CHS students 'catch the wave'

Colorado High School students and sponsors are hoping to start a new tradition this year with "Project Celebration", a drug and alcohol-free graduation night event.

Mrs. Leanne Beights, one of the sponsors, said it is hoped that the party "will be the biggest thing the students have ever been to."

Senior Tori Lindsey, who is serving as co-chairman of the event along with Becky Westbrook, said "our whole purpose is to start a new tradition. We want to keep the students from drinking and from using drugs."

"If they say 'no' this one time, maybe they'll say no the next time," he said.

The party will be held at the county ag barns from 10 a.m. to 4 a.m. following graduation the night of Friday, May 29.

The idea for a drug-free, alcohol-free party came from a representative of the War on Drugs Committee who spoke to students, teachers and parents a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Beights, a CHS teacher, said the group started out with eight students. The next meeting saw 22 students and at the most recent meeting, there were 34 students in attendance.

"We have over 70 students signed up and there are 38 seniors (half the class) on various work committees," said Mrs. Beights.

The party will be open to all CHS students and their dates.

Business luncheon set

Dr. Don Altman, director of Small Business Development Center at Abilene Christian University, Abilene, will speak Friday at the Small Business Week Luncheon sponsored by the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce.

The theme for this year's Small Business Week is "Small Business: America's Growth Industry." The luncheon is designed to honor and recognize the contributions of all of Colorado City's small business men and women. Receiving special recognition will be Eddie's Pharmacy.

Owners of Eddie's Pharmacy, Eddie and Joy Piland, will receive two special awards - Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce Small Business Person of the Year and the Alternate Small Business Person of the Year of the Lubbock District. On hand to present the Lubbock District award will be Robert (Bob) Prock of Abilene, member of Advisory Council of the SBA, also a member of SCORE.

In his proclamation of April 8, President Ronald Reagan said of small businesses, "The creativity, confidence, and skills of small business men and women help ensure that America will continue to grow and prosper in freedom and opportunity. That is a source of great pride to every American."

The catered barbecue luncheon is scheduled for Friday, May 15, noon at the Colorado City Civic Center, 157 West Second. Tickets are $6 and may be purchased at City National Bank, First National Bank, First Western Savings and Loan, and the Chamber of Commerce office until Wednesday noon.

Cancer detection slated

Mitchell County Hospital will sponsor a breast cancer detection unit on Tuesday in conjunction with National Hospital Week and the American Cancer Society.

Appointments will be taken for the Tuesday screening by calling the hospital at 728-3431. Cost will be $50 for the mammogram.

A mobile unit from Women and Children's Hospital in Odessa will be set up in the front parking area of the hospital on Chestnut Street on Tuesday.

In addition, the hospital will offer blood pressure screening in the lobby on the same day, said Ray Mason, hospital administrator.

A screening mammogram is an X-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation and is designed to detect early cancers. A female technologist, trained in mammography, will perform the examination.

Light bulb sales set

The Colorado City Noon Lions Club will conduct a door-to-door light bulb sale on Saturday, May 16, starting at 9 a.m.

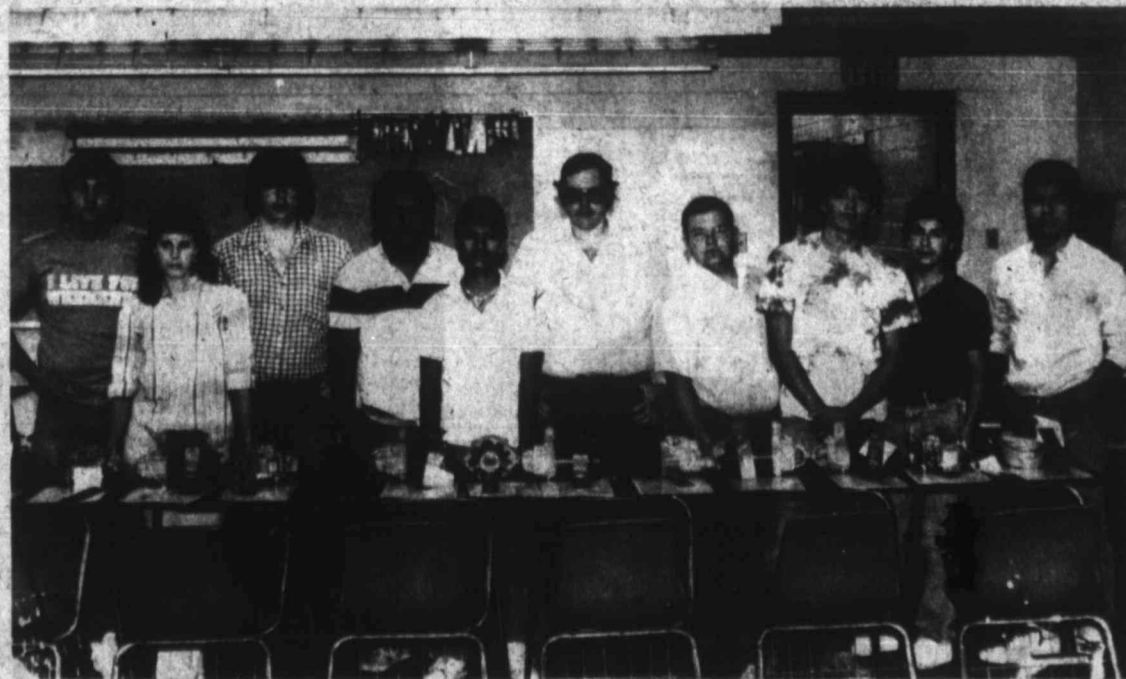

Proceeds will go to the Kerrville Children's Camp which offers a diabetic or physically handicapped child a chance to attend a summer camp.

The entire Lions membership has been organized to supply their friends and neighbors with light bulbs delivered to their door. The light bulbs will be sold in handy Project-Paks, each containing six bulbs, 60, 75 or 100 watts; six bulbs of 60 watts; six bulbs of 100 watts; or 3-way bulbs at $3.

Each Project-Pak will be sold at $4.

Every household can use light bulbs and this drive affords an opportunity to get a good supply, while helping a most worthy cause, said a Lions spokesman.

Also entering projects were Tony Espinoza, Larry Mayes, Kendell McGuire and Curtis

Craghead. While in Fort Worth those attending enjoyed visiting Six

Flags over Texas and had a tour of the Wax Museum. It was an enjoyable and educational trip.

Party

Seniors will be admitted free and all others will be charged $5 each which will include all the food they can eat. There also will be free games, hopefully sponsored by local organizations, as well as door prizes.

Sponsors are hoping for a special door prize to be awarded to a senior at the conclusion of the party.

By Wednesday afternoon, the group had already received over $900 in cash and pledges as well as items for door prizes and refreshments.

"Catch the New Wave" is the theme of the party and since it is the same theme as Coca-Cola, the group is hoping the soft drink company will supply drinks for the event.

Mrs. Beights said that the only rule is that students and their dates must come drug and alcohol free and stay that way during the party. If the rule is violated, police will be called in to deal with any legal violations according to state law.

Mrs. Beights said that students are visiting local businesses and supporters to solicit funds and or prizes for Project Celebration.

"This is a chance for the community to be involved," said Mrs. Beights.

Donations may be mailed in to Project Celebration, P.O. Box 1268, Colorado City, Texas 79512 or by contacting Mrs. Beights at the high school, 728-3424.

In addition to Project Celebration, the city will give free use of the swimming pool to the seniors on the afternoon of the 29th. The city also has agreed to furnish food for the afternoon swim party.

What is it with televangelists, anyway? Preachers keep pounding preachers, while a 2,000 year-old faith takes a beating in the credibility department.

Jim Bakker isn't the first latter-day Elmer Gantry to be exposed. Evangelists have been getting caught with whiskey bottles and mistresses and overstuffed wallets for a long time. And here at the beginning, it ought to be pointed out, that thousands also continue to conduct themselves with flawless integrity.

I asked a friend who wears the cloth recently why his profession - of all professions - has always seemed susceptible to this kind of corruption.

He blamed narcissism.

You remember, Narcissus, who broke many a young maidens' heart before finding the face that captivated him? He was fascinated by this creature and often reached out to embrace it, only to have it disappear as his arms fell into the water, remember?

The beautiful face always returned though, and eventually, Narcissus neglected food and sleep until it killed him.

Moral: Narcissus had fallen literally, and fatally, in love with himself - or at least his own image.

Bright lights and public adulation are occupational hazards, not only with preachers, but with politicians, and most public figures who attempt to mold and change people's lives.

There are no solid guidelines to tell when a minister has fallen into narcissism, of course, but clues aren't hard to find.

When the guy tells you he talked to God, and that God told him he needed to be driving a brand new Buick, you can be sure he's got one eye on the water fountain.

Oral Roberts wrote how God wanted him to have a new Buick 20 years ago.

Then there are the preachers who tell you to send them money for a towel, or for holy water? Where do you go to get holy towels and holy water, anyway?

Could it be the evangelist has grown to believe anything he touches becomes holy? Narcissus could have believed that.

Some of these guys may be plain con artists. But I like to think Jim Bakker was merely narcissistic?

When a man whose ministry is $50 million in the red, feels God wants him to keep a mil, six for himself annually, he's got to be suspect.

When he preaches daily against adultery and then engages in the same, and uses his flocks' money to pay blackmail, he's got to be suspect.

My friend sites another problem. The problem of dealing with temptation through PTL quick fixes. One day you're a sinner, the next day you're not, and suddenly you're walking the straight and narrow.

If Jim had been able to sit down, admit he had a thing for this good looking young woman, maybe he could have struggled through it. As Jim Bakker, the super-star televangelist, he had a flock of millions who depended on him to rise above such common frailty. The pressure mounted.

The clean life seems to work on the mind until it consumes some evangelists. You talk about sin and corruption just so long before the repression starts manifesting itself in unacceptable ways.

When all is said and done, the biggest problem with televangelism may be that it's just too easy. It's not so much a matter of conviction as it is a matter of charisma.

Surveys indicate televangelists draw a large portion of their audiences from lonely people who have low incomes and few friends.

They could have their homes and fight their loneliness, of course. They could get involved in a local church where their dollars could at least be accounted for, and where they could become involved in local as well as international concerns.

It's a whole lot easier, though, to sit in front of the television set and be entertained by smiling, or enraged, faces with slick-backed hair - faces that ask no personal commitment beyond their last few bucks.

Ever wondered how many mouths could be fed with the millions of dollars that evaporate into thin air each day?

Cox injured in rodeo

Monty Cox, a student at Colorado Middle School, broke his leg in an Odessa rodeo last Saturday.

Rev. Glenn Roenfeldt - Pastor

Recently I read of Hugh Kelly, a Presbyterian preacher who was very near death. He was visited by Dr. F.W. Boreham, a rather famous English author and minister, who was a Baptist.

Dr. Boreham prayed with Hugh Kelly and then ask if there was anything more he could. Kelly felt that he would like a glass of water. It took Dr. Boreham some time to find a glass and when he returned, Hugh Kelly seemed to have lost consciousness. Bending over him Dr. Boreham whispered, "I've brought the water." Kelly smiled a little and said, "Spoken like a true Baptist," and with that little joke his lips he passed into the eternal Presence.

That was how Kelly had lived...a radiant soul. And, because of his simple and direct practical faith in God, that was how he died. He knew the blessed truth of God written by Paul in Romans 8:35-39. In part this passage reads "I am persuaded, that neither death nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

Kelly had triumphant faith! Remember Christ is the power by which men can live as saints. He is also the reason they can die like men!

To the editor:

Dear Fellow Taxpayers:

Texas is in serious financial trouble! Due to factors mostly beyond our control, our state government is experiencing a billion dollar shortage. That this is true, and that the conditions which cause it seem likely to continue, are facts well known to most of us. Less well known is a recent development which should make our blood boil! The urgently needed cure for our budget problems, a plan already set in motion by the voters, is being sabotaged by, of all people, our elected officials!

Last November we initiated a plan of action. We elected a conservative businessman and governor who promised to solve our budget problems, not by massive tax increases, but by regaining control of state spending and running our government on a pay-as-we-go basis. The voters agreed with his plan and elected Governor Clements by a significant majority in urban and rural areas alike. Having done that, we might now ask, "How's he doing?"

He is doing just what he promised. He has proposed a balanced budget that will correct the billion dollar shortfall. It is a simple solution—just spend the same amount as we are this year for each of the next two years, plus two percent more for health, human services, and prisons. (No cuts, as you may have heard, only slower increases, as the present economy dictates!) Well that sounds great! Should be no problem, you say? Not quite!

Right now, our elected representatives to the state legislature are crisscrossing the state, arguing not in support of, but against the plan we commissioned Governor Clements to carry out! Ignoring our desires, they propose a 16 percent increase over current spending that will require the largest tax bill in the history of any state! And they say they have cut—all they can cut!

Clearly, the battle is between common-sense conservatives on one side, and big spenders (of our money!) who want to greatly expand the size, role, and cost of state government on the other side. Which side represents you? So what can we do? Very simply, call and write our state representative and senator and tell them WE DON'T WANT HIGHER TAXES!! Do it today, before it's too late!

Here they are:
Dick Burnett
Representative, 66th Dist.

Ray Farabee
Senator, 30th District

Respectfully yours,
J. Austin Helm

To the editor:

As hot weather approaches I would like to say a word of caution to pet owners. Your dog may be dying as you leave him in a parked car. Temperature inside a car can reach 140 degrees and higher in just a few minutes, even with the windows wide open. Oven-hot inside the car, it can kill or brain-damage your dog permanently.

Also, at your home, if your dog lives outside in the yard, make sure his dog house is in the shade of the house or a big tree, as the inside of a dog house gets very hot. Keep a big pan of water out for him to drink from, as he will need a lot of water in hot weather.

Our dog gives us his unconditional love so let's show him our love by keeping him comfortable and safe in hot weather.

Thank you,
S. L. Robinson

Teacher influence is topic

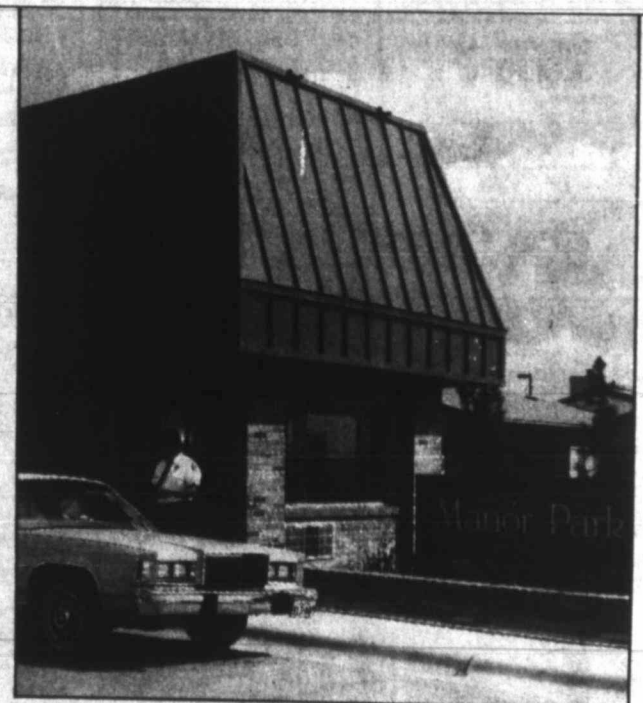

"Beyond the classroom, teacher influence can be felt in home towns and state-wide if retired teachers become more aware of legislation in Austin," Lloyd Bell, executive director of Texas Retired Teachers, said at a district meeting in Big Spring at Westside Baptist Church.

Elizabeth Taylor, state president of TRTA, spoke on teacher influence and community service.

Betsy Aycock, local president of TRTA, attended the presidents' division.

Others present were Peggy Ratliff, Lucy Thomas, Gene Rowe, Iris Preston and Billie Ruth Tarr, who attended membership, legislative, community service and program seminars.

They also attended a luncheon served by the Big Spring AARP.

Mayor proclaims Business Week

Colorado City Mayor Jim Baum has signed a proclamation declaring May 10-16 as Small Business Week.

The proclamation reads: "Whereas, an essential part of our heritage as Americans is our free enterprise system. America's millions of small business men and women exemplify the freedoms we all have - the freedoms to produce and create wealth as we choose, to earn and save and invest, to make opportunities for ourselves and others.

"Whereas, our rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness include and presuppose these rights. We should be extremely grateful to all entrepreneurs for reminding us in their daily lives of the blessings and importance of economic freedom.

"Whereas, we can be grateful for our small business men and women's contributions to our economy, our competitiveness, and our entire way of life. The creativity, confidence and skills of Colorado City's small business men and women help ensure that Colorado City will continue to grow and prosper in freedom and opportunity. This should be a source of great pride to all of us.

"Now, therefore, I, Jim Baum, mayor of the City of Colorado City, do hereby proclaim the week of May 10 through May 16, 1987, as Small Business Week, and I urge all our citizens to join with me in saluting our small business men and women by observing this week which has been set aside nationally to honor them."

Lady Wolves run for ASU Rambelles

Girls track at Colorado High School is in a state of transition. Underclassmen dominated the Lady Wolves' roster this year and it showed when not one CHS girl represented the Lady Wolves at the Region IAAA meet in Odessa last week. To say the least, the Lady Wolves took their lumps and bumps this year. If the Lady Wolves keep their good attitude and remain in track, things can only get better as they reach the last years of high school.

The current low in girls track follows a high that culminated last spring.

While the Lady Wolves were absent from this year's regional meet, last year CHS girls track was represented in eight events. Only one girl returned from that strong group.

Sandra Williams and Sherry Fite were among those graduating last spring.

Williams was a four-time state qualifier for the Lady Wolves while Fite made the trip to Austin three times. During their reign, the Lady Wolves qualified their 400 meter relay for state three consecutive seasons. Williams made the trip not only as a member of the sprint relay but also competed in the long jump, triple jump and 100 meter dash. Last spring the 400 meter relay missed the trip to state but Williams was there as a 100 meter dasher and a long jumper.

With such outstanding high school credentials it was assumed by many that the class of 1986 would have at least one girl running college track.

When the current school year rolled around though, not one of them had a place on a college track team.

That changed over the Christmas holidays when Williams and Fite accepted positions on the Angelo State University women's track team. Before they graduate, Williams and Fite will have been a strong addition to the Rambelles of San Angelo says coach Wayneete Dolan.

"They're fine young ladies," said coach Dolan. "If I had only gotten them earlier."

By missing the fall at ASU, Williams and Fite also missed Dolan's conditioning program. Dolan said that has cost them a little bit this year.

Fite has completed the 1987 season as a 400 meter dasher. Williams is the anchor for the 400 meter relay that is still trying to qualify for the NCAA Division II National Track and Field Meet to be held at Cape Girardeau, Missouri May 20-24.

The foursome of Williams, Sharon Wirwahn, Johna Tackel and Jackie Kempt took second at the Lone Star Conference meet two weeks ago with a 47.9. Last week they won a Texas Invitational meet held at Austin-blazing to a 47.32. Among the schools they bettered were Abilene Christian University, Texas, Baylor and Southern Methodist.

The Rambelles need a 47.3 to qualify for nationals and they'll have just one more shot to do so when they travel to a University of Texas at Arlington meet this week.

Williams was timed in 11.7 for her split at the Texas Invitational and owns a best of 12.0 in the open 100 this season. In addition she has run a 25.7 200 meters, long jumped 18'5" and triple jumped 36'.

The Rambelles' 400 meter relay is less than a second off the school record and with no seniors in the group it's not a safe mark.

"Sandra needs to triple jump 40', long jump 19' and run 11.9 in the 100 to qualify for nationals," said Dolan.

She was in the 11's throughout her high school career. She made it to state last year by running an 11.96 and triple jumping 37'2 1/4". She added a third place in the regional long jump by going 18'5". Fite and Williams both competed in the 400 and 800 relays at regional last year and Fite also qualified for regional in the high jump and open 400 meter dash.

Fite has already improved her time down to a 59.3 in the 400.

"We were in track starting in September," said Dolan. "They've done really good, especially since they came in during December. I think they'll you're pushed harder and are come on strong next year. They working out with a faster group. They work awful hard and at college

CHS looks to '87

When the 1-8-1 1986 football season ended for the Colorado City Wolves, preparations for the 1987 season were immediately begun.

Some athletes went on to play basketball while others got an early start on track season. For the many other athletes participating only in football the rest of the school year means off-season football workouts.

With school nearly over for 1986-87 the rewards of off-season workouts are already surfacing.

"Back in January we had only just a few kids running 40 yards under five seconds," said Colorado High School athletic director and head football coach Tom Ramsey. "Now we have a bunch of them."

"It's something you've got to have and it's really going to help us out."

Because of University Interscholastic League rules governing off-season workouts conditioning takes top billing.

"We've been pumping weights and doing a lot of agility drills," said Ramsey. "We're throwing the ball a little too."

Ramsey reports there are three strengths that should make the Wolves' second run at district 5AAA a more successful one. Foremost are the numbers.

"We've got about 70 something kids," said Ramsey. "We've got so many that we're having to do everything in shifts. All except five are playing football."

"We can't use dummies or any contact equipment so we're working on things you don't have time for during the season. Mostly timing and trying to get everything down."

"We can't run plays. We're only allowed to do drills in shorts. It looks pretty good. We're going to be much improved. We'll have most everybody back."

So many that the Wolves will be platooning with eleven different starters for offense and defense.

"It will give more kids a chance to play and we'll try to be fresh through the course of the season. We shouldn't be so tired in the fourth quarter. It should pay off in the second half."

Ramsey said the Wolves have stressed drills that help them "pick their feet up and put them down quicker." Quickness will be the strength of the defense while size and strength will be the trademark for the offense.

"We don't have a great speedster just a lot of quick kids."

Ramsey said in addition to the strength in returning linemen a plus is that only one quarterback will see starting time-unlike last season where platooning occurred at the position. He also reports that the Wolves have found a place kicker.

"I have seen a lot of kids mature since football season. We'll be a senior ballclub and should have a lot of maturity."

Sports Banquet

The annual Colorado High School Spring All-Sports Banquet will be held Tuesday, May 12 at 7 p.m. in the Colorado Middle School cafeteria. Guest speaker will be Abilene Christian University men's track coach Don Hood. Contact Wolverine sponsor Dixie McLean about tickets which will be $4.

Play Days

The annual Hutchinson School Play Days will be this Wednesday through Friday at Wolf Stadium. Competition Wednesday from 9:30-11:45 a.m. will be for fifth graders, Thursday from 12:15-2:45 p.m. for fourth graders and Friday from 12:15-2:45 p.m. for third graders.

Rhode

Mrs. W. W. (Alfreda) Rhode, 101, of Yakima, Wash., formerly of Colorado City, died early Friday morning in Yakima.

Funeral services were pending at presstime Friday. Burial was to be in Floresville, Tex., perhaps Monday.

Mrs. Rhode was born Jan. 21, 1886 in Southerland Springs, Tex. She married William Wells Rhode, a Floresville merchant, in 1906 and taught school in Floresville until 1908 when her oldest son, Bill, was born.

Her sons, Dr. Bill Rhode and Dr. Oscar Rhode, were longtime Colorado City physicians with Mrs. Rhode moving to Colorado City in 1936 when her oldest son started his practice here.

Survivors include her son, Dr. Bill Rhode of Yakima; another son, Alfred Rhode of Floresville; and a sister, Mrs. George Mahon of Colorado City. A daughter, Marjorie, died in infancy.

The family has requested that memorials be sent to the Wesley Methodist Church in Yakima of which she was a member.

Hall

ODESSA—Jessie Rosella Hall, 80, died Tuesday at a local hospital. Services were at 11 a.m. Friday at the Frank W. Wilson Funeral Home with the Rev. Lynn Money officiating. Burial was in the Sunset Memorial Gardens.

She was the widow of Leonard Hall.

Survivors include a daughter, Betty Reneau Sanders of Lubbock; two grandchildren, Karen Reneau of Odessa and Walter Reneau of Snyder; and two great-grandchildren, Audra Reneau and Casity Reneau, both of Snyder.
