FDR'S POWER BILL AGAIN REJECTED

Dickinson Slain In Robbery, Screaming Girls Confess

WORDS by O.E.H. Words are things...

Twinkles Maybe Young Democrat Elliott Roosevelt was merely acting his age.

The West Foster grouch says if firecrackers represent war, he can understand what Sherman meant.

Pre-Centennial celebrations continue to be held. But this is THE Centennial city of the plains.

Mrs. Gushaway says the millennium will be here when Uncle Sam provides a "respectable" job that her son-in-law will be willing to "accept."

Maybe you can get this one from the Cleburne News-Review: "Abyssinia," said Mussolini to the reporter as he resumed drilling of his arms.

Musing of the moment: A job by any other initials is just as good, we presume. NRA Johnson thinks... Some of the smartest appearing people we meet are the high school and college graduates.

Brevitorials THE NEWS' POLL on the new deal has confirmed the belief of the writer that Mr. Roosevelt and the new deal are still in a strong position in this territory.

SHARPEST DIFFERENCES of opinion are in regard to the constitution. A surprising large number of persons would take away from the Supreme Court the power to nullify the acts of congress.

THIS COLUMN welcomes contributor opinions. We have our own opinions, subject to change when we are convinced we're wrong.

NORMALLY, THERE are more republicans than democrats in this country, by a substantial margin. We do not agree with the view of some that the depression has made permanent democrats out of former eastern republicans.

THEREFORE, IN thinking of the new deal policies as a permanent structure, we cannot assume that democrats and Mr. Roosevelt will remain in power at Washington. We democrats are having our day, but whether it will extend beyond another 4-year term is problematical.

FERRIS TELLS 'WHOLE STORY' IN ADMISSION

LAWYER KILLED WHEN HE DECLINED TO RAISE HANDS

DETROIT, July 2 (AP)—Howard Carter Dickinson, slain New York attorney, filed and drank with killers and paid their dinner check a few hours before they shot him to death in a robbery, it was disclosed today in the last of a series of confessions made by William Lee Ferris and his three "party girls" companions.

The story that Dickinson, well groomed, wealthy appearing counselor, was taken for a "ride" and killed for his money, came first from the Miller girl. Fighting off hysterical shrieks of questioning, Prosecutor McCrea said she finally blurted out that Ferris killed their victim and that the girls rifled the pockets and clothing for money.

Confronted with her admission, McCrea said Ferris broke down and told what the prosecutor said he thought was the "whole story."

But it was from Florence Jackson, that McCrea reported obtaining the details of the intrigue which he said linked the quartet in the murder.

"Loretta, Bill and myself talked about taking Dickinson out when we were in Bill's room Tuesday night," McCrea quoted her as saying in her statement.

"We all agreed that Dickinson had a lot of money and that we ought to get a lot from him. Bobbie (Loretta) and I suggested rolling him, but Bill said it might be a hard thing to do. He was against it because he was afraid that Dickinson might talk. We then suggested knocking him out, but Bill said that was too dangerous because he would be able to talk when he came to, and would be able to identify us.

Tennis Champion Beaten

England's Dorothy Round Is Defeated by Australian; Two Americans Favored.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2 (AP)—Dorothy Round, England's top-flight player and defending champion, pressed for the all-England tennis championships today in a quarter-final upset but America's Helens — Mrs. Moody and Miss Jacobs—gained the semi-finals with a strong likelihood that they will renew their long standing rivalry in the final.

Joan Hartigan of Australia, displacing one of the most powerful and accurate forehands seen here in years, conquered the highly-favored Miss Round in three sets, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The Australian player, seeded eighth, will meet Mrs. Moody in the penultimate round. Mrs. Moody was in her old-time form as she disposed of Mme. Rene Mathieu of France in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0, running her opponent ragged from corner to corner with deep baseline drives.

Miss Jacobs romped through the first set against Mile. Jadwiga Jedzejowska of Poland and then had to apply all the pressure at her command to subdue the Polish player, finally winning 6-1, 9-7.

The fourth player to gain the semi-final, and Miss Jacobs' opponent in that round, was Frau Hilda Krahwinkel Spierling of Germany. Frau Spierling took the measure of Katherine Stammers of England, 7-5, 7-5.

TEACHERS WANT FREEDOM

DENVER, July 2 (AP)—A campaign for strict convention action in behalf of academic freedom was spurred today by a segment of the National Education association as Dr. William H. Kirkpatrick struck at "meddlesome busybodies who profess patriotism."

The 70 arrests for the month were distributed as follows: Vagrancy 1, intoxication 35, affray 5, speeding 5, other traffic violations 3, investigation 7, assault with intent to kill 1, misdemeanors 2, gaming 3, theft 8.

Building permits for June totaled $18,310, according to the report of the inspector. Fourteen houses were moved to the city, and 21 were remodeled or built. The building permit total for the year is about $150,000.

Harry Hines, chairman of the State Highway commission, will set a date soon for a conference with the Pampa city commission on the proposed Cuyler street underpass. The conference will be held at Austin. It is hoped that federal funds will make the $101,000 project possible. This figure is made without consideration of the cost of repaving 1 1/2 blocks and without property damage. However, plans show that the grade will begin at the south curb line of Atchison and the center of Tyne, necessitating little damage to property. The Santa Fe would raise its rail grade and would use a design to give the maximum clearance with a six degree drop.

CARDENAS TO CONTINUE HIS PAST POLICY

CHURCH LAWS WILL BE ENFORCED, SAYS PRESIDENT

MEXICO, D. F., July 2 (AP)—A clear indication that the government of President Lazaro Cardenas intends to continue its present program and policies came today from the first meeting of the newly installed cabinet.

President Cardenas made plain his future plans. It was learned today by reading to the cabinet yesterday his January 1 message to the nation.

At that time, the president emphasized the necessity of following the program of socialistic education provided by the constitution and of giving the youth of the nation "a rational concept of the universe."

President Cardenas asserted that present laws on the church-state problem would be fully enforced. His action in relating his program was taken, he said, because there will be no modification of religious or educational laws.

Well informed sources said, however, that the president has not altered his proposal to issue an order to federal and military prosecutors to withdraw charges of rebellion against exiles, permitting them to return.

No explanation was given as to why the order, expected to be made public yesterday, was withheld. Persons close to the government said the delay was only temporary.

A belief persisted that there might possibly be some relaxation of the official attitude toward the church. The best information available was that while federal authorities would take no action, various states might pass reform laws exiling priests and closing churches.

Jose Angel Ceniceros, acting secretary of foreign relations, informed the president that a campaign in the United States in opposition to Mexico's religious policies had died down.

He also reported that negotiations were under way for an agreement concerning the distribution of the waters of the Rio Grande and the Colorado river.

Frank Hugel and Louie Behrends transacted business in Amarillo yesterday.

LATE NEWS

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—The attorney general today ruled an act proposing discounts for prompt payment of property taxes was unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The comptroller of the currency issued a call today for the condition of all national banks at the close of business Saturday, June 29.

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt arranged today with the skeletonized NRA and the federal trade commission to carry out with industry voluntary code agreements supplanting the code structure outlawed by the supreme court.

YOUTH KILLED IN BREAK PENDLETON, Ind., July 2 (AP)—Slings from a saved-off shotgun killed one youth and injured another perhaps fatally as four prisoners tried to escape from the Indiana state reformatory here early today. One of the quartet fled through the gunfire to freedom; the fourth crouched behind a wall where guards found him within 20 minutes.

RUSSIA ACCUSES JAPS OF DELIBERATELY TRYING TO EXCITE WAR ON RED FRONTIER

Strongly Worded Protest Is Sent to Tokyo, Claiming Murder of Soviet Guards. BY JOHN LLOYD, Associated Press Foreign Staff. MOSCOW, July 2 (AP)—The official press charged today that incidents along the Soviet frontier in the Far East have been provoked deliberately by Japanese militarists to stir Russian forces to counter measures and thus bring on grave complications.

A note of protest concerning the whole series of alleged violations of Soviet territory by Japanese and Manchurian troops and Japanese during the last two months was delivered yesterday to Tokyo.

FINAL CHANGE WILL COME UP IN CONFERENCE

'DEATH SENTENCE' TO HOLDING COMPANIES TURNED DOWN

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Legislation to regulate public utilities was passed today by the house after it twice rejected President Roosevelt's request for a measure to outlaw "unnecessary" holding companies in seven years.

Earlier, the rebellious house voted 257 to 147 for its own bill, which gives the securities commission discretionary authority over the holding companies.

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The roll call to substitute the house bill which did not contain a death sentence clause for utilities companies, for the senate bill which did, showed that more than half of the Texas delegation present voted against the president.

Texas representatives voting against the substitution and against Roosevelt: Blanton, Buchanan, Eagle, Johnson, Kieberg, Lanham, Mansfield, Patton, Rayburn, Sanders.

Texas representatives voting against the substitution and for President Roosevelt: Cross, Jones, Mahon, Maverick, Patman, South, Thomason, West, McFarlane.

Alfred Not to Interfere With Cernoch Death

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—Governor Alfred announced today he would not interfere with the scheduled electrocution July 12 of Lewis Cernoch, Williamson county farm hand, for the murder of H. J. Lindsey, Granger city marshal.

Cernoch, bound hand and foot to a car, was transferred from the Travis county jail yesterday to the Huntsville prison death house by Rangers Sid Kelso and Zeno Smith.

He was held here since May 31 when the governor granted reprieve until July 12 so state alienists could complete sanity tests and examinations. The governor said they had reported Cernoch was sane.

Lindsey and Constable Sam Moore were shot in January, 1934, as they attempted to apprehend Cernoch on a minor charge. Cernoch was not tried for the murder of Moore.

MARVIN JONES STANDS BY FDR IN POWER VOTE

Seven Texans Named As Power Trust Lobbyists

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Seven Texans were named from the floor of the house yesterday as "power trust lobbyists."

Speaking in behalf of the "death sentences" for holding companies, Rep. McFarlane (D., Texas) remarked the galleries were full of such men.

"I can point them out to you," he said in reply to a question by Rep. Kahn (R., Calif.). "Some of them are from my own state and I can give you the names of some of them who have been here in opposition to this legislation."

"Bob Hanger of Fort Worth, W. A. Vinson of Houston, W. P. Hum-blen of Houston, W. H. Radcliffe of Dallas, J. M. Harris of Snyder, Joe Worsham of Fort Worth and J. Q. Carpenter of Dallas, to say nothing of the lesser lights they have brought with them."

"This is the same power trust lobby that has kept Texas all these years from passing any kind of law to regulate the electric light and gas rates by a proper regulatory commission."

CONTROL OF CREDIT IS PUT IN HANDS OF 12 MEN

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Without a record vote, the senate banking committee today gave speedy approval to the revised administration banking bill placing control of credit in a committee of seven reserve board members and five representatives of the 12 reserve banks.

This action came shortly after Secretary Morgenthau and Governor Eccles of the Federal Reserve board, leaving a conference at the White House, had told newsmen they would have some suggestions to make to the committee regarding the legislation if they were given an opportunity to do so.

Chairman Glass (D., Va.) of the senate subcommittee which changed the banking bill from the form in which it passed the house, was authorized to report the bill to the senate floor during the day. Chairman Fletcher (D-Fla.) of the full committee said it might be taken up on the floor tomorrow.

Free Courses in Art To Be Given During Summer

An art class that will be an educational feature of the summer recreation program here is to start this afternoon. Those who are interested will meet at high school gymnasium at 2:30 tomorrow.

It will be taught by Mrs. W. S. Bennett, who has had training in the subject for several years, holds a degree with art as a major, and who did the art work in West Texas Teachers college annual for two years.

She has outlined a program for the summer, and will arrange classes to suit pupils.

"This class is open to everyone at no cost. Ben Cull, recreation supervisor, emphasized. He urges all who are interested to be present tomorrow, or to notify Mrs. Bennett so that definite plans can be made.

BRITISH LAND OFFER CALLED A 'BETRAYAL'

NEWSPAPERS POUNCE ON ANTHONY EDEN

LONDON, July 2 (AP)—Great Britain's offer to grant territory to Ethiopia in an effort to effect peace in East Africa, disclosed by Capt. Anthony Eden and called "betrayal" by one news paper, drew fresh fire today from the British press.

The most outspoken critic was the Solentian Daily Express which said editorially: "British men and women wake up! Denounce the abandonment of Britain's empire in an effort to effect peace in East Africa. The British empire is being exposed for sale, job lots put on the bargain counter at knockdown prices and foreigners invited to bid."

With stern reference to Captain Eden, "British minister for the League of Nations at 23, per annum," the Express asserted: "To please Geneva and prop up the crumbling structure of the League of Nations, British citizens are to be transferred to alien rule. Mr. Eden dares to make virtue of the fact that he would ask that the grazing rights of these tribes be safeguarded."

Captain Eden told the House of Commons yesterday that Premier Benito Mussolini turned down his proposal that Britain grant Ethiopia a seaport in British Somaliland and that the East African empire make concessions to Italy, to end the war-like preparations.

Citing Mussolini's rejection of Eden's offer, the newspaper concluded: "But, British empire citizens, beware lest your rulers offer a greater concession, making a more abject surrender."

The Daily Mail, which goes under the patriotic slogan, "For King and Empire," remarked on the "pointless quibbles" of Captain Eden's offer: "It is a strange result of the worship by our politicians of the League of Nations fetish," said the newspaper, "that they should be proposing to give portions of British territory and British subjects to an alien slave-owning power in connection with a dispute that does not concern us in the least."

Farmers Praise Federal Control Of Cotton Crop
DALLAS, July 2 (AP)—As members of the Texas legislature's cotton investigating committee planned further study today, they had the knowledge that a large group of growers strongly favored continued federal crop control.

After Cully A. Cobb, chief of the AAA's cotton division had explained the workings of the government's program yesterday more than 300 growers from over the state joined in praising the AAA. Several speakers mounted the platform and made short talks for the program.

A stenographic report was kept of the proceedings for submission to Governor James V. Alfred and the legislature as an aid in the development of a permanent cotton policy.

C. H. Day of Plainview, who started the recent pilgrimage of farmers to Washington to praise the AAA, urged that the gathering go on record as saying the AAA had saved Texas cotton farmers from ruin.

3,000 RELIEF CAMP STRIKERS BATTLE POLICE

Constable Killed in Hand-to-Hand Fighting

REGINA, Sask., July 2 (AP)—Three thousand relief camp strikers, who battled Royal Canadian mounted police in riot during which a municipal officer was beaten to death, were subdued today by tear gas and gun fire.

A second officer and a striker were injured critically. Five more policemen and a score of strikers were hurt before the police quelled the crowd, arrested 27 persons and dispersed the others, pursuing them relentlessly through the streets.

The riot broke out after the mounted police and city officers charged a mass meeting of the strikers, held by lack of funds in their march on Ottawa to protest against relief camp conditions. The strikers faced removal to a Dominion camp, pending return to their homes.

Roused by the steel-helmeted officers before a barrage of tear gas, the strikers attempted to return to the scene, hurling stones and other missiles as the mounties swung their batons.

Repulsed again, the strikers plunged into renewed combat. Police fired over the heads of the strikers during the second clash, and the opposing ranks slugged freely in hand-to-hand fighting.

After two hours of close combat, City commissioner, E. J. Westgate announced early today he was informed that the police, clearing the area and riding patrol in nearby streets, had the rioters well in hand.

Constable Charles Miller of the Regina police was the man beaten to death, and Constable Francis of the mounted police was injured seriously.

Charles Curtis Calls For New G.O.P. National Head

Republicans Would Reduce Taxes, Says He

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Charles Curtis, vice president in the Hoover administration, today declared for a change in the republican national chairmanship.

"They are not getting to work soon enough," he said in an interview. "I think there ought to be a new chairman."

He did not mention Henry P. Fletcher by name, Fletcher is the present chairman of the party's national committee. He is regarded as the selection of former President Herbert Hoover, titular leader of the party.

"There are plenty of issues," Curtis said. "The 'save the constitution' proposition is very important. And I think there are too many boards and commissions."

He referred to a speech he made in Topeka, Kan., August 18, 1932, attacking "bureaucracy" and continued: "If the republicans got in, they would reduce the taxes. That's what I think of the Roosevelt tax program. Remember the republicans reduced taxes when Andrew Mellon was secretary of the treasury. They could be reduced again if they got rid of these boards and commissions."

Curtis added that there are "at least a dozen" men in the republican party who can defeat President Roosevelt in 1936. He did not name them.

"Sentiment for the republican party has grown more in the last six or seven weeks than in the year before," Curtis asserted.

"The party in power, through its tax program, appears to me to be trying to take the mind of the country off the fact that the supreme court NEA decision ruled out the democrats' pet project."

Scanning New Books

The dangerous land (for a novelist) of a woman's fantasy-life is being explored by Lenore G. Marshall.

Miss Marshall's exploration takes the form of a novel whose setting is suburban Connecticut, in summer. That is when suburban Connecticut is loveliest, and Gairie Kirk was happily enjoying it.

Unfortunately she learned one day of certain past infidelities of her husband. Outwardly she continues her summer about as she had planned it; inwardly, however, she is shattered, broken and despairing. She retreats into a fantasy world the threads of which, many of them, go back to childhood and its ideals.

The conflict between the two Gabriels is the essence of "Only the Fear" (Macmillan). Miss Marshall's people are youngsters, she knows Connecticut, and apparently she understands the psychological problem she has set herself to express. In any case, she handles her story in a poetic but not lush style which suits the content admirably.

How Things Are Made
At some time or other almost everyone has considered what a tremendous job it would be to work out all the formulas for making the tens of thousands of articles we use in modern civilization. Suppose they should all be destroyed overnight, along with all but a few human beings, how long would it be until man would get back to where he is now? Obviously, a long, long time.

It would be, that is, unless someone had presence of mind to preserve the formulas in one book, and that book should fortunately survive the catastrophe.

At least we can feel we have such a book. It is "Practical Everyday Chemistry," prepared by E. Bennett, F. A. I. C., and published by The Chemical Publishing Company of New York.

This new book gives the formula for making almost everything used in our present-day world. For example here are just a few: Adhesives, alloys, animal remedies, antifreezes, antiseptics, automobile specialties, blacking, bleaches, bakery preparations, carbon paper, cement, sensors, cosmetics, crayons, disinfectants, drugs, etc., etc.

24 Injured When Bridge Crumbles

TORONTO, July 2 (AP)—A span of the Woodbine foot bridge, banded by home-ward-bound picnickers, collapsed early today, plunging more than two score persons headlong into a dark East York ravine.

Twenty-four persons were injured, none of them seriously, and were taken to hospitals. Many others, including several women and children, received medical treatment at the scene.

A span of the old wooden structure 40 feet above the ravine gave way as members of the East York Workers association started over it after a picnic and wrestling matches in the nearby park.

Repulsed again, the strikers plunged into renewed combat. Police fired over the heads of the strikers during the second clash, and the opposing ranks slugged freely in hand-to-hand fighting.

OFFICERS OF FIRST BAPTIST WMU FOR YEAR ARE ELECTED

SUMMER PLAN FOR MEETINGS IS ARRANGED

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE TO BE FILLED BY MRS. MORTON

Mrs. T. F. Morton became president of First Baptist Missionary Union yesterday. When recommendations of the nominating committee were approved by members at a general business session.

Mrs. Harvey Anderson was elected recording secretary, Mrs. G. C. Durham corresponding secretary, and Mrs. E. Lancaster leader of young people's work. Other officers are to be appointed.

Circle meetings will not be conducted regularly during July and August, members voted. A general business meeting is scheduled for each month, and circles desiring meetings may ask them subject to wish of their members.

Organization of a Young Women's Auxiliary followed the session, with Mrs. F. E. Leach in charge. Girls enrolled were Lois Barnett, Inez Hawkins, Marie Mathews, Theresa Campbell, and Minnie Abott.

A mission program on Africa was conducted after the business meeting, with Mrs. Lancaster in charge and Mrs. E. Lancaster in charge and Mrs. Wilson Hatcher presiding until Mrs. Morton took charge.

Club Women of County Invited To Linen Show

An invitation to federated club women of the county to attend the county linen and quilt show at McLean on July 9 and 10 has been issued by home demonstration clubs, sponsors of the show.

Numerous entries of old and new quilts, some of historic interest, and of various household linens have been promised by members of the home demonstration clubs for the show, which is a new project of county clubs. Exhibiting and work for the event started several weeks ago.

All women of this and nearby counties are invited to view the exhibits.

as, Gray county, and Pampa, and correct them without going to Washington. True, some social legislation seems necessary on a national basis, but the origin of this is in the unwillingness of state officials to shoulder their share of the responsibility.

WE CANNOT CONCEIVE of a re-entention of states' rights without a Supreme Court. Our federal government is one of delegated powers—delegated by the states and the people. Such delegation takes the form of amendments to the U. S. constitution, of which to date there have been 21, and of the original content of the great document. The Supreme Court is no more and no less than the interpreter of these powers and of the way they are exercised. A state, should it be wronged, cannot war upon the nation. Neither can an individual or a group of individuals. But the Supreme Court can state whether the delegated powers are being exercised as the states and the people intended.

CONGRESS MUST base its actions upon these same delegated powers. Otherwise a majority might greatly damage a section of the country and there would be no redress, no appeal. You cannot appeal to Congress if you lose. . . The 5-4 decisions of the Supreme Court bring up the likely desirability of more unanimous decisions. But the NRA decision, being unanimous, is subject to no criticism on this ground. We believe the court was right in its interpretation. But, instead of killing the court, our refuge from unfair Congresses, we can consider changing the constitution upon which the Supreme Court bases its decisions. . . For these reasons and others, we believe the Supreme Court to be necessary in our union of states. Without the Court, the constitution would be mere paper in many vital instances. . . Readers are entitled to their opinions. We ask the same privilege.

PIE SUPPER ANNOUNCED

A benefit pie supper will be held Friday evening at the Davis school house number one. Proceeds will go for payment on a piano for the community Sunday school and church. The public is invited.

NEW DEAL CLUB

The meeting of New Deal bridge club has been postponed from Friday of this week to Wednesday of next, when it will be at the home of Mrs. Claude Lard, 423 South Banks.

Candid Camera Reveals Only U. S. Woman Senator

Intent on the testimony at a recent hearing, Mrs. Hattie Wyatt Caraway, the only woman United States senator, was oblivious of the presence of the candid camera. But the lens recorded these three intimate glimpses of the widow of the late Senator Thaddeus Caraway. Mrs. Caraway was appointed to his husband's seat and re-won it on her own merits. Devoted to the senator's memory, mother of three fine sons, conscientious worker at her job, charming hostess of a historic colonial home, Mrs. Caraway is one of the best-loved figures on the Washington scene.

WHAT DOES JOHNNY WANT TO DO DURING VACATION? WHY GO TO SCHOOL, NOWADAYS!

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE WASHINGTON (AP)—To the astonishment of many of their elders who remember school as pretty much of a bore, Johnny and Mary are going to summer school these days of their own volition.

An increasingly large number of mamas and papas are surprised at the insistence of sons and daughters that they be allowed to continue in school during a part, at least, of the vacation period. Being in school, these youngsters frequently insist, is more interesting and "greater fun" than being out.

Educators attribute this striking change to the modernization of teaching practices, which stresses the importance of making learning more life-like and enjoyable and a medium for expression of child activity in the fields that fascinate him.

Activities Constructive Children now are finding "fun" outlets for their potential abilities in constructive activities, ranging from the making of dog houses and bird baths to the establishment of school banks, the writing of their own plays and the making of their own costumes for dramatic performances.

"What we desire for children," says Dr. Mary D. Davis, federal specialist in primary education, "is a breadth of outlook and wide interpretation of meaning gained from actual experiences in life as progress is made toward maturity.

"In living through life-like experiences, children themselves purpose to master such subjects as formerly were crammed down their unwilling throats by conscientious but over-worked teachers," she added.

Youngsters 'Keep Store' In contrast with former procedure are the new group activity and social experience programs. A group of six and seven old dages, sing, play house and build villages. They keep store, take care of pets, model in clay and sand, draw and paint, read and write, make up stories and dramatize them. They work in the garden, court, weave and cook.

In a darkened school room films are shown. A high school class teaches the seventh graders how to use the library in looking up information on a geography subject. A primary class gets ready for an excursion to a bakery or newspaper plant. Another makes a trip to a woolen mill.

In another building is a shop where one is wiring a doll house for electric lights. On the walls are blue-prints, maps and posters showing models of things made and in the making—ships, steam engines, autos, airplanes, submarines and the swords and bucklers of medieval armor.

In some classes, pupils read the newspapers and report daily on important news events.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE NEA Service Staff Writer On a sultry day, what is nicer than for a cool-looking mold of jellied meat or fish to appear like magic from the refrigerator? Even if you have had to make the dish yourself a few hours before, you will enjoy it especially if you eat it on the porch or in the garden.

Menus for out-of-door dining should be kept as simple as possible and carefully planned to prevent frequent jumping up from the table for forgotten necessities. Gelatin is a protein food, you know, with distinctive and valuable growth-promoting qualities. More than that, it helps make other foods more easily assimilable. So it's not only good, but good for you.

One four-pound fowl, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 2 stalks celery, 1 tablespoon salt, 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin. Clean, wash well and disjoint chicken. Cover with boiling water; add onion, carrot, celery and simmer until tender. Add salt the last half hour of cooking. Remove meat from broth, trim off skin, gristle, fat and bones from meat and cut meat in neat slices. Return skin and bones to liquor and boil rapidly until reduced to three cups. Strain through a cheesecloth and cool quickly so that fat can be removed when it rises to the top. Reheat after removing fat, and when boiling stir in gelatin which has been softened in 1/2 cup cold water. Remove at once from fire and let stand until cool. Stir in prepared chicken. Line a mold with slices of pimento stuffed olives and strips of sweet green pepper. Turn in chicken mixture and let stand on ice for five or six hours to chill and become firm. When ready to serve unmold on a bed of lettuce and surround with small tomatoes which have been skinned and cut in quarters, petal fashion, and filled with sliced cucumber and celery.

Shoe string potatoes, hot baking powder biscuits, a vegetable served au gratin in its baking dish to keep it hot, a hot drink and a deep dish fruit pie make up a meal that is very easy to make and to serve.

classes in the study of the body, pose and gesture. Makeup and plays will be offered to give students opportunity to use the technical work.

The classes will be presented in at least one full evening play after completing the course. Numerous one-act plays and skits will be used throughout the course. Anyone interested in enrolling in the school can see Mr. Thomas at Kees & Thomas.

Mr. Thomas is a graduate of Phillips university and for the past year has attended the American Academy of Dramatic Art. He is to return there in the fall.

W. B. Hamilton of Amarillo was a visitor here yesterday afternoon.

CIRCLES HOLD USUAL WEEKLY LESSON HOURS

OUTDOOR TEA SERVED TO ONE GROUP YESTERDAY

Tea was served in the garden at Mrs. W. Purviance's home to a circle one of the Methodist Missionary society yesterday afternoon, following the weekly study. All circles had their usual programs.

Mrs. Joe Shelton conducted the devotional for circle one, using the topic, "I Mean to Share Good Things With Me." Mrs. John K. Sweet led discussions from the book, Jesus Among Men. The subject was, The Direct Challenge.

Topics were: Tactfulness, Mrs. Purviance; Insinuere Questions, Mrs. Harris; Jesus and Calphas, Mrs. H. A. Wright; Jesus and Herod, Mrs. M. E. DeTar; Jesus and Pilate, Mrs. Frank Shotwell; Jesus and His Murderers, Mrs. Baker.

Mrs. Sam Shepherd was a new member and Mrs. H. M. Paulkner a guest. Thirteen other members attended.

Circle Two. Reviewing past chapters briefly, Mrs. Horace McEee introduced the program for circle two, which met with Mrs. C. W. Naylor in the church parlor. A prayer by Mrs. H. B. Carson opened the hour.

Topics were presented by Meses. Al Babbone, A. C. Green, H. B. Carson, C. W. Naylor, Carol Montgomery, J. A. Kincaid, and C. R. Price. Mrs. R. W. Lane gave the Review of the Week. Mrs. Green presided for a short business session.

In the basement, a table was laid with face cream, yellow and a variety of salad, sandwiches, and tea in yellow and white was served by the hostess, whose yellow frock blended with the decorative note. Mrs. Kincaid was a guest, and 12 members were present.

Circle Three. Mrs. Roy Tinsley was hostess to circle three and a number of guests at her country home. She gave the opening prayer, which was followed by a devotional by Mrs. Lee Harrah; Mrs. Hodge, study leader, was assisted by Meses. Joseph K. Sweet, Allen, Sherman White, A. B. Whitten, Nicholson, N. P. Maddux, and Harrah in presenting the chapter from Jesus Among Men. Mrs. Nicholson dismissed with prayer.

Assisted by her daughter, Miss Marie, Mrs. Tinsley served ice cream and cake to 13 members and Meses. DeLea Vicars, Edwin Vicars, J. P. Vicars, Howard, McCullough, Dean, Hodge, and Hayse, guests.

Circle Four. A luncheon next Monday at the home of Mrs. Fred Cullum, with husband and guests, was planned by circle four meeting with Mrs. J. L. Nance.

After the devotional by Mrs. John Montgomery, Mrs. S. A. Hurst led the lesson with Meses. Carlton Stance, J. M. Turner, Gaston Foote, Montgomery, and Cullum assisting. A new member, Mrs. Richardson, and two guests, Meses. C. C. Massey and C. H. Leighner, were present with 13 members.

Circle Five. Circle five met at McCullough church. In the business hour a food sale was planned for Saturday, July 13, and a program of visits was also planned.

Mrs. H. L. Wallace led the program on Getting Acquainted With Our Work. Mrs. H. C. Boyd's topic was How the Foundation Was Laid; Mrs. W. M. Cox discussed Pioneer Voyages; and Mrs. C. D. Harris, The Growing Work in China.

Mrs. W. R. Riggs and baby son were to leave Pampa-Jarratt hospital this afternoon.

Mrs. L. E. Brickell honored her husband on his birthday, with a stag supper last evening at their home, 403 N. West. A group of his friends were invited for the informal evening.

A delicious supper was served buffet style, featured by barbecue prepared by Don McCarrie. Meses. A. C. Lovell and Lester Lovell assisted Mrs. Brickell in serving. Guests were W. C. deCordova, Floyd Hoffman, L. E. Keck, Joe Bishop, A. C. Lovell, Lester Lovell, Bob Sowers, Bob Stratford, J. C. Walker, Roy Goodspeed, Harry Davis, Leonard Wilson, and Scotty Garrison.

Pampans Attend Mathis Funeral

Friends and relatives of Morton E. Mathis, 17, Amarillo youth who died of a heart attack in Corpus Christi on Monday, went to Amarillo this afternoon to attend funeral services, conducted by the First Methodist church here. The youth was a faithful worker in the San Jacinto Methodist church in Amarillo when Rev. Foote was pastor of that church.

Young Mathis, a graduate of Amarillo high school in May, moved to Corpus Christi with his parents for his health.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Mathis, and three brothers, Earl, Odell and Paul Mathis. Mrs. Mathis is a sister of Ernest, Wallace and Jess Fletcher, and Mrs. W. D. Benton and Mrs. Earl Ellis, all of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Mathis and family have been frequent visitors in Pampa, where they have many friends.

Tucker Family Is Surprised at Home

An old-fashioned "pounding" was given the family of H. D. Tucker, director of religious education in First Methodist church, last evening. Mrs. Tucker and children have lately joined Mr. Tucker here to make their home.

The guests' arrival was a surprise to the Tucker family. They presented a supply of groceries, ranging from dainty cakes to a hundred-pound sack of potatoes.

Read the clippings today.

BPW Delegates Are Leaving for Seattle Meeting

Delegates and visitors from the Business and Professional Women's club here to the national convention in Seattle, Wash., are leaving today. Mrs. Glen Pool was named delegate and Miss LaVerne Ballard alternate.

Mrs. C. L. Wooley and Miss Clara Lee Shewmaker, are other local members making the trip, and Miss Blanche Adams of the Wheeler club also joined the party. Mr. Pool and Mr. Wooley will accompany them. They plan a leisurely trip, with stops at interesting points between here and Seattle.

Church Drama To Be Offered by Summer Theater Members

Any churches that wish programs arranged by the summer dramatic school are asked to see Ben Gull or Charles Thomas.

"The Lost Pocketbook," a one-act play, was presented Sunday evening at the Christian church. The play was directed by Charles Thomas, assisted by Sue Dodson.

SHOWER GIVEN BY CLUB FOR RECENT BRIDE

Entertaining for Mrs. Aaron Sturgeon, who was Miss Marie Bastin before her recent marriage, members of Business and Professional Women's club were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Finis Jordan last evening.

Mrs. Sturgeon arrived last week from East Texas, where she has lived since her marriage. She has been an active member and an officer in the club.

Contests and games were enjoyed; favorite recipes were written for the bride, then the gifts were presented and admired.

An ice course in red, white, and blue was served, with flags as plate favors.

Guests were Meses. Sturgeon, Glen Pool, Bob Robinson, Ernest

Domar Relying On His Roughness To Conquer 'Marvel'

GIANTS TAKE ANOTHER TILT TO HIKE LEAD

DETROIT MOVES WITHIN FOUR POINTS OF SECOND PLACE

By ANDY CLARKE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Terry, the baseball phenom who has made some smart moves this year.

As the Giants go thundering along, fading out of view from the rest of the National league pack, a look into the strategy of this court manager shows that he has moulded his team with exceptional foresight.

For instance, Terry first bought Dick Bartell, the sportstop sparkplug who has more than proved his worth, and then swapped Johnny Savelson for Leon Chagnon as the Indians of the faithful rose to the high heavens. Chagnon showed he had something on the ball in his first start when he allowed two hits.

Then Terry acquired Mark Koenig and Allyn Stout for Billy Myers and cash. Koenig, the shouter said, was all washed up—due to stepping to play regularly in three infield spots.

Gus Mancuso also was all done, they said, but Terry had faith in him. Mancuso played regularly behind the bat and whaled the horsehide for about 300 throughout the spring. Then, too, Terry had more than a little to do with the development of the young pitchers, Sick Castelman and Al Smith.

As for himself, Terry says its pretty hard getting the bat around. That's why he's only been hitting for a little over 20 lately.

The Chicago White Sox in the American league tried a little managerial strategy yesterday and went out to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 1.

revised lineup that didn't include Al Simmons. $27,500 a year outfielder, staged a nine hit attack featured by Rip Radcliff's circuit blow, a triple and a double by Zeke Bonura and doubles by Washington and Piet.

Manager Jim Dykes benched Jackie Hayes and used Piet at second base.

At Detroit, the Tigers moved within four points of second place by scalping the Cleveland Indians 4 to 1. Elden Anker allowed the Indians only five safe blows.

Wes Ferrell turned in his eleventh victory for the Red Sox, defeating Washington 8 to 3. A total of 13 hits were made off Ferrell but he lightened in the pinches.

In the third night game in major league history, the Chicago Cubs pounded out an 8-4 decision over the Reds at Cincinnati.

The Cubs went on a three run drive in the first inning, shelling Gene Schott out of the box after two were out and went on to collect 12 hits, five for extra bases. Willie Herman hit two triples and a double.

The other major league games were either rained out or were not scheduled.

Wrestling Card Will Be Held Tonight At Diamond

MAIN EVENT
The Masked Marvel vs. Jack Domar, Chicago.

SEMI-FINAL
Tony Piluso, Toledo, vs. Jack Van Beber, Lubbock.

PRELIMINARY
Curly Lewis, Pampa, vs. Art Behser, Amarillo.

"Big league" grappling will be brought to Pampa tonight when the Masked Marvel, one of the greatest middleweights in the world, meets Jack Domar, an iron man from Chicago, in the main event at Road Runner park.

The Marvel is undefeated in three years of wrestling in every part of the world. He has met and defeated all the boys who fall before the champion, Gus Kallio. Old unknown has no desire to be champion of the world. He gets joy out of knowing that he can beat the best without a lot of ballyhoo.

A rougher is likely to get in trouble tonight. The Marvel has been known to go with the other fellow, much to his sorrow. Domar gave an excellent exhibition of wrestling and youngling last week when he met Red Michael in the semi-final bout, which lasted the full 30 minutes. Domar is strong, if he forgets about taking off the Marvel's mask, he should deal the unknown plenty of misery.

Speed and science will be seen in the semi-final. Piluso demonstrated his knowledge of the game here a few weeks ago. He is the one who can use his legs about as effectively as his arms. He likes the flying scissor, flying headlock and a new type of flying slam. His opponent, Jack Van Beber, is about the last word in scientific grappling. He learned the game while in amateur ranks. He has been going great since turning professional.

Curly Lewis and Art Behser will open the card at 8:30 o'clock.

Frisch Names National Loop Batting Order

ST. LOUIS, July 2 (AP)—Come on, you American leaguers, here's Frank Frisch's tentative starting line-up and batting order for the National league team in the all-star game at Cleveland Monday:

Pepper Martin, St. Louis, third base.

Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh, shortstop.

Mel Ott, New York, right field.

Joe Medwick, St. Louis left field.

Bill Terry, New York, first base.

Wally Berger, Boston, center field.

Frankie Frisch, St. Louis, second base.

Jimmy Wilson, Philadelphia, catcher.

Dizzy Dean, St. Louis, or Carl Hubbell, New York, pitcher.

BAN HUNTING, FISHING
EAGLE PASS, July 2 (AP)—Hunting and fishing in northern Mexico has been strictly prohibited to foreigners as well as Mexican citizens, an order received by the game warden of Piedras Negras reveals. A permit to export 10,000 bob white quail to the United States also was cancelled indefinitely.

UMPIRE WHOSE RULING COST GIANTS WORLD TITLE DIES

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—Hank O'Day whose ruling as a National league umpire once cost the New York Giants the league and world baseball championship, died early today at Presbyterian hospital after several months' illness of bronchial pneumonia.

O'Day was umpire in chief of the National league until his retirement in 1932. Baseball records indicated he was 74 years old, but he never would admit his age.

His austere countenance gave him the name of "The Reverend" in baseball circles.

O'Day was player or an arbiter of the game for approximately 50 years. He pitched for Washington in the eighties, when the old 12-club National league was flourishing. He also played for New York and Pittsburgh and previously was with minor leagues in Savannah, Columbus, Marinette, Wis., Toledo and Council Bluffs.

His banner year was in 1889 when he pitched for New York, won 22 games and lost 11 of them.

O'Day umpired the famous baseball game in 1908 when Fred Merkle tumbled to touch second base and O'Day ruled that a run that crossed the plate didn't count, and that the New York Giants hadn't won the National league championship. The Chicago Cubs won the play-off game and the flag.

HUBER HURLER TOO WILD AND PAMPANS WIN

ROAD RUNNERS HAVE A 9-RUN LEAD IN 3RD INNING

"Wild Mah" Smith last night spoiled what might have been a pretty good ball game. Five walks, two hit batsmen, two errors, and five hits in the first two and one-half innings gave the Road Runners a nine-run lead, which they eventually turned into 12 to 3 victory over Huber.

Chody relieved Smith in the third frame with one down and the bases full. He retired the side that inning with no runs, scoring and held the Road Runners to seven hits and three runs during the remainder of the game.

George Bulla, on the mound for the Road Runners, was having a miniature wild man's party. With the bases full and none down in the eighth, he allowed the visitors only three hits and no runs. Simpson's double, Brooks' single, an error by Summers, and a force out resulted in the visitor's scoring two runs in the eighth. A walk, singles by Chody and Simpson, and Brooks' infield out accounted for their third and final run in the ninth.

Gordon Nell accounted for the Road Runners' first five runs. With the bases full and none down in the first inning, he singled to left to send their first two markers across the plate. Again in the second inning, he came up with the bases full, but two were down. This time he hit sharply to left, the ball bounding over H. Wilson's head for a triple. He again tripled in the seventh, this time to right center, to make it three out of four to lead the Road Runners in hitting.

Brickell was the only other Road Runner to get more than one hit. He doubled to left center in the second and had infield hits in the fifth and eighth, both of which he obtained by some fast foot-work. Freddie also lead the pack in scoring, having four runs to show for his first four trips to the plate. Bulla had the unusual distinction of scoring twice before he was charged with a time at bat. He walked in the second and was hit by a pitched ball in the third, scoring in both cases.

Bulla whiffed ten of his opponents. The first five putouts made by the Road Runners were strike outs. However, in between these strike outs were two walks and two singles.

All-Star Grid Squad to Play Chicago Bears

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—The people's choice for a 1934 college all-star gridiron squad will battle it out for the second time with professional football, represented by the Chicago Bears, under the floodlights at Soldier Field August 29.

Last year fans of the country "elected" 2 stars of the 1933 college gridirons, who thrilled a crowd of 20,000 spectators by battling the Bears to a scoreless tie in the Chicago Tribune's first annual spectacle of the kind.

Other players who were seniors on last year's college and university teams will be eligible for the game. The two players at each position piling up the largest number of votes, will report to Dyche stadium, Northwestern university, August 10 for three weeks of preparation for the battle.

The balloting for players will start July 6 and will continue for two weeks. From July 21 to midnight of August 5, a poll to select a head coach and two assistants will be held.

The vote will be conducted by the Tribune and 104 other newspapers in 24 states and the total vote for players and coaches is expected to reach 200,000.

The profit from the game will be divided among Chicago's United, Catholic, and Jewish charities.

DUNCAN TEAM TO PLAY HERE ON WEDNESDAY

HALLIBURTON NINE TO MEET RUNNERS IN TWO GAMES

Baseball fans from all sections of the Panhandle will be drawn to Pampa, Wednesday night and Thursday, July 4, when the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing company's team of Duncan, Okla., comes here for a three-game series with the Pampa Road Runners.

The first game of the series, will be called at 8:45 o'clock at Road Runner park. The second meeting will be at 9 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. The final tussle will begin at 9:15 o'clock Thursday night. No increase in admission will be made despite the caliber of the visiting team and the holiday attractions. Women will be admitted for 25 cents and men for 40 cents.

The Halliburton lineup reads like a Texas league team. Eight members of the team played in the Texas league this year, or in the last few years.

Leading off for Halliburton will be Adair, who plays the right field. Adair is a good hitter and fast. He has had several tries with professional teams. Battering in second position will be Lowell, first baseman. Lowell was with the Fort Worth Cats part of this year. With the Cats last year, and part of this season, Holley, second baseman, will be the third batter. Holley was here with the Fort Worth team last season.

The cleanup man for Halliburton will be Sam Jones, center fielder. Jones is a former Dixie and Texas league player and is one of the best hitters in the country. A promising youngster by the name of Strong will be at the hot corner and will bat fifth. Cecil Smith, last year with the Fort Worth Cats when they played here, will be at shortstop. Either Vaughn or King will be in left field. Coleman, with Tulsa in the Texas league last year, will be behind the bat. Strong, a great hitter, is the utility man.

The four-man pitching staff is composed of three Texas league hurlers and an International league hurler. The corps is headed by Manager Lefty Johns who made history with Fort Worth and then spent two years with the Detroit Tigers. Said to be the next best pitcher in the league is Harry White, last season with Fort Worth. The great J. Paul Jones, underhand artist who saw service in the International and Western leagues, is also with the Cementers. The other moundman is Duddy Rhodes, last year with Fort Worth.

Manager Freddy Brickell and his Road Runners will be ready for the invasion of the "big league" team. Tiger Joe Berry will return in time to take the mound in one game. Lee Daney, little Indian who has come through slowly, will be ready. Lefty George Bulla, Bill Ehardt, and Carl Stewart will be available for the other battle.

Stanolind Downs Shell.
Stanolind connected for 10 hits to score 15 runs in a 15 to 3 win from Shell. Terry and Bryant were batteries for Stanolind. Keeling and Trenary, divided mound duty for Shell with Stokes and Barnett receiving. Each hit three triples on the windswept diamond.

Western Carbon Wins.
Western Carbon won a 12 to 11 game from White Deer in a game played at Stanolind diamond. Hall pitched the entire game for the Blackfaces with James receiving. Urbanczyk and Kalka divided pitching duties for the Bucks with Eakin receiving. Urbanczyk and Kalka homered for White Deer with Henderson getting a four-ply wallop for Western.

Cargray Wins Another.
Cargray put on hitting clothes and won a 15 to 6 game from the Pampa Indians in a game played at White Deer.

Cottexa Continues.
The Cottexa Blackfaces kept their slate clear by defeating Magic City 16 to 2. Ables allowed Magic City only four hits while his teammates were getting to Long for 18 singles. Least contact for the carbon mine with Anderson receiving for Magic City. The work of Thompson and Agent in the Magic City outfield

Close Battles Feature Two I League's Tilts

Kingsmill Beats Hoover 1 To 0; Texas Elf Trounces Sun Team 7 to 6.

Two of the closest games yet played in the Two I league, were staged on Sunday afternoon when Kingsmill took a 1 to 0 decision from Hoover and Texas Elf defeated Sun 7 to 6. Several lopsided games and several close games with large scores were played in which the wind caused the havoc.

E. Bones of Kingsmill allowed the Hoover batters only two hits in his 1 to 0 shutout. Andy Andrews pitched great ball for the losers, letting Kingsmill down with only four singles.

Kingsmill's hit went to T. Franks, S. Morgan, Bones, and R. Franks. All were singles. Masungale and Murphy did the hitting for Hoover with Masungale's hit going for two bases. Kingsmill scored his lone run when Sheridan walked, went to third on a single and scored when the wind blew a fly back of third base.

Ninth Inning Win.
Texas Elf won in the ninth inning from Sun, coming from behind with a three-run attack to make a final score of 7 to 6. Three bingles and a walk and an error caused the damage. With two out, a man on third, and the score tied, the Texas Elf batter hit a high fly ball and carried it into the outfield and the winning run went across the plate.

Bogarth was on the mound for Texas Elf with T. L. Pace catching. Webber hurried for Sun with Vermillion catching.

Indians Beat Skelly.
The Pampa-Busy Indians won their first game in two years of battling against Skellytown Sunday afternoon when they took a 26 to 22 game on a windswept diamond. Gregory went the route for the Indians with Maples and Hassel dividing the receiving. Terry pitched for Skelly with Sorenson catching.

Advertisers Won.
The Pampa Advertisers took a 12 to 5 decision from the Sinclair-Prarie team.

Stanolind Downs Shell.
Stanolind connected for 10 hits to score 15 runs in a 15 to 3 win from Shell. Terry and Bryant were batteries for Stanolind. Keeling and Trenary, divided mound duty for Shell with Stokes and Barnett receiving. Each hit three triples on the windswept diamond.

DALLAS BEATS TULSA 8-2 AS INDIANS REST

OKLAHOMA CITY GETS FIRMER HOLD ON SECOND PLACE

The Dallas Steers continue to send up rumbles from the Texas league cellar that are none too pleasant to the ears of clubs that are contending for the closely contested top positions.

An 8 to 2 Dallas victory over Tulsa last night gave the Oklahoma City Indians a firmer hold on second place in the loop, although the Red-men rested.

Tulsa had held second place, closely trailing the league-leading Galveston Bucs, for several days until Sunday, when the Indians triced ahead.

Sal Gilatto pitched steady ball to give the Steers their victory, and Tony York helped out by driving in four of his team's runs. McDougall and Selway took turns on the mound for the Oilers.

The Galveston Buccaneers continued their winning ways by defeating San Antonio, 3 to 2, but the contest required an extra inning. The victory was Max Butcher's fifteenth for the season. He gave up eight hits while Earl Caldwell held the Bucs to one less.

Frank Cook, young southpaw, pitched Beaumont to a 5 to 3 victory over Houston. Cook allowed three hits, fanned six and during the last six rounds turned back the Buffs in order. Phippen and Smith gave the Exporters nine hits.

Coltoso Whips Phillips Team In 22-4 Rout

Coltoso of LeFors turned on their heavy artillery last night and sent a barrage of base hits ringing over Phillips park in Berger to the tune of a 22 to 4 win last night from the Phillips 96 Oilers.

The visiting club opened up their offense in the first inning, getting enough hits to score seven runs. The scoring spree was climaxed by Pitcher Ledford's home run with the bases loaded. Savage started on the mound for Phillips but was relieved by Winkler in the second. The little pitcher allowed 14 runs and 21 hits during his stay of seven innings. Ledford allowed only nine scattered hits.

Leading the Coltoso attack was Huffman who collected five singles. Shinski got his batting eye back again to gather three singles and a triple. Spenser hit a double, triple and home run. Poindexter collected two singles, a triple and a homer. Ledford managed for a single besides his home run.

Underhill, with two singles and a home run, led the Berger hitters. Surface hit a triple.

All Happy Five Years After Baby Mixup

Five years have passed since the Bambergers and the Watkins' went through agonizing weeks of doubt as to "who had whose baby." The two baby boys were born in a Chicago hospital at almost the same time. Mixed identification tags caused all the trouble. Today neither the Bambergers nor the Watkins' have any doubt that they are rearing their own flesh and blood. At top are the William Watkins', left, and the Charles Bambergers, right, as they stood in the hospital in 1929 trying to decide which baby was which. Below, left, is Charles Evans Watkins, and at right is George Edward Bamberger, as the two boys, both healthy and strong, approached their fifth birthday. Time has brought out family resemblances, confirming the correctness of the final decision better than mother instinct or careful scientific examination could do when the controversy was at full heat five years ago. Improved means of marking and identifying babies soon after birth have been adopted all over the country as a result of the famous case.

NO FUN, SAY KEY BROTHERS ON THE GROUND

Record Broken, Men To Sleep 'Two or Three Days'

MERIDIAN, Miss., July 2. (AP)—Back to earth after more than 27 days aloft, Fred and Al Key today slept off the effects of a record endurance flight which they said succinctly wasn't "any fun."

The brothers, who brought their plane, the Ole Miss, to a safe landing at 7:06 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) yesterday, broke all existing marks for sustained flying. Their record is 27 days, 5 hours and 34 minutes.

Thousands of spectators cheered as the brothers circled the field and made a perfect landing despite a flat tire. The fliers were almost mobbed by the crowd before police and National Guardsmen led them through the mass.

"It's been a hard old flight," said Fred Key. "But it's been O. K., I guess."

"We're mighty happy, of course, we broke the record," Al Key declared. "We're awfully tired and I'm telling you it wasn't any fun, but we're both happy now."

They said they intended to sleep for "two or three days."

The official endurance record of 532 hours, 41 minutes and 30 seconds, set in 1930 at Chicago by John and Kenneth Hunter, was broken by the Keys last Thursday at 3:13 p. m.

Fighting storms and mechanical trouble, the Keys remained aloft and one minute past noon yesterday smashed the unofficial record of 647 hours, 28 minutes and 30 seconds established in 1930 by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien at St. Louis.

Al Key said the decision to land was reached after the brace wires on the stabilizer were stretched, allowing it to flutter quite a bit, bringing great danger of its breaking off.

"This would cause an uncontrollable spin," he said.

Registration headquarters is at Harvester Drug where Harold Gregory is taking the applications. Entrants will be allowed one week to play the first round, one week to play the second round, and a week for the final.

Mr. Gull is hoping that the entry list reaches the 400 mark by Wednesday.

TALKS TO CONTINUE
Continuing his series of talks on the disciples of Christ, H. D. Tucker will speak at First Methodist church this evening on the life of Nathaniel. The weekly meeting will be followed by a meeting of Sunday school teachers and officers.

LITTLE SYMPHONY PRACTICE
The Little Symphony orchestra will have regular rehearsal this evening at 8, in the red brick school building. All members are urged to be present promptly, for an hour of practice. The orchestra will start work on music for a second public concert to be given in two weeks.

Five Texans In Chicago Tourney

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—Racquet swingers who played in the national intercollegiate tournament last week, were well up in the running today as the western tennis title meet went into the third round.

Billy Reese of Atlanta, Ga., star of the Georgia Tech team, seeded second to John McDiarmid of Port Folio, won his first two tests yesterday over R. J. Shoemaker and Jack Clanchester, Chicago, 6-2, 6-1, and 6-1, 6-4, respectively.

Russell and George Ball, El Paso, brothers who play for Northwestern University, advanced without difficulty. Russell whipped Ernest Neuberger, Chicago, 6-2, 6-3, and George eliminated Pete Hamberger, Chicago, 6-1, 6-4.

Daniel "Doc" Barr of Southern Methodist University won his opener, but had to go three sets to get by Charles Shostrom, a promising Chicago youngster, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1. Bert Weltens, University of Texas, advanced to a 6-3, 6-0 victory over Don Brown of Chicago.

JOE LOUIS ELUDES DETROIT BANDS, MAYOR IN HOMECOMING

DETROIT, July 2. (AP)—Joe Louis, Detroit's negro heavyweight sensation, has his own ideas about how these home-coming celebrations should be run off.

Joe returned from his knockout victory over Primo Carnera in New York ahead of schedule, and in so doing eluded the brass bands and the welcoming committee of frock-coated dignitaries who had planned to make his return a Roman triumph he would long remember. Instead, only the white-toothed grins of his friends, the redcaps, greeted him.

The welcome committee found him as he was seated at his mother's table. The word had gone round that he had returned, and they were filled with consternation.

His manager, John Roxborough, explained things for Joe.

"Joe doesn't want any sort of celebration," Roxborough said. "He's satisfied just to get back home."

And that was that. The mayor's committee and negro organizations called off all festivities, but the mayor himself declined to let Joe off without a handshake.

"I won't take no for an answer," said Hizzoner, "and I'll call a policeman to enforce the edict if necessary."

There the affair rests. Joe may escape the celebration, but to shake the peace he has promised to keep at least a score of bands.

The "Brown Bomber" spent his first afternoon at home watching the Detroit Tigers defeat the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 1. He let fall a remark that he'd always been a Tiger fan and that it was his lifelong ambition to meet a big league player in the flesh.

MURDER ON A HONEYMOON

WIFE DIES BUT HUSBAND LACKS ENOUGH NERVE

Gives Invalid Wife Gas But Refuses It Himself

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—Elizabeth Genschaw, 58, was tired; exhausted by 10 years' illness which recently resulted in permanent paralysis of her left side.

But, police said today, she had nerve.

For William, her 60-year-old husband, life likewise seemed to hold little. Their five living children are married and have homes of their own. His job as a mechanic offered scant opportunity for happiness or wealth; his nights were spent caring for his invalid wife.

He, too, had nerve, police said, but not enough.

The officers told the story of William and Elizabeth today—a couple that should have been cheered by Elizabeth's return from the hospital yesterday, but wasn't.

Instead, they said, the couple talked it over and decided to die.

Then, officers reported, the husband, helping his wife just as he had for 10 years, worriedly and tenderly dressed Elizabeth in her finest kimono. Himself he clothed in his best suit.

While Elizabeth watched every move, William fastened a rubber tube to a wall gas jet, turned on the gas and put the hose in her mouth. They kissed and he sat down to watch her die.

Soon she was gone, her wish fulfilled. Elizabeth had nerve.

Then it was William's turn.

But it was from William, the police said, they heard the story.

He told them, they said, he tried to put the tube to his mouth, his hand faltered, he tried again.

Then sobbing, he turned to the phone, called police and cried:

"My nerve failed. I didn't want to die that way."

COURT RECORD

Little progress in the suit of H. R. Beardmore vs. Southern Underwriters, a compensation case, had been made up to this morning in 31st district court. Indications were that the suit would take most or all of the week to hear. Judge Will R. Saunders is attorney for the defendant and Judge E. D. Stennis and John Osborne for the plaintiff.

The jury is composed of Tracy Cary, J. R. Davis, Bert Curry, J. A. Ashby, J. C. Gray, Walter Hagler, J. A. Meek, S. B. Kiser, J. B. Ayers, W. G. Kinzer, W. N. Johnson, and Joe Brown.

Marriage licenses have been issued to the following:

J. A. Stevens and Waldean Slater. E. C. Porter and Dot Kohn. B. H. Blair and Mrs. Eliza Wood. Orby Melton and Vivian Russell.

Sheriff Earl Talley is in Tyler this week. He is a witness in a trial there.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—The uptick gave the bull market a boost in today's stock market, but other sections of the list wavered and the close was somewhat irregular.

Another defeat in the house of representatives for the administration on the holding company bill added sentiment for the power group. The activity was more pronounced than in the previous session, transfers approximating 1,150,000 shares.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 2 (AP)—The market eased a little from the early high during the morning, but managed to retain net gains in all cases. The March position, a weak spot yesterday, was a feature of strength today advancing seven points to 11.53, July at 11.83, Oct. at 11.51 and Dec. at 11.49 represented smaller advances.

Rains in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia appeared on the weather map today, with Texas coming in for a few showers.

Drowning Victims' Funeral Will Be Here Wednesday

Joint funeral services for Claude Eugene, 6 and Cecil James, 4, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. "Robby" Robinson, who were drowned in a narrow pit on Highway 66 near McLean yesterday afternoon, will be conducted at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the First Methodist church here. The Rev. Gaston Foote, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery in charge of the Pampa Mortuary.

The two little boys are survived by their parents, and grandparents, and Mrs. Lewis Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kendrick, all of Pampa.

Mrs. Robinson first missed the children about 1 o'clock. A search was immediately started, but it was not until nearly 7 o'clock that the bodies were discovered in the roadside ditch at the edge of the city. The boys had apparently gone to wade in the water, which was not very deep.

With the children when they went to play was a small dog. Scratches on the face of the smaller boy led friends to believe that the dog tried to save his little master.

Several hours were spent in an effort to revive the boys, but all methods of resuscitation were futile.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are graduates of Pampa high school. They moved to McLean a year ago when Mr. Robinson became interested in oil property in the Wheeler county area.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—Heavy, aggressive buying that characterized recent sessions was not present in the wheat market today and profit taking shaved about a cent from prices.

Favorable harvesting weather southwest, weakness in Liverpool wheat and a letup in the volume of black rust reports from Nebraska were factors disappointing to bulls. Some crop observers were inclined to believe spring wheat will be subjected to at least some rust damage, the amount to be governed by the weather.

Wheat closed 1/4 cent below the previous finish, September 87-87 1/2, and corn was 1/2 cent lower to 1/2 higher, September 75 1/2-76. Oats lost 1/2-3/4, 1/2 to 1 1/2 and barley was unchanged to 1 cent lower. Provisions were about steady.

POULTRY

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—Poultry, live, 66 trucks, easy; hens 5 lbs, and less 15, more than 5 lbs 15 1/2; leghorn hens 12 1/2; rock fryers 17-18, colored 15 1/2; rock springs 20-21, colored 20; rock broilers 15 1/2-16, colored 15; leghorn chickens 2 lbs, up 15 1/2, less than 2 lbs 15; bareback chickens 13-14; roosters 13; turkeys 11-15; old ducks 4 1/2 lbs, up 10 1/2, small 10; old geese 10, young 14.

Mrs. Harry E. Hoare and daughter, Marcia Gail, were to leave Pampa-Jarratt hospital for their home, 903 East Twelfth street, this afternoon.

Summer Theater Meets

Summer theater members are to meet at high school gymnasium this evening at 8, and invite others who are interested to be present. Casting for the Taming of the Shrew, major play of the season, will start.

Persons

Mrs. W. T. Gassaway was admitted Pampa-Jarratt hospital last night.

Dee Graham flew to Guyton, Okla., this morning on a business trip.

E. M. Solow of Dallas underwent a minor operation at Pampa-Jarratt hospital this morning.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

Attend Air Races

A number of Pampa citizens went to Tulsa, Okla., Sunday to attend the air races in that city. They report the races the best of the year and the stunting far above the average. Another meet will be conducted Thursday. Those making the trip included Mr. and Mrs. V. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Lefty Purinton, Joe Berry, G. J. Johnson, Kenneth Speer, R. Johnson, and Montie Keenan and Johnnie Morris who flew there.

V. F. W. Meets

Initiation of several new members will be part of the Veterans of Foreign Wars program tonight at the American Legion but on West Foster avenue. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock by Commander Hamp Waddell presiding.

Top Soil Available

About 25 truck loads of top soil are available at the postoffice for anyone who wishes to haul it away. Arrangements should be made with Postmaster D. E. Cecil. The soil would make excellent topping for lawns, the postmaster said.

Leaving Today

A group of Pampans were to leave this afternoon on an extended vacation trip which will take them to the Yellowstone National park, the Pacific coast and points of interest in British Columbia and Alberta, Canada. Those leaving are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pool, Miss La Verne Ballard and Miss Clara Lee Shewmaker.

Pampa Stickers Available

The Pampa Board of City Development has had a large number of windshield stickers printed and urges motorists leaving the city for July 4 to have a sticker placed on their car. The stickers with the word PAMPA in large letters may be secured from Charlie Maisel at the corner of Kingsmill avenue and Frost street.

Visiting Relatives Here

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sampson, Gene Cooper, Charlie Farrington of Greensboro, N. C.; Bertha Boone of McLeansville, N. C., are visiting Mrs. Ethel Olsen and Miss Alice Reedy here. The party plans to visit Mr. and Mrs. Carl Freeman in Canadian this week, and attend the Anvil Park rodeo.

Corn Elevator Is Being Built At Port Isabel

PORT ISABEL, July 2 (AP)—Construction has begun on a corn elevator through which the greater part of the lower Rio Grande valley's 2,000,000-bushel corn crop is expected to pass for movement by ship to Atlantic and Pacific seaboard markets.

The elevator is being built for a concern which has drying and shelling plants at several points in the valley including Harlingen and Alamo. It has 13,000 acres of corn contracted but will be available additional supplies. The corn acreage is the largest in history of the valley.

The purpose of the drying plants is to get the corn prepared for market ahead of the crops in other sections. Due to the long valley summer, corn needs to be dried for quick maturity and to keep out insect pests.

ing company elimination section. Senator Wheeler (D. Mont.) said, "I would sooner see no bill at all."

He said he would be prepared to "go to the country" with the measure and fight "in every congressional district" those opposing it.

The democratic leadership was divided on the question. When Speaker Byrns walked through the tellers to vote "aye," several democrats applauded, and there even were a couple of rebel yells.

Other leaders split. Rep. Boland of Pennsylvania, the democratic whip, voting against the amendment. Nobody in the gallery saw Rep. O'Connor of New York, democratic chairman of the rules committee, pass through the tellers.

Other democratic chiefs who voted for the amendment included Chairman Doughton (D. N. C.) of the ways and means committee, Chairman Jones (D. Texas) of the agriculture committee, Chairman Rayburn (D. Texas) of the interstate commerce committee.

test to Japan, alleging Japanese troop violations of Soviet territory, evoked sensational headlines in the Tokyo press today, but officials professed little concern.

Vernacular newspapers stressed the sternness of the protest. Nichi Nichi called it "threatening," emphasizing a "reference to grave consequences."

Officials asserted that such a phrase was absent from the note in the Russian language which Ambassador Constantin Yureneff handed Foreign Minister Koki Hirota Monday night.

The foreign office spokesman said Yureneff sent a second note to Hirota today "correcting certain passages" of the protest.

Rev. and Mrs. Roy Jones and baby of LeFors were Pampa visitors yesterday.

CONFESSION

said they arranged to signal Ferris when they thought the time was ripe for the robbery. "We laid plans for the signals," McCrea quoted her as saying, "with Jean included in the plans. Then we didn't talk much more about them Wednesday night because Dickinson came up and we had dinner with him."

The prosecutor said Ferris described how he and the Jackson sisters struck up an acquaintance with Dickinson in the dining room of a hotel (Book Cadillac) last Tuesday night, decided he had money, and made a date with him for Wednesday night. The Miller girl joined the party that night.

Riding through Rouge park Wednesday night after the four had consumed a quart of whisky and played nickel poker in Ferris' hotel room, McCrea quoted Ferris as saying the girls asked to get out of the car.

Dickinson's Last Words

"Then I put the gun on Dickinson," said Ferris according to McCrea. "He wouldn't put his hands up so I let him have it. The gun went off a second time as I was pulling Dickinson's coat and vest off."

The girls told the prosecutor that before Dickinson died, he said: "You're a damn fool. You kids are making a mistake."

McCrea said that Florence told him in her confession that she and Jean "grabbed for the coat and vest."

"We didn't find any money in the vest. But Jean took the wallet out of the coat pocket and I took out a small book. There was $14 in the book. Jean turned out $120 she took from the wallet."

"Bill said: 'That's a hell of a small amount to kill a man for.' I thought there'd be some titles in there. But he won't talk any more."

Mrs. Harbert To Be Interred in East

The body of Mrs. Rebecca Harbert, 72, who died at the home of a granddaughter, Mrs. Ruth Childress of McLean, last Thursday night, will be sent to Shinnston, W. Va., for burial by the G. C. Malone Funeral home.

Mrs. Harbert has been visiting relatives in this section for three months before her death. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Jess King, Kellerville, Mrs. Margaret Skinner, Clarksville, W. Va., and Mrs. S. A. Zinn, Oklahoma City, and two sons, Aris and Glen Harbert of Clarksville.

NEW STYLE DRIVE

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—A new-style drive for G. O. P. campaign funds was under way today by a Chicago group which hopes to see that contributors have a voice in the selection of candidates for 1936. Frankly it is a bill to win back the party's backsliding "big business" contributors, say the authors, who will deal the money out through "regular republican channels" but only when candidates and platforms are satisfactory.

Impatient Stock For Canadian's Rodeo on Hand

CANADIAN, July 2 (AP)—A howling, squealing, kicking and bucking lot of wild livestock is assembled in corral and pastures adjoining Anvil Park ready for the 13th annual Anvil Park rodeo which opens Wednesday, July 3, and continues thru the 5th.

Already the advance guard of more than 100 cowboy contestants who will compete at the rodeo in western sports events is reaching here. Each pays his own expenses, entrance fees, and if tough luck overcomes them in the strenuous sports of the rodeo, medical attendance as well. The incentive is the attractive prize list which the association has hung up for the contestants to divide according to their success in bronk-riding, wild steering, steer wrestling, calf roping and other sports which have been developed into large-scale entertainment during the last 40 years on the vanishing frontier of the cattle-lands.

The contestants travel in various manners. Some will arrive by train, some by bus and some in their own cars pulling high-falutin' trailers with their roping and steer wrestling horses. With their ten-gallon hats, parathesis legs and winning gait necessitated by their high-heeled cowboy boots, they made themselves conspicuous last evening in the city and the Anvil Park district.

ATHLETES SAY: "THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND!"

SAM HOWARD, the high-diving champion, says: "I can smoke Camels all I want to and keep in perfect 'condition.' Camels are so mild. They never get my wind. And when tired a Camel gives me new energy."

CARL HUBBELL, star pitcher of the N. Y. Giants: "Camels are so mild, they never get my wind or ruffle my nerves."

GEORGE BARKER, the former intercollegiate track star: "A cross-country runner has to keep in shape. I've learned one thing about cigarettes—Camels are mild. They don't get my wind, and they never bother my nerves."

GEORGE M. LOTT, JR., tennis star, says: "Camels never take the edge off my condition or get my wind, because they are mild. I understand more expensive tobaccos are used in Camels. That accounts for their mildness!"

BILL MENLHORN, the star golfer, adds this timely word: "I've got to keep fit to compete in tournament golf. I can smoke Camels steadily. From years of experience I know they won't get my wind or jangle my nerves."

CARL HUBBELL, a Camel smoker for many years, caught in action on the diamond! He says: "Camels have flavor, plus mildness—a rare combination. And they never get my wind. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!'"

YOU'LL LIKE THEIR MILDNESS TOO!

Because Camels are so mild...made from more costly tobaccos than any other popular brand...you can smoke all you please. Athletes are agreed that Camels do not jangle the nerves or get the wind. You'll never tire of their appealing flavor.

COSTLIER TOBACCOES!

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOES—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

Allred to Lead Brady's Parade In July 3 Fete

BRADY, July 2. (P)—Governor James V. Allred will lead the varicolored parade of Brady's tenth annual July jubilee rodeo and race meet celebration the morning of July 3. Seventy-five to 100 decorated cars and floats entered by Brady merchants will compose the procession in which the Queen of July Jubilee and her court of maids and duchesses will move "in state" through the streets to the jubilee grounds at Richards park where the governor will deliver the opening address.

The coronation of the queen will occur the evening of July 2 on a stage in front of the grandstand at the race track in Richards park. The queen's ball will be held immediately after the coronation ceremony.

Race horses from the best stables in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Arizona are here and more than 100 are expected to participate in the racing beginning at 2 p. m. each day of the 3-day meet. A total of $2,130 will be awarded the winners in purse money.

During the intermission of the races a selected aggregation of untamed broncs will be used in the riding contests. In addition to the daily money prizes the rodeo committee is offering a $125 saddle, a $25 pair of cowboy boots and a $7.50 pair of spurs to the cowboys scoring the best 3-day average in the bronc riding events. Calf roping and wild steer riding will be among other rodeo features. A cowboy basketball game, which attracted considerable attention at last year's jubilee, will be played each afternoon. This is a rough and tumble game played on horseback.

Future Farmers To Make Trips

LUBBOCK, July 2. (P)—Future Farmers of America will be given an opportunity to visit points of interest in the vicinity of Lubbock during the first convention of the organization held in West Texas at Texas Technological college July 24-26. Trips to Carlsbad Caverns and Palo Duro Canyon have been planned by several groups of FFA members and their teachers.

State supervisors of this work, including J. B. Rutland, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, and Paul G. Haines, director of vocational agriculture, will attend. Herbert Mills of Sterling City is president of the Texas association of FFA.

Two official delegates are followed from each member's chapter, but Cyril Luker, district supervisor of vocational agriculture, has announced that an average of three boys from each of 300 schools and at least 100 vocational agriculture teachers have indicated they will be in attendance.

A concert by the largest FFA band in the United States at the national convention last year, a stunt night, a banquet, a parade and trips to cattle feeding projects in Brownfield and Littlefield are listed on the tentative program.

The 'Stricken' Wheat Belt Comes 'Smilin' Through!

Drought, dust storms, tornadoes and floods which scourged the great midwestern wheat belt are only memories, gladly forgotten, where the golden grain is waving again and the reapers are humming. CHAPTER 33
Zoe Parker said briskly, "I envy you. She was curled up in the corner of Katharine's chaise longue, watching the packing. Ellen had brought piles of folded freshly ironed silk things; there were stockings in neat rolls. Katharine lifted heavy eyes. She did not speak. She moved these days almost as in a trance. Even the exciting fact that her father had agreed to the western trip did not surprise her. She was apathetic. "You'll adore the west," Zoe said emphatically. "I did I want to live there some day—have a dude ranch or something." She would be on the train tonight, Katharine told herself. They'd be riding far away from here, leaving a memory of pain behind. She folded her jodpur breeches and laid them in a drawer of the trunk. Zoe prattled on. She seemed, to the casual eye, entirely recovered from her long illness. Her rounded prettiness was not quite so exuberant now. But she was as pretty and nearly as gay as before. "I saw John Kaye in town the other day," she said brightly. "He's such a darling. Why don't you sign him up before you go? If I were you I'd be afraid someone else would. . . . "What on earth do you mean?" cried Katharine, struck. "Don't be silly," advised Zoe. "You know perfectly well he's mad about you. Has been for ages." Katharine shook her head. "Honestly, I haven't the faintest notion what you're talking about." "I didn't know—anybody—could be—so dumb," said Zoe, punctu-told her. "Your imagination is running away with you." Bertine came in just then with some fussy directions and complaints, and the conversation quite naturally languished. Katharine was glad to be furiously busy. It gave her no time to sit and brood. She had heard that Michael Heathere had returned to Innisbrook. The very fact that he had failed to come to her established in her mind the suspicion that the marriage ceremony of the week before had been a cruel joke. Violet had promised to see about the annulment in Katharine's absence. She could trust Stanley Mercer; the affair would be handled as decently and quietly as possible. And if, in the end, it leaked out, at least Katharine would be miles away from her stepmother's rage and surprise. At 5 o'clock her packing was finished. Zoe had gone to some tennis matches, promising to return later. Katharine, unable to sit still, wearing the rather crumpled white frock she had worn all day, jumped into her car and drove at a furious pace up and down the roads bordering the town. She kept assiduously away from River Road. She ran into the beauty shop where Isabel worked and found that volatile little creature in tears. Miss Betsy had gone home. There were no customers about. Isabel had felt free to indulge her "fit of the blues." She sat behind the manicure table, getting out the dozen and one boards. Drying her eyes. "Don't mind me, Miss Strykhurst. Surely I can give you a quick doing up. No trouble at all. We don't close till 6. I was just having a good cry. It helps when you get kind of down." It was Bill, the crudely handsome young man who drove the express truck who had caused Isabel's tears. They had gone to a dance the night before. Bill had got "roaring drunk" and started a fight with someone. He had also, Katharine gathered, "fallen for" a blond girl who was "nobody you'd know or ever heard of." "Aren't men the limit?" Isabel inquired, brushing away a bright drop that trembled on her mascaraed lashes. "Sure I know he's crazy about me and all, but sometimes I just get to wondering what it's all about. Why can't we get along without them? But it's stylish to have a man, my mother said; that's what she said when she married old Price. He was her third. You can't get along with 'em or without 'em. Isn't it the truth?" The phone rang and Isabel ran to it, pushing aside tables and stools in her progress. But it wasn't a penitent Bill; just a customer, making an appointment for the morrow. Isabel dropped with disappointment. "What any girl ought to do," she said oracularly, polishing Katharine's nails before applying the liquid coating, "what she ought to do is marry someone she doesn't give a hang about and just sort of kick him around. That's the way a girl gets the breaks. Why, I had a girl friend who did that. She didn't give a scream for this boy she married, but he just worships the ground she walks on, and say, they've got along dandy. He's the quiet kind. She used to go around with a boy from Yonkers. He was a hell-raiser, and she says to me more than once, 'I'm not going to spend my life trying up his head, see if I do.' And she was right. Sure, she was crazy about him and all, but she gave him the air and it turned out that was the right thing." Isabel put her head on one side, pensively surveying Katharine's hand. "It's what I ought to do," she said morosely, "I ought to forget about that big hulk and go my way. But can I? Why, I've tried it; would you believe it? I cried myself to sleep three nights, and then he came around again and promised he'd never touch another drop. And he didn't either—until the next time." She applied the little brush with the pale, glittering liquid polish and held Katharine's hand near the bulb of the electric fixture poised at an angle over the white table. "There now, just let those dry. They look grand, don't they? Well, you take my advice, Miss Strykhurst, and don't let any boy get round you the way they do. But I can tell just by looking at you that you've got good sense. You couldn't be anybody's fool." Isabel abandoned herself to one luxurious sigh at the thought of her own folly where the absent Bill was concerned. Katharine's heart contracted as though a hand had squeezed it. She had been a fool. Perhaps she ought to cry it before all the world; she was masquerading under false colors.

Paying her bill, wandering out into the street again—a street dappled with late September sunshine and lined on either side with little cars—she felt a fury of rage and despair possess her. She was weak to run away from this trouble of hers. Isabel silly and trivial as she was, would probably have met such a situation with more bravery. Katharine hated herself, everything about her, with a sick and deadly hatred. She had parked her own car half a block away, down by the little square of lawn and the iron benches that surrounded the monument to Innisbrook's soldier dead, with a flash of terror she saw Michael Heathere. He was on foot and bareheaded, as usual. He had a newspaper in his hand. Katharine was not more than 50 yards from him when she caught sight of him. There was no possible way of avoiding him and she would not, even if she could have. She marched on blind with anger and pride. The slate-gray eyes under the crest of red hair just grazed hers; looked aside. Michael, without a nod, without a glance of recognition, passed on. (To Be Continued)

EDITORIAL

THE LEGION AND PREPAREDNESS

The American Legion insists upon preparedness. Yet of all organizations, the Legion should hate war. We do not doubt that it does. We imagine that the revelations of the last few years, showing how munitions manufacturers and financiers made war a highly profitable business, have intensified this hatred of man-made killing.

Frank N. Belgrano, national commander, may be quoted as authority, through his speech at Wichita Falls recently, on the attitude of the Legion:

"The American Legion has insisted upon the adoption and the maintenance of an adequate national defense not because we love war but because we love peace. As the world is constituted today, our nation can no more afford to assume the risk of an inadequate defense than business men can assume the risk of wiping out the insurance which is their protection against the hazards of ordinary existence.

"I defy any person to prove that unpreparedness ever kept us out of war. We had our lesson from the dangerous policy of splendid isolation and destruction of our national defense back in 1917 and 1918. We thought the ocean was an impenetrable barrier, and that the inferno which flamed in Europe was too remote ever to reach us. We economized! What were our dividends from that economy? The lives of thousands of fine clean American boys; maimed men limping along our highways; insane asylums filled to overflowing with pitiful victims whose minds have been eternally blasted; pitiful widows and wandering orphans; broken homes, economic chaos and a bill which will not even be settled in your time or mine. A terrible picture to present to you, my fellow Americans, but a more ghastly price! God grant that in my time, or in the time of American children yet unborn, we shall never be called upon to pay this price again. Not if the American Legion can prevent it.

"Every man and woman who loves America, every child who looks forward to a life of peace and progress under our flag, well may return thanks that in this session of Congress our government has seen fit to establish a national defense program more in keeping with the importance and the security of the United States. This is not a militaristic program. It is, in fact, merely the minimum requirement as set forth by your recognized military and naval leaders for the protection of this country. Immediately after the World War our Congress adopted a program for national defense which never was made effective.

"At our convention, in Miami, in view of the grave situation in the orient and general world conditions, we adopted a mandate calling upon Congress to provide for the minimum requirement as set forth by your recognized military and naval leaders for the protection of this country. For the navy, we asked for construction up to the limit authorized by the London treaty, and the men to man the ships required. For the army, we demanded a standing army of 165,000 enlisted men, and adequate officer personnel; a National Guard and trained citizenry sufficient to form the nucleus of a citizen military army in time of national emergency. We demanded an adequate air defense of our coasts and possession, with the necessary personnel, modern equipment, and reserves for that vital purpose. In other words, as citizens who had experienced the privations and horrors of one war, and desiring peace for ourselves and our children, we asked only for the establishment of these minimum national defense requirements. I am happy to report to you that in this session of Congress our recommendations were adopted 100 per cent. It now becomes our duty to see that they are maintained and that our national defense is not again subjected to so-called economy which invites war and possible disaster.

"When those of us who had been in the service were restored to our civilian status, we recognized that something must be wrong with a system which conscripts 5 per cent of the people to bear the burden of battle and service, and leaves the remaining 95 per cent to make profits out of that service virtually without limit. It seemed to us that if war had any place in the affairs of our nation, it must be regarded as a proposition for the defense of the whole people. That being true, we of the American Legion determined that if war ever again should visit its misfortunes upon the United States, the burden of conducting it and winning it should be borne by all of the people without exception. In order that we might have a complete understanding of the situation, we appointed a committee early in our existence, which studied the question of war-time service not only in our country but in all the allied countries, and even Germany. Out of this study came the first universal service bill ever presented to the Congress of the United States, more than 12 years ago. Now, probably in this session of Congress, we are about to see the fulfillment of that ideal through the adoption of legislation which provides that in time of war the country has a right to expect, and shall have, the services of industry, capital and man power, with special privileges and profits for none."

About New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER.

NEW YORK—In view of the prodigious amount he has written, it seems rather astonishing that Frederick Lonsdale, the playwright, has authorized only one failure.

Libby Holman, Ann Andrews, and Joan Bennett are inveterate lorgnette users, but not because of any inclination to appear aloof. Neatness is the real reason, I'm told.

Not content with six evening performances and two matinees each week, Leslie Howard spends his Sunday afternoons playing polo. He lines up with the Llano Rangers and is said to be a crack rider.

You'll not find Rex Beach, the novelist, loitering in the shade after his daily stint is done. A zealous golfer, he shoots constantly in the low 90's and recently won the Metropolitan Senior golf tournament, his first attempt at tournament play. Once when Hugh Fullerton asked Rex his formula for short story writing, Rex drawled: "Well, Hugh, first you get an idea then you put pants on it."

You will most certainly save yourself a bust on the nose if you don't mention Joe Horn's name. Provided, of course, that you are visiting in Pago Pago. That's the name of the trader in the play "Rain," you'll remember. Well, Moss Hart, who was there not long ago, says there's really a general store. But the people never heard of "Rain" or Joe Horn. The real store keeper, Hart declares, has had so many people ask him if he was the original Joe Horn that the mere mention of the name is enough to drive him into a rage. However, the hotel is exactly as pictured in the play, even to the room where Sadie Thompson and Serg. O'Hara danced to the tiny, squeaky hit of the "Wahash Blues" on a cracked gramophone.

Once this department recorded an item on the man who had the loneliest job in New York. He was the policeman who watched over President Roosevelt's town house. That was one post where speaking off for a quick schooner of beer was out of the question. The lieutenant had a way of popping up at unexpected moments to watch over President Roosevelt's town house. That was one post where speaking off for a quick schooner of beer was out of the question. The lieutenant had a way of popping up at unexpected moments to watch over President Roosevelt's town house. That was one post where speaking off for a quick schooner of beer was out of the question.

Stuvia Sidney, who is in town now, gave herself a thorough musical education by studying phonograph records.

To a make-believe street where much the best is rough and gruff you still hear Walter Kingsley's name. He was one of Broadway's most successful press agents, handling publicity even for the Mikado of Japan. To be was a whirling good lightweight boxer, and once he won a world championship for his bicycle riding. It was Kingsley who really picked most of the besties for Ziegfeld's shows. Editors found in him an unfailing source of "tips" for news-breaks.

It's said even that his fund of anecdotes and human interest stories about the great and near great really inspired the first of the Broadway columns.

As it goes, one suspects, he chose as his creed the admonition of Nietzsche: "Be Hard. Live Dangerously." Anyway, it was always prominently placarded on the walls of his office. But it didn't quite fit. A prince of good fellows on a hard-boiled street, today he is remembered as the gentlest of men.

SAYS CARDUI BELIEVED PAIN

For several years when just a girl, I suffered severe pain and I took Cardui with beneficial results," writes Mrs. Blanche DeWitt, of Poca, W. Va. "Later in life, I suffered again and sometimes would have to go to bed. I knew that I should take something for this condition. Cardui stopped all this trouble that I had been having. It regulated me and I do not believe any pain."

Build up with the help of Cardui to overcome functional menstrual pain. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. It does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. (Adv.)

Many Groups Ask For Centennial Appropriations

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Many delegations today requested historical commemoration allocations by the Centennial historical advisory board from a fund of $375,000 provided for that purpose in the $3,000,000 Texas Centennial appropriation.

Galveston citizens asked state aid for construction of a memorial building in Menard park, the estimated cost of which would be $75,000.

The delegation, comprising Gus

Amundsen, Jr., Representative E. H. Thornton, Father John S. Murphy, Theodore Stubbs and Will H. Ford, told the board the city and county would supply $20,000, and a federal grant of $16,000 was expected.

They asked the board to recommend an allocation from state funds for the remainder. The building would house sundry articles of historical significance.

Members of the daughters of the republic of Texas from San Antonio sought state funds for an historic drive near San Antonio linking the site of the Dawson massacre and other historical places.

Walker county requested $75,000 for a memorial hall to Sam Houston and improvements of buildings in Huntsville identified with Houston's life there.

Brewster county applied for $25,000 for a memorial museum at Sul Ross State Teachers college in Alpine and for marking historical places in the Trans-Pecos region. The $25,000 state grant was described as the nucleus for a $60,000 building, with federal funds supplementing it.

Store Transformed

Above are shown two views of a Green Bay, Wis., department store, before and after modernization. The top picture shows how the store appeared several months ago, before improvements were started. A modern store front was installed adding "sales appeal" as well as attractiveness. The black front, trimmed with chromium, lends a smart air to the merchandise displayed in the spacious show windows. New ransom lighting was added and the entire building was repainted in four colors in a brick effect. The old awnings were replaced with a new type that roll up out of sight. The electric sign was rebuilt. The paved sidewalk in front of the building was repaired. Such modernization projects for commercial properties may be carried out under the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration, under which credit up to $50,000 is available through private lending agencies.

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—Friends of Max Baer speculated today on the possibility that the former heavyweight champion and his black-haired bride might be headed for a movie career in Hollywood.

Some suggested he might take a tip from his conqueror, James J. Braddock, who is rehearsing with his wife for a stage appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Baer, who were married Saturday in Washington, expect to leave for Hollywood in the near future. Baer said he probably would take up motion picture work.

Whether Baer ever fights again is uncertain. His bride, who said she had never seen a fight, is opposed to her husband's appearing in the ring again.

TEXAS IN WASHINGTON

By DONALD YOUNG
WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Vice President Garner broke a precedent the night the Texas highway commission called Texans in Washington together to discuss their state's road program.

Whereas he usually leaves such a function rather early he stayed through the banquet and oratory, leaving at 11 o'clock. Most of his remarks were general in character but twice he made "off-the-record" statements which made the representatives, especially, take notice.

One concerned package and the other the problem of obtaining a huge allocation for highway work. Newspapersmen automatically dropped their pencils on these two occasions but one of the new representatives went around later to make certain there would be no publicity "because of the jam it would get us in."

The audience of about 100 regarded Garner's remarks as the most fundamental and direct. Postmaster General Parley's briefest; Senator Sheppard's the most oratorical; Senator Connally's the most humorous. Thomas McDonald's the most informative and Harry Hines' the most pleading. McDonald is chief of the bureau of public roads.

Chairman Jones of the house agriculture committee pinch-hit for Chairman Latham of the house delegation and remarked he was "a crank" on the subject of roads. Buchanan and Chairman Cartwright (D-Okla.) of the house roads committee were the only speakers not at the speakers' table.

Parley asked one of Texas' six house committee chairmen his guess on adjournment of congress and smiled at the answer, Jesse Jones of Houston, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, came late and left early.

Hines' expression changed when Representative Buchanan, who arrived late, ripped into the idea of raiding the government's pocket-book beyond accepted limits. Jones was introduced as "judge" and wondered why Parley remarked on the "fine time" he and others had on his airplane trip to Texas and Garner's home at Uvalde and expressed hope there would be another Lawrence Westbrook, former relief director in Texas, took good-naturedly the jibes directed at the relief administration. REAL ESTATE BUSINESS PICKS UP IN CHICAGO; LOANS MADE

BY HARRY L. THOMAS.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—Real estate dealings in Chicago, described today by Hugh Croxton, chairman of the brokers' division of the real estate board, as having been "more calm than the doldrums for four years" are once more assuming important proportions.

"Business for the real estate man has started coming through the office door once more," Croxton said, "and while there isn't a boom, it's so much better than it was we're beginning to feel human."

The best index to conditions, he said, was that insurance companies, estate trustees and similar financial sources are again making loans in what he described as "reasonable amounts" on real estate. The most recent return to this field was the Bankers Life company, Des Moines, Ia., insurance firm, after four years of absence.

Only last week a newly-organized real estate exchange was launched by the real estate board. Planned along the lines of a commodity exchange, more than a hundred members have listed several hundred properties for sale, Croxton said.

Outside the Chicago area, a 300-home building project was scheduled to get under way in Whiting and Robertsdale, Ind. this week. Real estate transfer figures compiled recently showed increases ranging from 50 to 600 per cent over similar figures a year ago. Trust deeds and mortgages filed here totaled $20,312,589, including HOLC mortgages of $1,432,596, compared to $3,451,892 the same week of 1934. Transfers aggregated $2,330,336 against $1,423,833. Building permits $182,000 against $59,400.

Thrill Slayer Of Girl Under Murder Charge

GREENVILLE, N. Y., July 2 (AP)—Alfred E. Volkmann, confessed "thrill" slayer of 9-year-old Helen Glenn, was arraigned to await action of the Greene county grand jury in September.

The arraignment came as a surprise to a village still sleeping soundly, for troopers had intimated it would be postponed until tomorrow because of the dedication of a new bridge over the Hudson river from nearby Catskill to Hudson.

Six troopers in charge of Sgt. J. Walter Wheeler quietly entered the Memorial hospital at Catskill, where Volkmann has been recovering from the effects of poison, and whisked him away in a car 15 miles to this village where Justice of the Peace Laverne Smith had been instructed to await their arrival.

Justice Smith said Volkmann appeared calm during the proceedings, which took less than 10 minutes, and had no comment.

Texans Urged To Construct Health Spot of Nation

AUSTIN, July 1 (AP)—Texans have been urged by the state planning board to make "Texas the healthiest state in the union by 1936," the state's centennial year.

A program to make Texas a health spot of the nation in protecting visitors to the Centennial exposition at Dallas and celebrations elsewhere was prepared by the board.

Cardinals points in it were: "Safe water supplies." "Special protection for all food supplies."

"The sanitation of all tourist camps and other housing facilities that might be constructed or used during the period."

"The provision of all sanitary facilities at state parks, caverns, monuments, missions, and other places of interest."

"Medical and nursing services for first aid treatment wherever large numbers of people may congregate."

"Elimination of mosquitoes."

"Complete cooperation between medical and governmental authorities."

W. M. Massie, chairman of the board, said the program "met with sympathetic interest" upon submission to the Centennial commission of control, central exposition corporation, and many of the Centennial historical celebration cities.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP)—On a morning when the flood on the Colorado was at its worst Justice J. H. Baugh of the court of civil appeals was a very popular man. He was one of the few persons about the capital with field glasses.

From the balcony beneath the dome a panoramic view of the river as it swept down its ancient channel and spread over areas not touched similarly for 30 years, was available. Justice Baugh generously passed his glasses among the group who had climbed 100 feet or more to see the remarkable spectacle.

Business in the capital was paralyzed by the cutting off of lights, telephones, power and water and virtually all departments dismissed employees.

They scurried away to join much of the city's population in watching the flood waters roll along. Governor Allred spent most of the first bad day sitting on a railing of the Congress avenue bridge from which the general public, for safety reasons, had been barred.

There had been fears the bridge would go, especially if the municipal dam, a few miles upstream, collapsed. Both bridge and dam survived, although a smaller bridge, two miles downstream, was swept away.

If anyone wants to know, George Simpson won't be state auditor after September 12, and he is authority for the statement.

"You can quote me as saying I wouldn't have it again for love or money," he said recently giving his desk an emphatic thump.

Simpson was an appointee of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and his term expires September 12. Governor Allred has not indicated who will be his successor.

The auditor's job is to inspect departments to insure good handling of the state's business. Several audits still are under way in Simpson's department, including an important one dealing with collection of fees by county officers but it is expected they will be completed by the time he leaves.

The auditor's quarters are in an almost inaccessible place in the northwest corner of the west wing on the third floor of the capitol. To get to them is to walk entirely around the gallery of the house of representatives chamber.

A group of oil men telephoned Commissioner Lon Smith of the railroad commission to know whether a scheduled oil hearing would be held. The flood was at high tide.

"We haven't any water or lights," the commissioner replied.

"But you fellows never drink water and we never work in the dark, so come ahead."

The hearing was held in a downtown hotel. There was plenty of ice water on the table in front of the commissioners and the oil men par-took freely.

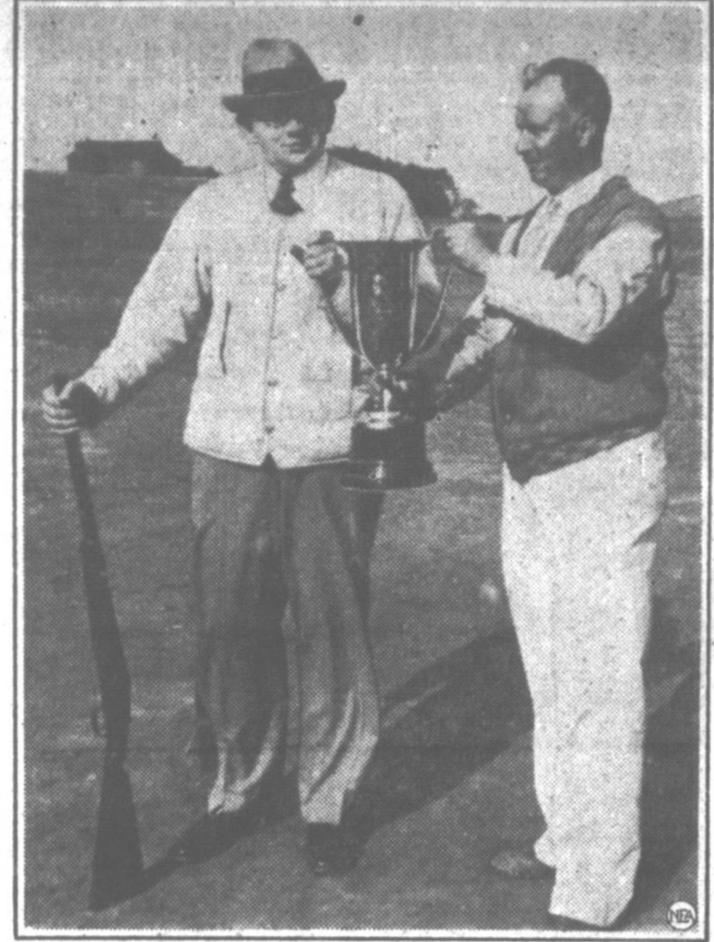

SERVICE ENTRANCE—IN BEAR COLLINGSWOOD, N. J., July 2 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Pisark vows she'll pay more attention to geography the next time she sells liquor. The kitchen of her home is in adjoining Woodlyne and authorities there have shown no disposition to interfere with her liquor business. But one day she sold some drinks in the parlor and that was a mistake because the parlor is in Collingswood and Collingswood is dry. So Judge Frank Neutze sentenced her to 30 days in jail. "I just got mixed up," she explained.

For all 48 states, on the basis of 7.5 cents daily, car owners paid in $298,840,895 during the first five months—38 per cent of the total state collections for all taxes. The daily total, on the same basis, was $5,242,494.

For the nation, on the basis of 4.27 cents daily per capita and the 1930 census, the direct tax collections of all 48 states amounted to $791,616,594 from Jan. 1 to June 1. The daily total, on the same basis, was $5,242,494.

AVERAGE CITIZEN PAYS $1.25 MONTH FOR STATE DIRECT TAXES

BY CURTIS R. HAY.
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, July 2.—Mr. Average Citizen pays $1.25 a month during the first five months of 1935 for state direct taxes.

His tax bill, established by reports of tax collections from Jan. 1 to June 1 in 39 states, was 4.27 cents a day or $645 for the five months. If he owned an automobile, Mr. Citizen paid out even more. Besides the purchase of a license, if he operated a car he spent $10.82 up to June 1 in gasoline taxes to the state, an average of 7.5 cents a day.

It was likely, however, that Mr. Citizen didn't even notice he was spending that much money, for he paid the taxes in many ways, frequently handing to the state only a few cents at a time. He paid it principally as levies on his real and personal property, his income, gasoline for his car, on alcoholic beverages and beer, and as a sales tax.

The rate paid during the first five months was determined by averaging the daily per capita state tax collections of 39 states. The individual state per capita totals were fixed on a basis of total collections for the first five months and the 1930 population of the states.

For the nation, on the basis of 4.27 cents daily per capita and the 1930 census, the direct tax collections of all 48 states amounted to $791,616,594 from Jan. 1 to June 1. The daily total, on the same basis, was $5,242,494.

JUVENILE LOTTERY

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP)—A group of small boys who broke a window a week ago while playing ball promised the owner of the building they would pay for it. There the matter rested. Yesterday Fred Holter, 10, sought out the owner and paid him one dollar. He explained they charged one cent each for chances on two modest prizes to earn the dollar.

Curry Appointed P. O. Inspector

AMARILLO, July 2 (AP)—O. A. Curry of Chicago has been appointed post office inspector for the northern district of Texas with headquarters in Amarillo.

Curry will succeed M. B. Johnson, who was inspector here for 18 years before he was transferred to the Denver division about two months ago.

Curry is a native Texan, having begun his postal career at Abilene as a clerk.

FOR THE CHURCH COLLECTION?

ST. LOUIS, July 2 (AP)—"Where's the nearest church?" a feminine motorist asked John Miller, blind, as he heard a motor car stop beside him at the curb. "Thanks," the voice replied to his directions. As the gears meshed Miller felt a deft hand lift his purse from his pocket. It contained $1.
