BANDITS SLAY 15-YEAR-OLD AMARILLO GIRL

City, County Officials to Take up Hospital Case

JOINT SESSION IS CALLED FOR MONDAY OCT. 18

Council and Court Expected To Hear Charges Made Of Negligent Care

PATTILLO ANNOUNCES

Denies Charges Lodged Against Institution By Harrison and Adair

A special joint meeting of the city council and county commissioners to consider what action should be taken, if any, on recent complaints against the General hospital will be held next Monday afternoon, it was announced yesterday following a conference between Mayor R. E. Shepherd and County Judge D. B. Sartin. Until then, it appeared nothing would be done in an official way.

The meeting was called following a complaint made Monday night before the city council by Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, and H. J. Adair, publicity director for the same organization. Alleged negligent treatment of Owen Savage, injured at the fair ground on Oct. 2, prompted the appearance of Mr. Harrison and Mr. Adair before the council. It was charged that Savage was allowed to lie for 20 minutes or more without a physician's attention; that he went into convulsions in this period; that his clothing was torn from him by two negro men; and that a doctor's treatment was not available until after payment of the hospital bill had been guaranteed by Mr. Harrison.

Patello Replies

Dr. A. D. Patillo, chairman of the general hospital board, replied yesterday in a lengthy statement to Mr. Harrison's remarks. In it he denied categorically that young Savage had been ignored; he declared that the hospital afforded prompt treatment to all cases, regardless of the identity or station of the patient; and characterized Mr. Harrison's complaint as "a scare about nothing."

"The hospital is going on as always has, only better," Dr. Pattillo said. "The only change in the past few years is the personnel of the staff members and the hospital attendants. We have the same general conduct and arrangements with the exception that the hospital has been recently renovated and overhauled, and the services greatly improved until we have one of the finest hospitals in the southwest.

"It is an institution owned and operated by Wichita county and the city of Wichita Falls and should have the support of its citizens. The hospital cares for both pay and charity cases; the pay cases having their own doctors, and the charity cases cared for by a staff of physicians and surgeons serving for a period of three months, giving several hours each day of their time to the poor of the city without pay.

"Emergency cases coming into the hospital who do not specify some preference of some individual doctor are referred to the doctors of the staff serving at that particular time.

"With reference to the case to which Mr. Harrison referred in Tuesday morning's Record News, I will say that I have made a thorough investigation into the affair and find that a staff doctor was called and promised to come immediately to the hospital which he did.

"It happens that for the last three months of this year, I am serving as chief of the surgical staff with Dr. W. S. Tyson. At the time this patient, Owen Savage, was brought to the hospital by Mr. Harrison which was about 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon—when office people are prone to relax a little—I was away from the office on a call where there was no telephone, therefore the hospital was unable to get into communication with me.

"Dr. Tyson was called and re-

I've Made My Move, Harrison Declares

Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, commented but briefly yesterday when shown a statement by Dr. A. D. Pattillo in which the latter denied charges made by Harrison regarding the Owen Savage case.

"I have no feeling or personal consideration in the matter at all," he said, "and in making the charges I did I was actuated only by the motives of a citizen who wants prompt, efficient and courteous service afforded to any person who may be brought to our general hospital in an injured condition, regardless of his station in life or his ability to pay.

"I feel that I have placed the matter fairly before the city authorities and I am sure that they will take the necessary steps to correct the situation promptly."

When A Queen Comes to Visit Us—What Happens?

CHERBOURG, France, Oct. 12. (AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania sailed away for America tonight aboard the Leviathan, the flag of her country flying from the port truck of the largest of liners as it passed through rain out into the Atlantic.

Both in Paris this morning and in Cherbourg tonight the queen was bidden farewell by representatives of Rumania, France and the United States. The official expression of "Bon Voyage" were augmented by spontaneous good wishes from the crowds gathered to get a glimpse of the golden haired gracious mother-in-law of the Balkans. Before leaving Paris a family reconciliation was effected with her son, Crown Prince Carol, who

SOUTH'S COTTON ILLS ARE UP FOR EXPERTS' AID

Delegates From Producing States Invade Memphis For Conference

MARKETING BIG AIM

Ways and Means To Be Devised for Disposition of Big Money Crop

MEMPHIS, Oct. 12. (AP)—Delegates named by governors of the cotton growing states tonight were bringing to Memphis for solution in a south-wide conference tomorrow the problem of an over production of the south's principal "money crop" and prevalent below production prices.

The conference called by Governor Henry L. Whitfield, of Mississippi to meet an admittedly critical situation will undertake to devise means for an orderly marketing of the present heavy surplus cotton crop and a system of financing and growing of a logical crop next year with assurance given the south today by the federal government of co-operating in meeting its problem.

Aid Assured

Federal aid was assured in a statement issued by a committee named by President Coolidge declaring its readiness to join in measures to alleviate the situation but emphasizing that leadership in the movement must necessarily rest with the south.

Indications tonight were that plans would be submitted at tomorrow's conference to compel a drastic cut in cotton acreage next spring, contemplating the co-operation of southern bankers in making credits to farmers dependent upon acreage reductions.

State Meets Held

While the conference here is expected to provide a plan of procedure looking to action throughout the cotton belt to remedy conditions, meetings were held in several states today to canvass local situations. In Arkansas the agricultural committees of the Texas-Arkansas bankers association went on record as favoring a cotton acreage reduction next year of at least one-third; in Alabama, F. W. Gist, state agricultural statistician proposed before a regional conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce that 4,000,000 bales of the 1926 crop be withdrawn from the market and in North Carolina the state prison board determined to decrease production next year 25 per cent.

COUNTIES MAY GAIN IN AREA

Five countis in the Texas Panhandle may, between them, acquire about 25,000 additional acres at the expense of four Oklahoma counties as a result of the supreme court decision on the Texas-Oklahoma boundary dispute, Judge A. H. Carrigan, attorney of this city, declared yesterday in commenting on the case.

Childress, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Hemphill and Lipscomb counties would be the Texas counties involved, according to Judge Carrigan, while Harmon, Beckham, Roger Mills and Ellis would be the Oklahoma division included. The dispute on which the supreme court ruled is not to be confused with the Red river litigation involving valuable oil lands in this vicinity. The Red river, of course figures in both, however.

Texas has probably won a victory in the decision, but the victory is empty and void so far as any real revenue is concerned, in the opinion of Judge Carrigan, who has followed the case through its various stages.

"Few people realize that the victory when finally accomplished to Texas will really be a victory for a group of private individuals," he stated, adding that "the state of Texas has long since patented this land to private individuals and to win in the boundary dispute merely means that these individuals will come into possession of the land without any further cost to them whatsoever."

"It will indeed accrue a little more taxes to the state," Judge Carrrigan said, "but most of the land in question is as yet undeveloped and it is a known fact that portions of the country unimproved usually cost a province more money to make usual improvements, such as roads, schools, etc., than actual tax money coming from the territory amounts to."

The disputed land in question amounts to about 25,000 acres, being a narrow strip about 140 miles long and less than a mile wide. It is situated in the counties of Harmon, Beckham, Roger Mills and Ellis, of the state of Oklahoma, and should Texas win the suit would be added to the counties of Childress, Collingsworth, Wheeler, Hemphill and Lipscomb in Texas.

BORGER THUGS OPEN FIRE AS THEFT CLIMAX

New Outbreak of Lawlessness Comes in Oil Field Boom Town In Panhandle

SHE DIES INSTANTLY

Shooting Follows On Heels Of Federal Inquiry In Crime Conditions

AMARILLO, Oct. 12. (AP)—Mildred Poothman, 15-year-old Amarillo school girl, was shot and instantly killed by highwaymen after they had robbed her companion tonight in the newest outbreak of lawlessness in Borger, an oil town near here.

The girl and Ray Allen were returning through Borger to Amarillo from the Empire Oil camp when the highwaymen stopped them near a railroad crossing, Allen reported. After robbing him, he said, the bandits opened fire on the girl, shooting her five times. Allen said she had accompanied him to the oil camp where he had gone to get pay for work.

The shooting followed close on the heels of an order issued by United States Attorney General Sargent Friday for a federal investigation of conditions in Borger. His order followed a complaint to United States District Judge W. H. Atwell by a delegation of Borger residents that a "reign of terror" existed in the oil town and that authorities seemed unable to cope with lawlessness existing there.

A posse was immediately organized and is searching for the slayers of Miss Poothman.

Weather bureau predictions for this section Wednesday were cloudy, possibly showers and colder.

Well, a Ball Game's a Ball Game In Waco And Austin The Same As In New York, The Hornsbys Aver

Rogers' Wife Stood Up And Yelled, She Admits, When Alex Fanned Lazerri in a Pinch—And Her Old Man Says He Wasn't At All Excited

ABROAD THE TEXAS SPECIAL WITH THE HORNSBY'S, Oct. 12.(AP)—Mrs. Rogers Hornsby told today how it feels .....

In the New York ball park at the deciding world series game between New York and St. Louis with her husband, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

With the Yanks at bat, two out, the bases full and only one necessary run needed to tie the game in the seventh inning.

With Haines, St. Louis pitcher, suffering from a split finger and fast ebbing morale.

With Grover Cleveland Alexander, big league pitcher for 12 years, sent out on the field by her husband to stem the Yankee tide.

Said Mrs. Hornsby ....Rogers and Billy, their 16-months-old boy, call her "Mom".....

"You have no idea. The suspense of the whole game was just terrific....to me, at least. "I'm always more excitable than Rogers. My heart just sank when Alexander walked out to the pitcher's box. He wasn't a bit disturbed and picked up his ball like it was going to be a neighborhood game of one-eyed cat instead of the world series decision.... with 38,000 people watching.

"I ought to have known Alexander, though. He never gets worked up over anything. Well, he stood there and coolly fanned Lazerri out....and I thought I'd go crazy!

"I stood up and fairly shrieked. "Roger" "Roger" "Roger" over and over.... I don't know whether I said it out loud or to myself.... I didn't care. And for Rogers, I could see his whole fac eand his eyes light up from where I was. My, but they did shine."

Rogers was listening interested-ly to her description of her feelings at the crucial test.

"That's about the way you felt?" he was asked.

"No I wasn't excited, I'll admit," he answered. "A ball game is a ball game, you know, whether we are playing Waco or Austin in Texas or the Yanks in New York."

"You Thin People Just Don't Drink Enough—Water, That Is," Expert On Feminine Beauty Tells Her Hearers

Mme. Chernoff Delivers Interesting Lecture Tuesday Morning to Large Crowd of Women At Beauty School Being Conducted By The Record News

"The Philosophy of Health" was the subject of Madame Ida Chernoff's lecture at the Olympic theatre Tuesday morning when a large audience of enthusiastic women heard the secrets of how to obtain and perpetuate beauty.

"Pay a great deal of attention to the food you eat if you will maintain good health, which after all is the real secret of beauty. We do not eat a sufficient amount of raw food. I eat at least one-third of my food raw. If you are inclined to be too fleshy do not use oils on the raw food but on the other hand, one inclined to be thin, should use the oil, and drink plenty of water, six or eight glasses a day" Madame Chernoff admonished.

"Thin people just simply don't drink water. Take for example, fruits of any kind. If you do not give them plenty of water, they will wrinkle up, so you wonder why you who do not drink lots of water, are wrinkled. The body uses all the water in the system and then begins to dry up and wrinkle.

Seventy-five per cent of sickness is because of constipation which is easily overcome by drinking plenty of water and eating enough raw food, and out of every 100 persons, 35 die of preventable diseases," the speaker continued

Nervous? Abstain.

"Never eat when upset or nervous, for your food will not agree with you, the stomach will not function properly when your mental condition is not right," Mrs. Chernoff said, and demonstrated her remarks by calling attention to the Indians, as models of perfect health." The Indian is a placid person eats raw food and is a true speciman of good health, seldom too fat or too thin, but muscular and strong, with perfect digestion. He never becomes very much excited or enthused, he breaths deep naturally, walks slowly, and deliberately, you cannot tell by looking

COURT HOUSE NEEDS A MAP

Office Space Being Shifted Around With Dizzy Regularity

The city health department made its move yesterday in the court house checker game, and now there remains only three more moves before the game is finished. The county commissioners court recently issued instructions for the city to vacate the offices of the health department in the basement of the court house in order that a general shifting of offices might be made to provide space for the district attorney.

It finally evolved on the health department to move, and they are going to Voss building at 822 Ohio next to the city hall.

The Red Cross office in the basement will now move into the health offices, and then Burl Bryan, county superintendent, will move into the Red Cross offices, and his office will be occupied by the district attorney.

Queen Coming

dined at the queen's table last night, and then went to the station today to see his mother off on her long anticipated voyage to the new world.

Marie wore a krimmer coat of gunmetal shade fading into grey over simple brown tailored suit. A chic brown felt traveling hat topped her auburn head. She wore a lone white orchid over her heart. Her slippers and hose were in harmony with the rest of the costume. Despite the ordeal of supervising the last minute packing of the 109 pieces of luggage of the party, as well as her quite natural emotion at seeing Carol again, she looked radiant. Princess Ileana who accompanied her, carried a couple of the many bouquets sent to her mother while Prince Nicholas had the queen's pet black spaniel in tow.

On the six hour train ride down to Cherbourg from Paris, Marie remained in her private car, where she was visited by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who lunched with her. The two again sat side by side in Cherbourg when an early dinner was held in honor of the queen by the port's city authorities. When the train carrying the queen and her party arrived at Cherbourg it entered the maritime train shed which was decorated with the colors and emblems of France, America and Rumania. Numerous bouquets were added to the vast collection of flowers which have already been presented to her.

Rear Admiral Rodgers Wells, commander of the American flotilla in the harbor, was introduced to the queen along with the American consul Samuel H. Wiley and then came another bouquet and letters sent by Lady Astor, who had arrived home from America only a few hours before.

at his face whether he likes you or despises you. He never allows his feelings to run very high. He exercises all the time, not artificial exercise but natural."

"Thin people are generally very nervous people. They take troubles to heart and loses a great deal of unnecessary energy. If you need some one in an emergency I recommend a thin person, they are always intense and give out too much of their energy, they should rest more than the fleshy person, which they never seem to do," Mrs. Chernoff said.

Facial Beauty.

Following her remarks on proper food and health giving agencies, the speaker demonstrated a facial, how to use cleansing cream, clay pack and make-up. For rheumatism, Mrs. Chernoff recommended eel skin and alos told painstakingly how to take a soda bath which she declared was splendid for acid conditions with which both thin and fat are afflicted.

A bath of oil of pine needles and benzoine compound, two-third ounce of the former and one-third ounce of the latter in the water, followed with exercises was recommended for insomnia, also an especially cleansing bath was of warm water, containing two quarts of wormwood tea made from a package of wormwood. To increase weight, the beauty specialist recommended a specially prepared product of the Madame Chernoff goods or olive oil, the latter to be rubbed all over the body.

At the close of the lecture, questions were answered, and several prizes presented.

This Morning Madame will speak on reducing weight without strenuous diet or exercises. How to reduce any part of the body separate from any other part.

Madame Chernoff approaches her subject from a whimsical, common sense standpoint and she herself is a compelling example of the things she teaches. No longer a girl in years, she has charm, and approach of a youthful woman with personality far beyond the average.

The lecture Tuesday morning was the second in a series which are being given under the auspices of the Record News, and was heard by about 500 women.

BUILDING ON STEADY CLIMB

$52,000 In Permits Are Taken Out Tuesday; Big Week Ahead

City building continues on the rampage started Monday when an additional $52,000 worth of new building was granted in permits by the city clerk Tuesday. The total for the two days runs well over the $100,000 mark and is a start that may make a banner week in the building line.

Mrs. Lydia Voss is building a $7,000 apartment house at 704 Wauford street, J. T. Wright being the contractor.

J. P. Pidigo is beginning work on his home at 2008 Arthur street which will cost approximately $5,000.

Permit was issued for the construction of a new church building in the Scotland addition for the Evangelical church. The building is located at 1301 North Sixth street.

Inge and Burger took out a suburban permit for the construction of $35,000 worth of rural store buildings and a residence. This property is located in the vicinity of the County Club Estates.

There were a number of smaller building and repair projects not entered in this amount, which were given permits during the day.

More Area

Spain in 1819 during President Monroe's administration, the one-hundredth meridian was established as the boundary line between what is now Texas and Oklahoma. Later United States engineers established this line on the ground, but Texas was not a party to that arrangement, and that line is practically the actual boundary as it now stands. Later Texas surveyors surveyed out the 100th meridian and declared it to be some distance east of the present boundary, hence the suit for the recover of the strip by Texas.

"As I understand the supreme court decision, as it was made public Monday," Judge Carrigan stated, "the line must now be located and fixed on the ground by a commission which is to be appointed by the supreme court of the United States, and the actions of this commission will be final.

"I also understand that the decision nullifies all former locations of the 100th meridian on the ground, and that these boundaries are not binding on anyone. The actual location of the 100th meridian must be set by a commission appointed by the supreme court.

"In my judgment," Judge Carrigan stated, "the state has not been benefitted at all, except for a small amount of additional taxes, but certain private individuals will reap the benefit of the so-called victory for Texas."

Judge Carrigan stated that he felt sure the state of Texas could not collect back taxes on the lands which have already been collected by the state of Oklahoma, and there is little to be gained in material value to the state.

TWO FIRE CALLS.

The city fire department responded to two calls yesterday morning, neither of which amounted to much damage. The first call came from 1605 Eleventh street and was a fire in a servant house. The chemical truck made short work of this conflagration, while the hose cart and hook and ladder trucks went to 1715 Truehart where a residence fire was quickly extinguished without much damage.

Hospital Case

ported he would go to the hospital immediately, which he did. Upon arriving there, he found that Dr. Bailey Collins had been asked to see the boy which he had promptly done. This relieved the staff of any further responsibility so far as this case was concerned.

"Dr. Collins treated the boy until he recovered and I am told by Dr. Collins that there was not much to do for the boy, as he had no broken bones or bleeding points, and that he made a full and complete recovery in a few days.

"He also said the boy was not in convulsions and did not have convulsions from that time on.

"Furthermore, Dr. Collins says the question of pay was not discussed at all between himself and Mr. Harrison.

"Mr. Harrison was custodian of the boy at the time and could have called any doctor he chose and I am sure that any doctor in Wichita Falls would have responded to his call and rendered aid in this emergency without any question of remuneration.

"Furtherfore, if Mr. Harrison had used the forethought and judgment which one knowing him would consider him capable of doing, he would have had the hospital notified and a physician summoned when he left the fair grounds.

Used Negroes

"In as far as we are able to do so, we do not have female nurses undress male patients and the white orderlies being engaged at the time and, not available for this duty, colored porters were called in to undress this boy.

"As to tearing of clothing, that is sometimes done where the clothing is already torn or ruined and where the attendant may not have scissors for cutting the clothing and where haste is necessary.

"I am not sure that I voice the statment of the board as I said in a letter to Mr. Harrison a few days ago that we welcomed constructive criticism from any well-meaning citizen of Wichita county and that we welcome any investigation.

"There may be some ground for criticism on the part of the superintendent in not asking Dr. Collins to see the case immediately as he was nearby and in the building But since she had summoned a staff doctor and he had promised to come immediately, she felt that she had done all that was necessary as it was not a case where any treatment of a surgical nature was demanded.

"Instances of this kind are where people should keep their heads in order to know what is the best thing to do and not go to pieces. In order that the public may know the whole truth instead of a warped version of the matter, I am making this statement."

DESPLAINES, Ill.—Miss Edith Garron committed suicied by jumping from a church steeple.

REALTORS STUDYING

"Know your City" Idea Is Started At Noon Day Luncheon.

Members of the Wichita Falls Real Estate board launched a new program idea in the regular meeting of the board Tuesday noon at the Kemp when a "Know Your City" study was inaugurated.

Realtors expressed their opinions following the recent state convention of realtors here that they did not know about their city the things they should know, and with this idea in mind they are beginning to study questions of the city.

P. S. Richardson conducted a lesson on Wichita Falls at the meeting Tuesday and questions were asked members. What is the total annual shop craft pay-roll of this city.

J. M. Bland, resident of Wichita Falls for the last 23 years, who was one of the pioneer merchants, charter member of the chamber of commerce and the merchant's association, told of the rapid growth of Wichita Falls. "It is easy for us who are in the midst of things to let things develop and grow beyond us. Things nearest to us are things we know little about," and he urged the realtors to study Wichita Falls.

Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, made a short talk, speaking of the recent industrial survey of Wichita Falls. "It is full of interesting and startling information, and the material collected by the field men is accurate, and shows to what extent Wichita Falls is developing."

"The city is growing so rapidly that it is hard to keep up with it," he declared in closing.

A. L. Huey, president of the board, was in charge of the meeting.

NO BAIL PERMITTED

C. W. Watson Remanded To Jail Without Bond

DALLAS, Oct. 12. (AP)—C. W. Watson, charged with the slaying of Jack McMath on a principal street here September 30, Tuesday was remanded to jail without bail. After the case had been continued Monday afternoon until the spring term of district court, habeas corpus proceedings were begun and were concluded Tuesday.

When District Judge J. O. Woodward announced that bail would be denied the defendant, a demonstration took place, bringing a sharp rebuke from the court. Defense counsel immediately gave notice of appeal.

PLENTY OF CORN

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 12. (AP)—Plenty of corn on Texas farms is indicated in the October 1, report of H. S. Schutze, government statistician here. The report was released Tuesday.

Indications point to a crop of 108,612,000 bushels, the report said, as compared with 195,000 bushels in 1919. In that year, however, Texas had 2,320,000 head of swine as one of the means to consume it, compared with 1,062,000 head this year. Morever the report asserts, old corn remaining on farms generally in three times as great as last year, or almost the average carry-over of the past decade.

ANOTHER BIG ONE

Seminole County Oklahoma Gets Huge Test

TULSA, Oct. 12.—Seminole county, which has been one of Oklahoma's big producing oil counties since St. Patrick's day of 1923, when R. H. Smith of Philadelphia, brought in his discovery well in 33-8-3, early Monday had another discovery chalked up to its credit.

Incidentally it brought into the limelight a man who has had as many ups and downs, principally downs, as did R. H. Smith, J. I. Cromwell, R. F. Garland and the other early operators in this great oleaginous district.

F. J. Searight of Tulsa, joined the list of Seminole discoverers early Monday when his No. 3 Youngblood, in the northwest of the northeast of the southeast of 33-10-6, found the Wilcox sand at 4,310 feet and in it 7 feet, picked up pay sand, and penetrated it just one-half foot, it started off as a new gusher well.

The first 30 minutes the new producer put 62 barrels of high gravity oil into the tanks, and the next 30 minutes it flowed 120 barrels and the third 30 minutes it did 150 barrels. Estimates indicate that it is good for from 6,000 to 10,000 barrels a day.

Because of a lack of storage, the new gusher is flowing into earthen reservoirs, while tank builders are busy erecting new steel receptacles for the rich oil that Searight has found.

SEEKING POTASH

Government to Make Explorations In Upton County Fields.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.(AP)—A tract of land in Upton county, Texas, has been selected by the bureau of mines for its underground exploration for potash.

An appropriation of $500,000 to be spent over a period of five years was made by the last congress for financing the exploration. The land is part of a producing oil field and the presence of potash was indicated first by the oil well drills. The government will drive a series of test holes, hoping to find the potash in the form of mineral salt in the underground strata.

Production of potash, a valuable fertilizer chemical, is now practically a monopoly in the hands of French and German producers, from whom American farmers buy very extensively.

A Famous Man

The originator of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood, as well as the "Favorite Prescription" for women, was Dr. Ray V. Pierce, a practicing physician in Western Pennsylvania. He early moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established The Invalids' Hotel, then he put up his home remedies in the World's Dispensary, where they were carefully prepared from roots, barks and herbs, and placed them with druggists all over the United States.

Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists all over the United States than any other medicine. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a tonic in its effect on the stomach and digestive apparatus; and alterative in its actions on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care free.

Ask your druggist for Doctor Pierce's family medicines, in tablets or liquid or send 10 cents for a trial package of any of Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

IGNORE WARNINGS

AMARILLO, Oct. 12. (AP)—In a statement made Monday night, Congressman Marvin Jones declared that the major oil companies have ignored themselves any warning they may have been given in the spring for the need of curtailing drilling in the Panhandle oil fields.

He cited figures showing that the production of the major companies have been steadily increasing, while the operations of the independents have been greatly curtailed.

"I wonder for whose benefit the so-called warning was given," he said.

MORE OUTPUT, OIL MEN'S AIM

"Best Minds of Industry" Anxious To Improve Field Methods

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 12. (AP)—It is the hope of the best mind in the petroleum industry to show increased petroleum recovery by new methods and that fields now exhausted or nearly exhausted under present methods can be made to yield more oil than during their past history. Alex G. Heggem, Tulsa oil operator, told the Mid-continent Oil and Gas association convention today.

"Thus without the drilling of more wells if the present hopes of engineers are realized, fields now in existence will produce more oil recent cut i the price of Panhandle 1858 when oil was first commercially introduced in Pennsylvania," Heggem said. "The rapid advance we are making in compressed air and gas engineering in oil recovery makes it appear these hopes will be realized."

OIL MAN DEAD.

Huge Merger Rumored In Panhandle Fields

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Oct. 12.—Nine companies whose stockholders reside mainly in Amarillo and the panhandle are involved in rumored mergers pending, with the New England Oil and Refining company, of Boston, Mass., named as the purchaser.

The New England announced two weeks ago the purchase of the holdings of the Westex Oil company which comprised about 3,600 barrels of daily production. It is reported that the New England holds options on the properties of the following companies: Fly-Blackburn, Sunburst Oil, McIlroy Oil, Pantex Pipeline, Pantex Oil, Lucky Ten Oil, Relief Oil and Echo Oil companies.

Dixon Creek Oil company, Amarillo owned, is also involved in the rumor. Dixon Creek stock has sold for $25 a share on the Amarillo exchanges as compared with par of $1.

The rig is to be moved two miles east to another location on the W. A. Gregg farm. The new test will be southeast of Davidson. It is understood that the company will drill to the 3500 foot mark in this test if it becomes necessary.

WILL REDUCE CRUDE

The Atlantic Refining company Tuesday will reduce the tankwagon and service station prices on gasoline one cent a gallon in the state of Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The Atlantic's action is somewhat surprising for reports from the Atlantic coastal refinery market was looking brighter, with refiners asking 12 cents flat a gallon in tank car lots. Gulf coast refiners report the market firm at 11 1-4 cents there.

In group 3 the gasoline market was still quoted at 10 to 10 1-4 cents for 58-60, U. S. motor grade.

Particular women go shopping

Lingerie differs greatly in quality. That is why particular women compare one garment with another before they buy. Only by comparison can they obtain the best value and greatest satisfaction.

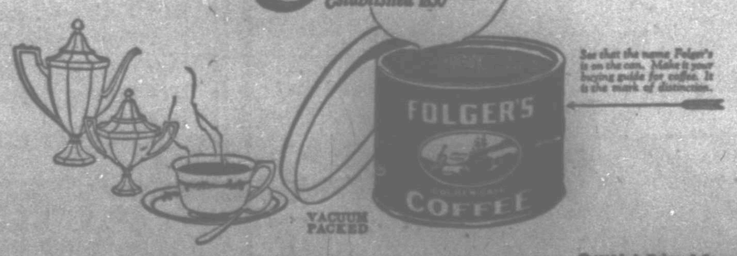

The same holds true in buying coffee.

We could use many fine words in describing Folger's Coffee. Its appetizing flavor. Its inviting aroma. The satisfaction that comes with each hot, cheering cup of this finest coffee. The economy of its high quality.

Instead, we ask you to compare Folger's Coffee with the brand you are now using by making the Folger Coffee Test. It is the logical, easy way to shop for coffee.

The Folger Coffee Test: Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. You will decidedly favor one brand or the other. The Best Coffee Wins. That's fair, isn't it?

Industry Takes Women Out of Home, She Says

"When a girl prepares herself for a wife, mother and home-maker, she prepares herself for a job which society refuses to let her take the initiative in getting. If the nice young man doesn't happen to come along, she is prepared for the most wonderful job in the world but does not find it," Mrs. Maggie Barrie of A. and M. college and chairman of the department of the American Home in the General Federation of Women's clubs, told the civics department of the Woman's Forum in a forceful lecture at the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday afternoon.

Speaking on the subject of "The Home and Changed Social Order," Mrs. Barrie said that the industrial revolution in the 18th century was responsible for the change in women's education and vocation in life. This change, she said, took women out of the home. For when small shoe shops developed into large shoe factories and other small enterprises became great industries where all the necessities of the home are manufactured, women ceased to make bread, spin and weave—they were called upon to help in these industries.

"On account of this change in industrial conditions, women commenced to be educated differently. Instead of educating them for home-makers we began to educate them for specialists as we do men. Educate them to make a living. We did another thing, we gave her a pay envelope and leisure. It is utterly absurd to try to take those privileges away from her now. She is going to stay in the business world," the speaker said.

Formerly Producers

"In ante-bellum days women were producers. She was a productive quality in an economic world. We have passed that stage now and are faced with present conditions. The economic world that changed in the education of women and even changed religion. People had to be educated to run these industries," she declared.

Mrs. Barrie said that the quality of the home determines the quality of the output and the division of home-making of the General Federation to secure a recognition of home-making as an occupation and the hope as a place of industry in the Census Bureau.

A memorandum has been submitted to the chairman of the census committee including a request on behalf of the general federation that the census committee recommend an amendment to the current census law that will authorize the gathering of data as to the extent to which home are equipped with principal sanitary and essential labor saving facilities; what hand or so-called neighborhood industries are carried on in the household and by what members of the family, the speaker continued, and we must raise the vocation status of the home-maker."

Mrs. Wolf Speaks

Preceding Mrs. Barrie's talk, Mrs. Dean J. Wolf gave a ten-minute talk on current events and touched on such interesting subjects as international affairs, prohibition, the Dempsey-Tunney fight, Kipling, president Coolidge and the income tax.

Both speakers proved exceedingly interesting as well as entertaining.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen Shows Us Her Paris Warbrobe

By MME. LISBETH

While Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen of France, is known to the world primarily as a tennis star, it is no secret that she understands the art of dressing with the best of her countrywomen. Her tour of this country to play the game was also her excuse for annexing a most elaborate and stunning wardrobe. And Mademoiselle is not a bit selfish about it; she is willing not only to let us see her dresses and wraps but to let us see how she looks in them. They are reputed to have cost $25,000.

At the upper left of the picture above, Mlle. Lenglen is seen with a whole rackful of frocks and wraps, evidently choosing the wrap to wear with the sports dress she has on. She claims that she never wears anything but sports and evening dresses, as so-called sports dresses are appropriate for almost any time of day that does not call for formal apparel.

At the right she is still wearing the aforementioned sports dress, and we get a front view showing that the sweaterlike bodice buttons down the front but is left open at the top to show a vestee of plain material with rounding neck. She is wearing a sports coat of white material with collar and cuffs of rabbit fur.

A wonderful evening coat is displayed at the lower left of the picture. The material is metal brocade of green, rose and gold and borders are of rabbit. This is the wrappy type of cloak—the cloque wrap. There is a circular flare to the skirt and the garment which folds about her figure.

Mademoiselle wears a dress of silk muslin figured in blue and red at the lower right. The figured silk is combined with a solid color, the letter forming the scarf collar which ties loosely on the left shoulder, the cuffs of the long sleeves, the ends of the sash and a wide border on the skirt, Mlle. Suzanne accompanies this frock with a very high crowned hat of black velour.

DID WITHOUT EATING UNTIL TO WEAK TO GO

In describing how he suffered from stomach trouble, Mr. S. T. Strain, of Swink, Okla., says:

"I have been a user of Black-Draught for four or five years. I have been taking it for stomach trouble. I suffered after eating with bloating and a 'tight feeling.'

"I had spells when I could not eat much of anything. I had severe headaches. I would be nauseated and hurt a lot. I was in a pretty bad fix.

"I began taking Black-Draught. It seemed to help me wonderfully. I hadn't found anything that benefited me as Black-Draught did. I certainly can recommend it.

"There were times when I just did without anything to eat until I was too weak to go, because it hurt me so when I did eat, and my breath seemed so short. I was just miserable, and when I ate my system seemed clogged.

"I had very severe headaches. So I didn't know just what to do. I knew I couldn't work if I didn't eat. Seemed like what I spit up was bitter as could be. I took Black-Draught pretty regularly and got where I could eat, and I don't have to take it so regularly now. But I sure do praise it for what it did for me.

Thousands of others praise Black-Draught for the help it has been to them in relieving biliousness, indigestion and constipation.

If troubled as described above, get a package of Black-Draught today, and give it a good trial.

Be Hard Boiled With The Men, She Urges

Although a Man May Demand All Your Time, Be Jealous When You Have Other Dates and Say That He Loves You, He's Not Really Serious Unless He Urges You to Name the Day.

I get hundreds of letters from girls and women in which the writer says that she is sure that some man is in love with her despite the fact that he has never made a single sentimental speech to her or asked her to marry him or given and indications that he has any serious intentions toward her. She bases the faith that is in her on the expression of his eyes or on his having come to see her regularly and monopolizing her society for years, or on his getting peeved every time she has a date even with a female friend and isn't at his beck and call. She explains his silence by his shyness or bashfulness or something and then asks:

"How can a woman tell if a man really loves her?"

Only by what he says, and not always then. Not every man who swears by all his gods that he worships and adores a woman is telling her the truth and is to be implicity believed. But if he isn't forever protesting his undying affection for her she may be perfectly sure that he doesn't care enough for her even to carry on a flirtation with her.

There is no such thing as a dumb Romeo. When a man falls in love the gift of tongue descends upon him. He becomes potetical, lyrical, rhapsodical, and he cannot only sing his love in fifty-seven different ways but he has the time of his life doing it. Nor was there ever a man too bashful and timid to ask for the thing he wanted.

Therefore, when a man does not come out flat-footed and not only ask a woman to marry him but urges her to name a speedy wedding day she may be perfectly certain that it is because he doesn't desire her for a wife and has no intention whatever of asking her to step to the altar. And she is kidding herself if she makes herself believe that he is in love with her. He isn't. Not for a minute.

As for a woman thinking that she can tell whether a man is in love with her or not by the expression in his eyes, that's tommyrot. What she sees when she gazes into his eyes is her own reflection. It is her own heart and hope that are mirrored there. Not the man's.

Besides, no woman can really read the expression in a man's eyes. She always interprets it to mean the thing she wants it to mean, whereas in all probability it means something entirely different. A cynic once said: "The light that lies in women's eyes lies and lies and lies," and that goes double for men. The only eyes, male or female, that you can really bank on meaning what they say are a dog's.

Nor is the fact that a man camps permanently on a woman's parlor chairs any indication that he loves her and intends eventually to marry her. Likely as not, it is her mother's cooking instead of her personal allure that draws him. He likes to go where he can get good home cooked food and be surrounded by a home atmosphere without the expense of keeping one up, and he feels that he makes sufficient return for the hospitality he receives by taking the girl out occasionally to some place of amusement.

But his feelings toward her are as impersonal as those he entertains toward her gas range. He is mildly grateful to both for blessings received, but he has no intention of tying up with either for life.

THE BIG QUESTION

Mussolini To Build An Empire If He Lives

PITTSBURGH, Pa. Oct. 12.(AP)—Premier Mussolini is "making a new nation out of Italy," in the opinion of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury.

The secretary, here yesterday to speak at Founders' day exercises of the H. J. Heinz company, said he had been much impressed by the premier, whom he met on a recent European tour.

"He is one of the world's most vigorous personalities," Mr. Mellon said.

Many of his measures are unique indeed. But they are effective and he certainly is making a new nation out of Italy."

Asked whether he thought Mussolini' s work sound enough to stand on its own merits without the aid of the premier's personality, the secretary replied in the affirmative.

"It is sound and there should be time enough for him to build strongly. He is a young man yet."

Then he added: "That is, of course, if they stop throwing bombs at him."

WHERE IGNORANCE HURTS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 12. (AP)—Misunderstanding, unfortunate and very often inexcusable, lack of adequate knowledge as to the other party's views and purposes are the chief causes of bigotry, religious quarrels and jangles between church and state.

This was the view expressed by Dr. John A. Lapp, Chicago, director of the social action department of the National Council of Catholic Women, who is here to attend the national conference of the organization.

Potato Soup—Cook three small potatoes, one small onion and a stalk or two of celery in a little water until tender. Strain through a coarse sieve. Put a large tablespoon of butter in double boiler, melt, add a level tablespoon flour, mix smooth, add one pint of milk, let come to a boil, add potato mixture, let cook for a few moments and serve.

Browned Potatoes — Boil small potatoes until tender and brown in fat in pan in which the lamb chops were cooked.

SUGGESTIONS.

Use a wooden spoon in mixing a cake and you will find a wooden potato masher excellent for creaming butter and sugar. The cake will also be much lighter.

Cut hangers from heavy cardboard and run a rod through a hole at the top. Place the rod in the children's clothes closet at a height that they can reach. Thus they can find their own garments. It encourages them to hang them up properly after wearing. The hangers are strong enough to hold children's dresses, waists and house dresses and keeps them in better shape and easier to find than when hung on hooks or piled on shelves. As the hangers are strung on the rod they cannot be pulled down or fall off like the wire hangers.

Some of the pretty new mat sets are made of thin bolting cloth, embroidered in colorful patterns to match the dresden chin. Others are done in blue to match the Chinese ware and other use the gay peasant patterns.

Some of the newest sets made of fine, strong Russian linen, have figures of Cossack, familiar Russian street figures, sleighs and the Russian bear. A great deal of black, dark blue and green appears in this work with orange and Russian red.

In restringing pearl necklaces or other strings of beads have you tried using an E violin string? It will last for about a year, and is stiff only for a few wearings. Needles for stringing beads can be purchased at any jewelry shop for a small amount.

Scraps of soap can be put through a food chopper and used as soap chips.

The Love Thief

IT was only natural, perhaps, that Barbara's heart should beat a little quicker when she first met Norman Parish. To be sure, he told Barbara nothing about himself—but his brown eyes laughed so frankly, and he seemed so perfect a gentleman, that she had no suspicion he was not everything he seemed to be.

And then one night, when he came to her, his slow step and the wretched look in his eyes instantly told her that something was wrong. But she did not dream of the terrible drama that was about to unfold, and in which she was to play so tragic a part. Could Barbara have been warned in time, she might have been saved the crushing remorse and bitter sorrow that were to darken her life for many years to come.

Don't fail to read Barbara's story in the November issue of True Story Magazine. The story is complete, starting on page 31—and is only one of the 18 thrilling true-life narratives that appear in the November issue of this intensely interesting magazine.

"Mad Love"—Like many another girl who is misled by the false glamour of a "movie" career, Ruth dreamed of the day when she would have the world at her feet. So with beauty and ambition as her sole capital, she set out to conquer fame in the studios. Of course, there could be only one result, and she might have profited by her defeat if she had not fallen madly in love with a popular screen idol. Today it is all like a terrible dream, which she feels will never be erased from her memory.

Minister Praises True Story

If all publications that are now before the public received the careful scrutiny and thorough inspection that the Macfadden publications receive I am satisfied that there would soon be a great change for the better in home and community life. One of the greatest tasks of a rural minister's life is to combat the great evil that has been for years encroaching stealthily but surely upon the spiritual life of his people through the poisoning of the mind by indiscriminate reading.

May success attend your every effort for purer and cleaner living as you continue your good work of publishing the TRUTH.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Walter E. Brooks
South Hamilton, Mass.

Other Absorbing Features in November True Story Are:

"Cheaters"—A young wife, with too little to occupy her mind, Alice soon came to regard her search for diversion as a quite harmless but thrilling pastime. Certainly it was with no thought of wrong that she eagerly accepted the invitation of a woman acquaintance to take her to places of doubtful reputation where she could "see a little of life." But Alice's very eagerness was to lead her blindly into a most terrible situation, and was to teach her a lesson she can never forget. A powerful, thought-compelling true story.

Who Is To Blame?

In these days of so-called moral liberty, who is to blame if young people fall into error through ignorance of Truth? The one way to drive home the perils of wrong is to emphasize by contrast the inspiring power of good.

True Story Magazine each month contains a great variety of gripping "fact-stories" that reveal the secret joys and sorrows, temptations and struggles, defeats and triumphs of people who have really lived the thrilling events they write about. Thus thousands are taught how to avoid those mistakes that can only end in remorse, bitter tears, and often tragedy.

There are 18 heart-gripping features in November True Story. If you are not now a reader, start with the November issue today.

"I read the words over and over—their meaning failing to reach my benumbed brain. Then heaviness rolls shook my body. I could bear no more."

If You Want To Be In Style In Frederick, Hook Up In a Club

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 12. The new family which recently moved to Frederick from another town had taken great care to pick their dwelling in one of the "nicest' sections of the town and to comport themselves with that sangfroid and sophistication that would show the neighbors that they were the sort of folk who "really belonged"—at least the mother and eldest daughter had done so. The father of the family had made no particular effort to attract attention one way or the other, sitting on his front porch whenever he chose with collar off, a pipe in his mouth and his feet on the banisters littering the porch with papers and tobacco ashes whenever he desired. The youngest daughter of the family was painfully self- conscious of her behavior when on the front lawn and appeared only in that spick-an-span attire that was certain evidence that the "family wasn't going to be disgraced" by that young tom-boy. However, in the back yard, she was an entirely different person, delighting in mud pies, sliding down the garage roof and acting exactly liks any other normal youngster of her age would do.

Self Satisfied

Several invitations had been extended the elde r daughter and mother to various club meetings and social activities and the air of self-satisfaction soon became every more apparent.

One of their neighbors, who had a young son of about the same age as the boydenish daughter of the new comers overheard a conversation between the two children out back of the houses near the adjoining garages.

"Oh, Billy, I'd just love to help you swipe the ice cream off Mrs. Smith's porch, but I'm afraid."

"Come on, whatcher afraid of?"

"Well, I believe I will," said the maid as she clambered over the dividing fance. "You see," she added half-apologetically "Ma and Sylvia wouldn't like it. They're refined, but me and pa ain't no more refined than you all are."

Choking back tears of laughter the neighbor ran to the house and as the joke was too good to keep it soon became village property. But as the new family really were "nice" people it had no effect on their club invitations and now is being forgotten.

If You Want To Have a Tune

An old Civil war song, sung by Jeb Stuart's dashing horsemen, clearly illustrates the attitude of Frederick toward clubs. The ditty ran: "If you want to have a good time, jine' the cavalry," and might be paraphrased here to "If you want to be known join some club."

There is no lack of opportunity for that group, variously known as "jiners" and "nice" people. There are over sixty clubs and associations, lodges and churches to which one may belong and a day is considered ill-spent in Frederick when from one to five of these organizations fail to meet. For clubs and "jiners" Frederick with its 5000 population hurls a challenge to the world. Accepting the ratio of two eligibles out of each family of five and would give two thousand persons eligible to belong to some organization and—they do. Waiting lists in the various don't amount to much here. If the organization one wishes to "make" is filled up, what is easier than to organize another along the same lines?

Not a Joke

The idea must not be gained, however, that Frederick clubs are a joke. Far from it. They are perhaps the most potent influence in the city for uplift and morality as well as culture and pleasure. If one doesn't belong to something in the way of a club here one simply has no place to go.

It was this condition that led to the unofficial organization of a group of kindred spirits who are known among themselves as the "Cliff Dwellers." Their numbers are few and consist for the main part of young married couples who inhabit "furnished apartments." As Frederick is a small town there are very few modern apartments in the place. These "apartments" in a city would sail under that other term "furnished rooms." It is the custom of this group to meet irregularly in each others apartments, compare the number of cups and saucers that have been furnished, bewail the leaky chimney and count the number of times the oil stove has "gone up."

Commercial and civic improvement organizations in Frederick are the chamber of commerce, the Retail Merchants association, Lions club, Cotton Growers association and the Woman's Chamber of Commerce. The Woman's Chamber of Commerce has a branch in the negro section of the town striving for a "better and bigger nigger town." The activities of these clubs are perhaps well understood, as most towns have similar organizations. So far Frederick has been spared the pains of "Rotary-ism," but it is rumored that some of the younger business men of the city are seeking to install a chapter of that organization here.

Frederick has seven churches, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Church of Christ, First Christian, Christian Scientists, and Catholic. The Methodist church has two woman's missionary societies. The Baptist church has three circles, the Presbyterian church has one guild. The Catholic ladies also have a club. Members from these missionary societies form the Federated Missionary society.

Two Politics

Frederick, being the county seat of steadfastly democratic Tillman county, has but two political or semi-political organization. It's a branch that apparently has been overlooked, but the Young Republicans are liable to form any moment now that Tillman county has promised to elect a Republican county judge, and it is understood that Tony Savia, only Italian of Harmon county is thinking of organizing a branch of the Fascisti in southwestern Oklahoma, as the ku klux klan and the American Legion.

Sporting activities of the town, outside of high school athletics find vent in the Frederick golf club with a nine-hole course near Burr's lake, the Week-end Gun club, a hunting and fishing club with camp on Red river, the Frederick Gun club, city pigeon hunters, and the Forty and Eight and Boy Scouts, three troops of the latter.

Lodges are prominently present there being the Masonic in three separate organizations, De Molays, Eastern Star, and Rainbow; the Odd Fellows and the Rebekah's the Knights of Pythias and their auxiliary, and perhaps one or two other fraternal insurance orders.

As important as these organizations may be they pale to insignificance when compared to the Women's clubs. These may be divided into three groups, educational, self-culture or study clubs and bridge clubs.

Three Groups

In the educational group are the High School Parent-Teachers' association, the Junior high school Parent-Teachers association. Whittier, Lowell and Emerson ward school Parent-Teachers associations.

Self-culture and study clubs are: Mothers', AS chapter P. E. O., Delphian, Twentieth Century and Fine Arts.

Social clubs are: Tuesday, Bridge Jole de Vie, Sans Souci, Nite-Owls, Laf-a-lot and Collegiate.

The local order of the Sons of Rest is about to fade out of existence. Pool halls, domino parlors and other "evil and iniquitious" places of congregation have been banished from the town and there is literally no place where a man may loaf gracefully and inconspicuously. Of course, he may flop himself down on a curb, but it is just one of those things that's not done and to enjoy any pleasure at all one has to keep moving.

No use going home, mother's liable to be waiting for one to keep the baby while she goes to a club meeting and no matter how sweet and cunning the child may be, a two-year-old has little attraction for a man who wishes in his innermost heart to discuss the "good old days" and reminiscences on whether skirts are really shorter just as mthat way.

What Frederick needs, is another club with a genuine good loafing or just seem that way.

RANGERS LEAVE

Texas Officers Are Withdrawn From Borger.

AUSTIN, Oct. 12. (AP)—Texas rangers, who were operating in the Texas Panhandle oil fields and the boom town of Borger, reputed to be the most lawless in Texas, have been withdrawn, it was ascertained from ranger headquarters.

Two rangers have been in the region for several weeks.

It has been the well known policy of the present administration that rangers are sent to counties only at the request of local authorities, and that they be removed at the request of the same authorities. Although no announcement has been made here as to why the rangers were withdrawn, it is assumed they were removed at the demand of the Carson county sheriff

ONE WAY TO DECIDE.

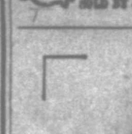

Texas Couple Draw Names For Allotment.

DALLAS, Oct. 12. (AP)—When a Texas couple decides to write finis on their married life splitting up the property is easy but how to divide up the children proved a snag to this couple. They appealed to the city attorney here for help and it was suggested facetiously that they put the childrens' names in a hat and draw.

Joke or no, the couple decided that solved the problem and they divided their eight children by that method.

"The plan of drawing the names from the hat and each of us taking four children is a wise one—we will not be playing favorites and I believe the children will be satisfied," the mother said after the family was divided by chance.

Beauty and Health go hand in hand

MORE and more women are discovering the importance of an antiseptic cleanliness—a cleanliness that goes deeper than mere surface aids to beauty. This applies to the skin, the hair, the mouth and teeth, the breath, the hands.

Such women are finding that Zonite is just as important in matters of beauty as in matters of health. Because Zonite is a true germicide. It kills the germs of seborrhea (dandruff) just as surely as it kills the germs of typhoid or diphtheria.

Complexional eruptions yield to Zonite, which disinfects the centers and dries them up. In the manicure, Zonite not only disinfects cuts and hangnails but bleaches fingernail stains.

Zonite used daily as a dentifrice and mouth-wash, keeps teeth and gums in a healthy condition.

Zonite destroys disagreeable breath odors. It does not merely cover up the odors temporarily with a sweet taste.

Zonite not only neutralizes body odors but destroys the germs that cause them. Zonite Ointment is particularly delightful for this purpose, as it is stainless, greaseless and gently aromatic—an antiseptic and deodorant in vanishing cream form.

Mme. Ida Chernoff, the famous beauty specialist who is conducting the Health and Beauty School in this city, highly recommends the use of Guest Ivory for cleansing the face and hands.

Capable, active Hands

They can easily be the most attractive hands of all

HANDS soft and white—admired for their firm smooth loveliness.

Can these be the hands that work in dishpan and washtub — housekeeping hands — busy all day long with innumerable household tasks?

Yes! For hands were never reddened and chapped by housework alone — it is "strong" soap that does the damage. The skin of your hands is just as delicate as the skin of your face. In cleansing either, only the purest of soap should be used.

For nearly half a century Ivory Soap has safeguarded the lovely complexions of millions of women. Its sterling purity and mildness have made it beauty's traditional guardian.

And now it comes forth as Guest Ivory in charming new array, moulded into a dainty cake which just fits feminine fingers. It is as pure and gentle as a soap possibly can be.

You will marvel at the wonderful improvement in the smoothness and clearness of your skin even after you have used Guest Ivory but a short time. And how surprised you will be at its modest price—five cents! It may be purchased almost anywhere.

LOCAL LIONS HAVE TO USE THREE ORCHESTRAS FOR DINNER

BUT ITS'S ALL FUN AT THAT

Dinner Club Enjoys Lively Program At Ladies Night Affair

Music, readings, interpretive dancing, and getting acquainted were features of the Lions club ladies' night program Tuesday night in a banquet at the Kemp hotel when 100 Lions and their ladies under the direction of Lion R. H. Graham.

Joint honors were shared with the lady guests by those who assisted the Lions club in the ministrel which was recently given, and a number of musical selections from that program were given.

Three orchestras played, the Littler Rovers composed of local boys; the Original Blue Moon orchestra, and the Lions Club Electra Cow Pasture Jazz Band.

One of the feature numbers of the program was given when Bill Davenport was introduced as a prospective member of the Lions club, and in specific terms he named the reasons why he believed he should not be a member. Joe S. Dickey, member of the local club, gave the eight cardinal principals for which Lionism stands and convinced the candidate-elect that Lionism had a place in the community and renders service to mankind.

Friends of young Rabinowitz have expressed appreciation for those who have sent messages and invite others to do so in order that he might be awarded one of three cash prizes with which he could further his musical study.

HE ADMITS HE LIKES TO REST

Dr. A. J. Weeks Tells Men's Club Some Of The Things That Count

"Physicians say that every one should have a hobby, mine is resting," Dr. A. J. Weeks, presiding elder of the Ardmore district of the M. E. church, South, said in his humorous and educational address to the Methodist Men's club at their first free banquet Tuesday evening in the basemen of the First Methodist church, South. Dr. Weeks told many interesting and amusing experiences he has had since leaving Texas "to go to Tennessee to concel the Texas debt to that state for such men as Houston and Crockett up to the present time."

"Time changes everything," said Dr. Weeks, and he compared the present with the centuries of the past by giving an interesting bit of English history obtained from his trip to the actual scenes and battlefields from the time of the Roman invasion in the first century to the twentieth. "A Welshman's clothes, five hundred years ago, were so scanty that they would have shocked people of fifteen or twenty years back," he said.

After the banquet served by Circle No. 1 a program was given, Judge H. J. Bruce was toastmaster. A sing-song led by E. F. Bohmfalk, educational director, foljowed an introduction of those present. Joel H. McGregor, wearing the picturesque dress of the high lands, gave three vocal selections of Scotch music. Miss Beulah Gardner entertained with two readings. Dr. Walter J. Johnson said the benediction.

POLYGAMY'S DEATH KNELL

THE present month witnesses the official prohibition of polygamy in Turkey. Henceforth the harem is contraband; the seraglio must shut up shop and all its more or less dainty and bewitching beauties go forth into a cold, cynical world and shift for themselves. No longer may a devout Mohammedan lead a dozen blushing brides to the altar in a bunch, to have and to hold, for better for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sicqness and in health, to love to cherish till occassionally death invades the ranks gradually breaks up the combination and finally obliterates the whole connubial works. The Turkish national assembly has adopted the Swiss civil code as a substitute for the old Mohammedan religious law regarding the organization, composition and operation of the family; and marriage and divorce will not be negotiated according to western fashion. Which means one wife at a time.

Of course so radical and sweeping a prohibition law could not be enacted without vigorous and indignant protests on the part of the advocates of personal liberty. By the beard of the prophet, does it not strike at the foundation of society? It is not an axe laid at the very roots of religion? The Koran aside, does not even the Christian Bible exploit the virtues of large and overflowing families and cite Solomon, the wisest of men, as maintaining a seraglio stocked with wives and concubines multitudinous enough to outclass the sands of the sea? Did not even so sagacious and superior a dog of an infidel as Theodore Roosevelt go around his country telling everybody to get a gait on and increase and multiply to beat the band? What old established religious duty, traditional right and immemorial usage will not these sacrilegious modernists in the national assembly go after next?

As a matter of plain, unpoetic fact, however, Turkey's new marriage law is said to be shocking the religious principles and moral sensibilities of very few Turks. Since the war, most of them, even the illiterate, have learned something about the fundamental principles of economics in the stern school of experience and economic considerations are rising superior to religious principles and moral sensibilities. Polygamy is an expensive institution. In a multitude of wives there is trouble, oceans of it and all varieties, but chiefly domestic and financial. Cases have been known where a man has inveighed against so much as one wife as one too many. Most of the opposition in Monogamy in Turkey is coming not from the men but the women. A life of luxurious laziness in a harem appeals powerfully to a Turkish girl, especially if the alternative be a life of toil as a domestic servant.

More or less difficulty in enforcing the new law is to be expected. No doubt every now and then a Turk who has the price will attempt to bootleg an additional wife or two, but he should not count too confidently on getting away with it. In addition to the vigorous backing of the anti-harem league the enforcement officers will have at their disposal Mustapha Kemal's eleborate secret service system and once vested with full powers of search and seizure these officers have only to camp on the trail of the law violator long enough to catch him with the goods, arrest him in the act and hale the whole damn family into court.

AN INQUIRY DUE, AT LEAST

SOMETIMES situations come up that no one likes to contemplate and that are disagreeable all the way around. But at the same time, in the interests of everyone involved, it is necessary that they be aired and corrected.

Charges have been laid at the door of the general hospital fall within this class.

It is a peculiar situation in which Wichita Falls and Wichita county find themselves with reference to the hospital. A very grave complaint has been made against the institution by two reputable and impartial citizens of Wichita Falls. No one for a moment will contend that the accusers have anything but the best interests of the community at heart.

They have no axe to grind; no personal animosity to vent; nothing save an honest conviction that something is not as it should be. Unintentionally they discovered something that, to them at least, appeared entirely without justification. They protested, which was what they should have done.

This is not a recommendation of any sort. Newspapers, the city council, the county commissioners, the chamber of commerce nor the lay public at large know how to operate a hospital. That is a thing for the doctors and nurses to do. At this stage it is not pertinent to call for a wholesale revision of the hospital system. It is to be assumed that the hospital board, which is certainly composed of able and reputable physicians and capable business men and women, is able itself to cope with the situation and make changes if they are needed. They are entitled to an opportunity to investigate and correct.

But it is reasonable for the taxpayers of the city and county to demand efficient and skilled attention for every one who may be taken to the institution for treatment. The hospital is maintained on the taxpayers money for the general relief of sufferers regardless of their social or economic standing. Whether an unconscious sufferer is clad in rags or fine raiment, whether his pockets are full of money or full of holes should be no concern of a hospital staff when he is brought in, hurt and bleeding. He ought to get skilled medical attention at once and his financial rating investigated afterwards.

Perhaps there were extenuating circumstances in the specific case which brought about the present complaint. The hospital's side of the case, if it has a side, has not been heard. But what ever the situation, it seems to call for some rigid investigations and the inauguration of steps that will not necessitate the levying of charges such as now confront the board.

Town Talk - - - By H. F. J.

Somebody wondered the other day what the 1930 census would do to the population ranking of the leading cities of Texas.

At present the first 12 probably rank like this:

San Antonio
Dallas
Houston
Fort Worth
El Paso
Wichita Falls
Beaumont
Waco
Galveston
Amarillo
Austin
Port Arthur

Those supposed to know generally concede that Dallas in time will pass San Antonio. And Houston's remarkable growth since her port facilities have been developed, give basis to an assumption that she, too, may outstrip the Alamo City and perhaps, even, Dallas.

Far up in the Panhandle a bustling young metropolis is bursting its swaddling clothes to the confoundment of a lot of central and south Texas communities that for years have struggled along in smug complacency.

Merely as a guess, how's this for a 1930 hazard?

Dallas
Houston
San Antonio
Fort Worth
Wichita Falls
El Paso
Amarillo
Waco
Beaumont
Galveston
Port Arthur
Austin

That arrangement of course, will draw howls of derision from a lot of quarters. Many contend that San Antonio will never relinquish its lead. Houston will scoff at the idea of Chilling Dallas. El Paso most certainly will wail amorously at the thought of taking Wichita Falls' dust. Waco, Beaumont and Galveston will snort in disgust when Amarillo appears ahead of them.

Knock to his own home. In 1930, dig this up and compare it.

The thing of being wealthy and attractive at the same time is a simple proposition that most folks can't understand.

Mme. Chernoff, than whom there is no whomer when it comes to matters of feminine beauty, makes of it a thing about as complicated as the A B C's and two plus two. And, she finds, the average person in his or her health program tries to change the formula to C B A and two plus two equals five.

These Wichita Falls women that have flocked in abundance to Mme. Chernoff's classes at the Olympic have heard nothing sensational, nothing radical, nothing out of the ordinary. The teacher has not advocated any radical method in the quest for personal charm and appearance. She has no magic formula and uses no mystic potion.

Rather, a sane and sensible diet, cleanliness and attention to little detail are, in the main, the only things she finds necessary for the preservation of the skin you love to touch and the school girl complexion the bill boards advertise. It isn't complicated; and by its very simplicity it is amazing.

Much of the trouble of the present day, probably, comes from an effort to make mountains out of mole hills. The modern age is accustomed to doing things on a grandiloquent scale and this tendency is carried over into the little things as well as the big ones.

Has anybody tried to buy a drink around here lately? Not water or coca cola, but corn dew or alleged bottled in bond.

Foolish question, that.

Certainly a good many folks have tried and some of them have and still are succeeding.

All of which is by way of leading up to the more important proposition that the way of the bootlegger in Wichita Falls has lately been made as rough and uncomfortable as the Ninth street route down town when it passes over those unpaved gaps.

George Hodgins and his merry men have bestirred themselves right ably the past few weeks. When the chief announced a few days before the fair that he intended a little campaign in behalf of some community aridity, he drew a laugh. But for the time being at least, he's doing the laughing.

Some serious inroads have been made on the professional affairs of the bootlegging gentry and, if prosecutions are carried on as industriously as the police department has worked, some permanent good will have been accomplished.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

TAKE UP THE CROWN.

Put down the cross, take up the crown,
Wait not for resurrection's morn,
For every man who lays him down
At night, tomorrow is re-born,
Ah, yes, new vistas they will find
Who seek new vistas in the mind,
Who shut their eyes to thoughts of ill,
As men may do, if men but will.

Put down the cross of yesterday,
Take up the morning's crown of gold;
Whatever joys have passed away,
What joys today, today may hold!
If yesterday was hard to bear,
Then drop the burden, leave it there,
Whatever day has had of loss,
When night is here, put down the cross.

Take up the crown when morning breaks,
Open your windows to the sun,
Remember, when the morning wakes,
That night and yesterday are done,
Each morning new occasion brings
To think new thoughts and do new things,
Resume the smile, forget the frown—
Put down the cross, take up the crown.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

LIBRA.

Today's planetary aspects are adverse, and remain so throughout the entire day, and there are not visible any ameliorating conditions. It is not an auspicious occasion for travel, and all that savors of speculation and risk should be eschewed. There will be none of the better emotions stirred by the influences that prevail, and it will charge routin work with that be found even difficult to discharge routine work with that "espirit" which it ordinarily demands, and more than ordinary self-control will be needed, if you wish the day to pass without "contretemps" that must inevitably lead to disappointment, chagrin and failure. Be very guarded in all your actions!

Children born today will, during infancy, enjoy excellent health, and the few ailments from which they may suffer, will be of a slight nature. They promise, according to the signs, to pass through their teens without any set-back, and only just prior to maturity, are they threatened with any serious sickness. Intellectually, they will not be exceptional. The knowledge they acquire will, however, be fundamental, and not superficial. They will not accomplish great things, but will be plodders—steady and industrious. Any success they may achieve will be built up on a very solid foundation, and will, consequently, be enduring.

If today is your birthday, you posses all the qualities of a leader, as you are courageous, resourceful, and dominating. Your judgment is invariably sound, and you have an almost "uncanny" ability to grasp quickly the salient points of a situation. You also have a strong personality that commands the attention and respect of others. Your memory is retentive, and you learn quickly. If you have, so far, been unable to capitalize to their fullest extent these valuable character assets, it is not because of lack of opportunity, but because of lack of energy and painstaking effort. You are always too ready to leave to others the working out after you have evolved a brilliant of details, and often "let down" plan or scheme. If you would cultivate the habit of hard, consistent work, there is hardly any material prize that is not within your reach. Your nature demands strong love, and you are not averse to flattery.

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. What is the definition of a mountain?
2. What is an Alp?
3. What is the highest capital in the world?
4. What are the symptoms of mountain sickness?
5. What are some mountains of the middle west?
6. What two ranges of mountains are found in New York state?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's Record News.

MOUNTAINS AND MAN

There are briefs concerning mountains and their effect on man that have been current since primitive times. Many people believe that mountains make for great-souled people and for broad viewpoints, yet there are no more such of "nature's noblemen" in Switzerland than anywhere else, and the Thibetans are very bigoted and exclusive, though they live on "the roof of the world." Another belief, more scientifically entertained, is that weak hearts, narrow chestedness and a weakness for pneumonia characterize people living at great elevations. This is true of the white population of La Paz where one child in every three dies soon after birth; but the Quichua and Aymara Indians, who live even higher in the Andes have fine physiques.

Answers to yesterdays's questions:

1. It was Archimedes who said that if he had a fulcrum to rest his lever on he could move the world.
2. It was also Archimedes who was commanded by the king to find the exact amount of gold in his crown; the crown was so irregular in shape that he though it impossible, but while bathing he noticed that his body always raised the level of water in the tub the same amount; in this way the crown placed in water, would displace its own volume and hence its gold content would be discovered.
3. Thomas Huxley when ridiculed by Archibishop Wilburforce in a debate for his evolutionary beliefs, said that he would rather be descended from an ape than from a man who tried to obscure the truth by appeals to prejudice.
4. Darwin's friend Wallace conceived independently, a theory of discovered this and published their theory together, but the greater share of credit has rightly gone to Darwin.
5. Gregor Mendel was a great student of heredity who died in obscurity 50 years before his work was discovered by modern science.
6. Charles Darwin was the grandson of Erasmus Darwin, an eccentric and sentimental naturalist who nevertheless had a certain streak of genius. Darwin's sons distinguished themselves in biology; his daughter married Francis Galton, who became an eminent geneticist.

I lack the moral courage to work at it by diet or exercise, so I just get fat. "Well, the way I look at it, if a fellow's meant to be fat he will anyhow." That statement is my refuge and my strength.

Many Attend Opening Of New Hotel in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Oct. 12.—This thriving Hall county metropolis was the focal point for a considerable part of the Panhandle Tuesday night when several hundred visitors from 10 or a dozen west Texas towns were guests at the formal opening of the new $125,000 Memphis hotel. Covers were laid for 200 banqueters in the assembly hall of the hotel, which witnessed one of the most elaborate social functions Memphis has ever seen.

Included in those here for the affair were large delegations from Amarillo, Clarendon, Wellington, Childress, Turkey, Quitaque, Lake View, Palasdi, Brice and other communities.

A "Community Building" idea was carried out in the program held following the banquet and which had as its feature several addresses by prominent business and professional leaders of this section of the state. Music was furnished by the Memphis orchestra.

J. H. Read, prominent banker of the city, acted as toastmaster and the response in behalf of the hotel was made by Tom Wilson, the manager. The invocation was said by Dr. J. L. Rie, pastor of the First Christian church here.

Judge R. L. Templeton of the 41st judicial district was the principal speaker of the evening. In his address he touched on the importance of a modern hotel to a city and went into some details on has made commercially, economically, civically and socially in the last few years. He paid warm tribute to those who have made possible this progress and predicted ever greater advancement in the years to come.

Other speakers included Judge C. C. Small of the local bar; Sam Braswell, editor of the Clarendon News; Dr. B. H. Morgan, president of Clarendon college; Will Edwards district governor of the 41st district Rotary International and newspaper publisher of Denton; J. H. Odom, president of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, and others.

The new hotel, three stories in height, thoroughly modern in every respect and containing 50 guest rooms, has been erected by Col. E. O. Thompson of Amarillo, and his brother, Edwin Thompson of Memphis. Tom Wilson will be resident manager.

SCHOLASTIC SCOOPS

CAN'T BE BOTHERED

"A defeat doesn't bother me particularly," said S. H. Rider, to the assembled students of the Junior college and high school Tuesday morning in speaking of the Junior college football game with Randolph college at Cisco last Friday. "Scores do not measure sportmanship, and the victories and defeats are not as important as the way the games are played. Junior college students should be proud of the team, for only one defeat when weighed against two splendid victories, cannot do much harm. The high school team, by the way, is expecting to win the district championship, in spite of the fact that all of their battles but one have ended in defeat."

After announcements regarding the various activities in school, a few songs were sung, led by Alva Willgus, with Mrs. Willgus at the piano. A speech on Calumbus Day was given by a college student, Miss Joyce Samuels.

MOVIE IS SHOWN

Students of the local schools crowded the Junior college auditorium Tuesday afternoon at the time scheduled for the showing of "Columbus," a historical picture, made by the students of Yale and brought here by the Parent-Teachers' Associations of the Alamo, Crockett and Sam Houston schools, but all were disappointed, for experiment showed that it was impossible to show the picture in the afternoon and tickets were returned. However, the disappointment was not so great as it might have been, for fully as many were present at the night performance. All were apparently delighted with the picturesque costuming and the interesting plot of the production.

SCHEDULES ARE CHANGED

Schedules have been changed at the Junior high school, the change taking effect Tuesday morning. Students will be counted tardy now at 8:45 instead of 8:30 as formerly and classes will begin at 9:15. Accordingly, the dismissal time will be advanced from 3:30 to 3:15.

DETROIT, Oct. 12. (AP)—Characterizing the soviet regime in Russia as "the assassin standing over the prostrate body of freedom and democracy," the American Federation of Labor today renewed its pledge to give no quarter "to that regime of enslavement" or its friends and sympathizers in America.

Tiny Tot Tales

MEDDLESOME MOLLY THE BAD LITTLE DOLLY
BY MARTHA HART

"Goodbye," said the [illegible]. "If you ever need a friend call on me."

The [illegible] only smiled,—she was anxious to get far away out into the big [illegible]. Besides, she wanted to make a wish and see if the [illegible] would make it come true.

"I'll sit here on this [illegible] and sing for you as you go," said the [illegible]. "Perhaps it will keep you from getting lonely."

And as the [illegible] walked through the forest she heard over and over, the "Chug! Chug! Chug!" of the kind [illegible] singing on the [illegible].

RATHER UNUSUAL

Many a gridiron luminary has sidetracked his studies for football but Herb Ludgate and his junior college outfit are sidetracking football.

Charged out to the college to watch the moleskinners drill. Nary an athlete came to view. Coach had taken the regular practice period off, corraled the youngsters into a study hall and set 'em to cramming on subjects some were slipping behind in.

* * *

Had made the trek to the field just to watch Hugh Hughie Ricks, junior college's mountain-man, perform. Kind of cater to these fat boys. Likes to see 'em in there fighting and showing up the lighter and faster men.

Satisfied After All.

The trip was not in vain, for turned to the Coyote lot just in time to witness colossal Squirt Holstein, high school fat boy, in a foot race steaming along in the rear for all the world like a dreadnaught chugging up the channel behind a fleet of tugboats.

* * *

Squirt may not show so much on a straightaway, but shove him into the thick of a scrimmage melee and he wreaks havoc as would the same dreadnaught broken loose from its moorings in a crowded harbor.

* * *

Holstein, who so far this season has found no peer at bucking up the line on defense, has been shifted to offensive center. He'll never need an anchor man on either side. Could the large one step as lively on offense as he does while smearing plays on the defense Bud McCallum would need no forward wall other than a couple of ends to team with Fats.

Brains But What For?

If McCallum's Squad is as smart at football as in some other things, Wichita Falls should walk through the conference without faltering this year. For instance, there was a lull in practice yesterday while the coach and Captain Dobson went into a lengthy discussion on matters of state. The sprightly young Mr. Pinney, no slouch as a lineman at that, took the squad over for a bit of blackboard drill in which he discoursed at random and no doubt quite accurately, all the while illustrating with chalk and board, on this fellow Columbus' alleged discovery of America and why. 'Twas an entertaining and educational 20 minutes indulged in by the athletes and probably almost as beneficial as it would have been if the dean of Harvard for perhaps the writer himself had undertaken the same subject.

Disaster and wreckage left in the wake of the recent world's series still is in evidence. Perhaps the saddest spectacle of all is that Freddy Kyser, one of the composing room boys whose hapless lot it often befalls to set this stuff on the linotype. Fred backed the Yanks. You remember, Bam socked one in that last game. Ever since the fatal end, no matter what hour it may be, if one but draw near he can hear the unfortunate man, jaw hanging down and eyes dulled, mumbling sonorously, "And Babe Ruth knocked a home run but it didn't mean anything.

Johnny Stone, the radio man and announcer deluxe, is getting out of town. Another world's series mistake. Dodging the Cardinal creditors perhaps.

Deibel Expected To Defeat Willis

Kansan Ranks as Favorite in Tonight's Legion Fight Show—Jackson After Duke's Scalp

THE CARD

Leo Deibel, Cherryvale, Kan., versus Sergeant Willis, Fort Sill. Heavyweights, eight rounds.

Willie Jackson, Oklahoma City, versus Duke Tramel, Fort Worth. Welterweights, ten rounds.

Joe New, Los Angeles, versus Young Sylvester, New York. Junior lightweights, six rounds.

Young Turk, Fort Sill, versus Fighting Vassie, Oklahoma City. Featherweights, four rounds.

Time: 8:15.

Place: Eleventh and Ohio arena.

The entire card stands as was first announced, said Matchmaker Adolph Friedman yesterday. Every fighter scheduled for this evening's American Legion fight show was said to be on hand and fully prepared to start the new boxing regime in good style.

Attention centers on the Deibel-Willis mill, the feature battle of the program. This scrap will bring together the first pair of heavyweights billed in a Wichita Falls ring since the memorable tug-and-haul tilts Moco Carpenter used to put on under the old legion match making system.

Both Deibel and Willis are heralded as rugged, hard-hitting and fast-moving big fellows. Willis is a veteran of many stiff ring tussels. But the major interest is attached to Deibel. The Kansas comparitively young in ring warfare, has been rising rapidly. At the moment he is rated as the best middleweight in Kansas and adjoining states, according to press notices.

One of the most notable feats staged by the Kansan was when he took the clever and dynamite-slugging Billy Britton, the Columbus Cyclone, down in a terrific mill, not so long ago.

Deibel ranks as the favorite tonight but many of Willis' soldier following don't believe there are very many men living who can tag it on the rugged army leather pusher.

Jackson, because of an enviable record he has set up in southwestern welter circles, is being imposted with the hope he is the man who finally will stop the tough and heavy-slamming Tramel.

The leading point in connection with the prelims, says Friedman, is that they are all fast. Speed is to be the motto throughout, he said, and there are to be no delays in starting and ending the bouts.

Another four-rounder not listed is to be added to the card, said the promoter.

OLD DROPKICK RECORD

A record that has stood for three collegiate generations challenges the kicking talent which the 1926 football season will uncover.

Thirteen years ago, Mark Payne, a halfback of the Dakota Wesleyan university football team, made a 63-yard dropkick against Northern Normal of Aberdeen, S. D., on the latter's field, and none of the phenoms uncovered in the more recent years of football's greater popularity have come within seven yards of the mark.

Payne's powerful boot fractured a record which had stood for 17 years—a 62-yard dropkick which Pat O'Dea of Wisconsin made against Northwestern in 1898.

But since 1904 only three men have made a drop kick from behind the 54-yard line. Robertson of Dartmouth dropkicked 54 yards against Cornell in 1919, and Lamont Johnson of St. Mary's college, Kansas, dropkicked 55 yards in 1925.

Hartz Virtually Clinches Crown

California Cops Salem Auto Classic in Drive For 1926 Title

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 12.(AP)—Harry Hartz of Los Angeles, virtually clinched the 1926 automobile racing championship and broke a world's record for the new small bore racing cars when he came home first in the 200 mile feature race over the Rockingham board speedway here today in one hour, 37 minutes and 21.25 seconds.

Hartz finished two laps ahead of Pete Kreiss of Knoxville, Tenn., who in turn led Leon Duray across the line by 3-100 of a second. Kreiss' time was 1:37: 59.12 with Duray finishing in 1:37:39.15. The winner's speed average was 123 miles an hour.

Hartz gained his victory at the direct expense of Frank Lockhardt, 1926 Indianapolis winner and until today leading contender for the 1926 racing honors.

Starting in the pole position, Hartz led the field for the first 100 miles with Lockhart pushing him hard.

At the 100 mile mark Lockhardt took the lead with a brilliont dash and was heading his opponent by one lap until the 145th lap. At that point with only 15 laps to go Lackhardt's motor died and he was forced to the pits to watch the Pacific coast driver regain the lead and take the race.

BAYLOR OUTPLAYS HORNED FROGS IN 7 TO 7 TIE GAME BUT SAVES SELF ON FLUKE

Christians Score Early With Overhead Attacks, Bears Count on Blocked Punt Late in Tilt

DALLAS, Oct. 12. (AP)—The Baylor Bears from Waco and the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs from Fort Worth battled to their second consecutive 7-7 tie at the State Fair grounds here Tuesday. As was the case last year, a sloppy field provided the setting for the combat.

The Bears proved the better seadogs and outplayed the Frogs through three quarters of the game. The difference between the teams however, was not great enough to affect the outcome.

Breaks Aid Baptists.

Breaks helped Baylor pull the game out of the fire in the last period when Porter, tackle for the Bears, blocked a punt behind the T. C. U. goal line and then fell upon the ball for a touchdown. Morris kicked the extra point an instant later. The Frogs struck through the air in the first five minutes of the first period to get their touchdown, Williams tossing to Acker for a total gain of 51 yards. Williams kicked the extra point.

Only in forward passing were the Frogs able to show an advantageously as their rivals and that was a style of play paralyzed by weather conditions. The sun was shining when the game started, but a driving rain began falling in the second period and the field soon became a sheet of water. Fumbles were numerous, punts were short and uncertain and the players found it difficult to run on the slippery turf.

T. C. U. Threatens Once.

T. C. U. produced a touchdown with its only serious threat, although field goals twice were attempted from well back. The Bears threatened frequently. Twice during the second period, once on a recovered fumble and once on a blocked punt, they got possession of the ball inside the Frogs' 20-yard line. Each time, T. C. U. turned back the threat with a desperate defense which threw the ball toters back for big losses. In the third period, Baylor made a first down on the T. C. U., five-yard line, but lost the ball on a fumble, after three plunges had netted a yard. Again, after the fourth period touchdown, the Bears were halted after a sustained march had put the ball inside the Frogs' 15-yard line. On fourth down Baylor tried a field goal which went wide.

The game was the first this season between members of the Southwest conference. The line-ups:

Baylor (7)	Position	T. C. U. (7)
Slade	Left End.	Acker
Porter	Left Tackle.	Scarborough
Riley	Left Guard.	J. Williams
Smith	Center.	Holcomb
Weed	Right Guard.	Wolf
Taylor	Right Tackle.	Brewster
Reid	Right End.	Matthews
Washam	Quarter.	H. Clark
Coates	Left Half.	Carson
Kelly	Right Half.	H. Taylor
Morris (c)	Fullback.	B. Williams

Score by periods:

Baylor	0	0	0	7
T. C. U.	7	0	0	7

Touchdowns: Acker, Porter. Points after touchdown: B. Williams, Morris.

YOUR PECAN ORCHARD

START RIGHT!

THIS IS VALUABLE INFORMATION

GET THESE POINTS BEFORE, NOT AFTER PLANTING TREES

Bulletin No. 700, of the U. S. Agricultural Department, on Pecan Culture, states:

"The importance of using well-grown nursery trees when establishing an orchard is so great, and the possibility of the average man being able to raise good nursery trees is so doubtful that, under ordinary circumstances, it is far better to purchase stock from some reputable nursery.

"A method sometimes practiced is to plant from three to six nuts at the place where the tree is to stand in the orchard, with the intention of later budding or grafting the best seedling and removing all others. Those who advocate this method do so on the ground that to cut the taproot, as is customary in digging trees from the nursery, is detrimental to the tree and that a great saving of labor will be accomplished by not having to dig and transplant the trees.

"In actual practice, however, planting the seed in place rarely proves satisfactory and is not recommended. Some of the reasons why they are unsuccessful are: "It frequently happens that none of the resulting seedlings develop into suitable stock for budding or grafting. There is always a wide range in the length of time required for seedlings, even from the same parentage and under the same conditions, to attain the proper size for propagation purposes, and as a result the orchards so developed show a most undesirable lack of uniformity. Transplanting tends to encourage the development of a fibrous root system and is therefore a benefit to the tree rather than a detriment.

"Planting seed in place has been extensively employed by the growers of Persian walnuts in the State of California. Regarding it, however, the authors of a bulletin on the subjet of walnut culture say 'without reservation' that 'in no instance' do they know of this method proving 'practical or satisfactory.'"

PROPERLY GROWN TREES

The fine trees being delivered by us in the Wichita Valley are grown from nuts gathered from selected native Texas trees—the most vigorous specimens that our experts can find. These nuts are taken to the South-East and planted where abundant rainfall assures a constant, steady, vigorous growth from the day the nuts are sprouted until the trees are dug for shipment. They are grown on rich, alluvial soil, unstimulated with excessive fertilization.

During the second year's growth a special process is employed, which causes a large number of lateral roots to be thrown out which explains the wonderful root system of our trees. At this time they are budded with buds taken from record bearing trees of the big paper-shell varieties. Two years afterwards, each one should have attained a height of 5 to 7 feet above ground. If it has failed to do so, the tree is lacking in vigor and is never delivered to one of our customers.

We quote U. S. Agricultural Bulletin No. 700, as follows:

"Within reasonable limits a nursery-grown pecan tree which has reached a given size in a given length of time is much to be preferred to one which has been twice as long in attaining the same size. It is natural to expect that the rapidity or slowness of growth displayed in the nursery will be relatively the same throughout the life of the tree. For this reason the healthy vigorous growing trees in the nursery are preferable to those which grow slowly.

"Ordinarily, trees of the larger sizes are much to be preferred, although it is doubtful whether the extremely large trees (those of more than seven feet) would be as desirable as those of four to seven feet."

Our Service and Price

Out of hundreds of thousands of trees thus perfectly grown by one of the largest nurseries in the world, it is my privilege, guaranteed by contract, to take first choice for my customers. Each tree is personally selected. Quality considered, the price cannot be duplicated.

Indians Forego Grid For Class

Ludgate Postpones Preparations For Conference Opener While Team Makes Up Grades

Indian football practice has been suspended for the beginning of the week in order to give team members more time to make up work in their studies. Two trips coming right along, the one to Cordell, where rains forced the Tribe to stay two days longer than contemplated, and the one to Cisco last week, cut into class time until some players have dropped below the limit of scholastic attainment to be allowed to play. Reports of the past week-end dropped a half dozen of the squad into the danger zone and so intensive study has been decided as the best thing for the group.

Beat 'Em Last Year

Opening of the conference season next week makes it a very vital matter for the Indians that every man be eligible to play. The squad is relatively small without suffering any losses otherwise. North Texas Agricultural college will furnish the opposition for the Tribe in the local team's first conference battle. It will be remembered that N. T. A. C. suffered a surprisingly brilliantly-fought defeat at the hands of the Indians last year; hence the junior farmers are expected to be very much in a mood for revenge. While Ludgate's squad this year is still lighter than the '25 aggregation coached by Mosley, the Indians are counting on giving the Aggies another first-class conflict.

No Game This Week

Ludgate has decided to schedule no game for the Indians this week in order to furnish plenty of opportunity to line up loose studies and other matters for next week. Despite the massive opposition encountered at Cisco last week from the Randolph college crew, the Redskins escaped without any serious injury or set back. Captain Stephenson's foot, which forced him to spend a part of the Randolph encounter on the sidelines, is coming back into shape and should be in good trim by the time of the Aggie argument next week.

DOC SCRIMMAGES

Varsity, Injured Ends Better, Works On Vanderbilt Plays.

AUSTIN, Oct. 12.(AP)—Coach "Doc" Stewart, Tuesday primed his Texas University Longhorns for Saturday's Dallas clash with the Vanderbilt Commodores by scrimmaging them against Vandy plays executed by freshman players. Each of the three games played by the Commodores has been well scouted by a Longhorn representative.

Indications are that Ox Higgins and Clint Slover, husky wings who are on the injured list, will be able to take their places on the ends of the line against the Commodores.

Joe King showed to advantage at quarterback Saturday against the Phillips University Haymakers, and probably will see action against Vanderbilt, though he is not expected to start.

The probable starting line-up: Ends, Higgins and Slover; tackles, Moore and Gooch; guards, Wray and Tignor; center, McCullough; quarterback, Captain Saxon; halfbacks, Ford and Stallter; fullback, Rufus King.

RECORD SHATTERED

90 1-2 Cubic Inch Motor Mark Clipped Twice in 25-Mile Runs

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 12. (AP)—The worlds record for racing automobiles with motors displacing 90 1-2 cubic inches was twice broken in the two 25-mile sprints that preceded the 200-mile race on the Rockingham speedway track here this afternoon. In the first Bennett Hill of New York, won with an average speed of 130.57 miles an hour.

Hill's new record lasted only a few minutes, however, for in the second 25-mile sprint Leon Duray, of Los Angeles, covered the distance than two seconds faster than tance in 11 minutes 30.23 seconds, Hills' record.

KENTUCKY RACE FINALS

Kentucky race tracks may be the field of battle to settle this year's dispute as to the leading two and three-year-old thoroughbreds. Churchill Downs, with the Kentucky Jockey club stakes, will be the scene of the two-year-old battle, while the Latonia course with its championship stakes, may determine the year's leading three-year-old. The championship stakes will be worth more than $30,000 to the winner.

Thirteen of the best three-year olds in training are among the 53 nominated for the Latonia race to be run a mile an dthree-quarters at the fall meet, open October 13. Only two outstanding three-year olds, E. D. Riddle's Crusader, and J. E. Widger's Haste, have not been nominated for the race.

STAGG'S VIEWS OF FOOTBALL

Amos Alonzo Stagg, full rank professor of Chicago, gridiron godfather of hundreds of celegrated players, and at 64 years of age, the oldest active football authority in the United States, speaks on American football in the new Britannica.

"Fortunately," says Stagg in his resume of the development of the game, "offensive football will never be completely standarized, because the possibilities of maneuvering the players are so many that coaches of inventive genius are constantly lured into the multifarious forms of stategy always possible to a clever tactician."

YOUNGEST TEAM MANAGER

Iowa this year provided the youngest team manager in professional baseball.

George (Dutch) White, a wide-range infielder and a .300 hitter, took over the management of the Cedar Rapids Club in the Mississippi Valley League for the last two months of the season after two previous leaders had failed to bring the club out of a slump. He was just 21 when he took the team in hand. He was sold at the close of the season to the Danville club of the Three-I league.

TWO KNOCKED OUT OF GAME

Mitchell and Downing Fall Before Scholastic Axe At School

Coyote casualties resulting from the scholastic axe were again relatively light the past week, although affecting two first string men. Mitchell, halfback, and Downing, guard, both failed in too many to play this week. The team plays Grandfield Friday. This year's Coyote squad has thus far been more fortunate in respect to grades than the squads of previous years, when sometimes the number of failures was sufficient to affect the team seriously.

Coach McCallum is still carrying on experimental work in the hope of discovering more backfield power. While there are several good performers in the Red and Black uniforms who can carry the ball well injuries have kept the Coyotes strength down. Lynch thinks he will be fully ready to go by the opening of the league schedule but Mac cannot afford to take chances on depending on cripples. In the Decatur game Saturday, even though Allred and other backs showed up well, Francis proved the only escapable of crashing the opposing defense when he wanted to do so. Francis has been bothered by a lame ankle all season and hence the need for finding other good ball carriers is very vital to Coyote success against first-class teams of the type Electra and Vernon are expected to have.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

Dame Fate, one of our leading baseball fans so to speak, must have had a ladylike chuckle all by herself when the Boston Red Sox sounded the death knell of Cleveland's pennant hopes. Fohl is the man who laid the ground work for the Cleveland team which won a pennant in 1920. Lack of confidence on the part of the fans caused Fohl to step out in favor of Tris Speaker.

The Indians had a mathematical chance, and better, to win the flag this year when they said goodbye to the league leading Yankees after a six-game series. The Indians had grabbed four of the six games. Speaker's men hoped to make a clean sweep of the series with the Sox that followed. Fohl sent young Wingfield in against the second placers in the first game of the series and the defeat he handed the Tribesmen blasted their hopes.

* * * *

And while the Boston Red Sox were wrecking the hopes of the Indians in the American League scramble the lowly Boston Braves were taking a roundhouse swing at the Cinci Reds. A shutout administered the House of Hendricks started the Reds on the down grade and the Braves followed with another victory which increased the lead of the Cardinals.

All of which causes us to remark that Boston cannot be considered a minor league town any longer. Not with two teams swinging the sledge hammers in the final days of the peanut campaigns.

* * * *

This setback was in the general morale of the team.

Two or three weeks ago it was pointed out to Miller Huggins that the final series of the campaign in Cleveland—consisting of six games—might decide the fate of the Yankmen. Huggins stated that he had no fear of the outcome of that series. The entire team effervesced the same confidence. Then the outfit went to Detroit, to be rudely shocked by the Tigers—also roundly trounced.

They went from Detroit to Cleveland. The story of their slump went before them.

"They aren't hitting," went the cry.

Speaker and his Indians planned their campaign accordingly. George Uhle, pet jinx of the Yanks, had an off day and lost the first game. The following day, however, the Indians came back. Emil Levsen held the leaders to two hits in the first game of a double-header. Gob Buckeye let them have just two more in the second game and the Yanks lost both games. The third day Shaute permitted the New Yorkers just five base hits. Another victory for the Indians. Then Uhle came back at the Hugemen and gave them just four safeties.

Baseball's King At Mother's Bier For One Last Gaze On Woman Who Gave Him Life

AUSTIN, Oct. 12. (AP)—From the spotlight of a world's victory to the dark shadows of death, Rogers Hornsby came tonight, to his old home for one last gaze on the face of the little woman who gave him his life.

Rushing home from the victory to which he led his St. Louis Cardinals in the world series over the New York Yankees, this idol of the hour, thrust aside the laurels of the admiring sport world to pay final homage to his mother, Mrs. M. D. Hornsby, who died just as she was on the verge of seeing her son attain the fame she had lived for, the glory she had prayed for. But before she passed away September 29, one of her life-long wishes that she would see her son, Rogers, lead his team to victory, came through when the Cardinals won the National league pennant.

Multitude Welcomes Rajah

This old Texas town, its said old citizens, its politicians, college flappers and university youths, turned out in a multitude to welcome this man who carried out the wishes of his dying mother, that he go on and fight for and win his goal.

Friends of his early years from down the Colorado river, at the place known as Hornsby's bend, where his forefathers settled the wild Indian infested regions of generations ago, gathered at the tiny weather-beaten railroad station to greet Hornsby as he stepped from the Katy crack train that rushed him here from St. Louis.

Shows Strain of Battles

Under his tan face, the strain of two battles could be seen. These battles were the fight he waged within himself to be with his mother in her dying moments, and to his duty as a leader of those men who had a price to pay the public and the handicap of his sorrow as he matched brain with brawn and his opponents.

But never was such a welcome extended to a hero of Austin whither he be a statesman, or war hero, as was extended to Hornsby. It was a mingling of sorrow and sympathy, over the death of his mother, and joy and happiness at his success in the great American sport.

Hornsby Overcome

Hornsby seemed overcome and was quiet as his friends crowded about him. He was anxious to be taken to the bier of his mother, resting in a funeral home. He was rushed away by relatives.

Funeral arrangements will be made to conform with the wishes of Hornsby. Hornsby's mother was an invalid for many years before her death, but she was a great baseball fan and read the sports pages of the great daily newspapers. She watched her son rise from a player in a red flannel suit on the vacant lots and from the lowest of bush leaguers, the old Texas-Oklahoma league, to the highest notch, the St. Louis Cardinals, and often predicted that some day her boy would top the list, and though she did not live to see it, he did.

Ball Loosens Purse Strings

Browns' President Figures On Drastic Shake-Up In Personnel

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12. (AP)—A complete "shakeup in all departmens of the St. Louis American league baseball club will be made in an effort to put the team on the map," President Phil Ball said today. He announced yesterday that George Sisler's contract as manager would not be renewed.

"I cannot give out any details at this time, because our plans are in the making," Ball said. "But there will be a complete shakeup."

Ball said several were under consideration for manager, but probably no decision would be made for several weeks.

"We hope to get the very best man available," he declared. "Money is not going to stop us. My club's payroll is the third highest in the American league.

"I am not prepared to discuss the Sisler case further than to say that George was not 'fired' as manager in the sense that the club is displeased or pesved at him. His contract expired and we did not think he had qualified as a manager during his three-year trial. Sisler has been a very valuable man to the club and is still a great player.

"The next manager will be a rigid disciplinarian and a man able to command the enthusiasm and best efforts of the players."

Ball refused to discuss and proposed trade of players, but admitted there were several who had outlived their usefulness with the club.

Sisler declined to discuss his plans, saying his future was "strictly up to Mr. Ball."

Isbell Would Sell Wichita Baseball Club and Quit Kansas

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 12. (AP)—A special dispatch to the Eagle from Los Angeles quotes Frank Isbell, owner of the Wichita baseball club of the Western league, as saying he would like to sell the club.

"I have been in baseball too long in Wichita for the good of the city and for my own good," the dispatch quotes Isbell a saying. "Sixteen years in one spot it not good business in minor league baseball. I am convinced that I should leave the baseball field in Wichita as soon as possible, even though it means a separation from my many friends there."

GORMAN BEATS SELF FOR JAP

Matsuda Awarded Match When Jack Tags On Strangle

Matty Matsuda, favored son of Nippon and the Police Gazette's world welterweight wrestling champion, was awarded a decision over Jack Gorman, San Angelo's meteor, on a foul last night at the Eleventh and Ohio arena as a climax to 53 minutes of the most spectacular, gruelling, evenly-waged and bitterly-fought match ever staged on a Wichita Falls canvas.

Somewhere in the rules there is a paragraph devoted solely to explaining that strangle holds are barred.

Referee Gene Leopold disqualified Gorman for strangling. But in awarding the match to Matsuda in one fall Referee Gene Leopold broke the rules in effect just as seriously as did Gorman.

The men wrestled under New York commission rules. By these edicts a wrestler cannot be awarded a match on one fall unless that fall be the deciding fall. Neither Matsuda nor Gorman had taken a fall. By these rules, Llepold should have disqualified Gorman and awarded the fall to Matsuda. Then should Gorman on the return have persisted in using foul tactics, award the second and deciding fall.

Herculean Struggle

Never has the Wichita Falls ring seen such a sturdy, ultra-scientific, well-fought bout before. Never has the ring which has held such wrestlers as the world's heavyweight champion, Joe Stecher, the internationally famous Jimmy Londos, the great Ad Santel, king of the light heavyweights and master as well of the jiu jitsu art, down to the rugged Dutch Mantell, topkick of the slambangers and exponent of the Marquis of Packing House rules, groaned under such a terrific struggle as the diminutive welterweights, Matty Matsuda, ruler of the little fellows, and Jack Gorman, leader in another school of wrestling, staged on this particular Tuesday night in October of the year 1926.

Gorman had by far the better of the early going, but as the battle raged along Matsuda began to fight his Anglo-Saxon opponent on practically even terms. They ran the gamut of jiu jitsu, catch-as-catch-can holds, through the torture appliances, back and forth and then into the aerial style of grappling. Each found himself in dire straits on two different occasions after the other had worked into an agonizing standing leg split, but each, calling on his last shreds of reserve strength managed to catch the break in the leverage and come clear.

Jack Uses Jap's Trick

Hardly had the battle gotten under way before Gorman beat Matsuda to the scratch and flipped the Jap with the first flying mare, a hold that is the wily welter king's favorite, that a Wichita Falls gathering has ever witnessed slipped across on the little man from Nippon.

Hardly had Gorman fought his way from a split before Matsuda himself switched to the now famous flying mare. But Gorman did not land center. He broke, was up in a flash and switched proceedings on his brown-skinned adversary, clipped a wrist and got away with a semi-mare and arm lock.

Matsuda headlocked Gorman twice in succession. On the third attempt, which is the natural follow-up, Gorman, punch-drunk, although not punched, hung to the ropes while Referee Llepold frantically tugged at him in an effort to pull him away. The delay possibly saved Jack for with his brain clearing he sidestepped the lunging Matsuda and clamped on an iron headlock in return.

Headlock after headlock did Gorman slam to his writhing opponent, each time tiring Matty just a little more but tiring himself also.

Suddenly, while crushed in a bulldog head hold, Matsuda struggled to his feet, shifted the leverage, grabbed a crotch hold and hurled Gorman over the ropes, falling through on top.

The combatants were hoisted back onto the canvas and Gorman repeated this skull-crushing sortie. Matsuda rallied again and duplicated with a catapult hoist into the soft lap of a fat man at ringside, falling with his foe.

On the return, Gorman strangled momentarily and was cautioned by the referee. It was not the first time Jack had been taken to task for fouling. He changed to a headlock and Matsuda followed with a third heave over the ropes.

Seven Times Over

Seven times in all did these ancient rivals go tumbling overboard, Matsuda always furnishing the propelling power.

On the fifth dive, Gorman came up groggy. The Jap already was in sorry plight, unable to block the headlocks, unable to shift to his strong forte, the flying mare or reverse flying headlock. After staggering into a hold, Gorman, exhausted, made a final lunge to throw his adversary to the mat bodily, but was not equal to the task. He slid a hand down and started choking. Matty slumped and Gorman returned to the headlock as they fell to the canvas. Then in a frenzy with no attempt to camouflage his tactics the San Angelo flash, raging and with a glint of death in his eyes, deliberately plunged both thumbs into his stricken foe's throat and before he could be halted by the third man in the ring had strangled him into submission.

With no hesitation Llepold awarded Matsuda the verdict.

Yaqui Joe the Indian, succumbed to bulk and strength in a preliminary bout with Dick Kanthe, the third fall in 28 minutes with a Kansas City Greek. Joe won the flying mare that was followed by a head scissors. Outweighed eight to 12 pounds, he lost ground steadily on the comeback, losing the second fall to Kanthe in 23 minutes on a body slam that creaked a couple of ribs. He conceded the match, failing to return for the deciding fall.

Wills Loses On Foul In 13th

Boston Heavy Concedes 26½ Pounds But Carries Fight to Negro and Whips Him to Frazzle

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 12. (AP)—Harry Wills tonight came unexpectedly to the turning point of the road in his long pursuit of heavyweight pugilistic honors.

After a year's absence from the ring during which he pounded in vain on the throne room door of Jack Dempsey, the 36-year-old negro challenger was disqualified in the thirteenth round of a 15-round match against Jack Sharkey of Boston for illegal use of the backhand blow.

Wills was a hopelessly beaten man at the end. Though he conceded 26 1-2 pounds to the negro Sharkey carried the battle to Wills from the outset, out-speeding, out-boxing, and even out-punching the man who for seven years was almost universally recognized as Dempsey's outstanding rival.

Close to 45,000 spectators in the Brooklyn National league park saw the passing of Wills from the front rank of challengers, less than a month after the passing of Dempsey himself.

It was the first time Wills has met defeat at the hands of a white opponent in his fifteen years in the ring. Although the finish was a disappointment, it did not affect the decisiveness of Sharkey's victory. Wills was a sorry spectacle as he was waved to his corner. His left eye was nearly closed, a deep gash bled profusely over his right eye and from cuts about the nose and mouth. From the fourth round on he was battling defensively, hanging on desperately under a drum-fire of Sharkey's battering blows.

Warned Repeatedly.

Wills had been warned repeatedly by the gray haired referee, Patsy Haley, for unfair tactics. Not only was he cautioned against use of the back hand but against punching on the break-aways holding and hitting and prolonging the periods of the clinches to save himself from the punishing blows Sharkey dealt about the head and body.

All these tactics figured in Haley's decision for disqualification but it was the backhand punch, which Wills drew across Sharkey's face in the clinch that provided the specific grounds for the verdict.

Wills, slow and lacking in aggressiveness as well as punching power after his long layoff, also had his attack further spiked by Referee Haley's prompt work in the clinches. The negro's favorite method of hitting with his right while holding with his left was nullified for the most part by Haley's vigilence.

Negro Game.

Wills battled gamely under the punishment he received from Sharkey's sharply driven blows but the negro's defense was easily pierced by his more aggressive and harder hitting rival.

Sharkey failed to floor Wills at any time but he staggered the big negro several times with vicious overhand rights to the head, left uppercuts to the jaw and hooks to the body. The fourth round was the turning point, Sharkey's blows having a telling effect for the first time. From then on Wills absorbed steady punishment. Cuts about his eyes bled in the fifth and sixth and he was an easy mark for Sharkey's punches.

Sharkey leaping to the attack with the viciousness of a terrier had Wills apparently on the verge of a knockout in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth rounds. The negro reeled back to the ropes from terrific right hand smashes, bleeding and blinking as he tried to cover up.

Lacked Finishing Punch.

Only the lack of a finishing punch on Sharkey's part saved Wills from taking the final count.

The majority of ringside critics conceded Wills only one round, the third, after registering the second as even. The other eleven including the 41 seconds of the thirteenth went to Sharkey by decisive margins.

Sharkey's victory was all the more sensational because he had not figured prominently for any length of time as a heavyweight contender. A fistic product of Bighampton, N. Y., Sharkey owed his chief claim to fame to triumph over George Godfrey, Eddie Huffman, King Solomon and Jim Malone.

Sharkey weighed 188 to Wills' 214 1-2 and had twelve years of youth in his favor to offset the negra's advantages in height, weight and reach. Sharkey is only 25 years old, as against Wills' 36.

OKLAHOMAN BEATS DARRAH

BROOKLYN, Oct. 12. (AP)—In the semi-final bout held after the Wills-Sharkey fight, George Courtney of Oklahoma scored a technical knockout over Jimmy Darrah of San Francisco in the fifth round of a scheduled ten round match.

Referee Johnny Gallagher stopped the bout when Darrah's left eye appeared too badly cut for him to continue. Courtney weighed 161 and Darrah 158.

BAM WON'T GET IT

Not If It's 150 Grand He Asks For Says Colonel Jake.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP) Babe Ruth may or may not make a demand for $150,000 a year as his salary for caverting about in right field for the New York Yankees in the future, but if he does the demand is already refused.

"He won't get it," Colonel Jacob Ruppert, one of the owners of the club, said when asked if the Bambino had asked for such a sum.

"The Babe has said nothing to me about next year's contract and it is preposterous for anyone to say that he is demanding $150,000. I won't decide until February what sort of a contract I'll offer him."

Babe said he was not anxious to discuss terms with the Yankee management now and ridiculed reports that he had demanded such a sum.

The home run king's agreement with the Yankees ended when he slid into second base in an unsuccessful attempt to steal that beg in the final game of the world series. It called for a yearly salary of $52,000 and had run for three years.

"HOLE IN ONE" DECISION

If you make a hole in one and fail to discover the fact before playing another fall you fail to qualify for the famous "Hole in One" club, the powers of golfdom have decided. At least you can't count the hole as having been done in a single stroke, but have to take whatever figure was made in playing the second ball.

Streets paved with concrete help to bring greater prosperity

Navasota Strides Ahead on Concrete Streets

Those who remember the Navasota of a few years ago will recall the unpaved, bumpy, muddy, dusty thoroughfares called streets. These were always subject to the whims of the weather man, and ever a source of expense and dissatisfaction.

But in 1923 a city council of wide awake business men started a campaign for municipal improvements. A concrete pipe sewer system was installed. Then they started a street paving program. Contract was awarded for portland cement concrete pavement in the business district. As a result property owners soon demanded the same clean, easy riding pavement on residential streets. Today Navasota boasts 100,000 square yards of permanent concrete streets.

Yes, you are right, the whole town has changed. Lawns have been beautified. Homes have been painted; new ones have been built. Store fronts are dressed up and kept that way. Progress all along the line has been the result.

Navasota tasted the tonic of concrete and liked it. Wherever concrete pavements are built, they create civic pride and act as a town tonic.

People can get the kind of pavement they want if they insist upon it.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

SHIP BUILDING SHOWS DECLINE

Steady Drop Is Recorded, Report of Lloyds Discloses

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—A continued steady decrease in world ship building was reported by Lloyd's Register of shipping today.

During the quarter ending September 30, last, shipbuilding aggregated only 1,850,000 tons gross of merchant vessels, a drop of more than 350,000 tons as compared with the corresponding period of a year ago.

This, Lloyd said, makes an unbroken series of decreases since June 30, 1924, when the total shipping under construction was 2,516,000 tons. The present figures also present a decline of nearly 1,513,000 gross tons for the pre-war status, the aggregate at the end of June, 1914, having been about 3,163,000 tons.

Decrease General.

The decrease during the last quarter has been general throughout all maritime nations except Holland.

Sharp decline in construction is shown in Great Britain and Ireland, where suspension of work has been ordered on 107,498 gross tons contracted for, reducing the total construction actively under way in those countries to 667,000 tons.

In the United States with construction of 119,723 tons underway, a gain is shown over a year ago when only 70,000 tons were being constructed.

The motorship is said to be holding its place in world construction while the installation of steam reciprocating engines is decreasing, although that of steam turbines is growing.

Vehicles 46 Per Cent.

Motor vehicles now represent 46 per cent of the entire present world construction with Italy devoting 80 per cent of her entire merchant shipping program to ships with internal combustion engines. In Great Britain and Ireland however, only 36 per cent of the tonnage underway is motor vessels.

The expansion in ship building in Holland has advanced that country's standing as a maritime power from fifth to third place, superceding both France and Germany, which are now fourth and fifth, respectively. Great Britain and Ireland still hold first place, followed by Italy. The United States still holds sixth place, but now is only 8,000 tons behind Germany, compared with 15,000 tons at the end of the June quarter.

HE PAYS OFF

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (AP) Bills due "Uncle Sam M. D.," for services rendered in the form of medicinal waters at the Hot Springs national park, Arkansas, must be paid on the dot or not at all.

This was revealed today by the interior department which announced that some unnamed resident of the United States felt so grateful for beneficial baths received years ago at the establishment maintained by the department at the springs that he had sent the government $20 which has been returned because the treasury has no authority to accept such payments.

Grand Jury Starts Probe of Corruption Charge

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 10. (AP)—The political corruption charges made by Thomas A. Adams publisher of the Vincennes, Ind., Commercial, today had reached an official investigating body —the Marion county grand jury. There apparently was a disposition on the part of Adams and those who have been associated with him in the demand for a probe of Indiana political affairs to accept the grand jury as the most fair tribunal before which a hearing can be had at this time. Adams reiterated, however, that he believed a state senate investigation would be of greater scope and more likely to unearth the whole mass of corruption that he insists exists.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.(AP)—France's trade with foreign countries in the first eight months this year aggregated 26,146,000,000 francs for imports and 21,921,000,000 francs for exports, the Bankers Trust company of New York reports, while trade with French colonies and protectorates totaled 4,520,000,000 for imports and 5,590,000,000 francs for exports. The visible balance thus shows a deficite of 3,225,000,000 francs as regards foreign trade, the bank says, while trade with the colonies on the contrary shows surplus of 1,070,000,000 francs.

WILL RUN OIL

Magnolia 8-Inch Line in Operation About Last of Month

HOUSTON, Oct. 12. (AP)—The Magnolia Pipeline company's 130-mile eight-inch line from the Mirando district to Luling field is scheduled to begin running oil during the last weeks in October. This line which is welded throughout is nearing completion. The new line connects Magnolia's Luling-Beaumont line, also an eight welded line giving the company an outlet for Mirando crude direct to its refinery at Beaumont. Magnolia is one of the largest buyers of Mirando crude, a heavy crude, with a high lubricating content.

The Magnolia line makes the second outlet for Mirando crude, besides the old method of moving it by tank car. The Humble company has recently completed its Mirando line to Tidewater at Ingleside, between Corpus Christi and Arnasas Pass.

Magnolia has accumulated 1,250,000 barrels of Mirando crude at its tank farm at Mirando City, and has a current run of slightly more than 5,000 barrels daily.

The Mirando district is now producing roughly 17,700 barrels daily, and indicates an increase, with considerable wild catting now under way and steady development in the proven fields of the territory.

STOMACH'S REBEL

Craving for Home Cooked Food Causes Unrest.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 12. (AP)—A craving for home cooking caused most of the discontent and subsequent troubles among Porto Rican emigrants to the cotton fields of Arizona, according to a detailed report submitted by Dr. Jaime Bague, assistant commissioner of agriculture and labor. Dr. Bague has just returned from a trip with the first ship load of laborers to go to the southwest.

Rice and beans, cooked in American style and served at the first luncheon on shipboard, caused such dissatisfaction among the Porto Ricans that most of the food as well as the dishes were thrown overboard, Dr. Bague said. Drafting of Porto Rican cooks brought some cheer and comfort for two days. Then complaints arose over the ice water ration. When this was not remedied quickly the emigrants broke into the ship's ice boxes and consumed all the ice. As a result the last two days of the trip were iceless.

U. S. CRITICIZED

Placard Posted On Slab of Hall In League of Nations.

GENEVA, Oct. 12. (AP)—Criticism of the United States was voiced in a placard which was found today pasted on a marble slab in the hall of the league of nations building which commemorates the memory of Woodrow Wilson as founder of the league.

The placard read: "In considering him as the founder of the league of nations, President Wilson should be considered in a personal sense and not as president of the United States. The American people have done nothing to deserve that their president should be designated as the founder of the league.

The placard was written in English and its authorship is not known. It was called to the attention of league officials who promptly removed it.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12. (AP)—Every San Francisco policeman was ordered today to join an effort of the police department to round up two maniacal young gunmen who have carried on a wanton reign of killing and robbery since Saturday night.

Scores of firemen also were detailed to police duty and 1000 rifles were requisitioned from the national guard armory to equip the officers.

Striking rapidly in various parts of the city the bandits last night followed up an orgy of crime Saturday night and Sunday by killing three men and wounding five others.

FIGHT OVER RUDY'S ESTATE

Valentino's Relatives Plan Contest For Whole of His $1,000,00 Estate

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12. (AP)—A move to establish themselves as sole heirs to the million dollar estate of Rudolph Valentino has been started by Alberto and Marie Guglielmi, brother and sister of the late screen sheik. They have announced they will file action contesting the movie star's will which provides Mrs. Teresa Werner, an aunt of Natcha Rambova, divorced wife of Valentino, shall share equally in the estate with the brother and sister.

The decision of the Guglielmis was made yesterday after S. George Ulman, manager for Valentino, had been named sole executor of the estate, contrary to the demands of the brother that he be named co-executor.

The Italian heirs won their first point when Ulman's bond was set by the court at $100,000 although the will had named him as executor and trustee without bond, pending distribution of the estate in accordance with oral instructions, to the brother and sister and Mrs. Werner. It is this clause according to the Guglielmi attorneys, which will be attacked in the contest.

OPEN DEATH PROBE

Two Men Questioned After Girl's Body Found.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12. (AP)—Two men were held today in connection with the death of Miss Edna Holt of Decatur, Ill., whose almost nude body was found yesterday behind the German Deaconess hospital.

Patrick and Thomas Fleming were taken for questioning by detectives after an unidentified man said he had seen the girl shot and fatally wounded during a quarrel in the Fleming tea garden.

The witness declared Miss Bolt was an accidental victim, the bullet having been fired by her escort when he quarreled with another patron.

CANDY CONTAMINATED

1,138 Pieces Tested, 29 Are Found Unhealthy

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 12. (AP) Of 1,138 pieces of candy purchased in the open market 29 were found to contain bacteria from the human intestine, Professor John Weinzirl of the University of Washington, Seattle, told a group of food and drug experts attending the American Public Health association today. He said sticky candies and those made from uncooked materials showed the greater contamination. In instances where the candy was not handled but was served by means of a scoop there seemed to be less contamination from bacteria.

TOO MUCH MAMA?

Browning Says Peaches' Mother Caused Split

NEW YORK, Oct. 12. (AP)—Refusal of his mother-in-law to leave him alone with his 16-year-old wife, "Peaches," is one of the reasons advanced by Edward W. Browning for his martial troubles.

The wealthy real estate operator said he loved his wife too much to start suit because of articles relating to their married life which she is now having published, but said he was "terribly disappointed" about certain phases of his marital career.

"The mother would not leave us alone and finally she took her daughter away," he said. "She refused to allow me to talk to my wife on the telephone on the day she left. 'Peaches is through with you,' she said to me. When I asked her for some reason she said I had not kept my promise to give them an apartment on Park avenue."

Browning said it had been his desire in marrying Peaches to have a home and children. The "terrible disappointment" came when he realized that she did not wish to have a child. "She said she would rather die than have one," he asserted.

Mrs. Heenan, the bride's mother, accompanied them on the honeymoon, he said, and until they left his apartment the mother always occupied the same room with Peaches.

CLARENDON, Oct. 12.—Mrs. J. W. Bandy, wife of a ginner employed with Moreman Gin company of this place was seriously injured in an automobile accident here late Sunday afternoon while she and her husband were riding in a closed car with other members of the family.

Just as they had left town a slight rut was encountered by Mr. Bondy who was driving and as he veered the car to get out of the rut the steering wheel locked which threw the car over on the right side pinning the occupants under it.

Mrs. Bandy was the only one seriously injured. Buntin and Son answered the call in the ambulance and the patient was brought to a local sanitarium where an X-ray picture was made of Mrs. Bandy's left arm that showed a break just above the elbow with a split in the bone for at least four inches. Internal bodily injuries were also sustained.

Mr. Bandy formerly lived at Happy, Texas, prior to coming to Clarendon where the family has resided for the past three years.

"HONEY LOU" By Beatrice Burton

AUTHOR OF "LOVE BOUND," "HER MAN," ETC.

READ THE FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills.

"Grumpy" hired Honey Lou not only because she is quick and clever, but because she is good-tempered and sweet. He likes having her around. So does everyone else at the mills, from the office vamp, ANN LUDLOW to JOE MEADOWS the shipping clerk. But Honey Lou is afraid of Joe Meadows, without quite knowing why.

One afternoon Honey Lou meets JACK WALLACK, "Grumpy's" son and heir. She falls in love with him, secretly and violently, and he with her. But when he drives Honey Lou home and kisses her she slaps his face. Later he comes to her home and apologizes.

"Home," to Honey Lou is the little flat where she lives with her old-fashioned mother and her half-sister, MARGARET MOODY.

The next day young Wallack starts work at the mills. Ann Ludlow tells Honey Lou he is there to learn the business, so he can take it over when his father retires. He comes to Honey Lou late in the afternoon, in dirty overalls, and asks her to meet him at the corner and drive home with him. She refuses to meet him on the street corner, and that night when she leaves the office she finds him waiting for her outside. He is talking to a beautiful blond girl who is sitting in a closed automobile that is drawn up to the curb. Honey Lou wonders who the girl is and what she is doing there at that hour.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER V

Honey Lou could see that the other girl's eyes never left her as she crossed the muddy sidewalk to Jack Wallack's side.

"Well, here I am," she said, looking up at him and laughing a little breathlessly.

"Yes, and 10 minutes late, too," he added. His quick smile flashed out as he took her by the arm and gave her a shake.

"Angela," he turned toward the girl who silently watched them from the window of her car, "I want you to know Miss Honey Lou Huntley, who is my dad's special guardian angel down here at the mills."

He looked from one to the other of the two girls in turn. "Miss Allen is a very dear friend of my dad's and is entitled to Honey Lou's affection, since down here and there she's about all he has to look after him."

Honey Lou felt her brain, but for the life of her she could not remember ever having seen this beautiful smiling person before in all the six months she had worked for "Grumpy."

"Are you sure that she comes down here?" she asked Jack when they were in the car and driving through the open spaces of the park. "I surely remember her, and I'm sure I'd never forget her if I'd ever seen her before."

"Why, certainly you're going to go," he said firmly. "It's your chance to meet the kind of people I want you to know. And, of course, Jack Wallack has asked this Miss Allen to invite you. You're got to go, Honey Lou.

Honey Lou's eyes were thoughtful as she went into the bedroom.

On Saturday afternoons, she and Margaret stopped work earlier than usual and they always spent the extra time in doing all the little things that they were too busy to do during the week. The flat became, for the time, a beauty shop and sewing room where they shampooed their hair, manicured their nails and mended and pressed their few clothes.

Margaret was sitting in the little white bedroom now, drying her dark hair in front of the electric heater. She had a Turkish towel around her shoulders, and above it her rather plain face was grave and dreamy.

"Hello, Honey," she said, when the younger girl came in and tossed her wraps down upon the foot of her bed. "I asked Steve Mayhew about your friend, Angela Allen, today. He says she comes down to the hospital about once a month to tell stories. She's supposed to come every Wednesday afternoon, but I suppose she's too busy."

Honey Lou scarcely heard her. Her mind was still on the letter.

"Read this, Margret and tell me what you think of it." She held it out to her.

"Why, I think it's a perfectly lovely invitation," Margret said, when she read it. "You're going to go, aren't you?"

Honey Lou shrugged her shoulders.

"I haven't anything to wear," she sighed—the old, old plaint of womankind.

She crossed the room to the clothes closet and pulled a dress from its hanger, then flung it back on a hook.

"It doesn't seem fair, Margret," she said, turning around from the closet, "that some girls should have everything they want and not even have to lift a hand to get it, does it?"

She sat down on the side of the bed and her shadowy eyes fixed themselves on the faded, flowery wallpaper. But she did not see it.

Her vision was filled with the picture of a girl in black velvet and many strands of pearl beads. A girl with sunny hair and dove-colored eyes, who had looked coldly at her from the window of a great automobile.

"I wouldn't step inside of Angela Allen's house unless I looked like a million dollars," she declared. "Anything that I own is just an old dishrag compared to the clothes she wears. You just ought to see her, Margret!"

"I don't have to see her." Margret answered loyally. "I know that, no matter what she wears, she'll never be half as pretty as you are, Honey Lou. And if I were you, I'd certainly go to that party. I wouldn't let clothes stop me."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Honey Lou has her first taste of high life—And something else, too Read about it in tomorrow's chapter.

"Why Certainly You're Going to Go," Her Mother Said.

that question a good many times during the weeks that followed.

"Have you known this Angela person very long?" she asked when the black roadster slid before her own door.

"Ever since I can remember," Jack Wallack said in a matter-of-fact voice, "she lives next door to us, and she's always at our house."

Honey Lou leaned over and opened the door of the car.

"She's awfully pretty and I suppose she's just as nice as you say she is," she observed getting out and standing beside the machine. "But she's awfully cold looking, isn't she?—Blondes always are, I think."

The man in the car made a low sound in his throat. It was halfway between a snort and a chuckle and it might have meant anything.

He jumped out and stood beside her. "I'll take you up to your door," he said, and he followed the girl up the narrow, dimly-lit flight of steps that led to the second floor flat where she lived.

The door at the head of the stairs opened as they came up and Mrs. Huntley stood in the path of the mellow light that streamed out from the room behind her. She had on a blue patterned dress of soft challis and her graying hair was piled high on her head in a queenly pompadour.

Honey Lou was very proud of her as she stood there, fine-looking and every inch a lady, with a welcoming smile on her face.

"My mother—Mr. Wallack," she introduced them, and then added: "Mr. Wallack drove me home from the office tonight."

"That was very kind of you, I'm sure, Mr. Wallack," her mother said in her soft southern voice. "It always worries me to have Honey Lou out alone after dark—especially down in that awful neighborhood where the mills are."

She put an arm around the girl's slender shoulders—and Jack Wallack realized suddenly that it was a tragedy to this gentle-faced, low-voiced woman to have her daughter go to the mills to earn her daily bread.

He had a new and startling impression of Honey Lou. Before that moment, he had thought of her simply as a girl who worked in his father's office, the prettiest girl he had ever clapped his eyes on, and the most desirable. But, as he saw her now in her home setting, he realized that she had been brought up as carefully as any of the girls of his own world and that she could not be treated lightly by a man any more than those girls could be treated lightly. She was no plaything for anybody. She was too fine for that.

They made a bright picture—the mother and daughter—as they stood there in the doorway of their little flat and said goodnight to him. And it was a picture that stayed in his mind all the way home to his father's big comfortable white house in Summit street. The lights of his car flashed across the lawn as he turned into the wide driveway and showed him the figure of Angelea Allen, just going up the front steps of the house. She turned when she saw him and waved her hand. She was still standing on the porch, waiting for him, when he came around from the garage.

"Well, did you get Miss Honey Lou home safe and sound?" she asked, as they went into the house together. "That's the funniest name I ever heard in my life—Honey Lou. It sounds more like a breakfast food or a stick of cheap candy than a girl."

She laughed gently. But Jack Wallack did not even smile.

"Angel," he said, "that's the first catty thing I ever heard you say in my life."

It was just ten days later—on a Saturday afternoon—that Honey Lou heard from Angela Allen.

She came home from the mills at five o'clock, to find a letter for her lying on the table in the sitting room of the flat.

"It looks like a wedding announcement, doesn't it?" she asked her mother as she tore open the thick white envelope.

"But it isn't," she murmured, skimming it with her eye. "It's from Angelea Allen. She wants me to come to her house for dinner next Saturday night. It's Jack Wallack's birthday, she says. I suppose she's having a party. But I'm not going. I don't know her or any of the people who would be there."

Mrs. Huntley took the letter out of her hands and read it.

"Why, of course, you're going to go," she said firmly. "It's your chance to meet the kind of people I want you to know. And, of course, Jack Wallack has asked this Miss Allen to invite you. You're got to go, Honey Lou.

Honey Lou's eyes were thoughtful as she went into the bedroom.

On Saturday afternoons, she and Margaret stopped work earlier than usual and they always spent the extra time in doing all the little

Better Than Bargains

We started our used car business with the idea that a good used car at a fair price is better than a fair car at a bargain price. That idea has now become a definite policy. Our customers can tell you why.
In Dodge Brothers Cars we have some big values.
Two tourings, two coupes and two sedans.
In Fords—three coupes, late models; four tourings and two roadsters.
In Chryslers—one slightly used touring car.
We also have one Overland coupe and one Chevrolet touring.

NORRIS TO TRIAL

Fort Worth Minister Will Face Jury On Nov. 1.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 12. (AP)—Statements today from state and defense counsel in the murder case of Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, Baptist pastor and fundamentalist champion indicated that he will go to trial as scheduled November 1, for killing D. E. Chipps with a pistol last July.
Discounting rumors that the state would seek delays, District Attorney Hanger unequivocally declared he will stand ready when the case is called. Failure to secure a jury is the only thing that would halt the state's case, he said.

COAT PRICES JUMP

FORT WORTH, Oct. 12. (AP) Effects of the cloak and suit makers strike in New York is being felt here in raised prices and decreased supply of women's coats, local merchants said today.
Women's coat prices are from five to fifty dollars higher now than a few weeks ago and even greater increases may be expected unless the Gotham disagreement is settled, dealers asserted. Coats in Fort Worth are being sold as rapidly as they are received, although the increased prices apply principally to finer makes, according to salesmen.

COLUMBUS DAY IS HELD HERE

400 Persons Turn Out For Celebration At Wichita Club

Columbus day was celebrated Tuesday night with a fitting program at the Wichita club under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus when 400 persons gathered to hear the entertaining numbers prepared for the occasion.

C. C. McDonald, local attorney, gave the address of the evening and spoke on the discoverer, Christopher Columbus. He told of the early life of the man, the trials he had to overcome and of his discovery of this country.

The program opened with a group of patriotic songs led by Alva Willigus with Mrs. Willigus at the piano. Miss Vivian Bailey gave a number of violin selections; Miss Frances Oeschner sang, "The Robin's Call," with Miss Katherine Sullivan at the piano.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd sang "Just a Cottage Small by a Waterfall," with Mrs. Shepherd playing the accompaniment. For an encore sang, "Mother Machree."

C. V. Alvey gave an interesting reading; Miss Catherine Sullivan sang, "In the Dark and In the Dew," and returned to sing an encore. J. S. Pitman was at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Underwood sang a group of numbers including her arrangement of Cadman's "At Dawning."

Mrs. Pitman read the poem, "Columbus," and gave several humorous musical readings in answer to the applause of the audience. As a concluding feature, Mr. Pitman played "Stars and Stripes Forever," and Mr. Willigus led the assembly in singing "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

Chicago Cop Tries Toreador Stunt With no Success.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.(AP)—No strain of toreador blood runs in the veins of Policeman William Bellfuss. And so when a Durham bull broke out of a stock yards pen and invaded the campus of the Englewood high school, sending 500 student into a panic, the patrolman was nonplussed.

He had no red cloak to wave so he tried to drive instead of beckon, and found himself sprawled on the pavement. A fellow officer finally shot the animal, amid the applause of a thousand spectators.

Ox Horns With a Past Displayed In Bank Here

A bank ordinarily is no place for a museum but C. W. Snider, director of the City National bank, treasures so proud a fine set of ox horns so much he has displayed them at the bank for the inspection of customers and visitors of that institution.

The horns are from one of the original oxen driven by Ned Henson in 1874 when he operated an oxen-driven thresher at Farmington, Texas, which was then a small village near the present townsite of VanAlstyne.

The horns measure seven feet and nine inches from tip to tip and are 8 feet and 4 inches from tip to tip when the curves are followed. They measure 14 inches around at the base. They are beautifully polished and mounted.

Mr. Snider explained that the old-time thresher was the only means of cleaning the small grain of the section at that time and grain was brought to this thresher for hundreds of miles around. Later when steam driven threshers came in the old ox driven threshers were called "ground hogs" and were ridiculed by the modern operators, but nevertheless continued to winnow out the grain for many years.

TAKE A TRIP 2,500 FEET UP

Los Angeles Commander Wants World To Know How it Feels

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 12. (AP)—If all Americans could be taken on a trip in the United States navy dirigible Los Angles this country would have a hundred such ships in place of just one, in the opinion of Lieutenant Commander C. E. Rosendahl, flight commander of the huge ship.

"The people would get us the appropriation if they could just see for themselves what these ships are and what part they are destined to play in the travel of the future," said Commander Rosendahl.

Not being able to take the entire country on a flight, Commander Rosendahl obtained permission from the navy department for an Associated Press representative to make a trip so he could tell the rest of the country just what flying in a dirigible was like.

The cruise was one of routine nature, similar to the three-day test flight the Los Angeles is to make this week to Detroit.

The take-off had been without incident. There had been no sensation of rising and as the big ship ascended higher and higher into the air finally reaching an altitude of 2,500 feet, there was no vibration and no rolling.

Only by looking at the ground far below where everything was dwarfed to the size of children's toys could one tell he was flying among the clouds.

Its flying altitude reached the ship settled on its course and Commander Rosendahl took the newspaper man on a tour of the vessel.

Francis on he affirmative side and H. J. Ballew and E. M. Francis on the negative. Mrs. T. J. Furniss and Mrs. Fred Morris gave a discussion on how the W. M. S. may become A-1.

This question of where to buy the building material is one that deserves much consideration than it sometimes gets. It's a point that shouldn't be lightly passed over. It has too much to do with the soundness, the good looks and the comfort of your home, and with its value as an investment.
