Light Rains Move Into South Texas

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light rain fell in much of South Texas today as cool air and clear skies were the rule in the rest of the state.

The heaviest rainfall by morning was .96 inches at San Antonio. Victoria received .41, Corpus Christi .23, and Houston, Beaumont, Del Rio and Presidio caught smaller amounts.

Morning lows ranged from a chilly 54 degrees at Dalhart to 73 at Laredo.

Clouds disappeared over North and West Texas but there was at least a partial overcast elsewhere.

It's expected to turn a bit warmer in most sections. Long range forecasts, covering the rest of August, call for another batch of cool air to move into northern sections of the state by the weekend.

Temperatures through next Wednesday are expected to average 2 to 6 degrees below normal in the north half of the state and 1 to 3 degrees below in the south.

The Weather Bureau predicts scattered showers in most areas by the weekend and occasionally heavy rains in parts of South Texas.

Top marks Thursday were up to 20 degrees below normal for the season in some places, ranging from 90 degrees at Brownsville down to 61 at Alpine.

Soviets Are Urged To Lessen Threat

By KARL R. BAUMAN

ARCO, Idaho (AP) — President Johnson sounded a new call today for Soviet cooperation to lessen the threat of nuclear war.

Then he expanded that to a general plea for peoples to work together, on the theme that the American goal is justice for man, whether at home or abroad.

"Violence is one face of failure," he said in asserting that "our foreign policy must always be an extension of our domestic policy."

America, the President said, must wear the same face in Denver and Des Moines, and in Moscow, Peking or Hanoi.

'We are a great and liberal and progressive democracy up to our frontiers," he said. "And we are the same beyond."

For his approach to Moscow on atomic affairs, Johnson chose as his site the national reactor testing station here. The scene for his broader application of principles was Denver, Colo. Both speeches were released in advance of delivery.

Taking off from Washington this morning, Johnson set out on his second consecutive wide-ranging weekend of personal appearances, with dates at Arco and Denver, and tonight at Pryor, Okla. He visited five northeastern states last weekend.

In the address prepared for Arco, Johnson said the United States and the Soviet Union face the common task of searching for every possible area of agreement to lessen the chances of nuclear war.

Johnson said that a full-scale nuclear exchange between the East and the West, whether caused "by design or by chance," would kill almost 300 million people.

He said U.S. objectives in Viet Nam do not threaten the vital interests of the Soviet Union or the territory of any of her allies and that the Soviets have a very large stake in the peace and security of Southeast Asia.

Johnson's speech was prepared for his visit to the national reactor testing station here as he moved into the second consecutive weekend of personal appearances. He visited five Northeastern states last weekend.

At Arco, the President said progress in peaceful uses of atomic energy has "merely raised the curtain on a promising drama in a long journey to a better life."

"But there is another — and darker — side of the nuclear age that we cannot forget," he added.

"This is the danger of destruction by nuclear weapons.

"True, these weapons have deterred war.

"True, they have helped to check the spread of Communist expansion much of the world.

"True, they have permitted our friends to rebuild our nations in freedom.

"But uneasy is the peace that wears a nuclear crown. And we cannot be satisfied with a situation in which the world is capable of extinction in a moment of error, or madness, or anger."

After saying almost 300 million people would perish in a full-scale nuclear exchange, Johnson added:

"This is why we have always been required to show restraint as well as resolve; to be firm but not to walk heavy-footed along the brink of war.

"That is why we also recognize that the heart of our concern in the years ahead must be our relationship with the Soviet Union.

"Both of us possess unimaginable power: our responsibility to the world is heavier than that ever borne by two nations at the same time. A common interest demands that the wise exercise of that responsibility is an essential requirement in the years to come."

Sustained Effort To Tame Hurricane Set

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Faith, smashing across the northern fringers of the Leeward Islands, edged closer today toward a target area where man may make the first sustained effort to tame the terror of the tropics.

Scientists from Washington and California began converging on Florida, ready to bombard Faith with silver iodide crystals if she thrashes into a selected target area sprawling across the Atlantic just north of the storm's present position.

A northward swing already had taken the lower Leeward Islands out of the area of greater danger, lessened the peril to Puerto Rico, and increased the chance that Faith would become a historic guinea pig.

"There's an outside chance that we can seed her tomorrow," said Dr. Cecil Gentry, alternate director of the U.S. government's Project Stormfury. "The chances will be better Sunday. Our forces are being assembled in Florida, ready to go if we get the required cooperation from Faith."

Past experiments in the 10-year old project have indicated that a silver iodide bombardment may rob a hurricane of some of the energy it draws from heat and moisture. Water forms around the particles, freezes and falls, releasing the heat fueling the hurricane's engine.

At 8 a.m., the hurricane was near the British island of Anguilla in the Leewards, 220 miles east of San Juan, the Puerto Rican capital, and about 1,300 miles east-southeast of the nearest U.S. mainland city, Miami.

This track would take the hurricane's eye 50 to 75 miles to the north of San Juan. Since hurricane-force winds reached out only 25 miles in the weak southern side of the storm, it appeared that San Juan would escape a dangerous blow.

The greater peril there and through the upper Leewards would come from 8-to 10-foot tides pounding over the coasts and heavy rain expected to drench the islands in the wake of the storm.

If Faith goes into the Project Stormfury area, she will be hit time and again by seeding planes flying in relays from the U.S. Navy base at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico.

In the past, only one-shoot seeding efforts have been made against hurricanes. This time a sustained bombardment is expected to prove, one way or the other, if man has a chance of breaking the power of the storm.

Earth Photo Under Study

MADRID (AP) — The first photo of the earth ever taken from the vicinity of the moon was being studied by scientists today at nearby Robledo de Chavela, following its tranmission from Lunar Orbiter 240,000 miles away.

The picture, snapped Aug. 23 and transmitted Thursday on command from the U.S.-Spanish tracking station, shows the earth looking like a cloud-covered half-moon.

Scientists said the sunlit portion shows Anarctica, the east coast of South America, the coast of the United States and southern Europe. The bottom two-thirds of the picture shows the southern hemisphere.

Enraged Suitor Suspected Of Slaying Five Persons

By THOMAS STEWART

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Five persons were killed and two wounded early today when, police said, a man whose girl friend had left him entered her mother's home with a rifle and began firing.

After leaving dead and dying in nearly every room of the six-room apartment of Mary McClease, the man walked out and drove off.

Hours later, state police in Newark, N.J., reported the arrest of a man believed to be Arthur Davis, 37, of New Haven—the man for whom a multistate alarm had been issued in connection with the slayings.

A woman, who had watched from her window as the killer left the apartment, said he wore a cowboy hat and seemed in no hurry to get away.

"He just walked along, swinging that gun with one hand," said Mary Menchacha.

Moments later, she said, a boy who had survived the bloodbath ran from the apartment screaming "Somebody please help me! Please help me! They're all dead!"

The shootings occurred in a city-run housing project in the Negro section of New Haven. All of those involved were Negroes, police said.

Besides Mrs. McClease, 51, those slain were all friends of her family: Neil White, 55, of Dover, N.C.; Richard Leathers, 27, of New Haven; and Caroline Sykes, 24, and her son, Michael, 5, also of New Haven.

One of Mrs. McClease's daughters, Francyne, 14, suffered a stomach wound and was reported in critical condition. Troy Sykes, 4, son of Mrs. Sykes, was wounded in the chin but was reported in satisfactory condition.

The only persons in the apartment to come through the ordeal unscathed were one of Mrs. McClease's daughters, Leatrice McClure, 26, and Royal McClease, 12.

The survivors said Davis had been demanding for days to know the whereabouts of his former girl friend, another of Mrs. McClease's daughters, Gloria Baskerville.

After breaking up with Davis, they said, Mrs. Baskerville moved to Boston but this information was kept from Davis.

Boston police, alerted to the slayings, put a force of officers into the neighborhood where Mrs. Baskerville has been staying.

"He was angry because my older sister left him," said Loretta Henderson, another of Mrs. McClease's daughters. "He was very upset about it, and I think he just 'went off' or something."

Mrs. Henderson said she had been at her mother's apartment until about an hour before the slayings. Davis had been there too, she said.

Mrs. McClease's estranged husband, Leroy McClease, said he heard of the slaughter on the radio, when only the address at which the shootings had occurred was known.

When he called his wife's apartment, he said, a policeman answered.

Tear Gas Clears DeGaulle's Path

By DENNIS NEELD

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland (AP)—Police hurled tear gas grenades today at unruly demonstrators who crowded into Djibouti Square, awaiting a speech by President Charles de Gaulle of France.

It was the latest in a series of violent demonstrations which have accompanied De Gaulle's official visit to this last bit of French territory in Africa.

Banner-waving demonstrators scuttled as tear gas fumes rose in the blistering heat of the early afternoon.

About 20 persons have been injured and at least one person killed during clashes between police, troops and demonstrators, and between rival political groups as the French president toured the city.

Pro- and anti-French factions among the African residents of this steaming Red Sea port exchanged volleys of rocks and broken bottles.

Troop reinforcements in steel helmets, and holding their guns at the ready, rushed up in a score of personnel carriers to form a line across one side of the Place Rimbeau, main square of the city.

Djibouti was like a city under siege. The crowd shouted abuse at soldiers and police. Security forces held steady. Neither side advanced or retreated. Hundreds of troops were at action stations throughout the city.

Streets were still littered with rocks and broken glass from violence which broke out shortly after De Gaulle's arrival Thursday night. At least 14 persons, including eight policemen, were injured in the clashes.

A huge mob gathered around the body of a youth laid out on a litter in the main square of the African quarter. He had a head wound and it seemed he had been beaten to death.

Some Somalis said he had been killed by police. Others said he died in a clash between opposing African political parties.

Mobs of Africans with banners demanding immediate independence took over the native quarter of the city and forced a detour in the inspection route that De Gaulle had been scheduled to take.

De Gaulle went around the edge of the African sections and avoided the greatest concentrations of demonstrators. The tall, aloof president smiled and waved to the crowd and seemed to take no notice of the hostile elements.

Hundreds of French troops and police were posted at strategic intersections to hold back the crowds with their independence banners. Somaliland is governed as a French territory with some local autonomy exercised by a territorial assembly.

French troops and police had sealed off the center of the city while De Gaulle reviewed a military parade and laid a wreath on a war memorial.

The demonstrators, screaming and howling, virtually took over the African quarter. Streets along which De Gaulle had been scheduled to ride were lined four deep with Africans carrying banners declaring 'We are Somalis, not French," "Total independence now," and the local equivalent of "French go home."

De Gaulle arrived Thursday on the first leg of a 27,000-mile, 19-day trip around the world highlighted by a state visit to Cambodia where he is expected to join in criticism of U.S. policy in neighboring Viet Nam.

Hermleigh Gets Marker

The Scurry County Historical Committee will dedicate a historical marker at the town site of Hermleigh at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 28.

The unveiling of the town site marker will be at the Hermleigh Community Center, and the public is invited to attend.

Ted Averitt will serve as the master of ceremonies at the event, and others on the program include Rev. Bernie Finch, invocation; Hugh Taylor, historical committee county chairman; W. C. Fargason and Mrs. Wayne Boren, committee members; and Rev. William Parkey.

Spraying Of Dallas Ends

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Air Force planes completed the insecticide spraying of Dallas County today as the seventh victim died from the encephalitis epidemic and nine more were sent to hospitals, bringing the city caseload to 102.

Far to the south in Corpus Christi, also hit by an epidemic of the St. Louis type of encephalitis, there were 13 confirmed cases and 83 others suspected. Officials made plans for aerial spraying of the coastal city to kill the virus-bearing culex mosquito.

Thousands of fish were reported to have died in lakes and streams across Dallas. Dr. Hal Dewlett, city health director, said tests were being conducted to determine if the fish were killed by the insecticide Malathion sprayed by the aircraft.

Dewlett said many fish die each year from fertilizer and insecticides that are picked up in runoff waters.

Highland Park police said "2,000 or 3,000" dead fish were floating in Turtle Creek alone. The fish kill was also reported heavy in other city waterways.

Prospective Apollo Crew Jubilant Over Test Flight

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "It was a great flight and we're looking forward to flying on the vehicle ourselves on Apollo 1."

Speaking in a joint statement were the astronauts who may be circling the globe next Christmas in a three-man Apollo moonship.

The three are Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, who traveled into space in both the Mercury and Gemini programs; Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, America's first space walker, and Navy Lt. Roger B. Chaffee.

The trio watched Thursday as a mammoth Saturn 1 rocket blaze into the sky on the start of a flight that apparently passed a significant milestone in the U.S. Apollo man-to-the-moon program.

The rocket, the nation's most powerful, hurled an unmanned Apollo moonship over a blistering suborbital course that carried it three- quarters of the way around the world to a safe parachute landing in the Pacific Ocean.

The flight was intended to qualify the spacecraft and the Saturn 1 for launching Grissom, White and Chaffee into earth orbit in December to start an all-out drive to land astronauts on the moon in 1968.

Before they go into space, two more two-man Gemini flights, in September and October, will conclude that second-generation program.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that preliminary evaluation of data indicated no problems with the Saturn 1 and only a few minor ones with the spacecraft.

Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, reported all objectives apparently were met on the flight but that a detailed analysis would not be available for about three weeks.

Panel Studying Reserve Call-Up

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee is considering legislation that would authorize President Johnson to call to active duty an estimated 60,000 Reservists and National Guardsmen not now attached to units, it was learned today.

Sources said the committee is expected to vote early next week on the proposal—described as the House's answer to a Senate amendment that would have given the President power to call up individual Reservists and Guardsmen with less than 24 months active duty.

The President had not asked for such authority.

The House rejected the Senate proposal—tied to the massive $58-billion defense money bill—by a vote of 378 to 3 Thursday. Members then voted 381 to 1 for the appropriation bill and sent it back to the Senate.

Members and staff of the Armed Services Committee sharply criticized the Senate proposal today in a series of interviews, describing it as poorly thought out, hastily conceived and sloppily written.

"The Senate amendment was not thought out well and it will have grave repercussions," committee chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said.

"Our committee is dealing with the subject and is going to put out a bill," he added. "We don't like the (Senate) Appropriations Committee barging in."

Rivers described his committee's pending legislation as a "reserve forces bill of rights" and said it would spell out by law the makeup and administration of the Reserves and National Guard.

The bill was written by a subcommittee headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., after months of hearings into the matter, Rivers said.

Although Rivers and other committee members refused to say more, a high committee source said a key provision of the Hebert bill "simply provides that any Reservist or Guardsman who is not attached to a unit and has not completed 24 months of active duty would be liable for active duty.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last month our church auxiliary held its annual luncheon and tickets were sold for $2.50. At the bottom of each ticket was printed DOOR PRIZE. I sold two tickets to a member who said she would be unable to attend, but requested that I drop her stubs into the box for the door prize. I did. Her number was drawn and when I stepped forward to claim the prize for her, a burst of objection went up in the crowd!

Some women insisted that in order to win the door prize, the holder of the number had to be present. Not wishing to create a worse scene, I sat down and let them draw another number. The second number was held by a woman who was present so she got the prize. In your opinion was this fair? Do you think a person has to be present in order to win the door prize?

TOO REFINED TO FIGHT

DEAR TOO REFINED: When a door prize is offered, it should be clearly stated on the ticket whether or not the holder of the number drawn need be present to win.

I personally would assume that in order to win I would have to be present. But I'm sure there are an equal number of people who would assume the opposite. This is a good question for a lawyer.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I met a very attractive divorcee at the home of a mutual friend the other evening. She is a very lively and amusing type, and I liked her immediately. Before I had an opportunity to ask her if I could see her again she said to me, "I am giving a cocktail party at my apartment tomorrow night at seven, would you care to come?"

Naturally I accepted on the spot. When I got there I found her all alone. And she hadn't invited anyone else. What do you think she had in mind?

RON

DEAR RON: You.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Would you be kind enough to advise me as to the following: Is is customary to give a gift to the bride and groom after they have been married for the second time—to EACH OTHER? I was not invited to the wedding.

A RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: I think not. It is difficult to imagine that one would be expected.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I do not share your sympathy with those who say they are sorry their parents did not "force them" to practice the piano, violin, trombone, or any other musical instrument when they were young. There is no reason why a normal adult cannot continue his musical studies if he has sufficient interest and determination. One is never "too old" to learn.

As for myself, I make no apologies. I suffered thru seven miserable years of piano lessons, which terminated in a great disappointment to my parents. I never touch the piano today, and avoid piano recitals like the plague.

Weiskoph Could Be Prophet

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf may not realize it, but he could be a prophet as well as one of the pro golf tour's most promising young newcomers.

After shooting a six-under-par 66 to take a two-stroke first-round lead in the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic Thursday, Weiskopf said:

"I'm pleased with the 66, but leading after the first round is a long way from winning. There are three rounds to go."

In the previous three years of this tournament at Whitemarsh Valley County Club, the first round leader had fallen by the wayside by the time the 72-hole test was over.

Mason Rudolph led with a 67, but Arnold Palmer won in 1963. Four tied for the opening lead in 1964, none of them Jack Nicklaus the eventual champion. Last year when Nicklaus won again, R. H. Sikes was the first-round leader with a 64.

No wonder the 23-year-old Weiskopf tempered his exuberance over topping the field after 18 holes.

"This is the first time I've ever led a tournament after the first round, and I'm not sure how I feel about it," said the 23-year-old golfer who joined the pro tour late in 1964 after two years at Ohio State University.

Seeing the 6-foot-3 inch Weiskopf at the top was no surprise to veterans on the weekly golf safari. Palmer is on record as naming the blond belter as the rookie most likely to succeed.

Two strokes behind Weiskopf came Bob Goalby and Dan Sikes, each with 68. Veteran Julius Boros led a contingent of seven at 69, including Roger Ginsburg, Jay Hebert, Butch Baird, John Cook, Don January and M. C. Fitts. At 70 were Bob Charles, Tommy Jacobs, Terry Dill and Bill Martindale.

Palmer, who said his bursitus ridden shoulder bothered him only in late stages, scored a 71, while Nicklaus, U.S. Open champion Billy Casper and PGA champion Al Geiberger had 72s.

Oilmen Hold Meet With Sec. Udall

WASHINGTON (AP)— Officials from Texas and Louisiana discussed oil industry problems Thursday with Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall.

J. Cordell Moore, assistant secretary for minerals, presided after Udall left midway through the two-hour conference to keep another engagement.

"We went over the whole gamut of the oil business to see how the picture looks," Moore said. "We touched base frequently.

"This is good for the entire industry. I am always impressed that we have such good relations with the states."

Railroad Commissioner James Langdon headed the three-man Texas delegation.

Pete Menefee, state conservation commissioner, and J. E. Fowler, an aide of Gov. John J. McKeithen, represented Louisiana.

Both groups declined comment on the meeting, deferring to Moore for any statement.

Moore said the question of negotiations between Louisiana and the government over the state's seaward boundary line wasn't mentioned.

An agreement on a coast line is necessary before Louisiana's offshore boundary can be determined. There is considerable oil activity in the Gulf of Mexico off the Louisiana coast and much of the production is in an area claimed by both Louisiana and the federal government.

Moore said the question of oil production allowables was brought up generally and he assumed both states wanted production increases. Beyond that, he said, he had no comment.

Before the meeting Menefee said 38 per cent of Louisiana's oil production now comes from the offshore area and the state derives no royalties from it.

By 1968 he said, 50 per cent of the state production would be in this area. He said the volume would be chargeable to Louisiana's total allowable production.

McKinney Named Coach At St. Joseph

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jack McKinney was named head basketball coach at St. Joseph's College today, returning to the school where he led the freshman team through several brilliant seasons.

McKinney replaces Jack Ramsay, who resigned from his post with the nationally ranked Hawks to become general manager of the Philadelphia 76ers pro basketball team.

McKinney, 31, was head coach at Philadelphia Textile last year, directing the basketball team to a 21-6 record and a victory in the NCAA College Division tournament before being eliminated.

Roosevelt Withdraws From New York Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., has withdrawn from the race for the Democrat nomination for governor and he predicts that Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will beat the Democrats in the November election.

Roosevelt, who conceded the nomination Thursday to City Council President Frank D. O'Connor, indicated he might accept the Liberal party nomination if it was offered to him.

Rotarians Hear Musical Selections

The Rotary Club met for its regular noon meeting Thursday with Presidnnt Don Browning presiding.

The program was introduced by Rotarian Ben Brock and was presented by Marguerite Holt who gave a commentary and sang songs from the famous Stephen Foster selections. Miss Holt was accompanied by her sister Anita.

Browning expressed thanks to Miss Diane Hargrove for having served proficiently and graciously as the club sweetheart. This was the last meeting for Miss Hargrove to attend before leaving for college this fall.

Guests were V. V. Shearburn, high school counselor; Dutch Cox, visiting rotarian fron Levelland; Bill Neighbors, Lone Star Gas manager; Keith Barnhart, Kansas City Mo.,; and Alex Taylor, Girard.

Blast Foils Launch Of 8 Satellites

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —A Titan 3 rocket exploded into boiling fireball high over the Atlantic Ocean today, ruining an Air Force attempt to hurl eight military communications satellites into orbit.

The Air Force reported there was no immediate indication what went wrong with the big booster. The explosion occurred after about 80 seconds of flight and sent fiery debris falling into the sea off the Florida coast.

The failure was the first for the Titan 3, largest rocket in the Air Force arsenal.

The rocket was to have strung the satellites like a necklace around the earth's equator at an altitude of about 21,000 miles.

The Defense Department had planned to use these and seven earlier satellites launched in June to form a global communications network to speed vital messages around the world, primarily between Washington and Saigon.

The rocket was 12 stories tall and valued at about $20 million. Each of the eight communications satellites had a price tag of about one million dollars.

Cleveland's Mayor Says Reds Active

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Ralph S. Locher defended today his efforts to deal with the ills of the ghetto. He insisted that a grand jury was correct in charging that trained agitators and Communists fomented riots in his city.

Mayor A.V. Sorensen of Omaha, Neb., said one seed of city riots is what he called the failure of the federal government to match with performance its promises of aid to fight poverty and poor housing.

Performance suffers, Sorensen said, from "nitpicking on details that would try the patience of Job."

The two mayors — both from cities that have seen racial violence this summer — testified before a Senate subcommittee investigating the ills of the city.

Chairman Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., questioned Locher about the grand jury report which on Aug. 9 blamed a relatively small core of trained, professional agitators, with Communist support, for the riots which began in the Hough area of Cleveland on July 18.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach has said the grand jury was wrong.

Like other mayor-witnesses before him, Locher urged a new transfusion of federal aid to help rebuild the cities.

Two-Car Accident Reported Thursday

Minor damage resulted from a two-car traffic accident on the West side of the square at 9:29 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were the 1966 Model Pontiac of Paula M. Dupuy, Coahoma, and the 1957 Model Ford of Kathy Fraley, 3107 Avenue V. Damage to the Pontiac was set at $75, and damage to the other car was only $10.

Youths Hurt In Mishap

Two Scurry County youths were injured in a one-car accident at the intersection of a county farm road and the old Plainview School road east of Snyder about 9:15 p.m. Thursday.

They were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bell-Seale ambulance. Bill Baldwin, Jr., 15, was admitted for treatment of possible fractures. He was still in the hospital early this morning. Max Mearse, also 15, was discharged after receiving treatment for lacerations.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Harold Kornegay said the youths were traveling north on the farm road and failed to negotiate a turn where the road "dead-ends" into the old Plainview School Road. The car, a 1963 Model Volkswagen, jumped an embankment and came to a halt in a field apparently without turning over. Damage to the car was minor.

Author Reflects On Government Service

LONDON (AP) — C. P. Snow has emerged from the Corridors of Power made famous in his best - selling novels with the discovery that a politician's life is what he expected — although there were some surprises.

The scientist - novelist completed another chapter in "this curious life I have lived" by resigning from the British government to return ' writing after a year and ..e-half as No. 2 man in the Ministry of Technology. In office he collected a life peerage (Baron Snow of Leicester) and notebooks full of material for more novels about political infighting and decision-making in Britain's government, universities and industry.

At 60, he also goes daily to his office at one of Britain's largest companies, English Electric, where he is a member of the board. He spoke there to an interviewer about his work in government.

"You don't make as many decisions as people romantically think you do," he said. "So I wasn't very surprised. But I was a bit surprised by the extremely arduous nature of the job. It isn't that you're working intensely, but you're constantly on call, literally from the time you get up until late at night. You've got to be somewhere opening a new technical college or that sort of thing. This I hadn't realized. I've read less in 18 months than I think I ever have in my life, and I've seen less of my friends."

Snow said he saw a more panoramic view of life sitting in his 12th story floor office at the ministry and "watching people at all levels of operation." He plans to incorporate this view in a major novel now shaping up in his mind: "It will be trying to deal with a whole slice of this sort of London society, not just through the eyes of Lewis Elliot or any single observer as in my other books."

But first Snow plans to finish the 10th and 11th books in his series "Strangers and Brothers," linked by his fictional hero Elliot — who like Snow has been a university don and government official who rose to high places from a poor background. The next volume will be entitled "The Sleep of Reason," a phrase taken from Goya on the horrors of war.

The plot is still a secret, "But it's all clicked into place—that's one of the nice things about leaving the government."

What about his last book, "Corridors of Power"? Would it be a better book if he were writing it now, instead of before serving in the government?

"Yes, slightly. But I shouldn't alter it very much. There are a few things I now have in better perspective. I don't think I emphasized enough how curiously impersonal a great deal of the political life is. Cabinet ministers don't know each other all that well. Their friends are nearly always outside politics."

Then this hothouse life of politics he describes is slightly overdrawn?

"That's overdrawn. Yes. In fact, I'll have another shot at it when I finish my series. In this big new book. Even if you're an old man you quite like trying new things at times."

Snow has been a success in a number of fields, and this was a factor in his developing a theory that has had considerable influence on modern thought — the idea of the "two cultures."

He maintains that in the modern world artists and scientists, politicians and technologists, have split into their separate worlds and lost the knack of communicating with each other. In the government his job was to bridge that gap. How did he find it to cross the line again from literature to government?

"I found it liberating. I have always found periods of action liberating. But it went on rather too long. The last six months I was beginning to chafe at not being able to write."

"Is it difficult for a writer to act as a politician without feeling that his artistic half is peering over his shoulder?

"When you're really acting, then of course you have to act. But I think with almost every writer — and this applies to one's intimate life as well as one's public life — there is a sort of other observer behind one's shoulder. Even when one's in love. So it presents the same problems it does in life."

Snow keeps detailed notebooks on his ideas for fiction when he hasn't time to work on a book. Sometimes he keeps notes for two or three years before writing a first draft. His former political colleagues may not be too pleased to hear this, because this is what he writes down:

"Snatches of dialogue, people who interest me, scenes which interest me. . . all those bits of the general pattern of the book. Or even a sort of aphorism which somehow springs to mind, or a particular thing one visually observes walking around London. They all fit into place."

But he concedes that writers don't necessarily work out well in politics. "The record isn't especially creditable. Goethe (the 19th Century German author who became chief minister to the Prince of Weimar) became absurdly snobbish and terribly official."

He also admitted to mistakes of his own. One was a failure by of Technology to correct the popular impression that it could achieve results overnight in modernizing British industry.

His most famous gaffe came in the House of Lords, defending his decision to send his son to Eton, the elite and snobbish private school, because he felt the lad would be more at home with people the Snows meet socially. Snow calls it 'a very incompetent answer."

But in the main, he feels he was a success, especially in his own task of cross - fertilizing British science and politic with the "new men" of technocracy. "On that," he said, "I've got a good deal of hope."

A Man Goes For This Salad

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A FRIEND of ours, whose husband is usually at home on Saturdays, tells us that he never tires of the man-style salads she often serves for their noonday meal that day.

She calls these salads man-style because the main ingredients are in big distinguishable pieces — nothing is muched up.

Tuna and crisp greens are the mainstay of the salads. After these our friend adds whatever is suitable that she may find in the refrigerator or on the pantryshelf.

One particularly good tuna combination is enlivened with red onion and that delicious Italian - style olive 'salad" called condite. This tuna salad is sometimes served with a help-yourself dressing that has a mayonnaise base. The recipes follow. Tuna, by the way, supplies a generous amount of protein.

A must with this main-dish salad is a loaf of Italian or French bread, sliced (but not all the way through and buttered, then heated until crunchy-hot. For dessert, nothing more is needed than fruit or fruit sherbet and perhaps a plate of cookies.

TUNA, an excellent source of protein, is featured in a salad that is both attractive to look at and good to eat.

Man-Style Tuna Salad

Romaine (washed, chilled and crisp)
1 cup thinly sliced (on the diagonal) celery
2 cans (each 7 ounces) solid-pack white-meat tuna
1 small red onion, thinly sliced and separated into rings
½ cup condite (Italian - style salad from a jar)
Caper Dressing

Tear the greens into large pieces (enough for 4 servings) and arrange in a salad bowl; add celery. Open cans of tuna; press the lids against the tuna and drain off the oil. Arrange romaine and celery. Top with onion rings and condite. Pass Caper Dressing. Makes 4 man-size servings.

Caper Dressing

1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon dry crumbled oregano
½ cup mayonnaise
Tabasco sauce to taste
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 tablespoons drained capers

In a small bowl, stir together the lemon juice, mustard and big pieces of the tuna over the

United Council Of Church Women To Meet Monday

New Sandwich

Peanut butter devotees are legion, so why not use this favorite spread for bread at breakfast and serve up GRILLED PEANUT BUTTER-BACON SANDWICHES. For these, you will spread a tablespoon of peanut butter on each slice of enriched bread. Crumble a crisp-cooked bacon slice over the peanut butter and top with a second slice of enriched bread. Grill sandwiches in butter until golden brown on both sides. Garnish with fresh orange slices.

Egg Salad Sandwiches

Looking for a breakthrough on breakfast? Try the sandwich approach with Oven Toasted Egg Salad Sandwiches. Do this the night before: Spread enriched bread slices with egg salad and top off with a slice of process American cheese. Cover with another slice of enriched bread. Brush melted butter over outside surfaces of each sandwich. Place sandwiches on a cookie sheet, cover with waxed paper or moisture-vapor proof film. Refrigerate overnight. In the morning, place the cookie sheet in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 5 minues, then turn and toast other side of sandwiches. Or, you may grill the sandwiches on both sides. In either event, serve the sandwiches hot.

When you are chopping a large quantity of onions for relishes, have the kitchen windows wide open so that the room will be airy.

Thin Ham Slices Take On Novelty With Stuffing

A subtle way of extending both meat and meat flavor is by using a stuffing with it.

When the stuffing is as completely harmonious with the meat as this raisin - apple combination, then homemakers might well congratulate themselves on a good thing.

It's easy to find ham slices approximately one - half inch thick, says Reba Staggs, meat authority. In fact, at this thickness, the retailer usually packages them by two rather than singly. The stuffing, moistened with orange juice, goes in between the ham, which is then topped with the traditional brown sugar and cloves.

Ham Slice with Fruit Stuffing

2 ham slices, each cut ½-inch thick

Fruit Stuffing

3 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup diced apple
½ cup seedless raisins
2-3 cup orange juice
¼ cup melted ham or bacon drippings
¼ cup granulated sugar
Brown sugar
Whole cloves

Combine bread crumbs, apples, raisins, orange juice, drippings and ¼ cup granulated sugar. Mix lightly.

Spread one ham slice with Fruit Stuffing. Place the second ham slice on top. Stick wooden picks through one slice into the other to hold slices in place. Spread surface of top ham slice with brown sugar and stick with cloves. Place on rack in open roasting pan. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1¼ hours. Remove picks. 6 servings.

Burgers With Lamb

Vary the hamburger diet in your family with 'burgers made from lamb. A bit of green pepper and marjoram or thyme as seasonings are other variations which will make these patties something really different! Serve on a bun, of course, with catsup, if you wish.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Equestrian experts can tell the age of a horse by counting his teeth, and tree surgeons can determine the years of a tree by the rings around its trunk.

Fortunately, a woman can do what neither the horse nor the tree can do to hide her age. She has the fashion industry working for her.

Despite the fact that many, indeed most, dress manufacturers concentrate on young styles to be sold to the population majority, the very young, a few wise ones such as Gerald Rosen, president of Forever Young, spends a great deal of money figuring out how to camouflage the figure faults of the not really forever young.

THE NECK

The rounded, sweetheart collar is best, says Rosen, because it is easy to accessorize. An attractive scarf at the neckline fills in, covering unflattering wrinkles. Or the luster of a choker of pearls captures the eye and draws it up to a still glowing complexion and away from the not necessarily good figure itself.

UPPER ARMS

Either elbow length or push-up, capped or cuffed sleeves cover up the upper arm where flabbiness and creases first appear. Long full sleeves that cuff at the wrists are very much in style, a break for the woman with extra years to hide.

THE AMPLE FIGURE

An overblouse that reaches to the hipbone is an excellent choice for the woman endowed with a full bosom. Because it does not hug, it does not result in an unflattering, matronly look. Ones in coordinated fabrics and colors in styles most often chosen by the designers for their costumes, suits and two piece dresses do the trick.

To create a sleek line that suggests a trim tummy, says Rosen, choose a suit with a long jacket for the same reasons discussed in terms of the overblouse.

Soup Elegance

Do you have to cook bones from meat for soup stock? Not always, of course. Make broth by dissolving one beef bouillon cube in a cup of hot water.

If you want to make some truly wonderful onion soup, use the above idea, or utilize the broth in which beef tongue has been cooked. That gives onion soup a very special flavor. This broth from cooked tongue may be refrigerated for a period of two or three days. If kept for a longer time, it should be frozen.

Big Cities Claim Need For Money From Uncle Sam

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This week New York Mayor John V. Lindsay went before a Senate subcommittee looking into what it called the crisis in the cities and talked about the plight of his city.

He said it would take $50 billion more in federal funds in the next decade to transform New York City into a 'thoroughly livable and exciting place in which to live."

He said: "Without more federal money, the cities just can't make it."

And not long behind Lindsay came the mayor of Detroit, Jerome P. Cavanagh, who said his city would need $15 billion in federal aid in the next decade.

This so startled Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., a member of the subcommittee, that he did some hasty arithmetic and announced that, if all the urban areas asked proportionately as much as Lindsay and Cavanagh, the drain on the federal treasury in the next 10 years would top $1 trillion.

The other New York senator, Republican Jacob K. Javits, also a subcommittee member, promptly said he was not appalled at the figure.

It may be a good deal more than 10 years before the government gets involved with the cities to the tune of $1 trillion, but the fact that no one screamed in pain at Kennedy's mention of $1 trillion shows how well adjusted the country has become to looking to Uncle Sam for help.

It wasn't always that way although the idea goes a way back.

In the budget he sent Congress in January, President Johnson asked $106.4 billion to cover expenses — including $60.5 billion for defense-related spending.

In this total he asked money for various welfare programs and other kinds of government help, $1.6 billion for the war on poverty, $2.8 billion to help education. He asked $12 billion for programs he said are parts of the "Great Society" program.

This seems a long way to go in a hundred years or so. But the foundations of the government's feeling of responsibility for the general welfare — and today's opposition to that idea — were all laid down 100 years or more ago.

In 1854 President Franklin Pierce vetoed a bill to provide government help for the insane poor, saying the welfare clause in the Constitution didn't give Congress power to provide for the poor, insane or not.

He said help to the poor makes them more helpless and dependent. That was one viewpoint. But between 1850 and 1871 Congress gave railroads 131,350,000 acres of land as outright gifts, while Western states added 49,000,000 acres more, or a total area larger than Texas.

And during the next few years the railroads sold the land at an average price of $5 an acre. At the same time, however, Congress established the foundation for what was to follow in the next century.

In 1862 it set aside public lands to support agricultural and engineering colleges. And in the same year, under the Homestead Act, Congress gave away more public lands in the West. 160 acres to each man who was willing to stay on them five years and farm them.

Yet, as late as 1887, when Congress voted only $10,000 to buy seed grain for drought-stricken farmers in Texas, President Grover Cleveland, like Pierce before him, vetoed it.

"The lesson should be constantly enforced that, though the people support the government, the government should not support the people," Cleveland said.

It was not the job of the government, he said, to spend money for the relief of individual suffering.

Great Man Has Two Of Everything

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — We live today in a two-of-everything world.

It is getting so a man can't hold his head up proudly any more unless he has a two-car garage, and dwells in a house that has at least two telephones, two television sets and two or more bathrooms. Many of the bathrooms even have two wash basins — for Mr. and Mrs.

But this philosophy of double plenty breaks down completely when a man goes to work. There he gets only one of everything — except perhaps in the matter of paper clips.

What profiteth a man to dwell in a house with two bathrooms, two cars and two television sets if he has to work in an office where he is allowed only one desk and one swivel chair?

Subconsciously, he can't help feeling that he is a failure. To have only one of anything today is a sign of lack of success. Deep in his mind lies the conviction that if he were really getting ahead at the office he would have two of everything there, too — two desks, two swivel chairs and even two secretaries.

It may be argued that this is childish, that while it would be a pleasant status symbol to have an extra secretary to check up on the first one's spelling errors, no man could possibly have any use for a second swivel chair or a second desk.

But he could. Any psychiatrist will tell you that too much sameness leads to boredom and boredom causes fatigue. One of the reasons a tired businessman gets so tired is that he sits in the same old hot swivel chair all day long.

If he had two swivel chairs, perhaps one with a hard cushion and one with a soft cushion, he could switch back and forth so that neither became overheated. This would enable him to keep a cool head so important in making those keen, cold, logical decisions required in modern business.

Why two desks? The advantages of having a second desk should be obvious to any thoughtful student of office habits.

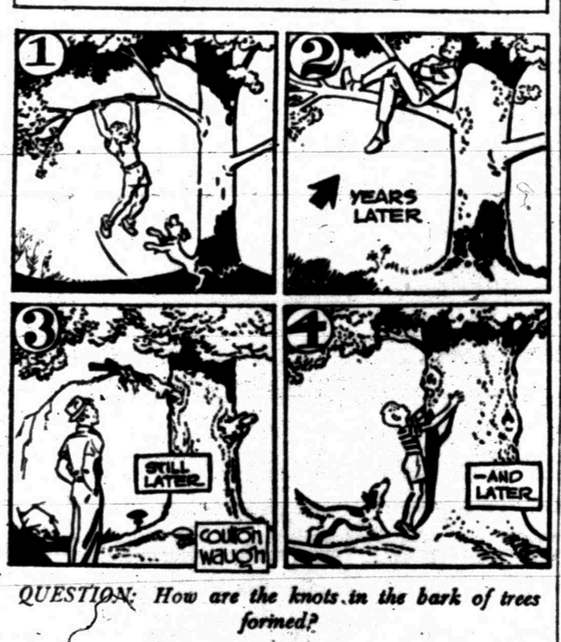

A man with only one desk finds it never has enough space. It may look neat on top, but within all is chaos. His personal belongings are all mixed up with his business files.

He lives in dread of the day when his boss will stroll up and ask for an important folder — and instead of pulling out the folder he'll pluck out a race track form.

If a man has two desks, such tragedies could be averted. He could use one desk for business papers, and the other desk as a kind of home away from home.

No great society can be truly great until a man has two of everything in his office as well as at home.

Junior Editors Quiz on TREE KNOTS

QUESTION: How are the knots in the bark of trees formed?

• • •

ANSWER: In (1) Bob swings happily from a flourishing tree branch growing out sideways from the trunk. A tree trunk may be powerful, holding the tree up because of its strong wood structure inside. But it was once just a thin little rod growing up toward the light. Think of tree growth in two ways. First, there are stems growing out from their tips, all trying to get their leaves into the light. Secondly, the trunk and branches get thicker because of new living layers (called cambium). These form one after the other, between the bark and the interior wood. Look at (2): the tree is much higher and wider out of the picture, but the trunk and branches have grown a lot, too—so has Bob. Years later (3) Bob comes back to look at the tree he used to love to climb in. The branch he used to sit on has been so shaded that it has lost its leaves and is rotting away. And even later, (4) there's only a hollow where the branch was: the growing bark has circled around it. That's how knots are formed in tree trunks.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Ask yourself why, in (4), the tree has grown older and Bob younger? (Answer: that's Bob's son, George.) 8-26

Club Owners Slove Problem, But Miller Not Satisfied

CHICAGO (AP) —The major leagues apparently have cleared the way for the controversial matter of paying the annual $50,000 salary of Marvin Miller, new executive director of the Major League Players Association.

But the 48-year-old former steel union official said he was disappointed in the club owners' rejection of three proposals by the players association for financing their affairs.

The owners voted Thursday to relieve the players of a $2-per-day contribution to the pension fund, now totaling $33 million, with the thought that this money could be diverted to paying Miller.

They also voted to increase the players' pension fund share by 55 per cent, or $4 million annually, from television receipts from the World Series and All-Star games in 1967 and 1968.

Miller and commission William Eckert apparently disagreed over dropping the $2-per-day item.

"Three proposals offered by the players association were rejected and I am disappointed," said Miller. "My meeting with the player relation committee headed by ... Joe Cronin and Warren Giles of the American and National leagues was not a hostile one. I asked for basic thinking in their objection to my points. My next step will be to report back to the player representatives."

Miller's suggested proposals were:

1. Joint sponsorship of the All-Star game by the association and owners to get the income for the $150,000 association operating expenses, including Miller's salary.

2. A proposed careful study of the time and expense of the association in administering the pension fund with the prospect of tapping the fund for that share of the association's budget.

3. A suggestion that the players be permitted to authorize either deduction of $2 a day for association operations or have the option of continuing to contribute to the pension fund.

Eckert said that in view of the great increase (of the players' TV money), the clubs further aided the players by relieving them of the requirement to pay the $2 dues to the pension fund, although I would like to emphasize that the action will be entirely voluntary on the players part."

In other action, club owners jointly marked time on changing the college signing agreement which enables big leagues to sign collegians after their sophomore year; tentatively agreed on major league exhibitions in Japan every other year with no league represented more than three times in succession and no club more than once in six years.

Ruled that a major league player can participate in winter baseball provided he has not been in the majors more than four years; ruled that any player on the disabled list 60 days or longer during the regular season will be permitted to play winter ball; and granted Cuban players permission to compete in winter ball in any Latin-American country of their choice.

The American League gave unanimous approval of Vernon Stouffer, 65, restaurant magnate, as new majority stockholder of the Cleveland Indians. The action confirmed purchase by Stouffer on Aug. 13 of the club's controlling stock from William R. Daley and Gabe Paul, who remains club president and general manager.

Top Seeds Lose At Longwood

By HOLCOMB B. NOBLE

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Two short sticks of Mexican dynamite exploded on the grass of Longwood Cricket Club Thursday and killed the chances of one of the top-seeded teams of winning the U.S. National Doubles tennis title.

Joaquin Loyo-Mayo, who is 5-foot-4, and Marcela Lara, only about an inch taller, cut down the rugged Manuel Santana of Spain and Luis Garcia of Mexico 10-12, 24-22, 11-9, 3-6, 6-2.

The Mexican team volleyed with speed, power and precision to win what Longwood officials believe was the longest match in the history of the tournament. The 105 games took 2 hours and 12 minutes to play.

Defending champions Roy Emerson and Fred Stolle, the No. 1 American challengers, Dennis Ralston and Clark Graebner, and the five other seeded teams won convincing, though not always easy, victories in moving into the quarter-final round.

Emerson and Stolle lost their first set of the tournament but then applied more attacking shots in the next set to defeat Dick Leach of El Monte, Calif., and Sherwood Steward of Bay Town, Tex., 6-4, 8-6, 10-12, 6-4.

Stan Smith and Bob Lutz, promising young Californians, were stopped cold in one set. But they used a combination of high lobs and hard-driving service returns to defeat the French Davis Cup, doubles team of Patrice Buest and Daniel Contet 6-2, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

Unusual Names

Kansas State's football roster lists several prospects who have unusual names. Included among them are Gus Meschke, Ken Ochs, Gary Pankratz, Bob Passalacqua, Al Walczak, Rick Balducci, and Rich Massieon.

Odessa, Snyder In Saturday Scrimmage

The football scrimmage between Snyder High School and Odessa Ector, originally scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Tiger Stadium, according to an announcement by Coach Keith Miles.

Tom Rolfe Main Race Attraction

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Rolfe, 3-year-old champion last year; Great Power, who hopes to be the 2-year-old king this year, and a half-dozen challengers to millionaire Buckpasser will furnish the chief attractions on Saturday's racing program.

Tom Rolfe, winner in two of three starts this year and returning to the scene of four rich 1965 triumphs, heads the field in the one-mile $100,000-added Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park.

Great Power, winner of five of his seven starts including the last four, takes on a small field in the 6½-furlong $75,000-added Hopeful at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., with a victory meaning a record-shattering 31 stakes wins for trainer Eddie Neley.

Exhibitionist and several other top 3-year-olds go in the 1 1-16-mile $20,000-added Rainbow Handicap at Rockingham Park—the final test before taking on Buckpasser in the $250,000-added New Hampshire Sweepstakes next Saturday.

Tom Rolfe, who equaled Arlington Park's record of 1:21 for seven furlongs in his last start, will carry topweight of 128 pounds in his first major bid for the handicap division crown.

The probable field of eight also will include the stretch-running Bold Bidder, packing 120 pounds, and Tornado, 117.

Not more than four are expected to oppose Great Power in the Hopeful and one will be stablemate Disciplinarian. Favorable Turn, Balthazar and Bold Hour are the other likely starters.

Nine were named for the Rainbow. Seven of them are eligible for the 1¼-mile Sweepstakes, the world's richest race for 3-year-olds, but only five are likely to take on Buckpasser, who boosted his earnings to $1,038,369 in winning last Saturday's Travers.

The five, in addition to Exhibitionist who will carry topweight of 123 pounds, are Sense of Rhythm, Rehabilitate, Deck Hand and Federalist Boy. Sandoval and Mister Westgate are the other Sweepstakes eligibles.

San Diego Chargers Sell For Record $10 Million

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Rumors that the American Football League's Chargers might leave San Diego have been quelled with the sale of the franchise to a group of Southern California businessmen for a record $10 million.

"The San Diego Chargers will remain exactly what the name involves—the San Diego Chargers," said Eugene Klein, 45, head of the group which bought the team from Barron Hilton.

Klein, also president of National General Corp., added that the Chargers will play in San Diego's new 50,000-seat Mission Valley Stadium currently under construction. The stadium is scheduled for completion by the 1967 season.

Negotiations for the sale, announced Thursday, began six months ago, according to Hilton.

But Klein added, "I've been at least seven years trying to buy an interest in a Los Angeles or San Diego ball club."

The $10-million selling price is the highest ever paid for a professional football team, surpassing the $7.1 million paid for the Los Angeles Rams in 1962. Before the recent merger of the AFL and the National Football League, the Chargers had been quoted as worth between $6 and $8 million.

Hilton, founder and president of the Chargers, announced the sale and turned over the presidency to Klein.

Hilton said last year he planned to sell the team in order to devote more time to the Hilton Hotel chain he operates with his father, Conrad. At that time, there were rumors the team would be moved, but Hilton denied them.

Coach and General Manager Sid Gillman, who in the AFL's six-year history led the Chargers to more victories (54) and more division titles (5) than any other club, will retain his posts.

National General Executive Vice President Samuel Schulman is among the 21 partners, as is Pierre Salinger, vice president of Continental Air Lines; Eugene Wyman, attorney and Democratic National Committeeman; and Irving Levin, another National General executive vice president.

Newspaper owner James Copley and restaurateur George Pernicano, two owners under Hilton, will retain their interests.

Hilton and his father will retain 20 per cent control.

Baltimore Colts To Meet Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)— Cleveland Browns and ex-Browns may dominate the playing field in numbers for tonight's pro football doubleheader here, but the Browns are being billed as underdogs in the fifth annual tilt.

Part of the lack of confidence in the Browns is the retirement of fullback Jim Brown and need for reshaping of the team's backfield. Another big question is the throwing arm of quarterback Frank Ryan.

Ryan has had his sore right elbow treated all week. He reported some improvement Thursday during the final workout before the Browns closed their Hiram, Ohio, training camp.

Coach Blanton Collier said he is counting on Ryan to start against the Baltimore Colts, but believes that Jim Ninowski, No. 2 quarterback, will pilot the club most of the game.

Otto Graham, former Browns quarterback and now coach of the Washington Redskins, takes his battered team to the field tonight against the Minnesota Vikings in the first game at 6:30 p.m. (EDT).

The doubleheader is a sellout, and those willing to pay for standing room may push the crowd to 83,000.

Baltimore, coached by ex-Brown Don Shula, has scored 99 points in winning its three exhibition games this year over Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis. Shula's aides include John Sandusky and Chuck Noll who played for the Browns in the 1950s.

Helping Coach Norm Van Brocklin mastermind the Vikings will be Lew Carpenter, who was with the Browns in the late '50s. Minnesota is undefeated in its last 14 exhibition games.

Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly have been taking on the bulk of the ball carrying chores since the retirement of Brown, and, according to the Browns' linemen, the line and the new backfield are beginning to "communicate."

In the NFL Saturday, New York plays Philadelphia at Princeton, N.J., in the afternoon and Pittsburgh is at Green Bay, St. Louis is at Los Angeles, Atlanta meets San Francisco at Columbia, S.C., and Dallas plays Detroit at Tulsa, Okla., at night.

Houston plays at Kansas City, Boston is at San Diego and New York takes on Buffalo at Allentown, Pa., Saturday night and Oakland is at Denver Sunday in American League exhibitions.

Whitey Ford In Good Shape After Surgery

HOUSTON (AP) — Whitey Ford, New York Yankees veteran pitcher, was reported in good condition today after a shoulder operation his surgeon described as successful.

The left-hander had gone on baseball's disabled list earlier in the week after complaining of cramps in his pitching arm.

A St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital bulletin said tests and examinations disclosed a blockage in a shoulder artery that supplies blood to the left hand. A six-inch vein was taken from one of Ford's legs Thursday and grafted to the shoulder area to form a bypass of the blocked area.

A doctor said there is no reason why Ford should not return to full activity.

McLain Tosses Two Hitter To Down Chicago White Sox

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The next time Lou Boudreau brings out his movie projector and subjects son-in-law Denny McLain to films of the 1948 playoff game for the pennant between Cleveland and Boston, the young Detroit hurler can produce a few reels of his own and demand equal time.

There are a couple of one-hitters McLain pitched in May and a pair of two-hitters, also from earlier in the season, but the Academy Award winner is Thursday's two-hit performance, complete with happy ending, an 8-0 Tiger victory over Chicago.

McLain's previous low-hit performances came when he was the toast of the league, the winningest pitcher around. At the All-Star break, he was 13-4. But then he began taking his lumps.

It took Denny five tries to win his 14th and five more before he got number 15 Thursday. The fact that it came on such a sharp performance has to give McLain and the Tigers hope that he's ready to resume his leading-man role.

Boudreau, on the other hand, may find that his hours behind his projector are going to increase. As McLain explains it, whenever he and his wife, Sharyn, who is Boudreau's daughter, visit the former Indian shortstop, he finds himself watching Lou win the pennant for Cleveland with his brilliant play.

"If I've seen that film once," said McLain, I've seen it a thousand times. I'm just glad I didn't have to pitch to that man. Boy, was he tough."

The Chicago batters were anything but tough Wednesday, though. Only Ken Berry, with a double in the fourth, and Jerry Adair, who beat out a single in the eighth, managed hits. The Tigers, though, started hitting early. They got three runs in the first inning, two in the second and, to round things out, three more on a Dick McAuliffe homer in the fifth.

In other American League games, California beat New York, 5-1, Baltimore took Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings and Boston won a doubleheader from Kansas City, 8-6 and 4-1.

In a brief National League first game and Hank Fischer, former National Leaguer, went all the way in the nightcap in the Red Sox' double victory.

Foy's homer came with two out off reliever Ken Sanders. Tony Conigliaro hit a two-run homer in the nightcap as Pischer allowed just eight hits in his first start with the Red Sox.

Sonics Down TL Leaders

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Second-place Amarillo, which hasn't beaten Arkansas in a series this season, got a jump on the Texas League leaders in the opening of a crucial four-game set Thursday night.

The Sonics reduced Arkansas' lead to four games by beating the Travelers 6-2.

Arkansas has played two more games than Amarillo and has a 5-3 edge in the won-lost columns. The regular season ends Sept. 5.

Albuquerque assured itself a place in the playoffs with a 6-4 victory over fourth-place Austin and El Paso kept alive slim hopes of joining in the post-season festivities by whipping Dallas-Fort Worth 8-4.

Amarillo scored six runs — four of them unearned — in the third inning to beat Arkansas. The Travelers got a pair in the second on Steve Huntz' homer with Bart Zeller on base. It was Huntz 'error in the third that permitted Amarillo's big rally.

Two-run homers by George Pena and Winston Llenas helped El Paso to a 7-0 lead after two innings over Dallas-Fort Worth. Llenas' homer was his 22nd of the season and put him only one behind Arkansas' Moose Stubing for the league lead.

Bureau Opposes Cotton Program

DALLAS (AP)—Farm Bureau representatives from Texas and Oklahoma vigorously opposed Thursday a proposed cotton promotion program that growers would finance by a $1-a-bale voluntary charge.

Supporters of the proposal including the National Cotton Council, say the program is needed so that the cotton industry can offset the growing market encroachment of synthetic fibers.

Farm Bureau spokesmen, however, said a better way to get a larger share of the fiber market would be for the U.S. Government to drop control of prices and cotton acreage.

Both sides at the hearing agreed that cotton needed promotion of some kind, and some said the fiber, once king in the South, was doomed unless there was a quick change in trends.

The views came at a U.S. Department of Agriculture hearing with similar sessions set Monday in Phoenix, Ariz., and another next Thursday in Atlanta, Ga. One was held earlier this week in Memphis, Tenn.

Final decision on the program will come in a referendum by growers. A two-thirds approval is necessary before it would become effective. Participation would be voluntary on the part of the grower.

C. H. Devaney of Waco, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, told examiner Banjamin M. Holstein:

"Synthetic fibers are free from production and price controls and they will continue to take cotton's markets as long as cotton's production and price is managed, as it has been in the past (by the government)."

Bruno Schroeder, executive vice president of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives and Texas Cooperative Ginners Association, said the two groups supported the plan.

Schroeder's organizations are made up of 329 cotton gins, six cotton oil mills, four compresses, four marketing associations and two cotton planting seed associations. He noted that all are grower owned.

J. S. Sharp of Paris, Tex., said, "It's a choice between the opportunity to stay in business and make money or the certainty of declining returns and eventually going out of the cotton business entirely."

H. D. Madsen of Danevang, Tex., said the cotton farmer pays big sums to produce his crop and "ought to be willing to pay at least a dollar a bale to save his market . . ."

An Oklahoman, Tom Deberry of McCurtain County, said the burden of the proposed promotion program was not shared equally by industry members who would benefit.

Deberry, calling attention to segments of the industry other than growers present, said he was sorry they were "completely excluded from the opportunity and privilege of sharing in the financial responsibility of this great effort."

Burt Dockery of Vernon, Tex., told the hearing he feared the proposal would "open the door to commodity taxation."

Sen. George Murphy Reported Recovering

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., was reported recovering well today from surgery to remove a tumor-like growth from his vocal cords.

The senator spent about one hour in surgery Thursday at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital. Spokesmen said it will be several days before it can be determined if the growth was malignant.

Murphy, 64, will remain in the hospital five to seven days, said his son Dennis, and may return to Washington in 10 days.

Murphy was advised to remain silent for 48 hours, his son said, adding, "if that's possible."

'Lord, thou has been our dwelling place in all generations." Psalm 90:1.

The past acclaims what the future will be;
Old strife of the world again we may see.
Human nature unchanging applies to the mass,
And the new generation, like the old, too will pass.
But faith in the Christ endures evermore
And goes on unaltered as tides on the shore!

Methodists Take Charge Of Tower

Grandpa To 99 Kids Expects More

WHITE BEAR LAKE, Minn. (AP)—Like any grandfather, Charles Halonen likes to see his grandchildren. But not all at once.

Halonen and his wife, Anna, have 99 living grandchildren between them, and expect to have four more before he turns 65 next March 11.

"You certainly like to see the grandchildren come and visit you," he says, "but after a few days you like to see them go home, too."

The native of Finland has seven sons and seven daughters. He counts 87 grandchildren—aged 2½ weeks to 19 years—descended from his first wife, who died in 1950. Two others died in infancy. Halonen's second wife, Anna, whom he married in 1954, has 12 grandchildren.

One of Halonen's daughters has a dozen children, another 11 and two more have 10 apiece.

"We left it entirely up to the will of God," says Halonen, a member of the Finnish Apostolic Lutheran Church. "We never planned anything. We took what God gave us."

Birth control, he believes, is a sinful practice in a world that is "getting more sinful every day."

Nor do the Halonens believe in the usual gift-giving by grandparents on Christmas and birthdays.

"In this age of prosperity," he says, "children get so many gifts they don't appreciate or give any value to things. It wrecks them."

Halonen has lived in this St. Paul suburb for years, and most of his offsprings reside in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, although two children live at Cokato, Minn., one at Detroit, Mich., and one at San Diego, Calif.

Nevertheless, it's been eight years since the family had a reunion. More than 70 members of the clan attended that event.

Asked to name his offspring, Halonen quipped with a nod to his wife: "I have to turn these details over to my secretary there."

Services Set For Oilfield Wildcatter

FORT WORTH (AP) — Funeral services were planned here today for Richard Otto Dulaney, longtime oilfield wildcatter in Texas and Oklahoma.

Dulaney, who also had uranium mining interests in Colorado, died here Thursday after he was stricken at his home. He also had been a real estate developer on a large scale.

The last rites were set for 4 p.m. in Fort Worth's First Presbyterian Church.

Any Policeman Should Know That!

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A policeman in suburban West Mifflin was sent to investigate an unidentified flying object reported near the local airport.

When he arrived he reported over the police radio that there was a flashing object in the sky.

"What should I do?" he asked the dispatcher.

"Get its license number," came the reply.

Grants Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Welfare Department disclosed grants Thursday of $56,392 for a nurse training program at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth and $32,642 for blood research by the Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas in Dallas.

Bans Go-Go Girls

WARREN, R.I. (AP) — Following the recommendation of the police chief, the Town Council has banned go-go" girls from all the towns taverns. The dancing girls in gilded cages also were banned in nearby Pawtucket.

Carlsbad Estimates Damages

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Flood damage to public and private property in Carlsbad was estimated today at about $600,000 by city officials. They asked the state for $125,000 in disaster relief money.

Pecos River waters poured over the Artesia-Carlsbad area in Southeast New Mexico late Monday and Tuesday.

State planning officer John Flynn said the damage to private property in Carlsbad neared $500,000.

Flynn said Eddy County Commission Chairman Dwight Lee estimated damage to public facilities outside Carlsbad would total about $100,000.

Commissioners of Otero County, west of Carlsbad, said ranchland and roads in the southeast corner of the county across the state line from Dell City, Tex., sustained damage up to $100,000.

The New Mexico Civil Air Patrol reported rescues of 16 families in Otero County stranged by the flood.

Mrs. Sarah Pippia and her two sons were taken off the Wester Ranch northwest of Carlsbad by helicopter late Thursday. They had been marooned by high water four days.

Cotton is non-allergenic.

Housing Grant Ok'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials said Thursday that San Antonio will receive an additional $250,000 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to help finance construction of a civic center.

Stori - Strip projector and screen, $17.50, films, $1.50, compact 35mm Bible Book Store, 1403 Lubbock Highway.

all clear

In the "railroad" business the brakeman's lantern means everything. His "signal lantern" preceded the driver's stop and go light. It must be obeyed. The brakeman, like God, must give us the "all clear." It is the only way we may know the track is clear, the switch in place, for us to move with confidence. How reassuring when we know that God is clearing the way ahead of us.

If you were ever in a business a righteous God could not bless, then, you well know how it hurts not to be able to get His "all clear." But He warned us, "There is a way that seemeth right, but the end is death." If one's destination is Heaven, it is important that he get on the main line and keep on going. Let us take the church as our "brakeman." It will not signal us wrong. Let us worship God in her pews every week and support her many programs of service.
