Snyder High Wins Literary Crown

SWEETWATER — For the first time, at least in recent years, Snyder High School has been judged the winner of the district interscholastic literary contest.

Snyder won the event Saturday with a total of 161 points. Second place Sweetwater gained 95.5 points. Sweetwater had been the winner for the past seven years.

Colorado City was third, Lakeview, fourth, Lamesa, fifth, and Brownfield, sixth.

Students of Bob Taylor, Snyder debate instructor, made a clean sweep of their events. The debate teams composed of girls, Mary Bowlin and Brenda Boyd, and boys, Jim Moore and Roy Hanson, took first place. In girls extemporaneous speech first place was won by Milligan Smyth and second by Betty Pinkerton. In the boys division, first place was won by Eldon Tipping and second place by Billy Streety placed first and Bobby Covey, third.

In the persuasive speaking contest for girls, Diana Aitor placed first; Rita Harless, second. In the boys division Billy Streety placed first and Bobby Covey, third.

In Miss Sue Parham's department, Donna Overby placed second for the girls and Glenn Ward placed third for the boys in prose reading.

In the one-act play, Snyder placed second behind Colorado City. Mary Bowlin was chosen to be on the all-star cast.

In Number Sense, coached by Ollie Peek, Stuart Long placed first.

In Spelling, coached by Mrs. Mary Faver, the Snyder team of Susan Knock and Carol Young took third place.

In Ready Writing, coached by Mrs. Dorothy Rossen, Lana Brown placed first; Ann Robinson, third.

J. L. BROWNING

BUSTER ANDERSON

Browning, Anderson Win In School Race

J. L. (Broadway) Browning, building contractor and Buster Anderson, accountant, led in a field of five for two posts on the Snyder School Board in the annual trustee election Saturday.

A modest turnout of 629 at the polls gave Browning 370 votes and Anderson 281 votes, according to complete, unofficial returns.

C. C. Terry received 259, Dr. John W. O'Hanlon Jr. 197 and Jack Lawrence 119.

Browning led in every box, receiving 221 votes at West Elementary, 160 at the city hall and 49 at East Elementary. Terry ran second in the West Elementary box with 182 votes; but Anderson was second at city hall with 88 and at East Elementary with 45. Terry received 59 at city hall and 18 at East.

Browning and Anderson will succeed Gene L. Dulaney and Dr. Thomas F. Harley on the board. Holdover members of the board are William J. Schiebel, president, Lee D. Stone, Dr. Robert H. Hargrave, Dr. B. J. Weaver, and Albert Ray Martin.

The new board members are scheduled to begin their terms at the next regular meeting, which is set for Tuesday night.

Takes Plunge Into Canyon

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A Greyhound bus spun off a rain-slick mountain highway Saturday and carried more than a score of screaming passengers on a rolling 120-foot plunge to the canyon floor, killing at least seven and injuring 18.

The driver was among the dead. The Reno-to-San Francisco bus, caught in a blinding rain squall, crashed through a metal guard rail, ripping out 50 feet on the road.

No. 404, 17 miles east of Oroville. The crash scene is more than 80 miles north of Sacramento and 110 miles due west of Reno.

"Everybody was screaming," said Howard Hyatt, 52, a San Francisco seaman. He was treated and released from Oroville Medical Center Hospital.

"I was surprised to find myself still conscious when the bus hit bottom. The inside of the bus was just one mass of bodies and luggage."

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's officers pressed 30 spectators into service to form a line down the mountainside to the wrecked bus. Stretchers with the injured were shuffled hand to hand back up to the roadway.

One side of the bus was ripped out. Seats hung out grotesquely. Wreckage was strewn over 100 feet of the embankment. The wrecked bus came to rest at a 45-degree angle.

Hyatt, further recounting the accident, said:

"I had just remarked to a friend that I thought the driver was going too fast for the slick pavement. Just then I felt the bus skid and the back end came around to where the front should be."

"I thought for a while it was not going to stop. But it broke through the rail and started down."

The bus, making a gradual descent from the Sierra toward Sacramento, was on a comparatively level stretch of several hundred yards at the crash scene. But it had to negotiate two curves.

"I heard somebody scream," said an injured passenger, Mary Potts, 17, a high school student from Peoria.

"Suddenly I remembered someone told me I never got in an accident. I should relax."

"I tried to relax and then the bus started moving backward and went over the hill."

SNYDER AREA OIL

A. V. Jones & Sons of Albany No. 1 W. C. Dhrill is to be a 4,000-foot well in Northeast Kent County, 1 1/2 miles southwest of Clayton.

The driller is 660 feet from south and 2,640 feet from east lines of section 78, block 96, H&TC survey.

Bobby M. Burns of Wichita Falls will drill No. 1 Fowler as a 4,300-foot Noodle Creek exploration in Fisher County, 10 miles west of Rotan.

It is two miles southwest of the Rough Draw (Noodle Creek) pool and 2,300 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of section 202, block 2, H&TC survey.

Kata Oil Company of Abilene completed No. 2 Ida B. Montgomery as the second upper Hope life producer in the Rotan-Hope and Flippin fields in North Fisher County.

On the 24-hour potential, it pumped 126.63 barrels of 37-gravity oil from perforations at 3,096-40 feet.

It is 1/2 mile east of Rotan and 1,772 feet from north and 1,000 feet from south lines of section 124, block 2, H&TC survey.

The operation drilled and cored to total depth of 4,215 feet. It did not report running any driller's tests.

It is 1/2 mile north of Rotan and 1,800 feet from south and west lines of section 85, block 2, H&TC survey.

For A. Ransfield of Abilene No. 1-White Mt. Dunn will be drilled to 4,200 feet to test Flippin and the Hope zones in the Rotan area of North Fisher County.

It is 2,475 feet from north and 1,600 feet from west lines of lines of section 124, block 2, H&TC survey and 1/2 mile east of Rotan.

It is a north offset to the Hope discovery.

Rains Move East; Texas Skies Clear

By The Associated Press

Clearing, warmer weather pushed eastward over Texas Saturday, a state made jubilant by million dollar rains.

The last of the hard rains fell in deep East Texas, measuring up to 3.50 inches at San Augustine.

At least eight deaths occurred on highways made slick by the rains.

By early afternoon, the only rain falling was at Texarkana. Nearly all Central and East Texas still was overcast, but the clouds were moving west.

Forecasters said Sunday should be a mild and generally clear and sunny day, a little warmer everywhere.

The soaking rains, the first general moisture of an exceptionally dry winter and early spring, were of immense benefit to virtually every farmer, rancher and home gardener in the state.

Some of the larger rains of the 24 hours to dawn Saturday were:

Lexington 3.16 inches, Madisonville 3.08, Center 3.03, Douglasville 2.90, Chireno 2.72, Bryan area 2.65, Hoffland 2.44, College Station 2.40, Groves 2.31, Bryan area 2.30, Groves 1.90, Harger 1.79, Conner 1.78, Maud 1.75, Lufkin 1.74.

Also: Rockledge 1.60, Rockland 1.60, Bismarck 1.60, Dime Box 1.60, Noland 1.59, Texarkana 1.51, Conwell 1.50, Texarkana 1.41, Junction 1.31, New Summerfield 1.20, Warrenton 1.20.

Also: Jacksonville and Magnolia 1.17, Tyler 1.12, Washington 1.10, DeKalb 1.06, Gladewater 1.07, Jefferson 1.06, Longview 1.01, and Whitehouse 1.00.

Tank Aids In Capture Of Escapee

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — A heavily armed mental hospital escapee, surrendered Saturday as a National Guard tank, loaded with officers, plowed into the wooded area where he was hiding.

The patient, ELLI Whittaker, 40, a Negro, meekly dropped his guns, raised his hands and surrendered at the command of police in the tank.

Some 500 officers and National Guard personnel who drove the tank after receiving authorization from Gov. John Connally surrounded the woods, 20 miles northwest of here.

Whittaker earlier had shot and killed a horse ridden by Deputy Sheriff Ray Smith. He also killed two bloodhounds.

The patient told officers "I didn't know quite what to do when I saw the tank."

He said he left his hiding place, taking his two rifles and two shotguns with him. Later he went back after his knives. This was when the tank moved in on him. Whittaker was taken to Nacogdoches.

How holders in the vicinity where the capture took place armed themselves.

After escapee to police. Whittaker told Nacogdoches police officers asked the National Guard to "turn him in."

State Adj. Gen. Thomas Bishop notified the Nacogdoches unit at mid-afternoon that Gov. Connally had approved the move.

Overdoses Of Heroin Kill Addicts

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal officials said Saturday the deaths of a number of East Coast drug addicts may have been caused by overdoses of heroin smuggled by a multi-million dollar narcotics combine.

Officials said the combine has been receiving shipments of almost pure heroin across the Mexican border.

They said dope pushers and addicts, apparently unaware of the strength of the heroin, have been sufficiently diluting the strength of the narcotics.

Addicts, used to injections prepared from 2 to 5 per cent strength heroin, may have been unable to stand the strength of much more powerful injections prepared from 20 to 25 per cent heroin. Officials said they have heard of at least a dozen deaths.

Officers seized 22 pounds of heroin Nov. 7. With cutting, it was estimated worth $4.5 million on the illicit drug market.

A Monterey, Mexico, woman, who brought the heroin here, and an ex-convict from New York, to whom delivery was to be made, were sentenced Friday in federal court. They were nabbed here with the narcotic.

Big Welcome Planned For Lopez Mateos

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico, noted for warm receptions given visiting dignitaries, plans an equally large "boomtown" to welcome home 75, traveling president, Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Lopez Mateos is spending up a European visit in five nations.

Officials said Saturday hundreds of thousands would be on hand to greet the president. All public places will close at 10 a.m.

Most state governors plan to be at the airport, along with federal officials, congressmen and members of the diplomatic corps.

Air force planes will meet the commercial jet that carried Lopez Mateos to France, Holland, Poland, Yugoslavia and Germany.

HERMLEIGH

HERMLEIGH — Hollis Ward and Cecil Hall were elected to posts on the Hermleigh School Board in Saturday's election, with each receiving 51 votes, according to complete, unofficial returns.

James Loye received 46 votes and Edw. Kutz, 36 votes to round out the four-man race. The terms of Carmen Hobbs and Glenn Tate expire this year.

FLUVANNA

FLUVANNA — J. D. Patterson and Bill Stansell were re-elected to the Fluvanna School Board in Saturday's election.

Patterson received 41 votes and Stansell 35 votes, according to complete, unofficial returns.

Glenn Doombs received 31 votes, James Braxer 24, Henry Landrum 9 and Eugene Smith 3.

Bomb Found Near Tower

MONTREAL (AP) — Police removed a powerful bomb Saturday from the foot of a radio-television transmitting tower atop Mt. Royal, and dismantled it minutes before its timing device indicated it was to have exploded.

Sgt. Leo Plouffe of the Montreal police, who supervised the dismantling, said the charge was big enough to have brought down the 1,000-foot tower, used by Montreal's radio television stations.

Pained in red at the base of the tower was the word "Liberte" and the initials "FLQ" of the Front-Canada Liberation Quebec. This is a terrorist group that has claimed responsibility for several major bombings in its avowed campaign to win independence for Quebec from predominantly English-speaking areas of Canada.

The terrorist group reportedly threatened to blow up the tower against CFC-TV, one of the stations owned by the tower, unless it stopped airing its nightly anti-Chinese playing of "God Save the Queen."

Okay, School Fund Boost

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Education approved for study Saturday a proposal which could boost the state's permanent school fund by millions of dollars.

Under the proposal, the board would ask the legislature to allow the sale of the state's holdings in municipal bonds. The board would replace these with corporate bonds.

Paul Haas, a board member, said the corporate bonds would yield up to 3 per cent more than municipal bonds. The board is prohibited from selling municipal bonds.

"We have a situation where we could make a great deal of money running into the millions, for the state," Haas said.

Dr. Baker Due For College Discussion

DR. MARVIN BAKER

Dr. Marvin Baker, president of South Plains College in Levelland, is due here Tuesday night to participate in discussion of a proposal to establish a junior college here.

Dr. Baker has been president of the college at Levelland for nearly two years. He went there from Florida State University, where he served as junior college consultant, and prior to that was associated with the Howard County Junior College in Rio Spring.

The Tuesday session has been set for 7:30 p.m. in the Snyder High School auditorium. At that time, a local junior college survey committee will make a proposal to establish a junior college district composed of Scurry and Fisher counties.

The general public of both counties has been invited to attend the session.

Following months of preliminary work, the survey committee here has spent the past few weeks developing specific data in support of a proposal for a two-county junior college district.

First step would be petitions requesting authority to hold an election. Such petitions, which are due to be presented at the Tuesday night session, would then be presented to the state board. If the proposal is approved in Austin, steps would be taken to call an election in the proposed district.

PLAN CANCER CRUSADE — Mrs. Fred Kizer and Buford Browning talk with Snyder High School student Anita Holt about the Cancer Crusade which will be held April 16. Several clubs of Snyder youths will be participating in the drive this year. Miss Holt is a member of the Future Homemakers of America.

Twisters Hit Mississippi

By The Associated Press

Twisters hit the Mississippi Gulf Coast on Saturday, injuring several persons and causing considerable property damage.

The Pass Christian Vacht Club was struck by a walrusport that moved inland from the Mississippi Sound. The roof was torn off a boat repair service and the front porch damaged.

Several persons suffered cuts and bruises when another twister demolished several tourist lodges in the lush Longshore House resort on the beachfront at Pascagoula.

Rain fell from the Virginia to Eastern Texas. Mobile, Ala., received 1 1/2 inches in six hours.

Another storm system dumped rain on the Pacific Northwest and northern Rockies. Cities along the northwest Pacific coast were drenched with 1 to 2 inches of rain.

Inland amounts generally were less than an inch.

Few weather previsions from Arizona to Texas, northward to the Dakotas and Great Lakes.

Fighting Erupts In Central Laos

By TONY ESCODA

VIETNAMESE LAOS (AP) — Fighting has erupted between neutralist and leftist forces in central Laos and the government began Saturday an airlift of women and children from the danger zone.

Fighting continued in the Plain of Jars and a Western diplomat said Saturday the situation has changed very much for the worse in the past 24 hours.

The outbreak involves "regular" neutralists and a neutralist faction increasingly identified with the pro-Communist Pathet Lao. Neutralist and Pathet Lao were left in joint occupation of the Plain of Jars area after the 1961 Geneva settlement intended to take the Southeast Asian kingdom out of the cold war.

The chairman of the three-power International Control Commission, India's Avtar Singh, visited the area during the day and told newsmen fighting is continuing. He said Gen. Kong Le, commander of the regular neutralists, was trying to arrange a Sunday ceasefire meeting with the Pathet Lao.

IRS Okays Short Form From Africa

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service got quite an unusual tax return Friday — an African short form (1040) — from a Peace Corps volunteer stationed in Tunisia.

Fred W. Johnson, district IRS director, said the volunteer apparently didn't have a proper form, so designed one of his own.

Using a piece of yellow paper, 8 1/2 by 7 inches, the volunteer set off by one column with the title, "I got," and listed his earnings in six. Those came to $365, $1,313.97 from an Arkansas construction firm and $229.50 from the Peace Corps.

Another column headed, "You got," listed taxes withheld by each employer, totaling $20.82.

The third column was entitled, "I should get." An arrow was drawn to the $20.82 indicating that as the refund due.

A notation underneath read, "No wife, kids, animals, few friends." Then the brief message, "Thanks." The W2 forms from both employers were attached.

A staff assistant to Johnson said the form would be accepted.

Says Soviet Schools Vastly Overrated

FORT WORTH (AP) — The quality of Russian schools has been vastly overrated by those who hope to bring about federal aid to education in this country, an East Texas school superintendent who toured the Soviet Union said Saturday.

Q. M. Martin of Carthage said that when he was in Russia in November he found studies patterned largely after America's.

"In most cases, as we saw it, it was far behind ours," he said.

He said Russian schools seem to be making rapid strides forward.

Martin spoke at the convention of the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association, a Negro organization.

commander, Gen. Sikkaphe.

Reports from various well-informed sources said the fighting had not grown beyond skirmishes, but a woman refugee arriving in Vietnamese said "It's getting hot over there for a battle."

The rift dates back to last November, when the leftist breakaway group shot down an American transport plane bringing supplies to the neutralists in the Plain of Jars.

Singh and his Cambodian and Polish colleagues on the neutralist group made a day-long trip to the area but declined to define their mission.

An earlier report of fighting came from Prince Souvanna Phouma, neutralist premier. He said a rebel-neutralist force under a Mai Thiep attacked Kong Le troops in Xieng Khouang town, 115 miles north of Vientiane.

This was said to have occurred Thursday and Souvanna said Friday the situation "seems calmed down." But other reports conflicted with Souvanna's appraisal.

The airlift of women and children — dependents of soldiers — bringing them to Vientiane from the danger area, underlined the concern. Six plane loads were lifted out in Soviet-built MiG transports.

The United States, sharply protesting a statement by the Pathet Lao leader, Deputy Premier Prince Souphannouvong, accusing "American warmongers and their agents" of responsibility for the slaying of Quinim.

Quinim was machine-gunned by a neutralist guard loyal to Kong Le. The assassin, held in prison, was quoted by his commander as saying he killed Quinim to prevent him from taking over the coalition government.

U.S. Ambassador Leonard Underhill delivered a protest note to the acting foreign minister, Khamsouk Kaola.

Underhill accused the Pathet Lao of trying to prevent the United States and the Laotian government from working together.

An earlier embassy statement also denied any U.S. involvement in the Quinim murder.

Rose Nurseries Are Destroyed By Fire

TYLER (AP) — Fire destroyed the big cooperative rose nurseries north of Tyler Saturday, sending flames at times 100 feet into the air.

The blaze was discovered about 6 a.m. and brought under control about 8 a.m.

Fire officials said damage will run into the thousands of dollars. Burning paraffin seed black smoke southward to form a dark blanket over the northern half of Tyler. A 5,000-gallon gasoline tank underground inside the nurseries caught fire — but the fuel burned without exploding.

Pumper trucks had to go a mile away to fill up with water. Smith County water trucks, normally used in combating forest fires, were pressed into service.

Auto Stolen Here Found In McAllen

A Thunderbolt automobile owned by Wilson Connell has been reported recovered by McAllen police.

The car was stolen from the Furr's parking lot Friday. The report from McAllen said only that the car was in running condition and that no apprehension of the thief had been made.

Farm output per man hour of labor had doubled since 1950.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN-BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I can turn to with this problem and when you read it you'll know why. My husband likes a bottle of beer after dinner. I don't object to that because he never has more than one. But he likes to drink out of the baby's bottle and nipple. I thought he was clowning when he fixed it that way once, but now that's the only way he'll drink it. He never does it when anyone else is around, but it makes me sick. The baby is only 7 months old, but he looks so puzzled when he sees his father with a bottle. Is this serious or not? My husband is 28 and I am 23.

Worried Wife

DEAR WORRIED: Your husband is either competing with the baby, or expressing a desire to go back to his baby days. I am not a psychiatrist, and your husband needs one. Ask your family doctor to recommend one. And soon! It's very serious.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school sophomore and my mother still wants me in the house at twelve o'clock sharp every time I go out on a date. How can I let her know I am not a baby any more?

NOT A BABY

DEAR NOT: She knows. That's why she wants you in the house at twelve o'clock sharp.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, single, respectable and handsome. I am a small town guy who recently moved to a big city to take a day-time job and study law at night. Every evening I pass a certain bakery and see a girl working there. I can't get her out of my mind. She is tall and slim and looks about 20. She has beautiful dark eyes and hair. My problem:

All mollusks bear a remarkable organ called a mantle, a kind of living skin or pad that secretes a limestone substance for the shell.

Junior College Proposal Reaches Decisive Stage

A proposal to establish a public junior college here will reach a decisive stage here Tuesday night. In fact, the outcome of the meeting Tuesday will determine whether it will in fact be a proposal.

Events leading up to the meeting have moved slowly by design — the committee making the preliminary study desired, above all, to avoid haste which might have led to confusion or misunderstanding.

As the matter stands now, we believe the junior college question has been studied just about as thoroughly as possible. The next move is up to the citizens of Scurry and Fisher Counties. The studies have led to the conclusion that the most practical approach to such a proposal here would involve a two-county junior college district.

A vast accumulation of information will be presented at the meeting Tuesday night. It will embrace general information on public junior colleges, specific indications as to what might be expected if a junior college should be established here, plus actual experiences of a relatively new public junior college now in operation at Levelland.

Considerable interest in a junior college has been indicated in Scurry County for more than five years. In fact, it was just about five years ago that another proposal to establish a junior college was advanced here. That proposal was rejected by the state board, but with indication that such a proposal might be submitted again on the same or a different basis.

The interest has continued locally. The extent of this interest will be determined Tuesday night when the opportunity to sign petitions will be presented. The petitions will be necessary to get the proposal before the state board again.

You may show your interest by attending the meeting and signing a petition.

Backstage...

If you don't think Americans move around these days, just ask the Veterans Administration. Robert W. Sisson, manager of the VA Regional Office in Lubbock, reports that a survey shows that 52.5 per cent of all veterans in the United States were living in a different house in 1960 than in 1955. Moreover, one veteran in 10 was living in a different state. This moving around causes some problems for the Veterans Administration because many of the movers neglect to let the VA know about their new addresses, resulting in delay or suspension of delivery of pension checks, compensation checks, etc.

Progress doesn't always mean building. Evidence of the fact is shown in some now-vacant lots that are far more attractive (and probably valuable) than they were when cluttered by a bunch of tired and unused buildings. We're glad the owners see it that way too. For Snyder we're improved by their removal. Besides Mr. Brownfield's and Mr. Sears' we understand there are others who are planning on razing some old buildings. It's unfortunate that people who drive through Snyder usually drive by the oldest and least attractive part of town, and they're inclined to get the wrong idea about our city. The thing to do is to make believe you're a stranger, and look around. Those vacant lots will look a lot better, won't they?

Snyder Man Heads Firm's New District

Appointment of a Snyder man to head a new district office of the Equitable Life Assurance Society has been announced by the company.

Guy L. Sullivan, agent for the company since Aug. 15, 1960 will be district manager over a 30-county district. The new district covers an area from Lockney on the north to Brady on the east, Sonora on the south, and the Pecos - Ft. Stockton - Alpine area on the west.

Sullivan is a 10-year resident of Snyder. He was with the Snyder school system for six years prior to his opening of a casualty insurance office in 1959. He will continue as a partner in that agency, the Sullivan - Stanfield Agency.

Sullivan presently is serving as a member of the Snyder city council, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, and as president of the Girls' Recreation program. He is a graduate of Abilene Christian College, and has done work on his master's degree at Texas Tech. Sullivan and his wife live at 208 North Third Street. They have three children, a son and two daughters, aged 6 and 9.

Bleak Report On Outlook For Cotton

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department issued a bleak report today of the cotton situation.

The report made these points: Domestic usage during the marketing year ending July 31 is expected to be about 7.3 per cent smaller than in the previous year and 12 per cent below the average of the early 1960s.

Exports this marketing year may be down 20 per cent from the previous year and the smallest since 1950.

Reserve and surplus stocks at the end of the marketing year are expected to be about 26 per cent larger than a year earlier and the largest since 1957.

Imports of cotton textile products during 1962 were the largest on record and represented an increase of 64 per cent over 1961 and 23 per cent over the previous year, but only reflecting a reduction in planting allotments under a control program.

Cotton's share of the domestic usage of all fibers—wool and synthetic fibers—has dropped to the lowest level in history.

The report was issued at a time when a stalemate has developed in Congress over proposals to help revive the cotton industry.

Various explanations are given for cotton's plight. Administration critics put much of the blame on Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman for raising producer price supports shortly after he took office in 1961. This action, critics contend, did much to overprice cotton in relation to other cottons in world markets and in relation to synthetic fibers.

The departmental report said major factors in the decline in domestic usage included increased use of synthetics, increased imports of textiles and uncertainty in the cotton industry because of possible new cotton legislation.

Fine, Jail Term Levied By Jury

A jury in county court Friday afternoon found Manuel Barrientes guilty of a charge of driving while intoxicated. The punishment, set by the jury, was a $50 fine plus confinement in the county jail for 20 days. The charges had been filed by the Snyder city police department. Also in county court Friday afternoon Shirley Ann Wells pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicants. She was assessed a fine of $200 plus costs of $28.35.

Solons Face Busy Schedule

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP)—"It's getting about that time of a session when the boys put down the water pistols and grab their switchblade knives."

That's the candid comment of one veteran lobbyist on the legislature.

A glance at debate and committee calendars indicates there will be cuts, burns and bruises before the smoke settles.

Monday opens with a bang when the House Taxation Committee gathers to make recommendations on a $30 million tax parcel—revise the sales tax for $18.6 million, and extend the franchise tax for more than $11 million.

The Monday committee sessions will center around such volatile subjects as removing racial intermarriage bans and replacing the poll tax with a 25 cent voter registration fee.

Tuesday the Senate Finance Committee will clear for floor debate a 1964-65 appropriations bill likely to top the House-passed spending bill by maybe $40 million. A House committee will discuss the Senate-passed loan shark control bill. Another House committee takes up the Senate-approved measure granting women equal legal rights.

BUILT SEVERAL YEARS BEFORE the present courthouse, this building at Twenty-fourth Street and Avenue S was used as a hotel up until recent years. It is pictured about 1908 when for a brief time it was the Wellborn Hotel after the original Wellborn burned. It soon became the Woodrow Hotel under which name it operated for many years. The building was built in anticipation of the boom which followed the railroad's arrival in 1908.

DEMOLITION CREWS have been working this week in razing the old structure. The present owner, R. B. Sears, purchased the building in 1939, and for a number of years the lower floor was used as an auto agency. The upper floor was used for rooms during the oil boom, but has been unused for several years.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — It is Spring in Mexico and the yo-yo season is with us again. For some reason the two things go together here. Possible the soul awakens from its winter hibernation and demands some fast action to restore circulation.

Anyhow, Mr. Buck Marryat, the American Airlines press agent, came flying in the other day and bought himself a bright, red yo-yo. He does this every year the same way some people get new convertibles.

And Mr. Marryat sat at the bar of the Press Club, twirling his yo-yo in all sorts of intricate maneuvers while he demolished some chemical mixtures and speculated on the future of the human race. It seems he was stricken with a rare disease which is brought on by turning calendar pages at his desk and the only known cure is to catch one of his flying machines down here and look around town.

So Mr. Marryat strolled over to Sanborns and several other shops where yo-yo pilots give their annual demonstrations of the latest models.

This starts in the middle of February, when Spring gets underway, and all the trees and Christmas jewelry are turning green. From what I gather, the yo-yo engineers go underground during the rest of the year and work on advanced designs.

They have to check length and resistance of strings, devise new angles for the grooves, compare the balance of plastic with that of wood and work up a new trim for the outside.

Then the super - models are turned over to a group of hardy young test pilots who give demonstrations in shops where parents absent mindedly take their children.

This is the thing that impresses Mr. Marryat. He stands for hours watching the young gentlemen fling their yo-yos with startling skill. They do things called Around the World, Swinging Gate and The Skating Pendulum.

Every time they take a break, Mr. Marryat sits down on a waste basket and checks his notes to figure which model yo-yo would get the best mileage and whether speed and comfort are included.

About the second day of observation, he makes his decision and goes to the store manager to see how much down and how much up a month on the model he wants.

Of course, everybody in the city is doing the same thing. And for this reason you see Indians in town from the wood carving places juggling baskets of yo-yos to all the stores.

This year the people from Uruguay brought in some giant models that looked like oxcart wheels spun on a half - inch rope. Mr. Marryat said he would like one of those but he was afraid the plane would fly lopsided going back home.

School buses pass you in the city streets and dozens of yo-yos fly in and out of the windows. Elevator doors open and several yo-yos come spinning out at you. Naturally, the gang that lives

Jobless Roll Decline May Delay Tax Cuts To Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—The dramatic drop in unemployment reported by the Labor Department last week could mean that any tax cuts Congress votes would not go into effect until Jan. 1.

This would be a postponement from President Kennedy's target date of July 1, for a cutback in pay withholding. But there might be some consolation for taxpayers if the reduction were more substantial than Kennedy had recommended for a first stage.

House Ways and Means committee members of both parties are speculating informally along these lines after a week of general, closed discussions with Treasury officials. Most are chary of public reductions.

"It is obvious by now that if Congress passes a tax bill at all, it will not do so by July 1. Under the most optimistic timetable, the measure by then would be through the House and under consideration by the Senate Finance Committee. But some members had talked of a push to put a tax cut into effect by Oct. 1. Unless unemployment, down in a month from 6.1 to 5.6 per cent, swoops upward again soon, Congress may not feel it is urgent to deliver a tax cut effective within 1963.

The argument for tax adjustment would shift back to enlarging the economy rather than averting a recession. Beside the improved employment picture, good retail sale reports and buoyancy in the stock market have dimmed recession fears.

Any discussions of the kind of tax bill the Ways and Means Committee may draft are at this stage extremely tentative, especially since Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has given no inkling of his views.

There have been suggestions, however, along these lines:

1. Let the corporate income tax drop on July 1 from 52 to 47 per cent—as it will automatically unless Congress extends the higher rate again as has been done periodically since the Korean conflict.

The revenue loss would be partially offset by speeding up collections. Such a procedure would not greatly differ practically from Kennedy's proposal for a gradual corporate rate reduction and a payments speedup.

around my spread must have the latest although last year's models are still hitting on all cylinders as far as I can see.

The kids yo-yo up and down the stairs and the Lady from Puebla has a new, plastic job which she spins incessantly. She keeps it gassed up and on her night table so it is ready for takeoff the first thing in the morning.

Well, Mr. Marryat says this is nothing to be disturbed about because Springtime and yo-yos were made for each other.

And he added, "You ought to be happy around people training for a sport like this instead of worrying about how to make the next payment on your bomb shelter."

I'll go along with that if he keeps up the yo-yo payments for my whole clan.

Nicklaus In Lead By One

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Heavyweight Jack Nicklaus pulled through a harassing rain storm in 74 for a one-shot lead at 214 and the comeback magic failed to work for defending champion Arnold Palmer Saturday in the third round of the Masters Golf Tournament.

Palmer, the man who performs fairways miracles, surged and then faded for a 73 and 220, which placed him six shots off the pace. The other member of golf's renowned "Big Three," Gary Player of South Africa, had a 74 for 219.

The nearest man to the 23-year-old Nicklaus, the game's sensational sophomore, going into Sunday's climactic round was a crippled old pro with a barrel of nerve, Ed Furgol, 46, who shot a 74 for 215.

Furgol's left arm is crooked and 8 inches shorter than his right, which also was damaged a few years ago in an automobile accident.

The drenching rain and cascading bogeys drove the once bright hopes of Mike Souchak, the 36-hole leader, and others who had been clattered near the starting line, miserable day. Souchak, hard luck man in three recent U.S. Opens, missed eight greens and failed to salvage his par at any one of them in shooting a nightmarish 79 for 218.

He was tied at this point with an implausible little Oriental — smiling, bashful Chen Ching-po, the king of the Far East, who chipped in on two greens and sank a 20-foot putt on another for a 71.

Jay Hebert, the handsome Louisiana Cajun who had been tied with Nicklaus at 140 just a shot back of Souchak at the halfway point, took a horrendous 81 for 221. After leading the field at the 4-hole mark, he took two double bogeys and four bogeys on the nine finishing holes — a collapse that utterly defied belief.

George Frazar, who had been tied with Souchak for the opening day lead, also blew sky high, shooting a 77 for 218.

So, when they tee it up Sunday in what promises to be a bright, sunny day, it will be Nicklaus at 214 and Furgol at 215, followed by Julius (Big Moose) Boros, former U.S. open champion, at 216.

Sam Snead and Tony Lema, at 217; Chen Ching-po, Walter Suttles and Souchak at 218; Player, Stan Leonard of Canada and Mason Rudolph at 219; and Palmer clustered with Australian Bruce Crampton, Don January and Dow Finsterwald at 220.

Any one of them is in a position to win it in the final 18 holes because of the fickleness of the tough 6,850-yard, par 72 Augusta course. Nicklaus might be too solid a man to shake.

Nicklaus, who beat Palmer last year in a playoff for the U.S. Open title and a rich televised world series, had three bogeys in the first seven holes in a start that might have discouraged a lesser man.

But he pulled his big, sagging game together and reeled off 11 straight pars in a tremendous driving and putting exhibition.

A frigid putter spoiled a more promising rally by Palmer and broke the hearts of his vast gallery known as "Arlie's Army."

He missed only one green during his creditable round and rimmed "the cup" by his own count — a dozen times with "putts for birdies and pars."

"I wish I could have come in with a 71," Palmer said afterward. "I think I would have had a good chance."

The course was drenched by an all night rain, starting at 9:30 p.m. Friday and it appeared that the third round might have to be postponed. But the course dried by day of heat and high wind, absorbed the water like a thirsty drink and never became unplayable.

Rice's Hansen Vaults 16-1 In Texas Relays Saturday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AUSTIN (AP) — Rice's Fred Hansen vaulted 16 feet 1 inch, unheralded John Gammie of Emporia Kansas State upset famed miler Dyrrol Burleson and Texas Southern scored a 4-0 victory in the windy Texas Relays Saturday.

Hansen tried for the world's record after soaring higher than any Texan but missed at 16 feet 4 inches three times.

His 16 feet 1 inch was one of only three records set in the big track and field carnival—the first time there have been so few in a quarter of a century.

A 6 to 8 mile wind and heavy track held down the runners, who were forced to go into the teeth of the wind.

Hansen was named outstanding performer of the relay for his feat. It was the first 16-foot vault in the history of the meet.

Gammie's victory over Burleson and Dotson, another 4-minute miler, was a sensation. The little Kansan had to run his fastest mile to do it. He ripped off a 4:02.6, catching Burleson 40 yards from the tape. Burleson, the Oregon star who had done 3:57.6, wound up second with 4:02.9. Dotson was third at 4:04.8.

Texas Relays officials had hoped for their first 4-minute mile. The record was 4:00.3 set by Wes Santee in 1953.

Texas Southern, which won five relays and set records in all of them here last year, then later won six at the Kansas Relays, was able to equal the latter feat Saturday because a relay had been added.

Texas Southern set only one record and that was an automatic one. It came in the distance medley—the relay that had been added to give six in the college class. The time was 10:13.9.

The other record was in the high school division where Toby Bell of Houston Westbury threw his shot 60 feet 9 1/2 inches.

Texas Southern ran its streak to 21 out of 23 relay triumphs. The Houston Negro school once had a 36-straight streak but had broken last year at the Drake Relays.

Ole University's quartet of Bill Heller, Robert Crooks, Barry Sutton and Daniel Mitchell were the most relays in the university class. The unpublicized visitors from the Mid-West captured the distance medley and two-mile relays. No other school won more than one.

Outstanding performances were turned in by Roger Sayers of Omaha, who won the 100-yard dash in 9.6 and the 100 meters in 1:06, and Danny Roberts of Texas A&M, who won both the shot and discus.

Roberts threw the shot 59 feet.

Baker Heads West Squad
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Oregon State quarterback Terry Baker heads the 35-man West squad announced Saturday for the third annual All-American football bowl game to be played June 29.

Baker, who won the Heisman and Maxwell trophies for 1962, signed a five-figure contract to play professional football with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

Two other members of the West squad that were tapped for Associated Press All-America honors last fall are tackle Bobby Lee Bell of Minnesota, and Johnny Treadwell, Texas guard.

Minnesota placed two other seniors on the squad to take the honors for the most number of berths. Missouri, Oregon, Nebraska, Texas and Baylor each placed two graduating footballers.

John McKay, coach of Southern California's national football champions, heads the West staff that includes Arkansas' Frank Broyles and Bob Devaney of Nebraska.

The East won last year's game 13-8 after the West had taken the inaugural 30-20 in 1961.

The game will be televised nationally (ABC).

Gun Club Shoot Scheduled Today
The Canyon Gun Club has scheduled a shoot for 1:30 p.m. today at the range.

Competition will be with 22 caliber rifle weapons at 50 yards. Trophies will be awarded first, second and third places, and the public is invited to participate.

its own Texas Relays record—was highlighted by an anchor lap of 46.9 by Ray Saddler.

Other top individual relay performances included a 4:14.7 mile by Ray Stevens and 4:14.5 by Mike Roderick, Southern Methodist freshman, who took the 100-yard dash and 120-yard high hurdles in the junior college freshman class, and Johnny Morris of Houston, who won both the 120-yard high hurdles and the high jump.

Texas Southern's 3:10 in the mile relay—just one second over the 3:11.5 record—was a record.

Leading in the heat when Glenn Fields dropped the baton, Bill Kemp picked it up and continued on the last lap but had lost too much ground and Baylor didn't place.

Also a Drake runner fell and a Texas runner fell over him and that knocked both of those teams out of the running.

No points are recorded or championships awarded in the Texas Relays but an unofficial point check showed Ahlene Christian to have taken first in the university class with 40 points compared to 39 by Baylor and 36 for Rice.

In the college class Texas Southern rolled up 79 points for an overwhelming victory.

Rice with 39 points won the junior college-freshman class. Ahlene Christian had 23 points.

Tigers Public Title District 3-AAA Title

Stehlymen Reign Again

By JERRY JACKSON
News Sports Editor

SWEETWATER — Snyder's unstoppable Tigers made a shambles of the District 3-AAA meet held here Saturday, literally walking away with their seventh track and field championship in a row with an avalanche of 197 points. Brownfield was a distant second with 74.

So complete was their mastery of the situation that they placed regional qualifiers in 12 of the 14 events of the day. And in those two events where they failed to place a performer among the top two finishers—the criterion for regional participation—they came home a close third in both.

The Tigers posted outright victories in six events of the day, including both point-heavy relays. The top two finishers in each of the hurdles events carried the Black and Gold colors, also.

Two records went tumbling during the day's firing in the senior division of competition. Darrell Aldridge started to his greatest vault—11 feet 6 inches—in essence tie for the top spot with Colorado City's Pete Garrett. By a quick of fate, however, Aldridge was judged second in the event even though attaining a comparable height to Garrett due to fewer misses on the part of the C-Citan.

A similar situation revolved around Snyder's Phillip Floyd's winning of the high jump. His 5 foot 8 inch leap was matched by Jesse Patterson of Sweetwater, but Floyd was granted the winning nod on account of his fewer misses.

The Bengal 440-yard relay team, composed of Jackie Wasson, Jim Fry Taylor, Tim Hardin and Gail Reed swept home ahead of the pack in a time of 44 seconds flat for one relay victory. Then, with the title impinging squarely away, the Tiger mile relay quartet of Malcolm Bolger, Wasson, Mike Mayo and Hardin capped off the grand and glorious day of point making by striding to a 3:28.8 finish and first place in that race, the final event of the afternoon.

Senior star Gail Reed continued his mastery in the low hurdles, winning it in a time of 19.3 ahead of teammates Jimmy Taylor and Harley Bynum, who came in second and fourth. The victory perpetuated Reed's unbeaten string for the year in the low barricades.

The masterful Snyder hurdlers also finished 1-2 in the "highs," with Bynum bringing home the bacon in a time of 1:51 and Taylor finishing second with a 1:54. Jimmy Wilson also picked up points in that event with a fifth-place finish.

The other outright Tiger victory of the day was in the 220-yard dash, with Hardin winning it in a time of 23.0.

Weightman Craig Stokes came out of it all feeling a little like the proverbial bridesmaid, but his feelings were surely salvaged when it became known that he had qualified for regional in three separate events—all by virtue of having placed second in each.

He missed out on a "first" in the discus by a mere three inches, and a tie for that runner-up finishes in both the shot put and broad jump.

Other Tigers qualifying for the regional meet of April 11, fact the beginning of the preliminary runnings was held up for approximately an hour in order to effect the running condition of the track.

A portable blower was recruited to help dry out one 20-yard strip of pure goo that would have proved hazardous had it not been worked on.

In the junior division of competition, Brownfield staved off a determined Travis Blue Devil bid for victory to take the title with 110 points. Travis finished second with 94 1-3 points—sixth in three of his performers setting records—while Lamar Junior High skipped to a third-place finish with 78 total points.

David Cadena streaked to a 10.4 second finish in the 100-yard dash for one record—coming about in the morning's preliminaries. Steve McMahon established another when he cleared the bar at 5 feet 7 inches in winning the high jump. The other came about in the pole vault, when Jackie Rice soared to a height of 11 feet even in winning that event.

Cadena went on to win the 100-yard dash during the afternoon with a fine 10.5 and chipped in with a 24.8 in the 220 for another first to reign as a two-time winner.

Coach Jim Stehly's victorious Tigers have one more meet to go before the regional carnival. They will be sharpening up this coming week by taking part in the Andrews Relays.

Lescoulie Figures His Deal Is Good

By CYNTHIA LOWRY.
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Lescoulie, the irrepressible fresh guy on NBC's "Today Show," figures he has everything going for him on that early morning show.
"At that time of day, the audience is closer to you," he says. "A lot of people watch the show while they're shaving or having their first cup of coffee and they see a fellow who is shaved, has had breakfast, is dressed in a fresh shirt and pressed clothes."
"And they think there's something basically honest about a man who gets up early in the morning — that's part of the American psychology. After all, nobody ever gets mad at the milkman."
Lescoulie is a fresh-faced, tall, blond fellow with a wild off-beat sense of humor and inborn irreverence whose yeasty comment-outlines saves the program from disastrous monotony.
"I've been on the show most of the time for 11 years," says Jack thoughtfully. "But it took the about a year, and a half to get used to Dave Garroway, understand his reactions and timing. Then I really could cut loose with some comedy. After that, it was marvelous — he'd play along absolutely straight and it would work out fine."
"I'm still studying my timing with Hugh Downs and Pat Fontaine, two of the other regulars on the show. We've only been together since September, and it takes time. Right now the only one I've confidence in is Frank Blair — we've worked together a long time."

Lescoulie, under contract to NBC, was pulled off the program after nine years and was assigned, last season, to an educational series for children, "I, 2, 3-Go!"
"We worked hard. We turned out 40 thought-provoking shows," he said. "But no matter what we did, we didn't get any kind of an audience — those educational things don't."

Meanwhile, back on "Today," Lescoulie's incisive sports reports and commentary were easily the best. When he turned up among the guests for an anniversary program, vice president responded with 15-second letters.
"Very funny, then," Jack was back on his feet at 4 a.m., good-natured and a great public rejoinder.

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Who's going to win the Academy Awards Monday night?

That is Hollywood's main topic for the 35th time as the movie capital prepares for its annual spate of award-giving.

The hopefuls and the hopeless will be gathering for the big to-do Monday, at the Civic Auditorium in Santa Monica, Hollywood still being unable to find a big enough hall in its own environs.

The matter of predicting the winners has become a sport from Las Vegas to Lhasa and constitutes a yearly headache for this observer at the Hollywood scene.

This year I have persuaded two congenial Oscar winners to share that headache.

The co-handicappers are Dean Jagger ("12 O'Clock High," 1949) and Karl Malden ("A Streetcar Named Desire," 1951). Both are astute observers of local customs and prejudices.

The meeting place was fitting: the Beverly Hills Biltmore, its walls decorated with portraits of the major Oscar winners since the whole award business began in 1927. I read the nominees, the top six categories and asked for their choices for the winners, based not necessarily on their own preferences, but how they think the voting will go. Here are their tape-recorded replies.

Best Picture — "Lawrence of Arabia." "The Longest Day." "The Music Man." "Mutiny on the Bounty." "To Kill a Mockingbird."

Malden: "I'll tell you first which one I wish would get the award. This goes against the trend of pictures costing $8, 12 and 20 million. I would like to see 'Mockingbird' win. It is the kind of picture I believe in — done simply and sensibly at a reasonable cost."

Jagger: But do you think it will win?

Malden: If we have to get down to the horse race, No. 1 I think it will be "Lawrence of Arabia."

Jagger: As long as you have expressed an opinion, Karl, I'll tell you mine. I wish "Music Man" would win. I know a lot of people thought it was corny, but I was moved by it, especially in that wonderful scene in which the raggedy boys were transformed into a smart-looking band.

Malden: But do you think it's going to win?

Jagger: No. I think it will be "Lawrence of Arabia."

Best Actor — Burt Lancaster, "Birdman of Alcatraz"; Jack Lemmon, "Days of Wine and Roses"; Marcello Mastroianni, "Divorce, Italian Style"; Peter O'Toole, "Lawrence of Arabia"; Gregory Peck, "To Kill a Mockingbird."

Jagger: The winner is Jack won as star, though he did get it for support. Greg Peck has been on five times and hasn't won. Therefore I think it's between those two. If "Lawrence" wins a lot of awards, it might go to O'Toole, because often the awards do pile up for one picture. But my choice is Lemmon. Jack has proved himself a wonderful comedian, nominated four times and hasn't the beginning of his coming into his own in our business.

Best Actress — Anne Bancroft, "The Miracle Worker"; Bette Davis, "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?"; Katharine Hepburn, "Long Day's Journey Into Night"; Geraldine Page, "Sweet Bird of Youth"; Lee Remick, "Days of Wine and Roses."

Malden: This is tough, because I think it's harder for an actor to judge an actress' work. But I think it is close between Geraldine Page and Bette Davis. Bette is the sentimental favorite, everybody loves the fact that she came back where she belongs in the industry. She is the great lady of films.

Jagger: You're talking around the point, Karl.

Malden: I am? Yes, I guess I am. All right, I must admit that it's a toss-up. But if I have to choose — Geraldine Page. Don't forget that New York bloc of votes.

Jagger: I think the winner is Anne Bancroft. She's a great find.

Best supporting actor — Ed Begley, "Sweet Bird of Youth"; Victor Buono, "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?"; Telly Savalas, "Bird Man of Alcatraz"; Omar Sharif, "Lawrence of Arabia"; Terence Stamp, "Billy Budd."

Jagger: I'd love to see Ed Begley win, but I think it will be that chap in "Lawrence of Arabia."

Malden: I say Telly Savalas. I saw him work. I thought he was brilliant, and a charming fellow.

Best supporting actress — Mary Badham, "To Kill a Mockingbird"; Patty Duke, "The Miracle Worker"; Shirley Knight, "Sweet Bird of Youth"; Angela Lansbury, "The Manchurian Candidate"; Thelma Ritter, "Bird Man of Alcatraz."

Malden: Children have never won, right?

Jagger: No, although they have been given special awards.

Malden: Okay. Then I pick Angela Lansbury. A brilliant performance.

9:00 CBS "Candid Camera." Dr. Ben is shown in conversation with people on the street and when he suddenly flies away, they stare after him in bewilderment. The camera also records the expressions of youngsters as they try to put on their socks and again as they try to listen to their hearts beats through a stethoscope.

2:30 NBC "Opera Company" presents part two of "Bach's St. Matthew Passion. Alfred Wallenstein conducts and Judith Raskin, Laureen Forester, Donald Gramm, Mallory Walker, John McCullum, Lee Cass, Joan Boylen, David Glaszworthy, Patrick and Robert Park are the soloists. COLOR.

3:00 CBS "Masters Golf Tournament" comes to a climax during this hour from the Augusta National Golf Club. In case of a play-off, CBS will cover that play Monday afternoon.

5:00 CBS "Twentieth Century" concludes the two-part report on "Ethiopia: The Lion and the Cross." In today's segment, Emperor Haile Selassie grants a rare interview, part of which is in English.

6:30 NBC "Walt Disney" presents part one of "When Knights Rode Waves in Fluxus," a tale of romance and adventure set in 16th Century England, and starring Glenis Johns and Richard Todd. COLOR.

7:00 CBS "Ed Sullivan" hosts his satirical variety show with comedians Jack Carter and Bill Dana and vocalists Frankie Avalon and Anita Gold.

7:30 NBC "Car 55" has the story in which a hard-core wants to become a prize fighter but fears he will lose his gentleness. Shari Lewis, Rocky Graziano and Sugar Ray Robinson are guest stars.

8:00 CBS "The Real McCoy's" Grandpa McCoy promises to turn off the devastating powers of the curse of the McCoy's on George MacMichael when George casts a dissenting vote against Grandpa for a lodge office.

8:30 NBC "Bonanza" Family devotion and a woman's realization that East and West cannot meet prevent Adam Cartwright from leaving the Ponderosa for married life in Philadelphia. Carolyn Kerner and Brendan Dillon are seen. COLOR.

Acacia Study Club Presents Check, Grades Boys Essays

The Acacia Study Club held their meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Boys' Club and presented Mr. Herb Barnett with a check for $210.00. The check represented proceeds from the recent Mardi Gras Ball given as a benefit for the Boys' Club. The Acacia Club's yearly project.

During the meeting Mr. Barnett asked members of the Acacia Club to grade essay papers written by the boys in "Why I Like My Boys' Club." Each boy was asked to submit an essay on the subject in connection with National Boys' Club Week held April 1 through 7th.

The following essays were judged winners in their various age groups. Winners were presented gifts Wednesday evening at special activities.

The reason I like the Boys' Club is because it is a place to have fun and work too. The Boys' Club helps to keep kids out of trouble. The Boys' Club is a place for kids who want to learn games, puzzles, and many other things. Another reason is because it has tournaments to test your skills, and it always has fun play in all games and tournaments. It has good directors and helpers. The Boys' Club gives a boy a good path to follow as he grows up to a man's average. The people who represent the Boys' Club are people who care for boys who roam the streets, and they help them to have fun and enjoy the club. They teach the boys to respect older people and their rights. The boys who join has rules to follow and other boys set a good example for the younger boys. And it helps the boys to become somebody. I like it because you can help the Boys' Club by being a boy to set examples for others.

20th Century Club Visits Museum

The Twentieth Century Study Club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Frances Wherry.

Mrs. John Hanblen, president, presided. Barbara Vandecamp, federation coordinator, reported that she had enjoyed a TV program in which Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was speaking to a group of Texas Tech girls in Lubbock.

Mrs. Guy Stoker gave the thought for the day. Members visited the American Heritage Museum at 308 East Twenty-fifth Street where they enjoyed the many relics of yesterday displayed by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Edd Schaefer, owners and managers.

As one enters the museum and is greeted by the mass display of bottles and jars, a wave of nostalgia enters also and follows through the tour. One views antique lamps, guns, feathered fans and pieces of furniture that caused many a woman to inquire if this or that piece is for sale. There is one section devoted to the country store of yesteryear. There are pieces of driftwood that

The reason I like my Boys' Club is when I go there, there will be something for me to do, and many of my friends are there.

This summer we will go to the Boys' Club camp out at J. B. Thomas. We will fish and do things we couldn't do at home. And another reason I like our Boys' Club is there are many games to play, pool, pocket billiard, ping pong and many more, or if I have nothing better to do I can go and watch TV or go in the gym and play games or go on the library and play games or read books. We have a shop where you can make many things. And when I or any other boy goes to the Boys' Club we don't go just to play but to learn things that we never knew before. And many boys that are good at things become boys of the month. Yes, and everybody else like the Boys' Club for different reasons.

LIBRARY DISPLAY—Mrs. Alfred McGlaun is shown with a display she has prepared for the Scurry County Library. Every item in the group uses hands as its main interest or theme. Mrs. McGlaun said she has had an interest in hands for many years, and has collected these examples of moulded or sculptured hands over a number of years. Mrs. McGlaun also enjoys painting hands, which are thought by many artists to be the most difficult part of the body to paint well.

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the householder.
No matter how large a kitchen is, the woman of the house can always use another cabinet or two. There's always room where extra cabinets can be built — over the sink or the refrigerator or on an unoccupied wall. If the new cabinet will not be too handy, rearrange the foods and other kitchen materials so that those not used too often will be stored in the addition.

One of the innovations being tested in experimental houses is a kitchen counter top of adjustable heights.
The annual production of ceramic tile in the United States 12 years ago amounted to 125 million square feet. Industry authority Maurice Parker estimates that the 1963 production will reach 250 million square feet or double the production of 1951.

In a low-ceilinged room, vertical placement of wood panels will give an impression of greater ceiling height.

A revived interest in two-story homes has caused builders to look into new techniques that will give such houses more of a horizontal look. One such modification extends planters for several feet beyond the sides of the house.

Intensive efforts are being made to simplify lumber grades and sizes. A subcommittee of the American Lumber Standards Committee has recommended, among other things, that "dry" lumber be defined as lumber containing 19 percent maximum moisture content.

It is a matter of record that disagreements over comparatively minor matters hold up many house sales at the last moment. One way to avoid this is for the seller to make a complete list of all items that are to be included in the sale. The list should be made up before the house is placed on the market. Carbons of it should be given to real estate brokers or any prospective purchasers.

Knots in wood sometimes will bleed through a new paint finish within a few months. This can be prevented by filling any small holes in the knot with wood putty, sanding them smooth after hardening and then applying a knot sealer or shellac before painting.
QUESTION: We have seen to have enough storage space and would like to make one of those roll-unders which slide under the bed. Can you give us some advice, remembering that none of us has any particular woodworking skill, although we have made a few small things?

ANSWER: The simplest type of roll-under is nothing more than a flat wooden box with casters on it. The one word of caution we can give is this: in making the measurements, be sure to allow sufficient room for the casters. Let's say the distance between your floor and the bottom of the bed is 10 inches.

You can't make the roll-under 10 inches or even 9 inches until you find out how high the casters are. Therefore, be sure to purchase the casters before you start the project. Get the swivel type with plates which can be attached to a flat surface. In preparing the measurements for the roll-under, you then will know how much room to allow for the casters.

The roll-under can be made with or without a top, depending on how important it is to keep the contents dust-free. The top can be hinged on very easily.

We'd suggest a sliding top set in grooves if not for your warning. Attach a handle of some kind to the front of the roll-under so that it can be pulled out easily.

Napoleon In A Popular History

BONAPARTE IN EGYPT. By J. Christopher Herold.

Herold's wit, skill and eye for color and drama make this account of Napoleon's famed Egyptian venture as entertaining as the best of the historical fiction of the day.

Scholarship history texts emphasize the futility of the expedition—the destruction of the French fleet by the English and the loss of more than half of Napoleon's 20,000 men in the plague-ridden, hostile land of the Nile — and

A&M CLUB SWEETHEART — Mrs. Frank Strom, 2707 Thirty-sixth and a senior at the University of Texas, has been elected sweetheart of the Snyder A&M Hometown Club. Mrs. Strom was sponsored by the Snyder, A&M Exes Club and was a duchess to the Cotton Pageant and Ball held Saturday night on the A&M campus. Her escort was Jimmy Moseley, son of Mrs. Ruby Anderson and a senior at A&M.

Herold does not neglect this side of the story.

Yet he captures the grandeur and sees the merit of the costly three-year attempt to make French subjects of the Egyptians and to open the East to French exploitation and domination.

Those who did come back "had memories to last them for a lifetime," Herold writes. "They could tell of incredible privations, of men tramping each other to death for a few drops of water, of battles fought in distant places against Mamelukes, Arabs, Turks, Englishmen and embattled peasants, of fabulous booty, of massacres and rape of strange lands, and sights — the Pyramids, the Sphinx, the Cataracts of the Nile, the holy places of Palestine."

Of courage and endurance, of greed and selfishness, of discouragement and despair.

One of the things that makes the book more than worthy of the label "popular history" is Herold's refreshingly irreverent view of many of the principals. For example, his respect for Napoleon's abilities doesn't keep him from describing the pitiful "starving Bonaparte" as having "the face of an eagle and the hairdo of a spaniel" or from noting Napoleon's habit of comparing himself with such people as Caesar and Alexander the Great.

The book is, understandably, almost as much a biography of Bonaparte as an account of the Egyptian campaign, and while it is not as detailed as many works on Napoleon, it is more readable than most.

It also gives fascinating accounts of the scientific side of the expedition — the excavation of the mammoth ruins of Karnak and Luxor, the study of the Rosetta Stone and the scholarly delving into Islamic and Arabic.

The Philippines now has a population of 27,500,000, an increase of more than 9,000,000 since the end of the war.

Coldness Varies In Refrigerator Drawers

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A drawer style refrigerator will be on the market soon. But the idea isn't brand new.

Originally conceived by Frank Lloyd Wright and designed and manufactured by Sidney Spielman, it has been serving a housing development in New York for 18 years.

"When Wright asked me to do it, I thought it was a wonderful idea. But there were so many problems involved in building and installing them that I was on the verge of bankruptcy," Spielman says in recalling that original venture.

But now he has improved and will produce the refrigerator, having profited by the experiences of people who have used the first model.

"I returned to see how they liked it and to observe their recommendations. What they needed was a larger-than-six-cubic-foot model and more storage space for meat and general items," he says.

The new model has four drawers and an ice-cube compartment. Spielman explains — two main drawers and two auxiliaries. There will be an area for cheese, butter and tall bottles, a vegetable bin, meat bin, a freezer section and another compartment for general use.

Each unit has its own temperature. An egg may be kept indefinitely, Spielman claims, by setting the temperature to a proper degree. Fruit temperatures are tricky and must be controlled. Meat may be kept a year and a half, he says, at a temperature of from zero to 5 degrees.

The refrigerator will be made in 10, 12 and 14 cubic-foot sizes. They'll be less than three-foot square, about counter height. New developments in insulation make it possible to build units smaller.

But there is more to building new equipment than just making a pretty design and manufacturing it. Spielman points out. He knows women wonder why more progress isn't made in the home appliance field.

"Many ideas sound dreamy but are practical. A wall-type, cupboard-like refrigerator unit may sound chic and modern but America's average woman at 5 feet 4 inches would have to climb a step ladder to reach it. Engineers often think ideas are great, but it takes time to iron out wrinkles. Every product must be field-tested," he says.

Spielman is known for his compact kitchens, a line of refrigerators combined with sinks and draw-pull type burners, and ice cube makers used in playrooms. One unit even has a sink, range, oven and refrigerator in a 48-inch width.

"When a new hotel in New York ordered 2,631 automatic ice cube makers for every bathroom at more than a half-million dollars, I was puzzled. But as it turned out they had surveyed their hotel chain, finding out that 70 percent of their guests call for ice between 6 and 7:30 in the evening. There just aren't that many bell-hops to go around or facilities to accommodate so many rooms. Then too, people object to waiting for the ice and having to tip the boy for refill."

The ice cube makers are automatic, attached to a water connection, he says, so that maids do not have to refill them. Spielman visualizes the day when we will have two refrigerators, one in the food area, and another in the entertainment area.

"But these are no need for me in this business unless we come up with something unique," says Spielman, president of the Acme Co. "We cannot compete with big companies, and we have no desire to sell anything by improving on a handle or adding a little chrome to make last year's model obsolete."

Much of his work is custom order, such as refrigerators designed for Jean Paul Getty, who wanted some that would work at his plant on the Gulf of Persia where it is 119 degrees.

Spielman also has just solved the noise problem of a night-table refrigerator used between two beds at resorts.

B. Caldwell, V. L. Adams Vows Read

In a double ring ceremony on March 18, Barbara Norene Caldwell and Vernon Lee Adams were united in marriage.

The vows were exchanged in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Caldwell, 312 Thirtieth Street. Dr. Jimmie Nelson, pastor of the Colonial Hill Baptist Church, officiated.

The bride wore an imported Irish linen suit of beige, accented by bone accessories. She carried an arrangement of white gardenia, complimented by feathered mums, atop a white Bible. The bride carried out the traditional theme of something old, something new, something borrowed, and something blue. In her shoe was a penny minted the year of her birth.

For going away the bride chose a beige cotton brocade dress with matching accessories.

Mrs. Jimmie Merrill of Lubbock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

Best man was Ray Piro of Dyess Air Force Base.

The reception was held in the home following the ceremony. Miss Sandy Taylor of Abilene served the three-tiered white wedding cake and Miss Patsy Lathrop, also of Abilene, ladled punch.

Following a short wedding trip to points south, the couple are at home at 1534 South Twelfth, Abilene.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and is employed by Castle and Castle Insurance Co. in Abilene. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Adams of East St. Louis, Ill., and is presently stationed at Dyess Air Force Base.

Lions Must Go Free

FOREVER FREE. By Joyce Adamson.

The world — or at least a fairly large portion of it — learned about Elsa in "Born Free" and about Elsa's cubs in "Living Free."

For younger readers there also is an adaptation, "Elsa: The Story of a Lioness."

This is the final volume in Mrs. Adamson's chronicles of a lioness raised by hand, her return to the wild, her three cubs, her death, struggle to save the cubs.

The book begins with a dilemma that the half-wild, half-tame cub, Elsa, maintains her contacts with Joy and George Adamson, who have to be captured and transported to a remote area.

When Elsa's death intervenes, an even greater problem is raised for herself until they are about 2 years old, and the cubs are only about half that age.

So the Adamsons are forced to become foster parents to three, four-year-olds, Gopa and Little Elsa. For a time it appears the cubs are going to become feral.

It is a development that might turn out well or ill. But through the affectionate Joseph, the cubs renew their contacts with the game warden and his wife.

The suspense centers around the question of whether the Adamsons will be able to capture and transport the cubs before the government deadline, and condition them to a completely free life.

The other volumes were greatly appealing animal stories. This one impresses the reader with the remarkable qualities of the lioness, and the human qualities of the Adamsons, who undergo a physical hardship, anxious planning and grueling work in their efforts to reach their goal.

Some 1,600 showers a year fall on the Caribbean National Forest in Puerto Rico. Most showers last only 20 minutes. The rainfall averages 180 inches a year.

Another engaged couple do not see eye to eye on a marriage date. "I want to be married in June on the same date that my parents were married. My fiancé wants to be married in August, so he can take a September vacation. It's June, but I suspect that he doesn't want to be married on the day I've chosen. Or perhaps his parents don't like it because it is my parents' anniversary. I want to be a more romantic month for a wedding anyway. Should I insist on a June date?"

Love That Cat

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Love me, love my cat, is the challenge put to one 18-year-old by her 20-year-old husband.

"I have been married six months and I have spent more time coping with my husband's cat than I have with anything in the house," she writes.

She writes, "I have owned the cat six years, and is very devoted to it, and has permitted it all sorts of privileges. When we have company, it will walk across the coffee table and pick out the snacks it wants."

"It leaves hair on the furniture, so everyone must be brushed before leaving our house. The cat sleeps on the foot of our bed and leaves its long hairs everywhere, and I must vacuum the blanket every day. My husband says that I should learn to like the cat, instead of being a cat hater, which I'm not. I feel like driving some where with the cat and ditching it, but I think it will come back and haunt me."

It is much easier to be friends with an animal than its enemy, especially a cat, who probably suspects you don't like it. You should be thinking of it as "our cat," rather than "his cat," and once you make it your pet too, you can make some changes. Pet and pamper it occasionally, and put it in your bed, and put it in your room. You may not even have to put the cat in it as he is so quick to spot soft places. When the cat jumps up on the coffee table, pick it up gently and carry it to the floor, making a "fiddle" to it after, and offering it to him. Put a cloth over any cushions that may be kept under the cushion for emergency use. You could designate one chair and leave the cloth on it, except when company comes. Unlike dogs, cats are easily trained to new situations, if they like you.

"My fiancé and I chipped in and bought a 16-ft. boat with outboard motor for use in the summer."

Try Bright, Light Lemon Pudding For Dessert

Most men rate lemon meringue right up there next to apple pie and chocolate cakes as an all-time favorite dessert. So it's good news that lemon meringue has been adapted to an easy pudding recipe.

This light, luscious pudding is the perfect finale for a light meal, because it is chock full of basic foods high in the "good for you" category, such as milk, eggs and rice. It can be varied by the addition of raisins or nutmeats to the filling.

As for the airy meringue, it has a touch of lemon, as does the pudding—just a teaspoonful of juice enough to give it the flavor.

The meringue is carefully out to the edge of the casserole, so it won't pull away while in the oven. Bake it for just 8 - 10 minutes, or until the meringue is browned.

LEMON MERINGUE PUDDING

Casserole, 5-cup 6-8 servings. Preheated 400 degrees oven.

2 1/2 cups milk

1/4 cup uncooked rice

1/4 teaspoon salt

3 egg yolks, slightly beaten

2 tablespoons lemon juice

1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind

2/3 cup sugar

2 egg whites

1 teaspoon lemon juice

6 tablespoons sugar

In a saucepan combine milk, rice and salt; bring to boil, stirring occasionally. Cover and cook over low heat until rice is tender (about 15 minutes).

In a bowl combine egg yolks, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, lemon rind and 2/3 cup sugar. Pour small amount of hot rice mixture into egg mixture; return all to pan. Place over direct heat to cook egg (about 2 minutes); stir constantly. Pour into casserole. In a bowl combine egg whites and 1 teaspoon lemon juice; beat until frothy. Continue beating and gradually add 6 tablespoons sugar until stiff peaks are formed. Pile meringue over rice, spreading to the edge of the casserole. Bake 8-10 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool before serving.

AN END TO BUGLING. By Edmund G. Love.

From next June 28 to July 2 will occur the centennial of Gen. John Smith's cavalry strike toward what turned out to be the Battle of Gettysburg.

Reverse Integration Noted At Many American Colleges

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
Hundreds of white students today attend American educational institutions that were once all-Negro.

"Reverse" integration, it is called.

It has happened at many colleges and universities across the country, North and South.

To an overwhelming extent, students and faculty say it is working fine.

"The people here are no different than the people at any other college," said Linda Labig, a white senior at Ohio's Central State College, once solely Negro.

Similar patterns have developed at other previously Negro campuses—in Louisiana, Texas, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Missouri, the District of Columbia, Maryland and elsewhere.

The cordial reception accorded whites apparently came as a bit of a shock to a white Baptist missionary minister, the Rev. W. A. Monroe of Houston, Tex.

Accompanied by 25 placard-carrying members of his congregation, he appeared in 1958 at Texas Southern University, then an all-Negro college, to "show that integration is foolish" by trying to enroll. The school politely expelled him.

"He was surprised," a spokesman said. "He thought we would turn him down."

Such hospitality has marked the transition at most of the formerly all-Negro schools.

It has been "all very pleasant," said a spokesman for Tougaloo College, a white school in Jackson, Miss., which now includes two white girls and three white men in a student body that before was completely Negro.

"They participate in all the activities quite normally," the spokesman said. "There is no social strain." The college is operated by the Disciples of Christ and the United Church of Christ.

Dr. Wallace, who now is president of West Virginia State, said the relationship has been generally congenial.

"Indeed, many students, both Negro and white, have found their interracial experiences enlightening and uplifting. They testify that they have been freed from the bonds of enslavement to prejudice."

Although there have been exceptions—a few reluctant persons in our midst—he said the results generally have shown "that people of different racial identities can study and play together with benefit to all."

Random comments from students strike a similar note.

"The most outstanding impression of white students is the sincere, friendly, cooperative atmosphere displayed by faculty and students," said Michael Ungard, a white senior at formerly all-Negro Central State, Wilberforce, Ohio.

Racially biased individuals relapsed Central State to Jim Crow status in the past."

Says a white woman senior, Dorothy McMillan: "Attending a predominantly Negro college was a particular concern to me. My home is near. I have always had the greatest respect for the school and its personnel."

Miss Labig adds: "Students and faculty have made my college turn him down."

Although the Rev. Mr. Monroe soon withdrew, a small number of other whites now are enrolled, the number uncertain because no labs are kept on race.

For many white students, the new campus atmosphere has provided "the first social contacts with Negroes," said Dr. Wallace of West Virginia State. "The relationship has been generally congenial."

"One of its intentions is to inspire accuracy and eliminate error in the recitation of important dates and events in the history of the industries which provide the United States with 73.7 per cent and the world with almost 90 per cent of their respective energy requirements," Clark says in the book's introduction.

The book reports the industry's first recorded dry hole, a 500-foot test well, drilled in 1860, off the shore of Lake Erie.

This was nearly 70 years before the Oct. 5, 1930, discovery of the East Texas field, largest in the Western Hemisphere and larger than the next 20 U.S. fields combined.

Life is very pleasant and beneficial. It is my heart's desire to convince the white people to treat the Negro people as they have treated me—with respect and understanding."

In Maryland, at least four formerly all-Negro colleges now have a white minority in the student bodies: 23 out of 367 students at Maryland State; 25 out of 366 students at Bowie State Teachers; an untold number at Morgan State College, where total enrollment is 2,500. Facilities also include some dorms.

No does the faculty at Coppin State Teachers in Baltimore. However, Louis E. Williams, 30, a senior now in the last of his four years there, remains the only white among 357 students.

Some time ago, he observed: "When I enrolled, I hoped other white students would follow and the barriers would fall. Ten or 20 would have been good. Unfortunately this didn't happen."

When he first entered the college, he said, some students were dubious about him, surmising he was a radical or something, and took bets he wouldn't stay, but by the end of the first semester he was fully accepted.

Since then, he has served as a class officer, participated with the college choir and debating team, was elected Coppin's representative to the Eastern States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Oil History Covered In Unique Book

By MAX R. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—A unique book that crams 7,962 years of oil and gas history into 117 pages is being published Monday.

The compact "chronological history of the Petroleum and Natural Gas Industries" is backed by eight years of research that cost $100,000.

The 600 entries trace the history of the two industries from 6000 B.C. through 1962.

Most entries require five lines or less of copy but each records a specific date or year for an event of development significant to the history of the industries.

Subjects range from exploration and production to legislation, taxation, regulation and judicial decisions.

The first entry says Noah smeared bitumen asphalt on the inside and outside of his ark about 4000 B.C. The final entry reports the 1962 development of a down-hole television system which made it possible to observe mechanical conditions thousands of feet below the earth's surface.

James Clark, author of the $30 book, says the chronological history was written to answer day to day questions which plague the researcher, writer, attorney, lawmaker, scholar, executive, and layman.

One of its intentions is to inspire accuracy and eliminate error in the recitation of important dates and events in the history of the industries which provide the United States with 73.7 per cent and the world with almost 90 per cent of their respective energy requirements," Clark says in the book's introduction.

The book reports the industry's first recorded dry hole, a 500-foot test well, drilled in 1860, off the shore of Lake Erie.

This was nearly 70 years before the Oct. 5, 1930, discovery of the East Texas field, largest in the Western Hemisphere and larger than the next 20 U.S. fields combined.

Junior Editors Quiz on DINOSAURS

QUESTION: What were the last dinosaurs to disappear?

ANSWER: About 200 million years ago, in the Triassic Period, much of the land was flat, covered with warm inland seas, swamps and marshes. Water plants were abundant, giving plant-eating reptiles a fine food supply. Carnivorous, or flesh-eating reptiles, could prey upon the plant-eaters. Starting with such ancestors as Thecodont (see picture), the dinosaurs rapidly developed. Thecodont was only three feet long; contrast him with the enormous dinosaur to the right, shown compared in size to a man (there were no men in those days, according to scientists).

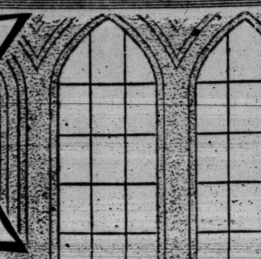

During the Cretaceous Period the climate changed. Mountains rose, draining off seas and swamps; it became much colder. New plants grew, which plant-eating dinosaurs could not use for food. As they vanished, the flesh eaters, deprived of their food, vanished also. The last group of dinosaurs to appear were the Ceratopsians, the biggest of which, Triceratops, we illustrated. These survived for awhile—apparently because their head shields preserved them from attacks from such monsters as Tyrannosaurus (right)—but also vanished in the end.

FOR YOU TO DO: Scientists say that although there were no men, there were small, warm-blooded mammals in those ancient days and that these may have helped to exterminate the dinosaurs. Can you figure out what might have happened? (A hint: the dinosaurs laid eggs.)

(Editor H. Corn of Mount Holly, N. J., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

An empty cross on a lonely hill.
What a story it tells! The story of God's plan of human redemption. A story packed with all the drama of human emotion and divine sacrifice. What do you see when you look at the empty cross? Can you see the world's sin which made necessary this cross? Do you see the Christ of Calvary who died there for you? Do you see the broken heart of your Heavenly Father, who loves you even when you are all but impossible? Go to church Sunday... take another look at the empty cross and be real glad that the love of God is broader than the measure of man's mind.
That cross was made empty for you.
