$500 stolen here in Lucas safe burglary

Burglars broke into the Lucas Motor Co. Friday night, pried open the company safe with a chisel and a sledge hammer and escaped with $500 in cash and certificates of title to 95 used cars and company cars.

Sheriff E. E. (Gene) Gandy said Saturday morning that the job apparently was pulled "by professionals who brought their own tools."

The five-foot high safe, which is kept in a small supply room off the company office, was pulled out onto the office floor by the burglars, overturned on its back and then the door was pried open with a chisel and sledge.

The burglars overlooked about 50 inspection stickers in the safe.

A variety of business papers, of no use to the burglars, also were taken from the strong box.

The burglary was not discovered until employees arrived at the agency to open up Saturday morning.

Entrance to the building was gained by breaking out two small panes of glass in the big building. Evidently the burglars exited the same way as all doors were still locked at opening time.

The burglars stepped into some oil getting in and could be tracked over the building. Apparently, they were after only cash.

Lucas was busy this week getting another set of car titles for his used cars so he could get back into the used car business, preparatory to his launching a "Big Deal Sale" today on all remaining new 1975 models (See advertisement on Page 3.)

County Judge Giles W. Dalby and County Commissioners Ben Sanchez and Paul Jones "got in late" Tuesday night. In fact, they didn't get home until 1 a.m. yesterday after a busy two days of "politicking" in the nation's capital in support of an extension of federal revenue sharing.

Judge Dalby said yesterday he was encouraged over chances to get the extension through the House in some where near its present form though only two Texas congressmen voted for it five years ago when originally adopted and Eastern liberals are trying to cut out all cities and counties under 10,000 population.

Ten of 23-member Texas congressional delegation didn't even show up Monday night for a reception given in their honor by the Texas county officials in the Washington Hilton Hotel. That gives you some indication. Four gave the delegation a flat "no" to requests for their vote and support.

All told there were 1,100 county officials from all 50 states who flew into Washington for the rally for federal revenue sharing sponsored by the National Association of Counties. Texas, which had by far the biggest state delegation, flew in 240 from Dallas in two charter flights.

Arts, crafts fair to open

The Garza County Home Demonstration Council and Clubs are sponsoring a Cultural Arts and Crafts Fair Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22 in the 4-H building here. The fair will open at 1 p. m. on Friday and close at 7 p. m. On Saturday opening time will be 9 a. m. and run until 4 p. m.

Merchants and clubs from throughout several counties will display items for sale. Some items for sale will be Indian jewelry, pots, woodworking, baked goods, art, all kinds of homemade crafts, ect. The public is invited to come and browse.

George Ramage rites today

Funeral services for George Melton Ramage, 73, will be held today at 2:30 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of Post. The Rev. Jimmy Kennedy, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, and the Rev. Joseph Yates of Grassland will officiate the services.

Interment will be in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Hudman Funeral Home of Post. Mr. Ramage died Tuesday in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital where he was a patient for four days, following a heart attack.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Oct. 15, 1974. He was a member of the Baptist Church and had been a resident of Garza County for 33 years. He was a retired farmer in the Graham Community.

He is survived by three sons, Gerald and Billy of Post and Arlie of Spur; one brother, Taylor Ramage of San Angelo; and one sister, Mrs. Bert Bedwell of Lamesa.

Funeral services will be Bob Collier, Bobby Cowdrey, Jim Norman, Ronald Joe Babb, Ted Tatum and Noel White.

Honorary pallbearers will be Quanah Maxey, Ray Norman, Bryan Maxey and Dr. W. C. Wilson.

Boy, 15, gets his deer opening day

Mike Tatum, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Tatum, got his first deer the opening day of the season, by shooting an eight point buck, in Garza County.

The deer dressed out approximately 100 pounds. Mike got the deer just after daylight Saturday morning.

Exhibit by wildlife sculptor at bank here

An exhibition of bronze sculptures by Clark Bronson, one of America's best known sculptors of wild life, will be offered free to the public by the First National Bank in the bank lobby during banking hours Monday and Tuesday.

J. B. Potts said the exhibition which is currently touring the nation will feature a number of Bronson's bronzes, some of which have never before been exhibited in this area.

A native of Kamas, Utah, Bronson has been awarded membership in the National Academy of Western Art, the National Sculpture Society and the Society of Animal Artists.

More than a dozen bronzes representing two years work by Bronson are contained in the exhibit.

Born in 1939 in Kamas, Utah, at the foot of the Uinta Mountains, Bronson's love of the outdoors was nurtured by his game warden father and by nature itself.

Harvest under way, 4,000 bales ginned

By BETH SHORT
Garza County's cotton harvest is getting underway this week — a little slowly in some areas — with 3932 bales ginned or on the gin yards through Tuesday. If good weather holds, by next week the harvest should be in full swing.

In checking area gins, The Dispatch has learned that the cold weather early this fall, has taken its toll of cotton grades. As was expected and predicted, the micronaire was lowered on most cotton ginned so far, and the micronaire is a major determining factor in the selling price of the cotton.

Most gins are ginning cotton that was defoliated 10 days to two weeks ago, and will be getting cotton the freeze killed beginning some time next week. Most are only working one crew and estimate they will be adding another within the next two weeks.

The following is a list of area gins and the total cotton picture up to date:

Graham Coop Gin has ginned 335 bales, has 15 on the yard and reports that cotton is ginning pretty well with a fair 20 per cent turnout. Ted Aten, manager, reports that he is a little disappointed in the grades received for this year, since the cotton he has ginned is older, more mature cotton, that should have graded out better than it did. He hopes to be ginning round the clock by the middle of next week if the weather stays pretty.

Close City Coop Gin, with W. H. Childs manager, has ginned 270 bales to date and so far is staying caught up. All cotton is turning out about the average

Mathis rites are Wednesday

Funeral services for Leamon Henery Mathis, 82, a resident of the Garlynn Community for 59 years, were held Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of Post with Rev. J. B. Vickery of Lubbock and Glenn Reece, pastor of Post officiating.

Burial followed in Grassland Cemetery under direction of Hudman Funeral Home of Post.

Mr. Mathis was born Nov. 29, 1892, in Timpan, Texas and died Nov. 17 in Garza Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for several days. He was a member of the Baptist Church and a retired farmer.

He was married to Leta, Brookshire, May 31, 1916, in Shelby County, Texas.

He is survived by his wife of the home, three sons, Glenn and Bishop both of Post and Elton of Lockney; three brothers, four sisters, four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were Adrain Cook, Carl Stone, Ed Stone, Barney Frances, Charles Brookshire and Jimmy Brown.

Post Pantoja are held

Funeral services for Albert Pantoja, 88, a resident of Post, were held at 2 p. m. in the Holy Cross Church of Post with Jim O'Connor, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Pantoja died Thursday in Post at his home.

He was born in 1886 in Uvalde, he moved to Post in 1954. He married Emma June 29, 1916 in Post and he preceded him in death, July 6, 1975. He was a worker.

Survivors include four sons, Ernest of Post, Candido of El Paso, Ernest of Amarillo, and Daniel of Amarillo; daughters, Audencia Busness Guajardo and Louise of Post, Tommie Gon of Amarillo, Ceneida of Garden City, Balentina Carrizales of El Paso, and Audencia and Catrina Herrera, both of Post; a brother, Marcos of El Paso; 66 grand children, 10 great-grandchildren and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

Survivors were Sigundo Pantoja, Paul Bester, Samuel Pantoja, Nick Pantoja, Sebert Pantoja and John Pantoja.

Three suspects in probe $468 in forgeries

Mike Crawford says three suspects in the $468 in forgeries here a week ago when four Post checks were "fenced out" with forgeries on stolen Valley Gin checks.

One suspect already has been questioned in the case and has been scheduled for a lie detector test, Deputy Crawford said. None of the suspects live in Post.

All were cashed in four different Post stores the next morning by a black male between 20 and 25 years of age.

Attending the session were Ed Bruton, president, Will Parker, Gene Moore, Jimmy Mitchell, Curtis Hudman, Robert Cox, Midway, and Chamber Secretary Joy Greer.

Dr. W. C. Newberry of San Marcos, one of the nation's top humor speakers, will address the 1976 Chamber of Commerce banquet March 6.

He addressed the All Sports banquet here last spring. Announcement of the speaker and the banquet date was made at the November meeting of Chamber directors last Thursday noon in the Postex Plant conference room.

Walter Midway, chairman of the banquet committee, disclosed the information in making a progress report on banquet preparations.

Jimmy Mitchell, chairman of the Chamber's Christmas promotion committee, said his committee is just about ready to announce a brand new Christmas promotion for Post merchants.

Services were held Tuesday at 10 a. m. for Mrs. Emma Franklin, 94, a resident of the Pleasant Valley Community since 1914. Mrs. Franklin died Sunday in Garza Memorial Hospital.

Syd Wyatt and Bob Connel officiated the services. Burial followed in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Hudman Funeral Home of Post.

She was a lifelong member of the Church of Christ. She was born Aug. 7, 1881 in Bosque County, Texas.

She is survived by one son, Ershel, of Slaton, one sister, Mrs. Jack White of San Angelo, and two brothers, Levi Reed of San Antonio and Richard Reed, of Oregon.

Pallbearers were Virgil Smith, Billy Weaver, Jack Burkett, Joe Teague, Robert Lee Hagler, and Harley Martin. The family requested that all memorials be made to Lubbock Children's Home.

Our school page coverage

Any newspaper tries to improve its product for its readers — and The Dispatch constantly tries to concern itself in this area. We are not always successful of course, but by working at it we manage some progress from time to time.

One of our problems in recent years has been our school coverage. We have staffed school board meetings for 18 years. That is not the problem. And for a country weekly our size, we have emphasized and developed the best sports page of any paper twice our size in West Texas. So that is no problem either.

One of our areas for concern has been our school page. Over the years we weren't getting good solid coverage of high school affairs.

Our best answer was to turn the job over to an advanced typing class and hope some writing talent developed. But it was out of range of The Dispatch's news office and we found it depended entirely upon how interested one, two or maybe three youngsters became in journalism.

So last summer we decided to change our approach. When the Vocational Office Education program developed here, we decided that this was for us.

We noted a youngster with writing talent in last year's journalism class. She is Nan Hair, a senior. We not only hired her through the new office training program to be our student editor for the 1975-76 school year, but we hired her to write a weekly youth column all last summer.

We've had a lot of readers — many of them parents of course, but many who weren't — actually ask us if Nan wrote all those columns herself, or if we edited them heavily.

We told the truth. Nan writes all her own stuff and it goes in the paper like she writes it.

Came fall and we thought we had our school coverage problem licked. Nan decided to take journalism class as well as the afternoon VOE class which brought her to work at The Dispatch at 2 p. m. each school day.

Nan quickly learned to operate our Polaroid camera and lined up and took her own pictures. We told Nan what we wanted — some good solid reporting of school news, and sat back to await developments.

They weren't long in coming, but they were quite different from what we expected. Evidently, our decision to control the school page at The Dispatch caused Nan problems in journalism class.

But we hope things now start working out better. Nan this week is out of the journalism class. She remains editor of the school page — and will continue to be — for which she receives a weekly pay check.

The reporters of the various school organizations have only to give their reports to Nan and she will get them on the school page.

Her job is to write stories, take pictures, write the headlines and layout the school page. It's quite an assignment but for an energetic gal like Nan, who has both talent and interest, it shouldn't be all that hard.

Our only problem to date was coverage of the all-school play. Nan was in the hospital undergoing tests that week and missed it. We had figured her to write the story and came up without one. We can only offer our apologies to the fine cast and Miss Diane Lewallen the extremely able play director, for that.

We think probably we are to blame for Nan's problems in journalism, but now that situation has been changed we hope it is back to a bigger and better school page.

We wish to make it clear that our problem has not been with the school administration in any way. They have been fair with Nan and The Dispatch.

So for all the kids in high school, we just want you to know where The Dispatch stands — right behind School Page Editor Nan, that's where.

United Fund needs YOU

This is the mid-drive editorial for the Garza United Fund Drive for 1976.

It's going well. At this Tuesday writing, we were nearing the halfway mark to our $10,725 goal and had passed the $5,000 mark.

In the total so far is almost $1,200 paid or pledged by Postex Plant employees, another $500 from Post teachers, and a 100 per cent response by First National Bank employees totaling $236.50.

That makes good reading. There's a new contributor or two already in the big business division. Many divisions have yet to report. Right now it looks good.

But the point which needs emphasizing is that the $10,725 goal will require every possible contribution and will take a post-Thanksgiving cleanup to reach, if it is reached.

There is no way to just sail over the goal. It takes a lot of hard work. So if you haven't made your United Fund contribution when you read this don't think that contribution of yours isn't needed. It's all needed and all put to good community use.

So give generously. If you're thankful for the way things are for you and yours this Thanksgiving, then give generously. We need YOU very badly.

Cagers start tonight

Interest is growing here in basketball as the Lopes and Does now have become district contenders on a more or less regular basis.

To us it is another good indication of a sound Post school cage program as well as a productive football program.

With another round ball season due to get under way here tonight, The Dispatch wishes all local cage teams well. And when we say all — well, that really includes a whole bunch.

The coaches always give us good cooperation in providing news coverage of sporting events — and this is especially needed in basketball where most game are written out of score books because they are too many to watch to see them all.

We're sure it's going to be a "fun winter" in the gym.

Statebeat

By KURT E. JOHNSON

AUSTIN — Vice president Nelson Rockefeller visited Texas this week, and at a fact-finding conference held at the Hilton in the capital city he heard numerous complaints from citizens regarding the cumbersome government. He noted, "What I hear people saying is that they're tired of government red tape."

One got the feeling that the Vice President wasn't being told anything he didn't already know. When Governor Briscoe indicated that Texas was holding its own in energy consumption as compared to energy production, Rocky obviously was in the position of having to be thankful for the Lone Star State's oil reserves.

What it all boils down to is the fact that a politician has to be tough-skinned during tough times, and it isn't easy.

And tough times are coming — for Texans. The vocal state comptroller, Bob Bullock, has announced that on the basis of preliminary figures the state will have to pass a $2 million tax bill when the legislature reconvenes in 1977. It is noteworthy that the state's Little Hoover Commission (Chaired by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby) which was set up by Briscoe to find out ways to cut state spending, will have to cut out a lot of meat with the fact if a sum like that is going to be neutralized.

Sentiment in the legislature is already quite clear. The money will unquestionably come through an elevated sales tax rather than a personal income tax. Probably the most positive thing consumers in Texas can hope for is that certain items will be excluded, such as groceries and utilities. A fact of record in Austin, for example, is that the cost of electricity on a one-bedroom apartment cost $17 ten years ago. Today that same apartment would demand $77 for that same month's worth of electricity. The increase is over 400 per cent.

Interested citizens who are smart enough to see a hemungous sales tax coming should start letting it be known that the taxes ought to be limited to luxuries purchased by consumers, not necessities.

STATEBEAT previously reported that a court test in Texas' highest black-robed room will determine whether the University of Texas can add onto its law school without prior approval of either the legislature or the College Coordinating Board.

The University (and former governor Shivers) say yes. The present Governor says no. The architects want to get paid. The law school wants to increase its enrollment.

Irony is the word for the fact that only this week a report out of Washington, D. C. indicated that there are now too many lawyers in the nation, even to the extent that without some unforeseen occurrence the courtroom crusaders will find 20 per cent of their number in some other work for the next 15 years.

You would think, in the face of those numbers, that either the school or the students would look at the numbers and see what they have to lose. Legal contacts at the capitol have told me that this one could go either way in the Supreme Court, however, so we'll just have to wait and see.

A significant side-note is that the judges on the benches who decide questions like these have a significant percentage of their number who are alumni of the school. I don't say that the fact means anything. Just take it for what it's worth.

The on-again, off-again, on-again impeachment trial of O. P. Carrillo in the Senate is on again, but will likely be off again before the week is out.

In a previous column, STATEBEAT reported that Carillo's defense attorney, Arthur Mitchell, took some of the prosecution witnesses apart at the seams when they tried to prove that the Duval County Judge was dipping into food welfare funds. Well now the prosecution (also known as the House Board of Managers and headed up by Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi) wants to postpone the proceedings until after January. It seems that the Judicial Qualifications Commission might do some damage to Carillo before then, and the Board of Managers needs all the help it can get.

The House committee's attorney, by the way, had argued previously against a delay in the interest of speedy Senate justice. But since the new constitution didn't pass on November 4, the Senate will still have the power after January 1 to impeach district judges, a power it would not have retained under the new law treaty.

It all goes to show that impeachment trials are like everything else in politics: issues are rarely decided on the merits alone.

New handbook out on plants

COLLEGE STATION — Agricultural producers as well as homeowners are often faced with different plant disease problems and don't know just where to turn. Now there's a handbook available with most of the answers.

The Texas Plant Disease Handbook which was initially published in 1973 has been revised and updated to deal with new disease problems and treatments as well as to give concise information on all the diseases of major Texas crops, ornamentals, trees and turf.

The information in this handbook represents the most complete discussion on plant diseases in Texas," points out Dr. Wendell Horne, plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "The 332-page handbook is filled with descriptions of the various plant diseases, recommendations for chemical control, and resistant varieties that are available."

The handbook is available from the Department of Agricultural Communications at Texas A&M University at $7.50 per copy. County Extension agents have an office copy for those who wish to examine the handbook prior to ordering.

STATEMENT OF NONDISCRIMINATION

The Dickens County Electric Cooperative Inc., has filed with the Federal Government a Compliance Assurance in which it assures the Rural Electrification Administration that it will comply fully with all requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Agriculture issued thereunder, to the end that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, or be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination in the conduct of its program and the operation of its facilities. Under this Assurance, this organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or to other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meetings of beneficiaries and participants or the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization.

Any person who believes himself, or any specific class of individuals, to be subjected by this organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Act and the Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may, by himself or a representative, file with the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250, or the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D. C. 20250, or this organization, or all, a written complaint. Such complaint must be filed not later than 180 days after the alleged discrimination, or by such later date to which the Secretary of Agriculture or the Rural Electrification Administration extends the time for filing. Identity of complainants will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations.

NOTICE OF HEARING

H. H. Huntley of Box 230, Luling, Texas (A75-1104-006) is scheduled to appear at a hearing at 1 p.m. on January 13, 1976, in the offices of the Texas Health Facilities Commission, One Highland Center, Suite 450, Austin, Texas, to petition the Commission for a Certificate of Need to build Huntley Convalescent Center, a 90 bed, ICF III nursing home in Post, Texas.

A notice of intent to contest the application may be made by filing a sworn affidavit of intent to do so with the Commission no later than 5 p.m. on December 15, 1975.

Any person may also file with the Commission a request to become a party to the application. Such request should be in affidavit form and should detail the reasons supporting such request. A request may be accepted for determination by the Chairman of the Commission no later than 5 p.m. on December 29, 1975. The Chairman will inform the requesting person within 3 days of the receipt of such request of the acceptance or rejection of the application.

NOTE: If no notice of contest has been timely filed or if no application to become a party has been timely granted, the Commission may, on request of the applicant, proceed without a hearing on an application for Certificate of Need. Such uncontested case request may be considered by the Commission at any date after the expiration of timely filing of the notice of intent to contest and for making application to become a party.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO ENGAGE IN WEATHER MODIFICATION ACTIVITIES

Notice is hereby given that the Colorado River Municipal Water District, 400 East 24th Street, Big Spring, Texas 79720, who holds License No. 76-5 of the State of Texas, issued December 18, 1974, and renewed September 1, 1975, intends to engage in an operation to change or attempt to change by artificial methods the natural development of atmospheric cloud forms for and on behalf of the Colorado River Municipal Water District P. O. Box 869, Big Spring, Texas 79720, and will conduct the program of weather modification designed to increase precipitation by means of the aerial application of silver iodide or other artificial nuclei as follows:

1. The area over, or within which, equipment may be operated shall include the counties of Lynn, Garza, Kent, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Glasscock, Sterling and Coke.

2. The target area, within which the precipitation is intended to be enhanced, can be described as follows:

The boundary may be described by a line beginning at a point of origin at Big Spring, Texas, and running along Highway 1 in a northwesterly direction to Lamesa, thence north-northeast on Highway 87 to the north border of Dawson County, thence east along the north border of Dawson, Borden, and Scurry Counties to Highway 84; thence southeast along Highway 84 to Roscoe, in Nolan County; thence south-southeast to Marnell; thence southwest to Silver in Coke County; thence south-southwest to Highway 87 at a point approximately 13 miles north-west of Sterling City; thence northwesterly along Highway 87 to the point of origin at Big Spring, Texas.

3. The materials, equipment and methods to be used in conducting the operation within this area of approximately 3500 square miles include a 3 cm radar system, cloud seeding aircraft, and the application of silver iodide ice nuclei, hygroscopic nuclei or other nuclei considered appropriate to the artificial nucleation of clouds or weather systems.

4. The person in charge of this program shall be Owen H. Ivie, Colorado River Municipal Water District, Big Spring, Texas.

5. The program will be operational during the period from March 1st to November 30 during the years 1976, 1977, 1978 and 1979.

6. Any persons who feel they may be affected in some adverse way by this program may file a complaint with the Texas Water Development Board P. O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Signed: Owen H. Ivie
Colorado River Municipal Water District.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN — State government ended its 1975 fiscal year with a record cash surplus of more than $1.4 billion, but if the legislature continues its spending ways it may not last long.

This was the good news and the bad news of Comptroller Bob Bullock last week as he released his annual financial report for the fiscal year which closed August 31.

"We're in the best shape ever for now," said Bullock. "But our analysis consistently shows that if spending increases as usual in 1977, we will face a tax bill in the $1 billion range."

The Legislature this year passed a $12.1 billion biennial appropriations bill.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe and others have predicted that, with reasonable economies and continuing high yield from sales and oil and gas taxes, a major state tax bill can be avoided in 1977 as in the last two legislatures.

Bullock said the state had $6.9 billion in the last fiscal year to meet an expenditure level of $5.5 billion.

Revenues, the Comptroller said, increased 13 percent over 1974 income — reaching $5.7 billion.

"The real story," said Bullock, "is that revenue increased because of inflationary prices while the tax base remained the same. Spending jumped 21 percent over the previous year. If legislators want to increase spending another 25 to 30 percent in the next biennium, they had better have that billion dollar tax bill ready."

GOP Moving

Texas Republicans outlined major plans for 1976 campaign activities at a meeting here recently.

The State GOP Executive Committee approved Chairman Ray Hutchison's proposal to establish a powerful new executive campaign committee and central political fund.

Special recruiting committees were also appointed to seek out qualified congressional and legislative candidates.

Republicans decided to conduct their presidential preference primary on a congressional district basis. Ninety-six of the 100 GOP delegates will be elected at the polls May 1, and only four will be picked at the June 19 state party convention in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Pat Archer, wife of Houston Congressman Bill Archer, was elected new GOP National Committeewoman to succeed Mrs. Rita Bass Clements of Dallas who resigned.

Hutchison named Ernest Angelo of Midland to head the new 15-member GOP executive campaign committee. Bob Flournoy of Lubbock was designated vice chairman.

SOUP AND BREAD SATISFY "THE BASIC FOUR"

Food preferences change with the seasons and nothing appeases cold weather appetites like a steaming bowl of hearty chowder.

Most people associate chowder with New England, but the real origin of this thick fish soup is the coast of France. To celebrate a good catch the fishermen would prepare huge quantities of fish stew in heavy cauldrons (chaudieres) from which the name "chowder" was eventually derived.

A robust soup can easily be a meal in itself. Our savory Tuna Chowder incorporates foods from three of the four Basic Food Groups—tuna from the Meat Group, milk from the Dairy Group, plus a variety of vegetables from the Fruit & Vegetable Group. In addition, this wholesome soup is low in saturated fat and cholesterol since it is made with skim milk and Fleischmann's 100% Corn Oil Margarine. As for flavor, it's satisfying and delicious.

To round out your menu all you need is a serving from the Bread & Cereal Group! Hot biscuits or rolls make the perfect accompaniment for this terrific homemade chowder.

TUNA CHOWDER
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) Fleischmann's 100% Corn Oil Margarine
2 cups chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 cups diced raw potatoes
1 can (16-ounce) stewed tomatoes
1-1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
1/4 teaspoon ground thyme
1/4 cup un sifted flour
6 cups skim milk
2 cans (7-ounce each) tuna, well drained

2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Melt margarine in a large saucepot. Add onion and celery and saute over medium-high heat until tender, about 8 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add potatoes, tomatoes, salt, pepper and thyme. Cover and cook over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally, until potatoes are tender, about 20 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in flour. Add skim milk, tuna and parsley. Return to heat and heat until mixture thickens slightly, stirring constantly. Makes 10 servings.

The Consumer Alert
by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Have you ever tangled with a creditor's computer over a possible billing error? If so, you may have received computer "dunning" letters long after you notified the creditor of the error.

But our Attorney General's Consumer Protection lawyers point out that since October 28 new amendments to the federal Fair Credit Billing Act have been in effect to help both consumers and merchants when there is a billing dispute.

According to these provisions, if a consumer disagrees with his bill he must notify the creditor as soon as possible, or at least within 60 days after the bill was mailed. Then, in the next 30 days the creditor must either correct the error or acknowledge the complaint.

The next phase of the process is that within 90 days after receiving notification of a billing dispute, the creditor must either correct the error or explain why he feels the bill is accurate.

The consumer doesn't have to pay the part of the bill in question during this period, but must pay the remainder of the bill. And the creditor cannot pressure for payment of the disputed amount, nor can he report an unpaid debt to credit reporting agencies. In addition, the creditor is required to notify customers twice a year of these procedures for resolving billing disputes.

And consumers and merchants now also have some protection when there are problems involving merchandise that was bought from the merchant but charged to a major credit card issuer, such as a national bank card.

In the past, when a consumer bought merchandise and charged it to a credit card company, but later found it defective, he might have had a problem if the local merchant refused to repair or replace the item. That's because the credit card company wasn't required by law to be accountable to the buyer for any problems with the merchandise.

Now, however, the credit card company is responsible for settling disputes when the buyer and the merchant cannot solve their differences. This means that a consumer can withhold payment to the credit card company for the amount of the item in dispute, if the following conditions are met:

- *The item must have cost more than $50.
- *The item must have been bought in the consumer's home state or, if not, within 100 miles of his mailing address. This limitation protects the local merchant who would have difficulty resolving the problem across long distances. Nationwide chain stores, though, are not exempt under this provision. They are covered no matter where the buyer lives.

*Most important, the buyer must first have made an honest effort to settle the problem with the merchant who sold the merchandise. In many cases, the dispute is due to a minor misunderstanding, which can be resolved quickly.

In other cases, the consumer may want to register a complaint with our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or the county or district attorney, if he feels false, deceptive, or misleading trade practices were used in the transaction.

Frequently when we paint pictures on the canvas of memory, the colors run together in such a fashion as to combine dreams and reality.

American's First Holiday

Although the Pilgrims of the Massachusetts Colony celebrated the first Thanksgiving in 1621, the traditional Thanksgiving held on the last Thursday in November was established by proclamation by President George Washington in 1789. Our first President and the Congress agreed to establish a day of public thanksgiving to offer thanks in the tradition of our Pilgrim forefathers for the opportunity to establish a nation based on the principles of freedom. As we approach the 200th Anniversary of the United States, we should pause and be grateful for the opportunity to live in a land where peace and freedom are our sacred rights guaranteed in a Constitution and based on a tradition which was started more than 350 years ago by a group of Pilgrims seeking religious freedom in a new land.

Post wins district title share, loses playoff draw

Thumps Tahoka, 41-2, to wind up fine 9-1 season

Coach Bobby Davis' Post Lopes won one and lost one Friday night.

They closed out one of the finest seasons in Post football history by thrashing the Tahoka Bulldogs 41-2 to win a third share of the District SAA grid championship and finish the 1975 campaign with a record of nine wins in 10 starts.

That was the win. The loss came about two hours after the game at Slaton's school administrative offices when Slaton drew its way into the post-season playoffs over Post and Denver City.

The three teams finished in a three-way tie for the district crown with 5-1 slates as Slaton walloped winless Frenship 32 to 0 at Slaton and Denver City had rallied to come from behind at Roosevelt in the final minutes to defeat the Eagles, 19 to 16.

The co-championship was the first title effort by Post since its 1966 district and bi-district championship team.

Quarterback Bryan Davis, who passed for two touchdowns and scored a pair himself Friday night in the final game of his fine high school career, made his last high school touchdown run his longest ever.

That came in the fourth period with 7:32 left when he raced 99 yards for Post's sixth and final TD.

Jimmy Dorland had just ended Tahoka's only real threat by intercepting a Bulldog pass on the Post one-yard-line.

Davis then fired a pass from the end zone that fell incomplete before taking the snap and sailing around his left end on a keeper.

Tahoka's secondary converged on him on the east sideline at about the 25, but the long-legged Lopec quarterback, who has made long scoring runs his specialty this season, spun free. Then it was a matter of a 75 yard race for the goal line. That was no contest as Bryan picked up a bevy of Lopec blockers en route who rudely discouraged all pursuit.

Just as spectacular from the point of view of Lopec fans were the two long scoring strikes Davis threw.

The first came midway in the opening quarter and produced the first Lopec touchdown. From the Tahoka 46, Davis threw over the middle for 15 yards to Dorland who managed to break loose from the grasp of the Bulldog safety and race 31 yards untouched into the end zone.

Garland Dudley converted. The drive covered 65 yards.

The other pass was entirely different.

With 5:07 left in the second period Davis found Dudley all by himself behind the Bulldog secondary with an accurate throw and the senior halfback raced the rest of the way to complete the 64-yard touchdown play.

Dudley had his biggest scoring night of the season with two touchdowns and three out of four extra points for a total of 15 points in his final game.

The Tahoka victory marked the last football game in a Lopec uniform for 13 seniors, 10 of them starters on either offense or defense.

They are besides Davis and Dudley, Tailback Edward Price; Duke Bell, noseguard and defensive secondary; Alfred Pena, stellar linebacker who transferred in for his final year; George Hester, center and linebacker; Johnny McCowen, guard; Ray Martinez, guard; four tackles, Benny Greene, Dale Odom, Oscar Sanchez and Jay Strawn, and split end and safety Mike Shepherd.

After Davis passed to Dorland for the first touchdown, this is how the rest of the game went:

The Lopes held Tahoka after Buddy Britton's next kickoff through the end zone. Split End Leslie White went back to kick on fourth and long and dropped the snap from center. Lopec tackle Dale Odom covered the loose ball and Post had an easy shot from the Tahoka 15 for its second touchdown.

Price sipped the entire distance on the first play from scrimmage, but this time Dudley's conversion kick was wide left. It was Post 15, Tahoka 0 with 2:46 in the quarter.

Post got its third touchdown with a drive starting on the

Lopes lead district in offense, defense

The Post Antelopes led District SAA in both offense and defense for the 1975 grid season as well as for only games involving district opponents.

Coach Bobby Davis' club scored 272 points for the 10-game season while giving up only 43, and tallied 179 of those in district play while permitting 30 to district opponents.

Slaton's Tigers were second in defense giving up 93 points in 10 games and 44 for the six district contests. Slaton also was second best offensively for the season — 184 points — but ranked behind Denver City's 152 with only 135 in six district starts. Denver City had only 175 for the season, but played several AAA schools before getting into district competition. The Mustangs were third in defense with 105 points given up for the season and 55 in district play.

Roosevelt was fourth both in offense 172 and 114 points and defense 184 and 115.

The Dispatch's unofficial grid statistics on the Lopes' 1975 season show Tailback Edward Price was Post's leading rusher with 889 yards on 164 carries in 10 games for a 5.42 yards per carry average.

Quarterback Bryan Davis was a close second with 829 yards on 101 carries — 8.3 less than Price — for an 8.20 yards per carry average.

Butch Booth, reserve fullback, had the best yards per carry average with 11.50 but his action was limited to two carries in the final game against Tahoka after being promoted from the junior varsity.

Other Lopec ball carriers and their individual rushing statistics are:

Randall Wyatt 269 yards in 54 carries for a 4.98 average; Garland Dudley 174 yards in 27 carries for a 6.44 average; Perry Rogers 187 yards in 46 carries for a 4.07 average; Jimmy Dorland 163 yards in 36 carries for a 4.52 average; Randy Baker 97 yards in 22 carries for a 4.40 average; Booth 23 yards in two for 11.50.

Late in the period, Mike Shepherd recovered a Tahoka fumble on the Tahoka 14, but holding and too much time penalties were too much to overcome although Price broke loose for a 15-yarder as Tahoka held for downs.

Post got the ball back in the final minute on the Tahoka 24 when the Bulldogs gambled and lost on a fourth down play. Two running plays put the ball on the Bulldog 14 where the game — and the season — ended.

Thanks mainly to his 99-yard scoring dash, Davis led the Lopec rushers with 138 yards rushing in eight carries.

Price had 81 yards in 14 carries with five of his runs going from 11 to 15 yards.

Other Lopec rushers included Wyatt with 26 yards in eight carries, Dorland four yards in one, Butch Booth 23 yards in two carries, Perry Rogers three yards in one, Dudley 13 in one, and Brad Shepherd a minus six yards in six tries.

Davis completed three of four passes for 147 yards, and Shepherd completed one in three for five yards and had one intercepted.

The Lopec defense held Tahoka to a minus 11 yards net rushing in the third period and only a net 58 for the game.

The playoff berth was a tough one for the Lopes to lose in the draw at Slaton Friday night after such an outstanding Post football season.

But if the Lopes didn't get the chance to go we prefer Slaton's Tigers getting the opportunity as they haven't been in a playoff game in 40 years.

Anson captured district 6AA by defeating Ballinger 13-7 Friday night and will play in the bi-district game with Slaton at 7:30 p. m. Friday in Snyder.

After all, the Tigers did beat Post here 12-7 even though you probably won't find a Post fan who believes they could do it again. They did it when Wild Bill McCleskey, the district's leading scorer, broke away on long scoring runs twice in the last six minutes.

They opened their district season with Denver City, Post and Roosevelt for their first three games and lost only to the Mustangs who came from behind for a 10-7 win late in the fourth period.

We wouldn't want Denver City in bi-district after that 33 to 0 thumping we gave them here Halloween night. So it had to be Slaton as a sentimental second choice. We wish the Tigers good luck.

Two things before we close out the 1975 football season. The Antelope Marching Band came on strong just like the football team and always made Post fans proud with a great halftime show.

The other little thing are those state high school rankings.

After you lose and drop out of the newspaper polls you seldom ever climb back in, but the state-ranking Harris poll is different. They give each team a composition point score.

Before Post's final 41-2 win over Tahoka, the Post Lopes had climbed back into a three-way tie for 11th in the Class AA division of the Harris poll with Winnboro and McGregor with a 129.8 point ranking. Slaton's victory earlier had knocked the Lopes out of the top ten of all the polls.

This week's Harris poll won't be out until we've gone to press, but last week Post ranked ahead of Ballinger who was 17th with a 127.8 point ranking.

Post Does open season here tonight

Coach John Morrow's Post Does open the winter "round ball derby" here tonight with a cage tripleheader with Abernathy.

The ball will be thrown up for the freshman girls of the two schools at 5:30 p. m. with the junior varities competing in the middle game and the two varsity clubs playing the main feature about 8 p. m.

Coach Morrow plans to open the campaign with letter girls in all six positions, three of them returning starters from last year's club.

Lopes open cage season at Shallowater Friday

Coach John Alexander's Post Antelope cagers will open their 1975-76 winter season Friday night at Shallowater in the final game of a tripleheader involving A and B boys teams and the varsity girls.

The Lopes then will journey to Idalou next Tuesday night for their second and final game before the Thanksgiving vacation weekend puts a halt to the cage schedule for a few days.

Varsity and B girls and the Lopes are involved in the Tuesday night triple cage bill.

Coach Alexander says his three returning regulars — Bryan Davis and Mike Shepherd, seniors, and Junior postman, Mike Waldrup — are sure starters.

He will choose the other two starters from Edward Price, only other letterman, and Garland Dudley, seniors, and Jimmy Dorland and Kyle Duren, juniors.

The Lopes have 19 boys out which means Post would rate a two-point favorite over Ballinger (before its loss to Anson) and ahead of Floydada with a 127.6 for 18th place. No other district SAA teams, including Slaton or Denver City, were in the top 20. Only Olton in this area was rated in the top ten.

OMAR BURLINSON, M. C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "Public Opinion" is tested by pollsters on about every subject of what they perceive to be of national interest. Surveys and polls on everything from what the cat likes best to how well the president is doing seem to be a constant process.

According to George Gallup of the Gallup Poll, the pollsters are beginning to run into trouble and he says that there is a threat to the long-term viability of the profession. There is no doubt that the constant and all-pervasive sampling of public opinion on matters of high national policy has, at times, distorted the political processes. It has been suggested that people are being "turned off" to some of the opinion-takers who are surveyed because they believe their advice and opinions count for nothing.

This does not relate to how well the cat likes a certain food or what the man or woman on the streets may think about floor waxes. The usefulness of opinions in marketing, if objectively made, is not disputed. When it gets into the political realm, however, samplings are another thing. Policy-makers and those who must make weighty decisions are not to make them on the basis of what the pollsters say they find out. Decisions of this nature must be "one by a process of persuasion and education that public opinion supports. There is no such thing as instant democracy which could, if carried to extremes, pervert responsibility. It could, in the extreme, represent an abdication of basic responsibility if decisions are made by the findings of the pollsters. Certainly not all services of whatever nature are slanted towards a preconceived result but it might be nice if they would let us be surprised for once by the workings of our systematic processes. In some instances, it might be best that Government wasn't being told all the time what the "people" want so that it could better serve the people.

In recent years it has been the practice of politicians to run a survey on how well their election chances might be. Four years ago, a Congressman from Iowa had a survey conducted which told him he could not win a seat in the United States Senate. The poll indicated the incumbent Senator could not be defeated. The House Member's Administrative Assistant thought otherwise. He announced and was elected. Of course, this does not conclusively prove everything, with all the factors which may be involved, but it may prove something.

Last week, the well-known Louis Harris poll, taken among a nationwide section of adults, reports that a "massive 69-18 per cent" of the American people favor Federally guaranteed loans to New York City. The question was conditioned on the premise, "If New York City balances its budget."

The leadership in the House of Representatives quotes the Harris poll and entered it into the Congressional Record. In their publicity they said, "There is little doubt that the American people are solidly in support of Federal assistance to New York City. The approach of guaranteeing future loans to the city by the Federal Government is viewed by the public as a much more preferable way of handling the financial crisis of that City than to allow it to default and go bankrupt."

The poll, it is stated, was made in all regions of the country — in cities, suburbs, towns and rural areas and among all age groups — Republicans, Democrats and Independents. In all fairness to the poll, it should be noted that the survey reports that Americans are willing to give Federal guarantees to the city only "under stiff and firm terms". Those stiff and firm terms are not very clearly defined and certainly they are not guaranteed to work. It should also be noted that the poll was paid for by New York State sources and was done in six days.

This is the sort of thing we are urged to support by reason of a pollster's conclusions. Our judgement is certainly not infallible but whatever opinion is reached will not be influenced by the Harris Poll.

Texas Farm Bureau to meet

SAN ANTONIO — Some 1,500 persons, including more than 1,000 voting delegates, are expected to attend the 42nd annual meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau at the Convention Center here Nov. 30-Dec. 3.

Highlighting the convention will be an address by Gov. Dolph Briscoe at the general session on Monday morning, Dec. 1. TFB President Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart will also speak at the session.

Policies to guide the state's largest general farm organization next year and recommendations on national policies will be adopted during the final two days of the meeting. Election of directors and president will be the final order of business.

The Texas Farm Bureau has 180,470 member families in 210 organized county Farm Bureaus. The number of voting delegates from a county is based on the total number of members in that county.

20 per cent, but he reports low micronaire also on the grades received there, too. Farmers in the Close City area will be getting underway with harvest by the middle of next week. A large portion of the cotton in this area has also been defoliated and there is some late cotton due to the hail received late in the planting season, so some will be waiting to begin pulling.

Planters Gin here in Post, has only ginned 55 bales, but Buck Craft, manager, reports that most of the cotton below the cap is late cotton, due to planting being held up both by dry weather and some hail received late in the planting season. He hopes to begin ginning full time within the next two weeks.

Storie Gin, Lonnie Peel manager, has ginned 93 bales and will hopefully get started full time within the next week to 10 days. Most cotton in this area is late cotton and has been defoliated. Since the freeze, which causes the moisture in cotton to be higher, most are waiting for some warm weather to dry it out again before they start pulling.

Southland Gin, formerly the Basinger Gin, bought this year by H. R. Donaldson of Slaton, has ginned 550 bales and has some 40 to 50 on the yard. He is only using one crew, but hopes to start full time within the next week. He reports some pretty good grades, mostly white cotton so far in his area.

The Hackberry Gin, with Gene Beck manager, has ginned more cotton than most having ginned 1800 bales with 140 bales on the yard. He has had two crews working for the last week and reports that farmers in his area are really into the harvest. He installed a new cotton press in his gin during the summer, which turns out a finished bale, the same size as a bale that has been through a compress. The bale is then wrapped in polypropylene and only stored at a compress. Grades there are about average and as the rest of the county also reports low micronaire. Cotton that he has sold has brought between 35 and 42 cents a pound.

The Pleasant Valley Gin has ginned 300 bales, has 15 on the yard and expects to be into full swing by the middle of next week, if the weather holds. The Grassland Coop has been honored at this time. They are Sandra Bostick and Joe Neal Clary. Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bostick. Joe Neal's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Neal Clary.

The Gold Star Award is the highest county award a 4-H member can receive, and is based on outstanding achievement, leadership and contribution to the county 4-H program. To qualify for the special award, a 4-Her must be at least 13 years of age, have completed at least three years of club work and be currently active in 4-H. The Gold Star Award is intended to stimulate winners through higher achievements and to encourage other young people to participate in the county 4-H program.

The banquet is sponsored by Caprock, Lighthouse, Lone Wolf, Lyntegar, Midwest, and South Plains Electric Cooperatives. The speaker will be Charles W. Steaholm general manager of Stamford Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Stamford, and past president of Texas Electric Cooperative Inc.

Special guests will include parents, adult leaders, Extension Service officials, representatives of electric cooperatives and other supporters of the 4-H program.

The Thanksgiving holiday rush," Cornish said. "Usually we have to wind it up and go all out for the goal just when folks are beginning to zero in on Christmas."

J. B. Potts, who heads the business division, reported $2,985 Tuesday afternoon. This division topped $7,000 last year and is trying for the same mark this year.

"Our goal each year is just about all we can raise," Cornish pointed out. He said to be successful, the drive will need a "strong finish as well as a good start."

The drive goal is $10,725. Division chairmen are asked to get their initial reports and turn-ins to Cornish by next Tuesday.

ginned 509 bales to date with only one crew working. Their turnout is average, with a reported low micronaire. No problems with the cotton ginning, some green bolls, but not as many since the freeze. Their area will be beginning full harvest by the middle of next week.

The weather Wednesday morning brought all harvest in the county to a halt, with showers falling pretty general all over. Hopefully it will be clearing by the weekend, with operations starting up after the cotton dries out again.

4-H club sees Garza history

Sixteen members of the Graham 4-H club were present to hear a program presented on "Garza County 1876-1976" presented by Ed Neff at their regular meeting Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the center.

Mr. Neff presented a slide presentation of Garza history and many of the 4-Hers saw pictures of their grandfathers and great-grandfathers in their role of Garza history.

A short business meeting followed with Steve White, president, presiding and Lisa Cowdrey acting as secretary in the absence of Sharla Macy. The 4-H pledge and motto were led by Rynn Norman.

The group decided to meet Saturday, Nov. 29 at 10 a. m. to decorate the community center for Christmas. The date set for the club Christmas caroling and party is Dec. 18, at 6:30 p. m. Hosts for this event will be Rynn and Kim Norman and Brent and Brad Mason.

Refreshments were served by Belinda, Russell and Steve Fluit and Ronnie Bilbo.

Those attending were new member, Kurt Stevens, Kelly Mason, Phil Barry and D. Linda Tyler, Patti McClellan, Steve White, Lisa Cowdrey, Rynn and Kim Norman, Brent and Brad Mason, the hosts and leaders, Orabeth White, Jane Mason and extension agent Syd Conner, guest Ed Neff and Virgil Bilbo.

Rites Tuesday for infant

Funeral services for Mark Crawford, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Crawford, of 906 Pine, Post were held at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Pleasant Home Baptist Church, with Albert Kelly, minister officiating.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under direction of Hudman Funeral Home of Post. Mark was born Aug. 7, 1975 in Slaton Mercy Hospital and died Monday.

His father is serving in the U. S. Army and is stationed at Fort Hood. Members of his company were pallbearers. His commanding officer and other members of his company attended the funeral.

Survivors include his parents, and grandmothers, Inez Great-house and Mattie Bailey, both of Post.

New York Bailout

WASHINGTON—Tomorrow has come for those New York politicians who have been spending as if there were no tomorrow.

New York City has long had a lavish lifestyle all its own. The 1971 expenditures of New York were greater than the combined expenditures of the next 24 largest cities. New York spends at the rate of $1,224 per person, while the average for all other cities in America is a mere $295.

Spending at those levels takes a lot of money—more money than even New York City can raise in taxes and fees. The spending has been sustained by ever-increasing levels of borrowing, until now the "Big Apple" has run up some $200 billion in debts that it cannot repay.

The mayor of New York City and the governor of New York state have come to Washington to urge that the taxpayers in the rest of the country bail New York out of its fiscal mess.

Their argument has not fallen on deaf ears. Bills have been introduced in the House and Senate to provide federal guarantees of up to $7 billion to tax-exempt securities issued by New York City, or by a state agency acting on behalf of New York City.

I agree with President Ford that it would be a mistake to pass this kind of legislation.

If Congress were to provide a guarantee to the high-risk bonds issued by New York City, it would turn them overnight from the worst municipal paper in the country to the best, and this could cause real chaos in the bond market. Well-managed cities like Houston and Dallas would have a great deal more trouble raising the money they need for capital improvements.

Another approach to helping New York avoid default would be to have the Federal Financing Bank buy all the guaranteed New York securities. This would merely be a loan in disguise, a loan which may never be fully repaid. It would increase the size of the federal government's already swollen deficit, and, of course, increase the size of the federal government's own debt.

President Ford believes, and I agree with him, that these proposals to "bail out" New York would actually postpone the long-term solutions that are needed to resolve the city's fiscal crisis. The politicians and labor leaders are unlikely to take the hard steps necessary to balance the city budget as long as they think Uncle Sam might rush in with a bundle of money.

New York has simply got to cut down on spending. It can no longer afford to pay city employees twice as much as their counterparts in other cities. It can no longer afford to let welfare abuse go unchecked. It can no longer maintain a tuition-free university system. It can no longer maintain 18 public hospitals when the next largest city, Chicago, gets by with one.

I am convinced that only if New York goes into technical bankruptcy will the city's political leaders start making real budget cuts and start renegotiating exorbitant contracts with municipal unions.

The Congress should approve the legislation President Ford has recommended to make it easier for the City to manage its affairs if it does go into default. Congress should also approve funds to make sure vital services will be continued in the event of default. But Congress should provide no aid to prevent the default itself.

expire next June 30 and county officials want a decision extending revenue sharing this year so that plans can be included in 1976 county budgets.

The Garza officials Monday after their arrival went up "on the hill" to visit with Congressmen George Mahon, Omar Burleson, Bill Poage, and Jack Hightower about revenue sharing extension. They expressed support and encouragement.

The entire Texas delegation of county officials had breakfast Tuesday morning with Senator Lloyd Bentsen and heard him report that revenue sharing should have no problems in the senate where Senator John Tower of Texas also supports it.

President Ford also supports revenue sharing, but that may not help any in Congress.

The Garza officials also did some talking with Texas congressmen about the energy bill which is about to come out of congress with some hard things to swallow for this oil producing country.

"The eastern liberals have done a real job on Texas," Judge Dalby said, pointing out their Washington cabbie remarked to them when told they were from Texas that "you don't have the problems the rest of the country does because you're all rich." Dalby said the three took a lot of time trying to straighten their cabbie out on that attitude. "But that's

Rotarians hear tornado talk

Ron Imes, community preparedness meteorologist from the National Weather Station at Lubbock, spoke briefly to Post Rotarians at their Tuesday luncheon in city hall on the subject of tornadoes and then showed a 15-minute film.

The film emphasized the weather bureau's tornado warning system and how it operates. In his talk, Imes noted the many improvements made at the weather station in Lubbock since that city's May, 1970, tornado.

Imes said the weather bureau is concerned with the safety of school children during tornado seasons and urged the conducting of tornado drills much as fire drills are held.

He mentioned how a school principal in Mississippi called a tornado drill during threatening weather and 800 youngsters moved to safety before a twister destroyed the school without injury to a single child. In another city, the speaker said, a tornado hit all five of the city's schools but fortunately classes were not in session that day.

Imes was accompanied here by Jerry Uecker, forecaster at the Lubbock weather station.

Each county bore their own costs to get their delegations in and out of Washington, Dalby explained. "It means a lot of future money for Post and Garza County," Dalby pointed out when asked how the trip expenses would be paid.

Law Center to open July 4

AUSTIN — The more than 250,000 students who visit the State Capitol each year will have a new and interesting place to visit when the new Texas Law Center is completed, John M. Lawrence III, State Bar President said.

Located in the Capitol Complex and set to be dedicated on July 4, 1976, the new Law Center's first floor will contain an historical pavilion and a multi-media theatre.

The multi-media presentation will focus on the history of the legal system, how it developed and where it is headed, Lawrence said. It will run continuously throughout the day so touring students and adults alike can view it.

Included in the historical pavilion will be many legal documents and artifacts pertaining to the law, he added.

Lawrence said the new Texas Law Center will also be the headquarters for the State Bar of Texas, which represents the nearly 27,000 Texas lawyers. It will also be the center for such programs as pre-paid legal services, lawyer referral, legal specialization and law-focused education.

New non-fiction books in library

Some new non-fiction books recently placed on Post Public Library shelves include:

"A Treasury of Western Folklore" by B. A. Botkin, "The New Emily Post's Etiquette" by Elizabeth Post, "Caves" by Tom Waltham, "Total Fitness in 30 Minutes a Week" by L. E. Morehouse, "Fat" by Kit Reed, "Scandinavian Cook Book" by Sunset Magazine, and "The Medically Based, No-nonsense Beauty Book" by Deborah Chase.

Game, bird cover will be needed this winter

LUBBOCK — Landowners and sportsmen are finding an abundance of cover as the 1975 hunting seasons open in Texas but this collection of grasses, weeds and grain stalks will disappear by next spring.

November is the time to save some of that cover for the game and song birds as the most critical time of the year for these species is from February through March.

Winter rains, winds, snow and indiscriminate burning and heavy winter grazing destroy most of the necessary protective benefits of these plants by spring of each year.

Texas has plenty of food, water and protection for its game birds but protective habitat in the spring determines the success of the following year's bird populations according to Richard DeArment, extension biologist at Wheeler.

Landowners are asked to leave a patch of grass or weeds in the corner of their field or a few rows of corn or grain stalks along a weeded fencerow or pasture.

Even though quail, pheasant and prairie chicken are adept at eluding enemies such as the hawk, owl, skunk and coyote, a certain amount of cover is required.

The 1975 hunting seasons are in full swing and there will be a good surplus of game birds going into next spring's nesting season if the winter is not too severe.

Wildlife management is not only the responsibility of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department but also involves landowners and sportsmen. A landowner can have a successful farming year and wildlife too if care is used in the burning of grain fields and fencerows.

Wildlife on your property is beneficial from the standpoint of economics. Sportsmen spend money to hunt and game birds eat many of the insects that are detrimental to crops.

Let's give the wildlife a hand and provide a little cover and protection from the cold winter winds and early spring and insure a good crop for 1976.

For P&WD assistance on improving the wildlife habitat on your property, call or write Richard DeArment, extension biologist, P&WD P. O. Box 122, Wheeler, Tx. 79096

TEXAS TALK

By FRED MYERS

Salt water ponds made of plastic may be the answer to solar energy supplies for farm buildings. Such a pond would be designed as a solar heat trap. Research on such a contraption is now underway at Ohio State University where they are using a 150 thousand gallon model with a depth of nine feet. Solar ponds are special in that they utilize a black plastic lining and are filled with salt water. The lining attracts and absorbs solar heat. Salt water keeps the heat from rising to the surface. Fresh, cool water is then pumped through plastic tubes at the bottom of the pond. That water is heated then pumped back through the floor of a building to provide natural heat. Scientists warn of one problem in trying to utilize the pond as a swimming pool. Temperatures at the bottom have been measured as high as 194 degrees.

Roger Taylor through Marine recruit depot

Among the recent graduates from the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, S. C., was Marine Private Roger D. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim H. Taylor of 119 North Ave. L, Post, Tex.

During the Marines initial training, the emphasis is on physical conditioning, discipline and team effort. Recruits attend classes on history and organization of the Marine Corps, uniform regulations, first aid and military customs, and receive extensive instruction in close order drill.

Post students take first in speech

Jenny Miller and David Morrow walked away from the speech tournament at Lubbock Christian College Saturday with first place trophies.

Jenny was awarded first place in poetry interpretation and David won first in informative speaking.

Post won third place in over-all awards for the day.

Mark Short who participates in informative speaking and Donna Josey who competes in persuasive speaking both made the semi-finals, which is unusual considering that both students were competing for the first time ever.

Mark Kirkpatrick and Dan Sawyer who are the boys debate team and Tracy McAlister who competes in poetry interpretation participated but did not place.

Miss Lewallen, speech teacher at PHS, is really proud of her students and feels that the outcome of this tournament forecasts a good year for PHS in the UIL competition next spring.

Four teachers attend reading workshop

Four local teachers attended a Reading Workshop, Tuesday, Nov. 12 at the Education Service Center in the Texas Commerce Building.

Dr. Roach Van Allen with the University of Arizona conducted the workshop. The all day session discussed the different ideas and approaches to help in reading abilities for Title I Reading Lab.

Teachers attending were Judy Houston, Willa Didway, Velma Long, Estella Moreland, Pat Cruse and Jimella Simpson.

TOP TWIRLING RATING

Freshman twirler Kerri Pool received a Division I rating in her solo twirling routine in the recent district interscholastic league judging in Lubbock. This qualifies her to participate at the state level next June. (School Photo by Lorry Chapman.)

Seniors in spotlight

By SHIRLEY HAMBRICK
This week's senior spotlight is shining on George (Shorty) Hester Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hester. He was born in Post and has lived in Post all his life.

George's favorite actor is Lee Major, and his favorite actress is Doris Day. His favorite songs are "Rocking Chair," and "How Long Has This Been Going On." George has expensive tastes. His favorite food is steak. His hobbies are sports (he was the starting center for the Lopes), hunting and watching girls.

George has participated in sports and Future Farmers of America during his years at PHS. He plans to attend college upon graduation but he is not sure about his major.

Spanish club visits Lubbock

By RICHARD FUENTES
Monday, Nov. 7, the Spanish Club of PHS participated in an evening of good food and entertainment.

The group traveled to Lubbock for a supper and slide presentation at Don Pablos, a restaurant in the Terrace Shopping Center. The supper began with a taco salad. The main course was a combination Mexican plate featuring different samples of delicious Mexican cuisine. The supper was followed by a slide presentation of Queretaro, Mexico by Senora Row, a foreign exchange person for the Republic of Mexico. Senora Row has been in the

Festival nets Antelope Band $600

By DONNA JOSEY
The Post Antelope Band cleared over $600 at the Harvest Festival Carnival sponsored by the Band Boosters Saturday night. The highlight of the evening was the turkey auction. The turkey donated by Arnold Sanderson, sold for $105 to J. B. Potts of the First National Bank.

The band itself had five booths including: bingo, cake walk, nail driving, country store, and concession.

Other booths and sponsors were ring toss, sophomore class; dart throwing, Spanish club; target shooting, Science and Math Club; football and basketball shooting, Fellowship of Christian Athletes; and candle squirting contest, junior class.

The band wishes to thank all of the parents, students, and Post merchants for their help and support which made the carnival a great success.

Tracy McAlister's job is being 'Mr. Clean'

Jackson's Cafeteria has employed PHS junior, Tracy McAlister through the Home Economics Cooperative Education.

During his days work, Tracy does what he calls odd and end jobs which include, rolling silverware, washing windows, and mainly just cleaning up. Tracy works in the mornings from 9:30 until 12:00 during the week and all day Saturday.

Tracy likes working because he enjoys the other employees. He also feels he is learning to "cope" with people.

Tracy's activities at PHS include Drama Club, of which he is the vice president, and poetry interpretation in UIL speech. He is also reporter of the junior class and participates in Future Homemakers of America.

When asked if he would like to make a career of his job, Tracy answered, "No." He said, "I do realize how this job has helped me to learn to cope with people, but I don't want to spend the rest of my life cleaning. I do plan to make a career of the theatre."

Shooting the Breeze

By NAN HARR

PHS has several hunters in the Freshman class. They are avid deer hunters, and not the two-legged kind. Three of them are Cliff Kirkpatrick, Kelly Baumann and Mike Tatum. Mike shot an eight point buck this past Saturday morning. Congratulations Mike. I am sure that as more people begin to get involved in hunting everybody should remember safety first and have a happy hunting season.

For the first time in the history of junior high basketball the eighth grade girls will be traveling to Snyder to have their first scrimmage of the season. The girls will compete against Snyder junior high girls tonight beginning at 6:30. Good luck and let's begin the season with a big Doe victory.

In PHS the old basketball is really beginning to bounce. The varsity, Jr. varsity, and freshman girls basketball teams will open the season with a game here tonight against Abertamy. The varsity girls and boys and the junior varsity boys will compete against Shallowater there Nov. 21.

The varsity girls and boys and the junior varsity girls will come up against the Idalou Wildcats at Idalou Nov. 25.

Dec. 2, the varsity girls and boys will play Colorado City there.

Dec. 4, 5 and 6 both the varsity boys and girls will be involved in tournaments. The boys will be traveling to Plainview and the girls will be competing at New Home. Good luck to the Does and the Lopes. Let's show our district that we are No. 1 in basketball.

Friday night the junior high gym was the scene of the last pep rally of the football season. Even though the fans were literally elated in anticipation of the game there was a note of sadness in the crowd. As the school year flies by many of the seniors realized that with the ending of the football season also came the closing of the school year. Kim Mink is senior class president. head cheerleader. touching pep talk as the senior football players give it their all and high school football during the pep rally has given a beautiful good commencing her year outstanding leader. other cheerleaders. inspiring pep rally and went on to beat Tahoka has been a GREAT season. As a senior the Lopes for making a football season I will be a member of PHS, one most fantastic in the PHS.
