Decorated profusely with southern smilax and with two floors crowded with the latest and smartest models of 1931 automobiles, the automobile show building at Lamar and Sixth was ready Wednesday night for the annual exhibition of the Wichita Falls Automotive association which will open to the public at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Exhibitors had completed their booths and automobile firms had all their cars on the floor early Wednesday evening. The spacious showroom was made very attractive and the showing of cars was far greater than was anticipated by the officials, who were predicting that the public would not only pronounce the show the greatest ever held but that attendance will establish a record.

Convenient Location

The show building is located in the downtown district. The building is one of the largest in Wichita Falls and is fireproof. So many have the exhibitors become that it was necessary to add all the space on the first floor. The second floor is filled to its capacity and it is on this floor that the musical programs will be rendered each afternoon and evening. The show will last through Saturday.

The first event of the opening day is a luncheon at the Wichita club, at which out-of-town automobile dealers will be entertained. For this occasion a splendid program has been prepared. Featured on the program is a dance by Miss Virginia Hampson, vocal selection by Mrs. Victor B. Lowrey and the address of Nathan Adams, president of the First National bank of Dallas.

President D. L. Fritz stated Tuesday night that a large attendance of dealers is expected. Dealers from over Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma have been invited for the luncheon.

Street Parade 2 o'Clock

The show will be opened by a street parade led by a band. The parade is in charge of Dan Boone. In this event will be shown a number of new cars which will not be shown in the exhibition building. The parade will pass through the downtown section and end at the exhibition building.

The entertainment program both afternoon and evenings will be furnished by the orchestra from station KGKO. The program will be broadcast. It is also planned to give special entertainment numbers each afternoon and evening.

A feature exhibit at the show is that of the Wichita Falls Motor company, manufacturers of the famous Wichita-Six motor trucks. The factory has three large trucks in the booth. On one chassis is mounted a tank of several hundred gallons capacity, and connected with the truck a tank trailer of like capacity. The job is a good one and one that will bring surprise to hundreds of people, who do not know that such equipment

PRICE-FIXING OF OIL POINTED TO BY KANSAS MAN

Spread Between Petroleum And Gasoline Cited As Evidence

OPINION IS AWAITED

Stimson to Decide Effect Of Embargo Bill On U. S. Treaties

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—Lack of any economic relationship between the prices of petroleum and gasoline was given to the house commerce committee today as evidence that the price of crude oil is fixed.

A. S. Ritchie, independent oil producer of Wichita, Kan., added to this statement that community of interest between large oil producing, pipe line, refining and marketing companies created a condition favorable to the price-fixing of crude oil at the field.

Ritchie appeared in behalf of the Hoch bill to separate pipe lines from other branches of the oil industry. It was the second day of hearings on the pipe line measure before the commerce committee. They will be continued Friday.

Opinion Awaited

Meanwhile, the ways and means committee awaited an opinion from Secretary of State Stimson on the Capper-Garber bill to limit oil imports. Stimson was asked the effect of such legislation on existing treaties.

Chairman Hawley said the committee probably would vote on the 16,000,000-barrel limitation bill Friday or Saturday.

Ritchie told the commerce committee he thought the house bill would stimulate competition among crude oil buyers. Minimum consignments of more than 10,000 barrels

W. C. Curlee Loses Suit Against Water Districts

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Feb. 18.—W. C. Curlee, Wichita county, cannot recover damages for eight cows that died from eating Johnson grass and five that drowned in irrigation ditches, each valued at $360, the supreme court held Wednesday.

The court affirmed the action of the trial court that dismissed his case against Wichita County Water Improvement Districts one and two for the recovery. It reversed the civil appeals court that had ordered a retrial of the case.

The supreme court said Curlee's cattle were trespassers, and that the water districts had no duty of fencing rights of way to their irrigation ditches.

Spain Expects Peace Under New Government

MADRID, Feb. 18. (AP)—Spain tonight had a new government, peacefully formed, and was looking forward to a period of calm after the political turmoil of the last five days.

Admiral Juan Bautista Aznar, staunch Royalist and political neutral, heads the ministry formed today by King Alfonso in a successful effort to head off another military dictatorship like that of Miguel Primo de Rivera.

The king called for no participation by Socialist and Republican elements, and their attitude remained problematical tonight. The public generally, however, seemed to be waiting quietly until the program and policies of the new government could be formulated and put into effect.

AUTOS INJURED AND KILLED MILLION PEOPLE

MORE than fifty thousand people were killed while a million auto casualties took place in the United States during 1930. Statistics show many of these casualties were due to defects in motor vehicles caused by improper maintenance and undue wear. Some of these automobiles were purchased through Want Ads which appeared in this newspaper, but practically none were serviced by those Want Ad advertisers who continuously offer parts, accessories and dependable repair service through Classified Want Ad columns. The public should patronize these service organizations extensively for safety.

Wichita Girl, 3, Greets Noted Pianist Where Notables Fail

Red Apple Wins Kiss For Child

Paderewski Succumbs To Baby's Charm; Great Crowd Expected To Hear Farewell Concert

Paderewski couldn't be seen.

Reception committees, public officials and prominent musicians were kept out of the private car in which he lives by a diligent retinue of servants and attendants who greeted all visitors with "I'm sorry, but you can't see him now."

Be that as it may, one young Wichita Falls flapper came, saw and conquered the shy, reserved old master. The shaggy grey head that had nodded stiffly at those who rushed forward to greet him every time he left the car was bowed in grave obeisance to a wide-eyed, adoring and adorable little charmer Wednesday afternoon, when 3-year-old Martha Anne Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne J. Holmes, calmly crashed the un-crashable gate, walking past protesting cooks, valets, private secretaries and managers to the room where Mr. Paderewski was eating his lunch, and presented him with a big red apple that she had bought for him.

Not only that, but Martha Anne was kissed by the famous pianist—and kissed quite thoroughly, according to her own version of the incident.

Buys Apple for Master

Despite the protests of her mother that she would not be allowed to see Paderewski, Martha Anne had begged to "just see the train" and was standing near it with her mother about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, her eyes fixed on the door.

Her chubby feet were planted far apart, the apple that she had bought with her own penny-bank savings was clasped tightly in her hands, and her eyes never wandered far from the place where she expected to see Paderewski.

When Mrs. Holmes decided that it was time to go home, Martha Anne said, "Just a minute, mother," and climbed up the little stepladder into the back end of the train. The vigilant negro cook began his usual formula—"but you cain't see 'im now," but Martha Anne looked ahead and walked right on into the dining room, undaunted by the protests of the entire company.

When to Say "Thank You."

Her shyness in the presence of the artist himself was soon dispelled when Paderewski began to ask her questions. "I talked to him," she told her mother and other friends afterwards. "I said 'sank you' to him."

"When did you say thank you?" she was asked.

She hung her head. "When he kissed me," was the reply. She later explained how many times she was kissed by holding up four fingers, four more fingers, and finally both hands.

Before she left the train, Paderewski's secretary rushed to find her and hand her a box of sweets that had been purchased by the pianist himself in Paris . . . an ex-

DAVIS TO LEAD POWER PROBE

One Time Demo Nominee Selected by Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—The senate will be represented by John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, in its court contest with President Hoover over the right of Chairman Smith of the power commission to his office.

Davis will come to Washington in a few days to open the unprecedented legal proceedings which are expected to add another chapter in the history of constitutional clashes between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

Selection of Davis assures a spectacular court test with the former presidential candidate on one side and possibly Attorney General Mitchell on the other. The final decision probably will be rendered by the supreme court.

Davis was chosen by a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee composed of Senators Norris, Republican, Nebraska; Walsh, Democrat, Montana, and Steiwer, Republican, Oregon. Walsh, the leader of the senate's contest with

Well Laid Extortion Plot Strikes Snag When Banker Calls Help

KERRVILLE, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—The best-laid plans of a would-be extortionist had gone agley tonight as police here were holding a man accused of having obtained $100 from L. A. Schreiner, prominent Kerrville banker and wool buyer, as "first payment" on a demand for $3,000.

Schreiner received a printed letter on Feb. 10 demanding that the $3,000 be left at a designated spot in an alley between the Schreiner wool warehouse and the Schreiner store. He was threatened with injury if he failed to comply. The letter was signed "Labor."

The banker went to San Antonio Feb. 13 and conferred with Police Commissioner William Wright, at whose instance "Rich" Tucker, San Antonio city detective, was assigned to the case. "The Deacon," as Tucker is known to his fellow detectives, returned to Kerrville with Schreiner.

The two placed a bogus package at the place designated by the letter but two negroes found it and picked it up. They were arrested and questioned but were found to have known nothing of the extortionist's demand and were released.

Schreiner received another letter Feb. 15, which reiterated the demand for $3,000 and the added threat that "it is a long distance from your home to the bank" and Mrs. Schreiner possibly would be injured. That missive also was signed "Labor."

Schreiner walked through the alley between the two buildings and dropped the envelope while two de-

50 GROWERS FORM MARKET ASSOCIATION

Shipment of Limited Amount of Produce Planned First Year

COMPACT APPROVED

Members Who Will 'Stand Hitched' Desired For Organization

Organization of the Wichita Valley Growers association, the chief purpose of which is to market irrigated truck products, was launched Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of about 50 truck growers at the Municipal auditorium.

Committee Reports

Those present approved the organization plan outlined by the committee and named a permanent organization committee to obtain signatures to the formal agreement. Perament organization is to be effected as soon as a sufficient number of signers have been obtained. A number of signatures were obtained at the meeting Wednesday. J. N. Sherrill, G. A. Remington, C. H. McDowell, J. F. Rupe and B. F. Greer are on the organization committee.

The temporary organization committee's report was read by the chairman, J. N. Sherrill. It calls for formation of the Wichita Valley Growers association, to be organized under the Capper-Volstead act.

Car Lot Shipments

The marketing plan submitted is a comprehensive one, covering many phases of truck marketing. Briefly, it contemplates handling a limited number of truck products, probably not over five, during the first season. Members raising these products would be required to enter into a rather stringent marketing agreement, the purpose being the sale of truck in straight or mixed carload lots. The plan is drawn in such a way that only a small membership is expected for the first year, the purpose being to start on a modest basis. Members of the temporary organization committee stressed the point that only those who were willing to "stand hitched" should come into the association at the start.

Numerous questions were asked by those present during the reading of the agreement, and all details were thoroughly gone over.

Another meeting will be called as soon as a sufficient number of signatures has been obtained.

Burns Sees Congress In $10,000,000,000 Class

Congress has been known for the last few years as a "four billion dollar congress," because budget expenditures have been between that amount and $5,000,000,000.

He accused the administration of failing to curb expenditures.

CITIES LAUNCH CAMPAIGN FOR LOWER RATES

BACK PETSCH BILL

Committee Named to Find Data on Operations In Recent Years

ABILENE, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—Recommendations that West Texas cities adopt forceful means in an attempt to obtain reduction in gas rates were adopted unanimously by official representatives of more than 30 towns in a meeting here today. The recommendations called for a permanent organization to keep the proposed program on the move.

Among the resolutions were recommendations that cities of the district endeavor to secure competition in the sale of distribution of natural gas; and that if this measure is not practicable, that cities band together for construction of their own pipe lines and take steps toward municipal ownership of distribution systems.

Legislation Urged

The body urged active support for the Petsch bill, pending before the legislature, calling for appointment of a fact-finding committee on utilities rates; and urged defeat of the Holbrook bill, providing for a state commission to fix utility rates, instead of municipal bodies. Recommendation also was given for support of the bill amending pipe line laws so that gas pipe line companies cannot own producing properties. This measure is favored by the Independent Petroleum association of Texas.

A committee of three—S. H. Bothwell, Sweetwater; John O. Turner, Hamlin, and W. E. Baxter, Santa Anna—was named to compile and submit reports of the last five years of gas companies filed with cities and of company reports filed with the state railroad commission.

Cities Hands Tied

Pardon Board Ruling Seals Doom Of Irene Schroeder and Her Lover

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 18. (UP)—Irene Schroeder, 22-year-old blonde with eyes of steel, will have her last opportunity to display the emotionless nerve that carried her through a dozen robberies and one murder, when she goes through the little green door to the death chair at Rockview penitentiary on the night of Feb. 23.

With her partner in crime and love, W. Glenn Dague, the state board of pardons ruled today, she must be executed for the slaying of State Trooper Brady Paul, who died in a gun battle with the pair following a holdup near Butler, Pa., on Dec. 29, 1929.

Pleas that Mrs. Schroeder, mother of a five-year-old boy, was moved by "an irresistible impulse" to commit crime; that she did not fire the fatal shot; that she is a woman—and no woman has been executed in Pennsylvania in 50 years—failed to move the pardon board which heard the last arguments for clemency today.

The history of Dague and Schroeder was as replete with thrilling incidents as any wild west story—and more realistically savage. Yet it began in the quiet little town of Benwood, W. Va., where Dague, an automobile salesman, was respected as a Sunday school teacher, husband and father of two children. Then he met the woman with whom he was to embark on a crazily murderous argosy of reckless adventure.

Together they served an apprenticeship in minor crime. Then came the holdup of a little grocery at Butler and conflict with the state police.

There was a battle in the darkness, with a bullet-torn automobile as a shield for the bandits. When it was over, Corporal Paul was dead and Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague were in flight.

Leaving a trail of brigandage behind them, the couple pursued their wild course through the Middle West until capture came in Arizona.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (INS)—After months of careful architectural effort and study, the magnificent National museum, of Washington, in which is displayed some of the country's priceless relics, has been saved from eventual collapse.

Scientists from the United States bureau of standards and the supervising architect's office of the treasury, working together, have by an unusual operation relieved certain eccentric stresses on the supports to the 6,000,000 pound dome of the museum, which endangered the structure. These have been relieved and the building is considered safe, it was stated today.

The National museum, one of the group of buildings of Smithsonian Institution, was completed in 1911, of modern classic architecture and construction with granite.

COLDS

Break Up in a Jiffy

This Quick Way

Feel Like A New Man Almost Before You Know It

People have found out that new-fangled ideas and notions don't break up colds. So millions have turned back to first principles and use what they know breaks one up in a jiffy. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to trifle with.

The thing to do is to Get Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon you'll start to feel like a new person. Things will loosen up, your head will clear; aching go—you'll be back on the job with a wallop.

Get Hill's now. It is a scientific formula made to do one thing well: to knock a cold—not to cure a thousand ailments. Get your money back if it doesn't work with twice the speed of anything else you've ever tried.

Mr. Frey arrived in Wichita Falls Tuesday morning to assist J. H. Johansen, manager of the Wichita Falls agency, in the Pierce-Arrow exhibit. The show is being held in the building occupied by the Pierce-Arrow company.

"It is a real pleasure to be back in my old home town," said Mr. Frey. "I was born and reared in Wichita Falls and have many friends here whom I always enjoy meeting. During the show I will be in our building at Lamar and Sixth streets and hope to meet many of them."

C.-C. to Maintain Auto Show Booth

An information booth will be maintained at the automobile show by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, according to the announcement Wednesday of J. L. Jackson Jr., president. The booth will be open during the entire three days of the exposition and various information will be dispensed, including facts about Wichita Falls and its environs, and highway and tourist information.

The booth's display will particularly call attention to the merits of the Southwest as a vacation center and as a land of scenic wonders. Literature describing the Southwest's playgrounds, including Carlsbad caverns, the Rockies of New Mexico and Colorado, the Wichita and Davis mountains, the gulf coast, and lakes of Texas, will be on hand for distribution. Road information to these vacation centers will also be available, it was announced.

In anticipation of great demands for tourist information to the chamber of commerce during the spring and summer particular efforts are to be made to develop the information bureau to a maximum of efficiency, Mr. Jackson said, as Wichita Falls is a key city to practically every vacation resort of the Southwest.

NOAH FIRST TO USE ASPHALT

Woodward Tells Why Ark Was Waterproof

Asphalt was used by Noah in making the ark waterproof, by the ancient Egyptians for preserving mummies, and by Columbus in the West Indies to fit his vessels for the return trip to Europe, according to a talk on roofing and roofing materials by Paul Woodward before members of the Lions club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

"If self-preservation is the first law of nature," said Mr. Woodward, "shelter is probably the first requirement of that law; and no shelter is complete without a roof."

Roofs of the modern era may be classified as fire-resisting of composition asphalt, asbestos shingles, nitro slate, and clay tile, the speaker said. They serve the purpose of protection against weather, against fire, and the provision of beauty, he added. Asbestos shingles were said to be a compound of asbestos, Portland cement and coloring matter.

White asphalt rays are 20 per cent cooler in summer than black roofs, Mr. Woodward said, because of their ability to reflect the sun's rays. Gravel in tar for roofing purposes not only raises the melting point, and prevents running under summer suns, but affords protection against hail, the speaker said.

The monthly inter-city meet of Lions clubs in this county will be held Friday night at Electra, it was announced. At the close of the meeting, members of the club donated $30 for purchase of shoes for needy children by the Wichita Falls Parent-Teacher association.

Special Services Held By Two Congregations

The inauguration of the 40-day Lenten period for members of the Church of the Good Shepherd and the Sacred Heart church was observed in Wichita Falls Wednesday morning with special services. The day is designated as Ash Wednesday.

The blessing of the palms was observed at the Sacred Heart church during the morning which was followed with the regular mass. Additional services for this group will include a service Friday evening when "The Way of the Cross," which is a meditation on the suffering of Christ, will be held.

Members of the Church of the Good Shepherd opened the period with the observance of the Litany and Penitential office. This group will not meet for other special services this week but will hold two special Lenten services during the week throughout the remainder of the 40 days. Beginning Wednesday evening, Rev. H. T. Wood of the First Christian church will be the guest speaker at a special meeting of the group, as will other local pastors each Wednesday evening until the closing of Lent. Celebration of the Holy communion will also be held each Friday morning at the church at 10 o'clock.

Selection of a jury was completed before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court Wednesday afternoon in the case of Max C. Arlia against the Wichita Falls Traction company et al. in which the plaintiff asks approximately $75,000 damages for injuries said to have been sustained in the swimming pool at Lakeside park last spring.

According to the petition of the plaintiff, he was permanently injured while using the "slide" or "coaster" in the swimming pool, which device he claims was defective. The plaintiff lives in Houston. Introduction of testimony will begin at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Grand Jury Holds Two Chicago Police

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. (INS)—Two Englewood district police today were in custody on the orders of the special grand jury, reported to be facing the first indictments the jury has considered since it launched its inquiry of the Chicago police department more than six weeks ago.

The policemen, Sergeant Joseph Ferry and Patrolman Fred Kelly, were charged by Joe Drell, owner of a cigar store, with having collected money to allow him to operate a handbook. The pair were assigned to vice and gambling investigations.

Stiffening of discipline under Commissioner of Police John Alcock was reflected in Drell's testimony. He told the jury his protection rate was raised to $150 a month because of Alcock's "hard-boiled" attitude toward grafting.

"How should I Sleep?"

MOTION PICTURES MADE DURING INVESTIGATION UPSET OLD THEORIES

Automatic motion picture cameras recorded the positions and movements of sleepers during the investigation at Mellon Institute. The sleep habits of 150 persons were studied. More than 2,000,000 observations were made.

Millions of mattresses now in use are enemies of Vitalizing Rest

'DON'T sleep on your back"... "Don't sleep on your face"..."Don't sleep on your left side—it forces your heart to pump the blood uphill."

Old theories . . . now swept aside. For six years sleep has been studied by a group of scientists at Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh—the first broad scientific investigation of this subject ever made.

Now the advice is: Sleep anyway you like. Sleep on all four sides...so much the better. Curl up... stretch out...roll over...fine! And be sure that your mattress lets you do all these things if you want complete rest.

Why? Because we rest in parts. One position rests one set of muscles and organs. Another position rests another group. The normal, healthy sleeper takes 10 to 15 different positions during the night . . . and shifts from one position to another 20 to 45 times!

Anything that limits the number of positions which can be taken in comfort is bad. Solid mattresses . . . mattresses padded down in bumps and hollows . . . these are bad. Not just uncomfortable, but definitely bad.

The investigation has shown that a new type of mattress . . . the Simmons Beautyrest and Deepsleep . . . is ideal. In place of stuffing or layers of padding, in these mattresses are hundreds of springy inner coils, buried under soft cushioning. Coils which are always "alive." They can't pad down . . . they can't form bumps and hollows.

See the Beautyrest and Deepsleep at any good furniture store. Here is a new kind of comfort. And a small investment indeed, compared with the rewards of vitalizing rest!

H. M. Johnson, Ph. D.—head of the Investigation of Sleep at Mellon Institute—has written a booklet, "Bodily Positions in Restful Sleep." Send for it! Address the Simmons Company, 222 North Bank Drive, Chicago, Illinois.

RED WING TO DIE APRIL 18

Indian Chief Sentenced For Child's Death

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—Chief Red Wing, scion of Cherokee chiefs, today stood before a white man's tribunal and heard himself formally sentenced to die in the electric chair April 18.

He was convicted of murdering Evangeline Cavazos, 2-year-old daughter of Henry Cavazos, San Antonio circus owner, Saturday.

Julius Schleyer, defense attorney, said an appeal to a higher court is being considered, but that no action has been taken.

Scowling, the little Indian stood before the bar in an improvised courtroom, being used while the courthouse is being remodeled, and heard the court pass sentence.

Minister Enters Pen for Abduction

ALTON, Ill., Feb. 18. (AP)—The Rev. Alonzo L. Shoemaker, 38, former pastor of a Pentecostal church here, was taken to Chester, Ill., penitentiary today to serve an indeterminate sentence of one to ten years for the abduction of a 19-year-old former choir girl in his church.

He was convicted of abduction after he took Miss Bernice Ford, a choir girl, on a trip to Missouri, registering at a hotel as "man and wife."

Shoemaker was dismissed from his church when he disappeared with two 20-year-old girls of his congregation in October, 1929. They were found in Florida.

Police Surgeon Charged In Death of Woman

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18. (INS)—A warrant charging manslaughter has been issued against Dr. George W. Becker, chief surgeon of the St. Louis police department, in connection with the death of Mrs. Roy Mitchell, who died Feb. 5, following an alleged illegal operation, it was announced today by Assistant Circuit Attorney Lennon.

A no true bill in Dr. Becker's case was returned by the grand jury yesterday.

Dr. Becker's bond of $5,000 was continued today for a week.

Feats of Daring by Geologists In All Parts of World Told by Powers

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (INS)—Geologists are men of action.

One put on a diving suit and submerged himself in the Pacific ocean off the coast of California in order to map out the site of an oil well, Sidney Powers, president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists today told the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers meeting.

The site was later checked by observation from an airplane and then the wells were drilled in the ocean bed from wharves constructed for that purpose.

"The problem of finding and extending oil fields in North America besides deeper drilling for new oil-bearing horizons is essentially a search for obscure or buried structure," said Powers.

"Buried mountain ridges, like the Nemaha mountains of Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma; buried uplifts, hills and salt dome are part of the search.

In discussing the gulf coast fields in Texas and Louisiana Powers pointed out that this district holds great hope for the future.

"Production has been found in the gulf coast from a depth of a few hundred feet to over 7,400 feet," he said. "The depth limit of production is controlled by the economic limit of deep drilling.

"It is confidently expected that many deeper producing horizons await discovery, because cretaceous rocks, from which comes all of the oil in northeastern Texas, northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas have been found in only one well. The gulf coast is a perpetual oil reserve."

LEAGUE FORMS 'SPY' SYSTEM

Drys Seek Informers In Michigan Area

DETROIT, Feb. 18. (INS)—A statewide organization of volunteer prohibition informers to report operations of liquor resorts to police, will be formed by the Michigan anti-Salon league, according to a statement today by Rev. R. N. Holsaple, head of the state body.

Rev. Mr. Holsaple declared that he planned "the most complete dry organization ever attempted in any state." Workers to report violations of the dry law and "follow through" to see that the law is enforced and the resorts cleaned out will be placed in every community the anti-Saloon league official asserted.

His plan is similar to the "vigilance" committees of the "old West." He said he would submit his plan to Washington anti-Saloon league officials so that the movement may be made nationwide.

OIL HELPS NEEDY

TYLER, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—Capt. J. F. Lucey, regional director of President Hoover's unemployment committee, today declared that the finding of oil in East Texas had been an immeasurable benefit to the people of the section, which, he said, had been in worse condition than any other part of the Southwest before the oil strike.

Explosive Coal Offers New Peril

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Coal which explodes like soda pop is a coming hazard in American mining.

Warning about this strange type of mine burst was issued today by George S. Rice, chief mining engineer of the U. S. bureau of mines, in a talk to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

The explosions are "cold"—no spark starts them—but they are extremely dangerous. They are caused by an "instantaneous outburst of gas" that has been stored under high pressure in rocks, but particularly in soft coal.

The explosive gas is frequently exactly the same stuff which "charges" soft drinks, namely carbon dioxide. The surrounding earth forms the container, which like a bottle, makes a big blowup possible when miners' picks puncture a deposit of gas impregnated coal.

But after the coal has been removed from the earthen bottle there is no more danger of explosion. The gas evaporates harmlessly.

SINCLAIR RAPS BILL MURRAY

Oil Man Will 'Disregard' Bitter Attack

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 18. (UP)—Harry Sinclair, oil magnate, here today on his way to Los Angeles, indicated that a speech by Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma attacking Sinclair's recent entry into the market for Oklahoma City crude at a 67 cents a barrel price would be disregarded.

"Governor Murray has claimed that he knows nothing of oil conditions in Oklahoma and this attack should prove it," Sinclair said.

Governor Murray flayed Sinclair as being willing to wreck the state or the nation, or "to bribe public officials to better Harry Sinclair."

"I have no desire to wreck anything," Sinclair said, "but there is no chance for artificial price raising. Why should we pay $1.01 to $1.07 for Oklahoma crude when we can buy a better grade of oil from Texas fields at 65 to 75 cents?"

"Action of the Oklahoma corporation committee in discussing proration will eventually prorate Oklahoma oils out of a market if proration in relation to potential demand is retained. The Texas plan of restricting production only so there is no waste is preferable.

"Dumping of Russian and South American crude and refined products on the eastern seaboard markets is forcing us to meet competition by buying crude at a lower price, but this will not affect the retail price of gasoline."

Sinclair indicated that bootlegging of crude at 60 and 70 cent prices make proration a farce.

Catholic Sister Loses Life in Fall in Shaft

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18. (AP)—Losing her balance and falling into an elevator shaft, Sister Mary Genevieve, 72, was killed almost instantly today at the convent of the Sisters of Mercy here.

Sister Mary fell as she reached into the elevator shaft from an upper floor to catch hold of the rope to descend to a lower floor. She fell about 30 feet into the shaft.

Heywood Clarifies Statement on Oil

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 18. (AP)—W. Scott Heywood, personal representative of Gov. Huey P. Long, Louisiana, to Gov. W. H. Murray, today asked The Associated Press to amplify and clarify quotations from his letter to Murray suggesting remedies for the oil industry.

Heywood wrote the Oklahoma executive:

"In my humble opinion, after giving the matter considerable study and thought and taking into consideration the greed and the money-mad infected leaders of the industry, there is only one real cure.

"Have the governors of all oil producing states start a campaign educating congress in putting a tariff on imported crude and its derivatives and at the same time declare crude and its derivatives of public interest.

"When this is done there should follow a compact between the oil producing states with uniform regulatory laws which would allow regulation of drilling and regulation of prices of crude and its derivatives.

"But in the meantime, in my opinion, the state government should make and enforce as few laws as possible to restrict production and curtail them, giving independent producers every possible freedom of market to carry on their business."

Nature Produces a New Rare Flavor in Coffee

For a Real Change Taste the Rare Tang and Rich Mellow Body of Coffees from Central America . . .

From Lofty Mountain Plantations Mules Carry These Coffees to Town

The Second Stage in the Journey of Rare Central American Coffees to Folgers. Into the hold of a Panama Mail liner for the sea voyage to San Francisco, the U. S. Port of Entry.

HERE'S a suggestion. If you want something different in coffee, try—not just another "brand"—but an utterly different KIND of coffee. Then see what happens.

We procure our coffees from tiny mountain districts along the West Coast of Central America. A region that, experts now concede, produces probably the fullest-flavored coffees known today. Where nature leaves out the "rough" offensive oils. You taste only pure, invigorating flavor. Flavor so rich that you just can't help making the kind of coffee men can't forget.

Introduced by Folger

Years ago this coffee was first served in the famous Bohemian restaurants of San Francisco where it was introduced by Folger. Travelers tasting it there were captivated by its unusual flavor. Flavor produced by a peculiar combination of rich volcanic soil, altitude, sun's rays and tropic rainfall—that is found nowhere else in the world.

Connoisseurs among the European nobility, it is said, even went to Central America to purchase private plantations, first to supply their own tables and later to exploit commercially. Thus the fame of these rare coffees spread around the world.

The Folger Test

Would you like to see for yourself just how different these coffees are—in richness and in flavor? Here's a test that is as simple as it is fair.

Tomorrow morning drink Folger's. The next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning drink Folger's again. In a morning or two you will decidedly favor one or the other; the best coffee wins. That's fair, isn't it? 101

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

"Isn't it a beautiful morning?" asked the little lady with a small garden of flowers circling the lifted brim of her little black hat, and "Isn't it a beautiful morning?" asked the lady who still wore her fur coat.

The merchants filled windows to tempt the orgies of buying. There were slippers in the latest colors and styles; there were garden seeds and packages wearing bright flowers on their backs to tempt men to begin on the garden.

One enterprising person put in a window of candy orange quarters—"for sale on Saturday" built into the shape of flowers with green artificial leaves to heighten the effect.

Another suggested industry to the housewife with spools of thread, skeins of embroidery silk and even hanks of pastel wools. Yards of thin materials were puffed into enticing suggestions of new frocks.

Little packages of ferns were green outside store doors and women went up and down the streets with blooming geraniums propped on one arm and as blooming babies on the other. Spring was in the air on the downtown streets as well as in the suburbs.

When you drove out toward the country and municipal clubhouses, the tips of the woods were flushed with coming leaves. Why, when they finally become green, are they first rose?

Before this season the spring has come to life in gold but rose seems the dominant color of 1931. Instead of crocus and jonquil and daffodil, the flowering almond is vivid. They called it burning bush in Mississippi and negroes named it Judas tree.

This is the time of the year that is hard on the schoolgirls and boys—not to mention teachers. And at just about this time the annual contests begin. Aspiring young actors and actresses go through their parts, some with a splendid grace and some with an utter listlessness that reminds us always of a small boy whom we once heard recite in Mississippi.

In a country schoolhouse Friday afternoon was given over to "saying pieces," supposed to be a festal occasion for the pupils but always seeming one of trial. A small boy mounted the low platform and in a perfect monotone recited, "Ah, the Indians are soming; ah, they are killing father; ah, they are killing mother; they will soon be killing me," bowed and sat down with no trace of dismay at his imminent fate.

We have seen tragic themes of life played by trained pupils, with just as little expression. And we have seen grown young actors and actresses much more embarrassed by the possession of hands and feet. That beautiful thing, "stage presence," should, it seems to us, be the first thing taught an embryo actor.

We remind ourself of the old maid giving advice on how to rear children. We cannot advise an expression teacher. And after all, the plays of life are not all coached by teachers.

"The world's a stage" may be bromidic but it remains true. If one is not too caustic, there's lots of fun to be found in standing in the wings and watching the actors. That bystander learns also that he is watched from the wings and learns to walk across the stage with better dignity.

change for the apple that found its way into the hall of fame through a small girl's wiles.

Paderewski's attendants were no less astounded than those who had watched Martha Anne from the outside. A little girl had broken the rule that no one else dared break.

CONCERT TONIGHT TO START AT 8:15

Musical genius born within a Polish lad almost in the year when Wichita Falls was marked by its first cabins, and ripened by three-score years of intense human experience, will be brought to thousands who make this community their home when Ignace Jan Paderewski, now in his 71st year, unleashes his pianistic magic at the Memorial auditorium Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock.

Something of an aura of classic glory surrounds even the name of Paderewski, acknowledged by the world as one of the greatest pianists civilization has thus far produced, and acclaimed with equal fervor for the profound humanity which burns beneath his superb artistry.

Acclaimed by World

Paderewski was born in Russian Poland while the clouds of war were gathering heavily over the Mason-Dixon line in the United States, and when the war between the states had ended in this country, the 5-year-old Polish lad already had revealed a prodigious capacity for musical feeling and expression. When Wichita Falls became dignified as an embryo city with the completion of its first railway, Paderewski was already an instructor in piano at the Warsaw conservatory.

International recognition came to the ripening artist in a world which showered laurels upon Wagner the Mighty at Bayreuth, on Brahms, Liszt, the De Reszkes and Schumann-Heink in the field of music; stood in awe at the bold diplomacy of Bismarck; and marvelled at the enduring command of Victoria over the far-flung stretches of the British empire. For it was in 1890 and 1891 that he upturned staid London with its sheer enthusiasm at his magnificent playing.

The position of head of Warsaw conservatory no longer was able to hold within its confines the unfolding personality and perfected talent for which the entire western world was bidding in handsome figures. One triumphant tour of Europe, England, America, followed another—until the world war brought the onward march of cultural living to an abrupt halt.

The ensuing years not only robbed the world of Paderewski's music, but saw the quick passage from his hands to needy Poland of the considerable fortune which fame had accorded him. Stirred with patriotic sentiment, he revealed himself from the concert platform as a gifted political orator. In 1917, in New York, when honors were being done for the French General Joffre, Paderewski declared his abandonment of music for service to his nation. This musician it was who enlisted 100,000 soldiers and 50 officers among the Poles in America—a force which took its place with the Allies at the front in France. This fiery, dynamic pianist who will fill the Memorial auditorium Thursday night with ponderous chords filled with human emotion was taken at his word, and in January, 1919, was made prime minister of Poland. His hand played the leading part in the evolution of the republic which soon took form. But failing health within the year took its toll. Paderewski resigned and retired to the farm which he called home—at Paso Robles, Calif.

Returns to Music

Renewed vigor in body and mind, and the war's depletion of his financial resources, combined to effect the virtuoso's return to the concert platform in 1922—with New York as the scene of the new triumph. Nine years ago; and in his performances during these nine years, the critics have witnessed no diminution of the genius, the fire, the technical capacity which brought him to the pinnacle of his art even before the 20th century was born.

Not only Wichitans, but hundreds of those in surrounding communities who love music and respect a demonstrated master in that field, will be present Thursday night for the Paderewski concert. Indications Wednesday night were that every seat in the Memorial auditorium will be occupied when the "master" takes the stage.

Divorcee Given To Know She Is Her Best Counsel

Dear Dorothy Dix—I divorced my husband a year ago on the grounds of cruelty and nonsupport. Then I took my two small children home to my mother and father and have been with them ever since. They treat me very badly and show me in a thousand ways that they do not want us and that they begrudge our support. I haven't been able to get any work and it makes me feel terrible. My husband is begging me to go back to him and go away and start all over again. He says he will never drink again and that he realizes how badly he treated me, and that he is a changed man. I am so miserable here at home that I am tempted to go back to him, but before I do anything I want your advice.

—A MISERABLE WOMAN.

Answer—If you have any faith at all in your husband's reformation and believe that he has strength of character enough to stick to his good resolutions, go back to him by all means.

Perhaps he has had his lesson and will profit by it. Perhaps the very knowledge that you have got enough spunk to get up and leave him if he doesn't behave himself, and that you will do it again if he doesn't walk a chalked line, will keep him in the straight and narrow path. Perhaps he really does love you and the children and is remorseful over the way he treated you and he will try to atone for it by his tenderness to you.

But you can judge of your husband's character much better than I can, and if you know him to be a weakling who hasn't the grit to stick to a good resolution, it would be folly to go back. You would far better place your children in some sort of institution where they will be taken care of, and go out and get you a job to support yourself and help take care of them.

Don't feel too harshly toward your parents because they resent the burden you put upon them by coming back home with two children. I often think that when husbands and wives quarrel and part it is their parents who have to pay the price of it, for daughters seem to think that they have a right to saddle their offspring on father and mother.

And father and mother are old and children annoy them and get on their nerves. Father and mother need what little money they have to spend on themselves and it is a cruel thing for them to be deprived of their little comforts in their old age because of their children's matrimonial difficulties.

Musicians Club Entertains With Delightful Program

With powdered hair and quaint colonial costumes suggesting the patriotic theme of the month and spring flowers forming a beautiful background for an exquisite musical program, the February open meeting of the Musicians club, held at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Walker Tuesday evening, was one of the most enjoyable given during the club year.

Mesdames J. E. Hall, Mark Walker, J. L. Art, Clara S. Baber and Miss Lenora Walker in quaint colonial costumes were in the receiving line to greet members and guests, and artists on the program arranged by Mrs. Flora Greenwood wore the same pretty styles and becoming powdered hair.

The Raub string quartet, composed of Stanley Miles Raub, first violin; Flora Anderson Greenwood, second violin; Mrs. Edwin Bebb, viola and M. A. Ellis, cello, opened the program with a quartet by Haydn which demonstrated the talent of each artist and his mastery of his vehicle.

Miss Minnie Baker sang three numbers showing the lovely quality and range of her contralto voice, "The Rose Enslaves the Nightingale," by Rimsky-Korsakoff; "The Slave," by Lolo and the Hahn-Si-Mesvers Avalent des ailes.

H. McGregor Brown of Newark, N. J., demonstrated a rich baritone voice when he sang "Shipmates of Mine," by Sanderson, "My Nannie's Away," by Robert Burns and "Give a Man a Horse He Can Ride," by O'Hara.

The program was concluded with three numbers by Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis in which the brilliant quality and varied range of her voice were displayed perfectly. She was accompanied by Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff in "Tell Me Oh Blue, Blue Sky," by Gianninni; "The Shepherdress," by Horsman and "The Rondel of Spring," by Frank Bibb. Mrs. Huff was also the charming accompanist for Miss Baker and Mr Brown was accompanied by Lee Erwin.

To some women the calendar is a tyrant, with certain days set aside for pain. Such martyrdom is needless! Midol—acting directly on the organs affected—disposes of every bit of pain at such a time.

Midol is not a narcotic. It does nothing to interefere with the natural and necessary monthly process, but it eases the organs in five to seven minutes in even the most severe cases. Furthermore, the woman who takes a tiny tablet of Midol in time will experience no suffering at all.

For your own sake, investigate Midol and see how reliable and complete is its relief—no matter how hard a time you've always had. At every drug store in trim metal case for fifty cents. Many have found Midol the quickest relief for headaches, neuralgia, neuritis and other pain.—Adv.

False Hopes on Excess Fat

Some Ways Harmful—Some Absurd

Many false helps are offered to the overfat. Some are harmful, some absurd. All disappoint. Do what modern doctors do. They combat the gland cause. It is time to end the fakes in this line, for the good of all.

Your Doctor Knows Best

Medical science has discovered that a great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. One function is to help change food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. People grow over-fat, despite diet and activity, if that gland secretion is scant.

That theory is now accepted the world over. So modern physicians everywhere combat that cause. They do this by feeding the over-fat the factor which is lacking. No starvation, no over-exercise, no harmful drugs. The results in late years have amazed the world. Excess fat has been fast disappearing. Slender figures are the vogue. New health, new beauty, new joy, new efficiency have come to countless people.

This is to urge that you use what doctors use, not what they denounce.

Basis of Marmola

Marmola prescription tablets supply this new, this scientific help. They are prepared by a world-famous medical laboratory to fit the average case. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Users have told others, and the use has grown.

All folks know how excess fat has been going in those years. All can see in every circle how slender figures reign. It is evident that the world has found a new way to fight fat.

Now Fat is Folly

Excess fat has now rarely an excuse. That blight to beauty, health and vim has found a scientific foe. It is easy to combat a major cause, and multitudes have proved it.

Take four Marmola tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Be moderate in all things, but don't starve, don't over-do. Fight fat in Nature's way, by supplying what Nature is failing to supply. You will then be doing what the best physicians do today.

Formula in Box

Marmola has no secrets. The formula appears in every box. A book explains the reason for results. You will know what you are taking and why.

As the pounds drop away there come other results—all explained in the book. New health, new vitality. The gland secretion which fights fat inspires other ductless glands. The good results are often far-reaching and amazing.

Marmola is supplied by druggists—$1 a box. Go try it, read the book in box, then watch results. Stop foolish treatments—do the right thing. Then, when you get the results you seek, tell other folks who need it. Go start today.

Texas Boy Amazes Mother

"J. C., Jr.'s stomach was often upset and he had very little appetite," says Mrs. J. C. Bradley, Mesquite, Dallas County, Texas. "He was feverish and his breath was bad. I found he was constipated.

"My mother always used California Fig Syrup, so I decided to give my boy some. It surely surprised me to see how quickly it stopped his feverishness, cleared his breath and tongue, regulated his bowels; made him a strong and energetic boy again."

The quick, safe way to cleanse and regulate the bowels of bilious, headachy, constipated children is with California Fig Syrup. Give it at the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness or feverishness. Every child loves its rich, fruity flavor and it acts without griping or discomfort. Appetite is increased by its use; digestion is assisted; weak stomach and bowels are given tone and strength.

For fifty years, doctors have endorsed this pure vegetable product. The genuine is always marked by the word California. Look for that when buying or you may get an imitation.

required of shippers by pipe line companies, he said, work a hardship on small producers who are forced to the altrenative of constructing storage facilities.

Producing at Loss

Questioned by committee members, Ritchie said independents in parts of Kansas and Oklahoma could not market oil to the Prairie Oil and Gas company after the first of the year because the market was taken by construction of the Ajax pipe line by Standard Oil interests.

Charles E. Bowles, statistician for the Independent Petroleum association, testified the producing end of the industry had operated at a loss. Large profits in other branches, he said, indicate "there is something wrong in the industry."

Representative Hoch, Republican, Kansas, author of the bill, pointed out that independents engaged strictly in producing could not recoup their losses by profits in transportation.

Huge Profits Cited

To illustrate the profits in transportation, Bowles said Standard Oil pipe lines, east of the Mississippi, had paid dividends of $350,000,000 from the time the company was dissolved in 1911 through 1929. The capital investment in these lines in 1923, he said, was $150,000,000.

"We have no figures, but I believe the same situation exists west of the Mississippi as to the earning power of pipe lines," Bowles said.

secretary of the group until formal organization is completed.

The resolutions were adopted after a day of addresses the general theme of which was that cities' hands are tied in attempting to lower gas rates except by competition, legislation, or both.

This morning the more than 80 delegates heard Frank L. Chase, vice president of the Lone Star Gas company, whose subsidiaries serve the towns interested in the rate protest. Chase asserted his company "welcomes an investigation of rates and is ready to cooperate with city officials in every way, including a fact-finding body appointed at this conference; provided always that this body will make public its findings."

Oppose Reduction

Chase indicated, however, that his company will oppose any reduction in the domestic rate. The Abilene Reporter-News submitted to him a list of 24 written questions, all of which he answered. One question was:

"If you reduced the domestic rate at all points served to 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas, what reduction in your net income do you believe that would entail?"

Chase answered: "I would say it would be impossible under those conditions for us to continue to render the quality of service we are now doing."

Another question was:

"What is your company's attitude toward any reduction?"

The answer: "We do not see how reduction at all in the domestic rates could at this time be justified."

Chase was asked:

"How do Texas rates compare with those of other Southwestern states? What is the average domestic rate for Texas?"

Answer: "Gas rates are fairly uniform throughout the Southwestern part of the United States. The average domestic rate for Texas is 67½ cents."

~if it hadn't been for 'B.O.'

(Body Odor)

"THEY both lived in our neighborhood. She was a pretty girl—and a mighty nice one, too. He was a fine steady-going young fellow—very much in love with her. But she didn't seem to fancy him.

"She went out with him several times, but after a little she turned him down. Of course she couldn't tell him the reason. 'B.O.'—body odor—is a delicate subject. But how different things might have turned out if he had only known what his trouble was and how easily Lifebuoy could have ended it."

The secret cause

Experiences like this happen every day—all around us. Disappointments in love—lost opportunities in business. But other explanations are given. We seldom realize how often "B.O." is to blame.

For people, as a rule, don't know when they offend. We become insensitive to an ever-present odor. We don't notice it in ourselves—but others do. Yet we must perspire. Even on cold days our bodies give off a quart of odor-causing waste.

Now millions have the satisfaction of knowing they're safe, the easiest way imaginable—by washing and bathing with Lifebuoy. Its penetrating, antiseptic lather purifies pores. Makes every inch of the body fresh and sweet-smelling.

Wonderful for complexions

Lifebuoy keeps complexions looking their best—soft, smooth, and clear. Gives them a healthy, glowing loveliness. Note Lifebuoy's pleasant, hygienic scent—that vanishes as you rinse. It tells you better than words how Lifebuoy safeguards. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

A form of policy in which the insured agrees to carry insurance equal to a certain percentage of the value of the property insured, (usually 80 per cent) and in consideration of this, sometimes receives a reduction in rate. If he fails to maintain insurance to the extent agreed upon and should have a partial loss, he will be unable to collect the full amount of his claim, as he becomes a co-insurer and is responsible for his proportion of the loss. Credit insurance is a guaranty that a manufacturer of jobber (policies are not issued to retailers) shall not suffer from those losses occurring because of the insolvency of debtors coming within the coverage of the policy, which are in excess of the normal loss incident to his particular business. The insuring company guarantees to pay the policyholder the net excess over this normal loss.

It Must Be Dramatic

IF A man's misery and danger can be dramatized, he is pretty sure to get speedy help. If they can't, he is apt to be out of luck.

This pessimistic conclusion is provoked by reading of the recent efforts that have been made to save fishermen from drifting ice floes on the Great Lakes.

Not long ago more than two dozen men went adrift on the ice in Lake Erie. Airplanes were chartered to take food to them. Coast guards risked their lives to get help to them. For two or three days half a dozen states forgot about weightier matters to watch exciting efforts to rescue the drifters. When the men were finally saved there was rejoicing on all sides.

In the same way, the state of Michigan was galvanized into action a few days later when one man went adrift on the ice near White Shoals lighthouse, in Lake Michigan. Dozens of men put out in boats to get him. Many lives were risked and unusual pains were taken to see to it that he might be brought to safety.

Those incidents are fair samples of the way people respond when someone's danger is made dramatic.

Unfortunately, a predicament that isn't dramatic generally goes unnoticed. We reserve our tears for the cases that make headlines.

An unemployed workingman can stalk city streets for days, staggering on the edge of starvation, with hunger and sickness threatening his family because he has no money—but no one gets excited about it. To be sure, most cities have fairly capable relief organizations that will come to the rescue if the man asks for help; but none of us will worry very much about it. We will not even contribute to these relief organizations unless elaborate campaigns are staged to drum us into line.

Similarly, a farmer in the section that has been hit by drouth can go as hungry as he likes without stirring the compassion of his fellow countrymen. The newspapers have made it pretty clear that thousands of people in such states as Arkansas are enduring very real suffering this winter—but the Red Cross is actually having a hard time collecting $10,000,000 for their relief, and a proposal to appropriate federal money to help the work along has drawn bitter and spirited condemnation.

The trouble with us is that we don't respond to ordinary misery and misfortune. Appeals must be made dramatic. We must have something that could be put on the moving picture screen. The fight against hunger and cold is not exciting enough.

The moral seems to be that one who falls into misfortune must take care to pick a misfortune that has plenty of human interest.

Pass the Vestal Bill

ONE of the things that the senate should do before adjourning in the spring is pass the Vestal bill revising our copyright laws. The measure has passed the house of representatives by a large majority, and enjoys the support of authors, publishers and song writers. It should not be permitted to die under the weight of more momentous legislation.

An amendment has been proposed providing that registration of copyright shall not become effective until three months after it is filed. This, apparently, would benefit only the radio broadcasting concerns, since in effect it would permit the broadcasting of any songs during the three months period without payment of royalties to the composer; and since few popular songs last more than three months, its effect would be to nullify the bill entirely, as far as the song writer is concerned. The senate would do well to kill the amendment and pass the bill as it came from the house.

A Dismaying Spectacle

THE sidelights which big-city politics throws on the workings of democracy in America are sometimes rather dismaying.

In the Chicago mayoralty campaign, for example, we have the two leading candidates openly accusing one another of being "nutty" and "imbecilic," and tossing epithets at one another in a way more reminiscent of a bar-room brawl than a supposedly sober political race.

Chicago has had plenty of trouble in recent years; and when the leading contenders in a race for the mayoralty indulge in cheap personalities of that kind, instead of confining themselves to a serious discussion of the important issues involved, the spectacle is discouraging beyond measure. Does one have to be something of a clown to carry an election in a large American city?

The Follies Girl

As the wind blows savagely, her ankles and legs, already so generously exposed, merge into the welcome beauty of her dimpled knees, and men's eyes, enthralled, peer and peer, while men's thoughts, eager follow her, enfold her. So just as man must always follow woman—in his heart, at least—so also must an entire world, on fire with imaginings, respond to the spell of the words "Follies beauty."

Can anyone account for the persistent endurance of this interest? Does anyone know why the mystery of the Follies girl augments itself and intensifies? Insofar as these United States are concerned, the answer is easy.

The Follies girl is the only remaining symbol of our love, of freedom, our last evidence of the joy of living, for we, being Volstead-bound, have lost all claims to gaiety. Our books are censored, our theaters are policed, our night clubs padlocked, our holidays curbed. The Follies girl is our defy to the Puritans. She is the final dash of color to a drab existence.

But what, after all, is a Follies girl like? Once she is dissociated from the glamour and surroundings what sort of a girl is she? Is she a goddess, a super-woman, or a mortal? Is she simply a chorus girl? Is she a highbrow or a dumbbell, a gold-digger or an innocent? Is she real or just an illusion?

The answers to these questions everyone wants to know. They pop up at society dinners and public banquets, quilting bees and church socials, at christenings and poker games, in skyscrapers and on the prairies, in New York and Keokuk, Iowa. Therefore, in order that curiosity may be forever appeased, the answer to all these matters is now presented for the first time. Here it is, compact, definite.

The "Follies" girls are and are not everything that they are supposed to be. They are absolutely as beautiful as they are said to be; and then, again, they are not so beautiful. They are accessible in the same ratio that they are unattainable. In other words—try to find out!

Where does she come from? That's easy. From Main street and Broadway, from Newark and Paris, Yonkers and London, Budapest and Dublin, from every place that there is beauty, but most abundantly, of course, from these United States. Usually the smallest towns.

What becomes of her? Nobody knows. That is, scores fade into obscurity, while others are household names.

Dolores married wealth, and lives now in Paris.

Marion Davies, Billie Dove and Ina Claire, after battling for recognition, are now acknowledged as top-notchers in motion pictures.

Mae Murray triumphed on the stage and screen.

Gladys Glad is the winner of several important beauty prizes.

Jacqueline Logan and Dorothy Mackaill are screen stars.

Jessie Reid made a brilliant marriage.

Mae Daw married happily and wealthily and retired gracefully.

Peggy Fears married A. D. Blumenthal, millionaire.

Ruby De Remer, famous beauty and film star, married wealth.

Streaks of tragedy have occasionally obscured the beauty.

Olive Thomas died at the height of her success.

Flo Leeds had sensational headlines.

Martha Mansfield died in an accident.

Kay Laurel, after a plucky rise on the legitimate stage, died under tragic circumstances.

Then there was Myrna Darby.

Mary Lygo, well known screen player, took her own life.

Concerning the "Follies" traditions, it is necessary that the following statements be made:

There are, also, no more stage-door johnnies. The tribe is extinct. The girls of the "Follies" get home somehow without them.

Not every girl in the "Follies" has a Rolls-Royce. Claire Luce, for instance, rides frequently in an airplane.

They don't learn the perfect "Follies" walk by carrying pails of water on their heads. They "peacock" by instinct.

They don't have Wall street brokers buy them places in the "Follies." They get in by their own ability and force of beauty. Notwithstanding, of course—

Not all of them wear diamond bracelets. Flo Kennedy prefers a tiara.

They don't all have apartments on Riverside drive. Some of them owe for their room rent. That is—

Not all of them spend their vacations abroad. Some of them go to Bermuda or Palm Beach or Hollywood.

The "Follies" girl is a superb representative of the American spirit, determined, ambitious. She walks in beauty. She nurtures romance. She proves that the girl with character is peeress of all other women who work; that she is lovable in the sense that wives, mothers and sweethearts are lovable; that she is to be admired among celebrities, social leaders and queens.

Hilda Ferguson, who joined the Ziegfeld crew in 1921 (when she was 15), still is beautiful. She has a trick, she was saying the other night, to keep the wrinkles from lining her face, particularly under the orbs. "You can drink all the liquor you like," was her counsel, "so long as you drink two quarts of water daily."

Mr. Ziegfeld, by the way, is planning to engage a number of his one-time "Follies" eyefuls for his next "Follies"—and an added feature will be their beautiful daughters.

Peggy Joyce, who started her stage career with the "Follies," has made her will, which bequeaths half of her riches to her mother, and the rest to a Home for Girls in Distress.

The "Follies" girl, therefore, mellows—with age.

Using six seed harvesters and two combines farmers of Jackson county, Alabama, will save 5,000 bushels of soy bean seed and 2,000 bushels of Lespedeza seed during the year.

THE LOVELY LIAR : BY ROB EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Poppy Prior runs away to New York when Ted Allison deserts her on the eve of their elopement, because she fears her mother's disapproval. Arrested for stealing a bracelet belonging to Celia Nixron, which she found on the train, Poppy lies when cross-questioned, fearful that her mother may hear of the arrest. Kevin Wallace, friend of Celia, offers to help Poppy whenever he can, because he thinks she is innocent. Escaping from the girl's home to which she is committed, Poppy goes to Wallace for help. Through him she meets Jane Rochester, a fashion artist, who gets her a job as model in the department store where she works. Poppy lives with Jane, and is welcomed as her cousin. Poppy Rochester, by Jane's friends. At a party Poppy sees Ted Allison, and is surprised to find she doesn't hate him, has no feeling toward him. Ted pays her ardent court but she spurns him, thus arousing in him an emotion which he firmly believes is the real thing. He even convinces Poppy that he isn't kidding this time and Poppy agrees to marry him so she can honestly be the Mrs. Ted Allison that her mother believes her to be. She lets him buy the ring, the license, the flowers, but just an hour before the wedding, decides that she can't go through with it, knowing that she loves Kevin Wallace. Jane is glad of Poppy's decision. She thinks Ted worthless, and knows Poppy loves Kevin. She loves him herself but realizes that she can't win him. If Poppy can, Jane is determined that she shall have her chance. Jane trumps up an excuse to go away on a vacation and asks Kevin to keep Poppy from being lonely while she is away. Kevin is kind. He calls up or takes Poppy out nearly every night. Everything would be perfect for Poppy except that her mother and sister keep writing about this mythical husband. And Poppy dare not confess everything because her mother is recovering from an accident and must not be worried.

"Poppy, listen. Look at me! In ordinary circumstances I'd advise you to tell the truth about everything. But the circumstances aren't ordinary."

CHAPTER XXXII

Tuesday evening there was another letter from Poppy from Ashland. Not, however, from Grace. On the upper left hand corner of the envelope was printed neatly, "A. L. Lanniger, M. D."

Poppy was puzzled as she ripped open the envelope, and took out the enclosure. She couldn't imagine what Dr. Lanniger would have to say to her—unless her mother were worse.

Doctor Lenniger was the Prior's physician in Ashland. Had been since Poppy could remember. He had attended her mother at the birth of both her girls, had attended the father whom Poppy could hardly recall.

And now he was taking care of Mrs. Prior. More like a father than a doctor, Poppy always thought. His hair almost white, his thin face lined with wrinkles, his eyes, behind his horn rimmed spectacles twinkling. As a child, when she had gone to his office with her mother, he had invariably managed to make the vist a treat. There was usually a piece of candy, a small toy which he took from one of his desk drawers with great ceremony. Or if there were a long wait before she could see him, his nurse, whom he had had for years, gave her scissors and a picture magazine to cut up.

An old fashioned doctor, more up-to-date physicians in the state called Lanniger. He laughed when they said it to his face. He was an old fashioned doctor, but a good doctor, and he had the finest practice in Ashland. His granddaughter, Elsie, had been one of Poppy's schoolmates, and incidentally one of her best friends.

The letter was typewritten and dictated, but even the cold print held some of the warmth of the doctor.

"Dear Poppy," it began. "I feel I can talk to you like a father, and that's what I'm going to do. I wouldn't write this letter at all, if it weren't a necessity. Your mother is better, but I still am discouraged about her. Her nerves haven't rallied from the shock of the accident—at least not as I think they should rally. I have done everything I can, but even that is not enough.

"She has you on her mind constantly, you and your new husband. I've done everything to assure her that you are very happy, as I know you must be, but she isn't convinced. Nothing will satisfy her that you've married a fine young man, unless she sees this fine young man.

"Grace tells me that in your last letter you said your husband could not make the trip to Ashland just now. Really, Poppy it is necessary that he come, and that's the reason I'm writing this letter. His visit will do your mother worlds of good. He must come. I can't have a patient of mine brooding.

"If there is any financial difficulty, don't let that stop you and him from coming. I rather thought that was the reason he hadn't been able to make the trip here. I'll be glad to lend you any money you want. You have only to ask me.

"I'm Not Married"

"Elsie doesn't know I'm writing this, but if she did, she'd want me to give you her love, so I'll give it to you anyway. Sincerely——" Then his name, and a short postscript, written by hand. "Make the trip as soon as possible. This coming week-end will be fine. It's for your mother's sake. A. L. L."

Poppy thought of a million things. But the one that cropped mostly to her mind was a complete confession to the doctor. Explain to him why she couldn't bring Ted home.

Even that wouldn't do any good. Wouldn't help her mother. Doctor Lanniger had said emphatically that the only thing he knew that would make her mother better was to bring Ted to Ashland. No explaining to do . . .

Because she was desperate, she took a piece of paper, and scribbled a note to the doctor, telling him she wasn't married, telling him she couldn't bring Ted to Ashland. When she finished it and saw the ink blurred with tears, the writing shaky, trembly, she tore it up, and started anew.

At first she didn't hear the doorbell, but when it rang the second time, more loudly, she started as if she had been shot, and rose wearily to answer.

Kevin was standing in the hall smiling.

"Poppy! You've been crying! What's the matter?"

The letter from the doctor had upset her so that she had forgotten he was coming to take her riding tonight. Forgotten it completely. She didn't feel like going now. She was too unhappy. Even the sight of him, the touch of his hand on her arm, didn't cheer her up. She hadn't seen him since Saturday night at the Owl club when he had been with Celia. He had called her on Sunday, and on Monday. Nothing had been said about the Owl club, so she assumed neither he nor Celia had recognized her when she had run from the dance floor.

Silently she handed him the letter. He read it once, then again.

"I didn't know you were married, Poppy," his voice came hollowly, and he read the letter again.

"I'm not—that's the trouble," then she realized she had never told him about Ted, about Ashland. And before she knew it she was muttering the whole miserable story, jerkily, in broken sentences, between her sobs.

"So that's why you wouldn't tell Rogers where you found the bracelet!" he said when she finished. "You should have told me," he chided. "I would have helped you. Why didn't you?"

"I was ashamed, I guess."

"And your family think you are married?"

She nodded wearily. If only the circle of her life would stop. She couldn't stand much more of this worry.

"I wish Jane were here. She'd know, and tell me what to do. I've been trying to write a letter to Doctor Lanniger—telling him everything. That I'm not married. I tore up the first note I wrote. It—sounded—"

"Come out with me, now, Poppy, you've worried too much. It's not good for you.

"I can't, Kevin, don't you see? I've got to work this out."

Kevin Solves the Problem

"Poppy, listen. Look at me!" She turned a wan face toward him. "In ordinary circumstances I'd advise you to be truthful about everything. Write Doctor Lanniger, and have him explain to your people. They've got to know it some time, you know. You can't keep this up forever."

"I know—"

"But the circumstances are not ordinary, now. They're rather delicate to say the least. Your mother ill—I imagine the doctor is really worried about her or he wouldn't write you to come—with your husband. You can't do anything now to worry her. Don't you see that?"

"I see that. It's only too clear."

"And, child, you can't put this visit off any longer. The doctor, who probably knows best, suggests next week-end—"

"I know that, too, Kevin! Please, don't make it any worse! I've suffered enough now! Lies—you don't know how I've suffered."

"I think I do, Poppy. I understand you better tonight than I've ever understood you before. And I'm only trying to help you. As I say, in ordinary circumstances, I'd advise you to tell the truth. But in these circumstances you can't. Not right now anyway, Poppy. You will have to go through with this a while longer. Your mother can't be worried, can't be excited. You have to go to Ashland this week-end, and I'll go with you!"

"You?" Poppy was dumbfounded.

"Would you mind my posing as your husband for a day? Wouldn't hurt any to do it, when it will help your mother. Ease her mind. That's what the doctor wants, isn't it?"

"You?" Poppy said again, not able to believe her ears.

"Yes, me. I'll go there, and you introduce me as Ted Allison. See? Poppy, that's the only way. Perhaps your mother will be so much better later. Then you can tell her. The point is that you have to produce a husband who is named Ted Allison. Unless, of course you prefer to ask him, the real Allison, to do this for you."

"No—"

"Then, I'll do?"

"I can't ask you to do this for me. Kevin—"

"Foolish girl. You're not asking me. I'm offering, suggesting it myself. First time in my life I've ever pretended to be married. Be sort of fun."

"No, I'd rather not.

"Why?"

"Oh—", how could she tell him she didn't want to pretend? That she really loved him?

"Have you any better idea?" Kevin demanded.

"No—"

"Well, it's settled then. I'll go with you to Ashland, as Ted Allison. From what your sister says, your mother only wants to see this Ted Allison."

"No—I'll only get in a worse muddle than I'm in now—"

"It's settled, I tell you. I have a dinner engagement Saturday evening. Can't break it. So we'll leave Sunday morning by plane. Ever been in a plane?" Poppy admitted she hadn't. Kevin talked on lightly trying to cheer her up.

"Only take us a few hours. We can be there by noon, stay awhile, then take the plane back here. You've nothing to worry about now. Get some paper, and write a letter to your sister telling her you will be in Ashland Sunday—with this mythical husband of yours." Poppy found the paper, and Kevin handed her a pen. Because she couldn't think of what to say, he dictated a letter to Grace, and she took it down word for word.

"It isn't right, Kevin," she said after she had signed her name.

"I know—but it's the only thing to do. If Jane were here she might be able to think of something better. Jane's fine at managing. But she isn't here—"

CHARLES FLINT RETIRES AGAIN

'Father of Trusts' Ends Long, Colorful Career

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Charles R. Flint, known as "the father of trusts," announced his retirement today at the age of 81.

Once before he retired from business and came back to it because he didn't know how else to occupy himself. This time he says he's through for good. He and his 41-year-old wife, whom he married in 1927, are going to devote themselves to "keeping away from business."

If the world was ever anybody's stage it was the stage of Charles R. Flint. Beginning life on the docks at $4 a day after he had failed to land an office job at $4 a week, he spread his operations in dazzling fashion around the whole world.

He bought a navy for the czar of Russia, and built one for the republic of Chile. He peddled warships to Japan. One day found him in Constantinople negotiating for the sale of guns to Turkey, and in the next he arrived in Moscow with a $35,000,000 letter of credit from Rothschilds.

In 1908 he was negotiating for Wright airplanes for foreign governments, and he was presented with a drinking cup by the czar. Two years later he acquired the American rights for Labeuf torpedo boats.

His ability as an organizer brought him the title of "father of trusts." His fine flair for doing big things in a big way, at a time when big business was just beginning, brought his services into demand by many corporations.

He had a hand in planning the American Woolen company, U. S. Rubber, the Sloss Sheffield Steel and Iron company, the American Chicle company and the Computing Scale company.

Mr. Flint was born in Thomaston, Maine, in 1850.

Perjury Charges Follow Acquittal

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Feb. 18.—District Attorney Sam Spence Wednesday afternoon filed charges of forgery against Ernest Crump and Clyde Wallace after the two had been called as witnesses in the burglary trial of Russell Truitt.

Truitt was freed on an instructed verdict.

The two accused men testified previously in the trial of Morris Truitt, charged with his brother in the burglary. In Wednesday's trial they told the jury they did not remember points in the testimony brought out in the earlier hearing. Both were lodged in jail.

The criminal docket for the month was cleared Wednesday in the trial of J. F. Sparks, given a one-year suspended sentence on a whisky charge. The grand jury will be reconvened Thursday to finish its work for the month.

The 15 pies prepared for the supper last fall disappeared. Most of them were found squashed beneath the window of the supper hall when the intruder fled in haste.

Gregg County Village Turns Into Crowded City With Big Oil Rush

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

KILGORE, Texas, Feb. 18.—This little Gregg county town doubtless has more humanity to the square inch than any other community in the Southwest, if not in the nation. Congestion in Henderson and other East Texas oil rush towns, bad enough, does not begin to compare with the jam here.

The Eddie Jones-Crim No. 1 is on the verge of coming in, and doubtless would have been delivered not later than today had not a siege of inclement weather last week made the road to the location about three and a half miles out, virtually impassable, impeding receipt of certain tools and equipment needed when a gusher arrives.

Discovery Well Sold

The Jones-Crim isn't far from the Ed Bateman No. 1 Lou Della Crim, which came in making an estimated 20,000 barrels daily a few weeks ago and was sold to the Humble Oil and Refining company for $1,500,000.

Operators said completion of the new well was unlikely before Friday or Saturday.

There are about 40 wells drilling in the Kilgore pay area, with at least four now in the pay sand. The derricks are encroaching on the little town itself, with one towering over a home in the city limits and another soon to be erected within the corporation.

Can't Get Away

When Harold G. Athony, managing editor of the Kilgore News, came from Center to look the town over as a newspaper prospect in January, he said there were less than 800 inhabitants. Anthony did not have time to return to his former home and pack his belongings, and he has not been out of Kilgore since. He estimated that there are now 5,000 persons living in the place, 1,500 of them living in tents. While his mechanical force is busy getting out his paper, carpenters saw and hammer on an addition to the paper's quarters.

New buildings are rising on all sides as excited efforts are made to catch up with the influx of newcomers and to turn bedlam into order.

Overton Has Boom

Overton, about five miles from the Crim well and four miles from the Joinerville field, has five brick buildings and numerous others of frame construction under way and is thriving with bank deposits increasing from $59,000 to $350,000 since Oct. 15. The East Texas refinery is under construction only four miles away.

J. J. Thomas, vice president of the company, said it would be operating about March 1. A pipe line to the plant from the Joinerville field has been completed and the first new 80,000-barrel tank will be ready to receive oil within a few days.

J. Malcolm Crim, old resident of Kilgore, on whose property the wells are situated, has taken the lead, supported by the chamber of commerce, in a campaign to provide an adequate water system and to correct existing sanitary conditions.

Louis Wolheim, Filmland's Paradox, Succumbs in Hollywood Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 18. (UP)—Louis Wolheim, rugged gentleman of the screen who was versed in the ways of gangland and yet loved music and books and art, died suddenly today.

Death came this morning in Osteopathic hospital. It was announced Wolheim had succumbed to cancer of the stomach.

Few persons realized until Wolheim's death that he was 50 years old, so vigorous were his portrayals and so seemingly sturdy the physique athletics had given him.

He had attempted to reduce his 200 pounds by 30 that he might play the role of managing editor in the newspaper film, "The Front Page." He was unable to start production and Adolphe Menjou was substituted.

Louis Wolheim was Hollywood's paradox. One moment he talked of rum runners and gun fighters, the next of classical music and world affairs. He belabored film executives whose ideas did not coincide with his. He spoke of their mental condition so vigorously he sounded like an alienist. He used the jargon of the underworld and switched to words that sent one to the dictionary. He was a football star, college professor and then actor.

Screen fans remember Wolheim only as the flat-nosed roughneck, for those were the roles in which they saw him. He was the hard-boiled top sergeant of "Two Arabian Knights," the German sergeant of "All Quiet on the Western Front" and had a fine role in "The Racket." He started in and directed "Sheep's Clothing." His most recent picture was "Gentlemen's Fate," with John Gilbert.

the president, announced the selection of Davis and his acceptance.

The senate so far has appropriated only $2,500 for counsel fees, but it may authorize more later.

The dispute between the senate and the president over Smith's nomination arose from the dismissal of two employes of the commission whom many senators regarded as "valuable public servants."

It was charged they were allowed to go because of their attacks on valuation claims of power companies. One of the employes later was reinstated.

The senate reconsidered the nominations of Smith and Commissioners Garsaud and Draper. The latter two were reconfirmed but the senate rejected Smith's nomination despite President Hoover's refusal to admit the legality of the action.

The president contended the senate was attempting to invade the executive authority.

By majority vote the senate insisted it was acting within its own rules which the constitution gives it the right to make. The rules provide that it may reconsider the vote by which it confirms a nominee if the motion is made within two "executive sessions" after the confirmation.

General Butler To Resign Next Fall

CLEVELAND, Feb. 18. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, marine corps officer, who has been in the limelight for a decade, will resign next fall to take the lecture platform, it was announced tonight by Louis J. Alber, manager of a lecture bureau here.

The announcement was made after General Butler conferred with Alber during a stop-over while en route from South Bend, Ind., to Buffalo, N. Y.

General Butler has been signed for the season from October, 1931, to May, 1932, Alber said, adding "he will resign his commission, but only with the consent of the president." He indicated official Washington had been notified of the intention to resign and said he expected no opposition would appear.

DENVER, Feb. 18 (AP)—Colorado's so-called "gin marriage" bill passed the house of representatives today and now goes to Gov. William H. Adams for signature. The senate previously had passed the measure.

'50 PER CENT' BENHAM BILLED

Noted Con Man Indicted In Illinois

BELVIDERE, Ill., Feb. 18. (UP)—A grand jury indicted Albert W. "50 Per Cent" Benham tonight on charges of operating a confidence game and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Benham, who made money sprout like mushrooms with 10 to 50 per cent interest a month on all cash "invested" with him, disappeared while authorities started to investigate a "red headed woman" they believed was connected in one way or another with Benham's spectacular $400,000 financial crash.

The grand jury returned the indictments after listening to perhaps 20 persons, most of them aged men and women, who told how they had given their savings to Benham upno his promise of fabulous interest every month.

State's Attorney A. J. Strom indicated that a search would be instituted for Benham, who disappeared after his scheme crashed a week ago, came back to Belvidere yesterday, and then vanished again during the night.

The "red headed woman," said authorities, was Miss Beatrice Manning of Rockford, Ill., in a hospital undergoing medical treatment.

Strom said she had a luxurious apartment in Rockford which Benham had visited, but that when deputies went to the apartment to serve her with a summons, the establishment was stripped of its expensive fittings and Miss Manning was in the hospital where process servers could not reach her.

SHOALS BILL DEADLOCK ENDS

Veto Believed Certain Fate Of Agreed Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—The 10-year-old deadlock between the house and senate over Muscle Shoals legislation was broken today, but many congressional leaders were apprehensive that the compromise agreement faced a veto by President Hoover if approved by congress.

The bill which emerged today from the conference committee after a year of negotiations provides for government operation of the power plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., and lease the nitrate plants to private interests if possible.

If the nitrate plants are not leased within a year after the bill passes, they would be operated by the government for experiment production of fertilizer.

The measure also provides for government construction of transmission lines to distribute power from Wilson dam, completion of the steam power plant, and construction of the Cove Creek dam on the Clinch river in Tennessee.

The provision for government construction of transmission lines is the controversial point which advocates of the measure fear may prevent its final enactment.

The congressional leader who has talked frequently with President Hoover on Muscle Shoals legislation said "There is not one chance in a million that he will sign this bill."

He predicted a veto which would throw the issue back into the next congress and into the 1932 presidential campaign.

Boy Admits Snatching Purse From Woman

A 16-year-old boy confessed to city police Wednesday night to snatching a purse from the hands of Mrs. Lydia Gribble, 1619 Elizabeth street, shortly after 9 o'clock near Eleventh and Brook streets. The purse, which contained about $8, a bank book and personal articles was recovered where it had been thrown after the contents had been removed.

Mrs. Gribble was returning from church with two other women when the youth stopped them to inquire directions, after which he snatched the purse and ran.

The boy was arrested shortly after by C. S. Carlisle and Howard Peters, motorcycle officers, who expected to recover the money before Thursday morning.

BILL ALTERS COURT TERMS

Three Counties Affected By New Law

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Feb. 18.—The bill changing the terms of 46th district court sessions in Wilbarger and Foard counties has been signed by Governor Sterling.

District Judge W. N. Stokes of Vernon is the author of the bill, which was introduced by the representative from Wilbarger county, joined by Representative George Moffett of Hardeman county.

The August term of court at Vernon is eliminated by the bill, and provides for a four-week term in June and July, and a six weeks' term in September and October. Court will convene in Quanah a week earlier each term than heretofore for the fall session.

Interference with vacations and summer heat were chief reasons for desiring the change to be made, according to Judge Stokes when agitating the bill.

STEPHENS ROAD WORK ASSURED

Cisco-Breckenridge Link To Be Improved

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Feb. 18.—Definite assurance was given the Stephens county commissioners court Tuesday by division highway engineers that the Cisco-Breckenridge highway south of here would be improved in the near future, a member of the court said Tuesday.

The state highway engineer announced that the state department would have money appropriated with which to improve the road immediately and work would start as soon as the funds are available.

The county commissioners court was told to secure additional right of way and to begin setting the fences back in order to make the right of way 100 feet wide.

The Stephens county officials are anxious to have the road improved and the requests of the state department will be met as soon as possible, the commissioner said.

It is thought that the highway department will not improve the edges of the road but will retop the highway as has been done on the Eastland county end of the highway.

Colds From Enervation

The common cold is the bane of radio announcers, the nightmare of singers, the despair of directors who shoot talkies, in which a stray sneeze is a disaster; as well as a nuisance to mankind in general.

More people have colds than any other disease. The average person has from two to four colds a year. Though there may be differences as to dress and deportment, the ordinary cold is the common property of nearly every one.

Among the letters coming to my desk I find two constant questions: "How can I keep from having colds?" and "How shall I cure my catarrh?" These two questions may be answered together, for a cold is only an acute form of catarrh. In the acute form or cold there is first the dry, congested, swollen mucous membranes of the nose. Most of you know the symptoms only too well. The swelling of the mucous membrane continues until the nose feels stopped up, there is sneezing, slight fever, extreme lassitude, aching the muscles, huskiness, with gradual redenning of the nose until the nostrils are sore and there is a dull ache over the eyes. The next stage is that the membranes affected have a free discharge of mucous which may be much altered in quality. After a copious discharge of mucous from the nose the patient begins to recover.

Such an inflammation may occur in any of the mucous membranes of the body, but if located in the nose and throat it is called a cold. There is no doubt that a common cold always develops because of fatigue and overeating. Even though colds may be caught from bacterial causes, the one catching them must have the body in such a condition that the bacteria can develop. These conditions preceding a cold are enervation and wrong eating.

It is almost impossible for one of these colds to start until the person who contracts it has been enervated or tired and has been consuming too much of the heavier foods.

When chronic catarrh exists, the mucous membrane is constantly throwing out an excess of mucous. This condition may be present in the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or from other mucous membranes. Chronic catarrh of the nose and throat causes a constant hawking and spitting. The material expectorated has an offensive odor and is slimy. It may be thin, sticky white material or of a deep thick yellow.

Chronic catarrh may lead to deafness, head noises, sinus infection and earache. Chronic catarrh is of constitutional origin and shows that the body has been given excessive amounts of fat and carbohydrate foods.

Anyone suffering with either catarrh or colds should remember that the body is attempting to throw out toxic wastes through producing copious exudations through the mucous membranes. If these wastes were not eliminated in this manner they would lead to some other disease.

In order to bring about a cure it is advisable to cleanse the body of all such wastes as rapidly as possible through eliminative methods. For those who are interested, I will be glad to send complete instructions regarding the treatment of colds and catarrh. In writing for this information be sure to send a large self-addressed stamped envelope and write to me in care of this newspaper.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Reducing Hips

Question—M. Y. L. asks: "Is there any good exercise that you could suggest to remove excess flesh on arms and hips?"

Answer—Any kind of arm exercises will tend to reduce fatty deposits on the arms and shoulders. Taking long walks each day is the best way to reduce excess weight on the hips.

Pain After Meals

Question—A. M. A. writes: "After I eat a meal and stand upright there is a pain just under my liver, but if I lie on my left side this pain disappears. What would be the cause of this?"

Answer—It is possible that you have some adhesions or an inflammatory condition in the neighborhood of the duodenum which are relieved when you lie on your left side by the weight of the stomach pulling on the duodenum. You should have a careful X-ray examination to determine the condition.

Heart Trouble and Tonsilitis

Question—G. A. asks: "Can tonsilitis cause an infection of the inner lining of the heart and cause the valves to be involved and can this be cured?"

Answer—Any chronic inflammation or region of infection such as the tonsils may ultimately bring on an inflammation of the lining and valves of the heart. Tonsilitis is usually easily cured by dietetic measures. I will be pleased to send you the instructions if you will send me your name and address on a stamped envelope.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

"A reader from west of Olney" writes as follows:

"Dear Rambler:

"I am a reader from west of Olney and I wish you would give us a little dope on the game between Olney and Eliasville, not only that but tell us why they were defeated so unexpectedly.

"I wish you would ramble a little and give the Olney boys a boost for they need it as they are so blue about their loss. Why don't you tell us everything when you tell anything about them, not just put the good part about them and stop.

"I, as a reader, would like to hear or see in the Rambler's corner a paragraph that will tell me all about the Olney team, their sportsmanship, and how they take a defeat."

Well, Here You Are

The reader from west of Olney will have occasion today to hear much about Olney. A Crowell fan writes condemning certain occurences in a recent Crowell-Olney game. But before we print the Crowell letter we'd better comply with some of the requests in the above message.

No one can tell why Olney was defeated so unexpectedly. Apparently it was because they couldn't make free throws. The University of Arkansas Razorbacks were defeated because of just such a weakness last week. But I suspect there was something more to the Olney defeat. In fact, I hear it on good authority that the Olney team was over-confident, and mad to boot on the night of the Eliasville game. They were over-confident at the start, and when things started against them they got sore. That is the report I heard. A team never can win under those conditions. Over-confidence is something a fine bunch of athletes are forever pestered with, and it is not as easy to quash as some people think. Two years ago the Olney football team went to Megargel in a cocky mood and was held by the Megargelites to a 6-6 tie, and won only on technicalities.

The Rambler resents being told that he does not tell "everything" about the Cubs, but tells the good part and stops. There never was a better Olney booster than this writer, he has a fondness for the boys and the way they play, and yet every one of them will tell you I have no use for the way they make placements for extra points in football, or the way they make free shots in basket ball. I have written on these matters before. I have said that the Olney athletes are far from perfect, but I think they are just about as near perfect as you will find in this district, no matter what the sport may be.

As for the team's sportsmanship, I can testify as to how they behave after they've been victorious, but I cannot describe their actions or words in defeat, because I have never seen them defeated.

In victory, they are gentlemen; in defeat they must be the same, from what I hear, for a team can't act as gentlemanly as the Cubs do after a victory and then get low-down when somebody whips them. I believe every school in this district will back me when I say the Cubs, in victory or defeat, are gentlemen.

Another View

A letter signed "A Crowell fan and proud of it" hints that the people up Crowell way are sick and tired of the Olney Cubs, and sicker than ever of an Olney referee whom they claim gave them the run-around. The letter follows:

"Dear Rambler: As a subscriber of your paper, and a basket ball, football and baseball fan, I am taking the liberty of writing you a letter to let you know that this section of the country is tired aplenty of the wonderful articles which you write on the sports and the wonderful sportsmen of Olney, Texas. Evidently you have been misinformed or have not had occasion to visit that city. Don't take my word for it—I might be wrong, but ask the people of Jacksboro, Nocona and the many other neighbors of Olney. They will tell you plenty.

I will admit that they are in the habit of turning out wonderful teams in that city, in everything from marbles to football, but I am just a little bit sore at the way they took us to a cleaning on the basket ball court not many weeks ago. First they came here for a game and we gave them the cleanest referee in this part of the state. They beat us fair and square by the margin of two points. We played a return game with them the following Friday night on their court and you should have seen the thing that we run up against. We were leading them by 9 points the first of the last quarter. What happened!!!!!! Ask anyone who saw the game. We got two shots at the goal in the last quarter, made one of them and it was ruled no-good by the secretary of chamber of commerce referee. Every time that a Crowell man got the ball he was fouled for "traveling," "charging" or whatnot. It didn't make any difference just so that he was fouled. We are truly sorry that your wonderful Olney team was eliminated in the county tournament for we surely wanted a shot at those boys in the bi-district tournament. We can beat them any time, anywhere, when there are just five men and the substitutes allowed in the game, but it is too bad when the referee joins in the fracas. No alibi here, we have been beaten in the years past and have taken it like a loser should, but when members of the Olney team themselves said that they should not have won and that it wasn't a bit satisfactory to win a game of that kind we are sure that we are not the only ones not satisfied.

We may not get any further than the bi-district tournament but don't forget that Crowell High school has a team that they are proud of and can beat Olney any day of the week on a neutral court with a neutral referee and we are proud of our record of no "steals" to win. Let the best team win in the bi-district tourney. We are proud of our team and will back them the limit. We have a bunch of good clean winners and losers. We respect the Olney team, but are sorry that we do not get another chance with them. We have no respect for the kind of referee that called the game at Olney.

(I know that you wouldn't DARE print this. It might hurt that referee's feelings.)

Oh, We Won't, Heh?

Well, in the first place, the guy you're hopping on was not the referee in that game, he was the umpire, and his name is Jack Williams, secretary of the Olney Chamber of Commerce, a man with several years' football and basket ball coaching experience to his credit, and in addition, a man who recently passed the Southwest conference basket ball officials' examination and who is entitled to officiate in Southwest conference games. The referee for that Crowell-Olney game was Bernard Lunn.

Williams was in the office yesterday and I showed the above charges to him. He explained every case where the Crowell team was caught fouling, and I can't see how Crowell has a kick coming. Furthermore, I doubt that members of the Olney team made the statement that they shouldn't have won, as is chronicled in the above letter.

And furthermore, I have been to Olney, not once but several times, and I know what kind of boys they raise down there. Do their neighbors growl at them? Of course. Did you ever see a high school that put out first class teams that was not assaulted by its neighbors? Of course a great spirit of rivalry exists, if Nocona, Jacksboro, Graham, Eliasville, or any town in this section can smear it over Olney, it is in the height of its glory. And Crowell would feel the same way if it had whipped Olney, instead of being whipped.

And furthermore again—I believe Olney got whipped by Eliasville purely because the Cubs were over-confident. As I explained above, good teams get that way sometimes. Perhaps Crowell, in its history, has had to put up with over-confident teams. Well, IF Olney had not been over-confident and had won its county championship, it is my firm conviction that the Cubs not only would have won the district, but it would have whipped Crowell in the bi-district as well.

But that is just conjecture. Meanwhile, Crowell had better lay off Olney, for some of Crowell's best boosters are in the Olney High school. That's how the Cubs act in defeat! Yes sir, they're saying down in Olney now, according to my correspondent, that it looks like Crowell has a sure shot at the bi-district title.

Of course, since Olney has been eliminated!

PAR 71 TRIMS SCORE TO 146

Leader and 15 Others Start Championship Today

COUNTRY CLUB, HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 18. (AP)—Jimmy Manion of St. Louis came marching in this afternoon to head the select band of 16 who qualified in the championship bracket of the Houston country club's 17th annual invitation golf tournament.

The young former trans-Mississippi champion took 146 for the 36 holes of qualifying play, a 75 yesterday and a par 71 today. He shot the back nine in 34, one under par, after going out one above.

Title Contenders

Manion's 15 companions in the three-day engagement, which begins tomorrow, for the title will be the following, all of whom got 155 or better.

Johnny Dawson of Chicago, present champion, 76-77—153; Gus Moreland of Dallas, 73-76—149; 18-year-old Reynold Smith of Dallas, 73-79—152; Howard Creel of Pueblo, Colo., 76-79—155; Clyde Cunningham of Houston, 77-76—153; Allen Kyle, Houston, 77-76—153; John Goodman of Omaha, 75-77—152; Gaston Peek of Galveston, 79-75—154; Leonard Attwell of Houston, 78-75—153; Glen Crisman of Orange, 77-78—155; Osie Carlton of Houston, 80-73—153; John DeForest, Surrey, England, 76-76—152; Charles Dexter of Dallas, 74-80—154; Preston Moore of Houston, 81-72—153; W. C. Hunt of Houston, 76-76—152.

Manion and Moreland, one-two for medal honors, played in the same threesome with Carlton. The St. Louis player's splendid last 18 holes included four birdies, while Moreland turned in two.

Today's cards:

Manion
Out	434	544	553	—37
In	243	445	444	—34
Moreland
Out	525	554	444	—38
In	344	544	464	—38

Carlton, veteran of many tournaments here and runner-up last year, improved materially, taking a 73 to help square accounts with his 80 yesterday.

Among those who fell by the wayside were George Rotan of Houston who has been in the upper bracket for many years, and Bud McKinney of Del Rio, a colorful young player with a style all his own. Rotan, appearing a bit rusty, pulled up his game slightly today for a 77, but his 79 yesterday moved him just out of the picture. McKinney, who had difficulty with his putter, got away to a fair start, but ruined it with an 80 for the 18. He reached the semi-finals last year.

Cafeteria Bowlers Add To Lead in Bowling Race

Strengthening their hold on the lead of the City Bowling league, the Mahaney's cafeteria team took three straight games from the Wages Clothing five on the Spudder alleys Wednesday night. The Kruger Jewelry aggregation took the odd game from the Conoco bowlers and the Malacord & Sons copped three from the Palace of Blooms machine.

Riesen of the Hub Clothiers was high for a three-game total with 627 pins, but Kurtz, Malacord & Son ace, pushed the leader with a total of 622. Kurtz captured the scoring honors for a single game with a total of 245 pins.

BRITISHER IN SEMI-FINALS

Diana Fishwick Victorious Again In Florida

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 18. (AP)—Diana Fishwick, alone, carried England's colors into the semi-finals of the Florida women's golf championship here today.

The slender British star, playing brilliantly on the fairways and with clock-like precision on the greens, defeated Mrs. H. T. Sterrett, Hutchinson, Kan., 3 and 2 in their quarter final match.

Meanwhile, the only other English woman to get into the quarter-finals, Kathleen Garnham, fell before the play of Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, 4 and 3.

In winning, Miss Van Wie streaked around the Palm Beach country club course in a 72, four over men's par, and a new women's record.

Helen Hicks, youthful Hewlett, L. I., expert, shot into the semi-finals with an overwhelming 7 and 6 victory over Mrs. B. L. Reinhart, Chicago.

In the remaining match, Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, eliminated Mrs. E. M. Trounstine, Chicago, 3 and 1. The latter yesterday defeated Mrs. Stuart Hanley, Detroit, who had tied for the qualifying medal with Miss Fishwick.

Cool precision of both players featured the Fishwick-Sterrett match.

National League Prexy Believes New Ball Will Hasten Normalcy

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 18. (AP)—Baseball, like nearly everything else in sport and business and life in general, is seeking the normal levels again after having been, in effect, on a good old fashioned spree, in the opinion of the National league's chief executive, John Arnold Heydler.

So far as the national game is concerned, Heydler believes, the adoption of a less lively ball for the 1931 season will have a wholesome effect in bringing play back to normal, with a better balance of power so far as the pitcher and batter are concerned.

"This was no sudden and hasty decision on our part," he explained to The Associated Press today. "A good many of our club owners have felt for a long time that the ball was too fast, that pitchers were handicapped and the long hitters making a joke out of the home run.

"We considered many suggestions but finally adopted the heavier cover and coarser stitching, as a means of making the ball slightly heavier and enabling the pitcher to get a better grip on it, thereby increasing the chances of his effectiveness and control.

"I think the changes will do much to restore the more scientific features of the game, without at the same time handicapping any of the really great long sluggers, such as Ruth, Klein and Wilson. Those fellows will knock the ball out of the park anytime they connect.

"The main difference, as I see it, is that the batsmen now likely will have fewer good or groove balls to hit and the pitcher's confidence will be increased.

"Meanwhile we look forward to an even greater season than last year, when National league attendance records again were broken."

The league's president, with Mrs. Heydler, plans to spend a vacation in Miami before visiting some of the Florida training camps.

LINCOLN PRESENTS A NEW MOTOR CAR

born in the Lincoln tradition . . . built with Lincoln precision . . . and giving a fresh meaning to the Lincoln name

OUT of Lincoln's established excellence comes a new design of true modern significance . . . a new motor car which more fully provides the satisfaction demanded by those who value fine automobiles.

This Lincoln is more powerful, more alert and more silent than any Lincoln has ever been before. It is smarter and more beautiful. It is longer . . . lower in both chassis and roof line . . . more lithe in the distinguished sweep of its new contours.

The new Lincoln is a newly designed car throughout motor, chassis and body, adhering strictly to the policy of well-balanced excellence which is the Lincoln tradition.

New Power and Alertness

Under its gleaming hood is a more powerful — a more responsive — engine than any that has ever driven a Lincoln. The basic principle — V-type, eight cylinders — remains unchanged. And the new designing of important parts has resulted in a remarkable gain in efficiency. The new engine develops more than 120 horse-power. It is 33% more powerful, with a marked gain in acceleration under all driving conditions.

New Free-Wheeling Transmission

The new Lincoln free-wheeling transmission lends silent, gliding ease to the driving of the car. Gear shifts are easy, quiet and precise. Between second and high speeds — back and forth — gears may be shifted without disengaging the clutch. By removing pressure from the accelerator pedal, the engine is automatically released and the car glides smoothly and silently on momentum. Because the engine idles when gliding, less gasoline is used and engine wear is reduced. A new and quiet second gear contributes to the enjoyment of driving.

Greater Comfort and Beauty

In this new car the luxurious comfort and proved safety, which are traditional with Lincoln, take on an even greater importance. The added length of the new low chassis frame, which is amply strong and rigid, with wider tread and longer springs, minimizes body sway and holds the car steady at all speeds. The braking system, easy to operate, effective and quiet, adds to the pleasure and safety of driving.

The beautiful contours of the new car have been developed through Lincoln's command of the foremost designing talent of the country . . . both in its own organization and through its connection with such custom coachmakers as Brunn, LeBaron, Dietrich, Willoughby, Judkins, Locke and Derham. This Lincoln is fleetly and beautifully poised. From bow to stern it flows smartly, long and low on its new 145-inch wheelbase. Every feature is planned to add to the distinguished air of the car.

An Established Tradition

Back of the new Lincoln are the entire resources of the Ford Motor Company . . . and a factory famous throughout the world for precision craftsmanship. It is built to retain its unfailing excellence throughout all the years of its long life. Like the Lincolns which have gone before, the new Lincoln will hold the loyalty of those who know it best . . . "as nearly perfect a motor car as it is possible to produce."

A special display of the new Lincolns has been arranged by Northwest Motors Incorporated February 19 and 20 at the exhibit building

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Cotton showed continued firmness today, with prices making new high ground for the movement on further trade buying and covering. This evidently was stimulated by relatively firm Liverpool cables and encouraging reports as to the prospects for a settlement of the disputes in India, while far Eastern interests were credited with buying again in the local market. May contracts sold up to 11.45 in the late trading and closed at 11.44 with the general market closing firm at net advances of 18 to 21 points.

Houses with Liverpool and continental connections were reported buyers here. The advance met considerable realizing and a little Southern selling from time to time but offerings were absorbed on compartively slight setbacks and the highest prices of the day was reached in the late trading. March sold up to 11.16 and October to 11.99 making recoveries of about 153 to 177 points from the low records of the season touched during the middle of December. Closing prices were at about the best of the day.

Reports of continued good sales of print cloths in the domestic market no doubt contributed to the advance while cable advices received said there had been fair sales of cotton cloth for shipment from Manchester to India. An improved demand also was reported for Egyptian yarns in Lancashire and advances of 18 to 27 points were reported in the market for Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria.

Liverpool cables said hedging and Manchester selling had been absorbed by selling and Bombay buying in the futures market there. Exports today 22,193 making 8,-849,747 so far this season. Port receipts 7,589. U. S. port stocks 3,980,994.

Futures closed firm, 18 to 21 points higher; spot steady; middling 11.25.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18. (AP)—Trading in cotton was active today and prices moved upward rather briskly. New York had advanced while the market here was closed yesterday and Liverpool cables were much better than due, hence prices here opened up 14 to 15 points.

There was a slight reaction of 1 to 2 points after the start on realizing but the market promptly firmed up again on active trade buying and shorts covering. The advance was helped by very favorable advices from the domestic goods markets and by improvement in the political situation in India. Firmer stocks also were a helpful influence.

Prices moved upward all morning and in the early afternoon, showing gains over the previous close of 29 to 31 points. The market continued to rule firm in the late trading with active trade buying and shorts covering and made new highs 1 point above the earlier highs and closed at or near the top, the general market showed net gains for the day of 29 to 31 points. The late strength was shown despite easier stocks.

Liverpool was 6 to 7 penny points better than due at the start here and private cables stated Bombay bought and shorts covered. Manchester cabled there were fair cloth sales to Indiana and an improved turnover in Egyptian yarns. May traded up to 11.34 and October to 11.85 by the end of the first hour, a gain over the previous close of 20 to 21 points.

During the later improvement with covering by ring shorts, May traded up to 11.43, July to 11.68 and October to 11.95, or 29 to 31 points above the previous close.

The market continued firm in the late trading despite some weakness in stocks and made new highs 1 point above the previous highs. There was good trade buying and shorts covered. May closed at 11.43 or 29 points net higher for the day and October at 11.96 or 30 points up.

Market Comes Out Slightly Ahead After Day of Irregular Trends

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (US)—The stock market moved irregularly during most of today's trading, yet at the close it registered net gains in virtually all departments of the list. Trading was on substantially reduced volume and it was extremely difficult to interpret the events of the day with any degree of certainty.

If anything, the market demonstrated that the bitter struggle between professional elements on both sides was still in progress. Also, there was evident a decided tendency to lessened aggressiveness on the constructive side, although the market displayed rather impressive resistance to all attempts by the bears to extend their advantages of the previous day.

News of business and finance continued mixed, with the bonus resulting in considerable indecision in important financial circles. Steel Trade News was decidedly more encouraging, particularly with respect to an increased demand from auto factories.

In the main, however, it continued a strictly professional affair. Vanadium was again dealt in on a huge scale, but the close found this issue down only ⅜. The bullish sponsors for this stock recently gained a most valuable and powerful ally in having won over to their side an influential director of the company who previously has been lukewarm toward the issue. The bears in Vanadium are extremely powerful, including some of the most aggressive bears now operating.

Offsetting this, there have been some developments within the company, such as impending completion of the first new plant to utilize the titanium process on which the bulls count so much, and closing of an important contract with a leading paint concern. It is still reasonable to assume that the outcome of the titanic struggle between the opposing groups in Vanadium may determine the immediate course of the market.

The leading standard issues were comparatively inactive, while the leadership was assumed by more speculative stocks. Briggs, in which a strong pool now is operating, moved up over a point. This company of course depends on the automobile industry but its present sponsors are emphasizing the strong cash position of Briggs. While the current activity in the stock is largely speculative, strong buying for the long pull is taking place.

Chrysler moved ahead to a new high despite its 1930 annual report disclosing only 5 cents a share net. This company is in excellent financial condition, its management's efficiency was demonstrated in the 31 per cent reduction in expenses, but current demand for the stock obviously is speculative in character and based on hope for an early upturn in automobile buying.

General Motors closed unchanged and Auburn closed fractionally lower. Borg-Warner, an automobile accessory stock, enjoyed the largest gain of any active issue and its recent performance seemingly has been in response to very persistent buying.

American Can advanced two points as the bull sponsors for the market attempted to revive optimism through using this leader. It was obvious, however, that the short interest continued to play a leading role in the firmness of many issues. Westinghouse, in which some of the most vicious of the bears have substantial short accounts, closed up almost two points. It is widely recognized that near-term prospects for Westinghouse are hardly favorable, but the overcrowded short interest in the stock provides basis for the occasional run-ins as have been witnessed lately.

Worthington Pump was also firm, but buying of this issue appeared to be of more substantial character than merely short covering. The copper stocks were firm in response to firmer tendencies in the market for the metal, which was quoted at 10¼ cents a pound, against the 10-cent level recently prevailing. The lower-priced shares received the greatest attention.

Standard Brands moved up fractionally on increased volume, the buying being of semi-speculative nature and attracted by indications the company has gone through the period of heaviest non-recurring expenditures.

General Asphalt rose 5 points on announcement it had won its suit against Royal Dutch interests. The group in Waldorf created activity in the stock but got nowhere. Blaw-Knox advanced on buying attributed to Pittsburgh. Gimbel Brothers shares were strong on increased activity and it was reported that mail-order interests recently acquired a sizeable block of the stock at prices higher than the market. Gimbel finished 1930 in very strong cash position, it being estimated that cash alone equalled over $5 a share on the common stock.

Cotton again featured the commodity markets, advancing to another new high for the current advance. Extent of the improvement in this commodity, in which as already reported here a very powerful bull clique is operating, can be appreciated from the fact that from the lows there has been a recovery of $8 a bale, adding possibly $100,-000,000 to the value of the annual cotton crop.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Cotton goods held steady today with business somewhat lighter in the unfinished goods division. Finished goods were selling in fair volume with wash fabrics in steady demand. Burlaps were unchanged. Wool goods were selling for immediate delivery chiefly. Silk was slightly firmer, and silk goods were being bought steadily for cutting up purposes.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 18. (AP)—Cash grain was in fair demand here today with receipts and offerings heavier. Estimated receipts: Wheat, 19 cars; corn, 4; oats, 1; and sorghums 6. Cane seed were slightly higher with planting season nearing.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points freight paid:

Wheat: No. 1 hard of any protein, 78@80½c.

Corn: No. 2 mixed 70@71c; No. 2 white 73@74c; No. 2 yellow 72@73c.

Oats: No. 2 red 43@44c; (dealers also quoted No. 3 white oats at 42¾@43c delivered group one.)

Sorghums: No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.22@1.24; No. 2 kaffir $1.18@1.20.

Cane Seed: Bulk country run red top per 100 pounds, according to type, germination, origin and clean cut, $2.65@2.85.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 18. (AP)—Bearish domestic crop reports and pressure on elevators to furnish storage space for wheat tended to bring about lower prices on grains today. A further handicap to upturns was scant export demand for North American wheat. Reassuring advices that Russia would not be a large exporter of wheat led to price rallies of only a transient nature.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛c to a shade up, corn ¼@⅜c down, oats at a shade decline to ⅜c gain, and provisions two cents to 20 cents off.

Persistent selling by elevator interests that were holders of May contracts did much to weaken wheat. Notice was taken also of selling to put into store new arrivals of wheat here. In this connection, primary receipts of wheat, 1,311,000 bushels, were considerably larger than a week ago and almost double the total last year.

Much interest was shown in first hand reports to the grain analysts' club of Chicago that although Russia has had a record yield per acre, wheat shipments from Russia probably would not be forced further on an unwilling market.

Nervous price changes in wheat within a range of one cent but averaging lower governed corn and oats. Falling off in the volume of corn arrivals in Chicago to 104 cars, compared with 262 at this time last year, was partly offset by primary receipts totaling 1,208,000 bushels against 885,000 a week ago.

Provisions reflected a drop in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 67⅝@67¾c, 68⅞@69c; Sept. 67½c, 68⅜c. Corn—March (Offers) 62⅜@62¾c; May 63⅜c, 65¼@65⅜c; July 65½@65⅝c, 67c; Sept. 65⅝c, 66⅛c.

Practically all districts showed a gain with the exception of West Texas which showed a loss of 34.6 per cent.

Stocks in the area were as follows: (Figures below in thousands of gallons).

	Last week	Prev. week
Oklahoma	43,385	44,846

REFINERY MARKET REMAINS UNCHANGED

No improvement can be noted either in the refinery market or the natural gasoline market. U. S. Motor slumped another eighth of a cent, being quoted at 3⅞ cents, with Double B and Single C natural gasoline slipping a quarter of a cent and reaching the low market of 2⅞ cents a gallon. It is reported there is a quantity of distress product of these two grades now on the market, and it is believed this new mark may be temporary. Spot business on the refinery market is slow in every line, especially the Motor. Shipments, however, on contrast for the fuel are strong, with a slight increase reported by two or three companies over the previous year. Burning oils are not selling at any price, although most of the companies are maintaining their high quotations.

NEWS of the FIELD

THE DEEP OIL TEST

The Deep Oil Development company's No. 1 Munger estate in the territory one mile north of Kemp City in Wichita county which is being watched with keen interest in the greater part of North Texas, Tuesday encountered at a depth of 4300 feet another saturated limey sand which is showing some oil and gas. The formation, which is the seventh encountered in this test will have a core taken in an effort to determine the amount of oil carried. If sufficient show is made, the hole will be bailed and swabbed as were the sands heretofore picked up. The well at present shows the making of a 350-barreler from an upper pay and in the event of its completion with a paying output it would be the factor in the deepening of many old tests which had been abandoned at a much lesser depth. Companies holding nearby leases are the Continental Oil, Arkansas Fuel Oil company, Texas and prominent independent concerns.

NORTHWEST OF LONGVIEW

Hopes of a four mile north extension to the East Texas field are pinned on the outcome of the Mamie Hammond No. 1 Hamby wildcat located in northern Gregg county. The well, which is about four miles north of the Arkansas-Farrell No. 1 Lathrop in the Robinson survey, is fast reaching the testing stage and is drilling at a depth of 3530 feet. A show of oil and gas was picked up at 3470-76 feet but no test was made.

CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY

The Continental Oil company has moved in on its No. E-1 Falls county school land test located 520 feet east and 150 feet north of the southwest corner of block 18, F. C. S. L. sub-division in Archer county.

NORTH ARCHER COUNTY

E. J. Stump and associates No. B-1 L. F. Wilson, located 150 feet and 750 feet north of southeast corner of northwest quarter of B. B. B. & C. R. R. survey, abstract 39, Archer county, has set casing on top of a sand at approximately 1500 feet.

PETROLIA ROAD

Mitchell and associates putting down a wildcat test in block 39, Cherokee county school lands northeast of Wichita Falls six miles in Wichita county, is drilling at 690 feet after setting 6-5-8-inch pipe at 642 feet to shut off the water.

NORTHEAST OF ARCHER CITY

Deep Oil Development company No. 1 L. F. Wilson, located in block 76, A. T. N. C. & L. survey, Archer county's 5500 foot deep test, is drilling at 1100 feet.

SOUTHEAST YOUNG

Panhandle Refining company No. 1 Steele located in the Indianola survey, eight miles southeast of Graham in south Young county, has resumed drilling at 2350 feet after a shut down for repairs.

The Ball and Malone No. 1 Bradford, which checked in for an estimated 6,000 barrels yesterday, increased its flow today, observers said.

Auction Bridge made Simple!

Lesson No. 15
Doubling and Redoubling . . .

IN Auction Bridge, after the bidding has developed rather high, an opponent may think that he can defeat the last bid. If so, he may double it, and then if the following three players pass, the hand is played at that bid doubled. A bidder who has been doubled, or his partner, may redouble, in which case the trick values and penalties are all quadrupled, while "double bonuses" are doubled.

NEW LINCOLN ON DISPLAY

Wichita Manager Tells Of Many Improvements

Homer Hensley, Lincoln division manager of the Northwest Motors, Inc., is a new resident of Wichita Falls, coming here from Dallas, where he was one of the leading Lincoln salesmen of North Texas.

In discussing the new Lincoln Manager Hensley states that one of the outstanding exhibits at the automobile show, which opens Thursday afternoon in Wichita Falls, will be that of the Lincoln, which will be the initial showing of the new models in Texas.

Out of Lincoln's established excellence comes a new design of true modern significance, a new motor car which more fully provides the satisfaction demanded by those who value fine automobiles. Its exhilarating performance and great luxury call for a fresh appreciation of motoring excellence. For this Lincoln is a new expression, in the exacting terms of the Lincoln tradition, of the uncompromising quality which sound engineering skill and precision craftsmanship can build into the modern motor car.

More Powerful

This Lincoln is more powerful, more alert and more silent than any Lincoln has ever been before. It is smarter and more beautiful—longer, lower, more lithe in the distinguished sweep of its new lines.

Following the plan of well-balanced excellence, long established as essentially Lincoln tradition, and fundamental to the building of this car, the Lincoln has been freshly designed throughout motor, chassis and body.

Under its gleaming hood is a more powerful and responsive engine than any that has ever driven a Lincoln. The basic principle—V-type, eight cylinders—remains unchanged. And the new designing of important parts has resulted in a remarkable gain in efficiency. The new engine develops 120 horsepower. It is 33 per cent more powerful, with a marked gain in acceleration under every type of driving condition.

The new Lincoln free-wheeling transmission lends silent, gliding ease to the driving of the car. Gear shifts are easy, quiet and precise.

Between second and high speeds—back and forth—gears may be shifted without disengaging the clutch. By removing pressure from the accelerator pedal, the engine is automatically released and the car glides smoothly and silently on momentum. Because the engine idles when gliding, less gasoline is used and engine wear reduced. Another important feature is a new and quiet spiral gear which contributes greatly to the enjoyment of driving the car in second speed.

Greater Luxury and Beauty

In this new car the luxurious comfort and proven safety, which are traditional with Lincoln, take on even greater importance. The added length of the car, the new low chassis frame, which is amply strong and rigid, the wider tread and longer springs, minimize body sway and hold the car steady at high speeds on the straight-away and around turns. A new braking system, easy to operate, effective and quiet, adds to the pleasure and safety of driving.

The beautiful contours of the new car have been developed through Lincoln's command of the foremost designing talent of the country . . . both in its own organization and through its connection with such custom coachmakers as Brunn, LeBrunn, LeBaron, Dietrich, Willoughby, Judkins, Derham and others. The Lincoln is fleetly, beautifully poised. From bow to stern, it flows smartly, long and low on its new 145-inch wheelbase. Not only is the chassis frame lower, but the low roof line also accentuates the design of the new car. Every feature is planned to add grace to the distinguished air of the new Lincoln.

Established Tradition

Back of the new Lincoln are the entire resources of the Ford Motor company . . . and a factory famous throughout the world for precision craftsmanship. It is built to retain its unfailing excellence throughout all the years of its long life. Like the Lincolns which have gone before, the new Lincoln is an automobile to hold the loyalty of those who know it best . . . "as nearly perfect a motor car as it is possible to produce."

The new Lincoln—long, low and gracefully poised—offers unusual latitude for the expression of personal requirements through an unusual variety of standard and custom-built bodies and a choice of distinctive color treatments.

More than 20 body types have been designed for the new 145-inch wheelbase chassis. Interiors are spacious and provided for the safe, comfortable and luxurious transportation of all passengers. Slanting windshields and low roof lines contribute greatly to the fleet appearance which is further accentuated by the longer hood and cowling.

Among the new Lincoln custom-built types are a smart open front panel brougham and cabriolet by Brunn; the owner of chauffeur-driven Berline in two and three window design as well as a two-passenger coupe by Judkins; the convertible phaetons by Derham and Murphy; a two-passenger coupe, a convertible coupe and a convertible sedan by Dietrich; a formal all-weather cabriolet as well as a sport convertible roadster by LeBaron.

Standard types are the five and seven-passenger sedans, the five-passenger coupe, the town sedan in two and three-window types, the seven-passenger limousine, the sport phaeton and the sport touring.

Wichita C-C Heads To Attend Amarillo Meet

J. L. Jackson Jr., president, and John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce here, plan to attend the annual meeting of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce which is to be held there Tuesday night, according to an announcement Wednesday. The trip is to repay the visit of officials of the Amarillo chamber to the annual meeting of the Wichita Falls organization held in January.

Sherrill Discusses Problems Of Irrigated Valley in Talk to Club

Greater Production One of Major Needs; Farmers Must Lead Own Program, but C-C. Should Give Aid

Agriculture in the Wichita irrigated valley was likened to an overgrown, stalwart boy "waiting to be shown how to perform his tasks" in an address by J. N. Sherrill before members of the Optimist club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

Whatever failings may be charged to the industry in the Wichita valley to date, he said, may be attributed to one of five reasons. They are, according to his analysis, the class of farmers, the land-owners, the market situation, drainage problems, and the chamber of commerce.

Many valley farmers "who have all the earmarks of good farmers except that they have failed to diversify sufficiently" must not be included, the speaker said, with the great number of poor farmers who have gradually assembled in this section of the state. Replacement in other districts by better agriculturists, attraction to oil-producing districts, and leniency of land-owners have accounted for this movement, Mr. Sherill said.

The valley is handicapped by absentee ownership of land, the speaker admitted, but said that before irrigation, a farmer would have starved to death on much of it.

Greater production is more important now than means of marketing, according to Mr. Sherrill's expressions. Early lowering of the present high water-table was declared necessary in order to prevent the "salting out" of many tracts. Such a condition would mean that four or five years would be required to restore fertility and freshness in the soil, the speaker continued.

Some responsibility for guidance and enlargement of work in the irrigated valley must be placed upon the chamber of commerce, Mr. Sherrill said.

"But," he added, "the chamber of commerce can not be expected instantly to move mountains. Those who expect such results usually don't contribute to the organization. They should encourage, but not direct; should serve but not command.

"This agriculture in the valley is a big overgrown boy. He is as slow to think as to act. His big hands have strength, but must be shown how to use it. Persuade him to try often enough and he will change from the stupid, inactive boy to the alert, precise, machine-like man. The self-improvement of the man who produces is the solution I see for agriculture in the Wichita valley."

Ted Williams, baritone, sang two numbers, with Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey as accompanist.

SENATE VOTES BONUS TODAY

Upper House to Defy Threat of Veto

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—Thrusting aside a presidential protest, the senate today swept the veterans' loan measure through its finance committee and decided to vote tomorrow in an effort to speed the legislation to the White House.

The finance committee approved the house bill authorizing loans to veterans up to half the face value of their compensation certificates by a vote of 13 to 3 within an hour after receiving a letter from the president vigorously objecting to the legislation.

Agreement quickly was entered into a moment later on the senate floor to take up the bill tomorrow and its passage by tomorrow night without change was predicted by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, in getting the agreement for consideration.

Mr. Hoover's letter to Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee asserting the measure will "not only nullify the benefits to the veterans but inflict injury to the country as a whole" was accepted at Capitol hill as full warning of a veto.

AROUND THE RADIO CLOCK

(Time is central standard throughout.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18. (AP)—Talent from the stage as well as radio will be included in one of tomorrow evening's half-hour features. The entertainers will appear in the radio roundup, the WABC chain program presented weekly. It will go on at a new time, 10:30 p. m. instead of 9:30.

Guests will be Annette Hanshaw, contralto, Roy Atwell, actor and monologist; Charles Ross Taggart, "Vermont fiddler;" Eddie Connors, banjoist, and Fred Monrie, character impersonator, with Freddie Rich's orchestra playing.

The shift in time of the roundup also necessitated a change of the program by Toscha Siedel, violinist, and concert orchestra, which now goes on at 9:30.

The wireless military band, directed by B. Walton O'Donnell, plays from London via the WEAV network at 1:45 p. m. It will be a 15-minute program.

Rudy Valle's hour, to start on the WEAF hookup at 7:00 p. m., comes from Chicago this week.

Otherwise your dials may be set for:

1:30 p. m.—Folk music of Scandinavia, American school of the air, WABC and stations.

3:00 p. m.—The three doctors, Russell Pratt, Ranson Sherman and Joe Rudolph, WABC and network.

CANDIDATES GIVE PLATFORM

Cox, Corlett and Cone To 'Answer Call'

Announcement of their candidacies for places on the city council was made Wednesday by P. B. Cox, W. B. Corlett and Fred L. Cone in the following statement:

"After careful consideration of the request of a mass meeting of 2,000 citizens of this city on last Tuesday evening, we the undersigned have decided to accept the call to service of our citizenship and offer ourselves as candidates for aldermen at the election to be held April 7, 1931.

"In order that we may not be misunderstood and the people of the city may know our views on the principal issues before them, and that all may know where we stand and what we will do if elected, we here state that if elected we will advocate the following:

"First: Immediate reduction in the city tax rate and a fair rendition of taxable property, and the city manager will be required to reduce the expenditures for the operation of the city's affairs so as to come within the income of the city, after such reduction has been made.

Cut Departments in Half

"Second: A substantial reduction of the salaries of the city manager and the heads of the various departments, and the consolidation of departments wherever feasible, and the discharge of unnecessary employes so as to effect additional savings, which we believe can be done in the sum of about 50 per cent without reducing the efficiency of any of the departments.

"Third. Gradual improvement of the water system out of the net earnings of the water department, such work to commence immediately, thereby affording immediate and continuos employment for a large number of our citizens; but we oppose the issuance of any additional bonds for the extention or improvement of the water system, as the system, with minor improvements will be adequate for this city, and the present earnings of the water department are adequate to keep the system in repair and to make such needed improvements, so that the city at all times will have an abundance of pure soft water, and volume and pressure adequate to entitle the citizens of Wichita Falls to the lowest fire insurance rates.

"Fourth: We will require the city manager to purchase from the merchants of Wichita Falls the supplies used by the city, if the same are available.

City Owned Gas System

"Fifth: We believe that the domestic gas rates in Wichita Falls are excessive. Therefore, if we are elected, we will demand that the gas company reduce its domestic rates, so that it will not make more than a reasonable profit, and if it should refuse to make such reduction of rates, then we will submit to the citizens of Wichita Falls a propostion for the installation of its own gas system by the city. We will likewise endeavor to effect a material reduction in the rates of the other utilities operating in this city, if after investigation, it appears that such rates are excessive.

"Sixth: We are not opposing the city-manager form of city government, but we believe that the salary now being paid the city manager is exorbitant and we believe that a city manager should so manage the affairs of the city as to benefit a majority of the citizens and not favor special class."

Signed: P. B. Cox, W. B. Corlett, Fred L. Cone.

Today — At the Theaters

By ELEANOR FLEMING

MAJESTIC: Walter Huston, Phillips Holmes and Constance Cummings in "The Criminal Code." Comedy and sound news.

STRAND: "Reducing" with Marie Dressler and Polly Moran. Comedy, cartoon and sound news.

STATE: Lewis Ayers and Lupe Velez in "East Is West." Short subjects and sound news.

GEM: Richard Arlen, Mitzi Green, Junior Durkin and Eugene Pallette in "The Santa Fe Trail." Comedy.

Walter Huston is superbly real as the warden whose code was to "face the breaks squarely" in "The Criminal Code," but no less superb than young Phillips Holmes, who portrayed a soul in torment as it has never been done in any previous prison picture.

The horrors of the third degree and the injustice of law were never more pitifully and realistically pictured than in "The Criminal Code," now showing at the Majestic theater. There is not the spectacular 10-minute thrill that there was in the prison break in "The Big House," but there is a 60-minute tenseness and terror.

Constance Cummings is new, fresh and lovely to look upon, with a voice and the stage training that ought to mean success in the talkies, and she lives up to all of it as the warden's daughter. She looks enough like Walter Huston to be his daughter—the pretty daughter of a homely father.

Phillips Holmes' classic head is found behind the bars, and a week's beard rather dispels the Greek god effect he has had in other pictures. When he emerges from the dungeon, he really looks as if he had lived a week in the dark on bread and water.

Holmes, incidentally, will be seen in another picture here Friday, when he plays opposite Nancy Carroll in "Stolen Heaven" at the Strand for a week's run.

Archer City Residents Invited to C.-C. Luncheon

An invitation has been extended the Archer City Chamber of Commerce to send a delegation to Wichita Falls to hear Frank Power, former mayor of Archer City, when he addresses the Junior chamber of commerce's semi-monthly luncheon to be held at the Kemp hotel Friday noon, according to Wilburn Page, secretary. A large number of Archer City residents are expected to attend.

A request to Edwin S. Weldon, a charter member of the Junior chamber here who now resides at Archer City, was made by Maurice Cheek, president, to assemble a delegation to attend the luncheon.

Betty Jo Wright, Jane Rahl, Virginia Green, Faith Galmiche and Janelle Eichelberger will be presented by Miss Virginia Hampson of the Knickerbocker studios in specialty and tap dancing, it was announced.

CITY SUED FOR FLOOD DAMAGE

$1,650 Asked by Wichitan In Petition

Suit for $1,650 damages was brought in district court here Wednesday by G. D. Ireland and wife against the city of Wichita Falls, the plaintiff alleging that overflow from the streets has damaged his house and furniture at 2105 Broad street to that extent under heavy rains of the past few years.

Grading of city streets caused diversion of heavy drainage over his lot in 1927 and 1928, the plaintiff alleges, ruining his garden and lawn, and damaging the house. Following the substitution of two 30-inch water mains for open drainage ditches last April, the petition continues, the property again was inundated in June. Floors of the house at that time were more than three inches under water, it was said. In October, 1930, the plaintiff further states that more than six inches of water stood above his floors.

Damage of $1,400 to the house, and $250 to the furniture, is claimed in the action.

Sentence Suspended In Liquor Trial Here

J. C. Jackson, entering a plea of guilty before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court Wednesday morning on a charge of transporting whisky, was given a suspended sentence of two years.

Foy to Go to Shippers Meeting at Houston

Authorization has been granted Dudley B. Foy, traffic manager of the chamber of commerce, to attend the Southwest shippers' advisory board meeting at Houston March 5, and to invite the board to hold its June "grain" meeting in Wichita Falls, it was announced Wednesday following a meeting of the chamber of commerce traffic committee. Wilburn Page, convention manager of the chamber here, will accompany Mr. Foy to Houston and officially bid for the meeting to be held here.

The traffic committee also authorized Mr. Foy to attend continued hearings of the Southwest consolidated cases by the Interstate Commerce commission at San Antonio March 2.

CHAMBERLIN WILL

Edson A. and Vernon W. Chamberlin, brothers of Miss Ethel Elizabeth Chamberlin, whose death occurred here a few days ago, were named as beneficiaries in her will which was filed for probate in the county court here Wednesday.

A sum of $1,000 was bequeathed to the younger brother, Vernon W., upon condition that the net estate exceed a certain stipulated amount. The remainder of the estate was given to Edson A. Chamberlin, who also was named as executor.

The document was written and signed on July 25, 1927.

It's No Secret . . .
There is no secret about getting ahead financially. Saving money in a savings account is one of the simplest of business transactions. . . . No red tape, no ifs and ands, no complicated transactions, and no long and involved codes of rules and conditions to be read and understood. . . . Depositing money and withdrawing it is so simple that children have accounts. . . . Simple enough, isn't it.
