantage of opportunities and making the finish a relatively close one.

Western led at intermission, 37-28, then outscored the Coyotes 16-4 in the first seven minutes of the second half to control, 53-32. But a series of fouls - which saw Weatherford go into the bonus with 10:30 remaining and sent 6-2 freshman Clara Campbell to the bench a minute later - played a major role after that. Renvy Evans and Patti Hayes had four fouls each, and the Dusters were forced to limit their aggressiveness on the boards.

The Coyotes responded by outscoring WTC 14-2 in a five minute span. Weatherford contined to battle, and with 2:12 left, appeared in good shape when Evans fouled out, giving Dana Jefferson the chance to complete a three-point play with the score at 67-62. Jefferson missed the freethrow and Clayton drew a foul when she pulled it off the board. Clayton made her charity shots - two of her eight points in the final two minutes of the game.

WC's Julie Callaway tried to bring the Coyotes back by hitting a couple of 20-footers, but Clayton and freshman guard Rhonda Hoelting responded with perfect efforts at the freethrow line to preserve the victory.

"We played good when we had too," said Coach Joe Cushing. "We got a little bit anxious on our shots and we weren't making our breaks off of the defense. They put a mock press on us and we acknowledged it by coming down and taking the shot too quickly until we could call time out and get set up. I think you could say the turning point in the game was when they missed the freethrow (on the possible three-point play) and Mary Nell made her freethrows at the other end. They had the momentum until then," he added.

"We kept our poise and didn't turn the ball over in the last few minutes and that was crucial. Mary Nell played an outstanding game and Rhonda played one of her best games. She's gaining confidence and I think she'll be off and running now. Patti did a good job and Lyndy and Diana played well and allowed us to rest some people," pointed out the coach.

Clayton's 29 points - her all time high at WTC - led all scorers. The 5-11 talent also came away with seven steals and six rebounds. Hoelting, who was five of five from the line herself, slammed in 19 points. Hayes had 7, Campbell 6 and French and Evans 5 apiece. Karen Kuykendall led WTC in rebounding with 7.

MARY NELL CLAYTON

Callaway scored 14 for Weatherford, which also got 12 each from Jefferson and Teresa Berger and 11 from Della Riewe.

SWC roundup...

Texas aims for title

by The Associated Press

The Texas Longhorns can earn a Cotton Bowl berth and a share of the Southwest Conference football title Saturday by defeating Baylor.

If they don't, then the Longhorns have the luxury of trying it one more time the following week against Texas A&M.

No. 2 ranked Texas is 6-0 in the SWC and 9-0 overall.

No. 6 ranked Southern Methodist, which plays Arkansas in Little Rock at 11:35 a.m. in a nationally (ABC) televised game, trails the 'Horns by a game.

Should SMU and Texas tie the 'Horns would get the bowl because they beat the Mustangs.

Meanwhile, SMU is expected to accept a Sun Bowl berth opposite Alabama after Saturday's game against the Razorbacks. It will be played on Christmas Eve.

Texas was a 13-point favorite over the Bluebonnet Bowl-bound Bears, who are expected to accept a bid for a New Year's Eve date against Oklahoma State following the game.

SMU rated a 7-point choice over the Razorbacks.

In other games, Texas A&M was a touchdown pick over Texas Christian in Fort Worth and Houston was also a touchdown choice over Texas Tech in a night game in the Astrodome.

Baylor brings the most potent offense in the SWC against the Longhorn defense, which is the best in the nation.

The Bears have not beaten Texas in Austin since 1951. There was a tie in 1957.

"Their defense is so good it shouldn't be called the Texas Longhorns," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "They should be called the Texas Scrooges. They are stingy."

Texas' defense has yielded just one touchdown in the last five games.

The 'Horns have allowed an average of only 188.3 yards a game, best in the nation. Texas also leads the country in defending against the pass (87.2 yards) and against scoring (7.8).

Baylor has the SWC's top offense at 411.6 yards per game and quarterbacks Cody Carlson and Tom Muecke are 1-2 in passing.

"Our football team, although it's very young, is not intimidated by playing the No. 2 team in the nation in their own back yard," Teaff said. "But that's not to say we don't respect them. Like you have respect for any great person, team or champion of any kind, we have respect for the University of Texas Football team.

"It should be a great matchup with our very productive offense and their stingy defense."

Texas Coach Fred Akers said of the Bears: "They are riding high. It should be a great test. It should be a great football game."

A crowd between 70,000 and 75,000 fans are expected in the 73rd renewal of the series. Texas leads 53-15-4.

Dr Pepper directors accept takeover offer

NEW YORK (AP) — Analysts in the soft-drink industry say that Dr Pepper Co.'s approval of a $512.5 million takeover offer from an investment firm should help the company survive in an increasingly competitive market.

Forstmann Little & Co. has agreed to pay stockholders $22 cash for each of 23.3 million outstanding shares of Dr Pepper in the transaction, which will allow top management of the Dallas-based soft drink manufacturer to remain in place and keep the company intact.

Officials of Forstmann Little "bring money, money, money, money" to Dr Pepper, said Jesse Meyers, whose Beverage Digest newsletter is an industry standard. "There's got to be a lot of joy in Dallas on Mockingbird Lane," location of the company's headquarters.

Meyers said Forstmann Little, established in 1978, is unlikely to interfere with operations of Dr Pepper, whose board of directors approved the takeover bid Thursday.

"They will absolutely encourage management to do the things they do well and just give them financial advice when needed," he said.

Most analysts believe the sale will help Dr Pepper gain the muscle it must have to compete. The company has been losing ground as diet and no-caffeine drinks grab an ever-increasing share of the market.

The agreement must be ratified by the company's stockholders and is subject to other conditions.

Forstmann Little said it would invest about $150 million in the Dr Pepper ransaction. Forstmann ittle said it had letters of commitment from five commercial banks for unsecured loans to pay the balance of the purchase price.

Dr Pepper's stock was frozen Wednesday at $17.62½ a share when trading was halted on the New York Stock Exchange pending an announcement after a directors' meeting.

Only one day earlier, the investment company announced a $94.5 million takeover of Topps Chewing Gum Inc.

Wm. Brian Little, a general partner of Forstmann Little, said the senior management of Dr Pepper would be offered a chance to buy an interest in a corporation to be created by Forstmann Little as a means of absorbing Dr Pepper.

Parents decision against surgery ruled reasonable

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — A judge who ruled against attempts by the federal government to intervene in the case of "Baby Jane Doe" says the parents of the deformed infant made a "reasonable" decision against corrective surgery.

The ruling Thursday by U.S. District Judge Leonard Wexler went against a Justice Department contention that the month-old baby may have been discriminated against because she is handicapped.

The ruling was blasted as "outrageous" by a right-to-life group, but hailed by the parents and their lawyer, who labeled the federal intervention "government at its worst."

The baby was born at University Hospital in Stony Brook on Oct. 11 with spina bifida — an open spinal cord — and with excess fluid on the brain and an abnormally small head.

The parents, a Long Island couple who have not been identified in court proceedings, decided against operations that doctors said might extend the baby's life from a few years to a few decades, but would not change her paralysis and severe retardation.

The judge turned down the federal government's request to review medical records in the case.

Berry's World

Population quota is leveling off

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — A national family planning official says world population growth is slowing so quickly that researchers now believe it could taper off 20 to 25 years sooner and at half the level previously predicted.

"That's encouraging because earlier reports showed that the world's population could reach 12 billion," Roy Morgan, executive director of the National Family Planning and Reproductive Health Association told the El Paso Times Thursday. "It's now showing that around (the year) 2005 or 2010, it will level off at 6 billion to 8 billion."

World population is currently estimated at 4 billion people.

Morgan and 12 other family planning officials from around the U.S. were in Juarez Thursday to begin a week-long tour of family planning programs in Mexico.

The group is spending its first two days visiting Juarez's Maternal Child and Family Planning program, which is being used as a model throughout Mexico.

In recent years, U.S. family planning programs have shifted emphasis from population control to teen pregnancy and women's health issues, Morgan said. But, he said, for third-world countries, birth control is still the main mission.

Though studies show that birth control is helping to slow world population growth, Morgan said, foreign aid to third-world nationals deserves some of the credit.

He said improved economic conditions lead to reduction in the size of families and increased status for women.

During World War I, the Battle of Flanders broke out in 1917.

The laxative habit

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 54-year-old lady and have a problem with constipation. For the last 25 years I have taken laxatives regularly, two or three times a week.

The older I get, the less they seem to work. I have tried switching to several different kinds of laxatives, tried prune juice, drank more water, but still notice a definite slowing down. Even enemas do not seem to work as well as they used to.

I'm afraid one day soon nothing will work. What solution do you have for my problem? I am irritable and often have slight headaches. I feel sure constipation is the reason, since I am otherwise healthy.

DEAR READER — Your mistake was starting the laxative habit. Now you will probably need professional help to get off the habit and, it is hoped, to train your bowel.

It is generally true that the chronic laxative user finds that laxatives become less and less effective over time. But other factors often enter the picture. Many people do eat less as they get older. That means less bulk for the colon. And decreased physical activity also plays a role.

You may be hooked on the false idea that you need to have a bowel movement every day. If you don't have much bulk in your diet, there is no such requirement. To put it bluntly, if you don't put any fuel in the furnace, there are no ashes to haul.

The laxative habit often results in premature emptying of the colon. It may take a couple of days — or longer, if you don't have much bulk — to refill the colon. The bowel-conscious individual can't wait that long and takes another laxative, again emptying the colon prematurely and keeping the cycle going. Soon the colon no longer responds to Nature's own natural stimuli.

So see your doctor for some supervision and, meanwhile, review the amount of bulk in your diet and your exercise program.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 12-8, Laxatives, Enemas and Suppositories, for more information. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please discuss steamed foods and how to count the calories? People say it would be a good way for my husband to lose weight — to eat steamed foods and fresh fruit.

My husband had bypass surgery three years ago and is also a diabetic. He is 5-foot-11 and weighs 197 pounds. I would like to know if he should eat so much fresh fruit.

DEAR READER — Steaming is an excellent way to prepare foods without adding fat. Since there won't be any fat added in preparation, you can figure the calories will be close to those in the uncooked food. The exception would be from the loss of some fat from meats, which is to the good.

But if you start with a fatty food, it will still contain a lot of fat calories.

Fresh whole fruits are less likely to cause a problem with your husband's diabetes than juices. Raw apples will not increase the blood glucose level. Try to use apples and bulky fruit.

And if his doctor approves, get him to walk regularly, increasing his walking time gradually. A daily long walk will help him a lot in losing weight.

Within a generation...

Diabetes may be controlled

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Scientists may discover within a generation how to control or prevent diabetes, one of the nation's major killers, a medical research expert said at a conference at the University of Texas Medical Branch.

Dr. David Kipnis, chairman of the department of medicine at Washington University in St. Louis, said Thursday in an interview that medical researchers are on the brink of developing methods of curing diabetes completely and, perhaps, even developing innoculations that will prevent people from developing the disease.

"I think with a generation we will see diabetes completely controlled," Kipnis said.

Diabetes develops when the pancreas of a patient stops producing insulin, a hormone that is essential for the metabolism of sugars and carbohydrates. There are about 10 million diabetics in the U.S. and about 20 percent of these require regular doses of insulin to stay alive. Diabetes is the 3rd to 4th most common cause of death and is often the base cause of heart disease in the young.

Kipnis said scientists have discovered that there is a virus associated with diabetes and an indication that some people have a predisposition for developing the disease.

He said there is a possibility that an innoculation against the virus will be developed.

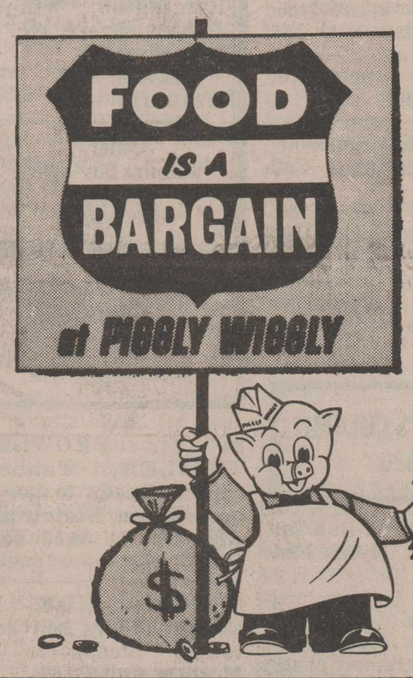

"We could then identify the people who are at risk (candidates for diabetes) and give them the immune agent," he said.

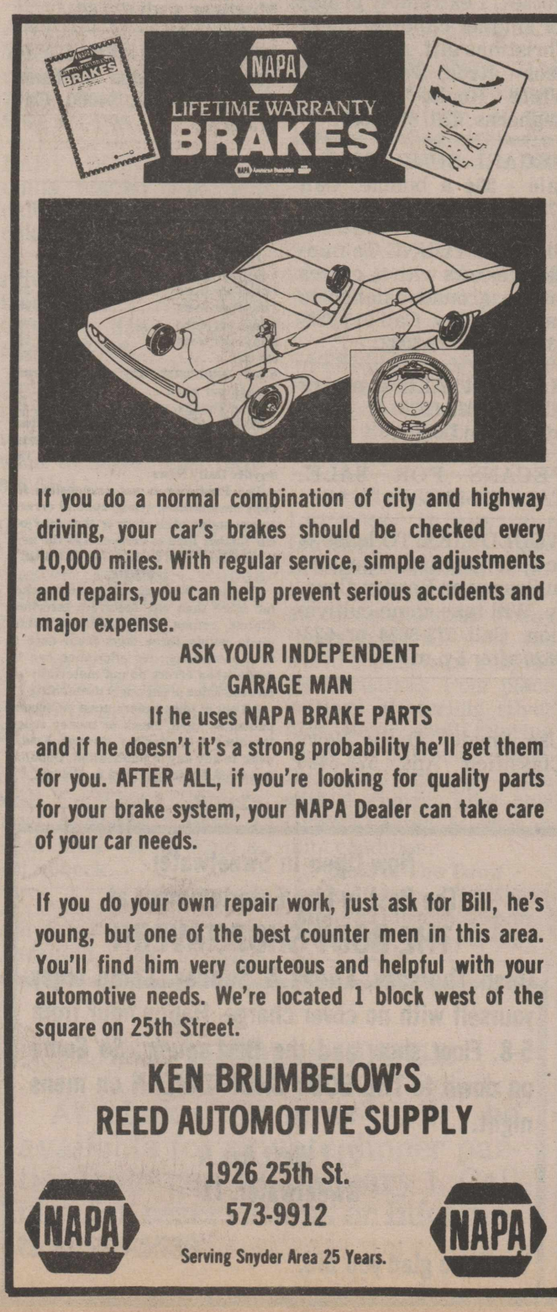

Transplantation of islets, cells in the pancreas that produce the insulin, also offers the promise of curing diabetes, he said.

Kipnis said that in animal studies researchers have been able to isolate the islet cells and transplant them into animals. The cells can be placed into the abdominal cavity or into the liver where it can reside for a lifetime, producing the necessary insulin.

"We can do it now in animals," he said. If a way is developed to do in humans, Kipnis added, "we could cure diabetes."

Task Force hears report on drug items

The Scurry County Task Force on Alcohol & Drug Abuse met Tuesday night at Snyder Junior High. Jerry Morgan, juvenile officer, presented the program on drug paraphernalia.

He stated that if anyone finds questionable substances or objects they should feel free to bring them to the police department. No questions will be asked.

All of the drugs and paraphernalia used in the demonstration were confiscated in Snyder.

Following Morgan's presentation, the Task Force held a business meeting during which it was decided that the Prevention and Intervention committees should meet separately in order to focus on definite plans for each area.

They also decided to establish information centers around town and to form a Parent Telephone Network. This would consist of a list of parents who want to be informed if their children are misbehaving.

The next meeting will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.. Marilyn Golightly, area coordinator for the Texas War on Drugs, will be the guest speaker. Her topic will be anti-drug abuse programs.

New proposal is floated

By The Associated Press

A top Kremlin spokesman says the Soviets will pull out of Geneva arms talks if Pershing 2 missiles are deployed in Europe, but West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl says Moscow "evidently has floated new proposals" for an accord.

"With the deployment of the new Pershings in Europe, the negotiations make no more sense and will be broken off," said Leonid M. Zamyatin, a chief foreign affairs spokesman for the Soviet Communist Party's Central Committee. He spoke at a news conference Thursday at the Soviet Embassy in the Netherlands.

The North Atlantic Treaty Alliance plans to deploy 464 U.S. cruise and 108 Pershing 2 missiles over the next five years to counter Soviet SS-20 missiles already aimed at western Europe.

The first shipment of cruise missiles arrived in Britain Monday. All 108 Pershing 2s are destined for West Germany, with the first to arrive next month.

In Bonn, Kohl said Thursday the Soviet Union has indicated a willingness to make new concessions at Geneva, where U.S. and Soviet delegates met for 2½ hours Thursday and agreed to meet again next Wednesday.

He said the Soviets have indicated a willingness to drop their key demand that British and French nuclear arsenals be included in the U.S.-Soviet talks.

"The Soviet Union evidently has floated new proposals at one minute to twelve," Kohl said in an interview on West German television.

Zamyatin is on a European tour aimed at drumming up opposition to the NATO deployment.

The next Geneva meeting, Nov. 23, comes a day after West Germany's Parliament votes on the deployment of the 108 Pershing 2 and 96 cruise missiles in West Germany.

Business theft noted

Investigators with the Scurry County sheriff's office reported clearing a misdemeanor theft at a county business with the arrest of a 20-year-old Loraine man Thursday afternoon.

Employees of Snyder Iron and Metal on the Old Lubbock Highway called authorities at 10 a.m. Thursday and reported the theft of a money bag containing checks and an undetermined amount of cash from their office.

Investigators recovered some of the money and all of the missing checks with the suspect's arrest shortly after 5 p.m.

Tires cut police told

City police are investigating a single criminal mischief complaint filed Thursday afternoon.

Jay Mayo called police at 4:20 p.m. Thursday to report two tires on his 1976 Chevrolet had been slashed while parked on the Varsity Square parking.

The damage value was undetermined.

In other action, city officers jailed two suspects. One man was booked for DWI and driving with a suspended license while the second was jailed for public intoxication.

Prisoners release causes furor

NEW YORK (AP) — As 610 prisoners walked out of jail and the mayor and other city officials said they were powerless to stop them, 672 cells in the city's prison system remained empty.

It was a scenerio that began in early November when New York City, under court order, began releasing prisoners to relieve overcrowding in jails. And it's still generating controversy.

"We've got to live with it. We felt the decision was incorrect but it was unchangeable and devastating," said Edward Hershey, a spokesman for the city Department of Correction.

The dilemma is faced by prison and jail systems across the country. There are 31 state prison systems and 300 county and city jail systems currently facing court orders to improve conditions, according to the National Prison Project and the National Jail Project of the ACLU Foundation. The jail project said its 300 figure may be low. With 3,500 local jail systems in the United States, there is no comprehensive record of court orders.

"New York is obviously a unique situation because it has the largest population in jail in the United States," said Ed Koren, director of the National Jail Project. "There are 10,000 prisoners in various places. Chicago has in the range of 4,000 to 5,000."

The release in New York has created some apparent contradictions.

While the city is clamoring to find more jail space, construction workers have started a new $5 million gymnasium for inmates.

The city has agreed in court that its jails are "overpopulated" and has agreed to reduce the number of inmates, but now it says it can handle hundreds of additional prisoners in the same buildings until new space is found.

City officials want the 1980 court order from U.S. District Judge Morris Lasker changed so they can use all 1,872 cells in the House of Detention for Men, a sprawling facility built in 1933 on Rikers Island. City officials say the 672 empty cells are identical to the 1,200 currently housing prisoners, but they say it is unlikely that Lasker will change the order.

The city earlier this year asked Lasker to allow them to use the cells, but Lasker refused, citing a lack of fire alarms and sprinklers; unsanitary conditions; broken windows; inadequate wiring; and an inability to protect prisoners housed there from other prisoners. The city also admits that recreation space is lacking — and is building the $5 million gymnasium.

The release program began two weeks ago when the city's jail population climbed to 10,245, violating an order by Lasker to keep the prison population below 10,000. All of those released were awaiting trial and could not post their bail. The city began releasing prisoners held on $1,500 bail or less who could post 10 percent of their bail.

Most of those being held on low bail were accused of property crimes rather than violent crimes. But some had long criminal records, and outrage grew when Dean Craig, one of the first to be released, was re-arrested on a rape charge.

As newly-arrested prisoners entered the system, more had to be released. Finally, the pool of prisoners who could afford even the $100 or so they needed for release dried up. The last 133 were freed on their own recognizance.

To the woman who authorities say was raped by the released inmate, Mayor Edward Koch said, "I cannot explain to you the idiocy of what we're being required to do. I cannot defend it."

Koch, who called the releases "legal jailbreak," stopped them on Nov. 14, saying the jail population presently meets the standards spelled out in an agreement the city reached with the federal court. But if the numbers rise again, the release will be resumed.

The prisoners who were freed were not convicts. As detainees being held to guarantee their appearance in court, they are by law entitled to a higher standard of living conditions than convicts.

Meanwhile, the scramble for space is continuing. The city has renovated the Tombs jail in lower Manhattan, which now houses 185 inmates and is expected to house 426 by next month. Space for 213 more prisoners on Rikers Island is to be ready by next summer and 800 more next year.

By 1987, a 500-inmate jail is to be constructed adjacent to the Tombs. And the city has the right to put another detention center at the site of a new state prison to be built in the South Bronx.

But whether enough space will be ready soon enough to avoid another mass release cannot be predicted, Hershey said.

"Right up to the end, there were people who believed it didn't have to happen, but it did," he said. Asked if the additional beds available in the next few months would solve the overcrowding problem, Hershey said, "No, but I think it will help."

Tire company agrees to figure

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A tire company has agreed to pay a San Antonio truck driver and his son $255,000 to settle a federal lawsuit filed two years ago.

The lawsuit contended the tire was defective in design and had been inadequately bonded.

The settlement was announced Thursday, shortly before the scheduled start of the jury trial on the suit before U.S. District Judge William S. Sessions.

Bob Moffitt, 49, suffered numerous injuries in the June 1980 accident and will receive $247,500. His 18-year-old son, who injured his hand, is to receive $7,500.

The Moffitts' attorney, Pat Maloney Sr., said about $30,000 from the settlement will go to the insurance company that provided medical benefits after the accident.
