

DISTRICT FIVE TRACK AND FIELD EVENTS ON SATURDAY

Weldon Bigony, Lockhart, Poe, Louis Madison and Burrus will represent Big Spring tomorrow in the District 5 track and field meet in Sweetwater, Coach George Brown said today.

Brown was not very hopeful of winning points, but Lockhart and Bigony have improved rapidly and it is possible they may place in a few of the events. They have been training the javelin about 140 feet and the 12-pound shot about forty feet.

Returning only one first place winner, A. D. Henson in the high hurdles, the Rotan team is expected to yield its district supremacy to some other squad, probably the Abilene Eagles. The Abilene line up includes for the third straight year, J. D. Tidwell, who won eight points in the 1936 sprint; John Kimbrough, hurdle and broad jump star, and a fast relay team.

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man's individual being can no more die nor disappear in unconsciousness than can soul, for both are immortal. If man believes in death now, he must disbelieve in it when learning that there is no reality in death, since the truth of being is deathless" (page 427).

Gold Shares Drop Sharply

Africa Hears Reports U.S. To Lower Price; FD Denies It

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, April 9 (AP)—Paniclike crowds thronged the Johannesburg stock exchange today as gold shares tumbled in some cases as much as 45 points as a result of fears the United States would lower the price of gold.

(A break in the French franc in Paris was partially attributed to the same rumors, which have been denied.)

The slump in some shares was due chiefly to an over-bought position in the market which led brokers to sell out weak clients.

Traders found a reassuring note, however, in the fact that mining and financial houses abstained from selling shares. Prices rallied near noon on support from London.

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today that neither he nor the treasury knew of any plan to lower the world price of gold.

Asked about contentions in financial circles that gold said that was very interesting but he knew of no plan to lower the price.

He suggested such reports evidently originated in the foreign press.

BODY IS RECOVERED FROM COLO. RIVER

AUSTIN, April 9 (AP)—The body of Clyde B. Smith, 25, telephone company lineman, was recovered from the Colorado river near Austin today.

Smith's was the second life to be claimed by the Colorado in two days. John C. Spencer of Fort Worth, University of Texas student, drowned Wednesday.

A boat in which Smith and Duard L. Chapman were riding overturned about 75 yards from shore and because it could not support both men Smith endeavored to swim for help. Chapman later was rescued.

Spencer drowned when a canoe overturned in high wind. A companion was rescued.

Members of her kindergarten class arrived in a group, and included Marilyn Youngblood, Mary Lou Gilliland, Bill Buckner, Ernest T. Potter, Barbara Lytle, Robert Beal, Gene Herrington and James Roy Odum. Guests from Stanton were Dorothy Jean King, Joan Jones and the honoree's aunt, Miss Lela Hamilton. Others present were Jean Reynolds, Wallace Michael Davis, Fred Faulkner and Charles Kelsey.

Labor Troubles And Weather Help To Deter Trade

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Some branches of business struck a more leisurely pace this week but the vagaries of weather and labor unrest modified in a pronounced manner the forward movement. Dun & Bradstreet said today in the review of business.

"Deterrent influences restricted the demand for some types of merchandise," the agency said, "but the trend of retail distribution continued upward. Slackness appeared in several branches of the wholesale market, due to the small proportion of recorders, but buying of summer goods proceeded actively."

"Buoyed by growing backlog, industrial operations were undiminished, except at centers where strike conditions prevailed. The review estimated retail sales for the country as a whole at from 2 to 4 per cent ahead of the week preceding and from 6 to 12 per cent better than at this time last year, despite the fact that the final surge of Easter shopping was stepping retail sales along at this time in 1936."

Abnormal Cold During March; Moisture Shy

March, meteorologically speaking, was one of those abnormal months—less moisture, more wind and lower temperature than normal records of the U. S. experiment farm show.

The month produced only 75 degrees maximum temperature and a minimum of 24 as compared to the maximum of 84 last year and a minimum of 32. There was nearly more sustained cold this year during March with 12 days falling under the freezing mark.

Fruit weathered a four day cold snap which reached a minimum of 24 degrees in mid-March, but six successive days of freezing and a minimum of 24 degrees virtually destroyed prospects.

Precipitation for the month totaled 1.61 inches as compared with 1.94 in March 1936 and 1.28 inches in 1935. Biggest showers came on

ABANDON SEARCH FOR BODY OF ARMY FLIER

GALVESTON, April 9 (AP)—Search for the body of Lt. A. E. Livingston, and wreckage of the plane in which he plunged to his death in the gulf Wednesday morning during target practice has been discontinued by coast guards, it was announced today. Following three days of dragging operations, pieces of the wrecked plane, a helmet, and a glove were found. Airmen will endeavor to locate the wreckage believed to be in about 30 feet of water, as soon as the water clears.

CALL MEETING ON COASTAL DRILLING

GALVESTON, April 9 (AP)—Representatives of Texas coast cities gathered at the city hall here today to discuss ways and means of preventing the drilling of oil wells along the gulf coast.

The conference was called by the Galveston Commercial association in line with the association's campaign to prevent the development of submerged oil lands on the coast. Damage to recreational facilities, fishing, and navigation is feared.

March 5 with .49 of an inch and on March 12 with .78 of an inch. There is no record kept of the number of blustery days but March may safely be put down as one of the dustiest of its kind in years.

OPERATOR LEASES EAST TEXAS TRACT

FORT WORTH, April 9 (AP)—Samuel S. Alexander, independent oil operator announced today he had leased, and the Texas Company accepted titles on, the Marshall and Long lands in Cooke county near the Grayson county line.

He said the deal involved a consideration of approximately $100,000, including drilling costs and bonus payment.

Alexander said drilling of a 6,000 foot test well commences on or about May 1.

The drilling block, he said, contained about 3,000 acres, the greater portion of it in the L.G.N., Samuel Stewart, Aaron Burns and D. Dugan surveys in the Delaware Bend of the Red river.

URGES EXTENSION OF OIL COMPACT

AUSTIN, April 9 (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred urged the senate today to pass immediately a house bill extending Texas participation in the interstate oil compact for two more years.

The house approved the proposal several weeks ago. The governor said he knew of no opposition to it in the senate.

"Most of the other signatory states already have ratified an extension of the compact," he said. "It is highly imperative that we should do so at once."

It takes Felix Riesenbergs a long while to get down to the meat of his autobiography, the title of which is "Living Again." He hems and haws, and speculates on the ethics of autobiography, and otherwise comports himself very unlike the excellent sailor he is.

Then he starts. It is a good yarn, since it is under way. Riesenbergs was not born to the smell of salt, like most of our literary captains. He was born in Chicago, and his father was not even captain of a lake boat. He owned a paper route.

Accuracy compels one to admit, however, that Riesenbergs pere had been to sea; he had sailed the China sea, and doubtless told little Felix tall tales, after the manner of sailors. In any case, when Felix was 16 he turned up in New York and shortly had a berth as second class cadet on the schoolship "St. Mary." This vessel was perhaps not a hell-ship, but the discipline was wearing. Most of the boys left, but Riesenbergs didn't.

He stuck it out for a couple of years, and then made a sort of commencement exercise out of a journey around Cape Horn. This proved to him that the day of sail was done. He turned to steam, and was singled out by the officers of his first steamship, the old "St. Louis," for rapid advancement. Riesenbergs disliked the Atlantic ferry traffic, however, and presently he was a second mate in the Pacific. He stuck it out 10 years—that is, he was 26 when Chicago text saw him.

He mixed himself up in the Walker-Wallman balloon expedition to the North Pole, spent a winter in the Arctic, advised Peary on his preparations, attended Columbia university and spent time as an engineer. Then the war came along, and he was given command of another schoolship, the "Newport." And so to the present, with writing, adventure and observation filling approximately equal segments of Riesenbergs' time. This reader of "Living Again" will see clearly where much of Mr. Riesenbergs' fiction originated—and why. "Living Again," by Felix Riesenbergs (Doubleday, Doran; $3).

THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP
CONSTIPATION

You have to correct the cause. Simply taking a pill now and then is just temporary—and often harmful.

Most constipation is due to meals low in "bulk." Put enough "bulk" in your diet and you can really correct common constipation.

That's why millions of people eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day. This cereal furnishes "bulk" which does not "break down" in the body. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, gently sponges and cleanses the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Besides "bulk," it has vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Eat two tablespoons daily with milk or cream. Three times daily in severe cases. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Preparations For Filming "Gone
With The Wind" Underway; Book
To Be Reviewed Here Monday

Expected to be one of the biggest box-office attractions of the next movie season is the film version of Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With The Wind," on which preliminary production plans are underway. Film producers have been in Atlanta for some time conferring with the author on details of the film.

Gauge of the picture's popularity can be based on sales of the novel, which have reached, since last June, the sensational high figure of more than 1,300,000 copies. Sales are above even those of "Anthony Adverse" which had been one of the best-sellers of recent publishing history.

What the author herself considers one of the ablest interpretations of the story concerning Southern characters of post-Civil war days will be given in Big Spring Monday afternoon when Miss Evelyn Oppenheimer of Dallas reviews the book. Miss Oppenheimer's reviews are in volume on a basis with sales of the books, she having given her review of "Gone With The Wind" nearly 100 times. She is discussing the novel here by special request, many people having asked to hear her review. Miss Oppenheimer has scored with crowds in two previous reviews here this season.

The Monday review—scheduled at 4 o'clock in the Settles ballroom—is under auspices of the 1937 Hyperion club. Members of the club are anxious that patrons of schools in neighboring towns and in the rural districts attend the program, and are offering a prize of $5 to the local ward school or outlying school which registers the most adult people. Patrons will be asked to register the school they represent. The contest applies only to adult attendance.

As a complimentary gesture to Mrs. Grady McCrary, formerly Miss Hazel Reagan, whose January marriage was only recently announced, Mrs. H. M. Daniels was hostess at her home for a number of the honoree's friends who gathered to shower her with bridal gifts.

The guests arrived earlier than Mrs. McCrary and played games until her arrival. When she came she was ushered to a chair that was cleverly decorated with pink and blue crepe paper. Prize in the contest won by Mrs. Hardee Cross was also wrapped in the chosen colors.

The shower gifts were found by means of a treasure hunt.

At the refreshment hour plates holding novel garden sprinklers tied with the party colors as favors, were passed to Mrs. McCrary.

New Swing Band
At Avalon Club

The dancing public of Big Spring is enjoying the music of Clark Wynne's Taverniers, a six-piece swing band playing nightly at the Avalon Dinner Club who have recently completed a successful eight months' engagement at Goodwin's Tavern in San Angelo.

The band features six all-star musicians, all of whom are veteran musicians and, according to their director, Clark Wynne, the instrumentation is closely in line with that featured by the popular bands in the East. The orchestra has become known throughout Texas cities as the Texas band with the Ted Lewis swing and the director is said to be a clever imitator of the famous maestro who popularized the phrase, "Is Everybody Happy?"

One of the outstanding instruments of the many used in the electric guitar that is better known as the singing guitar used in the Lombardo, Fields, Goodwin and Gray orchestras.

Although the band is limited to only six musicians, there are 22 instruments used during a dance program, each may doubling of four to five different instruments. The distinctive style of the popular swing music of today is taken well with Avalon dance crowds.

News Notes
On American League Teams

BY TOM BEASLEY

News notes from the service bureau of the American league:—
In a practice game at Lakeland, Fla., Jojo White of the Detroit Tigers slashed what looked like a safe hit toward right by Charley Gehring, who had been working out only a few days, dashed more than half way to first base and threw out the speedy White.

"Take that mechanical second baseman out of there!" yelled White to Manager Cochrane. "He's not human. He's a robot."

"How come you beat Detroit four out of five games last season?" was the question fired at Pete Appleton of Washington recently.

"It was just this way," replied Pete. "I was with Montreal in 1933 and had a good year. Detroit had a working agreement with that club and I thought I would be picked. Instead, Chad Kimsey was the man selected, so when I was bought by Washington, I thought I would show Detroit what a mistake it had made. I held the Tigers to two hits once and six in another game."

The ball players said last season that Bob Feller was just a fore arm and wrist pitcher and that he would not last long with such a deliver. This spring, however, he gets his back and shoulder into his pitch and then adds the snap of wrist. In fact, he has 300 percent more rhythm in his pitching than in 1936.

Buddy Myer expects to be his old self by the time the season opens. Because of illness last year, he was on a diet of fish and fresh vegetables for eight months. This spring, he has been eating big steaks every day and has been regaining his weight rapidly.

"I learned my lesson a year ago and never again as long as I am with Boston will I be a holdout," says John Marquand, the stalwart Red Sox right hander. "Was late reporting and getting into shape. Never pitched but one-inning before July 15. From now on, I am going to be satisfied. A few more years and I will not have to worry about the future—that is, if I pitch winning ball."

"How many games are you going to win this year, Mr. Wilson?" asked an 11-year-old youngster of Jack Wilson one day when the Red Sox hurler was warming up.

"Hard to tell, sonny," answered Jack. "It's just a guess at this time of the year."

"That's queer," retorted the inquisitive boy. "Dizzy Dean just told me how many he was going to win."

Connie Mack has three college outfield prospects in Ace Parker of Duke, Floyd Young of Wake Forest, and Bill Nicholson of Washington. Two of them appear to be excellent fly chasers but Connie Mack does not know yet if any of the trio can hit real pitching.

Baseball interest in Texon perked up this week with the return of Seabold (Haley) Joiner, shortstop who had a tryout with the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Association. TOP MONEY

CHARLESTON, S. C., Apr. 9 (AP)—On the old Wappoo course where he took up the game of golf 10 years ago as a caddy master, Henry G. Picard of Hershey, Pa., had a three-stroke lead to protect today in the third round of the Tournament of Gardens.

Named to the Ryder Cup team the second year and second among the money winners of golf's winter trail of gold, Picard had staged a fine comeback from his miserable showing a week ago in the Augusta National where he wound up in a tie for 32nd place.

Around the locker room, the early arrivals saw little chance of Picard missing the top money of $1,250 and 25 percent of the added $20 entry fee.

Of the four recently named Ryder Cup players, only Picard and Johnny Revolta, the big fisted fellow from Chicago, scored well the first two rounds. Revolta was two blows back of Snead with 141.

Gene Sarazen was in a seven way tie for tenth place with 146, and Horton Smith stood in a three-way deadlock for 20th position at 148.

BISONS CONCEDED A SLIGHT
EDGE IN INTL. LEAGUE RACE,
WITH BEARS, RED WINGS NEXT

All Farm Clubs Expect To Gain New Talent
When The Majors Thin Out Their
Rosters For This Season

By LEO H. PETERSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 9 (UP)—The 1937 International League pennant race is expected to develop into a three-cornered fight between Buffalo, Newark and Rochester.

On the basis of spring training form and the aid promised by major league clubs, the Bisons, 1936 champions, loom as the team to beat. Observers agree, however, that they will be pushed all the way by Newark, farm club of the New York Yankees, and Rochester, a unit in the St. Louis Cardinal chain system.

Baltimore and Montreal are expected to fight it out for the other first division berth, while baseball writers are virtually unanimous in awarding the cellar berth to Toronto.

Jersey City, back in the league as a farm of the New York Giants, and Syracuse, starting its first season under a working agreement with the Cincinnati Reds, are both classed as "dark horses."

First Base In Doubt
Except for first base, the Bisons appear to be all set with an outfield composed of Pepper, Carnegie and Boland a pitching staff headed by Ash and Kowalik, an infield of Meyers at third, Mulleavy at shortstop and Olson at second.

The veteran Eddie Phillips and Bucky Crouse, will do the receiving. Officials of the Buffalo club say they have been promised a first baseman by a major league team to fill the vacancy caused by the graduation of Fletcher to the Boston Bees. They also expect to pick up some hurling strength when the major league clubs begin parting their rosters.

Art Jacobs, the best relief pitcher in the league; southpaw Charles Perkins, Johnny Wilson and Dave Lawless round out the pitching staff.

Bears Loaded With Power
Newark is loaded with power and is expected additional help from the Yankees. The Bears' outfield of Boyle, Seeds and Koy is regarded as the best in the league.

The Bears rate better than average on the pitching mound with a group of rookies. Heading the staff will be Tamulis, Tobin, Piechota, Chandler and Sundra. Mackosky also may be returned by the Yankees, giving the Bears what appears to be the best pitching staff in the league.

Newark's only weakness appears to be the infield. Richardson, a flashy fielder but weak hitter, will be at short; May, who showed signs of promise last year, at third; McQuinn, a good hitter and fielder at first; and Gordon, a flashy rookie, at second. Their fielding will hold up, but whether they will be able to hit well enough remains to be seen.

Baker Outstanding Receiver
Baker and Herschberger take care of the catching. Baker is regarded as promising major league timber.

Rochester's Red Wings, like all the other clubs, expect additional major league help before the season opens. They need a first baseman and a catcher.

Except for first base the infield appears set with Jack Sturdy at third, Al Guerinello at second and young Martin Marion at short. The most promising of the first base candidates is Walter Alston but he may not be able to hit well enough against class AA pitching.

Rochester's strongest department is expected to be the mound staff headed by Kauffman, Harrell, Michaels, Kleinkle and Cross. The club needs a southpaw to replace Bob Welland, who may stay with the Cardinals.

Behind the plate Rochester has only the veteran Bob O'Farrell whose playing days are fading, and Jack Crouch, formerly of the St. Louis Browns. The Cardinals have no catcher to spare, but the Wings are expected to pick one up from some other major league club. Two more starting pitchers will be supplied by the Cards when Frankie Frisch starts paring his roster.

Starts Powerful at Plate
Baltimore must find a pitcher to replace Cliff Melton, graduated to the New York Giants. The Orioles promise to pack their traditional power at the plate, but they may be short on pitching and fielding.

One problem was solved when Leo Powers, hard-hitting first baseman, was sent to the Orioles on option by the New York Giants. Bullet Joe Martin will be at third, and Roy Shalk, a dependable fielder and hitter, at second.

Vanderburg heads the pitching staff, regarded as the team's weakest link.

The Orioles outfield will be built around fence-busting Woody Abamathy.

At Montreal, Rabbit Maranville is hoping for a first division club. He is building the team around such key men as Dugas, hard-mitting outfielder; pitchers Duke Chapman, Rhyne and Myllkanen; Hal King, second baseman, and shortstop Ben Sankey.

Syracuse May Surprise
Syracuse might surprise critics who have doomed the Chiefs to the second division.

The Chiefs will have a hard-hitting outfield made up of Cassen Ariotti and Porter; a pitching staff headed by Hockette, Campbell, Pearce, Brown, Fussell and Mangun, and a catcher of near major league caliber in Doc Leggett.

The personnel of the infield outside of Joost, who will play short or second, will not be determined until the Cincinnati Reds come through with replacements.

Travis Jackson is rebuilding at Jersey City and with promising players from the Giants may make plenty of trouble. He needs pitchers and infielders. His outfield will be built around Snead Jolley and Hal Lee.

Toronto is a question mark. Under a new manager, Dan Howley, the Maple Leafs hope for better things, but they are short of class AA material, and will have to get a lot of major league farm hands to escape the cellar berth.

STONE LAKE, Wis., April 9 (UP)—James J. Braddock, world's heavyweight boxing champion, hopes to develop his "fighting legs" by hiking along the roads and wooded trails around his camp at Little Sisseton, Wis.

Braddock revealed today his long developing plan was the principal object of his invasion of the northern Wisconsin woods.

The minute he feels they are right, he said, he won't have a worry in the world because he is positive he can hit hard enough and box well enough, if his legs carry him through.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—Joe Stripp, Brooklyn Dodger third sacker, is now No. 1 casualty on the Dodger list. Stripp, on the bench for the last few days, probably will not start the season as a sore shoulder has been torn to bad teeth and he will return home to have them removed.

SAVANNAH, Ga.—The Cincinnati Reds invaded Georgia today with Gene Shott, slender right hander, slated to hurl against Savannah in the Reds' only appearance in the state.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Oral Hildebrand was scheduled to start on the mound for the St. Louis Browns today in their second game of their 8-game series begun here yesterday.

ATLANTA—Sarasota behind, the Red Sox arrived here today minus Manager Joe Cronin and in charge of Herb Pennock. They planned a workout on Georgia Tech field.

RICHMOND, Va.—The Phillies close their southern exhibition campaign today in a game with the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont league. They will leave after the game for Philadelphia, where they will start a five-game city championship series with the Athletics Saturday.

Boyer, Arthur Are Teamed In New Romance

'History It Made At Night'
Booked At Ritz Friday, Saturday

Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur, a new pair of screen lovers, are featured in a smart and charming romance which tops the Ritz theatre program for Friday and Saturday.

The picture is "History It Made At Night," a new Walter Wanger production written by Gene Towne and Graham Baker.

Boyer is said to achieve new laurels in his characterization of a Paris man about town and glorified headwaiter. Jean Arthur, a screen favorite, appears as Irene Vail, New York mannequin who yearns to break the bonds of her unhappy marriage to the jealous domineering Colin Clive.

Clive engineers a ruse to prevent her getting a divorce, and by chance Boyer comes to the girl's rescue. They become great friends enjoy Paris together. Trouble ensues, however, when they learn they have become implicated in a murder. The girl decides to go to America with her husband, but once there, leaves him and gets a job.

Boyer and his genial friend—played by the ever-reliable Leo Carillo—follow her. They are successful in operation of a restaurant, and finally Miss Arthur and Boyer meet again. They arrange to return to Paris to clear themselves of the murder charge. One of the most unexpected and amazing climaxes of the screen follows—a shipwreck at sea which is said to be a sequence comparable to the earthquake in "San Francisco"—and the story is brought to a conclusion. Frank Borzage directed the film.

March Of Time On Ritz Program For Friday-Saturday

Added attraction at the Ritz theatre for Friday and Saturday is a new and highly topical March of Time—another release of that news feature which won a special award of the Motion Picture Academy for its contribution to the newsworld field.

Among the most pertinent of the entire series are the topics in the new release. They include "Coronation Crisis," which reports through the eyes of the English businessman the Edward-Simpson drama that almost destroyed brick and profitable pre-coronation activities.

Second episode is on "Child Labor" an illuminating survey of the bitter battle between conservatives and liberals over the proposed 22nd amendment.

The third episode is a startling expose of the Voodoo cult in Haiti, where 100,000 negroes, it is

CHICAGO, April 9 (AP)—A world's welterweight title bout between champion Barney Ross and the Puerto Rican slugger, Pedro Montanez, was "on the fire" today. "Champagne Waltz," a brilliant comedy with music, co-starring Fred MacMurray and Gladys Swarthout, including Jack Oakie, Velox and Yolanda, Herman Bing, Vivienne Osborne, Frank Forest, Bonnie Baker, Ernest Cassart and others, will play at the Ritz theatre Sunday and Monday, with a midnight matinee preview Saturday night. The picture is a blend of wit, beauty, romance and melody.

"Champagne Waltz" is built around the gaiety and charm of Vienna. MacMurray, an American "swing" band leader, captivates the city with the new type music, playing havoc with the famous old Waltz Palace of the Strauses. He meets and falls in love with Miss Swarthout, who is the granddaughter of the musical director of the palace, but doesn't dare reveal his true identity. His success forces the Waltz Palace out of business and when Miss Swarthout finds out who he really is and what he has done, she breaks with him. Remorseful MacMurray returns to America.

Miss Swarthout and her grand father come to America where they open a Waltz Palace along modern lines which becomes a sensation. But the girl is not happy. She still loves MacMurray. One day she meets him. What follows brings a happy ending. The dancing of Velox and Yolanda in "Champagne Waltz" strikes a new high note for ballroom team dancing and Jack Oakie's typical comedy supplies much of the picture's mirth.

Mae West Star At The Queen

'Go West Young Man' To Be Screened Sunday And Monday

Curvaceous Mae West goes rural in her last comedy production, "Go West Young Man," a riotous story of love on the farm which makes a return showing here with screenings at the Queen theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.

Cast as a high-strung movie star whose romantic life is curbed by a clause in her contract, Miss West falls in love with Randolph Scott, an automobile mechanic on a Pennsylvania farm—a place where the star stops overnight by accident. Warren Williams, who plays as the star's press agent, has the unenviable job of seeing to it that she lives up to her contract and the means he employs to insure it add much to the general hilarity of the songs-on.

Lytle Talbot is another of the swains bidding for Mae's favor, and it is from these three men that Miss West ultimately picks her man. Others in the film are Alice Brady, Isabel Jewell, Elizabeth Patterson, Margaret Perry, Etienne Girardot, Maynard Holmes, Alice Ardel and "Nicomedeus."

AT THE LYRIC

A return showing of the popular comedy romance, "Love On the Run," with Clark Gable, Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone co-starred, headlines the Lyric theatre's program for Sunday and Monday. The story is all about an American girl's experiences in Europe with a couple of newspaper correspondents. There's a spy mix-up, too, to complicate matters and add laughs.

Origin, Development Of American Grocery Store Recalled This Week

The American grocery store, as it is known today, had its inception in the early colonial storehouses of more than 200 years ago in New England.

The development, of course, has been through the avenues of evolution, which in turn followed the twists and angles of early settlements and penetrations of the wilderness by pioneers. This development has resulted in the modern, sanitary, efficient and hospitable food market of today, the type of store presented to the public this week as food dealers of the nation observe National Retail Grocers Week. Food establishments of Big Spring are joining in the observance.

The forerunner of our grocery distribution system developed in the region of Massachusetts Bay very shortly after the arrival of the Pilgrims in 1620. It came into being as soon as the earliest settlers were able to organize the raising of summer crops and get orderly fishing and hunting established. The development of marine communications with the old world and the West Indies set up what we describe as "trade," and as soon as trade was assured local markets came into being.

Started As General Stores

According to historical research by the National Association of Retail Grocers, the early market centers were not very highly organized. The markets included every sort of merchandise in "general" stores. Very gradually these trading posts divided into specialized lines. The process was retarded by existing conditions, such as the pushing out into the wilderness of trading posts to develop the native Indian patronage. These posts, obviously, were under necessity of carrying in stock all sorts of commodities.

Those engaged in trade did not get into specialization of lines until the populations along the Atlantic coast had become quite definitely settled into permanent communities and the affairs of business into well defined grooves. Thus it was probably no earlier than the latter part of the century that grocery specialists came into existence to serve the retail trade.

Separate Into Departments

As the population grew in the country and the density increased on the Atlantic shores the settlements became more and more organized in business and social contacts and business began to take permanent form. One of the earlier departures was the segregation of food distribution as a separate form from that of clothing, equipment and household requirements, the arts and luxuries.

Despite its early start, however, the grocery stumbled rather blindly through three centuries of time without achieving a development that today we regard as being worthy of such an important service to all human beings.

With the scientific analyses of causes of disease and various forms of ill health there gradually arose a sense of the importance of care in the handling of food assembly and distribution. Since the turn of the century, therefore, strides have been made in methods of preparation, handling and distribution of foods and with these strides there has developed a demand for form in this trade which is representative of the new conception of food values.

Refinement of production processes, of storage and preservation, of presentation to the public and of handling and service for the consumer, combined with orderly and efficient stock arrangements, today marks a new era in food distribution. Improvement is constant and universal. Fundamentally being the most important of contemporary work, it has been developed into the most attractive and alluring of commercial pursuits.

PONIES, FROGS AFTER FIRST S. W. VICTORY

By the Associated Press

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian, still after their first Southwest conference baseball victory, have another chance today at the teams they couldn't beat yesterday.

The Mustangs, two defeats on their record, will play the Texas Aggies at College Station and the Horned Frogs again engage Rice at Houston.

The Farmers yesterday found the range against the S.M.U. club for 14 hits, shelling Doc O'Neill for 13 of them. The Mustang hitters got their five runs in the last two innings, after Doc Pitzer weakened. Until then he allowed only a single hit. The score was 10 to 5.

The three-bester Frogs fielded in Rice only after a stiff fight. T.C.U. almost evened a 7-1 Rice lead the Owls had piled up by the third inning.

BRITAIN'S PREDICAMENT

More and more it begins to look like Great Britain "fluffed her catch" as her cricket players say when one makes an error or pulls what baseball fans call a boner. It was when she failed to stop Mussolini from over running Ethiopia after making faces at him and assembling a lot of warships in the Mediterranean. To have stopped the Duce then might have led to war, but it would have been a less costly and destructive war than she is going to have to fight not so far in the future, unless Britain backs down and lets the Italian dictator have his way.

Italy is stronger now than she was when the invasion of Ethiopia was preparing. She has a larger army, a larger navy, and the prestige, though it is nothing to brag about, of having won what she set out to win in Africa. She is nearer an offensive and defensive alliance with Hitler; and that brown shirted boss has an army that knows how to fight and that is anxious to fight, especially if there seems to be something in it for Germany. So that a war, nor in the near future, would be more disastrous and longer continued than would one when Britain had the superiority in ships and situation and did not press her advantage.

Mussolini has allowed thousands of his soldiers to go to Spain and aid the insurgents of that war-torn country. His government denies "sending" them, but refuses to assure England and France, both of which countries are friendly to the regular Spanish government, that no more will be allowed to go to Spain.

If and when Great Britain finds Spain under a government friendly to Mussolini and finds his additional fortifications in the Mediterranean, Britain's route to India, she will have reason to regret that she did not stop the Duce when it could have been done at the least cost of blood and treasure. For she is going to have to stop him or submit to his dictation.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Princess Myrtle Big Man, as soon as she wraps her wampum and moccasins for some Fifth avenue lingerie and finery, will move into one of the big Northwest airlines and become the first Indian princess hostess on record. She'll fly between Chicago and Seattle, amusing passengers with legends and tales garnered from her Crow ancestors.

Herewith an imaginative record of the princess' recitations on a typical flight. The plane has left Chicago and, at 12,000 feet, is rushing over what the map insists would be Montana:

"Well, everybody, now that we've had some coffee we might as well have a little siesta. . . Now what place could that be—I know, it's Corkscrew Creek, and lightning strike me if it isn't the very place where my great grandpappy took a shot at old Sitting Bull. . . What a man he was—no, not Sitting Bull—my grandpappy. A dead shot, and he wouldn't have missed that day if a locust hadn't blurred his vision at the moment he twanged the bow.

"That ridge over to the left would be Coon Hollow ridge, and it was there that Chief Crazy Horse, with a band of 30 good reds, attempted to ambush a coterie of my ancestors. Sink me if that wasn't a real scrap. We quickly assumed the upper hand, blast their hides, and sent them scurrying over the hills. Crazy Horse managed to escape (a fiend take him), but we got the rest of his group, and that evening had the satisfaction of listening to their lives gurgle away through tomahawk whacks in their throats.

"Dear me, wouldn't my grandpappy be surprised if he could see me now—acting like an eagle this high above the old range. Yessir, that's where the buffalo used to roam. Why I remember this very plateau. We came here to pray for rain during the famine of 1918, when I was three years old. . . I can recall a star-flame night when my uncle, a great fighter, related the modest part he played in the defeat of the Blackfoot Indians. . . His aim was off during that campaign, he recalled, and it embarrassed him because he went out with 25 arrows in his quiver and came back with only 23 scalp.

"But, after that shocking example of bad marksmanship, he steeled down and kept up with the rest of the boys. . . That place down there is Rattlesnake Slope, and a great salt lick for deer. At twilight the deer used to creep in from the meadows and get a little tonic, and my ancestors, concealed in the thick foliage of the cottonwoods, would let them have it through the heart. In fact, if you go there now, you will find wild flowers of deepest vermillion and scarlet growing in profusion, but they are not naturally so colored—as the botanists erroneously believe. . . Their petals are stained with the blood of mighty antlered deer which my ancestors were wont to slay from time to time.

"Buckle your belts—we're coming into Seattle."

Roosevelt has new, secret price plan.

Believed scheme to aid consumers' goods.

Anti-lynching bill held likely to pass.

But forcing issue may split democratic ranks.

Planning
WASHINGTON, April 5—In extreme secrecy, President Roosevelt has been formulating a new plan for the past two weeks. This time it relates to prices.

He has concealed it generally from congressional eyes. Federal reserve board and treasury money-men have been consulted, but it is understood they did not originate it. The author is supposed to be one of Harry Hopkins' bright young men in WPA, and both Hopkins and Interior Secretary Ickes are behind it—if you can imagine that.

Details have been very successfully guarded, but one or two officials who have consulted the president have an idea it follows the price-line which Mr. Roosevelt has been hinting at in his last two press conferences. He is apparently disturbed about the recent increases in durable goods, including steel, where the price-rise followed the new wage and hour agreement effected by Lewis and the C.I.O.

The idea is said not to be drastic but a gradual government spending away from bridges, dams, etc., into things like the Florida ship canal and Passamaquoddy, on the assumption that the prices of consumers' goods will thereby be stimulated.

Cleavages

The man behind the anti-lynching bill is Representative Gavan, who comes from the Amos and Andy district. A Tammany man, he has successfully fought off efforts of negroes to capture his seat. He got busy early this season with the anti-lynching people and crowded Chairman Hutton Sumners of the house judiciary committee into reporting the bill. Sumners had been proud of the fact that his committee has never reported an anti-lynching bill during his administration, but the 213 signatures obtained by Gavan frightened the house leaders who feared reprisals and possible defeat.

Senator Wagner has passed the word to his house friends that he can get the bill through the senate if the house would act promptly. It appears that he may be right about that, but the forcing of this issue during the bitter senate squabble over Mr. Roosevelt's supreme court packing plan will not help the split within the democratic ranks. Several experienced democratic congressmen are expressing the opinion privately that, if the president wins his court packing plan and the anti-lynching bill is passed, the cleavage within the party will not be healed during this administration.

Economic Confusion

The new federal reserve board bond-buying policy was not an economic move, but a life preserver for Henry Morgenthau. Despite all the many funds administered by the treasury secretary, he actually was short of ready money with which to support the bond market, in the face of the natural economic tide of increasing interest rates, commercial loans, commodity figures, recovery. This may be disputed with official figures, but is nevertheless true.

The step really runs counter to the economic theory of federal reserve policy. Chairman Eccles has put into effect two hoists in reserve requirements. He did it to keep prices down, to hinder inflation. The theory was that, by increasing the reserves required of banks, he could keep them from lending that money in the stock, commodity or business markets, where it might be used to make inflation boom.

But he ran counter to the policy of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau, who was trying to make the banks carry the vast federal debt at low interest rates. Some banks had to sell their bonds in order to meet new reserve requirements. What ever selling there was for this and other purposes hurt Mr. Morgenthau's bond market, blocked his game.

There is some talk now about federal reserve reducing the reserve requirements again so as to get out of Mr. Morgenthau's way, but the suggestion is premature, if not facetious. The change undoubtedly represents only a temporary halt in Chairman Eccles' boom control moves. If business keeps expanding and interest rates keep going up, what he will do is problematical. He says: "Balance the budget, not theoretically, but really."

That appears to be not only an economic desirability, but a financial necessity.

Sum Up

A very capable business man was asked the other day the usual question of greeting: "Well, how do things look to you?" His response was this story:

"My mother once had an old negro cook, Dinah, whose husband was very ill. Mother went down to the kitchen one morning and asked Dinah how the husband was getting along. The reply was: 'Well, the doctor says he is improving, but he doesn't know whether it is for the better or for the worse.'" is not democracy.

"I say to the premier, 'send 50,000 militia in here, but General Motors will sign an agreement before it builds another motor car in Canada.'"

By the Associated Press

Peace reigned over the American automotive strike front today for the first time in five months.

While union leaders cheered agreements with four Michigan automobile producers, their foray into the Canadian motor industry brought determined opposition from the Ontario government.

In announcing settlement of the Hudson Motor Car company strike last night, Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan said "our serious trouble in the motor industry is ended."

Meanwhile, the automobile builders eyed John L. Lewis' prediction that Henry Ford would deal with the U.A.W. "in time" and Ford's declaration that union recognition would never be granted.

A short-lived sit-down strike in the A-C Spark Plug plant at Flint, a subsidiary of General Motors, ended last night. A conference was scheduled today.

At East Peoria, Ill., 11,500 employees returned to work in the Caterpillar Tractor company plant which closed Tuesday. Sit-down strikers and pickets withdrew last night shortly after signing an agreement giving workers collective bargaining rights.

Court

the country favors enlarged federal powers, the proper road is by constitutional amendment. To go about it indirectly, he said, would undermine independence of the courts.

The committee will recess tomorrow, but will hear opposition witnesses for several days beginning Monday.

Disseminated yesterday from offering a resolution to close the hearings, Senator Hughes (D-De) said he would bring the question up again next week unless an agreement was reached meanwhile.

Yale Freely Opposes

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—James R. Angell, president of Yale, denounced the Roosevelt court bill today as "a flagrant instance of political bad faith."

In a letter made public by senatorial opponents of the Roosevelt proposal, Angell warned that "our confidence in the good faith of the chief magistrate and the impartiality of the supreme court is shaken, the end of our form of government is in sight."

"There is simply no emergency," Angell said, "such as requires this"

ravaging of the court."

Asserting the president had not mentioned the proposal during his campaign, Angell said:

"To spring it now and to try and whip into line the huge democratic majority in congress is a flagrant instance of political bad faith, which it would be difficult to match in our entire history."

mine how many bodies were in the plane, early reports having varied.

"Then there is the matter of legal procedure," the pilot said, "and a more definite identification of each body. I also want to place the personal effects of the victims in responsible hands and see that they are available to relatives."

The first coroner's verdict blamed unfavorable weather for the crash.

SCOUT LEADERS TO HUNT FOR CAMPSITE

A party of at least 12 persons is to gather at San Angelo Saturday morning for a week-end excursion to locate a summer campsite for scouts of the Buffalo Trail council.

The group will go from San Angelo to Brownwood, thence to the Richland Springs camp, then to the San Saba Mission near Menard, the 700 springs on the Llano and Camp Fawcett near Barksdale on the Nueces.

Leaving Barksdale Sunday morning, the party will go to San Angelo for a district regional meeting where Charles Paxton, council president, is to preside.

In the party will be C. S. Blomshield, camp chairman, R. Reagan, Post Scout, Horace Reagan of Big Spring, Charles Paxton, Jerry Steinsky, E. M. East and A. J. Stiles of Sweetwater, Morris Kirschbaum of Colorado, and Wallace Wimberly, John Howe and Clint Lackey of Midland.

WPA Authorized To Put All Certified Laborers To Work

R. H. McNew, district WPA director, said today that he had received authorization to put all available certified laborers to work on WPA projects during April and May.

How many additional workers this dropping-the-bats policy would put on projects, McNew was unable to say. He said that it could have the effect of increasing the district quota as much as 500 persons, but that not all of the certified workers were free to be assigned to jobs.

The quota stood originally at 1,250 for April, an increase of 100 over the preceding month.

The director indicated that a few new projects might be started to care for the extra laborers. The project, already approved in expectation to care for the local situation.

Many of the certified workers, not now assigned to projects, are in sparsely populated counties where congregation of workers constitutes a real problem. The new order may have little effect on them.

WARNING AGAINST DUMPING OF TRASH AT STATE PARK

Practice of using the scenic Mountain state park for dumping grounds will result in rigid prosecution when offenders are caught, Gene Searcy, caretaker, said today.

Searcy disclosed that several loads of trash have been hauled to different parts of the park and dumped. One load hauled unloaded his truck within 100 yards of the caretaker's cottage, but escaped before he was sighted.

A close watch will be kept on the park and those caught dumping refuse on the property will be turned over to officers, Searcy said.

They landed at Gatwick Air-drome, Surrey, after a flight from Bavaria.

Before bringing his trim plane to earth Col. Lindbergh flew over Long Barn, his Seven Oaks home, and twice dipped the ship in salute to young Jon.

The Lindberghs' entire flight covered approximately 15,000 miles to India and back.
