SWIMMERS ENJOY LAKE THOMAS

Lake Level Is Up 30 Inches In Two Weeks

Pint-sized rain clouds left Snyder .15 of an inch of moistre Friday afternoon while showers varing from traces to fair rains fell in portions of the remainder of the county.

There were reports of some showers between .25 and .50 of an inch of rain in the vicinity of Union, and water running into Lake Thomas Saturday morning indicated that the lake watershed had equally good or better rains.

A survey at the lake Saturday morning showed the lake level has risen 30 inches in the last two weeks. The level was raised nine inches Thursday afternoon when water began to flow in, and showed an additional six-inch rise Saturday morning. Showers had previously brought a 15-inch gain which was enough to offset evaporative losses for about two months and restore the level to its position before Snyder began using water from the lake.

Fluvanna received no ran Friday afternoon, nor did Ira. Parts of Snyder were not reached by the shower or received only sprinkles from passing clouds. The temperature, which reached 99 degrees Friday afternoon, moderated slightly with the rain.

Ike's Praise For Adenauer

BONN, Germany, July 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower's letter to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today lauding the Chancellor and again urging Germany's entry into the European army was assaulted tonight by Adenauer's powerful Socialist opposition. They termed it intervention to aid the Chancellor in his fight for re-election.

A Socialist statement declared Eisenhower's letter was in poor taste, which would offend millions of Germans, because it "propagandistically combined" the anti-Communist revolts in East Germany, in which scores of Germans gave their lives, with the theme of Germany joining the Western defense front—one of Adenauer's main projects.

Water Front Racket Hit By Dead Senator

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Sen. Charles W. Tobey, noted crime fighter, fired a posthumous shot today in the form of Senate subcommittee report declaring the nation's waterfronts are plagued by an ugly mixture of corruption and communism.

For many years the waterfronts, on the East, West and Gulf Coasts, have remained "lawless frontiers," the report said. It called the New York docks the "foulest" of them all.

The report was made by a Senate commerce subcommittee headed by Tobey, New Hampshire Republican. In a tragic twist Tobey died of a blood clot last night after the document was released to newsmen for publication tonight.

The subcommittee applauded current state and federal efforts to clean up the New York-New Jersey waterfront but said few lasting results can be expected unless Joseph P. Ryan is removed as president of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Ryan, president of the ILA since 1927, was pictured as surrounded by a hand-picked "coterie of thugs and goons," and the subcommittee said that for many years he has been identified "with most of the ills that afflict the New York waterfront."

"The sooner this spider and his noxious web are swept out of the waterfront labor movement," the subcommittee said, "the better for all concerned.

"If the combined efforts of all the agencies that are addressing themselves to the waterfront problems achieve nothing else, they will still have served well if Ryan goes. And, conversely, little of lasting value can be expected to remain if Ryan stays—to reinstate the dismal status quo again as he has so often in the past."

Ryan is under indictment on a charge of misuse of some $11,000 in union funds, and the American Federation of Labor, parent body of the ILA, has directed it to clean house or get out.

Last night the ILA suspended Anthony Anastasia, Brooklyn docks leader, and said he would be charged with misconduct. Known as "Tough Tony," he is a brother of racketeer Albert Anastasia.

The Senate subcommittee's report dealt largely with the New York waterfront but it said an investigation it began about three months ago also has turned up unsavory conditions on Gulf and West Coast ports.

"General indications are that the Gulf area has been victimized by an overlapping of corrupt practices, racketeering and Communist infiltration tactics," the subcommitee said.

Evidence collected in that area still is being "evaluated," the report said, adding that "the New Orleans-Gulf study of waterfront conditions will be pressed to completion at an early date."

In describing the waterfronts as lawless frontier, the subcommittee said that not only are mobsters well entrenched but "another, grimmer public enemy also has his stronghold."

Ike Says Red Germany Has Gone Bankrupt

QUANTICO MARINE BASE, Va. July 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the riot-shaken East German Communist regime is bankrupt. He renewed a demand for free all-German elections as a step toward unifying the divided country.

In a lengthy, extraordinary letter to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany, the President said anti-Red outbreaks in the Eastern zone point to the downfall of the Communist empire.

He wrote:

"Future historians, in their anlysis of the causes which will have brought about the disintegration of the Communist empire, will single out those brave East Germans who dared to rise against the cannons of tyranny with nothing but their bare hands and their stout hearts, as a root cause."

He added: "I think that those same historians will record your own extraordinary steadfastness in the cause of European peace and freedom over many, many years."

The letter, dated July 23, was released by the President while he was at this big Marine base for a conference of military and civilian defense leaders.

Eisenhower counseled West Germany against wavering in its support of the 6-nation European Defense Community and adopting any policy of "defenseless neutralization."

"The peace we all so dearly seek cannot be maintained through weakness," he set forth.

The letter was pegged to the continuing anti-Communist demonstrations in Berlin and East Germany and to this month's Washington conference of the United States, British and French foreign ministers.

South Korean Truce Group Is Dissolved

PUSAN, Korea, July 25 (AP) — The South Korean National Assembly's special committee on cease fire was formally dissolved today on what appeared to be the eve of a Korean armitice.

In a joint resignation statement accepted by the Assembly, the 122-man committee declared that "despite our utmost efforts we found we could not fulfill what the legislature expected of us . . ."

The committee was organized in May and served principally as a liaison link between the government and Assembly.

Probable Truce Signing Time Set This Morning

Cease-Fire Is Due Within 12 Hours

MUNSAN, Sunday, July 26 (AP)—Authoritative sources at this Allied truce camp said today the long-awaited Korean armistice will be signed tomorrow signaling an end to three years of devastating war and two years of troublesome negotiations.

The time of the signing was fixed probably at 10 a.m. (8 p.m. EST, Sunday).

The place will be the pagoda-like structure which the Communists have rushed to completion in the truce talk village of Panmunjom.

Within 12 hours of the signing, the guns must be stilled.

Within 72 hours, troops of the Chinese and Korean Reds on one side, and fighting men of South Korea and 16 Allied nations on the other, must fall back 1¼ miles from a cease-fire line running across the Korean peninsula.

That act of withdrawal will create a demilitarized or buffer zone 2½ miles wide across Korea.

On each side of that zone, tens of thousands of soldiers will dig in and wait while the machinery of supervising the armistice and exchanging prisoners of war grinds out the tasks agreed upon in months of patience-wearing negotiations.

During that time the prisoners of war, the known and reported prisoners, some of the missing and in many cases presumed dead, will stream through the Panmunjom checkpoints, going home at last.

Then the combat soldiers on both sides of the buffer zone must wait in still further readiness while a political conference of the belligerent nations—and possibly others—is convened to thresh out the problem of permanent peace in Korea.

Ahead in that political conference are stormy problems. Not the least is the anguishing enigma of what South Korean President Syngman Rhee will do if his dream of unifying Korea is not realized or at least started on the path to realization.

Will he order his 16 South Korean divisions, American trained and equipped, to break the armistice? And if that happens, what will the United States and the Allied nations do?

These are among the problems still ahead. Today, with the armistice on the verge of the climactic signing, an electric air of excitement swept through the Munsan base camp of the U. N. Command.

It was given added impetus by the latest meetings today of Allied and Red liaison officers at Panmunjom, reliably reported to be arranging final details of the armistice signing.

The liaison officers met at 10 p.m. (8 p.m., EST, Saturday) for 44 minutes and recessed until 11 a.m. They recessed again at 11:12 a.m. for 20 minutes.

NO REGARD FOR CASUALTIES

Communists Launch Attacks On Two Sectors Of Front

SEOUL, Sunday, July 26 (AP) — Chinese Communists troops hurled fierce new attacks on both the Western and Central Fronts last night and early today without regard for casualties in what may be the final phases of the Korean War.

In the west the Reds jumped on two more U. S. 1st Marine Division outposts near Panmunjom with a 600-man assault. After 3,000 Chinese were bloodily repulsed Saturday on other objectives in the same sector.

Fighting raged for a time in the trenches of one Marine hill position, front dispatches said. Its defenders staved off three violent Chinese drives within 90 minutes, but fighting was still in progress at last reports.

On the Central Front nearly 3,000 Chinese Reds lunged at U. S. 3rd Division troops and South Korean defenders in the Kumsong bulge sector before midnight and fighting continued into the early hours today.

There was heavy artillery duelling on both fronts.

Front dispatches said the Chinese swarmed from Hill 139, directly north of Outposts Berlin and East Berlin which the Reds overran last Monday with only 14 Marine survivors from a force of possibly 120 U. S. Marines.

By 1:42 a.m. (11:42 a.m. Saturday, EST) the Chinese were reported fighting in the trenches around one of the Allied hills and were attacking the second position.

Later the Marine commander of the hill where the Communists had gained the trenches radioed the situation was in hand and the Chinese attackers wiped out.

Fighting raged past midnight and there were no further reports hours later except that the troops still were engaged.

Elsewhere, scattered reports indicated light fighting and patrol brushes along the 150-mile front.

High winds and overcast handicapped Allied planes. The 5th Air Force reported it flew 422 sorties, less than half its normal number.

The Air Force also disclosed it lost 10 planes over North Korea last week including two Sabre jets shot down on Monday. It said the Sabres destroyed 14 MIGs during the week.

Welcome Home For Conley

AMARILLO, July 25 (AP)—Lynette knew her daddy was coming, so she baked a cake.

The brown - haired little girl had the cake waiting at home when Louis Conley arrived today from Massachuetts, where he spent 37 months in jail because he wouldn't give up custody of her.

Lynette, 8, was waiting at the airport. She ran to the ladder as it was wheeled up to Conley's airliner. He reached her in two bounds down the steps.

"Hello, baby," the former Amarillo photographer said. He held Lynette in a long hug, then embraced his mother, Mrs. Mary Conley. She took care of the child while Conley was in jail.

Conley, 33, was ordered locked up when he refused to give custoday of Lynette to her mother, as ordered in a Massachusetts divorce decree.

He was freed July 16 after he agreed to let his former wife have the little girl during July and August. He was to keep her during the school year.

Writer Killed In Gun Fight

DENVER, July 25 (AP) — A 38-year-old man was killed and a state patrolman wounded in a gun battle last night at Lakewood, West Denver suburb.

Officers identified the dead man as Kenneth E. Stanley, self-styled meteorologist and writer. State Patrol Cpl. Richard Schippers suffered a flesh wound in the shoulder.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Morris said witnesses related the battle began when Stanley drew a pistol in a grocery market about three blocks from his home.

Store Manager Paul Joy told investigators that Stanley was annoying a girl clerk and when approached by other clerks, pulled the automatic from the waistband of his trousers and backed out of the store.

Schippers said when he was within five feet, Stanley fired at him.

Schippers fired twice more at Stanley and then smashed the rifle butt over Stanley's head. The other officers then fired at Stanley.

Stanley's wife, Cora, and their 9-year-old daughter were in the apartment when the fatal exchange occurred.

Last Feb. 9 Stanley held off another cordon of officers in a similar siege at the same spot.

Air Force Airlift Feeds Flood Victims

TOKYO, July 25 (AP) — The U. S. Air Force said today its cargo planes and helicopters have dropped 100 tons of food to thousands of Japanese stranded by last week's great flood in the Central Honshu province of Wakayama.

Revised figures by the Japanese national police set the toll at 638 dead, 5,709 injured and 386 missing.

McCarthy To Try New Field Of Probing

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) is planning to shift his investigating committee's emphasis soon from alleged Communism to charges of corruption under the Truman administration.

Faced with the necessity of operating with an all - Republican group, the Wisconsin senator is said to believe that there is a fertile field for investigation into what he terms corruption. He will try to make Democrats wince as they prepare for next year's congressional elections.

McCarthy apparently is being encouraged in this prospective new endeavor by Vice President Nixon and others who have about concluded that there is almost no hope of reconciliation with the three Democrats who walked off the inquiry group when Republicans voted to give the Wisconsin senator exclusive hiring and firing authority.

The Democrats who quit, Senators McClellan of Arkansas, Symington of Missouri and Jackson of Washington, have made it clear they have no intention of returning. Other Democrats have shunned appointment to the committee.

With the Democrats absent, some Republicans are hoping that McCarthy will be a little less active in tearing into existing government agencies, in battling with Eisenhower appointees and in demanding the right to investigate such organizations as the Central Intelligence Agency.

He has clashed openly with Allen Dulles, head of the CIA; Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith; Mutual Security Administrator Harold E. Stassen and others.

McCarthy has become involved in a fight with southern Democrats that is definitely serious business. The Southerners have been around a long time, they have elephantine memories and where they consider their honor is impugned they are the most effective fighters in Congress.

In rapid succession, McCarthy has irked Sens. McClellan, Byrd of Virginia, Robertson of Virginia, Ellender of Louisiana, and Fulbright of Arkansas. Dixie senators usually hang together and pretty generally view an attack on one as an attack on all.

Daniel Sees No Need For Debt Increase

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel of Texas said today he will refuse to vote an increase in the federal debt limit "short of total war."

"Insofar as I am concerned, the present 275 billion dollar limit on the federal deficit is an absolute peacetime ceiling," he said.

"Short of total war, I will not vote to increase the public debt limit."

Daniel said the main "domestic job" of both Congress and the administration is to bring the budget into balance as nearly as possible.

The federal government, Daniel said, will lose revenue in 1954 from the end of the excess profits tax and a reduction in personal income tax.

The reduction in taxes will, of course, mean an increased deficit unless spending is sharply reduced," he said.

Reductinos made in federal spending this year, Daniel said, have been made primarily on a broad overall basis.

"If we are going to continue to achieve an orderly annual decrease we must reach much further into routine spending to eliminate the day to day waste," Daniel said.

"I was in general agreement with the reduction in defense spending, but I believe there are several billion more to be saved through tighter housekeeping practices by the Pentagon."

Daniel said he believes it would be "foolhardy to continue raising the interest rate on government security issues until we can start reducing the deficit.

"It is dangerous to keep making the debt more and more expensive to manage until we bring the size of it under control."

Tug-Of-War For Power Raging Behind Curtain

BERLIN, July 25 (AP)—The shake-up which unseated Police Boss Wilhelm Zaisser is expected to reach the very top of the East German government soon, German informants said tonight.

Zaisser was temporarily jobless, but not necessarily in disgrace. He may rebound into even greater authority as minister of the interior, students of Communist politics predicted.

A bitter struggle for power was plainly in progress behind East Germany's Iron Curtain. Ever since two million workers rose in an anti-Communist revolt June 17, a Moscow - directed purge has been under way. More heads will roll before it ends.

Premier Otto Grotewohl and Deputy Premier Walter Ulbricht were reported locked in a political tug-of-war which may cost one of them his job.

Few in West Berlin doubted that Ulbricht will win. Although No. 2 man in the government, he is No. 1 in East Germany's Communist party as its general secretary and his master grip on the party appears unshaken.

The outcome may be revealed soon — perhaps next Wednesday when Parliament meets to rubber stamp a post - revolt reform program.

With typical Communist secrecy shrouding the fate of Zaisser, whom Grotewohl relieved last night as minister of state security, rumors ran wild. One unconfirmed report said he was under arrest and that his successor, Ernest Wollweber, is already purging his staff of 100,000 security agents.

But two well-informed anti-Communist agencies in West Berlin doubted this. They regarded it as more likely that Zaisser will emerge soon in a new post, probably as minister of interior and perhaps also as deputy premier.

Willie Stoph, the present interior minister, has long been regarded as on his way out. In the new setup, the Ministry of Security which Zaisser headed is now reduced in rank and incorporated within the Interior Ministry. Woolweber is not a minister, but only a state secretary. If Zaisser should succeed Stoph, he would be Woolweber's superior and still boss the secret police which he built into a powerful replica of Russia's own.

Either way, no one expected the "Red Gestapo" to turn soft. Wollweber is a 54-year-old veteran of ruthless Communist warfare. He directed anti-Nazi shipping sabotage in Denmark in World War II and is reported to have been training Germans for foreign sabotage in his recent post as state secretary for shipping.

Theories that Zaisser is in disgrace were based chiefly on his close relations with Lavrenty P. Beria, the arrested former minister of state security in the Soviet Union.

But Zaisser was not only a Beria man. For years he was one of Moscow's most trusted military intelligence agents. He was a leftist hero in the Spanish civil war under the name of "Gen. Gomez." His comely wife, Else, appears still in office as East Germany's education minister.

There was no denunciation of Zaisser in the announcement of his removal.

Red Army Marshal May Rise As All-Powerful In Russia

By The Associated Press

Information from informed sources abroad, plus indications in the Soviet press, suggest another dramatic upheaval in the offing for Moscow which may place the Soviet military in power in an alliance with the dominant wing of the Soviet Communist party. Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov is the man to watch.

At the same time the Moscow Communists, fearful of losing their grip on followers outside the U.S.S.R., appear to be pushing a purge through all the European satellite countries and attempting to inspire a similar purge in Red China. Such a course could bring about a clash with the Peiping Communists.

The ruling group in Moscow appears to have allied itself with the "Army Communists" to consolidate its power in the wake of the purge of Lavrenty P. Beria, former interior minister and secret police boss. The star of Marshal Zhukov, up to now regarded as a party general, is definitely on the rise. He may yet turn out to be the Red Napoleon of the Russian revolution.

Zhukov, as chronicled in Pravda July 16, led a group of Soviet marshals and generals in swearing the Army to serve as the "true and faithful support of the Central Committee of the party." But in the list of generals who took this pledge there are some glaring omissions, the most notable being Marshal A. M. Vasilevsky. He ranks with Zhukov as a deputy minister under the political marshal, Nikolai A. Bulganin, who is minister of defense.

A former Czarist officer whose background is far from proletarian, Vasilevsky thus is not publicly committed to serve the party faithful. Nor are a large number of other prominent military men, including the redoubtable Marshal Ivan S. Konev.

Does this suggest two factions within the Army? The names of Vasilevsky and Konev figured in the fantastic doctors' plot. They had allegedly been marked for death. The Interior Ministry—after its post-Stalin reorganization — declared the plot a fabrication. If this had not been done, Vasilevsky and the other Army figures would have been made into public heroes.

Vasilevsky's absence from the July 16 meeting of Ministry of Defense Communists may mean that he has been pushed aside as a danger to the ruling power of the party. If this was done, it had to be with the aid and consent of Zhukov and Bulganin. The development seems to place Zhukov in a most powerful position.

The situation now begins to look like a combination of the old Russian Army imperialism and Communist expansionism, one dependent upon the other. This would mean that Premier Georgi M. Malenkov, up to now the apparent victor in the Kremlin power struggle, is in danger of being eclipsed and pushed aside by the Army Communists. But it would also mean that the Army Communists would continue to use the world Communist movement as an instrument of Soviet power. Thus, there is no contradiction between the shifting leadership in Moscow and the apparently continuous line of external policy and strategy.

FREEDOM TANK

Homemade Car Brought To Germany By Clever Czech

MUNICH, Germany, July 25 (AP)—A Czech mechanic ripped the Iron Curtain in a homemade armored car today and escaped to West Germany with seven other persons under the noses of a stunned Communist border patrol.

Huddled with him in the tank-treaded car he built secretly at his home in Pilsen were his wife and two children, two Czech soldiers and a civilian man and woman.

The 31-year-old mechanic did such a good job on the car that it fooled everybody. German border guards who watched it lumber across a field first thought it was a tank. A Czech tommygun squad stared in puzzlement as what seemed to be one of their own Army cars bashed the barbed wire border barrier.

There was no shout, no hail of bullets.

It was one of the cleanest getaways in the long months since Czechs began fleeing the Red dictatorship.

The mechanic made sure he was safe before he "unbuttoned" his car. Then, when West German border police approached, he got out and announced that he and his companions sought haven in the West.

The German police took the group first to nearby Wald - Muenchen, Bavaria, and later turned them over to U. S. Army intelligence officers at Cham.

It probably will be some time before the Army lets anyone see them. Their names were not disclosed and they were listed only as being "somewhere in Bavaria" tonight.

But a German border policeman who talked with the mechanic said he told this story:

He was already fed up with communism in 1951, when Czech officials informed him his shop was being nationalized. His future already constricted, vanished.

He decided to flee, along with four friends who also hated and feared life under the Communists.

For two years he toiled, filching scrap iron and steel for his car. This was a feat in itself in a metal-hungry police state. In the secrecy of night he fashioned his armored car, building it to look as much like a Czech Army vehicle as possible.

This week the job was finished.

Soon after midnight last night, he and his party loaded up, taking with them a tommygun and pistol. The car was decked with branches and leaves and sleepy police patrols in Pilsen, 35 miles from the frontier, must have taken it for a camouflaged Army vehicle. Nobody bothered them.

Rural Expansion Of Telephone Service In County Postponed

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s rural expansion program, which was planned for construction during this year and next, is now being held up pending settlement of the firm's request with the city council for a rate increase.

A total of 493 applications for rural eight-party lines have been filed with the firm here, but those who applied may have a long wait before the firm can go ahead with its $340,000 rural project, according to Truman Black, telephone manager here.

Construction crews had started work on several lines several weeks ago, but the 20 men left here to work in other cities last week. They could do no more because cable is short, Black said, adding that his company is now on a waiting list for cable and that the shortage, as well as the request for the rate increase, could hold up rural telephone service for some time.

In a statement made last month in connection with the request for the rate increase, Southwestern Bell, said, "Much of the area around Snyder should be tied into the city by telephone if Snyder businessmen and families are to get full benefit from the telephone service. We have underway additions to our cable and wire network to cost over $100,000 in the city, and underway and on the planning board cables and lines in rural areas to cost about $300,000. Obviously, we cannot justify bringing the savings of investors to Snyder to carry out these plans in the face of the action taken by the city council last night (This refers to the council's refusing to grant a rate increase.)

Black said that area coverage by telephone here is important to the merchants of Snyder because it will tend to tie rural persons to Snyder for trade.

Black pointed out that many of the rural phones would be connected to homes in the outlying oil camps and leases. "This group constitutes one of the highest and most stable salaried groups in the county," he said. "A group whose buying power has not begun to be exploited by local merchants."

In addition to the applications from the firm's territory here is a two-year-old request of Dunn residents to be included in the exchange here. The Dunn area is now included in the Hermleigh independent exchange. Black said Southwestern Bell will not begin service to Dunn unless those residents who want to join the Snyder exchange have permission from the Hermleigh exchange for the change.

The Snyder exchange now reaches about 23 miles west into the edge of Borden County, 24 miles north into Kent County, 15 miles east, and 15 miles south, except for the area from Hermleigh north to the Roby Highway and southwest to Dunn, which includes the southeast corner of the county. That area is served by the Hermleigh exchange.

There is now a total of 171 rural eight-party telephones in service, according to Black, who added that there are several more private business lines into the country.

Under the present rates, a rural eight-party line would cost $3.25 if it is within five miles from town, with an additional 25 cents for each three miles more than five. If city rates are increased, the rural rates will be increased accordingly, Black said.

Black said the telephone firm's officials will probably appear before the city council Aug. 3 in continuance of its request for the rate increase.

Galveston Citizens Move To Shut Down Red Light District

GALVESTON, July 25 (AP)—Galveston's red light district fight enlivened today.

Police and fire commissioner Walter Johnston studied the city code to learn if there is an ordinance to prohibit distribution of "objectionable" pamphlets. Anti-prostitution crusaders said they were ready to move over the county Monday to put out 30,000 circulars telling why they think red lights of Postoffice Street bawdy houses should be put out.

State Rep. William Kugle is spearheading an effort by the Galveston County Citizens Committee for Law Enforcement to shut down the red light district.

Mayor Herbert Cartwright Jr., who has challenged three members of the citizens group to resign from public office and run against him for mayor in a special election, had "no comment."

Misdemeanor Charge

A Snyder man was jailed yesterday on a charge of seriously threatening a life, a misdemeaner.

He is Douglas Burleson, about 42, who had been involved in a fight Friday night.

Burleson had not been arraigned last yesterday afternoon, according to Homer Whisnand, sheriff.

Quintana Roo is the easternmost state of Mexico.

Dogs Never Had It So Good, Life Is Best Of Century

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—They used to say every dog has his day. But today the dog is enjoying his century.

The 20th century was once hailed by former Vice President Henry Wallace as "the century of the common man."

The common man is still dazedly asking, "Look, nobody really is blaming this century on me, is he? I am just a common man. They can't hold it against me, can they? Or can they?"

But the common dog and the uncommon dog are having the best time of any four - legged, tail-wagging tame animal in history. They have been petted into an era of canine plenty.

Many a family today that can't figure how to send the kids to a university will raise the dough somehow to see that Bowser gets a college education. The kids themselves help raise the money. As wise teen-year-old children themselves they are cynical of discipline, but they think a pup needs it to learn a few tricks to help him through life.

The Association for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals says that many people at vacation time abandon their pets, which in New York State is a misdemeanor and some folk think ought to be a felony.

I think they are right. I detest the idolatry of pets, a lonesome sickness of our age, because in many cases it means a disappointed person has turned his back on human love to lavish his or her affection on a cat or dog. That is a cancer of the soul, and it is unhealthy.

Dogs I love. Though this be the century of the spoiled dog, I think no dog is truly happy unless he feels he is loyal to someone.

If that pleasure is denied him, no extension of his life beyond his own feeling of usefulness will bring him any particular joy. He has a canine conscience.

Well, that is what I think about the average dog in his most prosperous century. Wonder what the average dog thinks?

Firemen Back From School

Three fulltime city firemen returned Friday night after taking a five-day fire training course at Texas A&M College.

The school is the only one of its type in the U. S., Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said adding that 365 Texas towns, 46 other states, and two foreign countries were represented by the 1,038 students and instructors.

The foreign countries represented were Nepal and the Panama Canal Zone. Also attending were students from 25 air force bases and 11 other military installations. Fourteen of the military bases represented were outside Texas.

Attending from Snyder were Gatlin, Warren Boyd, and Joe Bunt. Gatlin had attended the annual school twice before. Taught in the school was work with ladders and hoses, pump operation and maintenance, and fire investigations.

Explosion Kills Four

HERSFELD, Germany, July 25 (AP)—Four persons were killed in an explosion at a chalk mine at Dorndorf, in the Soviet Zone, travelers to Western Germany said today.

Negro Held In Jail On Removal Charge

N. T. Winn, Negro who formerly lived in Snyder, was still in the county jail late yesterday afternoon after being returned here on a charge of removal of mortgaged property.

Winn was returned from Midland Friday afternoon by Bill Love and J. D. Frith. His bond was set at $750 by Peace Justice W. C. Davidson. He had not made bond late yesterday.

The complaint against Winn, signed Friday by B. L. Rhoderick, alleged that Winn removed from the county a 1949 Ford two-door sedan on which the lien had been given to Rhoderick and assigned to the Snyder National Bank.

Apartment House In Bootheland Destroyed By Fire Friday Night

A five-apartment house in the Bootheland Addition was completely destroyed by fire at about 4:30 o'clock this morning.

Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said owner of the building was unknown. He added that firemen did not find the origin of the fire and did not estimate damage.

Twenty-four paid and volunteer firemen and two trucks went to the fire, Gatlin said.

Ball, Arnaz Reign Over Movies And TV

HOLLYWOOD, July 25 (AP)—This could never have been written two years ago but, as of this moment, the king and queen of television are now the king and queen of MGM.

Never has the red carpet been rolled out so royally as it was for the return of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz to the studio where both once were contract players. They are making "The Long, Long Trailer" for MGM.

Their popularity is so great on the lot that even such stars as Elizabeth Taylor, Stewart Granger, Jean Simmons and others are stealing time off from their own work to watch the two top TV personalities work in a movie.

"Please, please," pleads Lucy. "Don't write this up as comeback. I've been fighting that so long that I am just about exhausted. In this town, people think you are nuts if you don't make movies. They can't believe that a star would just quit and go into another medium because she wanted to. They all believe I was dropped."

Actually, such was not the case in Miss Ball's departure from MGM some years ago. She was earning $3,500 a week and was most secure in her job. She left because she had an idea in her head that the then new medium of television could do more for her than the movies. She was so right.

"We first got the idea for "I Love Lucy' five years ago," she discloses. "Our writers spent 3½ years on scripts and formats before we ever hit the television screens. They knew their characters inside and out. We knew we couldn't miss except that we had an unknown quantity in Desi.

"But, as it turned out, he almost stole the show from me until I stepped on him."

Lucy says her Cuban husband's charm lies in the way he murders the King's English. She calls his accent quirks "Desi-Lulus."

For instance in "The Long, Long Trailer" script, Desi is supposed to read: "It's a fine thing when you come home to your home and your home is gone."

It comes out:

"It's a fine thin when you cum hum to your hum and your hum is gun."

Some other "Desi-Lulus" are "hearse" for hurts; "recon Stalin" for recognize talent and "con" for can't.

The topper, however, is paraphernalia.

"That one," says Lucy, "he pronounces perfectly."

House Trailer, Car Accident

About $850 damages to a car and house trailer resulted from an accident 17 miles west of here on the Lamesa Highway late yesterday morning.

The accident occurred when the trailer, pulled by a 1950 Plymouth sedan, jackknifed and pulled the car into a bridge railing. The trailer overturned on the bridge, but the car remained on its wheels.

Howard Gibbons, sheriff's deputy, said most of the damage was to the car.

Driver of the car was Mrs. Alfred L. Powell, 25, of Dundee, Fla. She and her husband were en route to the West Coast.

Although the trailer partially blocked the highway before it was moved, no other accidents resulted, Gibbons said.

Appeal To Gods In Slum Clearance Plan

COLOMBO, Ceylon, July 25 (AP)—The Galle Municipal Council, unable to get funds from the central government for slum clearance and water development, has appealed to the gods. Galle, with a population of about 49,000, is Ceylon's third largest city. The city fathers followed Mayor Wilfred Wijekulasuriya to a jungle shrine where they asked the god Kataragama to make the central government change its mind.

Rent Controls About Expired

WASHINGTON, July 25, (AP) — "This country's economy," the gray-haired, smiling man said, "will be closer to so-called normal after the coming week than it has been since 1942."

The man behind the big desk was Glenwood J. Sherrard, a Boston hotel man picked by the administration to preside—at no salary—over the Office of Rent Stabilization in its last days.

Sherrard's liquidation job will be completed on Friday. On the following day, for the first time in 11½ years, the nation by and large will be free of federal rent controls.

New High School Is Causing Some Shifts In System Here

Practically all classes in the Snyder schools will be taught in permanent buildings this year for the first time in several years.

With the completion of the new $2,500,000 high school, the system has finally caught up with the growth in enrollment that has continued for the past four years.

While high school students will go to the new building, the junior high school will hold classes in the old high school, which takes up the east and south wings of the large central school building, according to M. E. Stanfield, assistant superintendent.

Stanfield said the school will not hold any classes in the old junior high building on Twenty-eighth Street and that he does not yet know what will be done with the building. None of the temporary buildings on the west side of the central campus, on Avenue O, will be used there, Stanfield said, adding that they are being moved to other locations for various uses.

FIELD HOUSE

One of the double-unit temporary buildings has been moved to the new high school campus to be used as a field house at the football practice filed south of the stadium. The East Elementary school will use one of the buildings for a band hall, Stanfield said.

All temporary buildings except those being moved and except those on the main central campus near the old gymnasium will be abandoned. In one of the central temporary buildings will be seventh grade arts and crafts, while another will serve as a physical education classroom. The junior high band hall will be housed in a temporary building.

In the old gymnasium, which will now be the junior high gym, the old junior high cafeteria is being converted into a dressing room for boy's physical education. The old high school band hall in the gym will be made into a junior high shop classroom.

EQUIPMENT COMING

The new high school building is still being furnished, according to T. D. Wiman, Jr., high school principal, who said the remainder of equipment to be shipped will probably all be here by Aug. 15.

Already in the building is most office equipment, most band equipment and a part of the new uniforms, the cooking equipment, and furniture for the 43 classrooms, which include the shop, girls' physical education, and bandroom.

Yet to arrive are typing desks, miscellaneous tables, about three pieces of shop equipment, library furniture, and sewing machine units.

The sewing units, which are specially made, will each have two complete machines, two ironing boards, storage space, and drawers so that the students can do all their class work without ever leaving the desk. There will be 10 of the units built into desks 48 inches by 72 inches in size, Wiman said.

Wiman predicts that there will be about 675 students in the high school this year.

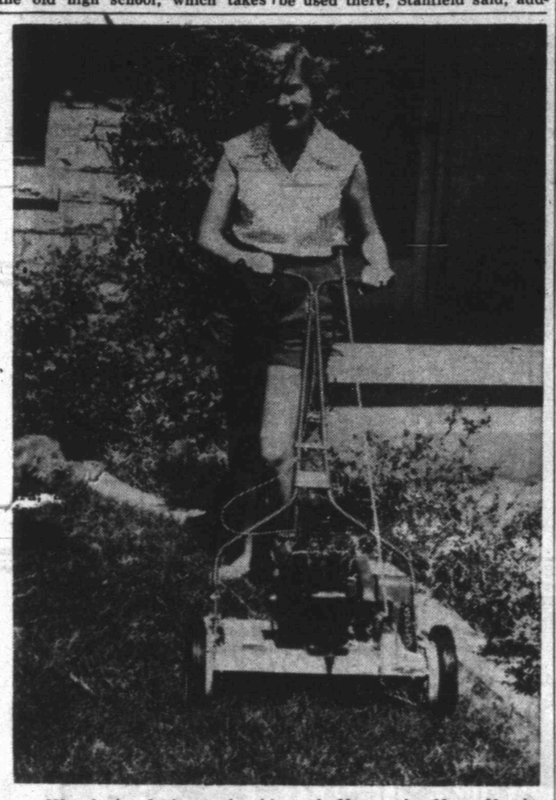

148 TEACHERS

About 148 teachers will be employed in the eight schools this year, according to figures released by Stanfield. Besides Wiman and J. M. Kayser, assistant principal, there will be 36 teachers in the high school.

In the junior high, of which Herman Trigg is principal, there will be 24 teachers. In West Elementary, where Silas Devenport is principal, there will be 20, while 18 teachers will be at the North Elementary, where Pat Falls is principal. Frank Weaver will be principal at the East Elementary and have 18 teachers, while Joel Griffin will have 14 teachers at Central Elementary. At the Central Primary, where Joe Glass is principal, there will be 15 teachers, including one for handicapped children. Daniel Johnson, principal and three teachers will be at the Abraham Lincoln School.

In addition to teachers, there will be two nurses and two librarians at the schools, Stanfield said.

Advance registration will be held at the schools Aug. 17-18, while teacher orientation will be conducted Aug. 31-Sept. 2. The first day of school will be Sept. 3.

Miss Janice Springer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Springer, 3300 Cherry Street, proves that the once manly art of performing the regular tonsorial operations on the lawn has now been tamed down to where it is merely play for even the women and children of the house. Power lawn mower sales in Snyder are reported by dealers here to be greatly increased over last year's sales. (Lee Wetzel photograph)

Power Mower Sales Are Up Over Last Year

The sale of power lawn mowers here is ahead of the five to 10 per cent national increase over last year, a survey of power mower dealers shows.

Most of the dealers interviewed here said that their sales of both gasoline and electrically powered mowers is up from one-third to double last year's sales.

One dealer said that more persons seem to be taking an interest in their lawns this year than last.

The sale of gasoline reel type mowers seems to be ahead of either electric mowers of gasoline rotary type mowers.

However, another dealer said his sales of reel and rotary type mowers had been about equal—possibly because the rotary type will cut anything that it can be pushed upon, he said. He said his power mower sales were up about one-third over last year.

Prices vary from about $40 for electric rotary mowers, up to about $200—if you want to pay that much—for gasoline reel type mowers. The average price for gasoline mowers here is about $100, the dealers said.

Schedule For School Year

Summer vacations will end for Snyder public school students September 3 when classes will open for the fall semester.

Preliminary registration for all students has been scheduled August 17 and 18, Dr. Cecil Yarbrough, superintendent of schools, said. Schedules for registration by classes are to be announced soon.

Teachers will begin work on August 31 in a three-day orientation program. Three days of in-service training for teachers are also being planned for later dates.

Thanksgiving will be the first school holiday, with classes dismissing on November 26. Christmas holidays will begin December 23 and end with the resumption of classes on January 4.

A district Texas State Teachers Association meeting on March 12 and a two-day Easter holiday April 16-18 are spring vacation periods. A total of 178 teaching days is included on the school calendar.

Actor And Ex-Boxer Act Like They Are Going To Fight, Don't

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP) — Actor Lawrence Tierney and an ex-boxer, Mike Sands, 24, were arrested today for making ferocious pugilistic gestures at each other on Broadway.

A crowd of about 200 people watched curiously as the 34-year-old film bad man hurled his coat to the pavement and exchanged menacing insults with Sands. The two squared off uncertainly.

When the two would-be battlers refused to move along, police hustled them off to a police station where they were charged with disorderly conduct. No one got hit. What the argument was about wasn't known.

Poultry Mart Steady

AUSTIN, July 25 (AP)—Texas poultry market held steady with supplies short in some areas this week the state Department of Agriculture said today.

In South Texas almost no birds were available over 2.85 pounds. Trading was generally normal in East Texas. In Waco supplies were mostly adequate for a fair to good demand.

Closing price was 29 cents in the south and east and at Waco. Corsicana prices ranged from 30 to 31½.

Sentell At Ft. Eustis

Cadet Marvin F. Sentell of Snyder, a student at the University of Texas, has qualified as an expert marksman at the ROTC summer camp at Fort Eustis, Va.

Sentell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Sentell, 3101 Avenue X.

Dog Catcher Doubts Dogs Being Stolen

E. D. Allen, city dog officer, said that reported theft of dogs here probably is a result of dog owners permitting their dogs to stray loose over town.

"Some such theft reports have been turned in to me, but I have never been able to locate any of the strayed or stolen dogs," he said.

"Some times a tourist will be passing through town and see a stray dog and just open a car door and let the dog in, then drive on," Allen said. "When that happens we have no way of tracing the stolen dog," he said.

An outbreak of dog poisoning has been reported in Sweetwater, but no such reports have been turned in to police here recently, Marvin Brister, desk sergeant, said.

The dog poisoning report, carried early this week in the Sweetwater Reporter, was followed by a report Thursday that some ranchers in the Sweetwater area had placed dog poison on their ranches to stop stray dogs, which are bad sheep killers.

There is little sheep ranching in the immediate Snyder area, and no such reports have been turned in to police here recently.

However, Allen warned that all dogs should be kept penned because regardless of whether a dog has license and ownership tags, he can be picked up by the dog catcher if he is on public property, or on neighbors properties if the neighboring property owners complain.

Driving Skill Tested At Chevrolet House

A Skill-O-Meter, designed to test driving skill, will be featured at the Chevrolet All-Star Show opening at Lamb Chevrolet Co., 1707 Twenty-fifth Street, Tuesday.

The Skill-O-Meter test scientifically measures the factors which determine driving ability, and drivers who take the test will receive a card showing their rating. The show is to continue through Friday.

Luxury Trains Regain Italian Tourist Trade

ROME (AP)—It starts with the tickets. No waiting in line at the railroad station, no sir. You phone for a reservation. Within minutes a messenger delivers the train ticket in person.

At the station an attendant is standing beside the green-and-silver train. He politely takes your bags and checks them through to your destination, as on a plane.

The conductor speaks Italian, English, French and German. He guides you to your air-conditioned compartment.

The decor is green and grey. There are two divans and four lounging chairs. Picturesque Italian prints above the divans conceal overhead hand-baggage storage space. Sweep back the long wall drapes and wide windows give you a panoramic view.

A public address system announces in three languages that train hostesses will be along shortly to check your coats.

The electric engines almost soundlessly go into action. Within minutes you are at normal cruising speed—100 miles an hour.

There is far less feeling of motion than on conventional trains. Each seven coaches form a single 324-ton unit, bridged by rubber connections and carried on 40 wheels to minimize shock.

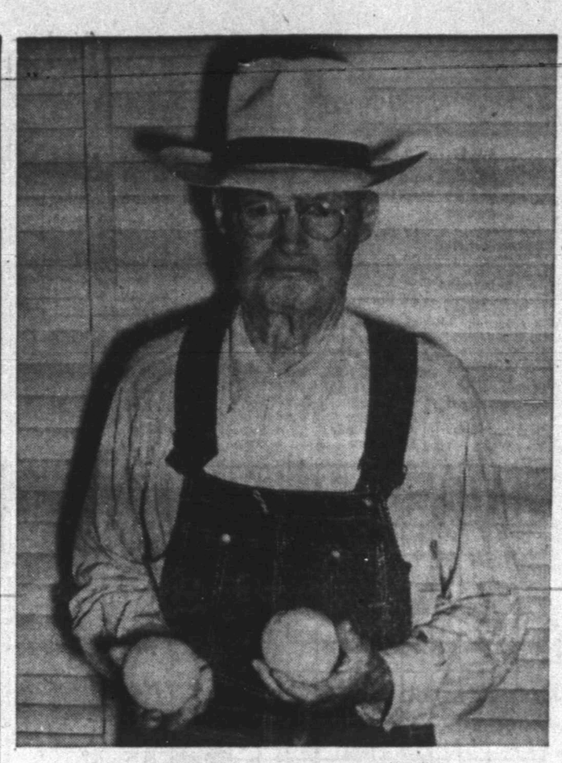

Strolling through them, you discover four passenger coaches, holding 160 passengers; a restaurant and bar decorated with paintings; a kitchen coach with white-capped chefs working over gleaming copper pots.

Best of all, both end coaches—the trains are bi-directional—are huge observation cars with wide, curved Plexiglas windows like those in a plane cockpit.

The engineer's cab is elevated and out of sight. Thus, just as in youthful dreams, you sit at the cab window as tunnels race up and engulf you in darkness, signal lights flicker red and then green, switches click and gaping youngsters stare enviously from beside the tracks. You're the driver—or so it seems.

The train, owned by the Italian State Railways, operates between Milan, Rome and Naples. It was commissioned in 1948 as the government railway system's bid to prevent the airlines from winning away the luxury tourist trade.

Some 2,000 drawings later, architect Giulio Minoletti and the workmen of the Breda workshops at Sesto S. Giovanni completed their work.

DROUTH-SIZED PEACHES

The drouth didn't stunt the two peaches held above by C. H. Callis which were grown at his home at 1101 Twenty-sixth Street. The peaches measured 11 inches in circumference and were grown on a tree that has been bearing fruit for five or six years, Callis said. The tree is watered very little, he said, but being close to the corner of his house it gets rain runoff from two sides of the roof. (Dale Walton photograph).

Old German Bonds Given Value Again

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Americans who have clung to old German bonds through the two decades since the rise of Hitler plunged them into default may find the yellowing securities worth solid cash by the end of this year.

On Sept. 1, officials said today, a new German-American "validation board for German bonds" will start examining and verifying the ownership of the long-dormant securities.

As soon afterwards as enough valid bonds and rightful owners have been identified to establish a market value and permit orderly buying and selling, trading in the 90-odd German issues will resume.

Old paper having a face value of perhaps 300 million dollars is believed to be held by some 100,000 Americans, many of them of German descent. Possibly another 100 million in unpaid interest has accumulated, officials guessed.

But neither the Securities and Exchange Commission nor any other government agency knows for sure how many of the bonds still remain in this country, how many have been sold abroad, or how many have been lost, destroyed or stolen. Only the validation process will tell.

To protect the holders from speculative grabbers, the SEC has urged repeatedly that the owners keep their bonds until validation is complete and trading resumed. At SEC's request, brokers and dealers have not dealt in German bonds since the start of World War II.

Officials said they could not estimate what any of the issues might be worth when SEC gives the signal to resume buying and selling. Like any other securities, the value will be whatever investors will pay.

This includes the great loans floated after World War I under the American "Dawes Plan" of 1924 and other German recovery programs. It takes in specified securities issued by the German federal government, states, cities and corporations. All went into default after the Nazis seized power.

College Head Quits

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 25 (AP)—Dr. George Stoddard resigned today as president of the University of Illinois. The resignation climaxed a long feud between Dr. Stoddard and Dr. Andrew Ivy, vice president in charge of the university's professional schools in Chicago.

Mosquitos In City Are Hit

The city, under the supervision of the city-county health unit sanitarian, has just completed a mosquito control program started since the last rains, B. J. Shelley, city manager, said.

Shelley said that the city had used 1,300 mosquito larva killing capsules on a total of about six acres of water in Snyder and in the immediate areas around the town.

"We urge all citizens to check on their own property and either remove any mosquito breeding places or impregnate them against mosquito breeding," Shelley said.

He added that the city's anti-mostuito campaign would not be of value if mosquitos are permitted to breed on private property.

He said that the city purchased all the chemical capsules, which are primarily DDT and an oil base, and that city employes placed them in all possible mosquito breeding places on public property and along creeks around town.

J. E. Craven, Jr., city-county sanitarian supervised the program.

Shelley said that all pit toilets in Snyder and the immediate area would be sprayed to prevent fly breeding next week.

LOST 43 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Here is a sensible way to help you take off weight that is not based on the rigid diet and vitamin "plan". You eat all you want, but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates. This is the Barcentrate way. Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label and take according to directions.

The carton also contains a supply of appetite curb tablets which lessen the taste buds which lie on the surface of the tongue. Nothing harmful in Barcentrate and no dieting.

Mrs. J. E. Margan, Route 2, Crockett, Texas, lost 43 pounds taking Barcentrate, reducing from 171 to 128 pounds.

THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY

American Legion Yanks Are City Champs In Little Loop

The American Legion Yankees shut out the Kiwanis Club Braves 8-0 Friday night to win their second consecutive Little League championship here.

The Yanks, who finished the second half of the league schedule with a 9-1 record, had led the first half with the same record.

The Braves, who had been second in standings, could have tied the Yanks for first if they had won Friday night's game, causing a playoff.

The Braves were allowed only one hit, in the third inning, by Dick Hayes, leading hurler of the league who fanned 10 and walked only five in the game. Hayes holds a 10-0 pitching record for the season, and five of the wins were shutouts.

Chuck Warren pitched two innings for the Braves, striking out two and walking one, while Ronnie Paulk fanned three and walked one during the rest of the game. The Yanks got eight hits off the two hurlers.

The Yanks had a season record of 18-2 this year. During the two years of the league's existence here, they have won 34 out of 40 games. Last year, under the name of the Whiteway Yanks, they won the league championship.

The Braves tied up for second in the last half of the league with the Optimist Club Cardinals, who downed the Holder Construction Indians 13-10 Friday night.

The Indians led off with two runs in the first inning of the game, but the Cards came back with seven the next frame. The Cards led the game the rest of the way, wtih the Indians following close behind.

Jimmy Barrow led off on the mound for the Cards, pitching three innings. He fanned four and walked two. Mike Moffett pitched one and one-third innings, while Johnny Griggs finished the game. He also struck out four and walked two. The three hurlers gave up nine hits.

Charles Gladson was starting pitcher for the Indians. He walked one in one and two-thirds innings and was relieved by Neal Boyd, who pitched until the fifth inning, striking out one and walking one. Tim Roberts walked one during the rest of the game. The three allowed nine hits.

The Braves and Cardinals had 7-3 records. Running third was the Lions Club Cubs, who had a 5-5 record. Following were the Indians with 2-8 and the Quarterback Club Giants with 0-10.

In the first half, the Cubs were second with 6-4, the Cards were third with 5-5, Braves fourth with 4-6, and the Giants and Indians tied for last with 3-7.

All-stars of the Little League are scheduled to go into their first playoff game at 8 o'clock tomorrow night when the Sweetwater all-stars come here. The winner of that game will meet Rotan on the winner's field.

Tigers Holding Lead In Pony

The Courthouse Tigers kept up the pace they set in the Pony League during the first half of the schedule and edged the Von Roeder Red Sox 7-6 in play Friday night.

The win kept the Tigers out in the lead, while the Lions Phillies moved into second place alone by winning over the Scurry Butane Dodgers 4-3.

The Tigers and Red Sox went into an extra inning before the Tigers finally won. They had been tied up 2-2 in the second inning, 3-3 in the third and fourth, and 6-6 at the end of the regular seven innings. The Red Sox had led for two innings before the Tigers tied the game in the seventh when Dean Staton and Jimmy Allen hit home runs with no runners on base.

In the eighth, Joe Reeves got a hit, and Tommy Pritchard followed him up with a hit to bring Reeves in for the winning run.

Pritchard pitched the first three innings for the Tigers, striking out two, while Staton fanned eight in the remaining five innings. The Red Sox got one hit off Pritchard and three off Staton. Bud Morgan, losing hurler, fanned nine and gave up five hits.

Next regular game in the Pony League will come Tuesday night, when the Phillies meet the Red Sox and the Tigers play the Dodgers.

Frazier Leads Texas Batting

DALLAS, July 25 (AP)—Joe Frazier of Oklahoma leads the final six weeks of the Texas League race with a 35-point margin for the batting championship.

The past week found him increasing his margin by seven points as Earle Brucker of Beaumont faded and fell from second to fourth. Harry Elliott, the Houston outfielder, moved into the runnerup spot.

Frazier has .368 compiled on 130 hits in 353 times at bat. Elliott has .333.

Elliott took over the lead in hits. Frazier tops the league in doubles with 41. Saturnino Escalera of Tulsa leads in triples with 14 and Harry Heslet of Shreveport in homers with 33.

Russ Burns, Oklahoma City, heads the circuit in runs batted in with 83.

Three pitchers had won 13 games apiece—Wayne McLeland of Dallas, Al Aillan of Oklahoma City and Don Fracchia of Beaumont. McLeland has the best record with 13-5.

Rinold Duren of San Antonio leads in strikeouts with 119.

Tulsa leads in club batting with .265.

Humble Team To Tourney

The softball team of Humble Oil & Refining Co., which was champion of the city softball league here, will begin play tomorrow night in the Grassland Invitation Softball Tournament.

The Snyder team will play at 9 o'clock tomorrow night, meeting either the Kin Bowsman Auctioneers of Lubbock or the Farmers of Ralls. It is also scheduled for games in the tourney on Wednesday and Friday nights.

The tourney will be conducted on a two-game elimination and will be completed before the beginning of the ISL state tourney, which begins Aug. 5 at Brownfield. That tourney, sponsored by the Brownfield Lions Club, will produce a winner to receive an expense-paid trip to the Softball World Series at Selma, Cal.

Teams in the Grassland tourney, sponsored by the Grassland Ball Club, Inc., will compete for prizes of $115 for first, $60 for second, and $25 for third.

There will be no admission fee for games in the tourney.

Teams entered are Humble, Kin Bowsman, Farmers, Payne Oil Co. of Lubbock, Santa Fe employes of Slaton, Royal Crown Cola of San Angelo, Tennessee Dairies of Lubbock, and the Grassland team. E. L. Vaughn of Grassland is tourney director.

Pony Stars In 10-4 Victory

Snyder all-stars in the Pony League swamped Sweetwater last night 10-4 in the district playoffs.

Winning pitcher was Duane Prince who held the Sweetwater lads to 5 hits. Snyder batsmen knocked 10 hits during the game.

Sweetwater had beaten Big Spring Friday night after Snyder had drawn a bye in the three-way playoff schedule. Snyder is scheduled to go to Abilene for second round playoffs this week.

Athletics Nip White Sox For 7–2 Victory

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Gus Zernial homered and Dave Philley smashed a 3-run triple in a 4-run eighth inning today to ignite the Philadelphia Athletics for a 7-2 victory over the fading second-place Chicago White Sox.

The defeat before 9,516 sweltering Comiskey Park fans, was the Sox' third in a row and fifth in their last six games.

Mike Fornieles, 21 - year - old rookie right hander, had limited the Athletics to four hits in his search for victory No. 8 until the roof fell on him in the eighth.

North Carolina's Outer Banks, an 80-mile sliver of islands in the Atlantic are known as the graveyard of the Atlantic because of the large number of ships wrecked there.

Vallie Eaves Comes Back In Coast League

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Vallie Eaves, the durable Indian from Oklahoma who has been marked "through" many times in his long professional baseball career, is the ace of the Brownsville pitching staff in the Gulf Coast League.

Vallie, who has wandered through all the classes of baseball from the bushes to the majors — was picked up by Brownsville this year for the price of his transportation. It was $25.00.

Eavse has won 211 games and lost 154 in a career that extends over 16 years. He went over the 200 mark this season, having won 14 and lost six.

Vallie always is coming back with a flourish when it appears his star has dimmed. There was 1949 when he was cut adrift only to hang on with Lufkin and chalk up 27 victories pitching for Lufkin and its successor in the Gulf Coast League — Leesville, La.

Eaves is listed in the baseball records as 42. He showed not long ago just how tough he still is by pitching and winning a double - header. He held Harlingen to eight hits in both games as Brownsville won 4-0, 2-1.

The reason Vallie is considered an old man is because he's been in baseball in so many places so long.

Eaves has been a 20-game winner five times; he bids fair to make it six before this season has run its course.

And the tough man from Allen Okla., has done this although constantly bothered by osteomyelitis for which he has undergone 11 operations on his leg.

Vallie was a football, basketball and baseball prep star in Oklahoma. He was pitching in the semi-pro tournment at Wichita, Kans., when the Philadelphia Athletics snatched him up and launched him on his professional career.

The righthander has pitched in both of the major leagues. He was with the Athletics in 1935, and the Cubs grabbed him in 1941 to keep him two seasons. The Cubs bought him from Milwaukee for $25,000.

A no - hitter, the dream of all pitching stars, didn't come to Eaves until last season. While hurling for Meridian in the Cotton States League he beat Natchez with a hitless job and clinched the Pennant for his club.

When will Vallie retire? You'll have to ask somebody else. Vallie isn't even thinking about it.

Lowly Browns Downed 7–6 By Boston Red Sox

ST. LOUIS, July 25 (AP)—Boston's battling Red Sox, coming from behind twice, today defeated the last place St. Louis Browns, 7-6, on the strength of a ninth inning bunt by Johnny Lipon.

The Browns were leading 6-5 going into the final inning when Sammy White led off with a single and romped home to tie the game on Tom Uphlett's double.

Umphlett advanced to third on a sacrifice and scored the winning run when Lipon beat out a bunt down the first base line. Reliefer Satchel Paige, victim of the first two hits in the ninth, was the loser, his eighth defeat against one victory.

Snyder Women's Team Downs Anson 20-11

The Snyder Negro women's softball team downed Anson 20-11 Friday to bring their season record to seven won, four lost.

Rosanell Walker was winning hurler, gaining three strikeouts during the game. Catcher was Sarah Dell Williams.

Four home runs were hit by Snyder teamsters, two each by Ruth Archer and Bernice Walker.

The team does not have any more games scheduled.

Indians Over Senators

CLEVELAND, July 25 (AP)—A 10th inning homer by Al Rosen, his 26th, gave the Cleveland Indians a 6-4 victory over Washington today. Bob Lemon, who pitched all the way against Johnny Schmitz, was jolted for 11 hits but earned his 14th victory, tying Boston's Mel Parnell for the league leadership in most games won.

In 1950, Scotland had one house for every 3 and 2-3 persons.

Oil Shows In Borden Text

Shows of oil have been reported on a drillstem test in the Strawn lime at Texaco No. 1 C. D. Jones, Borden County stepout to production in the Fluvanna-Mississippian field.

The test covered the zone from 7,787-827 feet with the tool open one hour. Gas surfaced in 28 minutes. Recovery was 360 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud, 1,300 feet of free oil with no water. Gas volume was not gauged or estimated.

Open flowing bottomhole pressure was from 360-610 pounds, with 15-minute shutin pressure 1,695 pounds. Gravity of the oil was 39.2 degrees.

The No. 1 Jones is a half mile west of the nearest production from the Mississippian in the Fluvanna field, and would be a Strawn discovery should it complete from that zone. Superior Oil Co. had shows from the Strawn in a Mississippian producer in that area.

The No. 1 Jones is drilling below 7,875 feet, and will go on down to test the Mississippian. Located in section 534-97-H&TC, it is about 18 miles northeast of Glal.

The Barnsley leases are near Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1 P. J. Lea, recently completed Ellenburger discovery which also showed as a discovery from the Simpson formation.

Atlantic's deal was made with Mrs. Margaret Barnsley, a widow, and her daughter, Emma Elizabeth, both of New York, Harry Leland Barnsley of Abilene and T. C. (Tom) Barnsley of Crane.

Dr. Hugh J. Stennis, above, new director of the Nolan-Scurry Health Unit, began his duties last Monday. He now lives in Sweetwater, but will move to Snyder soon. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine. (Lee Watson photograph)

New Health Director Former Pampa Man

Opening of the Scurry County Health Unit today is accompanied by the addition of a new physician to direct the unit's activities.

He is Dr. Hugh J. Stennis, who will head the Nolan-Scurry Health Unit and will divide his time between the units in Snyder and Sweetwater.

Stennis has just been released from the air force in which he served in the preventive medicine department at Ellington Field, Houston. He had been in the air force for two years.

The new health unit director is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine, after having taken pre-medical courses at the Shriner Institute, Texas University, and Southern Methodist University. He also did half of his work toward a masters degree in public health at Tulane University school of medicine before completing the masters degree in medicine and public health at the Pennsylvania school.

Although he was born in Carlsbad, N. M., Dr. Stennis considers himself a native Texan because his parents moved to Pampa, Tex., when he was two years old. He lived in that Panhandle town until after graduation from high school there in 1940.

During World War II, he was an aviation radioman in the navy until being transferred to a V-12 training unit at Southern Methodist University where he began his pre-medical studies.

The new director will be in Snyder on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays until he moves here later this year. Then his schedule may be changed to different days of the week, Edgar Taylor, county judge, said.

Judge Taylor said that Dr. Stennis was hired by the Scurry County commissioner court and the Sweetwater city council, after being highly recommended by the state health department, which oversees the activities of local health units throughout Texas.

Dr. Stennis is married and has one child. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Of the new Scurry County Health Unit, Dr. Stennis says it is the most complete one he has seen or heard of in the State.

"We have facilities for a complete preventive health program here, and the unit will try to furnish all the health assitance that the people of the county, the doctors here, and the officials wish," he said.

He said that public health is a long-range program, however, that requires the cooperation of the citizens of the county before it can do a good job.

Borden County Residents Have More Education

Like to meet an average resident of Scurry County?

According to the U. S. census computers, this average resident is 26.3 years old, has completed 9.8 years of school and probably lives in a house which has a mechanical refrigerator and certainly a radio.

If this average resident owns a house in town, it is probably a structure valued at slightly more than $6,000. His family income in 1949 was about $3,291, and his wife probably hasn't straightened out the budget yet even if the income is up or down.

These figures come from the latest edition of "County and City Data Book," published by the Department of Commerce Bureau of the Census.

Scurry County's population as of 1950 was figured to be 22,779, with 13,939 of these residents over 21 years of age. There were 6,395 families represented in the total. The population was figured to be housed easily in the 7,409 dwelling units available, with 6,500 of these occupied. The county is also credited with 1,044 farms and 148 retail establishments.

Down to fine details, the census check showed that 3.8 per cent of the occupied dwelling units were equipped with central heating, 69.5 per cent had mechanical refrigerators and 89.6 per cent had radios.

The residents of Borden County were shown by the survey to be of an average younger age, 24.9 years, and better educated, with 10.1 years of school. Of the total population, 1,106 persons, only 611 were 21 years of age or older in the 1950 nose count.

Borden County's 206 farms and 332 dwelling units furnished habitations for the residents, but the census bureau declined to count radios or refrigerators in use.

Miss Leah Davis, left, is shown taking a blood sample from the arm of Miss Suzanne Houston, who operates the concession stand at the county swimming pool in Towle Park. All persons who handle food are required to have blood tests for health certificates.

Another function of the health unit is to give inoculations against communicable diseases for which vaccines have been perfected. Miss Davis said such inoculations usually keep her busy just before the opening of school each year.

Scurry County's New Health Unit Holds Open House Here Tomorrow

An open house tomorrow from 1:30 in the afternoon until 9 o'clock will dedicate the new Scurry County Health unit, but there will be no speeches or other fanfare.

The nearest approach to fanfare during the open house will be the cutting of a ribbon at 1:30 to officially open the health center.

County Judge Edgar Taylor said there are no plans for speeches, but that some state health department officials who have been invited to attend the open house may be asked to make short talks.

Although the new building is not completely equipped yet, the county's public health activities have been moved there.

The new building, located at 911 Twenty-sixth Street, presents a formidable view to the public. It is of blended tan and brown brick, and is a one-story masonry structure.

Inside, the new health center is a workshop designed specifically for the purpose it is to serve.

The first room on the north side of the hall, which divides the building, is the examination room. On order for this room is an examination table, which had not arrived last week. Referred to by the staff of the health unit as the "clinic," it also has an instrument cabinet, scales, chairs and sterilization equipment.

The next office on the north side of the hall is an office for private consultations, where any matters of health can be discussed in the strictest confidence with the nurse or doctor.

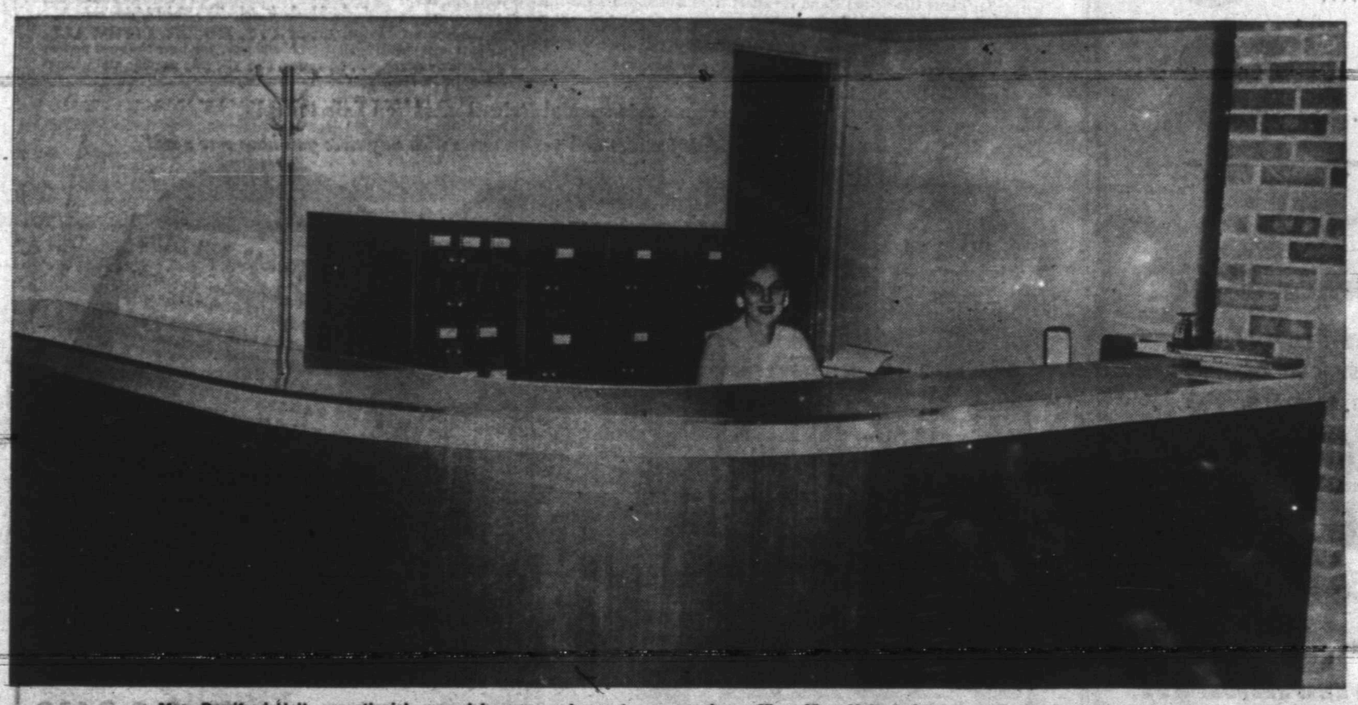

The third room on the north side of the hall is unequipped at present, but was provided as space for the eventual addition of x-ray equipment. A laboratory and darkroom for developing x-ray pictures and a dental office, in the next room, are also unequipped. A storage room completes the offices on the north side of the hall in the building.

One the other side of the hall the health unit director, Dr. Hugh J. Stennis, the health unit sanitarian, J. E. Craven, Jr., and public health nurse, Miss Leah Davis, have their offices.

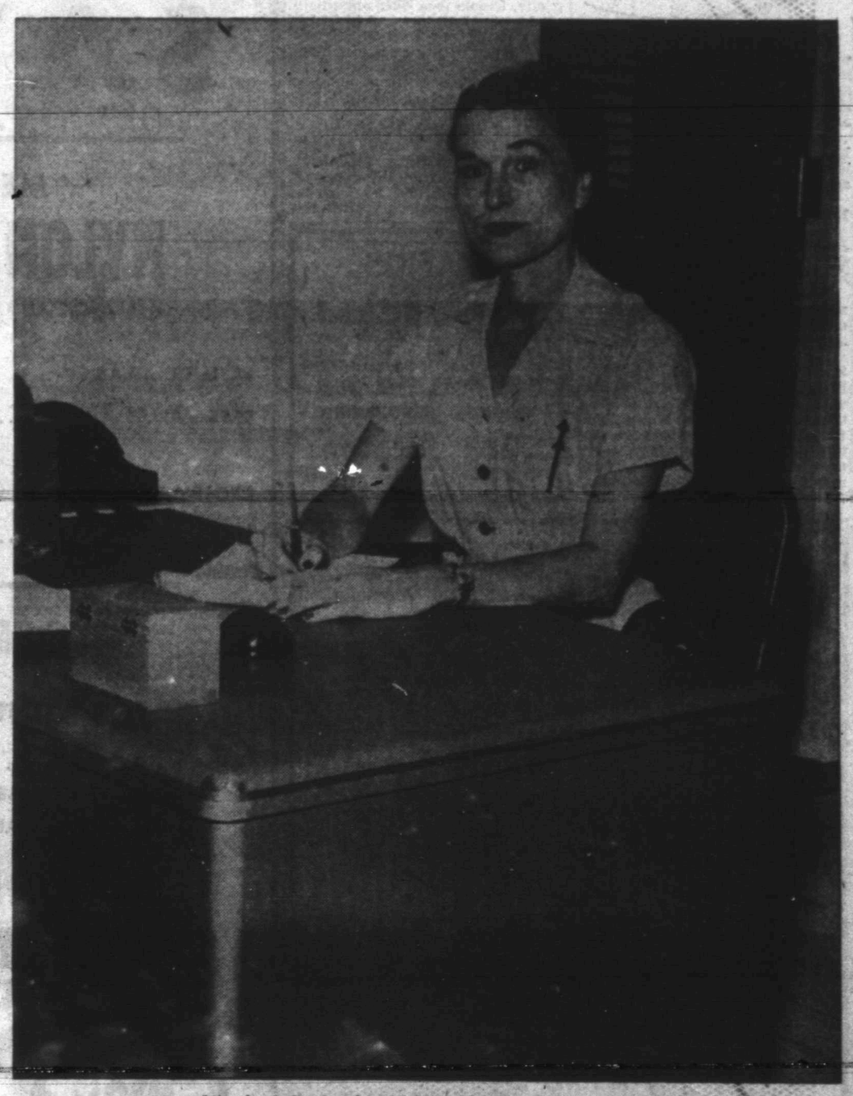

Office space is also provided for the addition of a sanitation engineer in the building in case one is added to the staff in the future.

The chamber of commerce will be in charge of tomorrow's open house, and will provide free soft drinks and cookies to visitors.

Wives of the members of the Scurry County Commissioners' court and Mrs. Edgar Taylor, wife of the county judge, will act as hostesses at the open house.

Mrs. Bradford Holt, receptionist, record keeper, and secretary at the Scurry County Health Unit, is the first person everyone visiting the new health center sees upon entering the new building. She is shown at her desk behind the "L" shapped counter in her modern office. Mrs. Holt makes a record of each person who comes to the health unit for consultation and keeps the county's records on the incidence of communicable diseases.

Miss Leah Davis, above, public health nurse with the Scurry County Health Unit, is probably one of the busiest women in the county. She gave eight blood tests for food handlers in a two-hour period the morning she was being interviewed for this story, but vacationed last week to rest for the rush expected to follow the opening of the new building tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Reed, Hermleigh, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary last Sunday. About 45 persons called at the house. (Dolores Ketchersid photograph)

J. G. Reed Tells Of Old Days At 60th Anniversary

By DOLORES KETCHERSID

"Find the fellow you want and find out his way of doing things. If you don't like them, don't tie up with him," is the advice given to young women by J. G. Reed who celebrated his sixtieth wedding anniversary last Sunday.

"I think you should sort of know a person before you marry him," Mr. Reed said, and it was two years after he met his wife before he married her. Nevertheless, he gallantly maintains that they were married "just as quick as she said yes," which was July 20, 1893.

They live at their home near Hermleigh now.

For over a half-century fights in the Reed household have been avoided by one partner keeping in a good humor, the couple said. Sixty years "seems like a long time when you look ahead. But to us, looking back, it doesn't seem that way." Mrs. Reed said. Her husband added that "Granny and I think more of each other every day because we both aren't going to be together too much longer."

FATHER DISAPPROVED

But getting married wasn't any bed of roses for the couple. Her father disapproved so Mr. and Mrs. Reed married secretly at a friend's house. Mr. Reed wanted his wife to have a wedding dress so much that he bought the material himself, which was no small item since at that time it took about 10 yards.

Mrs. Reed still remembers it clearly. The high neckline had a set-in yoke of lace and an overskirt of matching lace. A white ribbon was placed high at the back of her neck with the streamers hanging down low. Most brides then didn't carry flowers, she said.

Although the couple was "afraid to make much of a show" of their wedding because her father might stop the ceremony, Mr. Reed soon afterward became his favorite son-in-law.

WORSE DROUTH

Mr. Reed, a farmer, has seen a drouth in Scurry County during the 45 years that he has lived here that was much worse than this one. It was in the 1917 and 1918 drouth that the farm produced one bale of cotton on 20 acres and no feed at all.

The farmer optimistically pointed out that although farmers have nothing to sell, there is still plenty of money in the banks. He lost $319 when the Snyder First State Bank closed in the '30s, he said.

A remembrance of that period is still in the family living room. It is an old clock purchased then from the late Dr. H. G. Towle.

Mr. Reed recalled the first box of matches he ever saw, and they both remember the coming of electricity. People then were extremely afraid of electricity at first because at the time they didn't know how to control it, he said. "The United States has progressed more in the last 60 or 70 years than in any other years before," Mr. Reed said.

THRIVING TOWN

The couple said during the early days of Scurry County "Hermleigh was a right thriving little town." At the time it had two banks. Eventually opposing factions in the township began fighting over the school and water systems. The cause of the fights was mostly "just pure contrariness," they said.

The couple thinks there has been a great improvement in the styling of clothes in the last half-century. Men's trousers no longer have "seamless sacks" for legs, Mr. Reed said. He also told of a coat called a sack coat which is similar to a cutaway coat now. A pocket sewed in each of the tails frequently held a preacher's Bible and hymnal.

Long sleeves were a necessity for women. One would never think of being seen with the sleeves rolled up, Mrs. Reed said. She believes clothes of this era are "a great improvement."

The couple are members of the First Baptist Church in Hermleigh. Mr. Reed, 85, was born in Macon, Ga. Mrs. Reed, 77, is originally of Sylvester, Ga. They both eventually moved to Brown County near Rising Star where they met.

Their only child is Mrs. Ross Williams. Four sons died in infancy.

How To Rise In Business Through Secretarial Post

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Girls who expect to marry the boss aren't likely to progress rapidly either in business or office romance, says a girl who might be called business's No. 1 secretary.

She is blonde, attractive Anna F. [illegible], just elected secretary of P. Lorillard Co., first woman officer in the history of the 193-year-old tobacco firm. This blue-eyed ex-WAVE, daughter of a newspaper press mechanic, advanced in six years from a routine secretarial job to the top brass post. Says she:

"The story of the secretary who marries the boss is confined mostly to movies and magazines, I'm afraid. My experience has been that most bosses are too busy to want any romantic distractions in the office, and besides are old enough to be our fathers."

Anna, who is 30 and looks like a poised college girl, has some advice for secretaries who have big business ambitions:

1. Realize that an office is a place of business and not a social club or matrimonial agency.
2. Try to understand the duties and problems of your boss, and take as much detail as possible off his shoulders.
3. Accept the fact that you have been hired for your efficiency and not because of your big blue eyes or that new perfume.
4. Make yourself as unobtrusive as possible while in the office and try to anticipate the wishes of the boss. Have the file on Whoosis ready before he asks for it, make his luncheon reservation before he reminds you, have the most important letters on top of his pile of mail.
5. Keep yourself neat and well groomed at all times, but avoid heavy perfumes, gaudy jewelry and provocative necklines. There's a time and a place for everything, and the usual high pressure office is not the place for secretarial allure.
6. Familiarize yourself with the business procedures, policies and techniques of your firm. When the boss is away, You may have to pinch hit for him.
7. Don't be too proud to show the proper respect for your boss and his associates. Don't be afraid to say "sir".
8. Don't try to run your boss' affairs unless he asks you to. Some men don't want to be reminded to get a haircut or send flowers to their wives. The secretary who attempts to run the private life of her boss can be just as annoying as the one who dodges responsibility.
9. Take an interest in the business transacted by the company.
10. Keep your personal grievances to yourself.

Lou Miller, W. White Marry Monday in Church

Mr. and Mrs. William G. White, who were married Monday night, will be at home here following a short wedding trip to New Orleans.

Mrs. White, the former Miss Lou Alice Miller, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Miller, 2807 Avenue T. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard T. White of McKinney.

The Rev. Glenn Ricketts, First Christian Church pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church. The couple stood before an archway of pink candles in wrought iron holders and large baskets of salmon pink and white gladioli. Pink caladiums were used in the background. Aisles were marked with pink candles and streamers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a strapless waltz length dress of imported white lace over organdy. Her shell hat trimmed in seed pearls matched the pink nylon and taffeta bolero and satin slippers. She carried a colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses tied with petal pink ribbon. For something old she wore an heirloom cameo pin which belonged to her paternal grandmother.

The bridal attendants were Miss Dolores Williams, Navasota, and Mrs. Max von Roeder of Snyder. They wore identical waltz length dresses of pink embroidered organdy over taffeta. Their hats were of pink nylon trimmed with matching velvet. Bouquets were fashioned of white gladioli and satin ribbon.

The junior bridesmaid, Nonnie Hue Rodgers, wore a dress identical to the bride's. All the attendants had pink pearl chokers, gifts from the bride.

Lem Nations was best man. Other attendants were Max von Roeder, Grant Teaff, Curtis Necessary and Raymond Mobley.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Sally Glover sang "Through the Years," accompanied by Mrs. Novis Rodgers at the organ.

A reception for the couple followed on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents. The table was centered with an arrangement of pink carnations and daisies. Pink candles in crystal holders were placed on the ecru lace cloth over a pink covering. The three-tiered wedding cake was trimmed in pink roses. Mrs. Mack Weston, the bride's cousin from Fort Smith, Ark., presided at the cake. Miss Judy Miller, the bride's sister, served punch.

For the wedding trip Mrs. White wore a beige linen frock with dull green shoes, brown hat and beige bag. Her corsage was a green orchid.

The bride graduated from Snyder High School and attended Texas Tech. She is employed by the Snyder National Bank. The bridegroom attended Denison High School and is employed at Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Leonard T. White and Mrs. and Mrs. James White, all of McKinney; Miss Jodie Chance, Savoy; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Massey, McCamey; Mr. and Mrs. Mack Weston and daughter, Fort Smith, Ark.; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller, El Paso.

How can you remove ice cream stain from a rug? E. D.

Place a pan under the rug at the place of the stain and allow hot water to soak into the stain. Sponge with soapsuds, rinse and finish with carbon tetrachloride.

* * *

Would you give me some idea for a sandwich filling? R. Y.

You might like a sardine-egg filling. You'll need ¼ cup mashed sardines, 1-3 cup strained hard-cooked egg yolk, 1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, olive oil and salt. It will make three sandwiches.

Another one that is decidedly different is a carrot peanut sandwich filling. It will take 1 and ½ cups grated raw carrots, ½ cup finely chopped salted peanuts, ¼ cup piccalilli and 1-3 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing. Combine carrots, peanuts, piccalilli and mayonnaise. It will make enough filling for 8 sandwiches.

An answer to a patching problem may be found in a press-on patch. Denim patches are widely available in a complete color range. These are ironed in place over the tear.

Patches can be cut in amusing shapes and stitched down with contrasting thread. Some women find, too, that preventive patching is wise. Instead of waiting for the holes to appear, they iron and stitch decorative patches over such points of wear as knees and elbows of clothes destined for rough treatment.

How would you remove mustard stain from a cotton dress? S. G.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for July 26, 1928.)

Rains covered wide areas in all West Texas Friday night, many places reporting that rapidly parching crops were at least temporarily saved. While feed is declared lost in many localities, cotton needs only plenty of heat and normal moisture up to August 15 to assure a crop at least equal to that of last year, reports indicate.

With the heavy rain around Snyder came a severe wind and electrical storm, with the official precipitation registering 1.75 inches. While trees were uprooted, only one house was removed from its foundation, that of Wade Winston. Damage otherwise was slight.

Building permits show a substantial gain over last month regardless of the drouth.. Last month's permit were $5,500, with this month showing $16,100 up to Monday. Four persons narrowly escaped drowning Monday when their automobile was caught in midstream of one fork of the Brazos at Justiceburg. Occupants of the car, all of whom escaped through windows after they were unable to open doors due to the rush of waters, and were dragged to safety, were Oscar S. Hodge and sister, Alma, of Stephenville; Miss Lula Price, Cleburne, and a 6-year-old child named Callahan of Plainview. A 4-foot headrise of the branch washed downstream and completely submerged the car.

The Post Baptist Encampment opened Monday in spite of the heavy rains all over this section, but at a meeting of the executive committee it was decided to close on account of the continued downpour. Several Snyder people had important parts on the exceptionally good program announced, but the impassable roads made it imperative that the encampment be closed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of white satin worn by her twin sister, Mrs. Mickey Sterling, in her wedding. Satin-covered buttons ornamented the fitted bodice fashioned with a high neck trimmed with lace. Her elbow-length mitts were of matching lace, and her veil finger-tip length.

Split carnations intermingled with white tulle and tied with white satin streamers sprayed over the bride's white Bible. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Sterling, wore a powder blue taffeta dress and carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white carnations set off with pink ribbon.

J. W. Johnston served the bridegroom as best man. Candle lighters were Donald Brewer and Ronald Brewer. Joe Cargile and Joe Devenport were ushers.

KNIT-KNACKS

Here are two breezy new examples of how to make the most of wool-knit fashions in a vacation wardrobe. At left is a nautical blue and white striped knit middy with white striped sweater, to be worn with skirts, slacks or shorts, as the occasion demands. Both designed by Groblue, in a range of colors.

Way To Travel Light Is To Pack Right Before You Go

By The Associated Press

Are you the excess-baggage type? Nine out of ten women are, any man will tell you.

And if the boys had their way you can bet they'd take a leaf from the airlines and limit your luggage weight in cars and trains.

Women are divided into two groups when it comes to traveling, we are told: Those who take everything but the weathervane when they leave home even for a weekend, and those who take so little they never have the right thing to wear.

Somewhere in between is the happy medium—the girl who pleases her vacationing male companion by taking only essential items, and never slyly stuffs a traveling iron, cinch belt or girdle into his suitcase.

If you want to earn the kudos of your husband, learn to travel light. Figure out your packing problem well in advance of your trip so that you will take everything you need and no more. It is much more satisfying to have that man say "is this all" when he looks at your two bags, than to have him throw a fit because you have enough luggage to see you on a year's trip around the world..

If travel clothes are tubbable, you'll need fewer garments in your suitcase. Double - duty washable clothes are good investments. Petticoat and camsiole ensembles go under dresses or out in the open, sleeveless. night shorts serve as blouse slips, petticoat and weskit combinations double as early morning outfits, attractive pajamas whip into bloomer and blouse duos. Wise shoppers will find quick-drying miracle fibers in lingerie, hose and blouses, easy to suds with soap and water. Small latex clothesline, weighing only an ounce requiring no clothespins, is a handy item to pack, insuring jiffy drying after wash basin laundering.

It isn't neccessary to take large jars and tubes of cosmetics on your trip. The amount you need for a week or two may be transferred into small containers, particularly the non - breakable plastic kind which takes up little space. Perfumes may be emptied into smaller dispensers and colognes may be poured into plastic jars. Besides being space savers there is little danger of breakage ruining your prize evening gown.

One large size youthifying cream comes with a miniature jar that can be re-filled again and again. The little jar holds an ample supply for a week or two — pending on your requirements.

Before closing the lid on your suitcase make the what-goes-with-what check. This is to insure that the stole for your evening dress, top for your swim suit and belt for your separates ensemble is all intact. The wrong belt or a missing part of a favorite costume can take the edge off vacation fun.

Snyder Women Find Delays On Recent Canadian Tour

By DOLORES KETCHERSID

Inclement weather marred, but couldn't ruin, a Canadian tour by a group of Snyder women who returned home Friday. They also attended a portion of the Lions Club convention in Chicago as part of their multi-miled vacation.

The women were delayed 27½ hours on the trip from Field to Vancouver when Kicking Horse River washed out part of the railroad tracks. Ten trains were held up at the Kicking Horse Canyon and food was only being served at one diner. Snyder women along on the trip were. Mrs. H. G. TOWLE, Mrs. T. L. LOLLAR, Mrs. HUGH BOREN, Mrs. ELLA COOPER, Miss BESS JOHNSON, and Mrs. O. P. THRANE.

The wash-out delayed the women so much that they didn't have time to shop. But information imparted by other tourists along the way was that Victoria is the cheapest and best place to buy, Miss Johnson said. Some day the women plan to take another trip to Canada and see all they missed or didn't have time for this time, she said.

They found Baniff Springs in Canada "as hot as Texas," Miss Johnson said. The confusing part was that it didn't get dark until 10 o'clock at night and began getting light at 4 o'clock in the morning. As a result the women got up with the sun so they would not miss side trips taken by any groups.

On a trip up to the ice fields from Baniff the weather again interfered. It began raining, and the water washed out the road behind them. They were marooned at a lodge for about six hours. They didn't have the rough clothes needed, Miss Johnson said. The guides promised to show them wild animals, but they saw only two moose and a bear, she said.

One of the most peaceful scenes was the Emerald Lake which is green in contrast to the blue of Lake Louise. Some Abilene residents promptly made inquiries about reservations at Emerald Lake for next year, she said. Fog hid most of Lake Louise.

The group ate tremendous amount of the Canada's favorite food, fish. Although she likes fish Miss Johnson said the visitors eventually tired of it and "There was a time I though we might sprout fins."

One of the most impressive sights seen on the tour was the old English hotel at Baniff which was constructed at a cost of $39 million. But since the town is only open to tourist trade about three months each year there are too many people to accomodate. Miss Johnson said they were told that 200 persons had been forced to sleep in their cars the night before.

One of the most scenic spots was found in the United States, however. While at Mount Rainer they saw snow and ice in contrast with yellow and white lillies. The archway to the lodge where they ate was entirely of snow. One European tourist told the group she had seen nothing in Switzerland that was any prettier, Miss Johnson said.

While in Chicago at the convention the women took in a style show at Marshall Fields. But they were disappointed, Miss Johnson said. They decided that Neiman-Marcus was the best store they had seen.

Tourist-like, they called a taxi to take them to an unfamiliar address, and the driver looped around to run up the meter before taking them back to within two blocks of where they had originally been.

While in Seattle they met other Snyderites on vacation, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN E. SENTELL.

The women also visited radio shows and saw the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox play. Sportscaster Dizzy Dean sat in the box behind them at the stadium.

Mrs. ED CHAPMAN who lives in Towle Place left Friday to visit a daughter in Lawton, Okla., whom she had not seen or heard from in 13 years.

When Mrs. Chapman and her daughter, Mrs. Dale Johnson, contacted each other for the first time early last week. Mrs. Chapman learned that she would probably be a grandmother by the time she gets to Lawton.

The mother and daughter last saw each other in Minneapolis in 1940, Mrs. Chapman said.

Since then the only contact between the mother and daughter has been grapevine news which passed so slowly between friends of the two that neither could ever find the other before they had moved to new locations and becoming lost to each other again, Mrs. Chapman said.

JOE'S BACK

Joe is back home, and 8-year-old JOHN RICHARD WEBB is probably one of the happiest boys in Scurry County.

Joe is John Richard's bulldog, and they have been raised together, Mrs. R. W. WEBB, John Richard's grandmother, said. The Webbs have charge of both boy and dog, and took them together on a vacation trip to Hamilton County shortly after school closed for the summer. Joe swam and played with John Richard for several days but then apparently got homesick and started back to Snyder alone.

A wide search for Joe was unsuccessful until last week when he was found not too far from where he had strayed. He weighed 75 pounds when he was lost, but is a mere shadow of his former self now, Mrs. Webb said. He's getting good care, though, and probably more petting than ever in his boy-beloved life.

VACATIONING

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. JONES left yesterday morning from their home at 2009 Avenue O for points in Arkansas and Louisiana. They intend to spend two weeks visiting his father, J. B. Jones, in Hope, Ark., sister, Mrs. R. E. Moses, Shreveport, La., and her sister, Mrs. Lonnie Collins, Augusta, Ark.

CAMPERS

ROBIN WASSON, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. WASSON, and CLARE SMITH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. FRITZ R. SMITH, left Wednesday for Trojan Camp, Colo. where they will spend five weeks. Another Snyderite, CAROLYN SEARS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. FOREST SEARS, is already at the camp.

CARD OF THANKS A-3

We think that no finer people live any place on the glove than here in West Texas. Words can't express our gratefulness and deep appreciation to the fine men that came so willingly to the Battenfield Hospital for donors in time of need. We know this was a sacrifice of time on your jobs. We have had the most beautiful floral bouquets, such wonderful get-well cards, and phone calls of encouragement by the hundreds. All these kind expressions sincerely find the soft spot in our hearts. Again we say we are most grateful.

Union Leader's Rites Picketed

CHICAGO (AP) — Striking AFL Cemetery Workers picketed the funeral of an AFL official Thursday. A strike leader said the dead man "wouldn't have had it any other way."

When the hearse carrying the body of Thomas Purcell, international representative of the AFL Granite Cutters union, reached the gate of Queen of Heaven Cemetery, the union driver halted at the picket line.

Pall bearers carried the casket into the cemetery.

Miles Barry, secretary-treasurer of the striking AFL Cemetery Workers union, said, "Our pickets don't discriminate and that's the way Tom would want it."

Some 700 workers have struck against 17 Chicago area Catholic cemeteries in a wage dispute. Their hourly pay now ranges from $1.53 to $1.70.

About 20,000 kilowatt hour's of electricity are used to produce two short tons of aluminum.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Land

Nuptial Vows Said Friday By Miss Newton, P. Land

Miss Helen Newton became the bride of Phillip Land in a double ring ceremony Friday night in the home of the bridegroom's parents at 1312 Seventeenth Street.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Newton of Midland, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leamon Land.

Ted Norton, Church of Christ minister, read the double ring ceremony. Arrangements of pink asters and fern were used in living room decorations.

For her wedding the bride wore a street-length dress of pink taffeta and gray lace. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Jay Whitley served her niece as matron of honor. She wore a white taffeta street-length dress. The bridegroom's attendant was his brother, Stanford Land.

In the reception following the ceremony Mrs. Dorothy Shaw cut the two-tiered wedding cake. Punch was served by Mrs. Stanford Land. A centerpiece of pink asters and greenery was placed on the lace tablecloth.

Following a week-end wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., the couple will be at home at 1106 Thirtieth Street.

The bridegroom, a spring graduate of Snyder High School, is employed at Hughes Service Station. Mrs. Land attended Midland High School.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were the bride's parents.

Famous Sisters' Spat Is Discussed By Their Mother

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Really, our family is very affectionate. I think our so-called squabbles have been exaggerated."

Speaking was Lillian Fontaine, mother of the fabulous, feuding sisters, Olivia De Havilland and Joan Fontaine. Although the two sisters are again on speaking terms—for the present at least—they have had their tussle, both in private and public.

The most famous public spat came when Olivia won her Oscar for "To Each Her Own" in 1947. Joan was backstage at the Shrine Auditorium, having presented an award as a past winner. She stepped up to Olivia and started to congratulate her as she came off stage.

"How can you speak to me when you know how I feel!" snapped Olivia, and Joan fled in tears.

The girls didn't speak again until last year, when Olivia shed her husband, Marcus Goodrich. He, incidentally, was reported to be one of the girls' points of contention.

Mrs. Fontaine is a friendly, energetic woman, and you can see where her daughters got their beauty and vitality. I asked if the Academy incident alarmed her.

"Not at first," she replied. "I thought it was just one of those involuntary, impulsive things that people do in times of excitement. When I read the newspaper accounts of the affair, I began to think it had grown to larger proportions.

"I think the girls' differences have never been as bad as they appear to be in print. I also think the differences are deepened because of the fact that so much is made of them in the papers. Then it becomes more of a matter of pride not to get back together."

Did the girls also fight as youngsters?

"Certainly," the mother replied. "But no more so than any family with two daughters. They had their little squabbles, generally over possession. I'm staying with Joan now, and I see her two girls doing the same things all over again. 'This toy is mine' 'No, it isn't' That sort of thing."

The elder actress is visiting here briefly from her nome in Saratoga, near San Jose, Calif. She is playing a role in "The Bigamist," which her son-in-law, Collier Young is producing. Joan is also in the film, and it is her mother's first picture since "Ivy."

I asked if she started acting before her daughters.

"Oh, yes," she laughed. "I'm the only one in the family who ever took any dramatic lessons. I did some things in musicals in England, but let's not talk about that.

"When we came to Hollywood, I managed my daughters' careers. I arranged Olivia's first contract. I had been going out on the road to do readings—you know, taking all the parts in a play and all that. I realized that I had become pretty hammy, so I decided to take some more lessons.

"I studied under Maria Ouspenskaya and did plays at the Actors' Lab and Pasadena Playhouse. That kind of training brought me back down to earth. Then a part came up in 'The Lost Weekend,' calling for a new kind of face. I managed to land the part, and I did about 14 pictures after that."

In recent years, she has been living in Northern California and putting on plays in the adult education program at Los Gatos. She will return to her work there and her husband, a former business man who has been ailing.

Teacher Shortage

AUSTIN, July 25 (AP)—A severe shortage of teachers was predicted today by the Texas State Teachers Assn. It has completed a survey that showed there will be only 2,550 new teachers available for 8,000 vacancies in September.

Water Meters On Apartments Not Problem

Apparently a far-reaching court ruling by the 11th Court of Civil Appeals, in Eastland, will not have any immediate effect on charging for water for apartments here, B. J. Shelley, city manager, said.

The court ruled last week to uphold a judgment by Judge J. R. Black in 42nd District Court that the city of Abilene had the right to charge separate minimum water bills for each apartment in apartment buildings in Abilene.

"The problem has never come up here," Shelley said.

"There is no set pattern for metering apartment buildings, some probably have a single meter for the entire building, and some others probably have individual meters for each apartment," Shelley added.

The judgment in the district court and decision in the civil court of appeals arose from a suit seeking an injunction to keep the city of Abilene from charging separate minimum charges for each apartment in apartment buildings owned by a number of individuals in Abilene.
