Rifle Shells And One Deposit Slip Found In Automobile Used By Trio To Escape In Robbery At Timpson

Officer Has Clue

Development Expected Today; Two Unmasked Robbers Hold Up Bank Employes As Third Keeps Motor Running

(By The Associated Press)

CENTER, Jan. 8.—The sheriff's office announced here tonight that the automobile in which three bandits escaped after robbing a bank at Timpson had been found abandoned near Teneha.

Sheriff J. W. Obanion said the automobile was found on a country road about four miles from Teneha. In it were a few rifle shells and a deposit slip.

The automobile was a small coupe, and, according to officers, had been stolen at Teneha. It was discovered shortly before night. About two hours after the robbery.

Sheriff Finds Clue

The sheriff indicated he believed he had a clue to the whereabouts of the bandits, but he refused to give details. He said he expected developments, possibly tomorrow.

The Cotton Belt State bank of Timpson was robbed of about $3,000 by three men shortly before closing time. Two unmasked robbers perpetrated the actual holdup, while the third sat in the coupe outside the bank, keeping the motor running.

Posses continued to search for the bandits throughout the adjacent

Air Races At Miami Opened

Third All-American Meet Is Under Way; Dignitaries Of United States And Foreign Countries Participate

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 8. — Airplanes darting across a southern sky today launched Miami's third All-American air meet on its three day series of races and stunting by famous civilian and service fliers.

Dignitaries of the United States and foreign countries viewed the spectacle as fleet-winged planes swooped about pylons of the 15-mile race course or zoomed and rolled above the 7,500 spectators.

A novelty of the program was the hesitant hops and jumps of a low winged doodlebug plane piloted by E. S. McDonnell, Jr., Chicago. The craft darted or slowed almost to a stop at will and landed almost vertically to display its ease of handling.

John Livingston, Aurora, Ill., flying a monocoupe, set up the highest speed of the afternoon for cabin planes with his negotiation of the 15-mile course from a standing start in six minutes, 21.40 seconds, an average speed of 141.58 miles an hour.

Barton Stevenson, Kansas City, in a monocoupe, flew 108.58 miles an hour to win the 15-mile race for 275 cubic inch displacement planes.

Lowell R. Bayles, Springfield, Mass., put his plane, with motor halted, five feet, 1 3-4 inches from a mark on the field to win the dead stick landing contest.

Television Seen, Heard By 2,000

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (AP)—Basing his estimates on communications by letter, telephone and telegraph, K. A. Hathaway, technician at WMAX and W9XAP, said today 2,000 persons heard and saw what was believed to have been the premier synchronized sight-sound broadcast of a dramatic production sent out last night over W9XAP.

The play, "The Maker of Dreams," was broadcast on a short wave length, 2150 kilocycles. Hathaway said it would have been possible to have picked up the program a thousand miles away, provided the receiving set was of the same manufacture as the broadcasting set.

Democratic Chairman Brands Herbert Hoover As "A Failure As President"

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 8. — Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, in a speech prepared for delivery here tonight, called Herbert Hoover "a failure as president" and said it was quite possible "we Democrats shall have to organize both houses of congress" this year.

The Democratic leader called on his party to find a successful method of dealing with commercial disturbances. He pointed to the federal reserve act in the field of finance as an example of what could be done.

Little Accomplished

"It is doubtful," Shouse said, addressing a Missouri Jackson Day banquet, "if any administration since the government was inaugurated has compassed in two years so little in constructive accomplishment as has this administration."

Terming the present economic situation "the Hoover panic," Shouse said "the crash would not have been so great, the disaster not so deadly and the misery not so long continued had Mr. Hoover not lulled the country into a false sense of security and encouraged people to ignore the danger signals that are so apparent in retrospect.

One Bright Spot

"In all the confusion and indecision of the situation," the speaker went on, "there has been only one bright spot.

"The federal reserve bank system has been of incalculable value in preserving the country from innumerable bank and business failures such as marked every industrial depression previous to the adoption of this great financial system, a system conceived by the Woodrow Wilson administration and enacted into law in the face of the vehement opposition of Republicans senators and representatives. Even President Hoover has been forced to pay tribute to the solidity and efficiency of this great agency, without which the Hoover panic would have surpassed in wretchedness any similar period in the nation's history.

"If democratic genius was able to produce this magnificent remedy for fiscal confusion, why should it be deemed beyond our capacity to find an equally successful method of dealing with commercial disturbances?" asked Shouse.

"Nobody can forecast the events of the next year. It is quite among the possibilities that we Democrats shall have to organize both houses of congress. Whether that occurs or not our party, as the sole coherent group, will dominate and direct the legislation."

Referring to the Democratic gains in the last general election, Shouse predicted "we will take over the government two years from now and we will retain it as long as we deserve to."

House Remains Deadlocked On Drouth Relief

Little Hope For Early Break In Sight On Senate Proposal To Add $5,000,000 Food Loan Fund To Appropriation

BY CECIL B. DICKSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP)—For the third successive day, the house remained deadlocked today over the senate's $5,000,000 food loan amendment to the drouth relief appropriation bill with little hope for an early break in sight.

Anxiety over the outcome became evident in both republican and democratic ranks as telegrams poured in to senators and representatives telling of the plight of the hungry and destitute in drouth areas.

Vote Is Demanded.

Administration followers, nevertheless, held their position against appropriation funds for food under the seed, feed and fertilizer loan act. The democratic forces, joined by Representative La Guardia, republican, New York, demanded a vote on the senate provision.

La Guardia has successfully resisted efforts to send the measure to conference unless the republican and democratic forces agree that the food provision apply to both urban and rural districts. He introduced a resolution today to appropriate $30,000,000 to be turned over to the American Red Cross to feed the unemployed throughout the country.

Similarly a measure to appropriate $15,000,000 was introduced by Representative Fish, republican, New York, who also submitted a resolution to have the Farm Board turn wheat in its possession over to the Red Cross.

The Masonic lodge of Post also participated in the services. Burial was in the Post cemetery under direction of Bynum-Morgan funeral home, of Lubbock.

Garner Trades Off "Our" Car

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. (AP) — Having ridden for three years in the car which Representative Garner of Texas refers as "ours," Speaker Longworth has tired of its eccentricities and traded official conveyance in for a new automobile.

He said he made a good deal.

Garner, who would get the machine if the democrats organize the next house, said it looked good enough to ride in even if it came to him second-handed.

Governor Elect Of Oklahoma Says Contract Made With Holloway To Represent State In Inheritance Tax Case

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 8. — State investigation machinery swung into action tonight to determine grounds for charges made in district court here by Governor-Elect W. H. Murray that state officials had entered into contract with Governor W. J. Holloway to represent the state as an attorney in settlement of the T. B. Slick estate inheritance tax estate.

Governor Holloway directed Attorney General J. Berry King to make an immediate inquiry of the entire case and to file criminal charges against any one incriminated.

At the same time Frank Carter, auditor-elect, named by Murray in his petition for a restraining order to prohibit State Auditor A. S. J. Shaw, or Carter from entering into the alleged contract subpoenaed Murray to apepar in district court of Judge J. W. Clark here Saturday morning at a hearing on dissolution of a restraining order issued by the court.

Later Carter served notice on Murray's attorney he would take depositions from all witnesses in the county court of Judge C. C. Christison between 2 p. m. and 5 p. m. Saturday. Murray also will be asked by Carter to appear in the county court.

WARNING IS ISSUED

Trucks Are Required To Have Rear View Mirrors

Texas law requires that every truck be equipped with a rear-view mirror and that all vehicles drawn by animal power have lamps, lanterns or adequate reflectors, Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter pointed out Thursday.

State highway patrolmen have received orders to enforce stringently the regulations requiring rear-view mirrors on trucks, as well as other highway laws, Peace Justice Porter said.

Several truck owners have been assessed the minimum of $1 fine and $12.15 costs this week because of not having rear-view mirror on their trucks, and the public evidently does not know of the requirement, the justice of the peace said, in issuing the warning.

Pro Report Of Commission Is Being Awaited

Republican Leaders Fail In Efforts To Head Off Long Expected Report; Stobbs Pro Bill Passes House

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. — The prohibition report of President Hoover's law enforcement commission was awaited tonight with more expectancy than ever in view of a fruitless effort by some republican leaders to head it off.

Seeking to avoid an extra session, congressional chieftains went direct to commission headquarters in an effort to sidetrack the rush of oratory expected to follow submission of the report. They were informed, however, that the report was virtually ready for delivery to the president and would be sent as planned.

Okeh Stobbs Bill.

In the house meanwhile final approval was given to the Stobbs bill to modify the Jones five-and-ten law, a measure which grew out of commission suggestions. It now goes to the president.

At the same time, Attorney General Mitchell and Prohibition Director Woodcock were discounting the effect of the elimination from the deficiency appropriation of the $10,000 provision for prohibition education. The sum was stricken out yesterday by the house.

The prohibition bureau still has left from its last appropriation $22,000 for this purpose and has spent but $18,000 to this end since last July. Woodcock said his force would continue work as usual on the five monographs on prohibition now being prepared.

FIRE IN HOSPITAL

Half Dozen Patients Taken To Safety At Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 8. (AP)—Half a dozen patients were carried hurriedly to safety tonight when fire originating in the X-ray room swept the Brownwood hospital, resulting in a loss estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000. The structure was of two-story, frame construction, of 30 beds capacity.

No explosion was heard but hospital attendants said the flames burst suddenly from the X-ray room and spread rapidly to the operating room. In spite of the quickness with which the flames advanced, the few patients under care in the building were taken out without serious consequences.

Seek Economy Of Tax Money

Texas Industrial Commercial And Agricultural Conference Adopts Legislation Program At Dallas

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 8. (AP)—A program of legislation designed to effect economies in expenditures of tax money by every unit of state government, was adopted today by 200 members of the Texas industrial commercial and agricultural conference.

Resolutions calling for the proposed reforms were based on allegations that is the last 11 years, local units of government in Texas have increased their bonded debts by $59,000,000; that while appropriations for education have increased 212 per cent in a decade, property values have risen but 28 per cent, and that more than one-third of all public revenue is being consumed in payment of interest and principal on public debt.

The association advocated a program as follows: Issuance of bonds only when the condition of the taxpayer is such that he can meet the burden; bonds be issued only for non-recurring capital expenditures and never for a period longer than the useful life of the improvement for which voted, with each voter required to show evidence of having paid property taxes before participating in bond elections; adoption of a state budget law, governing not only state expenditures, but those of subordinate units of government, and legislation requiring the filing with county clerks, and by them with the state comptroller of complete inforamtion as to the bonded debt of every unit of government at the end of each fiscal year.

Seagraves Asks $15,000 As Damages For Alleged Failure Of Utility Company To Carry Out Franchise Contract

By Staff Correspondent.

SEAGRAVES, Jan. 8. — Suit was filed Thursday in the district court at Seminole by the town trustees of Seagraves against the West Texas Gas company of Lubbock asking $15,000 damages for alleged failure on the part of the utility company to carry out its contract with the town of Seagraves for distribution of natural gas in the city.

O. M. Herring, city attorney, made the announcement on his return from the county seat where he went to file the action with Carroll Cobb, district clerk.

Franchise Granted.

About a year ago the council of Seagraves granted a franchise to the West Texas Gas company to do business in the town. The company agreed to have its city distribution system installed by Sept. 1, 1930, and to have the natural gas turned into the mains on or before November 1.

"On the strength of this, many people sold their old stoves and ranges and bought gas heaters, in anticipation of having natural gas to burn this winter," Mr. Herring said. "The sale of stoves was general.

"I personally know of several people who sold their coal stoves and purchased gas stoves and ranges. Later, when cold weather came and they had to have stoves for heat, they were hard put, because of their straightened circumstances, to buy stoves. They had to rake and scrape a little money together to buy stoves and that was a hard job in these times."

The gas company, Mr. Herring stated, dug trenches and put down some pipes. Later, they took up some of these pipes.

"Twice, pipes have been laid in the ditches between Brownfield and Seagraves," Mr. Herring added. "Once, the pipes were taken up. We were told the pipe was too small or something. Again, the company began laying pipe. They got out to Wellman, about half way. Now, I understand, they are taking up the pipes again, for some reason."

Meantime the city council, at a recent meeting, revoked the franchise it had granted the gas company. The suit for damages followed this action.

Jobs Pledged By 212 Firms, Persons Here

Six Permanent Positions And 116 Days Of Common Labor Offered In Local Campaign To Alleviate Unemployment

Jobs for the unemployed had been pledged by 212 individuals and firms, incomplete reports of teams of the Employment Promotion committee showed early Thursday night. Six permanent positions were offered, with the customary requirement that applicants qualify for the places.

All of the men's teams in the Employment Promotion corps had reported early Thursday night, but seven of the 13 women's groups had not yet turned in all of their pledge-cards, persons connected with the campaign said.

116 Days Of Work

A total of 116 days of common labor had been pledged, 11 of carpentry, 18 of painting, 3 1-2 of papering; two of cement work, and one of plumbing. The permanent jobs offered included three for salesmen and three as housekeepers.

Workers in the campaign to alleviate unemployment reported that they had found persons who voluntarily had supplied jobs, to aid the unemployed, although they had not reported the move and subsequently did not sign pledge-cards.

Members of the Employment Promotion committee Thursday reiterated a request that Lubbock citizens hire persons living here. Persons from other towns have been found soliciting work here, the committeemen said, and in some instances have received pay higher than that customary for the work done, while actual Lubbock residents remained jobless.

Those offering jobs were urged to determine whether or not applicants live here and to hire them only if they have resided here for a reasonable length of time.

Mr. Justiss arrived in Lubbock, Thursday, and will remain here through today, possibly meeting with the fire prevention committee of the chamber of commerce.

Stabilization Of Income Aim Of Commission

Legislature Asked To Submit Issue Not To Exceed Two Hundred Million By State Highway Department

Enactment Of Drivers' License Law, More Patrolmen, Regulation Of Vehicles On Highways Also Recommended

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 8.—The state highway commission today recommended to the state legislature and the governor submission of a statewide bond issue, not to exceed $200,000,000, as a means of stabilizing the income of the state highway department and expediting construction and maintenance work.

Enactment of a drivers' license law, increased personnel of the state highway patrol, construction of a building to house the highway department, laws regulating the size and weight of vehicles, grade separation legislation, a minimum labor wage law, and a workman's compensation law also were recommended.

The recommendations were submitted by W. R. Ely of Abilene, chairman; D. K. Martin of San Antonio, and Cone Johnson of Tyler, members of the commission, and Gibb Gilchrist, state engineer.

Would Make Adjustments.

The bond issue would be spread over a period of not less than 10 years and an adjustment made with counties for monies expended from ad valorem taxes on state highways. It was pointed out that highways should be constructed and maintained by state funds, supplemented by federal aid.

Under the proposed plan, the highway department would operate under a combination bond issue and "pay-as-you-go" arrangement, the bond issue to be retired out of motor fuel taxes and used to repay counties or to assume the payment of outstanding bonds for funds ex-

Pin Lingle Death On St. Louis Man

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (AP)—The Lingle murder was pinned on a St. Louis gunman today, the law's answer to the seven-months-old question: "Who killed Jake Lingle?"

"Leo V. Brothers," the prosecutors said, and held him without charge, their evidence a secret, their next move hidden.

Tonight they poked about in still perplexing darkness for the answer to a more significant question: "Why was he killed?"

To the public, at least, the source of the underworld order for the execution of the Tribune crime reporter was as much a mystery as ever, and the investigators who staked their reputations on their arrest of Brothers as the assassin kept their counsel.

Nine witnesses, they said, have definitely pointed to Brothers as the man who crept up to Lingle in a downtown boulevard tunnel last June 9 and shot him dead.

President Hoover Sees New Generation Of Americans To Face Future Problems

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. — President Hoover believes that ten years hence a new generation of Americans will begin to arise, endowed with the mental, moral and physical health necessary to cope with the complexities of life among the marvels of science.

In an interview the president told a writer for Cosmopolitan magazine:

"Only children of a new generation—a new American—can stand against this future world.

"One of the biggest of all problems is to drive in this idea of the necessity of properly born, trained, educated and healthy moral children to the voters and officials of America. This child health conference was a start—but only that. We must keep it alive and burning.

"We must follow this national conference with a series of state conferences, then group and finally individual town and city conference, and the 'charter for children' must be drawn into the activities of government

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE B. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

MY SUPPLY of household hints today seems to be all cluttered up with uses for shellac. Here are two: shellacing brass ash trays keeps they from tarnishing so badly and they need cleaning less often. If your necklace leaves a black mark on your neck, dip it in shellac and it won't leave the dark ring. Liquid finger nail polish is good for the latter, also.

THERE WAS a day when ladies didn't get their names in the public print and didn't appear in public places and all that sort of thing. But they get almost anywhere today. This afternoon I've been haunting the exchange desk in my usual search for these elusive ideas. I've learned several things concerning women and what they are doing today. For instance:

Bobbie Trout and Edna May Cooper, feminine endurance fliers who have exceeded the former women's record and are out to exceed the men's record of 645 hours, are still aloft over Imperial, Cal. Mishaps have threatened to end the flight several times but the courage of the two women has won so far.

Britain's "girl Lindy," Amy Johnson, who recently made a lone 10,000 mile flight from London to Australia, in 19 days, is now undertaking another epochal journey. This time her 6,000 mile route lies across much of Europe and Asia, including Siberia and the great Gobi desert, from London to Peking, China. Some more courage and pioneering.

Thelma Lentz, 19, who has written three novels, is expecting to pay her way through the University of Illinois with her writing. She hasn't attempted sophisticated novels yet but has written stories for young readers as she knows more about them. That is her own idea and it probably has something to do with her success.

Margaret Kirmse, of New York, who, by the way had the foresight to marry a Texas man, George W. Cole, formerly of Brownwood, has gained fame and fortune painting pictures of people's cats and dogs. Some writer seemed surprised that people will spend good money on such things. It isn't surprising at all. Plenty of people love their dogs and cats well enough to have their pictures made and they hold this sentiment with reason. Their dogs and cats are often their most loyal friends.

I saw a picture of a cat in a Lubbock photography studio the other day. It belonged to a nurse here and she had the picture made.

We have a picture of a couple of dogs in our family album and they belong there as they were very definite members of our family for a number of years. As children we probably grieved more over their deaths than we would have over each other.

Mrs. Helen Sloan Maher, who is an executive of one of the largest of the state fairs in the United States, at Columbus, O., is getting ready for next year's fair now. She has been secretary of the fair for 10 years and has been connected with it for 13 years.

Women may be found in almost any place today that men are. They fill all sorts of executive positions.

ADVANCE ON STYLES

HERE ARE some advance style notices for spring that have come from the South. Eyelet embroidery is going to be good for afternoon frocks and the material is cotton; backless dresses are practically out for day time wear.

HERE IS AN INSTANCE

THE OTHER day a baby boy a few days old was left on a door step in San Angelo. Within the next few days many people in San Angelo and from surrounding towns called to see the baby, telephoned and in other ways sent inquiries about the child and asked that they be allowed to adopt it. The baby wasn't lacking in offers for homes.

Those who believe that people don't want children any more and that dire things are in store because every couple doesn't have 10 children might be interested in incidents of this kind. Plenty of people in the world still love children and want them. It is going to be a long time, too, before people put their children in the care of the state to be reared.

ANOTHER RECIPE

WE HAVEN'T had a recipe recently. Here is the way to prepare hamburg steak:

One pound beefsteak, chopped; juice of one onion; one-half cup water and one teaspoon parsley.

Mix all of the ingredients together and shape into firm cakes. Heat an iron frying pan until hot; oil it with a bit of fat from the meat and then remove the fat. Sear the cakes, then reduce the temperature to finish cooking. Turn the cakes often. Season with salt and pepper and serve at once. Half a cupful of soft bread crumbs and one egg may be added to the meat mixture.

Wool Crepes Brighten The Costume

By JOAN SAVOY
NEA Service Writer

Brighten up the fag end of the winter, if you possibly can. It really is such an unselfish thing to do!

You still have to wear your fur coat. But you can have a gay dress or two to put on under it, with an appropriate hat in gay color. Such an addition gives a note of cheer to home, the street or the office.

There are all kinds of pastel colors supplanting the dead black of early winter. Bright blues, dashing reds and some cheery plaids, dots or stripes abound, too. And this time of year you can buy a new outfit for little money and, if you are smart in your purchase, it will do for street wear when you shed your winter coat.

Wool crepes are the best for these gay under-the-coat outfits. If there is any kind of a jacket to the frock you buy, you can flaunt the dress and packet when spring comes 'round the corner.

Silk and wool mixtures are good too, for they have the charm of silk and the utility of wool. And there are some charming soft new tweeds that are elegant for under the coat wear now and good looking and warm enough to stand alone later on.

Two good examples of the bright frock for the fag end of winter are a frock with separate gay coat and a suit with separate scarf under which you can wear a matching gay blouse or a white one.

The frock with separate coat (left) is one of the bright reds, though you can get the same in any delicate pastel rose, green, blue or yellow. It has a smart banding stitched in design on the blouse and the peplum is finished to look like an overblouse. There is a tricky little collar in front, none in the back and the short sleeves turn back into a little cuff. The skirt has fullnes via the godet plan.

The jacket is bright as can be, a pretty beige, tan and red plaid little affair, in the same wool crepe. The red hat has a bit of gay gros-grain ribbon under the brim.

The suit (right) is orange tweed, made with a peplum coat that has seven-eighths sleeves. The coat fastens with the pointed flaps that button down. The scarf is orange too, with a stripe of brown in it and the hat and shoes are brown.

A little cotton mesh blouse, in matching tone, is an attractive accessory for this suit. Or you can use any of your other blouses.

Either of these is utilitarian as well as good to look at. And the way they will enliven your spirits is considerable.

CHARM CHATS

More about abdomens!

And ways to get rid of them.

Or rather ways to get rid of the distorted protuberance which comes with bad posture, wrong diet, and lack of exercise. It should be remembered that it is impossible—even if it were desirable—to do away entirely with this part of the anatomy.

Many women make the mistake of seeking complete flatness of abdomen. But a visit to art museums where the authority of Phidias himself may be called upon, will convince us that in the world of artistic conception, the fact of the abdomen is recognised. Certainly physical culturists and health enthusiasts agree that the esthetic ideal is that of a gently moulded contour.

But this is something far different from the unlovely distension which so often mars the figure even of a slender woman. Where the remainder of the figure is slender, then an unbeautiful abdominal contour is almost invariably a matter of posture.

The so-called "debutantee slouch," with head and shoulders jutted forward, the chest a cavernous recess, the body dangling on one leg as the other—with unjointed hip—is left to its own devices at one side! A fitting last touch to such a picture is a bulging middle section which is inevitable when the body structure is distorted in its principles of equipoise and balance.

"The "debutant sloucher" herself is usually much distressed about her figure and reads endless reams of articles about diet and exercise and talks about it endlessly and even worries. Sometimes she even practices a faithful regime of exercise, and refrains from munching chocolate creams as she reads the articles. But all to little purpose—if she neglects the smple rules of posture.

Head up. Chin in. Backbone straight. The body poised upon the balls of both feet. That isn't so hard, it is, to do to remember?

There is such a thing, however, as a geometrically large abdomen. A stomach which is ungracefully large in proportion to the rest of the body. Such cases result either from an accumulation of fatty tissue or from stretching the stomach by filling it too full of food.

The walls of the stomach are very elastic. And very obliging. If some evening Mrs. Satan serves our favorite mince pie, and we succumb to another piece and another—after an especially savoy roast has lured us to another serving and another, and perhaps those delicious petit pois again and yet again. Something has to be done about it! Can't you imagine the consternation in the nether digestive regions? Spatial accomodations exhausted! And more to be accomodated. Like a distracted Mine Host with more guests than the Inn has quarters.

The stomach is a very hospitable host. It will push out its walls in an effort to entertain all comers. When we overeat that is what happens.

The stomach literally expands. Then at the next dining, there is that more commodious space to be considered before the stomach registers contentment. What little Sambo calls "that good full feeling", the sense of sufficiency, does not descend until the new larger cavity is filled.

And we have room at Mrs. Satan's next invitation for still another triangle of mince, and still another "again" for the roast beef and petit pois.

Which in turn—because the former limit is exceeded just a wee bit this time too — distends the stomach walls a wee bit further. And behold! We are going about in a gastronomic vicious circle.

Obviously a large and ugly stomach which has been developed by this habit of overeating can be corrected by the reverse process of eating less food. Persistently observed, a new habit of less quality of food will bring rapid results.

Reduce all portions. Miss an occasional mid-day meal. If necessary spread the food necessary for the day into four or five meals so that only small bulks occupy the stomach at a time.

The elastic walls will shrink and very soon the figure will be symetrical and well portioned.

"The true old-time SUGAR HOUSE FLAVOR in this Golden Syrup"

Bill Heer

STALEY'S/ MASTER BLENDER

You've never tasted PANCAKES before...

until you try them with this clear golden syrup. The old-time "sugar-house" flavor gives you a new idea of what pancakes can be!

'TASTE this Golden Syrup of ours and you'll know what I mean by 'real old-time sugar-house flavor'! It's a blend we used to make down South nearly fifty years ago when we cooked our syrups in open kettles and syrup blending became an art.

"Syrup as fine as this is rare nowadays. There's more to it than selecting your ingredients carefully. There's the knack of blending at just the right time and just the right temperature to bring out its mellow smoothness and pure golden color.

"Nobody learns to make syrups in a few months or a few years. I've spent almost a life-time in perfecting this Golden Syrup of ours. It's as fine as a syrup can be.

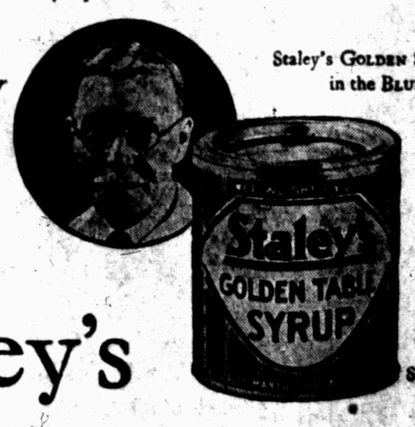

Ask your grocer for Staley's Golden Syrup and serve it with pancakes, waffles, muffins, hot breads of all kinds. You can make delicious cakes, cookies and ginger bread with Staley's Syrup. It's surprisingly inexpensive, too.

The Enrollment At Tech

ENCOURAGING reports have emanated from the campus of Texas Technological college, the institution which is more and more becoming a vital part of Lubbock as well as of the Southwest. Enrollment figures, as announced by President Paul W. Horn are not only reassuring, they are remarkable at a time when attendance at colleges in many other parts of the country have come tumbling down.

The winter term of Texas Tech opened the other day in the face of predictions upon many sides that "a lot of the students won't be coming back." But as registration continued—it's not over yet, by the way—it became apparent that Tech was not only holding its own but was actually showing a gain.

According to Doctor Horn, more students have enrolled for the winter term this year than were enrolled for the same term last year. Indications are now that the 1931 winter term will equal, from a size standpoint, the 1930 fall term just closed—which is unusual considering the many students and athletes who attend all colleges during the gridiron season and then drop out until spring.

But in addition to the above information, Doctor Horn points out another angle to the present term's enrollment, one which speaks loudly of its own accord. The enrollment in the school of agriculture, which is made up largely of students from farm homes and environs, is larger today than it has ever been in the history of the state institution.

The Morning Avalanche believes no truer indication exists of conditions in West Texas and New Mexico as a whole. Tech's enrollment stands as a barometer which will be hard to supplant, even if one seeks to supplant it. We see in it a happy chapter in the volume which twelve months from now will be labelled "Achievements of 1931."

FARM OWNERS

Among farm operators in this country there is very little absentee landlordism. More than nine-tenths of the rented farms are owned by landlords who live in the immediate neighborhood, and only five per cent are owned by landlords who live outside the state in which the farms are located.

It is a significant and gratifying fact that more than four-fifths of farm owners obtained their land by purchase, only a small percentage having received all their property by gift or inheritance. What better proof of the thrift of the American farmer?

A study of the farm tenancy situation brings out the fact that large numbers of men climb the ladder from day labor to tenancy, to ownership. About three-fourths of the farmers under 25 years of age are tenants, whereas only one-fourth of the farmers of 65 and over do not own their farms. Almost one-half of all tenants worked for wages before operating rented farms.

Personal ownership by those who work the ground is a highly desirable situation. Farming, more and more, is becoming a scientific profession. Farmers who pay rent to the landlord are not particularly interested in building up the property, nor do they obtain the full return for their labor. But the farm owner is tied to the soil. His property represents his capital, and only by improving the land is he able to increase his capital. He is in business for himself. Naturally he will work harder than his tenant neighbor, whose only concern after he has obtained a living from the land is to clear enough additionally to pay the rent.

Farm ownership is the basic foundation upon which the American agricultural structure is built.

If the unemployed have no income, they are at least being paid attention.

Practical Health Problems

INFECTED TEETH AND TONSILS MAY CAUSE RHEUMATIC PAINS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Today medical investigators are giving more attention to rheumatism and rheumatic disorders than ever before in the history of medical science. There are clinics in every large medical center for studying and treating this disease.

One of the reasons for this attention, as pointed out by Dr. Ralph Pemberton, is the realization of the fact that pain in the joints and in the muscles and many of the other conditions generally classified as rheumatic are responsible for a tremendous amount of disability in industrial workers and that the cost is a great economic problem.

In true scientific medicine, the method of attack on the disease is first to discover the cause and then to attempt to eliminate the cause rather than to treat the symptoms. Of course, a competent physician can relieve the patient of his pain and give him back the function of his limbs by the use of appropriate remedies while attempts are being made to discover the exact causes.

It is already recognized that a tendency to this disorder may run in families, because certain types of people are more frequently attacked by the disease than others. It is recognized that the condition is not merely inflammation in one joint, but that profound changes take place throughout the human body, affecting the blood, the other fluids in the body, and tissues sometimes far removed from the spot in which the pain is localized.

For years it has been understood that infection in the teeth and in the tonsils might be responsible for setting up inflammations far distant. It is now recognized that these factors are of the greatest importance and should be controlled when present, but that infections may also exist in other parts of the body and be directly related to pains in the joints.

Apparently the blood supply in the rheumatic person is not up to normal standard. The fact that there is a decreased blood flow in the parts of the body affected may explain the added discomfort expressed by people with rheumatism when there are changes in the weather.

Dr. Pemberton has emphasized for many years the relationship which the food intake of the body bears to rheumatic disorders. If the gastro-intestinal function is improved, and the burden lowered by cutting down the intake of food, particuularly substances which are difficult to digest, there comes not infrequently improvement in the rheumatic condition.

It is thus obvious that there is no single cure for arthritis to be found in a bottle of any kind of medicine, but that every patient with the disease must be studied as a unit and treated according to the condition which exists in him as an individual rather than as human beings with rheumatism.

GOP Thoughts Turn To Cal

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Again one hears the colyum-ist, Calvin Coolidge, mentioned in connection with the presidency—that is, in connection with the 1932 Republican nomination.

Also, alternatively, the great hell-'n-Maria diplomat, Charles G. Dawes.

Likewise, somewhat tentatively, the nation's most celebrated father-in-law, Senator Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey.

Why, how is this?—sez you, gentle reader.

We all are well aware (you continue) that heck is to pay in the grand old party.

But neither former President Coolidge (you point out), nor Ambassador Dawes, nor yet Senator Morrow is the type of ring-tailed radical likely to appeal to the political passions of the "consummate demagogues" (you quote here from Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana) who are doing all the heck-raising.

IN SO SAYING you are absolutely correct, dear reader, but you are correct only in so far as your statement actually goes, and you have not finished everything there is to be said on the subject. Not by a long shot.

Evidently, friend reader, you have been getting your information from some superficial correspondent who has given you the impression that the "consummate demagogues" alone are dissatisfied with the way things have been going in the G. O. P. of late—or for quite awhile previously, for that matter.

Without wishing to be construed as accusing them of any out-and-out share in the heck-raising, believe me, these other folk are tickled pink at the spectacle of the heck the "consummate demagogues" are raising.

ONE ITEM is certain:

The "consummate demagogues" will not gain control of the Republican organization—not by 1932 anyway, or anywhere nearly as soon as that.

They may launch a third party movement.

If they do, it may result in splitting both big parties and two brand-new parties may be the final outcome of the ruction; or both major parties may go on the rocks and all hands have to take to a lot of little "blocs" to save themselves.

BUT AS FAR ahead as 1932 (not to mention considerably later) there will continue to be a G. O. P. national committee in first-class running order.

The vital question is

Who will be running it during the first half of 1932, as the situation shapes itself for and culminates in that year's Republican national convention?

Not the "consummate demagogues." That's a cinch. There are not enough of them.

Nevertheless, there is a fight for the job.

THE FACT IS, there are two conservative groups in the G. O. P.

One is the now dominant group—dominant in the White House and dominant in the Barr building on Farragut square, Washington, D. C., where the national committee holds forth.

No. 2 is the group, once dominant, which passed into eclipse when President Coolidge moved into the executive mansion.

THUS THE OLD timers of group No. 2 had to make the best of the Northamptonian and gradually they grew to like him. He could have had another four years, so far as they were concerned, had he chosen to run again.

Emphatically, however, they objected to Mr. Hoover.

One may ask:

Did it not occur to them that they might get over their objection to him?—just as they had outgrown their objection to Mr. Coolidge.

No, it did not, and their failure to think of it was no mere accident.

AFTER ALL, the old timers' objection to Mr. Coolidge was not deep-seated. It was akin to the hostility a subordinate often feels, for awhile, toward a rather grouchy new boss, following an extremely amiable predecessor.

Yet basically Mr. Coolidge and the old timers were congenial politicians. They simply needed to get acquainted.

But Mr. Hoover is not a politician, and neither are the associates he gathers about him. At any rate they are not the old timers' kind of politicians. The old timers sensed unerringly that they were not going to get on harmoniously with Mr. Hoover or his friends, and they never have and they never will.

AS WE KNOW, Mr. Hoover won despite the old timers.

Today they are no more friendly toward him than they were at Kansas City, though, of course, they cannot admit it.

Until recently they have not dared to hope that they would be able to do anything about it in 1932, either. The party machine (which is to say, the national committee) functions as obediently at Mr. Hoover's behest as Mr. Coolidge's did for the latter. If it is still doing so a year and a half hence, the old timers agree that it will renominate Mr. Hoover with equal certainty.

BUT suppose, through no overt act by the old timers, but solely as a result of the "consummate demagogues'" howling, his hand-made committee becomes so unpopular that Mr. Hoover has to start making changes in it.

Even suppose the old timers should get a few of their own experts in—to do a little tinkering with delegations and the like.

To be sure, the idea is highly speculative.

Yet it is odd that, at this particuluar juncture, there should be such a recrudescence of presidential hints relative to ex-President Coolidge, General Dawes and Senator Morrow—just as one would have supposed the inevitability of President Hoover's renomination was recognized by everyone.

Old Tom Edison says the reason we are so prosperous is because of prohibition. Thanks a lot, Tom; we hadn't heard that one since 1928.

The post-mortem showed that his stomach had been granted a divorce because his palate had loved not wisely but too well.

Murder At Bridge

by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON," "THE AVENGING PARROT" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

©1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUANITA SELIM is murdered at bridge. Suspicion rests on nearly all of her guests. LYDIA, her maid, says she loved Nita and shows SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR DUNDEE presents she gave her, including a bronze lamp with a broken bulb, which indicates to Dundee that the murder bumped into it while fleeing toward the back hall. TRACEY MILES, one of the guests, returns and offers to take Lydia home with him if he may, and Dundee tells her of this, and reads Nita's will, leaving everything to Lydia, which shows Nita's fear of murder and also gives a new motive for the crime to Lydia. Lydia knows nothing of the $10,000 Nita deposited since she came to Hamilton.

In a note to Lydia, Nita tells her to dress her for cremation in a velvet dress, 12 or 13 years old, which Dundee suspected as a wedding dress. He learns from Lydia that Nita went out with RALPH HAMMOND, in love with her and missing from the party, Thursday night, and Friday night, the night she made the will, saw DEXTER SPRAGUE, who left her upset. Dundee tells Miles that Lydia accepts the offer, and asks him if he saw Ralph at Nita's house when he called that morning, and what was his attitude.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

"Uusal?" Miles repeated, frowning. "He was a little short with me because he was busy, and, I suspect, a little jealous because I'd come calling on Nita—" He broke off abruptly, in obvious distress. "Look here, Dundee I didn't mean to say that, but I suppose you'll find out sooner or later— Well, the fact is, the whole crowd knows Ralph Hammond was absolutely mad about Nita Selim. Wanted to marry her, and made no secret of it, though we all thought or hoped it would be little Penny Crain. He's been devoted to Penny for years, and since Roger Crain made a mess of things and skipped out, leaving Penny and her poor mother high and dry, we've all done our best to throw Penny and Ralph together. But since Nita came to town—"

"Was Nita in love with Ralph?" Dundee cut in, rather curtly, for he had a curious distaste for hearing Penny Crain discussed in this manner.

"Some times we were sure she was," Miles answered. "She flirted with all of us men—had a way with her of making every man she talked to think he was the only pebble on the beach. But there was something special in the way she looked at Ralph. . . Yes, I think she was in love with him! But then again," he frowned, "she would treat him like a dog. Seemed to want to drive him away from her— but she always called him back—Oh, Lord!" he interrupted himself with a groan. "Now I suppose I have put my foot in it! You've got the damndest way of making a chap tell everything he would cut out his tongue rather than spill, Dundee! But just because a young man's love, and happens not to show up at a party, is no reason to think he sneaked up to the house and killed the woman he loved and wanted to marry. For I'm not so dumb that I haven't seen the drift of your damnable questions, Dundee! . . . Do you know Ralph Hammond, by any chance?" he concluded, his round face red with anger.

"No—but I should like to meet him," Dundee retorted. "He seems quite hard to locate this evening."

"Well, when you do find him," Tracey Miles began violently, his blue eyes blazing with anger, "you'll soon find you've been barking up the wrong tree! There's not a cleaner, finer, straighter—"

"In fact, he is a friend of yours, Miles," Dundee answered soothingly, "and I respect you for every word you've said. . . By the way, did all of you go to the Country Club for dinner after you left here?

Somewhat mollified, Miles answered: "All of us but Clive Hammond. He said he was going to have a look around for Ralph himself. Seemed to have an idea where he might find him. . . And, oh yes, Sprague disappeared in the scramble. He hasn't a car and nobody thought of offering him a lift. Guess he took a bus into Hamilton. . . . Ah, Here's Lydia! . . Hello, Lydia!" who was standing, tall and gaunt, he called heartily to the woman in the doorway. "Mighty glad you're coming to look after the kids!"

From behind the black veil which draped her ugly black hat and hid her scarred face, Lydia answered in the dull, harsh voice that was characteristic of her:

"Thank you, sir I'll do my best."

She made no protest when Dundee, with a word of embarrassed apology, went rapidly through the heavy suitcase she had brought up from the basement with her. And when he had finished his fruitless search, she knelt and silently smoothed the coarse, utilitarian garments he had disarranged.

Five minutes later Dundee was alone in the house where murder had been committed under such strange and baffling circumstances that afternoon. He was not nervous, but again he made a tour of inspection of the first floor and basement, looking into closets, testing windows to make sure they were all locked. Everywhere there were evidences of the thoroughness of the police detectives who had searched for the weapon with which Nita Selim had been murdered. In the basement, as he had subconsciously noted on his headlong dash to question Lydia Carr, the furnace doors swung open, and the lids of the laundry tubs had been left propped up, after the unavailing search. .

He plodded wearily up the basement stairs and on into the kitchen.

College Professor Rules As Czar Of Chicago Cleaning, Dyeing Business

BY WALTER BROWN

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (AP)—Slight, bespectacled Ben M. Squires, a college professor with a soft voice today rules as "czar" of the racket-ridden Chicago cleaning and dyeing business.

He follows a long line of bold-eyed and blustering "muscle" men, exercising unqualified authority over sales, advertising, employment, price and operations.

Terms Made Public

Terms of an agreement between Squires and 78 of the city's 117 companies were made public Wednesday. Under it, should an owner disregard an order, Squires may assume complete control of the plant. The agreement is for three years. Squires' only obligation is to handle his funds without gross negligence.

The cleaners solicited Squires' assistance and the compact was agreed on to avert disastrous price cutting and destructive racketeering.

Until a year ago the cleaners and dyers had other "dictators," whose authority was the bomb, the firebrand and the pistol. They exacted heavy tribute from plant owners and dictated prices.

Allied With Capone

Al Capone once was linked with the industry. A highly reputable concern, tiring of paying racketeers, formed an alliance with Capone and matched terror with terror. "Bugs" Moran, head of what was the north side mob of gangsters, testified at a vagrancy hearing that he was an official in a large cleaning and dyeing company.

Dr. Squires is an economics lecturer at the University of Chicago. Between 1914 and 1921 he was a government labor conciliator. He has been for several years conciliator of the Chicago clothing industry.

He said parties to the agreement do 70 per cent of the $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 gross annual business. He is hopeful that 17 other firms will accept the terms. Twenty-two companies were classified as "undesirable."

Lawyers, who have seen the agreement, have declared it unique, because of the sweeping powers conferred upon Squires.

A fund for Squires will be established through the levying of 2 per cent on the gross monthly business, payable each month.

GASOLINE REDUCED

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 8. (AP)—All of the larger refining companies with the exception of Sun Oil company today put into effect a two-cent a gallon reduction in the price of gasoline, carrying the price down to 15 cents for the regular grades, and 18 cents for the special gasoline.

TAKES OWN LIFE

CHERRYVALE, Kan., Jan. 8. (AP) Clarence Peebles, 51-year-old widower, hanged himself in a barn at the home of a sister six miles south of here early today. Relatives ascribed the suicide to ill health.

SUSPECT IS HELD

HOUSTON, Jan. 8. (AP) — Police were holding a man for questioning after an aged man, believed to be M. G. Brady, was found fatally stabbed last night in his room at a hotel here. He died in an ambulance en route to a hospital. Police were told the stabbing followed a quarrel.

"I do not think I have ever met a really wicked man or women," declared the Bishop of Chelmsford while speaking in a London motion picture theater recently.

Local Grocery Store Robbed

Cash Totaling $51 Stolen Here Wednesday Night From Star Cash Grocery; Second Cash Drawer Overlooked

Cash totaling $51 was stolen Wednesday night from a cash drawer in the Star Cash grocery, 1312 Avenue H, and a second drawer containing about $10 was left unopened, according to a report early Thursday to police.

The owner of the grocery, Hule Allison, closed the store late Wednesday afternoon and left immediately for Crosbyton. Upon his return to Lubbock, between 11 o'clock and midnight, he discovered the robbery and reported it to police.

The cash register which had not been opened was in the grocery market, which is in the same building. Investigation showed that glass in a rear window had been broken, making possible release of a stick which had been used as a jamb. It was accomplished in the same way.

Birth Control, Companionate Marriage And Divorce Attacked By Pope Pius XI

ROME, Jan. 8. (AP)—The full power and authority of the Roman Catholic church were invoked by Pope Pius XI today to uphold the sanctity of Christian marriage and to stamp out the practices of birth control, "companionate" marriage and divorce.

In the most sweeping exposition of the church's view on matrimony in many years he condemned the use of contraception, abortion, sterilization or any other means to prevent the fruitfulness of wedlock.

Holds Family Sacred

His pronouncement came in the form of a long encyclical, the first of its kind in 50 years of eclesiastical history. In it he enjoined his bishops to propagate the church's view that marriage is indissoluble except by death, and that the family, within the meaning of this sacrament, "is more sacred than the state."

Birth control is a deed "shameful and intrinsically vicious" and a "horrible crime" the pontiff enjoined the faithful.

"Any use whatsoever of matrimony exercised in such a way that the act is deliberately frustrated in its natural power," he said, "is an offense against the law of God and nature, and those who indulge in such are branded with the guilt of a grave sin."

"Companionate" marriage came in for an equally vigorous denunciation.

Would Reduce Standards

Marriages of such a nature, are often defended as a necessity of "modern" culture, he declared. He gave as the church's dictum that they did not partake of such culture but were "simply hateful abominations which beyond all question simply reduce our truly cultured natures to the barbarous standards of savage people."

The modern wife, the pope declared, must not carry the doctrine of obedience to her husband to the point of sacrificing her wifely dignity. He deplored, however, the doctrines of "false teachers who try to dim the lustre of conjugal faith and purity" and hold that the woman and is to be freed from the responsibilities of home and family.

"This is not," he said, "true emancipation of woman. It is rather the debasing of the womanly character and the dignity of motherhood."

Divorce Condemned

Divorce he utterly condemned and he called on the pronouncements of the saints and the Bible itself to show that once entered into conjugal fidelity and union must persist until death separates the partners.

The laws of marriage are of God, he affirmed. "These laws can not be subject to any human decrees or to any contrary pact, even of the spouses themselves," the encyclical enjoined.

The pontiff urged the education of youth for marriage but condemned too much "physiological" education.

The encyclical took on the nature of a sociological doctrine in its reference to the duty of the state to assist married couples in straitened circumstances.

"Their necessities must be relieved as far as possible," the pope said. Then, adopting the principles of Pope Leo XII's "rerum novarum" the encyclical as his own, he laid down the doctrine that "in the state such social and economic methods should be set up as will enable every head of family to earn as much as, according to his station in life, is necessary for himself, his wife and for rearing his children."

"To deny this," he continued, "or to make light of what is equitable is a grave injustice and is placed among the geratest sins by holy writ. Nor is it lawful to fix such a scanty wage as will be insufficient for the upkeep of the family in the circumstances in which it is placed."

Persons contemplating matrimony, he said, should of course strive to dispose of, or at least dimish, the material obstacles in their way, but, "provision must be made also, in the case of those who are not self supporting, for joint aid by public or private guilds."

Colds and Coughs Yield To Calotabs

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calomel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compounds tablet was introduced.

Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results. In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish,—no danger.

Get a family package of Calotabs, containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store. (adv.)

AN APPEAL to the PEOPLE-

Every Good Citizen Should Co-Operate

If every man and institution in Lubbock does the duty that is necessary for the alleviation of the threatening unemployment emergency in Lubbock, we can look back one year from today and declare that it was impossible for a situation like that to exist. Right now in our midst there are our neighbors . . . our friends . . . our tax payers . . . and our citizens who are temporarily out of employment and it is our duty, and to our interest, to do everything possible to alleviate this situation. Every good, red blooded citizen with money in the bank and a home or piece of property that needs repairs should step out and give employment of some kind so that these unemployed could feed, clothe and supply sustenance for their families. Charity is not wanted by these men. They want the opportunity of an honest day's work. TODAY is your best opportunity to help these families. NOT TOMORROW. Do something NOW.

Wages Should Be Above The Average

The basic structure of America's prosperity is Labor. Men who are wage earners and have been educated to the luxuries that have made mass production necessary. Men who turn their day's wage back into the channels of distribution. Many sections have been prone to penalize this class of people by paying salaries far below the scale. This in no small measure has made the present crisis more acute and we of the South Plains of Texas should guard against this false economy. Pay them what they are worth and they will make it possible for you to make more profit. If "above the average" wage is paid in Lubbock, our financial structure will be formed on the proverbial rock foundation, thus eliminating for all time to come the endangerment of our financial happiness.

Building Materials Sacrificed Lowest Prices In Years

Lumber prices are the lowest in the history of Lubbock and the potential purchasing power of the Dollar is greater than ever before. These facts take the elements of gambling out of building. To built on upimproved property is a clear cut investment. Prices will soar as normalcy is again approached and we urge every property owner in town to take advantage of this two-fold opportunity . . . make sound investments and alleviate the threatening crisis of the unemployed in Lubbock. A telephone call to 1510 will bring accurate information to prospective builders and improvers.

OUR FUTURE DEPENDS ON THE MANNER IN WHICH THE CURRENT CRISIS IS DISPOSED OF

To sum the entire situation up, we look at it in this selfish viewpoint. In good times and in bad times, we strive to pour the Lubbock dollars that come into our coffers back into the Lubbock business. Our institution is in and for Lubbock first, last and always. Being a home owned and home operated institution, we have the interest of labor of Lubbock at heart and know that what benefits them, helps us. Lubbock's future is our future, thus every job of construction that comes for our action has today, tomorrow and the years that might come for us to consider, because any Lubbock Lumber Company job must have the lasting qualities that only superior workmanship and drafting will give. We'll be here in the years to come to back up anything we do or say. We'll grow with Lubbock by growing in quality and belief in the goodness and superiority of Lubbock's skilled and unskilled labor.

Matador Cagers Meet School Of Mines Tonight At 8

Return Of Old Regulars Make Tech Stronger

Golightly Not Certain Of Starting Lineup; Jimmie Kerr, Baker Report For Team This Week

Opening their second series of the season, the Texas Matadors will meet the Texas School of Mines quintet on the home court this evening at 8 o'clock. Coach W. L. Golightly announces that his team is in considerably better shape than was the case last week when it divided a series with the Southwestern State Teachers of Oklahoma.

Coach Mack Saxon and his Mines squad arrived in Lubbock late last night and took to bed after the lengthy ride from El Paso. The Miner mentor did not announce his starting lineup, but three men pretty certain to start will be Kermit Stewart, veteran gridster and cager, Shorty Key, former star at Dallas Terrill Prep, and Cotton Pippen, one of the outstanding gridsters of the powerful Mines team last fall.

Golightly was not certain of his lineup last night. One of the forwards will be Captain Clarence Hodges, and the other will be Haden Moody or Puckett. Leon Fisher, veteran from last season, will start at center, and Tadlock will be one of the starting guards. Harvey Dunn is likely to get the call for the other position.

The Tech skipper named over other men who are likely to get in action tonight or tomorrow night. Jimmie Kerr, who played rather consistently with the Matadors last season and who is rated as a first class cager, has returned to school after a matrimonial spree and is due to become something of a regular with the Golightlymen. Another old face back after a lengthy absence is Howard Baker, who was with the team year before last and some last year.

Others Show Up Well

Other men who are likely to see service in the Crimson and Black are Basil Hill, Wiese, Haden Moody, Crews, Red Waller, Kline, Barton Claunch, Bob Taylor, Dar, and Reeves. They have been showing up well in practice this week and are likely to make the veterans hump to keep their positions during the remainder of the season.

The second game of the series will be played tomorrow night, starting at 8 o'clock, at the Tech gymnasium court.

Win Day Steals Miami Golf Show

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 8. (AP)—Win Day, 15 year old Chicago shot maker, stole the show in first match play today of the annual Miami mid-winter amateur golf tourney with his one up victory over Millard Chase, Buffalo, in 19 holes.

The pair played evenly through the day at Miami Country Club course, coming through the 18th hole even. The Chicago youngster polled a birdie three at the nineteenth hole to cop the match and advance to tomorrow's quarter finals.

Jack B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., and medalist in the tourney, found little trouble in laying aside Ken Berry, Miami with a six and four match.

Jim West, of Miami, defending his 1930 championship of the amateur classic, was pushed to win 1 up at the 18th hole from T. C. Woodward, Middletown, Ohio.

Eighteen hole quarter-finals will be played tomorrow.

TWO BODIES SOUGHT

Basketball Coaches And Officials Of West Texas Meet At Tech Tomorrow

Both Sexes Invited To Rules Meet At Tech Gym

Basketball coaches, players, and officials representing the majority of high schools on the South Plains and many of West Texas outside of this area will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Texas Tech gymnasium in a rules interpretation meeting called by Pete Cawthon, head coach at Tech and president of the Texas Board of Approved Basketball Officials association.

Letters written by Coach Cawthon and invitations mailed by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce to coaches and officials all over the section have been answered in pleasing numbers, and it is thought that a crowd of more than 150 will be on hand.

Luncheon At Noon

The visitors will be entertained at noon by a luncheon at a local hotel, given by the local Chamber of Commerce, and those waiting over after the afternoon sessions will be given complimentary tickets to the Tech-Texas School of Mines basketball game, which starts at 8 o'clock.

Men and women alike are invited to the conference, which has as its main object the translation or interpretation of basketball rules and changes in the rules in vogue this season. It will also be possible for coaches to fill gaps in the schedule for the season at the meeting here.

Pete Cawthon will act as chairman of the general meeting in the morning, at which time all visitors, men and women, will meet together in the gym for initial instruction. Afterwards the men will gather in some appointed place releasing the gymnasium to the girls. Zella Riegel and Johnnye Gilkerson, instructors in the physical education department for women at Tech, will lead in the girls' meeting and will stage a basketball game between picked teams illustrating the rules and changes of same.

Heavies Marking Time; Wait For Pa

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—The heavyweights, confused and muddled in arguments, marked time today, waiting for the arrival of "Pa" Stribling before settling finally whether Max Schmeling will fight Stribling in Chicago, Detroit or Cleveland, of whether Stribling will tackle Jack Sharkey in New York.

The Striblings are due tomorrow from Miami, Fla., and he and his fighting son, Bill, are committed definitely to a championship duel in Chicago early in June with the German who was stripped of his title by the New York state athletic commission today.

ADA TEACHERS WIN

East Texas Teachers Bow To Sooners, 43 to 19

COMMERCE, Jan. 8. (AP)—Led by the brilliant Carlton, who scored 19 points, the Oklahoma Teachers quintet from Ada, Okla., defeated the East Texas State Teachers, 43-19, here tonight. The locals were outplayed in every department. Parker annexed high scoring honors for Commerce with six points. The same teams were matched for another game tomorrow.

TOWN LEADER DIES

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 8. (AP)—George W. Emery, 79, who once was justice of the peace, deputy sheriff, postmaster, collector of the port, principal of the school, member of the village board, game warden and chairman of the republican committee at Sodus Point, Wayne county, all at the same time, died in a hospital here last night.

Western Conference Schools Survive Fairly Prosperous Season; Football Receipts Will Tide Minor Athletics

(NOTE: This is another of Associated Press series of stories based on athletic conditions in colleges and universities.)

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (AP)—Football, the liberal cousin of all college sports, had a fairly prosperous season during 1930 around the western conference so that but few of his dependents need curtail their immediate activities.

Here and there—notably at Iowa and Wisconsin — minor sports will be curtailed and long road trips abolished but on most conference campuses the athletic program will move along on about the same plane that has been maintained the last few years.

Illinois, Northwestern and Michigan were the bell cows of the conference so far as receipts were concerned and all planned to carry through their minor sports programs with curtailment, except perhaps as regards long trips to various relay games.

Illinois, in addition to maintaining its minor sports program, will build a $325,000 ice skating rink and an 18-hole golf course at a cost of $40,000 this year. A fund for this purpose has been built up from football receipts.

Northwestern In Good Shape.

Northwestern's football receipts were well above the budget requirements and the full program will be carried out, which will include an eastern trip for the wrestling squad and the usual spring training trip for the baseball team.

Michigan, although planning no large additions to its athletic plant will carry on its minor sports program almost in its entirety, for this year at least. Fielding H. Yost, athletic director, said the program was being carefully scrutinized, however, with the thought that "possibly the number of games or contests should be limited as football and basketball are limited at present."

Ohio State's football receipts fell $30,000 below expectations and where only six major football games will be played next year as compared to seven in 1931, is maintaining all minor sports but on a budget $35,000 under 1930 and with a curtailed schedule of games.

Indiana, Chicago and Minnesota will go along about as before, with the Hoosier school, located in a sparsely located community, playing four of its seven major football games away from home next fall in the hope of increased revenues. Basketball pays its own way at Indiana, one of the few schools where it is on a paying basis.

The most acute situation is at Iowa where the football team, playing only one conference game last fall drew only 60,000 spectators at six home games as compared to 80,000 at four home games the year before.

Basketball Meet Held At Dickens Late In January

DICKENS, Jan. 6. (Special)—The Dickens athletic council is preparing for the big annual invitation boys basketball tournament which will be held in the high school gymnasium on January 28, 29, 30 and 31. More trophies, awards will be offered this year than ever before and probably more than will be offered at any tournament in West Texas this year. Large trophies will be offered for the winning team, the runner-up team, of all around best sports, the winning team of the consolation, and the runner-up team of the consolation.

In addition to these trophies miniature gold basket balls will be provided for the individual members of the winning team, and miniature silver basket balls will be awarded the individual members of the runner-up team. Dennis Vinzant of the Texas Tech, the veteran referee of the South Plains, will call the games.

Dickens has one of the best gymnasiums in this part of the country and at least twenty-five teams are expected to enter. Twenty-two teams entered the girls tournament which was held here in December and the entries are coming in more rapidly for the boys tournament and more trophies and awards are being offered.

Dempsey Buys New Hat In Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, Jan. 8. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, the former ring champion, arrived here today minus a hat but promptly paid $40 for a new one.

"Left my other one in Galveston when I took it off to put on one of those parachutes this morning," he explained.

Having an engagement to speak before the kiddies of the state Masonic home, the mauler felt his head should be covered enroute. He repaired to a downtown department store.

The former champion slipped the first head covering handed him on his head. It looked good and friends said so.

"How much?" Jack asked.

"Only $40, Mr. Dempsey," the clerk replied.

Jack peeled off four $10 bills, once in the taxi and speeding toward the home, Jack took time to look the hat over-a more carefully.

"You know, I've received some pretty nifty hats from friends in this town and to think I had to choose this place to buy the most expensive one I ever paid for myself," Dempsey confided.

ACC DOWNS JACKETS

Howard Payne Lost In Lead Gained Early; Score, 38-31

ABILENE, Jan. 8. (AP)—For five minutes of the first half tonight the Abilene Christian College Wildcats romped from tipoff to basket, taking a lead which finally resulted in the defeat of Howard Payne College 38 to 31.

The Christians played raggedly the rest of the game but were not endangered. Jimmy Lawrence, Abilene forward, scored fifteen points, and Buck Gibbs led the Yellow Jackets with eight.

McCarthy Visits New York Yankees

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—Joseph V. McCarthy, new manager of the New York Yankees, paid his first visit of the indoor season today to a club he hasn't seen since it whipped the Pirates four straight in the world series of 1927.

Forced to fumble around a bit on details, McCarthy still was able to display plenty of optimism regarding the Yankees' future, although he refused to predict they were on the verge of another pennant winning surge.

He said the Yankees had no deals pending, the pitching staff needed another starting flinger, the infield must be straightened out, the outfield and catching staff would do as they stand, and there was plenty of snow and cold weather around his home town of Buffalo.

Dawdling Game Turns Lubbock In Final Half

Teams Show Poor Scoring Form In Slow-Moving Contest; Tied 8-8 At Half; Locals Find Basket In Final Periods

The Lubbock High school Westerners scored ten points in the last half while the Floydada Whirlwinds marked a single point and Coach Jew Keeling's outfit won the basketball game on the Tech court last night, 18 to 9. The score at the half was knotted, 8 to 8.

Nor was it what might be termed a first class exhibition. The game lagged all the way through, and point-making was a thing that seemed rarely to enter the minds of the slow-moving quintets. The first five minutes looked like a scrimmage of little children, and there was no scoring until nearly all of the first quarter was used. Just before the gun for the first quarter sounded, each team fouled twice and made good the free shots. That was all Floydada did until later. Lubbock managed to get in a field goal just before the shot, and the count was 4 to 2 after ten minutes of play.

Murray, Floydada substitute going in for Stewart, starting forward, carried a message from Coach Barksdale to the effect that if something didn't happen he'd jerk them all. The game visibly pepped up, and the Westerners had to get going to put two more balls through the basket before the half ended, to tie the score. Both coaches were moved to tears during that first half, and the crowd began to wonder why it had come.

In the second half the locals began to show a little life and looped seven points in the third quarter. Floydada got one, a free one, and were held scoreless in the fourth quarter. Barksdale sent in all the men he had in a vain attempt to find a scoring combination, and was relieved when the final gun exploded.

Bledsoe, Lubbock guard, going to forward when Captain Knight was called off, was high point man of the evening with two field goals and two unhampered. Lightfoot, starting forward for the visitors, shot two from under fire and made a free one good for five points to take second scoring honors. Knight, Quinlin, Pace and Brown were the other scorers for Lubbock. Stevenson, starting forward, and Alexander, guard, scored for Floydada.

Both teams were terribly off form. Lubbock failed to show the fire and scoring ability it showed against Littlefield last week, and Floydada's team showed the lack of practice. Barksdale has had them out only since Christmas and it was their second game.

Arkansas Porkers Down Texas, 29-21

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 8.—The University of Arkansas Razorbacks got off to a flying start tonight in their chase for the Southwest Conference basketball championship by defeating the University of Texas Longhorns, 29-21.

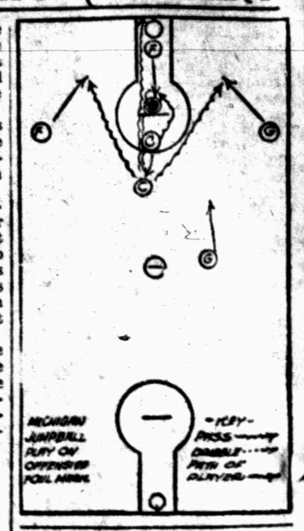

BASKETBALL PLAYS and PLAYERS

Coaches should follow a definite policy on all jump balls. There are many jump balls in a game and a definite offense or defense for held balls will insure possession of the ball more.

The Michigan jump ball play has been in use several years in the Big Ten Conference and is still effective. This play is best used on the offensive foul mark.

Notice the formation in the accompanying diagram. The center taps ball to (F1) and he taps it back to center who backs up two steps. Upon receiving it he shoots or passes to either of side players who may cut for basket. (F1) upon receiving tap from center may pivot and take a short shot.

On jump balls in the defensive end of the floor the ball should be tapped to a spot away from the basket. If the ball should be tapped nearer the basket an interception would mean a shot by the opponents.

To Look Further Into Conditions At U. Of Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kas., Jan. 8. (AP)—Three professors who administer the Big Six Conference eligibility rules will meet here tomorrow to determine the status of several football and basketball players at the University of Kansas.

The athletes, variously estimated to number between eight and twenty-two, are expected to be summoned to explain whether they were "subsidized" or were lured to the Jayhawker institution in violation of the rule against recruiting.

Charges against James A. Bausch in particular, were made when the conference faculty council, last October, voted to discontinue athletic relations with Kansas after the present academic year.

Bausch's eligibility had been challenged on the ground his $75 monthly salary for an insurance company constituted subsidization.

ALABAMA CAPTAINS NAMED

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Jan. 8. (AP)—Joe Sharpe, of Mobile, center, was elected captain of the University of Alabama football team for 1931, at a gridiron banquet here last night.

Symphony concerts will be broadcast from London by an orchestra of 114 players.

Do MOTOR BUSSES promote SAFETY?

In numerous ways.

1. By reducing the number of private carriers who are poorly equipped and irresponsible in many cases, thereby freezing the highways of surplus traffic and placing the hauling of passengers in the hands of men trained for the work and provided with first-class, safe equipment.

2. By exercising great caution in driving, both in town and out. Certain regulations of the Railroad Commission, which regulates motor busses, pertaining to safety must be obeyed if the companies are to retain their permit; and many companies have additional and more stringent rules for their drivers to promote safety in every way possible.

Penny Crain once enjoyed this ightful little sitting room, with tiny balcony built out upon the e sloping roof? Why couldn't is have slept up here, if Nita thought so much of her faithful and beloved maid?".

But even as he asked himself the question Dundee realized that the answer to it had been struggling to attract his attention.

These rooms had not been wast- ed! Someone had been occupying them as late as last night! Weaving swiftly through the three rooms, like a bloodhound on the scent, Dundee collected the few but sufficient proofs to back up his intuitive conviction. A copy of The Hamilton Evening Sun, dated Friday, May, 23 left in an armchair in the sitting room. All windows raised about six inches from the bottom, so that the night breeze stirred the hand-blocked linen drapes. And, clinging to these drapes, the faint but unmistakable odor of cigaret smoke. Finally, with a low cry of triumph, Bonnie Dundee flung back the hand-blocked linen spread which covered the three-quarter sized bed and discovered that the sheets and pillow cases, though clean, had, beyond the shadow of a doubt, been slept upon.

Bending so that his nose almost touched a pillow case he sniffed, Pomade! . . . Who was the man who had slept in this bed last night?

Texas Tech Band Being Reorganized

The Texas Technological band is being reorganized, failure of students to return to school after the holidays having caused vacancies, according to Harry LeMaire, director.

Reorganization of the band will be completed during the next two weeks, the director said. Beginning Monday, any student registered at Technological college will be eligible to play in the band for two weeks. At the end of that period, a tryout will be held and regular members of the organization selected.

Band practice is being held each morning from 7 to 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the chemistry building.

It was announced that a schedule is being worked out for a number of trips to be made during the winter term, with the Matador court team. Tentative plans also have been drawn for a tour to be conducted next summer through the western and northern states.

Cotton Reaction Follows Opening Advances Livestock Trade Is Slow In Livestock Market Grain Steady Demand On Cash Grain Mart

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—An opening advance in cotton today, on covering by near month shorts and buying of near month deliveries on the rather steadier tone of Liverpool, was followed by reactions under southern selling and liquidation or realizing. Offerings were light, but there was very little demand after the early spurt. March sold off from 10.36@10.18 and closed at 10.21 with the general market closing barely steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower on all months except the relatively quiet old January contracts, which were 15 points net higher.

New January sold down to 10.00 and July to 10.09, making net losses of about 3.50 points but the market steadied at these figures and held fairly steady during the rest of the day with a little spurt of covering in the old January contracts responsible for the relative firmness for that position at the close.

The holiday in New Orleans probably had a restricting effect on trading. Prices for the more active months fluctuated with a range of 10 to 12 points.

Liverpool cables said hedging had been absorbed by covering and local buying in that market and reported only a small turnover in cotton cloths and yarns at Manchester. Exports today 32,792, making 4,193,136 so far this season. Port receipts 18,909. U. S. port stocks 4,044,886.

Indolent And Indifferent Stock Mart Squeezes Slightly Higher On Thursday

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—An indolent and indifferent stock market squeezed higher today, thanks largely to a last-minute rally in the steels and utilities.

The turnover, however, was the smallest since December 24, for neither the intermittent declines or advances attracted much of a following. Sales totaled 1,206,093 shares.

Recessions Recovered.

Small early recessions were recovered around noon when the results of the Berlin sugar conference were announced. The agreement, of course, made short in the sugar issues cover quickly and gains of 1 to 2 points, mostly in the preferred members of the group ensued. But the rest of the market did little more than pick up its forenoon losses. In the final 15 minutes professional traders gave the list its best flip of the day, with the result that small net gains were general.

American Sugar soared 5, Cuban-American preferred and South Porto Rican preferred 7, American Beet preferred and Great Western preferred more than 4, while others developed less buoyancy.

Grains were not so fortunate. Forecasts of beneficial rains in Kansas and reports of good harvesting weather in Argentina sent new wheat futures off about a cent. It was announced that the stabilization corporation had extended cash buying to St. Louis, Minneapolis and the southwest and Pacific northwest as a move to check declines which were said to jeopardize the price structure. Corn also lost a cent under selling prompted by an estimate of larger Argentine exports and favorable weather. Cotton closed unchanged to 5 points higher for the active months.

Hoover Says

and social institutions.

"Think what this new generation, built upon that constitution, will mean to the single problem of the young criminal. The present rate of criminal increase is disheartening beyond measures.

"This new generation of children, healthy, trained and mentally inspired would go a long way toward solving all this. Most of our native criminal class are products of city slums. If the character and quality and health of these children were watched and nurtured, a criminal type of child would not develop. It would be difficult to overestimate what the single item of adequate playground facilities would mean in the bringing up of normal city children."

Regarding standardization, the article quoted the president:

"I don't mind how much we standardize or what we standardize so long as everybody gets and uses it. The purpose of standardizing is to make things cost less and make them accessible to everybody. It's all right to standardize so long as we standardize up and not down."

Legislators

"Gerry-mandering" when redistricting of the state for either congressional or legislative districts came up.

His bills, he said, were drawn on a purely "academic" basis alloting representative, both congressional and legislative, on a basis of population, with consideration, when possible, to the allied interests of communities.

Held Justified

A population of 38,000 would be the basis for each representative in the legislature under his bill. While this would give several larger cities increased representation, Metcalfe declared they should have it if their increased population warranted the increase.

He has also tried to throw together communities of related interests, such as two neighboring oil or neighboring farming communities, he said.

"We should forget our personal interests in re-districting," he declared, "for in ten years, the time the new reappointment must last, all of us may be out of the picture."

Governor Dan Moody, his desk cleared of all other matters, closed his doors to visitors today while he revamped his final message to the legislature.

His legacies to Governor-elect Ross Sterling included a Bible, left in the office by Governor Pat. M. Neff: two mounted deer heads; and a blotter, which probably will need to be replaced.

Fraternity War Looms

Senator W. E. Thomason's war against fraternities, quiet for a few weeks, only presaged a more sustained attack, he indicated today.

Precipitated by the death of a young woman in a fraternity house on the campus last Thanksgiving, Senator Thomason's fight will be carried before the legislature until university authorities administer the "needed tonic," he said.

The suspension of the fraternity connected with the Thanksgiving episode was not sufficient, Senator Thomason declared. "Fraternities have no place on the campus," he declared.

The attorney general's office was perhaps hardest hit by the legislative landslide. "Every state department must need a deficiency appropriation," commented Young Jimmie Allred, new attorney general, after having been interviewed by several department heads relative to drawing up bills for them.

Common colds cost England 7,000,000 lost working weeks last year.

MIDDLEWEST LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 8. (AP)—Fed steer and yearling trade around the eleven market circuit was slow with strictly good and choice offerings holding fully steady but a weak undertone prevailing on short feds. The inbetween grades of weight steers which have been marketed rather freely this week were as much as 25 lower at some centers. Highly finished heavy steers in Chicago scored 13.75 and other well finished lots sold upward to 13.50. At Kansas City good short feds selling 1,050-1,100 lbs. were numerous at 9.50@9.75, the inside price acquiring a load of 1,100 lb. offerings of Texas origin. Receipts were estimated at 26,000.

The hog market was slow at prices unevenly steady to 25 lower. Medium weight and heavy butchers showed the most decline. St. Louis had a top of 8.35. Offerings were around 136,000.

Liberal receipts of lambs more than offset the bullish influence of a strong to higher trade on dressed lambs. Prices at most markets were steady to 25 lower. Shippers in Chicago paid up to 8.60 for fat lambs while at Omaha shippers stopped at 8.50. Matured killing classes of sheep held fully steady. The supply approximated 73,200.

Bond Issue

pended on state highways since creation of the highway commission. The commission stated this would reduce taxes of "the overburdened property owners." Money from the bond issue would be used for an initial construction supplement.

It was estimated that by the time the bond issue could be placed in effect the counties would have invested between $85,000,000 and $90,000,000 in state highway construction. With a $200,000,000 bond issue, the commission said the counties would be repaid and the present mileage in the highway system constructed within 10 years, the total layout during that time being estimated at between $425,000,000 and $475,000,000, the expenditures depending on the normal increase in revenue.

Desire Cited.

The commission said the counties had shown an increased desire for state highway construction by providing bonds and estimated counties had at this time an unexpended sum of $31,000,000 voted to apply on state highways.

Pointing out that congress has increased the federal aid appropriation, the apportionment of Texas having been increased from $4,500,000 to $7,500,000, the commission said:

"Texas must stabilize the highway department's income for the additional reason that federal aid apportionments are increasing and must be matched with state funds."

Urging a drivers' license law, the commission said protection of life and property necessitated an examination for a permit to drive or operate a motor vehicle, suggesting the law should provide for fines suspension, revocation or a combination of these penalties for violations.

It was proposed the highway patrol be increased from 50 to 200 and be given full police powers.

The commission said efficiency of the department was curtailed by cramped and scattered office facilities and asked for a separate structure to house all activities of the Austin units, the building to include testing and research laboratories. It would be paid for from state highway funds.

It was recommended that maximum width of vehicles be restricted to between 86 and 90 inches and the height and load of trucks limited to 12 feet. A minimum wage of not less than 30 cents an hour labor on state highway contracts was urged.

PROTEST RECEIVED

Employment Of Mexicans At Pampa Is Criticized

DALLAS, Jan. 8. (AP)—A protest against employment of Mexican labor on new railway construction at Pampa, received today by Captain J. F. Lucey, southwestern director for President Hoover's unemployment relief committee, was branded by him as "vicious."

Captain Lucey said the protest would be referred to the state committee on employment relief at its first meeting here Friday. He did not disclose contents of the lengthy telegram received from Pampa. He made no comment other than to explain that as a member of the President's committee he had no authority or jurisdiction to treat with the protest.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Jan. 8. (AP) — Very steady demand was reported for all cash grains Thursday at Fort Worth. Number 1 hard wheat of any protein was probably worth 19@21 delivered Texas common points.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 13 cars; corn, 41 cars, 4 and sorghums, 2.

Quotations on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn, No. 2 mixed 78@79c; No. 2 white 81@83c; No. 3 yellow 80 1-2@81 1-2c.

Oats, No. 2 red 44 1-2@46 1-2c.

Barley, No. 3, 60@61c.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 1.30@1.33; No. 2 kaffir 1.27@1.30.

No. 2 white oats delivered Texas group one points were quoted at 43 1-4@44 1-4c, to which add one cent for delivery group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 8. (AP)—Lessened buying in corn led to lower prices for all grains today. Heavy receipts of wheat acted as an additional damper. Traders said an 8 cent corn advance since last week made a reaction natural, and that weather conditions were favorable both for corn movement and for economies in feeding.

Corn closed unsettled 7-8 to 1 1-4 cents lower than yesterday, wheat at 1c decline to 1-8c advance, oats 1-8c off to 1-8c up and provisions 2 cents lower to 25c higher.

Some corn selling resulted from a vote making No. 3 grades deliverable here at a discount the year-round, instead of for a limited period each season. Immediate country offerings, however, lacked volume and were mainly above the market. Nebraska reports said several sources were not selling freely, and were holding off for 50 cents a bushel, equal to 90 cents on Chicago May delivery.

As the most readily available present corn supplies in western Nebraska, rallies from declines resulted, but were not well maintained. Primary receipts totaled 467,000 bushels, against 964,000 a year ago. Chicago arrivals showed some increase at 97 cars, but elsewhere the supply influx remained scanty.

Bank Robbery

territory of East Texas tonight.

TIMPSON, Jan. 8. (AP)—After compelling three employes and a customer to lie on the floor in the vault, two unmasked men today robbed the Cotton Belt State bank here of loot estimated officially at slightly more than $3,000.

J. C. Black, cashier; R. D. Evans, assistant cashier; Joe Ramsey, a bookkeeper, and Wallace Kristensen, customer, were confronted by the men a few minutes before closing time at 4 p. m. Black was forced to open the safe and the quartet was ordered to lie on the floor of the vault while the money was taken.

A third man waited in an automobile in front of the bank and he drove the two who entered the bank away.

Black said the two men came in with drawn guns at 3:55 p. m. and told him to open the safe.

"I told them it had a time lock and wouldn't open until 4 p. m., the banker said.

Safe Opens

"They told me to go and try it anyhow, I did try it, and it opened, though it still was a few minutes until 4." He explained the locks did not operate exactly accurately as to minutes.

A motor car resembling that in which the three dashed away was seen to leave the highway two miles from here and turn southeast toward Center.

The two who committed the actual holdup, Black said, were "slender, youthful, about 27, wore dirty overalls and slouched caps." A posse was organized and guards placed on all highways. Surrounding towns were notified.

The three bank employes and the customers emerged and gave the alarm as soon as the robbers had left.

Bandits Sought After Robbery

"Drugstore Cowboys" Is Only Description Of Hoodlums Who Robbed Lita Grey Chaplin, Georges Carpentier

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (AP)—The only description police had tonight of the four men who robbed Lita Grey Chaplin and Georges Carpentier shortly after midnight today was Carpentier's: "They were drugstore cowboys."

"Drugstore cowboys" or not, the four young gunmen escaped with $14,000 worth of jewels belonging to the actress, divorced wife of Charles Chaplin, the cinema star, Carpentier, one time light heavyweight champion of the world and now, like Mrs. Chaplin, a person of the footlights, was more fortunate. He had only $30 with him. Mrs. Chaplin also lost $15 in cash.

Actress Hysterical.

The shock of the holdup, which came as the climax of a brief kidnaping, left Mrs. Chaplin distraught and hysterical tonight.

Carpentier was seated in Mrs. Chaplin's motor car parked in the dark alley at the rear of a Bronx theater where Mrs. Chaplin has been appearing in vaudeville. On the driver's seat was the chauffeur, Albert Frank.

About midnight Mrs. Chaplin emerged from the state exit and seated herself in the tonneau beside the former pugilist. At that moment four men appeared. They took places in the car, cowing the occupants with guns, and compelled the chauffeur to drive several blocks.

Valuables Taken.

While the car moved through the dim Bronx thoroughfares the gunmen compelled Mrs. Chaplin to give them her valuables.

When the robbery had been accomplished, Mrs. Chaplin, Carpentier and the chauffeur were put out on a street corner, and the motor car was driven away. It later was found a few blocks away.

Mrs. Chaplin and Frank were able to give police slight help by descriptions of the men, and Carpentier's "drugstore coboy" description was the best he was able to do. Complete descriptions of the stolen gems, however, were provided.

Spur Tract [illegible] Revoked He[illegible]

Application Filed By [illegible] Worth And Denver [illegible] Magnolia Oil Company [illegible] nied By City Commission

Permission to construct a spur track through the alley of block four in the Merrill addition by the Fort Worth and Denver railway was revoked Thursday afternoon by the Lubbock city commission after application for such action had been filed by railroad officials in conjunction with officials of the Magnolia Petroleum company.

In filing the application oil company officials also asked permission to close the alley that construction of buildings and improvements might be made on the property which is owned by that company. Earl Calloway, representing Magnolia interests, explained that his company is planning to erect warehouses, oil storage tanks and a filling station on the block and that this work would be started immediately should the commission grant the closing permit. The railway entered another application for permission to construct the spur track along Avenue C on the east side of block 4. This latter permit was granted.

City commissioners, after long consideration of the oil company application, voted to grant permission to close the alleyway on condition that they be allowed to reopen it at any time, giving the company 90 days notice. This proposition will be offered the oil company as a substitute. Commissioners stated that permission for permanent closing would not be granted due to the fact that the city might need the land in the future for other purposes. Mr. Calloway had stated that his company would place the land on the market and look for another location should refusal of the permit be made.

Several other matters were discussed at some length by the commissioners, none, however, of great importance. Indicating that the city hall is becoming badly crowded for space, the commissioners voted unanimously to give notice to headquarters of the South Plains Area council, Boy Scouts of America, that offices of that organization would have to be moved to another location. Such action also was taken in regard to the county library.

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Texas Tech Topics

ALL-COLLEGE TONIGHT

Returning Tech students will make merry tonight at the first all-college dance of the winter term. The frolic will start at 9 o'clock at the college gym and Frank Stone and his Collegians composed of Tech students, will furnish the music. Prices of admission will be 75 cents for couples and one dollar for stags.

It is planned to hold an all-college dance every two weeks during the winter term, and club dances are scheduled to fill in the other week ends. All college dances probably will be held at the Tech gym but most of the club affairs will take place at the local hotels or the dance palace.

College women are allowed to go to only those dances on the social calendar but no set rule is announced concerning the college men. Mrs. Mary Doak, dean of women at Tech has charge of scheduling the colleeg frolics and passes on the dates for the affairs.

TECH WINS DECISION

Based upon the percentage of change of opinion, hearers of the Tech-English debate, held last month, rendered a decision favoring the Tech debaters, by a very small margin. The announcement was made yesterday by Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, director of debates in the college and acting head of the speech department.

The debate, "Resolved, That the principle of democracy has been tried and found wanting," took place in the Tech gym last December 12, Bill Sewell, Slaton, and Wayne Castleberry, Eastland, defending the negative side of the question and D. Hope Elliston and B. J. Creham presenting the affirmative. No judge decision was made as the English debaters had asked that no immediate decision be announced.

The decision was based upon a change of opinion of the audience and the votes were recently only counted.

The English team recently returned to England after completing a 20-weeks debating tour of the United States. The Englishmen closed their tour with an engagement with Texas university.

ADDED TO SALES FORCE

Hugo Mika, junior agricultural student from Ballenger, recently was added to the sales force of the Texas Tech dairy, according to Prof. K. M. Renner, head of the dairy manufacturing department. A total of 13 college students are now paying their expenses in the college by working for the college dairy.

Milk is sold and delivered to homes in the city and the college department is run in the same manner as any large dairy.

JOIN MATADOR COURT

George Kirk and Swede McMurry recently were made members of the Matador court, maintained by the Tech football men who reside at Cheri Casa, football dormitory. The court tries the men for all their misbehaviors and is said to keep excellent order in the house even to the point of maintaining an 80 minute study period each night.

George Langford, football tackle is president.

TO CONTINUE COURSE

Continuation of an advanced extension class in education at Levelland has been announced by Prof. W. P. Clements, member of the Tech education department. The class is taught each Thursday evening from 6:30 until 9 o'clock and is composed mostly of public school teachers in Levelland and nearby schools. Regular college credit is given for completition of the required work.

Announcement has been made also that Dr. R. E. Garlin, also a member of the education department will continue his class at Plainview and that Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the department, will continue his course in Amarillo. Dr. Evans drives to Amarillo each week to teach his class, which is probably the greatest distance travelled by any of the Tech professors going to a class.

BAPTISTS PLAN GATHERING

Leaving Union station at 7:30 tonight, Baptist students in the college will travel from "Dontnoem to Incennow" during a party featured by the local church organization. The affair tonight is a get-together frolic for the local students.

Invitations have been mailed to the students in the college urging them not to miss the "train."

PLANS WACO TRIP

Scheduled to appear on the program of the joint meeting of the Texas Ice Cream manufacturers and the Texas Milk Dealers association, at Waco, Prof. K. M. Renner, head of the Tech dairy manufacturing department, will leave here January 17 for that city.

Renner recently accepted an invitation to address the members of the two organizations and has chosen for his subject, "The four fundamentals of dairy manufacturing as applied to the commercial ice cream manufacturers and milk dealers."

The two organizations hold annual joint sessions and usually extend invitations only to authorities to deliver addresses at the gathering.

REV. MOORE TO SPEAK

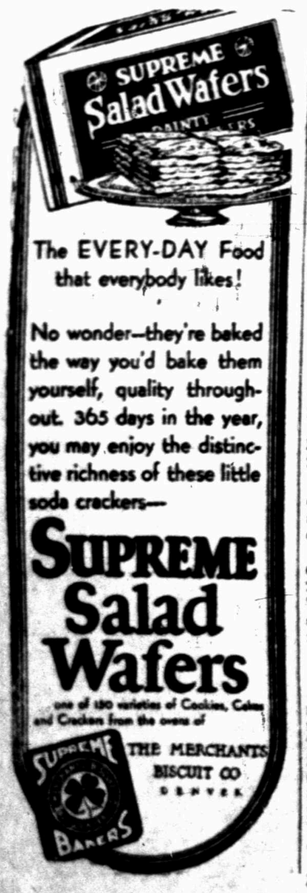

"The present religious situation in America," will be the subject of an address by Rev. Bradner Moore, Rector of the St. Paul's Episcopal church of this city, at the regular meeting of the Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity on the campus. The meeting will be held in room 214 of the administration building tonight at 8 o'clock.

Following the address by Rev. Moore, Prof. C. D. Eaves, member of the Tech history department, will lead the round-table discussion on the religious subject.

DR. CARTER SPEAKS

Declaring that one of the best means of advertising a college is through its school paper, Dr. A. L. Carter, head of the Tech English department addressed the members of the publication staffs at a meeting yesterday afternoon. Members of the two staffs have formulated a new one-hour journalism class which meets at 2 o'clock each Thursday.

The new class is taught by Cecil Horne, professor of journalism and Tech publicity director.
