Science Of Marriage Is Advocated In Education

BY DEXTER TEED
NEA Service Writer

CLEVELAND, June 10.—The youth of the future must face marriage not in ignorance but fully-equipped to solve the problems which every couple meets.

Education will bring this about. Students will be taught the "science of marriage" in schools.

And the picture of high school boys and girls, as well as college students, lugging textbooks on marriage along with their histories, algebras and biologies isn't so overdrawn as it may seem. The influence of the home is admittedly waning. There must be a substitute.

Institution Menaced

With the divorce rate constantly mounting, Domestic Relations Judge Samuel H. Silbert of Cleveland is convinced that the institution of marriage is menaced. He declares we must delve deeply into fundamentals. He urges education of our youth for marriage.

JUDGE S. H. SILBERT

"We're too smugly complacent about it," he declares. "We raise our children in a Garden of Eden then toss them out into a hard-boiled world of reality. They aren't prepared for marriage."

Wealth Of Experience

Judge Silbert draws his conclusions from a wealth of experience. He has been hearing divorce cases for seven years. During the past four months 1400 have been before him. He has set a record of a divorce every 10 minutes in uncontested cases. He's sometimes called the "10-minute judge."

He's been a confidante of thousands. He has heard their troubles, their unsolved problems. Perhaps he understands couples in the throes of divorce as well as any judge in America.

Education Remedy

Although Judge Silbert admits there are many causes of divorces and unhappy marriages, he believes education is the remedy.

He admits young people often re-

Two Oklahoma Peace Officers Charged With Murder Of Pair

Story Of Shooting Of Two Students Told On Stand Wednesday; Catholic Rites Read For Two Youths

(By Associated Press)

ARDMORE, Okla., June 10. — Two Southern Oklahoma peace officers whose midnight encounter with motorists ended in gunfire and the death of two youthful students from well known Mexican families were bound over to Carter county district court for a murder trial here today.

The action came at the request of the officers, Deputy Sheriff W. E. Guess and Cecil Crosby, and on order of County Judge Charles N. Champion, after an all-day hearing in a court room teeming with humanity.

Takes All Blame

"I shot because they drew a pistol," shouted Guess, who testified he alone fired the shots which ended the lives of Emilio Cortes Rubio, cousin of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, and Manuel Garcia Gomez, beside a highway here early Monday where the boys, worn from a day's drive from an Atchison, Kansas college en route to Mexico had parked their motor car.

The hearing ended just before the bodies of Cortes Rubio and Gomez were beginning their long last journey to the southern republic, under escort of the son and personal representative of Governor W. H. Murray of Oklahoma. This morning in a little one room Catholic church packed by hushed hundreds, requiem was conducted by Oklahoma Catholic church dignitaries.

Bail Is Granted

Immediately after the hearing District Judge A. A. Walden, in whose court the deputies will face trial, probably late in June, grant-

American Authority Declares That Men Might Be Saved And Sunken Sub Itself Brought Up In Few Days

(By Associated Press)

WEIHAIWEI, China, June 10.—A thrilling battle for the lives of eight men trapped in the steel hulk of the British submarine poseidon was waged today on the waters of the North Yellow Sea.

Victory was in doubt tonight, but there still was hope held by officers of British ships assembled at the scene of the disaster that, with the aid of a Japanese salvage tug, they might raise the stricken vessel before the foul aid of the interior overcomes the imprisoned men.

Establish Communication

The Poseidon's parent ship; the Medway, succeeded today in establishing communitation with the eight men who were trapped in a rear compartment when the submarine went to the bottom in twenty fathoms after a collision yesterday.

The prisoners reported themselves uninjured, but the length of time they would be able to survive with their limited supply of oxygen was necessarily fast diminishing.

Eight Are Alive

So far as the Medway could establish, only eight of the eighteen men missing remained alive. It was assumed that the other ten were drowned in one of the forward compartments, which were flooded when the Chinese steamer Yuta ripped a great hole in the Poseidon just for-

Manager Is To Direct Survey In Flood Area

Farmers Of Stricken Territory Anxiously Awaiting Aid Of Red Cross; Destruction Is Widespread

(By Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, June 10.—Henry M. Baker state manager of the American Red Cross in Oklahoma has been ordered to Turkey and Quitaque to make a survey of the area swept by a cloudburst Monday night, J. Claude Wells, chairman of the Hall county chapter, said today.

Wells said the official, who was instructed to conduct the survey for headquarters at St. Louis, would spend two or three days in obtaining a detailed report. Wells expressed the belief that whatever aid is tendered by the organization would depend upon the report.

Farmers Waiting

In the meantime, farmers on the 66,000 acres swept away by the flood waters, are awaiting eagerly whatever aid may be forthcoming, trusting that help will be received before it is too late to replant their crops, Wells said. Every day the matter is delayed now may cost them dearly at harvest time this fall, he said.

The season is already late for planting cotton, but most of the farmers expect to replant if seed is made available at once, trusting to hot weather for quick germination of the seed and rapid growth, Wells said.

Wells estimated that 300 families need 20,000 bushels of cotton seed and more than 100,000 pounds of grain sorghum seed to replant their crops. Some of them have enough seed on hand to replant part of the acreage, he said.

Evolution Law Is Under Fire In Tennessee

(By Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 10. — The Tennessee house of representatives today voiced its approval of a statute prohibiting the teaching of the theory of evolution in schools wholly or partly supported by state funds by rejecting a bill to repeal the law.

There were only 14 votes against the motion to reject the repealing measure, offered by Representative Robert M. Murray, and 58 votes in behalf of rejection.

Murray Is Heard

Before the vote, Murray spoke in defense of his bill, which he said was introduced in a "spirit of enlightenment."

"I'm getting tired of having people of other states refer to Tennessee as the state with the monkey statute," he said.

The vote on the repeal measure today was preceded by considerable oratory of the champions of the evolution law.

Others Join In

"Uncle Billy" Matthews, oldest member of the house said "if the doctrine of evolution is right, then our Bible is wrong."

Representative Robert P. Brown of Hickman, joined those seeking the rejection of the repealing statute.

"I don't know whether man evoluted from a monkey or not," he said. "I believe that God created the universe and that he made man. The law has nothing to do with your religion or belief. Signed Statement Telling Of Events Leading Up To Tragedy In Hands Of County Attorney

Argument Over Her Desire To Return To Husband At Pampa Given In Statement As Direct Cause For Trouble Which Ended In Death Of Man; Charges To Be Filed Today

(Special to The Avalanche)

TAHOKA, June 10.—Mrs. Ola Redman, 32, mother of three children, late today confessed to slaying Fred Chase, 33, farmer of the Gordon community, who was found dead in his automobile on a lonely road a mile from his home Tuesday afternoon, County Attorney G. H. Nelson announced tonight.

A formal charge of murder will be filed against her Thursday morning, Nelson said.

Arrested Tuesday

Arrested late Tuesday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lula Lloyd, 13 miles southwest of Post, Mrs. Redman stoutly denied any connection with the shooting of Chase until late this afternoon, the county attorney said. A signed confession was obtained at 5 p. m. after an all day grilling according to Nelson.

The statement said she shot Chase in self-defense after he had made an attempt to gain possession of one of the two pistols in the automobile, according to the county attorney.

Life Threatened

The slain man threatened her life on a number of previous occasions, she said in her confession.

Mrs. Redman was said to have told Nelson that she and Chase had been going together for more than three years, although neither of them were divorced.

Chase frequently threatened to kill her if she did not stop seeing her husband, Glen W. Redman, Pampa painting contractor, to whom she had been married for 13 years, Mrs. Redman is reported to have said in her confession. She last saw her husband two months ago in Pampa, she said.

Slept In Car

Her paramour went to see her Saturday night at her mother's home, the statement said. That night she and Chase slept in the automobile between Lubbock and Tahoka after visiting in Lubbock. Sunday morning they went to his father's house for breakfast, leaving there at 11 a. m. for Lubbock, sleeping in the automobile again that night near the elder Chase's home. They went to the Chase home early Monday morning, she continued.

Fred Chase spent Monday working in the fields for a nearby neighbor and was preparing to take her back to her mother's home Monday night.

Argued Great Deal

"Chase and I argued a great deal while we were enroute to mother's home," Mrs. Redman told Nelson. "When we got within a short distance of the house he stopped the car, got out a gun and told me he was going to kill me if I got out of the car.

"I told him that I was going back to my husband if I could.

"He then turned the automobile around and we retraced our route back to the Gordon community driving around for some time. We passed by the Chase home, then returned again arguing all of the time. When we got to the cross roads where we should have turned to go to Chase's home, we turned to the opposite direction.

Reached For Gun

"Chase reached for the gun which was in the door pocket on my side of the car.

"I begged him not to kill me."

"During the scuffle I got hold of a .380 calibre automatic which was on the seat behind Chase.

"I shot him in the head," she said in her confession.

When the automobile stopped, she got out and started walking, wandering around from the time the shooting accurred, which she said was shortly before 12 o'clock Monday night, until 5:30 a. m. when she arrived at the home of J. D. Hancock, four miles southeast of Wilson, the statement said.

Mrs. Redman said she hired Han-

Happiness Analysis In Lives Of 1,000 American Women Shows 770 Of Them Unhappily Married

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—(AP)—An analysis of happiness in the married life of 1,000 cultured American women, based on data obtained from personal physicians, was presented at the American Medical association meeting today.

It showed that girlhood experiences, taboos and training often thwart or destroy capacity for marital happiness; and that about half of the 770 "typical wives" in this group are unhappily mated. The report was made by Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, M. D., of New York City.

"These 1000," he said, "were what may be called the cultural American type. They were urban, of good family background and education. Married to professional men of moderate income, each with one or two children. They were considered socially normal in the ordinary relationships of work and life.

"They had an average of 161 children per 100 women. The typical woman had her first child at the age of about 26 and wanted more. When the widows, the divorced and the recently wed were excluded, 770

William Watkins And Wife Are Remarried; Nation-Wide Publicity Given In Baby Mix-up Case Year Ago

CHICAGO, June 10. (AP)—Another chapter of the Bamberger-Watkins baby mixup, which attracted nationwide attention last summer, was written last night when William Watkins and his wife, Margaret, were remarried by Judge Francis Borelli.

Watkins proposed to his wife that they remarry, after receipt of news from Philadelphia that his first wife, Mrs. Anna Van Stap Watkins had obtained a divorce on grounds of desertion.

The baby mixup began when Mrs. Watkins and Mrs Charles Bamberger became mothers on the same day in the same hospital. When they got home Mrs. Watkins found her baby had been tagged "Bamberger" and Mrs Bamberger noticed hers had been labelled "Watkins." The best minds of Chicago were called upon to decide if a mistake had been made at the hospital and after a long investigation the four parents finally decided the question for themselves by swapping.

The news of the mixup was noted by the first Mrs. Watkins in Philadelphia, leading her to claim Watkins was still her husband. Watkins countered he had obtained a divorce but perhaps she had not learned of it. She replied by saying in such a case the divorce was no good and filed a suit of her own.

The baby which was finally adjudged to belong to Watkins and his second wife, was held by the mother while the marriage ceremony was performed.

Buried Village Of Stone Age People, First Found In Germany; Reveals Long Story Of 5,000 Years Ago

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — The first complete village of the men of the new stone age has been uncovered in Lindenthal, a suburb of Cologne.

Five thousand years old, it tells a story not much different from that of the middle ages a few hundred years ago.

Around the entire village was a moat about seven feet deep and 16 feet wide. Beyond it was a palisade of piles.

"Pieces of broken pottery were found in the bottom of the moat," says Dr. Fritz Fremersdorf, director of the excavations, "indicating that this moat existed at the time of the village.

"Although our scientific excavations began only on August 1, 1930, the results thus far surpass all expectations. Pottery of this neolithic period has been scattered all the way from the Balkans to Belgium and Holland, but no complete settlement had previously been brought to light.

"The foundations of many of the huts are complete. The building plots are for the most part irregular and curved in the shape of kidneys. Surrounding these are holes for wooden piles, proving beyond doubt that wooden huts once stood here.

"In some cases we found long, narrow slits cut into the ground. Possibly they were devices for keeping meat cool.

"A few rectangular plots also have been uncovered. One was almost 70 feet long, with parallel posts running lengthwise inside. It had neither hearth nor other evidence of civilization."

Much pottery has been found, all made before the potter's wheel was known. There are large quantities of the tools of the new stone age men, hand mills, flint knives, arrow heads and hatchets and the bones of animals made into tools.

Dr. Fritz Fremersdorf (above) is excavating in Germany a village left by a stone age race, the first such village ever found. The sketch shows a woman of those times using a hand-mill, surrounded by other utensils which have been found by the searchers. Below is a photograph of typical hand-mill stones found in the village.

He stated that the disposal plant had been arranged with dykes and ditches and a unique drainage and drying system that would be a credit to any city. The local yard beautification program is also under direction of Judge Lowrie, who reports many entries coming in. He stated that June 30 will be the last day to receive entries, and that prizes will be given in all four classes this year.

Charity Decrease Looms At Lamesa

LAMESA, June 10.—Facts revealed by local mutual aid officials here this week showed a decrease of charity help in Lamesa and Dawson county. A survey shows that many are going to the grain fields east and north of here, they hope to get work. The fact that planting here has been well under way did not take care of the laborers that it was expected to. Most farmers were able to take care of needed labor with the machinery they had at hand, and therefore did not need additional labor. Mutual Aid officials state that at this time there is no demand for additional labor, and the seekers of labor located here are moving to other more prospective fields.

"TOASTING" expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE—the modern cigarette. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds. Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" Process includes the use of Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret and exclusive heating process. It is this process that expels these harsh irritants. No wonder 20,679 American physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple." Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.

Safety Glass

Ford cars are now equipped with safety glass in all doors and windows at a small extra charge

$15 for the Coupe, De Luxe Coupe, Sport Coupe or Convertible Cabriolet
$20 for the Tudor Sedan, Standard Sedan, De Luxe Sedan, Town Sedan or Victoria

THE Triplex safety glass windshield has always been an outstanding feature of the Model A Ford. By reducing the dangers of flying glass, it has saved many lives and prevented countless injuries in automobile collisions.

Now comes a further assurance of safety to every Ford owner . . . polished plate safety glass in ALL DOORS AND WINDOWS at slight additional cost.

The charge for this extra protection is unusually low because of large production and the development of new methods of manufacture. Simply tell the dealer when you buy the Ford that you want "safety plate glass in all doors and windows" and the car will be factory-equipped for you in that manner.

Today, as before, the safety glass windshield is furnished as standard equipment on all Ford cars without extra charge.

FORD OWNERS This announcement refers only to NEW CARS. Ford dealers are not in a position to install safety glass in the windows of your present Ford at the above prices.

Terry Farmers Complete Work

Cotton Planting Practically Finished In Terry County; Stand Said Not As Good As In Former Years

(Special to Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, June 10.—Cotton planting has been practically completed in this county and in most fields is up and growing and past any danger of damage from high winds, but a number of people report that the stand is not as good as in former years, which is probably caused by the ground being too cold for germination.

Most of the grain crops have been planted with good stands reported but there still remains acreage that has been held in reserve for corn and other quick maturing sorghums. Very little replanting has been necessary, which is rather unusual for this section, and it is now believed that all crops will grow off rapidly. One fact that is causing some uneasiness, is, that grasshoppers are more numerous than in several years and more different varieties of worms are seen than ever before, but farmers appear to think that the, may be controlled with a minimum of damage.

No rain has been received for the last several weeks and while not absolutely needed it would prove of benefit if received in reasonable amount.

Three Years In Klondike Have Made Of Governor White A Strong Figure

BY LARRY GREEN
(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press).

COLUMBUS, O., June 10. (AP)—Three years in the Klondike, where he went during the gold rush of '98, gave Governor George White of Ohio, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the presidency, a physique that enables him to bear up well under the burden of administering the affairs of state.

He is tall and his features still are bronzed as the result of his years of exposure in the far north.

He attended Princeton and studied jurisprudence under Woodrow Wilson. He has been a Wilson Democrat ever since.

He is affable and jovial. The visitor at his office need not hurry through his call. He will even pause in the midst of state business to spin a yarn of the Klondike, or to tell about his last round of golf.

He is an ardent golfer. His daughter can be heard over half the course when he dubs a short or wins a hole. He won't tell his scores. "I'm just an average dub," he explains.

Governor White is fond of reading. "When I do have time to read," he says, "I like Dickens best of all."

He is an inveterate smoker, prefers stogies to the finer cigars. On his desk is a can of them.

Three Held As Bank Suspects

Two In Jail At Lawton, Okla., And Another Is Held At Vega For Robbery Of Santa Rosa Bank May 12

AMARILLO, June 10. (AP)—Jim Bryant and Emmett Rackley are in jail at Lawton, Okla., and Onus Jackson is held at Vega, Tex., all facing charges in connection with the robbery of the First National bank at Santa Rosa, N. M., May 12, Sheriff W. N. Thompson of Amarillo said today.

Jackson, who was arrested by Sheriff John Haliburton of Oldham county, has been in jail at Vega several days, and has been identified by employes of the Santa Rosa bank, officers said. Bryant and Rackley were arrested at Lawton on information furnished by the Potter county sheriff, he said.

Bryant, Sheriff Thompson said, escaped several months ago from the penitentiary at Huntsville, where he was serving a 14-year sentence for bank robbery at Friona in 1926.

New Mexico officers will go to Lawton to return Bryant and Rackley to Santa Rosa, Sheriff Thompson said he was informed today. A third man is held at Lawton as a suspect.

About $8,000 in cash and $40,000 in negotiable securities were taken in the Santa Rosa robbery.

Moreland Wins Medal Honors At Rivercrest

Charles Quails Fails To Make First Flight; Gibson Payne Of Lubbock Shoots 78 For First Flight Place

(By Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, June 10.—Carding a 36, one under par on the last nine after touring the front layout in 38, two over, Gus Moreland, the 19-year-old Dallas star and defending champion, captured the medalist honors of the thirteenth annual Rivercrest country club tournament today. M. L. "Hap" Massingill, River Crest, won second place when he posted a 75 late in the afternoon. He missed a putt on the eighteenth for a tie with Moreland.

Bryon Nelson, Glen Garden, Al Barbee, Waco, and Dennis Lavender, Abilene, tied for third place with 76. It took an 82 or better to make the championship flight.

Moreland achieved the victory over a brilliant field of 144 of the best golfers in the section. A stiff wind that blew across the course until late in the afternoon, played havoc with many scores and the cards were especially high during the morning.

Lavender, who has had difficulty all this year on the links, staged a great comeback today, scoring 38's on both nine. Jack Jackson, Dallas, staged the greatest rally of the afternoon to mark up the third best score.

Quails Fails With 92

One of the biggest surprises of the qualifying round was the failure of Charles Quails, Post, West Texas Golf association champion, to make the flight. He had trouble getting on the greens in the high wind and wound up with a 92.

Gibson Payne, Lubbock, played excellent golf to come in with a 78 and Mansel Merrican, Amarillo, posted the same figure.

Legion-Lions And Advertisers Draw

The Legion-Lions and the Advertisers fought seven innings in a City League game yesterday and as darkness forbade further playing the score was 7 to 7.

The game, played at Rainbow Park, was featured by home runs by Adkinson and Fausett for the Advertisers, three baggers by Lemons and Adkinson and Rich, and two-base hits by Lemons and Rich. The home runs would have been enough to win the game for the Advertisers had four Advertisers errors been omitted.

This afternoon the Texas Utilities team and Legion-Lions meet at Merrill Park and the Wholesalers face the Rainbow club at Rainbow Park. Both games start at 6 o'clock.

Knight Hurls Locals To 13 To 5 Victory

Visitors Stage Ninth Inning Rally To Cross Five Runs; Knight Gives Up Ten Hits During Contest

For eight fast innings yesterday afternoon Willis Knight and the Lubbock Hubbers held the Slaton Tigers to five scattered hits and not a single run, meanwhile running up ten hits and scoring 13 runs, but in their ninth the Tigers set to with such force that Knight saw five safe hits whiz by him and land in the far outer garden for as many runs. The Hubbers won the game, 13 to 5.

Skipper Dirty Waller's men bunched hits in the first, sixth and eighth innings to drive three hurlers from the mound and collect eleven tallies. A run in the third and another in the seventh finished the thirteen.

English, starting for the Tigers, did not last an inning. He hit Dirty Waller, walked Breedlove, and allowed Marshall and Hambright to single, scoring two runs. Then he came out and Pittman went in. He fared little better, though he did limit his hits until the sixth when a hit batsman, two hits, one a double, and two errors scored three runs. Robinson went in and stayed a couple of innings, with Cleveland going in to finally close out a spree that netted four runs in the eighth.

Knight pitched almost faultless ball for eight innings, never letting a man get to third, once catching an infield fly and nipping a runner at third for a double play. In the ninth he faced Deavers. Slaton's clean-up man, who was safe on one of Breedlove's three errors. Pair doubled to center but Hambright recovered and pegged to Gaither at second, the latter catching Deavers at the plate in a beautiful play. Cerley was safe on Breedlove's bungle and then the fireworks started.

Bang, bang, bang and bang! A single and a double, a single and a double, and five runners crossed the plate. Fouts, the ninth man to bat in that inning, struck out and the game was over. Knight was mad as a hornet and the Tigers were happy.

Second And Third Rounds Are Started In Texas Tourney; Favorites Come Through To Quarterfinals

By BILL PARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEADOWMERE COUNTRY CLUB, FORT WORTH, June 10. — Contenders in the men's singles of the third annual Texas District Lawn Tennis association state championship tournament concluded their second round matches today and unreeled a few matches in third rounds. Wet courts held up the matches until late afternoon.

Wilmer Allison, third ranking player of the United States Lawn Tennis association and 1929 and 1930 member of the American Davis Cup team, entered the quarter finals today with decisions over Johnny Maddox and "Doc" Barr, both of Dallas. Allison finished his match from yesterday against Maddox with a 6-0, 6-1 verdict. Barr gave the third ranking ace plenty of trouble with a driving game.

Earl Taylor, University of Texas product, advanced to the third round in a late afternoon match by defeating Allen Gwynn of Fort Worth, 6-1, 6-2.

Jimmy Quick, brilliant champion from the Dallas lawn tennis club, beat Alan Key in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1.

Louis Thalheimer defeated Neil Thomason 6-3, 9-7.

Girls' Play Starts

Competition started today in the girls' singles, and all favorites breezed through. Mary Zita McHale, Dallas, former champion, was seeded number one. May Guerverst of Wichita, Kan., was seeded number 2 and both drew byes. Anna Mae Reichert from San Antonio, 1930 Texas municipal champion, triumphed in her first match with a 6-2, 6-0, decision over Agnes Tillman of San Antonio. Charlotte McQuiston, former Texas interscholastic league singles champion from Dallas, defeated Mary O'Brian of San Antonio, 6-2, 6-0.

Orcutt Beaten In British Tourney

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland, June 10. (AP)—The ladies golf championship, the only one of Great Britain's major golf titles never won by an American, was made safe for the King's subjects again today as Elsie Corlett, former Lancashire champion, eliminated Miss Maureen Orcutt in the third round of play.

The tradition that a champion seldom repeats also was kept safe as Miss Fishwick, the little English girl who handed Glenna Collett, champion of the United States, a surprise defeat in the finals last year, fell before the fine stroking of Miss D. Pimm, one up in the nineteen holes.

Miss Orcutt, holder of several titles in the United States, proved no match for the determined Miss Corlett, who took a 4 to 3 victory.

Amateur golfers from six southern states will compete in the southeastern sand greens tournament at Macon, Ga.

Aubrey Boomer Wins Title In French Jousts

Joe Kirkwood, Only American In French Open, Finishes Seventh; Boomer Shoots 67 In Last Round To Win

(By Associated Press)

DEAUVILLE, France, June 10. (AP) —As a fitting climax to a morning of thrilling golf in which the recently made record of 71 for the Deauville course was broken four times and tied once, Aubrey Boomer, British born professional from St. Cloud turned in a sparkling round of 67 this afternoon to win the French open championship with a 72-hole total of 291. He equalled the mark set in the morning by the Argentine ace, Thomas Genta.

Genta, who appeared to have the title clinched at the 54th hole, weakened badly on the final 18 holes, taking 78 strokes, eleven more than his morning round to finish with a total of 298, tying Alliss for second place.

Joe Kirkwood, the only entry from the United States, took an 80 for the last round and finished in a tie with Churio for seventh place at 298.

Flier Now Has A Job "Higher Up"

DALLAS, June 10. (AP)—Going up every morning before breakfast to a heighth of 13,000 feet or more to see what the weather is like would not appeal to the layman as a "constitutional," but to Harry Marshall, pioneer airman of the Southwest, it will be merely his daily bread earner.

Marshall has signed contract with the United States government to make such a flight daily beginning July 1 for the purpose of making observations for the weather bureau at Love Field, this service to replace the system of making upper air observations by the box kite method.

Marshall resigned a place as operations manager for the American Airways to accept the new work. He will make his daily observations between 4 and 5 a. m. An aerometeorgraph mounted on Marshall's plane will record automatically pressure, temperature and humidity. Findings will be telegraphed to Washington and there incorporated with details from four other stations in time to release a national map at 7 a. m. for benefit of aviators.

While the forecasts are to be made primarily for air mail, the information will be available to commercial and private pilots flying regular airways maintained by the United States Department of Commerce.

Jennette Grollman's Inc., of Lubbock, has been granted a charter by the state charter board, according to press dispatches received yesterday, indicating that C. H. Grollman, former owner of Grollman's store, will carry out his announced plan of reopening a mercantile establishment here soon.

Mr. Grollman said he had leased the building space in the 1000 block on Broadway formerly occupied by the City Drug company. He expects to open up the new business in August, he said.

"Athlete's Foot" Draws Attention Of Physicians As National Malady

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, June 10. (AP) — "Athlete's foot" stepped into the limelight at the American Medical association annual meeting today as a national malady requiring serious consideration.

It was the first topic on today's clinical lecture program, under its scientific name dermatophytosis. It used to be called ringworm although there are no worms involved. It is a fungus disease, caused by vegetable molds that grow in the skin.

Interest in this parasite centers in its ability to invade the best families, the swankiest places, to live in the finest clothing, to pick the most high strung persons for its habitat, and to increase in spite of cleanliness.

Athlete's foot has increased about 400 per cent since the World war, but about its only relation to athletics is its picturesque name. It is also called Hong Kong foot, too ringworm and barcoorot. It has spread over most of the civilized world and the Orient.

One of the medical association's scientific exhibits, open only to physicians, is devoted to all details of this parasite, with a lengthy list of varying treatments. The exhibit is under direction of F. D. Weidman, M. D., of the University of Pennsylvania, chairman of the section on dermatology, and an authority on dermatophytosis.

The origin of the fungus in nature has not been identified. Apparently it is widespread.

The fungus is most easily caught by persons in the twenties. After that in decreasing order come the thirties, forties, fifties, and the teens. Even babies get it and also old folks in the eighties. It is worst in the hot months of June, July and August, and more persistent on toes than elsewhere because toes furnish a moist, warm place to grow.

The Reason for the Difference

The average price of domestic and industrial natural gas service is thirty-five cents

WHEN YOU LIGHT THE BURNER of your gas appliance and the flame springs to life instantly, you see results—comfort—convenience—not causes.

Seldom, if ever, do you see the Service agencies that make this ideal fuel supply possible. Pipe lines, gas wells and manpower, Service!—the combination of efforts that brings natural gas to your burner and which plays a major part in the cost of your fuel supply.

The average price of gas at the well is four and one-half cents per 1,000 cubic feet while the average price of NATURAL GAS SERVICE delivered to the customer's burner for domestic and industrial purposes is 35 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The former is fuel, the latter, a fuel Service that provides heat at the burner automatically, when and as you want it, without ashes, smoke, or soot, or the need for extra labor or storage. Back of the flame of your burner stands the Service of your gas company with its skilled employees and its facilities for delivering the gas. Service must be maintained! Service is what you are paying for!

The fact that your gas company must maintain the year round, at great expense, a pipe line of capacity to supply sufficient Natural Gas the coldest day of the year—even though this peak capacity is not required except on a few cold days in winter—is merely one of the items of this responsibility called Service. A large number of employees and large capital resources are continually engaged in maintaining this dependable fuel supply. Drilling, the laying of pipe lines, telegraph lines, production, transmission and distribution activities represent a large investment in materials, equipment and personnel.

Your Gas Company takes pride in the fact that it pioneered the production and transportation, in this section, of the only available fuel that can be utilized by the consumer without special handling or the use of costly mechanical accessories. Realizing our responsibility, we take the utmost precaution to assure you permanent fuel satisfaction by providing a dependable flow of gas—regardless of the weather.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. SEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

DENVER, June 8. — People here have a new topic for conversation now that there is a move on foot to dispense with the picturesque mounted police. That, the trial and subsequent acquittal of Mrs. Axtell who was charged with shooting her husband, an internationally famous detective, are good dinner-time topics. As strangers, we reap a certain amount of amusement out of listening to the post-trial judgments that are passed on the woman.

These opinions can't be distinguished so much by the sex of the judge as by the personality of the one talking. One woman's ultimatum of "This shooting of husbands has got to be stopped and now is a good time to terminate it" held little weight against her neighbor's judgment that the woman was hounded by the cruel man into doing the shooting. We wondered if these sentiments might not indicate the types of women—the one defending husbands; the other, looking on all men as brutes.

MATTER OF SENTIMENT

THE MOUNTIES are arousing considerable interest because of the sentiment concerning the horses. People of Denver have as much respect for the horses as for the police and love to see them on the streets, because they have been here for so long. They feel that their police will have lost something invaluable if they are dismounted and left to walk the streets.

The horses are gentle, it seems, so tame, in fact, that Denverites have formed a habit of stopping to stroke them as they pause at street intersections. The horses are inured to traffic and are more at home in the heart of the city than elsewhere. Today there was one stopped at a corner waiting while his master stepped into a cigar store for a minute. Traffic was heavy and yet the beast stood there patiently waiting while pedestrians and cars went out of the way to miss him.

If the horses are taken away, motorcycles will be used instead. That may be more efficient and it may be necessary in this day of machines, but Denver people are regretting that they must watch the passing of a thing which is dear to their hearts. They are grieved that they must sacrifice their sentiments to the more materialistic necessities.

Of course, it has not been determined that the horses will go and there is considerable agitation here against the proposal. If these win, the motorcycles must wait awhile as horses continue to walk the down-town section.

The Breakfast club is behind the movement to keep horses, it seems. Whatever this organization is—and I have failed to see or hear anything that indicates its nature—it is something that Lubbock and other towns might form.

The name gave me ideas. For instance, there are organizations to which I would like to belong and to which other business people would like to belong were it not for the time of meeting. A breakfast club might solve the problem. But after its formation we might have to start an auxiliary in the form of a phone ringing club to get the members out in time.

We've about used up all other times of day for meeting so its stands to reason that breakfast hour opens up a new field.

BATHING A BUILDING

DID YOU ever see a big building get a bath? Today we watched one in the process of ablutions in the downtown district. Built of white marble the structure had collected the soot and dirt of several years and now is being scrubbed to its original whiteness.

The greyness of the stone was not noticeable until the washing was started, but a few of the huge columns which had been cleaned made the remainder of the building appear extremely dingy.

To wash a building looks to me like a gigantic task, yet today when we watched workmen with their brushes, ladders and other equipment tackling the job, it didn't look so impossible.

CONCERNING TEXAS

THIS afternoon we met a man and woman who had spent the winter in San Antonio and they were surprised that as Texans we do not often go there. In explanation, we suggested that it is several hundred miles from Lubbock to San Antonio and then there was an attempt to locate our town. We mentioned Amarillo and then someone suggested that we must live near El Paso—or perhaps Dallas.

Although it is expected that some will be present for the board meeting at Plainview, a definite announcement as to names was not available last night.

No young people from Lubbock will be present for the district young peoples meeting at Wayland college which is scheduled for the day, according to an announcement from church leaders.

Will Of Herbert Spencer Reveals Transfer To Wife

LOS ANGELES, June 10. (AP)—The will of Charles H. Crawford, politician, on file for probate today, revealed that five days before he and his associate, Herbert F. Spencer, were shot and killed, Crawford transferred to his wife nearly $1,000,000 worth of property.

H. L. Davis, Mrs. Crawford's attorney, said the will set up a trust fund of nearly $175,000 for the widow and children.

Crawford and Spencer were shot to death in Crawford's office May 20. David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, has been charged with the deaths and is at liberty under heavy bonds.

Although the great Skoda steel and iron works in Czechoslovakia has, through a rationalized program, installation of new equipment and discontinuance of its building program, cut its forces 7,800 in the last year, it still employs 5,000 more men than in 1927.

Before Her Baby Came

"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I came to womanhood. I was so nervous that I couldn't rest at night. After I took your Compound I felt much better. Then before my baby was born I took the Compound again. I felt strong all through the period. I was never in bed a day. I could rest good at night too."—Mrs. H. L. Buell, Marietta, Ohio.

House Sees A Demo Victory

Franklin Roosevelt Is Said By Former Wilson Advisor To Be Most Likely Winner In Next Election

MANCHESTER, Mass., June 10. (AP)—From the seclusion of his summer home overlooking the waters of the north Atlantic, Col. Edward M. House is keeping his ear to the political ground.

Through the medium of extensive correspondence with political friends in all parts of the nation, but particularly in the west and southwest, the man who was for years President Wilson's trusted and confidential advisor, finds, he says, the portents point to a Democratic victory next year.

"If the election was to be held next week, the country would go overwhelmingly democratic," he said today.

"The people are looking for a Democratic president," he said and reiterated his preference, expressed last week, for Franklin D. Roosevelt, governor of New York. He and Roosevelt are friends of many years since both were associated with the Wilson administration and House regards the governor as the "most available" of all potential candidates for the nomination.

House, who described himself as a "moderate wet," declared Roosevelt is "the only available wet who is politically acceptable to the drys."

BULK METHOD OF ROASTING COFFEE IS NOT EXACT

In Spite of Care It Is Difficult to Develop Uniform Flavor

It is virtually impossible to accurately roast coffee in bulk, because there is no exact way to determine when all of the batch is "done." One roast may be "high" and another "low," with the result that there is variation of flavor.

Hills Bros. overcame this uncertainty, by inventing and perfecting a radically different process—Controlled Roasting. By automatic control, a stream of coffee passes continuously through the roaster a few pounds at a time. Positive control of the heat is maintained, with the result that every berry of the rare blend is roasted evenly—to the degree that insures a rich, uniform, full-bodied flavor in every pound.

No other coffee tastes like Hills Bros. Coffee because no other coffee is roasted the same way. Controlled Roasting is Hills Bros.' process exclusively.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum can that keeps it ever-fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is extracted from the can and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trademark—on the can.

CONTEST RULES

This contest is open to everyone who has ever been on a vacation—and who hasn't? Sometime in your life you've spent two or three glorious weeks of carefree play and recreation. We want you to first read very carefully all the advertisements on this page. Then sit down and write us a letter of not more than three hundred words describing in detail where you went on your most enjoyable vacation. Tell where the place or places are; how to get there; what there is to do after you get there. Then, referring again to the merchants messages on this page, make a list of the things they offer that you will need to take with you. Mention names and give reasons just why you chose the particular articles. Letters will be judged on the adaptability of the vacation to other people. Someone else might want to go where you went and they will want to know how to go and especially, what to take with them to enjoy the vacation to the fullest extent. Contest closes June 25 and entries must be either mailed or brought into the Avalanche-Journal before 6 P. M. of that date.

Winners will be announced in the issue of June 28.

Don't forget that this page runs in four consecutive issues of the Avalanche-Journal. Each week the merchants on this page will make new suggestions. Do not send in your entry until you have seen and read each of the first three issues, the fourth will carry the names of the winners.

Melvin Traylor's Example

ONCE again has been proved the truth in the adage "you can't tell how far a frog will jump by looking at him sit." The story-book rise of Melvin A. Traylor serves as mute testimony that a man can go far if he applies himself and extracts from his native talents the utmost in results.

Add the Traylor success to your list of "Country Boys Who Have Made Good in the City" by sheer grit, hard work and intelligence. As a self-styled "hill billy" who didn't see a train until he was 19 years of age, Mr. Traylor has battered his way into the select upper circle of international finance and today stands as head of the nation's fifth largest bank.

In times like these, the story of Mr. Traylor's business triumph is all the more interesting—all the more inviting to youth and age alike. For it shows what can be done if and when the spirit and the flesh are willing.

There is still room at the top for the men who dare to do the things they want to do—who will make the sacrifice which success demands from its disciples. Big business stands with open arms to welcome city and country boys alike—if they can and do produce.

Our once broad wildernesses are settling up. Fortunes in steel and commerce are not as easy to make as they were a generation ago. But a world that demands results is still ready to pay for them and young people who yearn to do big things, but stand timidly at the threshhold of life, may well take a lesson from the Texas boy who showed the big fellows how.

AMERICAN HOMES THE BEST

"Providin' a home" in the United States has become something more than a house, some furnishings and two store accounts, in fact the average home of today boasts of more conveniences, more luxuriant furniture and many more luxuries than the best homes in the smaller cities and towns of a score of years ago.

A bungalo or a "parlor bedroom and bath" meant one thing with the last generation but means quite another thing with the present. There is more for contrast than comparison.

So revolutionary has been the advancement in the American standards of living that there is little solace for the young men and women who today embark upon the sea of matrimony in such a frail craft as "thirty-a-week" and one payment down on the furniture. Even the old-timers are finding themselves daunted by the new domestic demands.

How dazzled would our ancestors be upon entering a middle-class home of today with its overstuffed furniture, fine rugs, tasteful mural furnishings, pianos and phonographs, perhaps a radio, fine table service, relatively large libraries and with a garage and automobile in the back-yard. Surely not without less cause than for common folks of today to be dazzled by the luxuriance of a millionaire's mansion or a king's palace.

There seems little foundation for the oft-repeated lamentation that the American home is losing its attractions. On the other hand there are few today who can see where the home of the nineties or the early twentieth century possessed any attraction other than as the traditional place to eat and sleep. But then the home-detractions have undoubtedly progressed step-for-step with the home-attractions.

Why shouldn't the American people be the most contented, the most peaceful, the most ambitious and the most enlightened people in the world with such home surroundings?

Practical Health Problems

FIND LONG LIFE IS INHERITED

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

As Raymond Pearl points out in a recent discussion, there has been a common observation that length of days tends to run in families. Professor Pearl refers, for example, to the statement by Oliver Wendell Holmes as to how to live long. The eminent humorist said:

"The first thing to be done is some years before birth, to advertise for a couple of parents both belonging to long-lived families. Especially let the mother come of a race in which octogenarians and nonagenarians are very common phenomena. There are practical difficulties in following out this suggestion, but possibly the forethought of your progenitors, or that concurrence of circumstances which we call accident, may have arranged this for you."

The laboratory of the department of biology of the school of hygiene and public health in Johns Hopkins University has recently made some extensive studies of collections of genealogic material that bear on the matter.

A careful analysis of the family records of 100,000 people living near Baltimore was a part of this study. The results indicate that the expectation of life of the parents of children dying at 60 years of age or over is at all ages, from 20 years on, greater than the expectation of life of the parents of children dying under 50 years of age. The tables indicate also that the expectation of life of the sons of fathers dying at 60 years of age or over, or with fathers still living at 80 years of age, is greater at all ages from birth on than the expectation of life of sons of fathers who have died at ages between 50 and 79. It is also much greater than the expectation of life of the sons of fathers who died under 50 years of age.

In other words, all of the scientific data available and the careful study of such data by trained experts in interpreting figures indicate that Oliver Wendell Holmes was right and that the way to live long is to select fathers, mothers, grandparents and great-grandparents and indeed all ancestors who have lived long.

Federation Is Possible

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Latin America is in a frame of mind, with the least bit of encouragement from Washington, for an economic hook-up with this country that virtually would amount to a United States of the New World.

Orestes Ferrara

Indeed, if given half a chance, some of the southern republics evidently intend to make the first overtures at the seventh Pan-American conference, to be held in 1933 at Montevideo, Uruguay. The program committee held a meeting here only a few days ago. At this session the subject of an inter-American customs agreement was mentioned as the one which, of all others, the Latins are perhaps most anxious to discuss with their northern neighbor.

If Washington shies away from the suggestion, of course, it will not go into the agenda, but there is no question that the southern governments' representatives will urge it as strongly as they can.

THE IDEA of a Pan-American customs union originally, I believe, was brought to the United States by Colonel Orestes Ferrara, when he came here as ambassador from Cuba late in 1926.

Foreign Minister Antonio Planet of Chile also has spoken in favor of it, though only recently; he has not been in office long.

Business men in the United States, maybe with the exception of a few in the Latin American trade, probably have not given it much consideration, but the proposition certainly will loom up like the Washington monument, should it become the theme of serious discussion at the Montevideo conference 18 months hence.

HOW MUCH political as well as economic importance is attached to any move toward a preferential leveling of international tariff walls is illustrated by the European commotion in the last couple of months over the tentative customs bargain struck between Germany and Austria—an arrangement to which France especially objected so violently that it is tied up in the League of Nations now, on the ground that it practically would be equivalent to an Austro-German merger, making a dangerously powerful unit of the two erstwhile separate peoples.

Comparatively so small an affair having created such an outcry, it is easy to imagine the excitement which surely would ensue upon the first really convincing hint at what inevitably would be regarded as an economic federation of the Americas.

The form of the rest of the initial protest of the remainder of the world can readily be foreseen—the United States, like the Latin American republics, has, with every other country of the slightest commercial consequence, a "most favored nation treaty," by which the contracting parties undertake to extend to one another any trading concessions they may accord to a third power. These treaties are not perpetual, however, and could be dropped upon expiration.

GENERALLY speaking, the United States and the 20 countries to the southward could come to terms upon a free interchange of commodities with little worry concerning the protective issue—the "northern colossus'" output consisting principally of manufactures, which it will be a long time before the Latin Americans can produce for themselves; the southern republics' chiefly of tropical raw material.

Cuban sugar and Argentine wheat would not be so exclusively complementary to Uncle Sam's home production, but Ambassador Ferrara has been quoted to the effect that even that problem would be worth solving for the sake of a "real union" from the Canadian border to Cape Horn.

Just how close a union the Cuban diplomat visualizes he has not, so far as I am aware, defined, but it is clear that he is not afraid of it, in any case.

THE DISPOSITION for closer relations between the southern republics and the United States is not a new development with Colonel Ferrara, who has long been considered pro-Yankee in his views and undoubtedly was sent here largely for that reason.

It is a much more recent complex on the part of many of the other representatives in Washington from South, Central and the insular Americas.

In fact, the change is hardly more than a matter of weeks in some instances, dating from Secretary of State Stimson's unmistakable declaration, during the latest Nicaraguan troubles, of the administration's disapproval of a policy of interference in the affairs of foreign nations merely because they are too small to resist it.

No one at all familiar with the Latin American temperament questioned that its reaction to this attitude would be most favorable, but the promptness of its response is surprising.

INTO THE AIR

Voyages beyond the earth's atmospheric envelope! To the moon! To Mars, Venus, Neptune, or, even, to the remote new planet, Pluto! Out where our travels thus far have been conducted chiefly by the authors of novels or by artists who draw on their imaginations!

Quite; 52,500 feet is short of 52,500 or 52,500,000 miles. Ten miles does not take us out of the earth's atmosphere, but into a thinner layer of airs which is just getting into the dictionaries under the name, "stratosphere." But Professor Piccard and his aid, Charles Kipfer, have made a beginning. In a cubical basket strung from a balloon, the former of aluminum and the latter a monster in size and gas content, they soared miles above the airs dense enough to feed human lungs naturally. Shut into the aluminum cube, they went up there (or is it down?) and lived; they "navigated" a far zone otherwise called the "isothermal layer" and lived; and from those thin fastnesses and the cold they sank to a glacier in the Alps, and lived. They now tell about it.

That, indeed, was a deed! We seem to see the first men in boats defying their gods, daring to pass the horizon out of sight of land, and returning.

For what Professor Piccard's instruments show and what is added to human knowledge of the amazing cosmic rays, one prefers to wait. The scientists have the commendable and understandable way of taking their time to agree to definite additions to scientific lore.

"I'll get the swing of things," as the confident golfer said.

The Mediterranean fruit fly menace is under control, it is said. Is this the blight that failed?

Today's One-Minute Sermon

And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the adulterers, and against false sweaters, and against those that oppress the mireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the Lord of hosts.—Malachi, iv, 5.

TOMORROW—"THE FATHER OF 48 FAMOUS VIOLINISTS."

One MELODY GIRL

by RUTH DEWEY GROVES
AUTHOR OF "THE HUSBAND HUNTER," ETC.
©1931 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BERYL BORDEN, secretly in love with TOMMY WILSON, discovers that he is planning to elope with her half-sister, IRENE EVERETT, and kidnaps him with the assistance of her "gang." She urges him to stay in college and not break the heart of the aunt who is financing him. Failing to convince him, Beryl lets Tommy return to Irene who, enraged at the delay, refuses to listen and postpones the elopment.

Later Tommy goes fishing and finds Beryl and her gang on the beach. One of the boys is carried out by the tide and Tommy helps Beryl rescue him. She finds it hard to bear the reproaches of his mother and the sneers of her jealous sister.

When Tommy again begs Irene to marry him she refuses, saying it might spoil her career, and informs him that she is to have a radio audition. She promises to take Beryl to the studio if she will wash her blouse, but after the work is finished asks their mother, to keep Beryl home. However, Beryl forces Irene to her bargain, and goes to the studio little dreaming what the adventure has in store for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

The anteroom in which Beryl waited was more in the nature of a central hall at the top floor of a spire-like building than a mere part of a suite. Through the many doors people came and went in varying degrees of preoccupation. But all seemed to have one thing in common—an utter obliviousness to her.

She sat quietly withdrawn in a handsome but uncomfortable chair and watched them with keen interest, particularly the gorgeous woman who came in with her chauffeur, the latter carrying a pet dog, and a maid as Gallic as Paris.

In a few minutes the maid reappeared and went at once to a door opposite where Beryl was sitting. She was careless in closing the door behind her and Beryl could see, through the crack she left, the remarkable quickness with which she extracted a cigaret case from a pocket in her smart black uniform, drew out a cigaret, and applied a match to it. She puffed it greedily and Beryl guessed that the indulgence was a stolen pleasure.

Then, after the maid had crushed out the burning end in an ash tray, Beryl saw her hold the cigaret case to her mouth in the manner of one using a throat spray. Hurriedly thrusting it back into her pocket she came out of the room, leaving the door wide open behind her, and went to rejoin her mistress.

The room exposed to Beryl's view was a dainty sitting room. She was charmed by it and decided to have a closer look at its perfection. But she'd never seen anything like it before and admitted she'd need a postgraduate course in interior decorating ever to think of doing one similar.

From the white and gold mantel she turned to a small Florentine piano and found herself unable to resist the desire to run her fingers over the keys. The tone of the instrument delighted her. She sat down on the rose and blue striped cushion of the bench and began to play very softly. But the music she wanted, the romantic music of long ago, was not at her command.

She was not an accomplished pianist—having had neither time nor money to develop her talent—so she turned to playing the things she knew—the chords and runs of her song accompaniment. This set her to singing but she had not forgotten entirely where she was and that she might disturb someone if she made any "noise," as her musical efforts were called at home. So she smothered her voice and sang in a velvety monotone.

Always, when she sang consciously, she sang to an audience of one—her father as her fancy pictured him. He'd have liked her music, she thought, and just for him she'd learned a tender ditty or two. Now she sang them with her head on one side and a dreamy light in her soft gray eyes.

Presently the dreamy light faded in tears but she sang on, her voice a bit choked, yet vibrant with the wish to have known her father. have known her father. There was There was lonliness in it too—the loneliness o fone who walks alone.

When she stopped, her hands remained poised over the keys and she stared away into space beyond the silk-lined walls of the room into the smiling face of her father.

"You liked it?" she asked, and was startled to hear a voce behind her say, "very much."

She turned in a flash and the newcomer wondered at her surprise, since, he believed, she had just addressed him.

"Oh," Beryl stammered, "I'm sorry."

"Sorry for what, pray? For some of the loveliest sounds ever heard hereabouts?"

Beryl's confusion left her and she stared at the man with a coldness that dared him to bait her further.

"I mean it," he said quietly. "But I was hasty for you may be looking for a job."

He smiled and Beryl smiled with him. "No," she said, "I'm not a singer."

"No," he agreed with her, "you are not a singer, thank the Lord, but I'd like to hear whatever it is you were doing on the air."

Beryl's eyes opened in amazement. Then a discouraging thought struck her. "Are you a singer?" she

Chemistry Lives Up To Reputation As Creative Genius With New Ideas

BY ARTHUR D. LITTLE
(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press)

BOSTON, June 10. (AP) That chemistry is still living up to its reputation as a creative science is shown by the many interesting recent developments for which the workers in chemical laboratories are largely responsible.

New problems and new opportunities for the architect are presented by the new materials of construction which chemistry has recently made available. Among these are the stainless steels employed to such striking effect on the upper reaches of the Chrysler building, structural I-beams of aluminum which permit great saving in weight, new types of concrete in which the weight has been reduced as much as forty per cent, quick setting cements, a new gypsum product of approximately twice the compressive and tensile strength of high grade molding plaster and much harder, new varieties of paints and varnishes made from synthetic resings having glycerine as their base and requiring in their application neither linseed oil nor turpentine, and what is perhaps still more significant, structural units of glass for partitions and outside walls.

We are at the beginning of a phenomenal development in the already important industries employing plastics and many new types of the synthetic resins which form the base of these molding compunds are already available. They are soon to be familiar to us in furniture, in wall panels, and even in molded doors, in addition to a multitude of smaller products from ash trays to tableware, and in every variety of brilliant color.

Chemists have also been doing surprising things with both petroleum and rubber. They have developed accelerators which so speed up the process as to treble the output of a tire plant; they have provided antioxidants which greatly prolong the life of rubber; they have devised means for the electro-deposition of rubber by which articles may be rubber plated. Of greater importance perhaps is a process by which a rubber lining for tank cars and chemical equipment is firmly and permanently joined to the steel or other metal.

In case of petroleum we find the chemist now producing a whole series of alcohols from the waste gases of the oil refineries, and it seems altogether probable that these chemical methods may ultimately displace those depending upon fermentation. From these synthetic alcohols many other compounds and special solvents are readily made.

The reactive components of the refinery gases are those known as oleofins, and very recently from these oleofins synthetic lubricating oils have been prepared which possess striking advantages over the oils commonly derived from petroleum. Since they contain no wax they flow at very low temperatures, their viscosity changes less with temperature than that of ... ural oil; and they show a ... able resistance to oxidation, ... ordinarily results in the form ... of sludge.

A new industrial chemistry ... foreshadowed in the numerous ... thetic products now obtainable fro... water gas, and among these syn... thetic methanol is already much ... evidence.

Just at this time new outlets ar... sadly needed for the world's surplu... production of sugar, and fermenta... tion processes that formerly were limited to the production of ethyl alcohol have now been so developed through the agency of special ferments as to produce butyl alcohol, acetone, glycerine, lactic acid, and even fats and foods.

MEXICO CITY, June 10. (AP)—A dispatch to Excelsior from Torreon, Durango today said eight passengers of an automobile bus, including two children had been wounded by bandits and three women kidnaped near there.

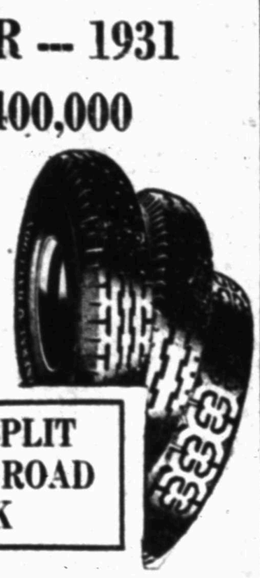

The bandits looted the bus and escaped near Estacion Simon. Troops were sent in pursuit.

ed suspiciously.

The man chuckled. "I thought I s once upon a time, but I soon over it."

"You and me too," Beryl admit-. Then she thought of what he d said about hastiness. "Do you e singers?" she asked directly.

"Sometimes. Are you sorry you're a singer?"

"Yes." Beryl answered simply. ut no one knows it except you d—and my father."

"Well, I'm not sorry—not if you rn out to be what I think you e."

Again Beryl stared at him in de-and of an explanation. "I think u are an entertainer," he told r. "Would you care to try it t?"

"Try it out?" Beryl repeated ubtfully.

"Yes, since you're here at the udio it won't be any trouble for y of us. I've a free moment to ve to it. Come along, and try not forget what you were singing st now and how you were sing-g it."

"Oh, but I can't." Beryl protest-d. "I'm waiting for my sister. She's aving an air test—you sent for er, you know. Irene Everett. She's soprano."

The man shook his head. "Then didn't send for her," he declared mphatically. "The only soprano I are for is Jenny Lind."

"Her teacher has great hopes for er," Beryl boasted.

The man nodded. "I see—the eacher arranged the test. Quite ften they turn up good material or us—and quite often—but come long. I want to hear what you can o. I'll see that your sister is in-formed of your whereabouts."

Beryl began to feel excited as she was conducted to an office-like room down a corridor. There an alert looking young man was intro-duced to her. She left that room for still another. The man whose name she did not yet know remained be-hind. This time she was led to a room that looked like a drapery dis-play to her, or a stage set to ex-hibit a microphone. A piano stood beside it and Beryl was seated there.

"Now will you please play and sing for yourself?" the alert young man asked her with a casual friend-liness that helped greatly to put her at her ease. "The same thing you were singing when Mr. Barn-hoff heard you."

A hint of stage fright appeared in Beryl's expression. It brought a soothing, "You've never done this before have you?" from the young man.

Beryl shook her head.

"Well, just take it easy while you warm up a little. Mr. Barnhoff won't be listening in for a while yet. He had something else to do."

The latter statement was untrue, designed to make the ordeal easier for Beryl, for the young man knew that an invisible audience was of-ten more terrifying than a visible one. As his personal contribution to her success he moved about in quiet activity, softly whistling a cheerful tune.

Beryl's hands hovered uncertain-ly over the piano keys. "You're scared," she said to herself scorn-fully. "Beryl Borden, you're scar-ed!"

In self reproof she began to play with a stern determination. The re-sultant sounds displeased her more than her stage fright had done.

"That's no good," she said alond and stopped. The helpful young man came over and stood beside her.

"They say that Kreisler always plays to his wife—no matter how many people are listening to him. You know what I mean—and I'd say you must have someone like that—a boy friend, perhaps."

Beryl smiled up at him, then looked away. "Thank you, Mr. Leonard," she said softly. And to herself: "I was falling down on you, wasn't I, Old Scout? Well, noy you listen and I'll sing— just for you."

She did not fully recapture the mood that Mr. Barnhoff had found her in, but she sang tender-ly.

Leonard absent-mindedly nodded approval time and again. Beryl for-got his presence there but she did not forget that at some time dur-ing her singing Mr. Barnhoff would listen in. And the thought dis-turbed her.

At the end of the first song she turned and looked about as if ex-pecting someone to tell her what to do next.

"One more," Mr. Leonard said encouragingly. "Something differ-ent this time. Something lively, so we can get your versatility."

Beryl sang a snappy modern number and because she was trying to hold back her growing excite-ment she unwittingly sang it as she so often sang at home—Smooth-ered in the velvety quality that was the chief charm of her voice.

When she turned to Leonard a second time he said in a bit of ex-citement of his own: "Now we will hear what Mr. Barnhoff has to say."

MacDonald Has No Intention Of Calling World Gathering

LONDON, June 10. (AP) — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald told the house of commons this after-noon that the government has no present intention of making any moves toward an international war debt conference.

Asked by a conservative member whether he considered "calling a conference of the powers interested in international settlements with a view to mutual cancellation of obli-gations on the largest possible scale,' the prime minister replied, "the attitude of this country in re-gard to war debts is well known and action on the lines suggested would not in the present circumstances serve any useful purpose."

Cotton Prices In Rally At Good Cables — Livestock Cattle Trading Is Slowed Down — Grain Wheat Prices Show Reaction

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 10.—(AP)—While trading was not very active in the cotton market here today, prices experienced a sharp rally owing to good cables and an advance in stocks.

Prices closed steady showing net gains for the day of 10 points on all months traded in.

Liverpool cables came in 6-7 points better than due and private cables stated that there was much liquidation of cotton pegged, which there was trade calling and buying by the commission and Bombay. Manchester cabled that business in cloths and yarns was restricted by fears of lower prices.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—Although early advances in cotton were not fully maintained today offerings were absorbed by continued trade buying and covering on the recession, and prices held above yesterday's closing quotations.

The final tone of the market was barely steady at net advances of 15-18 points. A firmer turn in the stock market stimulated the buying, while there was some bullish comment on report on increased insect infestation in some portions of the belt.

There was no general criticism of weather conditions but there were some further complaints of cool nights and reports of increasing insect infestation in southern Texas as well as in parts of the eastern belt.

End Of Difficulties Looms As Papal Director Resigns

ROME, June 10.—(AP)—The end of the current difficulties between the Pope and the Italian government appeared imminent today as Monsignor Guiseppe Pizzardo papal under-secretary of state, resigned as a director of the Catholic action organization.

The government on its part, it is understood, is disposed to permit the reopening of the 1,000 Catholic clubs closed by Premier Mussolini if the Vatican "purifies" them. "Purification" is explained as the elimination of what the government regards as the political aspects of the clubs and the substitution of officers who are acceptable to the government.

Stock Market Has Difficulty But On Decision Trend Is Definitely Upward

BY JOHN J. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—The stock market had difficulty making up its mind today, but when it finally did reach a decision the trend was definitely upward.

Trading in stocks was often jerky because the market spent much of its time cautiously hewing determinedly and partly because only professionals seemed to have any interest in its affairs. Prices jumped unfortunately until the New York central dividend was out of the way and then the rails had a rally that was quite welcome, the fact that unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation showed less than an average loss in May and that the figures were quite in line with expectations helped the trend in the other quarters which after one false start swung through to the close. Most of the favorites were up 1-3 points; some improved more extensively. The turnover was 2,940,000 shares.

Marriage

fuse to take marriage seriously, that economic conditions have changed, that home doesn't mean as much as it once did, and that in the rush of modern life couples will not take time to adjust differences.

Searches For Truth

But searching for truth — the one great factor in destroying homes—he finds that marriage often fails because couples do not understand each other.

"I speak as a judge, honestly trying to save people from divorces," he asserts. "Not as a reformer. That is farthest from my thoughts.

"There's too much false modesty" he asserts. "I see the result of it every day. Men and women come to me with their only real information about sex learned from poorly-educated companions who probably have learned what little they know from others with as little knowledge."

His suggested remedy is this: He would have intelligent teachers in high schools, colleges and in religious schools instruct students in the intimate side of married life, not cloaking it all with mystery and idealism which hinders rather than helps. He would have them taught morally and spiritually as well. He would have competent men and women write textbooks which would present the subject in a manner that could offend nobody. He would prepare young people for marriage as it really is, rather than as it is pictured by the too-romantic.

"I can see no reason why parents should object to having their children taught the facts of life —when they are of proper age," he says. "If students are of adequate mental ability, they will realize it is for their own good."

1,000 Americans

remained as "typical wives."

As causes of unhappiness, Dr. Dickinson found that complaints about relatives, money, work, management of children and the home were usually secondary. Among the dissatisfied he found in many instances evidence of "some shock in childhood related to the sex side of life."

"The effect of extensive educational and religious training," he said, "is to intensify the cultural taboos of fear and avoidance of sex expression."

He found 250 seeking compensations that included the arts, religion, morals, culture, social pursuits, political causes, over assumption of family responsibility, worry over financial extravagance.

Michael Winburn, American soap king and philanthropist, who died recently in Paris leaving an estate of $5,000,000, willed $50,000 to the People's Dispensary for Sick Animals in London.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, June 10. (AP)—Cattle trade around the eleven markets was slowed down by more liberal receipts but there was a fair demand for most killing classes and weighty steers and yearlings were mostly steady while medium weights and heavies ruled unevenly weak to 25 lower. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 38,000, an increase of 16,000 over a week ago.

The general hog market was active at steady to 10 higher rates with all interests buying. Total offerings were around 43,000 as compared with 47,810 last Wednesday.

Two Charged

ed writs of habeas corpus for bail of $25,000 each. This was with the consent of assistant Attorney General F. M. Dudley, governor's counsel Claud Weaver, County Attorney Marvin Shilling and R. Valdez, Mexican counsul. The officers later furnished bond soon.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, may be added to the trial prosecutors. His services were sought today at Mexico City by Salvador Cortes Rubio, father of the youth by the same name who survived Monday's tragedy in which his traveling companions were slain.

Statements Conflict

Conflicting statements came today from young Salvador Cortes Rubio and Crosby, the youth contending the officer did not inform him of his official capacity prior to the shooting. The officer testified he stated he and Guess were deputies and displayed his badge to all three Mexicans.

Crosby also denied the statement of Theodore Torgenson, who was attracted by the shooting, that Crosby exclaimed "I got that boy" and pointed to Emilo's body, lying in the car. The deputy said he "never heard a greater falsehood" and denied he fired any shots.

Taking sole responsibility for the actual shooting, Guess, who five months ago was cleared of the shooting of a suspected murderer in Texas, said:

"I didn't have time to talk. I figured we had run up against a bunch of young hi-jackers. When I saw one boy coming out with a pistol under the blanket he had around him I shot him. I had to look out for my own self and my own life. I shot from the hip."

Guess said that after Gomez, the blanket-clad youth, fell, he saw Emilo Cortes Rubio in the rays of his flashlight. The boy had a pearl handled automatic, he said. When Guess saw the gun he fired.

Evolution Law

God created us in His infinite wisdom.

"This law is slumbering peacefully on our statute books, and will never do any harm to a single individual in this house.

"It is not as important to worry about how you came here as what is going to become of you hereafter."

W. B. Boswell of Morgan county, favored the repeal of the evolution statute.

"It has done more to injure the good name of the state, and more to induct the intelligence of Tennessee than any bill that was ever passed," he declared.

Tennessee's anti-evolution law first sprang into the limelight during the John T. Scopes trial at Dayton, Tenn., in 1925, on charges of violating the statute.

"Capital ships" will be the term reintroduced, according to new British Admiralty orders, as a generic title to include both battleships and battle cruisers.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 10. (AP)—Some rain relief in Saskatchewan, Canada, where drouth effects have been worst, did much late today to bring about reactions from wheat price upturns.

The market had been largely dominated earlier by indications that Canada would not produce even 100,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, as compared with 366,000,000 harvested in 1930.

United States government crop figures showing domestic spring wheat conditions at 67.8 against 89.2 a year ago, were also regarded as bullish.

Wheat closed irregular, ranging from 3-8 cents decline to 2 3-4 advance corn unchanged to 3-8 lower, oats 1-8 to 1-4 down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2 cents.

Details Told

and J. H. Brewer of Slaton and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Jones living in the northeast part of the county.

Depositions were by: D. B. Jackson, of Culberson county; Mrs. Rosa Stringfellow, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ida Pierson, Hamon Okla., and Wright Wise, New Mexico.

All Boys Known

Jackson said he knew all the Spikes boys and they had good reputations and that when he last knew them in Crosby county the youngest was working for himself. John Spikes had his own range 15 miles away and owned 350 head of cattle. On cross-examination he said he knew both Bud Lee and Sam Gholson in Crosby county and both did not have good reputations.

Mr Lewis, Waco, detailed his business associations with Mr. Spikes, having first met him about 1912. They became associated in the mercantile business in December, 1916, and were together for a number of years.

"I may have heard of some difficulties in New Mexico," he said on cross-examination. "They were just indefinite."

Mrs. Stringfellow left Crosby county in 1895 when she was about 10 or 11 years old, she admitted on cross-examination.

Visited In Home

Mrs. Ida Pierson, Hamon, Okla., formerly Ida Elliott, knew the boys in both Crosby county and Mesa Redonda community and has known them for 35 years. A few days after the killing of John and Dick Spikes she had occasion to visit the home of Mrs John Spikes and there saw a draw and near it "about 60 shells," mostly large ones. She also saw blood on the ground near where she was told John and Dick were shot down. On cross-examination Mrs. Pierson said she had heard of many cow thieves, "too numerous to mention" and in a few instances they worked in gangs. John Spikes told her he brought 800 cattle to New Mexico she testified. She knew Henry Hawkins, met him over a dozen times and she said he had a good reputation. She "heard no one speak of the general reputation of the Spikes boys" she admitted.

Wright Wise McLean, lived 10 miles from Mesa Redonda in 1900 and 1901 and knew the Spikes boys and that they had good reputations. He did not know Hawkins. "To my knowledge they never stole cattle," he said adding he "never heard of their being accused of stealing."

Lived Near Idalou

Queen said he lived 25 years in Lubbock county and has been 13 years in Yoakum, living here two miles east of Idalou. He knew all the Spikes boys from 1897 on and worked for Wes Dalton, a mile and a half from the Spikes home. In 1899 John went to Mesa Redonda with about 300 head, including 35 with the "ZERO" brand. In December 1901 he went to Mesa Redonda to visit the Spikes brothers and remained until the morning of January 21, when he left at 8 o'clock. On one occasion he saw John Spikes kill a beef with a "ZERO" brand on it, he said.

"I spent the night of January 20, 1902 at the home of John Spikes," witness testified. "At the house that night were: John Spikes, Fred Spikes, Dick Spikes, Henry Carter, Mrs. Spikes, the three children and myself." He left the house at 8 a. m. the next day and went to the home of Bud Lee but did not find him at home. There were several men there. Later he went to the home of Cabe Adams who likewise was not at home. He arrived about two hours later, "by early supper" the witness said. He was not told about the details of the slaying, he stated. An attempt to read into the record where he spent the night of January 21 was ruled out on defense objections. Queen said he "did not work for John and Dick Spikes," during his visit.

Knew Livestock

W. C. "Bill" Hunter, now of Tularosa, N. M., was a stock farmer in Guadalupe colnty 30 years ago, living near Tucumcari in 1900, 1901 and 1902. He lived a mile and a half north of Mesa Redonda and knew the Spikes brothers and their stock. He detailed where each pair of brothers lived and said they "did not have the reputation of being outlaws," either individually or collectively. He saw Henry Hawkins at the roundups with the brothers. He himself had cattle on the range and never saw any burned brands on Spikes' cattle.

Witness purported to detail an occasion of meeting with a group of men who sought to impress him into the posse. The statement was read into the record over defense objections. Names of the group of men who rode up to him while he and his wife were out on the range included: Sam Gholson, Bud Lee, Cabe Adams, Leslie Bates, Louis Nance, "Black" Bates, Red Sam Gholson, John Moore, a man named Cissel and his son, Emmett Ricks, a boy named S. Gholson and Charlie Bohannan and two or three others he did not know. He purported to relate a conversation with Mr. Gholson and Bud Lee to the effect that the posse was "going after John and Dick Spikes, dead or alive."

In a second deposition he told of Sam Gholson visiting his home and of stating that "either John Spikes or I have to leave the country." A conversation he claimed to have had with John Spikes, with Dick and Fred present, at his home, was ruled out by the court.

Completion of the deposition will be made this morning.

At the morning session nineteen persons were heard orally on the stand and four depositions. Oral witnesses were: W. B. Atkins, Raleigh Martin, E. L. Meredith, P. B. Penney, J. C. Royalty, J. T. Hope Is Extended By American Man BAYONNE, N. J., June 10. (AP)—Hope for the men imprisoned in the British submarine Poseidon at the bottom of the Yellow Sea was expressed tonight by Commander Edward Ellsberg, American authority on submersible salvage operations.

Ellsberg, who raised one sunken submarine and conducted initial operations for salvaging another, said that under favorable conditions the men alive might be saved and the vessel itself raised in a few days.

Great Development

"Wonderful!" he exclaimed when told that six men had escaped from the Poseidon by means of "artificial lungs" and floated up 120 feet to the surface of the sea.

He hailed the "artificial lung" device as the outstanding development in submarine rescue work. An invention of R. H. Davis, British manufacturer of diving equipment, it is now on all British submarines and a similar device, perfected by Lieut. C. B. Momsen, an American, is in the equipment of American submersibles, he said.

"So far as I know this is the first time the perfected invention has been used in an actual disaster at such a depth," he said. "It has proved its worth nobly."

The announcement followed a conference here between officials of the independent association and independents who have opposed proration. Details were not made public but Cranfill said the plan had been submitted to several major company executives at Houston Monday and had met with their approval. Cranfill will leave for East Texas tomorrow to discuss the agreement with other East Texas operators.

Two Sought In Death Of Girl

Extensive Search Is Started By Officers After Finding Of Girl's Body; Politician Is One Suspect

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Two men one of whom was described as a prominent politician, were sought today by District Attorney Elvin E. Edwards of Nassau county, for the slaying of Miss Starr Faithful whose body was found Monday in the surf at Long Beach, Long Island.

Edwards said the men had been in the company of the 25 year old girl after she left her home a few doors from the residence of Mayor Walker last Friday.

The killing occurred in New York, the prosecutor said, after which the girl's body was placed in an automobile taken to Long Beach, transferred to a rowboat and dropped into the ocean. Long Beach is about 25 miles from Manhattan.

Edwards said the girl had been assaulted.

After questioning Stanley E. Faithful, the girl's stepfather, her mother and sister, Edwards departed for Boston with Police Inspector Harold R. King, intimating before they left that one of the men sought was from Massachusetts.

Before Edwards turned his search to persons ashore, police were examining a theory Miss Faithful might have fallen or been thrown from an outbound liner.

Police said they learned that a young woman answering her description had been seen on the Cunard line pier on the day Miss Faithful disappeared after leaving home ostensibly for a shopping trip.

Woman Confesses

cock to take her to Mrs. Lloyd's home, paying him with a check drawn on her husband. She arrived at her home at 7 a. m.

The woman is being held in the county jail here.

Mrs. Redman said she was married to Redman 13 years ago, living with him until two years ago. She and her husband had lived together at short intervals during the past two years, the statement continued. Both she and her husband had lived in Lubbock several times. She last lived there in 1930, officers were told. Her children are living with Mr. Redman's relatives.

The woman said she and her husband owned a residence in Lubbock at one time. The building was sold and she was given $800 from the sale, she told officers.

The $800 was given to Chase and he used the money to buy an automobile in which he was slain, the article added.

"I repeatedly asked Chase for the $800, but he refused to give it to me."

Chase's body was found in the automobile Tuesday afternoon, 16 hours after he was killed, by a farmer, who was plowing in nearby field. The farmer said he noticed the automobile parked there when he went to work Tuesday but did not investigate until several hours later, thinking the machine belonged to some cotton choppers who were working in another field.

The slain man was the son of A. N. Chase, prominent farmer of the Gordon community.

Funeral services for the man were held this afternoon at Southland, with Elder W. E. Loftin, of the Church of Christ, officiating.

The investigation of the shooting was conducted by Mr. Nelson, Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county, Sheriff B. L. Parker and Deputy Sheriff J. H. Bulman of Lynn county.

Queen Helen Waits For Settlement

King Thought To Have Opened Negotiations With A Bank In London For Payment Of $40,000 Annually To Queen

PARIS, June 10. (AP)—Queen Helen of Rumania is expected to go into exile as soon as King Carol makes provision for her financial welfare—probably in a few days.

Dispatches from Bucharest said the king had opened negotiations with a London bank to pay her $40,000 annually when she leaves Rumania.

She will be entitled to visit her son, Crown Prince Michael, three times a year and the king has promised to notify her if the child becomes ill. The palace at Bucharest and her summer residence on the Black Sea will remain her property for use on these trips.

A Rumanian lawyer, just arrived from Bucharest, said King Carol last week purchased in the name of his mother's secretary a beautiful villa with surrounding park for $66,000. Well informed circles said it was intended to be the future home of Mme. Maga Lupescu, with whom the king roamed throughout Europe during his years of voluntary exile.

County Right Is Upheld By Court

AUSTIN, June 10. (AP)—The supreme court today upheld the right of counties to issue bonds.

The federal circuit court of appeals at New Orleans had held in a case from Shelby county that under the Texas construction counties could issue only road, irrigation and navigation bonds. Test cases were brought in the Texas supreme court and the federal court withdrew its opinion.

The supreme court contradicted the federal court's opinion in test cases brought by Henderson county and Collingsworth county to force the attorney general to approve certain bond issues. The court granted the county's request in each instance, instructing the attorney general to approve $148,000 in road and bridge funding bonds of Henderson county and a $150,000 courthouse issue of Collingsworth county.

The federal court usually accepts the ruling of a state supreme court on an interpretation of the state's constitution.

McVay reported that at 11 p. m. last night he was dozing to sleep when he suddenly was aroused and saw the figure of a man in the doorway. He said he fired, thinking it was the third man, against whom he and Parley were guarding. Parley was shot in the back of the head and died instantly.

Parking Limit To Be Talked

City Commission Is Expected To Reach Decision Today On Petition Asking Removal Of Two-Hour Law

The city commission is expected to decide definitely today whether the two-hour parking restriction, now in force in the downtown district, shall be removed from the portion of the city east of Texas avenue, including streets fronting on the courthouse square.

Time restrictions were tentatively removed from the zone by the commission two weeks ago at it regular meeting. A city employe was instructed to canvas the district and see if the merchants desired the change.

Investigation revealed that 28 merchants wanted the two-hour restriction to remain in force. Twenty-two indicated they desired unlimited parking.

A petition, bearing 60 names, was presented to the commission several weeks ago seeking that the time limit be removed.

Several of the signers of the petition told the city investigator that they had changed their minds since the paper had been circulated and now believe that the ordinaace should not be repealed.

The commission is scheduled to meet at 3 p. m. today in an open session.

WHAT is the best tire made?

After all, conversation aside, that's what you really want to know, isn't it?

For with rubber prices where they are today, you certainly can afford to buy the best.

It's natural, of course, that every tire manufacturer should try to convince you his tire is best.

But if you want to cut through a welter of words to get the real low-down, listen to the 20 million car owners of the country.

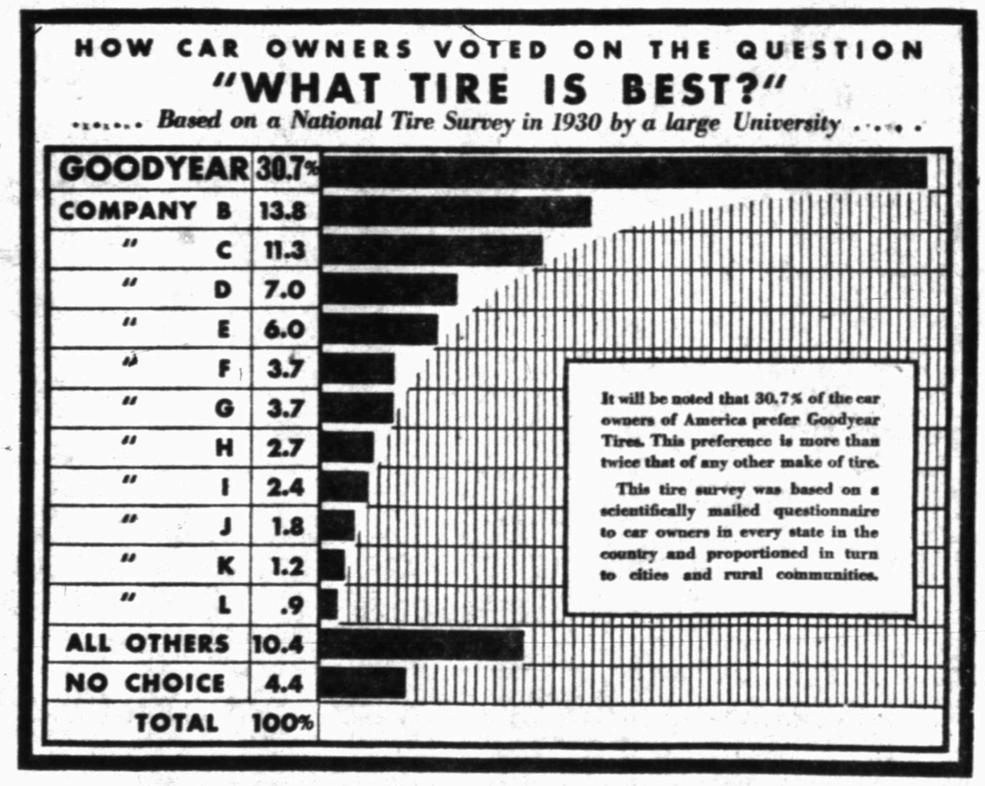

They give the palm to Goodyear.

For 16 consecutive years it has been true that "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind."

Moreover through an impartial institution, in no way connected with the rubber industry, 205,000 car owners were asked this point-blank question:

QUESTION: "Regardless of price, convenience, etc., what make of tire do you consider the BEST tire made?"

HOW CAR OWNERS VOTED ON THE QUESTION
"WHAT TIRE IS BEST?"
Based on a National Tire Survey in 1930 by a large University

If you are technical by nature and want to know the WHY of Goodyear superiority, call and let us demonstrate. We can quickly dispel your last vestige of doubt.

And best of all, we give you good news on prices. A few of which we quote here.
