WICHITA FALLS SWELTERS

City Gradually Prepared For Torrid Days Yet to Come.

Another day of sweltering heat toughened Wichita Falls just a little more Wednesday and prepared it for the summer siege that apparently is now on in full force.

The day, as was Tuesday, was almost cloudless. A whistling wind was the salvation of the community, for it did manage to keep things partially cool.

The weather bureau last night predicted partly cloudy and possibly cooler weather for Thursday.

A Grandmother Stands On Her Head To Prove Age a Matter of the Mind

SHE is a grandmother. Now the writer has had about two grandmothers in his day, and he has known one or two other writers' grandmothers, but at the Olympic theatre yesterday morning was the first time he ever saw a grandmother touch the palms of her hands to the floor with knees straight; ever saw any grandmother get down on the floor on her back and lithely "roll her spinal column;" ever saw any grandmother rock herself back and forth in what is known as jumping exercises; and what to him was the millennium in what this particular grandmother could do—

STANDS ON HER HEAD AND SHOULDERS!

It was Mrs. Marie LaSalle Booth of Los Angeles, noted dramatist and lecturer and advocate of perennial youth, brought here by the Record News for a series of free lectures to the women of Wichita Falls. Mrs. Booth repeated her lecture and demonstrations for business women at the Y. W. C. A. last night and will make another appearance Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the Olympic to which all Wichita Falls women are invited. Then she lectures again Thursday night at the Y. W. C. A.

How did she look?

Splendid—because she wore about the neatest gymnasium suit average newspaper reporters have ever laid eyes on; something of a dainty black creation, loose fitting and comfortable to the extreme. And for her lecture, which preceded her program of exercises, she was attired in something of a georgette creation, beaded, of a shade which her business manager informs us is fuchia. Black hat, tan hose and shoes, too. And the trimness of her figure adds to that time worn expression "a perfect 36" another synonym recalled for the occasion—"all lace and a yard wide.

What Mrs. Booth said in her lecture yesterday will be found on page 6 of today's issue.

Lions enjoyed a short address by the noted dramatist at their noon luncheon at the Kemp Wednesday, and today Mrs. Booth will appear before the Rotary club.

CANTWELL OF THOSE NAMED IN A-M TALK

Neff, Cobb, Marquis Also Suggested to Head Agricultural College

WACO, June 3.—No one is yet under consideration to succeed Dr. W. B. Bizzell as president of the A. & M. college, it was stated Wednesday afternoon by Walter G. Lacy of Waco, member of the board of regents of the institution and a member of a committee of three to select Dr. Bizzell's successor.

"My idea is that Dr. Bizzell's successor will be chosen as soon as it is practical, but there will be no undue hurry," said Mr. Lacy. "Dr. Bizzell will remain until September, there is a good organization there which will remain intact, and this gives suitable time in which to act and get the right man."

From sources outside the board of regents, it is learned that several names which are well known may be presented. Dr. J. W. Cantwell of Wichita Falls, superintendent of public schools, who loomed as a formidable figure in the race for the presidency of Texas Technological college at Lubbock, is among those mentioned.

Dr. R. L. Marquis, president of the North Texas State Teachers' college at Denton is also being mentioned here. He has been in his position less than three years, but has secured great improvements in building, campus and physical aspects.

Superintendent B. B. Cobb of the Waco public schools and former Governor Pat M. Neff are often being considered as likely material as the head of A. & M. The former was seriously considered for Texas Tech. Former Governor Neff was also mentioned for head of the University of Texas, during his tenure of the office of governor, provided he wanted the place.

The artillery problem is being studied by some 300 officers and 100 specialists from among the enlisted personnel and is being observed by a number of representatives of foreign armies. No decision on the contest between airplane messenger service with other methods will be reached until the umpires meet after the problem is completed Thursday.

HAMER, RANGER DEAN, RESIGNS TEXAS SERVICE

Hero of Mob Fighting And Brush Trailer Since 1907 Quits Post

AUSTIN, June 3.—(AP)—Resignation of Captain Frank L. Hamer, dean of the Texas Rangers and oldest man in point of service, was accepted here today by Adjutant General Mark McGee, when the appointments of three new ranger captains and re-appointment of three captains were announced.

The new captains are: W. M. Ryan of Laredo, D. D. Lindsey of Marathon and J. M. Fox of Corpus Christi, all former rangers.

Captain R. W. Aldrich was reappointed quartermaster captain at Austin. Captain Tom R. Rickman was transferred from company D, to commander of the headquarters company at Austin. Captain Roy C. Nichols of Marshall was re-appointed captain of company C.

The new captains succeed Captain Hamer, W. L. Wright and Jerry Gray, all resigned and veterans of the famous state organization.

Adjutant General McGee said assignments of the new captains have not been made.

Captain Fox's appointment is effective July 1, the other appointments and re-appointments becoming effective immediately.

Although the full strength of the Texas rangers is fifty men, the force has been reduced to thirty, as it was cut to thirty men by the thirty-ninth legislature, effective September 1.

With the resignation of Captain Hamer, one of the most spectacular peace officers in Texas, passes from the ranger service. Captain Hamer has figured in many of the greatest battles against lawbreakers in Texas, since he first entered the service in 1907. A hero in handling mobs and in trailing in the brush, he has always been a modest man, shunning publicity and tributes.

OIL FUGITIVE; FINDER, KEEPER IS NEW RULING

Oil in The Ground is Property of No One Says Court

NOT EVEN FARMER

Must Bring Crude to Surface to Establish Ownership

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 3.—Oil in the ground is the property of no one, not even the person under whose land it lies, according to a decision of the fourth court of civil appeals handed down today. Furthermore the owner of an offset well has the right to use artificial means to induce a flow in his land to the extent of draining all the oil from under adjoining lands and stopping production of pioneer wells which may be nearby, it was said.

The ruling was made in reversing and remanding and rendering a judgment in the Tarrant county in the case of Texas Pacific Oil company against the Comanche Duke Oil company. The jury had found for the Texas Pacific Oil company.

Comanche vs. T. and P.

The Comanche Oil company was shown to have drilled a well near the county line of Stephens county in the Ranger field which proved to be a paying producer. Soon afterwards the Texas Pacific Oil and Coal company drilled a well on an adjoining tract about 300 yards from the Texas Pacific well.

When the Texas Pacific company well was down 3,680 feet it was shot several times at varying depths with 200 quarts of nitroglycerine. When the Comanche company well was drilled to 3,696 feet it was also shot.

The Comanche company claims that when the Texas Pacific company well was shot 200 quarts of nitroglycerine was used in one shot without effect and that thereafter a charge of 600 quarts was exploded in the well. This produced a flow of oil in he second well but is alleged to have released salt water which flooded the well of the Comanche company and ruined it.

Offse Rights Defined.

It was pointed out that it was agreed that the Texas Pacific company had a right to drill the offset well ust where it was drilled and that it had the right to shoot the well. The only questions was whether an excessive charge of explosive was used which so shattered and tore up the lower structure of the earth as to damage the pioneer well.

"It is well settled that oil men in its fugitive nature ceaselessly moving about in the bowls of the earth can never be the subject of sale or barter or ownership until brought to the surface and reduced to physical possession. The owner of one producing tract can not complain if later operations drains all oil from both tracts and destroys the first well. The owner of the surface owns no oil until he first reduces it to his possession. So long as it is in its fugitive state it is subject to capture by any person seeking it from his own premises as a base and when once captured, the title vests in the captor.

"The rule goes further and if an offset well is not sufficiently productive and does not tap the surrounding surface from which the pioneer well gets its flow then artificial means may be resorted to increase the flow and by this means may destroy the value of the initial well by absorbing the oil from the entire source."

Expel Aliens Not Worthy of Rights In U. S., He Urges

WEST BADEN, Ind., June 3. — (AP)—Expulsion of every alien who proves unworthy of American citizenship was advocated by Oswald Ryan of Anderson, Ind., in an address today before the biennial council of the General Federation of Women's club in session here.

"We insist upon years of education to fit our sons and daughters for American citizens and life, although they are reared in the atmosphere of American homes and traditions," Mr. Ryan declared. "Is it then unreasonable to require those who are brought up in an atmosphere of alien civilization to be trained in American purposes and ideals before being accepted as trustees of American institutions?"

Wichita Falls Record News

"Where Buyer and Seller Meet"

Fresh Milk for Your Child, Ice to Cool Off Your Own Sweltering Self; What of Others

THE RECORD NEWS this morning announces and commends to Wichita Falls in general the revival of its annual Milk and Ice fund for the deserving poor of the community.

It is not without realization of the fact that this city has responded liberally and often to calls for charity that the fund is re-established. The Record News well knows and appreciates the manner in which Wichita Falls has dug and dug deep in order that suffering, want and privation might be relieved. Because of that realization, it hesitated for a time, wondering whether still further contributions were justified.

Should Be Permanent.

But on reflection it is the firm conviction of this paper that the milk and ice fund should be a permanent and established factor in the broad field of social service. It believes Wichita Falls approves of and will support such a fund again, and with that conception, it announces the fourth annual inaugural of the fund.

It should be explained here that the Record News alone is the instigator of the fund and that it is moved by no plea, request, hint or order from any outside source. The Record News established the fund several years ago; it saw it grow in popular favor; saw it accomplish a world of good in Wichita Falls; and is now ready to offer its services again for the welfare of those to whom long summer months now approaching, mean hours, days and weeks of stifling heat and parching thirst.

No Personal Campaign.

No personal campaigns are to be made for the fund, and with the single exception of announcements made through the columns of the paper, nothing in the way of solicitation will be made. Contributions sent in will be ackuowledged each morning by the Record News.

As in the past, all money turned over to the Milk and Ice fund will in turn be passed on to the Salvation Army for the purchase of milk and ice for distribution to those sweltering hovels where cool water and, more especially, cold, pure milk for little ones is almost unknown. Cases have already arisen, Commandent Johnson of the Salvation Army reports, in which cool milk would have been the salvation of a tiny tot.

The army is in constant touch with those sections where such cases are daily occurrences in the torrid months of June, July, August and September; it is able to purchase milk and ice and distribute it so that it can accomplish the greatest possible amount of good. It has done this in the past and is willing to do it again.

Thus, with this explanation and without further solicitation, the Milk and Ice fund of 1925 is opened. Cash may be sent or left at the Record News office and checks should be made payable to the Record News Milk and Ice Fund. In all instances it is asked that the name of the donor accompany the contribution in order that proper acknowledgment can be made.

Limestone county fields lead with 2,066,325 barrels. Freestone county was second with 1,629,951 barrels, and Wichita county was third with 1,024,529 barrels.

Oil Gossip

The Royalties Corporation, organized by a group of employees of a big independent Mid-Continent company, has been sold to the Colonial Royalties, Jo Cappeau Jr., and John McDonald, for $50,000 cash. The deal is said to have netted the owners of the Royalties Corporation approximately four to one for their investment. There were some forty individual royalties involved in Kansas, Oklahoma and North Texas fields.

C. W. Hanley, Gulf Production company, had to change balloon tires on his hoopie twice Tuesday en route to Wichita Falls from Archer City. According to Mr. Hanley it was one of the warmest afternoons ever seen in North Texas.

YOUTH HELD FOR SWINDLING

Boy Alleged to Have Passed Worthless Checks in Greenville

DALLAS, June 3.—A youth, said to have swindled several merchants in Greenville and Rockwell by passing worthless checks amounting approximately $500 was arrested here today and turned over to officers from those places, who came here to return the suspect for investigation. Part of the merchandise purchased with the checks was found in his room at a local hotel.

News of the Fields

Throckmorton County

Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 1, King, four miles northwest of Throckmorton, Throckmorton county, appears to be the deepest well drilling in that county at present, though there wells in the southeastern part of the county which will seek the 2,900 and 3,200-foot pays there.

No. 1, King, in the southeast corner of section 232, B. B. B. and C. Ry. survey, is 2,225 feet and drilling. Five miles west of Throckmorton, Richardson Brothers No. 1, Thomas, northeast corner of the southwest of the southeast of section 200, same survey, is fishing at 883 feet, having twisted off a drill stem.

Hoffer Oil corporation No. 1, Richardson, eight miles southwest of Throckmorton, center of the southeast of northeast of 195, B. B. B. and C. Ry. survey, has finished a fishing job at 932 feet and preparing to resume drilling.

W. H. Harrison and associates No. 1, Housley, two miles southeast of Throckmorton, southwest corner of the northeast quarter of section 291, B. B. B. and C. Ry. survey, is drilling at 340 feet.

E. L. Smith Oil company, No. 1, Burkhalter, southwest corner of the northwest of the southwest of block 226, B. B. B. and C. Ry. survey, is 240 feet and drilling. Domestic Oil company No. 1, Gober, west of Throckmorton, block 4, Day Land and Cattle company survey, is shut down at 825 feet.

Shackleford County

Northwestern Shackleford county is beginning to show active drilling operations after a big flurry of leasing there.

Amos G. Carter No. 1 Proctor near the center of the south half of the Casper Whistler survey, south of the Brazos river and just north of section 179, Eastern Texas Ry. Co survey, was 480 feet and drilling at last reports. It is about 20 miles northwest of Albany. Carter has two other tests proposed there.

About two miles south of this test Richardson brothers No. 1 R. V. Colbert ranch, center of the northwest of the southeast of section 178, E. T survey, is preparing to spud in by June 15.

About four miles north of these, H H. Adams and associates No. 1, Reynolds, Rodriguez survey, in the southeastern corner of Haskell county, is preparing to set casing at 800 feet. All these are shallow tests, to go about 1,600 feet.

In northwestern Haskell county 10 miles west of Haskell, ohn W Herbert has a steel derrick built for No. 1 McGregor, in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of block 27, Gose and Harvey subdivision of G. C. Alford survey 46. It will spud sometime in July. A gasoline engine will be used to drill the test.

Barney Carter Area

The Barney Carter district eight miles north of Ranger, but in southern Etephens county, yielded two wells Tuesday, though one was a gasser spraying oil and drilling deeper.

The oil well is J. McLester No. 1, Pritchard, northwest corner of the northeast of the west quarter of section 2, block "B", T&NORR survey, which started off at 120 barrels an hour, or 2,880 barrels daily. It had the sand at 3,539 feet, first oil at 3,541 feet and was in to 3,542 feet. It is east offse to Barkey, George et al, No. 1, Pritchard.

Barney Carter and E. M. Thomasson, No. 3, Langford, north offset to Barkley, George et al No. 1, Pritchard, southeast corner of the southwest of the southwest of section 1, is making 6,000,000 feet of gas and spraying oil. It had the sand at 3,542 to 3,548 feet.

The field's production is now past 10,000 barrels.

Southeast Archer

George R. Slentz will drill a north offset to the Nicholson and associates No. 1 Prideaux producer, John Dorsey survey, abstract 122, extreme southeastern corner of Archer county, it is announced. It will be No. 1 R. C. Prideaux, John Dorsey survey, abstract 121. Dollman and associates N. 1 R. C. Prideaux, J. J. Hand survey, due west of the producer, is shut down at 485 feet but expecting to start up again.

M. D. Cerf and associates No. 1, H. O. Prideaux, east offset to the oil well, is plugging back to set casing and bring in the well at 690 feet. The discovery well is a good producer from sands at 652 to 660 feet and 684 to 700 feet.

Richards, Mills

Mel Richards, No. 1, Mills, in the southeast quarter of TE&LCO survey, block 2428, a mile northwest of the Cranfill pool southeast Baylor county, is pumping about ten barrels an hour from fifteen inches of sand topped at 1,443 feet. The well was at first reckoned as a very small producer. Since its completion it has developed an intensive play to the southwest of Megargel area and much drilling is prospective as a result.

Kent County Test

Marland Oil company No. 1, Kuteman, center of the southwest of the northwest of section 11, block 4, southwestern Kent county, West Texas, about 17 miles southwest of Clairemont and the same distance southeast of Post, was 2,785 feet and drilling in a hard lime. A light oil showing was reported at 2,200 feet.

Jenson, Hunt

Jensen Oil company No. 1, Hunt, just north of Olney and south of the old Creighton group, north Young county, is drilling deeper after testing a promising sand at 1,064 feet, which showed quite a bit of oil.

Shelby County

J. D. Collett No. 1 J. E. Crawford Wm. Hill survey, Shelby county, four and one-half miles east of the town Tenana, was 1,560 feet and drilling at last reports. It is located on a block of 3,000 acres.

WASHINGTON, June 3—Brigadier Generals Joseph F. Kuhn at Vancouver Barracks, Wash., and William S. Graves at Fort Hamilton, N. Y. have been selected for promotion to be major generals.

Ft. Worth Refiners Predict Increases

FORT WORTH, June 3.—Tank wagon price increases are predicted by local refined market sages as a consequence of the constant strengthening of all grades of gasoline.

The market is in "a lovely condition," one marketer said Tuesday, his face wreathed in smiles. There is virtually no gasoline, straight run or absorption, available at any price.

Refiners appear all sold up on present runs and will accept no orders for future delivery. The standard grade, U. S. motor fuel, gasoline, was quoted at 13 cents a gallon in tank car lots by refiners and marketers alike Tuesday.

Natural gasoline is maintaining its lead over the flivver fuel. Grades A, B and C were 14 1-2 to 14 3-4 cents, but those prices are superficial, as there is virtually no material being sold in the open market, according to reports. An odd care here and there sold provides these quotations. It was reported that Phillips Petroleum company, second largest manufacturers of absorption gasoline in the world were quoting 15 1-4 cents on all grades.

The remainder of the refined items are also strong. Water white kerosene is 4 1-4 cents a gallon, gas oil 3 1-8 cents a gallon and fuel oil 95 cents a barrel in North Texas, $1.20 block of 3,000 acres.

DAMAGE SUIT ON TRIAL.

B. M. Newton Suing Greever as Result of North Wichita Crash.

An accident on the paved road in North Wichita last February in which B. M. Newton was injured when his motorcycle figured in a crahs with an automobile owned by Francis Greever is made the basis of a damage suit started Wednesday before a jury and Judge Stine in the 89th district court. Damages of about $5,000 are sought.

The plaintiff alleges the accident was the fault of the defendant and seeks redress accordingly.

NEGRO HELD FOR ASSAULT.

77-Year-Old Man Arrested on Complaint of Negro Girl.

A 77-year-old negro man was in jail Wednesday afternoon facing charges of assault with intent to commit a statutory offense. An 8-year old negro girl was the complainant.

The negro was arrested by members of the city police department after a complaint had been made to them by relatives of the girl.

AVIATORS OFF FOR GOLD

Alaskans Go to Gold Fields in Airplanes

WRANGELL, Alaska, June 3.—(AP)—Colonel J. Scott Williams of Montreal, leader of a party of four, left here today in an airplane, flown by G. Graeb for Dease Lake, B. C., 200 miles northeast, in search of gold.

A gold stampede has been in progress and George Platzer, an aviator, is preparing to take a motion picture of it from the air. Platzer is now preparing for an airplane expedition to discover a region called "The Tropical Valley" and to seek gold in Northern British Columbia.

YOUR FINAL ESTIMATE.

After all, a man passes for what he is worth.

Very idle is all curiosity concerning other people's estimate of us, and idle is all fear of remaining unknown.

If a man knows that he can do anything—that he can do it better than anyone else—he has a pledge of the acknowledgment of his worth by other persons.

Emerson, who was of this mind, opined that the world is full of judgment days, and into every assembly that a man enters, in every action he attempts, he is gauged and stamped. Just as in every troop of boys that whoop and run in the street, a newcomer is accurately weighed in the balance in the course of a few days and stamped with his right number, as if he had undergone a formal trial of his strength, speed and temper.

What has he done? What does he do? These are the questions that search men and transpierce very false reputation.

Pretension may sit still, but cannot act. Pretension never wrote a Shakespeare play, or flew a plane around the world, or discovered radio.

"Always as much virtue as there is, so much appears; as much goodness as there is, so much reverence it commands," Emerson observed. "All the devils respect virtue.

"The high, the generous, the self-devoted sect will always instruct and command mankind.

"Never a sincere work was utterly lost.

"Never a magnanimity fell to the ground. Always the heart of man greets and accepts it unexpectedly."

To repeat, a man passes for what he is worth. What he is engraves itself upon his face, on his form, on his fortunes, in "letters of light which all men may read but himself."

Concealment avails him nothing; boasting nothing.

There is confession in the glances or our eyes; in our smiles; in salutations; and the grasp of hands.

Confusius exclaimed: "How can a man be concealed! How can a man be concealed!"

If you would not be known to do anything, never do it.

"A man may play the foolf in the drifts of the desert, but every grain of sand shall seem to see," Emerson opined.

"He may be a solitary eater, but he cannot keep his foolish counsel. A broken complexion, a swinish look, ungenerous acts and the want of due knowledge—all blab. Can a cook, a Chiffich, an Iachimo be mistaken for Zeno or Paul?"

THE LANDSCAPE OF LIFE.

In the writings of all the wisest men you would find some such observation as this:

Care should be taken not to build the happiness of life upon a "board foundation"—not to require a great many things in order to be happy.

Happiness on such a foundation is most easily undermined; it offers many more opportunities for accidents; and accidents are always happening.

Our life, it has been observed, is like a journey on which, as we advance, the landscape takes a different view from that which it presented at first, and changes again, as we come nearer.

This is just what happens—especially with our wishes.

We often find something less, even something better than we were looking for: and what we look for, we often find on a very different path from that on which we began a vain search.

Again, instead of finding, as we expected, pleasure, happiness, joy, we often acquire experience, insight, knowledge—a real and permanent blessing.

"Men of any worth or value soon come to see that they are in the hands of Fate, and gratefully submit to be moulded by its teachings," Schopenhauer opines.

"They recognize that the fruit of life is experience, and not happiness; they become accustomed and content to exchange hope for insight; and in the end they can say, with Petrarch, that all they care for is to learn.

"It may even be that they to some extent still follow their old wishes and aims, trifling with them, as it were, for the sake of appearances all the while really and seriously looking for nothing but instruction; a process which lends them an air of genius, a trait of something contemplative and sublime."

In their search for gold, the alchemists discovered other things—gunpowder, china, medicines, the laws of nature.

There is a sense in which we are all alchemists.

POLLUTION OF TEXAS STREAMS.

Texas has a law against the pollution of its rivers and streams and lakes and tanks. Pollution has been going on for years. There are offenders against the law everywhere. They are found principally in or near the larger cities of the state, where industrial concerns are more active than they are in the smaller towns and rural districts.

Public health should come first, and the law against pollution should be enforced to the letter. Summer time is here. All sanitary laws and ordinances should be given drastic enforcement. An ounce of prevention is said to be worth a pound of cure. Why not begin now? Why wait until an epidemic breaks out some where?

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE METRIC SYSTEM.

It is to be wondered how many people know that there are only two nations in the world that have not adopted the metric system.

These two nations are Great Britain and the United States.

In some respects the United States and Great Britain are the most advanced of peoples. Their intelligence ranks high and their enterprise and adventure are great.

It is remarkable, therefore, that these are the only two nations that have refused to adopt a system that has every argument of uniformity in its favor.

The metric system is now used almost entirely in science, including physics, chemistry, dietetics, and so on.

It is employed by athletes in preparing for the Olympic games.

It is used to measure the wave lengths in radio.

There is no particular reason why it should not be used everywhere except that it is opposed by our antiquated customs.

We have been steadily overcoming this reactionism, as the metric system of weights and measures was made legal in 1866 by congress, and since then it has been employed in coinage and in medical work in the army and navy; also in the public health service.

Science is one of the kingdoms that knows no boundaries. Measurements ought to be the same, whether in Timbuktu or New York, and it is hard to find anybody outside of Great Britain that still contends that there is any use in holding on to the old system of pounds, shillings and pence. Our system of pounds, ounces and grams is almost as senseless as the money system of Great Britain.

It makes no difference what the basis of a system is, or whether the meter is accurate or not. The point is to get hold of some system that people can use in all countries.

It looks as if since the experience of mankind has made fifty-four or fifty-five nations adopt this system and only two stand out against it, it is a pretty clear case that the system is practical.

HIGH COST OF COVERING.

Texas is a great cotton growing state. Now it is said that 3 or 4 years ago only one man in a hundred wore silk underwear. Now one in every 20 does. Not long ago for every womtn who wore silk underwear there were 20 who wore cotton. Now the proportion is about even.

An expert says two and one-half million men in the United States now wear silk underwear, whereas few such garments were made for them five years ago. Why should a man who has the money to purchase silk underwear wear cotton garments.

Why should women wear cotton when they can afford silk. Before the coming of short dresses there was a greater demand for cotton goods. Now the short dressmaker and the silk manufacturer are living in clover.

They are reducing the dividends of the cotton manufacturers as well as reducing the demand for raw cotton, and there is where the Texas farmer is hit where he lives.

Prices.

As a great many people have said, you get out of life pretty much what you put into it.

There is of course always the element of chance.

But it enters so little into the success or failure of those who really strive to get the most out of life, that it is hardly worth discussing.

There is a great and varied array of goods on the counter of existence.

The man of fairly good ability can select those he wants, and buy them—if he is willing to pay for them.

If you will go into a factory toiwn you will find that the great number of employes at a fixed salary have the same kind of habitations, eat about the same sort of food, and dress themselves and their families in about the same way.

But here and there you will see a family living in a house that is a little more comfortable and a little better kept, and his children will be a little better fed and a little better dressed than those of his fellows who get exactly the same salary.

Here is a man who has been willing to pay a higher price in thought and labor for a little better standard of living.

He has been able to make sacrifices in unnecessary luxuries in order to have substantial comforts.

He has probably had the right kind of a wife, too—for no man can prosper who has a foolish or an extravagant helpmate, and many a thrifty and capable woman has helped a man to a standard of living he never would have attained without her.

Inside one of the factories in this same town you will see men who are foremen and superintendents, and who in consequence are able to do a great deal more for their families and for themselves than the ordinary employes.

These men started with the others. But they were willing to pay the high price of extra effort and extra hours for promotion.

They took the trouble to learn the job of the man higher up after they had learned their own, and because they had learned it they got it, eventually.

That kind of thing is costly.

It means there can be little sitting around and drinking with the other boys after hours.

It means less time spent in what most people call pleasure, and less time devoted to the luxury of idleness.

But the price they have found worth paying. Some of them will rise very far in the world of industry, for there is practically no limit to the capacity of a good mind if its owner is willing to pay, by sacrifice and endeavor, for training it.

Outside of industry we find today many hale old gentlemen of seventy or eighty with clear eyes and an active interest in the world.

They have managed to rob age of its terrors. But they paid for it by denying to youth some of its dissipations.

In other words they say that "Bending to the grave with unperceived decay" costs something, and that only those who are willing to pay for it can attain it.

There is, of course, a wide difference in minds. But good minds can easily fail, and mediocre minds get a great deal of life if those to whom they belong are willing to pay

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE.

GEMINI.

Today's planetary aspects are distinctly favorable, and the adverse condition that prevails about noon is of so brief a nature as not to warrant any change of action. All undertakings related to the professions will be especially fortunate, and many problems in connection with same, that have hitherto presented intricacies and difficulties, will be satisfactorily and easily solved. It is an excellent opportunity for the execution of important contracts or agreements, even though serious financial obligations are involved, always providing, however, they do not savor of speculation or unnecessary risk. It is also a good "marriage day," as the vibrations are exhiliarating, and there is very little chance of any wedding bark, launched today, "going on the rocks."

A rather tempestuous childhood can be prognosticated for the infant brought into the world today, and its ultimate emergence from the dangers that beset it will depend, almost entirely, on the care that it may receive during its early days and on the quality and method of its nutrition. It will possess a very strong character, with a dominating and controlling, although not attractive, personality. It will rise head and shoulders above its associates by intellectual force, and will command respect, but inspire little affection. It will, however, be capable of a strong and an idyllic love, and once its love is bestowed, it will never change, regardless of the worthiness, or otherwise, of the object.

If today is your birthday, you spend a great deal of your time in "chasing rainbows," and you refuse to see in clouds on the horizon any signs of storm, but convince yourself that the sunshine in which you momentarily bask will last forever. Without hope and optimism, this life would be a very drab affair. Common sense demands, however, that preparations should be made, at all times, for unexpected and untoward contingencies. This does not imply that any advantage can be gained by crossing bridges before they are reached; but your road should be so charted and mapped out that the bridges to be crossed are indicated.

You are very efficient and painstaking, and a firm believer in the fact that anything worth doing is worth doing well. Your judgement and perspective are the factors in your "make up" that are weak and unreliable.

Your friends are many, as a result of your perennial cheerfulness, and ye nare, very fortunately, destined to enjoy the devoted love and enduring affection of your mate.

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE UNWISE CHOICE

Two young men, when I was poor,
Came and stood at my open door;
One said to me, "I have gold to give;"
And one, "I will love you while I live!"
My sight was dazzled; woe's the day!
And I sent the poor young man away;
Sent him away, I know not where,
And my heart went with him, unaware.
He did not give me any sighs,
But he left his picture in my eyes;
And in my eyes it has always been;
I have no heart to keep it in!
Beside the lane with hedges sweet,
Where we parted, never more to meet
He pulled a flower of love's own hue,
And where it had been came out two!
And in the grass where he stood for years,
The dews of the morning looked like tears.
Still smiles the house where I was born
Among its fields of wheat and corn.
Wheat and corn that strangers bind,—
I reap as I sowed, and I sowed to the wind.
As one who feels the truth break through
His dream, and knows his dream untrue.
I live where splendors shine, and sigh,
For the peace that splendor cannot buy;
Sigh for the day I was rich though poor,
And saw the two young men at my door.

HOW IT STARTED

PIN MONEY

Wouldn't it be awful, girls, if we had to spend all our pin money on pins? But there was a time when court ladies were considered fortunate to be able to buy them.

The expression and the custom of supplying women with an allowance for fancies comes down to us from the time when pins were so expensive that only the wealthiest women could afford them.

For a long time after the invention of pins, in the Fourteenth century, it was not extraordinary for women to be endowed at their marriage with a sum of money for the purchase of pins.

At one time a law was passed in England permitting the maker of pins to sell them only on January 1 and 2. Then the wealthy city ladies flocked to the shops, provided with "pin money."

The early pins were of two parts—the stem and the head of wound wire soldered to it.

Though our marvelous manufacturing methods have revolutionized the pin industry so that the product is now turned out by the million and several hundred can be bought for a few cents, pin money still survives.

May the scorn implied by the oft-used expression, "It isn't worth a pin," which its cheapness has brought upon it, be counterbalanced in the heart of that most important adjunct of modern femininity by this little appreciation of its former glory!

Irrigation

WILL THE IRRIGATION INVESTMENT EVER PAY OUT DIRECTLY?

Can Wichta Falls ever come out even on the investment she has made in irrigation. This question is often asked.

There is a good chance for Wichita Falls to not only come out even but to make a large direct profit.

It is probabl ytrue that the thought of direct profit did not enter into the minds of the promoters of the project. No doubt they felt the city would be satisfied and amply repaid, if irrigation would become an asset which would to some degree take the place of oil when oil was gone.

It is perfectly possible for the city to make a profit on its investment by selling water from Lake Kemp for the irrigation of additional lands.

There is no lack of land. It would be an easy matter to secure all the land that could be supplied by simply extending the canals into Archer and Caly counties. Surveys have been made which show this can be done without great expense.

Suppose that it was decided to irrigate only 50,000 acres in addition to the present acreage, and suppose that a price of $70 per acre was charged. This would give $3,500,000. Add to this the amount already received from district No. 2; or $1,500,000 and we have $5,000,000, or a profit of $500,000 on the original investment.

Seventy dollars per acre for water is not high. Few projects indeed have been built recently where water was sold at so low a price. Few still will be built in the future.

BLIND EDITOR TO HEAD NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASS'N.

"Night Has Come for Those Who Think It Has," Beauty Expert Tells Lion Members

"For those who say 'night has come,' it is no longer day,' night has indeed come," was the manner in which Mrs. Marie LaSalle Booth, beauty expert summed up her talk before the Lions club Wednesday noon.

"Black despair and buried hopes is the portion of those who think that for them life is all past, that it is too late to say anything worth while. We are worth only what we idealize ourselves, we gain only through concentrated thought. It isn't the fact that you are dead that counts, it is the manner in which you died."

Preceding her talk, Judge J. S. Dickey, concluded a series of lectures on the principles of Lionism. Taking as his subject the last of Lions four principles, "Our Nationa's Safety," he told of other nations who in their fancied security and safety had fallen. The Chinese wall, the walls of Jerico, had availed naught, he said, because the people within thought they were safe and had not figured on the enemies from within.

"It is the attack from within the walls, not from without, that America must fear today," Judge Dickey stated, "our fleets and our navies and armies are strong enough to repel the physical forces, it is the love and good that goes on in our individual citizens that counts. Our nation's strength and safety lies in the individuals that make up a nation. It is a personal safety, a safety that will determine the ultimate fate of our country, for no nation can rise higher than its people."

Representatives of the North Side Civic league appeared before the club and extenden an invitation to be the guests next Wednesday of the league. The invitation was accepted and the next luncheon will be at the North Side Community House.

The club voted to aid the Salvation Army in the proposed picnic June 16, for the poor. The members will arrange transportation to the picnic grounds in Scotland Park.

WATER SYSTEM RUNNING FULL CAPACITY NOW

5,000,000 Gallons a Day Is Limit For City Mains

Wichita Falls will be forced this summer to struggle along on a daily water supply of slightly in excess of 5,000,000 gallons, for that is the absolute maximum at which its present water system can be operated. With pumps and existing mains, this figure represents the physical limitations of equipment.

At Capacity Now.

This statement was made Wednesday by Dr. A. H. Douglas, manager of the water department, who said that Tuesday—one of the warmest days this year—saw the water consumption go to just 5,000,000 gallons. This means that no matter how much warmer it may become nor how much greater the demand for water may be, pumps, supply mains and filter beds will be unable to deliver much in excess of this amount.

More Storage.

Improvements and additions to the clear-water basins at the filter plant have just been completed to give a 750,000-gallon storage capacity there. The clear-water basins are the big tanks into which the filtered and purified water is pumped from the filter beds and from where it is taken by the big supply mains radiating to all parts of the city. Formerly, these basins held only 500,000 gallons of water, which was not as much as the filter beds could supply each 24 hours. Accordingly, the filter plant was shut down three or four hours each night. However, the increased storage allows the plant to work at full capacity 24 hours a day.

Maximum Service.

This is being done, and with the pumps also throbbing at a near maximum, the city is getting about as close to 100 per cent service from its water system as it is possible to obtain.

Start Laying Pipe On New Water Main

Work has started on laying the new 14-inch water supply main from the pumping plant south of town west through and to the Floral eHights addition. First shipments of the big pipe has been received from the factory and more is expected daily.

The new line will afford much better water service to the heavily populated residential sections on the far-western edge of town. It will tie into existing mains at a number of points and will also provide service for new additions being laid out in that territory.

CITY TAKES A HAND IN FIGHT AGAINST WEEDS

Will Help Civic League To Clean up Vacant Lots Here

Because the weed situation really is becoming serious and also to test stances where property owners refuse to cut weeds, the city may do it and assess the owner the cost of the cut-out an ordinance that has been on the city's books for years, the city health department is launching a determined drive against property owners who allow weeds to flourish unmolested on vacant or any other property. Orders are being issued that such lots must be cleared of all weeds, and prosecutions to the full limit of the law are promised if the orders go unheeded.

May Be Fined.

The ordinance provides that in inting. A fine of not to exceed $200 may be imposed as a penalty.

It is further stipulated in the ordinance that weeds must not be allowed to grow to an average height of more than twelve inches and must not be allowed to accumulate "in rank and general profusion."

Civic League Helps.

The campaign against the weeds is being waged by the civic league, which is making strenuous efforts to keep Wichita Falls in a neat and attractive external appearance. Ladies of the league have made personal efforts to get a number of lots cleared away, but failing to receive the necessary co-operation have applied to city officials for assistance.

TO CANCEL PAPERS

Two Knox County Residents May Lose American Citizenship Rights.

Cancellation of naturalization papers of two Knox county citizens may be undertaken at the next term of federal court here, according to Charles S. Tucker of San Antonio, chief naturalization examiner for Texas, who is in the city inspecting the federal court papers of two Knox county men.

Discoveries have come to light since the papers were issued that may warrant their cancellation, Mr. Tucker said.

The Little Chinese Girl Prayed for Beauty, Just As We All Want It—Booth

The Little Chinese.
Make me good, O, great T'in Hou,
Make me gentle, chaste and witty;
Make me all of these or none,
But, O, I pray thee, make me pretty.

Make me noble, dread T'in Hou;
Kind to all, no creature harming;
Make me generous, patient, faithful;
But, O, I pray thee, make me charming.

Make me shy and straight and still;
Docile make me too, and dutiful;
Make me perfect if you will;
But, O, sweet Daemon, make me beautiful.

"Such was the prayer of the little Chinese maiden, such is the prayer of American maidens. Make us beautiful or nothing," began Mrs. Marie La Salle Booth in the second of her free lectures Wednesday morning at the Olympic theatre before Wichita Falls women on the subject, "Perennial Youth."

"Fifty years ago a woman had lived her life by the time she was thirty. If she had married or not, by that time she was expected to have settled down into a comatose state, a sort of waiting life—waiting for the end.

"Today woman is just entering her prime at the age of forty, and is or should be pretty and charming to the end. There is no secret to it, all women can be beautiful et forty as well as at twenty if they will only apply themselves. Self mastery is the secret, and that is why many are unwilling to set out upon the venture when they learn that it will mean a little work, a little exercise, a little getting out of the rut into which they have fallen.

Only for Today.

"We reach out eagerly for today's sweet, today's luxury of inaction, today's indulgence in evil speaking and evil thinking. Tomorrow we reap the harvest of our today's sowing, for evil of any kind leaves its mark upon the features as surely as a soiled finger leaves its mark on the folds of a snowy gown.

"Love cannot be ordered like afternoon tea. Why do some women attract love while others repel it? Nothing in the universe just happens. Everything from an atom to the solar system is governed by law. Since everything is governed by law, can Cupid escape?

"To be loved, one must be lovely. The average woman takes it as a matter of course that she will settle down after marriage, and usually she settles with a thump. The consequence is that we have hundreds of young and middle aged women engaged in a continuous struggle with hooks and eyes and buttons. Fat is a short ugly word, but obesity, stoutness, plumpness, and other synonyms are only soft pedaled euphenisms. These people, who settle down are fat, just the same, awkward, just as unhealthy and just as ungainly as when splet with ten letters as four.

"Corpulency is a disease induced by bad breathing and laziness. Every woman wants a slender waist, good chest, well rounded arms, tapering wrists, slender ankles, a supple waist, correct carriage and grace. These things can be attained by the proper dieting and exercise. There is no other way. We have exercises to take care of every nerve, every organ in the body."

Mrs. Booth continued to explain that by perennial youth she did not mean immortality in flesh, nor did she mean the immature condition of early years. She defined the term as meaning health, vigor, vitality, and the magnificent development of full maturity, which may be attained by proper living.

"The Greek method of training youth was not to worry, not to fear, and to get a new idea every day. Perennial youth and good health are interchangeable, for there is no such thing as perennial youth without health. So the first essential in attaining this youth is to rebuild the body cells and supply them with all the youth and vigor they need, but no more, then eliminate all that should be thrown out of the body. If we do our part, nature will maintain a perfect balance and the much longed for perennial youth will be ours once more.

Sub Rosa—Mimi

By MIMI.

YOU MUST LOOK INTERESTED.

"What is it, Mimi?" inquires Sally, "that some times when you've started talking to a boy and you seem to be getting along all right, he suddenly loses interest and sort of driftsh away. Just last night a boy was talking to me about his mining scheme or something equally dull, when he suddenly stopped, looked rather bored with me and finally went away to talk to somebody else. This isn't the first time a thing like that has happened and I wonder what it all means. Have you an idea?"

Yes, Sally, I have a very definite idea of where the trouble lies and you furnished me with the inspiration yourself.

You tell me in the second sentence of your letter that your companion's subject seemed very dull to you — and undoubtedly therein lay the reason for his sudden breaking off of the talk, and his subsequent indifference to you.

You probably, without realizing it, had an appearance of absolute boredom which chilled the poor young hero who wanted to be patted on the back and told what a big man he was.

If you want to be popular, you've got to make men like to talk to you.

And they certainly won't talk unless they're pretty sure the audience is an appreciative one.

And the only way you can make them feel that you're hanging on their every word is by registering excitement, enthusiasm and passionate interest in all their remarks.

If your attention wanders while a man talks—if your eyes glance away from him to take in the arrival of some one else, he's annoyed.

He figures that what he's saying is of sufficient interest to hold you and if you aren't helu, then you don't like him and if you don't like him—what the deuce? There are plenty more girls to talk to, to go and see, to take out to dances and theatres.

So you see, this is a hard business, being popular.

You can't just sit and listen to a bore for hours, without uttering a sound.

You've got to act all the time.

You can't be comfortably bored and disinterested. You must show yourself to be vividly alert, wide-awake, and responsive to your companion's ideas and thoughts.

Perhaps, Sally, if you hadn't so definitely made up your mind that your boy's mining scheme was a dreadful bore, you wouldn't have shown it so plainly on your face, and he wouldn't have noticed it, and he wouldn't have gone away, etc., etc.—leading to some very interesting speculations.

So the next time a boy interrupts himself in the middle of a story and goes away to somebody else, don't ask yourself "What's the matter with him?"

Ask your self "what's the matter with me?"

Maybe it's your fault.

GO IN COMFORT ON THE "KATY"

SHRINERS 'KID' CALIFORNIANS AS RAIN POURS

Nobles Don Bathing Suits And Stage a "Beauty Review"

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 3.—(AP)—Rain that started early in the morning and continued throughout the day resulted today in the postponement of all of the out of door Shrine functions and Los Angeles, famed for its June sunshine, came in for a merciless kidding on the part of thousands of visiting nobles.

Even the official Shrine parade, which it was announced earlier in the day would be held tonight even though it rained pitchforks, was called off and will be made a part of tomorrow night's program.

Instead of a colorful procession of crack drilling teams and bands, Broadway saw its first "bathing beauty" parade in the form of nobles, fat and thin, short and tall, who having a flexible sense of humor, donned bathing suits coursed the thoroughfare, Red bathing caps replaced the fez. Some pulled toy boats through the puddles of water, some towed wooden buckets, others fished from the curbs, and still others carried umbrellas bearing the legend "this very unusual."

However, in spite of the wet weather the imperial divan met and voted to hold the 1926 convention at Philadelphia, June 1, 2 and 3.

The first day of elections resulted as expected, the advancement of a plot of officers by which James will see of Denver, Colo., was other, and al potentate to succeed to exert adler of Kansas City, Mo. The planers chosen in the elec- ng him Daniel W. Crosland, Montgomery Ala., imperial deputy potentate; Lawrence M. Dunbar, Providence, R. I., imperial chief Rabban; Frank Holmes, Houston, Texas, imperial assistant rabban; Lee V. Youngblood, Los Angeles, imperial high priest and prophet; William C. Brown, Pittsburgh, imperial treasurer; Benjamin F. Powell, Boston, imperial recorder. Re-elected: Eaton F. Fletcher, Rochester, N. Y., imperial oriental guide; Thomas J. Houston, Chicago, imperial first ceermonial master; Earl C. Mills, Des Moines, imperial second ceremonial master; Clifford Ireland, Peoria, Ill., imperial martial and John W. Seberell, Jr., imperial captain of guard.

Nothing Wrong With Flappers of Today, Women's Clubs Told

Mrs. Blankenburgh, who celebrated her 80th birthday here yesterday, declared the women of the 40's used more make-up than the girls of today and even in that time bobbed hair which was the fad was discouraged.

If the census taker is permitted to list in the census a farm woman who does outside work as a "farm laborer," he should also be empowered to list the city woman who does house work at least as a housekeeper, is the contention presented by Mrs. Maggie W. Barry of College Station, Texas, chairman of the committee of the American Home.

Mrs. Barry presented a resolution calling upon the census bureau to list the occupation of a house wife.

RIO GRANDE GLOOD IMMINENT

River Can Stand a Few More Inches Before Flooding Valley.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 3.—The valley today is anxiously watching the Rio Grande, which has come up level with the top of its banks since yesterday and is standing at flood stage from Mission to its mouth, with the stream reported to be rising slowly at Mission.

The river will stand only a few more inches of water and in most instances no more at all, and the probable flood in the valley depends to a large extent on the amount of flood water coming through the river at Mission. A rapid drop is reported at Rio Grande City, and if the levees hold with the present rise, all danger will be past. Several minor breaks were reported today, but none of them did any damage.

HOPPERS SWEEP FIELDS.

AUSTIN, June 3.—Grasshoppers are invading the corn fields near Pflugerville, where they are attacking young vegetation and sweeping the fields clean, according to Walter E. Davis, county agricultural agent. Davis advises farmers to place poison in the low, damp places along streams and to do this early in the morning when the insects are feeding.

SO. SIDE CIVIC LEAGUE PLANS IMPROVEMENTS

Park And Community House And Children's Play-Ground Are Assured

Clean white scantlings stretched between bundles of shingles made seats for more than a hundred at last night's mass meeting called at the behest of the South Side Civic League. In the open air with the foundation of their community house before them and the material that would soon be put into the building around them the citizens of the Sibley Taylor addition listened to the plans that, come true, were to transfer the lot grown up with weeds that they had about them ino a park with a community house in the center and a playground for children around it.

The meeting was called especially to devise ways and means of raising sufficient funds to enlarge the community house project to meet more nearly the needs of the club. Although the foundation has already been laid it has been decided that his is much too small and a large addition is contemplated.

C. C. Bunnenburg and J. H. Patton promised the organization seven pieces of play ground apparatus at once. Mayor R. E. Shepherd in a short talk commended the spirit that was prompting the edifice. A plea to coninue the work that had been started and to carry out the completion of the community house and playground was the contribution of Mrs. A. R. Bleakley to the night's program.

The meeting was called on the very site of the new building. Seats were provided by stretching lumber between the single bundles, there ready foru se.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

Who's Who in the Story

Rosilyn Ridgeway learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an overworked little drudge in her father's inn.

Landis Ridgeway, her husband, is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother.

Florence Ridgeway, an aristocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chose the easiest way out. Rosilyn, loving her husband, knows he is still in love with Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying

Steve Van Vorst, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Ridgeway. She is in Paris when the news reaches her of Landis' marriage, and she hastens back to the United States. With her goes Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby Rosilyn and Briscoe will see a great deal of each other, and Lydia will have a chance to exert her wiles upon Landis. The plan works, and Landis, finding himself often alone with Lydia falls under her spell once more.

In Paris meanwhile Van Vorst, realizing the reason for Lydia's sudden trip to America and hungering for her love, decides to use Marietta, a dancer and sweetheart of Briscoe's in connection with a scheme. These two come to New York where Marietta begins to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

Lydia, observing the turn of affairs, is none to pleased, especially when the dancer makes evident headway with Landis while Steve, seizing his chance, makes ardent love to Lydia. After a lavish revel in town the three accept Steve's invitation to a party on his yacht the next day, although Lydia would prefer to have Landis to herself.

In the country at the Ridgeway place, Rosilyn, in a fever of jealousy and anxiety over the protracted disappearance of her husband seeks the solace of the countryside. While walking she believes she sees the slumbering form of Briscoe—a few minutes later the earth opens and she is plunged in a mysterious underground passage.

On Van Vorst's yacht Marietta and Lydia engage in a verbal fusillade—Lydia's last shot being a question as to whether the dancer was interested in Landis.

Rosilyn after her peculiar accident falls deep in the earth to a sort of cavern where after futile attempts to escape Briscoe appears on the scene, apparently from nowhere. She asks him when, after consciousness returns, how he happens to be there.

Although Briscoe offers a feasible story some doubt remains in Rosilyn's mind as to its exact truth. He denys having found her deep in the earth, which leads her to fear trickery.

"We must be getting home," she said. "They'll be—I mean my mother-in-law will be—wild with anxiety."

"He's in New York," said the young wife, shortly.

Then::—

"I'm all right now. Let's go." She rose, moving rather stiffly towards the open door.

Rupert Briscoe took her arm. He drew it to him with a possessive pressure, and said, anxiously—

"Are you sure you're fit enough to walk?"

"Oh, yes."

"I could leave you," he suggested, "and see if I could get help somewhere, or a car. But we're a long way from the roads, in any case."

"Don't leave me."

"You'd be afraid if I remained with you, even if we had to stay all night?"

The tones were suave, and had a sort of veiled intimacy about them.

"It would be out of the question to stay, so why talk about it?" The girl walked out of the hut. "I've been enough trouble to you already. How you carried me here I don't know!"

They walked on the uneven ground through the pouring rain.

I did slide down a sort of staircase, cut in chalk," persisted Rosilyn. "The fall stunned me at first. When I woke up, I was in a sort of cave. My arm was torn, I tell you! Look!" And she thrust back her sleeve. In the darkness her companion could not see the little splatch of congealed blood.

Briscoe drew her a little nearer him as they walked, trying to take most of her weight on himself.

"You dreamed all that, I'm sure. Forget it."

"I didn't. It was true."

He said, soothingly—

"Concussion's a queer thing, and plays lots of tricks with the brain. My personal belief is that you had a bad fall—indeed I found you among furze bushes in a position that clearly showed you had been running and had tripped over a boulder and so into a little hollow. In the twilight I got a glimpse of your white frock, and stopped to investigate. Then carried you to the nearest shelter, for rain had started to come down."

They walked on in the darkness, the rain pouring down on them with might and main.

Briscoe had her by the elbow, supporting her as much as possible.

She said at last—

"There's something queer I want to tell you. It's quite true I was running. I'd seen a tramp asleep under some bushes, and I suddenly realized the loneliness of the place, and how foolish I'd been to wander so far."

Briscoe asked—

"Had the tramp wakened up and seen you? Had he frightened you?"

"Oh no. But after I'd turned homewards, I thought I heard someone following me. The ground is uneven, and I couldn't see far back—and so I ran, and fell."

"Forget about it."

But Rosilyn continued, nervously, and speaking in staccato jerks—

"I haven't come—yet—to the queerest bit. You say—that you only came down on the 4:15. Then you weren't in this neighborhood today till after half-past six?".

"That's right. But why the Sherlock Holmes investigation?" The man's tones were still amused—and yet the atmosphere between the pair seemed tense, almost electric.

What was coming next?

Said Rosilyn—

"It's only that the rough-looking tramp under the bushes—now don't be offended, please—because of course I see my stupid error—the tramp was uncommonly like you!"

"Like me? Great guns! and Rupert Briscoe burst into a hearty guffaw.

"He was," persisted his companion, walking along beside him. "He had his hat tilted over his eyes, but I could see the tip of his nose, and his mouth and chin—unshaven, by the way!" She shook out another nervous laugh. "You've no idea how much he resembled you, even if he was shabbily dressed! And when you told me just now that you'd been climbing about the cliffs in search of seagulls' eggs, the whole thing did seem to tally, rather—except about the time."

"So you thought I was a wild man pursuing you, and you ran like a hunted little creature," chided Rupert Briscoe, his hold on her arm tightening. "My! You amaze me!"

CHAPTER NO. 53.

Back Again.

On their way back an impulse which she tried to conquer came to Rosilyn to question Mr. Briscoe as to Landis' whereabouts in town.

"I've been wondering if you're run across Landis in the last few days?" she timidly asked.

Wichita Falls Beats Dallas In Slugging Tilt, 10 to 8, to Even Series

BODIE WHAMS OUT BRACE OF NON-STOPPERS

Spuds Whack 16 Safeties But Steers Punch Two More

Wild and enthusiastic slugging featured the second conflict Wednesday of the Dallas-Wichita Falls series at Spudder park. Though outhit by a slim margin in point of base knocks poled, the Tanner squad breezed through for a 10-8 victory, evening the series.

It was a great pitchers' battle (note the use of the plural form). Two Dallas hurlers were sacrificed on the baseball altar, while Manager Bud found it necessary to send exactly a quartet of flingers to the hurling eminence. Ripper Wheeler got two out to begin the affair, but then slipped into trouble, and was forced to give way to Carl Williams after a homer by Rhino Williams, astute Dallas outer gardner, and singles by Kearns, Segrist, and O'Brien netted three runs. Willard Carl promptly struck out Khadot to quell the attack temporarily.

Carl Gets Credit.

The Steers kicked Williams rather stiffy, also stubbornly in later stanzas after prodigious buldgeoning by the Tanner cohorts had amassed a topheavy lead to the chargin of Lefty Dick Schuman and Jack Zeigler, Herd right hander. The veteran Carl was taken from the affray in the seventh with one away after Zeigler had singled and passes had been issue to Rabbitt and Bauman. Lefty Winn took up the burden and Rhino hit into a double play, thanks to the speedy fielding of Messrs. Turgeon, Distel, and Golvin. Winn went out in the eighth with two down and the sacks clutted with impatient Steers. Skipper Gardner had sent in Snipe Conley to wallop for Zeigler. Buddy straight-away jerked Winn, and chased Jackie Reid, a right hander, to the hilltop. Gardner immediately switched and sent Brown, a left handed batter, to the platter in lieu of Sniper. Reid whiffed the pinch knocker, and then pulled through the ninth in great style. Carl gets credit for the victory in the pitchers' averages.

Five Home Runs.

The Steers cracked 18 safeties, the Spudders 16. Extra base blows were cheap. Five non-stop slams were crashed to the region in rear of the port barrier. Distel swished a homer to start the Spudder half of the first. Rhino, as you know, whacked one, also. Khadot singled to left for a homer in the fourth. We say singled, for that was what the blow would have amounted to had it not bounced over the parapet. And last of all, let us announce that Ping Bodie, the terrible, punched number 12 and 13. Bodie enjoyed a wonderful afternoon with the willow. The rotund one found runners on the paths every time he came up. Four out of four, he hit—two nonstoppers, a double and a single.

Fitzgeral connected for a double and two singles. Red Kearns, the Dallas first sacker, hit five for five, one a double. Cowboy Kal Segrist rolled into a double play, once, but on four other occasions belted the pellet to virgin territory.

Exams Take Toll Rice Grid Men

HOUSTON, June 3.—Prospects for a creditable football team at Rice Institute next fall, which were so bright at the conclusions at the end of the past season, are remote at present. Fall term exams took a liberal toll from the ranks of eligible players; winter terms casualties were larger, but it remained for the spring session examinations to deliver the knockout punch.

Captain Dick Terrell of Eagle Lake, stellar wingman, "flunked out" in tests just concluded, while Sam Williams of Galveston, one of the most powerful tackles Owls had, has also been suspended. Granpa Wood, passer par excellent and a fine running back, is on probation and will not be eligible for football in the fall, while Bill McVey, one of the outstanding stars of the 1924 eleven, has withdrawn from school.

Of the 11 regulars last Thanksgiving, only "Heavy" Underwood will be available this year.

CARDS TAKE ANOTHER.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—Leo Dickerman allowed only four hits and the Cardinals ran their strings of victories to four by defeating the Reds today, 7 to 3. In the fourth and final game of the series. Score:

Trammel Shows At Legion Arena Tonight

DUKE TRAMMEL.

They've witnessed Duke Trammel, youthful Fort Worth walloper, in action times almost uncountable, Wichita Falls fans have, but they still like to watch him do his fistic stuff.

Torres has become quite popular himself with local fight followers, for the Mexican lad has displayed an ever willingness to mix it, and to battle cleanly all the way in recent battles here.

That the bout will be interesting, few doubt, for both boys can exchange with the best of them, and they're a clever pair, too.

The semi-windup bout, another ten-rounder, between Blas Rodriques, Mexican flyweight, and Joe McComas, Dallas midget, is expected to prove a thriller. Both are fast as lightning, clever and pack stiff socks.

Cliff Castleberry, Vernon youngster, tangles with Kid Murdock of Sulphur in a six-rounder.

Poor Boy and Battling Samson, local negro scrappers, are billed for a four-round affair.

There is to be another prelim., announces Promoter Wofford.

PHILLIES TAKE SERIES.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—Jimmy Ring hurled fine ball to give Philadelphia the odd game of the series with Boston today by a 5 to 4 margin and the locals left for the west in the first divison. The game was on of the best played in the local lot this season, the Braves appearing to be helpless until the eighth, when a three-run rally nearly tied the score.

RONIE PITCHES GRACE OUTFIT TO CLOSE WIN

After being defeated Tuesday by the Travelers Ronie Glidewell pitched the Grace Methodists into the Sunday School league lead by administering an 11 to 6 win over the First Methodists. Inability to hit in the pinches early in the game was the First Methodist downfall. In the first with the bases full Taylor forced Rawls at second. In the second with two men on Rabbit Gordon whiffed. In the third Boone fanned with the bases loaded.

Andy Taylor led the First Methodist hitters with a pair of home runs. Coolidge collected two hits out of two times at bat. Whatley was credited with one time at bat, one hit, one walk, and was hit by the pitcher twice. Raymond Windham, Grace Methodist shortstop, collected three hits in four trips to the plate. The fielding of Homer Doke was a feature of the game. Glenn Coolidge captured Taylors flay in the sixth after a hard run.

The game was a see-saw affair for the first four innings, but the Grace Methodists took a spurt and counted five runs in the last two innings. The winning margin came on Coolidge's long triple to right, Whatley's walk and Gabe Harris' error at first, followed by Taylor's error at second. In the sixth with the bases full Whatley, at bat, stopped one with his back forcing Woodson over the pan. Hicks crashed a single to right and the final pair romped home.

Twice Taylor tied the count for the First Methodist with his home runs, the last time with two men on the sacks.

Good baseball was divided among the pitchers. Glidewell passed McMahon to get to Boone and whiffed him with the bases full. Walker passed Coolidge to to Whatley than poked him one in the back with the bases full.

The First Methodist pulled a neat play in the first canto. With Neal on third and Windham at second Doke trapped Neal off and he was run down, Windham attempted to make third on the play and was run down also.

MacFarlane And Diegel Lead In Nat'l Open Play

WORCESTER, Mass, June 3—East and middle west will clash in the final 36 holes of the national open golf championship on the Worcester county club course here tomorrow, for tonight the sturdy professional, Leo Diegel and Willie Mac Farlane, stand two strokes ahead of Francis Gallett and Al Espinosa.

Bobby Jones, amateur champion and former open king and the incomparable Walter Hagen are in warm pursuit, along with Gene Sarazen and Francis Ouimet, open title holder of former years. Far down, a score of places from the leaders, is little Cyril Walker, the Englewood, N. J., professional who startled the world by winning at Oakland Hills a year ago.

Walker Fights Hard.

Walker fought hard for his title today, but he stroked with an injured left hand and under heat that was oppressive and MacDonald Smith hero of the winter and selected by many to race his way through the field gathered here, fell far behind and in fact is almost out of the tournament. Bill Mehlhorn, considered the west's greatest threat, had to be content with a place among the first fifteen.

MacFarlane, professional at Glen Oaks, N. Y., always steady and dangerous, was four under par at the turn in the afternoon with 31. Four birdies, the result of remarkable driving and approaching, accounted for his record-making performance for he shattered the competitive mark for the course.

Only a quarter of an hour earlier Leo Diegel, the man who drives a ball more than 250 yards while standing on one foot, had returned with a 68 and for the time being was a record-holder. Diegel's attainment came as a surprise after Jack Forrester of Hollywood, N. J., had led the field for the greater part of the day and followers of golf predicted that the expert Leo at last had reached his greatest form.

Farrell Holding Own.

Of the early favorites outside of heampions and former champions, Johnny Farrell, youthful star from Quaker Ridge, alone appears to be holding up to his own. Farrell registered an impressive 145, closely followed by the veteran Mike Brady and Laurie Ayton of Evanston, Ills., who scored 146.

Jack Forrester and Bobby Jones at 147, find six men ahead of them, with the race half over but the powerful little Bobby from Atlanta, drew a 70 from his clubs in the afternoon round after a rather rocky performance earlier and climbed up among the select.

Besides Jones and Forrester, Hagen menaces. So disgusted with himself that he drove his clubs far into the ground when he missed during the afternoon, the British open champion soon smiled again and was off to a destructive finish, which took him into the first dozen with 148. Hagen's power is recognized and traps, woods and brooks mean nothing to him in the final stretch with the title at stake.

Suzanne Drops Two Games But Defeats English Net Player

PARIS, June 3.—(AP)—Suzanne Lenglen today lost her first games of the 1925 open championship but she defeated Miss Evelyn Colyer of England, 6—0, 6—2. The two games were the only ones she has lost in the semi-finals. The English player was completely bewildered by Mlle. Lenglen's sterling playing. Jean Washer of Belgium defeated Henri Cochet of France, 9—7, 8—6, 6—4.

BOSTON BEATS MACK.

BOSTON, June 3.—(AP)—The Red Sox defeated the Athletics today, 4 to 2, although scoring only four hits off the offerings of three Philadelphia pitchers. In the third Boone singled and Veach's triple coupled with a pass to Ezzell and Todt's sacrifice fly, all off Baumgartner, netted three runs. Howard Ehmke turned in his first home victory, being touched for nine hits. Score:

The Maxwell issues again provided the Pyrotechnics of the season. The "B" stock was run up to a record high at 127½, broke to 119 and then rallied to 120, where it was unchanged on the day The "B" certificated dropped from 126 to 115 and then rallied to 119, off ¾. The "A" stock touched a new peak at 121½, closing a point below that figure for a net gain of 2½ points.

Speculation in Hudson Motors derived fresh impetus from the Coercsion of the reports that a stock dividend was under contemplation, the stock touching a new maximum at 65½ and then yielding a point for a net gain of 2¼.

Bullish sentiment was created by a further easing of call money rates, the announcement of a new 1925 freight traffic record for the week ended May 23, extension of gasoline price advices and several special dividends.

St. Paul issues responded favorably to the announcement of the reorganization plan. The common closed fractionally higher at 9 after having sold above 10, and the preferred showed a net gain of more than one point at 16¼ after fluctuating between 14⅝ and 17.

Heavy accumulation of International Combustion Engineering, apparently based on reports of expanding business and earnings, sent that stock through 44 to the highest prices since it was listed more than three years ago.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with business in moderate volume.

Pressure against the foreign exchange was renewed at the opening of today's market but practically all the losses were recovered later. Demand sterling ruled fairly steady around $4.85⅝ and French francs were quoted just under five cents. Italian exchange held firm in farther felecition of the $50,000,000 Morgan credit to Italian banks.

Miller-Ferguson To Stage Sale for Old Home Week Feature

A real old fashioned July Clearance Sale staged especially for "Old Home Week" is announced this morning by Miller-Ferguson Dry Goods company.

"The rainy weather early in May hit us with exceptionally strong stocks on hand and we have decided not to wait until July to put on our store-wide clearance sale, but contrary to the usual custom will offer unusual values for the early part of June," said Claude Miller yesterday.

"We hope that 'Old Home Week' visitors as well as shoppers from out of the city will realize the splendid values we are offering and will drop in to see us. Stocks are complete in all departments and enough additional help has been secured to assure all the real satisfaction that this institution is noted for.

" 'Old Home Week' is a splendid idea and we are glad to do our part toward making it a long remembered success."

AIR TEST

vision of the Bue army is commanded by Lieut. Col. W. K. Moore of the field artillery with some of the best known artillery majors, captains and lieutenants in the army carrying out and studying the various details. Maj. P. Hayes is chief of staff with Lieut. J. R. Sheets as assistant chief of staff. The object in problem today was to work out the best methods of attack on an enemy in the mountains with all the advantage and to complete certain experiments on the methods of communication.

In addition to carrying messages from the front the air service has been experimenting on making photographs of the enemy country with enemy pursuit planes attempting to fight them off. For this purpose the force of forty planes including pursuit planes, scouting planes and planes equipped with complete photographic outfits were brought here from Kelly field. They are under command of Capt. R. C. Candee and among the forty fliers is Lieut. R. L. Maughan and others who have made various records in air service. After midnight tonight and Thursday morning the two big tests which the entire army is watching with keenest interest are to be made.

Observation Fires.

Beginning shortly after midnight an airplane will fly over the enemy position and drop parachute flares in order to provide continuous illumination for approximately one hour and adjustment of fire will be made by terrestrial observation. The illumination of artillery target by parachute flares has never before been successfully accomplished, according to Captain Candee, and if the experiment proves successful flares and planes for this purpose will be constructed by the air service following this experiment the supremest test of the artillery radio invention of direct communication from plane to battery by voice and from battery communication from plane to battery by voice and from battery to plane as would be done in ordinary telephone conversation will be tested.

It is this test which is attracting international attention and the system has been in the experimental stage for a year at Fort Sill, with Captain Wm. Mayer of the artillery and Capt. Richard Ballard of the air service spending their entire time on the problem without a failure in the daylight tests since the system was completed. But the combination of the illumination of hidden artillery targets and officers in an airplane equipped with radio making celestial adjustments directly to the battery by voice from the light furnished by air service flares is the test of supreme importance. If it is successful night firing by artillery is revolutionedized, army officers say, just as the perfection of the radio phone has revolutionized day firing. The sets used have already worked efficiently over 20-mile range during the day in the secret tests at Fort Sill. The night tests will be over a range not exceeding 12 miles. Thursday morning the air service unit will enter into the supreme contests against artillery in an effort to destroy a target quicker than it can be done by artillery fire.

Duplicate targets will be furnished This experiment will test the point stressed by General Mitchell in his contention as to the importance of the air service and the test in itself is second in importance only to the recent naval air service tests during the maneuvers in the Hawaiian islands.

The extension of the railroad from Childress into an empire within itself; the Denver direct-to Dallas; the probability of the Rock Island extension to this city makes Wichita Falls the dominant distributing industrial center of Northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma. This fact is attracting distributors throughout the country, and the result will be an expansion of our business district and an increase in population.

Now is the time to buy business property as an investment.

I shall be glad to talk with you about the above mentioned property.

RESIDENCE.

Located on the pavement, on Luile, we have a wonderful bargain in a five room home with sun room and unusually large breakfast room. The large front porch is completely shaded with awnings, and these with the flowers, trees, and shrubbery make a beautiful frontage. The house has hardwood floors throughout, and it has been newly papered with English unfadable paper. The large living room has a large coal grate, and in all the other rooms, there are brick fire places with the gas connection. In each bedroom, there is a mirror door to the large closets. The kitchen is large and very modernly arranged. There is a tile bath, with the base tub and large closet. There is plenty of closet room.

In the back are the garage, and servant's quarters, both set off with flowers, shrubbery, and fruit trees. There is also a grape arbor, in which are both the white and the Concord grapes.

We believe you will like this home.

IN'TL LIFE TO OPEN DISTRICT OFFICE IN WF

One of Largest Old Line Companies in U. S. Enters Local Field

The International Life Insurance company of St. Louis, Mo., under the supervision of State Manager H. A. Wittliff, with headquarters at Fort Worth, is opening a district office in Wichita Falls, effective today, with J. B. Thomas in charge.

In conjunction with the insurance branch, Mr. Wittliff is opening the Safety First Investment company of Wichita Falls with a capitalization of 10,000 for which a chapter was obtained recently. The purpose of this investment company is to finance first year premioums on life insurance policies, and also to make loans on city and country property. The Wichita Falls district office will have jurisdiction over and operate in 14 counties adjacent to and including Wichita county. They are Clay, Montague, Archer, Throckmorton, Baylor, Knox, Foard, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Childress, Cottle, Motley and Hall counties.

A banquet is being held tonight at the Kemp hotel to celebrate the opening and also to increase the capital stock to $50,000.

Mayor Sheppard will deliver the address of welcome and Judge A. H. Carrigan will preside over the meeting. Judge J. C. Muse of Dallas will deliver the address of response.

Adjutant General Mark McGee is scheduled to speak and will use for his text "The reason for taking out insurance through the Wittliff organizations, and why the organization in less than six months' time in Brown county delivered more than three millions in issued business."

Leon L. Shield, cashier of the Coleman National bank, will speak on "The reason why the Wittliff organizations do away with the usual annoyances caused the country banker by the insurance agent."

H. A. Wittliff, head of the Safety First Investment company, as well as several other similar companies throughout the state, will give a brief talk.

DOG OFFERS THRILLS IN PALACE FILM

Peter The Great Is Latest of Canine Movie Stars

A new dog star in the skies.

The latest is "Peter the Great," or to give his full and imposing title, "Peter der Gross von Osteck," meaning Peter the Great from the East Corner. Peter the Great is the discovery of Harry Rapf, associate executive of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, who signed the dog to play in "The Silent Accuser" coming on Friday to the Palace theatre.

Peter the Great is the property of Edward and Arlis Faust, who brought the police dog to America from Germany. The extraordinary animal is the son of Dora von Oertztal, famous German police dog who served as a pet of the line soldiers four years during the World war, and is the grandson of Alex von Westfalenheim, the most famous dog in Germany and the predecessor of all of the highest prize police dogs in this country. The champions in the police dog class all have the blood of Alex in them.

Search for Talented Dog.

The Faust brothers searched Germany for almost three years before finding Peter the Great. They were trying to find a police dog suitable to train for motion picture work, and when they did find Peter the Great, they discovered he was not for sale at any price.

Edward Faust, the elder brother, came to America and was trainer at a large police dog kennel in New York. When the wealthy owner of Peter the Great died Edward's brother bought him from the estate and came to America.

The brothers spent morethan a year in training this unusual dog, whose intelligence is remarkable and whose understanding and ability is almost human. The Fausts then were hired by the Larry Trimble-Jane Murfin company as trainers of a team of dogs used in an animal picture made in Canada. The brothers succeeded in training the first team of German police dogs ever to work in harness, with Peter the Great as leader of the team.

The Faust brothers, with their dog actor, came to Hollywood when the Trimble-Murfin picture was finished. Edward Faust met Harry Rapf, who had just finished supervising the production of a dog picture at the Warner Brothers studio. Rapf was very much interested in the talented animal, and told the brothers he would put Peter the Great in a picture. The signing of the contract fulfilled the promise.

In many Pictures.

Since their stay in Hollywood, the Faust brothers have used the dog in many motion pictures. Peter the Great was the Wolf in Baby Peggy's picture, "Little Red Riding Hood," and was co-starred with Jimmie Adams in a Christie comedy, "Aggravatin' Papa."

Peter der Grosse von Osteck was three years old, April 16, 1924. He was brought to this country for work in pictures, according to his owners principally because he has the most uncanny faculty of registering his elemental emotions, or whatever it is a dog has. At a word from his owners, Peter will fight for the camera without injury to his adversary. Also, upon orders, he will attack the arm and hand that is holding a revolver that is being shot repeatedly, and in doing it never hurts the person with the gun.

Besides Peter the Great, the cast of "The Silent Accuser," which was directed by Chester M. Franklin, includes Eleanor Boardman, Raymond McKee and Earl Metcalfe. The scenario was prepared by Mr. Franklin and Frank O'Connor from Jack Boyle's story. Charles Dreyer was the cameraman and Cedric Gibbons was art director.

LAUGHTER REIGNS IN LAST MUSICAL COMEDY PLAY

Laughter comes in for its share of popularity today when the Jolly Flapper musical troupe presents "My Wife's Husband" for the last time in Wichita Falls. The stars are "Big Boy" McBride and Walter Witzgall.

In addition to the play itself, many unusual dancing and singing feats are promised. The troupe of chorus girls offer many new group dances that have been gainin gmuch popularity for them in other cities.

Scene from LADY OF THE NIGHT

SHOWING AT THE STRAND

"Lady of the Night" At Strand Story of a Love Unsurpassed

"Lady of the Night," Monta Bell's latest picture for Metro-Goldwyn, at the Strand, goes down into the lowest level of New York society for one side of an intensely dramatic theme and up into aristocratic Fifth avenue for the other.

It is this marked contrast, gathered with conflicting loves of two girls in widely separated stations of life, that is said to make "Lady of the Night" one of the outstanding pictures of the year.

All the glitter and brilliance of high society is there, side by side, with the squalor of the slums and the picturesque night life of the underworld.

Molly, daughter of a convict, leaves a reformatory the same day that Florence, daughter of the judge who sent the other girl's father to prison, leaves her convent. Molly falls in love with a young inventor, who on his upward climb meets Florence and the tangle of hearts far removed on the social ladder affords the plot for one of the most dramatic pictures of the year.

Why the Dual Role.

Norma Shearer adds to her growing fame as an actress by portraying the dual role of Molly and Florence. In this case, though, having the same actress in two roles is not simply an excuse for display of her histrionic ability.

The director, Monta Bell, wanted to show that the same person under different environments would react to the same love in a different manner, but that in the end, the same womanly characteristics would rule in both cases. He wanted the same actress in both roles to help intensify the likeness of the two characters.

"Lady of the Night" is an Adela Rogers St. Johns story and is interpreted by a cast which includes, besides Miss Shearer, Malcilm McGregor, George K. Arthur, Fred Esmelton, Dale Fuller, Lew Harvey and Betty Morrissey. The story is by Adela St. Johns.

Nazimova and Lou Tellegen in "The Redeeming Sin," Olympic

Picture lovers have a treat at the Olympic theatre today where the Vitagraph picture, "The Redeeming Sin," opened a four day run last night. Nazimova is the star of this production, and Nazimova is at her superlative best.

The celebrated actress plays the role of a "queen of the Paris Apaches," a part that gives her an excellent opportunity to display her remarkable emotional powers and her decided talent as a dancer. Creditable as have been al lher performances in the past, in this picture she rises to heights of artistry never attained before.

All the scenes are laid in Paris, the story having to do with an underworld gang in the French capital. The girl renounces her sordid life when she meets and is fascinated by a young aristocrat. Her reformation ends, though, when she discovers this man embracing another girl. This girl proves to be his sister, but Joan (Nazimova) does not know it at the time.

Lupine, the Apache leader, is madly in love with Joan, and to appease her he steals a wonderful pearl necklace for her. She asks that these be returned to their owner, however, and Lupine, much against his will, follows her request. Pleased with his devotion the girl decides that, after all, he prefers Lupine to any other man.

A realistic fight among the Apache in the Paris sewers is one of the startling highlights in a picture that abounds in thrills. The famous sewers, with boats operating through the passages, are depicted with remarkable fidelity to the graphic descriptions given by Victor Hugo and other French novelists.

Lou Tellegen plays opposite Nazimova, in the role of the Apache leader, and, like the star herself, undoubtedly gives the finest performance of his career. The cast throughout is of a high order, with Carleton D. Miller, Otis Harlan, Rosita Marstini, Rose Tapley, Eric Mayne and Violet Virginia impersonating important characters.

"The Redeeming Sin," a J. Stuart Blackton production, was admirably directed. Viewed from whatever standpoint, the picture is splendidly done and should rank among the outstanding productions of the year.

Bathelmess Shows At the Mission

Richard Barthelmess appears again on the screen at the Mission Treatre today in his latest First National offering, "Soul Afire," and the fact recalls an incident of our recent visit to New York.

While in the "Big town" we taxied out to the Tec Art Studios in Forty-eighth street to have a peep at the famous Dick in the act of "doing his stuff." We were curious to learn if all the glitter and glamor with which the fiction writer always associates a motion picture studio were really true; and, further, to gain some real inside information upon how Barthelmess makes his pictures.

As for the glitter and glamor, our first experience was a trip over a tangle of lighting cables and land squarely in the center of an elaborate cabaret set. Whereupon an unusually attentive person, who later developed to be the Barthelmess press agent, assisted us to our feet and began verbal prelude to what was to follow.

The picture, we learned from him, is an adaptation from Matin Brown's stage play, "Great Music," and was being filmed under direction of John S. Robertson. Our guide paused to catch his breath for another blast of information when—who do you suppose interrupted his story? That's right. You guessed it the first time—none other than Richard himself.

Sensing the fact that we were snooping around for news, the thought occurred to Dick that he would let us in on a few secret scandals of the members of his company.

"I am greatly worried," explained Dick, "for fear the censors might drop in here and banish me for life for allowing these things to take place in my studio." Then he led us by the arm to every nook and corner of the stage to see what we could see. By actual count there were twelve mothers chaperoning their daughters between scenes. Over in a corner a sweet young thing was persuing the inside of a paper-covered novel "Elinor Glynn's latest?" we suggested.

"Not so," answered Dick, "worse than that." A close squint revealed "The Wisdom of the Hindus" as the title of the young lady's literary diet.

Lemon Juice Whitens Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

Diary of a Famless Man

Dear Folks:

As a "Famless Man," writing his experiences for Record News readers while his wife is vacationing, it is only fair that those who read give me timely advice. For instance, I am in a quandary as to the floors of our house. I have to leave the windows open when I leave in the morning, else it is as hot as an oven when I return at night. Meanwhile the dust blows in in clouds. There must be an inch of it already in the bedroom. I can't sweep it up, for a broom will not carry it. What shall I do, for that's one thing Ethel did not advise me on.

I confess I am ready for Ethel and little Katherine to come back any time. Perhaps I'm lonesome; but my conscience tells me the real reason is the house is getting to look a sight! I shall never disagree with my wife again when she says it takes a lot of effort to keep house in Wichita Falls. You should see the bathtub when I started to plunge yesterday. There must have been an inch of dust blown into it.

Business as usual during the day and the Lions club luncheon at noon. Heard some speeches.

Worked pretty hard morning and afternoon, but interspersed it with an afternoon movie—by myself—at the Strand where Norma Shearer portrays the zenith of love or something like it in "Lady of the Night." Met Hubert Harrison on the street for a moment. He looked cool and refreshing. Wish summer ment as little to me. From the office about 5 o'clock. An exasperating hour looking for our family washwoman then found her. Clayton's for supper, a drive—by myself—and home.

Yours for the day and a Saturday Evening Post and to bed.

THE FAMLESS MAN.

P. S.—Mailed Ethel the tan line.
