DAILY NEWSTexas Has
First Snow
Of Season

By The Associated Press
Texas noted its first snow of the season Friday—a few flakes mixed with rain at Muleshoe near the New Mexico line—and freezing temperatures covered a small portion of the Panhandle.

Lowest temperature of the night was recorded at Dalhart with 20 degrees. It was the only point reported by the Weather Bureau as having freezing weather.

The temperature at Muleshoe reached 2 degrees above freezing as the snow fell.

The leading edge of the cold front moved rapidly through Texas and into the Gulf of Mexico. Temperatures ranged as low as the 50s as far south as a Lufkin-Del Rio line.

Freeze warnings went up for Northwest Texas and eastward along the Red River to Lake Texoma for Saturday morning.

Freeze warnings were issued by the Weather Bureau for the Panhandle, South Plains and Red River Valley. The forecasters said scattered frost would extend deep into Central Texas.

Lows Friday night were expected down to 29 degrees in North Central Texas, 28 in the northeast, 26 in the northwest and 30 in the southwest.

Small craft warnings were ordered hoisted all along the Texas coast.

Patches of light rain mixed with a few showers were doled out from 100 to 150 miles behind the weather front, disappearing as it advanced.

Skies cleared in the Panhandle, where the cool air started arriving Thursday, and temperatures dropped.

The mercury sagged to 30 degrees by 5:30 a. m. at Dalhart. Heavy fog coated patches of roadway and windshields of parked cars with an icy glaze in the Dalhart area.

With the front already past, the temperature reached a high of only 56 Thursday at Dalhart. A sharp contrast dominated North Texas and freezing temperatures would spread into parts of North Central Texas.

Skies were due to clear throughout the state's northern half by Saturday while southern half would have overcast conditions.

He added that Algerian troops controlled the ridges around Figui, and were pounding the town with artillery and mortars.

Defense Minister Mahjoubi Abardane said the Algerian attack began with a strong artillery barrage at 5 a. m.

The king described the attack as "a diabolical plan" to shatter the agreements reached Wednesday at Bamako, Mali, in which Algeria and Morocco pledged to seek peace and compromise in their frontier dispute.

"Morocco does not intend to counter-attack," the king said. "I will maintain the Bamako agreement. Morocco will follow a policy of peace."

The gunmen bound and gagged Nahin and his wife, then drove off with the salesman's car and about $12,000 worth of jewelry.

Viet Military Revolts
Against Ngo Dinh Diem

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
TOKYO (AP)—A military revolt erupted in Saigon today against President Ngo Dinh Diem and there was an unconfirmed report that he has been ousted.

A high U.S. military source in Tokyo said he had heard—but could not evaluate—a story that Diem was deposed and his adviser-brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, killed by dissident South Vietnamese.

Heavy fighting was reported around Diem's yellow stucco palace. Marines in battle dress surrounded the national police headquarters in Saigon and took over outlying police stations, apparently without resistance.

The fighting erupted at Saigon's luncheon and siesta hour. A half dozen high-flying planes drew fire from anti-aircraft batteries near navy headquarters and from troops in the streets, but there was no confirmation that any were hit.

There was scattered firing throughout the city.

In Washington, President Kennedy summoned his top military and diplomatic advisers to the White House to assess the situation.

U.S. officials in Washington called it a coup of "real proportions" that appeared to be moving fairly far, though there still was no way of knowing whether it would be successful.

A qualified source said top military figures, though not necessarily all of them, headed the rebel movement.

Most communications from Saigon to the outside world were cut off.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, representing a war ally of South Vietnam, was critical of Diem's strong-arm actions against Buddhist and student opposition leaders, saw Diem shortly before the shooting started.

Lodge originally had planned to leave Saigon Thursday for consultations in Washington. He disclosed Wednesday he was postponing his departure until Saturday.

Accompanying the ambassador to the presidential palace for the talk with Diem was Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander of U.S. Pacific forces, who was returning from a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization at Bangkok, Thailand.

Blast Toll
Is Appalling

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A gas explosion hurled flames and concrete slabs as large as pianos through a crowd watching an ice show finale Thursday night, killing 62 and injuring 385.

It was the second explosion disaster in the United States within a few hours. Seven died and 25 were injured in a mysterious explosion which shattered a drug store in Marietta, Ga., Thursday night.

More than nine hours after the 11 p. m. (EST) Indianapolis blast, authorities from miles around Indianapolis sorted the dead and dying.

The Red Cross, coroner's office and Civil Defense agreed on the 62 dead figure after thorough checks of the six hospitals, three improvised morgues and numerous funeral homes where bodies were taken.

The injured number 385, of which 176 remained hospitalized—many in critical condition. Many victims were charred by the leaping jets of flame, or crushed under tumbling structural members and slabs which mushroomed from the explosion.

One of six Holiday on Ice troupes now touring was winding up its show when the blast broke play. Star performers were off stage and a chorus was performing a gay Diva-land number when the Indianapolis Coliseum was transformed into a scene of horror.

Bodies, many still wrapped in mud erupted only the ice. Many others were trapped in tumbling slabs of concrete and shattered bleacher-type seats.

Fire marshals at midmorning placed the blame in the tragedy on a leaking tank of liquid petroleum gas, being used to heat popcorn poppers under the shattered section No. 13.

The blast lifted a section of 128 box seats, best in the house, and dumped them on a stretch of 240 bleacher seats just below.

Bodies were thrown high in the air and fell on the ice amid the skating chorus.

The stars of the show—Holiday on Ice—were waiting in the wings to skate out for the finale. It was a glittering production.

The police chief said the entire department was highly appreciative of the orderly manner in which Halloween was observed and that he was certain that all citizens of the town shared in the appreciation.

Even around the square activity was virtually harmless. A few eggs were splattered on streets, but there apparently was no malicious attempt to damage any property.

Simons said he felt that local youngsters should be commended, and he was anxious for them to know that the police department was happy over the manner in which Halloween activities were carried out.

US Moves
To Protect Americans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today ordered military forces to move toward the South Vietnamese area to protect American lives if necessary.

A Pentagon announcement emphasized that this is purely a precautionary measure for protection of Americans, and does not represent any participation by U.S. forces in the situation in Vietnam.

The announcement by Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, said:

"As a precautionary measure and with approval of the President, Secretary of Defense McNamara has directed the movement of U.S. military forces to the area of South Vietnam."

The order went out through the Joint Chiefs of Staff to Adm. H. D. Felt, commander in chief, Pacific, to take the necessary action.

An order has been given should it be necessary to protect American lives in South Vietnam.

Sylvester declined to name the forces ordered to move. However, it seemed obvious that they would include the 7th Fleet which is in the South China Sea, and probably units of the Air Force transport fleet based in Okinawa and the Philippines.

King Validates Cease-Fire;
Does Not Resist Algerians

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—King Hassan II said Algerian forces attacked the Moroccan town of Figui in mass today and he has ordered his troops to withdraw.

At a news conference at the royal palace, the somber king announced Morocco would not fight back.

He said his government will abide by a pledge made Wednesday in Mali to cease hostilities and seek a negotiated solution to the frontier problem with Algeria. A cease-fire in the frontier war is scheduled to begin at midnight tonight.

The king said there were dead and wounded in the Algerian attack.

Figui, a town of about 8,000 inhabitants, is several miles inside Moroccan territory in northeastern Morocco. The king said there were dead and wounded in the Algerian attack.

The king said he has informed the U.N. secretary-general, the International Red Cross and the Organization of African Unity about the attack. Bitterly, he stressed that Figui at no time figured in the dispute over the border.

"It is unthinkable that new fratricidal fighting should take place in an area which has never been contested," he said.

He has ordered the Moroccan garrison at Figui, consisting of one company, to pull back a kilometer (.6 mile), Hassan said.

He added that Algerian troops controlled the ridges around Figui, and were pounding the town with artillery and mortars.

Defense Minister Mahjoubi Abardane said the Algerian attack began with a strong artillery barrage at 5 a. m.

The king described the attack as "a diabolical plan" to shatter the agreements reached Wednesday at Bamako, Mali, in which Algeria and Morocco pledged to seek peace and compromise in their frontier dispute.

German Miners
On Top At Last

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
BROISTEDT, Germany (AP)—Three men trapped for more than a week in a flooded iron mine were brought to the surface today.

The miners—Gerhard Hanusch, 43; Emil Pohli, 34, and Fritz Leder, 36—were hauled up in a bomb-shaped rescue capsule from a gallery 239 feet underground.

A mine foreman, Paul Syska, went down the rescue shaft with the capsule, helped the trio into the little compartment and followed them back up.

The rescue was accomplished through a shaft drilled after contact was made with the men Sunday. The shaft broke through into the gallery early today.

A medical specialist, Dr. Horst Hartmann, and three mine officials waited for the men in a decompression chamber at the head of the rescue shaft. The miners were to be kept there for three hours while the air pressure around them was brought down to that of the atmosphere outside.

The men were trapped in a dead-end mine gallery the size of a four-room apartment on Oct. 24 when a nearby dam broke and flooded the mine. The waters crashed into the gallery, and the air in turn kept back the water.

Eighty-six other miners escaped when the water came pouring in. Forty others are missing and believed drowned.

Dr. Hartmann reported the condition of the rescued miners was so good it could scarcely be believed they had been underground for more than seven days.

The rescue capsule moved smoothly, bringing up one miner at a time, at three-minute intervals. Syska came up last.

The men went straight into the decompression chamber clamped over the top of the shaft.

The engineer in charge of the boring, Winfried Berghofer, said only once during their long ordeal did the three men become excited. That was when there was a false alarm that the level of the water in the mine was rising.

Berghofer said the most critical period of the whole operation was early today when the last 62 feet of shaft were being bored.

He said there was a danger of the drill striking a fault in the earth and opening a fissure that would let the air out of the gallery.

After clearing the decompression chamber, the miners were to go to a nearby hospital for a quick medical checkup before the reunion with their families.

Troop Return From Japan
Considered Spending Cut

By CONRAD FINK
Associated Press Staff Writer
TOKYO (AP)—The United States is considering withdrawal of some military personnel from Japan as part of the Kennedy administration's drive to reduce dollar spending abroad.

An informed U.S. source said talks are being held with Japanese defense officials on ways to reduce American military costs and also to streamline units to fit Washington's plans for a strategy based on mobile strike forces.

However, the issue has become entangled in Japan's impending general election, and the source said no quick decision is expected in whether the number of U.S. servicemen in Japan—now about 46,000—will be reduced drastically.

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's Liberal-Democratic party, hoping to head off Socialist campaign sources of subversion to the United States, is quietly spreading word that a reduction is being negotiated.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman would say only that comment on possible reductions would be "premature at this time."

President Kennedy at his news conference Thursday said about 1,000 men might be withdrawn from South Vietnam and that judgment on other units is the far East will be based on what the military correlation of forces may be.

Attention reportedly is concentrated on air units charged with helping defend Japan and providing air cover for about 30,000 U.S. troops stationed in South Korea.

The U.S. Air Force has about 26,000 men in Japan for this mission.

About 6,500 Marines are stationed in Japan. Their mission is to support the 3rd Marine Division stationed on Okinawa.

Withdrawal of some tactical air units to Okinawa, 300 miles south of Japan, is deemed likely by some military experts.

The Navy has 7,000 men in Japan. Army strength is about 5,900 men, most of whom support the Korea-based 8th Army.

In addition to the effect on the U.S. balance of payments, many top American military men no longer consider Japan a stable base for U.S. operations.

Even though Japan's defense primarily is in U.S. hands, public opinion generally opposes the presence of American forces.

Youngsters

Police Chief

Snyder had an orderly parade of goblins last night.

Police Chief Chester Simons today praised youngsters of the city for their behavior on Halloween.

"There was plenty of 'trick-or-treat' activity, but not a single case of vandalism was reported to the police department," Simons said.

The police chief said the entire department was highly appreciative of the orderly manner in which Halloween was observed and that he was certain that all citizens of the town shared in the appreciation.

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)—

Another citizen of constitutional juvenile court judge testified rights before a federal panel that he will continue to hold a 14-year-old Negro girl in jail without bail until a hearing is set on charges against her.

Judge James W. Smith spoke to the witness chair on crutches, his left leg in a cast. He told Thursday as a hearing opened on efforts to enjoin officials from interfering with segregation activities in this southern Georgia city.

The girl, Sallie Mae Durham, is among six young integration leaders jailed nearly three months ago during the demonstrations. More than 200 Negroes were arrested.

A three-judge federal court is hearing testimony in suits aimed at freeing the prisoners, including four out of state youths charged with attempting to incite insurrection. The defense charged the death penalty charged with trying to incite.

Doubts Soviets Quit Moon Race

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has questioned whether the Soviet Union is abandoning the moon race.

Kennedy told a news conference Thursday that he "would not make any bets at all upon Soviet intentions" despite Premier Khrushchev's statement that his country would not race to the moon but, rather, would profit from American experience in that field.

"I think that our experience has been that we wait for deeds, unless we have a system of verification, and we have no idea whether the Soviet Union is going to make a race for the moon or whether it is going to attempt an even greater program," the President said.

"I think we ought to stay with our program. I think that is the best answer to Mr. Khrushchev."

During a 31-minute session with newsmen Kennedy said: "We are not planning any reduction in United States combat units in Germany" but do plan "some reduction in non-combat personnel" in the European area.

—Reported "a marked decrease" in the number of Soviet troops in Cuba since Jan. 1 and said, without giving figures, "there have been further reductions" in the past two months.

—Said negotiations on a possible sale of American wheat to the Soviets "are entering a critical phase" this week. He declined to speculate on the outcome, saying, "I think we ought to let the negotiators negotiate."

—Expressed willingness to engage in television debates with Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., if he and Goldwater are opponents in the 1964 presidential election.

—Commented with some sarcasm that it wouldn't be fair to reply to a charge of newsman leveling against him by Goldwater because, said Kennedy, the senator "has had a busy week selling TVA," advising on nuclear policy, "attacking the president of Bolivia...and involving himself in the Greek election."

—Said that, "yes," he wants Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on the 1964 Democratic ticket and expects Johnson to have the No. 2 spot.

Discussing Soviet space efforts, Kennedy said he could not read into Khrushchev's statement at a Moscow news conference last Saturday any announcement that the Soviets are abandoning their moon program.

Instead, the President concluded that Khrushchev was saying the Soviets would not go to the moon without adequate preparation—a point on which he voiced agreement.

"The fact of the matter is that the Soviets have made an intensive effort in space, and there is every indication that they are continuing and that they have the potential to continue," Kennedy said.

On American troops in Germany, Kennedy said additional forces sent there during the 1961 Berlin crisis will remain "as long as there is a need for them." He said six Army divisions in Germany will be kept at conventional strength but a reorganization of European logistic forces will mean some cuts in noncombat personnel.

Reds Claim Maneuverable Space Ship

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it has launched a space ship into orbit which can maneuver in all directions, changing its orbit both sideways and in height.

The announcement said the apparatus is called "Polyot One." Polyot means flight.

The ship apparently is unmanned, but contains a mass of control mechanisms which permit it to maneuver in such a manner that, if desired, it could be moved alongside another craft in space.

Such a project has been planned not only by the Soviet Union but by the United States.

The announcement, given over Moscow Radio, said the ship can "maneuver in all directions."

On one stage it flew with a maximum height of 592 kilometers (368 miles) and a minimum altitude of 343 kilometers (213 miles).

On several occasions during its flight it was called on to transmit data to listening stations in the Soviet Union. Its performance was described as normal.

Accused Reds To Depart

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union is complying under protest with a U. S. demand that it recall three members of its U. N. delegation accused of taking part in a spy plot.

The Russian trio was scheduled to leave New York by plane tonight en route to Moscow. A note from the U. S. delegation Wednesday had demanded their immediate departure.

In a reply Thursday night to the U. S. note, the Soviet delegation denied that the three men had taken part in an espionage conspiracy and protested that they had been arrested illegally in an "organized police provocation."

The three are Gleb A. Pavlov, 39, an attaché in the mission; Yuri A. Romashin, 39, a third secretary, and Vladimir I. Olenev, 37, an employee of the mission. All lived in New York City.

The FBI arrested Pavlov and Romashin Tuesday night with Igor A. Ivanov, 33, of New York City, Russian chauffeur for the Soviet trading agency Amtorg, and John William Butenko, 38, an American of Orange, N.J., who was control administrator for the International Electric Corp. of Paramus, N.J.

Butchers Ok Contracts

HOUSTON (AP) — Butchers in the Houston and Gulf Coast area have accepted a new three-year contract granting pay raises of $3 to $5 a week and more vacation benefits.

They voted approval two and a half hours before the old contract expired Friday night, heading off a possible strike against 375 grocery and supermarket trading departments.

The butchers are members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butchers Workmen's Local 408.

Under the new contract head meat cutters will receive a $5 a week more the first year and the second O. D. Starkey, secretary-treasurer of the local, said.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a happy bachelor—and here is my problem. Two neighbors, one right next door to me on my left, and the other right next door to me on my right, are divorces. They both tell me their troubles and cry over both of them whenever they catch me outside. Now my back yard is flooded with their tears and my grass is drowning. How can I keep those two husband-lovers from ruining my yard?

HAPPY BACHELOR

DEAR HAPPY: Grow rice.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister who isn't the smartest person in the world, but I love her. She tells me her troubles and cries on my shoulder. She has a husband, but he's no help. (He cries on his mother's.) Well, my sis called me at 4:15 this morning—and scared my husband out of his wits. She wanted to know if she should call the police to look for her 18-year-old daughter who went out on a date and wasn't home yet. She was hysterical, Abby. I'll admit she's called at odd hours for reasons like there was a mouse in her bedroom, she is terrified of thunder storms, etc. But this time she really needed me, and my husband refused to drive me over there to calm her down (I don't drive). He said if anything like that ever happens again, I can go live with my sister. Who was unreasonable? Him or me?

BIG SISTER

DEAR SIS: I can't blame your husband for being fed up with your sister's hysteria. Tell sis to lay off the nocturnal S.O.S.'s, or you will lose your happy home.

DEAR ABBY: I have the perfect solution for the busy housewife who was embarrassed by the thoughtless person who just happened to be in the neighborhood so she thought she'd drop in and pay a social call. Bake a pie or something and take it over to her house. But don't give her any notice. Just ring her bell like she did yours, and see how SHE likes it.

More Fires In Southern Woodlands

CHICAGO (AP) — New fires flared across woodlands in sections of the South today but cooler weather and rain and snow eased fire dangers and drought conditions in many parts of the East and Midwest.

Serious fires broke out in forestlands in southeastern Kentucky near Harlan. The flames burned over thousands of acres of land, the biggest blaze covering 6,000 acres southeast of Harlan near the Virginia border. Fifty prisoners from the state prison camp helped fight the fires Thursday.

Brush and woodland fire erupted in all sections of Tennessee, now in its second month without measurable rainfall. Stiff winds increased the fire hazard. Four major fires burned in the Cumberland Mountains north of Chattanooga, spreading across 8,000 acres of land. Other fires caused concern in areas of West Virginia and Arkansas.

But in Michigan, Gov. George Romney lifted the emergency ban on fires and smoking in woods in the state's Lower Peninsula. Earlier the ban had been lifted in the Upper Peninsula. The orders came after rain and heavy dew alleviated the state's forest fire hazard.

The season's first heavy snowfalls eased drought conditions and fire dangers in most of New England. Snow also dampened wide areas in the Northern Rockies and Northern Plains.

Rain fell across many of the dry areas in the Midwest Thursday.

Bracero Program Extended 1 Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — A one-year extension of the Mexican farm labor program had approval of the House today but there were indications this will be the last round for the 12-year-old program.

The measure was sent to the Senate by a 78-158 vote Thursday, although a member after member rose to say he was supporting the extension just to give large users of Mexican labor a chance to adjust to the end of the program.

The House voted down a bill to extend the program another two years last May 29.

This time House members similarly rejected an amendment to the one-year extension that would have provided that in 1964 only those farms which have used such labor in the past would be eligible.

Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., sponsor of the amendment, said there was a three-way division on the bill, including those who supported the program more or less in perpetuity, those who wanted to halt it but not so abruptly that farmers would be hurt, and those advocating an immediate end. He classed himself in the second group.

Critics of the program, under which about 195,000 Mexican laborers were brought into the United States last year for farm work, say it depresses wages and working conditions for domestic farm labor. They add that it is "slave labor" for the Mexicans.

Backers of the program say Americans just won't do the "stoop labor" that the Mexicans are brought in for, and that an end to it will mean higher food prices.

The Mexican laborers enter the United States under a treaty with Mexico which guarantees their living conditions. Their numbers have declined in recent years due to more and more mechanical harvesting.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior.
Come on down and sit in it.

The kind of handling ease you'd expect in a smaller car.
Come on down and drive it.

Only a car that looks as good as this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II.
Come on down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do a lot more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines for it—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses!

And if that combination of modest weight and potent power makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a car with lots of room for legs, hips, shoulders, hats and luggage. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension and snug insulation, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions you from bumps. And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too. Just listen to the solid thunk of a door closing or look at the smooth metalwork. You'll see what we mean.

Sound good so far? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving

ENJOY THIS creamy Lime Mousse — another wonderful recipe. Served with Belgian-recipe cookies, it gives a dramatic climax to any dinner.

Something New In Desserts

"Why, oh, why did I ever think I could write a book?" says Margaret Rudkin.

We're glad Mrs. Rudkin did write her cookbook as we leaf through the pages and find a recipe for Lime Mousse, a creamy, refreshing dessert.

LIME MOUSSE

(Serves 6)

5 limes
1½ cups granulated sugar
2 cups milk

2 cups heavy cream
Grate the rind of 3 limes and strain over it immediately the juice of the 3 limes.

Add to this the sugar, stir and add gradually the milk.

Beat the heavy cream until almost stiff and fold into the milk-lime sugar mixture.

Place in 2 shallow refrigerator trays in the freezing compartment, turn the control to coldest and freeze until partially frozen (about ½ hour).

Remove from the freezing compartment, scrape down the sides, mix well with a spoon and allow to freeze until solid.

This takes about 2 hours in my refrigerator.

Reduce the temperature control to normal and allow to remain ½ hour or so until ready to serve, at which time place in a well-chilled dessert bowl and quickly grate over the surface the thin rind (green part only) of 2 additional limes.

Serve at once with Belgian-recipe cookies or angel cake.

M. Gordon Reminisces

MAX GORDON PRESENTS. By Max Gordon, with Lewis Funk.

Broadway producers come and go, with scant notice paid by fans who are more interested in glamor-stars, racy writers and brisk music. Once in a while, however, one happens along who manages to stamp his identity on the public consciousness. From 1930 through 1951, Max Gordon achieved just this prestige.

During that span he took part in the presentation of 45 shows beginning with a jackpot hit, "Three's a Crowd," and continuing through such memorable items as "The Cat and the Fiddle," "Design for Living," "Roberta," "Dodsworth," "The Women," "Junior Miss" and "Born Yesterday."

There were also brief skirmishes in movies and television.

In straightforward, unembellished manner, the man born Melchior Salpeter on New York's lower East Side, now gets on record a summary of various triumphs as well as some agonizing failures.

The temptation to reminisce is mostly harmless, but also possibly tedious. Despite a larding to the narrative of some revealing personal episodes and a heavy sprinkling of anecdotes about Noel Coward, Moss Hart, George Kaufman, Jerome Kern and others, the story's appeal remains somewhat special. There's a lot to read between the lines.

Dr. Joseph Lovell, the nation's first surgeon general, built Blair House in 1824.

Autumn Visit To Capital Rivals Cherry Blossoms

BY INEZ ROBB

WASHINGTON. — Cherry trees and gardens. Today the blossoms in the traditional gardens and its streets are brilliant with autumn foliage. From the bridges across the Potomac, Americans get a glorious view of river moving between spring to be dazzled by the heavily wooded banks, all red and white trees and gold and reflected in the water. It is a joy to drive in. And it is a lovely sight through Rock Creek Park. But I would like to remember where the trees have been a mended autumn tour of the Persian carpet of muted reds, yellows and greens of every shade. Millions of Americans are convinced that the tenth wonder of the world is autumn in the land of reds, yellows and greens of every shade. But a drive through the Virginia countryside is like a lovely cor-sage pinned on the city, a beautiful bit of decor like orchids on the shoulder of a handsome woman. But the trees of autumn envelop the city. They wrap the city in color, forming a vivid background for this capital of schools, is a joy to the foliage white marble, pale stone and buff. The Marine base itself, gleaming monuments. Unlike which shares the Potomac with many American cities, Wash., the capital, is surely one of the most beautiful military posts in the nation. Its terrain is slightly rolling and heavily wooded.

A young Marine corporal, still young for the two years he spent in Hawaii, surveyed the brilliant foliage and said, happily, "This is what I've been waiting for. Nothing like this!"

Aside from the spit-and-polish men and women Marines (and breathes there an American with soul so dead he does not take a special pride in the corps) who are stationed at Quantico, the pride of the post is the United States Marine Corps Memorial Chapel.

The chapel, completed six years ago, replaced an old makeshift chapel that had been the post brig. Like the old chapel, the new one is a working fulfillment of ecumenicity. A memorial to Protestants, Catholics and Jews who have served in the Corps since its inception in 1775, it was built for the use by all three.

The chapel is a pleasant red brick structure of contemporary colonial architecture on a modified Georgian theme. What really glorifies the chapel is its memorial windows, not of stained but of clear etched and carved glass. These beautiful windows autedate similar windows used in the nave of the great new cathedral of Coventry. The 18 windows of the chapel depict the history of the Marine Corps, including one commemorating the orbital flight of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., USMC, on Feb. 20, 1962.

At the base of all the other windows there is etched a verse from the Bible. But at the base of what is known as the "Glenn Window" (which depicts his orbital craft, Friendship VII) are Glenn's own moving words delivered before a joint session of Congress: "As our knowledge of the universe increases may God grant us the wisdom and guidance to use it wisely."

Would that more Americans could see this memorial chapel.

Junior Editors Quiz on NEWSPAPERS

QUESTION: When were newspapers first produced and widely read?

ANSWER: It is said that the first newspaper—or publication regularly giving news—was the Chinese court journal, "Tsing Pao," which began in the 500s and ran until 1935. Before this, the Chinese had started printing from carved blocks, and this is how the Tsing Pao was printed at first. Movable type (2), with single carved type letters which could be put together into words, was introduced by Gutenberg and greatly stimulated printing. In the 1600s, regularly issued papers appeared in Germany and in England, where the first full sized newspaper was the "Oxford Gazette."

The first American newspaper, "Public Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestic," began publication in 1689, but was suppressed by the English authorities. However, by the time of the Revolution, there were at least 35 newspapers publishing and their importance was recognized by such leaders as Washington and Jefferson. Newspapers, both large and small, appear in every part of America and are recognized today as one of the most important features of our American way of life.

FOR YOU TO DO: If you have an idea that newspapers are not groupings only look carefully through the pages of your newspaper. You'd be delighted with many things that appeal the interest of your own group.

(Kathleen Patton of Oak Lawn, Ill., wins the daily grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail your answer on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too.)

Boyle Is Hooked On New York

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"How do you live here, nice as it is to visit?" inquired the cozy critic.

"Believe me, this place is for the birds — and I do mean pigeons. People no longer have a status here."

Well, she was a pretty girl, and I supposed she meant what she said.

But—oh, dullness!—how out of everywhere can you be?

There are several kinds of people who knock New York.

There are the butter and egg men who arrive with a fast wagon green and say they won't take any chicken feathers from anybody.

There are those from Chicago who say their museums have more places to park chewing gum than any we have here.

And there are the high-class ladies from San Francisco who complain they get their tennis shoes dirty riding in the subway.

"This is an attractive place to tour on a day and on a group basis," they sometimes remark, "but how and why would one want to live here individually?"

Actually, Manhattan has many attractions, and getting along isn't too difficult.

The chief idea is that you have to walk a little faster than you do in other cities, and realize that it doesn't make any difference where you're going—just so you hurry.

The second thing is to remember that you are a viewer rather than a participant in life.

The great aim is noninvolvement. It might be your luck, for example, to gaze across an apartment courtyard and see a stranger stranding his wife.

Interrupt him? Not for the world. That might be all right in Dubuque. But here you either look the other way, or break out in mid applause.

One who becomes accustomed to the faster tempo of this city is never quite the same again.

There are calmer spirits who say that "the New York pace" is a device for getting attention rather than distance.

But that isn't so. There is a pace of possibility here — an electric sense of anything can happen, a gift of hope, a quest of unreasonable demand, a faith that you will soon meet Aladdin and he will rub his lamp and all you longed for will come true.

That's what makes happiness for many here—living on bread crumbs while forestalling cake. Excitement is a nutrition in New York.

At the base of all the other windows there is etched a verse from the Bible. But at the base of what is known as the "Glenn Window" (which depicts his orbital craft, Friendship VII) are Glenn's own moving words delivered before a joint session of Congress: "As our knowledge of the universe increases may God grant us the wisdom and guidance to use it wisely."

Would that more Americans could see this memorial chapel.

McGraw filed suit Thursday, alleging that the tobacco company's advertising matter indicated the cigarettes were harmless but that actually they were not.

Graham Sees Insurance Critical 10 Years

HOUSTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says the Communists have set the year—1972—for their goal of world domination.

"We are faced with the most critical 10 years in our history," Graham said Thursday as he wound up a four-day visit in Houston.

"We are going to win the struggle," he told 1,400 persons at a joint Kiwanis and Rotary Club meeting, "there must be rejuvenation and revival from one end of the country to the other."

"And it must begin with you. . . . It must start in a simple faith in God."

The famed Baptist evangelist left for Princeton University after the address.

He was introduced by Gov. John Connally, who said Graham was "more than a preacher, more than an evangelist, more than a Christian leader—in a greater sense, he has become our conscience."

Graham said his remarks earlier in the week that Connally was "a good presidential prospect for 1968" and former Vice President Richard Nixon could be "an American Churchill" had brought communications urging him to "stay out of politics and stay in ministry."

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—Plans to convert the Fargo Courthouse heating system from coal to natural gas have gone up in smoke.

It's illegal in North Dakota to heat state or county buildings with any fuel not native to North Dakota, says the attorney general.

Lignite coal is mined in North Dakota. Natural gas also is produced. But Fargo's gas comes from Canada.

KEEP THE CROSS BEFORE YOU

Whether of wood, or gold, or other material, The Cross is symbolic of our highest living. It tells of both sacrifice and life at its best. It is a symbol of God, a symbol of Christ, a symbol of the Christian church you attend every week. What would the church be without The Cross! Where might your steps lead were you to forget the Crucifixion! What might happen to your family and to the families of all your friends were it not for the influence of the allumed Cross in their lives. If you would have tomorrow remember you; if you would have your golden years filled with peace and hope... then Keep The Cross Before You Every Day.
