Sales tax through January at plus 6.7

Sales tax returns for Snyder continue to show an increased figure over 1985 with the latest report reflecting sales made through the month of January.

The latest figures have Snyder's sales at a plus 6.7 percent — although the report for January indicated the 1986 monthly return was below monies returned here in 1985.

With three months now counted, Snyder's sales tax return totals some $233,000 compared to some $218,000 last year. Exact figures for each are $233,238 and $218,412 respectively.

The one percent sales tax levied during the month of January generated an approximate $55,000 return to the city. Last year, January equaled a $73,000 return. Exact figures for both are $55,589 and $73,743 respectively.

Across the state, staffers for Bob Bullock, comptroller for public accounts, sent checks totaling $54.8 million in local sales tax to the 1,024 cities which levy the one-percent city tax.

The cumulative returns for such cities as Houston and Dallas were down for the year while Fort Worth and El Paso payments were up.

Houston is now at a minus 2 percent ($38.3 million total); Dallas at a minus 5 percent ($27.4 million total); Fort Worth at a plus 14 percent ($9.6 million total); and El Paso at a plus 8 percent ($5.8 million total).

Regarding area cities and towns, the sales tax report was mixed. These include:

—Lubbock: a plus 1.9 percent with $3.6 million returned to date compared to $3.5 million last year.

—Abilene: a minus 1.9 percent with $2,145,814 returned to date compared to $2,189,375 last year.

—San Angelo: a plus 5.4 percent with $1.4 million returned to date compared to $1.3 million last year.

—Big Spring: a plus 0.1 percent with $407,125 returned to date compared to $406,443 last year.

—Snyder: a plus 6.7 percent with $233,238 returned to date compared to $218,412 last year.

—Sweetwater: a minus 2.4 percent with $186,342 returned to date compared to $191,108 last year.

—Colorado City: a plus 10.4 percent with $70,960 returned to date compared to $64,238 last year.

—Post: a plus 35.9 percent with $48,652 returned to date compared to $35,782 last year.

Crew cabin debris has been located

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Some remains of Challenger's astronauts and crew cabin debris have been recovered from the ocean floor, space center sources say, but NASA said it will respect family wishes and not comment until the operation is completed.

That could take several days, officials said in announcing Sunday that the remains had been found in the shuttle wreckage 100 feet below the surface of the Atlantic Ocean about 20 miles northeast of Cape Canaveral.

Some remains had already been brought ashore and taken to Patrick Air Force Base, about 25 miles south of Cape Canaveral, a source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said today.

A Navy spokesman also told the Washington Post that neither the crew compartment nor the bodies were intact. "We're talking debris, and not a crew compartment, and we're talking remains, not bodies," said Lt. Cmdr. Deborah Burnette.

A CBS News report said that personnel from the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology would begin attempting to identify the remains today.

Meanwhile, a sharply critical memo by chief astronaut John Young, made public over the weekend, charged that NASA has allowed "launch schedule pressure" to outweigh safety considerations in the shuttle program.

Five men and two women died when Challenger exploded 73 seconds after launch on Jan. 28. NASA said Sunday's announcement was withheld until families were notified, but members of several families said they weren't told about the finding of the remains.

Tony Smith, the younger brother of pilot Mike Smith, said his family had been told Friday that searchers had found the crew cabin but he knew nothing about remains being found.

In an interview with WCPX-TV in Orlando, Bruce Jarvis, father of astronaut Gregory Jarvis, said he was relieved that his son's remains had been found, but expressed frustration at having learned of it from television.

"It's not going to bring anybody back," Marvin Resnik, father of astronaut Judy Resnick, said Sunday. "There's nothing we can do about it. As far as I'm concerned, services have already been performed."

Carl NcNair, the father of astronaut Ronald McNair, told CBS News he did not find out about the discovery until Sunday evening.

TECAT testing begins

AUSTIN (AP) — Grasping sharpened No. 2 pencils, an estimated 205,000 Texas teachers today began taking a state-mandated test that they must pass to keep their jobs.

About 10,000 are expected to fail, according to estimates.

But Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby, who took the test today at Austin High School, was hoping for the best.

"Well, I've said all along that I think 95 percent of our teachers are skilled and dedicated and so I feel very good that our teachers will perform very well," he said.

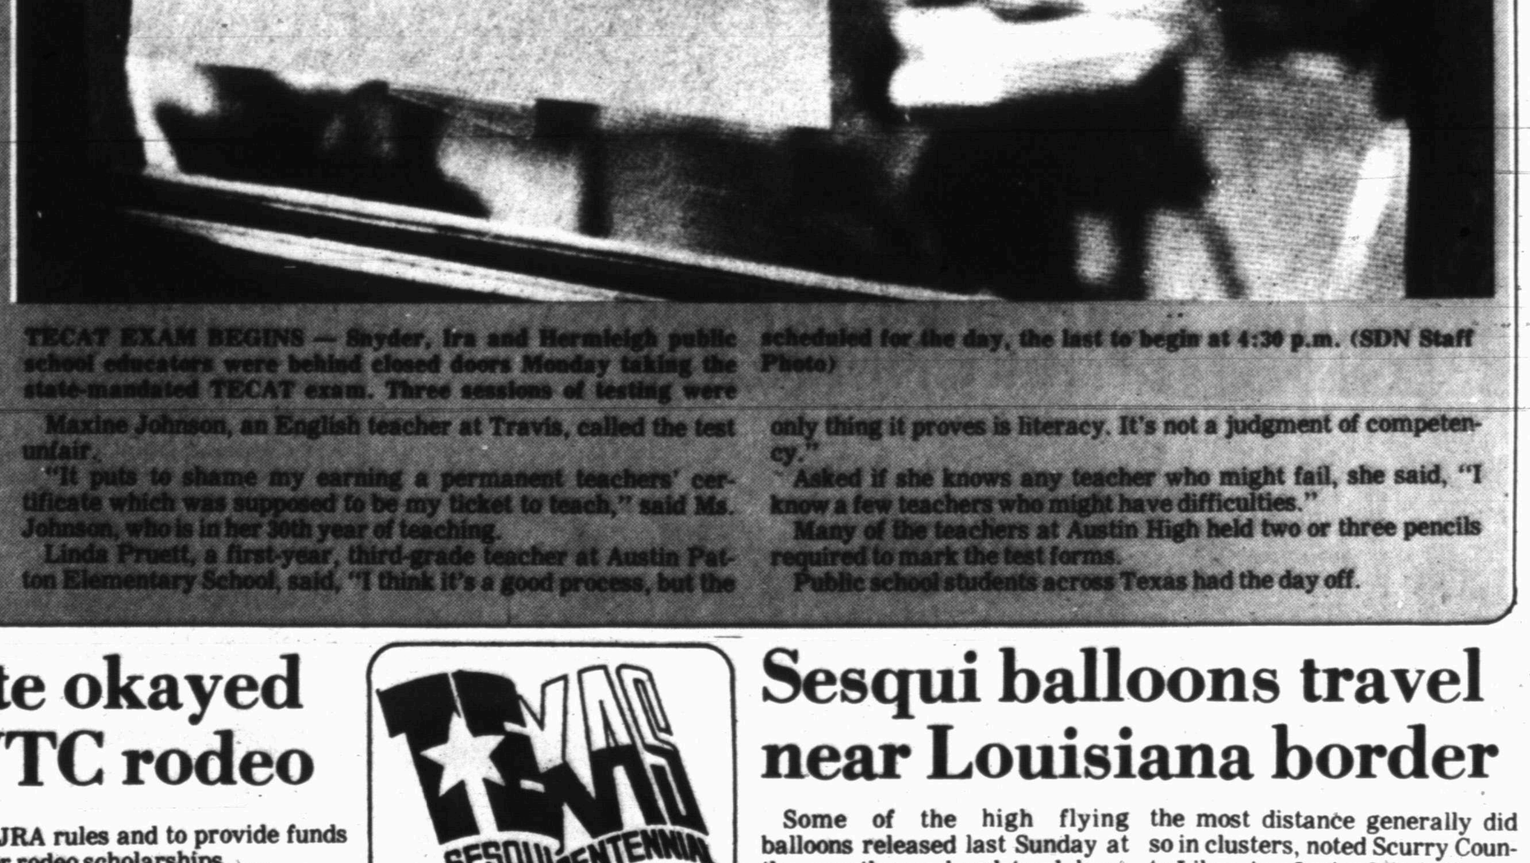
"I'm convinced that when everything is all said and done at the end of this summer, there will not be more than five percent of the people that haven't demonstrated they have the basic skills necessary to teach," Kirby said.

Vivian Williams, a math teacher at Travis High School in Austin in her 22nd year of teaching, said she was relieved as she entered the Austin High School testing room.

Ms. Williams said she was convinced her years in the classroom and her preparation would get her through.

"I believe in Jesus Christ. I believe he'll bring me though," she said.

"The test is unjust because it's not a competency test," she said, adding that the exam would not test her in her subject area.



TECAT EXAM BEGINS — Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh public school educators were behind closed doors Monday taking the state-mandated TECAT exam. Three sessions of testing were scheduled for the day, the last to begin at 4:30 p.m. (SDN Staff Photo)

"It puts to shame my earning a permanent teachers' certificate which was supposed to be my ticket to teach," said Ms. Johnson, who is in her 30th year of teaching.

Linda Pruett, a first-year, third-grade teacher at Austin Patton Elementary School, said, "I think it's a good process, but the only thing it proves is literacy. It's not a judgment of competency."

Asked if she knows any teacher who might fail, she said, "I know a few teachers who might have difficulties."

Many of the teachers at Austin High held two or three pencils required to mark the test forms.

Public school students across Texas had the day off.

Coliseum rate okayed for AJRA-WTC rodeo

County commissioners set coliseum rates for an upcoming rodeo and approved the repaving of a road during regular session Monday.

The court set coliseum rates at $300 per night for a WTC-AJRA rodeo scheduled for April 24-26. Bob Doty, agriculture instructor and rodeo coach at Western Texas College, told commissioners that WTC's Rodeo Club and Rodeo Booster Club will sponsor the event.

Doty noted that the Sundowners Riding Club, which traditionally sponsors the Little Britches Rodeo, will not host a rodeo event this year.

He added the college chose to host a rodeo to give youngsters the opportunity to compete under AJRA rules and to provide funds for rodeo scholarships.

The event follows the college rodeo set for April 17-20.

In other action, commissioners approved a request by T.E. Shelburne and Sons Inc. to repave some 400 feet of road north of Cogdell Hospital. As planned, the road will border the new doctor's clinic currently under construction.

Max Snider, representing the construction firm, noted that the roadway already has curb and gutter in place.

Although listed on the court's agenda, Sherene Digby did not appear at Monday's meeting. She was to discuss closing a road in Hermleigh.

Sesqui balloons travel near Louisiana border

Some of the high flying balloons released last Sunday at the courthouse bandstand have come to earth at sites as far away as 427 miles.

By Monday, staffers with the Scurry County Library have received calls from residents of a range of Texas cities. The farthest to date is Jasper, some 427 miles to the east near the Louisiana border.

A resident there found two balloons with cards bearing the names of Timmy Clark and Kaye and Chris Clawson.

In all, 38 balloons have been found and reported. During Sunday's ceremony, it is estimated more than 850 managed to clear the courthouse trees and become airborne.

The balloons which traveled the most distance generally did so in clusters, noted Scurry County Librarian Janice Mitchell, who originated the balloon launch as part of her contribution to the Scurry County Sesquicentennial Committee.

Other balloons found at least 200 miles away touched down in:

—Mertens, located in Hill County just north of Waco's McLennan County, a distance of some 245 miles.

—Riesel, located just east of Waco in McLennan County, a distance of some 255 miles.

—Onalaska, located in Polk County in far East Texas, a distance of some 377 miles.

Ask Us

Q. — Is there a Commodore Computer Club in Snyder and who would I contact to join?

A. — There is a newly formed computer club organized by Western Texas College teachers, although it is not limited to a specific brand name of computer. Britt Canada, a college instructor and club organizer, notes that at least seven of the membership of some 20 use Commodores. For more information, contact him at 573-8511.

In Brief

Anti-trust suit

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Forty-five people have been summoned for jury selection today in a lawsuit in which one newspaper has accused another of business dealings that violate federal antitrust laws and state unfair practice laws.

The lawsuit filed by the Arkansas Gazette accuses the Arkansas Democrat of predatory pricing to try to drive the Gazette out of business and establish a monopoly in Little Rock.

Democrat attorney Philip Anderson claimed the Gazette hoped to use antitrust laws to avoid "hard, fair, open competition." Gazette attorney Stephen D. Susman contended the Democrat was willing to operate at a loss for about a decade if that would eliminate the Gazette and leave the field open for the Democrat.

Asbestos trial

MARSHALL, Texas (AP) — As 13 hand-picked plaintiffs head to the courtroom to challenge manufacturers of asbestos-filled products, they will bring with them an issue that could affect more than 700 people.

Jury selection was set to begin today in a case that has united more than 700 housewives, insulators and pipefitters who say manufacturers are responsible for their asbestos-related diseases and have filed suits to prove their points.

The lawsuits center on when manufacturers of products with asbestos became aware of the health risks of working with the flame-retardant material that has been used in fireproofing and insulation.

Local

WTC to meet

Western Texas College trustees will meet at 5:45 p.m. Monday. An executive session to discuss personnel matters will be held at the start of the meeting.

Items on the agenda include drawing for places on the ballot for the board of trustees election, a fertilizer bid for the campus, a maintenance agreement on Honeywell equipment, and revision of Policy 3518.

Snyder Temperatures: High Saturday, 84 degrees; low, 35 degrees; high Sunday, 83 degrees; low, 57 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Monday, 58 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1986 to date, .54 of an inch.

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight mostly cloudy. Low in the mid 40s. South wind 5 to 15 mph. Tuesday mostly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of rain. Continued warm with high in mid 70s. Southwest winds 15 to 20 mph in the afternoon.

Despite comet dust damage...

Vega accomplishes mission

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's Vega 2 space probe gave scientists their closest look yet at Halley's comet, but damage from comet dust increased concern for a European probe that will pass within a few hundred miles of the comet later this week.

Vega 2 passed Sunday within about 5,125 miles of the comet, which swings around the sun every 76 years.

About 100 of the world's top space scientists gathered at the Soviet Institute for Space Research to watch Vega 2's electronically produced images as they arrived back on Earth. The images took nine minutes to travel from space to the Moscow complex.

American astronomer Carl Sagan, who is among the U.S. observers here, congratulated the Soviet scientists for "a brilliant success with this mission."

Roald Sagdeyev, head of the institute and overseer of the International Vega project, said minutes after the images arrived that the comet's nucleus appears to be "a solid body levitated in a dust cocoon."

He and other space scientists agreed the diameter of the nucleus appears to be about 3.75 miles and that the core is ellipse-shaped. However, the exact measurements of the solid core within the traveling dust cloud remain unknown.

Vega 2's sister probe, Vega 1, transmitted pictures of the comet last Thursday as it passed about 5,500 miles away.

The Vega 2 experienced at least a 40 percent power loss after solar panels were damaged by comet dust, said Georgy Golitsyn of the Moscow Atmospherics Institute. Three instruments on board also were knocked out.

However, Golitsyn said "The damage to the power system was not substantial."

Similar dust damage occurred to Vega 1 on Thursday, but it remains in orbit and has enough propellent left to be retargeted. No future plans for the Vega probes have been revealed.

The European Space Agency's Giotto probe is scheduled to fly within 310 miles of the comet's center Thursday, and the comet dust is worrying ESA officials.

Some scientists fear Giotto will be destroyed by the dust.

Vyacheslav Balebanov, deputy director of the Soviet space institute, described the ESA probe as a "kamikaze mission," but predicted it will provide new and valuable data as long as it functions.

Among Sunday's casualties from the dust collisions was a microprocessor that directs the Vega 2's camera, so images transmitted back to Earth were not of as high a quality as expected. But scientists said better images can be produced later through computer-enhancement of data collected by both probes.

Revision in taxes is sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top officials of the nation's cities are calling on Congress to use the drive for income tax revision as a way to raise money and lower the federal deficit.

The National League of Cities' board of directors adopted the proposal Sunday as part of the league's policy statement as 3,500 mayors, municipal council members and others gathered for their annual Washington conference.

Dear Abby

Some Girl Scouts' Parents Toe Only the Bottom Line

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This past week I was approached by 12 co-workers who were selling Girl Scout cookies for their daughters. I feel this is cheating these girls of the opportunity to be part of a team who agreed to help their organization by selling cookies.

I am 100 percent for the Girl Scouts of America. I went through the entire program myself many years ago, and when my doorbell rings and there is a Girl Scout asking me to buy a box of her cookies, I always buy a box. I would never refuse a Scout who has the courage to come to my door to sell her wares. I do, however, refuse to buy from a parent who indirectly encourages laziness in her daughter by selling the cookies at her office for her child.

It's important for parents to realize that they are sacrificing character building when they take over a job for their child.

NO NAME OR TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME OR TOWN: I share your view, but there are those who think the bottom line is racking up as many sales as possible. And speaking of selling Girl Scout cookies, read on:

DEAR ABBY: I am a concerned 71-year-old retired businessman. Less than an hour ago, my doorbell rang. When I opened the door, I saw a pretty, young girl in a Girl Scout uniform. She had long, blond hair, large blue eyes and a winning smile. "I'm selling Girl Scout cookies," she announced brightly. Of course I bought some. She thanked me politely and proceeded on her way.

As I watched her walk away with her blond hair blowing in the wind, I thought: "My God, that child is going from door to door facing strangers. How easy it would be for some sick or evil person to grab her and pull her inside, and do God only knows what to that lovely, trusting child! You read about it in the papers nearly every day."

I telephoned the Girl Scout headquarters and suggested that they have girls go either in pairs or with an adult to sell their cookies. Then I thought I would reach an even wider audience by writing to you.

I hope you think this is worth publishing.

GRANDFATHER OF FIVE

DEAR GRANDFATHER: It is, and I thank you for an important message.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My common-law husband of five years has given me an ultimatum: the dog or him. I find this a hard choice to make as I love them both. Mind you, I love my man more, but the dog has been my pet for five and a half years—since she was 6 weeks old.

Keeping a dog in the city is hard, especially a Doberman pinscher. She is intelligent, protective of the people she loves, but as you know, Abby, all animals, no matter how well-trained, do slip up occasionally, especially when confined in the house during the winter months.

My husband wants me to put her to sleep. I don't think I could do it, but it is coming to a showdown, and I must make a decision.

I take care of the dog, feed her, walk her twice a day and pay all the expenses of owning her, as well as half the rent and household expenses. (I do all the housework.) In other words, the man I live with does not support me and/or my pet.

Please help me decide.

MS. CATCH-22

DEAR CATCH: No contest. If you need help with this decision, send the heartless scoundrel packing. So what will you lose? A man who would rather kill your pet than find another home for it. Good riddance! You (and the dog) deserve better.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I take exception to the letter from the retired schoolteacher who asked you to advise the general public to never walk up to a former schoolteacher and say, "I'll bet you don't remember me."

Having worked in the public school system for 42 years, I've enrolled over 20,000 boys and girls and signed some 15,000 diplomas.

When a former student comes up to me and says, "Mr. S., do you remember me?" I always smile and say, "I certainly do; you were one of the 20,000 students in the Portland school system; now, please, tell me your name." This always brings a chuckle, followed by a pleasant conversation.

Your Birthday

March 11, 1986

Influences that will have an effect on your earnings will be more stabilized in the year ahead. This means that your possibilities for accumulation look good.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're not apt to fare as well as you should in financial dealings with friends today, but you will do well in money matters with outsiders. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You won't accomplish what you intend to today unless you get an early start and diligently pursue your objective. Weak measures will fail.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A situation that has been causing you anxiety will finally be corrected today by the efforts of another. Be sure to say thanks.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Information passed on to you today by a friend will be of dubious value. To be on the safe side, get the facts yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your ambitions will not be gratified today if you are too wishy-washy. You know what's in it for you, so proceed with determination and gusto.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be frank and open when dealing with associates today. They won't cooperate with your plans if they think you're hiding your real motives.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In a joint venture today, don't nurse unreasonable expectations. You'll get your share, but it's apt to be limited.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Prior to an important discussion with another today, you might feel twinges of uncertainty. Fortunately, these will vanish once the talk gets started.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Do not be afraid to speak up for your rights today if you are being denied something you should receive. It's an oversight that can be corrected.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Subdue tendencies today to cater to your wasteful whims. Instead pay heed to what your prudence and practicality tell you. Exercise discipline.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today you may have some dealings with people who are not as considerate and generous as you. For your own self-esteem, be a good guy anyway.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll protect yourself from making a bad decision today by not worrying about the "what ifs" and concentrating instead on "I can do it."

Texas education faces cutbacks

AUSTIN (AP) — Just as Texas is trying to improve its education system, the state's fiscal crisis and the federal budget-cutting law could mean a $46.5 million reduction in funding for state education, officials say.

A reduction of about $44 million in federal funds is expected because of the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction plan. That amounts to a 4.3 percent decrease in federal education funds for Texas and cuts will be deeper in subsequent years, said Maria Elena Flood, chairman of the state Board of Education's finance committee.

Compensatory education programs will be affected by the federal cutbacks, according to a funding forecast from the Texas Education Agency.

SCS Notes

"Livestock Distribution" is the subject of a new fact sheet released recently by the USDA Soil Conservation Service. The leaflet outlines some principles producers can use to improve livestock distribution where pastures are not grazed uniformly.

In large pastures, livestock often graze the easy, more accessible area close to water or on flatter slopes. Where good distribution occurs, more of the available forage plants in a pasture are grazed, and overgrazing of the easily accessible plants is reduced. This results in a larger amount of a pasture receiving proper grazing, and this may reduce the amount of supplemental feeding that is needed.

Livestock producers should examine each pasture to insure that the animals are grazing most of the plants of any given species. When livestock are allowed to follow their natural habits, the forage yield in some areas will continue to decrease because of overgrazing, and useable forage on the less accessible areas is wasted.

Most pastures also have individual range sites that are preferred by livestock. Such areas are grazed more often because the plants are more nutritious or the soil is easier to walk on.

Several factors influence the way livestock graze a pasture, including water location, natural barriers, slope, prevailing wind direction, shaded or protected areas, exposure and season of use.

Methods that can be used to change livestock grazing habits include planned grazing systems (rotating a herd of livestock through two or more pastures), water development, fencing, trails, salt or feed location, animal herding, and brush management.

SCS personnel assisting the local Upper Colorado Soil & Water conservation district can help livestock producers plan rangeland improvement measures. Single copies of "Livestock Distribution" are available free at the SCS office located at 3423 Avenue T.

Stop worrying and start doing

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Activist Abbie Hoffman is lecturing college students to stop worrying about issues and do something about them.

The 49-year-old Hoffman told 570 University of Wyoming students that he's proud of his generation because of the social reform it brought about. You don't see that with today's students who have "designer brains," he said Wednesday night

Still, the one-time Chicago 7 member said, "I don't see anybody replacing me, Ralph Nader or Gloria Steinem and Jesse Jackson. Maybe the situation will change somewhat."

Add Organic Matter to Garden

Adding plenty of organic matter to your soil is one of the keys to a successful garden.

Organic matter improves the drainage and aeration of clay soils and helps sandy soils hold water and nutrients.

Spread a two- to four-inch layer of peat moss, hay, compost, leaves, manure or even shredded newspapers over the garden surface and work it in six to eight inches deep. Before working in the compost, add the recommended rate of fertilizer so that it will become part of the soil mix.

Many gardeners prefer using a shovel or spading fork when working up the ground, but others like using rototillers.

These tips will make the tilling job easier:

— Till when soil is fairly dry and friable. Tilling wet soil leaves behind large clods and causes mud to cling to tiller blades, thus upsetting the tiller's balance.

— Leave an untilled row between passes since wide turns are easier to make than "about faces." This also keeps the machine from pulling itself and you toward the next row.

— Reduce engine speed when breaking new ground or when tilling heavy clay soils so the tiller will dig better and bounce less.

— Set the brake stake half the desired depth when tilling ground the first time around. Then set it to full depth and go over the gound a second time.

An accident at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant near Harrisburg, Pa., March 28, 1979, damaged the reactor core. A large hydrogen gas bubble formed in the top of the reactor and the temperature in the reactor building registered many times the normal level. Thousands of area residents were evacuated.

Diet Pill Sweeping U.S.

No Dieting — Eat All You Want

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. — An amazing new super "dream pill" has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose up to 10 pounds in 10 days. Best of all, it allows you to "eat as much as you want of your favorite foods and still lose a pound a day or more starting from the very first day until you achieve your ideal weight and figure."

This remarkable new diet pill combines two natural substances which cause adults to lose weight fast by "tricking" the body into acting like a teenager. These nutritional substances, called L-arginine and L-ornithine, stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Dr. Robert Harris, a specialist in nutritional medicine in Stafford Springs, Connecticut, was recently quoted as explaining: "Growth Hormone may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail.

"Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-orthinine make the body 'think' it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat as much as they want — and still be thin and wiry."

"Pill Does All The Work"

According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation 'diet menus' to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise and NO hunger pangs." The pill is not a drug! It is 100% safe consisting of natural amino acids just like those found in the foods you eat everyday.

Life Extension Authors Confirm Results

Durk Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life Extension. They discovered the weight-loss effects by accident. Sandy fell and broke her foot and started taking L-arginine because of its well-known healing qualities. Much to her amazement Sandy lost 25 pounds of fat and put on 5 pounds of firm-toned muscle in six weeks. According to Durk's calculations, the pill caused Sandy to lose 400 times as much fat as she would otherwise have lost — without dieting!

Lose Weight While You Sleep

One beautiful thing about these miracle pills is the ease with which they work. You don't have to count calories and you don't have to follow special diets or eat special foods. You don't even have to exercise. The best time to take the pills is just before you go to bed at night. That way, the pounds melt away even as you sleep. You wake up every morning, slimmer, happier and feeling younger!

The super dream pill is already sweeping the country with glowing reports of easy and fast weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Goode apologizes to Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor W. Wilson Goode, ignoring calls to resign, has apologized to the people of Philadelphia for his handling of the siege of the MOVE stronghold last year in which 11 members of the radical cult died and 61 houses were destroyed.

In an emotional "heart-to-heart talk" Sunday night, he said he "accepted responsibility for all the actions of city government — the good, the bad and the tragic," and brushed aside charges that he "abdicated his responsibilities as a leader" during the incident.

Another view of chiropractic

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm a chiropractor, and I think your statements in a recent column about my profession were ill-informed, defamatory, intemperate, debasing, irresponsible and libelous. I would be willing to give you any and all information concerning chiropractic health care in the hope it would change your attitude toward chiropractic.

DEAR READER — Any information you give me about chiropractic is unlikely to alter my opinion. I have researched the topic and nothing I have read inclines me to change my stand. Actually, I thought I took a fairly measured view of chiropractic. However, in light of the letters I received from chiropractors, nothing — short of a complete endorsement — seems to satisfy you guys. One fact did surprise me, though: There seems to be wide divergence of opinion among chiropractors as to how chiropractic works and the limitations of treatment. If you guys can get your act together and agree on a unified chiropractic theory, we might have some basis for discussion.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Judging from laxative advertising, we are all prone to constipation. Are laxatives harmful?

DEAR READER — Nonprescription medications for bowel dysfunction are a lucrative $300-million-a-year business in the United States. No wonder Americans have been dubbed "bowel-conscious" by Europeans and by a panel of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Bowel stimulants should not be used on a daily basis, certainly no more often than once a week, because the intestine can become dependent on them. The magnesium and phosphate contained in many laxatives can result in mineral imbalance within the body. Stool softeners, although safe, must not be taken with mineral oil, because they enhance the oil's effects. Mineral oil itself can cause nutritional disturbances by preventing absorption of certain vitamins.

People do not need to have daily bowel movements to remain in good health. For those individuals who are truly constipated, fresh fruit, prunes, apricots, fruit juice and vegetable roughage will usually serve to correct the problem.

Bias pervades jury selection

DALLAS (AP) — The racial makeup of Dallas County juries is routinely manipulated by prosecutors through legal challenges that allow lawyers to dismiss prospective jurors without cause, the Dallas Morning News reported.

In a copyright story in Sunday's editions, the newspaper said that as many as 90 percent of qualified black candidates are routinely excluded from felony juries by prosecutors who use peremptory challenges. In Texas, prosecutors and defense attorneys each have 10 such challenges in non-capital cases.

Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade said his prosecutors do not exclude prospective jurors solely because of race. But he said race sometimes can be a factor in whom they dismiss.

Blacks constitute 18 percent of the county's population, but they made up fewer than 4 percent of jurors on 100 felony juries the newspaper studied. A black had a 10 percent chance of being selected for a jury, while a white had a 50 percent chance of being chosen, according to the News, which conducted an eight-month investigation.

The study found that of the blacks struck from juries by peremptory challenges, 92 percent were barred by prosecutors, 4 percent by defense attorneys and 4 percent by both sides.

According to the newspaper, several legal experts said the findings showed that prosecutors systematically exclude blacks from jury duty, which they said violates defendants' rights to fair trials and black citizens' rights to participate in the criminal justice system.

"I think that the black population, being a significant portion of Dallas County, is being totally discriminated against, and if I were a black person I'd be up in arms about it," said Dallas defense lawyer Kerry FitzGerald, head of the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Project.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that systematic exclusion of an identifiable group of jury candidates is unconstitutional and has overturned criminal convictions on those grounds. Three such overturned cases happened in Dallas in the 1940s when defendants alleged racial bias.

In 1969, Assistant District Attorney Jon Sparling wrote guidelines on jury selection in which he said minorities "almost always empathize with the accused" and are not good jurors for the prosecution.

Sparling, a candidate for the Republican nomination for district attorney, said he was repeating the conventional wisdom of the time.

"I don't think there's ever been a good reason to systematically exclude blacks," he said.

Wade, who is retiring this year after 35 years as district attorney, said the newspaper's findings might be the result of a large number of blacks saying they have personal knowledge about the cases or have reservations about assessing the maximum sentence.

The newspaper's study, based on computer analysis of court records of 100 randomly selected felony jury trials in 1983 and 1984, did not convince Wade that prosecutors engage in systematic exclusion of blacks.

"It indicates, maybe, that," he said.

The 100 trials were selected from the 1,036 felony jury trials during the two years, and the study examined records on 4,434 prospective jurors to determine the juries' racial compositions, as well as to find out the race of people excluded from jury service.

Sparling also recommended excluding "free-thinkers," people with physical afflictions and the overweight — expecially women and young men.

Wade and his assistants said that Sparling's recommendations never were followed blindly, that most current prosecutors have not read that manual, and prosecutors are trained to use demographic data and personal observations to decide whom to strike and whom to include in juries.

Judges say they cannot direct lawyers how to use their peremptory challenges.

Year-end rebound forecast by some

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Members of the Independent Petroleum Association of America want a temporary halt on the plugging and abandonment of wells to ease the troubles of the oil industry, the head of the association said.

A moratorium would allow temporary plugging, so operators could re-enter a well and bring it back into production when the energy economic climate improves, president-elect Bud Scoggins told a group of about 100 oilmen Sunday.

Scoggins believes that improvement could come before the end of the year with oil prices rebounding to $20 to $22 a barrel.

But before that happens, Scoggins said at an annual meeting of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, the number of operating rigs will drop below a 1971 drilling low.

"The rig count last week was 1,248. It's been dropping from 50 to 70 units per week," Scoggins said. "At the rate we're going, in about six weeks we will drop below the all-time rate of drilling since World War II, which was established in 1971" when the year's average sunk to 971 active rigs.

"I hate to say it, but I believe there's enough downward momentum built into the situation now that even if we had an upturn in prices tomorrow, the rig count would drop below that 1971 low," Scoggins added.

The leader of more than 15,000 independent oil and gas producers says, however, that his group is opposed to the oil import tax because congressmen have a different concept of the fee than the oil industry.

Congressmen do not look at the fee "as something to help the domestic oil producer," he said. "They see it as a means of raising revenue."

The meeting was held at the Abilene Civic Center and continued Monday.

Priest says lottery victimizes the poor

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Lottery sells false promises and victimizes people who ought to be spending the money on food and heat, says a Roman Catholic priest who drew $5,000 worth of losing tickets in his church's Sunday collection to illustrate his point.

"People without discretionary income do not have the money to play the lottery," said the Rev. Thomas O'Gorman, who became angry when the lottery was advertised on a billboard across the street from his St. Malachy's church on this city's West Side.

"Despite that fact, they are the target of heavy advertising which promises to move them into the middle class if they're lucky," he said.

"They will buy inexpensive things with food stamps and use the change for lottery tickets," said O'Gorman. "They're spending money which ought to go for food, heat and clothing."

"We believe that the lottery is a victimizer of the poor and blacks," said the priest, whose parish members are mostly black.

He encouraged parishioners to toss their losing tickets in the collection plate during a special Mass Sunday and came up with $5,000 worth, he said.

"That's more than any Sunday collection, ever," O'Gorman said.

He said he has scheduled a rally to protest the lottery's advertising practices for Friday at the State of Illinois Center. Other churches have indicated that they will join in his call to boycott the lottery, he said.

"We want the state lawmakers who voted against the lottery 12 years ago to lead the fight to end it," O'Gorman said. "Our challenge to the lottery is basically a challenge to our state government to do more for the poor."

He said many of the people in his parish have been caught up in the "false promises" made by the lottery ads.

But Joel Feldstein, a spokesman for the Illinois Lottery, called the priest's allegations "absolutely, categorically false."

"No one is forcing anyone to play," said Feldstein. "And most of the advertising is done in mediums that reach everyone — in newspapers and TV."

But he conceded that placing a billboard advertising the lottery near the church may have been in poor taste.

"(Its placement) was an unfortunate accident," said Feldstein, who added that the billboard already has been removed.

He said the lottery returned $517 million to the state's general fund for education, health and welfare and other services in 1985, while paying out about $560 million to winners.

Bean wins Doral in sudden death

MIAMI (AP) - Andy Bean won. And was delighted.

Hubert Green lost. And wasn't at all upset.

"Hey, I'm in good health, I'm playing good and I just won $54,000. What's to be upset about?" Green said Sunday after he'd lost a four-hole sudden death playoff to Bean in the Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

The disappointment belonged to Tom Kite.

"A very disappointing day. I couldn't even scare the hole with a putt," he said after a 72nd hole bogey made him the biggest casualty in the run- actually more of a stagger - down the stretch.

The three contenders played the final four holes of regulation in 5 over par. The last-hole bogey cost Kite a spot in the playoff.

Bogeys on three of the last four holes cost Green the title. Bean made up a 2-shot deficit by playing the last four holes 1 over par.

"It just shows that if you don't give up, anything can happen," Bean said.

Green took a different view.

"The only way I could lose it was to give it away. And I did," said Green.

He had to make a 15-foot putt for bogey on the 72nd hole and force the playoff that Bean eventually won with a six-foot birdie putt on the fourth hole of a not-so-sudden death playoff.

"I'm glad it was won with a birdie. It's not very good to see professional golfers out there scrambling around like we were, three-putting and hitting into the water," said Hubert, who played the last 18 holes of regulation in par 72.

Bean played the last 18 in 69 and tied Green at 276, 12 under par on Doral's Blue Monster course. Kite, with a 71, was one shot back at 277, tied with Mark O'Meara, who had a closing 66.

The veteran Green, the current PGA champion, and Bean, the guy called "Li'l Abner" by his fellow pros, matched pars for three playoff holes before Bean dropped the winner.

"I wanted this win, particularly after last week," said Bean, a runner-up in the Honda Classic. "I felt I should have won the tournament last week. So this was a lot of satisfaction."

It also amounted to a lot of money, $90,000 from the total purse of $500,000, and pushed Bean to the top of the year's money-winning list with $154,621.

It was the 10th victory of his career and his first since the 1984 Greensboro Open. And it was his third in this event. He also won the Doral-Eastern in 1977 and 1982.

Golfers play in Sweetwater

SWEETWATER -- Snyder boys shot a team total 346 to close out the Sweetwater Invitational Golf Tournament, held here over the weekend.

Wade Hatter shot a 79 to lead the bunch while Shane Gann carded an 87 and David Holley an 88. Robert Patterson turned in a 92 and Mark Murphy shot a 97.

Brownwood came from behind to win the tournament with a 290. Sweetwater and Monahans locked for second place with 329s.

WTC women win 1st; men 4th at OC Rodeo

ODESSA -- Western Texas College's women took first place at the Odessa Rodeo, the first collegiate rodeo of 1986 in the Southwest Region, here Sunday.

The squad posted a 125 to Tarleton's second-place 85.

Western's men placed fourth in their division with 115 points. Tarleton State University captured the crown with 262.5 points. Odessa was second with 252.5.

Next rodeo action for Western Texas will be the Howard County Rodeo, scheduled for April 3-6.

"I'm real glad the girls won," beamed Coach Bob Doty. "They needed it. They didn't do much in the fall so it's great they started off (the spring) this way."

Doty said WTC's men "just didn't get any breaks, teamwise. We had some good performances, but most of them weren't on the (designated six-man) team."

Shelly Edlridge's second place finish in the goat tying led the women. She finished out of the points in the long go with a 9.8 but came back with a 9.2 to take second in the short round. Her overall time of 19.0 also took second place.

Mistri Davis tied for first place in the long go with a 9.3 but finished out of the running with a 10.9 in the finals.

Davis picked up points in the barrel race. She took fourth in the average with a 31.67. Her short-go time of 15.77 was also fourth.

WTC student Tana Whatley also fared well at the rodeo, but was not on the three-woman team and could not contribute her points. She tied for third in both the average (11.7) and the short go (5.9) in breakaway roping.

Western's top men's competitior was all-around runnerup Bliss Mayhan, who took second place in the bull riding. Mayhan tied for fourth in the long go with a 67 and won the short go with a 74. His 141 was second in the average behind Odessa's Jim Sharp who scored a 154 and eventually won all-around honors at the rodeo.

Mayhan also finished third in the average in bareback riding with a 133. His long go score of 68 tied for second.

Two WTC students who were not members of the mens team did well here. Mike Carrillo tallied a 134 to take second in the average in the bareback. His back-to-back 67s took fourth in the long go and tied for third in the short go.

Tobin Tate placed third in the bulls with an average score of 139. His 72 was also good for third place in the long go.

Don Eddleman placed second in the average and the short go of the calf roping. He opened with a 11.5 and followed it with an 11.8 for a total 23.3.

Also, Todd Danley placed fourth in the average of the steer wrestling after winning the short go. His times were 9.1 for the long go and a 5.6 in the finals for a total 14.7.

Several other WTC contestants reached the finals but were unable to finish in the top four. They included Tony Hecksher in the bareback, Mistri Davis in the breakaway, Donnie Yorks in the steer wrestling, Whatley in the goat tying, and Eldridge in the barrels.

Former WTC competitor Van Hale, now at Sul Ross, reached the finals in the saddle bronc but did not score in the average. Kenny Riley, Hermleigh native attending Tarleton, took second in the long go of the steer wrestling, but did not place in the finals or average.

Tigers split doubleheader; go to Brownwood Tuesday

BIG SPRING -- Snyder split a double header with Big Spring here Saturday, leaving the team at 3-4 on the season as they prepare to host the annual Snyder Tournament this weekend.

First, however, the Tigers will trek to Brownwood for a 5 p.m. ballgame Tuesday.

Snyder banged 15 hits and got seven-inning pitching from Jimmy Velasquez to nail Big Spring in the first game of Saturday's twinbill, 15-4. Pitching escaped both teams in the second game, which Big Spring won 13-12 with a three-run, seventh-inning rally.

Big Spring tagged Velasquez for three first-inning runs in the opener but the senior talent gave up just one other score in the game. He went on to fan 13 batters and improve his season record to 2-2.

Snyder benefitted from three walks and a single by Chris Fryar to bring in two runs in the first inning. The Tigers went in front 5-3 in the second on a double from Steve Parker, a single from Justin Webb and an error.

A four-run fifth inning added further damage. An error led Mike McWilliams aboard and Michael Long followed with a single. Ricky Hunter then doubled and Parker and Fryar got back-to-back singles to fuel the charge.

Snyder added two more runs in both the sixth and seventh innings. Singles from McWilliams, Long and Brad Holcomb did the work in the sixth. Parker singled in the seventh and Velasquez followed with a two-run homer.

Snyder got 15 hits, led by Parker, Fryar and Long, who were all three-for-four from the plate. Holcomb was two-for-four.

Snyder kept its hitting up in the second game but couldn't locate the pitching. A couple of errors also worked in Big Spring's favor.

Snyder slammed four first-inning hits, including a double from Webb, to score two runs. Big Spring countered, however, slapping catcher-turned-pitcher Hunter for an equal amount when Eli Torres hit a two-run homer.

The Tigers gave up three more runs in the third, highlighted by Aaron Allen's two-run homer.

Snyder came back in the fourth on a three run homer by Velasquez. The Tigers accounted for five runs in the inning.

Other Snyder highlights included a home run by Parker in the two-run fifth inning. Snyder finished out its come-from-behind effort with three runs in the seventh.

The Tigers couldn't stop Big Spring, however. Hunter gave way to Kenneth Pickering in the fourth but he couldn't put out the fire either. Webb came in in the seventh and was charged with the loss when Torres singled in the winning run.

Snyder got 17 hits in the game but left a dozen runners stranded on the basepaths. McWilliams was four-for-five with the bat while Fryar was three-for-three and Parker and Long were both two-for-four.

Torres led the Steers, now 2-4-1, with a four-for-five effort. Allen, who was the winning pitcher, was three-for-three.

Tigers compete in track meet

ANDREWS -- Snyder track teams competed in the Mustang Relays here Saturday. No specific results were available from the single-day meet, although it was known that Snyder girls placed second and Karlene Thompson won both the long jump and triple jump.

Individual results will be featured in a later issue of The Snyder Daily News.

The teams will compete in the Tornado Relays this Saturday in Lamesa.

Schmidt sidelined with back problems

by The Associated Press

Doctors called it "a common, everyday backache" for a very uncommon, everyday ballplayer.

And it will keep the Philadelphia Phillies All-Star third baseman, Mike Schmidt, out of action this spring for at least a week.

Phillies Manager John Felske said Sunday that Schmidt threw a little the day before, "and hurt it (his back) again. It will be more than a day or two."

Braves 4, Expos 2

At West Palm Beach, Fla., Bob Horner singled twice and drove in two runs as the Atlanta Braves defeated the Montreal Expos. Craig McMurtry pitched two scoreless innings for Atlanta.

Mets 8, Cardinals 1

In St. Petersburg, Fla., Dwight Gooden made his 1986 debut with three scoreless innings for New York, and rookie Stanley Jefferson homered for the Mets. The Cardinals committed three errors on pop flies, leading to seven unearned runs.

Dodgers 6, Astros 1

In Vero Beach, Fla., third baseman Bill Madlock, who had been sidelined for three days with a sore leg, had three hits and two RBI to lead the Dodgers.

Padres 5, Angels 4

At Yuma, Ariz., rookie Leon "Bip" Roberts, who played in AA ball last year, drove in three runs and scored the winning run for San Diego in the fifth.

Giants 4, Indians 3

Jessie Reid's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning broke a 3-3 tie and led the Giants over Cleveland at Tucson, Ariz. Candy Maldonado led off the inning with a grounder that first baseman Jim Wilson booted for a two-base error, and he reached third on a wild pitch by Jim Kern.

Brewers 8, Cubs 4

In Chandler, Ariz., Randy Ready and Jim Adduci each had three hits and two RBI to lead Milwaukee over the Cubs. Ready singled in a run in the second and another in the fourth. Adduci had a two-run single in Milwaukee's three-run eighth inning.

Twins 7, Reds 5

In Orlando, Fla., Roy Smalley hit a two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning to lift Minnesota over Cincinnati.

A's 6, Mariners 5

At Phoenix, Charlie O'Brien hit a one-out homer in the bottom of the ninth inning to lead Oakland over Seattle.

Rangers 7, Blue Jays 6

Mike Stanley hit a one-out homer in the bottom of the ninth to snap a 6-6 tie and lead Texas over Toronto in Pompano Beach, Fla. Another Texas rookie, Bob Brower, had homered in the eighth inning to tie the score.

Tigers 11, Red Sox 2

In Lakeland, Fla., Mike Laga and Nelson Simmons homered to lead Detroit over Boston. Dave LaPoint, obtained in a six-man trade with San Francisco last October, allowed one hit and a walk through the first three innings and combined with three other Tigers pitchers on a six-hitter.

Orioles 3, Yankees 2

Rookies Ken Gerhart and Jim Traber homered in Baltimore's three-run ninth inning as the Orioles rallied to beat the Yankees in Miami. Both homers came off Yanks reliever Brian Fisher. The two homers tied the score, and another rookie, John Stefero, drove in the game-winner with a single.

High school stars named all-tourney

AUSTIN (AP) - Of the four players who were unanimous choices to the all-tournament teams in schoolboy basketball, only Randy Leavitt of Nazareth played for a championship squad.

Leavitt, a 6-foot-5 senior who is a West Texas State football recruit, led Nazareth to its first state basketball title by scoring 36 points in two games as the Swifts defeated Laneville 57-47 in the Class A semifinals and Archer City 53-49 in the finals.

The other unanimous selections were seniors Leonard Perry of Dallas Kimball, Pat Leonard of Dripping Springs and Riley Smith of Mansfield, all three runner-up teams.

Kimball fell to Amarillo 68-63 in the Class 5A finals. It was Amarillo's first state basketball championship, and three Sandies made the 5A all-tournament team - senior Sherman Ray and juniors Brant Capps and Sammy Simpson, coach Allen Simpson's son.

Houston Wheatley's Willie Williams, a 6-7 senior and football tight end who signed with Louisiana State, is the other member of the 5A team.

Port Arthur Lincoln, a champion in 1981 and 1984, won again this year in 4A, beating Mansfield 55-39 and placing Anthony Allen and Jeffrey Lewis on the all-tournament team.

The Lincoln-Mansfield crowd of 14,412 on Saturday was a state tournament attendance record.

John Smith of Mansfield and Tilo Schmidt of New Braunfels also were picked by sportswriters and broadcasters for the all-senior 4A team.

Cleveland edged Dimmitt 57-56 for its first title. Dimmitt has won four championships and finished as runner-up five times.

In 2A Morton won its fourth championship by blasting Dripping Springs 73-59, and junior Jerry Joyce and senior Jimmy Moore of Morton made the all-tournament team. Senior Keith Hawkins, an all-tournament player for Morton last year, missed out this year.

The other choices in 2A were Leonard, a 6-2 senior; junior Mike Escobar, also of Dripping Springs; and senior Charles Boyd of Gladewater Sabine.

Joining Leavitt on the Class A all-tournament team were four other seniors - Darryl Hoelting of Nazareth, Robert Starnes and Robert Davis of Archer City and Mark Alec of Livingston Big Sandy.

TENNIS

PISCATAWAY, N.J. (AP) - Martina Navratilova served her only ace on match point and defeated Helena Sukova 3-6, 6-0, 7-6 (7-5) to capture the $150,000 Computerland U.S. Women's Indoor tennis championship Saturday and to become the first player to earn more than $10 million.

The hard-fought victory, worth $32,000, boosted her career earnings to $10,006,424.

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) - Janine Thompson of Australia defeated Catherine Suire of France 6-1, 6-4 to win the $12,000 first prize of the Virgnia Slims of Pennsylvania tennis tournament Sunday.

The win was Thompson's first as a professional.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Ric Sayre of Ashland, Ore. took a long lead early Sunday and held on to win the inaugural Los Angeles Marathon.

Hagler defends title tonight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Marvelous Marvin Hagler and Thomas Hearns return to the scene of their short, but spectacular fight seeking a rematch.

Hagler will defend the world middleweight championship tonight against John "The Beast" Mugabi, who has won all 26 of his pro fights by knockout.

Hearns will challenge unbeaten James Shuler in a 12-round match for the North American Boxing Federation middleweight title.

The two fights, each scheduled for 12 rounds, will be held at the 15,000-seat outdoor arena at Caesars Palace where Hagler knocked out Hearns in the third-round last April 15. The show is a sellout.

Promoter Bob Arum said if Hagler and Hearns win, they will meet in a rematch in September. A rematch originally was planned for June 23, but Arum said, "Hagler doesn't want to fight as early as June."

"It's something for me to plan for . . . to spoil their plan," said the 26-year-old Shuler, of Philadelphia, who has a 22-0 record, with 16 knockouts.

"I don't know who would want to see Hagler-Hearns II. I wouldn't. It (the April fight) was a sloppy fight."

"I'd be very disappointed if Hagler lost," said Hearns, who is the World Boxing Council super welterweight champion. "I wouldn't be disappointed for Hagler, I'd be disappointed for myself."

Mugabi intends to disappoint some people.

At the final news conference for the fights, which will be shown on closed-circuit and pay-per-view television, the 26-year-old challenger from Uganda said:

"I won't say too much. I've said it all. I'm going to knock him out."

Midland races past Texans; claims region championship

After struggling to get past semifinal opponent Western Texas on Friday, Midland College's Chaparrals had little trouble in disposing of South Plains for the Region V Basketball Tournament title here Saturday night.

The Chaps, third-ranked in the NJCAA, out-quicked, out-depthed and just flat out-played South Plains enroute to a 102-68 victory.

The win sends Coach Jerry Stone's 33-0 team against San Jacinto in a preliminary national tournament game. The situation had coaches and officials once again badgering the NJCAA for some type of format change for the nationals. San Jacinto is 32-0 and ranked No. 1 in the nation.

In short, the pre-tourney matchup between the two teams could well be for the national championship - and it won't even be played at Hutchinson, Kan., site of the tournament.

Midland took an eight-point lead with 6:52 to go in the first half Saturday when Mike Smith punched in a short jumper. The Chaps got their vaunted fast break off and running soon after, and led by 15, 41-24, when tournament MVP Ricky Grace handed an assist to Tony Wright for an easy layup.

Midland led 43-27 at the half.

Any thoughts of a South Plains comeback were left behind early in the second half. The Chaps continued to dominate and with 11:32 left Grace converted a three-point play that left the team ahead 69-44.

The only question remaining was whether MC could hit the 100 mark and that happened when Mookie Blaylock canned a layup with 35 seconds left to play.

Lincoln Minor led the Chaps, and everyone else, with 21 points. Eddie Frazier - who along with Grace and Blaylock made the all-tourney team - scored 20. Blaylock popped 16 while Grace and Derrick Lewis notched a dozen apiece and Smith added 10.

South Plains, which has celebrated one of its best seasons in recent years under new coach Ron Mayberry, 25-9, got 15 points from Greg Colbert. Darryl Rudolph scored 11 and Reggie Gibbs popped for 8.

Rudolph and Gibbs were also chosen all-tournament.

Other all-tourney choices included James Dawn and Alvin Lee from Western Texas, Clark White and Richard Hollis from New Mexico Junior College, Brian Watson from Grayson County and Mike Knorr from Cisco JC.

Raiders capture SWC cage crown

DALLAS (AP) - They were fifth-seeded, overlooked, and didn't have a player on the first team all-conference.

But the Texas Tech Red Raiders had a coveted prize today no other Southwest Conference basketball team could claim - a bid to the NCAA Tournament.

The Raiders earned an automatic bid from the NCAA the old fashioned way on Sunday with a 67-63 victory over second-seeded Texas A&M, a team that had whipped the Red Raiders twice during the regular season.

Tech was the lowest seed in history to win the 11-year-old SWC Tournament.

Meanwhile, four other SWC teams - Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Texas and Texas A&M - got invitations to the National Invitation Tournament, as did Lamar University. The NIT tournament begins Tuesday.

The 17-13 Raiders drew a tough cookie in the first round of the NCAA meet. They'll face high-powered Georgetown of the Big East Conference Thursday night in the Midwestern Regional at Dayton, Ohio.

A&M and Texas Christian were passed over by the NCAA although both had 20-win seasons. Texas, the other tri-champion, had 18 victories.

"Strength of schedule was the determining factor and it hurt the conference," said Frank Windegger, TCU athletic director and a member of the selection committee. "This is a message to teams in the conference to start beefing up their non-conference schedules."

Tech Coach Gerald Myers said the season looked dark for the Raiders when they dropped to 10-12 at one point in the season.

"A month ago I would have never believed we would get this far," said Myers. "This team came farther than any I've ever had.

"We kept pulling together and it just shows what can happen if you don't quit. I couldn't be prouder of our team."

Myers lost all five starters from his 23-8 championship club a year ago.

Tech guard Tony Benford scored 21 points and earned the tournament most valuable player award. Benford was a second team selection on The AP All-SWC team, one of the few he made.

"I'm just kind of in shock," said Benford, a senior from Hobbs, N.M. "I've been shooting good and they kept getting the ball to me. This team really stayed together through some adversity."

Tech is now 21-8 in SWC Tournament games, best of any league team.

Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf said, "Benford absolutely killed us. He has no flaws in his game. He's a big strong athlete and does it all. He's a complete player."

After winning three games with last-second shots early in the season, Benford went into a slump.

"Tony tried to carry the whole load when the season started," Myers said. "He made mistakes but kept working and became our leader."

Benford also played great defense, holding A&M's top scorer Don Marbury to a 5 for 17 day from the field and 16 points. Marbury had been averaging 22.

"Our progress this year was just amazing and unbelievable," said Myers.

The outcome provided a measure of revenge for Chism, who missed a dunk that cost Tech a game against A&M earlier in the season.

Chism had two slam dunks and hit three free throws as the Red Raiders beat back an Aggie rally.

"We did it," said Chism. "We thought when we came here we might be able to do it. Everybody was overlooking us. I've watched the NCAA playoffs on TV all my life and now I'm going to get to play in one."

Winston Crite scored 15 points for the Aggies, and Jimmie Gilbert had 13 but it wasn't enough for the cold-shooting Aggies.

"They forced us to shoot from the outside and we didn't do that too good," said Metcalf. "They deserved to win. I would have voted for Benford for MVP if I had a vote."

NCAA Tournament seeding...

East goes West to balance pairings

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - With the balance of power in college basketball centered east of the Mississippi River, the NCAA has sent a slew of teams traveling west in an effort to balance its 64-team basketball tournament.

Seven of the top eight seeds in the West Regional, including No. 1 seed St. John's, holler at game officials in Eastern or Southeastern accents. The nine-man selection committee also made Kentucky and Duke No. 1 seeds in their regionals. The only non-Eastern top seed that hangs its hat west of the Mississippi is Kansas, ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press Top Twenty and the No. 1 seed in the Midwest Regional.

The Big Ten and Atlantic Coast conferences each landed six teams in the richest-ever NCAA field, while the Big East got four, including defending NCAA champion Villanova. The Sun Belt and Southeastern Conferences also got four bids. All six of the ACC teams are among the top 24 seeds.

But the pickings were slim out West, the committee said. Arizona and Washington were the only Pac-10 schools getting a bid and Nevada-Las Vegas, at No. 4, is the highest-seeded Western team in the West Regional.

'We don't have one No. 1 team, we have four No. 1 teams," said Dick Schultz, committee chairman of the top seeds in the four regionals. "We feel very good about our field. It was not any easier this year than it has been in the past. We spent about three or four hours on the first 55 teams and the rest of the time on the final teams. There is a tremendous amount of parity and you look at fine, minute points."

ACC champion Duke, 32-2 and the No. 1 team in The Associated Press Top 20, is the top seed in the East Regional. Third-ranked Kentucky, the SEC champ, is No. 1 in the Southeast.

First-round games around the country will be played Thursday and Friday, with second-round action Saturday and Sunday.

The Big Eight Conference, which has struggled for years to shed its great football-shoddy basketball image, was "doing cartwheels," in the words of one league official, at having five teams picked for the lucrative tournament.

"Our league has arrived," said Coach Billy Tubbs of Oklahoma.

There is more than prestige at stake. Teams losing in the first round will get an estimated $167,000. Losing in the second round, the NCAA estimates, will be worth about $334,000. Getting knocked out in the regional semifinals will mean a paycheck of about $500,000. A defeat in the regional finals will be soothed by a check of about $668,000. Making it to the Final Four in Dallas' Reunion Arena at the end of the month will mean a jackpot for each team of more than $800,000. The semifinals will be staged March 29, the title game the night of March 31.

Gervin highlights 'consolation' game

by The Associated Press

The game paired the New York Knicks and Chicago Bulls, two teams that probably won't make the NBA playoffs, but the small crowd in attendance was treated to a vintage game from a vintage player - George Gervin.

The 35-year-old guard scored 27 points, helping the Bulls capture a 114-104 victory Sunday, and in the process he jumped into seventh place on the all-time pro scoring list.

Gervin, who now has 26,397 points, moved past former Boston Celtics star John Havlicek, who scored 26,395. Gervin said he would like to pass Oscar Robertson for sixth place before he retires.

"I'll be 36 next month, but I'd like to pass Oscar before I retire," said the 6-foot-7 Gervin, who played four seasons in the American Basketball Association before joining the NBA 10 years ago. Robertson had 26,710 points with the Cincinnati Royals and Milwaukee Bucks.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Philadelphia 120, Indiana 102; New Jersey 115, Phoenix 111; Denver 123, Los Angeles Clippers 121; Dallas 117, Sacramento 102; and Los Angeles Lakers 108, Seattle 106.

Gervin got plenty of help from young teammates Sidney Green, who had a career-high 31 points, and rookie Charles Oakley, who had 17 points and 15 rebounds, 10 of them at the offensive end.

Mavericks 117, Kings 102

Brad Davis scored a season-high 23 points, including 11 in the final 4:38, as Dallas pulled away from Sacramento.

Davis, who also had 13 assists, scored 13 points in the fourth period, all but two of them after the Kings got within 100-96 with five minutes left. The Mavericks outscored Sacramento 17-6 the rest of the way.

Nuggets 123, Clippers 121

Alex English scored 36 points and Mike Evans and Calvin Natt scored 24 each and combined for 25 in the fourth quarter, leading Denver over Los Angeles.

Rookie center Benoit Benjamin led the Clippers with 16 rebounds and a season-high 27 points.

West dominates NIT tournament

NEW YORK (AP) - Teams from Texas and California, including defending champion UCLA, dominate the 32-team field for the 50th annual National Invitation Tournament.

UCLA, 15-13, one of four California teams, will seek to become the first team in more than 40 years to win two consecutive NITs. The only repeat winner since the tournament started in 1938 was St. John's in 1943-44.

The Bruins, who once won nine NCAA titles in 10 years, will play host to California Irvine, 16-12, in their opening-round game on Thursday.

The tournament begins Tuesday with Montana, 21-9, playing host to 21-8 Texas Christian, one of five Texas teams in the NIT.

The Southwest Conference saw postseason tournament champion Texas Tech as the only team invited for the 64-team NCAA field, leaving regular-season co-champions Texas A&M, TCU and Texas, along with Southern Methodist, to settle for the NIT. Lamar, from Beaumont, Texas, also is in the NIT field.

"We're very pleased with the NIT selections and disappointed in the NCAA," SWC Commissioner Fred Jacoby said. "Some conferences are over-rated and some under-rated, and we had teams that improved dramatically late in the year. But it's obvious we were in a transition year. We don't have name players like Olajuwon, Jon Koncak, Joe Kleine and Clyde Drexler like we had the last few years."

Ironically, all four SWC teams have to go on the road in the first round.

In addition to TCU at Montana on Tuesday, Texas A&M, 20-11, is at Wyoming, 20-11; Texas, 18-12, at New Mexico, 17-13; and SMU, 18-10, at Brigham Young, 16-13, on Thursday.

HORSE RACING

NEW YORK (AP) - Veteran jockey Angel Cordero Jr. suffered a liver injury and a broken leg in the fourth race at Aqueduct Saturday when his horse, Highfalutin, fell while nearing the first turn.

Cordero underwent about four hours of surgery on his damaged liver Saturday night and Sunday morning and was reported in stable condition at a New York City hospital.

Reactions mixed to discovery

By The Associated Press

News that the remains of the Challenger astronauts had been found in the wreckage of the space shuttle at the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean was received by grieving parents with resignation, relief — and anger.

"I'm angry that I haven't been notified. All through this investigation I haven't really been contacted," Bruce Jarvis, father of mission specialist Gregory Jarvis, said Sunday after learning of the discovery by television.

NASA officials said Sunday that they had notified the families that searchers found remains in the debris of the shuttle's crew compartment 100 feet below the Atlantic Ocean. Few other details were made public.

"In deference to family wishes, NASA will not make further comments until recovery operations and identifications are complete," the space agency said.

The elder Jarvis, of Orlando, Fla., said the discovery of the shuttle's cabin helps to put his mind to rest.

"I never did like the thought of them being blown to pieces. I would have liked to have had some tangible proof that they just didn't disappear."

Marvin Resnik, the father of astronaut Judith Resnik, said Sunday that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration had told him about the discovery before it was made public.

"It's not going to bring anybody back," Resnik said. "There's nothing we can do about it. As far as I'm concerned, services have already been performed." A memorial service was held Jan. 31 for Miss Resnik at Temple Israel in Akron, the congregation to which her father belongs.

"NASA has been keeping us apprised all along," Resnik said, adding that he was surprised the news media had learned of the finding of the remains.

Tony Smith, the younger brother of pilot Mike Smith, said his family had been told Friday that searchers had located the crew cabin but he knew nothing about reports that the compartment contained remains of the astronauts.

"If they found anything, what they found is a physical part of a person. That's not the part I'm concerned about," he said. "The part of the person that matters has already been taken away."

Alan Jarvis, the brother of astronaut Jarvis, said: "I was hoping it (the discovery of the cabin) wouldn't happen. I think it would add a lot more trauma to an already traumatic experience."

In New York, Carl McNair, father of Ronald McNair, declined to comment Sunday when approached by reporters at an event in Harlem.

Francis W. Scobee, whose son Francis R. was commander of the Challenger, said the discovery "just opens up a lot of wounds again."

"All we really know is that it (the cabin) is still in the water and has to be brought up, and pathologists have to see if the remains are recognizable," Resnik said. "We're not going to Florida until we know something."

Family members of teacher Christa McAuliffe, who died with the six astronauts, declined comment.

'Dictatorship' charge leveled

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The running mate of Ferdinand E. Marcos today claimed the exiled ruler is still legitimate president of the Philippines, and said Corazon Aquino's government has the potential to become "the worst kind of dictatorship."

Arturo Tolentino, the vice presidential candidate who claimed victory with Marcos in the Feb. 7 election, told a Manila breakfast forum that Mrs. Aquino's administration should call a constitutional convention to establish its legitimacy.

If it operates without legal limitations, Tolentino said, Filipinos and foreigners alike will not know what to expect from it.

A revolutionary government, the 73-year-old Tolentino said, "is worse than martial law and the worst kind of dictatorship, because everyone in government can be a little dictator."

Tolentino, who failed to show up for Feb. 25 inauguration of Marcos which took place hours before the Philippine ruler fled the presidential palace, said he might still be sworn in as vice president, but that he sees no need to do it now.

"Mr. Marcos is legally still president of the Philippines, although he is not there exercising his powers," said Tolentino.

However, Luis Villafuerte, a member of Mrs. Aquino's Cabinet in charge of government reorganization, told the forum no jurisprudence in the world would recognize Marcos as president, since he had abandoned the power he held for 20 years.

Villafuerte said the current government, in which Mrs. Aquino's running mate, Salvador H. Laurel, has been proclaimed her vice president and prime minister, is revolutionary but "unparalleled in the history of the world."

Mrs. Aquino assumed the presidency after high-ranking military defectors supported her as the real election winner, an action that brought hundreds of thousands of Filipinos into Manila's streets around a military camp and a television station occupied by the rebels.

Marcos now is in exile with his wife, Imelda, and an entourage of family members and die-hard supporters in Hawaii.

On Sunday, Mrs. Aquino's spokesman said she was studying the possibility of proclaiming a revolutionary government to speed reform of the autocratic system left by Marcos.

Tolentino, who said he is convinced that he actually won the vice presidency, said there might have been some ballot fraud by the government, but said it was on behalf of Marcos, and not him.

He proposed that ballot boxes, which would contain about 20 million votes, be reopened and recounted.

Auto veers into fence

One minor traffic accident was reported in rural Scurry County over the weekend.

According to Department of Public Safety accident reports, Mario Alberto Navejar of 900 28th St. lost control of a 1981 AMC around 5:40 p.m. He was driving northbound on Roundtop Road about two-tenths of a mile south of Snyder.

The Navejar car veered off the roadway and through a barbed wire fence. No injuries resulted from the mishap.

Adolph Dubs, the U.S. Ambassador to Afghanistan, was kidnapped in Kabul by Moslem terrorists Feb. 14, 1979, and later killed in a shootout between his abductors and police.

Airline cuts fares

By The Associated Press

Trans World Airlines announced fare cuts and restored some flights, while its striking flight attendants said machinists honoring their picket lines would hasten new talks and settlement of the 4-day-old walkout.

"We are just absolutely delighted. This is a breakthrough," Joy Turkel, a Chicago spokeswoman for the 6,000-member Independent Federation of Flight Attendants, said Sunday as machinists honored picket lines nationwide.

At the same time, a federal court hearing was scheduled today in Kansas City, Mo., on the airline's request for a preliminary injunction to force about 10,000 International Association of Machinists members to cross picket lines.

On Friday, U.S. District Judge Howard F. Sachs denied TWA's request for a temporary restraining order that would have forced the machinists back to work.

TWA, the nation's sixth-largest airline, canceled about half of its daily domestic and international departures when the attendants went on strike Friday, but restored some flights Sunday, officials said.

Striking flight attendants have been replaced with about 1,500 newly trained recruits and an equal number of other non-union employees who have been trained to fill in temporarily.

Hit-and-run wrecks noted

Two hit-and-run incidents were reported in Snyder over the past weekend.

Mittee Foree of the Clairemont Rt. filed the first report at 9:29 p.m. Saturday.

She told police her 1984 Ford pickup had apparently been struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked at Snyder High School earlier in the day.

Jay Halbert of 1605 College Ave. filed the second report at 2:39 p.m. Sunday.

He told police that his 1981 Chevrolet had been struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked at either Hastings or Furr's earlier in the afternoon.

Shoplifting suspect sought

Police are investigating a shoplifting complaint filed Saturday morning.

Kmart personnel reported at 10:27 a.m. a man had just walked out of the store wearing a pair of boots he had not paid for.

Officers were unable to locate the suspect Saturday.

Police logged seven misdemeanor arrests over the weekend.

One 17-year-old male was instantered for four traffic violations Saturday afternoon while a second man was jailed for misdemeanor assault late Saturday night following a domestic disturbance at a north Snyder residence.

Others arrested included two each jailed for public intoxication and being intoxicated on a premises licensed to sell alcohol and one man arrested for driving with a suspended license.

Four still in hospital due to Friday wreck

Four Snyder residents remained hospitalized Monday morning recovering from injuries suffered in a two-vehicle traffic mishap southeast of the city Friday evening.

Danny Courtney of 600 31st — the most seriously injured of the four — was listed as improving Monday morning in Lubbock's St. Mary's Hospital.

He was transferred there Sunday for treatment of facial and mouth injuries.

Listed in stable condition at Cogdell Memorial Hospital in Snyder were Sabrina Robinson of 3003 Beaumont Ave., Kim Hayley of Rt. 1, Snyder and Sean Randolph of 3001 Ave. W.

All four were injured around 10:30 p.m. Friday when a late model Pontiac driven by Courtney struck Robinson's late model Cadillac. The accident occurred on Pleasant Hill Rd.

Swedish people observe silence for slain leader

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Trains ground to a halt, pedestrians paused in the streets and members of Parliament stood quietly today as Sweden observed a minute of silence to honor assassinated Prime Minister Olof Palme.

Thousands of mourners, many weeping, stood in the streets near the Stockholm intersection where the 59-year-old Social Democrat was shot and fatally wounded while walking home unguarded with his wife.

Private school vote delayed

AUSTIN (AP) — Before taking a vote whether to impose regulations on Texas' private schools, the State Board of Education decided to make sure it hears both sides of the controversial issue in April hearings.

The 15-member board decided 8-6 Saturday to delay the decision until April 12, following a three-hour public hearing scheduled for April 10. The board came to the 8-6 postponement decision under angry pressure from parents and church groups who protested during two days of hearings that the state is trying to wipe out their church schools.

Also opposing the rules are parents who want to teach their children at home.

The proposed private school rules, approved Thursday by the board's Students Committee, would set definite standards for private and church schools' teachers and curriculum. Present law only requires private and parochial schools to offer a course in citizenship.

Board member Jack Strong argued Saturday that the board should tentatively pass the rules now, effective in 1987. Then after the April 10 hearing, the board could change them if necessary, he said.

A final vote would not come until the May board meeting.

Also, the 1987 Legislature would have a chance to overrule the board before the rules become effective, Strong said.

"It is not a question of whether we have a right to regulate these schools, that is up to the Legislature and the U.S. Supreme Court," said Strong. "We already have a mandate from the Legislature to prepare these rules defining what is a private school and that is what we are doing."

He said if the rules are finally approved by the board, it will be up to local officials to enforce them.

Geraldine Miller who proposed the delay, argued the public hearing should be held before there are any votes by the board.

"We need to hear both sides of the argument," she said.

In other action, the board approved Saturday a statewide system of observing and grading teachers to determine if they should be advanced on the "career ladder," with extra pay and recognition.

And an effort to allow local school districts, such as Dallas and Houston, to retain their local teacher appraisal systems was defeated by an 8-7 vote.

The teacher appraisal plan adopted Saturday provides that each public school teacher be observed and graded at least four times by two appraisers during a school year.

One appraiser would be the teacher's supervisor and the other would be selected by the board of trustees. The observations must include full classroom sessions, some scheduled and others unscheduled.

Ms. Miller argued unsuccessfully that allowing local appraisals to continue for two years would benefit the state system. The plan also requires two more votes before it goes into effect.

Many opting for careers in service

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — West Texas high school graduates are abandoning the oil fields and lining up for a stint with Uncle Sam, but military recruiters say they have the luxury of being particular about who they sign up.

Sgt. Kirk Ogden, a U.S. Army recruiter in Odessa, said the declining petroleum industry in West Texas has prompted larger numbers of high school seniors to opt for a guaranteed income and a secure future in the service.

"They see the handwriting on the wall," Ogden said.

Unemployed oil field workers also are turning to the military, Ogden said. Recently six former oil field workers enlisted in the Army, he said.

"They discovered they needed to learn how to do other things and also start making some money," he said.

But Odgen said would-be recruits, who face a battery of recruitment tests, are not automatically guaranteed a spot.

"The days of 'grab your gun, and let's go fight' are gone," Ogden said. "The armed forces were not created to go fight wars, they were established to prevent a war from starting here."

Chief Petty Officer Michael R. Hurd, the Navy's recruiting officer in Odessa, said seven unemployed oil industry workers have been accepted in the past four months.

Many Depend on McDonald's for Supplies

McDonald Welding Supply has gained a reputation for service, and for good reason. The staff at McDonald Welding Supply comes early and stays late. This is especially important to the area's busy oil fields, and this is why so many companies have depended on McDonald Welding Supply for their supply needs.

The firm serves an area bounded by Sweetwater to Loraine to Colorado City and Big Spring and back to Snyder. The company has three 18 foot bobtail trucks for delivery to farms, businesses and well locations.

In stock at McDonald Welding Supply is the Miller Big 20 D.C. welder for the oil patch. It has a built-in A.C. power plant and can furnish electricity for any device that runs on household current. The welder runs on regular gas or can be purchased to operate with a diesel engine. They also have a Lincoln Machine available. McDonald Welding Supply also has a large stock of smaller welders. They vary in size and can fit in the rear of a foreign truck as well as a two-ton truck.

If you need steel for oilfield fabrication, you can find exactly what you need at McDonald Welding Supply. In addition, the firm has a complete line of Milwaukee heavy duty electric tools and grinders. They have Williams hammer wrenches and heavy tools, Victor and Uniweld welding and cutting equipment and Wilton vises.

Safety equipment of all types is stocked includng goggles, first aid kits and refills, arm guards, hard hats, liners and fire extinguishers. This popular business also stocks chains, cable, tubing and chain hoists. Blocks as well as all types of pulleys may be added to the list.

The available list of supplies is almost endless, just ask for it. Stop by and see Gayle McDonald and the staff at McDonald Welding Supply, 1110 College Ave.
