PRAYERS, PARADES, FEASTS

Nation Notes Its Blessings

A nation grateful for the blessings of peace and prosperity celebrated Thanksgiving Day today with prayers, parades, family reunions and turkey dinners.

It was a nation that could hardly forget the somber mood of last Thanksgiving, which came within a week of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Across the nation families gathered for the holiday. Heavy rain in the East and blowing snow in the Plains disrupted transportation on the holiday eve.

Many flights to John F. Kennedy Airport were diverted to other cities Wednesday night. The rains slowed bus and automobile traffic in the New York metropolitan area.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Churches held special services and in some communities Protestants and Catholics joined in a common observance of Thanksgiving, a practice begun last year in the new spirit of church unity.

The day was celebrated in Plymouth, Mass., which most Americans think of as the site of the first Thanksgiving, and in Virginia, which claims that Berkeley Hundred, near Jamestown, Va., held the original Thanksgiving.

River Raft Boys Feared Drowned

Float Craft Rams Piling; Nine Survive

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) —Search units combed the Red River today for two teenage boys, missing after the homemade raft on which they and nine others were on smashed into a bridge piling and capsized.

"We heard one of them cry out," said Randy Ulmer, one of the survivors. "He said, 'I'm hurting.' We couldn't find him.

"He kept yelling, 'Help me. I'm hurting.'"

Missing and presumed drowned in the swirling Red River were Danny Tedford, 15, and Joe Warren, 13, both of Dallas, Tex.

Tedford and Warren were in a group of nine boys from a camp for underprivileged youths sponsored by the Dallas Salesmanship Club at Hawkins, Texas, a Dallas suburb.

RED RIVER FLOAT

Two counselors, Gerald Bible of Cisco, Tex., and Ken Edgar of Tyler, Tex., were with the boys, who planned to float down the Red River to its conjunction with the Mississippi and on to New Orleans.

Edgar said the outboard motor on the 35-foot raft — planks lashed to empty oil drums — ran out of gas as they were trying to beach the craft for the night.

"We were trying to get across the river to make camp for the night and I thought we had it made. All of a sudden we were coming up to a logjam piled up at the piling.

"I told everybody, 'Hang on, we're going to hit.'" Edgar continued.

PINNED UNDER

"In a split second we turned over. Several of the boys were pinned under the raft."

As the survivors warmed up, Randy Ulmer pointed to Danny Luton and said: "That boy right there saved three lives. He pulled a plank up that one of the counselors (Bible) was caught under.

"Another one of the boys was hanging on just by his fingernails and Danny pulled him out. I was hanging on to a log and he helped me."

THANKSGIVING SERVICE TODAY
Good turnout at First Baptist Church

'But Thou Art Rich,' Union Audience Told

"I know thy works, and tribulations, and poverty, (but thou art rich)."

Dr. H. Clyde Smith, speaking to the union Thanksgiving service congregation this morning at the First Baptist Church, emphasized this portion of scripture, taken from the ninth verse of the second chapter of the Revelation: "But thou art rich."

More than 250 persons attended the 10 a.m. service, annually conducted by the Big Spring Pastors Association.

Dr. Smith emphasized the immense richness of everyone in America, regardless of his economic status. He said every person had something to be thankful for, and that all who have mental and emotional health should be grateful for blessings and helpful to others who may be in trouble.

The speaker dwelt on and brought out three main points in his sermon. The first was that "we are rich because we live in America," considering the abundance of comforts, freedoms and resources available to those who really want them. The second point: "We are rich because we have reasonably good health," and the third, "we are rich because of our failures," stressing the value of experience and the will to overcome failures.

The service opened with the Rev. John Black, pastor of the First Christian Church and president of the Pastors' Association, presiding. Following the Doxology the invocation was given by the Rev. Al Seddon, pastor of St. Paul Presbyterian Church, and the responsive reading led by the Rev. Byron Orand, pastor of College Baptist Church.

Three hymns, "America the Beautiful," "Come Ye Thankful People," and "America," were sung by the congregation, directed by Ted James, minister of music at the First Methodist Church. A double quartet, from the First Methodist and First Baptist churches, sang a special number, "Prayer of Thanksgiving."

The Rev. James Puckett, pastor of Baptist Temple, read the President's Proclamation, and the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God, read the scripture. The Thanksgiving Prayer was given by the Rev. Don Hungerford, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Following the special music, the Thanksgiving message was given by Dr. Smith. The benediction was by Chaplain Bill Warren of Webb Air Force Base.

Jack Hendrix was organist for the music numbers. Members of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club served as ushers.

The annual Thanksgiving offering is used to support the teaching of Bible in the high school. More than 90 students are enrolled in three Bible classes taught by Mrs. J. O. Johansen.

Planes Hit, But Hostages Safe

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S.-airlifted Belgian paratroopers are now rescuing several hundred white hostages from Paulis, a city 225 miles north of Stanleyville, then will promptly withdraw from the Congo, the State Department announced early Thursday.

Intensive groundfire hit four of the seven U.S. Air Force C130 transport planes in the operation but all were reported to have landed safely. One paratrooper was killed and five injured.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman here said the Belgians had "secured" the town in about two hours. Rebel sniper fire was continuing, however.

The Belgians shepherded the first group of whites aboard a transport plane for evacuation to Leopoldville. The flight included 34 men, one woman and 19 children.

The embassy spokesman said 267 paratroopers were flown to Paulis, 244 miles north of Stanleyville.

American and Belgian military officers kept the other 350 Belgian paratroopers at Stanleyville airport.

Today's dramatic rescue operation was the second and apparently final operation by the Belgian and American forces in the Congo.

Ship Crashes, Slices Tanker; Deaths At 9

NEW YORK (AP)—The Israeli luxury liner Shalom, bound for a holiday cruise in the Caribbean, sliced a Norwegian tanker in two early today in heavy fog off the New Jersey coast.

The Coast Guard said at least nine persons were killed.

The bow of the liner was opened and shipping water but she was reported to be in no danger of sinking.

OFF NEW YORK

A massive rescue operation built up at the scene, some 30 miles from the entrance lane to New York Harbor.

Air and surface rescuers tried to save the 33 crewmen forced to abandon the sinking stern section of the tanker, the Stolt Dagali out of Oslo. Ten others were reported to be in no immediate danger aboard the severed bow.

The Coast Guard reported 19 or 20 crewmen rescued by 7 a.m., about five hours after the collision.

PICK UP SEAMEN

Surface ships picked some seamen from the water and Coast Guard and Navy helicopters lifted others in slings and shuttled them to New Jersey hospitals.

The first two seamen reached the Point Pleasant Beach, N.J., Hospital soon after dawn. One was pronounced dead within minutes.

About the same time, four more seamen were arriving via helicopter at the base hospital at the Lakehurst, N.J., Naval Air Station.

FAIR SHAPE

"They appeared to be in pretty good shape but they were suffering from exposure," said the officer in charge of the hospital.

Another Navy man there said, "Within minutes of their being checked they were up and smoking cigarettes, all except one who seemed a little incoherent."

Viet Regime Still Periled

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The National Security Council met in emergency session today to consider measures against fresh waves of antigovernment rioting that resulted in Saigon being placed under martial law.

It was the first meeting of the council since street demonstrations began Sunday, threatening to topple the fledgling civilian government.

Authorities feared the killing of a 15-year-old boy, first known victim of the rioting, would touch off new and wider demonstrations. More than 100 have been injured.

As the youth's body was put on display in Buddhist headquarters, a Western observer commented, "They have their martyr; now all hell could break loose."

Canvass Gives Demos Victory

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — President Johnson Sen. Howard W. Cannon and Rep. Walter S. Barring became official winners Wednesday in Nevada's Nov. 3 election.

All three Democratic incumbents were proclaimed victors by a Supreme Court canvass, which approved precinct tallies compiled by Secretary of State John Koontz.

Strategy Talks On Viet Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor returns today to Washington for strategy talks on the war in South Viet Nam. From them may come decisions by President Johnson on expanding the war.

Taylor, a former Army chief of staff, is expected to recommend that the President consider the military advantages that might stem from ordering air strikes to halt the flow of supplies to the Viet Cong guerrillas.

He has spoken recently about the possibility of bombing supply routes from Communist North Viet Nam, which run through areas of neighboring Laos that are under Communist control. He has spoken also of possible action against selected areas in North Viet Nam itself.

Taylor, ambassador to Saigon since July, will be in Washington five or six days, officials said, and plans to spend today, Thanksgiving, with his family. His conferences will begin Friday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high officials. The time and place of a meeting with the President have not been announced.

Memphis Surgeon, Dr. Sanders, Dies

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Robert Lee Sanders, 82, a past president of the Southern Medical Association and a prominent Memphis, Tenn., surgeon, died Wednesday, apparently of a heart attack.

Ike's Ex-Pilot Found Hanged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired Col. William G. Draper, one-time personal pilot for former president Dwight D. Eisenhower, was found hanged Wednesday at his home in nearby Camp Springs, Md.

Police ruled the death a suicide.

An Air Force spokesman said that Draper, 44, who retired from the Air Force in 1963 after suffering a severe heart attack, had been despondent.

A native of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, he served as Eisenhower's pilot when the general was NATO commander in Europe and later during his eight years as president.

Student Perishes As Vehicle Flips

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Julius Ellis, 18, of Colorado Springs, a student at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Tex., was killed 25 miles south of here Wednesday. His car turned over three times and crashed down a 15-foot embankment.

Freeway Fatality

GALVESTON (AP)— A car struck and killed Bruce O'Neill, 64, of Galveston on a busy freeway about a mile north of La Marque Wednesday night. Police said he started walking after his automobile stalled.

Mine Cons End Revolt

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — Coal-mining prisoners who warned their hostages "there's nobody going out over that dynamite," ended a rebellion early today at Brushy Mountain State Prison.

Three mine foremen held captive underground for 18 hours by the 134 prisoners were released unharmed.

The convicts won a hearing on their complaints about mail service and other grievances, a disciplinary committee to investigate rules infractions and a promise of no punishment for their sitdown.

"I'm tremendously happy that we were able to end this in a comparatively short time and without injury or mistreatment to anyone," said Harry Avery, state corrections commissioner.

Avery said the grievance hearings would start today at the prison in the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee.

The rebellion began soon after the prisoners rode the cable cars three-fourths of a mile up the mountain Wednesday and went another three-fourths of a mile into the pits. Prison officials learned of it six hours later, about noon, when no more coal came to the entrance of the shaft.

Mrs. Oswald Visits In-Law

DALLAS (AP)—The widow of President Kennedy's assassin paid a Thanksgiving Day visit to her brother-in-law today at Denton.

Mrs. Marina Oswald had left Doctor's Hospital Tuesday night after being treated a week for a stomach ailment. Her doctor said she is "completely recovered."

"I think she is fine," a close friend said. "She has just been living under such a great strain for the past year."

Mrs. Oswald went to visit Robert Oswald, brother of Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin. The two have maintained a close relationship since the assassination Nov. 22, 1963.

Prison Feast For 12,000 At Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Cooks at the state prison fed 12,000 inmates Thanksgiving dinner today.

They rolled up their sleeves to work with these ingredients:

Nearly 17,000 pounds of turkey, 900 gallons of peas, 75 crates of celery, 175 cases of lettuce, 3,650 pounds of mince meat, 3,750 pounds of sweet potatoes, 864 gallons of punch, 20,000 oranges and 19,000 apples.

Also on the menu were unspecified amounts of giblet gravy, pineapple, marshmallows, snow flake potatoes, corn, cranberry sauce, fresh green onions, stuffed olives, hot rolls and coffee.

"In case anyone is hungry at supper time," said kitchen supervisor D. S. Van Meter, "we'll have plenty of good leftovers, plus a Mexican style supper."

Be An Early Shopper! Local Stores Ready To Serve

Recordings Made Early

When record buyers troop into stores this Christmas to find a new recording of songs and carols, little will they dream that their purchase was recorded in a studio at least six months ago, and started on its long and detailed processing from singer to buyer.

First, comes the weighty decision made by the record company and its singers as to what Christmas albums to issue, and how much to mingle new songs with old.

Then the singer and the arranger work together on the song's presentation, and manuscript music is written for the orchestra.

Rehearsing the songs goes rapidly or at snail's pace, depending on how all the musical elements involved jibe together. If the orchestra and singer have worked together before, the practice sessions go like clockwork, and the mechanics of cutting the record begin.

After the records are processed, it takes a month to design and print a cover, hopefully so arresting it will sell itself from the record shop's display case.

By now, it's November first, D-day for Christmas records' delivery to the shops. Before this date, shop owners will have received advance news of the new arrivals, with all kinds of suggestions as to how to display the record.

Can a singer work up any enthusiasm for a white Christmas when he's recording in June? Bobby Vinton took a break from his recording session to say an emphatic yes.

"At first, it's a little hard to get started," said the Blue Velvet boy. "But I sing to the orchestra, and when they move in with all those bells ringing, I'm in the mood. I have a real tear-jerker for this Christmas. It's a song about an orphan who asks Santa for a home for Christmas, and it really gets me when I'm singing it. Hope it isn't too sad to go over."

MORGAN LIBRARY

Holiday Display Of Treasures

Breathtaking treasures that once graced medieval monasteries, princes' palaces, and church pulpits will be on display this Christmas season at the Pierpont Morgan Library in New York.

The collection, unsurpassed in this hemisphere in the fields of medieval and renaissance illuminated manuscripts, early printed books and bookbindings, and master drawings, is housed in a marble block building in classical Greek style next to J. Pierpont Morgan's former home.

The array of Bibles and other religious works which the financier purchased is enormous and varied. The first Bible that Morgan bought, as as listed in a catalogue back in 1883, was the first Bible printed in North America, John Eliot's translation into the English language.

In the final decade of the 19th century was added a Gutenberg Bible on vellum, a 1459 Mainz Psalter, of which no other copy has ever been available to an American buyer, and the famous ninth century Lindau Gospels with a sumptuous jeweled binding.

During the last seven years of his life, in the early 1900's, Morgan added enormously to his prizes. A large group of Coptic manuscripts, mostly of the ninth century, found on the site of a monastery in Egypt, was purchased and sent to the Vatican for study and reproduction.

After his father's death, J. P. Morgan carried on purchases for the Library, specializing much of the time in illuminated manuscripts. Some of the more elaborate of these will be displayed this Christmas season in the museum's main gallery.

One especially fine acquisition was the Gospels of Countess Matilda of Tuscany, written and decorated in Italy about 1100. Other prizes added to the library were from the Earl of Leicester's collection, originally lodged in the Benedictine monastery at Weingarten, Germany. They include two richly illuminated manuscripts of the Gospels made in England before the Norman Conquest, and the Missal of Abbot Berthold, in its jeweled silver-gift binding, generally considered to be one of the finest extant 13th century German manuscripts.

Further additions include the ninth-century Reims Gospels in perfect condition, with portraits of the four Evangelists, and the text written in gold, the profusely decorated Gothic psalter made for Yolande de Soissons.

BIG PROBLEM

How To Get Out Of An Annual Tradition

By LYDIA BICKFORD

For the past decade, our New Year's celebration has been a traditional if not a hallowed, event for a group of our friends. My problem is, how can I get out of it?

Drawn together originally in my home by a mutual distaste for paper hats, irrational imbibing, and senseless hysteria at midnight, our group of two dozen or so has brought the New Year in as it should be welcomed, with dignified step and serious mien.

This is not meant to indicate I preside over a square party. The assembled guests are stimulating, the conversation is as sharp as a rapier. The bar is available, champagne is served on the dot of midnight. Turkey, ham and shrimp follow shortly thereafter.

In one room, a novelist will be interrogating all within range so he can poach a few ideas for his next book. What's wrong with our teaching methods is getting a going-over with a school principal and a remedial reading teacher hard at it. The concert pianist of the group is getting more out of our piano than seems possible since last New Year's Eve.

A few are talking about their children, but the children are IBM programmers, potential PhDs., and future journalists, so they deserve to be talked about. An erudite group is trying to apply the sentiments of Plato's Republic to America today, and having a rather difficult time.

All is well, I note, as I slip through the circles with shrimp and dip, tactfully re-group one sector which doesn't seem as sympatico as usual, and come in with a strong alto voice as I near a folk-singing contingent.

What, then, is missing?

The answer doesn't come till 3 a.m. as I review the kitchen clutter. Two dozen champagne glasses, an assortment of bottle tops, plates messy with bits of cheese, toothpicks, streaks of sauce, the kitchen table covered with drunk and half-drunk cups of coffee.

It dawns then. I'm tired of being a New Year's Eve hostess.

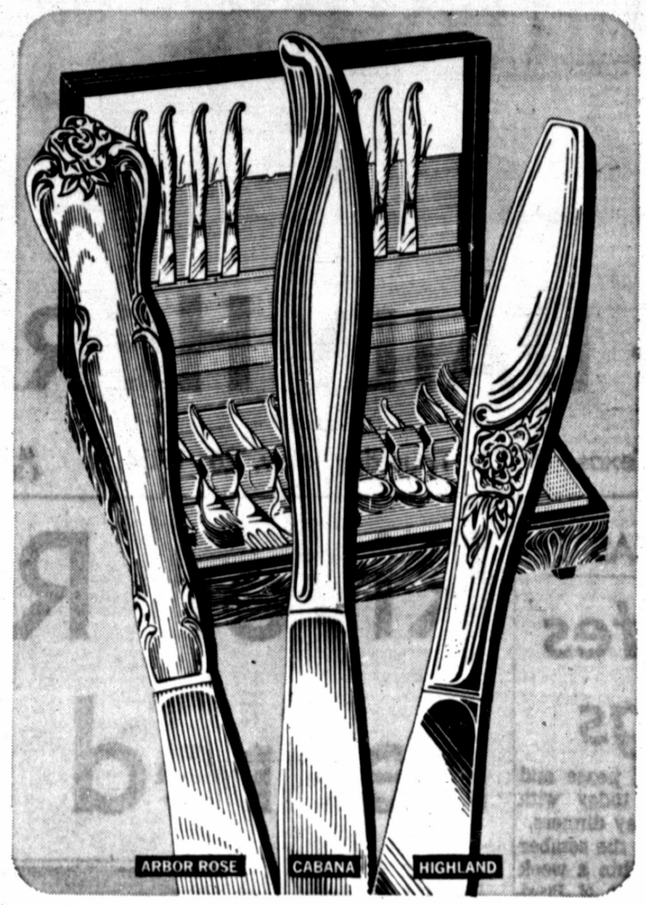

But here's my predicament: How can I next year cancel a party with such a long and faithful history of attendance?

The only way out is to recommend something revolutionary for next New Year's Eve. Tell the guests that I'm pooping as a party hostess. Suggest we go to Times Square in New York and scream our heads off at midnight.

The guests will shudder at the very idea. But perhaps, in the ensuing discussion someone will say, "Why don't you come to my house next year?" Before he has a chance to exchange his mind, I'll agree.

You know, perhaps paper hats aren't so bad an idea after all.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	4 ♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

South's decision to open the bidding with four hearts is worthy of note. If he were the dealer, his proper call would be one heart; however, after partner has passed the prospects for a slam are greatly diminished, and a mere one heart bid may now offer the opponents a golden opportunity to compete profitably in spades.

West opened the king of clubs and declarer won the trick with the ace. South observed that he was in position to discard a club on dummy's ace of spades, and then bank his hopes on an even division of the outstanding diamonds. This prospect was distinctly against the odds, however, and South decided instead to work on the club suit to establish an additional trick.

Trumps were drawn in three rounds as dummy discarded a spade and East, the nine of diamonds. A small club was led and West put up the jack and shifted to a diamond. A small diamond was played from dummy and East held the trick with the eight. The king was returned and the ace was played as West showed out. South was now in full control, and he led another club to his nine forcing out West's queen, and establishing North's ten for the fulfilling trick.

West could not avoid putting the dummy back in either with the ace of spades or the ten of clubs and declarer obtained two diamond discards. Observe that South was careful not to release the ace of spades prematurely, for that card must be preserved as a potential delayed entry to North's established club. Even tho declarer cannot negotiate access directly, he is able to make use of the spade control by putting his opponent to work for him.

U.S. Nutritionists Look At Turkey

WASHINGTON (AP) — When you sit down to that big turkey dinner today, eat, drink and be merry. But don't let anyone sell you on dark meat with the argument that it's more nutritious than white.

Let your taste be your guide, say government nutritionists. The differences between the two are insignificant.

The nutritionists also give this food - value inventory of the Thanksgiving Day menu:

Turkey — A good source of protein. (Go ahead, have some more.)

IRON, PROTEIN

Bread stuffing — B vitamins, iron and protein. (Seconds of that too.)

Mashed potatoes and giblet gravy — The potatoes offer a fair source of vitamin C, and made with milk, offer calcium. The giblets provide B vitamins and iron. (There's no more room on your plate.)

Cranberry sauce — Not so high in food value as most fruits. (Who cares?)

Sweet potatoes — Considerable vitamin A and some vitamin C. (Better get two plates.)

VITAMIN A

Pumpkin pie — Quite a little vitamin A, generous amounts of the B vitamins and minerals.

Mincemeat pie — Not much vitamin A, but B vitamins and minerals.

That after - dinner brandy — Not much besides a lot of calories (and a certain sense of well-being.)

The meal as a whole — Probably too many calories, say the nutritionists. But this is more the fault of the diner, than the dinner.

Doctor Winds Up Lectures

Dr. Charles Puestow, Chicago, Mrs. Puestow, and her mother, Mrs. G. E. Knowles, have terminated a visit in Big Spring and are en route to their home.

While in Big Spring, Dr. Puestow, who has served as clinical professor of surgery for more than 30 years at the University of Illinois, conducted a series of lectures at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

Dr. Puestow, who is the author of a number of professional books and papers, recently revised the procedure for surgical treatment of pancreas. He lectured to the VA staff here on this procedure which has been remarkably successful.

The doctor and his wife and her mother were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bohannon, 1707 Kentucky, and Dr. and Mrs. Houston Zinn, 2511 Allendale, while in Big Spring.

Mrs. Knowles is the sister of Mrs. Bohannon and the aunt of Mrs. Gladys Porter of this city.

Spence To Attend Water Parleys

The Colorado River Municipal Water District will be represented in three statewide water planning conferences called by the Texas Water Commission.

E. V. Spence, general manager, will set in on the long-range comprehensive planning to meet water needs for all areas of the state. This meeting will be held Dec. 2 for state, federal, river authorities and major water districts. The following days, representatives from cities will present their views. A meeting has been scheduled for Dec. 10 for representatives of manufacturing and mining industries, including the need for water to repressure oil fields. A fourth meeting will be held late for agricultural groups.

Sheriff Looking For Bike Owner

It could be Christmas for some unknown Big Spring youngster and not cost anyone a single red penny.

The kid would be the one who left his bicycle on East Fifteenth Street some weeks ago and has never bothered to reclaim it. Or perhaps, Aubrey Standard, deputy sheriff, suggests, someone stole the bike and abandoned it on East Fifteenth and the real owner doesn't know what became of it.

The bicycle is at the sheriff's office. It is a 26-inch model for boys, red and white, and appears to be in good condition.

The sheriff would like for the owner to come to the court house and get his property.

Ranch Feast At Dusk For First Family

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and his family will gather at dusk tonight to carve the traditional Thanksgiving turkey at their ranch home.

Daughters Lynda Bird, 20, and Luci Baines, 17, were flying in from Washington for the occasion. The girls hoped to get to an afternoon football game in Austin, 65 miles away, between Lynda's old school, the University of Texas, and Texas A&M.

DELAY DINNER

The President did not plan to attend the game. But he agreed to delay dinner so the girls could enjoy it.

Relatives and friends were invited to join the Johnsons for roast turkey with dressing and giblet gravy, sweet potatoes, green beans, asparagus, molded cranberry salad, ambrosia dessert and cake.

The First Family made no advance plans to attend religious services during the day.

In proclaiming the holiday earlier this month, Johnson urged Americans to gather in their homes and places of worship to pray for peace and freedom throughout the world.

BE THANKFUL

Wednesday night, in a special mesage broadcast via the Syncom and Relay satellites to members of the Armed Forces, Johnson called on Americans to "thank the blessings of the Lord for the bounty of their land."

The President said "we are prosperous and mighty beyond the farthest imagining" of the Pilgrim Fathers. And he said "for that we give thanks and pray that we may continue to deserve His blessings."

FEDERAL TOPICS

Before clearing his desk for the holiday, Johnson conferred at the ranch Wednesday night with Budget Director Kermit Gordon and chairman John Macy of the Civil Service Commission. The topics, on which no final decisions were reached, were federal finances and personnel.

Earlier in the day, Johnson met with Postmaster General John Gronouski and urged studies of possible new increases in second - and third - class mail rates — on magazines, newspapers, catalogues and circulars. And he asked Gronouski to consider closing several hundred fourth-class post offices — the smallest type — within the next few years.

Staying Out Of Game Pays Off

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Willie S. Garcia is $520 richer, thanks to a bingo game in which he didn't play.

Garcia filed suit against Fidel Jaramillo, saying they had been partners in playing bingo each week and splitting profits and losses. But Garcia said Jaramillo won $1,000 which he didn't split.

Dist. Judge John B. McManus awarded Garcia $500 plus $20 costs.

MRS. ARTHUR RAY RENFRO

Bradshaw Studio

Miss Helen Willcox Weds A. R. Renfro

The First Presbyterian Church was the setting Wednesday morning as Miss Helen Kay Willcox became the bride of Arthur Ray Renfro. The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. R. Gage Lloyd.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar banked with emerald fern trees and centered with a large arrangement of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Smaller bouquets of the flowers were placed on each side to complete the nuptial scene.

The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willcox, 307 Washington Blvd., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Renfro of Douglas, Kans.

Preceding the ceremony, a program of traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. John Birdwell at the organ.

TAFFETA GOWN

Given in marriage by her uncle, the bride wore a formal gown of white taffeta trimmed with re-embroidered Alencon lace. The front panel of the controlled skirt was sprinkled lavishly with re-embroidered lace appliques, and the bodice was styled with a scooped neckline and bracelet-length sleeves. The full skirt swept into a chapel train. Holding the bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was a forward cluster of silk peau de soie rosebuds accented with tiny seed pearls.

The bride carried a cascade of stephanotis backed in satin and pearl leaves and showered in picot satin. Centering the bouquet was a large white orchid.

Mrs. Harrison Brock, Lubbock, was the matron of honor and was attired in an emerald green peau de soie sheath with scooped neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Her headpiece was a veiled Dior bow, and she carried a nosegay of yellow chrysanthemums backed with matching satin. Judy Jordan, the flower girl, wore a floor-length dress of white satin with green peau de soie belt and headband.

Darrol Wixson, Midland, served as best man, and ushers were Don Farley and Charles Lusk.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor where guests were registered by Mrs. Don Farley. The bride's table was centered with a tall silver candelabrum holding cathedral tapers tied with maline, white carnations and wedding bells. The three-tiered wedding cake was frosted in white and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Harrison Brock, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ballanfonte and Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Ballanfonte and children, all of Austin; Mrs. John H. Marks and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McClane and children, all of Odessa; Mrs. Darrol Wilcox, Midland; and Mrs. Charles Graham, Cisco.

Many Choices In Men's Gifts

Scratching one's head and trying to choose between socks, a white shirt or a tie may be less in evidence this year when gifts are picked out for the menfolks in the family—as changes in men's clothing styles have brought numerous possibilities for gift selections.

Changes in men's suit styles are coming into view this year, as two-button suits, plain front trousers and side-vented coats are becoming more popular. Sport coats as well are tending toward two-button styles, some clothing dealers here report.

"The plain front trousers are not the peg-legged, tight-fitting style," a clothier here pointed out. "It's a normal trouser style but without pleats." The side-vented coats seem to be replacing those with a single vent in the center of the back.

An unusual gift item on the market is a cigarette lighter which is a replica of a portable television set, with the TV screen used to display color 35 mm slides, with the lighter arrangement on top of the set.

Shirt-jackets, introduced last summer in short-sleeve styles, are proving in considerable demand and may become a popular gift item this season. Worn outside the trousers, the jackets are made in corduroy and other fabrics, with various stripes and patterns.

Colors this season are available in a wide-ranging array, with iridescence continuing to be popular in suits, while stripes, especially for younger men, are holding up in demand for shirts. White shirts, however, are expected to continue to be the most popular dress shirt style for gifts.

The Indian bleeding madras shirts, in ivy league style, are continuing their popularity with younger men. The madras style has been extended to belts and even ties this year.

Turtle-neck shirts which may be worn beneath a sweater or ivy shirts are becoming popular this year as well.

Sweaters will again be a big gift iteam for men this year, local clothing stores relate, either in the V-neck style or the cardigan. Stripes in the cardigan models are proving popular, as are newer designs such as the high-button collar models. An alpaca knit sweater and a cashmere with suede front are on the market this year and short-sleeve sweaters are in evidence.

Fabric, reversible vests are another item displayed in clothing stores here.

The range of men's gifts includes luggage, shaving kits, electric razors, jewelry and cosmetics, pipes, gloves, manicure sets, hats and belts, shirts, ties, shoe-shine kits, golf accessories and other items.

Pipes are being offered not only in the various wood grains but covered with alligator, suede or cowhide as well. Several types of electric shoe-shine kits are out again and may prove a popular gift item, local clothiers say.

Trench coats with zip-in linings may answer some gift problems this year.

DEDICATED GROUP

Young Singers Share Music

While other grade school boys are going skating, making snowmen, and dreaming dreams of the most gorgeous Christmas ever, a dedicated group of young singers is working overtime to share the glory of Christmas music with others.

These are boys who attend the St. Thomas Choir School in New York City, and who are busier than ever during the holiday season.

But though their main responsibility is to prepare for the Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services at the church on Fifth Avenue, they manage time for their own holiday too.

A week before Christmas an evening celebration is held at the school. Dickens' Christmas Carol is read, the lights of the tree flash on, the traditional creche is re-dedicated, and the whole group joins in carol singing, followed by eggnog.

The day before Christmas finds them having their regular academic classes till noon, then singing for members of the staff after lunch. At 4 o'clock they move to the church for manager service, singing under the direction of the master of the choir, William Self.

By 5:30 p.m., they're back at school for an exchange of gifts, followed by their Christmas dinner.

Since they'll be out late singing at the church's Christmas Eve service, they go to bed directly after dinner, to be wakened at 10:30 p.m. for a cup of tea before going to the church.

At the same time they bring down their stockings, and put them on their dining room chairs, to be filled by the faculty as soon as the boys leave for church. Bedtime is Christmas morning, at 1:30 a.m.

Christmas Day they're called at 8 a.m., line up outside their dormitory rooms, to march to the dining room singing "Adeste Fideles." Then the stockings are opened.

Their final ritual of the Christmas season is to sing at the Christmas Day 11 o'clock service.

"You should see them when they leave the school," says the headmaster, Robert H. Porter. "They're struggling with their suitcases and their gifts, because they go home immediately after the service."

And somewhere amidst the rigors of rehearsing and performing, the 47 boys find time to go through the corridors of St. Luke's Hospital singing carols.

Modern Cake

LARNED, Kan. (AP) — Fellow workers modernized a birthday cake presented to City Manager Wayne Baxter on his 60th birthday.

Instead of the traditional 60 candles the cake was decorated with a 60-watt electric light bulb.

Testing Theory

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — When Danny Gibson, 9, spotted a hole in a tree, he stuck his hand inside.

"I thought there might be a squirrel in there," he told police later. He was right.

The youngster was treated for bites on his hand.

Pick A Gift Book Selection

By MILES A. SMITH
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you like to give and receive the blessings of Saint Nicholas in the world of the printed and illustrated page?

This season there is a wealth of Gift Books.

Could you find a pencil and a scratch pad? You can make a Christmas list for relatives and friends. You might even circle a few items that catch your own fancy—and leave it where your own family can take a hint.

Publishers have strained themselves this fall to give all of us some pretty fancy experiences in reading and looking.

It would take more yards of type than we have here to note every book that is being issued for our delectation, but here are the main highlights:

—THE FIELD OF ART—

In the field of art a good many new books deal with individual artists.

The Abrams list includes Caravaggio by Giuseppe de Logu, Marino Marini by Franco Russoli, Pisnello by Enio Sindona, Picasso by Hans C. L. Jaffe, Poussin by Walter Friedlander and Soutine by Jean Leymarie. Other publishers are bringing out Turner, by Sir John Rothenstein and Martin Butlin (Braziller), Edvard Munch by Johan H. Langaard and Reidar Revold (McGraw), Lautrec by Lautrec, by Philippe Huisman and Mme. M. G. Dortu (Viking) and a photographic study called Picasso (Doubleday). McGraw also is bringing out a collection from Yugoslavia called The Unknown Degas and Renoir.

One of the most elaborate publications on a single artist is being published by Reynal at a seasonal price of $100—Goya, by Francisco Javier Sanches Canton of the Prado, with 114 reproductions in color.

Among the new books on sculpture are Renaissance Sculpture, edited by Harald Busch and Bernd Lohse (Macmillan), Tomb Sculpture by Erwin Panofsky (Abrams) and the Golden Age of Spanish Sculpture by Manual Gomez Moreno (N.Y. Graphic).

Many new titles deal with specific schools or periods. New York Graphic's list includes Art Treasures of the Medici by Antonio Morassi, Gold and Silver Treasures of Ancient Italy by Carlo Carducci, Roman Art by George M. A. Hanfmann and Indian Art in Middle America by Frederick J. Dockstader.

Other items in this category include Australian Aboriginal Art, edited by R. M. Berndt (Macmillan), Mannerism by Jacques Bousquet (Braziller), The Birth of Greek Art by Pierre Demargne (Golden Press), The Larousse Encyclopedia of Renaissance Art, edited by Rene Huyghe (Putnam), Craftsmanship and Design in Japan by Donald Ritchie (Abrams) and Early Italian Painting by Ferdinando Bologna (Van Nostrand).

Praeger is re-issuing two volumes by Helmuth Th. Bossert, Folk Art of Europe and Folk Art of Asia, Africa and the Americas.

For those interested in graphics there are such items as The World's Great Figure Drawings, collected by J. Harrison Roswell (Atlantis - Taplinger) and 100 European Drawings in the Metropolitan Museum of Art by Jacob Bean (N.Y. Graphic).

On the museum front, there are such items as Great Paintings from the Pushkin Museum, Moscow, by K. M. Malitskaya (Abrams) and Art Treasures from the Egyptian Museum, Cairo, by Peter P. Riestere (Rand McNally).

—ARCHITECTURE—

In architecture, there are such items as The Great Ages of Architecture by Dr. Bodo Cichy (Putnam), Key Monuments in the History of Architecture by Alfred Frazer (Abrams), You and Architecture by Alfred Browning Parker (Delacorte), The Best in Twentieth Century Architecture, edited by Georges and Rosamamond Bernier (Reynal) and The New Churches of Europe by G. E. Kidder Smith (Holt, Rinehart).

—DECORATIVE ARTS—

The decorative arts are represented by a wide selection, including America's Small Houses by Henry Lionel Williams and Ottalie K. Williams (Barnes), The Finest Rooms by America's Great Decorators, edited by Katherine Tweed (Viking), An Illustrated History of Furnishing by Mario Praz (Braziller) and French Royal Furniture by Pierre Verlet Crown. Among the books for collectors is the Encyclopedia of British Pottery and Porcelain Marks by Geoffrey Godden (Crown).

And then there is Dorothy (Mrs. Richard) Rodgers' My Favorite Things (Atheneum), a personal book about interiors and entertaining.

—MUSIC—

There are several reference books among the new volumes in the field of music. Fall Color Inside

Rivaling the blazing hues of autumn, mums will last indoors for weeks if treated well. Kept out of direct sunlight except in the early morning and afternoon, mums also prefer an evenly moist soil. This is best maintained by keeping the plants in clay pots which will leach out excess water through the sides.

Expansion Of War In Viet Improbable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Qualified administration officials would like to see a brake put on speculation that a drastic shift in U.S. policy to greatly expand the war in South Viet Nam is likely to stem from the current review under way here.

This policy review, rather, is likely to rule out any massive air or sea assault against Hanoi, the capital of North Viet Nam, or against North Vietnamese military concentrations — actions that could be expected to evoke a Communist Chinese response, informed sources said.

CAUTIONARY NOTE

Officials are sounding this cautionary note as Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, heads for Washington and consultations with President Johnson and his top advisers.

These officials stress privately that whatever decision the President reaches, it likely will be far less dramatic than current speculation may have led the public to expect.

State Department officials said they read and approved in advance Taylor's views on the South Viet Nam war that appear currently in Life magazine. And, these officials declared, Taylor has not flatly advocated extending the war to North Viet Nam.

Taylor is regarded here as saying there are both pros and cons that must be considered before U.S. aircraft could be ordered to hit Communist supply lines in Laos and guerrilla training areas in North Viet Nam.

It was pointed out that Taylor cautioned that military action outside of Viet Nam would not solve the situation any more than bare military action within South Viet Nam would if it were unaccompanied by other measures.

DURING CAMPAIGN

Officials noted that during the presidential election campaign, Johnson said it would serve little purpose to extend the war into North Viet Nam if South Viet Nam lacked an effective government.

The unstable conditions that have hampered South Viet Nam's efforts to carry on the struggle against the Communists were vividly in evidence as Taylor left Saigon, en route to Washington.

For the fourth day students rioted through the city, shouting denunciations of Premier Tran Van Huong and his month-old civilian government. The country's Buddhist hierarchy issued a declaration of opposition to the embattled regime.

'Silent' Papers Speak Again

DETROIT (AP) — The Free Press and the News returned to the streets, homes and offices of Detroit Wednesday.

Both papers carried front-page editorials on the strike. Both made strong attempts to catch the readers up with the highlights in the news since July 13.

The News' editorial said "for the first time in 134 days Detroit this morning got the services of its two major newspapers ending a shutdown that topped by five days the Cleveland strike of 1962-63 and set a new record for metropolitan newspaper blackouts.

"It is a record we could have done without."

The Free Press said "the longest strike shutdown of metropolitan daily newspapers in the nation's history is now ended. After 134 days of enforced silence, we speak again."

With that comment, the Free Press announced that it was publishing again for the first time since July 13. That was the day the morning Free Press and afternoon News were struck.

The Free Press was back on sale Tuesday night. The News hit the streets this morning.

The first Free Press run hit the street not long after a new contract was signed by it and the News and Local 13 of the International Printing Pressmen.

The Pressmen and Plate and Paperhandlers Local 10 struck the two newspapers in a dispute over new contracts. The paperhandlers were the first to settle. It was not until last Saturday that terms of a new contract were agreed on by the pressmen.

Newsstand worker Floyd Karmanoski, 56, said that in less than two hours he sold 150 papers in comparison to the 65 or 70 he used to sell during the same period before the strike.

Principal From Plainview Killed

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — William G. Akin, 62, principal of Hale Center Elementary School, was killed Wednesday when his small foreign car overturned four miles south of here on U.S. 87.

Akin, who lived in Plainview, was en route to Hale Center for classes which would have dismissed early for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Military 'Retreat' Cost Draws Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) The government spent more than a million dollars in one year to operate a mountain recreation retreat for military personnel and their dependents stationed in Hawaii.

Transportation was provided by plane or converted Navy landing ship from the Honolulu area to Hilo.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, in a report to Congress today criticizing the cost, said this included more than $850,000 above receipts of $250,000 from daily fees charged guests and from revenue-producing activities in the 1963 fiscal year.

CAMPBELL

He suggested that the Defense Department take steps to place the recreation center on a completely self-supporting financial basis or else shut it.

The object of the investigation was the Kilauea military camp, located on the slopes of the Mauna Loa volcano within boundaries of the national park on the island of Hawaii. It was established in 1916.

"A need for such a costly recreation facility in Hawaii is questionable in view of the numerous other recreational facilities that are available," Campbell's report said.

He said that during the year at issue only about eight per cent of the 120,000 military personnel and dependents in Hawaii visited the camp.

The fees charged military personnel were $2.25 to $4 a day. But Campbell said the cost to the government was about $27 a day.

For the fee, military personnel were entitled to lodging, three meals a day, scheduled tours of the island and use of most of the recreation facilities at the camp.

Retardation 'Cause' Cited

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) —A Johns Hopkins pediatrician said today that a significant cause of mental retardation in infants is excessive intake of vitamin D by certain pregnant mothers.

Dr. Robert E. Cooke, director of the Department of Pediatrics at Johns Hopkins, said there should be a review by pregnant women with their doctors of the amounts of vitamin D they consume.

He emphasized at a news conference that not all mothers are sensitive to vitamin D. But he said that excessive intake of it by those who are is "a significant cause of retardation of the more severe forms and certainly one of the most common preventible causes."

Vitamin D is found in homogenized milk, cereals, most breads, and margarine. Sunlight also is a source.

Dr. Cooke said it is not yet clear how the vitamin D is passed from the mother to the child, nor has it been established what percentage of women are sensitive to it.

He said about 400 units of vitamin D daily sufficed for the average growing child, exclusive of sunlight.

Texas Threats On JFK Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service investigated 34 Texas-based threats against President John F. Kennedy in the two years before his assassination in Dallas, Warren Commission testimony revealed.

Among them:

— An informant's claim that a man had told a bridge party he would donate $1,000 toward the assassination of the president.

— An alleged statement by an auxiliary deputy sheriff in Houston that Kennedy should be "gotten rid of."

A BREAKDOWN

A summary by the protective research section of the Secret Service was included in commission testimony released this week. It said that of the 34 cases investigated in Texas, 5 were considered dangerous, 25 not dangerous and 41 were closed or not solved prior to Kennedy's ill-fated visit. In none of the cases were names given.

In the two years, the summary added, "there were 115 Texas cases in which the subjects were not judged to present a current hazard serious enough to warrant investigation."

The summary said that in the same period 1,372 threat cases were investigated across the nation. Only the Texas cases were cited in detail.

Before Kennedy's trip a check of records was made to locate potentially dangerous persons along his travel route. A memorandum dated Dec. 3, 1963, 11 days after the assassination, said that none was found in the Dallas area but that two in the Houston area were called to the attention of the Houston office.

The name of Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's assassin, was not in the section's files, the memorandum added.

HOUSTON CASE

In one Houston case several associates said they had heard the subject sharply criticize Kennedy's policies, but had not heard him threaten the president. Nevertheless, action was taken to ensure that, as an auxiliary sheriff, he would have nothing to do with protecting Kennedy when he visited Houston Nov. 21.

The other Houston case involved a woman with a record of writing obscene and threatening letters to presidents since 1947.

Board Eyes Appeal On Brine Ruling

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Pollution Control Board's attorney said Wednesday he will give notice next week of appeal from an Austin judge's ruling that the board lacks authority to regulate disposal of oil field brine and wastes.

Elbert Hooper of Austin, the board's counsel, said the final decision on whether to appeal from Dist. Judge Herman Jones' verdict will be made by the board at its regular meeting Dec. 3.

Jones ruled Nov. 20 that authority over oil field waste disposal belongs exclusively to the Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates the oil industry in the state.

The decision nullified the board's power to carry out one of its major projects, control of seepage from unlined salt water disposal pits into the vast Ogallala formation of Northwest Texas. Orders already were in effect prohibiting such disposal in several of the 48 counties overlying the water-rich formation, with hearings planned on other counties.

Jones ruled that control over waste disposal gave the board indirect power over oil production.

Angelo Teacher Wins State Title

K. C. Van Orden, mathematics coordinator of San Angelo School District, has been named Texas teacher of the year, according to word received by Van Orden from the Texas Education Agency Thursday.

He will be in competition for the national title. Winner of the national title will be announced in January, according to Dr. Waurine Walker, assistant director of the Teacher Education and Certification division of TEA.

His definition of a teacher includes not only teaching subject matter but also to help the student be a thinker and a loyal citizen with keen interest in music, literature, drama, art and sports.

District Seeks New Well Sites

Drilling of about a dozen and a half test holes has been completed on the J. C. Sale Ranch in north-central Martin County as prelude to possible water well development.

Information revealed from the tests will help in the selection of acreage under which the Colorado River Municipal Water District will acquire water rights.

The tract is immediately north of the district's well field and may help supply additional water for summer peak loads. The district is particularly anxious to experiment with recharging the dewatered zones of the aquifier with water from Lake J. B. Thomas. This was done successfully in its well field near the pump station last year, and currently, the district is putting a million and a third gallons per day of surface water into the well field.

PRINCE OF ROYAL BLOOD
One of fine Hereford bulls to be sold Saturday at auction sale

Big Crowd Due Saturday For Annual Hereford Sale

Hereford breeders from a wide area are expected here Saturday for the 21st Annual Howard County - South Plains Hereford Association sale. The reason for the anticipated interest is the high rating Herefords from ranches in this area have achieved in other sales in recent weeks.

Some of the highest prices paid this fall for Hereford bulls have been for animals from local Hereford ranches.

The 21st annual sale of the local association is earlier this year than in other years. The members changed the date to escape the probability of bad weather. In the past the sale has been held in mid-December.

This year's event actually gets under way Friday night with the annual banquet and election of officers in the Settles Hotel dining room. A banquet for association members, their wives and invited guests will be served at 7 p.m. The speaker is to be Joe M. Evans, widely known author and after-dinner speaker, whose home is in El Paso.

"The chief item on the menu," said Loy Acuff, president, "will be choice Hereford steaks."

Election officers will be at the business session which follows the dinner.

At the sale and show Saturday, activities get under way at 9 a.m. Judging of the 54 pure bred bulls and seven cows will be the first item on the program. James Grote is to be judge. Trophies will be awarded the champions and reserve champions.

Trophies are offered by Texas Electric Service Co. for the champion bull; state National Bank for the reserve champion bull; Elmo Wasson for the champion female; Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach for the reserve champion female; First National Bank offers the revolving bull trophy; Kimbell Grain Co., pen of three bulls championship trophies; and Dr. Akin Simpson, the cup for the reserve champion pen of three bulls.

The sale proper gets in action at 1 p.m. with Walter Britten auctioneer. The general public is invited to attend the show and sale at the Howard County Fairgrounds barns.

Lubbock Men Charged In Stewart Burglary

Two Lubbock men are being held by Midland Police today after charges were filed here against the pair in connection with burglary of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Stewart, 504 Washington Place, shortly after noon Wednesday.

Charges of burglary Wednesday afternoon were filed in the Justice of the Peace Court of Jess Slaughter against Emmett Ray Livingston, 19, and Jewel David Townsend, 25. Detective Wayne Tollett obtained statements from both men in Midland early this morning concerning the burglary.

Mrs. Stewart had called police just before 1 p.m. Wednesday and reported two Negro men had just ran from her residence and that the home had been burglarized. She told officers she had returned to the house and saw a car parked in the carport with the motor running and a man standing near it, with another man coming from the rear yard. Mrs. Stewart said she stopped her car in the drive and started honking the horn to attract attention. Both men, she said, ran through the back yard and jumped the rear fence.

The car parked in the drive, according to police, had been stolen earlier Wednesday in Lubbock.

Shortly before 4 p.m. Wednesday, the Midland Police Department notified officers here of the arrests of Townsend and Livingston, in a 1953 sedan reported stolen from 1105 Owens Street here sometime after noon Wednesday. Midland police reported the two men had in their possession coins matching the description of those reported taken from the Stewart residence.

Reported taken in the burglary were a collection of six or eight coins, several silver and half-dollars, three men's watches, a women's watch and some clothing, according to police.,

Arrangements had not been completed this morning for the transfer of the two men to Big Spring, according to Assistant Police Chief Leo Hull, pending completion of investigation by Midland police.

U. S. Sectors Cold, Stormy

By The Associated Press

Cold and stormy weather, with snow, rain and strong winds, was the unsavory Thanksgiving climatic fare across wide sections of the nation today.

Arctic air spread from the northern Plains into the Upper Great Lakes region and the central Plains. Temperatures dropped to below zero in northern North Dakota and northeastern Montana, dipping to 12 below at Havre, Mont.

WARNINGS POSTED

Cold - wave warnings were posted for much of the northern Plains and parts of the northern Rockies, including northern and central Wyoming, northern Minnesota, northwestern Iowa, much of Nebraska and northwestern Missouri.

Snow and stiff northerly winds hit the cold belt. More than seven inches of snow fell in Sheridan, Wyo. One snow belt extended from Lake Superior to southern South Dakota and northern Nebraska. Snow or rain fell in Idaho and eastern parts of Washington and Oregon and more rain splashed areas in the central northern Pacific Coast region.

SETS OFF RAIN

A weather disturbance in Pennsylvania set off rain from the central Appalachians and the Upper Ohio Valley to southern New England. Heavy rain doused scattered sections in the central and parts of the northern Atlantic states. Nearly one inch of rain fell in New York City this morning in a two-hour period. The wet belt had moved northward after heavy rains in the South, including more than five inches in the Carolinas.

Generally fair weather prevailed in most of the southern third of the nation from the South Atlantic states to Southern California. In contrast to the below-zero temperatures in the northern Plains, the mercury was 78 at Key West, Fla.

Coin Club Meets

COAHOMA (SC) — The Cosan Coin Club met Monday in the Village Restaurant with 14 members present and four guests. Mrs. Clovis Phinney Sr. won the first door prize, an 1853 large cent. Andy Way won the second door prize, a set of reprocessed war time pennies.

An Early Meal

Twenty-four prisoners in the Howard County jail had a slightly earlier-than-usual dinner Thursday. The meal was not the usual fare for the jail, either. It featured turkey with all the traditional accessories. The reason for the earlier meal was that Thanksgiving Day and visitors day at the jail fell on the same date. Visiting is permitted from 2 to 4 p.m. on Thursdays. The earlier meal was to clear the way for the handling of visitors.

Weather Forecast

Rain showers are expected Thursday over portions of the Pacific Northwest while snow is likely from the northern and central Rockies eastward into the northern Plains and Lakes region. Snow will also extend from the Ohio Valley into New England. Colder temperatures will dominate the upper Mississippi Valley eastward into the North Atlantic states. The map shows the weather forecast into Friday. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Soviets Push Protest On Congo Rescue

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, spearheading protests from the Communist world against the Belgian-U.S. operation in the Congo that liberated white hostages in Stanleyville and Paulis, has demanded an immediate cessation of the operation and withdrawal of all foreign mercenaries.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, called today's landing in Paulis, north of Stanleyville, a "new act of aggression against the Congolese people."

The Soviets said the Congo operation was "a new gross act of armed intervention in the internal affairs of the Congo" and that it was carried out "to suppress the national liberation movement."

AFRICANS COMPLAIN

Protests also were heard from various African nations.

Soviet foreign ministry statements rejected Wednesday's Western explanation that the Stanleyville airdrop was made on humanitarian grounds to protect hostages held by the Communist-backed rebel regime. The Soviet statements, rejected by the U.S. Embassy, were handed to diplomats of the United States, Belgium and Britain.

In Sofia, Bulgaria, about 400 African and Communist Chinese students smashed windows at the U.S. Legation.

The U.S. protested and Foreign Minister Ivan Bashev said the Bulgarians would assume responsibility.

Arctic Air Enters State

By The Associated Press

Thanksgiving Day brought a wintry chill to the Texas Panhandle, and near cold wave conditions were predicted tonight.

Cold Arctic air surged into the Panhandle-Plains area, and temperatures dipped to the upper 20s.

Gusty north winds fanned the Panhandle, and a low overcast spread southward into the High Plains area.

Skies were cloudy from the middle Gulf coast inland to Austin and San Antonio, and low clouds developed over Northeast Texas.

Ahead of the front temperatures stayed comparatively mild.

Draft Board Personnel Here Given Scrolls For Service

Two members of Local Board No. 71 of the Selective Service System of Texas, have rounded out 10 years of service on the board and, Wednesday afternoon, were honored for their work.

Robert M. Dean, Big Spring claims adjustor, and Sie Hamm, Colorado City druggist, were each presented with elaborate scrolls citing them for their services. The citations were issued on the order of Lyndon B. Johnson, president of the United States, who signed each citation. Other signers were Governor John Connally and Col. Marcus Schwartz, state selective service director.

Col. Schwartz made the presentation in person, driving to Big Spring from Austin for the occasion. He complimented both men on their patriotism and patience, and said each had made a major contribution to the welfare of the country.

"I am most happy to come here this afternoon to hand you these citations, gentleman," he told Hamm and Dean," and I wanted to have the pleasure of personally thanking you for your good work."

Mrs. Louise Nuckolls, clerk of the board, who has 15 years service to her credit, was also remembered by the state director. She was presented with a sterling pin signifying her 15 years work with the board.

"No board, regardless of how willing it may be, can do its job well without competent clerical help," said Schwartz. "This board has certainly had that sort of help."

Martin L. Gibson, Stanton, the third member of the board and its chairman, has 11 years service to his credit. He was given a citation last year. He was not present for the ceremonies Wednesday afternoon.

True Facing A Busy Time

GEORGE TRUE

George True, new manager of the Montgomery Ward store in Big Spring, faces a busy time. He arrived here this week in time to help shape preparations for the Christmas shopping season, but once that is out of the way he will be confronted with plans for opening a huge, new store at Highland Shopping Center late in the summer.

Ward's has maintained a store here at the present location at Third and Gregg for over 35 years.

True was assigned here this week by A. G. Carmack, zone manager. A veteran of 18 years with Ward's, True is a native of Harwood, Mo., and was educated in Missouri and began his career with the company at Nevada, Mo. He went from there to Lexington and Marysville, Mo. Later he was associated with Ward's stores in Kansas City, Mo., and Independence, Kans. His next assignment was in Ponca City, Okla., before he was appointed to the Baton Rouge, La., store from whence he was selected to head the Big Spring outlet.

He is married, and he and his wife, Josephine, have a 20-year-old daughter, Beverly Jo, who is a student in Louisiana State University, and a 17-year-old son, Richard (Dicky) Keith, a student in Broadmoor High School in Baton Rouge. The family will move to Big Spring at the end of the first school semester in January.

The new manager is a member of the Christian Church, of the Elks Lodge, and a past member of the Metro Club. His hobbies are fishing, hunting and golf.

Y Board Looks To New Year

Activities looking toward the start of a new year were considered by the YMCA board of directors at its meeting Tuesday.

To submit names of new officers and directors, a nominating committee will be headed by Arnold Marshall and will include Frosty Robison, Ike Robb, Mrs. Jack Irons and Mrs. Pete Cook. James Tidwell currently is serving as the Y president.

Jack Little, membership chairman, said that planning is being started on the organization's membership drive, to be held in January. The sustaining membership division will be asked to raise $10,500, the active family membership division, $15,000.

Various committee reports showed activity continuing in physical education and youth activity.

Retardation Meet Slated

A tragedy that strikes once every five minutes will be the target of the first Texas Mental Retardation Planning Study Public Briefing on mental retardation to be held in Midland at 9 a.m. Dec. 5 at Sam Houston elementary building. Wendell Mayes Jr., Wade Whiteley of Midland, Dr. John L. Clark Jr. and Mrs. W. C. Noel of Odessa are in charge of this meeting.

The briefing is one of 17 similar sessions to be held in Texas population centers during a two-week period. They will be attended by parents of mentally retarded children, physicians, social workers, teachers, and others interested in preventing permanent brain damage and caring for those already afflicted.

From now until September, 1965, volunteers across Texas and state government experts in Austin will join forces to present a plan of attack on mental retardation. This plan will be presented to Governor John Connally at a meeting at the Capitol next September.

Texas now has 300,000 mentally retarded children and adults, and another 7,500 will be born during the next year.

Hearing Set On Rail Run

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission has scheduled a Jan. 14 hearing in San Angelo on a request by the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railway to discontinue passenger trains 77 and 78 between Brownwood and San Angelo.

In its application, the railroad says discontinuance Sept. 26 of railway post office service on the two trains resulted "in an estimated increase in the already substantial net annual out-of-pocket deficit on operations between Brownwood and San Angelo in excess of 75 per cent."

Orand Brings Lions Message

The Rev. Byron Orand, College Baptist pastor, warned against ingratitude and feelings of self-sufficiency as he addressed the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday at the Settles.

He drew his brief Thanksgiving message from the 12th chapter of Luke and the parable of the rich man who proposed to build more barns for his bounty, and then celebrate his good fortune.

"Rather than share to help, he wanted to keep it all," said Rev. Orand. "He felt self-sufficient, and this is a dangerous thing. He gave no thought of the consequence of his foolishness."

Wesley Deats, president, reminded Lions that the ladies night program has been set for the evening of Dec. 10 at the Cosden Country Club.

Lubbock Tough Opening Foe

Coach Allen Simpson scouted the Lubbock Westerners in their basketball game with Midland Lee recently and came away convinced that the Westerners will field the strongest team in District 3-AAAA, if not the entire Panhandle area.

Lubbock comes here Friday night to help Simpson's Big Spring Steers open their 1964-65 season.

The Westerners defeated Lee, one of the favorites in the 2-AAAA race, by a score of 70-67 in Midland last weekend.

The Rebels held a lead of nine points with 3½ minutes to play but David Wilburn and Gary Washington led a comeback that enabled Lubbock to pull ahead at 65-64 with 1:59 to go.

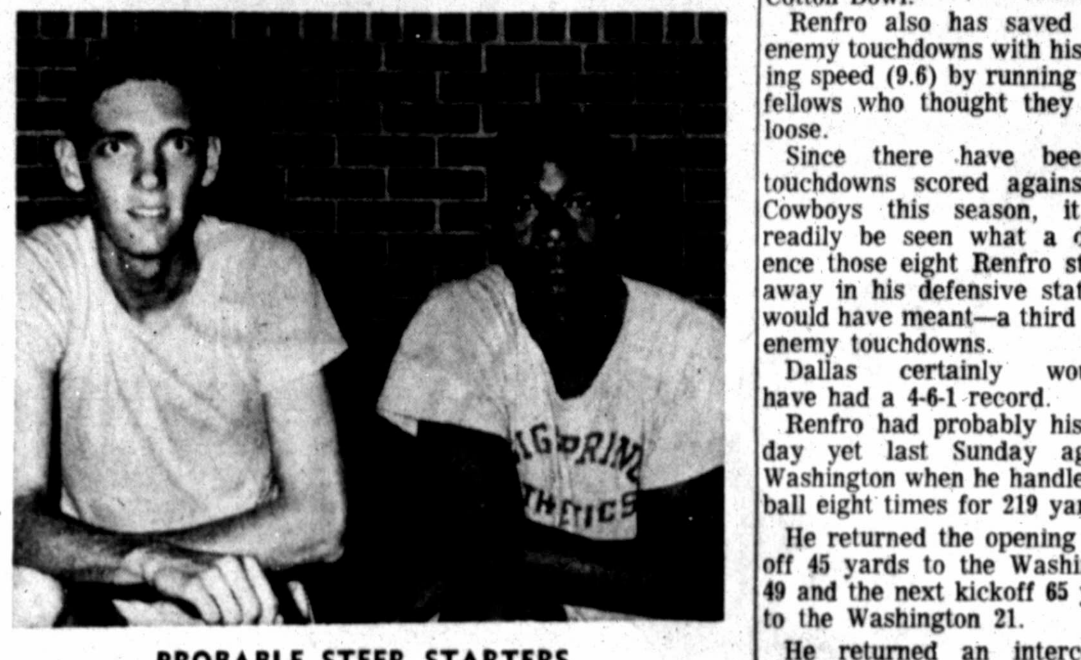

Washington, a 6-feet-5 ball hawk, wound up with 25 points in the game while Wilburn (6-3) scored 20.

Other starters for Lubbock will probably be Randy Westerburg, Doug Dunlap (6-4) and Dorian Clawson (5-10). Of that group, only Dunlap did not earn his numeral last season. Lubbock is coached by the veteran Max O'Banion, who guided the team to a 21-7 record last year.

The Westerners lost out by one point in a game that went overtime in a playoff for the 3-AAAA title with Plainview last year.

Simpson cut his squad this week. Must of his team will be built around football players, who have been out for practice less than a week and will understandably be rusty for a while.

Quite probably he'll make use of such boys as Simon Terrazas, 6-4; Joe Jaure, 6-0; Paul Thomas, 6-8; Butch Foster, 6-0; Don White, 5-11; Rickey Earle, 6-0; Terry Fields, 6-0; Van Tom Whatley, 5-11; Cliff Creighton, 6-0; Paul Soldan, 6-2; Russ Kimble, 6-2, and others.

Cowboys Reap Big Dividend From Renfro

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys haven't done too well this season but imagine what would have happened to them had they not had Mel Renfro.

Renfro, the rookie from Oregon, has run back 21 punts and 27 kickoffs a total of 999 yards and returned five intercepted passes 104 yards.

He lacks on 217 yards of three-quarters of a mile and he might get that Sunday when he rolls against Green Bay in the Cotton Bowl.

Renfro also has saved eight enemy touchdowns with his blazing speed (9.6) by running down fellows who thought they were loose.

Since there have been 23 touchdowns scored against the Cowboys this season, it can readily be seen what a difference those eight Renfro stowed away in his defensive statistics would have meant—a third more enemy touchdowns.

Dallas certainly wouldn't have had a 4-6-1 record.

Renfro had probably his best day yet last Sunday against Washington when he handled the ball eight times for 219 yards.

He returned the opening kickoff 45 yards to the Washington 49 and the next kickoff 65 yards to the Washington 21.

He returned an intercepted pass nine yards to the Washington 27 to set up a field goal and he returned a punt 23 yards to the Washington 22 to set up another.

He took a punt back 19 yards to the Dallas 49, returned a kickoff 30 yards to the Dallas 46 and returned another kickoff 28 yards to the Dallas 41.

His tackles on runners who seem to have it made are as sensational as his punt and kickoff returns. He puts just as much flourish into them.

Dick Nolan, the Dallas backfield coach, calls him "electrifying, fantastic."

The crowd goes along with such terms. Every time he has the ball the fans stand up so they can get a better look at his foot action and sidestepping and hip-shifting—they want to be able to give all the details when they describe what always looks like a touchdown run.

The 22-year-old, 193-pound Renfro was a football and track star at Oregon. He ran the hurdles in 13.8, broad jumped 25-11¼, sparked a 440-yard relay team to 39.9 and ran all over the gridiron when the sport had turned to football.

The question being asked in every quarter is why he isn't a flanker or running back so he can take the field position he has given the team with his punt and kickoff returns to touchdowns.

Coach Tom Landry just comments that he's too valuable where he is—and besides there might not be anybody to run the punts and kickoffs back like he does to furnish the field position.

Renfro says he would like to be a flanker and has high hopes of getting the job next year. Landry indicates he might do just that, too.

Loftin, Kirkland Lead In Figures

Midland Lee's Chuck Loftin emerged as the leading ground gainer in District 2-AAAA league play the past season while Benny Kirkland of Big Spring was the top passer.

Loftin gained a net of 551 yards in 108 carries for a 5.1-yard average. He beat out Ross Montgomery, Midland, by eight yards. Montgomery carried 114 times. His per carry average was 4.7.

Kirkland easily won passing laurels with 63 completions in 139 attempts for gains totaling 609 yards and five TD's. No other passer was close to him. He had seven aerials picked off by the opposition.

The leading receiver was Mack Lawrence, Midland High, who had 22 completions for 205 yards. None went for a touchdown, however.

Second was Rickey Earle, Big Spring, who caught 19 for 232 yards. Although he didn't catch an aerial last week against Big Spring, Julio Guerrero of San Angelo caught a total of 11 that went for the most yards—289.

Guerrero slumped as a ball carrier. The one-time leader wound up fourth, with 510 yards gained in 74 lunges for a 6.9 average.

Montgomery was the leading punter, with an average of 38.2 in 23 attempts.

Guerrero emerged as the leading scorer, with a total of 44 points, only two more than Johnny Hughes, Big Spring, and Lee's Bucky Kimble, who tied for second place.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL INDEX

EXPLANATION — The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin relative to index of opposition, and is weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: A 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of equal strength. It was originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Grid Plot Thickens In Playoff Battles

By The Associated Press

Four undefeated schoolboy football powers were scheduled to clash head-on this afternoon in two feature contests as the playoff plot thickened.

Favored Dumas was to take on Andrews in Class AAA at Lubbock and Class AA Iowa Park and Denver City got set to battle it out at Snyder. Both games were set for 2 p.m.

In all, 32 high school games are on tap this week, with all but the two mentioned above coming on Friday and Saturday.

Classes AAAA and AAA are at the bi-district stage, while Classes AA and A slugged it out on the bi-district level last week and now go into the second round of the playoffs.

The favorites at this point for each class are Amarillo Tascosa, Dumas, Dublin and Hull-Daisetta, in descending order.

Garland, defending Class AAAA champion, takes on thrice beaten Texarkana Friday night. Tascosa squares off against Fort Worth Castleberry Saturday afternoon.

The only remaining unbeaten, untied Class AAAA teams are Tascosa, Dallas Hillcrest and Galena Park. All should win this week.

This week's agenda:

Class AAAA—Friday: Dallas Hillcrest vs. Fort Worth Paschal; Garland vs. Texarkana; Houston Jones vs. Spring Branch; Nederland vs. Galena Park; Waco Richfield vs. McAllen; and San Antonio Highlands vs. San Antonio Burbank. Saturday: Odessa vs. Ysleta and Amarillo Tascosa vs. Fort Worth Castleberry.

Class AAA—Thursday: Dumas vs. Andrews. Friday: Weatherford vs. Bonham; Palestine vs. Athens; Lamar Consolidated vs. Deer Park; and Austin Lanier vs. San Marcos. Saturday: Sweetwater vs. Wichita Falls Hirschi; Vidor vs. Cypress-Fairbanks; and Kerrville vs. Pharr-San Juan-Alamo.

Class AA—Thursday: Iowa Park vs. Denver City. Friday: Nocona vs. Marlin; Taylor vs. Katy; Port Acres vs. Humble; Palacios vs. Devine; and Bishop vs. Los Fresnos. Saturday: Stamford vs. Dublin; and Atlanta vs. Canton.

FRANK RYAN, quarterback for the Cleveland Browns of the NFL:

"Seventy-five per cent of winning depends on your mental attitude going into a game. In pro football, locker room lectures are a thing of the past. A smart coach works on individuals in a subtle manner. Paul Brown tried to get a team up by needling certain players. But I couldn't judge the value of that technique because the only year I played under him, this was a disgruntled, unhappy team. In our league, the players are so equal physically the difference on any given Sunday is the mental attitude. When I'm in the right frame of mind it seems so easy to pass. And then there are days when it seems like I'm throwing a shotput. How do I develop the right mental approach? I sit down and visualize the circumstances I'll be facing in the game. Against the Cardinals I know I'll be facing a fierce rush. They blitz a lot. I set my mind to anticipate it mentally. That's the easy part. The other part—to key you up for that little extra—that's the mysterious thing. Sometimes it starts building up in practice. The squad can be dead and all of a sudden you get fired up. With me it's sort of triggered off when the whole team gets together for our Saturday night meal. Then the psychological buildup starts approaching a crescendo."

FRANK BROYES, Arkansas coach:

"Give the new substitution credit for the resurgence of the Razorbacks this year. If it weren't for that, we wouldn't be in a bit better shape than last year."

Alabama Takes Final Warmup For Bowl Go

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama warms up for the Orange Bowl and makes a final bid for the national championship today in its traditional battle with Auburn.

The Crimson Tide, ranked second and unbeaten in nine games, can gain the No. 1 spot among the country's major college football teams by beating Auburn, then waiting for Southern California to defeat top-ranked Notre Dame Saturday.

Alabama, of course, has no control over the second task so the Southeastern Conference champion will have to concentrate on its Thanksgiving assignment.

The Orange Bowl committee hasn't officially named Alabama as the opponent for Texas, but win or lose the Tide will announce acceptance of the Miami invitation following today's contest.

Texas also warms up for the Jan. 1 date, playing Texas A&M, while another bowl-bound team, Tulsa, winds up its regular season with Wichita.

Until late Wednesday night, Auburn believed an upset over Alabama could earn it a Gator Bowl invitation. Then, Oklahoma announced it had accepted a bid to play Florida State in the Jan. 2 game. The invitation does not hinge on the outcome of Saturday's game with Oklahoma State.

Only one other bowl possibility appears to be open to Auburn — if it wins. That would be the second spot in the Sun Bowl. Texas Tech was named as one of the teams Wednesday.

The Liberty Bowl match was completed with the acceptance of Utah, co-champion of the Western Athletic Conference. Utah's opponent will be West Virginia, which won the Southern Conference crown.

Texas tries for its ninth triumph in 10 starts against lowly A & M, 1-8. The fifth-ranked Longhorns have lost only to Arkansas, which won the Southwest Conference title and is headed for the Cotton Bowl.

Other Thanksgiving games pit William and Mary against Richmond and Virginia Tech against Virginia Military.

In other bowl activity, the Pacific Athletic Conference said it would select a representative for the Rose Bowl immediately after the Notre Dame-Southern Cal game. The Trojans are in the Rose running against Oregon State, which already has finished its season.

Guerrero Is 2-4A Leader

Julio Guerrero, San Angelo, captured scoring honors in District 2-AAAA for the entire football campaign (ten games) with a total of 56 points, although he was blanked by Big Spring last week.

Guerrero beat out Johnny Hughes, Big Spring; and Abilene's Jacky Yarbrough by six points while Jim Rich, San Angelo, was fourth in the derby with a total of 48 points.

Georgia Likely Sun Bowl Team

LUBBOCK (AP)—Texas Tech has signed to play in the Sun Bowl Dec. 26 and awaits an opponent.

Indications are that it will be Georgia but if so it cannot be announced until Saturday when Georgia plays its final game of the season against Georgia Tech. Georgia has a 5-3-1 record. Tech is 6-3-1.

Tech accepted the invitation Tuesday and will be playing in its first bowl game as a member of the Southwest Conference. It has been in nine bowl games since 1938. It became a member of the conference in 1956 and started playing for the football championship in 1960.

Jayhawks Launch Play In Kansas

Howard County Junior College has drawn Eastern Arizona of Thatcher, Arizona, as a first round opponent in the eight-team tournament getting under way today in Garden City, Kansas.

Some of the best talent in junior college ranks is playing in the meet, which will extend through Saturday night.

The Hawks are assured of playing three games, regardless of how they fare.

The locals who lost their opening game to Ranger Junior College by a score of 79-72, play one game next week, meeting H-SU's Buttons here Friday night.

HCJC and Eastern Arizona's game is down for 2 p.m. today. If the Hawks win, they play again at 7 p.m. Friday. If they lose, they are booked to see action again at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Other pairings:

Northeastern Okla., vs. Cameron, Okla., 3:45 p.m.; Dodge City, Kansas, vs. Hannibal-LaGrange, Mo., 7 p.m.; Centralia, Ill., vs. Garden City, Kansas, 8:45 p.m.

The Hawks play the winner of the loser or the Dodge City-Hannibal-LaGrange game Friday, whichever the case might be.

Dodge City is the defending national titlist and has four starters back from last season. Hannibal-LaGrange is a perennial power in junior college ranks.

The game to determine seventh and eighth places will be unreeled at 2 p.m. Saturday. The contest to determine the fourth and sixth place clubs will be played at 3:45 p.m. Saturday.

The third place engagement is booked for 7 p.m. Saturday while the title contest goes on at 8:45 p.m.

The Hawks are also entered in tournaments at Odessa (Dec. 10-12) and Lawton, Oklahoma (Jan. 8-9) and will be a part of doubleheader on successive nights at Jacksonville, Texas (Jan. 1-2).

Decision Is Due

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Michigan's Western opponent in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1 will be chosen immediately after the Southern California-Notre Dame game Saturday.

Salvation Army Has Big Schedule

A lot of action will be going on around the Salvation Army Citadel between now and Christmas.

The first job will be mailing letters seeking contributions for "Christmas Cheer" for needy families. Captain Bill Thomas said the letters would be mailed Nov. 28. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, heads the Christmas Cheer Committee. Other members are Herbert Keaton, Mrs. H. N. Robinson, Lonnie Coker, and Winston Wrinkle.

The Red Kettles will be on the streets Dec. 5th, and members of Big Spring organizations will man them on certain days beginning Dec. 12. Members of the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local No. 826, will man all three downtown kettles Dec. 12.

Three organizations have not decided their intentions for manning the kettles. Those known are: Dec. 16, Kiwanis Club; Dec. 17, Optimist Club; Dec. 18, ABClub; Dec. 19, Evening Lion's Club; Dec. 21, Jaycees; Dec. 22, Rotary Club; and Dec. 23, Noon Lions Club. These men will man only the kettle in front of F. W. Woolworth store on Main Street.

The opening day for applications for Christmas baskets and toys will be Dec. 1. These will close out, except for spasmodic requests, on Dec. 11.

Capt. Thomas said the date had not been set for school student's contributions.

"Dec. 23 will be distribution day, when toys and food and clothing bags will be passed out," the captain said. "As far as we know now, the distribution center will be at the old McDonald Motor Co. building at East Third and Johnson Streets."

The Christmas programs for the Salvation Army Sunday School will include the party at 7 p.m. Dec. 20. The Guard and Sunbeam party will be held Dec. 1.

The letters going out Nov. 28 will contain requests for contributions to provide Christmas dinners, warm clothing, toys, trees, and visits to shut-ins.

"The Christmas effort of the Salvation Army is not included in the Howard County United Fund appeal which does provide for a large percentage of our regular operating budget," the letter from the Christmas Cheer Committee said. "Many unfortunate people would not be able to experience the simple joys that we too often take for granted if it were not for the 'red kettle and bell'."

Christmas To Begin Dec. 16 With Traditional Posada

For residents of Mexico—and Mexicans in the United States who continue their homeland customs—Christmas will begin Dec. 16. The traditional "posada" nine-day celebration is held in commemoration of Joseph and Mary's difficult journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem.

The Posadas (the word meaning lodging in Spanish) are now religious - social celebrations which generally include a pageant representing the journey. Their origin dates back to the day when Saint Ignatius Loyola conceived the idea of a "novena" " . . . as a reminiscence of Joseph and Mary's journey to Bethlehem during the last month of Mary's pregnancy."

The first actual representation of the journey took place in Spain as a part of the religious function which Saint John of the Cross prepared for Christmas, 1580. It was not introduced in Mexico until seven years later. Since then, the Posadas have become a traditional and purely Mexican celebration.

The Posada is organized in the following manner:

A procession is formed after dark. First come the children, two of whom carry a litter, decorated with pine boughs in which appear clay figures of Mary, riding a donkey, followed by Joseph and the angels. The children are followed by boys and girls. Then come the adults and finally, the servants of the household and the musicians, who play the music which accompanies the litany sung during the procession.

Every member of the procession, carrying a thin lighted candle, sings the litany and at the end of it the group is divided, one to represent the Holy Pilgrims and the other the innkeeper.

The former sings asking for lodging, while the latter behind closed doors, tells them to continue on their way. Joseph and Mary then speak of how cold and dark the night is, and how strongly the wind blows. But the voice of the irate "innkeeper" is heard, threatening them with a beating if they persist on awakening the household. Finally, through the efforts of the first, the second group is convinced that Mary is the Queen of Heaven and that she is to be the Mother of the Savior. At this point the door is opened wide inviting them to enter in the midst of great rejoicing and joyful singing.

The Posadas are hardly ever a one family affair. Friends and relatives cooperate and they are held in different houses. In order to celebrate the complete novena, one family gives the first Posada and someone among the guests volunteers to give the next and so on.

Santa Is Now A Litterbug

Santa, that happy, rotund fellow who's the big star of the Christmas season, has now been cast in a new—and unpleasant — role.

He's turned into a litterbug.

It's not really his fault, but what with 20 per cent of the packages he brings going under the tree, there's bound to be potential litter with all those wrappings, ribbons, and other decoration.

The Keep America Beautiful people are disturbed by Santa's unsightly image. "He's likely to get a bad name if he doesn't get some help with the litter problem," says Allen H. Seed Jr., KAB's executive vice president.

"It's not just that Christmas litter makes an unsightly mess. Dwelling fires, of which litter is a major cause, during the three or four days spanning Christmas some years have killed 100 or more people. Fire damage tends to be extra heavy in the holiday season."

The rules for becoming a Santa's helper in the matter of litter are easy to follow, according to Seed:

1. Pack all re-usuable gift wrappings and store them in a safe out-of-the-way place.
2. Dispose of all other Christmas wrappings, cartons, ribbons and the like in the trash container for safe disposal.
3. Take down the Christmas tree when the needles start to drop and dispose of it where it won't become litter or a fire hazard. KAB has a Christmas slogan: "Don't turn Christmas glitter into New Year's litter." In Los Angeles the local anti-litter people have a present for Santa Claus. You guessed it. A broom!

Firemen Getting Toys Fixed Up

By PRESTON MAYNARD

For the 34th year in Big Spring, the city's firemen are spotting fresh coats of paint and replacing broken parts with new ones on hundreds of bicycles, tricycles and wagons, which on Christmas Day will be in the hands of youngsters in the city.

Hundreds of dolls will also don new looks as well as new dresses as the firemen carry out the annual toy campaign for underprivileged youngsters in Big Spring.

"It gets bigger every year," said Fire Chief H. V. Crocker, who can recall the first campaign in 1931.

The assortment of bikes, dolls and wagons has already begun to fill up corners of the city's six fire stations, as residents dig into attics or storage closets to contribute discarded toys.

The firemen will take apart most of the some 100 or more bikes turned in, putting on new parts or usable parts taken from other bikes as well as repainting them. A paint-striper is being used to give the bikes a recently-manufactured look.

Firemen began last week digging out parts which were stored away from last year's campaign. Some 15-20 gallons of paint will be used in the effort, along with $800-$1,000 in new parts.

Everything from wheels to new bearings will be put into the bikes and tricycles, with the firemen making the rubber wheels for smaller trikes and wagons.

More than 100 bikes are repaired, repainted and readied for gifts by the city's some 50 firemen each year, along with another 150 or more tricycles.

All city fire stations are participating in the campaign, with the north side station handling the repair of dolls. Classes at Big Spring High School, some individuals and clubs in the city are making doll dresses.

"Last year we put out some beautiful items," Crocker said. About $250 will be spent this year in paint alone.

The paint and new parts are purchased through the annual Cheer Fund, beginning in late November each year.

Chief Crocker, who can recall the first toy campaign in 1931, said most of the work takes place each year at the Central Station, although many residents turn in their toys or bikes to the other stations as well. This year the Salvation Army, which distributes all the items each year, already had an accumulation of bicycles and other items gathered during the year, which it turned over to the firemen for repair last week.

When the campaign first started, the firemen were also handling the distribution, but as the effort grew to its present proportions, Crocker said it was necessary for the Salvation Army to handle the distribution. The campaign itself started in 1931 when some burned toys were turned over to the fire department, Crocker pointed out.

Its been growing ever since, with the patio between the city hall and fire department's central station sometimes to overflowing with newly-painted and rebuilt bicycles.

Widow Of Most Notorious Killer Is Strong-Willed Girl

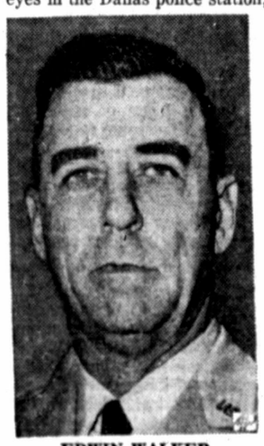

WASHINGTON (AP) — She was born in the Arkhangelskaya region of the Soviet Union on July 17, 1941, this strong-willed girl who never knew her father.

Somehow — more incredible bits in the incredible story of President John F. Kennedy's assassination — she got to Minsk, met and married Lee Harvey Oswald, came to America, and wound up being the widow of the most notorious murderer this country has produced since John Wilkes Booth.

The Warren Commission made its testimony on the crime public Monday.

Marina Oswald was its first witness, and no one else who appeared drew clearer pictures of this strange, obsessed man, so bent on retribution it seemed that he must shoot somebody, anybody.

She told how Lee Oswald kept two guns, how he liked to sit in the dark and fondle his rifle, how he hated his mother and wanted nothing to do with her, how he could break into tears, how for two months he planned to shoot Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, how she grappled with her husband in the bathroom when he said he was going out to kill Richard M. Nixon, and how finally, looking into his eyes in the Dallas police station, she knew at last he had done it and had killed the president himself.

EDWIN WALKER

Exactly why Marina Nikolaevna Prussakova fell for Lee Harvey Oswald is hard to understand, and it isn't made easier as it comes out, disconnected and translated from Russian.

TOOK TO HIM

She met Lee — his friends called him "Alec" because Lee is an unusual, cumbersome name in Russian — at a dance in the Palace of Trade Unions. She took to him at once.

"He didn't look like the others," she said. "You could see he was an American. He was very neat, very polite, not the way he was here, not as you know him here. And it seemed that he would be a good family man. And he was good."

And so they were married, on April 30, 1961, and 10½ months later their first baby, June Lee, was born.

But Lee Oswald, ever restless, was eager to move again. He managed to get himself and his family out of the Soviet Union — and thus began a steady downhill skid that was to culminate in Dallas, Tex.

Although Oswald used to cuff her around occasionally — she once tried to hide her black eye from his mother — Marina insisted he was always a good father. He loved his children, helped wash out their diapers and took pictures of them.

"If I would punish June," she said, "he would punish me."

The homecoming didn't help Oswald. Right off, he quarreled with his mother. Soon he was quarreling with his friends. Then he quarreled with Marina.

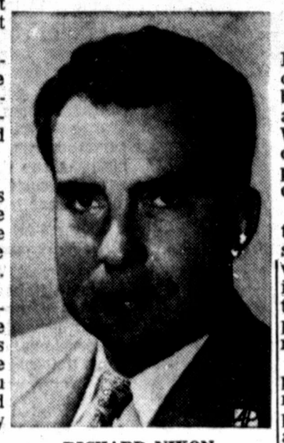

'He was very irritable," she said, "sometimes for a trifle, for a trifling reason."

Perhaps if Mrs. Oswald had a better command of English or had close friends in whom she could confide, history would not have had such a violent shock in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

HORRIBLE SIGNS

All the horrible signs of a complete crackup were there.

Take the case of Gen. Walker.

RICHARD NIXON

Oswald carefully planned this shooting for two months. He took pictures of Walker's home and on the night of April 10, 1963, he made the attempt. He fled without knowing whether he had hit Walker or not. He learned from the papers the next day he had missed.

"He was very sorry he had not hit him," said Mrs. Oswald.

As for Nixon, Mrs. Oswald said that after the Walker incident her husband promised to behave and when he said, "Nixon is coming," and picked up his pistol, she got him into the bathroom and began to cry.

"I remember that I held him," she said. "We actually struggled for several minutes and then he quieted down. I remember that I told him that if he goes out it would be better for him to kill me than to go out."

Oswald was no match for his aroused wife. "He is not strong," she said. "When he is very upset, my husband is very upset, he is not strong, and when I want to and when I collect all my forces and want to do something very badly I am stronger than he is."

Kansas City Paper Exec Will Retire

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)— Roy A. Roberts, who rose from carrier boy to chairman of the board of the Kansas City Star, announced on his 77th birthday Wednesday he will withdraw completely from the newspaper's management and direction on Jan. 1.

Roberts, a native of Muscotah, Kan., delivered the Star to subscribers in Lawrence, Kan., while a boy and joined its staff in 1908 after his graduation from the University of Kansas and a period of reporting for the Lawrence Journal-World.

He moved up from reporter to political writer, Washington correspondent, managing editor, president and general manager and two years ago became chairman of the board.

Roberts said his retirement will not change the employe-ownership plan under which the Star has operated for more than 38 years. Richard B. Fowler, who became president and chief executive officer of the paper in 1963, will continue in that capacity.

To assure continuity of ownership by employes, Roberts said his substantial holdings of Star stock will be made available under option to the newspaper at a fixed price. The system has been in effect for several years for other long-time employes who have retired or plan to do so.

Roberts said he will continue to live in Kansas City and plans to write, probably books. He also plans to contribute articles to the Star from time to time. Immediately after retirement, he and Mrs. Roberts will take a two-months trip to South America and South Africa.

In his retirement announcement, the veteran newspaperman asked his colleagues to refrain from any formal exercises.

"I desire no watch presentation, no plaques, no resolutions, no editorial, at least until the final chapter has been written," he said. "And certainly above all, no testimonial dinners. If you knew how much oratory I have suffered through and helped inflict on captive 'friends' over more than a half century, you may sense how strongly I feel on this subject. . .

"I'll have my one short say now. I have lived an active life. I expect the sunset phase to be equally exciting. And I still owe my country, my city, my newspaper a genuine debt for giving me my opportunity."

Jury Probes Baker Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has been investigating the Bobby Baker case for six or seven weeks, it was learned Tuesday.

Acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach launched the grand jury probe, it was understood, in the midst of the presidential campaign. Republicans then were accusing Democrats of a whitewash in the Senate investigation of Baker, former secretary of the Senate Democrats.

It was learned that the grand jury was concentrating on subpoenaing documents.

The Senate Rules Committee plans to reopen hearings in the Baker case next Tuesday.

Two Sailors Die In Illinois Auto Mishap

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) —Two sailors attending gunnery school at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center were killed Wednesday in an automobile accident on U. S. 41 west of Waukegan.

They were Hoyt L. Callicutt, 27, High Point, N. C., and Thomas C. Cassell, 21, Denison, Tex.

Police said Callicutt's car struck the rear of another vehicle, then hit a bridge abutment over the Des Plaines River before it careened into the water. The other vehicle went out of control and veered into the river, atop Callicutt's car. The two occupants, also attending the school, were slightly injured.

Ban On Phone Rate Rule Stays

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court has refused to review lower court decisions that the City of Carrollton in Dallas County may not regulate rates for optional direct telephone service with Dallas.

The court's denial of Carrollton's request for a hearing affirmed, in effect, decisions of lower courts.

Carrollton sought without success an injunction barring Southwestern States Telephone Co. from putting into effect higher rates for the Dallas service on Oct. 1, 1963. The increase raised business rates from $16 to $20 and residential rates from $6 to $10.

How New Films Are Stacking Up

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new movies—

Poor Agent 007. Licensed to kill, he scarcely gets a chance to pull his gun out of the shoulder holster in his latest outing, "Goldfinger." Nasty folks are continually dealing him a judo chop to dispatch him to the Land of Nod.

Matter of fact, James Bond spends a good portion of the film in the captivity of the ambitious slob Goldfinger. Really, 007: If this sort of thing continues, you may have to turn in your revolver, holster and shoehee1 radio beam sender.

"Goldfinger" continues the string of enormously entertaining films based on the Ian Fleming superspy books. It has the most outrageous plot so far; a heist of Fort Knox is no small potatoes. Yet the film somehow seems less satisfying than "Dr. No" and "From Russia with Love."

One reason is the passive role of Bond, still expertly delineated by Sean Connery. In many of his encounters he seems strangely ineffective, recalling the private eye, punching bag, Philip Marlowe. One expects more mastery from Bond.

I have remarked before that the Bond films hark back to the Saturday matinee serials. It still goes. There is the same fascination: What can happen next? How will the hero get out of this pickle this time? "Goldfinger" even follows the serial tradition with the concluding announcement for the moviegoers to watch for James Bond's next adventure, "Thunderball."

"Youngblood Hawke" demonstrates why it is virtually impossible to make an absorbing movie out of the life of a writer. Delmar Daves has taken the least praised of Herman Wouk's novels and tried to involve the audience in the travails of a country boy who strikes it rich in the literary world.

Cardiovascular Conference

Some 28 million adult Americans have a direct personal stake in the Second National Conference on Cardiovascular Diseases this week in Washington. About one-half of the 28 million suffer from a definite disease of the heart or blood vessels, while nearly the same number have a suspected cardiovascular malady, according to the National Center for Health Statistics.

Sometimes the ailment is simply a matter of high blood pressure. But it is a fact that major cardiovascular diseases will kill about one million Americans this year, representing well over half of all deaths. For every person who dies of cancer, three will succumb to diseases of the cardiovascular system. Moreover, the death rate from direct coronary disease ("heart attacks") has risen 22 per cent in the past decade.

The 500 experts at the Washington conference will review and discuss the whole range of progress and needs in the field of heart and blood vessel diseases. It is expected that the final conference report will constitute a definitive reference work for the medical profession and for use by the recently announced President's Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Stroke.

Pending some major breakthrough in the heart field, the average citizen must rely on his physician and himself to lower his chances of developing heart disease. For people who really work at taking care of their hearts, the onset of coronary disease definitely can be postponed, and perhaps prevented altogether.

Thanks To Match Blessings

We are reminded by the Psalmist to "give thanks unto the Lord for all His benefits."

Many of us, however, are inclined to equate our blessings with material possessions, with full stomachs, with comfortable bodies. And so when we give thanks, we express appreciation for these things, perhaps with just a bit of exultation that our bounties may have exceeded those of others. Perhaps, in mellower moments, we may have a small feeling of sorrow that others have not received as many of these blessings as we.

Yet these things are the least of His favors. We are admonished to thank God for all His benefits, and that includes the whole spectrum of life—indeed of life itself.

Let us not today circumscribe our thanks to a boundless Providence, but let them be an outpouring of love for our very being, our liberty, our opportunity, our service, our hope, our destiny.

IT SHOULDN'T BE LIMITED TO A SPECIAL DAY

Around The Rim

Look Around And See Them

Despite the rumblings of war chants overseas, the terrible murders in Africa, and assorted disasters all over the world, it is truly a day of Thanksgiving for most of us.

No foreign invader has put hobnailed boots on Howard County soil, nor does it seem likely from here that this will happen—despite what the alarmists would have us believe. And a list of blessings could be stretched out endlessly, I suspect.

Among them:

AS OUR COUNTRY becomes more and more aware of the importance of water, our city and county is in reasonably good shape, due to the foresightedness of community leaders who are even now working to add to our resources. No kitchen tap in our city has run dry, nor have we been asked to curtail our use of water. In many areas, residents are not so fortunate.

OUR COMMUNITY ECONOMY has held up well, which benefits us all. Although it has had to roll with the punches administered by the drouth on our agricultural complex and the oil problems of our industrial complex, the economy is still on a reasonably high level. A cutback in national military spending did not affect our installation, keeping our friends here, as well as our economic asset.

Our city and our school system continue to increase the quality of services, and we drive on the finest streets and send our children to the finest schools obtainable. Although we have areas needing improvement, we have the leadership necessary to accomplish the loftiest of goals.

OUR CITY STREETS have been remarkably safe this year, a reflection on the efforts of all of us to prevent the needless waste of life in car accidents. Only one has died on the city thoroughfares so far in 1964, a real blessing compared with other years.

AND SO THE LIST might go on and on, enumerating many things we most often forget when we begin totaling up.

Thanksgiving need not be a day for recounting the clinches of previous years. Our lives are deeply influenced by the same benefits that launched the annual observance of a day for "thanksgiving." We need only look to see them.

Protection For The President

WASHINGTON—Now that the eulogies have been written and memorial ceremonials observed throughout the world for the late President John F. Kennedy on the anniversary of his assassination, there still is an unanswered question. It is: What has been done and can be done to prevent the repetition of such a tragedy?

While a year has elapsed, it is unfortunately true that not much progress toward a solution of this problem has been made. Guns of all kinds are still possessed by people who ought not to have them, and there are no restraints placed upon persons of unbalanced mind who might use such weapons. What is even more regrettable is that no change has been made in the procedures of presidential trips or tours which attract a multitude of people.

THE FACT that a President takes such chances has been put forth as a sign of courage, but, in truth, the people of the United States should not be subjected to the risks involved in the sudden loss of a President.

Ever since the Warren Commission report was filed, there has been much debate about investigations of persons who might pose a threat to the life of a President. It is not a question of whether the FBI and the Secret Service shall be combined or shall continue to operate as separate agencies. It is primarily a task of gathering information about irresponsible persons in this country who happen to have murder weapons. It is the availability of guns to unbalanced individuals which has not yet been tackled as a major problem in America.

BOTH THE FBI and the Secret Service receive right along thousands of letters of a threatening nature which are turned over to these agencies by interested citizens. It takes a good deal of time and money to investigate these cases, but this should not be a discouragement to the governmental agencies concerned.

One little-mentioned phase of the problem which worries the investigative agencies is the tendency on the part of some of the press to print references to threatening letters and sometimes to publish the texts of these. This, it has been argued, acts as a form of mental suggestion to those who may be of unbalanced mind. There was a time in Washington when the press never mentioned threats or attempts to harm a President, and even if individuals were arrested in connection with these, there were no references made to such occurrences.

WHETHER THIS theory is a correct one and whether the psychiatrists can defend the thesis that it would be better to say nothing about such arrests than to mention them in print is open to debate. Sooner or later a scientific study of this problem will be made, and doubtless the press will be willing to cooperate if it can be shown that a benefit can be derived from withholding publicity on the threats themselves.

It is a known fact that since Lee Harvey Oswald assassinated President Kennedy with a long-range rifle, there have been attempts to procure weapons of the same kind, and apprehension has developed that there might be a repetition of a similar occurrence on future presidential trips.

THE SUBJECT IS related to the whole question of crime. The streets in many a city are today dangerous, particularly after dark and to persons on foot. The local police force is usually inadequate. There are not enough policemen available to keep watch on every area in cities and towns where crimes are likely to occur. Public funds are being spent for all kinds of purposes supposed to be beneficial to America, but what is needed today is not merely a "great society" but a safe society. This will never be accomplished until the police force has been materially increased by every state, city and county in the country—not only to apprehend criminals but to work toward prevention of crime.

The Congo Affair

Possible Setback For Peking In Africa

AP Special Correspondent

The United States may take a propaganda beating in Africa, but the rout of Congolese rebels at Stanleyville likely has damaged a key Chinese Communist enterprise.

The Congo developments may even aggravate the already bad relations existing between the Soviet regime and Peking.

In the long view, interruption of Peking's plans to gain a foothold in Africa's most critical area may prove more important to the West than the bruised feelings of leaders of new African nations.

The Congo developments strengthen an already strong impression that the Peking campaign in Africa has been directed against the Soviet Union as well as the United States and the West.

This may explain why Moscow seemed slow in reacting to the events, which easily could have mushroomed into a big international crisis as soon as the Kremlin heard of plans to use U.S. transport planes to ferry Belgian troops to the rebel capital at Stanleyville.

Ordinarily, U.S. involvement against a left-oriented rebellion would have produced clamor and threats from Moscow. This time the response was mild.

Time and again Peking has challenged Moscow in Africa.

Only last week in a violent attack on supporters of the fallen Nikita Khrushchev — an assault obviously aimed at men still in power in Moscow — Red China accused the Russians of perfidy in the Congo.

This was an attack on the peaceful coexistence policy which the new Soviet regime says it will continue. Under this policy, the Red Chinese insisted, Khrushchev — meaning the whole Soviet leadership — "instructed the Soviet delegate at the United Nations to vote for the dispatch of forces of aggression to the Congo, which helped the U.S. imperialists suppress the Congolese people, and used Soviet transport facilities to move so-called U.N. troops to the Congo."

Red China, busy for some time trying to shut the Russians out of revolutionary movements in Asia and Africa, appears to have made Africa the main cold war arena. All Red Chinese embassies in Africa seem lavishly supplied with money to buy subversion.

Peking's plan appears to have been to entrench a usable Communist government in the Congo, Africa's heart, and work from there toward domination of other areas. If this was the case, the timetable now may be badly upset.

New Era For Homes?

NEW YORK (AP) — Tired of your old house? Why not junk it, and buy a new one — just as you do with your old car?

In the future that's just what Americans will do, according to a financo expert.

"The field is changing so swiftly — there are so many new innovations — that a house is out of date in 25 years," said Jack H. McDonald.

"You should be able to tear it down and rebuild it, or discard it as you do an old car now. That day is coming, just as soon as we can find a way to reduce building material costs."

McDonald, 54, son of a Pratt, Kan., railroad engineer, migrated west as a youth and entered the finance field. Today he is president of the San Diego Imperial Corp., the nation's fourth largest savings and loan holding company. It has assets of nearly $900 million.

Experience gained in making thousands of home loans has made McDonald an authority on America's building trends. He says the husband usually has the least influence of anyone in the family on deciding on the nature of its housing.

"Mom is still calling the shots in American home building. Then come the kids. And then, and only then, it's Pop. Sometimes even old Rover has as much to say as father."

McDonald says the American is somewhat nomadic by nature — and getting more so.

"On a nationwide basis, the average person moves once every five years, but more often than that in the Southwest and West.

"We have always been pretty much a nation of one-family homes, and that will continue. But land is getting so expensive, there is also a national trend toward highrise apartment buildings — even in Hawaii.

"This country is no longer agrarian. If our economic projections are right, in the not too far distant future 75 per cent of the country will be urban. By 1980, it is estimated, more than half of the U.S. population will be living in some 40 metropolitan complexes of 1½ million or more people.

"It is a fascinating shift."

McDonald said that while the suburban rings are enlarging around most metropolitan areas, skyscraper apartment buildings are going up in the downtown areas of cities.

"There is a great two-way movement. You have one group taking people out of the city, and another group bringing them back in," he said.

"Many of those returning are families who have raised their children and are weary of commuting or bored with the routine of suburban living."

Time To Crack Down On Crackpots

WASHINGTON—During the election campaign, I ventured a prediction that Barry Goldwater's defeat would splinterize the conservative movement and that for years to come we would find the cause misrepresented in myriads of minority cults.

This is beginning to happen. We have not heard from Governor George Wallace who, if he'd stayed in the presidential race, might well have received more electoral votes than Goldwater did. Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce who, if she'd run in the New York Senate race on the Conservative ticket, might have done almost as well as Kenneth Keating, has faded away.

BOTH WALLACE and Mrs. Luce, although alike in little else, do have a strong pull on respectable dissenters. The governor is a fundamentalist who attracts many who believe that the Constitution should protect them against the central government, as it was intended to do. The lady appeals to many who, like herself, are allergic to the frauds, mountebanks and nitwits that thrive in politics to the detriment of that profession and this suffering nation.

ANOTHER CONSERVATIVE figure of size and repute flashed briefly during the campaign season, but has returned to retirement. He is former Associate Justice Charles E. Whittaker, who spoke in October at the Southern Regional Meeting of the American Bar Association in Atlanta. The Justice, who should know, traced the sabotaging of the Constitution by "liberal constructionists," reciting what amounted to a dirge for our languishing republic. He ended with an appeal to religion and patriotism, quoting General MacArthur on "our two mighty symbols—the Cross and the Flag." It was an address which epitomized the conservative lament.

BUT WITH NONE of these leaders, or any like them in sight, we notice the rise of the cultists and the crackpots who are no more in the conservative mainstream than Communists are in the lodge of reputable liberalism. The Minutemen are organizing into armed cadres—and cadging a few headlines—on the pretense of Reds. The Ku Klux Klan, according to J. Edgar Hoover, is a criminal conspiracy which seems to be beyond the law in some of the Southern reaches.

THE MINUTEMEN and the Klan get publicity from journalists of the Left, but are generally ignored by conservative writers who appear too embarrassed to join the denunciation. It is a situation which needs mending. The excoriation of these emotional exhibitionists and protected terrorists is too important to be left to liberals whose main purpose is to smear conservatism by the alleged association.

The recurring spectacle of citizens standing by at the scene of crimes is no less ignoble when the citizens happen to be discontented conservatives who are waiting for their next leader to turn up.

Who's To Control The CIA?

WASHINGTON—The fight to bring the sprawling, powerful Central Intelligence Agency under control of a joint committee of Congress will be renewed soon after lopsided Democratic majorities organize the House and Senate in January.

Congressional control of the CIA is bitterly opposed by John McCone, who heads the nation's huge espionage apparatus, and by most of his top aides. There is, however, an articulate group within the CIA that advocates that the agency yield to pressure to establish a joint congressional committee.

THEIR ARGUMENTS (which, CIA style, have been reduced to a carefully thought-out and still top-secret "book," or study) go as follows—

1. The possibility of security leaks from the committee is remote. It has never happened in the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and "dark" (spook jargon for secret) expenditures are routinely handled by armed services committees.

2. A JOINT committee on central intelligence is unlikely to hamper the CIA in any legitimate undertaking. Congress has routinely given the FBI more than it asked and the CIA study of the question assumes it would be accorded the same treatment.

3. The greatest advantage to the CIA would be in a congressional committee's ability to divert and dampen the fear and suspicion in which the agency is now held in many quarters here and abroad.

4. THERE IS already an arrangement under which a committee made up of senior members of the House and Senate is periodically advised of CIA activities. This committee oversees CIA appropriations hidden in other money bills. The only real difference in the proposed joint committee and the existing arrangement (according to the CIA's own study) is that the joint committee would have status under the law, and thus might command more public confidence.

IN SPITE of the strong arguments in favor of establishment of a joint committee, however, McCone has not softened his opposition. President Johnson's position is not known, but McCone is probably his closest and most trusted adviser, and presumably the President would go along with the CIA director. As a senator, Mr. Johnson voted against establishment of a joint committee in 1956.

Backers of the current attempt to place some restrains on the huge, unaccountable invisible government of the CIA are not overly optimistic that they will succeed. Privately they say their only real hope is to win congressional approval of a select committee to investigate the necessity for a permanent joint committee.

EVEN THE select committee is violently opposed to the CIA, however. It would necessarily wash a lot of the spook agency's considerable bundle of dirty linen, thus further eroding public confidence.

There are, for example, charges imputing near-treason to high CIA officers at the time of the Bay of Pigs catastrophe which have never been thoroughly investigated. The CIA'S headstrong role in Viet Nam is another area that badly needs airing.

Ohio Watersheds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The U. S. Department of Agriculture says Ohio is the first state in which all conservation districts — most of which were organized in the 1940s for erosion control — have updated their programs.

The 87 Ohio districts are among about 600 throughout the nation which have broadened their programs to include planning for complete watersheds. These updated programs are aimed at reducing natural damage and protecting natural resources to meet growing population needs, officials said.

Billy Graham

I become discouraged and depressed at times, even though I try to take my cares to the Lord. Does this mean I am not a Christian? C. D.

Moody people can be Christians just the same as anyone else. Some of us, by nature, are more moody than others. Accepting Christ doesn't always radically change our personalities. Peter still had some of his impetuosity, even after his conversion. But there was no doubt that he had had an enounter with Christ.

Discouragement is one of Satan's most effective tools. I should think that if he got rid of every hurtful device, and kept the instrument of discouragement, he could still carry on an effective business.

But the Christian can conquer even over discouragement and depression. "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ", said Paul, "shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword. . . .Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us." Remember, all the moods we experience were experienced by Him who was "in all points tempted like as we are." And because He has been in our position, He is better equipped to help us through these difficult places. He always makes us to triumph.

Ear Surgery Can Correc t Some Hearing Defects

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: A recent column included a letter from a reader who was concerned over having a stapes operation.

Two years ago I was faced with a similar decision. The thought of ear surgery frightened me, and I was four months pregnant. My obstetrician felt it was all right to go ahead.

The plan was to remove the stapes bone and replace it with wire. I went to the hospital the night before. Drops were put in my ear and a dressing placed over it.

Next morning I was given an injection to make me relax. When taken to the operating room I was a bit woozy but fully aware of what was going on.

The doctor and nurse explained the why and wherefore of each thing they did. As the doctor chipped the stapes bone the sensation was about like having a radiator pounding. There was a clock and from time to time I would open my eyes to see it. The doctor said the operation would take one to two hours. It took an hour and 45 minutes. At no time was I uncomfortable.

As soon as the wire was connected up, it was as though a speaker has been turned on, voices coming in loud and clear.

I went home the next day (it was 100 miles to my home) and the only after-effect was dizziness, which wore off in about a week. I resumed my work at home in a matter of days, and went back to the hospital in two weeks to have the packing removed. This, too, was painless.

Now I hear beautifully and this is the word for it—the first time since my teens I hear the wind and the voices of children playing outside.

For a completely happy ending, I had a fine seven-pound daughter, my fifth child.

I urge this person not to hesitate to have the operation. The chances quoted to me were one in ten that it might not be successful. It's worth the gamble. —MRS. M. T.

Modern ear surgery is, indeed, wonderful.

I caution readers not to expect that all hearing defects can be corrected by surgery, but an otologist (ear specialist) can tell within definite limits which cases cannot be benefited and which ones probably will.

Perhaps Mrs. M. T., your description of your experience in the hospital will do more than anything I can say to take nervousness and fear out of the operation for others.

Dear Dr. Molner: It is normal for emphysema-coronary sufferers to have sleep interrupted by shortness of breath and chest distress? The condition usually subsides minutes after arising and taking a nitroglycerin tablet. I am 70 and need my sleep. —R.T.G.

Shortness of breath from emphysema usually occurs while you are active and, thus overtaxing your lung capacity. Hence I would suspect some other source at night. The coronary (heart) trouble is a logical possibility.

Nitroglycerin (and the specialized medications you mentioned) are excellent. Your doctor may want to alter the time at which you take them, day or night, to ward off this shortness of breath.

For facts about the total health of you and each member of your family, Dr. Joseph G. Molner's new book, "Stay Well Every Year of Your Life," (5.95) is now available at your book store.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

With the introduction of mechanical writing devices (the typewriter started it a century ago) people employ less and less the manual art of writing—and stress on penmanship has gone out the school window. Youngsters don't learn much of it any more.

With calculating contrivances at hand, from adding machines to high-powered computers — shortcuts abolishing the chore of ciphering — hardly anybody sees any practical necessity for mental arithmetic. When junior knows that all he has to do is to feed a given problem to a robot and get back instant-answer, there isn't much incentive to sweat out fractions.

With the world shrinking, what's to learn about stable geography? Why undergo instruction about a terrestrial ball that has changed dimensions since Grandpa's graduation, and may be still different — including smaller — by the time examination day rolls around?

And history — who cares about that? With more of it made daily, and global convulsions obscuring the past faster than one can memorize place-names, dates and events, what profit (Junior might ask) in absorbing all that lore about antiquity.

He doesn't even have to know how to spell. Everything's abbreviated, from his H. S. days to those of his S. S. check; and X can mark any spot not covered either by his I.Q. or his I.O.U. If he can only remember his Zip code, Junior figures he's got it made.

Awry Plane Clips Auto, Lands Safely

HOUSTON (AP)—A twin-engine plane set down safely at Houston's airport Wednesday after it hit a car and damaged the landing gear.

No occupants of the car or plane were injured.

William Dudley, 39, of Houston, president of Gulf Publishing Co., landed the plane. It went about a mile before the gear under the right wing collapsed.

Passengers in the Beechcraft Bonanza were H. K. Hoverstock of Houston, Hoverstock's daughter, Sally, 18, and Drew Patterson, 18, all of Houston.

Witnesses said the plane was trying to land at Andrau Airpark and was descending to the runway with three wheels down when the right wheel hit the top of a car driven by Joe Chapin of Freer.

The car was heavily damages but Chapin said he only received a "little headache, but I think it was from the tension."

Dudley estimated damages at $36,000 to the $140,000 aircraft.

Hotel Heiress' Will Is Filed

NEW YORK (AP)—The estranged husband of Mrs. Nancy Metcalf Galesi Meurer was excluded from any share in her estate Wednesday as her will was filed in surrogate's court.

Mrs. Meurer, 29, a Texas hotel heiress, died in Spain Sunday while on a vacation.

One paragraph of her will, dated last July 2, stated:

"I have in mind, but make no provision for, my husband, John Meurer, for the reason that he has violated his marriage vows and he has abandoned me and I am at the present time suing him to annul the marriage."

John Meurer is a professional tennis player.

FIVE-DAY SUSPENSIONS

Policemen, Beatnik Joint Owner Go Deer Hunting

FORT WORTH (AP)— Three policemen who went deer hunting last week with Pat Kirkwood, owner of The Cellar, and Dist. Atty. Doug Crouch, have been suspended for five days without pay.

Police chief Cato Hightower, in disclosing this Wednesday, said they are W. C. Payne, W. R. Mathews and M. H. Lantrip.

Hightower said the suspensions were for "failure to conform to policies of the department and actions which were prejudicial to good order."

NO EVIDENCE

He said he found no evidence that Kirkwood paid the policemen's expenses on the hunt.

It was learned last week that Crouch had joined Kirkwood on the expedition shortly before he dropped indecent exposure charges against some of Kirkwood's Bikini-clad waitresses at The Cellar, a downtown beatnik hangout.

The spot nationally known last year after it was learned that several Secret Service men assigned to guard President Kennedy had visited the coffee emporium the night before the presidential assassination.

Crouch revealed earlier this week that three policemen also went on the hunt. Hightower, who has been feuding with the district attorney, began investigating the case. He said the officers used bad judgment.

The chief said internal security officers are investigating whether there were police payoffs at The Cellar as alleged in testimony released by the Warren Commission in Washington this week.

Hightower said he doubted any payoffs have been made there.

"We enforce the law very strongly at The Cellar," Hightower said.

'Goodbye' And Then Suicide

GRAHAM, Tex. (AP)— A woman telephoned a friend to say goodbye Wednesday and then shot herself to death.

Mrs. Jane Heighton, 45, was taken to a Fort Worth hospital where she died.

Police Chief Raymond Burkett said the woman friend told him she heard the gunshot over the phone. Officers found Mrs. Heighton on a couch, still clutching the telephone.

Justice of Peace Lamb Miller ruled suicide.

Seminole Area Collision Kills 3

SEMINOLE, Tex. (AP) — A two-car collision 3 miles west of here on U.S. 180 killed three persons Wednesday.

Police said Billy Lancaster, 36, of Woodson, driving a heavy sedan, was trying to pass a third car.

The crash killed Lancaster, Mrs. J. E. Finn of Bowie and her daughter, Mrs. Jimmie Wilders, also of Bowie.

Two younger daughters of Mrs. Finn, Sharon, 11, and Renee, 5, were taken to a Seminole hospital in critical condition.

Feds Join Raids That Smash Bookie Operation

HOUSTON (AP) — Internal Revenue agents said a huge bookmaking business was snuffed out by raids on five Houston and suburban Pasadena locations Wednesday.

Eighteen federal and local officers conducted the raids.

Four men were arrested, charged with violating federal wagering stamp laws and freed on personal recognizance bonds. They are Richard Kolaski, 37; Jimmie Moore, 46; Fritz McClelland, 42, and William Wilson, 46.

Raiding officers said wagering paraphernalia and several hundred dollars were confiscated.

Ruling May Hurtle Texas Lake Snag

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court took under advisement Wednesday a Trinity River Authority request for a decision that could clear the way for the Livingston Reservoir project to get moving.

TRA lawyers asked the court to order Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr to validate a $48.5 million interim bond issue for land purchase and construction of the giant reservoir on the Trinity.

The City of Houston signed a contract with the TRA Sept. 8 giving it a right forever to 70 per cent of the reservoir's water—due to total 1.2 billion gallons a day. Revenue from the city's water purchases will pay for the bonds, lawyers said.

HELD OFF

Representatives of the attorney general's office told the court approval is being withheld from the bonds for two reasons:

1. Suit has been filed challenging the validity of Houston's contract with the authority. The attorney general's office customarily defers action on bond issues under legal attack.

Chief Justice Robert Calvert noted that the suit has been dismissed in both a trial court and the Houston Court of Civil Appeals.

2. The attorney general questions the authority's right to issue interim bonds.

Interim bonds, Houston lawyer Victor Bouldin explained, are needed to get funds pending the sale of final bonds, which he said is a time consuming operation. The bonds, of $500,000 face value each, would be recalled and paid off when the final bond sale is made, he said.

TAKES TIME

"It takes weeks or even months to get ready to sell a large issue such as this on the most advantageous terms," Bouldin said. "This is the next to largest bond issue ever submitted to the attorney general."

Bouldin pointed out that the bond market must be studied, promotional literature printed, and Eastern bond dealers consulted before negotiations to sell the bonds.

The Carlisle Robisons begin Thanksgiving day with a quiet moment of family prayer preceding the gathering of the family clan and friends for a celebration of the holiday. They will not lose sight of the fact that the giving of thanks will include their freedom of worship in a free country and enjoy the many blessings Americans have shared for several centuries.

Robisons Share Blessings Of Holidays With Family

By MARY COCHRAN

The observance of Thanksgiving in the Carlisle Robison home at 3202 Drexel is a time for counting one's blessings and sharing the joys of the day with family and friends.

They will follow the tradition of a big dinner which began many years ago when "Frosty" Robison was a football player at Southern Methodist University. The wives of the gridiron stars pooled their favorite dishes for a special feast and the menu always grew into a staggering list as each young wife insisted on preparing the specialties that had been favorites in her own parent's homes.

The menu today will be traditional and quite large. There will be turkey and ham, English peas with pearl onions, mashed sweet potatoes, corn bread dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry salad, stuffed celery and relishes, fruit salad, pumpkin pie, sweet potato pie (at Frosty's request), hot rolls, cake and apple cider to drink.

In order to have the house and food ready when the family arrives, Mrs. Robison made as many preparations as possible earlier in the week. She did her housework at the first of the week, warning the two sons, Douglass, 7, and Dan, 4, to be careful and not start any messy projects that would require major cleaning chores.

PRE-PLANNING

Yesterday was spent in mixing the dry ingredients for the dressing and cleaning the 10-pound turkey she began baking early this morning. Also, on Wednesday she made a gelatin salad and sweet potato pie, stripped the celery and made a last minute check on supplies to make sure her marketing list was complete. The crystal and china were polished and the final touches added to her table centerpiece.

The TV set was checked to be sure it was in good working order, for all the family will follow the Thanksgiving football games this afternoon as they relax after the Thanksgiving feast. Guests will include her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Z. E. Foster, Craig and Dale Ann, and her mother, Mrs. D. A. Douglass, all of Odessa, and Frosty's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Robison.

HEARTY EATERS

Normally the Robisons dine heartily but simply in contrast to today's fare. They are big meat eaters and like a big salad of vegetables or fruits. Pie is the favored dessert and Mrs. Robison can easily whip up a couple of chocolate pies during the course of the day's work.

She used to test exotic dishes before the boys were eating at the family table but has curbed this activity now that they are bigger. She does let herself go with rich and fancy desserts when the ladies are scheduled to drop in for a bridge session.

The Robisons are members of the First Methodist Church and have taken an active part in work at the YMCA. Mrs. Robison is president of the Washington Parent-Teachers Association, and he is a district officer in Boy Scout work.

Some of Mrs. Robison's favorite recipes are detailed in the following listing.

STRAWBERRY CHARLOTTE

2 pkgs. unflavored gelatin
¾ cup sugar, divided
¼ tsp. salt
4 eggs, separated
½ cup water
2 10-oz. pkgs. frozen sliced strawberries
2 tbsps. lemon juice
2 tsps. grated lemon rind
8 ladyfingers
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix gelatin, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt thoroughly in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks and water together. Add to gelatin mixture. Add one package of the frozen sliced strawberries. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved and strawberries thawed, about 8 minutes. Remove from heat and add remaining package of strawberries, lemon juice and rind. Stir until berries are thawed.

Chill in refrigerator or in bowl of ice and water, stirring occasionally, until the mixture mounds when dropped from spoon. Split ladyfingers in half and stand around edge of an 8-inch spring form pan. Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat in remaining ½ cup sugar. Fold in gelatin mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into pan and chill until firm. Remove from pan and garnish with additional whipped cream and strawberries.

BEEF COUNTRY PIE CRUST

½ 8-oz. can (½ cup) tomato sauce
½ cup bread crumbs
1 lb. ground beef
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1½ tsps. salt
⅛ tsp. oregano
⅛ tsp. pepper

Mix well and form into crust for a 9-inch greased pie pan.

FILLING

1½ cups minute rice
1 cup water
1½ 8-oz. cans (1½ cups) tomato sauce
1 cup grated cheese
½ tsp. salt

Combine all except ¾ cup of the cheese. Spoon into meat shell. Bake at 350 degrees 25 minutes covered with foil. Uncover, sprinkle with remaining cheese, continue to bake for 10 to 15 minutes longer.

SHRIMP DIP

1 5-oz. can shrimp, drained and chopped
1 cup sour cream
¼ cup chili sauce
2 tsps. lemon juice
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. prepared horseradish
Dash hot sauce

Mix well and serve with crackers or corn chips.

SWEET POTATO PIE

1¼ cups mashed sweet potatoes
¾ tsp. salt
1⅛ cups milk
2 eggs
¾ cup sugar
¾ tsp. cinnamon
1-3 tsp. nutmeg
1-3 tsp. ginger
¾ tbsp. melted butter

Line 8-inch pie pan with pastry. Mix together sugar, salt and seasonings. Add sweet potatoes, milk, eggs and butter. Blend and pour into pie shell. Bake in 425 degree oven for 45 to 55 minutes.

Yams Add Zest In Yeast Rolls

Home-baked yeast-raised rolls are as traditional to Thanksgiving tables as turkey. And just as a new stuffing can dress up the holiday bird, so a new ingredient can add interest to dinner rolls. These yeast-raised rolls feature a unique combination of yams and raisins.

THANKSGIVING DINNER ROLLS

2-3 cup warm, not hot, water (105 to 115 degrees F.)
1½ tbsps. sugar
1½ tsps. salt
1 pkg or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 tbsp. soft shortening
1¼ cups mashed cooked yams or sweet potatoes
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup raisins
Melted margarine or butter

Combine water (warm, not hot for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast), sugar and salt; mix well. Add yeast and stir until dissolved. Add shortening and yams; mix. Combine flour and raisins; add to yeast mixture in two additions, blending well. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead 5 minutes, or until dough is smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; cover with damp cloth and let rise in warm place (85 degrees) until double in bulk, about 1½ hours.

Punch down and pull edges to center; turn completely over in bowl. Let rise again until almost double in bulk, 30 to 45 minutes. Turn dough out on lightly floured surface; cover with cloth and let stand 15 minutes. Roll out to ¼-inch thickness and cut with floured 4-inch cutter, brush with margarine or butter. Make a crease across each round; fold so that top half slightly overlaps. Press edges together at crease. Place close together on lightly greased baking sheets. Cover and let rise 15 minutes. Bake at 425 degrees 12 to 15 minutes, or until golden brown.

Try Seafood Stuffing For Holiday Turkey

One of the rich American traditions which has become a part of family living is the gathering of the clan at Thanksgiving or Christmas for a warm reunion and the traditional holiday meal with all the trimmings. The subtle combination of crisp air, a warming fire, happy sounds of reunion, and complete kitchen confusion create a certain excitement which cannot be duplicated.

Through the years, the holiday bird with stuffing has become a part of this tradition, and each section of the country has a stuffing recipe native to its area. This year, fresh from the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries' Test Kitchens come savory seafood stuffings to bring the tang-o-the-sea to your festive table and find favor with the most fastidious.

1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. poultry seasoning
Dash pepper

¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup melted fat or oil
1 egg, beaten
2 tbsps. milk
6 cups soft bread cubes

Good Apron Supply Should Do Nice Job

By LYDIA BICKFORD

Early each December, I set aside a period of quiet contemplation on the subject of what to wear during the holidays.

The lavish Christmas catalogues tell me to lounge in red velvet pajamas, to open my presents in a silver brocade negligee, to receive my guests in a tunic-trouser combination of Oriental design.

The only trouble is I don't lounge, and silver brocade is hardly the outfit for cooking blueberry pancakes on Christmas morning.

What I need—and can't find in the catalogues—is an outfit designed to confront bedlam.

As soon as vacations begin, my services as laundress, cook, black tie-tier, answering service, chauffeur, package wrapper and friendly counsellor are in wild demand.

Each morning sees me washing and ironing the one-apiece tuxedo shirt, alerting telephone caller A. that soon B. will be sleeping till noon, and pacifying father who thinks character is formed by rising early.

Gravel spurts from the driveway at all hours. The dishwasher runs a load behind. The boys can't find their black silk socks. Father has run out of Christmas cards, and refuses to go downtown to buy more. The parcel truck driver is lost and wants directions to Doe Hill Lane, or is it Dogwood Terrace?

Obviously, what I need to wear this Christmas is something drip dry, and on my feet, a pair of track shoes.

Red velvet has no place in my life. On Christmas Day, just after I have pulled the 25-pound turkey out of the oven without mishap, I'll rush upstairs and put on a green wool dress that has seen me through several Christmas dinners.

It doesn't really matter what I wear. Just give me a new supply of aprons this Christmas.

Post Office Crew Looking Forward To Holiday End

For a group of frantically busy pre-Christmas workers, the dawning of the holiday bring not joy, but a sigh of relief.

These are the over-busy post office crews, who reputedly never look forward to Christmas, and certainly pray it may not be white.

For a month before the holiday they've been swimming in a sea of Christmas cards with addresses that are barely legible, wrestling with packages posted too late to reach Europe in time for Christmas, and dealing with what patience they can muster with never-ending lines of querulous customers.

The house-to-house carriers, are footsore. The rural drivers, often delayed by icy roads, are delayed still further because the arriving packages are too big to fit into mailboxes, and must be dropped at the house. The postal inspectors, ever alert to the possibilities of temptation on the part of mail handlers, are forever in their peep boxes looking for possible theft cases.

Christmas has been with them too long. Six months before their postmasters began to prepare by ordering new equipment for the rush. In September they had to consider staff problems, and how to cope with the holiday mailings which always go up never down. Temporary help is hired two weeks before the holiday, and must be unified with the regular staff.

Even on Christmas Day itself, special delivery letters and packages must still be delivered, so for some there is no holiday at all till day is done.

For all of them, there's one holiday custom in which they have no interest. They couldn't care less about opening their Christmas cards.

Bostonian Finds Out It's The Feeling That Counts

By SHEILA RYAN

For a proper Bostonian, who had always thoroughly enjoyed a proper New England Christmas for 21 happy years, it was something of a jolt to find myself stranded in Beeville, Tex., for the holidays.

I really shouldn't say "stranded," for my Dallas roommate, Norma Peiper, had been nice enough to ask me to her Texas home for Christmas when I found I couldn't afford the trip back home.

But I simply couldn't picture myself having a Christmas without snow, without the tingle of frosty cold air, without the beauty of an evergreen tree. The climate here in Beeville was much more appropriate, I thought, for an Easter weekend.

We were arriving at Norma's home, but everyone turned out and we had our Christmas gift exchange right away. (My gifts had traveled 2,000 miles, and were a bit battered.)

After church on Christmas morning, we came back to the house to face another jolt—my roommate was calmly preparing a newly-slain buck which the men of the house had just brought home. This was to be the high point of our Christmas feast!

We all helped the Mexican woman prepare the table and what a meal! Many of the dishes were the same, but there were the barbecued deer and iced tea to cool us off.

Next day we drove 200 miles each way to have supper in Mexico. I met all of Norma's college friends and they moaned when they heard how far away from home I was.

But I was more than content. Though my Texas Christmas was a far cry from my usual celebration, it made me realize it's not the day itself that's so important. It's the Christmas feeling.

These values are good in Big Spring, November 27-28, 1964. We reserve the right to Limit Quantities.

Dear Abby

Problems Of Gifts

DEAR ABBY: I just received the following letter from my niece and would like your opinion of it:

"Dear Auntie,

I hate to complain, but the next time you send me a Christmas gift, please send it in the box from the store it came from. Every time I try to take back one of your presents I am told it didn't come from there. This is very embarrassing. I hope you won't mind my telling you this, but I would rather be frank than take a chance on getting embarrassed again this year. Love to Uncle and the kids.

Sincerely yours,
Sandy"

Have you ever heard anything to equal this?

Sincerely yours,
"FLABBERGASTED"

DEAR FLABBERGASTED: Yes. This:

Dear Abby, enclosed is a letter just received from my sister:

"Dear Margaret:

Last Christmas I beat my brains out going from store to store trying to find three ties I thought your George would like because I know how fussy he is about his ties. Well, it's been almost a year now, and I have never seen George wear one of the ties I bought for him. If it will make your Christmas shopping any easier, my Paul would be tickled to death to have those three ties I sent George. Thanks, DOTTY"

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something in your column about the "extra man" who thinks that with so many widows and divorcees around, he does not need to thank a hostess for entertaining him. These extra men, who accept invitations left and right as though they were doing the hostess favor, make me tired. You never hear from them after they have accepted your hospitality, but they keep turning up at all the parties because, confound it, men are scarce!

KNOWS SEVERAL

DEAR KNOWS: If men are scarce, gentlemen are even scarcer. The extra man has no immunity from the social graces just because he's in demand. He should telephone his hostess the morning after to thank her for having entertained him. (If he's too busy or too tongue-tied to phone, flowers will say it for him.) And single men who accept invitations should play host occasionally.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: A word to Dick, who can't get a thank-you letter written to his aunt and uncle for a wonderful two-week vacation on their ranch last summer.

"Dick, did it ever occur to you that your aunt and uncle might be too busy to write and invite you for another such visit next summer?"

I have only four nieces and nephews, but if they don't write and thank me for a gift, that is that. I sent a check for my nephew's birthday this summer. I haven't heard from him to date. Christmas shopping will be lighter this year!

FORGOTTEN AUNT:
PICON, ARIZ.

Redistrict, Jersey Told

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—In a historic decision the New Jersey Supreme Court ruled today the State Legislature violates the "one-man, one-vote" principle and must be reapportioned.

The court voted 7-0 to reverse a two-year-old ruling by a superior court judge, who held New Jersey's Legislature was properly apportioned. Since that lower court ruling, the U.S. Supreme Court has issued its "one-man, one-vote" decisions requiring both houses of state legislatures to be apportioned according to population.

The State Supreme Court decision did not deal with weighted voting, which the State Senate adopted as its answer to the U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

Texas A&M System Reorganization Told

AUSTIN (AP) — Directors of the Texas A&M University System announced a reorganization Wednesday of its highest administrative offices.

The board, meeting here, approved the request of Chancellor M. T. Harrington to be assigned the position of coordinator of programs in the university system office of international programs, effective Sept. 1, 1965.

At the same time A&M President Earl Rudder will become president of the entire Texas A&M University System.

The present office of chancellor will be renamed the office of the president of the Texas A&M University System, said Sterling Evans, A&M board chairman. He said the jobs of present system administrative officers will be absorbed into the new administrative organization, though some existing titles may be changed.

FOR 11 YEARS

Harrington has been administrative head of the A&M system for the past 11 years. By next September he will have completed 41 years of service at A&M, filling positions in all academic ranks. He was named dean of arts and sciences in 1947, dean of the college in 1949 and president in 1950. He was the first A&M graduate to serve as president and as chancellor.

Rudder was named president of Texas A&M in 1959 after serving as vice president for 17 months. Prior to that time he was appointed state general land commissioner. From 1946 to 1952 Rudder was mayor of Brady. He was a 1932 graduate of A&M. During World War II he was commander of the 2nd Ranger Battalion and commanded the 109th Infantry Regiment. He presently holds the rank of major general in the Army Reserve and is deputy commanding general for mobilization, Continental Army Command.

OTHER DIVISIONS

The A&M University System includes Texas A&M University, Arlington State College, Tarleton State College and Prairie View A&M with a total enrollment of 24,256 students. Other divisions of the system include the Texas Forest Service, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas Engineering Experiment Station, the Texas Engineering Extension Service, the Texas Transportation Institute, and the Texas Maritime Academy.

Harrington's new job will concern the university system's current connections with educational colleges and facilities in Pakistan, Algeria, the Dominican Republic and Argentina, where A&M staff men are now stationed.

Jackie Knelt In Prayer At Deathbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I told Mrs. Kennedy that the president was dead.

"She walked to the table, touched the foot and kissed the instep, then walked to the side of the table and felt his hand."

In those words, White House physician George G. Burkley told of the moment Mrs. John F. Kennedy learned an assassin's bullets had killed her husband in Dallas.

Burkley wrote his report on Nov. 27, 1963, five days after President John F. Kennedy was killed. It is among the exhibits made public this week by the Warren Commission.

Burkley also told of Mrs. Kennedy's determination to remain with the body, and of returning to her two of the roses she had carried during the fateful motorcade.

Burkley, who had been in the motorcade, arrived at Parkland Hospital three to five minutes after Kennedy was brought there.

JACKIE THERE

"I went directly to the emergency room," he told the commission. "Mrs. Kennedy was seated in a folding chair directly beside the door of the small room in which the president was being observed."

Burkley went inside.

"It was evident that death was imminent and that he was in a hopeless condition," Burkley said.

He left and talked with Mrs. Kennedy outside.

"She expressed a desire to be in the room," Burkley said. "Realizing that death was imminent and that it was so right to be as close as she could, I overrode the protests of some of the people in the room and brought Mrs. Kennedy inside the door, where she stood and with my arms protecting her, she momentarily rested her head on my shoulder.

KNELT IN PRAYER

"At one point she knelt in prayer for a few seconds and then arose and stood quietly."

Another physician said Kennedy's life was gone, and Burkley verified that the president was dead.

Then he told Mrs. Kennedy.

Burkley said the upper portion of the president's body was covered by a white cloth.

A priest administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

"I asked him to recite the prayers for the dead, which he did and the response was made by Mrs. Kennedy and me," Burkley said.

Cargo For Cuba Down

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Shipping to Cuba from Western countries is reported decreasing.

An anti-Castro organization that keeps check on movements of vessels to Cuban ports listed only 23 flying non-Communist flags in October as against 44 last month, 51 in August, and 70 in April 1963.

U.S. government pressure against such traffic was credited for the decline by the exile group, Revolutionary Unity Movement.

Carlson Fund A Memorial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Classmates, faculty and friends of slain missionary Dr. Paul Carlson have established a memorial fund to be run by George Washington University to help his widow and two children.

Carlson was executed Tuesday by Congolese rebels in the Stanleyville massacre. He was a 1956 graduate of George Washington's Medical School.

A new schedule of 1965 dividend payments was also approved by TI directors. The new dates will be Jan. 25, April 26, July 26 and Oct. 25.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. C BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1964 SEC. C

Wide Toy Variety In Santa's Pouch

That traditional Christmas stocking hanging by the fireplace with its load of toys might prove a little top-heavy this year—for many of the best-selling toys on the market this season are proving rather sizable items, from battery - powered dump trucks a couple of feet long to complete combat sets for small-fry soldiers.

And while toys for the boys center around army equipment, talking dolls—as well as all the old standards in the doll line—are among the best-selling items for girls this season.

For both, plastic simulated motors which make a realistic engine noise when mounted on bicycles or tricycles are expected to be popular sellers, toy dealers here report.

MANY NEW

While no single hot-selling item, such as the hoola hoop of past years, has been indicated, numerous toys, some new and others on the market last year, are pointed out here as leading in popularity for gifts for the youngsters.

Some of these, such as some games, are aimed not only at youngsters but adults as well. These include some games played years ago and now revived.

One item, a plastic gun which shoots a blast of air, is not only a toy for the youngsters but also is expected to be popular for adults to use at parties.

Most toy stores are highlighting a race car track with the cars driven with remote control apparatus, operated either by electricity or by batteries, with a figure-eight track similar to the model railroad tracks of past years, which still are a popular item.

RACER

A similar item offered this year is the gas-powered racer model, often purchased by hobbyists but also offered this year in the toy line. A V-2 spy plane in plastic with a picture-taking apparatus is also on the market this year.

Army equipment, made in plastic and sized for the youngsters, is being offered in considerable variety, from battle jackets to an assortment of weapons. Grenades, knives, emblems, a booby trap, helmets and other items are included.

Another top-selling toy on the market is a "seven-in-one" gun, spring-operated and made of sturdy plastic. Built on one apparatus, the gun operates in seven different ways, with a tripod and an elevation position.

Other military items include a battery-powered missile-firing cannon, with a push-button firing mechanism and an elevation control. Miniature soldier and tank models are displayed in a wide variety. A transistorized walkie-talkie set operating on a crystal set apparatus and a tank which operates with a revolving radar antenna are other items being sold.

MILITARY

A battery-powered machine gun which makes a firing noise is another military item being displayed. A mortar set and various other combinations of simulated weapons are on the market this year also.

While battery-operated toys of varying sizes and shapes, from a whistling locomotive to a whistling bird, are offered, one of the most popular items so far this Christmas buying season is a dump truck, made of sturdy, bendable yellow plastic with black wheels. Control devises on the sides allow the child to move the truck backward and forward on its own power, with an automatic dump switch and three gears, allowing the truck to be idled, reversed or put into forward motion. Its engine adapts to the gear, changing sounds from idle to a pulling roar.

The battery - operated bird, patterned on national television show characters, has a beak which moves up and down and eyes that move in circles.

With a chugging noise and a flashing light, the battery-powered locomotive moves across a room until its cow catcher hits an object, which causes the toy to back up and start over, all on its own power. Model cars are also being offerod with retractable convertible tops and push-button controls, also working on batteries. A construction set similarly operated includes everything from cranes to cement mixers.

SPACE CAPSULE

A low-cost item is a space capsule set, with the Titan and Gemini space capsules, operating on a spring-power apparatus with different stages.

Dolls remain the major selling item for girls this year, with some patterned on Walt Disney movies. The popular dolls with a wide range of costume sets, based on foreign countries, the Arabian Nights and various clothing for different occasions, are again selling this year. One set comes with a Little Theater stage.

Another item is a girls' vanity table set, with actual cosmetics included. A plastic oven is being displayed this year, allowing a youngster to take cookie or pizza mix and actually cook it on an arrangement using ordinary household light bulbs.

For the smaller child, a plastic building block set is designed with sturdy, large blocks which can be used to construct a variety of items. The set is so designed that the items constructed can be used as regular toys, then later taken apart and put together in other shapes.

Various "ride-em" toys are out this year, including a large plastic train, built sturdily for actual riding, with a whistle apparatus. A small wagon is designed with building blocks carried inside and with a steering wheel which can also be turned over to pull the wagon, making the toy dual-purpose.

EDUCATIONAL

Educational values are being emphasized in a wide range of toys, not only in the various line of science kits offered again, but in games or toys stressing mathematics and teaching youngsters simple arithmetic and multiplication tables. Some games as well are aimed at the older youngsters and at adults, while some are revivals of games played years ago, such as "mah jongg," once played as bridge is today.

A crazy clock game has been introduced as a new version of the mousetrap game marketed last year.

A frontier attack set complete with coonskin cap and powder horn, a miniature printing press and a robot fighter set are other toy items being sold this year.

Part Of Expense

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — An unusual request — for a party after his funeral — was set forth in the will of Glenn M. Larsen, who died in a hospital here.

Larsen stipulated that one per cent of his distributable estate should be used for a party after his funeral. The item was to be considered part of the funeral expense, the will specified.

The estate was valued at approximately $30,000 in personal property and $6,000 in real estate.

Wassail Bowl Played Big Part In Merrie England

In Merrie Old England, the Wassail Bowl with its mixture of spiced ale, was an indispensable part of the Christmas feast.

The one used at Court was a masterpiece of silver-gilt, while the bowl in the cottage was only made of wood. But the drinking pledge was the same. "Wassail," the Anglo-Saxon equivalent of "Your Health," was given—with reverence — to the Babe of Bethlehem, as well as to the King, to neighbors and to the season. Then benedictions were called down upon the fruit trees, the flock and next year's crop. And always the occasion was observed with song and merriment.

Old customs change; old ways are replaced by the new. Still the Wassail Bowl remains among the cherished Christmas traditions.

There's something warm and inviting about the look of a fragrant holiday bowl, nestling among green boughs and holly. It should rest on its own special table, which has been covered with a floor-length cloth. The only other appointments are the squat little mugs which will draw on its goodness, the ladle for filling them and lots of pretty napkins to go around. The table itself should occupy a prominent spot and be a welcoming sight for the arriving guests.

The drink may be anything to please a holiday palate; Hot mulled wine, spicy eggnog, a traditional punch or a favorite cocktail mix. Anyone of these can be made easily and quickly if the mixing is done with an electric blender.

Prefers Blue Christmas

Mary Tonnele isn't the least bit interested in a white Christmas. She prefers a blue one.

And that's what she'll be having this Christmas as social director for a cruise ship sailing the blue waters of the Caribbean with 300 holiday-happy passengers.

"We're heavily loaded with families at Christmas time," says the attractive Mrs. Tonnele.

"We tell the children that Santa Claus will come down the smokestack, and that he lands on the ship in a helicopter. Christmas morning he gives presents to everyone on board, starting with the children."

The presents, along with the passengers, are loaded on the ship in New York when the liner sails a week or so before the big day. The ship is decorated with greens and glitter before it sails, and a large tree stands in its accustomed place in the lounge.

Mass is celebrated on Christmas Eve, followed by carol singing and a round of Tom and Jerry. The menu for the traditional turkey dinner is printed on souvenir red and green handkerchiefs, to add a festive touch.

Something Frivolous Would Fill The Bill For Mother

When it comes to buying Christmas gifts, mother is usually the first person the family turns to for ideas.

She's got to have suggestions ready for the little girl who decides she wants to give her little brother a nice present—she's realized he isn't such a monster at all.

She's got to know exactly what dad would like from his son—aside from another polka dotted tie, that is.

She's got to decide whether her 12-year-old daughter would like another doll—or is she too grown up for that now?

But when all the suggestions are made and all the gifts are bought, mother is too often left out in the cold. The family gives her presents of course, but what presents!

Maybe she does need a new electric floor waxer. But Christmas isn't the right time to get it for her.

And a new steam iron is delightful. But what woman wants to cuddle up with a cozy steam iron instead of something nice and furry like an angora sweater.

No matter how practical and efficient mother may seem deep down she'll like something frivolous. It needn't be expensive like mink or diamonds—although they're always nice. But how about those whimsical nothings? A tiny vial of that utterly extravagant perfume she's always wanted, but never would buy for herself. Or a beribboned and be-frilled lounging coat. Or oodles and oodles of delicious-smelling bubble bath? The "ors" are endless.

Minister's Wife Has Staggering Yule Schedule

Christmas is a hectic season in anyone's book, but for the wife of a small-town minister, it reaches staggering proportions. With Mrs. Carl Fearing Schultz of Cape Cod, Mass., the holiday begins with the Thanksgiving left-overs, and ends with the church's New Year's Eve candlelight service.

Right after Thanksgiving, the choir, in which Mrs. Schultz sings soprano, begins rehearsing Christmas music at weekly sessions. During the first week in December the annual two-day holiday bazaar is held, and Mrs. Schultz, as president of the "afternoon" ladies organization, will be very much involved.

There'll be booths to decorate and stock, and Mrs. Schultz will donate aprons, sweaters, and knickknacks she has made herself for the booths. There'll be a luncheon and buffet supper to supervise.

President of the "evening" ladies organization is Mrs. Schultz' daughter, Mrs. Robert Thomas, who will no doubt seek her mother's advice — as everyone does — on quantities of food to order and kinds of decorations to have for the group's festive functions. At Christmas, Mrs. Thomas' three lively children will traditionally be given at least one sweater and a pair of mittens knitted by their grandmother.

Over the 35 years that Dr. and Mrs. Schultz have been at the Federated Church, it has become customary for Mrs. Schultz to create remembrances for the elderly and lonely in the parish, and this year is no exception. She is already wondering if Mrs. Smith would like some jellies.

The White Gift service on family night is held the second Sunday before Christmas. Children bring toys or clothes wrapped in white paper, and marked according to sex and age; the parents bring box suppers. When the guests have departed after supper and a Christmas movie, the Schultzes package the gifts, and send them to a city mission in Boston.

The following Sunday, the young people of the Pilgrim Fellowship go caroling through the neighborhood, and stop in at the parish house where Mrs. Schultz has hot chocolate and cookies awaiting them.

By this time the more than 4,000 Christmas cards which the minister and his wife design are in the mail. It remains to sort all the cards coming in to be sure no one has been left out. The card, a long verse written by the minister and edited by his wife, tells of the year's activities of the church and the doings of the family. Sometimes it is illustrated with a photograph of the life-sized nativity scene in front of the church.

How does all this activity in the church affect the family's Christmas? Mrs. Schultz remembers when this season meant having to hire more baby-sitters than usual, but, she says, 'We took the children to many of the church functions, so I was kept busy supervising functions and two lively youngsters."

When the children were small, "I tried to have as normal a Christmas for them as possible," she recalls. "We had our stockings in the morning, but I can't remember that our Christmas dinner was any more elaborate than a big Sunday dinner for the four of us. We had no time for family reunions."

And they still can't enjoy large family reunions—at least not on Christmas Day. "Carl Jr., has his own parish in Auburn, Mass., and has responsibilities there, but he usually brings his wife and two children to the Cape during the following week to celebrate a belated holiday with us," she says.

So Christmas for the Schultzes is finally calm. In the morning they visit with the Thomases and their three grandchildren, then return home for a relaxing and leisurely meal. Sometimes in the afternoon, they drop in on close friends.

Develops Pine Cone Decor

BUFFALO (AP) — A woman with a knack for decorating and a keen eye for usable materials has developed a flourishing hobby in pine cone decor.

Mrs. Edward J. Blaszak Sr. two years ago set to work with several bushels of cones, some lengths of wire and a few yards of wire mesh to see what she could concoct. Six weeks later, she'd made her first Christmas wreath of 500 cones.

From there, she branched out to making pine cone Christmas trees, carefully wiring the cones to a wire mesh frame.

Members of her family so admired the result that she started using pine cones for other festive occasions, making hearts for a Valentine party, and designing a most elaborate wishing well for a bridal shower.

Mrs. Blaszak won't run out of decorating ideas, but she may run out of cones. Each project involves liundreds, and so cone-hunting becomes a necessity.

Seals Credited To 3 Persons

The familiar Christmas Seal that appears on letters and packages during the holiday season can be credited jointly to three different people: an American doctor, a Danish postal worker and an American Red Cross worker.

The first person, the American doctor, was Edward Livingston Trudeau. Dr. Trudeau contracted tuberculosis shortly after graduating from medical school. Both his brother and his daughter also had TB, so Dr. Trudeau decided to conduct research on the disease. This led to his establishment of a tuberculosis hospital at Saranac Lake, New York. And subsequently, when the National Tuberculosis Association was founded in 1904, Dr. Trudeau was the first president.

In the same year, Encyclopedia International reports, a Danish postal worker, Einar Holboell, came up with the thought that Christmas was a time when people should be reminded of their duty to help the sick and needy children who were suffering from TB.

He proposed to the King of Denmark that penny seals be sold, for affixing to Christmas packages and letters. The king agreed to the idea, and this led to the world's first Christmas seal in 1904.

Also at about the same time, a small TB hospital which had been built in Delaware by a group of doctors, was in trouble for lack of funds. A cousin of one of the hospital's doctors, Red Cross worker Miss Emily Bissell, came up with a solution. She had read a magazine article which described the development of the Christmas Seal in Denmark. And she decided a similar seal should be adopted in the United States.

Miss Bissell designed the seal, and by 1907, the first American Christmas Seal went on sale in Wilmington, Delaware.

Cemetery Sign

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (AP) — Sign on a cemetery along a well-traveled street:

"Drive carefully. We can wait."

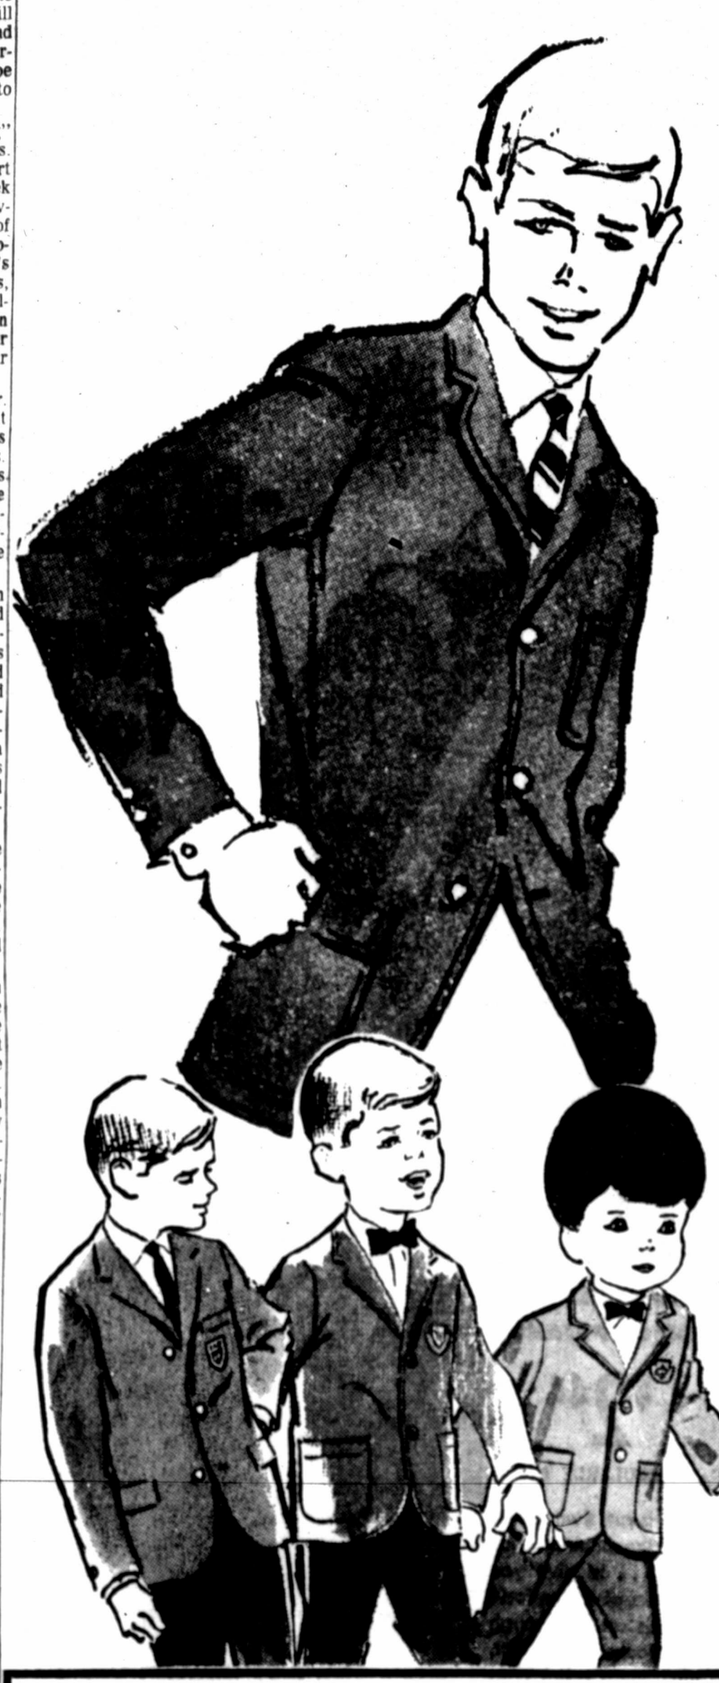

Cars Run Amok

GLASGOW, Ky. (AP)—There was a rash of fender-benders on Race Street and not a driver in sight.

Police said the brakes on a late model car gave way and it started down the hill. The runaway crossed the street and hit a parked car. The second car hit a truck which in turn smacked another parked car.

Getting Ready For Shoppers

While New York shoppers take a look at bathing suits in an air-conditioned store, or select straw bags to take away on a summer holiday, the store's personnel is making plans for the Christmas rush. They KNOW how many shopping days are left.

An inexorable and highly detailed schedule is circularized, telling the staff to do what looks like the undoable: Move booths, add counters, and bring in Christmas merchandise without a ripple passing through the current selling stream.

The directive says things like this: "Remove CAMPUS WAY merchandise and prepare area for APRONS."

"Vacate present INFANTS TOY area and prepare for GRANDMOTHER BOUTIQUE."

"Set up RED ROSE WRAP DESK in 3d floor transfer room. Same as last year."

"Install two bed-jacket cases in corridor for NEGLIGEES DEPT."

As early as June, the display department will have decided what kind of decorations to hang inside the store, buyers will be looking ahead to the July fashion shows to learn trends for holiday stocking up, and artists will be reviewing merchandise with the buyers as the Christmas catalogue starts its long route from store to customer.

By September special Christmas card booths will be activated primarily because shoppers who wish cards with imprinted names must make a decision early.

The mass movements within the store, planned to focus attention on Christmas merchandise, and downbeat slow sellers at holiday time, starts up in the early fall.

Maintenance men as well as buyers are continually busy, too, making safety checks on the functioning of package conveyors, elevators, doors, lights and dumbwaiters.

In late October extra personnel is interviewed and hired for the Christmas rush, and usually given a brief training period for efficient performance. Santa moves in shortly after Thanksgiving—to take up his familiar post, which means Christmas is practically around the corner.

Religious Community Makes Educational Toys

RIPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Members of a unique religious community here, whose goal is to follow completely the teachings of Jesus through shared communal living, have found a satisfactory way to meet the practical needs of the 250-member Society of Brothers.

They are hard at work manufacturing educational playthings, designed to spur imaginative, spontaneous play activities. Many of their designs are constructed for multiple—and free - wheeling — purposes. There's a triangle set from which children can make a seesaw, a cart with wheels, a slide, and many other combinations.

Another design is a playhouse which can operate at one-story or two-story levels, can support a slide that can grab a rung at any height, and that has a platform readied for doll housekeeping or playing store. A rocking boat has a built-in mechanism so it actually moves across the floor as the young "rowers" rock it. When it's turned over there's a flight of stairs underneath.

The brothers' decision to emown children, and from their concern over artificial social pressures which they feel often deprive children of opportunities for spontaneous, joyful activity.

In their own community in the foothills of the Catskills, life for the children means playing with the toys their fathers and grandfathers have made, having breakfast with their families in their apartments, but sharing the other two meals with their own age groups in their own school, helping with berry picking, corn husking, kitchen cleanup detail, and the myriad activities common to any large family.

There is no iron-clad schedule of responsibilities for any of the members of the Society of Brothers. A new house is needed for the growing community, so all men who are available go to work on its construction.

The weather is unusually hot, so the children are piled in a school bus, and go to the river for the afternoon. The young college group is off for a four-day hike through the Catskills.

Young members of the community teach the still-younger in a building adapted for a school. There aren't any conventional desks. The tables are in half and quarter circles, and the teacher presides within a partial circle where she can reach every child without standing up. This type of table later joined the parade of equipment marketed by the Society.

Communal living begins at the cradle age, and at six weeks, the new baby spends a few hours a day in the Baby House. When adult members of the community gather in the evening for singing or folk-dancing, there's no baby-sitting problem. A teenage girl in the apartment unit will watch over several charges. When it's a teen party, the mothers take turns with baby-tending at home.

Formed in 1920, the Society of Brothers originated in Germany, left for England, when it was forced to disband by the German Secret State Police, fled to Paraguay when Germany made war on England and came to rest in the United States ten years ago. There are two other communities in this country, at Norfolk, Conn., and Farmington, Pa.

Gag Gifts Have A Place

Gag gifts, good for family laughter, have their place under the Christmas tree just as much as luxury items.

Teen daughter never gets around to hanging up her clothes? Give her a set of plastic hangers, with an appropriate verse attached.

Father complains he can't remember names? Give him a paperback on 20 ways to a better memory.

Young daughter still bites her nails? There's a nasty-tasting nail polisher that will curb her appetite.

There's no end to the fun type of presents that can be unearthed by rumming around ten-cent stores, second-hand shops, even junk yards. And it all adds to the merriment.

Here are a few ideas:

For the accident - prone car driver, a piece of damaged chromium.

For the corporation executive, a tall silk hat, second-hand.

For the jewelry - conscious miss, a collection of enormous cheap rings with glass settings.

For the serious artist, a child's coloring books and crayons.

For the adolescent film fan, a collection of photographs from the ten-cent store, framed or otherwise.

For the tired businessman, a single vitamin resting in a cotton-lined box.

Not Too Old

These men may be too old to play with toys, but they're not too old to enjoy designing them and watching children enjoy their creations.

Lucky Adults Design Toys

EAST AURORA, N. Y. (AP)—They may be a bit too old to play with toys, but they're not too old to get a vicarious kick out of watching tiny children absorbed by a new toy creation.

These lucky adults are toy designers and artists, who through one-way mirrors, watch intently to see how children play with a given toy while it is still in the model scale at the Fischer-Price Toys factory.

Sometimes they may find a toy proves to be too difficult for the child, as was the case with an 18-month-old boy who could not grasp the idea of a train's couplers. The observer's wise report was: "He seemed quite young for such a problem."

But with three-year-old Dale, the story was a different one. "Dale was able to work the couplers very well and had a very good time playing with the toy."

Often a child's inventive play with a toy, though it has strayed far from its original purpose, gives its creator a completely new slant.

Designer Ernest Thornell gave his own child a toy telephone to see his reactions. Instead of twisting the dial, the child dragged it around the house by the cord as though it were a pull toy.

Thornell put the telephone on wheels, installed a chatty sound effect, and added a pair of eyes that wink like headlights as the toy rolls along. This child-created number was a Christmas best seller.

After the children have had the last word on the play-ability of about 50 toys annually, 80 per cent will be scrapped. The nursery school set gives the toys a rough going-over in the factory observation room, and the company is interested in toys that will last.

A child's attention span in playing with a new toy is carefully noted. The average is 12 to 18 minutes, and if the child loses interest before that, the toy idea just wasn't up to snuff.

Though the toy jury is confined to American youngsters, children in 50 foreign countries are playing with the company's toys. Children's reactions, it seems, must be universal.

SINGLE-MINDED

Searches World For Unique Toys

Ernest Theuer is a man with a single-minded purpose. As scon as the Christmas holidays are over, he'll once again start roaming the world in search of toys whimsical, ingenious, and extraordinary.

Some he'll find high up in a Swiss mountain hamlet, reached by a long train ride and then a car ride through the mountains. Here in St. Croix the working members of a 15,000 population produce music boxes, cameras and phonographs in a fine, modern factory.

In upper Bavaria, where toy making is still a home industry, he'll see women with huge baskets of Christmas tree ornaments on a rack around their backs, walking to town to deliver their work to export collection centers.

In Nagoya, Japan, where Japanese families paint miniature tea sets in their homes for the world market, Theuer will sit with them around their charcoal stove and suggest new designs for Christmas 1965.

The whole world is toyland for the F. A. O. Schwartz buyer, who unearths the ultimate in craftsmanship. In England, he discovered the widow of a colonel in the Indian army, who had designed a bear dressed as a peddler, carrying in his basket tiny bracelets, sewing kits, buttons and ribbons, all of which were carefully wired to the basket.

First she makes the bear of plush, outfits him with a leather cape and rubber boots, and then proceeds with the painstaking task of filling his basket.

The same toy maker also specializes in familiar situations such as a general store, but peopled by bears or mice as storekeepers.

Another English toymaker uses felt ducks for her parade of whimsical characters. There are brides and grooms, skaters, and street singers.

In his 2 to 4 months forays around the world, Theuer has a global view of toy possibilities. India, he says, contributes very little, except for chess sets and a Bombay collection of horns.

Italy specializes in dolls, particularly those with interchangeable heads. Sweden excels in wooden toys, as does Holland, and fur teddy bears. Trolls, which used to be made in Denmark, have pulled a puck-ish gesture, and are now made in Florida.

In Spain, the toy industry, he says, has only lately come to life, since the Spanish appear to be not as capable craftsmen. But one contribution is an interesting castle courtyard mounted on a wooden board.

The Japanese, who take the toy business very seriously, excel in mechanical toys, and their future toymakers study the craft in special schools.

Puerto Ricans Put It Second

For families living in one of New York's Puerto Rican communities, Christmas Day takes second place to the area's traditional Three Kings Day, celebrated as an all-day festival on January 6.

The morning parade participants may be wearing mittens and galoshes, but the atmosphere is as enthusiastic as it would be on their sunny native island.

The day begins with Sunday school children, 100 strong, parading through the streets wearing cardboard camels five feet high, the artistic efforts of the staffs of two neighborhood Episcopal churches. Heading the procession are the three kings, wearing gold-painted crowns. Occasionally a horse, borrowed for the occasion, joins the marchers.

A parish-wide church service follows, and at night, the entire neighborhood gathers for a festival dinner, featuring a huge roast pig. Families arrive bearing pots of rice, beans, spaghetti and typical Puerto Rican dishes as their share of the festival.

An impromptu musicale is held after dinner, for those who play the guitar or the violin are in great demand as accompanists for group singing.

When the day is over and the horse has been returned, the camels put back into storage, and the cooking pots taken back home, the neighborhood agrees that never has there been such a festival day.

DATES BACK A CENTURY

Cards Have Universal Greeting

"A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You"—the almost universal greeting of the season—dates back at least a century and appeared in print in 1843 on the very first Christmas card.

The famous missive, known to antiquarians as the Cole-Horsley—and a number of other memorabilia of the spirit of Christmases past, repose in the Hallmark Historical Collection in Kansas City, Mo., largest private collection of its kind in the world.

The Cole-Horsley is named for Sir Henry Cole and John Calcott Horsley. Sir Henry, director of the Victoria and Albert Museum, commissioned Horsley, a noted London artist, to design what was to be later recognized as the first Christmas card.

The card is divided into a trio of colored panels. The center, larger than the other two, portrays a family at Christmas dinner. The side panels illustrate the Christian virtues of feeding the hungry and clothing the needy.

Much of our knowledge of the early days of greeting cards is derived from the efforts of an eccentric 19th century Englishman who devoted 60 years of his life to amassing in his London home more than a half million Christmas cards, Valentines and other greetings.

It was Prince Albert, Victoria's consort, who introduced the Christmas tree to England from his native Germany in the same era in which the Christmas greeting card custom developed.

The Christmas greetings of the Victorian Era rival in beauty and elegance the best cards of our own age of advanced technical skill. Many of the most famous artists on both sides of the Atlantic were employed to design them—and the symbols of Christmas, many still popular to present day — the robin, holly, mistletoe, Santa and carolers, first became popular on cards that appeared toward the close of the century.

The first American Christmas cards were published in Boston by a man named Louis Prang. They cost a penny and were modest in size and design by modern standards.

Prang, who would later be known as "the father of the American Christmas card," was a German refugee who had established a successful business in Boston selling visiting cards, business advertisements and announcement both here and in England.

In England, the name of Kate Greenaway, whose paintings of children became world-famed, was closely associated with Christmas cards, as were those of Walter Crane and Robert Dudley, both well known artists of the era. In America, Prang commissioned work from such artists as Elihu Vedder, Douglas Volk and J. Alden Weir, all long forgotten but first-rate artists. The Currier and Ives illustrations, so popular today on Christmas cards, were not reproduced on cards until the 20th century, however.

American-designed Christmas cards slipped from favor for a decade at the turn of the century.

Fancy Yule Cards

Christmas sentiments of bygone years were fancy and fanciful productions. Upper left is a late 19th century American Yule card, portraying Santa Claus at "St. Christmasse." Upper right, this card departs completely from the Christmas theme to imprint two of Longfellow's most popular poems. Lower left, Santa Claus is surrounded by various symbols of the Yule season in this colorfully-illustrated early American Christmas card. Lower right, two semi-humorous cards printed in America in the 19th century. (All from Hallmark Historical Collection).

Leave It Alone

MONTREAL (AP) — "Please, above all, don't fall in love," Dean H. W. Woods told new students of McGill University at welcoming ceremonies. "A lot of university careers have been ruined by emotional disturbances that love brings on . . . Time is desperately short for the university student."

Studying Virus

SASKATOON, Sask. (AP) — Researchers at the University of Saskatchewan are investigating a virus which attacks the heart and nervous system, particularly infants, and often causes meningitis in children and adults. Dr. George Dempster, head of the bacteriology department, says the virus belongs to the same family as the one causing poliomyelitis.

Left A Clue

DENVER (AP) — Detectives had no difficulty in solving a burglary. The thief had dropped an automobile payment receipt giving his name and address.

THANKSGIVING WISH

The strength of a great nation is in its people.

People who are proud, but not boastful, who know humility, but not weakness, who are industrious, but also generous, are the foundation of a land whose freedom is the only light that shines hope for many less fortunate people.

In the foreground of a prosperous land, our symbol of pride, humility, and generosity is a pair of hands clasped in a prayer of thanksgiving.

Our warm wishes for a grateful and joyous Thanksgiving.

Women Continue To Prefer Their Gifts Of Clothing

By JO BRIGHT

This year — for every fashionable lady on your list — the giving is easy.

You have only to step through the doors of local stores or gift shops to discover a refreshing cure for that "what-to-get" feeling. There are exquisite little stocking stuffers to give her spirits a lift — or soft, precious furs to make this one the most memorable of Christmases.

Somewhere in-between, the token talismans and once-in-a-life purchases are the sparkling gift suggestions that will touch the heart of a woman for a time of tenderness on Christmas morning.

CLOTHING

Clothing remains the preferred gift of nearly everyone — and never have so many fashions been so wearable by so many women. Apparel to put her in a holiday mood is alight with silver and gold, and the lines offered this season are generous. There is the hi-rising Empire, the B-line (which rediscovers the natural waistline) or the taut, slim shapes that hint of sleek sophistication.

After-five fashions are available at all of the women's stores, and at least four shops are well-stocked with the newest favorite — the long-stemmed beauties for "big evenings. There are shimmering shells to top slender skirts, side-slashed or slit at the back hemline for ease of movement — or panel-skirted dazzlers in collections of floating chiffons, satins lighted with sequins, brocade theater suits or crepe discotheque dresses.

To wear with these, or to highlight a simple suit, is the sparkling splendor of jewelry — precious or pretend. The news in jewelry is BIG — big and bright, to fill in a plunging neckline or to catch and hold a casual glance. Gold has been discovered — in chunky pins, pendant necklaces and worth-their-weight bracelets. (Often these are created as fashion watches.) At the flick of a clasp, you can change personalities with black jet, rhinestones or pearls.

HOSE

Salespeople say that men are a little afraid to buy the new patterned hose — but here's a hint — women love them! For late-day allure there's the lacy look to add zest to an evening, or to enliven a winter day, there's pure fun in the patterns. You've a choice of diamond, Herringbone or Ric-Rac in charcoal, beige, brown, black and maybe even bright cranberry—if there are any left.

Then there are gloves — always the glamorous gift. Besides cotton and kid, there are the elbow-length and formal gloves to complete her evening ensembles.

In handbags, here's a hint — she'd rather have leather! Sleek leathers, elegant alligator or rich suede in smart shapes, all beautifully detailed. The larger bags are best, and the newest are straight from the shoulder — with straps that are adjustable when you want just a handy handle. There's an exciting group of handbags for evening that includes beaded satin, crisp faille and luxurious velvet. Near this department, too, you'll find pretty scarves, dainty handkerchiefs and heady perfumes.

CASUAL

With casual clothing, you can pick sugar-plum pastel colors for ever-popular skirts and sweaters. Choose a cardigan or pull the wool over her eyes with plush pullovers in tempting hues and dazzling designs.

For a fireside siren, there are exotic hostess ensembles, and rise-and-shine breakfast coats that help any woman look her best on a busy day. They are in wonderful colors and many are easy-care.

One of the biggest-selling items is lovely lingerie, and this year there are more colors and filmy fabrics than ever before. You can pamper her with dreamwear that includes waltz gowns, of nylon, practical cotton pajamas or warm, no-nonsense "granny" gowns of flannelette.

Robes range from plushy acrylic pile and washable fleece to light, kitten-soft nylons and rayons that are boudoir beauties. Some are just jackets, many are quilted and others sweep the floor for real at-home glamour. They come in flowered pastels, prints, stripes or solid, eye-catching color. To go with them, are slippers in many styles that will let her put her best foot forward every morning.

YOUNG LADIES

For the young ladies on your list, there are short, swinging skirts to team with over-the-knee hose or brightly-patterned knee socks and crew socks. (There are panty-hose to go with the short, short skirts.) For real go-go-go there are popular stretch pants in cottons, wools, corduroy, and velveteen. The real topper is variable — could be multi-colored shells, silk shirts, or most any sweater. Collegians are crazy about animals, too, the big, stuffed kind that sprawl lazily on a dormitory bed. And hey, now, how about boots?

If there is a special woman in your life, and what would make her happy is something in fur — especially her — you can find that here, too. There is a choice of mink, broadtail, sheared beaver, Persian lamb, sable and many others and you can buy them as coats, jackets, capes or stoles. For just a touch of tiger — or mink — till she can handle the real thing — give her the fun of fur on a collar, handbag, hat or belt.

The gala gifts are endless in variety and Big Spring stores are stocked and anxious to help you make this a happy holiday for the females of the family!

PART-TIME WORKERS IN DEMAND

Labor Force Swells

The Christmas season is one of parties, gift giving and church-going.

It's also the time for a tremendous influx of part - time workers who join the labor force temporarily over the holiday.

Most jobs are in stores which open new departments, stay open late and add special merchandise to their stocks. It's estimated that more than 10,000 persons are employed as clerks, sales people, wrappers and demonstrators in New York City alone during the holiday season.

Housewives, college students and unemployed persons fill many of the jobs. Other people who are normally employed during the day take on additional work at night or over the weekend.

Mrs. Janet Wolfe of the New York State Employment Agency says women in general and housewives in particular are most in demand. She notes that most of the items sold—such as wearing apparel, household items and toys—are more suitably merchandised by women.

Mrs. Wolfe reports there are also many jobs available as demonstrators of such items as electric trains, hair dryers, appliances and electric shavers. Manufacturers themselves come to the Employment Agency for people to fill these positions. Some are willing to train the employes; others prefer someone with experience.

The demonstrators frequently are unemployed actors who welcome the chance to get in front of the public. Some work all year round at trade shows. Some of the part time workers are so successful they stay on the job permanently.

A small but colorful part of the agency's job is recruiting Santa Clauses. Many stores have their own Santas who return each year, but there also are positions to be filled through the agency.

The major requirement for being a Santa Claus is a good personality—jolly, attractive to children and with plenty of stamina. Mrs. Wolfe says some stores want a Santa of a particular size who'll fit the costume they already have. Other places want someone with his own beard. The applicants for these jobs often are unemployed actors or senior citizens—who may be used to grandchildren of their own.

Safer At Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Safety may begin at home, but in the case of steelworkers, statistics show that they are three times safer at work than at home.

Steelways, published by American Iron and Steel Institute, points out in its current issue that safe practices are taught to employes from the day they begin work.

International Set

WINNIPEG (AP)—Leslie Ward, a Winnipeg transit system driver, is making a table top with wood from all over the world. Ward estimates the table will take 1,000 one-inch squares of wood. He now has 350 pieces representing 218 different trees from 20 countries.

THE LITTLE RED CHRISTMAS ELF

nce upon a winter night a multitude of spritely little elves invaded a large and friendly department store. The man who was in charge of this store came to work bright and early humming merrily. He opened the door to the store and there, playing amid the bright red Christmas decorations and brand new Christmas merchandise were these countless little sprites. He pulled his hat off his head and captured one of them. Holding the struggling little fellow by the scruff of the neck, he looked him straight in the eye.

"See here, you little minx, just what do you think you're doing in our store," asked the store manager trying to look stern.

"Nothing, sir, nothing" . . . he stammered in his high squeaky voice. It was cold outside and . . . and it was so nice and warm inside and the pretty red decorations were so inviting, we just stopped in to play a while."

"Play? play?" the man questioned loudly, his eyes twinkling with amusement at the worried-looking little elf.

"Don't . . . don't get upset, sir!" stammered the elf, still swinging in mid-air.

"Upset, my eye! Playing is fine in its place, but right now it's the Christmas season and we have lots of work to do," he answered trying to suppress a smile.

The store manager ducked as a mischievous elf swung over his head Tarzan fashion hanging from one of the prized store decorations.

"Get down from there!" he commanded and began gathering them one by one. Soon they all stood in a row in front of the man. They hung their heads looking very contrite. The store manager paced up and down very much like a sergeant reviewing his troops.

"Now, little fellows, just what in the world am I going to do with you?"

One little elf stepped out, "I have an idea . . . if you're so busy, why don't you let us help you?"

The store manager's face broke into a wide grin. "That sounds like a wonderful idea, but what can you do?"

"I want to be in the windows," chorused several of the little fellows at once. "We just love the "WARM RED GLOW OF CHRISTMAS."

"That's wonderful. I'm sure our customers would love to see you up to your tricks," the man laughed.

"I'll welcome the customers and show them where to find wonderful Christmas presents for everyone on their gift list," said another little elf.

"They'll like that," said the store manager with a twinkle.

"I want to help pick out presents for customers who can't come to town," piped up a little fellow at the end of the line.

"That'll be fine," laughed the man.

"You'll love our wide gift selection," the manager continued.

"It's the biggest bunch of gifts in West Texas," said one elf in wide-eyed amazement as he gave a little jump and clicked his heels excitedly.

"I want to help wrap all the pretty presents," said several of the elves.

"That'll be fun," said the manager. "You'll have a bang-up good time with our beautiful wraps. They're free, you know."

"I can work in the Post Office," another voice chimed in. "I can wrap packages for mailing and mail them, too."

"We do everything in one stop . . . no tag ends to worry about there," said the grinning manager.

"I can drive the delivery truck," said another elf.

"Then the customers won't have to wait or come back for their gift-wrap packages. They'll really like that, said the store manager.

One by one every little elf received his instructions and skipped gaily off.

Eeach was happy with his chosen part of the glorious Christmas panorama unfolding before the City of Big Spring. Everyone can see them busily at work and creating a bit of mischief, too, every day until Christmas in the friendly department store, HEMPHILL-WELLS . . . where Christmas dreams come true.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION D — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1964 — SECTION D

Santa Claus Due To Visit Dec. 3

Christmas lighting in the downtown business area and in shopping centers will be up and ready for use immediately after Thanksgiving. Downtown lights will be turned on for the first time Nov. 27. Shopping centers will have theirs turned on as they wish.

All will be ready for Santa Claus when he comes to Big Spring Dec. 3. The Chamber of Commerce arrangements committee, headed by Elmo Phillips, has arranged to have Santa transported from the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. station to a position east of the Howard County courthouse by stage coach. He will meet pre-school youngsters right after 2 p.m., and school-age youngsters immediately after school is out at 3:45 p.m.

The old stage coach, to be pulled by four matched Shetland ponies, will be furnished by the famous "Flying W Egg Ranch" of Ozona. It is owned by Jack Wilkens of Ozona.

Candy will be provided by Meads Bakery, and Santa's helpers will be members of the ABClub.

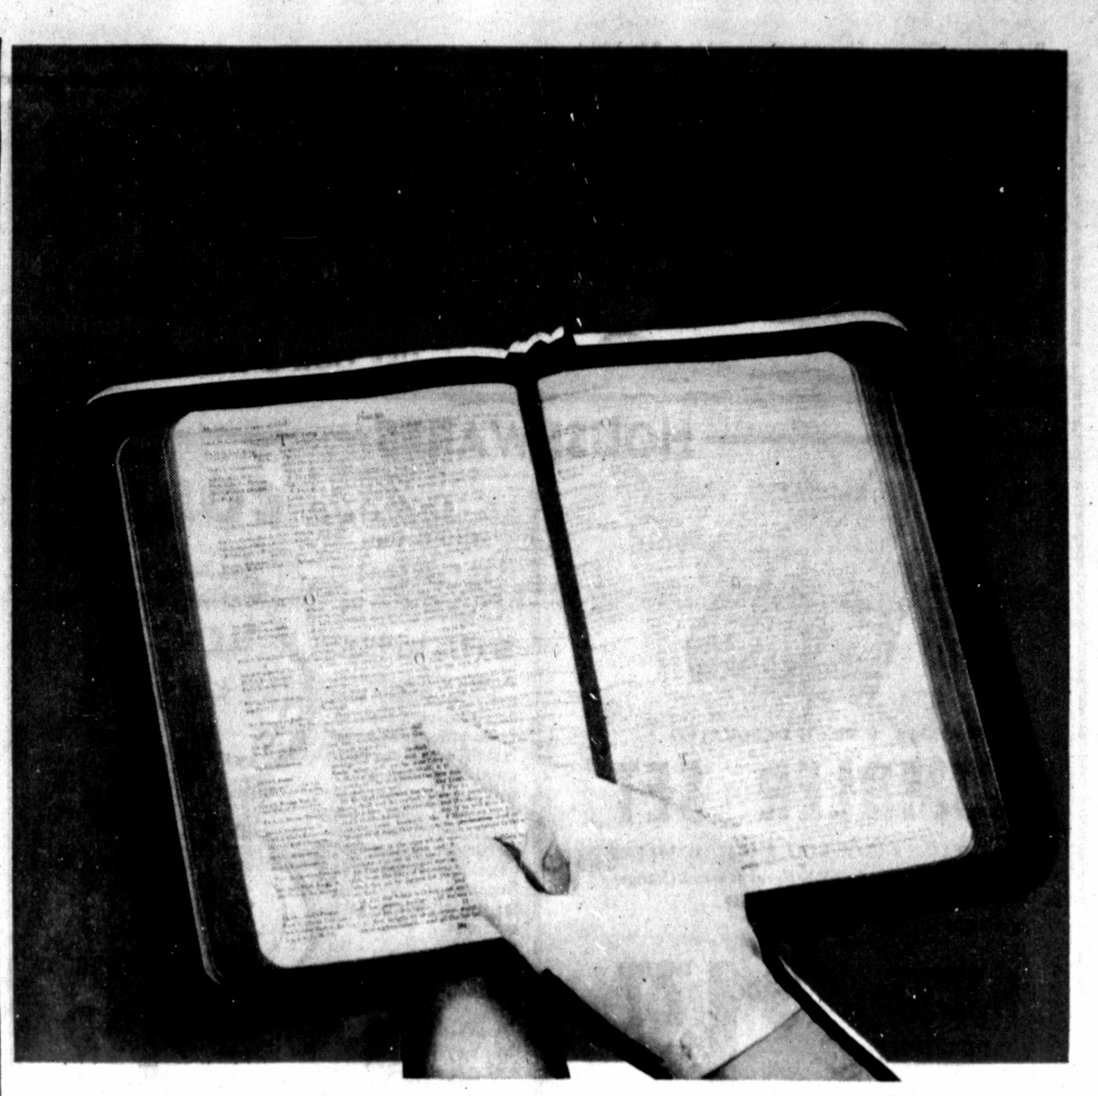

A parade will head Santa's brief trip from First Street to the courthouse.

The pole-type lighting to be used downtown this year will be similar to that used by College Park Shopping Center last year and again this year. The 60 individual fixtures will be scroll-shaped, with wreath, and several lights in each. Funds were raised through solicitation of individuals and business houses.

Adolph Swartz, Randall Polk, and Walter Wheat spearheaded the drive for Christmas decorations, and more than 100 made contributions. The retail committee of the chamber of commerce held several meetings to get new lighting, and the fixtures to be used resulted from the meetings and drive.

Nothing has been done about a home lighting contest this year, but plans may be made shortly to conduct the contest as in the past.

Many individual store fronts will also be lighted this year, following last year's efforts to give a full-effect Christmas atmosphere in the business district. Each business will provide its own lighting, and choose the type used.

OFFICERS' PLEA

Motorists Urged To Drive Safely

By M. A. WEBB

A plea for drivers to be careful during the Christmas holiday season, including driving habits, locking cars while parked, and careful maintenance to prevent accidents, has been expressed by police, sheriff's officers and highway patrolmen. The annual loss of lives in traffic accidents has been high during the past few years and continues to climb. Property damage figures have reached big proportions.

The question as to what causes so many lost lives and heavy damage leads to one answer: "People."

Unsafe or reckless driving habits have to be cultivated, according to experienced officer observers. When potential drivers are preparing for license tests, and are taking driving tests, they are fully aware of conditions, traffic laws, and regulations, and practice observing them.

"In too many instances," one officer said, "the drivers immediately begin tossing traffic laws out the window. Everything learned during the study of the driver's handbook, instructions from experienced drivers, and good sound thinking, is forgotten.

The officer pointed out that some of these reckless drivers go so far as to practice deliberate violations and, when apprehended, come up with many excuses. When asked what they learned in studying for the examination to secure licenses, they go completely blank — on purpose.

There are drivers who continue to practice safe driving habits and keep their vehicles in top condition. In many instances they are involved in accidents, but generally because of another driver who has not been careful.

"Ninety-four and 44-100ths of all the highway and street accidents are caused, not by cars, but by people," the same officer said. "A few accidents can happen when something mechanical fails on a new vehicle — like brake tubes breaking, or when a steel steering joint or axle crystalizes and breaks."

Safe speeds are not determined entirely by the signs on the side of the highway, highway patrolmen say, but by conditions, including weather, traffic, and road conditions.

"A speed limit sign may say the limit is 70 miles per hour (which is the maximum allowed under the best of conditions) but the safe speed may be not more than 20 miles per hour," he said. "The responsibility for driving at a safe speed is the driver's."

Traffic officers are requesting the observance of all laws, including stop signs (which mean stop, not creep), courtesy behind the wheel, speed limits, maintenance of vehicle to insure operation of all safety features including lights, brakes, turn signals, and tires; signals for turning, using the proper lanes, and constant vigilance.

"We hope no driver today will have to become a statistic for relatives during the Christmas season," Chief Jay Banks said. "Nobody likes to be a statistic, especially where it is included in traffic accident figures. We wish for all drivers and passengers a happy Christmas."

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A self-confessed bank robber was being questioned during his trial at Johannesburg's criminal sessions:

Prosecutor: And what did you intend doing with the money you stole?

Robber: I was going to put it a safe-deposit box.

Prosecutor: In a bank?

Robber: Yes, I thought it would be safe there.

History relates that after a period filled with sickness and death, bad harvests, and faced with a bleak future, our Pilgrim forefathers paused to offer Thanksgiving to an all merciful God.

Today, with our abundance of goods, we all too often fail to appreciate our blessings or ponder their true source.

This Thanksgiving, count your many blessings, and offer your own prayer of Thanksgiving.

"MR. ZIP" STRESSES CHRISTMAS MAIL URGENCY
Post Office makes use of symbol to speed yuletide mail

Plan Early For Mailing

By SAM BLACKBURN

A little planning during the Thanksgiving holiday can save a lot of Christmas rush mail grief later on, Elmer Boatler, postmaster, has pointed out.

The Big Spring postmaster said it is almost too late already to be mailing Christmas mail. Hence the soonest that such mail can be put in the office, the better the chances that it will reach its destination on time.

Boatler said that the office here anticipates a record volume of Christmas mail this year. Already mail for the yuletide is sweeping in and the volume is bound to pick up as the day nears.

Boatler had a number of suggestions he said would be beneficial in assuring that such mail gets where it is supposed to go without loss of time.

These include:

1. Find last year's Christmas mailing list. If you can't find it, make up a new one without loss of time.

2. Check to see that all addresses on the list are correct. A phone book is usually a good source for confirming the correct address.

3. Wherever possible, add the ZIP Code to the addresses on the list. Because ZIP Codes speed your mail, always include the code for your area in return addresses. This is the best way to inform friends, relatives and business associates of the code number for your area.

4. Determine your list of gift purchases which must be mailed. Such planning allows you to shop early when selections are greatest and you can stock up on mailing materials in advance. Be sure to purchase enough material so that parcels will be packed securely.

The postmaster emphasized that poorly wrapped and loosely packed cartons are the major cause of parcel post damage. He also suggested that the address be written on only one side of the exterior wrapping and that a duplicate address be included inside the carton, in case the outer covering is not secure and comes off.

Boatler said that the Post Office Department in Washington is predicting that a record seven billion pieces of mail will move through the postal system during the peak rush just before Christmas.

"The cooperation of all mailers is vital for us to deliver each holiday card, letter and package before Christmas Day. A little planning will make the Christmas rush less hectic for everyone," he said.

Pack parcels solidly, was another plea of Boatler. He also reminded his patrons that the use of free "local" and "out-of-town" separation bands will help move the mails faster. The bands are available at the post office or from most letter carriers.

Dec. 5 is the suggested deadline for mailing out-of-town packages. "Don't worry about the parcels being delivered too early, just mark 'Don't Open Until Christmas' on the front," Boatler suggested.

A tightly stuffed package, with nothing rattling around inside, will have less chance of being damaged in transit, he noted.

"When packing a gift, remember that the package you send may be shipped on the bottom of a mail sack and there may be heavier packages on top. Among that are damaged in transit, improper packaging is the greatest factor," the postmaster cautioned.

Just to be on the safe side, the postmaster suggests that all packages be insured.

He noted that poor packaging and addresses which are either incorrect or not legible are responsible for the non - delivery of about half a million parcels each year. If the return address is incorrect or illegible and the package cannot be returned, it will be saved for 90 days. If unclaimed, the parcel is usually lost to the sender or intended recipient. Such parcels wind up in public auctions held at 15 major post offices across the nation.

All parcels should be addressed on only one side and should also have the address written on the inside of the package in case the exterior wrapping should come off.

To be absolutely sure of on-time delivery, out - of - town Christmas cards should be mailed not later than Dec. 16, Boatler warned.

The postmaster also noted that there is more to the four new Christmas stamps than just a pretty design.

"Each of the gaily colored holiday messengers can trigger a vast amount of postal service for you," he said.

"The five - cent postage provides first-class mail privileges for Christmas cards. This means they may be forwarded or returned if undeliverable and they receive the normal first-class priority in handling and delivery.

"Of course, the stamps will be good for all mailing purposes for which postage stamps are used."

Build Indoor Cheer Outside

Christmas is a season of sharing. It's a time to share with family, friends, strangers. Why not let the warm indoor cheer of your Christmas reflect in your outdoor decorations? Wish all who pass your home a gay "Season's Greetings."

Here are some tips for creating ingenious and joyful effects:

1. Begin with a plan.

2. Keep the plan simple, accenting and decorating a single feature — a tree, chimney, or door.

3. If you want to be more elaborate combine several of these features into an eye-appealing over-all scheme.

4. Use your imagination to camouflage footlights. Pine boughs, tiny figures, or snow banked behind the lights hide them well.

5. Snow banked in front of floodlights add a special sparkle.

6. Don't overdecorate with lights strung haphazardly from tree to tree, or gate to tree.

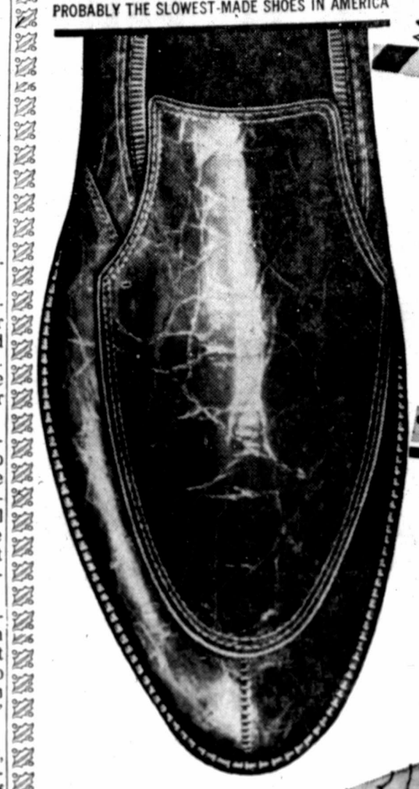

7. For lop-sided trees run the lights from the top, to pegs in the ground, teepee-fashion, for a more symmetrical effect.

Specialized Job-Holders Worrying About Next Year

For several hundred highly specialized job - holders Christmas 1964 is already over.

They're wrestling now with the production problems of Christmas 1965.

These are the manufacturers of greeting cards, Christmas tree ornaments, tinsel, artificial snow, and Christmas wrappings, who are one up on the rest of us.

At the factory of Max Eckert and Sons, colored balls in new styles for 1965 are being lacquered, bells and spinning tops are being created out of glass, and the 400 ornament workers there are in the swing of another season.

The greeting card workers and designers, accustomed to taking a crystal ball view of Santa's 1965 capers, are daily polishing off new sentiments.

In the Norcross studios, the 325 members of the staff are a highly versatile group. They can identify with forest animals, angels, families in folk costume, carol singers, church bells and mighty huntsmen. They are, quite frankly, sentimental, since sentiment is their business.

Usually the art for the Christmas card is completed first, before the message writer frames his lines. But sometimes the reverse is true. Message writers have to be able to turn their hands to humor, tenderness, spoofing and sincerity without missing a beat.

Creators of Christmas wrappings, also working for the 1965 season, bend to their drawing boards to design a variety of papers with wide customer appeal: some sophisticated, some quaint, some delicate, but all sparkling for the Christmas yet to come.

Informal Cards Are Available

Shoppers who prefer neither elegant or sick Christmas cards will find the racks filled this season with exactly the kind they seek: the informal card.

These cards underplay sentiment, and have whimsical sometimes lightly tender cover drawings.

According to Mrs. Peggy Gilbert, design director at Norcross Studios, the informal was conceived in 1962 to lure people who didn't seem to be buying any cards. Priced at five, ten, and 15 cents, the little cards made a hit, particularly with the teenage crowd that didn't want to buy a drippy card and had tired of Christmas caricatures.

Now, says Mrs. Gilbert, the demand has moved into the more expensive bracket for the same informals, at prices ranging from 25 to 50 cents.

The cards are appropriate for senders who yearn to write their own newsy note, for messages are short, and there's plenty of uncluttered area left available.

Typical of the informals is a card showing a tiny mouse asleep in a Christmas-decorated match box. The cover says "Not a creature was stirring," and the message concludes inside "Just me. . .wishing you Merry Christmas."

Artist Dreams Up Ideas To Help Please Children

WOODCLIFF, N. J. — (AP) — An artistic woman with a flair for whimsy and an instinct for knowing what children inevitably will like is hard at work dreaming up new ideas for Christmas pleasures.

She is Gloria Deppert, who a few years ago built a tree house for her own little girl, peopled with tiny animals, and made from a hollow log. The forest tree house caught on with customers at F.A.O. Schwartz, where Gloria showed her design, and Gloria followed by designing mouse houses — one for the city mouse, one for the country mouse.

Both houses contain appropriate furnishings that fit into a plywood case that can be carried by a child when the mouse goes traveling.

Then Gloria turned to game-making, came up with a "Margie Whoopie Game," and is now working on a board game for little children.

Her own children, particularly her eight-year-old Dahna, and children of the neighborhood, are part and parcel of the toy making business.

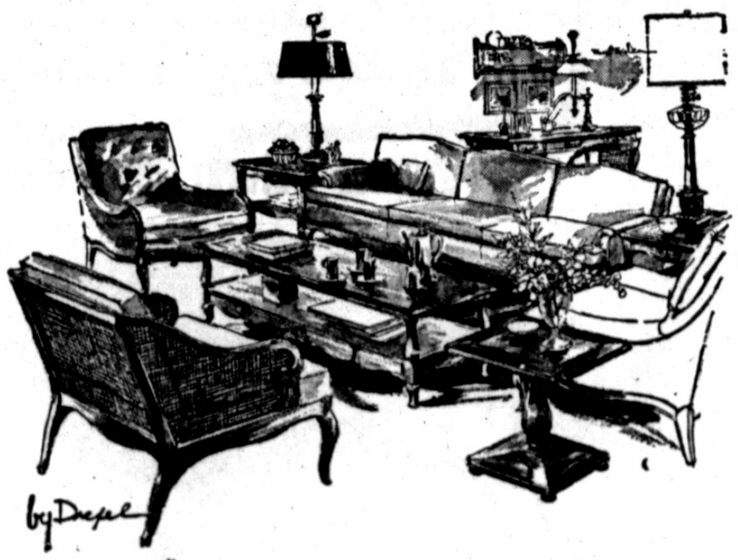

"I don't close the studio door when they come in from school," says Mrs. Deppert. "The children like to be on it. And in this way, I can try out my ideas on them, and see which appeal. Also, they're helpful because they are so candid."

Mrs. Deppert confesses she has "many irons in the fire. I do some painting, which can be described as contemporary impressionism, some sewing, and then these various toy ideas."

Before her marriage, Gloria studied at the Art Students League, and in France at the Fontainebleau School of Fine Art.

Uncle Sam Joins In Annual Seal Display With Stamps

Uncle Sam is in direct competition with those firms which turn out Christmas seals and stickers this year.

Uncle Sam's product, however has a two fold purpose. It not only adds a touch of the season's cheer to your Christmas packages and mail, but it also pays the fare for their delivery to the person to whom they are dispatched.

Uncle has tried his hand, in a less blatant manner, at this sort of thing in other Christmas seasons. In the past, however, he has been content to issue just one design for the Christmas mail. The designs have been quite attractive, but not to a degree similar to the stickers and seals that are used so freely on mail and parcels at this season.

This time, though, the post office is selling an assortment of Christmas postage stamps—four designs in all, printed in full color. One features the traditional holly and red holly berries. Another shows a sprig of mistletoe tied with a red ribbon. The third is the picture of the popular poinsettia — the accepted Christmas flower. The fourth pattern is a cluster of green pine needles with a dangling pine cone.

A. M. Porter, assistant postmaster, said the demand for the colorful stamps has been brisk since they were placed on sale a short time ago.

"We have plenty for everyone," said Porter. "There are 150,000 copies of the stamps in the post office vault. And, if we should run out, we can order additional stamps."

The post office employes are wondering if they will have to use their eyes a bit more this fall—they may have to make certain that the sticker on the letter they are running through the cancelling machine is one of Uncle Sam's special Yule Stamps and not a mere Christmas sticker.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo (AP) — There is a "Horse Sense" explanation for the wide streets in Colorado Springs. The chief engineer who laid out the town in pioneer days wanted lots of room for turning a double span of horses hauling huge freight wagons.

Where Santa Purchases His New Suit Of Clothes

If you've ever wondered what the well-dressed Santa Claus will wear, just ask Santa Claus Outfitters of Newark, N.J.

They've been making Santa Claus suits for more than 30 years and they sell thousands of costumes to Santas from all over.

The company begins making the suits in July each year. Most of the buying is done in November and December, but some enterprising Santas buy their suits in January—just to be ready for the next year in plenty of time.

The cheapest Santa suit costs $14 and is made of white cotton twill or gabardine with red trimming. At the other extreme is a velvet suit which sells for $150. In between, are costumes of plush, velours and pile.

Each suit comes equipped with its own beard and wig, and a company spokesman said the recent fashion boom for wigs should boost his sales. Seems even Santas are more wig-conscious these days.

The company says it sells to all kinds of Santas—from department stores, church and civic organizations and families who've drafted Dad for the job. There's a new type of Santa around, however, the suburban Santa. Many of the large housing developments in the suburbs select one resident to play the part of St. Nicholas and go around to every house.

Guidelines On Christmas Tree Purchase

What would Christmas be like without a tree?

And, almost as bad, what would Christmas be like with the wrong tree?

To make sure your tree adds as much as possible to the holiday spirit, here are a few guidelines.

Measure the size of the space you'll put the tree in. The American Christmas Tree Council suggests knowing exactly how high and how wide the area is. Don't use guesswork. It's hard to judge size when faced with hundreds of trees.

Decide what type of tree you want. Douglas fir is often preferred as a good, all-around purchase. Red cedar and Virginia pine trees are less expensive, and if you want to splurge, try blue spruce, white spruce or Scotch pine.

Study the tree itself. Look for fir that tapers nicely from a single tip. Check the color of the needles. Brown, dried up patches indicate needles have dropped off. Check to see if the tree is fresh by rubbing your finger across the bottom of the stump to test for sappy moisture.

According to U.S. standard grades, there are four categories for marking trees.

1. U.S. Premium: Fully branched trees, dense and symmetrical.
2. U.S. No. 1 (Select): Fairly dense branching, symmetrical with three complete faces.
3. U.S. No. 2 (Standard); Sparsely branched, with long clear stem area between whorls of branches, but symmetrical.
4. Culls: Trees with major defects.

Holiday Preparations Can Be More Enjoyable

Preparations for Christmas—including gift - giving, decorating and making a big family meal—can often be a problem, even for the most efficient hostess. Here are some hints which can make the holidays easier and more enjoyable:

Store Christmas candles in the refrigerator for 24 hours before using. They won't drip and will burn more evenly.

Holiday fruit cakes will keep indefinitely if they're properly wrapped and stored. A touch of orange juice sprinkled over the cake occasionally keeps it from drying out and adds extra flavor.

Remove cranberry spills from the tablecloth by immediately rubbing with an ice cube and then wash it.

Pine cones will gleam brightly if you place them on a piece of aluminum foil and put them in the oven at a very low temperature for a whort while.

Popcorn that is being used to trim the tree should stand in the air for a while so it loses its crispness and won't break during stringing.

Add color to homemade candles by melting crayons with the paraffin.

Use bonbons and cream cheese to make decorative roses for holiday eating. Thin cheese slightly with milk and add coloring. Take the tip of a teaspoon and arrange the cheese petals on the candy, smoothing from the top down.

Snow shovelling is easier if the shovel is rubbed with wax.

Anyone who grows herbs can make an unusual gift by wrapping small amounts of dried herbs in cheese cloth squares. Each square should provide enough seasoning for one use—like a pot of soup or some salad dressing.

When your telephone receiver is off the hook, your phone can't ring. It's closed to incoming calls. This kind of trouble we can't prevent.

TIME HAS COME TO GET STARTED

Make Your Own Holiday Cards

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

It's not that I'm rushing the seasons, but Christmas is here already for those camera fans who plan to make their own photographic greeting cards for this holiday.

In this age of jet speed propulsion, the time between Thanksgiving and the Yuletide seems to rush by at an increased pace leaving us less time to get things done. But a personal photographic card is so individualistic and so "right" for a photo fan that people look forward to receiving something different from a photographer. Consider this a warning to get started now!

Don't worry that you have to dream up a sensational, original creation or get involved in an elaborate Christmas setting featuring a tree with all the trimmings. What is appreciated is a simple, sincere photograph of someone or something meaningful to you or your family, pictured with a touch of imagination or expression.

It could be a photograph you've already taken on a vacation trip, a family outing or around the house. Do you have any picture that has special significance, one you'd like to share with others? If so you're one step ahead of the schedule. If not, you should plan a shooting session pronto.

Recently I discussed Christmas photography with Victor Keppler, one of the country's best-known photo illustrators and now director of Famous Photographers School of Westport, Conn. He, too, stresses the need for simplicity in arranging subject matter but also warns of the routine rut many photo fans fall into: messy backgrounds with stiff, posey children staring straight into the camera.

For better personal Christmas cards, Keppler lists these do's and don't's:

Don't line up the children formally in front of the fireplace or a Christmas tree. Do have them busy in natural action that makes a unified group picture possible.

Don't clutter up a picture by photographing too much. Look at the background and eliminate any article of furniture — chairs, sofa, lamps, TV set — that is unnecessary.

Don't back away to get more in. Do come in close — and then even closer.

Do use suggestion and imagination instead of a lot of props. A single Christmas tree branch is often better than a whole tree. One ornament, perhaps an angel, can pack a powerful picture punch if placed properly.

Don't let children stare at the camera. Divert their attention and try to evoke animation, a meaningful gesture.

Don't stand directly in front of the subject and shoot square on. Try off-beat camera angles — from atop a chair, from floor level or from the side.

Don't feel that all subjects have to be bubbling over with toothpaste smiles. If they're smiling naturally at a joke or amused over the proceeding — click away.

And, finally, do be alert for the accidental shot, an unexpected look, gesture, expression or action that may break all the rules but which makes a better picture than anything planned.

Greetings From Two Angels

A branch to suggest the Christmas tree, cherubic little Jo Ann and an angel ornament are the ingredients for a 1964 personal Yuletide card (strip above). This particular composition breaks some of the rules but Victor Keppler, director of the Famous Photography School, snapped it anyway.

Musical Houses

RUMSEY, Ky. (AP) — It sounded more like horse trading than house trading but —

Lloyd Vanover bought the house in which Jack Garner was living.

Garner then bought Doug Settle's place.

Settle completed the cycle by buying Vanover's house.

Children Of Other Times Would Puzzle Over Toys

If children from other times had a sneak preview of the contents of Santa's pack this Christmas, they might be a bit puzzled by the toys they saw.

In fact, they might even wonder if they could be called toys.

Today's manufacturers have outdone themselves in reproducing in miniature all aspects of living, playing and studying.

The latest in doll houses is an efficiency apartment of fiberboard whose furnishings convert from living room to bedroom, all of which can be packed into an equally efficient suitcase.

A very astute doll not only has a wardrobe for every occasion but has her own quarters consisting of kitchen, dinette and bedroom. In case she feels a case of wanderlust, she can take off in her own convertible with her matching luggage in the same color as her car's. For her education, she has her own schoolroom.

Another glamour - conscious doll has her own beauty parlor and tilting chair for shampoos and pivoting hood for drying the hair-do.

Automation has not escaped the toy designers, either. A computer, scaled to playroom size, is guaranteed to audit family bank statements. The playroom floor can be waxed with a battery-run polisher.
