Schell of Perryton became this week the first entry in the 1949 "Wheatheart of the Nation" contest to be held on August 19-20, as a feature of Perryton's 30th Birthday Celebration. Miss Schell, a high school junior, will represent the Orchid Shop. She is drum majorette of the Ranger band, is an accomplished pianist, and won second place this year in the regional American Legion Oratory Contest.

JUST HERE and THERE

Just had a letter from our good friend, Sam Fort of the Texas Department of Safety. Sam, who was stationed in Perryton before entering service during World War II, is now located at Lubbock. Mrs. Fort, a former member of the Perryton School faculty, has been in very poor health for the past year or so. She suffers from a kind of paralysis—making her a complete invalid — but at last reports showing a slight improvement. The Fort's many friends in Perryton wish a speedy and total recovery for Mrs. Sam.

Sam writes as follows:

"After all, I am a resident of Perryton at heart. I have never lived at a place where a more wholesome group of people live. Regardless of where I may live in the future, your city will always be outstanding, and a place where I most thoroughly in-

Lightning Hits Four Places In Perryton

Lightning struck four Perryton buildings Tuesday afternoon during the rain and electrical storm, doing minor damage.

A bolt of lightning struck the REA office and the Shockley Electric Co., adjoining buildings on Main street. The bolt knocked an electric clock off the wall in the REA office, and splattered plaster from the wall in the Shockley building.

The lightning evidently traveled into the buildings from an electric line outside.

It made a very loud noise, sounding like a shotgun blast, according to witnesses working inside the buildings.

Good Milling Wheat Varieties Will Be Worth More Next Year

Good news to Ochiltree county wheat growers was announced this week by the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Association. A schedule of premiums for wheat of the best milling and baking varieties has been announced by a number of flour mills.

The mills will pay more for the good wheat and aim to stimulate continued improvement.

Each mill will make its own schedule public, but there is sufficient similarity to make possible a general announcement of the premiums, according to K. E. Soder, director of the T-O program.

Central Oklahoma mills are taking the lead on this premium basis and include the Okeen Milling Company at Okeene, the Canadian Mill and Elevator Co., at El Reno, and the Acme Flour Mill at Oklahoma City. Other mills are considering this basis and will possibly make an announcement later.

The wheat will be bought on the basis of samples submitted in advance which will be analyzed by a disinterested variety expert and must be 95 per cent or beter true to variety. The only varieties covered in this schedule include Comanche, Westar, Tenmarq, and Turkey because they are the strongest gluten of the recommended varieties.

The samples must test 12 per cent protein or better and delivery must be on a specified date so that the premium wheat may be kept separate from the other wheat in the mill. The premium will be 5 cents per bushel to start, and will be paid from August 1, 1949, to April 30, 1950.

These same mills advise that they will not knowingly accept wheat containing over 10 per cent Red Chief or Chiefkan.

Rain Catches Buildings With Roofs Down

Over an inch of rain fell in Perryton on Monday night and Tuesday afternoon, catching many buildings with their roofs down.

It was a particularly unappropriate time for rain, insofar as the Ochiltree courthouse was concerned. The hailstorm did excessive damage to the roof, and workmen had peeled off about half of it Monday, preparatory to re-roofing. The Monday night rain caught that half quite unprotected, and plenty of water ran through the holes in the unpeeled, but leaky portion.

Gas Showing Wednesday at New Lips Well

A heavy flow of gas in the No. 2 Lips well was reported Wednesday by the Sinclair Oil Co. The well flowed 10,300,000 cubic feet of gas through a five-eighth inch choke during a two hour drillstem test.

Calculated open hole flow yas set at 36 million cubic feet, heaviest gas flow reported in the Anadarko Basin.

The gas sand was topped at 8,118 feet. The drillstem test was taken at 8,127 to 8,191 feet. Also recovered were 30 feet of mud and two gallons of distallate.

Gas formation was in the Pennsylvania. Drilling is continuing and plans call for going to the Mississippi, expected to be reached within the next 200 fet.

Gas sand in the Sinclair well was the same zone as the Gulf No. 1 Harbaugh three weeks ago, but the pressure in the No. 2 Lips was much greater than in the Harbaugh, it is reported.

NEW CITY WELL—J. D. Maberry, city superintendent, looks over the new city well, located in the city park near the swimming pool. All of the 36 inch casing has been set on this well, and test pumping is due to start in the next few days. The well is 530 feet deep, with over 200 feet of water in it. Drilled by the Heiskell Drilling Co. of Pampa, it will furnish 750 gallons of water per minute.

Sewer Lines Being Installed

Work has started on laying the new sewer lines for Perryton, and barring wet weather, the work should be in full swing in another few days.

One large ditching machine is now on the job and another is due in a few days. Several carloads of sewer pipe has arrived.

The Sherman Machine and Iron Works of Oklahoma City has the contract for the new sewer lines.

New lines will be laid from the Uncle Sam highway, about ¾ mile east of U. S. 83, north of the railroad tracks, then west to connect to the main line. New

292,774 Acres To be Allowed For Next Year

Ochiltree county's wheat acreage cut under the recently announced government allotment program will be 18.2 reduction. Total wheat acreage for the county has been set at 292,774 acres for 1950. This compares with a wheat acreage this year of 360,000 acres and a five year average of 357,107 acres computed by the county ACA committee, after adjustments.

Allotment forms will be sent out to county farmers this week, stated Elliott Lee, County ACA secretary.

The acreage figures, upon which the allotment is based, came from the survey made this year by the ACA, with each farmer in the county submitting the number of acres seeded to wheat in 1944-45-46-47 and 1948.

Each wheat grower will be required to "leave out" his specified number of acres. His land will be measured after seeding time to see if he has compiled with his allotment. If he has exceeded it, he will be given a chance to destroy the excess wheat or remain ineligible for the government loan and price support program.

A farmer can plant any crop he desires, except wheat, on the land left out.

Committees Named for Perryton Celebration; Plans Rapidly Shaping Up for Two Day Event

Final Celebration committees were named this week by general chairman Dean McCutcheon. Plans are shaping up nicely for the 30th Annual Celebration to be held on August 19-20 this year, McCutcheon reports.

The Claud Hays rodeo stock has been hired for the four rodeo performances this year, and additional lights are planned at both ends of the arena for the night rodeos. Prizes will be approximately the same as last year, or $2,400.

Johnny Lee Wills and his band have been hired for the dance on Friday night, August 19, and Buddy Marino of Hollywood will play on Saturday night. Judging of the Wheatheart contest will be a highlight of both of the dances.

The free barbecue will be held at noon Saturday, and plans are being made to feed a crowd of 10,000 persons. The barbecue committee lacks approximately $500-$700 having enough money for the barbecue but are working to raise the necessary funds.

At least ten floats will be in the parade, plus the Will Rogers Range Riders, and other out-of-town entries.

The T. J. Tidwell Carnival will play in Perryton during the Celebration. Concessions will be handled by the VFW and American Legion posts.

The following committees have been named:

Dance

Keith Lane and Sidney Jines, co-chairman; Bill Parvin, Joy Hergert, Coke Harlow, Walter LaMaster, Carroll McClung, Tip Collingsworth, Herman Hargrove, Sid Johnson, Rod Symons, Clyce Ragsdale, Giltner LaMaster, O. C. Watson, Frank Shaffer and Houston Byars.

Need $500 More In Barbecue Fund

The barbecue fund for the celebration is lagging. Approximately $2,000 has been donated toward the fund, and at least $2,500 is needed. Persons desiring to contribute $10 or more toward the free barbecut are asked to give or mail their check to the Jaycee barbecue committee, headed by Alton Boxwell and Tom Slack, co-chairmen.

Ranger Coaches Plan to Attend Coaching School

Coach Floyd Murry and assistant Lewis Emerick will leave next week for high school coaching schools, but will go in opposite directions.

Murry will attend Colorado annual high school coaching school at Boulder, Colo., which opens on Tuesday, August 2. He will attend lectures and view demonstrations in football, basketball, track and baseball by some of the nation's outstanding coaches.

Emerick will attend the annual Texas high school coaching schoo at Beaumont, which is expected to draw 1,000 high school coaches from over the state this year. In addition to the demonstrations in football, basketball, track and baseball, the Texas school will end on August 6 with hte All-Star high school football game.

Firemen Called Out Monday to Battle Blaze at Spearman

The Perryton Fire Department was called to the aid of the Spearman Department at 10:30 Monday morning to assist in bringing under control a fire at the Spearman Consumers Sales, Inc., petroleum warehouse.

The warehouse was completely demolished, but the flames were brought under control in time to prevent above-ground gasoline storage tanks adjacent to the warehouse from being ignited. The fire was under control when the Perryton department arrived, however, local firemen assisted the Spearman department for more than an hour.

The fire started when C. S. Caldwell, Consumer manager, turned on the switch to a pump which he was to use in unloading a tank car on the railroad siding. The pump burst into flames immediately. A short in the machine's wiring is thought to have started the blaze.

Although damage was limited to the consumer warehouse, the conflagration might have proved disastrous had the nearby gasoline tanks been ignited. A large metal tank of lubricating oil was situated nearest the building with the gasoline storage tanks only a few feet beyond.

Mr. Caldwell was taken to the Spearman hospital for treatment.

The gym has a seating capacity of 1,000, and offers complete physical education facilities as well as housing several classrooms.

Veterans Land Purchase Bill Now In Effect

Under the terms of the constitutional amendment voted by Texans on November 7, 1946, a Veterans Land Board was to have been set up offering veterans an opportunity to purchase lands in Texas, but it was not until June 6, 1949 that this was done.

This law permits a Texas veteran of World War II to purchase a farm or ranch home, costing not more than $7,500, through a $25,000,000 revolving loan fund operated by the state. He may pay as little as 5 per cent of the purchase price down and finance the balance on a on-or-before note for 40 years at 3 per cent interest. He may select a tract of privately owned land for his purchase, provided that it carries at least one-half of the mineral rights.

The veteran must have been a bona-fide citizen of Texas at the time of his induction or enlistment; must have served not less than 90 days unless discharged because of service-connected disability; and must have been on active duty between September 16, 1940 and December 31, 1946.

This program will continue for eight years after the effective date of the amendment. Further information about this program may be secured from county service officer Tom Davis or by writing the Veterans Land Board, Land Office Building, Austin, Texas.

At the close of the program a tiny bride, Karen Sue Davis, and a tiny groom, Jack Morris, with their many little attendants, presented the honorees with many gifts from the group.

The party was served from the table laid with a lace cloth and attractively decorated with garden flowers and a crystal punch bowl. Mrs. John Davis, Miss Betty Davis, and Mrs. Carl Carter, hostesses presided.

About 50 guests were present.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

If you do any hunting at all, you've probably been in on one of those conversations about which is the tougher sport, skeet or trapshooting. Jimmy Robinson, one of this country's best known skeet and trap authorities, claims there is only one way to compare skeet and trapshooting and that is by high averages on 16-yard trapshooting targets, shot at scratch, against all-bore targets at skeet. At both sports 12-gauge shotguns are used to best advantage.

During the last 10 years just one trapshooter, Bill Harder of Lincoln, Nebraska, has turned in an average of 99 per cent to win the national high average. He averaged .9908 to take the crown in 1940. During the last 40 years just seven trapshooters have averaged 99 per cent or better to win the high average at trapshooting. The high-average trapshooter last season was J. Calvin Michael of Aberdeen, Maryland, who turned in .9880 in 2,000 registered targets.

It takes 99 per cent or better to win the national all gauge high-average skeet crown. Freddy Missildine, Sea Island, Georgia, copped the average last year with .9910.

Mrs. Lela Hall, Los Angeles, top woman trapshooter of all times, paved the way for women gunners last season with .9551 on 4,500 targets, but Mrs. Ann Martin, San Antonio, Texas, had a much higher average at skeet. She won the skeet honors with .9730 on 1,675 clays.

There are two other forms of trapshooting — handicaps shot from 16 to 25 yards, based on your known ability and 16-yard average, and doubles targets. J. W. Butler, Springfield, Ohio, topped handicap shooters last year with .9336 on 950 targets, while Mercer Tennille, Shreveport, La., turned in .9646 to pace the trapshooting doubles shooters.

The top professional all-gauge skeet shooter in 1948 was D. Lee Braun Dallas, Texas, with an average of .9940.

So there you have a comparison on the high averages of the two sports. Form your own opinion.

Man Injured In Schoolhouse Fall Thursday Morning

E. C. Carter, employed on the construction of the new Perryton school gymnasium and auditorium, suffered serious injuries last Thursday morning when he fell from the top of the building to the floor, a distance of some 45 feet.

According to witnesses, he was working on top of the wall, and had just taken a wheel barrow load of brick from the freight elevator operating from the floor to the top, when he lost his balance and plunged down to the bottom, landing on the base of the elevator.

His right arm was broken, and he suffered head injuries. A Boxwell Bros. ambulance took him to the Perryton Hospital a few minutes after the accident.

Dr. and Mrs. Neal P. Cannon and son, Neal, Jr., of Amarillo were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Ellzey and the Lawrence Ellzey family at the L-Z ranch on Wolf Creek. Dr. Cannon is pastor of the Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo.

Texans voted last November to discontinue the 30-cent general ad valorem tax after 1958. However, they authorized counties to levy that additional amount thereafter for soil conservation, flood control or road building purposes.

Prior to the Legislature's making the tax levy compulsory for 1949 and 1950, the automatic tax board levied the tax only when it appeared the revenue would be needed to help other appropriations.

Statistician Ballard Clark of th Comptroller's office has estimated that the 72-cent rate will bring $28,000,000, of which approximately $4,250,008 will be remitted to counties for various purposes.

Texas A. & M.'s New Athletic Director May Keep Coaching

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

Texas A. and M.'s new athletic director may decide to continue as freshman football coach. If he does, future farmer fullbacks will be getting a break.

It's quite an experience to play for Barlow (Bones) Irvin. It's a good experience and Southern Methodist University's Matty Bell probably wshes Bones were still at Thomas Jefferson High School in San Antonio.

Bell's bid for a third straight Southwest Conference football title this fall will be enhanced by Dick McKissack, Pat Knight, Kyle Rote, Eric Lipke, etc., all products of Irvin at Thomas Jefferson.

Texas' Clyde Littlefield no doubt wishes Irvin were still a high school track coach, for Charley Parker and Perry Samuels developed into star sprnters under his guidance.

Bones compiled a terrific record in football and track while at San Antonio.

His football teams from 1942 through 1947 won 53 games, lost 11, and tied three. His track teams were always tough to beat and a couple of years nobody did.

There is an easy, informal manner to Irvin's coaching that commands the respect, admiration and determination of his athletes. He's one of the few coaches that players will "hurrah.

One typical joke almost gave Bones heart failure. It was when Parker was the hottest sprinter in Texas and was a cinch to win two firsts and anchor the sprint relay team to victory in the state high school meet.

On April fool's day Parker showed up at school with his leg heavily bandaged and on crutches.

"Don' think he'll be able to run again this year," one of the boys told him.

Irvin is only 44 now, but he aged 20 years before Parker broke down and admitted it was a joke.

It's no joke that Irvin takes his coaching seriously. Sometimes he'll even forget he's chewing tobacco and swallow excitedly.

An All-Souhwest Conference tackle at A. and M. in 1925, he's made a habit of turning out strong lines.

Bones coached at A. and M. once before, under Bell. He also was head coach in all sports at St. Mary's University in San Antonio from 1929 to 1931.

Every coach has a game he'd rather not mention and in Bones' case it is probably that 1943 quarter-final meeting with Goose Creek.

Irvin's Thomas Jefferson eleven was about five touchdowns behind and the big, tough Ganders were battering his players all over the field.

It was an agonizing sight for Bones and a handful of San Antonio fans who made the trip to watch. A fourth-string tackle didn't help Irvin's feeling any when, in the last quarter Bones ordered him into the game.

Taking at the bouncing around his predecessor was getting, the tackle mournfully said:

"Aw, Bones, if you don't mind, I'd rather not."

Loses Appetite After Work

GALESBURG, Ill.—(AP) — The best way to get set for a big Sunday meal is to do a stint of outdoor work. That may be a sure-fire formula for others, but it backfired on Larry Guenther. Just before lunch time, he turned a crank on a cement mixer. The crank slipped and struck him on the lip. He lost two teeth and all interest in a chicken dinner.

Wheat Cleaning Being Stressed

Because of the amount of weed seed, cheat, and defective grains in the wheat this year, special emphasis is being laid on wheat cleaning before planting time.

The Equity has a large seed cleaning machine for rent, as does Luther Wade. These are the only two in the county at present.

A number of the samples submitted to the federal laboratories in Amarillo for government loans on the farm this year have been docked because of the amount of foreign matter, green grains and other defects in the wheat.

THIS IS AMERICA!

Farmers may plant any crop they choose. Wheat growers may plant any variety they wish. We all believe in the incentive system. We grow the crops our land and climate will produce best. We select the varieties in strongest demand. They must yield highest, too.

Your incentive is provided by the housewives of America. They tell the baker the kind of bread they want. The baker tells the miller the quality of flour required. The miller pays premiums for acceptable varieties and avoids undesirable varieties except for export. When the housewife leaves bread from your wheat on the grocery shelf your incentive disappears.

Sow a Good Milling Variety

This season many Southwestern mills and terminal elevators are offering a schedule of premiums for wheat high in percentages of acceptable milling and baking varieties. Only one truck load of an undesirable variety is needed to ruin premium chances for ten other truck loads of good grain.

Revolution In Eating Takes Place in Texas Farms; Beefsteak Comes to Table More Often

By Robert E. Ford
Associated Press Staff

COLLEGE STATION, Tex—(AP)—It used to be quite an event in Texas in the old days—that selling the first bale of cotton.

Best part was when pa—coming back from the gin—pulled up the mules in front of the town's meat market. He'd crawl down from the wagon, prance into the market with cash money in his pocket, and order up a big bait of round steak for the whole family.

He'd get a few bones for the dogs, too.

That was about the only beef the family had all year. The rest of the time it ate salt pork. An occasional chicken got the axe to provide a little fresh protein.

What a change a few years make!

The Texas extension service about 1930 began teaching farm families new facts about the food they grew—about how a person with a well-fed feeling may be near starvation because of improper diet. In other words, he might be missing some food elements which his body badly needed.

It wasn't and isn't always a matter of low income. Diseases caused by improper diet are found in home of the well-to-do as well as in share-cropper's shanties.

And the drive for better farm diets has been a rousing success.

For instance: In 1940, the state nutrition council found more than 1,360 pellagra cases in Texas. Pallegra is caused by diet deficiencies. And even by 1940, farm families' diets had improved remarkably over previous years.

Eight years later, in 1948 there were only 440 cases.

In a recent booklet, "The New Agriculture," published by the extension service, the agency says the diet improvement "was a matter of changing long-established food habits; of education."

The extension servce began this education but it was the housewife who had the final job. She had to educate her family.

The homemaker of the decade ago was required to learn the Texas Food Standard, a publication explaining about proper diet.

Then she had to change her buying and menu habits. Most important, she schemed and cajoled her family into dropping old prejudices against some foods and into learning to like other items.

Today her daughter doesn't have that trouble. She will serve a balanced meal as a matter of course.

An instance of changed food habits is meat. The average Texas family used to eat three times as much pork as beef. Now it's down about half and half, which where nutritionists say it should be.

Hand in hand with education have come new methods of food preserving, without which education would be useless.

The first food was canned in a semi-fresh state in 1799. It was only a partial success. Texas had a major part in the world food picture half a century later. It came through a famous Texas colonists, Gail Borden. A New Yorker, he came to the Lone Star State as a member of Stephen F. Austin's colony about 1853 and supervised the surveying of Galveston harbor.

Borden became concerned about the milk supply and developed a process for canning milk — a move that not only benefitted the world but founded a great industrial firm.

Canning improvement continued but there were handicaps. Only 20 years ago, an extension service bulletin on canning warned of food sense of smell.

After World War I, commercial food canning increased, and so did home canning.

The extension service appointed a nutrition specialist in 1924 — the first state to do so. In 1931, after diet surveys, one of the most intensive educational campaigns ever conducted in Texas got under way. That's when modern diet practices really began in the state.

To Plainview goes credit for the greatest step yet in food preservation for farm folk in Texas. In 1939 the first frozen food locker plant in the state was constructed there. Two other plants were opened that year. One was at Carrolton and the other at Corsicana.

The last war slowed locker plant construction somewhat, but it revived after peace came. As of last year, there were 524 such plants in the state.

As electric service spread to farms, the home storage unit became a fixture in many homes. In 1948, county home demonstraton agents reported 18,059 home frozen food units were owned by Texas farm and ranch families, a 50 per cent increase over 1947.

Almost 11,500,000 (m) pounds of meat and fish were stored by farm families in commercial and home freezers in 1948, about twice as much as was stored by any other method. And home demonstration and 4-H club members froze more than 3,250,000 (m) pounds of fruits and vegetables.

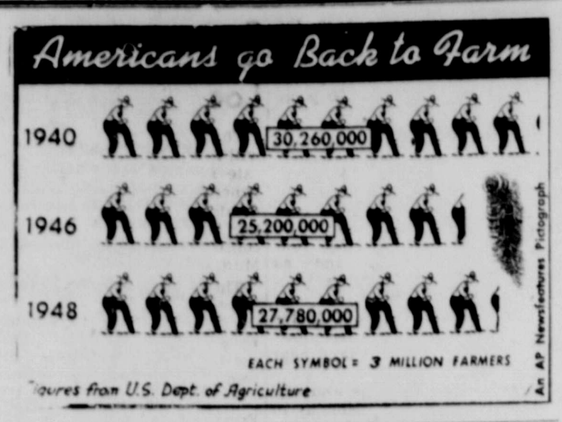

The extension service booklet cites Mrs. Pat McDonough, West Oso, Nueces county, as an example of what can be stored in food lockers. Her 1948 list totaled more than 2,000 pounds.

Here's the amazing variety of foods Mrs. McDonough stored:

Mutton, beef, doves, venison, javelina, geese, chickens, quail, oysters, fish, bacon, sausage, souse, ham, rabbits, stew, salmon croquettes, hamburger loaf, sandwich spread, spinach, squash, pumpkin, sweet potatoes, green beans, corn, okra, cauliflower, strawberries, cherries, apples, peaches, rhubarb, butter, sandwiches, salads, cakes, pies and ice cream.

Mrs. McDonough has solved that pesky problem of preparing school lunches in the early morning hours. In early September, she and her daughter set up a production line and packed lunches for her two boys. Each morning she handed them a lunch each, added a fresh fruit or vegetable, gave them money for milk and sent them on their way, by lunchtime, the frozen food was ready to eat.

Sow a Good Milling Variety This Year

We all know it isn't good business to gamble. Sowing undesirable varieties of wheat is a poor gamble with overwhelming odds against the producer. Cash returns per acre are definitely highest with improved varieties. Besides the increased yields, millers this season are offering premiums for carlots of wheat high in percentage of acceptable types. Next year undesirable types now going to export may be discounted or avoided entirely.

joyed living. Please give my best regards to all. I don't think there is a day that I do not think of the time I lived there.

We heard today that Mrs. Fannie Mae Black suffered severe injuries in a fall at the McLellan Field, Calif., postoffice. She has been in a hospital for about six weeks and it will probably be another six weeks before she is dismissed. John and Fannie Mae receive their mail on Rt. 6., Box 1827, Sacramento, Calif. We join with her many Perryton friends in wishing a speedy recovery.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dieball caused a lot of celebrating around the Perryton Hospital when he came into this world Tuesday afternoon. Even the elements opened up with a blast of lightning which struck the hospital's chimney. Mrs. Dieball is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence George — and the new arrival makes an even dozen great grandchildrn for Mr. and Mrs. S. R. George, parents of Lawrence.

A friend writes us from Lamar, Colo., that Mr. H. O. and Mrs. Bessie Belknap of that city will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary on August 5. The Belknaps lived in this county for many years. Remember them?

Mrs. Myrtle Ahlman left Tuesday for her home at Orange, Texas, after a visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. C. E. C. Carpnter. Mrs. Ahlman was an early day resident of Ochiltree. Her husband, the late Dr. Alfred Ahlman, practiced medicine and operated a drug store at Ochiltree for many years. She and Mrs. L. H. Lance were schoolmates years ago. Mrs. Ahlman makes her home with a son at Orange.

J. Hayden Simmons, Albuquerque, N. M., has been visiting his parents at Spearman this week. While there he found time to call on his many friends in and around Perryton. Hayden has recently organized and is president of the Rocky Mountain Life Insurance Co. This is the only old line legal reserve life insurance company in New Mexico. He informs us that his company will soon be ready to operate in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Devers were back in Ochiltree county over the week end following visits at Rogers, Ark., and Bentonville, Ark., with their daughter, Mrs. Pauline Webb, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Butler, former Ochiltreeites. They also visited at Neosho, Mo., with Alva Horine. They left Tuesday for Dalhart where they will see their sons, Harry and Johnny, before going on to their ranch at Rosebud, N. M., operated by another son, George. They will return to their home in Ridgefield, Wash., in few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pattison returned from a trip through Colorado Springs and Denver, Colorado and surrounding points of interest. While in Denver they visited a cousin, Mrs. Patterson, and some friends, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wallace. Mrs. Wallace is the former Lola McGarraugh of Perryton. Mrs. Patterson returned home with them for a visit.

Mrs. Hargrove suffered several broken ribs.

Deep Tests In Area Slowed By Breakdowns

Oil wells in the area have been having troubles recently, and developments on the deep tests have been stymied as operators were losing circulation or fishing on four wells.

A test was run on the No. 1 Stump between 10,051-58 feet, with three feet of cherty limestone and only a show of oil resulting. Another core was taken between 10,058-63, with the same limestone present but no oil. The well was drilled to 10,070 feet with another test attempted but the tool failed to open and the try was abandoned. Additional tests are planned.

Gulf's No. 1 Harbaugh is stopped at 9,072 feet with a drill pipe stuck. The Gulf Wamble is drilling ahead, with reported depth at 7,764 feet.

The latest depth on the No. 2 Lips well is 7,871 feet, and Sinclair reported no trouble.

Gulf operators have been fishing for drill collars on the Porter well in Lipscomb county for almost a month. Plans are now to set a whipstock and drill past. Depth is 13,273 feet. The Gulf Gamestsfelder is still losing circulation at 8,532 feet.

Huber's No. 1 Pazoureck, south of Farnsworth, is drilling at 3,187 feet.

UNDERGROUND RUINS revealed by the blitz in London. It's now or never for the British archaeologists probing the secrets of ancient London. They're appealing for $200,000 to finance a rush job on 2,000 years of history, uncovered by German bombs. They must do it before a new London rises on the ruins. Ruins have been found dating back to 122 AD, in the prosperous Roman days.

Ochiltree Slighted In Buyers Guide, Says County Agent

County Agent Hood Wills differs with the Millers Buying Guide sent out this year, regarding Ochiltree county wheat. The percentage of less desirable and undesirable varieties is too high, as shown on the map, says Wills.

Instead of 95 per cent best milling varieties, Ochiltree county has 98 per cent, at least, says the county agent. Two years ago, when the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Program started, there were several thousand acres of Early Blackhull and some Red Chief. Such is not the case now, says Wills.

Farmers abandoned Early Blackhull in favor of Triumph or Wichita because the latter varieties have a stronger straw than the Early Blackhull. As for Red Chief, there is scarcely any in the county.

In fact, there are probably less than 500 acres of these undesirable varieties in the 360,000 acres of wheat planted this year, concluded Wills.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Chase returned last week from attending the state convention of the Texas Naturopathic Association in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McMillen visited Sunday in Canadian with their nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Seitz and family.

Dallas Owner Spends Freely

AP Newsfeatures

DALLAS — Dick Burnett has spent over a million dollars to build the Dallas club of the Texas League into a powerhouse. There are many stories of his lavishness.

Bobby Goff, business manager of the club, always tells this one when the question of Burnett's spending is under discussion:

Goff, who used to work for the St. Louis Browns — noted for spending as little as possible — was trying to buy a player for the 1949 club. Burnett sat by and let Bobby do the bargaining.

"This player was pretty good," says Goff, "and I wanted him. Well, these other people didn't like our offer and I kept going up and up, wondering what Burnett was thinking. He never said a word.

"Finally, I offered $19,000 in cash and ball players. They still said no, so I gave up.

"On the way back to the hotel, I was afraid that Burnett would think I had lost my mind, offering that much money for a guy who was going to play in Class AA ball. I figured he'd fire me.

"Instead of that, he rode along for a while without saying a word. And finally he told me: 'Trouble with you, Bobby, is that you worked too long for those Browns. You're too conservative'."

GI Insurance Refund Forms Due In August

Application blanks for the GI insurance refund will be received in Perryton some time in the latter part of August, county service officer Tom Davis has announced. Payments of the insurance refunds are due to start after January 1, 1950.

The application forms are three-fold cards. The veteran fills out all three sections, keeps the bottom section and mails the other two to the VA. When the form is processed, the second section will be mailed to the veteran to show that it has been received. The third section is kept as a record of processing and payment.

While no announcement has been made of the method of computing refunds, there will be $2,800,000,000 refunded to 16,000,000 past and present policy holders, an average of approximately $112 each.

All veterans who had GI insurance in force for three months are eligible for the refund. Refunds will not be paid on policies taken out after December 31, 1947.

working at her desk near the wall clock when the bolt struck. Sparks showered from a calculating machine being used by Miss Anna Tevis in the REA office, but the machine was not damaged. Others in the room were Earl Waide, Miss Mozelle Parr, and Mrs. Mabel Halsey.

Charles B. Webb, office supervisor for the General Adjustment Bureau insurance adjustment firm working on hail losses in Perryton, stated that the bolt gave everybody in the room "quite a scare" when it hit, and sounded like a shot.

Across the street, lightning hit the Russell Motor Co., burning the insulation off some wires and catching the office desk on fire. The desk was located in the front office of the firm.

The lightning traveled down the wires, flashed out through the outlets located by the desk, burned the insulation off the wires leading from the outlet to an electric clock. The side of the desk caught fire, but was quickly put out.

Roy Cudd and Cecil Russell were near by when the bolt hit, and said a flash of fire leaped six or eight feet up from the wall.

The Perryton Hospital was struck by a lightning bolt at 3:30 p. m., knocking off the chimney and scattering bricks around the yard.

The halls of the hospital were filled with smoke, and a large flash of fire was seen in the building, stated Mrs. G. L. Kengle.

John Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dieball, was born just about the time of the lightning.

Other than the knocked down chimney, no other damage was done to the hospital building, it was reported.

About 34 million man-days of labor were lost through strikes in 1948.

"Data for individual firms will be kept strictly confidential. Figures will be classified, tabulated and finally published in such a form that the operations of any single firm cannot be determined.

This type of survey is being conducted throughout the nation this year, and the deadline for completing the nation-wide census is in October, 1949. It will take two to three weeks to finish the job in Ochiltree and Lipscomb counties, Bell estimates.

"American business men generally look back on 1948 as one of the best business years in terms of sales volume," Bell said. Just how good a year it was for all kinds of businesses will soon be measured by the U. S. Bureau of Census.

After the nation-wide enumeration has been completed, the accuracy of the present of the 1949 retail sales at $130 billion and wholesale trade at $160 billion will be tested.

Approximately three million establishments of the nation in the distributive and service trades will provide these facts in the census of business now underway. The census of business will cover completely all establishments. Since no one form can be designated which is appropriate to all establishments included in the census, each establishment will be required to provide its figures on a particular form generally adapted to its size, type of operation, and records.

The figures collected will provide a basis for measuring the contribution made to the country today by the distribution and service trades in supplying goods, employment and wages. Business will use this information in its effort to reduce distribution costs and to increase stabilization in serving customers for the good of the entire commun-

Unwashed Faces Seen In Town Thursday

Many a face was unwashed in Perryton Thursday morning, and many a tooth went unbrushed. There was no water. All over town could be heard the grumbling of residents used to having water gush from the tap when the faucet was turned. The reason for no water was that the city tied the new city well into the main lines, beginning midnight Wednesday. They hoped to finish early Thursday morning, but it was well into mid-morning before water flowed again.

lines will be laid parallel to the railroad tracks on the north side, and lines to tie in with this main will be laid from Tevis Heights and other parts of the west residential section.

Lines are being laid down the highway to take care of the new Stark addition.

It was planned to connect the new lines with the main located east of the city park, but a property owner's refusal to let the machines on his property is holding up that construction. Mayor C. C. Carter said Tuesday that the city is undecided as to whether to force compliance of whether to by-pass the man's property.

currently being offered are being paid by the Morrison Milling Co., at Denton, Texas. These Morrison premiums are 1 cent per bushel from 80 to 89 per cent good varieties, 2 cents from 90 to 99 per cent desirable varieties, and 3 cents for 100 per cent pure wheat of the recommended varieties.

There are no qualifications on the protein or time of delivery at Denton. The Universal Flour Mills at Fort Worth and the Arrow Mills at Houston have advised Mr. Soder that they are not accepting any wheat containing over 10 per cent undesirable varieties. It is understood that the various units of the Tex-O-Kan Flour mills and the Burrus Elevators are operating on the same basis.

The management of the Harvest Queen Mill at Plainview has advised that during harvest, 1950 they will not accept Red Chief or Chiefkan wheat at any price.

The acreage of undesirable varieties in Oklahoma and Texas has now decreased to a point where Mr. Soder is advising the flour mills that they can buy plenty of wheat for milling purposes without taking into their plant a single grain of these undesirable varieties. The government loan and government purchases for overseas shipment have disrupted the wheat marketing picture to the point where the true value of the varieties is not reflected in the local market prices.

This announcement of premiums for suitable farm stored wheat is expected to repay farmers for their added efforts and to encourage further improvement. Farmers desiring to collect these premiums should submit samples through their local elevators or mills to determine the exact premiums they can secure, concluded Soder.

The rest of the roof was peeled off in time for the rain Tuesday afternoon, making a repeat chore for the mopping crew at the court house.

The rain gauge of Judge Jack Allen recorded .54 inch Monday night and .56 inch Tuesday afternoon, making a total of 1.10 inches for the two days. This boosts the total moisture for the year to 21.39 inches.

anhandle Girl In Europe

By KATHERINE SHARP

to Europe really began, when I left the Pan- the midst of wheat time. But I did not way until some young going to Europe, too, realize that I am only al digit in a count y run over 350,000 this erican tourists going to rope.

countered these young and didn't know they ers at all, when I left n by train for New ich was for me the oint for an airplane e to Europe where my s working.

d my car at midnight a cool, air-condition- uiet night of rest to last day of sticky and at in our nation's cap- I had been accumu- ions, cigarettes, soap, ar and American toys for gifts.

It was necessary literally to climb down the aisle to my berth over tremendous suitcases marked: For Stateroom So and So. Excited young men obviously owned all this baggage, and they were talking eagerly of New York sailing, Plymouth and La Havre.

In the morning I was checking my baggage at Pennsylvania Station just behind the same group of boys. Sleepy as I was, my curiosity flared at the sight of cowboy boots and the familiar broadbrimmed hat on one of them, and then I spotted the extensive lettering on his large suitcase. "Delegate to IFYE," "El Campo, Texas," and the names of numerous organizations like Rotary, Chamber of Commerce, farm groups, I read there.

Absorbed by the realization that here was a fellow-Texan on his way to Europe, I nearly missed the excitement.

As the boys left the check room, an attendent loudly called one of them back. He had left his wallet and Travelers Checks on his suitcase. I hasten to add, it was not our young Texan.

I supposed I had lost track of him, and would never know what the IFYE is, as I went about my last preparations for leaving. For him, as well as for me, these arrangements must have seemed to be quite burdensome red tape proving that it's far from one world, super strata-cruisers or no.

When I marched up to the desk of my air-line office at 7:45 a. m. take-off day, I carried my passport, which I am learning to regard as my most valuable possession outside the United States, a certificate of innoculation against smallpox, typhoid and typhus, and 30 Dutch guilder — $9 worth — which is the limit the Dutch government has imposed upon visitors. These guilders I carried in provision for any emergency between my landing and my husband's meeting me in Amsterdam. No visa is required to enter the Netherlands.

Dutch friendliness toward American visitors was evident from that moment of reporting to the Royal Dutch Airline Fifth Avenue offices where glass and Dutch decorations abounded. Blonde and handsome Dutch girls did the checking in, and potent Dutch coffee, with hot milk, if you wished to observe European custom at once, was served with rich pastries.

This gracious and continental atmosphere surrounded what was the tensest moment of the morning: The weighing in of baggage. Above 66 pounds it is charged for at the rate of $1.75 a pound. One of my fellow passengers, a veteran traveller, cheerfully paid more than $13 to take along a smoked turkey for her American granddaughter and great grandchildren who will visit this summer in Switzerland.

With relief, I observed that I was not the only woman who sought to bypass the 66-pound problem by carrying an immense shopping bag filled with weighty cosmetics and small itms, coats with pockets stuffed, and the umbrella and raincoat — which I had so often needed while in the Panhandle this spring. I probably carried more than 66 pounds on my person, and got around with difficulty.

The gap between the airline office and boarding the plane involved the trip by airline bus from downtown Manhattan to New York's big international airport, Idlewild, on the southern side of Long Island in a sparsely settled flat area which looks for all the world like the Penhandle country. The transfer from bus to airport building to plane was quickly made.

Settling into my rubber-foam seat on the big Constellation I opened the New York papers to try by reading to keep my mind off the queasy feeling which always hits me when a plane takes off. And then I discovered what IFYE is.

There on page 3 the young Texan in cowboy boots and Stetson was pictured, surrounded by other young people. The accompanying story told of 31 young Americans sailing from New York to Europe to study farms.

IFYE is the International Farm Youth Exchange, a project sponsored by the Department of Agriculture. The New York paper described the 4-H Club members in groups as, "The healthiest group of Americans to visit Europe this summer. The 15 farm girls and 16 boys, from 18 to 23 years old, will spend the summer workng on farms to study agricultural methods and promote European-American understanding.

They will live with farm families in Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, the Netherlands, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and Great Britian, returning to the States by November 4. Meanwhile, 41 young Europeans will spend four months in America on farms, many having already arrived.

The young farmers are chosen as good-will ambassadors through local 4-H clubs, state organizations, and finally the Department of Agriculture. Although sponsored by the Federal government, these trips are financed almost entirely by local groups. The average cost of sending an American boy or girl is about $1000, collected largely from 4-H clubs and civic groups. Hence all those names on the Texan's bag.

And, offhand, I would say he will make a very good ambassador, indeed.

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 31.

The Golden Text is: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you' (II Corinthians 13:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (I John 4:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Love is infinite. Therefore all that really exists is in and of God, and manifests His love" (page 340).

Grass Silage Is Economical Feed For Stockmen

GRASS SILAGE COLLEGE STATION — „Texas dairymen should take advantage of the abundance of grass that is now growing in most sections of the state. They can make excellent silage from it and at the same time the mowing will improve the pasture, says R. E. Burleson, associate extension dairy husbandman of Texas A. & M. College.

Almost any grass is palatable as well as nutritious for cattle can be made into silage, he says and johnson and sudan grass, if properly handled, will make silage almost equal to sorghum and some of the other row crops commonly used.

Grasses or hay crops should be cut for silage at the stage when they make the best hay. In most cases, this would be the boot stage or when the first heads are emerging. When grass is cut at this stage, it is generally desirable to reduce the moisture content by wilting it a few hours in the field. Harvesting at a later date, warns Burleson, is likely to result in an unpalatable silage.

Wilt immature grasses only slightly after cutting, advises Burleson. One or two hours on good drying days is usually sufficient unless the crop is very heavy or immature. Grasses approaching maturity need very little or no wilting. During periods of hot weather, two to three hundred pounds of high quality cured hay should be mixed with each ton of green material to absorb the excess moisture. Run the two through the cutter together.

Grass is wilted to a safe moisture content when you can twist a small bunch and bring moisture to the stems but no free moisture will drip off. A moisture content of 60 to 65 per cent is desirable. Burleson adds that no more of the crop should be cut at one time than can be stored in about half a day.

Fine chopping is important in making good wilted grass silage.He advises adjusting the cutter so it will make ¼ inch cuts. Be sure the silo is tight and the walls smooth because mold will develop if air is present. Distribute the silage evenly and pack thoroughly. Two feet of unwilted silage placed on the wilted silage will add tional weight and cause age to pack more tightly packing and tramping will down spoilage.

Burleson says cattle relish grass silage at they will soon become tomed to it. Make the change the old to the new and you'll need to feed three to three and a half of silage to replace each of hay.

THESE BEARDED social lions lived long before the slogan "Shave- and-a-Haircut, Ten - Cents," got started. Beard's of inumerable styles have been worn through the ages by kings, emperors, popes, generals and "the man in the street." There were the Belgrave, the Boulanger, the St. James, the Uncle Sam, the goatee, the mutton chops, the Parthian bush, the Etruscan curl and the Persian, laced with gold, among many others. Their hairy history has been written by a beardless Englishman Reginald Reynolds, under the title "Beards" (Doubleday), and these illustrations are from the end papers of his book.

News From ANTHONY

By Mrs. Carl Carter

(Delayed)

The Social Club of Anthony met in the home of Mrs. Joel Fogleman on Tuesday, July 12. with Mrs. Carl Carter acting as co-hostess.

Those members enjoying the discussion of summer foods and the tasty refreshment plate were Mesdames Leon Morris, Pyle Jim Wallace, Lloyd Brown, La Vern Davis, Glen Myers, Fred Janzen, and Walter Hyatt. Gueses were Miss Lora Brown, Betty Davis, Miss Carolyn Hyatt and Mr. Pyle.

A bountiful picnic supper consisting of fried chicken with all the trimmings and home made ice cream on pie, was enjoyed by all the members of the Anthony Club and their families last Friday evening in the grove of the Carl Carter home.

An evening of visiting was enjoyed by the women and the men enjoyed horse shoe games.

The families attending were the Jim Wallaces, Ralph Bobbitts and Uncle Leslie, John Davis, La Vern Davis, Leon Morris Lloyd Browns, Walter Hyatts, J. L. Bobbitts and mother Hoffman, Fred Janzens, Glen Myers, Elmer Husteds, Johnnie Davis, Vernon Fatzlaffs, Joel Foglemans and Mr. Tow Smith and the Carl Carters. Those visiting the community were Mr. Hyatt's brother and family from south Texas and Ida Mae Braidwood from Beaver.

Mr. Fred Janzen was called to the bedside of his aged father in Fairview, Oklahoma this week. At last report, his condition was unimproved.

Mrs. Harry Sawyer and children, Turpin, were guests in the John Davis home Sunday.

Glen Myers is happy to have his granary completed and his wheat off the ground now.

Little Robert Durbin, grandson of Mrs. Floyd Myers, is staying with his grandparents while his parents are on a vacation.

The J. L. Bobbitts have completed their basement and foundation for a new house. Elmo Green, Farnsworth, is the contractor. They hope it will go up fast now.

ALL IN A DAY'S PLAY WITH A BOY—Tommy Loy McCormack, 13 months old, poked his finger in a small oil can (left) and couldn't get it out. His grandmother, Mrs. Minnie McCormack, put a hole in the bottom of the can and poured in soapy water. The finger still didn't come loose. Then a doctor of Parkland Hospital, Dallas, cut the can with a pair of tin snippers. Less than ten sobs later (right) Tommy was asleep on his grandmother's shoulder. (AP Photo)

Warn Against Bogus Solicitors For Boys Town

The Herald received a letter this week from Father Flanagan's Boys Home in Boys Town, Nebraska, warning against a a magazine racket misusing the good name of Boys Town.

Magazine solicitors are working in various parts of the nation, selling subscriptions in the name of Boys Town, and these solicitors have no connection whatsoever with the institution.

These solicitors are using the name of Boys Town to promote their own personal ends.

Father Nicholas H. Wegner, director of Boy's Home, requests that citizens contact their police department if any solicitors call upon them claiming to represent Boy's Town in any way.

Visitors this week in the P. J. Johnson, Leo Johnson and J. R. Thomas homes are Mrs. H. H. Baughon and children, Patty, Donna and Michael of Houston, Mrs. Otis Sonnier and daughter, Sally, Lake Charles, Louisiana, and Mrs. Johnnie Sonnier, Gainsville, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mathis and Mrs. A. J. Eudy, Linda and Bill, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Malaney and Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Laudermilk and Glenda were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James McAnally and sons, Jimmie and Lonnie Dee.

Mrs. Paul Loftin is in Amarillo this week visiting her sister, Mrs. George F. Simmons.

Why Worry About the Railroads?

"We hear a lot of intelligent people outside the railroad industry worrying about the future of the railroads," says Railway Age. "They would better be worying about the future of the American economy as a whole and trying to do something worth while to save it.

"The most surprised and paradoxical fact of modern history is the failure of the economically better off and supposedly more intelligent classes of the people in countries throughout the world to take any effective organized political action to defend themselves from the orgaanized political efforts being made to destroy private property and the private enterprise by which it is created and managed.

"The railways are in danger, but they are in danger for the same reason that the entire economy is in danger, and it is doubtful if they are in any more danger than the rest of the economy.

"It is illustrative of what is occurring that today private enterprise in the railroad industry and private enterprise in the housing industry are threatened with destruction by very similar government policies.

"The principal policies threatening the railways as a private enterprise are (1) fixing by labor monopolies and government of wages and conditions of employment that are excessively costly, (2) regulation by government which keeps rates too low in proportion to costs and prevents the railways from meeting the rates of pick and choose competitors unless they make similar reductions on traffic not sufficiently remunerative to invite competition, (3) excessive taxation due to excessive spending by federal, state and local governments, and (4) capture of traffic from railways by competing carriers made possible by government subsidization of these carriers.

"The railways already are suffering severely from these policies, and are in danger of suffering worse from them after the 40-hour week for non-operating employees decreed by a government fact-finding board goes into effect in September. But the railways will not suffer and are not suffering alone from such policies. In this country the railways are a more important part of the entire economy than they are in any other country, and if they should become unable to function as a private enterprise they would drag with them into the socialized segment of the economy large parts of the other industries of the country—especially those that supply the railways with $2½ billion to $3 billion of fuel, equipment and materials a year and the carriers that now compete wtih the railways—for government would not tolerate competition with railways owned by it.

"Still worse, many if not most other industries are already suffering or being seriously threatened with the same kind of policies that are threatining the railways. One of the most significant facts about the recent boom was that only a very small part of the capital invested in improvements and expansion by business was raised by the sale of securities, while an unprecedentedly large part of it was derived from net earnings that the managements of corporations withheld from their stockholders. Why? Because, in spite of large net earnings, the prices of stocks were so low that the managements did not believe they could sell stocks for enough to raise needed new capital.

"Inability to raise new capital by the sale of stock long since became a chronic disease of railroads, with some exceptions. It is significant and shocking that the disease has now spread to most other industries. Why has this occurred? It has occurred because increases in costs—especially wages and taxes—relatively exceeding increases in rates and prices have made the 'break even' points of most corporations of all kinds so high that most persons having capital have lost confidence in the ability of most corporations to earn adequate profits and pay adequate dividends and therefore will not buy their stocks.

"Why worry especially about the future of the railroads or of any particular industry or industries when the facts prove that the nation's private enterprise economy as a whole has so lost the confidence of investors that it cannot finance itself even during a boom with 'venture capital'?

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the adoption of socialistic policies cannot be stopped by continuance of propaganda against them by non-political business organizations. The effective attacks on private property and private enterprise are being made in politics; and effective resistance to them can be made only in politics." — Railway Age.

President Truman denounced John L. Lewis as a headline hunter and it must be admitted John usually comes home with a game bag full of 'em.

Babson Discusses Young Businessmen

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

BABSON PARK, Mass. July 22. During the past month I have talked with a number of graduates from my three colleges,—Babson Institute for Men in Massachusetts, Webber College for Women in Florida, and Utopia College in the center of the United States at Eureka, Kansas. I find all of the graduates optimistic and "crazy to go." They do not complain of the New Deal because they never knew anything about the Old Deal! They assume that a Democratic Administration at Washington is a normal condition and that the Republican Party has passed into history! Many of these men have seen war service in Europe, Asia and Africa and are thoroughly sold on the resources, advantages and opportunities of the United States.

Sons Versus Fathers

The Young businessmen of today are in a very much different mood from their fathers who were brought up in a truly free-enterprise system but who now are discontented with government regulations, high taxation and labor domination. When I talk with the fathers of these young men, I return home discouraged and pessimistic; but when I talk with the sons of these same fathers I am hopeful and optimistic.

Of course, neither fathers nor sons can eliminate the business cycle. Someday we shall have another business depression with much lower prices and considerable unemployment. On the other hand, I feel that if more fathers would turn their business over to their sons, the present prosperity would last longer and the next depression would not be so severe.

Forecasting The Future

A prominene investment banker recently asked me what I thought would happen to the railroads, telephone companies and other public utilities during the next thirty years? Knowing that he has three children who have recently graduated from college, I replied: "Don't ask me. I am over seventy years old. Get together your children and ask them what is to happen. They are the ones who will decide whether the government will take over the railroads and utilities. In case you think your children would merely reflect your own opinions, have them consult acquaintances whose families hold no investments today. I am sure that the opinion of an honest cross section of young people would be far more valuable than the opinion of mature bankers, engineers or even political leaders."

When discussing with students the business outlook, they insist that conditions are very different today than in 1929. They show how in 1929 interest rates were very high and money was scarce; while today interest rates are abnormally low and bank loans may easily be secured. They explan how the farmers in 1929 were burdened with debt and today are almost free from debt and that, in a general way, this applies also to other industries. They claim that every one was speculating in 1929 on very thin margins; while today there is only a little speculation with margins averaging 70%.

Babson Institute Round Tables

These students are proud of the fact that the government has become such a large purchaser of certain goods, crops and building materials and hence can largely stabilize these industries. They recognize that unemployment will increase; but that unemployment insurance, pensions, etc., should still give these unemployed people money with which to pay their rent and buy their food. This they claim will make retail trade less dependent of fluctuations of industrial production.

These students show that not only is the farmer now largely out of debt, but that he can indefinitely depend upon a fair system of price supports, the same as the manufacturer depends upon a reasonable tariff and the same as the wage worker depends upon reasonable immigration restrictions. They point to the fact that there was no bank deposit insurance in 1929; while today every bank account up to $5000 is insured and this means insurance protection for 95% of all individual depositors. Finally, they believe that the unsatisfied demand for homes and consumer durable goods can—if necessary—be paid for by the large savings deposits which people can draw upon for such useful products. Yes, I have great faith in the young businessman of character—who will work hard and keep out of debt.

Crop Surpluses Have More Than One Angle

(Ed. Note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher must have gotten hold of some paper we missed, as we haven't seen any editorial talking about what he's talking about this week and certainly it didn't appear in this paper. We suspect he made it up.)

Dear editar:

Every once in a while I read the editorials in the big daily papers that turn up out here, figurin if they was good enough to wrap fish bait in they're good enough to read, but the other day I picked up one and spread it out in the shade and in between naps read where a editorial writer was strugglin with the problem of surpluses.

According to him, scientists have discovered a way to grow 200 bushels of corn to the acre, and he was pretty upset, wonderin what would happen if all the corn land started producin 200 bushels to the acre instead of 25 or 30.

His contention was that such production would ruin the country. Now I ain't much of a corn man, myself, stickin mainly to bindweed and johnson grass and a little patch of wheat, but I can't see this editorial writer's idea at all.

He had it all figured out, if all the corn producin states suddenly produced eight times as much corn as they do now, it would flood the country with corn and break the government tryin to maintain the present price. He was even in favor of buryin the secret of 200 bushels to the acre.

If you ask me, there ought to be more editorial writers buried. In the first place, if the rest of the farmers followed my example, thy wouldn't produce no more corn then than they do now. I don't set out to see how many acres I can plant, all I want is enough to see me through the winter, and if I can do it on one acre instead of 20, one is all I'd plant. It reminds me of the city editor who was opposed to the mechanical cotton picker, on account of it would throw cotton pickers out of work, although he wasn't opposed to mechanical type setters, don't make no difference if one machine did throw ten men out of work.

Personally, I ain't scared of a corn surplus. If I had a choice of bein busted without enough corn or busted with too much, believe I'd take the latter. A man with cornbread and a fishin pole ain't hard up.

If anybody can make my land produce 200 bushels of corn or anything else a acre, he's wel-

For The Ladies: A Diet That Really Works

We went out visiting the other night and the ladies were talking away about weight-reducing diets. One of them had a special "15-day Hollywood diet" guaranteed to slim her down fifteen pounds' worth. Another was living on bananas and skim milk!

I might have known the missus would get the bug, too, and sure enough the other day she asks me, "Joe, what kind of a diet do you think I ought to go on?"

"Mother," I says, "the only diet I would ever recommend to anyone is simply moderation. I wouldn't trust any of those get-thin-quick diets. Simply cut down on desserts, bread, butter, sweets and fats—but when you do, even do your cutting down moderately."

From where I sit, moderation is the watchword. Moderation with food, with smoking or with the enjoyment of a friendly glass of temperate beer or ale. Actually, moderation adds to the enjoyment of just about anything.

... ten amendments, the ...t number ever to be pro... by the Legislature in a ...session, will become ef... only if approved by the ...in a special election No... 8.

... purposes of the amend... ...are as follows:

1. To repeal the poll tax as a requirement to vote.

2. To make women eligible to serve on juries.

3. To permit the Legislature to set up rural fire prevention districts.

4. To raise pay of legislators to $3,600 per year, and to require the Legislature to meet annually.

5. To permit the Legislature to set up city-county health units.

6. To authorize civil service systems for county employees in counties of over 75,000 population.

7. To allow lunacy cases to be tried before a judge, without jury, when either the person, his lawyer, or a relative waives trial by jury.

8. To authorize creation of county hospital districts by vote of the people in a district.

9. To authorize a statewide retirement system for county officials and employees.

10. To allow a district judge in a district having more than one county to issue orders enforceable in any county in the district without his having to go to the particular county to issue the order.

The Texas Poll tested public interest in these amendments one week before the Legislature decided to change the election date from September 24 to November 8. The September date has stood until the closing days of the session, and the Secretary of State has gone ahead with statewide publication of the amendments in preparation for the election as originally planned.

Interviewers asked a cross section of the adult population this question:

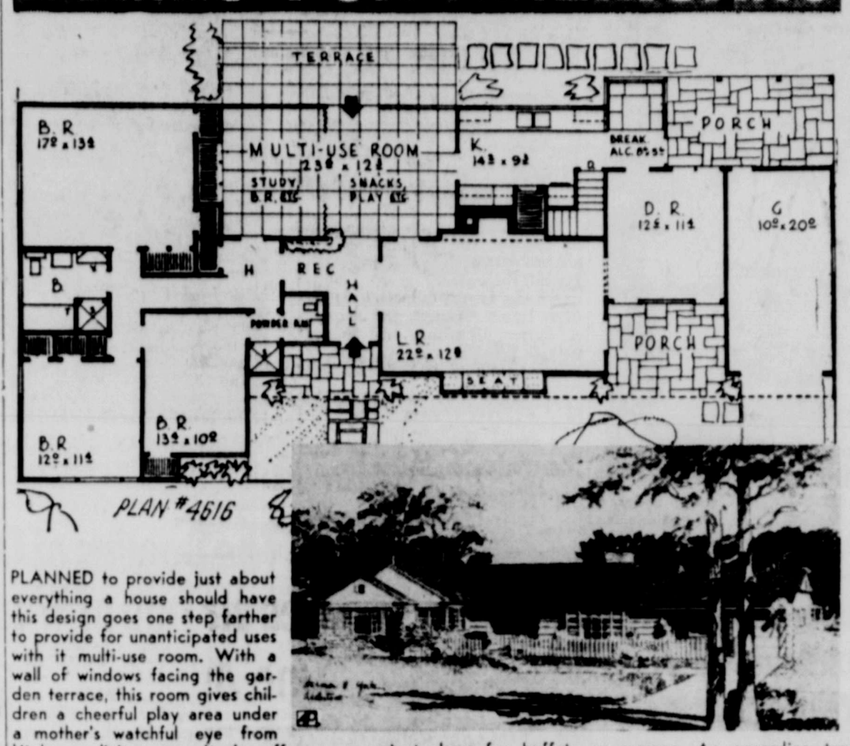

"On September 24, a special election will be held on a number of propositions to change the Texas Constitution. Which of the propositions have you heard or read about?"

	All Adults	Voters Only
Named one or more correctly	7%	10%
Couldn't recall any	93	90
	100%	100%

The above figures do not necessarily mean that all those who couldn't recall any of the amendments had never heard or read about any of them. Some persons might have heard or read about one or more, but their interest was not sufficient to retain the information. Interviewers for the poll were instructed not to help any one refresh his memory.

This test showed that qualified voters are slightly more interested in the amendments than the general adult public. For instance, while six per cent of the voters knew about the poll tax repeal amendment, only four per cent of all the adults questioned said they had heard or read about it. The women-on-juries proposal was recalled by only one per cent of the general public, as compared to three per cent of the voters.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

PLANNED to provide just about everything a house should have this design goes one step farther to provide for unanticipated uses with it multi-use room. With a wall of windows facing the garden terrace, this room gives children a cheerful play area under a mother's watchful eye from kitchen or living room. It also offers a convenient place for buffets or rumpus. An accordian type-sound-deadening folding partition can divide the room to create a study or extra bedroom. Another feature of this plan is the dining room window doors opening on both the front and rear porches. The rear porch provides a secluded place for out-door dining as well as a covered passage from garage to kitchen. This is plan No. 4616 by Herman York, architect, 199-33 Keno Ave., Hollis 7, N. Y. It covers 1,954 square feet, exclusive of garage and porches—afigure that can be used for local estimates.

What It Means:

More Jobs For Women

By Clarke Beach

WASHINGTON — Employment for women is increasing while male employment is dropping.

The number of employed U. S. women increased from 16,602,000 in May 1948 to 17,173,000 in May this year. But in the same period the number of men at work dropped from 42,058,000 to 41,521,000.

These are Census Bureau figures as analyzed and reported by the Women's Bureau of the Labor Department.

Unemployment is hittting both sexes alike. The number of women and men seeking work rose almost 100 per cent for each sex. This is all a continuation of a long trend. Since the turn of the century, and earlier, the number of women working and seeking work has been on the increase. In the present period of unemployment, the trend has been accentuated.

Take the figures on the total labor force—the total of men and women both working and seeking work. The nation's labor force increased from 60,422,000 in May 1948 to 61,983,000 in May 1949.

Among men the increase in that period was only 1.4 per cent. Among women the increase was 5.5 per cent.

Women constituted only 18 per cent of the total labor force in 1900. They were 29 per cent of the labor force last May. Twenty per cent of women of 14 and older were gainfully employed in 1900. Last May 31 per cent of them had jobs.

The trend for men was the reverse. Only 71 per cent of the adult male population was gainfully employed in May 1949. Yet 87 per cent of adult males were employed in 1900. The drop has been sharp even since 1940, when 79 per cent of adult males were working.

The explanation is that:

1. Men are staying in school longer. Also, the new pension programs make it easier for them to retire. They used to retire later or not at all.

2. Women are finding work opportunities they never had before. Labor saving devices are making it possible for them to get out of the kitchen. And they need money to buy the labor saving devices.

Women have been encouraged to work. Also, because the social attitude toward working women has changed. Furthermore, the average woman has fewer children now then formerly. The big increase of working women has come chiefly among those who were married.

Women once had too much to do at home even to consider getting a job. But the development of mass production, through the introduction of new machinery and distribution methods, has provided at economical prices the things they once had to provide themselves: clothing, laundry and canned and baked goods.

The growth of factories, too, has created jobs that women are physically able to handle. And the development of business machines has given women new fields of employment.

Although the typewriter was put on the market shortly after the civil war, the "touch system" didn't come into general use until the 1890s. The rapid work made possible by this and shorthand methods revolutionized business processes.

Girls were often found to be more proficient for the work than men and they would work for less. They flocked to the offices for jobs. There was a great moral protest — the temptations of men and women working together in the same offices, the physical strain of typing, which would ruin the girls' health.

But the fact is that women's life expectancy rose from 51.1 years in 1900 to 65.9 years in 1945.

And [illegible] fewer women are old maids. In 1900 31 per cent of women were single. In 1940 only 25 per cent were unmarried.

Five Burglers Die In Police Raid

Tuberculosis Continues as Dread Killer

AUSTIN, Texas — There is no more emphatic proof of the power of ignorance and carelessness of spread disease than is shown by the continued ravages of tuberculosis, which is responsible for more deaths between the ages of fifteen and forty-five than any other disease.

Despite the knowledge of its cause, spread and curative procedures, tuberculosis continues to be a grave public health problem, and today it holds fifth among the killing diseases in this state. This fact exists even though the majority of tuberculosis patients could have their condition arrested, if it were recognized early and proper treatment applied.

These facts are disclosed by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who says, "treatment of the early recognized case is essential to recovery. It is of equal importance, from a public health viewpoint, that the spread of this devastating infection be prevented. A more widespread appreciation of this fact would result in the saving of thousands of lives."

The State Health Officer added: "When a diagnosis of active tuberculosis has been made, examination of all members of the family should follow as a matter of course. Tuberculosis runs in families, not because of any special susceptibility, but because it is communicable and easily transmitted from one member of the family to others."

To reduce the number of deaths caused by tuberculosis, Dr. Cox urges periodic examinations of all adults, including chest X-rays; frequent check-ups by physicians where active cases and their contacts are known; isolation or hospitalization of active tuberculosis cases, and a more intelligent application of hygienic living principles.

Killings in Siam Bring Protests

BANGKOK—(AP)—The bamboo drum in the village of Tangow sounded the chief's alarm: beware of bandits in the district. Nai Roon and Nai Rau, two residents, hastened to report to the village chief as called for by regulations.

'The Doolins of Oklahoma' Is True Tale of Western Outlaws

Starring Randolph Scott, "The Doolins of Oklahoma," a supercharged Western, comes to the Ellis on Tues.-Thurs., August 2-4. The Western star is supported by a large cast that includes featured players George Macready, Louise Albritton, John Ireland, Virginia Huston and Charles Kemper.

"The Doolins of Oklahoma," the true, unvarnished story of the most daring bad men that ever scourged Oklahoma's Cimarron country, is said to be told with devastating fury. In a country that bred marauding gunmen, the Doolins grew to be legendary, and their evil reputation even surpassed that of the notorious James Boys and the Daltons. Wild Bill Doolin (Scott) turned sour on the law when his friends, the Daltons, were led into a trap and then wiped out by U. S. marshals. Riding with him like the furies themselves were Bitter Creek (Ireland), Arkansas (Kemper), Little Bill (Noah Beery, Jr.), Red Buck (Frank Fenton) and Tulsa Jack (Jock O'Mahoney), as desperate a band of gunmen as ever challenged the law.

Looting and murdering, they swept through the countryside like a cyclone, until the marshals, mobilized by Marshall Sam Hughes (Macready), forced the Doolin gang temporarily to disperse. Three months later, however, the desperadoes forced Wild Bill, who had taken himself a lovely wife (Huston), to resume his place as their leader. But the new phase of their outlaw career flourished only briefly as Hughes and his men tracked them down and trapped them in a barn in the Doolins' last stand!

One Bullet—Two Pigs

LUENEBURG, Germany— (AP) Two wild pigs with one bullet —that is the hunting claim of farmer Heinrich Winkelmann, of Leitzingen. He borrowed a rifle from military government to go after a wild boar which were destroying his crops. He spotted a sow and fired at her. The bullet passed through the sow and hit a boar which had just come up behind her, says Winkelman.

Perryton Beats Texhoma, Loses to Cactus During Week; .500 League Mark Still Intact

Perryton won and lost a NPAA league game, ending the week with their .500 league mark still intact. Their win was over Texhoma Thursday night, when they took a 10-8 decision, and their loss was a humiliating 17-1 plastering administered Sunday afternoon by the Cactus aggregation.

Cactus 17, Perryton 1

This game saw the locals display their worst form of the year, while the visitors could do nothing wrong.

After a scoreless first inning, Cactus opened up in the second, getting one run across on one hit and a Perryton error.

It was in the third that the visitors put on the heat. They made only three hits, but marched in with 8 runs to take the lead which was never threatened.

The inning started out calmly enough, when pitcher Caton flied out to left field. Gyger walked Lhullier, Ketchum got on when Wilbert Hart dropped an infield fly. Gyger hit Morris, and the bases were loaded.

Scott, left fielder, drove out a double which scored two runs, leaving two men on and only one away. Osborne pounded one which went through Hart's legs into field, scoring two more. French walked, and Cook made it to first when his bunt down third base resulted in Osborne's being called safe.

This brought in five runs, and Gyger was relieved by Deason on the mound.

Rogers got on through Hart's error, and French came home for the sixth score. Rogers and Cook scored on Lhullier's single to left field. Ketchum was out, pitcher to first base, to retire the side.

Cactus added a run in the fourth, three in the fifth, one in the seventh, and three in the eighth.

Perryton's lone tally came in the seventh. Riley singled, Hargrove sent him to third on a long single, and Holland brought him home on a single past second baseman.

Deason was relieved by Williams in the fifth, and Riley pitched the final two innings.

Cactus garnered 13 hits, and were aided by seven Perryton errors.

Perryon 10, Texhoma 8

Perryton evened things up with Texhoma, after dropping a 6-3 decision Tuesday night. The score was 10-8 Thursday night at Texhoma.

Perryton opened the scoring when Deal singled, went to second on an infield out by Gibson, made third on Hergert's fly ball to left field, then came home on Hart's single.

Williams and Deason scored in the second to make it 3-0. Two more scores were added in the third by Hart and Muir, then Texhoma made three in that inning to get into the ball game.

Gibson scored in the fourth to make it 6-3, then Texhoma tied it up in the seventh at 6-6.

Deason and Gibson scored in the eighth to make it 8-6 in favor of Perryton, and added two more in the ninth when H. Richardson and Williams tallied. Texhoma made two runs in their half of the ninth, but couldn't tie the score.

Milton Deason, who hit 4 for 5 against Texhoma and 1 for 1 against Cactus, soared to the top of the club batting averages this week with a mark of .458.

Everybody else dropped a few points, mainly because of ineffective stickwork against the Cactus crew here Sunday.

Bob Gibson, last week's leader, has a respectable .369 average, but is in fourth place. Dudley Hargrove is in second with .390.

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

CHICOPEE, Mass.—Hey kids! You might take better care of that baseball you've been scuffing around. A couple of dozen people worked on it with deliberate care. And it was handstitched by a girl who took a year to learn how.

About 400 employees work in the baseball section at A. G. Spalding's 14-acre plant here. They make all the major league balls.

All of them come off the same winding machines and are made to the same specifications—5 to 5¼ ounces and betwen 9 and 9 ¼ inches in diameter. They are stamped with blue or black ink, depending on the league for which ther are destined.

The most fascinating part of the manufacturing process is the hand stitching by 185 girls sitting at tables where vices hold the balls. An adhesive tape concession here would do a terrific business. Five mornings a week each girl tapes every finger with adhesive plaster to avoid geting stuck with a four-inch nedle.

This elaborate plant, opened last October, also includes a rubber refinery. Here the rubber is received in crude form from the Malay Straits. Often the refiner retrieves knives, tools and rocks aftr the rubber is boiled down.

There are 60 distinct operations in the ball itself, 39 of them in the cushion-cork center.

First step in making the baseball is the preparation of the center which is composed of cork and rubber. Added to the cork are two layers of soft rubber, one red and one black. Each layer, approximately one-quarter inch in thickness, is stretched over the cork.

Then the center is placed on machines which wind yarn several times the size of the original pellet. The first winding takes approximately 120 yards of yarn. A second winding adds about 45 yards of wool yarn and a third winding puts on another 50 yards. After all this winding, the machines stop automatically. The ball is removed and placed in a machine which covers it with approximately 150 yards of white cotton. The ball is then dippedinto rubber cement for a thin coating. The ball now weighs about four and five-eights ounces.

Next comes the horsehide cover. Although experts here say cowhide is tougher than horsehide (cowhide is used to cover softballs) the major leagues still insist on leather from horses' backs. Each cover is in two parts and each is stamped on hand.

An automatic machine then punches 109 stitch holes in cover section and each strip goes through rollers to make tain it is the proper thickness. The heavy thread used for stitching is treated chemically to withstand deterioration.

After this the ball is ready for the stamping machines. ly two girls wrap tissue paper around each ball, place the individual boxes and seal each box.

Ossie Savaria, major domo in the making of baseball Chicopee, chuckles whenever he sees a major leaguer on whether the National or American League ball is live. "They're both the same," he says. "Only difference is the One has Ford C. Frick's name in black and the other has signature of William Harridge in blue."

Drivers License Procedure Is Relaxed Temporarily

AUSTIN—Colonel Homer Garrison, Jr., of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today a temporary relaxation in the policy of renewing expired drivers licenses. Pointing out that the action is being taken because of inadequate field and office personnel to handle the procedure in the normal manner, Colonel Harrison stated that the temporary measure, which becomes effective immediately will preclude excuses on the part of motorists for not having obtained a renewal of their licenses.

This should come as good news to a half million Texas motorists since the records indicate there are 3½ million drivers in the state and only 2½ million current licenses are on file. Estimates show that of the one million drivers who do not hold presently valid drivers licenses about half have had one at some time but have failed to renew them. The other half million have either moved from the state, ceased driving or died since the records were compiled or have never possessed a license to drive.

Under the new program, Colonel Garrison outlines the following steps for obtaining a renewal of expired Texas drivers licenses. First: if you have a license that was issued since January 1, 1944, you may secure a renewal of same by mail from the Department of Public Safety, without examination. Second: if you have a license that was issued prior to January 1, 1944, you may renew same by presenting the old license to a Drivers License Examiner in your locality and executing an original application. High School Marcus Book Aids Charity

NEW YORK—(AP)—Eight students from the Erasmus Hall High School are publishing a book about Col. David Marcus. Col. Marcus was killed in the fighting in Palestine.

The book about him is for children from six to 10. The project started as a class exercise and grew into a major program. After consultation with Mrs. Emma Marcus, the colonel's widow, the eight students have decided to give royalties from the book to the Colonel Marcus Scholarship Fund for the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Marcus attended a New York High School, went to West Point and was New York City commissioner of prisons before going to Palestine as an officer in the Israeli Army.

Some authorities believe the Egyptian obelisks were really giant sundials.

How to keep cool — and carefree

This time of year there's one place a lot cozier and cooler than your favorite spot around the house.

That's in your Buick—finding a breeze along dusk-cooled highways, or following those little roads that lead to inviting "loafing grounds."

Either way, whichever pleasure trail you follow, you'll find more fun on the way if your Buick is in top-flight shape to take the miles in its steady stride.

How about letting us put it in that shape for you?

Get one of our conscientious motor tune-ups, and one of our thorough-going Lubricare treatments. We'll put the bounce back in your motor—while we're taking the bounce out of your ride.

We do this well because we're Buick men. We know your Buick, we've studied correct factory methods for each operation, we know the factory specifications your car was built to. We use genuine Buick parts—even special Buick tools!

Yet you don't pay a penny more for all these extras. Stop in this week, won't you?

HOW HIGH IS A TUNE-UP?
Our Buick tune-ups go far beyond adjusting your spark and carburetor. We cover a long list of things—your valve tappets, voltage regulator, fuel pump filter, coil, hose connections, and so on.
We even tighten the cylinder head and clean off your battery terminals—and do all this at a low, low flat rate price that will surprise you!

New Chair Lets You Sit On Your Stomach

SITTING ON TUMMY COMES NATURAL, says chair designers.

WHEN YOU GET TIRED, turn chair over, and sit up.

By BETTY PROSSER

AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—Two young Chicago designers think people would be healthier if they "sat" on their stomachs—and they've invented an upside-down chair to help their idea catch on.

The chair, in its "sit-on-your-tummy" position, is molded so that you kneel in a concave portion at the bottom of the creation, resting the abdomen and chest against the wavy curves of the chair's middle. Your head is cushioned on a pillowed headrest. Nice for amateur horse back riders.

Then, if the novelty—or comfort—wears off, you can simply turn the chair upside-down and use it more conventionally in a semi-reclining posture.

If you simply must find other uses for it, the kneling spot at the foot can be sat in. The sitter here is only an inch or two from the floor, but it's quite comfortable. And for good measure the inventors say, the whole contraption can be turned on its side and the wide plywood frame used as a "free-form end table." It's very free form.

The inventors are Jack Waldheim and Edgar Bartolucci, youthful heads of the designing firm of Bartolucci-Waldheim. Their chair tentatively dubbed the "Rever-sit", is made of plywood and sheet aluminum covered with foam rubber padding.

"It permits a person to revert to the way nature intended us to sit," Waldheim said. "We used to go around on all fours, and to rest we'd flop down in a prone position.

"I predict that at some future time sitting on the backside will seem as primitive as the savage's squat seems to us now."

Conventional chairs, Waldheim contended, aren't comfortable.

"Watch people sit in chairs," he said. "They never sit as the chairs are made to be sat in. People put their legs over the chair arms, or slump down on their shoulder blades, or put their feet up on tables. At parties, lots of them sit on the floor rather than submith to the squirmy discomforts of chairs."

If, as Waldheim predicts, the new chair starts "a lot of reverse designs" in furniture, at least one other industry will profit. That's the reducing business. Because sitting on your stomach, comfortably or not, definitely focuses attention on the back of your lap.

Ochiltree Bond Quota Passed

Ochiltree county exceeded its quota by 63 per cent in the Opportunity Drive for the sale of Series E Savings Bonds.

Total sales were $160,087.50, as compared to the county quota of $98,000. The final report was received this week in a letter from Nathan Adams of Dallas, chairman of the Treasury Department's advisory committee for Texas.

Harry Owens of Dallas, state director of the Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Department, said that the Opportunity Drive was an outstanding success throughout the state. Sales for Texas were $46,835,896.75 or 126 per cent of the state quota of $36,950,000.

Second Paved Alley Under Way

Perryton's second all weather alley is being constructed, and another one is nearly ready to be paved.

The alley under construction is behind the Masonic Hall, extending south to the Russell Motor Co. It is being paved with 6-inch reinforced concrete by the Ferguson Ready Mix Concrete Co.

Just north, the alley behind Leslie's Bakery, extending north, is expected to be paved in the near future by th Watson Construction Co., according to J. D. Maberry, city superintendent.

The tropical bread-fruit tree has many uses: Its fruit is a dietary mainstay; its wood is used for canoes; its inner bark, for the manufacture of cloth; and its juice for glue.

Test Pumping On City Water Well To Start Soon

Test pumping on the new city well is due to start this week, with a test flow of 1,200 gallons per minute planned during the test. The contract figure for the well is 500 gallons per minute, but city officials plan to install a 750-gallon-per-minute pump on the well since there seems to be adequate water for the higher figure.

The 36-inch casing for the new well has been installed, and three carloads of gravel have been placed around the casing. The well was drilled down to 530 feet, and there is approximately 200 feet of water in the hole.

Work is progressing on construction of the new concrete reservoir near the new well, and the foundation pilings have been built for the steel water tank and tower.

It is planned to pump water from the new well directly into the new water lines, in case the reservoirs are not completed by the time the lines are ready to be put into operation.

The Pampa Lions Club is sponsoring the trip.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY

(AP) Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Texas congressman W. R. Poage was born in Waco and that's his home now, but he comes by his nickname "Farmer Bob" honestly.

During the course of his 48 years he has picked up a lot of farming knowledge.

As a youth he tugged a sack down many a row of Throckmorton County cotton — he had to miss school the fall of 1912 to help get the crop picked. He's rounded up cattle, too, for his dad moved out there from Waco to ranch, then later he became one of the first in the county to plant cotton.

After service in the Texas State Legislature, Poage came to congress in 1937 and has become recognzed as one of its best informed men on the complicated agricultural laws that affect every dirt farmer.

His ability to explain those laws in down-to-earth language that even a city dweller can understand accounts for his prominent role in debate on the new farm bill.

Forthright, and sincere, the Texan informed Agriculture Secretary Brannan that some of the features of his legislative program were pretty good and there were some he didn't like. That was when the cabinet member came before the House Agriculture Committee on which Poage serves, and hearings were started on the farm bill which came before the house this week.

As finally reported favorably by the committee, the bill reflected some of the opinions of the Legislator. For instance it provided that the Secretary of Agriculture could test out his new price support ideas only on perishable crops.

"I see no point in changing the existing program on storable crops such as cotton, corn and wheat," he says.

"They have worked well and haven't cost the government anything. In fact, we've made about $230,000,000 (m) off he cotton the commodity credit corporation has taken over as security in loans."

With regard to those crops which can't be held by the government over long periods of time, Poage adds: "That's different."

"Take Irish potatoes.

"The CCC has been taking them up from farmers at about $1.62 a bushel. They sold lots and gave some away to charitable institutions. But a lot remained on their hands. They couldn't dump them on the market cheap to get rid of them, because that would drive the prices down even lower.

"The result was that great quantities spoiled, because they couldn' be stored, and the government lost about $220,000,000 (m) or nearly the same amount as it made off of cotton.

"Under the Brannan plan the farmer would sell those potatoes at whatever the market price will bring. The cheaper they get in the stores, the more your wife and mine will buy.

At the end of the season the secretary would determine what the average market price has been, then pay the farmer the difference between that figure and the new parity payment rate provided in the bill, amounting to $1.59 per bushel."

Poage is unhappy about one aspect of the Brannan plan even in regard to potatoes and other perishable crops.

"You're giving the farmer some money without his giving the government something in return," he elaborated.

"This is too much like a dole. And farmers are men with a lot of pride.

"Personally, I would prefer to see the program arranged on a new kind of insurance bases with a processing tax levied against everything he takes to market. Then let the government put up a matching two or three percent.

It could be worked just like the unemployment insurance program for industral workers."

Earl Olmstead, Jimmy Nelson and Jim Henry are vacationing this week in Yellowstone National Park and other points of interest.
