Telegraph Poll Being Taken Of Members

Thirteen Members Sign Petition In Austin Meeting

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 18 — Thirteen members of the House and Senate today signed a petition asking Governor Coke R. Stevenson to order a special legislative session to exempt Texans in the armed forces from poll tax payments.

The petition, which asked also that the governor recommended legislation extending the time for absentee balloting by soldiers, was circulated at an informal meeting of legislators.

The group voted also to poll by telegraph other members of the House and Senate on the special session question. Senator Karl Lovelady of Meridian and Rep. Jo Ed Winfree of Houston were elected to conduct the poll.

Smith Reiterates Plan

Before the meeting Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith in a formal statement reiterated a plea that an extraordinary session be called and emphasized that he was speaking as a friend of the governor "and not with any purpose of embarrassing him, but rather to save embarrassment."

"It is up to us to show the governor the light," Winfree told the legislators.

"In a supreme spirit of friendliness toward the governor, I say that he is violating the constitution himself in his stand. The constitution provides for executive, legislative and judicial branches of our government, and it is the duty of the courts to rule upon the constitutionality of any law we might pass."

No Slap At Governor

Lovelady interposed that the meeting should not be interpreted as a slap at the governor in any sense, but merely as an effort to convince him that his position is wrong.

"In my opinion the legislature can do it, and should do it," said Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston.

The telegram sent to all members of both houses said: "please wire whether you favor an immediate special session to accord soldier voting as advocated by legislators here today."

Attending the meeting of which Lovelady was chosen temporary chairman were Senators Wardlow

Governor Hints At Federal Act

DALLAS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Governor Coke Stevenson said today "I think Congress may have the right to pass special legislation to enable soldiers to vote, and it may be that it can be best handled that way."

The governor, here for a two-day visit which included three addresses and the inspection of a war plant, made his statement in an interview in which he stressed he desired that men and women in the armed services be permitted to vote in Texas election for national and state officers, and in the primaries.

He said, however, he remained unconvinced that the Texas legislature has the power to waive the poll tax requirement for voting by service personnel as had been proposed.

Suggests Fast Delivery

The governor said that under present Texas law service men and women have the right to vote with absentee ballots, and suggested that if special, fast plane service to distant points such as India and Australia was provided absentee ballots might be distributed and returned in time to be cast even in the primaries.

He declined to say definitely what position he would take as a result of a meeting today in Austin of legislators on the subject of a special session to change the poll tax requirement for soldiers.

Wants Legal Action

"It all depends on what we can do. We won't do anything unconstitutional. We will have a government of law and order," the gov-

British Press Indignant Over Peace Rumors

Action Described As Slanderous And Insulting

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 18—The British press minced no words today in expressing indignation over Pravda's publication of a British-German "separate peace" talk rumor, the London Daily Mail denouncing it as insulting and the Manchester Guardian calling it a "slanderous accusation."

The morning paper general displayed the story on their front pages, emphasizing that the British foreign office had issued a flat

NO MENTION IN SOVIET PRESS

MOSCOW, Jan. 18 (U.P.) — Neither the government newspaper Izvestia nor the Army organ Red Star published or commented today on yesterday's Pravda dispatch from Cairo reporting rumors of British-German peace discussions.

The Pravda dispatch has become the topic of the day among Muscovites, however, and caused more excitement than any news item since the start of the war.

denial of the truth of the report printed in Moscow by the Communist party organ. Not one London afternoon paper published the Moscow story yesterday, although there was no censorship ban.

No Official Explanation

In the absence of any official explanation from Moscow, and in view of the wide circulation given the report yesterday by the Moscow radio, the Daily Mail said the British government "may deem it necessary in the near future to reassert in Commons their determination to abide by their agreements never to make a separate peace."

An Associated Press dispatch from Madrid, meanwhile, said authorized Spanish sources denied last night that Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop had been in Spain and termed Pravda's "Cairo rumor" that von Ribbentrop had discussed peace with two British officials on the "Pyrenees peninsula" as ridiculous.

Peace Talks Disclaimed

From Lisbon, similarly, an Associated Press dispatch quoted British, Greek and Yugoslav sources as disclaiming any information of the rumored peace talks. Allied diplomats there recalled there was no substantiation for previous rumors that von Ribbentrop had been in Portugal.

The Daily Mail, whose headline read: "Britain Kills 'Separate Peace' Lie," commented that "the newspaper Pravda must be remarkably ignorant of British national standards. This is the only excuse we can find for it."

Child's Leg Broken When Struck By Bus

Sammye Carol Paschall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Paschall of route four, Lubbock, sustained a broken right leg, bruised left leg and feet, a severe eye injury and possible other head injuries when she was struck by a school bus near the home about 7:30 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Claudia Johnson was driver of the bus.

Reports said that the nine-year-old youngster, a third-grade student in Roscoe Wilson school, and an older sister, Rose Paschall, a student in Lubbock High school, had started to catch the school bus into Lubbock when Sammye Carol dashed in front of the moving vehicle, which ran across the child's legs. The right leg was fractured in two places.

The accident immediately was reported to Mr. Paschall who, along with a son, rushed his daughter to St. Mary's hospital for treatment. The father is a dairy farmer.

X-rays were being made by attending physician this morning and a report on seriousness of the child's condition was not available early this afternoon.

Army Transport Plane Crashes At Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 18. (AP)—An Army transport plane crashed today a few minutes after it had left the Oakland airport, and all aboard—probably eight—were killed.

The twin-engined ship fell in a residential area, demolished a house, and the resulting fire spread to several other homes.

Police believed all occupants of the house escaped.

The Army said the big plane fell a few minutes after taking off. Residents of the area saw it flying low. Its lights blinked on and off several times, and then it appeared to drop straight down.

EARTHQUAKE LEAVES VICTIMS HOMELESS—Youthful victims of San Juan, Argentina earthquake sit dejectedly amid ruins of former homes. Ninety per cent of the city's buildings were either destroyed or damaged by the quake and today's reports placed the number of dead at from 4,000 to 5,000 with 10,000 injured and from 15,000 to 20,000 missing. U. S. Opens 14-Billion-Dollar Fourth War Loan Drive Today

Lubbock War Work Praised

"One of the greatest thrills I got out there was a letter from the folks telling how Lubbock had gone over the top in the Red Cross drive and the War Loan campaign," Lt. Homer Maxey, home from the Southwest Pacific after 16 months, declared before members of the Lubbock Lions club today noon at the Hilton hotel.

Lt. Maxey, who participated in five invasion landings in three major campaigns against the Japs, said support of the home front is vital to the fighting men. "We really appreciate it out there," he said.

Thrilling Sight

"You, too would get a thrill out of seeing all the planes, ships and supplies coming out there to our men; you'd know that your dollars were aiding in the war effort," he added.

Lt. Maxey, who subbed as a program at the luncheon when the regular scheduled program failed to show up, sketchily reviewed his activities since leaving Lubbock and answered questions from club members regarding the fighting, conditions and other phases of the war in the Pacific area.

"Strikes and labor disputes are a sore spot with the men," he said in answer to a query; "I mean, they really get burned up over labor disputes."

He paid a tribute to our allies, declaring that "they're fighting the same war we are and for the same cause. He said the Australians and New Zealanders were a fine bunch of fellows.

Hold-The-Line Fight On Over Vets' Pay

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP) — The House faced a new hold-the line fight today with its military committee spearheading a drive to keep a $300 ceiling on mustering-out pay for discharged service men and women.

On the outcome of the issue, which is expected to be settled by nightfall, depends not only how much war veterans shall receive to tide them over between their discharge and their return to private jobs, but also the amount of bonus or adjusted compensation they will get under legislation almost certain to come as soon as the war ends.

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the military committee said he would resist efforts of a bi-partisan group to boost the amount of mustering-out pay to as much as $700.

"The $300 we recommended will cost about $3,600,000,000 and is five times as much as was given upon discharge after the last war," he said.

YOUTH SENTENCED

HOUSTON, Jan. 18. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy who allegedly stole 18 cars in one month was committed to the Gatesville state school for boys today by County Judge Roy Hofheinz in juvenile court.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Appeals Issued By Three Leaders

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. — The $14,000,000,000 Fourth War Loan drive opened today with pleas for its success from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Admiral Chester Nimitz and Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr.

In Philadelphia, the Liberty Bell was struck this morning by Mayor S. Barnard Samuel and heard throughout the nation by radio as 5,000,000 volunteer salesmen, some of them jumping the gun and beginning their canvass at midnight, opened a door-knocking campaign hoped to reach every man and woman.

Ted R. Gamble, national director of the drive, was caught by one of the 12:01 a.m. salesmen just as the campaign officially began. He got a sales talk and bought a $100 bond.

Two Counties Over

And two counties — Pershing county, Nev., and Cherry County, Neb. — reported that their quotas were exceeded before the drive opened.

Eisenhower, Nimitz and Morgenthau — the first two from their posts in the war theaters, the latter from Washington — joined movie stars, opera singers and the governors of four states in a four-network dramatized program emphasizing the slogan of the current drive, "let's all back the attack."

Eisenhower, declaring that "we are about to test finally whether democracy can sustain all-out battle," said success in the Fourth War Loan would aid in softening up the enemy "by showing every Nazi soldier and civilian that America was united behind its great invasion force."

"We are going to hit the enemy and hit him again and keep hitting him until the last measure of

Revenue Bill Debate Is Slowed In Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP) — Minor amendments, and a major controversy over government controls on war profits continued to slow the pace of Senate debate on a $2,275,600,000 added revenues bill today.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the finance committee conferred with administration officials, trying to smooth away opposition which developed over committee proposals to narrow the field of war contracts which the Army and Navy can re-examine to search out profits considered to be excessive.

Parade Here To Launch Drive

You've read and heard about them, and seen them in the movies.

Now you are to have the opportunity actually to see one of the famous "bazooka" guns which are dealing such misery to the Axis.

It will be one of the many weapons, along with other military equipment, bands and thousands of marching men which will be on display Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the parade here in behalf of the Fourth War Loan drive. The promise is reiterated by bond drive officials that it is going to be the finest parade of its kind ever seen in this part of Texas.

The Fourth Loan drive opened officially throughout the nation this morning. All sales here from now until Feb. 15 will count on the Lubbock county quota of $3,597,000. But organization still is in progress for the "big push" so far as this county is concerned.

General Chairman Neil H. Wright and Rural Chairman Roy Boyd reminded that rural areas committees are to meet in the Lubbock city hall Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to receive final instructions. The big drive in the city will be launched after the rural areas cmapaign is under way.

Shuttle-Bombing Of Germany Foreseen

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18 (AP) — Shuttle bombing of Germany by planes based in Russia and Italy and a last ditch stand by the Nazis are developments foreseen by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the United States Army Air forces.

Speaking before the Poor Richard club last night he said the advance of the Russians from the east and standardization of aircraft parts and equipment would make it possible for Allied planes to take off from Italy and bomb vital German targets en route to bases in Russia.

Arnold, a former Philadelphia resident, came here to receive the gold medal of achievement for 1943,awarded to him by the Poor Richard club for his accomplishment in the organization and development of the air forces.

Patrol Probes Nazis' Strong "Gustav Line"

Enemy Holding Fortified Line Across Rapido

BY EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 18 — An American patrol crossed the Rapido river north of Cassino and probed the Nazis' strong "Gustav line" positions, headquarters announced today. French troops occupied Sant' Elia, three miles northeast of Cassino.

The doughboy patrol found the Germans entrenched in fortified positions 300 yards beyond the western bank of the Rapido, and withdrew across the river after a skirmish.

French forces advanced 1,000 yards to seize Sant' Elia, and also captured the hamlet of Valvori two miles farther northeast as the Allied are tightened on Cassino, sentinel of the valley pathway to Rome.

Allies Consolidate Gains

Patrols were active elsewhere on the Fifth Army front, and the Allies continued consolidating recent gains.

The Germans meanwhile quickly put last minute touches on their new line which from Cassino to Sant' Elia runs along the west side of the Rapido, in some places considerably back from the river's bank, on the slopes of Mt. Castellone.

Canadians supported by tanks launched an attack on the Adriatic flank on a 1,000-yard front in the front in the Tommaso area about a mile inland from the coast. Despite stiff opposition from Germans holding high ground, they made some gains which included a foothold across a stream flowing into the sea. At last reports, the fighting was continuing with satisfactory results.

Weather Is Fine

The weather was fine but somewhat cloudy on the Fifth army front, with gales blowing hard in the mountains. On the Eighth army front it was cold and clear in the coastal area, but there were high winds and snow inland.

Labor Draft Is Sidetracked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP) — President Roosevelt's recommendation for national service legislation got a setback on capitol hill today when the House military committee voted to sidetrack it indefinitely.

In some legislative quarters, this step just a week after the White House recommendation, was believed to foretell the end of such legislation this session.

Consideration Not Precluded

The action, Chairman May (D-Ky) explained after a meeting behind closed doors, does not preclude future consideration of such legislation, under which the services of most men and women would be subject to government call.

"We decided to hold it in abeyance for the time being pending further developments," May told reporters.

The Senate military committee, he explained, already has arranged for hearing on the legislation and the House group could avail itself of information gathered by that committee if it desires to consider the bill later. Indications were, May said, that the House committee would call for hearings later to determine the need for the legislation.

TEXAS OFFICERS DECORATED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (U.P.) — Two high-ranking Texas officers have been awarded decorations for outstanding services to the Army, the War department announced today. They were Brig. Gen. Edmond H. Leavey of Longview, and Brig. Gen. Frank S. Ross of El Paso.

Rovno's Capture Would Imperil Wide Nazi Area

Triple Threat Facing Key Nazi Center In Old Poland; Russian Offensive In North Rolls Forward Toward Baltic

By RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

Soviet troops fought today into the thick outer defenses of Rovno, traffic hub 40 miles inside Poland which is essential to the German hold on a vast area of south and southwest Russia. Nearest troops of Gen. Nikalai Vatutin's First Ukrainian army were 13 miles away and closing in from the east, north and northeast.

Other Russians ground away at German lines ringing Leningrad and engaged Nazi tank forces in a great slugging match before Vinnitsa and Uman in the southwest Ukraine.

Vatutin's center, based on Novograd Volynski, 50 miles east of Rovno, was driving on the rail hub from the east, northeast and north, constituting a triple threat which made its early capture a possibility. One column moving in from the northeast already has occupied Tuchin, 13 miles away, and is steadily beating down savage enemy resistance, a Russian communique said.

Engineers Aid Crossing

Soviet engineers were called in to provide equipment for the crossing of the Horyn river, which flows westward through Tuchin's outskirts, and which has not frozen sufficiently for transport on the ice. Beyond the river there was a formidable four-mile-wide swamp barrier extending to the village of Goringrad, strongpoint of Rovno's outer defense system 10 miles to the north, which also has to be negotiated by Vatutin's forces.

The five-day-old Russian offensive on the Leningrad front, meanwhile, continued to roll forward with the occupation of five additional localities north and northeast of Novosokolniki, a rail junction on the line connecting Velikie-Luki and Riga (the old Latvian capital).

(The German high command said the Russians were attacking north and northwest of Nevl, north of Lake Ilmen, south of Leningrad and south of Oranienbaum, with "growing intensity." A Berlin broadcast said the Russians were using 250,000 men on a 250-mile-long front below Leningrad and acknowledged Russian breakthroughs north of Nevel north of Lake Ilmen and southwest of Vitebsk, White Russian base which has been under siege by Gen. Ivan Bargramian's Baltic army for weeks).

U. S. Awaits Soviets Reply

Difference In Time May Cause Delay

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Secretary Hull said today that the American offer to seek a resumption of diplomatic relations between Poland and Moscow apparently did not reach Moscow until Monday morning.

This disclosure regarding the time element was taken as one more evidence that the Russians at least have taken no steps to reject the offer.

According to the best information here, Mr. Hull said, the dispatch containing the American government's decision to make the offer was not received in Moscow until Monday because of atmospheric conditions.

Received After Statement

This implied that the offer could not have been brought to the attention of the Russian government by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman until after the Russians had issued their strongly disapproving statement on the Polish message which requested British and American intervention in the dispute.

The Poles said they could not accept decisions brought about by Russia alone and the Russians said that the Polish note amounted to a rejection of Russia's offer to settle territorial questions on the basis of the old Curzon line laid out during the World war.

Hull's disclosure today, referring to Monday morning Moscow time, meant that the Russians had not so far gone on record after receipt of the American offer that they would be unable to accept the offer.

Gives Same Answer

The secretary said in response to questions that he had no information—the same answer he had given yesterday — regarding the publication in the Communist journal Pravda of reports that the British had discussed peace terms with German Foreign Minister Ribbentrop.

Despite Russia's evident determination to play a lone hand in settling her border problems to the west, there was some optimism here that the reply to Secretary of State Hull's offer, announced yesterday, would be favorable.

On Diplomatic Relations

This was based on the fact that the American offer extends only to the question of diplomatic relations and presumes no intervention in the settlement of Poland's

Jap Losses In Pacific Mount

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

Japanese losses in planes and ships continued to mount as the hard-pressed Nipponese traded hard aerial punches with the Allies in Southwest Pacific aerial warfare.

American P-40 fighters shot down 18 and probably 20 enemy planes which attempted to deliver the heaviest attack on Saidor, Allied coastal gateway to northern New Guinea, since units of the U. S. Sixth Army landed there Jan. 2.

Jap Defenses Attacked

Liberators and Mitchells unloaded 87 tons of bombs on Japanese defensive facilities back of the American invasion positions at Arawe, southwest New Britain, while South Pacific fliers pounced again on the big enemy base at Rabaul on the island's northeast tip.

Allied patrol bombers, keeping up the ceaseless campaign to blast the enemy's weakened shipping, sank a 10,000-ton vessel and left fires raging on two merchantmen in a six-ship Japanese convoy off Kavieng, New Ireland.

Cargo Ship Sunk

A Japanese small cargo ship was sunk and three others damaged by U. S. Army and Navy bombers in raids on Maloelap, Likiep, Jaluit and Mili in the Mar-

Martial Law Enacted In Quake-Torn City

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 18 (U.P.)—President Pedro Pablo Ramirez, of Argentina was reported to have established martial law in San Juan today after police reported that survivors were pillaging the houses of that earthquake-wrecked city.

Reports from the provincial capital said authorities buried or cremated thousands of bodies in the last 48 hours in a desperate fight against the threat of plague of typhoid. Hundreds of additional bodies were believed buried under the debris.

Dispatches placed the number of deaths in Saturday night's temblors at from 4,000 to 5,000, with 10,000 injured and 15,000 to 20,000 missing. Scarcely a dozen buildings were reported still standing.

Ramirez, who flew to San Juan yesterday, estimated that loss to industry, commerce and private property would total at least 400,000,000 pesos (nearly $100,000,000.)

Authorities were reported seeking to step up the partially-completed evacuation of San Juan's uninjured population.

FOUNDRY WORKERS STRIKE

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 18. Nazi Fighter Planes Carry 30 MM Cannon

LONDON, Jan. 18. (U.P.) — The London Daily Mail said today that the Germans have equipped their fighters in western Europe with 30-millimeter cannon, 50 per cent larger than the standard cannon on British planes and more than twice the size of the .50-caliber machine guns on American Flying Fortresses.

"German fighters carry their new cannon into high altitude combat," the Daily Mail said. "It is certainly a more serious threat than their much-vaunted rocket-firing interceptors."

(The American Airacobra fighter is equipped with 37-millimeter cannon and American Mitchell medium bombers in the Southwest Pacific mount a 75-millimeter cannon.)

Superhuman Efforts Of Marines In Battle For Walt's Ridge, New Britain, Can Now Be Told

BY MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE MARINES AT CAPE GLOUCESTER, Jan. 14 — (Delayed)—For fully five minutes the Japanese chanted and shouted, "prepare to die, Marines," At 4:15 a. m. they charged.

Five times they charged, and five times the United States Marines hurled them back in what has become the fiercest battle of the Cape Gloucester campaign—the battle of Walt's ridge.

The battle on the invaded western end of New Britain is over now and the full picture is complete. It is a picture of brave men slugging it out in vicious hand to hand encounters; of a gun crew exhorted to superhuman efforts by the need for a lone piece of artillery; of bearded, weary men, their hearts pounding as though they would break as they hauled ammunition to the men on the line.

Ridge Named For Officer

Lt. Col. Lewis Walt had his command post approximately 75 yards from the tip of the ridge that was given his name. This former Colorado Aggie football player from Ft. Collins, Colo., took over command of the troops who had been in the line over a week. They were discouraged men who had lost two of their top-ranking officers in heavy fighting which preceded the final battle.

Walt knew before he had been there long that this would be one of the decisive battles of the campaign. The battle was two days abuilding. There had been brief but vicious clashes and the usual tortuous job of knocking out snipers. Day after day it rained in sudden drenching downpours. Walt ordered the attack to move

Live Hog Ceiling Fee Price Revised By OPA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP) — The live hog ceiling was revised today to let public stockyard dealers charge normal service fees even when this would bring the hog price above the ceiling limit.

A dealer who purchases hogs in his own name at a public stockyard and resells the animals at the stockyard thus will be permitted, the Office of Price Administration said, to collect from his buyer a service charge not in excess of that listed by the dealer in his tariffs filed under the packers and stockyards act of 1921. The order is effective Jan. 22.

Brief Bits Of Local News

It was out of the kettle and into the fire for Wade Coleman, 44, a negro. Wade, charged with murder in Terry county, succeeded Monday in having his case continued until the April term of court. Back in Lubbock, he gathered his belongings, including a pistol he "packed" on his person, and took a city bus downtown, intending to catch an intra-state bus for East Texas. But, at Nineteenth street and Avenue X, the pistol went off, discharging a bullet into one of Wade's legs. Result: He won't go to East Texas for awhile; there's the matter of a $500 bond in a pistol carrying case returnable a week from today.

Lt. Marvin B. Hilburn, jr., left Monday night to rejoin his anti-aircraft artillery battalion maneuvers in Louisiana after spending a 15-day leave of absence with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin B. Hilburn, 1220 Avenue M.

Edward E. Childress, 44, of Post, route three, died at 11:35 o'clock Monday night in St. Mary's hospital where he had been a patient since Jan. 9. Funeral arrangements will be in charge of Post Funeral home.

Pvt. Joe R. Krebs of Lubbock, who entered Army service last Dec. 17, is now stationed at Camp Kahler, Calif., and is attached to the signal corps, according to a letter received by his wife, who resides at 1302 Twenty-sixth street.

Testimony was continued today in the complicated civil action of Ted Barnett and wife against Mrs. E. B. Hufstedler and others, for title and possession of property in Lubbock county. A jury was completed and testimony begun at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. The jury is composed of Ralph H. Baker, C. L. Griffin, Rufe Williams, Roy Matthews, F. H. Griffin, H. S. Denton, C. M. Eoff, H. G. Warren, H. N. Estes, G. O. Speer, R. V. Mills and J. C. Johnson.

Settlement agreement whereby $225 was paid to W. H. Bartlett and others in their suit against W. O. Mead and others, for damages, was announced in 99th district court of Judge J. E. Vickers. The suit grew out of an automobile mishap Dec. 15 on the Slaton-Post highway. A new damage action also was filed, whereby Hugh W. Whitaker asked judgment of $15,500 of J. R. McCook, alleging serious personal injuries resulted in a Dec. 30 crash of Whitaker's car into a truck represented to have been owned by McCook.

A 45-year-old negro lay asleep in bed when residents living at a Broadway address returned home Monday night. He was drunk. His fine was $75. He told officials he once had worked at the address and "got confused."

Theft of four bikes and a case of cigarets valued at $60.06 was reported to police as outgrowth of Monday night lawlessness. The cigarets were owned by Lubbock Cash Wholesale grocery, at 709 Avenue H, the bikes by Douglas Ray of 2204 Twenty-third street, Wilbur Roach of 905-B Avenue M, a Mr. Black of 402 Avenue R and Bill Scales of 2014 Avenue V.

Ration Coupons Taken As Thieves Raid Town

CARTHAGE, Jan. 18 (AP) — Thieves who raided this East Texas town should find little trouble driving and eating.

They picked up gasoline coupons good for some 273,000 gallons at the ration board office, an undetermined number of meat and food coupons at a grocery store, and $105 in cash to buy the gasoline and food with from a bottling company.

TREASURE SEIZED

AT THE SWISS - ITALIAN FRONTIER, Jan. 18 (AP) — The treasure of the House of Savoy, containing the noted coin collection of King Vittorio Emanuele, was reported today to have been seized by the Germans and turned over to the puppet Fascist regime.

LAAF Sub-Depot Is All-Out For Bonds

All employes of the 60th sub-depot, Lubbock Army Air field, have signed up to participate with not less than 10 per cent of their pay in the Fourth War Loan drive which opens officially today, officials there announced late Monday.

In addition, all officers of the sub-depot, of which Maj. Folsom Hayward is commander, have signed up individually for bonds.

During the Third War loan drive in September, employes of the sub-depot almost tipped the scales at 100 per cent, but this time, answering the call of their country at the beginning of what may be the most decisive year of the war, have gone over the top. During the last drive, the personnel bought over $12,000 worth of bonds, exclusive of payroll deduction. They expect to top that figure this time, also.

Taxicab Driver Loses License

One taxicab driver has lost his chauffeur's license — "and there are some candidates up for the same treatment," it was announced this morning by police, several days after city commissioners handed down a dictum that dangerous practices laid to some drivers had to stop.

Ray G. Hartman was given the alternative of surrendering his license or contesting his case in corporation court, it was explained.

He surrendered it.

"He had been convicted of 11 'moving' violations since Feb. 16," said Solon Lea, city recorder, who explained that five of those were for speeding and that the others included "running" red lights and stop signs and making prohibited U-turns.

Fines Average Over $5

His fines averaged more than $5, the record shows.

Taxicab operators are "stringing along" with police, it was announced. When a driver gets three moving violation convictions the police will take his license; but cab companies have imposed a stricter rule of their own lately, it was explained by police: ending employment of a driver who has been charged with two such violations and prejudising his right to employment by rival cab companies.

The public-at-large was doing its part of traffic violations, as well. Thirty-two summonses were mailed to persons who, charged in traffic violations, nevertheless did not appear in court in answer to traffic tickets. Approximately the same number of summonses went out from the police station Monday.

Former Lubbock Man Dies In Plane Crash

Lt. Ralph Adkins, about 30, a former Lubbock resident, was killed Monday night in an airplane accident near Tucson, Ariz., where he was stationed as a bombardier instructor, according to a message to his brother-in-law, Gerald E. Jarvis, director of the Lubbock city laboratory.

No letails were supplied. Expectation is, however, that the body will be taken to Dallas, the home of Lt. Adkins, for services and burial.

A graduate of North Texas State Teachers college and the University of Texas, Lt. Adkins came to Lubbock several years ago as the representative of a publishing firm. He was transferred to Dallas, where he made his home until his enlistment in the Army Air Forces.

Army Aces In Pacific Tied At 21 Planes

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Jan. 18 (AP) — Two Army fliers, now tied with 21 planes each, lead current fighter aces of the Southwest Pacific.

Col. Neel E. Kearby, San Antonio, Tex., has been credited officially with his 21st enemy plane to draw alongside Capt. Richard I. Bong, now on leave at his Poplar (Wis.) home.

Kearby always works in a Thunderbolt; Bong, in a Lightning.

Walt's Ridge Battle

forward and the Marines struggled toward the top of the ridge. They battled every inch of the way against picked troops of the Japanese Army—veterans of Bataan.

Jap Asks For Cigaret

Near the top they dug in for it was getting dark. There was little sleep that night of Jan. 9 for the Americans were too close to the enemy lines. One Japanese arrogantly stuck his head up from a foxhole and shouted, "how about a cigaret, Yank?" The Marine answered by shooting him through the head.

Shortly after 4 a. m. the Marines got ready. At 4:10, they heard chanting and shrieking as the Nipponese worked up their spirits for the assault. At 4:15 the Japanese charged.

Over the front only 100 yards wide they came, rifles with bayonets fixed held before them. The leathernecks met the charge with bayonets and hand grenades and hurled the onrushing Japanese back. But they had come so close that Japanese dead tumbled into the Marines' own foxholes.

After the third Japanese assault, the report came from the left side of the line "ammunition gone." The situation was critical.

Beyond the hill activity showed the Japanese preparing for another charge. "By that time I was praying," said Walt. "I knew if the Japs broke through we would have no alternative but to fall back a mile and in the darkness that would have been suicidal. Besides the Jap breakthrough would have exposed flank forces and endangered the entire operation."

Artillery Support Asked

Walt called for artillery support. It was a ticklish business because the lines were only yards apart. Marines on the left side, their ammunition replenished, feverishly began loading rifles and machineguns. They had just barely finished, only four minutes after the supplies arrived, when the Japanese charged a fifth time.

It was 4:45 and the Marines' turn had come. But ahead of them were heavily defended machinegun positions. Lt. Frank Thideau, Silver Spring, Md., got his gun's crew ready. They opened fire with cannister shells—deadly shells which spray a path from 15 to 30 yards with 120 balls of shot—and nothing could stand before that. One platoon went forward by sheer determination. One Marine charged past two enemy machinegun positions before his bullet-pierced body fell across a log.

Emperor's Crack Troops

The battle of Walt's ridge was over by 10 a.m. Over 200 Japanese dead littered its slopes or slumped behind machineguns. They were husky men, large for Japanese well-fed, well-armed and well-clothes. They were some of the emperor's crack troops. Only a handful escaped to Hill 660.

As for Walt, his reward came from Brig. Gen. Lemuel Shepherd, Norfolk, Va., assistant division commander in charge of this phase of the Gloucester operation. Shepherd had been at the front during the intense fighting. In fact, he had once been pinned down by machinegun fire.

"We'll call it Walt's ridge," said the general.

Gold apparently is of Dutch rather than Scotch origin.

Rat Poison Available On Thursday, Friday

Reminder that distribution of free rat poison is not scheduled until Thursday and Friday was given at the city hall this morning.

Since the announcement that the "red squill" poison is to be distributed for use in residential areas, calls have been frequent at the city hall, officials said. But, as the announcement said, the poison won't be ready until Thursday or Friday.

On those days, however, packages may be obtained from a storeroom toward the back of the first floor hallway. Each package will contain instructions on how to use the poison. Pete Bentley will be in charge of the distribution from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 until 5 p. m. during the two days, or as long as the poison lasts.

The distribution will close the rat eradication campaign which has been in progress under Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsorship the past several weeks. Red squill is described as being harmless to pets and humans.

Today, with the eyes of the world upon us,

THE FOURTH WAR LOAN

IS LAUNCHED!

TODAY, the 18th of January, America's Fourth War Loan starts.

It is the largest of all war loans in terms of individual participation—in the amount you must dig down for.

And—it is, perhaps, the most important of all War Loans. For it comes at a time when the eyes of all the world are upon us; the eyes of our friends, the eyes of our enemies, the eyes of our own fighting men.

We have just entered the crucial year of the war, a year of destiny, a year that promises to decide how good or bad a world we'll have to live in all the rest of our lives. And the world is wondering how deeply we mean it when we promise our men we'll back their attack, and when we promise our Allies we'll stick with them not only through the winning of the war but through the winning of the peace as well.

The Fourth War Loan is the home front's first big test of this new and vital year. It will take unity and determination of will of all the people to make the Loan succeed.

The need for this and other War Loans should be clear to every American. This war is the costliest effort ever undertaken by any country. It costs 250 million dollars each day. This is just the cost of the war, in addition to the regular, inescapable cost of running a great and huge country. Taxes can't take care of all this outgo. Neither can government borrowing from insurance companies, savings banks, corporations, and other large investors. It is necessary to turn to the people, their weekly wages, their savings accounts, the money tucked away in pantry sugar bowls, in socks, under mattresses.

This is as it should be. In a democracy, war is the business of all the people. Some must fight, some must work and put up the money.

It's the only way to raise the money. It's also the right way to raise the money. It gives you a good place to invest the extra money you have today. It's a curb on inflation, on that dangerous bulk of pocket money that leads to black markets and disastrous spending. It's a mattress for tomorrow, a sort of individually planned Social Security that will bring in welcome money in the years ahead when income might not be the Mississippi flood it is today.

These last are not the reasons for the Loans. They are extra reasons, however, over and above the $1 interest you get on every $3 you invest. The fundamental reason for the Fourth War Loan is that your beloved America, at war and in danger, needs your help!

Every one who has a job or savings, should invest at least $100—if possible, $200, $300, or $500 extra. Some 5,000,000 Americans, volunteers, will be working to sell these Bonds. One of these volunteers will ask you to buy, where you work, at your home, or some other place. If by some chance, you're missed, find out where to buy and buy on your own.

The place where you work will have a quota. That's where you should make your major investment. That's where your personal quota really counts.

But...

The place you live also has a quota. Try to invest there, too. Other people will ask you. Salespeople, in retail stores, have volunteered to help and have an individual quota. If they ask you to buy, try to buy from them, too. Movie theaters, restaurants, schools, banks, postoffices, and many other places also will be selling bonds.

The Fourth Loan is a test of us as a nation.

The eyes of our fighting men are upon us to see if we are backing them.

. . . The eyes of our Allies are upon us to see if we are with them.

. . . The eyes of our enemies are upon us to see if we are soft enough to fall for a non-victorious, here-today-gone-tomorrow peace . . .

Are we? The answer is in your pocket!

Let's all BACK THE ATTACK!

Oratory In American Congress Is Said Practically Extinct

BY JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 — It's debatable, but a man said today with a straight face: "Oratory is practically extinct in Congress."

For 45 years the man has been one of the dozen official reporters (stenographers) taking down in shorthand every word in Congress.

But he meant only that the purple passages are getting scarce as buffalo meat, not the wordage.

There's quite a lot of wordage. Every normal day Congress manages to fill its Congressional Record with enough words, about 150,000, for a novel.

Quite A Publishing Bill

There's quite a publishing bill, too. The record costs Uncle Sam $750,000 yearly for the 41,500 copies printed every day Congress meets.

All this doesn't mean congressmen talk 150,000 words daily. But they get that many into the record one way or another.

They argue, denounce, eulogize, fight, defend and attack. They read editorials, telegrams and letters that please or annoy them and these are always good for a few words at the beginning and end.

Various Charts And Tables

They turn over various charts and tables to the stenographers for inclusion in the record with what they say. And then—then there's a thing called the "appendix" at the end of the record, about as big as the record itself.

Nothing said on the floor goes into the appendix which is a receptable for remarks congressmen didn't finish making on the floor; for speeches they made somewhere else; for speeches somebody else made somewhere else; for editorials, letters and telegrams; for somebody's speech about somebody nobody in Washington ever heard of except the congressman including it in the appendix; or maybe only praise of a book somebody wrote about the congressman's home city or state.

1,500 Words To Page

There are about 1,500 words to a page, each pag costing between $45 and $50. A congreessman asks consent of all the other congressmen—and never seems not to get it—to include what he wants in the appendix.

There's no fuss if the material doesn't run over two pages, which costs $90 to $100. It's a rule no congressman can exceed two pages without special arrangement.

The rule was laid down several years ago when a congressman slipped in $1,600 worth of copy in the appendix before anyone knew it.

J. R. Ross, Pioneer Vernon Citizen, Dies

VERNON, Jan. 18 (AP)—J. R. Ross, 91, a native of Georgia who came to Wilbarger county in 1889, died at his home here Monday after a lengthy illness.

Survivors include a son, Charles, editor of the Vernon Times; another son, J. B., First State bank vice-president; two other sons, A. S. and H. A. of Vernon and three daughters, Mrs. Hattie Turner of Chillicothe and Mrs. A. E. Sears and Miss Maude Ross of Vernon.

Raiders, Lobos To Play Saturday Night

Tech Pins Hopes On Three Hotshots

Three hotshots will carry the hopes of the Texas Tech Red Raiders Saturday night in the scheduled cage battle with the New Mexico Lobos in the only meeting here of Border conference foes.

Much of the hopes of the Red Raiders will ride on the shoulder of Don Grove, Nolan Weeks and Delbert Cooper, the first and last of these are New Mexico lads from Monument while Weeks hails from Fort Worth.

The race between Grove and Weeks for the scoring honors on the Red Raiders has been a close battle all season with Grove at present holding an advantage over Weeks with a 104 point total to 93 for the Texan. Both lads have accounted for 38 field goals, but Grove holds his edge in free throws.

Cooper has dropped in 20 field goals and four free tosses for 44 points to rank third in the scoring race.

New Mexico has lost only two games this season, dropping a one-point affair to Colorado in a wild battle that saw the Colorado five win on a final second field goal. The other was the season's opener with Kirtland Field.

The Lobos have since beaten Kritland Field twice, getting the second win Saturday night by a 46 to 39 margin. New Mexico is reported to have a number of stars with major basketball experience, and transplanted at New Mexico in the Naval training program.

Tickets for the game will go on sale Saturday morning at the Tech athletic office. Soldiers and their wives will be admitted for 25 cents each, general admission is 50 cents.

Byron Nelson Wins San Francisco Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18 (AP)—Byron Nelson, often described as the best golfer in the country, was back in the winner's circle today with $2400 worth of war bonds in his pocket and the title of 1944 champion of the San Francisco victory open tournament.

The Toledo, O., crackshot, former national open and professional golfers' association kingpin, knocked out a 13-under par 275 to win the 72-hole tournament which concluded yesterday.

He finished six strokes ahead of his running mate and chief rival, Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Philadelphia who racked up three successive rounds of 70 and fired a final 71 for a total of 281—seven under par for the route.

Westerners Invade Lamesa For Double Cage Bill Tonight

The Lubbock Westerners move into Lamesa tonight to continue the basketball warfare between the two schools. The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes of Coach Volney Hill will be shooting the works to atone for a double setback suffered at Lubbock last week.

Coach Dixie White said Monday night that he would start Cope and Crawford at forwards, Manderson at center, Moore and his B team starters will probably be Grimes, Price, Laxon, Walker and Lindsey.

The Westerner A team won a 50-32 victory over Lamesa in the first meeting of the two clubs here while Johnny Pearson brought a close 28-27 win for the B team with a field goal in the last 13 seconds of the ball game.

The Westerners are expecting plenty of trouble in repeating the double win enjoyed here, and with the Lamesa lads on their home court the game is expected to develop into a real battle.

Just what men Coach Hill will start had not been announced here, but his starters are expected to be much the same lineups as he used in the games in Lubbock.

The only other game on the schedule for the week for the Westerners is Friday night's battle here with the Plainview Bulldogs for the second game of the playoff for the Southhalf championship of District 1-AA.

The Westerners gained an early advantage in this series with a 25 to 15 victory over the Bulldogs last Friday at Plainview, and will face a team here Friday night that will be battling to even the count.

College Mentor Plans To Coach Schoolboys

HUNTSVILLE, Jan. 18 (AP) — Because football has been discontinued for the duration at Sam Houston State Teachers college and Coach Floyd Bounds has accepted a commission as ensign in the U. S. Navy, the Huntsville High School Hornets may be the only high school football team in Texas to receive the tutelage of a college football coach next season.

When spring training gets under way, and on through next football season, the Hornets will be coached by no less a personage than T. F. (Puny) Wilson, Sam Houston director of athletics, who has agreed to take over the high school coaching duties.

CHAMPIONS WARMED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17. (U.P.)—Abe J. Greene, president of the National Boxing association, warned champions Sammy Angott and Phil Terranova today that their titles will be vacated unless they arrange within the next month to defend them against "worthy contenders."

SPAAF Boxers Set For 'Gloves'

Army Fighters To Enter Tourney

Leather slinging took the sports spotlight at South Plains Army Air field today and the district Golden Gloves tourney at Texas Tech gym Feb. 3, 4 and 5 received a hefty boost when plans were announced for SPAAF entries to participate in the annual boxing tourney.

Official sanction for AAF Training command personnel to participate in Golden Gloves tournaments has been received at the big glider pilot training center.

Capt. Nathan B. Eubank, athletic officer at the field, and S/Sgt. Bob Rings, trainer of the SPAAF boxers, announced that six men already were all set to make a bid for ring honors and that several other hopefuls were working out.

The AAF leather merchants already set for action include a heavyweight, two middleweights, a welterweight and two lightweights. Some have had enough experience to be called veterans, others are rank amateurs ready to step in and make their bid.

Sgt Clyde Jones of Perryton, Texas, is the heavyweight prospect. Jones won the state TAAF title in Abilene in 1938 as a light heavy and added the All Service Southwestern title in 1941.

The two middleweights include Sgt. Kenneth Young of Jersey City, N. J., and Sgt. Ernie McGarrity, former all 'round Tennessee university athletic standout.

Pfc. Ardis Ward, a confident 147-pound welterweight, who looks impressive in workouts, hails from Salt Lake City, Utah. He won the Inter Mountain States lightweight AAU title in 1941, has had 50 fights, lost only eight of them. He is a full fledged welter now.

Pfc. Milton Papps will carry SPAAF's and New York City's colors into the tournament as a lightweight. His experience was gained in amateur clubs in Gotham, has two years experience back of him.

Sgt. Jack Dugan is the other lightweight contender, hails from Philadelphia where he fought about 40 amateur bouts, winning about 75 per cent of them.

"These are only the starters. We should have several other promising contenders," Sgt. Rings, former ranking middleweight, said as he sent the men through their training paces. Rings, who hails from Detroit, Mich., won the Michigan state Golden Gloves title two years in a row, was national runner-up in 1935, has 147 amateur and pro fights, is aiding the SPAAF team materially with his valuable experience.

Tickets will be printed this week, Morley Jennings, tournament director announced yesterday. Prices for the tournament will be 50 cents for general admission soldiers tickets, or the soldier can bring his "date" for the same price (total of one dollar for couple), civilian general admission tickets will be 75 cents and ringside seats for all fans are $1.10. These prices include tax.

Tech Engineers, Fast-Scoring SPAAF Five To Clash Tonight

The Lubbock basketball league will again take the cage spotlight tonight at the Texas Tech gym with the Army Engineers of Texas Tech clashing with the South Plains Army Air field's point-a-minute five at 7 o'clock. It will be the league opener for SPAAF and the second game for the Engineers who lost last week to LAAF.

The game tonight promises to develop into a scoring duel between SPAAF's All-American, Leason McCloud from Colorado, and John Kline, another top notcher from Ohio University and the Engineer stars of Reinecke and Bailey, with the Techsans boasting of a third threat in Booth.

Reinecke, a product of Wooster Tech in Wooster, Mass., and Bailey from Southern California, have been the top aces of the Engineers all through the early season games, but in the league opener last week with Lubbock Army Air Field, Booth grabbed the league scoring lead and looms as a top ranking star of the loop.

The probable starters for the game will find SPAAF starting McCloud and Kline at forwards, Conley at center, with Edwards and Kalfain at guards. The Techsans listed a probable starting lineup of Lenahan and Bailey at forwards, Booth at center, with Reinecke and Kooi at guards.

Both clubs have some strong reserve strength to back up the starting fives, and both are reported to be in top shape for the battle tonight. This will be the third meeting between the two teams, and the rubber game of the series. It will be the first meeting of the teams in the league, and the opener for SPAAF while the Engineers lost their lone start by one point to LAAF last week.

In the two meetings, the Engineers won the first game early in the season by a 47 to 39 margin over the Fliers. Less than two weeks ago, the Winged Commandos evened the count with a 58 to 43 win.

League play will be continued Thursday at SPAAF with the Commandos playing hosts to the LAAF Fliers and again Saturday with the Engineers moving into LAAF for a chance to even the league series with the Fliers

INDOOR TRACK MEET

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — Five champions will defend their titles here Saturday night in the metropolitan AAU senior indoor track championships. They are: Eddie Conwell in the 60-yard dash; Jim Herbert, 600-yard; Jim Rafferty, mile; Harold Mayes, broad jump; and Bernie Mayer, shotput. Other leading entries include Ensign Ollie Hunter in the two-mile and Bill Hulse in the mile.

A plastic that can be kneaded and used to plug leaks in life boats has been invented.

84th Defeats Finance Five

Bruce Prior Leads Undefeated 84th

The 84th Air Base Squadron remained undefeated in the Lubbock Army Air field squadron cage league last night as Bruce Prior led the unbeaten 84th to a 56 to 29 victory over the third lace Finance Deartment club.

Prior ran his season's scoring record in the league to a high 120 points in six games as the 84th hung up it's sixth straight league win. Prior accounted for 24 of these points, while Dixon accounted for 13 for runnerup honors and give the pair a total of 37 points between them.

The winners held a 32-to-11 lead at the halfway mark.

Outstanding players with the losers were McNelly and Wagner.

The second place 498th Squadron five kept pace with the leaders by turning in a 53-to-21 win over the Medical Detachment five with Sellers and Harris pacing the winners to the victory. Sellers retained his third place rating in the scoring race by dropping in 18 points while Harris accounted for 15 more. Foll paced the Medics with 10 points while Hanson and Starburck also turned in some good play. The winners held a 27-to-12 lead at the halftime.

The 495th Squadron cagers moved into undisputed third place in the race by romping to a 51-to-26 victory over the 1017 Guard Squadron five, handing the Guardsmen their seventh straight loss in a row. The winners piled up a 29-to-9 halftime lead, then coasted in with the win.

Elrod continued to hold the runnerup post in the scoring race by dropping in 17 points for a league total of 99 points while his team mate, Grieser dropped in 13 points to move into fourth place in the scoring race with 75 points.

Fouling-Out Rule To Be Changed As An Experiment In DePaul-Marquette Game

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (AP) — Four personal fouls will mean nothing more than a three minute rest instead of the showers when DePaul and Marquette basketball teams clash here Friday night.

The rival coaches—Ray Meyer of DePaul and Bill Chandler of Marquette—have agreed to suspend the long standing rule disqualifying a player with four fouls and substitute for experimental purposes the three minute penalty idea.

It will be the first test of a plan advocated by Chandler for some time. He contends its adoption would enliven the game for spectators.

"After the fourth foul has been called on a player," the hilltop mentor explained, "he will be required to sit on the bench for a period of three minutes before becoming eligible to return to the game. On every foul thereafter, he also will have to sit it out for three minutes before returning."

Unlike the hockey rule which leaves the penalized player's team short-handed, Chandler's proposal permits a substitute to replace the bench-bound player.

The whole idea, Chandler points out, is to give the aggressive player a better break and thereby make the game more interesting. Under the present rule, he argues, a player with three fouls is inclined to become extremely cautious and lose aggressiveness because of the eviction threat. With merely a three minute penalty term facing him, the player would be encouraged to continue, full steam ahead.

WANTS BASEBALL RESUMED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 18 (AP)—C. R. Virtue, vice president of the Oklahoma City Indians, said today he and other officials of the club would lead a fight for resumption of Texas league baseball activity at a meeting next month at Dallas.

Two Soldiers Killed, Four Hurt In Crash

POCATELLO, Idaho, Jan. 18 (AP)—Two soldiers were killed and four injured when a four-motored Army bomber crashed in a take-off at the Pocatello air base Sunday night.

Four other crew members escaped injury, Lt. Col. Marshall Bonner, station commandant, said today.

The dead: Sec. Lt. Isadore Kampel, New York Citl; Sgt. Leon C. Gillum, Olyphant, Ark.

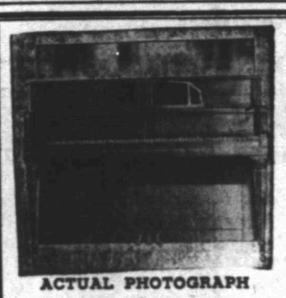

Those injured but reported "satisfactory" at the base hospital included Sgt. Weldon H. McQueary of Perrin, Tex.

Only one life was lost in every 4,000,000 passanegrs carried on ocean-going vessels in the fiscal year of 1931.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR
She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SIGNS - OF - THE - TIMES: The government already has begun to dispose of millions of dollars worth of surplus war materials of various kinds, although it is continuing to buy heavily in other lines. Especially is Uncle Sam letting loose construction equipment, building materials, some types of machinery, tools, plumbing and heating supplies as well as some metals which can be converted into civilian goods.

Recently, sales of these materials have averaged as high a $2,000,000 per month and appear now to be increasing.

This doesn't mean the war is won, but it does mean that as a producer, the U. S. is the finest the world has ever seen.

SOMETIMES we humans can look back over our actions in a particular regard and get a good deal of satisfaction out of it.

But very frequently what we see in the light of developments causes a guilty feeling; sometimes a wave of shame.

In the latter category, we think, is—or should be — the general reaction of South Plainsmen as they recall their moans and groans over rationing and then compare their attitude with their actual experiences under price and consumption controls.

Perhaps The Plainsman doesn't know the right people. But, whether or not, he does not know a single person who has been irreparably—or even seriously—hurt by the run of war's necessitated control of foods, gasoline, tires, automobiles, etc.

It is entirely possible — even probable — that some traveling salesmen have been irreparably injured, although those we know are still carrying on and getting along someway, somehow.

It is entirely possible that some commercial truckers likewise have taken some jolts from which they cannot recover. Maybe there are a few others, in other categories, who have been badly hurt.

But by and large, the great rank and file of us are doing all right. Certainly, from a food standpoint —and that is the most important angle—the most of us hollered before we were hurt. In fact, we aren't hurt yet, and some of us are still hollering.

We Americans, as a nation, are great fadists.

We have to be hysterically interested in, for, or against something in order to be happy.

When we don't have something like a nation-wide epidemic of flagpole sitting, or goldfish gulping, to capture our fancy and conversation, we have to have something else to break the monotony of every-day living. Frequently we have to resort to a "whipping boy" to avoid complete boredom.

It seems to The Plainsman that the subject of wartime controls in general, and the Office of Price Administration, in particular, has become our national whipping boy—the plate to smash, or the chair to kick, when we become out of sorts.

The raw truth is that if we hadn't some sort of wartime control, if we didn't have the OPA or something like it by another name, we'd be in a hell of a fix.

THE OPA, at its inception and for too many months thereafter, was a mess. The men at the top in many instances were theorists, political opportunists, or both.

They were typical, in thought and action, of the newspaper cartoonists' New Dealer, crossed eyes, mortar-board caps, academic gowns and all.

They made a lot of mistakes. Too many mistakes. And especially in the matters of forms and red tape and ignorance of the needs of various segments of the populations, the early-day OPA-ers were thoroughly illogical and irritating.

Yet the problem of wartime control is and was such a broad thing, so all-encompassing, that even if OPA had started out in the hands of the smartest and most practical men in all the land there still would have been many unavoidable mistakes and errors which time and experience, alone, could iron out.

There wouldn't have been as many "busts" as there were, of course. But there would have been plenty—enough to rile us all, temporarily, at least.

But let's be fair. Let's admit the truth.

That truth is that the OPA setup of today, while not yet perfect, is certainly greatly improved. Furthermore, the agency in recent months has been doing a good job in an exceedingly difficult field.

Most of OPA's high command today is an intelligent, hardworking outfit. Gone are the tap-dancers, most of the screwball "economists," the hot-eyed young theorists from Harvard and Columbia; and most of the rest of the tatterdemalion, sorry crew so near and dear to the administration's Left Wing which would attempt to run the lives of 130,000,000 people with a slide rule.

From the top down to the rank and file, OPA has been reworked and reorganized until it is filling the bill about as well as it can be expected to fill it.

Oh, OPA will never be popular. It wouldn't be popular if its name were changed to the XYZ, or the PDQ, or the "Win the War" agency—to borrow a leaf from the notebook of the world's smartest politician.

No agency which has to say "no" to the whole country at one time or another; no agency which has to keep things away from people—even for their own good—can ever be popular, because the people must have a "whipping boy."

But in its operations now, OPA — the cursed, kicked, abused and derided OPA—is doing a good job for us; a job which has to be done for us to avoid inequalities on home and fighting fronts, alike.

Let's be fair and admit it.

WE Americans, praise the Lord, don't like to be regimented. We don't like to be told what we can do and can't do; what we can buy and what we can't. Let's hope Americans never learn to like that sort of thing, because if they do—in large numbers—their freedom will disappear.

Certainly all the regimentation to which we are subjected—that which is now needed and that which isn't—must be kicked out of the window at the earliest possible moment, along with all those officials who seek to continue it for their own, selfish reasons.

But some of the people who have wailed the loudest against essential wartime controls would be going hungry these days, if it were not for essential controls. Others would be walking, instead of riding, and still others would be out of business or jobs.

Let's remember all, this next time we find ourselves in a circle of friends giving vent to their woes, real or imaginary. Let's remember that castor oil always tastes bad, but, even so, taking it helps us to avoid something a whole lot more serious.

Ask yourself these questions, and honestly answer them:

"Just how much have I been hurt by wartime controls?" And, "How badly would I have been hurt if we'd had none?"

"Who do I know who has been hurt by wartime controls?" And, "Isn't it an absolute fact that if we had had no wartime controls, our war effort—on the fighting fronts, themselves—would be badly handicapped?"

In the light of these questions and their unavoidable answers, it's silly for well clothed, well housed, well fed people to do a lot of the talking they do.

Now, honestly, isn't it?

JIM ASKS ADVICE

CHAPTER XXV

Mrs. Edgar had ways . . . and means. Mrs. Edgar expected to be chairman of the board during the coming year. The present chairman wished to retire, Mrs. Edgar could bring influence to bear. The organization would not willingly dismiss a trusted and valuable nurse but in order to keep the peace, which meant its very lifeblood, it might see fit to remover her, and to see, in compensation, that she obtained a like position in another city.

Frank was remembering this, sitting on the porch with Emily.

"Just what is it she's to get over?" Emily demanded.

He said uncomfortably:

"That business about typhoid in the mill district and the houses on Elderberry street."

'If you were half a man," she said with energy, "you'd look into things, yourself. You're supposed to hold a responsible position in the mills and you'll inherit the Elderberry block eventually."

He said, "But look here, Emily . . ."

"Oh, I know. None of my business . . ." she said furiously. "It pleases your mother to dominate welfare boards in this town, to give large sums of money publicly . . . she could expend the same sums on bettering the conditions of her employes and her tenants but she'd get no publicity, I suppose."

He took her hands and held them fast. He said, eagerly:

"If you'll marry me . . . I swear it, Emily. I'll see you have evrything you want. What if she does cut up rough at first? It won't be for long. I'm her only child. We can slip away and—"

"Oh," said Emily, "so I'm not to have a church wedding? She's told you that you aren't to marry me, has she?"

He muttered. "She can't stay mad forever," and Emily burst out laughing.

"You're a spoiled kid," she said, with exasperated affection, "and for about the eighth time, I won't marry you."

He said, sulkily:

"I won't ask you again."

There went her "influence," she thought, watching him stamp down the steps. How excessively childish she had been, almost as childish as Frank, to think that with the best will in the world he could do anything for her . . .

She was still laughing when Jim drove in and seeing her, he waved and later came up the steps to sit in the swing beside her.

"How are things?"

"Perfectly wonderful."

He said, "That sounds as though you'd had a lover's quarrel with young Mr. Edgar."

"We quarreled," she said, "further than that deponent sayeth not. Where's Nancy? She's usually with you on your early calls."

'I haven't seen her since supper, she told me she was going out somewhere. She took your mother's car."

He was silent a moment.

"Where have you been?"

"A call. Your father took office hours. I'll go relieve him now."

"You sound tired."

"I am. I was up half the night, but it won't kill me. Emily, I want your advice."

Her heart began to hammer and her hands grew cold but she asked, quietly:

"Well . . . ?"

"It's about Nancy" He added sheepishly, "I'm afraid I've fallen for her."

"No one would blame you," she said after a moment.

"I know. But it's all pretty muddled. She doesn't give a damn for me, not really, I know that. She's just unhappy and—" he caught himself up, as if he felt he were about to betray a confidence.

"She's told you about Drew Warner?"

"Yes. I'd like to wring his neck!"

"It wouldn't further your cause," said Emily gently.

"I suppose not, but he must be a damned scoundrel."

Emily asked after a minute, "You're terribly in love with her, aren't you?"

He turned so that he faced her. He said:

"I'm damned if I know. I know this is according to the books . . . when I'm with her, yes, I suppose I am. But— Oh, I suppose it's partly the way Nancy talks. How she couldn't bear being married to a doctor—my sort of doctor—"

"Then you have asked her to marry you?" Emily said, slowly.

"No. But—well, last night she said that she was sure I could make a go of things if I went back to Boston and tried to get a job as an assistant to someone with a name . . . and then eventually, specialize—" He laughed shortly. "She's just warning me, that's all."

"I can't advise you," said Emily.

He said, "The trouble is, I don't trust her. Don't misunderstand me. Part of the time I think she's fine and serious and gentle under that crazy, flibbertigibbet exterior. I know she can't be as hard and unkind as she pretends to be. The rest of the time I wonder if I'm making a fool of myself. You," he said, "you could tell me."

Could she? Should she say,

"You're right, under the veneer she's alive and sensitive and sweet?" Or should she say nothing, and let him believe . . . ? If he really believed that there was nothing more to Nancy but the surface, the physical attraction, if he were convinced that her roots were shallow, and her easy cynicism a true part of her, he would be cured. He was, she thought unhappily, a sentimentalist, like most men.

If she—let him be cured, and she could do so without a disloyal word, might he not turn to her after a time for sympathy and understanding, and if he did turn to her . . . ?

THE DEATH OF JIM KILPATRICK

It always is a blow to any community to lose a man like James I. Kilpatrick, whose death occurred unexpectedly yesterday morning. No community ever can have enough such men.

Lubbock has had few citizens who have been as genuinely civic-minded as was Jim Kilpatrick. If there has been a single undertaking for community advancement during his long residence in Lubbock in which he did not have an active working part, it does not come to mind. Naturally inclined to be quiet and self-effacing, his efforts often escaped public attention. But, as those behind the scenes did appreciate, Jim Kilpatrick could be counted upon to do the irksome jobs that many others might shun.

In this connection, many of his fellow citizens may not remember that Mr. Kilpatrick was the chairman of the first committee which, several ears ago, set in motion the movement that has evolved into an important and steady growing city-wide recreation project.

It would be impossible, even if long space was available, to mention in detail the activities with which his name is associated in his community, his church and the legal profession. But all have been services of outstanding distinction.

They will stand as enduring monuments to the memory of a useful Christian life.

PORTRAIT of a Man Tripping Bores: The ax-grinders have moved into the newsreels . . . Lately nobody expects much news in the newsreels, since most of the footage is devoted to cartoons, fashions, freak kodakery and comedy atrocious enough to give radio a swelled head . . . There are a lot of commentators, too, some sizing up the war as honestly as they know how, and others who plug this and slug that, according to the whims of the outfit that pays them . . . Most of the spielage is slanted like the Grand Central ramp.

The sponsors of the morale-weakening reels must figure the news program is a safe spot to work from . . . Nobody pays much attention to the shorts. The reviewers from the dailies never cover them — anyway, hardly ever. They sprint for the exits after the feature picture, and usually they catch that in the projection room . . . The exhibitor can't play copper on the newsies either, since he's kind of up against it to take what's handed to him. He never knows what makes it stink until he hears the hisses among the decent element in his audience . . . But even hissing can't do it much harm. That's drowned out by the narrator — of whom there seem to be a number who will voice any kind of fifth column poison for the right number of dollars. They figure there won't be any repercussion — since lots of movie fans never get out of their semi-conscious state anyway and regard the news shots, so-called, as necessary evils between glimpses of Abbott and Costello and Betty Grable.

WINCHELL

THE birds-of-a-feather routine which got Adolf and Benito into the same sister act is being repeated in South America . . . Argentina, which is wearing all the Axis' discarded finery, was the first to kiss Bolivia when the latter country tossed aside its gov't and took up the hoodlumism that's called Fascism . . . That had one good result. Some of the American dailies, which burn too slowly, took one look at the new Axis and decided it was too sour for democratic stomachs. The Times, which certainly hasn't a trigger temper, pointed out that Ramirez' Fascist regime is prospering on coin from Allied purchases, mainly what Britain spends for beef . . . The paper winds up its editorial with a jab at the State Dep't that even the needs of wartime are no excuse for lining the pockets of a country that's out to get us . . . Our armies have proved in Europe that the best way to put the dictator states in line is to slap their ears down. They eat appeasement for breakfast and get fat on it.

It's worth a thought that on the day the gov't announced the indictment of 30 persons, including some of the most detestable Nazi-lovers of all, Germany began to shiver with fear of the prisoners in its own country . . . They know how much hell can be raised by foes within their gates. They know that these 12,000,000 enslaved laborers from other lands are going to get hunk when liberation comes . . . Our FBI and conscientious officials also know how dangerous it is to have enemies running around loose. So that's why, this time, the raps against the 30 are full of sharp teeth. The asstriches and lunatic fringers who cried their pretty eyes out because the USA got so stuffy about such a little thing as treason will have to think fast to find an excuse for these indictments . . . By this time they know, too, how dangerous it is to have haters in our midst. The reason they know is that they've read it in the news from Berlin.

THAT smoke you smell comes from some of the editorial rooms where the editors' hot necks set their collars afire. The big burn is over the banning of Esquire from the mails by Postmaster General Walker. Esquire means very little to your magthumber, who heard its one gag before it became that monthly's policy, but he thinks Mr. Walker blew one when he overruled his own judges to convict the periodical. That's kangaroo court stuff . . . But the big laugh of the incident, as hinted, is the red hot collars. The old howl about destroying the freedom of the press has gone up from editors and dailies which can't work up a sweat when somebody besides the Administration tampers with the freedom . . . Mr. Walker is an Administration guy—so he gets the boots.

A Possible but Most Improbable Millennium

Meet Sgt. Jack Foisie, Best Of The Soldier Reporters

Former New Mexican GI's Top Newspaperman

By ERNIE PYLE

Journal War Correspondent

IN ITALY, Jan. 18. (By Wireless) —The Stars & Stripes in the last war had many men on its staff who later broke into great prominence in the literary and magazine world. It is too early yet to tell what the various Army newspapers throughout the world in this war will produce, but we have a couple of likely candidates over here.

ERNIE PYLE

Soldiers and correspondents both would cast a willing vote for them right now. One is a reporter, the other a cartoonist. The reporter is Sergt. Jack Foisle of Berkeley, Cal.; the cartoonist is Sergt. Bill Mauldin of Phoenix, Ariz.

Both are very young, both are quiet and earnest, both have native talent, and both have the ephemeral and uncultivated ability to express the soldiers' viewpoint.

Sergeant Foisie has been on the staff of Stars & Stripes only since the invasion of Italy last July, yet already he is the man for whom the paper gets the most requests from units that want somebody to write about them.

Wrote Home For Practice

Foisie has been overseas almost 15 months. Before transferring to the Stars & Stripes he was in a tank-destroyer unit. He drove a half-track and ran a 50-caliber machine gun.

He fought all through Tunisia. He was never wounded, but in the Battle of Sidi bou Zid last February he lost his half-track by a hit from an 88-mm cannon. Along with it he lost everything he had, including his portable typewriter.

Before the war, Foisie was a reporter on The San Francisco Chronicle. When he went into the Army he was determined not to lose the writing touch, so he brought his typewriter with him and wrote scads of letters to the folks back home, just to keep his hand in.

He says his folks can't understand how he could write them so often when he was in combat and is so bad about writing now that he has a quieter job. The answer is, of course, that he doesn't have to write letters for practice any more.

TOWARD the end of the Tunisian campaign Jack wrote to Stars & Stripes and asked if there were any chance of getting on the staff. Capt. Bob Neville, the editor, wrote back a two-word letter:

"Why not?"

Jack thought he was being facetious and supposed that was the end of it. But 10 days later here came official transfer papers with travel orders calling for transportation by airplane.

This airplane business so astounded and impressed Jack's company commander that he cleaned up, put on his dress blouse for the first time in Africa, and personally drove Jack the 50 miles to the nearest airdrome to see him off.

Has Confidence Now

Among correspondents Foisie has a reputation of always being willing to go anywhere and do anything. But he is shy, and for months kept in the background, just filling his job and saying nothing. Now that he knows everybody he jokes and kids as much as the rest.

When I first knew him, last summer in Sicily, he had a fairly marked hesitation in his speech. But on rejoining him in Italy I noticed that it was gone. I spoke to him about it and he said he thought it was because he had gained more confidence in himself.

ALTHOUGH he is a good soldier, Foisie went up and down in rank six or eight times before joining Stars & Stripes, due largely to the whims of various commanders.

His ups and downs destroyed all his regard for rank and now he truly doesn't care wheher he's private, sergeant or lieutenant. He actually argued against it when they made him a sergeant on Stars & Stripes, and wouldn't wear his chevrons until forced to.

Jack Foisie is 24. He is a darkish blond, with hair starting to thin in spots. He has a big chin, and his eyes are set back in his head, giving him the appearance of looking out of two narrow slits. He is left-handed, does not smoke, and is of French extraction but speaks little French.

He was borne and raised in Seattle and went to the University of Washington for two years —until his folks moved to Berkeley. His father is Frank P. Foisie, head of the waterfront employers of the Pacific Coast, which means he's the man who sits across the table and argues with Harry Bridges.

Has Two Ambitions

After the war Jack has two ambitions — to finish school and to get married. The marriage business comes first. Her name is Florence McTighe and she lives in Trenton, N. J. The big question will be how to make a Californian out of her.

Foisie has lived a rugged life both as a combat soldier and as a reporter. Recently he has been on special assignment, living in town and making trips out to the airfield by jeep. He has found it interesting but is beginning to be a little frightened.

"I'm getting soft," he said. "The life is too nice. It would be better to be back at the front, living with doughboys and writing about them."

Tomorrow we'll tell about Bill Mauldin, the cartoonist.

The planets shine in the sky because they reflect the light of the sun.

Out of the Sea comes
• STRENGTH
• STAMINA
• POWER

The sea is our richest source of animal proteins, vitamins and minerals which livestock must have to be healthy, productive and fast-growing.

STANTON'S 19% LAYING MASH

brings these vital elements straight from the sea and puts them to work in your poultry yard This fine feed, milled right here in Lubbock, contains ManAmar and B-G Plus, blended with our local-grown grains into a feed especially adapted to the needs of West Texas feeders.

B-G PLUS

is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash.

MANAMAR

in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials — fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "Complex."

ManAmar and B-G Plus have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Philip R. Park, famed livestock nutrition authority. These laboratories have approved the formula for Stanton's 18% Laying Mash. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

Kilpatrick Funeral Set For Wednesday

Funeral services for James I. Kilpatrick, Lubbock attorney, who died suddenly Monday after a stroke of paralysis, will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church with Rev. John A. Winslow officiating.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral home.

Kilpatrick's brother, Robert A. Kilpatrick of Cleburne, arrived in Lubbock this morning and the former's two sons, who are stationed in Maryland, Cpl. James I. Kilpatrick, III, of the Army, and David Kilpatrick, a student in the Navy, are expected to arrive this afternoon, the family said.

Pallbearers will include Roy Furr, Jack Parsons, Edgar Lewis, Roy Riddel, I. C. Enochs, T. E. Wiesen, J. O. Ellsworth and R. J. Allen.

Honorary pallbearers will be E. L. Klett, Jack M. Randal, Walter Alderson, R. E. Ponce, C. C. Schmidt, S. E. Cone, W. L. Bradshaw, W. S. Posey, J. L. Quicksall, Cecil Horne, Hugh Fields, Homer Grant, George Benson, W. T. Gaston, R. H. Fulton, Dr. Fred Sparks, Dr. Clifford B. Jones, Dr. Sam Dunn, Dr. F. W. Standefer, all members of Lubbock Bar association, and Dan Ferguson of Dallas, W. R. Walker of Cleburne and Herman Pipkin of Amarillo.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

BUYING STEADIES MARKET
NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — Belated buying in the rails, coincident with submission of the non-operating unions' wage agreement to Stabilization Director Vinson, steadied today's stock market after an early sluggish sell-off had put leaders down fractions to a point or so.
The downward drift in the morning was attributed partly to Wall Street's concentration on the big war loan drive. There also was profit-taking by customers who feared something was "in the wind" because of the Moscow rumor of British-German peace talks and thoughts of possible Allied disunity over the Russian-Polish row.
Transfers for the full proceedings approximated 700,000 shares.
Prominent on the comeback were Illinois Central, Delaware & Hudson, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich and J. I. Case. Decliners most of the time were General Motor, Chrysler, Westinghouse, General Electric, Douglas Aircraft, Eastman Kodak, Dupont, Sears Roebuck, J. C. Penney.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP) — Independent strength in the March delivery dominated an otherwise quiet trade in cotton today. Short covering and trade and mill buying boosted the spot position 80 cents a bale.
Futures closed 10 to 30 cents a bale higher.

made no mention of the situation in lower White Russia, where Gen. Konstantin Rokossovsky's forces were last reported battling their way through the frozen Pripet marshland toward Pinsk, 100 miles to the west. Advance columns of Vatutin's right wing, meanwhile, operating out of Sarny to the north along the Horyn river, were said to be within 47 miles of Pinsk.

In the lower Ukraine, Vatutin's left wing repulsed fierce German counter-attacks yesterday, the Soviet bulletin said.

The communique reported that on all fronts yesterday 2,300 Germans were killed.

Subsidy Showdown Is Said Impossible

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP) — Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) said flatly today that a compromise on the subsidy issue is impossible and that "the only thing to do is to bring the problem on to the Senate floor — and let the chips fall where they may."

Bankhead is a leader of the move in the Senate to ban federal payments which are aimed at holding down retail food prices. Price Administrator Bowles has said that if subsidies are outlawed, food costs will rise about seven per cent immediately and that this trend might lead to inflation.

The House has voted to outlaw the administratoin subsidy program. "The administration wants a $1,500,000,000 subsidy authorization for 1944," Bankhead said, adding that "if it is willing to take any less I haven't heard any indications of it.

Gov. Stevenson was in Dallas.

"I am astounded at the governor's statement in his contention that a free ballot can not be given the soldier because section 1, article 7 of the constitution allocates $1 of the poll tax to the public free school fund," Smith's statement said.

Levied By General Law

"While insisting this to be a levy of the poll tax by the constitution he seems to forget that the constitution in section 3, article 8, specifically clothes the legislature with exclusive power to levy taxes: 'Taxes shall be levied and collected by general law, etc.' as distinguished from constitutional law.

"Moreover, the governor seems to forget that the legislature has been exempting certain classes of persons from payment of a poll tax for more than 40 years. Article 2959 exempts the blind, Indians, persons having lost a hand or a foot, and discharged soldiers of foreign wars whose disability is not less than 40 per cent. If the legislature has the right to grant poll tax exemptions to these persons, it can certainly grant exemptions to men and women now in the service.

"The question is: can the legislature grant exemptions from payment of the poll tax? It has exercised that right for more than 40 years and the court has never overruled that right. I insist that it has such a right.

territorial dispute with Russia. On this point alone, the state department obviously believes, Moscow may be willing to accept the "good offices" of a third nation.

One of the puzzling factors in the whole situation which American officials were at complete loss to explain was the publication by Pravda yesterday of a "Cairo report" that two British officials had conferred secretly with German Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop on feelers for a separate peace.

Report Of "Reliable" Sources

Pravda, organ of the Communist party and a voice of considerable authority in the Soviet capital, attributed the report to "reliable Greek and Yugoslav sources."

The report was emphatically denied by British Ambassador Lord Halifax in Washington and by the British foreign office in London, but diplomatic quarters questioned why, if there was no truth in it, Pravda, obviously with official sanction, would have published it purely on a rumor basis.

One possible explanation, tied in with the Polish affair, was that the Russians were displeased with continued British efforts to seek a solution of a dispute which Moscow considers to be a domestic issue and used this means of obliquely expressing its resentment.

Threat Of Democratic Party Bolt By South Diminished After Washington Conferences

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. (AP) — Threats of a party bolt by southern Democrats appeared to have melted down considerably today after a series of conferences which ended up with cheers for the party leadership and specific ovations for Vice President Wallace and Speaker Rayburn of Texas.

The shouts for Wallace—long a target of criticism by southern members of the party—came last night at the conclusion of a banquet which a group of governors from below the Mason and Dixon line gave for their congressmen.

"Very Agreeable" Meeting

Earlier the governors had reported a "very agreeable" meeting with President Roosevelt and agreed in a poll that although the south may not be entirely happy under his administration, it is still dependably within the Democratic fold.

None of them would advocate specifically a fourth term for the President, but they joined in predicting "no break from the party" if Mr. Roosevelt is a candidate, despite calls last month from some southern senators for a political "secession."

The conference was called for the announced purpose of planning united action in a fight for freight rate equality, but political matters came to the foreground.

It was a suggestion by Wallace that the south and west unite in the freight rate cause that prompted the cheers for him at the evening session.

Wallace was joined in his plea for a south-west coalition by Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) and received an immediate pledge of such action from two westerners present, North Dakota public service commissioner Ben Larkin, speaking for Governor John Moses, and James E. Murray (D-Mont).

"The failure of the south to build a balanced regional economy," Wallace said, "can be told in terms of vested interest seeking to protect uneconomic profits through control of finance, control of production capacity, monopolistic pricing of transportation services and control of markets."

Advantage To Country

The vice president said he felt sure the west shared the south's feelings regarding freight rates and that the two regions could "join hands, not to the disadvantage of the east, but to the advantage of the entire country."

Announced at the night session was a joint statement signed by 28 senators and 89 House members favoring rate equality, an issue now before the Interstate Commerce commission.

The ICC, said Rayburn, is a "creature" of Congress and "we can do with it what we will."

Enlisted Man Killed In Liberator Crash

DALLAS, Jan. 18. (AP)—An enlisted man was killed and three officers bailed out safely when their Liberator bomber from Tarrant field crashed and burned in a field two and one-half miles north of Hutchins at noon today.

Witnesses said motors on the big plane began to cough and sputter at about 1,000 feet.

U. S. Atwell, Hutchins postmaster, said the plane nosed up in an apparent attempt to gain altitude, then the crew began bailing out. The body of the enlisted man was found in the wreckage.

The officers who escaped safely were:

Lt. H. J. Saabye, jr., pilot; Lt. G. N. Cole, student pilot; Lt. W. J. Ballard, student pilot.

The name of the enlisted man killed in the crash was withheld pending notification of the next of kin.

LAWS is to attend a luncheon at Cocanougher's cafeteria Wednesday morning at 11:15 o'clock. The meal will be eaten in a private dining room and a business session will follow.

Robert Cocraft of 318 Avenue W, complained to police this afternoon that tools had been stolen from him.

Tony Alexander Austin, 31, negro, is held in jail here in lieu of $1000 bond set in connection with his draft status investigation. He was delivered to Lubbock county authorities by Buck Bennett, Lamesa sheriff. Another man, white and 32 years old, was delivered to the sheriff's department by Sheriff Charles O. Trimble of Gaines county, but officials here were uncertain as to what charge would be filed.

Two hundred twenty-eight men students and 586 women students have obtained permits to register and have passed through both boys' and girls' deans' offices for housing approval, up to noon today, it was reported. James G. Allen is dean of men and Mrs. Mary W. Doak is dean of women. It was explained that other students have obtained permits to register but have not gone through the respective dean's office for instructions on living quarters.

Juvenile Counselor Is Optimist Speaker

"Children are like spaghetti — in other words, when you are eating spaghetti it requires a lot of attention and so do children," John Wilson, juvenile counselor, told members of the Optimist club at their luncheon today noon in Lubbock hotel, in emphasizing the need for every member of the club to take a hand and help the youth of the city.

Wilson was introduced by Dr. A. W. Young, acting chairman in absence of O. W. McGuire, president, who is out of the city.

Wilson suggested that each member get in contact with juvenile officials and ask to have a youth who has done a misdemeanor parolled to him. "Visit the boy's home, find out his financial background, then take him into your home and let the youth see a higher standard of living," Wilson said. He also explained that the youth's medical attention should be checked, his spiritual needs looked after, encouragement offered along the line of his attending Sunday school and church, and his educational means investigated. "In this way we could solve delinquent problems," Wilson pointed out.

Wilson gave figures on delinquent problems in Lubbock last year, explaining that 27 boys and 7 girls were picked up for burglary, two of which were sent to reform school. Eight girls and 107 boys committed theft with seven out of a total of 115 being sent to the reformatory. Fourteen boys and 96 girls committed sex offenses during 1943 with five out of that group reporting to reform school.

Committee Will Study Text Books For State

AUSTIN, Jan. 18. (AP) — A committee of nine school superintendents and teachers will be appointed to study standardization of elementary text books, Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls, chairman of the state board of education text book committee, said today.

The committee will be appointed by Board Chairman Royall Watkins of Dallas. It will consist of three city school superintendents, two county superintendents, two elementary supervisors and two elementary class room teachers.

Transition from the 11 to 12-grade school system has caused confusion especially among transfer students, Oneal said. He said the committee would study a course of standardization of texts for elementary grades, and on basis of the study the legislature would be asked to make corrections in the school laws.

Aide To Ickes Is Suspended

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)— Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes announced today that George Briggs, one of his assistants, has been suspended without pay pending the outcome of the grand jury's investigation of the "Hopkins letter" affair.

ICKES' AID PICTURED AS GO-BETWEEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP) — An assistant to Interior Secretary Ickes was pictured in the Congressional record today as a go-between in publication of that widely quoted letter predicting that Wendell L. Willkie would be the Republican nominee for president again this year.

Ickes commented:

"I don't know who will ultimately turn out to be the villain in the 'Hopkins letter' thriller, but it will not be I."

Whatever a federal grand jury now investigating the matter divides about the authenticity of the letter, which bears the name of Presidential Adviser Harry Hopkins but which Hopkins has denounced as a forgery, it appears to have traveled a circuitous route before finding its way into the pages of the book "One Man—Wendell Willkie."

Sought To Trace Letter

Senator Langer (R-ND) sought to trace the letter's peregrinations through a batch of correspondence which he read on the Senate floor yesterday in a renewal of his demand that Willkie's 1940 nomination be investigated. The correspondence, Langer said, was between George N. Briggu, an Ickes aide, and C. Nelson Sparks of Akron, author of the "One Man" book.

The gift of the the Langer recital — promptly denied by Ickes and other principals—was this:

That Hopkins wrote to Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist university, last fall predicting Willkie would be the Republican choice again this year and promising "good cooperation from that quarter." Dr. Lee has disclaimed any knowledge of the letter and Hopkins has denied writing it).

Made Trip To Southwest

That Briggs made a trip to the Southwest in an attempt to obtain the letter;

That the letter subsequently was forwarded here by a man identified by Langer as Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum company, Bartlesville, Okla.

"I understand," Langer told the Senate, "that this Mr. Frank Phillips of Oklahoma was a friend of Secretary Ickes, whom it appears Mr. Briggs was to get the letter from."

Quoting from what he called the Briggs correspondence to Sparks, Langer read:

"The Phillips letter came in just as the boss was leaving to take a train for Chicago. He asked for permission to take it with him—wanted to show it to some one he expects to see while away."

Ickes said in his statement that he was not acquainted with Sparks or Dr. Lee and declared that neither Briggs nor Phillips "nor anybody else had ever mentioned such a letter to me."

Dr. Lee said he did not know Phillips, Briggs or Ickes, and "of course I never had a conference with any of them."

New Deal Philosophy Scored By Bricker

DALLAS, Jan. 18. (AP) — Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio told a dinner audience here he frankly was a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, "but I am more interested in defeating the philosophy of the New Deal than I am in ever being president."

"Election of a Republican president means the recapture of the spirit of self-government and of free enterprise," said Gov. Bricker. "It means the end of the philosophy of scarcity and defeat. The time has come when Americans must say that when the war is over, we'll free ourselves of the domination of a central government."

R. B. Creager of Brownsville, Republican national committeeman from Texas, asserted in introducing Gov. Bricker that he was "a little bit ashamed" of the Republican victory in Texas in 1928 "because it was based on intolerable," and predicted the next Republican victory would be based on patriotism.

Creager said that Gov. Earl Warren of California, mentioned as a possible Republican vice-presidential or presidential candidate, would be invited to visit Texas. Gov. Bricker departed for Tulsa after the dinner.

Russia Is Pursuing Independent Course

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The fresh crisis in the Russo-Polish dispute is a sharp reminder that both our own country and Britain are rapidly approaching the point where they've got to make up their minds — if indeed they haven't already done so — how far they want to go in trying to force their ideas and ideals on their Russian ally in the matter of the several territorial arguments in which Moscow is involved.

In reaching our decisions we have to bear well in mind two highly important things

1. Our ideas and ideals don't necessarily coincide with those of Russia in all respects.

Moscow is sternly realistic.

Cooperation Urgently Needed

2. The consensus of Allied leaders is that not only the winning of this war but the maintenance of peace afterwards depends on the continuation of close cooperation among the Big Three.

It's under these delicate circumstances that the American government has advised Moscow of its willingness to work for the restoration of amicable relations between the Soviet union and Poland.

This doesn't mean that the United States has offered to mediate thte territorial dispute. It is with restoration of amity that Secretary Hull is concerned at the moment.

Widely Divergent Claims

If and when diplomatic relations are resumed between Moscow and the Polish government, there will come the effort to reconcile the widely divergent claims. Should the Poles agree to Russian absorption of the zone in question, and recompense themselves by annexing German territory as is suggested by Moscow, then all will be well. But supposing both sides stand pat?

The answer obviously is that Russia will take back this territory, which she claims on the grounds that it racially is part of the Soviet Union and that she possessed it when the Poles acquired it after the last war. Russia will pursue this course because the Poles are incapable of preventing it. That is, she will do so unless some outside power stops her.

Who Will Force Action?

That brings us up to our main point. What nation, or combination of nations, is going to try to compel the Soviet to withdraw the Red army from the disputed area and abandon its program. Or for that matter, who figures on forcing Russia to change her very positive determination to take back the Baltic states, some strategic bits of Finland, and Bessarabia?

Any effort to solve these problems in such a manner undoubtedly means another war. Without trying to read the mind of the United States government, it strikes me that this thought must be with Secretary Hull as he makes his effort to rescue resumption of Russo-Polish diplomatic relations.

If amity can be restored, there may be a chance that Poland and Russia can work out the thing between them—as their own business. That, of course, is the ideal solution.

News Briefs

The Navy department from Washington announced Monday night Pfc. Raymond A. Fanning, USMC, son of Mrs. Ola M. Fanning of Olton had been wounded in action. His theater of action was not defined .

Firemen found scorched meat and a smouldering golf course in Monday night runs. Meat left too long on the stove caused them to go to 1922 Avenue Q at 6:30 o'clock. Grass was burned over a 1,500 yard-long 50-yard wide course at Meadowbrook Golf club, an hour later.

A sharp reduction in January quotas of stoves available in Lubbock county was reported Monday by ration board officials. The quotas fore the month are 200 heating and 62 cooking stoves, compared with 394 and 92 last month. This means, officials said, that purchase permits can be issued only in the most urgent cases.

The farm magazine, Progressive Farmer, has selected two Lubbock men as the "men of the year in Texas agriculture," according to an announcement in the January issue. They are W. P. Martin, who developed Martin's combine maize, and R. E. Karper, member of the staff of Texas agriculture experiment station for 28 years, for his research in grain sorghums and his development of waxy kafir and waxy milo types.

British Officers Lead Guerrillas In Jungle

CHUNGKING, Jan. 18 (AP) — Guerrillas led by British officers who survived the fall of Singapore still are operating against the Japanese in the Malayan jungle, says the Rev. Marcus Cheng, prominent Chinese Christian who escaped from Singapore last year.

Most of the Japanese troops who participated in the capture of Singapore have long since been transferred to other fronts, he declared in an interview on his arrival here, and those remaining are outnumbered six to one by the guerrillas, who include Chinese, British, Australians and Indians.

School Bus Service Due Negro Pupils

The same bus service that is given white children must be provided for negro children, according to an opinion from the attorney general's department announced late Monday after having been requested by A. C. Jackson, business manager of Lubbock independent school district,

Jackson ventured that only two negro families in which there are children of school age live in the rural areas encompassed by the local district. He stated that private transportation is now being furnished for "possibly four" negro children to local colored schools.

The official said this was the first time, so far as he could recall, that negroes had sought transportation service from the Lubbock district.

Texas law forbids mixed transportation of white and negro children, he said. It would be unfeasible, if not impossible, under war conditions, to put a vehicle in operation just for the transportation of a handful of students, Jackson stated.

He said the matter probably would be taken up at the next meeting of the board of trustees.

FIGHTING FREIGHT
along the Santa Fe

Action at Barstow, California
This is only one of the key points along the Santa Fe where the yards are being enlarged to handle more freight loaded for war. At this point the yards are being increased from 18 to 31 tracks; beds for some of them were blasted out of solid rock.

Santa Fe is building for the time when "it's all over" in Europe, so we can do our part in helping our military forces throw a bigger load at the enemy in the Pacific.

Santa Fe yards at many important points in California have been enlarged to handle many more trains, and sidings are being lengthened to handle more cars.

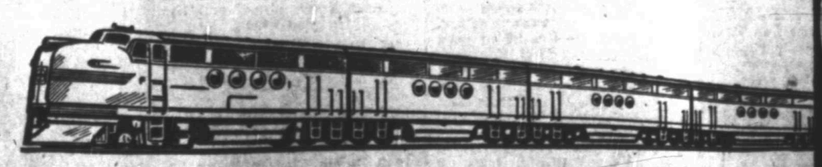

Centralized Traffic Control systems are being installed at congested points to conserve manpower and to speed up vital shipments.

Water towers in the desert have been doubled in capacity to refresh twice as many thirsty locomotives.

Modern cafeterias and dormitories have been built to feed and house Santa Fe's ever-growing army of workmen.

Literally as well as figuratively—when the time comes—The Santa Fe Trail will be the first lap on the Route to Tokyo!
