HEREFORD MERCHANTS TO CO-OPERATE IN ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN IN THE BRAND

A co-operating advertising campaign, with The Brand as the medium, has been launched by the merchants of Hereford and will be continued on through until the first of the year.

The campaign begins to get up steam in this issue of the paper, the vanguard being led by the grocery stores of the city, and the others will fall into line next week, as soon as the details of the drive can be worked out.

This campaign was decided upon at a banquet of the merchants, held at the Stockman's Cafe last Friday night. The question of how to best co-operate for volume in business occupied the evening hours until eleven o'clock. Everybody present expressed himself freely and the result was the decision to stick to straight, legitimate co-operative advertising in the local paper upon which to rear a permanent and substantial business edifice.

There will be no prizes given in this campaign; every merchant will run his own affairs to suit himself and his advertising space as he sees fit. But it is agreed that this advertising would be co-operative to the extent that each man would concentrate on Saturday Specials, giving genuine bargains in staples every Saturday from now on to January 1, and in addition would meet all outside competition where it appeared.

Watch The Brand each week for these Saturday Specials! It will mean dollars saved on every article you eat, and wear and use! Read the Specials carried in this issue by the grocery houses of Hereford. Next week watch for the Specials in all other lines. It will pay you!

At the banquet Friday night an Advertising Committee, composed of E. B. Black, H. H. Hawkins and A. A. Foster, was named to work out the plan and recommend it to the merchants. This committee agreed as outlined above and the grocery men of the city met Monday and accepted the plan. Other group meetings will be held before next week. These group meetings are designed merely to acquaint the merchants with the details of the campaign, as it is almost impossible to get them all together at any one time.

Hereford's merchants are keenly alive to the opportunity for increased volume this winter and spring, owing to the fine crops over this section, and are determined not to allow outside competition to get this business if the right kind of goods, the right kind of prices, and the right kind of business dealings can secure and hold it. They realize that in union there is strength, and The Brand is delighted of course that the merchants recognize the value of the local paper in any advertising plan. The Brand pledges itself to merit this confidence and support in every legitimate way, and to work for the upbuilding and prosperity of the merchants and the community as a whole.

HEREFORD GOLFERS ARE IN TIE AT AMARILLO

The Hereford golf team journeyed up to Amarillo last Sunday afternoon and took on the Hillcrest men. This was a return match, Hereford having won on her own grounds two weeks previously.

The result of the match was a tie, six to six. The game was a distinct disappointment to Amarillo who figured they should win this match easily on their own grounds. Johnathan Pitman, A. Herbst, Henry Wilkinson, J. J. Clark, Doug Fox and W. R. Steckman lost their matches while Brack Williams, Frank Marrs, A. A. Foster, Harry Rice, W. H. Russell and J. B. Roden split the difference with Amarillo, winning their matches.

FRED MILLARD'S PARENTS FROM OHIO ARE VISITORS

Fred Millard's father and mother, accompanied by his brother and wife, of Niles, Ohio, were here this week visiting Mr. Millard and family. This was the first time in thirteen years Mr. Millard had seen his father. The party left home in July and have been traveling overland, visiting British Columbia and all along the coast, driving some eight thousand miles when they reached Hereford. They are to leave Friday for their Ohio home.

"Aggie" Students Want Job Beautifying New School

The boys of the agricultural classes at the High school met this week and perfected a class organization. Price Barrett was elected class leader, Marlin Gilliland, secy-treasurer, and Oliver Rudd, volley-ball captain of the first year class. The second year class elected Horace Hershey as class leader, Edgar Ireland as secy-treasurer, and Bernard Roberson as volley-ball captain.

The agricultural students have outlined a program of work outside of their regular class work. They expect to have athletic teams within their groups and challenge the other school organizations for games in the various athletic sports. They will also entertain at Chapel some Tuesday morning with a program becoming to "Aggies." And, of course, they will have their annual camping trip next spring. Their motto is "Be a Booster."

The second year agricultural students decided to submit plans for the landscape gardening of the new High school grounds to the school board for their approval. If the board accepts these plans it is the wish of the agricultural class that they not only draw the plans for the grounds but they expect to do much of the work, such as making flower beds, planting trees, flowers, shrubs, lawn, etc. This work would be done under the direction of Mr. Humble, the agricultural instructor.

HOME TALENT LYCEUM IS PLANNED HERE THIS YEAR

A great number of the Lyceum supporters of Hereford for the past two years have been urging the Music Study Club to arrange and give a home-talent Lyceum. So this organization together with the Fellowship and Pep classes of the First Christian Church, have joined together and arranged for a home-talent Lyceum to be given here this winter, consisting of five numbers. The first is to be given by the Music Study Club the last week in October, while two numbers will consist of two plays given by the two classes, with the third rendered by the Music Study Club, and the fifth a joint program arranged by all.

Season tickets are to be sold with a reduction from single admissions, and the programs are to be rendered at the different churches with the hope of obtaining the new High school building for the plays.

Much effort is being put forth to make these programs a success and the organization urges the public to help and support the lyceum.

HIGH SCHOOL CORNER STONE DATE UNKNOWN

The date for the laying of the High school corner stone has not yet been set. The school board met Tuesday night for this purpose but some of the members were absent and the decision was postponed until a full board can be gotten together.

Sweet Potatoes at Rate of $600.00 Per Acre Are Marketed by J. N. Messenger; Makes Grocery Bill Off of Small Plot

Another illuminating example of successful truck farming around Hereford was brought to light this week when J. N. Messenger, who lives on the old Sherman Williams place just west of the Avenue, marketed his sweet potatoes.

One twelfth of an acre had been planted to potatoes and Mr. Messenger sold $40.38 worth. He had remaining 300 lbs. for his own use. Figuring these at the same price he sold the others would have netted him $50.88 if all had been turned into cash. At the above rate an acre of sweet potatoes would have realized slightly over $600 per acre.

Mr. Messenger has three eighths of an acre all told in fruits and vegetables. His family has lived out of it all summer and fall and they sold in cash from it over $100 besides. Come to the Panhandle!

Two More Farm Homes To Be Erected; Non-resident Property Owner Plans to Improve Places Northeast of Hereford

The long hoped for activity in farm home construction is apparently well started at last, and indications are for heavy rural building operations this winter and spring.

Following Henry Wilkinson's announcement of last week that he would build ten farm homes on his land at once comes the news this week that a foreign property owner, Judge S. J. Mounghon, county Judge of Upshur county, living at Gilmer, will immediately erect two houses, with barns and windmills, on his land, sixteen miles northeast of Hereford. Jake Trefel, local contractor, will construct the improvements. Each house will be of the same general type used by Mr. Wilkinson, that is, three-rooms, with one extra large room capable of being divided into two.

Judge Mounghon expects to rent these two improved places and is in the market for the right kind of tenants.

Christian Delegation Enjoy Trip to Oklahoma City

From letters coming back from Oklahoma City, where the national convention of the Christian church is being held this week, the Hereford delegation is having a great time. Among others, here is one letter received by The Brand from Rev. Thurman Morzan:

"Our bunch arrived safe and sound. We have choice locations, all of us together. We are expecting a great time.

"The convention is going to be the best in history. The town is overflowing with delegates. The papers are predicting from eleven to twelve thousand.

"In hospitality and courtesy this town cannot be surpassed. Their slogan is 'This Town Is Yours,' and they surely are living up to it.

"Bro. C. H. Dyar and I have our wives with us and we are very safe. But we are a bit worried about Bro. F. H. Oberthier and Leonard Foster. They report some great experiences."

SEVEN HEREFORD TEACHERS ENROLL IN STATE ASS'N

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 6.—Seven Hereford city school teachers have enrolled in the Texas State Teachers Association. The enrollment was reported by Superintendent C. H. Dillehay and includes Fern Axtell, Mary Brady, Catherine Wilson, Beulah Williams, Margaret B. Hinton, Thelma Tynes and O. J. Sharp.

Several Hereford teachers are expected to attend the annual convention of the association which will be held in Dallas, November 26, 27, and 28.

Labor Crisis is Met by Going Out After Mexicans

The labor situation is becoming acute and the Chamber of Commerce has resorted to stern financial measures in attempting to remedy the situation. Negotiations were opened with influential Mexicans across the state line and several gangs of Mexican laborers have already been imported. Troy Womble was allotted fifteen, G. P. Owen 8, and K. Y. Lawrence 8. In some instances the Chamber of Commerce advanced necessary expense money to these families and the farmers will deduct the amount from their wages when earned.

Wednesday Dr. Overton and Walter Dunlap left overland on a labor-hunting expedition, with power to get them and bring them back. The Labor Bureau fully realizes the gravity of the situation here in getting in these magnificent crops before bad weather descends upon the Plains and every effort will be made to secure every laborer who can be induced to come here.

ORPHANAGE WANTS TO PLACE BABIES HERE

Captain Lynn, representing the Lynn Orphans' Work, 1001 Bryan Ave., Ft. Worth, Texas, is in Hereford this week in the interest of placing dependent homeless babies in private Christian homes by legal adoption. Any one interested in the adoption of babies will find Captain Lynn at the Stockman's Cafe.

West-Way School Trustees Trying Out Two Ford Trucks in Which to Haul the Children; Idea is Eagerly Watched

(By County Judge E. W. Wilson.) Due to the untiring efforts of trustees S. G. Moore and G. W. Wilson of common school district No. 5 the children are enjoying the advantages of free transportation these days to the West-Way High school. It took a lot of time, a lot of nerve and lots of perseverance on the part of these enterprising men who hold a salary-less and many times a thankless job to work up this proposition of consolidating the schools and putting into operation a successful truck line to carry the pupils to and from school.

Two brand new Ford trucks all fitted out with the latest body designs for the purpose, one privately owned and the other by the district, are now in full operation. The trucks are safe and comfortable; children can enter only from the front end near the driver's seat. The top and side curtains are of heavy canvas material, painted with linseed oil, making a very comfortable and warm top in cold weather and a cool shade in warm weather and the side curtains can be rolled up.

On account of this new method of getting to school the West-Way High school has already grown to such dimensions that soon a third teacher will have to be provided as there are at present fifty children in actual attendance with prospects of more, with all grades being taught up to and including the tenth. This is the first venture of the kind in the county and is being watched with much interest.

If handling correctly and in a business like manner this kind of transportation is more economical on the part of the district to say nothing of the advantages to the pupils in being able to attend a larger and better equipped school.

DEAF SMITH WINS THIRD AT WICHITA FALLS; INDIVIDUAL RIBBONS GALORE TAKEN CORRECTION!

Last week, in reporting the arrival of the first bale of cotton, The Brand stated that R. R. Jackson, who raised and marketed the bale, was a resident of Castro county. Monday Mr. Jackson called and stated that he is a resident of Deaf Smith county and he wanted his county to have the credit for the bale! The mistake grew out of the fact that Mr. Jackson lives so close to the line that The Brand did not know for sure just where the line really ran, and gave Castro county the benefit of the doubt.

Deaf Smith county should feel proud of the showing that the products from this county have been making at the various Fairs where they have been shown so far this year. The Deaf Smith county booth has attracted wide attention at Abilene, Wichita Falls and Amarillo and people everywhere are astonished at the variety of crops that can be raised here.

T. D. Moss, secretary of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce has just returned from Wichita Falls where Deaf Smith county products have been entered in the Texas-Oklahoma Fair at that place. Diversified farming as it is being carried on in this section again won attention when the local products won thirty five ribbons, in addition to taking third place in the county booth prizes. The prizes won included twenty two blue ribbons, nine second prizes and four third places. This was the best record that any county entered made on individual stuff.

Football Eleven Plays at Canyon Friday Afternoon

The boosters of the Hereford High have arranged to take practically all of the student body to Canyon Friday afternoon to help the football boys score a victory over the Canyon Eagles. School will be dismissed at 2:30 so that the students may arrive in Canyon in time to see the game. The school time that they will lose on Friday has already been made up by having an extra class after school hours on two afternoons this week.

The Hereford High football results to date read:
Hereford 25, Portales 0.
Hereford 39, Texico 0.
Hereford 7, Canyon 7.

At Monday's luncheon the Chamber of Commerce endorsed a suggestion by Prof. Humble, who has charge of the management of the team aside from the coaching, that the stores close for the time of the game here on October 23, when Tulla High will be the opposition. A committee will circulate a petition to this effect. The merchants will be asked only this once to close for the game. "Beat Tulla" will be the High school slogan for the next few weeks.

Last Friday the eleven defeated the Texico team on the local grounds to the tune of 39 to 0. The roanera brigade was strictly on the job and backed up the team magnificently. Texico apparently outweighed the locals slightly but Captain Russell again was the star of the game and his dashing off tackle and end plays got away before the visitors could organize to stop him. The entire Hereford eleven showed the effects of good coaching and team work and were never in danger throughout.

DAMP AND CHILLY WEATHER DISAPPOINTS THE FARMER

Damp and threatening weather was an unwelcome visitor here again Thursday; the inhabitants awakening in the morning to find an extremely heavy dew, everything dripping wet; and lowering clouds and a grey canopy overhead. All day it was dark and chilly, with prospects for "falling weather" at nightfall.

Most of the time since last week the days have been dark in the early morning and then clearing up with sunshine in the forenoon. The farmers are feverishly busy endeavoring to get into the swing of harvest. Binders are running in spite of muddy fields and crops that in some instances need several more days of sunshine before being really ready to cut. All realize the value of time and sunshine right now, and there is a general prayer going up that the bad weather may be postponed for several weeks yet.

J. R. Davidson of Aurora, Neb., arrived Sunday and will probably remain here for a week or more.

Mr. Davidson owns a section of land eight miles south of Hereford, just across the line in Castro county, and is greatly interested in local crops and development prospects.

Mrs. E. Adams of Trenton, Mo., arrived this week to be with her brother, W. Renfro, and family.

J. B. Elliston, secretary of the Deaf Smith county fair association, carried the Deaf Smith county products to Dallas where they will be entered in the State Fair which begins there Saturday. Fresh vegetables, fruits, and a good selection of maize was shipped to him early Thursday by Count Agout R. O. Dunkle, and with the fresh stuff, this county is expected to make a good showing at the State Fair where competition will be keener than it has ever been.

This county carried away fifty first prizes and nine second places at the West Texas Fair at Abilene just before the T. O. Fair, and won much publicity because of the variety of products. A number of people seem astonished that so many different things could be grown out here in the "sattle country."

Mr. Elliston is still on the job, according to Mr. Moss, and will be working like that "Kentucky Male" the Mr. Black often speaks of, until the Dallas fair is over. "Just tell the Dallas fair is over," said Mrs. A. D. Godwin's canna products, and D. Crawford's onions are still winning prizes, "was Byrle message sent back home. J. Day Thompson's wheat and oats, D. McDonald's alfalfa, and other Deaf Smith products are winning prizes—shown by the fact that it county carried away around six premiums at Wichita Falls and Abilene, in addition to taking for second place at the Tri-State fair at Amarillo last week.

Below is a list of the prizes won Abilene with the names of the winners: Bundled wheat, J. David Thompson, first; bundled oats, J. Day Thompson, first; threshed grains, wheat, G. L. Sharp, first; Oats, David Thompson, first; speltz, J. Green, first; alfalfa, D. L. McDonald, first; J. J. Kropff, second; John Grass, J. B. Jones, first; Gram grass, Lem Carlyle, second.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK FROM OCTOBER 4 TO 10

Many people are crippled or burned to death and about 25 million dollars worth of property is destroyed by fire in Texas each year.

Compiled statistics conclusively prove that at least 85 per cent of all fires we have are due to carelessness and ignorance of fire hazards, and the purpose of Fire Prevention Week is to bring home that fact to the public, to impress the seriousness of our tremendous fire loss record, and to urge caution and carefulness about fire.

Therefore I, E. S. Ireland, mayor of the City of Hereford, to the end that the needless destruction of life and property may be reduced, do hereby proclaim October 4th to 10th, A. D. 1925, FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in this city, and do hereby call upon all our citizens to observe the occasion by cleaning the city of fire hazards.

On those days let our people individually and collectively stimulate interest in the work of eliminating fire dangers by actively engaging in a general campaign for that purpose; let the Ministers of the Gospel and Sunday School Superintendents on Sunday the 4th day of October, appropriately mention the need for care about fire, and let the teachers in all the schools throughout the week instruct the school children in the execution of fire drills, and teach them the danger of fire and how it may be avoided.

In Testimony Whereof, Witness my hand, this the 28th day of September, A. D. 1925.

E. S. IRELAND, Mayor.

The Ideal Heater

THE IDEAL HEATER is a dignified departure in stove construction, has double combustion chambers and cold air-duct. Air inlet is in upper part of feed door, smoke exit at rear end of combustion chamber.

By the down draft construction in the IDEAL Heater, the fire is positively under perfect control, smoke passes through fire-pot and rear combustion chamber, and is consumed; the result is a powerful base heat. As a floor warmer it has no equal.

The cold air-duct takes the air from floor, passes it upward around combustion chamber, heating, purifying, and discharging it in room, thus creating a continuous circulation of air.

Steel jacket is bolted to flange on outside of fire-pot, door frames and every joint is inlaid with asbestos, and is positively air-tight. The swinging and oscillating draw center-grate hangs in three steel links, and is easily operated and removed.

It has automatic cover in top underneath urn-bottom for supplying fuel to stove, which can also be used for a Self-Feed Magazine. Stove cannot be made to smoke when automatic cover is raised, if lower drafts are closed.

IF YOU GET UP NIGHTS YOU'RE OLD BEFORE YOUR TIME

Prostate and Bladder Trouble Makes Many Men Feel Twenty Years Older Than They Are.

It is said that fifty per cent of men past forty and many younger ones are victims of prostate trouble. One of the commonest symptoms of this dangerous disease which saps vitality and makes you old before your time is the necessity of getting up several times a night.

Other symptoms are "dull, draggy, aching at the base of the spine, pain in groin, burning sensation of organs, loss of vigor and frequent attacks of the blues."

But there is hope for you, no matter how old your case, from a wonderful new formula. It seemingly brings new health, vigor and freedom from these troubles to both old and young.

This wonderful treatment is known as Walker's Prostate Specific, and is prepared in convenient, pleasant tablet form. All you need do is take one tablet after each meal and the symptoms seem to vanish like magic.

To prove these statements the Walker Institute, 1838 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., generously offers to send a 11 treatment under plain wrapper, postpaid, and free of charge to any sufferer who will write for it. If it cures you tell your friends and pay whatever you think is fair, otherwise the loss is ours.

Remember that you are the judge, and you pay nothing now or at any time unless you wish. We send your name today before the introductory offer is withdrawn. It is good for only 30 days and guaranteed in every way.

Mrs. Gilliland of Hereford spent a few days with Mrs. Joe Greer this week.

A new pupil, Leonard Mountford, entered school Wednesday. We now have forty enrolled.

There was a small crowd at Sunday school Sunday. Several from Progressive were present.

L. A. Smith and family spent Saturday evening in the S. F. Benge home.

Mrs. L. A. Blair returned from Davis Tuesday, where she visited her daughter.

Glenn Greer returned Thursday from a trip in South Texas, where he had been looking for harvest hands.

SEVENTH-GRADE

The ground is getting dry again after the big rains and our farmers are pleased for there is no feed cut to amount to anything and the rains make us feel the frost is near.

The ground has an abundance of moisture to sow wheat on for a long time and we will be benefited even if we can not get our feed cut when would like to.

A supper will be given at Fairview school house on Saturday night, October 17. The girls are expected to bring the pies and the boys their notebooks. The proceeds will be used to buy equipment for the play grounds. There will also be a play called the "Womanless Wedding".

A. Daniel of Hereford spent last night in our community.

M. Dowell went to Bushland last and Mrs. J. S. Pope are the parents of a baby girl which was born on September 24.

T. McClain and wife visited one week in the home of Grandpa and Grandma of Wildorado.

M. Davis and family and Cecil Sadle Alford spent Wednesday evening with R. L. Campbell and wife. They practiced some special music and the B. Y. P. U. programs at Duro.

M. Boling and wife (the newest bride and groom) were surprised last night by about forty of the neighbors here when they went to their home and gave them a shower of useful presents. After the excitement was over, refreshments were served and all had a most enjoyable time.

W. B. Bowen entertained the members in her Sunday School class at home last Sunday.

The first month of our school at Hereford has passed and all the pupils were very much pleased at the grades received.

Roads have been pretty muddy here and most of the time.

A county grading outfit is at work on the roads in the community and we hope to have good roads after they have had time to settle.

Miss Arnie Daniels of Canyon visited in the community Saturday night and Sunday.

FRIONA

Although the ground is rather soft from the recent heavy rains, many of our farmers are running their binders all day and some of them are running both day and night.

Wilkinson Implement Company received Saturday a car of McCormick-Deering tractors, containing a 10-20, a 15-30 and a farnall. This is the first of this type of machine that has been shipped in here and attracted a great deal of attention among the farmers who were in town that day.

We feel safe in the assertion that the Wilkinson Implement Co. has sold more tractors and row binders than any other concern in that business in any town of our size in the Panhandle and we believe it has equaled many much larger towns. Wilks is a hustler.

Mr. McFarland of Killeen, who recently purchased a large tract of land west of town, arrived last week with his family and personal property to take possession of his land and convert it into a farm. Among other property he brought a carload of Jersey cows.

Arthur Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Hughes, who recently enlisted in the U. S. Coast Artillery, has received an honorable discharge from the service and his parents are expecting him home in the near future. He is stationed in Hawaiian Islands.

Much wheat has been sown here this season and the abundant rains have been very beneficial to it and as a result it is sure looking fine now. It is thought, however, that there has been enough moisture to carry it through the winter if no more should come and farmers are now hoping it will remain dry until they can get their row crops all cared for.

During the storm Wednesday afternoon lightning killed a fine registered bull belonging to Floyd Schlenker west of town.

Bee Short's drive in filling station is now open for business and is doing a very good business.

Miss Fern Ham was quite ill during a part of this week.

Grandma Simpson who was recently very sick, is able to be out again and was down town Monday.

Four cars of lumber, three cars of sand and gravel, one car of brick and a car of posts were received by our dealers here during the past week.

CAMERON, N. M.

Live News From Correspondents in the Hereford Trade Territory

JUMBO

The Jumbo News for this and last week, unfortunately, will consist mostly of accidents.

L. E. Beck, returning from Amarillo Sunday night with his children, overturned his truck near Arney school-house. None of them were hurt except the smallest girl, Larue, whose face was badly injured. She has done very well, however, and is practically recovered.

A few afternoons ago, little Bennie Paris dislocated his wrist, and it was thought at the time, broke his arm, though that was discovered to be a mistake.

Marvin Spencer very nearly broke his arm Sunday morning.

Well, so much for the casualties.

On Friday night, September 25, the people of Jumbo met at the school house and organized a Parent-Teacher Association, to meet once every month. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Sam Hunter, Vice-President, Mrs. Bills; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Fellers; and recording secretary, Mrs. Ricketts. We want to ask everybody to come and help out.

On Friday night, October 2, at the school house, we organized a Literary Society to meet every two weeks. Officers: President, Mr. Cooper Woodburn; Vice-President, Mrs. Dyer, and Secretary, Miss Bills. The next meeting is to be October 16. We intend, with everybody's help, to have fine programs. Be sure and come.

A very interesting session of the Bible-study Club was held Sunday night. The character study was that of Ruth and the leader was Cooper Woodburn. On account of church next Sunday our next meeting will be a week from then. We wish to urge everybody to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer and children and Mr. and Mrs. Simpson and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Craig of Arney spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Andrews and Mr. Ovid Pinckert returned last week from Minnesota, where they have been for several months. We are very glad to have them back.

ADRIAN SIMS ITEMS

John Rector was in Amarillo Friday and Saturday of last week on business.

L. P. Landrum and son were in our community the first of the week soliciting orders for nursery stock.

Our community was saddened to learn of Mr. Ed Whitten's misfortune. On last Saturday night he was helping two men of the Valentine ranch to get a bunch of cattle to the stockyards at Adrian ready for shipment to Kansas City next morning and about one mile south of town a gate was some two-thirds way thrown back and his horse became entangled in this gate and threw him violently to the ground, striking his head. The men who were with him took him to Mr. Cyllier's home, where medical aid was given him. Dr. Hawn was immediately called and later Dr. Puckett of Amarillo came out, but he entertained no hopes for his recovery. He died Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon by Rev. Hill and his body laid to rest in the Vega cemetery. Mr. Whitten was at one time one of the XIT cowpunchers and for many years has made his home in this community. He leaves a wife and three children, Euclid, Ella and Elbert.

Our community joins in extending sympathy to this grief stricken family.

Dave Hutchinson made a business trip to Goodnight this week.

John Rector Jr. was an Amarillo visitor Monday.

J. H. Mecaskey was in Amarillo Friday on business.

Mrs. Belles and daughter, Peggy, visited Monday afternoon with Mrs. Chapman.

Mrs. John Rector and children visited Thursday with Mrs. Jim Mecaskey.

Mr. Whitten of Austin, Texas, is visiting in the Ed Whitten home this week.

Bill Belles and family enjoyed a visit from grandpa and grandma Belles of Canyon Saturday and Sunday of this week.

Mr. Hutchinson visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Belles.

Mrs. Jim Chapman and son Ray went to Adrian Wednesday afternoon. Everyone is busy cutting feed and sowing wheat in between rains.

"What's the damage?" Jack demanded.

Jake expectorated profusely, spread his feet, and scratched his head. "Seven times seven is forty-nine; fifty dollars for locatin' makes ninety-nine; I guess she's ninety-nine, boys; gosh darn it, we might have made it a hundred."

"We paid him the ninety-nine and Jack threw in another. 'We'll make it an even hundred,' he said. 'Come out and see us when you get a chance; we may have a bite of fried copote for you.'"

"Oh, I'll be along, I'll be along," said Jake. "I'll blow out there often."

We shook hands with Jake and turned away with a strange feeling of cutting ourselves adrift. We had not known how quickly an attachment may grow on the prairies.

CHAPTER IV

If we thought we had finished with Jake it was evidence that we still had much to learn about our guide's business qualities. Jake had a follow-up peculiarly his own, and that afternoon he came steaming into our presence as we sat in the bare lounge room of the hotel, making a list of necessities on the back of an envelope.

"I been chasin' you fellows all over neilangone," he announced, with a profuse expectation to facilitate speech. "I got a fistful o' luck for you. Chap down at the stables—trouble o' some kind or other—wants to sell his horses; as pretty a team o' bays as ever switched a tail in flytime, an' I can put you next."

"That's good of you," said Jack, "but we've just figured that we can't afford horses. It's a case of horses and no cow, or oxen and a cow, and the vote at the moment stands unanimous for milk to our porridge, even at the risk of our characters. They tell us that even a good man swears when he drives oxen."

"That's wrong," Jake corrected. "A good man don't drive oxen. He may be good before he drives them, but not while he drives them, nor immediate afterward. It's agin human nature. I've seen profanity on some o' the ox trails o' this country so thick it lay jus' like a fog on the prairie. Oxen has started more fellows on the wrong road than any other critturs—cept women."

"Well, we're going to take a chance with both," was Jack's answer. "You don't happen to have a hard-up friend who would part with a yoke of oxen, for a consideration, do you?"

Jake scratched his tousled hair meditatively. "Come to think o' it, I believe I do," he said at length. "I jus' remember a chap who was talkin' o' sellin' his oxen t'other day. As sleek a yoke as ever switched a tail in flytime; gentle an' strong, an' speedy as a scart rabbit. I reckon I could get you a special price on 'em, pretendin' it was meself that was buyin'."

"And a cow," I ventured. "Have you a cow on your bargain list?"

"Jake has everything on his bargain list that we may happen to need," said Jack. "Everything from a cow to a cookstove. It's all right, Jake; we don't mind your little graft so long as you play the game half fairly, and see that you get your share o' the work on the dollar. Buying on our own judgment we would probably get less than that."

So it was arranged that Jake was to be our purchasing agent, with a sort of gentleman's understanding that he might cheat us a little in consideration of his services in preventing other people from cheating us a great deal. The arrangement, I believe, worked out to our advantage. Jake undoubtedly bought our supplies for less than we could have bought them, even after providing his secret commissions. Moreover, he knew what was essential and what was not, and he saved us valuable time.

When at last our outfit was complete it presented a picturesque and somewhat pathetic turnout. On our wagon we had built a temporary box of boards, and on this were piled our trunks and personal effects, a plow, a stove, food supplies, a tent, a crate with hens and another with a young pig, while over all roosted, if I may use the term, the two girls. The cow we tied behind, while Jack and I walked as a sort of flank guard on either side of the oxen. These two phlegmatic creatures rejoiced in the names of Buck and Bright, and stoically pursued their destiny at a pace of two and a half miles an hour. Their resignation in adversity was sublime; in fact, we soon found it impossible to invent any adversity to which they were not resigned.

Brief Business Session at Luncheon Held Monday

A short luncheon devoted strictly to business matters was held at the Hereford Hotel last Monday at noon by the Chamber of Commerce. As all the merchants were extremely busy the program was held down to necessary things and the diners released before one o'clock.

L. Baskin, reporting for the Labor Bureau, stated that laborers were almost impossible to secure from the south but that some arrangements had been made with Mexicans and it was hoped to secure several gangs of them this week.

County Agent Dunkle told of the Amarillo exhibit. He gave credit to Prof. Humble of the agricultural department of the school for the artistic arrangement of the booth, which caused much comment and was graded first in the judging.

Prof. Humble said that he had been named to handle the business and advertising end of the High school football team and asked that the organization endorse a suggestion that the business houses close during the game with Tula on October 23. He said the merchants would not be asked to close on any other day but this one. The idea was endorsed and President Black said he would appoint a committee to circulate such a petition.

On the suggestion of the president a vote of thanks was given Messrs. Dunkle and Humble for their work on the agricultural exhibit for the county.

President Black had the secretary read a letter he had just received from Byrle Elliston, in charge of the exhibit at Wichita Falls. The letter follows:

"I am sorry to tell you that out of twenty-eight canned fruit entries, the best we could do was twenty premiums. We got twelve firsts, six seconds and two thirds. But of course we console ourselves with the fact that this is a big fair with competition keen in each department, and they had to give some of the others a few premiums. I believe that every one realizes that Deaf Smith county is in the running for prizes here."

"We will have to thank Mrs. Andy Godwin for her untiring efforts in boosting for Hereford first, last and all the time. As she won nine premiums on nine entries of her canned products. They recognized Mrs. Henry Hastings with two firsts, last with two entries. Mrs. Stuen won three ribbons with three entries. We will have to take our hats off to the winners of Hereford and Deaf Smith county. They are loyal first, last and all the time."

"We do not know just where we are on individual farm products, but if our record holds good as it did at Amarillo and Abilene, they will recognize the work of Mr. Dunkle and others of Deaf Smith county when the judging is done in these classes. We have around fifteen entries in the farm products department, and have a good chance to win with a number of them. You realize that with twenty four counties at Abilene, the best we could do was fifteen firsts and four seconds. So please do not be disappointed if we don't win very much here."

"We do not know just what we will do with our county exhibit, but from the voice of the people who have seen it, we feel that we have a good chance to finish in big money. And as one old man remarked yesterday, 'do you raise goobers and fruit out there?' After we gave our assurance, the people here really believe that we can raise anything in Deaf Smith county."

"It really makes us proud of the fact that we are living in Deaf Smith county, the State of Texas, U. S. A. When numbers and numbers of people come around, and say, 'that must be some country, as I am always seeing something in the papers about what Deaf Smith County people are doing.

I will try to do credit at Dallas, to the BEST COUNTY IN THE STATE and am obliged to close and leave for the Fair Grounds at Once as Dock has been gone for an hour.

"With best regards to all the bunch who are standing firmly behind us while we are doing the fighting."

Evangelist Garrison, who is conducting a tent revival, made announcement of his meetings. Prof. Dillehay said that the school board would meet this week and determine the date and details of the corner stone laying at the High school.

Next Monday the luncheon will be held at the City Cafe and Secretary Moss, who returned Tuesday night, will have charge of the program.

EVANGELISTIC MEETING GROWS IN DAILY GRACE

The evangelistic meetings that are being conducted under the big tent opposite The Brand office by the Garrison evangelistic party continues with much interest. On last Sunday great congregations gathered. At the afternoon service the front of the platform was covered with a profusion of beautiful flowers. The preacher spoke on "Breaking the Alabaster Box." The flowers were distributed at the close of the session, in appreciation. The great crowd rejoiced and there was some shouting. At night the tent was filled with eager listeners. Many joined the various churches on Sunday.

The services continue with two meetings each day. The following sermon-subjects are announced. Friday night: "The Highway Leading Out of Hereford to Hell"; Saturday night: "Sure Cure For a Snake Bite"; Sunday afternoon: "Mother, Home and Heaven"; Sunday night: "The Soft Lounge Upon Which Many Lie Down Into Their Eternal Sleep". The entire citizenship of Hereford are cordially invited to these services.

Judge Kelso, Texas Utilities Co. Head, May Be Missouri's Governor

The following editorial, taken from the Jefferson City, Mo., Daily Post of September 30, will be of interest to the business men of Hereford who have met Judge Kelso, president of the Texas Utilities Co., which owns the local power, light and ice company at Hereford. Judge Kelso recently delivered an address before the local Chamber of Commerce, and he has shown his good will and his faith in the future of this country by heavy financial investment here. The Post editorial says:

"Kelso For Governor"

"In recent campaigns the public has shown an inclination to demand that men of affairs; men who have won their spurs; who have achieved marked success in private life, shall be called to public office, to handle the affairs of government.

"In Missouri that tendency has resulted in a strong ground swell to draft I. R. Kelso, president of the Federation Missouri Commercial Clubs, president of the Texas Utilities Co., president of the New Mexico Utilities Co., and general counsel of the Community Power & Light Company as a candidate for governor.

"Judge Kelso is one of those big business men who has a passion for defending the rights of the public, generally, and especially of the patrons of his utility companies, against any encroachment by big business, corrupt politics, or from any other source. "The Federation of Commercial Clubs, under his direction, planned and sponsored the $100,000,000 Missouri road building program. After the bonds were voted, the cement trust was making plans to gobble up the proceeds. Judge Kelso led and financed the fight which roused the farmers and the common people. He brought them to the State Capitol by the hundreds to wage the fight which resulted in a law to give every county in Missouri, a reasonable mileage of all-year-round roads. Leaving his private business, he spent $15,000 of his own money and weeks of his time in leading that fight for the building of roads in every county in the state.

"A vacancy occurred on the Supreme Court during the administration of Gov. Gardner and more endorsements poured into the executive offices for the appointment of Judge Kelso than for any other man. He was too busy to be interested, but his good friend, Judge L. Goode, whom he recommended was appointed. "Judge Kelso is, in a remarkable degree, one of those men who economizes his time to the limit and then fills every moment of it with worthwhile activities of far-reaching effect. "When he first moved to Cape Girardeau, Mo., his present home, he foresaw that southeast Missouri, now the richest farming section in the world, never could reach full development until the swamps were drained from public and private lands. He planned and drew the legislation which resulted in the draining of the swamps. He was the original advocate of transmission lines for every community in southeast Missouri. As president of the Cape Girardeau Commercial Club, he wrote the contract with the Frisco Railroad which gave the city the most beautiful river front in Missouri. He also was president of the Southeast Missouri Federation of Commercial Clubs, the activities of which were largely responsible for the development of that great agricultural empire. "During the war, he loaned the machinery of the Federation of Commercial Clubs to the government for the raising of funds in the various drives and multiplied millions were raised by them in the various thrift stamps and Liberty loan, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army and other war fund campaigns. "He suggested the basis of the settlement of the coal strike, and many far seeing economists believe the basis for that settlement will be the only way in which the coal problem ever will be settled permanently. Judge Kelso believes that the coal mining industry is a public utility and that it should be regulated by the public service commissions of the coal producing states. "After the stress of war had been partially laid off the signing of the armistice, and business conditions had begun to beat back towards normalcy, an announcement of the voluntary reduction in rates was made by utility corporations in Missouri, owned by the companies, of which Judge Kelso was the head. "That action startled Missouri. It did not please some of the owners of other utility corporations, but struck a popular cord in the hearts of the rate paying public, which will not be forgotten while the present generation lives. "Judge Kelso is a democrat, but if his admirers succeed in drafting him for political office, it will be found that farmers and laborers and the common people from every one of the nine thousand school districts in Missouri; men and women of every political conviction and religious belief; whom he organized into a solid phalanx in the great road fight, will begin marching to the polls to vote for him on the day that his consent to run is announced."

TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY

The following telegram was received by J. B. Scott, District Manager of Texas Utilities Company, from I. R. Kelso, of St. Louis, President of Texas Utilities Company:

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23th, 1925.

Mr. J. B. Scott,
District Manager Texas Utilities Co.,
Plainview, Texas.

With the approval today of a flat reduction of ten per cent (10%) in power rates effective November 1st, 1925, applicable to October bills, in the form of allowing ten per cent (10%) for prompt payment within ten days after date of power bills, is the third substantial reduction in rates recently made by Texas Utilities Company, viz: (1) Development rate to Municipalities; (2) Flat reduction of one cent (1c) per kilowatt hour off of top rate of every lighting consumer; and (3) The above mentioned 10% reduction in power rates.

The spirit of co-operation manifested by city officials and the public generally in various cities and towns served has made it possible for Texas Utilities Company to work out a development program which enabled it to voluntarily make substantial rate reductions in the midst of tremendous building program throughout its entire territory.

The Engineering Department has assembled information concerning the practical benefits and advantages derived by the various cities and towns which have adopted the development rate. The result of this investigation is hereinafter set out, which you are at liberty to pass on to the interested communities or disregard entirely at your pleasure.

Development Rate to Municipalities

A word of explanation in respect to the development rate to municipalities may be helpful in clarifying the following: (1) The schedule of charges is so arranged that as the requirements of the municipality increases, the unit charge of energy decreases, so that the development of any municipality is not hampered on account of indefinite costs for energy for pumping water or for sewerage disposal; and (2) the minimum charge per month is one dollar per horse-power for each horse-power connected to the Company's lines. This minimum charge is neither a service nor a demand charge, and is neither added to the energy charges set out in the development rate schedule ranging from a maximum of four cents (4c) per kilowatt hour to as low as two cents (2c) per kilowatt hour, and this minimum charge can only be effective if, and when the consumption of energy per month is less than one dollar ($1.00) per horse power each horse power connected to the Company's service, and in such cases the charge per month would be one dollar (1.00) per horse power for each horse power connected. The minimum charge is never applied to emergency motors that drive fire pumps which are used for fire protection only.

The fact that the Texas Utilities Company is a pioneer in the matter of eliminating the demand charge, or ready-to-serve charge, naturally causes more or less confusion. Many persons unfamiliar with the rate, take it for granted that the Company has adopted the customary demand charge which would make a radical difference in the application of the rate. The minimum charge is the same sort of a rate that the customers are in the habit of paying for their lighting service, and they understand that they actually get current for the money paid on account of the minimum charge. If they desire to use the current, while in the case of the demand or ready-to-serve charge the customer does not get current on account of money paid for ready-to-serve or demand charge. This development rate is of course, available only to Municipalities.

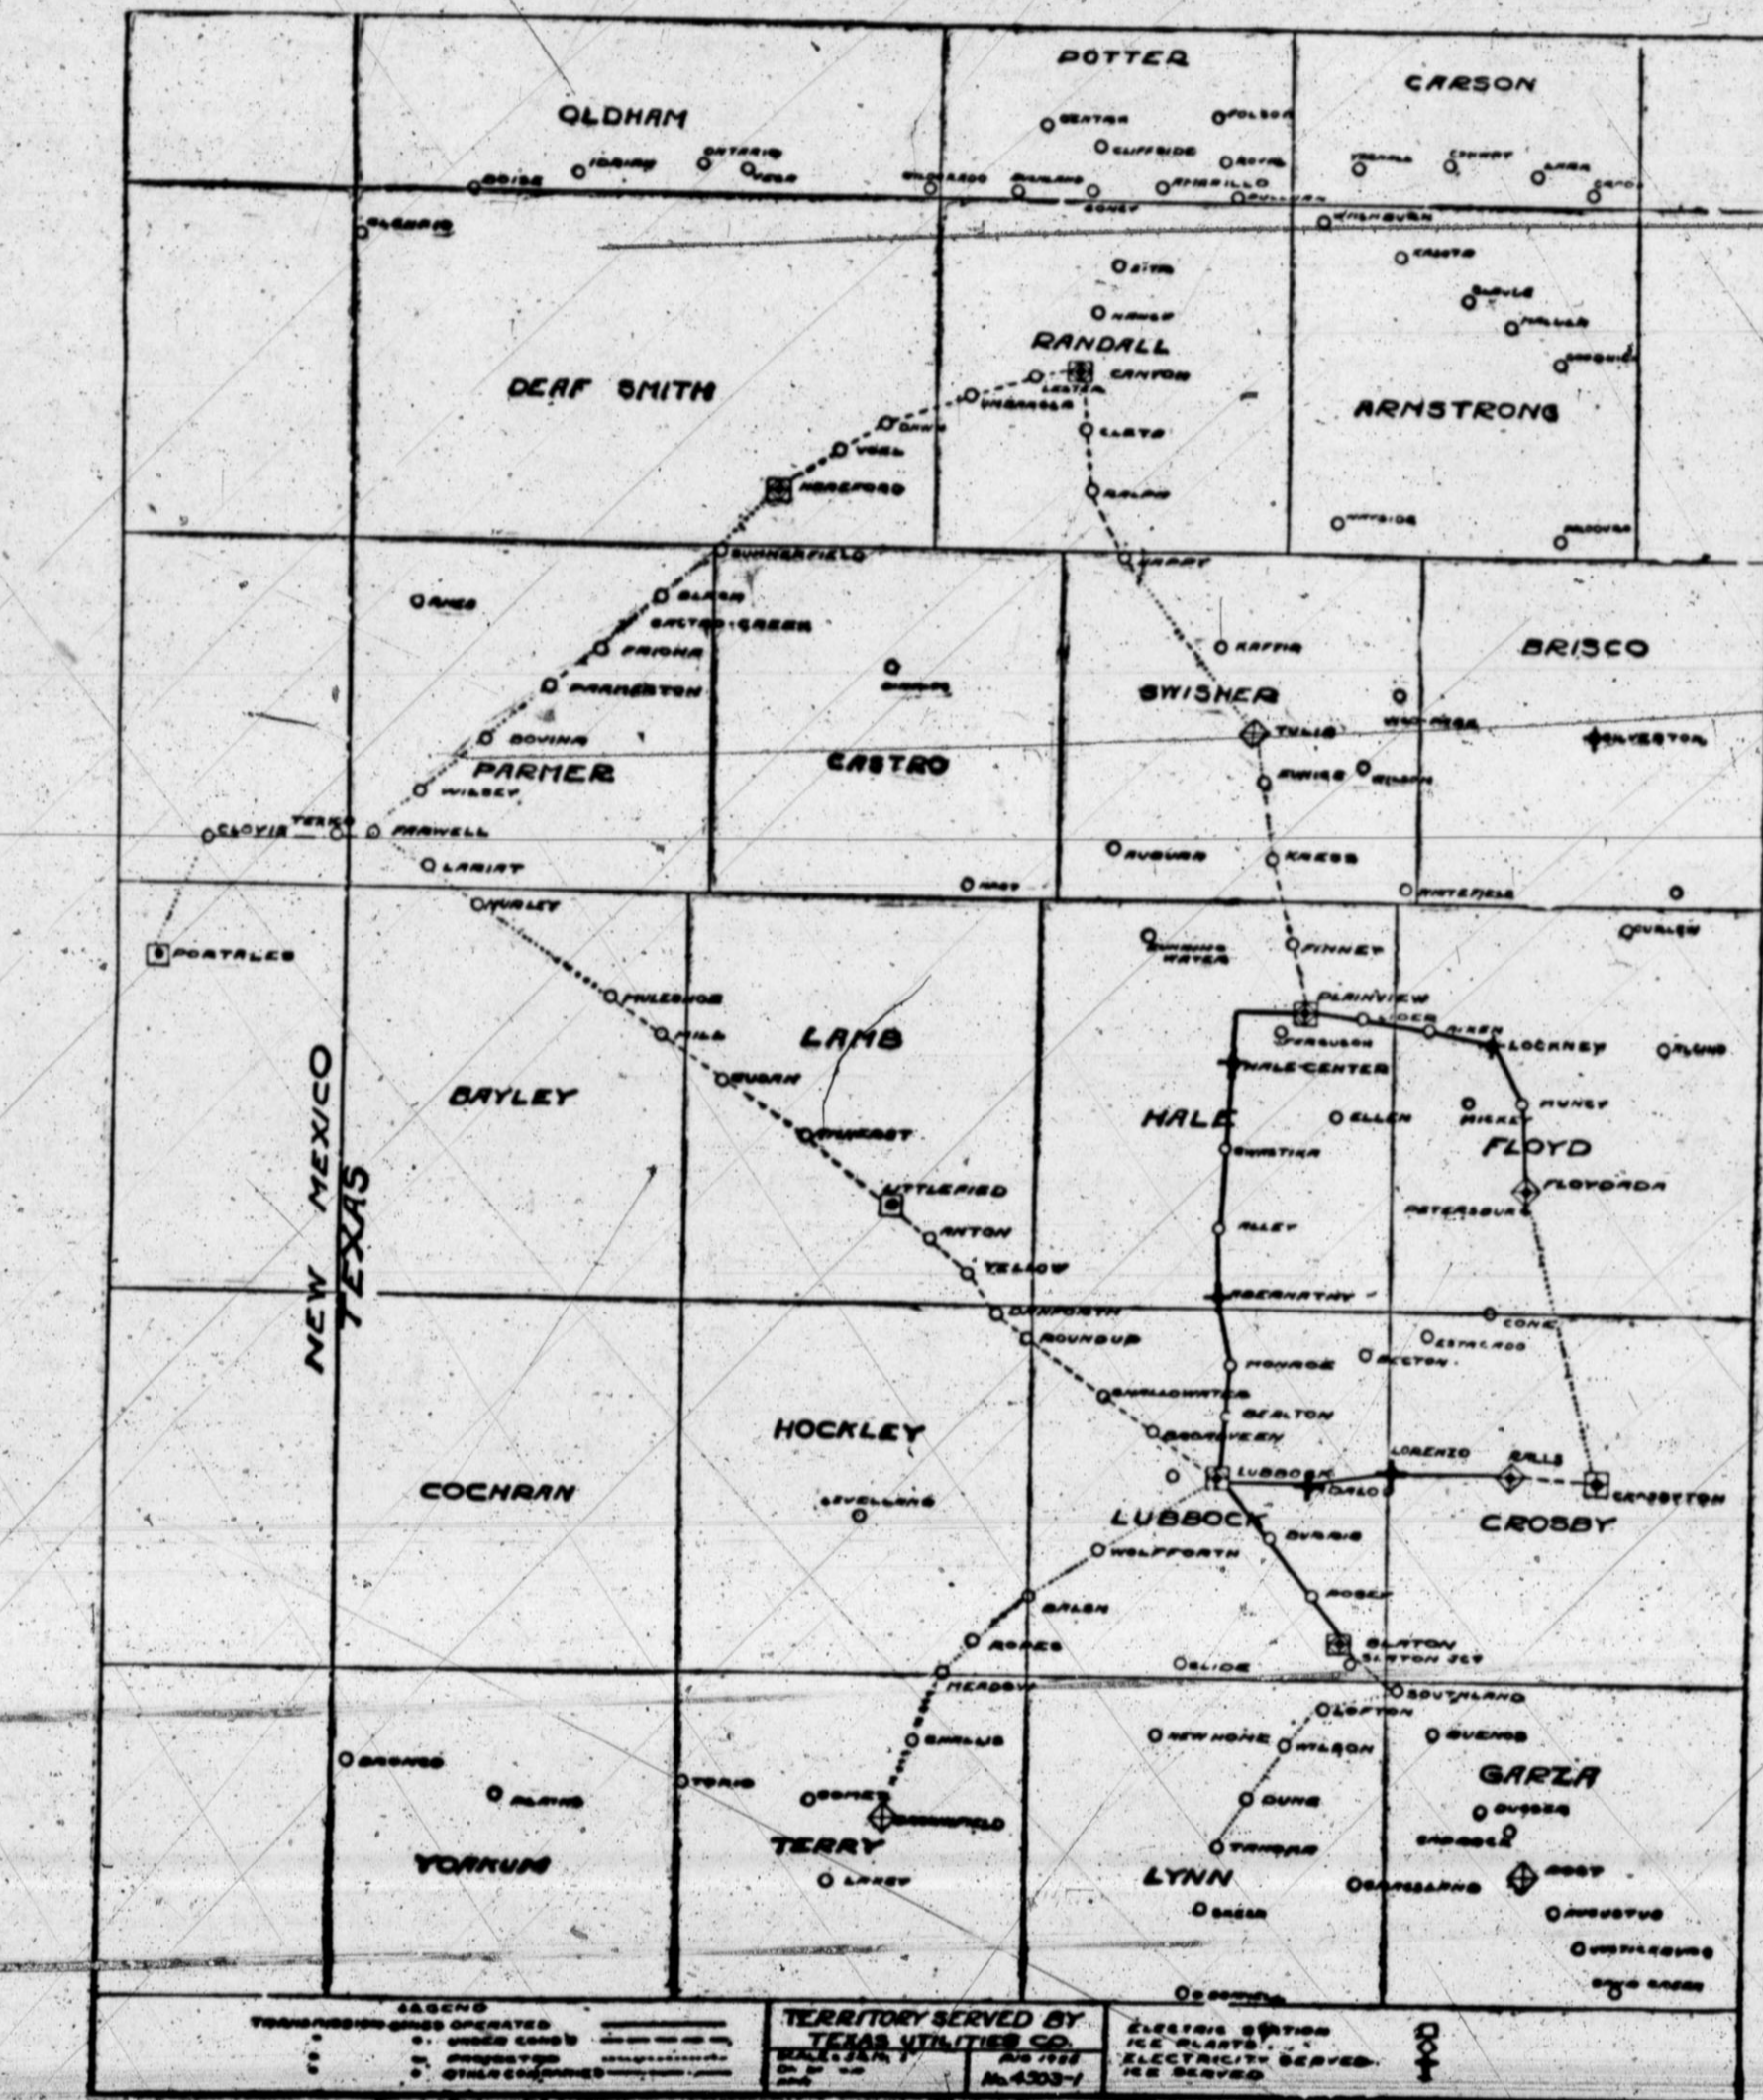

Application of Rate

Application of the development rate shows the wonderful advantages derived by the Municipalities served. Slaton, Texas, for the summer months at which time the demand for water is, of course, at the maximum (May, June, July and August), according to available reports, paid to the Texas Utilities Company for pumping the City water on an average of less than one-sixth (1-6) of a cent per day per inhabitant. Because of this low cost of less than one-sixth (1-6) of a cent per day for electric energy for pumping, the City of Slaton was in a position to supply the Public with water during said period (May, June, July and August) at the low rate of an average of less than one cent (1c) per inhabitant per day.

It should be borne in mind that the computations made are for summer months, and that everybody knows that for any other month during the year the revenue received by the Texas Utilities Company per month per service and per inhabitant would be less than one-sixth (1-6) of one cent (1c) per day for energy. This amount of one-sixth (1-6) of one cent (1c) per day for electric energy for pumping, includes the revenues received by the Texas Utilities Company for energy for pumping all water used for domestic purposes, for commercial purposes, for manufacturing purposes, for sprinkling purposes, for fire protection and for sewerage purposes.

Ralls, Texas, according to available reports for March, April, May, June, July and August of this year paid the Texas Utilities Company on an average for pumping the City water under the development rate of less than one-seventh (1-7) of one cent (1c) per day per inhabitant. Because of this low energy charge for pumping the City of Ralls was enabled to supply water to the public for all purposes at approximately one cent (1c) per day for each inhabitant.

Plainview, for the months of March, April, May, June, July and August of the present year, paid the Texas Utilities Company on a basis of an annual average for pumping the City water, less than one-third (1-3) of one cent (1c) per day per inhabitant. According to available records the City of Plainview supplies the water service to the public at an average cost of approximately one cent (1c) per inhabitant per day. The rate of one-third (1-3) of one cent (1c) per day per inhabitant for Plainview, is substantially the same as the rate of one-seventh (1-7) of one cent (1c) per day at Ralls, and one-sixth (1-6) of one cent (1c) per day at Slaton. At Plainview, the City is operating under an agreement with Texas Utilities Company which has been in force for many years that requires the Texas Utilities Company to furnish electric energy to pump the City water and to own the water pumping plant, for which the City pays to the Texas Utilities Company less than one-third (1-3) of one cent (1c) per day per inhabitant. You will recall that in our effort to work out a satisfactory development rate with Cities served by Texas

Utilities Company we found that the Cities desired to own and operate their own water plants and purchase their electric energy from the Company. The experience shows that the cities that own their own pumping plants are paying for electric energy as above indicated, approximately less than one-sixth (1-6) or one-seventh (1-7) of one cent (1c) per day per inhabitant for electric energy for pumping.

Development Rate Without Profit to Company

Under all circumstances and at all times, Texas Utilities Company has made it possible for the Communities served with electric energy for pumping, to supply water at less than one cent (1c) per inhabitant per day. While the Texas Utilities Company has been supplying electric energy under its development rate without profit to the Company, it feels that the rate is entirely justified and that it will, in the end, prove to be advantageous to the Company as a result of the growth of the Communities served. On the other hand, experience has demonstrated the wisdom of the City Officials and other public spirited citizens in the various towns served by the Company, in co-operating with the Company in an effort to work out a development program. The development rate will not only encourage the use of water for sewerage purposes as well as other public conveniences and necessities but will prove to be a great saving to the Tax payers of the various Cities which have adopted this development rate.

Street Lighting

The development rate includes the supplying of electric energy to Municipalities for street lighting. These charges take care of the maintenance, operation and energy charges. The Company owns the street lighting system in all of the Municipalities served. A computation on the street lighting service of the various Cities show that the Company is maintaining the street lighting systems and supplying the energy at less than one-tenth (1-10) to one-ninth (1-9) of one cent (1c) per inhabitant per day under the development rate.

Co-operation Practiced

The Texas Utilities Company management has always appreciated the support and co-operation of the press and civic and commercial bodies of West Texas. This appreciation has been recognized in the literature sent out by the Texas Utilities Company from time to time. The West Texas spirit of co-operation was accurately described by a Banker during a recent visit to the territory served by the Texas Utilities Company, when he said: "I find co-operation practiced more and preached less in West Texas than any place I have ever been in."

The facts are, that the world has never seen such progress as has been made within the last half century. And yet, the protection and development of our present day civilization demands a gigantic program of education that will require much of understanding among men, much of patience, much of perseverance and much of hard work.

In West Texas, in a spirit of open hearted accord, the solution of present and future community problems is being brought about through centralization. Already, nearly a score of community services have been developed and are being administered by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Empire's single, yet all embracing voluntary organization, whose memberships number thousands of citizen, men and women who, shoulder to shoulder, freely, fairly and squarely strive daily for the Empire's progress through service.

Its field is as far flung as the interests of this great Empire. Its functions are defined by only the problems that arise. Its interests are the interests of all who think, work and strive for the right educational, social, civic, agricultural, commercial and industrial. It is supported by those it serves in proportion to their individual or corporate means. Its program is as limitless as the future. The plan to help West Texas. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, of West Texas are responsible for the spirit of co-operation that has been developed in West Texas.

I. R. KELSO, President
Texas Utilities Company.

PAUL PLANTS THE CHURCH IN CORINTH

(By W. R. Hill, Baptist Pastor)

Golden Text: Be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace—Acts 18:9.

Lesson Text: After these things he departed from Athens, and came to Corinth. And he found a certain Jew named Aquila, a man of Pontus by race, lately come from Italy, with his wife Priscilla, because Claudius had commanded all the Jews to depart.

from Rome; and he came unto them, and because he was of the same trade, he abode with them; and they wrought; for by their trade they were tent makers. And he reasoned in the synagogue every Sabbath, and persuaded Jews and Greeks.

But when Silas and Timothy came down from Macedonia Paul was constrained by the word, testifying to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ. And when they opposed themselves and blasphemed, he shook out his raiment and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean: from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles. And he departed thence, and went into the house of a certain man named Titus Justus, one that worshipped God, whose house joined hard to the synagogue. And Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord with all his house, and many of the Corinthians hearing believed, and were baptized. And the Lord said unto Paul in the night by a vision, be not afraid, but speak and hold not thy peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to harm thee: for I have much people in this city. And he dwelt there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them. (Acts 18:1-11, Am. Std. Ver.)

Paul's business here, as everywhere, was to convert the people to Christianity and establish an organized church. Athens seems to have been an exception as to the latter on account of the fewness of the converts. But we do not know there was no church organized at Athens. Most of the inspired writings of Paul were to the churches he had founded. Without these churches, organizations we would have been without at least nine books of the New Testament, and including the only prophetic book of the New Testament, the marvellous apocalyptic-book of Revelation which was addressed to the seven churches of the small province of Asia in western Asia Minor. These churches, set up by Divine direction by Paul and others, made possible, by their prayers and gifts, most of the religious work of the New Testament times. Some tried vainly to tear down this church-work of Paul; but he was always zealous, with person and pen, for the honor of the "Bride of Christ."

He had left Athens unmolested and disappointed—they laughed him out of town. On arriving in Corinth he found the usual opposition to his efforts. He says in writing to them later (I Cor. 2:1-3) that he came to them "in weakness and in fear and in much trembling." Corinth is a commercial and political city. Paul as usual adapted himself to the situation. As usual he soon meets the ever-present problem of sin, and so the need of preaching the gospel of Christ. He meets "sin entrenched" with the gospel successfully, and later writes them that he "determined to know nothing among them save Christ and him crucified."

Beginning the work at Corinth. Every situation has its peculiar difficulties, and proper approach if success is to be attained.

Paul soon found a certain Jew and his wife, perhaps met them for the first time in one of the services he attended in the Jewish synagogue. The word "found" might indicate that Paul had been told of them at Athens or on arrival in Corinth. They were prosperous and entertained the preacher in their home. Paul being of the same trade assisted them in making tents. We may be sure of the quality of such tents as Paul made. On the Sabbaths he preached to the Jewish people in the synagogue. Aquilla and Priscilla had to leave Rome because of the persecutions of Jews by the emperor Claudius Caesar. They were already converted when Paul arrived in Corinth, probably converted in a meeting conducted in the church at Rome, or possibly earlier at Pentecost. On the arrival of Timothy and Silas from Macedonia, bringing financial help from the Thessalonian church for the mission work (2 Cor. 11:7-9) Paul gives up laboring in tent-making and gives all his time to preaching. In the passage cited above Paul says, "I robbed other churches, taking wages of them to do you service. What was lacking to me the brethren from Macedonia supplied." We get useful information as to the financial side of the situation of the mission work of the Bible-times from his labors in Corinth. Some were faithful in contributions, but he worked on anyway even if he had to turn aside to tent-making for the necessities. But how much better to devote all his time to it.

It is said that Paul "reasoned" in the synagogue in his preaching. Paul did not depend on the "thunder" or his "propositions" or the "stir" he could arouse to obtain spiritual results. Religion of salvation thru Christ crucified is reasonable, and it is folly to reject Christ Jesus as Saviour and Lord.

II. Some Sudden Turn in Affairs, Attended By Success.

1. The Jews generally, as was usual with them, rejected his message and Jesus as their Saviors. They preferred to be "hoodwinked" by some Simon Magus. And this is not limited to those who descended from Jacob. They are very vehement in their opposition. They swear and spoke evil of Jesus and the preacher. We are not told what they said about Paul, but it was a plenty. Likely they said he was "preaching for money," and was "not all he claimed to be." While they thought they were opposing the preacher the text tells us they really "opposed themselves." He was their friend and was "watching for their souls." They opposed their every interest in opposing the revival-meeting. Many people today are suspicious of evangelists; but "love thinketh no evil."

2. Paul "shook out his raiment" against them, as a token that he was free from responsibility of their doom and that their loss was upon them in guiltiness. He would now leave them to their own obstinacy and doom. Not much hope in time or eternity for the one who "blasphemes (speaks evil of) the Holy Spirit."

3. Paul now turns to the Gentiles, and continues the revival in the home of a gentile convert named Titus Justus. His name indicates that he was a Roman. A proselyte whose ample and large home was placed at the disposal of Paul for the meeting. This change of meeting-place caused a sensation. The Chief-ruler of the Jewish Synagogue himself was converted, and every member of his family; for it is said they "believed on the Lord" (ver. 8). Also many of the citizens of Corinth also believed and joined the church. As far as we can know every convert was baptized. This successful turn in the meeting just across the street from the synagogue provoked envy, and some violent threats—determined opposition. How mean envy is! The Devil gets very mad, and very busy too, when the truth is preached and results come.

III. The Corinthian Campaign Had Its Encouragements. Not the least of these was the long and helpful fellowship with Aquilla and Priscilla. How helpful consecrated laymen may be to the preachers and other workers. They became fellow-workers, and eternity alone will reveal how much of success at Corinth was due to Aquilla and Priscilla. Of course the open confessions of religion of Crispus' household and the many others cheered

Paul. But the greatest encouragement came from the Lord. Was Paul exactly where Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit wanted him, and going just what they wanted him to be doing? Paul had been "shamefully entreated" at Philippi, driven by persecutions out of Thessalonica and Berea. He had been laughed-out-of-town at Athens. Had already been put out of the synagogue at Corinth. It had been one long uninterrupted and bitter trial in which life was all the time in peril. It was about to be come too much for even his iron-nerves. His courage was tottering—and Luke shows how the Lord cheered his heart again. A vision comes to

Paul, and how comforting to him! "No man shall hurt you." But most comforting was the assurance of success, "I have much people in this city," Jesus assures him. They were yet in the blindness of heathenism; but they were the Lord's chosen. And Paul was to remain and preach to them that they might be converted from their idolatry and brought to the light. The Lord Jesus does not send out his servants to preach to the wind. He knows his own, and commissions his servants to gather them into the fold. How important that they hear and hearken when the message of life is brought unto them!

Sallie's Temptations

(Copyright 1924—By Gladys Baker)

THE GOLDEN CUP RETURNS TO SALLIE

"I wanted to tell you that you looked like Hsuan-Tung at the dance," she broke the silence.

"You know my knowledge of history," I complained.

He smiled slightly. "You remember the little boy ruler, the last king of the Manchu dynasty who held the fate of China in his youthful hands?"

"Uh-huh" I nodded.

"Well, Sallie, as far as I am concerned, you are still like Hsuan for your fate is in your slender palms."

Do with me what you will. I only know that I love you more, much more, than life itself and in deep humility, I have come to tell you that my entire happiness depends on whether or not you will be my wife.

He was asking me to be his wife! Oh, why could not this have happened before the intervening heartache and despair?

"But Curtiss," I answered, "what of Anne? Surely you're not going to throw her aside on account of that scandal at camp?"

"What scandal—and how did you know?" he asked in surprise.

"She told all of us about it at Valerie's the other day. But, Curtiss, your arms should have been big enough for her and her mistakes too."

"Sallie, precious, you don't understand. It wasn't the scandal that ended things there. It was my love for you. All through the dreary months your face was ever before me and I was haunted by your sweetness and a thousand irresistible characteristics that are a part of your adorable self. When I had brushed things out in my mind, I regarded your indiscretions in their proper light and knew them for the mischievous pranks of an impulsive child."

"But you would never have broken off with Anne if it had not been for that scandal your brother told you about?" I replied. "And oh, Curtiss, I'm so weary of men who idolize a woman as long as they think she has a spotless past and then, when it comes time for truths, are too small of soul to understand."

"But my darling," he interrupted gently, "what has that to do with us?"

"Everything. It was that same fear of scandal that made you willing to put our love aside in the first place and turn to Anne."

"But—"

"No, let me finish, please, because I can't marry you Curtiss, and I want to tell you why. Even if I have to sacrifice my happiness, it would be better than making the heart of me ashamed by breaking faith with my ideals. You see if you believed in Love as I do, you would have loved me in spite of any mistakes I might have made; mistakes that after all have helped to mould me into what I am. Don't you see that you would have loved me because I am I and hand in hand with your love for me would have gone faith in my ultimate ability to achieve the qualities that you admire."

I looked far out across the waves not wishing to meet his absorbing gaze for I loved him so, and with his eyes gazing deep into mine, I could not have had the strength to tell him that our paths must lie apart.

"God knows, I've been a blundering fool," he cried with sadness in his voice, "but I don't want you to think that I've ever doubted my love for you" once, sweetheart. The thing that drove me from you was not lack of faith, but a hide-bound admiration for a certain sort of conduct that had been reared to expect in the girl who became my wife. But," he continued, "once away, I realized how impossible it was to ignore my heart's desire. I saw too that my warped perspective had been due to the environment of my youth. I came back, Sallie," he reached over and took both my hands, "to beg your forgiveness on my knees. I went to Anne at once and told her of my love for you and released her from our engagement. For to have married her under the circumstances, would have been most unfair. Then," he continued, "I hunted for you and followed you to Clancy to ask you to be my wife, but remember how you wouldn't listen, dear?"

"I couldn't let the potatoes burn," I replied looking down at the gleaming sand.

"How big and fine and charitable you've been to those people at the Plant," he reminded, then back to the subject again, "Oh, I have acted the cad, I'm not dis-counting that."

"You mean by telling me that you 'knew the story about her at camp'?"

"Amazement gleamed in his eyes."

"You don't think I'd do a thing like that?" he exclaimed.

"That's what she said."

Improving on History

Just finished hearing a Politician, one of the Washington Boys, talk on Abraham Lincoln. The only thing I could picture in common between him and Lincoln was that they had both been in Washington. When a Politician aint talking about himself he is talking about Lincoln. Lincoln has had more public men speak of his good qualities, and fewer copy any of them, than any man America ever produced. His famous address was only about two hundred words long. No Politician has ever been able to even copy his briefness. The fact that is the last one of his qualities that they would try to copy. Lincoln said more in those 20 words than has been said in the entire City of Washington in the last 10 years, and here is a quality that no historian or speaker has ever brought out before. At the completion of the Gettysburg speech, he wisely refused one of the Cigars, and borrowed a pack of "Bull" Durham from an Southern private, rolled his pipe, got on his Mule and went back to Washington.
