Tax Revision Approved By House 246-91

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 6—Legislation revising tax laws to improve the cash position of business by $5,500,000,000 in the reconversion period won speedy House approval 246 to 91 today and was forwarded to the Senate.

The House rejected 120 to 95 an effort to reduce excess profits taxes by $235,000,000 this year through a retroactive increase in the exemption under this levy. The boosted exemption will become effective next January.

Turbulent Debate

Approval of the bill came after turbulent debate, in which opponents shouted that it "puts a melon" of millions of dollars for some railroads and "benefits those who made excess profits out of the war."

Proponents argued that the five-point tax revision is needed to hasten reconversion — especially small business—and thereby aid employment. They said it makes very little change in ultimate tax liabilities of corporations.

Five-Point Measure

Specifically the five-point measure provides:

1. Increase in the excess-profits tax specification from $10,000 to $25,000, effective beginning with the 1946 tax year. Tax experts estimated this would reduce excess profits obligations by $160,000,000 in 1946.

2. That the postwar credit of 10 percent of the 95 percent excess-profits tax be taken currently with respect to the tax liability of 1944 and subsequent years, reducing tax payments in 1945 on 1944 liabilities by about $830,000,000 and in 1946 with respect to 1945 liabilities by about $710,000,000.

Postwar Refund Bonds

3. Advance to January 1, 1946, the maturity date of outstanding excess-profits tax postwar refund bonds, hastening the availability of $1,300,000,000 that otherwise would be paid from two to four years after the end of the war.

4. Speed up refunds resulting from carry-backs of net operating losses and of unused excess-profits credits. Under present law these refunds, amounting to $1,000,000,000 would be paid over an indefinite period from 1947 to 1950.

5. Hasten refunds resulting from the recomputation of deductions for amortization of emergency facilities, affecting perhaps $1,700,000,000 otherwise to be refunded over an indefinite period.

Weak Dealings Abroad Charged

By W. H. MOBLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 6. — A Senate committee complained today of weak American representation abroad which it said was snarling up war surplus problems, lend-lease and other economic dealings.

The committee also suggested the desirability of maintaining permanent American Army and Navy bases "at some points in the European theater." It criticized what it called lack of "sensitivity" on the part of procurement agencies at home to changing munitions demands from the front.

Based On Kilgore Report

The report was issued by the Senate war investigating committee on the basis of a report by a subcommittee headed by Senator Kilgore (D-WVa). Kilgore's group is just back from a visit to Europe.

The report set up seven specific counts in its criticism of this country's foreign representation, and had this to say on the general subject:

"The difficulties recited . . . result from the failure of our government agencies to obtain all the considerations we should have received in return for the huge contributions we have made in this war. Lack of a clearly established foreign policy over a very long period of years is a major contributing cause."

Seven Specific Counts

The seven specific counts:

1. Disposition of surpluses abroad in a manner not apt to bring the highest return or fill the greatest need. Coordination

Here's Meaning Of That Word SHAEF

In connection with redeployment and reassignment of American forces in Europe, many inquiries have been received as to meaning of SHAEF. Vinson Gets Morgenthau Post; Roberts Successor Not Named

FRED M. VINSON

Kentuckian Recognized As Expert On Taxes After Long Service In House

By MAX HALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Tall, rugged Fred Moore Vinson of Kentucky, director of war mobilization, will be the next Secretary of the Treasury.

The White House made the announcement late today, abruptly ending a swirl of speculation over a successor to Henry Morgenthau, jr., who resigned yesterday.

President Truman had said he had a man in mind for the post but would not name him until he returned from the Big Three conference in Germany several weeks from now.

Changes His Mind

Apparently Mr. Truman changed his mind and settled the matter today. A White House aide made the announcement, disclosing that the actual appointment will be made on the return from Europe.

That means Morgenthau will continue in the post for the time being, as announced yesterday.

Vinson, 55 years old, has had a richness of governmental experience few men ever achieve. He has been an ace in the legislative, judicial, and executive branches of the government, all within the space of a few years.

Now he is director of war mobilization and reconversion. As soon as it became known that he is the man who will take over Morgenthau's job as chief of the nation's financial functions, observers were quick to wonder whether he will take into the Treasury with him his present task of "war mobilizer."

Grouping Said Plausible

The White House gave no indication as to this but some thought it was logical for the whole field of taxes, public debt management, and reconversion to be consolidated under the big, shaggy man whose rise from office to office has been so rapid.

Vinson is not merely familiar with taxes — he is known as an honest-to-goodness tax authority.

For years, as chairman of the tax subcommittee of the House Ways and Means committee, he whipped together tax bills, and led the fight to put them into law.

He served 14 years in the House, in most cases battling down the line for President Roosevelt's ideas.

Named To Jones' Job

Early this year, when President Roosevelt ousted Jesse Jones as federal loan administrator and Congress refused to permit Henry Wallace to fill the job, Mr. Roosevelt's next choice was Vinson. Hardly had the Kentuckian gotten started with a study of his new

Parts Of West Get Good Rains

Heavy clouds which merely sprinkled on Lubbock county Thursday night gave the Sudan and Levelland areas heavy rains.

Partly cloudy weather was forecast for today and Sunday.

An estimated five inches fell southeast of Sudan and less heavy but good rains were reported south and east of there. One farmer in the rain belt said he could not find dry soil as far as he could dig.

More than an inch and a half fell at Levelland, a report said. Rain extended east to Smyer, reportedly heavy all the way.

Light In Crosby County

A light sprinkle was reported at Ralls, no rain at Crosbyton but a fourth of an inch fell at Cone, 10 miles north of Ralls. In the Ralls vicinity, cotton acreage stands at one-third its normal acreage as farmers busy themselves with planting maize.

Snyder received .65 Thursday night and .21 that afternoon in continuation of rain which began falling over the week-end, according to Leon Guinn, Snyder newspaperman. This week a five-mile wide strip between Ira and Snyder got an inch of rain, and a small sector four to seven miles east of Snyder .95.

Plainview and Post reported small rains, and one-fourth fell at Floydada. Muleshoe, Brownfield and Slaton received light showers. No rain fell in Dawson county, it was said, where 1,500 acres of cotton have been planted "dry."

HEAVY RAINS BLANKET CENTRAL WEST TEXAS

(By The Associated Press)

Steady, crop saving rains have soaked parts of the West Texas area, turning back drouth in some sections, benefiting pasture lands filling streams and stock reservoirs and giving early cotton a new lease.

Rains ranging from 3.80 inches at Colorado City and 3.50 inches at Coleman to .21 inch at Abilene fell steadily Thursday night and yesterday. Heavy clouds indicated additional moisture.

San Angelo, Sweetwater

Heavy rains in the San Angelo area yesterday broke a drouth which had sent many sheep to market and cattle to grazing lands in other states.

Nolan county had its best rain this year; it measured 2.30 inches at Sweetwater. Lake Sweetwater jumped a foot and continued to rise. Early cotton, scarce because of dryness, seemed assured of a good stand, and late cotton was given a good start.

Rainfall was general over Coleman county and a city water shortage was relieved. Fisk, in the southern part of the county, reported 3 inches, Burkett, 2.99;

Civilian Pullman Service Banned

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — No more sleeping cars can be operated between cities 450 miles or less apart after July 15, the government ordered today, so that better accommodations can be provided troops.

Imposition of this new control on civilian travel followed complaints of soldiers on transcontinental trips that they had been forced to make the long journey in day coaches while German and Italian prisoners of war were seen riding in pullman cars.

Applies To All Sleepers

The new order issued late today by the Office of Defense Transportation applies not only to those sleeping cars operated by the Pullman company, but also to those sleepers owned and operated by some individual railroads.

Chair cars and diners operated by the Pullman company are not affected.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson of the Office of Defense Transportation said in a statement:

"I am mindful that this action will result in considerable inconvenience to civilians but on the other hand I feel they will cheerfully accept the situation when they realize that it is one way in which they can make another important contribution to the war effort."

Complaint By Vets

The War department explained today that in one incident about which soldiers had complained, the Germans occupying pullman accommodations were mental patients, and their guards, who were being transferred from a camp in Oklahoma to a hospital in New York.

The department also said that the only Italians who got pullman accommodations were sick and disabled men in process of being repatriated. In one movement of 103 Italians to the west coast, they were put aboard pullman tourist coaches but not sleepers.

Jap Mercy Ship Is Cleared From Wake

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, July 6.—In an act of mercy unique in the Pacific war, the U. S. Navy permitted a Japanese hospital ship to remove 974 sick and wounded Nipponese soldiers and sailors from storied Wake Island on Independence day.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed the incident today. It was another chapter in the drama which has surrounded Wake, a U. S. possession, since it fell to the Nipponese Dec. 24, 1941, after a gallant little Marine garrison had exacted a high cost from the overwhelming enemy force that attacked it.

Evacuation of such a large number of Japanese from Wake apparently means the island could be re-taken by the Americans at will, although at present there is no indication this might be attempted. It is 2,300 miles directly west of Honolulu.

The enemy vessel, the Takasago Maru, was intercepted by the U. S. Destroyer Murray as it approached Wake and again after it departed. American boarding parties searched the ship each time, with the cooperation of the Japanese commander.

When first stopped and searched, the Japanese commander informed the Murray's skipper, who was not identified by Nimitz, that he was enroute to Wake to evacuate disabled personnel. He was allowed to proceed. That was on Tuesday.

The Takasago Maru was again intercepted the following day, after leaving Wake. Americans who boarded the vessel found that the bulk of the 974 patients she carried were suffering from malnutrition, stark evidence of the efficiency of the U. S. sea and air blockade of this and other bypassed islands in the Pacific.

POW Pullman Case Rankles U.S. Veterans

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, July 6.—Cooling showers in a downtown gymnasium and a switch to sleeping cars boosted the spirits of 200 veterans of European air and ground warfare before they headed westward today on the last leg of a tedious crosscountry journey.

But the men still were indignant as they told o fseeing Italaboard sleepers at Kansas City while the American veterans traveled aboard antiquated coaches on the trip from Boston.

Ground And Air Forces

They are veterans of the 95th Infantry division and the Eighth Air force. They told reporters here of riding in cars with broken toilets, a shortage of washing facilities and with cardboard rectangles covering broken windows.

Maj. H. P. Thoreson of the Eighth, who was in charge of the train, told reporters "there were no wash basins, the toilets were out of order, there were no decent places to sleep and it was dirty." He added:

"These men feel they have received the most ironic homecoming that could be expected under the circumstances."

In Washington, the War department said that only Italian service units now being moved are sick and disabled men who are in process of being repatriated.

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — The War department explained today why 500 Texas overseas veterans, traveling in overcrowded day coaches, saw a train load of German prisoners of war riding in pullmans.

The incident occurred at Indianapolis, June 13, and was described in a letter to Rep. Combs (Tex) by Clifford Hybarger of Beaumont, Tex. Hybarger, in the air forces, was shot down over Germany and spent several months as a prisoner of the Nazis.

Jeered By Germans

He said the German prisoners jeered the returning Americans in their crowded coaches as the two trains stopped near each other in Indianapolis. The Texans had landed at an east coast port and were headed for Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

Combs asked the War department to check up on the incident, and received the following reply from Under Secretary of War Patterson:

"Our returning soldiers are entitled to first class accomodations, and we try hard to obtain them, but with the unprecedented troop movements we have today, pullmans frequently are not available. . . .

All Mental Patients

"As to the movement of German prisoners of war in pullmans, the train which Mr. Hybarger saw was one composed of 12 pullman tourist sleepers and one coach carrying 200 German prisoners of war who are mental patients and 100 U. S. soldiers who were acting as guards, from a prisoner of war camp in Oklahoma to Mason General hospital in New York.

"It was only because the German prisoners of war were mentally deranged that sleeper accommodations were furnished. Pullman accommodations for enemy prisoners of war are furnished only for hospital cases and cases requiring segregation from the public."

Review Of Spending Ordered By Truman

China Entering Ninth War Year

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, Saturday, July 7 Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, marking the start of China's ninth year of war, declared today "we anticipate an Allied landing on Japan," and pledged that China would bear the main burden of battle against the enemy on the Chinese mainland.

A Chinese Army spokesman asserted that China's armies were turning from the defensive to the offensive, and that the enemy was changing from offensive to defensive tactics.

Casualties Are Heavy

He said the eight years of fighting—begun July 7, 1937 with the Marco Polo bridge "incident" near Peiping—had cost the Chinese 3,178,063 casualties and the Japanese 2,521,737, including 1,179,774 enemy killed, 1,318,670 wounded, and 23,293 captured. He listed Chinese casualties as 1,310,224 killed, 1,752,591 wounded, and 115,248 captured.

Chiang in a war anniversary message urged his people to redouble their efforts for final victory, asserting "our first duty is to hasten the enemy's collapse and unconditional surrender."

But he warned, too, that the Japanese would become more desperate as the war approached an end.

Border Town Taken

The Chinese high command announced recapture of Pingsiang, 11 miles from the Indo-China border town of Dong Dang, and said the Japanese "fled toward French Indo-China with our troops at their heels." Loss of Pingsiang was announced a week ago by the Chinese.

The Army spokesman, Maj.-Gen. Kuo Chi-Chih, said the Japanese retreating up China's east "invasion coast" now were in Chenghsien, 60 miles southeast of Hangchow and 120 south of Shanghai. Chinese forces, he said, are only a few miles from Chenghsien, and all points south of the coastal highway town have been retaken, including Linhai, Tientai, and Sinchang.

The high command said mopping up operations continued north

Air Giants Strike Fourth Time In Six Days For 11,000 Tons Total

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Saturday, July 7.—Nearly 4,000 tons of fire bombs and explosives were dumped on an important oil refinery near Osaka and on four other cities on Honshu early today by about 600 Superfortresses, probably a record number.

It was the fourth strike against Japan by the giant bombers in six days during which more than 11,000 tons of incendiary and demolition bombs have been expended by 1,750 planes.

The five targets tied the June 22 record of cities hit on any one mission.

First Fire Raid For Four

Kofu, Chiba and Shimizu, in the Tokyo area, and Shimotsu and Akashi were the cities raided.

It was the first fire bomb attack by B-29s on Kofu, Chiba, Shimizu and Akashi. Both Akashi and Chiba have undergone pinpoint bombing before.

Today's raid may have been made by a record number of the sky giants although nearly 600 participated in the July 2 strike against four Japanese cities.

More than 100 Iwo-based Mustang fighter planes prowled the Tokyo area less than 12 hours before, for the third straight day in their challenging search for the reluctant Japanese air force.

33 Jap Planes Destroyed

Thirty-three Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged in the air or aground in yesterday's Mustang sweeps, making a three-day total of 81.

The Mustangs found virtually no opposition again yesterday; one squadron covered nine Japanese airfields but saw only piles of junked planes.

Of nine Japanese planes sighted in the air one was shot down and six others damaged. The Mustangs strafed a dozen Tokyo airfields, losing only one plane.

Lt. Haviland Russell, Fort Worth, took his Mustang low over nine Tokyo-sector airfields and saw not a single operational Jap plane on any of them."

From Okinawa, Too

In Manila, the beadquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed, that Okinawa-based fighter-bombers of the Fifth Airforce made their second straight raid on Kyushu Wednesday.

Bombing of the Maruzen oil refinery, 35 miles southwest of Osaka, with high explosives marked the second time within a week that it has been struck by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's 20th Airforce Superforts.

It was hit last Monday by 50 B-29s and photographs taken while fires still were raging showed one unit of the refinery seriously damaged and at least two storage tanks destroyed in that attack.

With today's raids, made shortly after Friday midnight (after 11 a.m., Friday, ewt), the 21st Bomber command had pushed its total of Japanese cities struck in 41 incendiary missions over the home islands to 30.

Vital Refinery Center

Shimotsu, where the Maruzen oil refinery is located, is one of the empire's most vital oil refining centers.

Shimizu, population 69,000 is the site of the largest alumina plant in Japan. The factory produces about half of the nation's total. This port and industrial center, 66 per cent destroyed in an incendiary attack May 2, is located on the northwest coast of Suruga bay 20 miles southwest of Mt. Fuji. Its builtup area covers four square miles.

The Japan Light Metals company which processed bauxite ore for the alumina factory is located on the inner harbor side of the peninsula. Nearby installations include a boat-building and repair yard, a light metals plant, an oil refinery and an engineering com-

Aussies Hop Bay, Capture Harbor

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Saturday, July 7. — Australian Seventh division troops hopped three miles across broad Balikpapan bay under intense Allied naval gunfire cover Thursday, and secured both entrances to Borneo's largest oil harbor, Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed today.

This new amphibious operation secured Penadjam Point, where the Japanese had mounted strong coastal batteries, and then the Aussies thrust inland against scanty opposition.

Others Close On Refineries

Other Australian units are closing in on refineries still held by the enemy in the Balikpapan area, MacArthur announced.

In all Borneo operations, including those on the north coast, 3,031 Japanese dead have been counted and 274 prisoners taken, the communique said.

Allied casualties are 214 dead, 22 missing and 420 wounded, MacArthur announced.

While the Australians met little opposition in their new landing opposite Balikpapan, they were engaged in touch close-quarters combat with Japanese naval personnel defending the Pandansari oil refinery north of the burned city.

The Australians, who now hold 18 miles of the coast, from Penadjam to Manggar airfield on the northeast, met strong resistance as they pushed farther northward towards the Sambodja oil fields.

Japanese coastal guns and 75-millimeter field artillery slowed the advance, but the Aussies were still hot on the heels of the main Nipponese force withdrawing toward the marshy oil field.

Truman Warns On Fund Misuse

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — President Truman officially alerted his administration today against any "misuse" of the government's multi-billion dollar funds.

The White House offered no explanation for the surprise memorandum which Mr. Truman sent all government bureau heads, men directly or indirectly responsible for the spending of one of the biggest government budgets in history.

The order, coming shortly after the start of a new fiscal year, directed agency heads to take "vigorous disciplinary action" on any evidence or misuse or careless handling of federal funds.

The President expressed satisfaction that there has been "so little evidence of abuse" and said his official family that record must be preserved.

Text Of Memorandum

The text of the memorandum received by heads of all departments and agencies, in part:

"I am asking you and the other department and agency heads to express and underscore my determination to insure the most exacting review of expenditures in every instance where there is the slightest ground to suspect either misuse or careless handling of government funds. Any such instance should be investigated promptly and, where appropriate, a vigorous disciplinary action should be invoked. I trust that you will transmit this message to your staff and supplement it with appropriate instructions of your own."

DEAR:

Roy Furr, owner of Furr Food stores, was elected president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development in annual election officers Friday morning. W. C. O'Mara, manager of Sears Roebuck & Co., and Retha Martin, managing partner of the company, were named vice presidents, and Earl Collins, manager of Bell Ice Cream & Milk Co., was elected treasurer.

Braniff has established service here and Lubbock is now connected via airline with Amarillo, Denver, Oklahoma City, Dallas, Fort Worth and connecting lines. The north-bound flight leaves Lubbock at 11:20 a.m. and the south-bound flight leaves at 12:20 p.m.

In a ceremony last Sunday inaugurating the service, many pioneers who saw the first passenger train puff into Lubbock Jan. 9, 1910, were on hand to watch the 21-passenger ship wheel up on the concrete ramp after coming through heavily-laden skies.

Recent passage by the Texas Legislature of a rider attached to an appropriations bill prohibits educational institutions from employing husbands and wives either on the faculty or in any other capacity. This will affect several couples teaching at Texas Tech college. The bill raised the salary of Tech's president to $10,000 to rank with those of the University of Texas and A. and M. college, increased appropriations and increased faculty positions to provide for the return of approximately 50 per cent of former members in emergency war work or military service.

Several Lubbock cafes, one wholesale grocery and a bakery retail store have closed temporarily because of food shortages. Others, although remaining open, were suffering effects of some shortages. Sugar is remaining scarce, with some housewives unable to find any in grocery shelves. Information has been received from Amarillo that most of the restaurants there closed one day because of food and ration point shortages. Of 560 eating establishments there, 70 per cent were closed.

Cong. George H. Mahon has been instrumental in obtaining additional sugar for this area and 1,000 sacks or 100,000 pounds offshore Cuban sugar have been promised for shipment early next week.

Due to lack of rainfall, war-time shortages and high prices of labor and feed, Lubbock is running some 1,000 gallons short of milk daily, with the critical shortage due to increase this month.

Lubbock spent a quiet and sane Fourth with most families, that did not stay at home, going to Mackenzie State park for a picnic spread. A count showed that between 20,000 and 22,000 persons visited the park between sunrise and dark.

Truman Hutson won the Lubbock Country club's July Fourth flag tournament. Mrs. A. A. Foster won the honors in the women's division.

Vaughn Wilson has begun duties as Lubbock city attorney, succeeding Durwood H. Bradley, resigned.

Hubert Bechtol, who made the All-American team last year when he played football with the University of Texas, will have one more year since he is in naval training at the university. His visit here this week was saddened by news of the death of a brother, Capt. David T. Bechtol, in a plane crash on Luzon island. Another brother, Lt. (j.g.) Roy Bechtol was killed in the Marianas June 1944.

Lt. Edward C. Simmons, only son of Mrs. Ross Edwards and brother of Mrs. Joe Leaverton of Lubbock, was killed in an air crash on Luzon June 28, the War department has informed his wife, who with her infant son, Edward Conway Simmons, III, is visiting here. Their home is in Oklahoma City.

Maj. Chester A. Slingerland, who was retained as an instructor at Lubbock Army Air field after his graduation there in 1942, was killed March 23 when he was shot down over Germany, his wife, Mrs. Halcyon Slingerland, has been informed. He was a P-47 Thunderbolt pilot with the Ninth Air force.

Word has been received here that S/Sgt. Oliver Thomas, flight engineer on a B-29 Superfortress, has been missing in action since May 29. He was on a mission over Yokohoma at the time his plane went down. A letter from the chaplain to Sgt. Thomas' sister said the plane did not go down until almost to the coast and it is reasonable to believe Oliver and his crew may be prisoners of the Japanese government.

Travis H. Hazelwood, Southwestern Public Service company employe, died Thursday afternoon of severe electrical shock suffered that morning when he came in contact with 2300 volts of electricity. The "A" frame of a utility truck inadvertently backed against the power line when workmen prepared to set a large pole in a deep hole. Hazelwood was holding the cable mounted on a pulley in the top of the frame and the current ran into his body when the contact was made.

Two young men who lived across the street before they went into the service met on Okinawa the other day and spent the afternoon catching up on word from home. They were Edmund Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Austin, 2012 Fifteenth, who is in the field artillery and Jimmy Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stewart, 2013 Fifteenth, who is a Marine. Incidentally, Eddie found a Jap clarinet that he describes as "wonderful."

That's all this week.
Luck always.

Braves Take Twin Bill As Holmes Sets Batting Mark

BOSTON, July 6 (AP)—Apparently saving his greatest single day batting performances for a record-smashing feat, Tommy Holmes shattered the National league's modern mark by hitting safely in his 33rd and 34th consecutive games today as his Boston Braves swept a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates by top-heavy 13-5 and 14-8 margins.

The major league's batting leader, who jumped six points to .406 during the double bill, wiped out Rogers Hornsby's 33-game mark, set back in 1922, the hard way.

A left-handed batter, he doubled his first times up in both games against southpaw pitchers Al Gerheauser and Preacher Roe.

Holmes went to bat 10 times, five in each contest, and totaled a home run, four two-baggers and a single.

Those mighty blows drove in a total of six runs, thereby enabling Tommy to take the lead for both leagues in that department with a 66 total.

Lions Nine Bows To Jaycees Team 18-14

Jack Thomas' Junior Chamber of Commerce nine scored an upset victory over the Lions club group Friday afternoon, winning their American league junior baseball tilt 18-14.

Striking hard in the first inning and tallying seven runs, the Jaycees chalked up three more in the second. After the Lions had scored nine runs in a wild rally in the third frame, the Jaycees swarmed back with a "six-run" sixth stanza and held the lead despite a last minute surge by the the Lions.

John Tosh did the hurling for the winners, and Billy Presley was the losing pitcher.

CLEVELAND, July 6. (AP)—Les Horvath, Ohio State university's All-America football captain and Heisman award winner of 1944, will play professional football with the Cleveland Rams of the National league.

General Manager Charles F. Walsh announced today he had signed the four-year Buckeye star "at a pretty high figure" to play with the Rams the first year he is available.

Softball Tournament Is Slated Aug. 10-11

HOUSTON, July 6. (AP) — The annual Amateur Softball association's men's championship tournament will be held here Friday and Saturday, August 10-11, under the sponsorship of the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The tournament is open to all men's teams in the state. No entry fee will be charged military teams. An entry fee of $20 including A.S.A. membership, will be charged civilian teams.

LAMOTTA WINS BOUT

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP) — Jake Lamotta, the 5 to 11 favorite from the Bronx, spoiled Tommy Bell's Madison Square Garden rebut tonight by pounding out a unanimous 10-round decision over the highly regarded Youngstown welterweight in an action-crammed bout.

An error in the first of the seventh inning, coupled with a bad break for the ABCs in the last of the seventh, knocked the American Business club off the top of the American league ladder as the Optimist nine edged a 1-0 victory Friday night.

Bill Wylie, ABC catcher, threw over third baseman Duane Peters' head in an attempt to catch Dickson off base in the first of the seventh. Danny Strickland, coming over from short stop, took the ball some twenty feet behind third and threw perfectly to Wylie at the plate. Catching the peg at waist level and directly over the plate, Wylie tagged Dickson out, but dropped the ball when the runner collided with him. Dickson had reached third after being hit by York and stealing two bases.

New Record Set

New records set at the Boy's club Thursday night were broken. Despite a late start, the game was finished just before the one hour, forty-minute mark. The 1-0 score made the game the closest thus far.

Lester York, hurling for ABC, allowed only two safe blows throughout the contest. Business club hitters drew five hits from Billy Travis, but were unable to bunch them for a tally.

The game proceeded in almost mechanical three-up-three down fashion for six frames. Occasionally one of the nines would threaten, but good pitching and heads up fielding put out the fire in rapid order.

After the Optimists had scored the run in the first of the seventh, ABC came to bat with the weak end up. Constant razzing by the team began to rattle Travis and the Optimist infield. Wylie reached first safely, and with none out, Manager John Wilson set about to sacrifice Wylie around the sacks. With the bunt signal on, Wylie left first at the beginning of Travis' delivery. Sexton attempted to bunt the shoulder high pitch, sending it straight to Travis on the fly. Catching the bunt, Travis caught Wylie off first to complete the double play. Guy followed and grounded to Travis for the last out.

Aggies Enter Strong Team In Annual Meet

HOUSTON, July 6. (AP) — The Texas Aggies will send a powerful contingent of swimmers and divers to the second annual YMCA water carnival here July 17 through July 20, local officials revealed today.

Texas A. & M. college, which captured the men's team championship last year, will send at least 15 Aggie aquatics to the Houston carnival.

Bymeabond And Air Sailor Favored In Arlington Handicap

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—Bymeabond and Air Sailor, two of the fastest breakers in the field, probably will go to the post co-favorites tomorrow in the $20,000 added Skokie handicap of the Arlington Park program at Washington Park.

The seven furlong race for three-year-old colts drew a field of 14, including Pot O'Luck, runner-up to Hoop Jr. in the Kentucky Derby.

Bymeabond will make his first start since winning the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby two weeks ago.

Pot O'Luck, owned by Warren Wright of Chicago, will be making his second start since trailing Hoop Jr. home in the Kentucky Derby and whether he can muster sufficient speed for a seven furlong event is questionable.

John Garrison Wins Vernon Golf Tourney

VERNON, July 6. (AP)—Johnny Garrison of Electra held the championship of the Greenbelt Golf association today.

He won the annual tournament after a great battle yesterday with his fellow townsman, Jack Parr, that went 40 holes before a decision.

Parr was five down at one time but came back to tie the match on the 29th hole. The halved the rest to the 35th where Garrison went one-up. Parr halved the match on the next hole, then they went four extra holes before Parr drove out of bounds to lose the championship.

Free Men Have Rights

Government Should Protect Them

AS "reconversion jitters" cause more and more clashes between labor and industry and between ambitious union czars trying to chisel in on each others territories in what are called "jurisdictional disagreements," there is talk being heard in Washington of a senatorial investigation.

What the nation needs is not an investigation, senatorial or otherwise, but a law with teeth in it to force labor, as industry has been forced, to toe the mark when government agencies set up for the purpose make rulings on strikes of all kinds.

There should be a law, too, supporting the Constitutional right of the individual who wants to work to go peaceably to and from his job which has no connection whatsoever with strikes. A recent situation in Akron, where rubber workers defied the government and refused to turn out products essential not only to the nation's home front needs, but to the fighting forces, as well.

Striking rubber workers picketed one of the big factories and, by display of force and in violation of the Constitution, refused to permit "any but high officials of the plant to gain access to grounds and buildings." Office workers of all sorts who were not striking and who do not make tires, or any part of them, were turned away from the plant's gates by threat of strong-arm action by the striking plant workers.

That sort of thing not only is illegal. It is morally wrong—and it is time the Congress did something about it.

Forgetting all about the refusal of striking rubber workers to abide by government ruling; assuming, for the moment, at least, that the strikers were 100 per cent right in all their demands and in stopping production in the midst of a war in which better men are being killed and wounded, the reasonable individual must admit that persons unaffected by labor-management differences have the God-given American right to go where they please and when they please, so long as they act peaceably and do not take part in the differences.

There has been a lot said about the right to strike. In peacetime, we think there are times when the strike is necessary to avoid labor's being exploited.

But it is long past time to say something, too, about the right of people who want to work, and it is time that the government of the United States give proper protection to them.

• • •

WHILE touching upon the general subject of labor and its activities, it is a good time, we think, to make a report which should be made upon a segment of labor which, from time-to-time, has been sharply criticized for some of its activities.

We refer to the coal miners.

The miners cannot be absolved of all charges leveled against them a few months ago, and several times since the war began, for following John L. Lewis in disruptive moves which hamstrung the war effort upon occasion and caused in the Northern parts of the United States' home front considerable suffering and inconvenience because they did not dig as much coal as they should have.

Yet the action of the miners since their difficulties were ironed out—and there is no gain saying that some of their claims were just—is worth recognizing, since it is an example of what can come about when labor-management peace is established in all American industry.

While the miners are among the most comfortably fixed workers in the country now (and they should be) their payroll deductions for War Bonds are much higher than the average for other groups, industrial and otherwise, running from 15 to 22 per cent in the Pittsburgh area, as compared with the national industrial average of between 6 and 8 per cent. Furthermore, redemption of bonds among mining families is remarkably small—much less than that figure applying to the nation as a whole, or to other industrial groups.

The men who go down to the heart of the earth, whatever their past derelictions, are backing up their fighting sons, and those of other Americans, in a way that demands recognition and admiration.

The Oldtimers Were Right

AN adage among former generations was that persons with weak hearts should live at the seashore. Modern physicians recognize that the old saying is based upon fundamentals. Under the caption, "Heart Rest at Sea Level," the current issue of the American Medical Association's Journal says:

"It is calculated that at 15,000 feet the heart works about 20 per cent harder to accomplish 20 per cent less work than at sea level. The pressure of the air at higher altitudes is much less than it is at sea level, and therefore the pressure of the oxygen which is breathed in is also decreased. For this reason the heart has to work harder to supply the necessary oxygen to the tissues."

The unscientific oldtimers, it seems were on the right track.

"What is the most expensive hobby a man can have?" asks a correspondent. Women.

Ever since Mrs. Guptill had discovered the secret of the kerosene, she had taken it upon herself to mete out punishment. She saw to it that Mr. Cutter got the dregs of the coffee, the tail of the fish, the neck of the chicken. What was more, she put a padlock on the closet so that he had no more lunches.

I had my grudge against him, too. One day in reaching secretly for the register, I noticed that the copper paper weight was missing. To have asked him where it was would have been to reveal my own trickery. Besides, he wouldn't have answered.

"I believe he's put it away just to spite me," I complained to my mother.

"Nonsense," she said. "Some transient has picked it up for a souvenir. It didn't amount to anything anyway."

My mother might have been more sympathetic had not her mind been on something else.

One Saturday morning she had filled the oil stove, put in a new wick, and set it in the linen closet. On Sunday when she picked it up to take back into the bathroom, she found it dry. The wick had not even been lighted. The stove held a gallon.

Suddenly a question had come to her. What did Mr. Cutter do with all that kerosene when he finished with it?

She went at once to his door and knocked. No one answered. She stepped inside. His chamber work had not been done. (Ada liked to leave it until last, so that she could dwell upon it.) The receptacles were all empty. The lamp was empty, too.

She looked around the room. There wasn't a speck of dust anywhere. The windows were clean; the brass plate on the chimney was shining. She looked in the closet. It was bare. (Mr. Cutter owned only the clothes on his back). She opened the drawers of the bureau. The top one held a shirt and some underwear, neatly folded. The others were empty. She looked in the commode. Under the bed. Out the window. Everywhere. There was no sign of kerosene.

She called us girls together and took us into her confidence.

We searched the cellar, the linen closet, the halls—everywhere he would have been likely to go. Mr. mother herself searched the office. None of us found anything.

• • •

Early in March the weather moderated. It rained and at the same time grew very cold so that everything was covered with ice.

One morning Mrs. Guptill recklessly stepped into the back yard without taking time to put on her creepers. She had barely put her foot down before she slipped and sprained her ankle.

The sprain turned out to be a bad one. Bad enough to keep her in bed for a week, my father decided, or even longer if she didn't stay perfectly still. She made a terrible fuss when he told her. Who would get Jay off in the morning? Who would do the cooking and planning? Who would take charge of the 20 visiting Odd Fellows who were coming for dinner on Saturday? Here it was Tuesday . . .

We would find someone, my father assured her with more confidence than he felt. Help was hard to get especially at this season.

The second day passed without even a real prospect. Upstairs Mrs. Guptill was fit to be tied. Things were going to rack and ruin, she knew. There was no good, she said, in trying to keep it from her. Here it was Wednesday . . .

On Thursday morning Mrs. Guptill threatened that if we didn't have someone by night, she would come downstairs herself. She meant it, too. Suddenly father had an idea. "I've got the very person," he said. "I don't know why I didn't think of her in the first place."

"Who?" my mother wanted to know. "We've scoured the town."

"Eunice Sawyer. Luther owes me $20. She was asking me the last time I saw her if there wasn't some way they could work it out."

"She'd be real good help," my mother agreed, "only . . ."

"Only what?"

• • •

My father was getting provoked. He had his own hands full, and he considered this help-hunting a kind of personal favor he was doing my mother. "What's the trouble with Eunice Sawyer?" he demanded.

"Nothing's the trouble with her," my mother assured him. "I just wondered if she would be willing to come."

"Why shouldn't she be willing?" he demanded.

"No reason, I guess. Why don't you telephone her?"

He went into the office. In five minutes he was back again. "She'll let us know right away," he said.

Actually it was an hour before she called back. She would see us through the Odd Fellows' dinner, she said, on condition that she could go home on Friday night. Her husband would have her back at 5 in the morning. She could come no other way.

That afternoon my mother called us together. "Eunice Sawyer is going to help us out for two days," she said, "and I want you to be very careful not to let on that I ever told you about her having been friendly with Mr. Tapley. As I think it over, it was just gossip anyway and probably made up out of whole cloth."

"Yes, Mama."

"And something else." She hesitated and then went on, trying to be very matter-of-fact. "There is no occasion for Mr. Tapley's knowing she is here. After all, he is a boarder, and not in the least concerned with the running of this place."

"Yes, Mama."

We hadn't been fooled.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

SIX of us went to a little country inn for dinner the other evening.

The menu was limited — roast chicken and hamburger. Two kinds of potatoes, mashed and fried. Two vegetables, peas and beans. Two kinds of dessert, apple or blueberry pie. Iced coffee or hot coffee.

You wouldn't think that with that sort of menu it would have taken us long to give the waitress our order, would you?

Well, I timed it. It was more than fifteen minutes before the last of the six—no you're wrong, it was one of the men—had decided what to order.

And by the time the waitress had turned our choice into the kitchen all the blueberry pie was gone so all had to take apple.

BRANDEIS

Why does it take people so long to make up their minds?

Why can some of them never make theirs up?

I guess all of you who read my column know by this time that I think the world of my wife.

But when I go shopping with her I can see sometimes why you read so much about uxoricides in the newspapers.

A few days ago she went to buy a toothbrush. I happened to be along.

Well, there were yellow toothbrushes and blue ones and a couple of other colors.

When a man buys a toothbrush all he wants is to get one that is right for his teeth. "Give me a hard one" he says and sticks it in his pocket and gets out.

But a woman?

"No I am afraid the yellow one wouldn't go with the color in our bathroom," said the woman (guess who) and she carefully went over the whole collection and finally decided on—the yellow one.

• • •

I asked a psychologist what it indicates when a person has a lot of trouble making up his or her mind.

He gave me a lengthy explanation and after about ten minutes of listening to him I came to the conclusion that he had just as much trouble making up his own mind as any woman in selecting a toothbrush or a head of lettuce.

I make up my mind very quickly. Yesterday I bought some cantaloupes for today's breakfast. One, two, three, I grabbed them and you should have tasted them. Hard as bricks and green as grass.

When my wife buys cantaloupes she feels and fondles them and when they get on the table—particularly with a drop of lemon — they are delicious.

• • •

I AM WRITING all this because a reader asked me the other day whether anything was wrong with her because it took her so long to make up her mind.

Well, the psychologist couldn't tell, and the only answer I have is that the blueberry pie may be gone

Russia "Won The War"

The Reds Furnish Own Applause

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

RUSSO-AMERICAN relations have not been improved by victory claims advanced in the "Information Bulletin," an official report on Russian affairs published three times a week her by the embassy of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Its main thesis is that the Red Army, almost alone, was responsible for the defeat of Germany.

Unfortunately, the seemingly excessive credit given to Marshal Zhukov's forces irritates the very groups among the United Nations who have been Moscow's chief admirers and apostles — the military men of Britain, the United States, France etc.

Our diplomats and economists have been constant critics of Stalin's ultra-aggressive policies, but our battlefield experts came back from Europe with unstinted enthusiasm for the Russians' fighting ability. General Ike Eisenhower has frequently declared that, based on his contact with their representatives, "we can get along with Russia in the postwar era."

TUCKER

"The "Information Bulletin," among other major omissions, makes no mention of the vast supplies the Russians received from the United States under lend-lease arrangements, including food and dismantled factories as well as tanks, heavy artillery and explosives.

It refers to the Anglo-American invasion of France in only a passing phrase, and has nothing to say of the descent on Italy, which tied up from 30 to 40 Nazi divisions at the very moment when the Reds were hard pressed in the Ukraine. The document also contains some severe ideological cracks at "reactionaries" in other lands.

One paragraph carries only a thinly veiled jibe at our War department's early estimates of Russian military strength. Recalling that "some said Germany would knock out the Soviet in a few weeks," the publication paraphrases a prediction ventured by a Stimsonian spokesman at a "background" press conference held here only a few days after Hitler attacked Russia on June 22, 1941.

• • •

SIGNIFICANCE: "Now that Hitler Germany has been defeated," continues the embassy's publication, it becomes clearer than ever that the USSR was equal to the gigantic task of smashing the most hated enemy of mankind. In no other country were the people so solidly welded or so united around their government, of so conscious of their liberating mission . . .

"We know why it was not able to complete the defeat of Germany at that time (1942). There was no second front in Europe. Hitler could readily transfer dozens of divisions from the west and hurl them against the Soviet Union . . .

"The absence of a second front is what saved Germany from disaster in the Winter of 1941-42, and what enabled her to launch a new offensive against the USSR in the Summer of 1942. But Stalingrad put an end to that . . . The reverberations of Stalingrad were felt all over Europe, awakening hope and courage in millions.

"Until the Summer of 1944, the USSR fought Germany and her satellites singlehanded. It not only knocked the spirit out of Hitler's army, but it also gave its Allies — Great Britain and the United States — time to prepare for the opening of the second front, for invasion of France in the Summer of 1944, and for offensive operations in the west."

This official state of mind toward the Soviet Union's admittedly glorious successes on the field of battle has significance now as the Big Three prepare for their next conference and discussion of remaking the world's postwar map. It indicates that Stalin will take no back talk or back seat at any eventual peace table.

GERMANS: The American High Command is split wide open over the question of continuing the ban on our occupation forces' fraternization with German civilians. It is still an unsettled issue.

General Eisenhower insists that his men must have no communion with unregenerate Nazis, and he maintains that he has seen no reform among them since their defeat. He is influenced, naturally, by his visits to atrocity camps, and by his surrender dealings with haughty Prussian militarists. Many of his aides, however, have said publicly and privately that they thing the prohibition to be unwise.

Commanders of prison camps in this country, especially those in the vicinity of Washington, have presented their evidence on this score. When they found that stubborn Nazis had become more amenable since Hitler's defeat, and had begun to work harder, they questioned their charges. The general answer of the POWs was as follows:

"Why shouldn't we obey and work hard? We are eating well, are comfortably housed, treated like human beings and get 80 cents a day. For the last 18 months before capture we received no pay, no decent food, were tossed around like dogs by our officers and never had a furlough. We were entirely misinformed about the Americans, and now we are learning differently. Most of our older men want to go back because they have ties in the old country. But we young fellows would like to stay here."

The War department has begun a study and checkup on these surveys to determine whether it might not be advisable to expose the home population of the Reich to the same sort of kindly propagandizing treatment.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

SELF-PRESERVATION is the motive behind the "Ten Year Plan" for business proposed by Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"Make no mistake about it," he warns, "there will be a forced change unless we businessmen make our free enterprise system work for the good of all instead of for just a few."

In the past, he says, manufacturers and retailers have been so welded to the idea of independence based on competition that they operated their concerns as separate entities, not realizing that teamwork was essential if all business was to survive.

LEMAN

Now reconversion problems of labor contracts, raw materials and pricing are piling up and most managers are so engrossed in their individual difficulties that they still fail to visualize the picture as a whole.

Mosher, voicing the sentiment of top men in industry, recommends a 10-year postwar plan, initiated by management, to reach a new high in earned prosperity. He calls for a "National War-to-Peace Council" to inaugurate this program, with delegates from manufacturing, retailing, banking, transportation, utilities and other economic interests. He urges that his brain trust meet as soon as the ODT removes the ban on national gatherings.

• • •

LOSSES: There will inevitably be much bitter with the sweet in the changeover period. Wall Street analysts say that the weight of reconversion will fall on those capital goods industries that are on a mental base.

Most heavy articles like automobiles at first will be manufactured at a loss until mass production can be restored. The 200,000 cars which probably will be built in the next nine months will cost the automotive corporations from ten to 20 per cent more than they will receive for them.

Businessmen want federal price policies that offer a profit. They accuse the OPA of procrastinating by trying to establish a complicated system of piecemeal examination.

They fear that if Chester Bowles waits too long, defiant industrialists will fabricate the goods and fix their own prices. Gun-jumpers may get away with it and the law-abiding, who waited for OPA, will be left in the lurch.

"Once a Philadelphian, always a Philadelphian." —Lewis Gannett. No ambition eh?

Minnesota's Ex-Governor "Talks Turkey"

Stassen Steals Conference Show

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. — The most impressive political personality at the annual Governors conference here was not a governor, but an ex-governor now in the service, Commander Harold Stassen. He has proved his political potency in the past by being thrice elected chief executive of Minnesota.

Commander Stassen performed a valuable service through his appearance here. He brought the governors up sharp against realities in the world of today and of the future other than those troubles incident to reconversion that are beginning to plague them in their own state capitals.

STOKES

He turned their attention to the war still raging in the Pacific to which he is returning shortly and he recalled San Francisco, where he participated in framing the charter for a World Security organization upon which rest hope of preventing wars in the future.

• • •

Re-Directs Attention

He pulled them, for a time, away from the perennial controversy about federal and state jurisdiction which has never been solved and was not solved this year. He took them away from another problem—food, a temporary problem, it is hoped, but difficult of any satisfactory solution. Some think it may be magnified perhaps out of proportion to other things in the world — what is happening in the Pacific, for instance.

Commander Stassen put his finger on a psychological situation in the country today that is reflected in the contrated local worries of the governors and in an obvious letdown in the country.

• • •

HE REMARKED, in his address here, that when he walked into the Governors' conference he found them discussing the same problems they had been discussing three years ago when he was last present — then a governor, himself. It was just the same as if he had never been away. The inference seemed to be plain.

He appealed—and in a most effective way—for the governors to keep the attention of their people on the necessities of the war in the Pacific, so that a complete victory may be won, and for their cooperation in arousing their people on foreign policy, so that a consistent foreign policy based on the sound judgment of the people may be formulated. It would be a policy arising from the people and backed by the people.

His convincing talk had the effect of stimulating those governors who already were preparing to get declarations from this conference on the Pacific war and on the San Francisco charter. Such declarations were adopted—strong, forthright, without equivocation, and unanimously.

• • •

Support Of Charter Important

There is presumably now no question of ratification of the charter by the Senate, but this declaration of the governors certainly would seem to make it doubly sure, reflecting, as it does, the overwhelming sentiment of the people. This is reflected, too, in the crumbling away in the last few days of opposition in the Senate, so that it seems now that only a few die-hards will stand out against the charter.

The pronouncement of the governors on the San Francisco charter, with all that it means in stimulating discussion by the governors with their people and among the people, probably will turn out to be the most important thing done by the governors here.

• • •

COMMANDER Stassen made a deep impression upon the governors here with his clear and dispassionate exposition of the San Francisco charter and his explanation of the way in which it was drafted, the compromises necessary and why, and what it can mean for the future if properly implemented from time to time. The governors were moved by his calm and temperate manner, without dramatics, but therefore the more convincing.

Commander Stassen came from the San Francisco conference with added prestige. He has won a high place among those men listed as potential presidential nominees of the Republican party. He improved his situation here, it is believed, among men influential in party affairs by his appearance before them. His star seems definitely on the rise.

That of Governor Dewey of New York seems to be waning, though the 1944 candidate lost no opportunity while here to keep himself in the picture. He identified himself with the strongly international element in the party in which Commander Stassen long had exercised leadership.

This began publicly back in 1940 with then Governor Stassen's support of Wendell Willkie. He carried on from there with his subsequent campaign over the country for a United Nations organization. He was one of the pioneers.

SELECTED STOCKS RALLY

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Stocks rallied selectively today under leadership of dividend-paying utilities although many leaders still found the going a bit difficult.

Saturday shut-downs of the nation's principal securities markets begin tomorrow and will extend through July and August.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .3 of a point at 65.9. Transfers of 960,000 shares compared with 910,000 Thursday.

American Telephone paced the comeback with a gain of 1⅝ points at 177¼, a peak since 1937. United Gas Improvement, up 1¼, also was in the new high class. Favored were North American, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Standard Oil (NJ), Boeing, and Pan American Airways.

Swift International fell 3⅝ points in the wake of a reduced dividend. On the offside were American Can, Dow Chemical, Philip Morris, Allied Chemical, International Harvester and Douglas Aircraft.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Cotton futures rallied 65 cents a bale in early trading today influenced by prospects of a low cotton acreage this season but most of the gains were lost in later trading on increased profit taking and hedging. Final prices were 25 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower.

The reaction was attributed to technical reasons following the sharp advance Thursday. A second private forecast issued today placed the cotton acreage around 18,800,000 or about 1,500,000 acres under that planted last season. Private advices reported mill buying of spot cotton was small the past week, partly due to the annual shutdown at some plants.

Vinson To Get Treasury Post

powers when James F. Byrnes resigned as war mobilization director and Vinson was called to succeed him there.

Interesting to those who want to know the shape of taxes to come is the fact that Vinson has been outspoken against any reductions in tax rates until the end of the Japanese war. In this, Vinson, Truman and Morgenthau were thoroughly agreed.

Meantime, it was learned that Morgenthau turned in his resignation because he had become weary of frequent rumors that he was about to be replaced. From a person who should know the facts but who cannot be identified came this account:

Morgenthau took the position that he could only carry on his duties in an atmosphere of confidence and, in view of the recurring rumors, he went to President Truman yesterday and requested assurances as to his status.

Not Well Satisfied

The fact that he resigned soon afterward was taken as evidence that he was not satisfied with the reply he got from the President. The resignation came as a surprise to even his closest colleagues.

President Truman still left the capital guessing today about his choice to fill another major governmental vacancy, created yesterday by the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts

The names of Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Federal Circuit Judge Sam D. Bratton of Albuquerque, N. M., and others bobbed up in the speculation.

A boom for Bratton was started by Senator Hatch (D-NM). Telling reporters that he had recommended Bratton's appointment to the President, Hatch said:

Want Real Westerner

"I really think Judge Bratton would fit into the position better than anyone else in the United States," Hatch said. "For one thing, we west of the Mississippi river have always wanted a real westerner on the court.

"Judge Bratton not only was a good trial lawyer, but has been a judge on the New Mexico state court, a member of the New Mexico Supreme court, and spent nine years in the United States Senate, in addition to his service on the 10th circuit court of appeals."

Hatch, a close friend of the President, himself has been mentioned as a possible appointee to the high judicial post.

Another possibility is former Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana, now a judge of the Seventh Federal Circuit court.

First Postal Raise Since 1925 Granted

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — President Truman today signed legislation giving postal employes their first general pay raise since 1925.

For regular postal employes in so-called automatic grades, the legislation provides a 20 per cent increase in base pay, or $400 a year, whichever is the lesser. In no event will the raise be less than $300.

It provides for overtime payment at the rate of time and one-half for time worked in excess of a basic 260-workdays annually. The payment to be in money or compensating time off, and for a differential of ten per cent for employes who work regularly at night. The overtime provisions do not apply to supervisors, rural carriers, traveling mechanics and some employes of the railway mail service and the air mail service.

It changes the salary rates of postmasters by putting them on a basis of 100 per cent of the gross receipts for their offices instead of the present 85 and 90 per cent.

Roy Furr Is Named C Of C President

In the annual election of officers Friday in chamber of commerce rooms Roy Furr, operating partner of Furr Foods stores was elected president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development.

W. C. O'Mara, manager of Sears Roebuck and Co., and Retha Martin, managing partner of Dunlap company, were named vice-presidents. Earl Collins, manager of Bell Ice Cream and Milk Co., was named as treasurer.

Considerable time was spent by directors in discussion of the housing situation in Lubbock and it was decided to encourage increased home building by individuals under the present H3 division of the National Housing authority.

Smith died apparently of a heart attack. He had been in good health before Thursday night.

Smith Brands Japs; Returns To Mainland

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, who will leave here today for San Diego to take over the Marine Corps Training and Replacement command, terms the Japanese "stinking, evil-smelling rats, guilty of treachery, torture, rape and murder," who will give up when their homeland falls.

Gen. Smith arrived in San Francisco yesterday from Honolulu after turning over his post of Commanding General, Fleet Marine force, Pacific, to Lt. Gen. Roy S. Geiger.

He explained that his self-requested transfer to mainland duty was in anticipation of his retirement next year, and to make way for promotion of younger Marine officers in the field. He commanded Marine corps operations from Tarawa to Iwo Jima.

News Briefs

Martin Hoge, 52, was placed under a $500 peace bond Thursday in Justice D. W. Robertson's court on application of his wife, Mrs. Clara Hoge. Hoge had not posted the bond late last night and was in county jail. Charged yesterday in corporation court with drunkenness, he paid a fine of $15.

Disappearance of a 15-year-old Lubbock girl was explained Thursday when the juvenile department received information that she had arrived at the home of relatives in La Junta, Colo. Her Lubbock father had expressed fear for her safety. He said he had offered to pay his daughter's way to Colorado any time she wanted to go, and that apparently there was no explanation for her leaving.

Description of a man who lately has been making lewd overtures to women in 3000-block Walnut was reported to the sheriff's department Thursday. The man, about 30, parks his car and makes out that he is having engine trouble. When a woman comes into view he makes "indecent suggestions and gestures," the report said.

Guy Housouer of 1617 Seventh, reported to police Thursday theft of 14 gasoline coupons, a fountain pen, four packages of cigarets and $3 in change.

Woman Panhandles Her Way Into Jail

An 18-year-old McKinney, Tex., woman panhandled her way into jail Friday night.

A taxicab driver who had hauled her over town for 30 minutes or so, only to learn that she had no money to pay her fare, delivered her to the police station. There she attempted to "bum" $3.50 from a military policeman to pay the cab driver.

Questioned by police, she revealed that she had married a man Saturday in McKinney and subsequently found that her groom was already married and undivorced.

A slip found in her purse revealed that she had purchased on "time" engagement and wedding rings for $95 from a local store yesterday.

It was learned that she had attempted to beg money from several individuals.

She was booked for investigation.

Bill Would Exempt Vets From Unions

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — The House Veterans committee today approved legislation permitting honorably discharged war veterans to work in closed shop union.

The legislation provides that no honorably discharged veteran "shall be required, as a condition of employment, to be or become a member of, or to maintain membership in, any labor organization, club, association, or other organization or, as a non-member thereof," to pay dues.

It gives veterans the right to obtain mandatory injunctions to require enforcement of the proposed law.

New 'Work Or Else' Measure Is Offered

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — A new "work or else" bill, apparently aimed at strikers and men who refused war industry work, was introduced today by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R., Mich.

It would amend the Selective Service act to provide for induction of physically and mentally qualified men between the ages of 21 and 55 who "refused for a period of five days to work at his regular job or to accept employment" in a war-connected industry.

Hoffman's bill would call for a year's service to be assigned by Army and Navy officials at regular Army pay, subsistence and allowances.

Kofu, 70 miles west of Tokyo, is one of the largest Japanese inland cities, population about 100,000. It is the home of important railroad shops, spinning mills, machine shops and military barracks.

Chiba, 20 miles around the bay shore from Tokyo has three important railroad lines, with warehouses and supply depots which are being almost entirely used for military shipments. The city has about 75,000 inhabitants.

Also in Chiba are infantry officers' training school and barracks, several railway units and their warehouses and the Chiba ordnance branch depot. The city's most important industry is the Hitachi Aircraft company plant, which was attacked May 2 by Superforts. In this earlier raid clouds prevented visual bombing and the results were poor.

Akashi, home of the Kawasaki Aircraft company, already has been attacked four times by Superforts of the 21st Bomber command, and is 71 per cent destroyed.

More than 350 miles to the northeast, fighting was reported continuing six miles east of the former American air bases at Kanhsien.

The Japanese are showing much activity in their defense plans, said General Kuo, formerly acting military attache in Washington.

He reported the Japanese had divided China into five defense areas — one around Shanghai, a second around Hankow, a third in north China, a fourth in Hunan and Kwangsi provinces, and the fifth in south China.

Early Approval Of Charter Is Hoped

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex) predicted today that all attempts to attach reservations to United States ratification of the United Nations charter will be beaten down.

Saying he had been informed that at least two senators plan to present reservations, Connally added to a reporter:

'I'm of the firm conviction that we shall be able to defeat all reservations and ratify the charter without amendment."

At the same time, Connally said hearings before the foreign relations committee he heads will be shortened as much as possible.

"I hope that we can finish them in a week," he said. "That's just a hope, however."

The hearings open Monday.

The House, meanwhile, arranged a 10 a. m. (CWT) session to hear reports on the charter from Chairman Bloom (D-NY) and Representative Eaton (NJ) ranking Republican member of that chamber's foreign affairs committee. Both were delegates to the San Francisco conference.

Bloom called on the Senate to "lead the world" in ratification.

"No one claims it is either final or perfect," Bloom said, "but its principles have been tested and found successful in war and we are now about to test and prove them in peace."

New Cabinet Post Is Asked For Stettinius

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—Senator Wiley (R-Wis) introduced legislation today to designate Edward R. Stettinius, jr., as secretary of peace in a new cabinet post.

The former secretary of state already has been named by President Truman as American representative on the security council of the projected United Nations peace-keeping organization.

Wiley, a member of the foreign relations committee, said in an address prepared for Senate delivery that enactment of his bill "would restore Ed Stettinius to the cabinet alonside plain-speaking, straight - shooting Jimmy Byrnes," the new secretary of state.

Canadians Smash Up Town Second Night

ALDERSHOT, England, July 6. (U.P.)— Canadian Army headquarters announced today that soldiers who smashed up Aldershot for two straight nights will be moved to ports for homebound embarkation as soon as possible.

Again last night the Canadian troops ran riot through the town for more than two hours, breaking shop windows and causing damage exceeding the $4,000 worth in the previous night's disorders.

The only explanation given for the rioting was the soldiers' restlessness over delay in sending them home.

Pullman Service

and railroad officials preceded issuance of the new order by the ODT. The 450-mile distance was chosen, an ODT spokesman explained, as the one most likely to release sufficient cars to meet present needs. Should the demand for sleeper space for troops increase, he said, further action might be necessary.

Allocation of the space on those sleepers available for civilian use after July 15 will be up to the railroads and the Pullman company, an ODT spokesman said, but no accommodations of that type will be available for passengers traveling less than 450 miles, he added.

It was estimated the order would result in the withdrawal of approximately 900 cars now in civilian service.

Two-Thirds Of Cars

This will make approximately two-thirds of all pullman cars available for the exclusive use of the military services. There are about 7,500 pullmans.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director, said the unexpectedly heavy arrival of troops from Europe ahead of schedule made the action necessary at this time.

Predicting that July may be the biggest of all months in the redeployment of troops from Europe to the Pacific, Johnson said that it might be necessary to curtail civilian pullman service even further.

The shortest rail route between any cities will be used in establishing the 450-mile limit.

Feeder Airlines Set For Early Decisions

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—Development of feeder airlines will be considered soon by the Civil Aeronautics board, Sen. Magnuson (D., Wash.) said today.

"As soon as possible after the international airline problem is out of the way, the board will take action on the feeder applications, a representative of CAB assured me today," Magnuson told a reporter.

Magnuson remarked that, in his opinion, these feeder lines should be completely divorced from the major airlines.

The board, he said, must act immediately so small companies can get going.

Wool Blankets Due Soon For Civilians

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP) — There'll be plenty of wool blankets for civilians when the snow flies again.

The War Production board gave this assurance today in announcing revocation of an order that had tagged the full output for the military.

Elimination of the order, put into effect June 17, was made possible by a reduction of 5,000,000 yards in the Army's wool blanket requirements for the July-September quarter.

French Economy

4. "As a result of the impending evacuation of our troops in France and their occupation of Germany, the Army has shown a disposition to have no further interest in the French economy, while it finds it necessary to strengthen the German transportation and industrial system in order to assure itself of proper supply in Germany. While this is a natural attitude on the part of the armed forces, it must be counteracted if we are to avoid a situation where our enemies fare better at our hands than our friends."

5. "The division of Germany into four zones of occupation has resulted up to this time in vesting the control of what has been a highly integrated nation into four wholly uncoordinated elements."

Lend-Lease Invoices

6. Lack of itemized invoices for reverse lend-lease services and goods, preventing reliable accounting.

7. Artificially fixed foreign exchange rates which the committee said have imposed a financial burden on American servicemen and also created problems in settlement of lend-lease accounts and disposal of surpluses; also great amounts of Axis currency and other profits in the hands of collaborators who served the enemy, with impounding made more difficult by delay.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.
