FORSAN, BORDEN

Both Area School Issues Are Approved

Area school district voters were in a "yes" mood Saturday, giving the green light to bond issues for new construction in the Forsan Independent Countyline School District by almost 2-1 majority, while the Borden County Independent School District issue received more than a 3-1 margin.

FORSAN: 120-66

The Forsan proposal was favored 120 to 66 and calls for a bond issue of $595,000. The Forsan box had 89 voters, who gave the issue a 62-27 edge. At Elbow, the favorable margin was a narrower 58-39.

The bonds will pay for six to eight classrooms at Elbow, a new business building and band hall at Forsan, revamping the gymnasium and football field, and eight to 10 brick teacherages.

BORDEN: 135-42

In the Borden County voting, 177 turned out in the six polling places to approve the $425,000 bond issue for new construction by 135-42, while the $1.50 maintenance tax issue was endorsed 139-38.

The bonds will pay for a new science building, an economics building, agricultural shops and band hall, and a PE complex added to the gymnasium. If funds are sufficient, a renovation of the high school plant will be included.

City Race Has Four Candidates

It will be a four-man race in the April 1 election for the two seats at stake on the Big Spring City Commission.

At the midnight Saturday deadline for filing, only two challengers had listed their names to oppose the incumbents, George Zachariah and Garner McAdams. They are Blaz Bailon and Eddie Acri.

Charles Smith, city secretary, said that candidates, or their representatives, will draw for positions on the ballot during a Thursday meeting at his office.

Iraq Condemns Seven

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomatic sources said Saturday night that seven men, two or three of them Jews, have been condemned in a new Iraqi spy trial in Baghdad and are scheduled for execution Tuesday morning.

The informants, who could not be named, said all had been convicted on charges of spying on behalf of Israel, Zionism and imperialism.

Syrian Coup Staged

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Defense Minister Lt. Gen. Hafez Assad staged a bloodless coup Saturday and ousted extremist Marxist leaders of the ruling Baath party from the government and the party.

Highly authoritative sources reported that Assad, who is supported by the Syrian army chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Mustafa Tlass, intends to form a moderate left wing coalition war cabinet.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

After a lull season, filings for school board and city commissioner have come on strong. As of Saturday noon there were four entries for two places on the Big Spring school board — Grant Boardman incumbent, A. K. Guthrie, Mrs. Bob Daniel and Wendall Stasey. For commissioner, incumbents George Zachariah and Garner McAdams filed as did Eddie Acri and Blaz Bailon. Deadline for commissioner has passed; for school board it is Wednesday.

Ownership of Bennett House (now Big Spring Nursing Inn) changed hands Friday. There was a continuity of service and jobs, but James Bruce Frazier, the man who dared to start this essential institution, was out. He climbed out on a limb and tried and tried, and that's a monument that can't be lightly dismissed.

Basketball fans are in for a real treat this weekend. Starting Thursday is the region V junior college tournament. Interest is added by HCJC, which sacked up its third straight Western conference crown last week. But as good as HCJC is, all the other entries are just about as tough,

Pre-Easter Cold Snap Promises Turbulent Day

By The Associated Press

A speeding Pacific cold front, packing heavy thunderstorms and snow, sped for Texas late Saturday, promising a turbulent Sabbath and colder weather.

Heavy snow warnings went up for New Mexico areas and rain in the Texas Panhandle was expected to turn to snow, the Weather Bureau said.

The new front—bringing Texas' traditional pre-Easter cold snap—was due to hit West Texas points late Saturday night or early Sunday. Thunderstorms and rain, forecasters indicated, would ride vanguard for the mass of cold air.

The fast-moving front was due to spread over all of Texas by Sunday night to send thermometers into a nose-dive. But the Weather Bureau said few points would get really severe cold.

Most of Texas, except the extreme eastern and southeastern sections, sorely needed rain.

At dusk Saturday, very light showers fell from eastern sections of New Mexico into the northwestern section of the Texas Panhandle. Ligh rain, apparently decreasing as darkness fell, extended over the Gulf of Mexico from 50 miles south of Galveston to 200 miles south of the island city.

Nixon, De Gaulle Shave Differences

Over Arab-Israeli Dispute

PARIS (AP)—President Nixon has sharply narrowed his differences with French President Charles de Gaulle on the Middle East dispute during two days of intensive talks, authoritative sources reported Saturday night.

Broad disagreement still persisted on most of the key issues separating France and America, the sources said, but both sides were praising the beginning of a new Franco-American reconciliation.

ARAB-ISRAELI

The informants said De Gaulle and Nixon spent most of their time together Friday discussing the Arab-Israeli dispute and reviewed the issue again in their day-long encounter Saturday at Versailles.

Nixon, the sources said, went more than halfway toward accepting De Gaulle's proposal that the Big Four—the United States, France, the Soviet Union and Britain—restore a stable peace in the Middle East.

Nixon said Saturday his personal diplomacy in France and other nations of Europe had set a tone of cooperation which will help break any future "diplomatic logjam" among the Western allies.

Nixon suggested that the French president, sometimes a troublesome partner, travel to Washington for another round of face-to-face talks.

That account of the President's conferences in Paris and Versailles came from White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler as the President neared the conclusion of his eight-day swing through five allied nations.

Twice during a day of talks at the Trianon Palace, overlooking the gardens of Versailles, the two presidents conferred alone, except for interpreters.

One Saturday session lasted 93 minutes, the other an hour and 28 minutes. On Friday, Nixon and De Gaulle conferred for 2 hours and 10 minutes.

Another one-hour talk is scheduled for Sunday before Nixon leaves Paris for Vatican City where he will wind up his tour with a visit to Pope Paul VI.

"The President feels that this unprecedented amount of time devoted to the talks provided an opportunity for a full exchange of views and for significant progress toward deevloping a cooperative approach toward some of the issues involved," Ziegler said. "The extensive private talks were cordial, informative and candid."

The two presidents emerged smiling after two sessions in the elegant Trianon. Nixon went on to a meeting with a group of French citizens in Paris where 5,000 leftwingers had paraded earlier in protest against the Vietnam war.

The demonstrators, called out by the French Communist party to show its support for the South Vietnamese National Liberation Front, broke up when the marchers encountered a blockade of helmeted riot police.

BURNED

The group started from the Place de la Republique, a considerable distance from the U.S. Embassy where Nixon was to confer with the French delegation. Small American flags and pictures of Nixon were burned.

Charges Swapped Over West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians injected charges of abuse of air corridors into verbal duelling with the Western powers Saturday over West Berlin, from which autobahn traffic was again temporarily interrupted by East German soldiers.

GROUNDLESS

The United States, Britain and France rejected as groundless accusations from the Soviet Union of West German military activity in the former West German capital, isolated 110 miles deep in Communist East German territory.

"It is only in the eastern (Communist) sector of Berlin that organized military activity has taken place," the Western Big Three declared in a joint statement issued through their embassies in Bonn.

A direct confrontation arose when a squad of helmeted East Germans, carrying Russian-made submachine guns and backed by Soviet approval and Warsaw Pact troop movements, barricaded the main highway to Berlin for two hours at its entry point opposite Helmstedt, in West Germany.

Later in the day an East German patrol boat fired machine-gun bursts at a West German freighter, the 266-ton Wallo, which engine trouble veered off course in Communist Baltic sea waters. Damage was slight, no injuries were reported and the Wallo cruised on to Karlskrona, Sweden.

APOLLO 9 LAUNCH SET MONDAY

Colds Better, Trio Ready

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With one of the cold-plagued Apollo 9 astronauts cured and the other two "much improved," launch crews received the green light Saturday to continue preparations for a Monday launching.

Dr. Charles A. Perry, chief astronaut physician, announced after an extensive physical examination that Air Force Col. David R. Scott was over his cold.

MUCH BETTER

Berry reported that the other two astronauts, James A. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart, were much better. All three were taken off medication, but McDivitt and Schweickart continued to take vitamin C and to gargle with hot salt water to relieve their sore throats, now classed as minor.

Another examination was scheduled for Sunday, but doctors felt the astronauts would be well enough to rocket into space as scheduled. The colds had forced a three-day postponement, the first time that illness has delayed a U.S. man-in-space mission.

The spacemen were well-rested after sleeping more than nine hours. Schweickart and Scott each jogged a mile at the moonport and McDivitt exercised in a gymnasium.

LAUNCH TIME

Launch-time is set at 10 a.m. (Big Spring time) Monday.

While circling the earth for 10 days, the astronauts' main job is to prove the the flight worthiness of the lunar module—LEM —the spindley-legged vehicle designed to land two men on the moon, hopefully on the Apollo 11 flight next July.

The LEM rides into orbit aboard the same Saturn 5 rocket. Once in space the astronauts are to link the main Apollo command module to the LEM and operate the combined vehicles for several days. On the fourth day, Schweickart plans a two-hour space walk in which he transfers hand-over-hand on railings from the LEM to the command module and back to the LEM. Purpose is to demonstrate this emergency transfer method in case the two vehicles can't dock or a connecting crawl-through tunnel is blocked.

On the fifth day, McDivitt and Schweickart are to fly the LEM 109 miles away and execute a tricky rendezvous and docking exercise in which they seek out Scott in the command module. LEM is not built to re-enter the atmosphere, so they must rejoin Scott in order to get home.

NAME CHANGED TO 'BIG SPRING NURSING INN'

New Owners Acquire City Nursing Home

The Bennett House, the city's major nursing home facility for the past six years, has been acquired by the Monterey Nursing Inns, Inc. and will be operated henceforth as Big Spring Nursing Inn, Inc.

The trade was consummated Friday afternoon, but the transfer of control became effective last Thursday midnight. Mrs. Dee Sealy, who has been serving as assistant administrator, will become the administrator.

Arthur Taylor, Vernon, a vice president of Monterey, will devote a considerable part of his time here for several weeks in helping install the new management. He supervises the Monterey group in Oklahoma and Texas.

Bruce Frazier, who with his wife, Jimmie, and his mother, Mrs. Nell Frazier, founded the Bennett House and has directed its operations, said that one of the considerations in selling to the Monterey group was in being assured of a quality nursing program for the community and the preservation of the jobs which have been created by the operation here.

NO IMMEDIATE PLANS

He said he had no immediate plans.

"Right now I'm just looking," he said.

Details surrounding the transaction were handled here by Carl B. Mellman, Columbus, Ohio, president of Monterey. Big Spring Nursing Inn assumed no responsibility for unsecured obligations of Bennett House, he revealed.

All guests in Bennett House were processed as readmissions into Big Spring Nursing Inn. It will operate under its own corporate identity as a wholly owned subsidiary of Monterey.

"We want to maintain a continuity of service," he declared, "and to follow policies which will be directed toward a continual improvement of high quality services to our guests. We have acquired the physical asseis and will have a brand new operation."

Taylor will work closely with Mrs. Sealy in instituting policies which have been developed in other Monterey operations, according to Mellman.

200-BED UNIT

Big Spring Nursing Inn has accommodations for 200 beds in two basic domiciliary units located at 10th and Goliad. Frazier first constructed one unit of 100 beds in 1963 and then duplicated it with another directly to the north. It has one other building housing auxiliary functions.

Since last December, when a suit on note was filed, the facility has been in a beleagured financial position. Frazier said he had negotiated with several nursing home groups, but the Monterey seemed to him to offer the best assurance of stable, quality operations.

STOCK COMPANY

Monterey is a public company which last October made an offering of $5,704,000 at $11 per share. Its prospectus showed operating revenues as of July 1, 1968, of $2,929,099 and assets of $3,664,125. At that time it operated or was in process of acquiring facilities with a combined bed total of 1,085 in six units in the Minneapolis, Minn., and two in the Columbus, Ohio, area. Since then it has branched considerably.

It acquired two nursing homes in Vernon from Taylor, one in Wichita Falls (a 92-bed unit under construction), leased homes in Childress and in Altus, Okla., all with a combined total of 317 beds. Mellman said that Monterey had an option to purchase another 60-bed unit in Wichita Falls, units in Nocona and Seymour with 129 beds together, and another 180-bed unit in Duncan, Okla. The parent company is actively engaged in negotiating the acquisition of other facilities throughout the country. Monterey stockholders also have approved a merger with a medical metal tubing company.

Chairman of the board is Irving Abramowitz, Ph.D. who had been instructing in business organization at Ohio State University. Mellman had been a practicing attorney in Ohio until he joined the Monterrey group.

Nixon Faces Major Vietnam Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The week-old enemy offensive in South Vietnam is pressing on President Nixon a major policy decision at the end of his European trip.

So far the traveling White House has managed, amid the crowded schedule of visits to European capitals, to steer clear of a public confrontation on the issue:

Has Hanoi violated the understanding under which the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam—and if so, what will the United States do about it?

Vietnam appears on the Nixon docket Sunday with his Paris discussions with U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge and South Vietnam's Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

And next Thursday—by coincidence the day when the first report on U.S. casualties from the enemy onslaught is due for announcement—Nixon is slated for an hour-long, nationally broadcast Washington news conference.

The timing of the enemy offensive placed an added embarrassment on Washington officials because it began just as the President was heading for Europe with his top foreign affairs advisers, White House aide Henry A. Kissinger and Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The new administration has yet to set forth its Vietnam policy in any detail. The policy makers have been too busy with the European itinerary to spend much time on Vietnam during the week. And what is done or not done about the stepped-up enemy attacks must bear on Nixon's general Vietnam policy for the future.

As a result, Washington authorities dealing with Vietnam on a day-to-day basis have kept generally mum about U.S. policy since the offensive while trying to keep the path open for any direction the new President chooses.

The current Washington tactic has been designed to leave Nixon with wide flexibility for public justification of whatever course he chooses.

Morton To Run Party Just As Nixon Wants It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton says that as chairman of the Republican National Committee "I would expect to be very much part of the first team," running it the way President Nixon wants it run.

"A President in power needs a strong political arm," Morton said in his first interview since the White House announced last week he would be recommended by Nixon as the new national chairman when the GOP National Committee meets here in mid-April.

The 6-foot-6 Maryland congressman made clear he intends to continue the nonideological tone set by outgoing Chairman Ray C. Bliss. "The job of the national party is not to extend ideology but to establish government," Morton said, adding that "the name of the game is to win."

He said he plans to confer at some length with Nixon to make sure the national committee goes on a course parallel to that of the new administration. Asked if he would run the committee the way Nixon wants him to do, Morton replied: "You bet your life I will."

"This is a man with whom I have dealt before," said Morton, who was Nixon's floor manager at last summer's Republican National Convention. He called Nixon "one of the finest professionals in terms of being able to state problems and come out with things that work."

He said he anticipates none of the difficulties between the national committee and the White House that plagued the Democrats under the Johnson administration. Former Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey frequently had to deal with President Lyndon B. Johnson through White House staff members.

In addition to seeking control of Congress and holding large state governorships in 1970, Morton said, "We have got to be thinking about 1972."

He said winning House control, for which Republicans will need to gain 26 seats next year, may be a difficult task, noting "it is getting harder and harder to beat incumbents."

But Morton, elected four times in a district with heavily Democratic registration totals, said "we can win a Republican seat in any congressional district in the United States with the right candidate."

Glenn May Run Again

HOUSTON (AP) — Former astronaut John Glenn said Saturday he is considering entering the 1970 race for a Senate seat in Ohio. He said he is now far from a final decision.

Glenn, who seven years ago last month became the first American to orbit the earth, said he has "been approached to run by a number of people," but that he'll have to wait and announce the decision in Ohio later on."

He said the decision will depend in part on who else is running.

Glenn, 47, a retired Marine colonel, flashed three times around the globe aboard a one-man Mercury spacecraft Feb. 20, 1962.

He later resigned from the Marines and the space program in 1964 to enter the Ohio Senate race as a Democrat. Shortly afterward the former astronaut slipped in a bath tub, slammed his head against the tub's side and injured his inner ear. He withdrew from the Senate race and it took almost a year for the dizziness brought on by the injury to disappear.

Glenn is president of the Royal Crown Cola International Ltd. and a vice president for corporate development in the parent firm, Royal Crown Cola Corp.

'City Slickers' Share Back-To-The-Farm View

By DON KENDALL
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A visitor to the Agriculture Department last week, asked if he had been offered a job in the Nixon Administration, told a newsman he would rather continue living in Iowa.

"This isn't for me," the man said. "I'm a farmer, a small-town boy. That's the only place to live."

According to surveys, many city dwellers share the Iowan's back-to-the-farm view. And while Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin hasn't drawn the line as firmly, he does believe rural America has much to offer the urban population tide of the future.

After only six weeks in office, it seems clear that Republican leaders will push rural development as an answer to the growing perplexities of the cities, and that Hardin will be a top spokesmen.

If the experts are correct, Hardin told a group recently, the United States will have another 100 million or so people 30 years from now.

"Where are they going to live?" Hardin asked. "Are they going into the Chicagoes and New Yorks and Los Angeleses in the same percentages and proportions and ratios that they are now?

"Or indeed are we going to develop new growth points throughout America in our smaller cities, in our county seat towns, in new cities yet to be started?"

If the population tide sweeps toward the rural scene, Hardin said, planning must begin now including "such mundane things as sewer systems and water systems and electric utilities" in small towns and rural areas.

Hardin, in helping design the Nixon administration's blueprint for rural development may have a built-in advantage of considerable importance to whatever congressional support is sought for future programs.

Simply, this is a subtle, perhaps subconscious attitude among even the most ardent city dwellers that, as the Iowan said, they would actually prefer living elsewhere.

The National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, in a survey published recently, concluded that 82 per cent of the 1,400 persons interviewed—two-thirds urban—would rather live in small towns or other rural areas.

Aggie Dorms Are Renamed

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Six dormitories at Texas A&M were renamed Saturday for six Medal of Honor winners from the school.

Among those present was Dr. Eli L. Whiteley, the university's only surviving recipient of the nation's highest military honor. He is associate professor of agronomy at A&M and a native of Georgetown.

Dr. Whiteley graduated from A&M in 1942.

More than 50 members of the six Medal of Honor recipients' families joined in the observance a part of Military Weekend activitales, including some relatives from as far away as California.

William G. Harrell, class of 1943 from Mercedes, survived World War II but died in 1963.

The awards were made posthumously to Lloyd H. Hughes, 1943 graduate from Corpus Christi; George D. Keathley, Olney, 1937; Turney W. Leonard, Dallas, 1942; and Thomas W. Fowler, Wichita Falls, 1943.

It's a great honor to have one of the A&M dormitories named after me," noted Dr. Whiteley, "and I think all the families, including my own, are extremely proud the university has done this."

"If the young men who live in these dormitories could realize the sacrifices that these other Medal of Honor winners made, I think it would influence them in the way they conduct themselves, both here on campus and in the future," Whiteley observed.

Among the honorees were the widows of two of the men, Mrs. Inez Keathley of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Olive C. Harrell of San Antonio.

The group was honored at the Corps of Cadets' first full-scale review of the year and then taken to the dormitory areas.

Three of the halls, Whiteley, Leonard and Harrell, are located in the corps area, while the others are on the opposite side of the campus and house civilian students.

FIELD AND RANGE

Conservation Meet Opening Thursday

By TED ROGERS

Personnel in agricultural research and conservation will meet in Big Spring Thursday and Friday for a conference to review efforts in conservation.

About 30 members of the Agricultural Research Service, Soil Conservation Service and Texas A&M Research Service will attend a Thursday gathering, beginning at 9 a.m. in the conference room of the Federal Building.

Alton Marwitz, chairman of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee, will give the welcome, and opening remarks will be given by J. R. Johnston, Amarillo, of Soil and Water Conservation Research, and W. S. Goodlett, area conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service.

Discussion topics will include erosion of sandy soils, soil erosion by wind, grass seedling responses to wind and wind-blown soil particles, and reducing wind erosion on sandy soils.

Doug Lowe, Big Spring, area agronomist for the SCS, will talk on research needs in controlling wind erosion and reducing abrasive injury to growing plants. A group discussion will be led by Dr. Bill Fryrear, of the Big Spring Experiment Station.

The afternoon session will open at 1 p.m. with discussion topics of storage and use of water by crops on sandy soils, influence of seedbed cover and fertilizer on soil physical properties, influence of soil compaction on grass establishment, and moisture use studies of selected plant materials for wind erosion control.

W. S. Goodlett will speak on the research needs on soil management and minimum tillage, and Dr. Paul Koshi will moderate a group discussion.

Friday, members of the ARS and Texas Agricultural Experiment Service will meet to discuss projects to undertake according to the needs expressed in the conference.

The Howard County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office notes that there is a lag in farmers signing up for the 1969 cotton and feed grain programs.

Although the deadline is March 21, less than half of the county farmers have signed up for the program.

Speaking of research, Victor Ray, Washington, D.C., editor of the Farmer's Union Washington Newsletter, says agricultural colleges are failing to balance emphasis between production and marketing research.

"Agricultural college officials are still spending too much time emphasizing the biological sciences and production without giving enough attention to farm policy and marketing," he said.

"Farmers and ranchers don't understand the economic gibberish, but do understand their inadequacies in marketing agricultural production profitably," he adds.

Ray spoke at a recent Texas Farmers Union Legislative Seminar in Austin. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Doris Blissard, Bill Schraeder and Gary H. Seidenberger, all of Garden City. Seidenberger is president of the Glasscock County Farmers Union, and Blissard is a TFU District 8 director.

OUR THANKS—

It is with sadness that Nell and James Bruce Frazier announce the sale of Bennett House to Monterey Nursing Inns.

We are sorry it could not remain a home-owned business, but ill health and other obligations have forced this decision for us. We feel the new owners will give good service and urge the community to support them.

We wish to thank all the wonderful folks who volunteered service to the home, and sent gifts and flowers through the years.

We also want to thank the ministers, Girl Scouts, clubs and other organizations who helped. Especially do we thank the T&P employes, T. Willard Neel, and all the friends and relatives who worked all night unloading the freight car the night before we opened.

These acts of kindness will be forever cherished. To the families of the 800 patients we have cared for, thanks for making us a part of your lives. We are very grateful for the cooperation of the local doctors and for all the loyal employes we have had for the past five years. Special thanks go to Drs. Nell and Virgil Sanders for being our "physicians on call."

Kimball Guthrie Seeks School Post

A. K. (KIMBALL) GUTHRIE

A citizen who got all his public school training in the local system (a 1949 graduate) has submitted his name for election to the board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District.

He is A. K. (Kimball) Guthrie, oil drilling contractor.

Guthrie said Friday, "If the people see fit to give me their vote, I can say only that I will approach every facet of our schools' operations and policies with an open mind, and will attempt to take a position in any instance that will be good for our schools and our community.

"As a parent, I am interested in the education of our children; as a taxpayer, I am interested in seeing that our schools are operated in an efficient manner. Certainly I would work with other members of the board in maintaining the best possible program."

Although a native of Abilene, Guthrie has resided here since early childhood. After graduation from BSHS, where he was on the football team, he attended Howard County Junior College and Texas Tech. He has been engaged in activities in the oil industry since then.

Guthrie recently was named a co-captain of the Quarterback Club, and has been coaching a Gra-Y football team in the YMCA-sponsored program. He formerly was a director of the Y.

He is married to the former Sue Carolyn Wasson, and they reside at 5 Indian Ridge. Their three children are in school; Kim, a sophomore in high school; Will, in the sixth grade and Kate in the first grade. They are members of the Methodist Church.

Curtis LeMay Loses His Job

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Curtis LeMay, 1968 vice presidential candidate on the American Independent party, has been ousted as a director of the Networks Electronic Corp. of Chatsworth.

Stockholders voted at a meeting Friday to dismiss the six-member board and then they re-elected every board member except LeMay, George C. Wallace's running mate.

Mihai D. Patrichi, president and founder of the company, was elected to take LeMay's place.

LeMay, a retired Air Force general and former Air Force chief of staff, was not present at the meeting. He recently filed a court suit charging Networks and Patrichi violated his employment contract. The suit asked $350,000 in pay, profits on a stock options plan, and $5 million punitive damages.

Crude Oil Still Oozes Into Water, On Beaches

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A month after an offshore well blew out, crude oil — nobody can say how much — continues to ooze into the Pacific Ocean, fouling water and beaches up to 90 miles away.

While Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel in Washington urged tough new legislation Friday to prevent offshore oil pollution, workers on a drilling platform in the Santa Barbara Channel tried to plug a new, puzzling leak.

"There is so much oil that has been deposited in the channel over the last weeks that there is no way to really separate which leak this slick is from and which leak another is from," said a Coast Guard spokesman.

When a Union Oil Co. well blew out on Jan. 28 it spewed an estimated 21,000 gallons a day into the channel until it was plugged 11 days later. A much smaller flow continued.

Hoping to relieve gas pressure they thought was causing the residual flow, drillers began pumping a nearby well.

Last Tuesday the second well began leaking more than 4,000 gallons a day, the company estimated. Two days later the company said the flow was vastly reduced. Some observers said it had stopped.

Thursday night oil began surfacing again and by Friday night some observers said the resulting slick was 1,000 yards wide and three miles long. There were no estimates of the flow.

The company plans to pour thousands of gallons of a heavy drilling mud mixture 3,000 feet into the well to plug it. It used the same technique to stem the flow of the first well.

As far south as Los Angeles beachgoers walked on oil-spattered sand. Thousands of water birds have died in the ooze.

In calling for new laws, Hickel said oil companies should be regulated more closely and the federal government should do more offshore testing instead of relying on industry's sampling.

Santa Barbara officials have been trying to clean up the ooze by spraying oil dispersant chemicals and water, then raking the tar-soaked piles.

The city's parks superintendent, Michael Pahos said, "Even if the leakage was stopped today, no one can know whether it will take three months, six months or even five years to get our beaches back to where they were."

Your expressions and deeds of care and concern have sustained us through our sorrow in the loss of Frederick. We are deeply grateful.

Four Children Killed In Friday Explosion

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP) — Four children were killed and four others were injured Friday night when an explosion and fire ripped through their Middletown home, about 10 miles south of Harrisburg, Pa.

The children's mother, Mrs. Mirl Buckner, told attendants at Harrisburg Hospital she had gone next door to pick up a package when she heard the blast.

The origin of the explosion is under investigation.

The four Buckner children who died in the blast were identified as Guy, 7; Gale, 6; Merle, 2, and Victor, 4.

Admitted to Harrisburg Hospital in serious condition were Carla, 10, and eight-month-old Randy Buckner.

Their sisters, Norma, 13, and Tina, 8, were listed in satisfactory condition.

A ninth Buckner child, Spanky, 11, escaped injury, police said.

A neighbor, Bertha Elliott, told authorities: "Mrs. Buckner had just come to my home to pick up some clothes when we heard an explosion. We ran to her house but flames were already coming out windows."

Awards Presented At Honor Court

More than a dozen members of Scout Troop 300 were presented with rank advancement awards at a court of honor held Friday evening at the sponsoring St. Paul Presbyterian Church. A guest speaker was the new Scout executive, Ron McCredie.

Tenderfoot badges went to Jim and John Gay and Kemp Hoop; second class to Billy Griffin and Bryan Broughton; first class to Mark Allen, Dennis Markowski, Mark Wiley, Mark Sheedy, and Don Boyd.

The Star badge was received by Cliff Thomas, and the Life badge by David Wright, Mike Thomas and Tim Dunn. Merit badges were earned by Cliff Thomas (2), David Wright (6), Mike Thomas (2), Tim Dunn (5), and Bruce Broughton. Dr. Clyde Thomas, scoutmaster, presided.

'Waiting' In County Jail Considered Detrimental

By TEX ROGERS

If a person is tried, convicted and sentenced for committing a crime, that doesn't always mean he is sent immediately to the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville to serve his debt to society.

Persons accused of crimes are expressly granted the right of appeal by the Texas Constitution, and a Court of Criminal Appeals is created in the same document.

The accused have the right to appeal their case in Texas after they are convicted, but while the records of the trial are being prepared and reviewed by that five-man panel in Austin, the prisoners are confined in county jails.

Time spent in county jails, while appeals are pending, means time lost which could be spent in the Department of Corrections, where prisoners earn their own keep, have more freedom of movement, and have access to rehabilitation and educational facilities.

The Texas Law Enforcement Legislative Council is currently sponsoring legislation which would amend current criminal statutes so that the trial court could direct the transfer of prisioners to prison while appeals are pending.

District Attorney Wayne Burns says that after a person is tried, some two months may elapse in legal procedures before an appeal is finally sent to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin. Then it may take from six to seven months before a decision is reached by the higher court, and the chances of reversing a decision made by a district court jury are only from five to 10 per cent, he said.

Meanwhile, prisoners remain in county jail.

A. N. Standard, Howard County sheriff, who is in charge of the county jail and its prisoners, says the proposal by the Texas Legislative Council should be adopted, and adds that long confinement in the county jail does not help prisoners.

"Most of our laws are based on the concept of man's injustice to man," he said, "but we are certainly doing an injustice to a person by confining him in a jail over a long period of time.

"The person is restricted to a small area, in a state of semi-solitary confinement, and the jails cannot offer any means of rehabilitation or recreation," Standard continued. "In some cases, it could be both physical and mental torture."

Howard County maintains a consistent average of from 15 to 20 prisoners who remain over a long period. Of the total, five are held under murder charges, and among them are six with appeals pending.

One of the more permanent residents is Narciso Joseph Santiago, who has been tried and convicted of murder and assault with intent to murder, but has been in jail for all but nine months and 28 days since April 26, 1966.

The 23-year-old Puerto Rican native was convicted of the April 25, 1966, slaying of a Webb AFB sergeant and shooting a woman. However, legal moves by his defense attorney have kept him in jail since his last trial on May 25, 1967.

Santiago was kept in jail from the time of the incident in April, 1966, until he posted bail on Sept. 1, 1966. He was tried in February, 1967, for shooting the woman and was assessed 10 years in prison. On May 28, 1967, he was found guilty of murder and given a life sentence. He has been in jail since then while appeal procedures have been underway.

Since his arrest, Santiago has spent more than two years in jail, confined to a 6 by 8-foot cell, except for short walks through a narrow corridor to a day room, where he takes his meals and showers. He has received medical treatment during this time, which averages $385 per year.

The sheriff notes that it takes about $1 per day to feed one prisoner, and that an extra $100 per year is spent on clothing, cleaning and bedding.

"Our county jail is a good one which meets both state and federal standards," he said. "But we can't offer all the things prisoners need."

He also noted that when prisoners are confined over long periods of time, they tend to become "dull and drab, withdrawing from other prisoners." Also, such confinement induces more attempts of jailbreaks and suicides, he said.

WENDELL STASEY

Stasey Enters School Race

Wendell Stasey, Big Spring native and real estate agent, announced Friday afternoon his candidacy for the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees, bringing the total to four candidates.

Born in Big Spring, Stasey graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College and Abilene Christian College. He and his wife, Beth, own and operate Stasey Real Estate Agency, and have interests in farming.

Stasey is a member of the Main Street Church of Christ and the Lions Club. The couple has two children, Randy and Mickey, both in public schools, and reside at 1306 Dixie.

"I am willing to offer my services to work together for the progress of our schools, to the best interests of all concerned in our growing community," he said. "I will be in favor of the best education possible for our children.

"I will be dedicated to building a better community through education," he added.

City Workers Honor Hester

Fellow workers in various city departments gathered Friday evening to pay tribute to Roy Hester, who is stepping down as city water superintendent after more than 40 years service.

Some 50 people were at a dinner at the Furr's Cafeteria for an informal program, which poked a little fun at Hester as well as commending him for faithful and efficient service. All members of his family were honored with him.

Hester was presented with gifts which included rod and reel, bait bucket and minnow seine, and various other items for the fisherman.

Mayor Arnold Marshall lauded the veteran city worker, as well as others, in being one who has taken pride in his job.

R. W. Whipkey reviewed Hester's work from the day of the water wells in the O'Barr field (the city's only source of supply,) through the building of Moss Creek and Powell Lakes and the eventual joining-up with CRMWD. He reminded that it is the key department heads such as Hester who have provided the continuity of municipal service which the public expects.

Ford Foundation Critical Of Foreign Aid Program

NEW YORK (AP) — The multibillion-dollar Ford Foundation says the U.S. foreign aid program is a national disgrace, the whole structure of higher education may have to be revised and the cultural boom is only "an explosion of words."

The foundation distributed $183 million in grants and other forms of assistance in 1968. It issued its annual report Saturday, explaining how it spent the money and touching on American problems at home and abroad.

McGeorge Bundy, president of the foundation, was particularly critical of the U.S. aid program.

"We have not made a clear national decision that a sustained foreign aid effort . . . is as much a part of our responsible membership in the world as our spending for space or defense," he said in an introducton to the report.

Bundy criticized both the Johnson administration and Congress — the administration for not asking for enough money; the legislators for cutting an already low request.

He said the United States ranked seventh or eighth in the percentage of national income spent on foreign aid, a fact he called "a national disgrace."

In a news briefing, Bundy said part of the problem lay in the failure of those who support the foreign aid program to convince the general public of its necessity.

In higher education, Bundy said, "The average course of study in the average university of the first rank is . . . unaccountable. Course by course, it may be the best that good men can offer, but as a whole, it is far more the product of guild traditions than of a rational effort to make learning happen."

He suggested it might be necessary to revise the learning structure completely, asking whether courses, lectures, units and other rigid divisions are out of date and, if so, what should take their place.

Stock Market Dips In Third Straight Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Fear of even higher interest rates and tighter credit accompanied another stock market decline this week, the market's third straight.

The Dow Jones industrial average took a sharp loss of 11.44 at 905.21.

Volume for the week was 53,267,760 shares for a five-day week of four-hour sessions compared with 45,552,030 for the previous week, which was cut to four sessions by the Washington's Birthday holiday.

Although the market began to show some feeble signs of resistance to further decline, the statistics were all to the downside.

Of 1,735 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 1,339 fell and 305 rose. New highs for 1968-69 totaled 5 while new lows totaled 199.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 8.3 to 337.5 this week—somewhat less than its 14-point drop of the previous week. That one happened to be the worst since a decline of equal size in the week ended May 25, 1962, which was right before the horrendous shakeout of "Black Monday," May 28, 1962.

Fears that the panic selling of the historic week in May, 1962, would be repeated proved groundless, although the market continued weak. No unusual selling pressure prevailed.

It was not unexpected when the market fell on Monday, for "Blue Monday's" have become a tradition and this one was the seventh decline in a succession of nine Mondays.

On Tuesday an early technical rally fizzled and the market slipped lower once again. Wall Street was filled with fear that the leading banks would boost the prime lending rate from its record 7 per cent set in January to an even higher figure.

Wednesday there was a respite and the market staged a modest recovery. Optimism was fed by news tht U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge reported "some progress" in Vietnam peace talks. It has been agreed for some time that the most bullish thing that can happen to the market is actual peace in Vietnam.

Ike Remains Weak, Serious

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower remained very weak and in serious condition Saturday. But the action of his closely watched heart continued stable.

He is fighting pneumonia while still in the critical period following risky surgery last Sunday to remove an intestinal blockage.

"Gen. Eisenhower rested well last night but still remains very weak," his doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said in a Saturday morning bulletin.

"The nasogastric tube (that was being used for oxygen therapy) was removed last night, and he is being given small amounts of liquids by mouth today.

"There has been no further progression of the pneumonia. His cardiovascular status remains stable."

Doctors had disclosed Friday the onset of pneumonia in the base of the 78-year-old general's right lung. They added a further ominous note with the opinion that the pneumonia and attendant breathing difficulties are placing a considerable new strain on a heart damaged by seven attacks.

Brig. Gen. Frederic J. Hughes Jr., hospital commandant, told newsmen Saturday the former general's condition is considered serious by his Army doctors.

"We are not calling it critical," he said, "although he is still in the critical post-operative stage."

Hughes said that critical period, when Eisenhower will be under the most intensive scrutiny, should last perhaps one more week barring further complications.

No relatives have been summoned to the bedside in the third-floor presidential suite, he said. Eisenhower's wife, Mamie, is in an adjoining suite and sees him frequently.

Some 95 per cent of pneumonia patients recover in these days of antibiotics. But the five-star general's condition is complicated by his history of heart attacks, his age, and the fact that the pneumonia set in during the immediate post-operative period.

The hospital is continuing to issue progress reports twice daily.

Employes To New TI Plant

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Instruments, Inc., one of this city's biggest employers, plans to send about 300 to an expanding plant at Stafford, near Houston. In disclosing plans Friday to double the size of its present Stafford plant, TI officials said about 300 of more than 25,000 employes in the Dallas area would be shifted to the new site.

BANK BURGLAR ALARM
It Was A Mistake, But Fuzz Was Ready

It didn't work — but it does.

And Larson Lloyd, president of Security State Bank, is convinced that the police are on the ball.

Saturday morning, when Lloyd opened the bank vault, a malfunction tripped the alarm. He rushed to the phone to call the police station that it was all a mistake, but by the time he reached the head of the stairs he could hear the police car sirens. In another minute or two there were three patrol cars on hand, and the place was swarming with police.

The alarm system sends a signal to the police station when tripped. Saturday it didn't work as planned, but it worked.

Mrs. Daniel Enters School Board Race

Mrs. Patteann Daniel, 2303 Allendale, announced her candidacy Friday for a position on the Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Daniel, the wife of Robert E. Daniel, law enforcement technology instructor at Howard County Junior College, moved here from Austin with her family in August. The Daniels have four children, Doug, 15, Robyn, 12, Dave, 11, and Cyndy, 4 months.

"I feel it would be a severe handicap to any community, if newcomers waited years to demonstrate their support and become involved. Big Spring has opened its heart to us and welcomed us warmly," Mrs. Daniel said. "Now, I would like to do my part as a concerned member of the community."

"The only platform I project is one to continue the high level of education my youngsters are receiving," Mrs. Daniel said.

Mrs. Daniel has been working with young people for sometime. She was president of Brykerwood Elementary School and O. Henry Junior High School in Austin. Under her leadership, $4,000 was raised by PTA members of O. Henry Jr. High to install a language lab there.

She is an honorary member of the Texas Association of Future Homemakers and Young Homemakers of Texas. For the last four years, she has been the official chaperon of the sweetheart candidates at the state conventions of the Future Farmers of America.

She is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, an honorary journalism sorority. A graduate of

Frazier's Future Undecided, After Bennett House Deal

James Bruce Frazier has yielded control of his nursing home here, but he is still proud of his dream.

Without any trace of bitterness, he closed a deal Friday in which he transferred ownership under an agreement that assures continued operation of the Bennett House as Big Spring Nursing Inn.

With this went much of the family fortunes and more than six years of planning, building and operating what he had hoped would become a center for extended care of the chronically ill and aged guests.

"I've got nothing to do now but go to church on Sunday," he smiled. Whether he will accept job offers or try to get into some other developments he was uncertain. He is, he admitted, at heart an entrepreneur.

For more than two score years he has been a resident of Big Spring except for the time he was in service (Army Air Force in 1943) and earning his bachelor and master degrees in agriculture at Texas A&M. He and his wife, the former Jimmie Fay Rogers, returned here in 1949.

LED TO HOME

A tremendously energetic person, he worked as a lad for Shine Philips in the Cunningham & Philips drug store, and this eventually led to the Bennett House.

When Frazier came back home, he joined the staff of Howard County Junior College, but with a large family (which eventually grew to 10 children) to support, he held numerous jobs. Right off he had an early morning farm program over KBST. Half a dozen years later he launched a program over KWAB-TV, and this is still going. He operated his mother's farm; acquired a 62-acre tract southeast of Big Spring and subdivided it; served as a sanitation consultant for a hospital; bought a tract in northwest Big Spring and subdivided it as Carver Heights in hopes of establishing a low-cost housing project.

In the meantime, however, his old boss, Shine Philips, had experienced a stroke. Since he required special care which was not available here, he went to San Angelo to the West Texas Geriatrics Center, and when Frazier visited him there, Frazier caught the vision of a nursing home for Big Spring.

BUILT BENNETT HOUSE

After considerable planning and many disappointments, with the support of his mother, Mrs. Nell Frazier, and his wife, he organized the B Corporation and contracted for a 100-bed nursing home which he named Bennett House in honor of the family doctor, the late M. H. Bennett.

When this opened on July 28, 1963, the first patient was none other than Shine Philips, and Nell, Jimmie and Bruce Frazier took out an ad in The Herald which said simply: "Welcome home, Shine." Even before the first unit was complete the Fraziers had launched a second 100-bed unit to the north. Within a year, both units were virtually filled with patients from all over the country.

NO SECOND DREAM

Little more than a year ago, Frazier resigned from the HCJC faculty to devote his full time to the Bennett House and other affairs.

With sorrow over what it had cost the stockholders (his mother, sister and wife), he yielded control of the nursing home. But for himself, he had no regrets except that he had been unable to carry out his second dream of a major nursing center geared to not only the aged but to disabled children, diabetics, arteriosclerotic, psychiatric and other patients in need of extended care.

Leon's 'Cloud 9'

Leon Langley, Big Spring FFA member, showed this 815-pound Charolais Cross to first place in the lightweight division at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

FFA Lad Wins Blue Ribbon

Leon Langley, son of Mrs. W. B. Langley and the late W. B. Langley, took Cloud 9 to Houston and came home riding on "cloud nine."

A member of the Big Spring chapter of the Future Farmers of America, his Charolais Cross won first place in the lightweight junior division of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo last week. The champ weighed 815 pounds, and young Langley sold it at auction for 56 cents per pound.

Leon plans to use some of his winnings to buy another show calf, putting the balance in a savings account. He is a sophomore in Big Spring High School, and this is his first year in the FFA. He lives at Fairview.

His winning entry was a Charolais, crossbred with an Angus, and he had named it Cloud 9.

Rodney Fuqua, also an FFA member, placed ninth in the heavyweight division.

Howard County 4-H members also reaped awards at the Houston Show, which ended Saturday. All but two of the local entries won prizes.

Dolores Lankford won a fourth place with her mediumweight Hereford in the junior show, a fifth place with a lightweight Hereford, and a twelfth place with a mediumweight Hereford in the open show.

Maxwell Barr placed fifth with a mediumweight Hereford and eleventh and twelfth with heavyweight Herefords in the junior show.

Both Miss Lankford and Barr competed against 103 entries in the junior show mediumweight division.

Dealy Blackshear won a fifteenth place in the junior show with a lightweight Hereford. Robert Haney won a fifteenth place in the open show with a mediumweight Hereford.

With barrows, Greg Cross placed sixth and Steve Foster placed twelfth with mediumweight Hampshires. Cindy Shaw placed nineteenth with a mediumweight Duroc. All the barrows were entered in the junior show.

Refuse Talks

TOKYO (AP) — The Communist leadership in Laos shut the door Saturday on Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's efforts to enter into direct talks with it to end the civil war.

A spokesman for the Laotian Patriotic Front said in a statement: "The front cannot negotiate under pressure of U.S. bombs and shells.

Big Enemy Blows Expected By U. S.

SAIGON (AP) — The allies seized the initiative" in ground action Saturday, but U.S. military analysts cautioned that the biggest enemy blows probably are yet to come.

On the seventh day of the enemy's new offensive, more than 50 cities and military installations were shelled. But nowhere did the enemy follow up with ground attacks.

Instead, allied forces went out looking for the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. U.S. troops engaged in a series of skirmishes 25 to 35 miles northwest of Saigon. They reported killing 55 enemy soldiers. U.S. casualties were three killed and five wounded.

Fighting elsewhere was reported as far north as the area of the demilitarized zone that divides North and South Vietnam.

U.S. and South Vietnamese officers estimated 6,600 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been killed since the enemy offensive opened last Sunday, compared with 538 South Vietnamese and more than 300 Americans killed.

The Americans say the enemy may send battalions to attack Saigon at any time. There are four enemy divisions all within striking distance of the capital, which is believed to be the main objective of the offensive.

Captured enemy documents indicate the Communist command has designed a 1-2-3 phase offensive covering 34 days. The documents show the Commuist command scheduled five days of intensive shellings, 10 days of concentrated attacks on major cities to pull in allied units to defensive positions, and then 19 days of rooting out government control in the countryside.

If successful, the offensive would give the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong negotiators at the Paris peace talks some claim to nominal control over much of the countryside.

Despite this threat, the government went ahead with plans to hold elections for local officials in 3,500 hamlets and villages Sunday. Since elections were suspended 13 years ago because of Viet Cong terrorism, local officials have been appointed.

The government said overnight shellings of cities, including five provincial capitals, and terrorism killed at least 12 civilians and wounded 82.

Bar Prexy Will Recommend Probe

DETROIT (AP) — The American Bar Association (ABA) will recommend a probe of New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison and the Clay Shaw conspiracy trial, the president of the ABA said Saturday.

William T. Gossett of Detroit said the ABA will ask the Louisiana Bar Association (LBA) to consider disciplinary action against Garrison as a result of the trial in which Shaw was found innocent of charges he plotted to kill President Kennedy.

Gossett called the trial a charade.

Garrison's motives in bringing Shaw to trial must be investigated by the LBA, Gossett said. The ABA president said he was sure there was "a feeling of outrage" among people in Louisiana over "what appeared to be an unjustified attack" on Shaw.

Gossett said trials such as Shaw's "tend to create doubt about our judicial process . . . our system of jurisprudence.

"I don't know what led Garrison to act in the Shaw case," Gossett commented. He may have had unreliable information.

Not The End, Shaw Pledges

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A rested and relaxed Clay Shaw looked back over his long trial Saturday and pledged: "This is by no means the end of the matter."

A few hours earlier, the big, white-haired retired businessman had been acquitted on a charge of conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Shaw declined to specify what retaliation he had in mind but was sharply critical of the group of private businessmen who financed Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's probe.

Asked if a damage suit was planned, Shaw's lawyers said one was under consideration.

"I think it is appalling that a public official would accept funds from two or three rich men to investigate anyone or anything . . . you can see the door it opens to the most wild and bizarre abuses of power."

Portugeuse Students Riot

OPORTO, Portugal (AP)—Hundreds of students occupied class rooms at Oporto University Saturday and called for the resignation of the school's rector. Students in the faculty of economics proclaimed a general strike.

There was no immediate police intervention. The occupation was called after police entered the university Thursday, dispersed a meeting and arrested six students.

Police Check Minor Wrecks

Cars driven by Vickie Sue Crawford, 206 W. 22nd, and Evelyn G. Pachall, Gail Route, were in collision Saturday at the intersection of Fifteenth and Gregg.

Friday, police investigated four minor accidents. A truck driven by Milton Ward, 3895 Baylor, and a car driven by Drennan Anderson, Gail Route, were in collision on the north service road of IS 20 near US 87.

A car driven by David L. Faulkenberry, 603 Elgin, and a motorbike driven by Robert Frank Watson, Big Spring, were in collision in the 1000 block of Eleventh Place.

A pickup driven by Raymond Uribe, 105 NE 8th, and James Patrick Delaney, 508 N. Aylford, were in collision in the 100 block of Owens.

Cars driven by Sam Fisherman, 1400 Runnels, and Margarito Duran, Gail Route were in collision on the Safeway parking lot.

Demos Wrangle Over Selection Of Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic reformers agreed Saturday that to save itself from extinction their party must throw open its nominating convention doors to racial minorities, the poor and the young.

But members of a commission on party structure, headed by Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, wrangled in their first public session on how to go about the selection of 1972 convention delegates by democratic procedures in which all elements of the party could participate.

Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, told the group that past party conventions have been largely "the private domain of the rich, the white and the party regular."

The commission obviously agreed with his assertion that the party needs to attract racial minorities, the poor and the young. And he said they are "restlessly searching . . . for a political movement that will measure up to their ideals and be relevant to their needs."

Hughes, one of those who privately urged Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts to seek the 1968 presidential nomination, urged a fair-share formula for selection of convention delegates.

Under this system, endorsed by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the 1968 vice presidential candidate, states not only would abolish the unit rule of voting but would give proportional representation to minorities at all stages of the selection of delegates.

McGovern said he had accepted the chairmanship of the commission because he said he never wants to see another convention like the stormy Chicago session of last year.

Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, the Democratic national chairman, said he will urge the new Republican national chairman to appoint a similar commission.

Murph Given Life Term

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Jack "Murf the Surf" Murphy, handsome beachboy-turned jewel thief, was found guilty of first degree murder Saturday and sentenced to life in prison.

Former karate expert Jack Griffith, Murphy's codefendant, was found guilty of second degree murder and given 45 years.

The two were charged in the death of 23-year-old Terry Frank whose body was found with that of a companion Dec. 8, slashed and weighted with cement blocks in the salty waters of nearby Whisky Creek.

The verdict came after a 12-member jury deliberated 12 hours.

Former Deputy Here Promoted

AUSTIN (AP)—Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, announced the promotion Saturday of Capt. Charles W. Bell, Midland, as regional commander of the DPS in the Panhandle.

Bell will be assigned to the regional office in Lubbock. He replaces Maj. Luther Moore who died Feb. 17.

Since joining the department in 1947, Bell has been stationed in Brady, San Antonio and his current post in Midland. He is a former deputy sheriff of Big Spring.

Texas-Exes Meet

Dr. Bill Cunningham, professor at the University of Texas and guest speaker at the Texas Independence Day celebration by Texas-Exes here Saturday, talks with John Burgess, center, local chairman for the ex-students, and Lloyd Wainscott, (right), member of the University of Texas football team. More than 50 former UT students attended the meeting.

UT Prof Says Black Studies Are Needed

"The University of Texas needs a department of black studies," Dr. Bill Cunningham, University of Texas professor, told ex-students here Saturday night.

Dr. Cunningham and Longhorn football player Lloyd Wainscott were in Big Spring for the annual meeting of Texas Exes.

"There is not enough known about the black people in this country or other countries," Dr. Cunningham said. However, he said that the courses should be open for all students, not just the black student community.

Universities should be a place where no subject is hidden or closed for study, he added. "Investigation is the purpose of learning centers."

Cunningham said that he did not foresee any serious student or campus problems on the Austin campus.

Wainscott brought filmed highlights of the Longhorn games with Oklahoma and SMU for the former UT students.

Fifty-four attended the meeting, which was held at Cosden Country Club. John Burgess, chairman for the ex-students, was emcee.

Striking Teachers Given A Deadline

By The Associated Press

Striking San Francisco State College teachers faced a deadline Saturday night set by the school's acting president, S.I. Hayakawa, to return to the classroom or be fired.

About 200 members of the American Federation of Teachers have been on strike since Jan. 6. There are 1,300 full- and part-time faculty members. A small group of students has been on strike since Nov. 4.

Hayakawa dismissed a plan by the union local to hold a meeting Sunday to discuss the strike as not soon enough. He said he wanted to hear from the teachers Saturday night.

At the nearby Berkeley campus of the University of California, a weekend calm was in effect after National Guardsmen used tear gas to rout student pickets Friday night.

The 28,000-student campus has been in turmoil since Jan. 22 by a minority student strike over such demands as the establishment of a Third World college for ethnic studies.

There were these other developments:

Reed College — Fourteen white students continued to occupy the president's office at the Portland, Ore., campus, supporting a demand for a black studies center. The Black Student Union was not involved in the sit-in but has demanded the autonomous program.

Oregon State University — The Black Student Union at the Corvallis, Ore., school was considering a plan to end a BSU boycott of classes and athletic events stemming from an order from football coach Dee Andros that a black player shave a beard and mustache.

Rutgers University — Twelve employes of the admissions office of the troubled Newark, N.J., campus quit in protest over the reassignment of two admissions officers who were the targets of the militant Black Organization of Students.

Lad Injured In Collision

A seven-year-old boy was reported under close observation Saturday in Medical Arts Clinic, for head injuries he received when the bicycle on which he and another boy were riding was in collision with a car. The second boy apparently was not injured.

Tony Flores, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amador Flores, 304 NE 8th, was in collision with a car driven by Mrs. Hope Gonzales Barrera, 1111 N. Goliad, in the intersection of Scurry and Northwest Seventh. He was taken to the hospital in an Alert Ambulance.

Police were still seeking the identification of the second boy at 9 p.m. It was not known then who was in control of the bicycle.

NEW YORK (AP)—An airline passenger returning from a European vacation shot and wounded a fellow passenger—apparently a stranger—amid hundreds of people at the International ArrivalsBuilding at Kennedy Airport Sajurday, police said.

Authorities said the gunman identified himself as Samuel J. Green of Manhattan. An airline offlical identified the victim as Edouard Regen Streis of Rennes, France. He was shot in the right hip and in the back and was taken to the hospital.

TWO VIEWS OF LAWMAKERS

Are Conferees Heroes Or Wily Politicians?

AUSTIN (AP) — "Unsung heroes" who should be given a free reign or wily politicians whose power ought to be corraled in the interests of democracy?

These two views of legislative conference committees divide lawmakers who think the conferees should be limited to actual compromises and those who don't.

It is possible the House Rules Committee will take a stand on the issue and act on proposed joint rules sometime this week, setting up a full-scale House debate.

COMPROMISE

When the House and Senate can't agree on a bill, the speaker and lieutenant governor appoint five House members and five senators to work out a compromise.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes thinks joint legislative rules should prohibit the conference committees from adding new material to a bill or eliminating material the two chambers already agreed on. Speaker Gus Mutscher and Gov. Preston Smith think conferees should be free to make whatever changes they consider necessary.

Barnes already has engineered Senate approval of joint rules, just as he pushed through a conference committee limit in the House in 1967.

Much of the Legislature's top business cannot be settled on the floor of the two houses and must be resolved in conference. Conference reports — often submitted in the closing hours of the session — cannot be amended, only accepted or rejected.

Attention has centered on the appropriations bill compromise report, almost always a last-minute item. But numerous other important bills, such as the 1965 Congressional Redistricting Act, the code of criminal procedure and most tax bills, also have been written in conference.

RHETORIC

"If you don't trust 10 men, why would you trust one and the governor?" Smith asked rhetorically at a news conference.

Former Gov. John Connally found lots of reasons, and angrily documented them in veto messages. And there have been numerous other instances when conferees from one house disregarded the wishes of their colleagues.

—In 1933, after the House killed a horse racing bill 70-61, the conference committee on appropriations legalized horse race betting in a lengthy, detailed rider to a spending bill.

In 1963, Connally expressed outrage when the conferees on appropriations knocked out a $250,000 item agreed on by both houses to develop a 4,500-acre park on the Pedernales River. The appropriation was a condition attached to the gift of the land, and the state lost the park because of the conference committee's move. The same conferees added $451,900 that year in park items not approved by either house, including $128,000 for Tyler State Park, in then-Speaker Byron Tunnell's district, and $124,900 in Brownwood State Park, in the district of Barnes, then one of Tunnell's chief lieutenants.

BENEFITS

—In 1967 Connally vetoed a bill giving retired state employes a badly needed increase in benefits because the conference committee had sneaked in a 50 per cent boost in benefits for retired legislators. Barnes requested the veto. The retired employes had to wait two more years — until this month, in fact — to receive their raise.

—During last summer's special session, the appropriations conferees knocked out $265,000 for projects to help the Alabama-Coushatta and Tigua Indian tribes become self-supporting. House conferees did not object to the deletion although the House had voted the funds in a special amendment. Rep. W. S. Heatly, House Appropriations Committee chairman, had opposed the amendment and was angered when it passed.

"None of the five House conferees voted for the money on the floor," said Mutscher, one of the conference committee members, when asked why they did not fight to keep the money in.

ADDED

The same conference committee added $500,000 that neither house had previously approved for development of Lyndon B. Johnson State Park. But State Parks and Wildlife Department officials had not asked for its use, although some said the Johnson family already had some ideas in mind and the state did finally draw up a plan.

Heatly, Mutscher and Sens. A. M. Aikin of Paris and Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo were on both the conference committees that lost the state a 4,500 acre park on the Pedernales by chopping out $250,000 for the 245-acre LBJ Park in the same area.

Some members think Heatly has been a strong influence on Mutscher's views. Heatly contends conferees must be free to act when conditions arise that were not foreseen when a bill was passed on the floor.

Mutscher said he thinks the responsibility of conferees can be assured by making them report in detail on the changes they have made. He also indicated he is thinking about requiring the reports early enough to give members a chance to read them before voting.

House rules last session authorized conferees to make changes, but only after securing permission through a House resolution.

One argument Mutscher has used against conference limitation was that "Congress doesn't have any joint rules like that." But a U.S. Senate rule states, "Conferees shall not insert in their report matter not committed to them by either house nor shall they strike from the bill matter agreed to by both houses."

The House Rules Committee probably will respect the speaker's wishes, but signs of a floor fight are brewing, with some members on both the liberal and conservative sides saying they want conference limits.

THE WEEK

and that means there will be some mighty exciting games. Better get your tournament tickets now.

• • •

Howard County Commissioners Court would like to get a better shake from the state on fees for handling licensing of motor vehicles. The court has adopted a resolution which asks the state to cut out the sliding scale and leave the county's fee at 60 cents per. It could mean $12,500 more a year and help offset part of the county's expense of tending to the state's business.

• • •

The forsythia and jonquils are coming out, and fruit trees everywhere are swelling or blooming. Weather for the week was spring in capital letters, and old timers couldn't really enjoy it for worrying about that belated freeze.

• • •

Bids were opened in Lubbock Friday on 91 units in the Monticello Addition, but the FHA office in Lubbock closed for the weekend without making any announcement as to the sale. Whoever gets the bid is obliged to move the houses and restore lots to original condition.

• • •

On the other hand, housing is still a problem in some quarters, particularly for the student pilots who come here to spend a year in training. They need acceptable rental units at a reasonable price, the base-community council was advised at its meeting last week.

• • •

Incidentally, Webb AFB received a novel gift, this on a Budstikke, a cylinder with spiked end containing a message of appreciation, from Norway. It was the gift of Lt. Gen. William Mohr, chief of the Norwegian Air Force, who was recently a guest of the base upon graduation of NAF pilots.

• • •

The Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee last week gave its backing to the annual observance of Cotton Week in May. It is to be hoped that merchants will do their buying this far in advance and come up with some super cotton bargains for the week. We ought to get serious about this observance.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Loy Acuff intend that their 942-acre ranch west of Big Spring goes right on doing good after they are gone. Last week they gave it to Abilene Christian College to apply on a new music building under construction there.

• • •

Big Spring's industrial team — a group of men specializing in various fields like utilities, land, taxes, etc. — started training and will continue for eight weeks. They will be equipped to give any industrial prospect an almost instant rundown on any question.

• • •

It looks as if the Planned Parenthood organization here will get into action. Organization was formalized during the week and plans launched for opening of a center, possibly by Sept. 1. This could perform a great service for numerous families who cannot support children which they do not plan on having.

• • •

City commissioners have come up with a flat fee of $200 a month for emergency ambulance service. Alert Ambulance, operated by Alvin Hillbruner, provides the service and makes every effort to collect for it. The underwrite plan for uncollectable accounts has been running slightly over this flat figure.

• • •

Roy Hester is retiring from the City of Big Spring after giving nearly a lifetime of service to it. There will possibly never be another man who is so totally familiar with every detail of city water operations, and certainly none more dedicated to his job.

Sirhan Fails To Change Plea, Fire His Attorneys

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan has failed in another volatile try to fire his attorneys, change his plea to guilty and go to the gas chamber for murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. And he's been warned any further tantrums and he'll be gagged and strapped to his chair.

"From here on you keep quiet, and if not, I will see to it that you are kept quiet," said Judge Herbert V. Walker after a heated 10-minute exchange with Sirhan.

In the course of his third courtroom outburst of the week, Sirhan said, "I plead guilty to murder and ask to be executed."

It began with a commotion at the defense table, the jury being sent from the room, and Sirhan telling the judge:

"I at this time, sir, withdraw my original plea of not guilty and submit the plea of guilty as charged on all counts." Sirhan had made the same request in chambers Tuesday.

"Stand up," commanded the 69-year-old judge. "Do I understand that you want to plead guilty to murder in the first degree?"

"Yes, sir, I do," said the 24-year-old Sirhan with determination.

"All right, and what do you want to do about the penalty?"

"I will offer no defense whatsoever."

"The question is, what do you want to do about the penalty?"

"I will ask to be executed, sir."

Ten feet behind Sirhan in the spectator section sat his mother, 56, with tears streaming from her eyes. Another son Munir, 21, leaned over her attentively.

Sirhan's lawyers stood aside as the diminutive defendant — who once had hopes of being a jockey — faced the bench alone. He was white-faced but he spoke in an even, measured tone.

The judge said he knows nothing in the law that permits a defendant to enter a guilty plea to first-degree murder and ask for execution.

"Well, I have sir," said Sirhan.

Judge Walker told Sirhan evidence had to be produced in court and the defendant replied, "I will withdraw all evidence sir."

"There is no such procedure," said the judge.

"To hell with it," replied Sirhan.

The judge told Sirhan he would not put up with more interruptions:

"I mean by that you will have a face mask put on you which will prohibit you from talking and further, your arms will be strapped to your chair and the trial will proceed. You understand that?"

Sirhan said he understood but said he didn't want to be represented by his counsel.

"You have retained counsel," the judge said. "Counsel is staying in the trial."

"I don't want anyone to have a trial shoved down my throat sir, and you are not going to shove it down my throat, sir, in any way you want," said Sirhan adding that he wanted to defend himself.

The judge asked a legal question.

"I don't know" said Sirhan.

"I find you are incapable of representing yourself," said Walker. "Sit down and keep quiet and, if not, I intend to keep you quiet."

Sirhan's voice rose: "No, sir, I still maintain my original point. I plead guilty to murder and ask to be executed."

Soon afterward, the three defense attorneys talked with Sirhan in a cell outside the courtroom.

"He has advised us definitely, positively and unequivocally that he does not desire us to continue to represent him as his counsel," said Grant B. Cooper. "I have conferred with my brethren of the defense Mr. (Russell E.) Parsons and Mr. (Emile Zola) Berman . . . We are willing — I might say anxious — to leave this case . . . but none of us wants to desert the defendant."

The judge said he knew of no law that permits attorneys to withdraw in the middle of a trial without good cause and he could see no good cause.

The trial then was recessed until Monday.

Automatic Machines Set For Post Office Building

By SAM BLACKBURN

Sometime in the not too distant future, Big Spring's new post office will be on a special automatic basis, which will permit patrons to perform many postal services for themselves, even after closing hours.

Edd Staub, maintenance engineer for the new building, has just returned from a two-weeks training course at Austin. He and 12 other maintenance engineers from all of the country studied the new mechanical and electronic devices which promise to revolutionize the mail service.

Staub scored a high grade at the National Technical Center, Self Service Postal Unit. He saw the machines, several of which are to be installed in the local office, and learned how to operate and maintain them.

Under the new system the patron who comes to the office after closing hours will be able to dispatch a package anywhere in the United States, postage paid and insured — carrying out the entire operation himself. A set of scales to weigh the package will be part of the equipment.

There are less than 700 post offices in the country which will have these automated services. The area in the new post office lobby was designed for them and space is provided for their installation.

The equipment covers a considerable field of "self service" operations. The most interesting, probably, is the self-mailing parcel post operation. This installation will enable the patron to weigh his parcel, determine the postage needed, obtain the necessary stamps, and send it on its way. He can even insure it if he chooses.

Another unusual device is called a multi-vending machine. This is a master machine which, on deposit of coins, will serve an assortment of stamps of different denominations, with envelopes and postal cards and with books of stamps. It will also make change and return change. The patron can even use a $1 bill if he has to pay for his stamps. The machine will electronically scan and test the bill, and if it is genuine, will return to the depositor his change.

If the patron mistakenly slips the bill into the receiving slot improperly, it will be returned for reinsertion.

The machines are also rigged with burglar alarms should anyone attempt to break into them.

Staub said he does not know just how soon the equipment will be here.

Dear Abby

A Man To Cause Misery

DEAR ABBY: My first marriage was one long, hard struggle with a large family and no money and an ailing husband. When he finally passed on I was 52 and had one teenaged daughter left at home. I felt so free — as if I were flying. Had my own Social Security check and no financial worries.

I met and married a very good-looking, happy-go lucky man whose wife had just died. He said, "Marry me and I will show you all the places I have been." (He was well-traveled.) So like a fool I married him and now he says he's "tired" and wants to settle down. So now I'm stuck. I'm a housekeeper and that's about all. He works only when he absolutely has to. I also have a hunch he is hoping I'll die so he can marry my teenage daughter — who wants no part of him.

Am I a fool to stay with him? I truly love this skunk and sometimes think a few crumbs is better than nothing.

MISERY LOVES COMPANY

DEAR MISERY: Some women need a man around to make them miserable, and yours certainly fills the bill, so if you "love" this skunk — hang on to him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: To make a long story short, I am 24 and have three children. I am expecting my fourth very soon. My husband and I have been married for nearly five years. True, we didn't plan to have this many children so soon, but we wouldn't trade our family for the world.

My problem is what to say to people who make nasty remarks about our having so many children so fast. Relatives especially keep asking us what else we do for recreation? And don't we have a television set? And haven't we ever heard of the pill? It's really none of their business, but I wish you would give me a real clever comeback for their rude remarks.

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Why bother to reply? Such remarks deserve to be ignored.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have six grandchildren all under six years of age and I dearly love them, but here is my problem. They all live within 10 miles of me so they visit very often, and when they do I cover my couch and chairs to protect them as these children aren't very careful where they put their feet and their hands aren't always clean.

One daughter in particular resents this and she hasn't been visiting me as often as she did. Her three-year-old who still wets his pants will go and sit anywhere if I don't watch him carefully because his mother has never told him he shouldn't.

Abby, I like to keep my furniture nice, but if you think I'm wrong to cover it when the youngsters come, I will stop it, because I don't want any hard feelings. FINICKY GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: I see nothing wrong wtih covering your furniture to protect it, and if your daughter does — shame on her.

MICKEY MANTLE THROUGH AFTER 18 SEASONS

Yankee Veteran Decides To Call It A Day

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle, at a loss for words, announced his retirement from baseball Saturday before a packed news conference at the New York Yankees' spring training hotel.

Mike Burke, president of the Yankees, introduced Mantle to reporters, saying the veteran star had "reached a firm conclusion, and I think it's best that he tell it to you himself."

Then Mantle, dressed in a dark blue turtle neck, light blue slacks and checked jacket, stepped to the rostrom. But instead of making a statement, Mickey said "I'm open for questions."

The first one, of course, was what had he decided.

'CAN'T PLAY'

"I'm not going to play baseball anymore; that's all I know," he said slowly. "I can't play anymore. I don't hit the ball when I need to. I can't steal when I need to, I can't score from second when I need to."

Mantle said he had talked his situation over with Ralph Houk, manager of the Yankees, Friday night and Burke Saturday morning. "We decided this would be best for me and for the club," said Mantle, who most of his 18 year career, was one of the most feared sluggers in baseball.

Mantle said his outside business interests, which include a chain of country kitchens and clothing stores, also helped him reach the decision.

The 37-year old Mantle, who came up originally as a shortstop, had been paid at the rate of $100,000 a year since the early 1960s, and the Yankee management had indicated it would have continued paying that much in 1969 even if Mantle played only part time.

APPEARANCES

"I have to appear at all the kitchen openings and there are about 45 sold right now," he explained.

Mantle said he had no current plans to remain with the Yankee organization. "But Mike told me if I ever wanted a job, it was available."

Mantle said he was disappointed that he was not a lifetime 300 hitter. He finished at .298. "But I'm very proud of my 18 World Series homers," he added.

Mantle said his wife was very happy with his decision.

"She's been asking me to quit for three years," Mickey related. "I'm planning to get out to the ball park now and then, but I won't put on a uniform."

In a prepared text, Mantle said:

"I never wanted to embarrass myself on the field or hurt the club in any way or give the fans anything less than they are entitled to expect from me. I'm not sure I can play well enough to satisfy myself.

PLANNED FOR 1969

"Last fall I still thought that I might play another year if I felt well enough in spring training. As the months passed I felt more sure in my own mind that now was the time to end my career as a ballplayer."

Houk said, "we all know Mantle would have played on any ball team I managed as long as he wanted to and I think we all know that the game is losing a superstar."

Burke said Mantle's future with the Yankee organization "would depend solely on how much time he has to give. Right now we have left it that he will have a relationship with us and we will have a relationship with him."

Burke's statement said:

"This is a sad but inevitable day. We are losing a truly magnificent Yankee and baseball will sorely miss this one of a kind athlete."

NICKLAUS HOT

Shaw, Aaron Retain Lead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Smiling Tom Shaw and winless veteran Tommy Aaron held on to a one-stroke third round lead at 10 under par 206 Saturday in the $150,000 Doral Open golf tournament despite a record breaking performance by Jack Nicklaus, who charged in to share the second spot.

Aaron and Shaw, who each fired 71s, shook off the surging Nicklaus who put in nine birdies for a 64 to break the tournament record for the windswept, 7,028 yards, par 72 Doral Country Club course.

"It was my best round of the year," Nicklaus said. "I was able to hook when I wanted to hook and fade when I wanted to fade despite the wind."

Nicklaus started the third round with a 36-hole total of 143, eight strokes behind the leaders. The other second round leader, Dan Sikes, shot an even par 72 and fell back one stroke going into Sunday's final round for the $30,000 first prize on this first stop on pro golf's rich Florida circuit.

Joining Nicklaus and Sikes at 207 was aging Tommy Bolt in his first start of the season. Bolt, 50, has won several seniors titles but is winless on the tour since 1961. Bolt fired his third consecutive 69. His third round included a 30 on the second nine after a 39 on the first.

"It was determination, baby," the volatile Bolt said.

Defending champion Gardner Dickson came in with a 72 and slipped into a tie for 13th at 213.

Shaw had his troubles on the early holes but perked up after someone in the gallery shouted, "Where's that smile Tommy?" The 26-year-old Shaw then resumed his effervescense and came in with a 34 on the second nine.

"The kid played all right," said Arnold Palmer, one of Shaw's playing partners.

Shaw, looking for his first tour victory, played better than Arnie, who fashioned a 73 to move into a three-way tie for seventh at 210 and lessen his chances for his first tour victory since last September.

Aaron, winless on the tour after nine years but usually in contention, said his round was all right except for sand trap trouble which produced "two needless bogies."

Sikes, a 38-year-old Jacksonville, Fla., attorney, complained of "wishy-washy putting."

"My par putts were sticking on my putter and I had to throw 'em in the hole," he said. "If I putt like that in the final round, I'll never win."

Nicklaus holed out from a sand trap 20 feet from the pin on the sixth hole for a birdie 3 and said after that, "I got a little confidence and I felt I could make anything."

Odessa Wins Regionals

ABILENE — Odessa High won its way to the state Class 4-A Basketball tournament by defeating Fort Worth Richland here Saturday night, 74-58.

The Bronchos, 3-AAAA titlists, turned back El Paso Austin in the morning semifinals, 68-61.

Jayhawks To Oppose NMMI In Tournament

New Mexico Military Institute has been selected as the eighth team for the 1969 Region V Junior College Basketball tournament.

As such, the Bronchos will oppose top-seeded Howard County Junior College in the first round at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Big Spring High School Gymnasium.

NMMI was picked over New Mexico JC and South Plains because it finished higher in the Western Conference standings than the other two schools. The Cadets were 14-10 over-all and 10-5 within the league.

NMJC was 13-12 over-all and is 8-7 within conference.

Complete pairings:

2 p.m. — Clarendon vs. Hill County.
4 p.m. — McLennan Community vs. Ranger.
7 p.m. — Howard County JC vs. NMMI.
9 p.m. — Christian College of the Southwest vs. Odessa.

Local fans will get a preview of the tournament action in a Monday night game in the local high school gym between HCJC and NMMI. The contest counts in Western Conference standings.

Howard County has already clinched its third straight conference title but its only league loss to date has been to NMMI.

The tournament is being co-sponsored this year by the American Business Club of Big Spring and HCJC. The ABClub is furnishing all the personnel to stage the meet.

Should HCJC win its opener, it would return to play at 7 p.m. Friday against the survivor in the McLennan-Ranger contest.

CCSW, the defending titlist, is seeded immediately behind Howard County while Clarendon was third in the final regional ratings, McLennan fourth, Ranger fifth, Gill County sixth, Odessa seventh and NMMI eighth.

The ticket price has been scaled accordingly:

Season (good for all games) — $4, adults; $2.50, students; Thursday afternoon session (two games) — $1, adults; 75 cents, students; Thursday, Friday night sessions — $1.50, adults; 75 cents, students; Saturday night (third place and championship games) — $1.75 adults; $1, students. Pre-school children will be admitted free, if accompanied by a parent.

Winner of the tournament becomes eligible to play in the National Juco tournament at Hutchinson, Kan., scheduled March 19-22.

CCSW defeated Ranger College by one point in the finals of last year's tournament.

Advance tickets can be purchased by calling any member of the ABC (Bill Bradford, president) or the First National Bank.

Trophies to be awarded in the meet are on display at Gibbs and Weeks Men's Store in downtown Big Spring.

Baylor Bombs Hogs, 66-54

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor held off a second-half surge by stubborn Arkansas and defeated the Razorbacks 66-54 Saturday in a regionally televised Southwest Conference basketball game.

Larry Gatewood, who has led the Bears in scoring throughout the year, had his finest SWC game with 27 points and 11 rebounds.

Tommy Bowman, an outstanding player all year, had 13 points and 12 rebounds for the Bears, and Richard Scallorn was also in double figures with 10 points.

Baylor led comfortably 37-18 at the half but some hot shooting from Larry Grisham and James Eldridge gave the Razorbacks 36-29 second half point advantage.

Eldridge scored 10 of his 14 points in the final 20 minutes. Grisham also poured in 10 in the last half.

Howard County Is First In Fort Worth Tourney

FORT WORTH — Howard County JC's golf team finished first in the JC-University freshman division of the Southwestern Recreational meet played at Rockwood here Friday and Saturday, beating runner-up TCU by ten strokes.

Moore and Neito each posted medal scores of 154 to finish two back of the low man, Robert Newcomer of TCU.

Weaver sailed around the course in 161 while Truelove and Griffin each had a 164.

Par for the course is 70 and the entries were playing by winter rules.

The Hawks also beat 11 of the 15 senior colleges entered. Texas Wesleyan won the university division with a 611.

Vandy Drubs Cats, 101-99

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Vanderbilt knocked off league-leading Kentucky 101-99 Saturday in a regionally televised Southeastern Conference basketball contest.

The victory denied the sixth-ranked Wildcats a tie for the conference championship and added luster to an otherwise dismal Commodore season.

Vanderbilt, fired up and fumbling, jammed Kentucky's usually methodical machinery in the first half. After five minutes of throwing the ball away, Vandy settled down, evened the score at 11-11 and raced to a 48-41 halftime advantage on the strength of Tom Hagan's 10-point shooting and a bevy of stolen passes.

The Commodores stretched their lead to 14 points with 7½ minutes left in the second half, then started playing safe. It was nearly fatal.

Texas Is Winner In Golf Tourney

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas won the third annual Morris Williams Intercollegiate Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday with a 54-hole total of 866.

The University of Houston's links team was second at 883, Louisiana State third at 885 and Lamar Tech and Oklahoma tied for fourth and fifth at 907.

Others competing were Baylor 919, North Texas 928 and Southern Methodist at 937.

Skate Champion May Turn Pro

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Tim Wood, the new world men's figure skating champion, found himself faced Saturday with a tough decision —whether to skate another year as an amateur or sign a profitable pro contract.

Three touring ice shows are known to be bidding for his talents and offering guarantees difficult to ignore.

"I don't intend to make ice skating a career," said the 20-year-old Detroiter, who brought the men's crown back to the United States for the first time in 10 years. "However, I think I might like to skate professionally for a year to help pay for my advance education.

"I honestly can't say right now. Everything is going around in circles."

Son of a prominent Detroit surgeon, Wood is a junior at John Carroll University in Cleveland. He is majoring in political science. He wants to be an international lawyer.

He probably could sign immediately a $100,000 contract for periodic appearances, as in the case of Peggy Fleming, in an ice show.

The slender collegian, silver medalist in the 1968 Olympics, drew rave notices for his brilliant freeskating exhibition Friday night that won him the men's title by an unprecedented margin.

"He was masterful—he proved that he is the best in the world," said Dick Button, who won the world title five times, starting in 1948.

Sands Third In Tourney

LEVELLAND — Sands defeated Miles, 89-73, to win third place in the Region I-B boys' basketball tournament here Saturday evening.

In a second round game this morning, Sands lost to Meadow, 71-66, after leading much of the way.

Gerald Caswell, who fouled out with 3:02 to go in the game, led Meadow with 29 points. Kynn Maxwell, who had his fifth foul called on him with 2:04 to go, tossed in 21 points to lead Sands.

Bruce Tongate hit two free pitches to send Meadow ahead to stay in the game, then added the final field goal. Ronnie Taylor had 13 points for Sands.

In first round games Friday, Sands measured Allison, 86-74; Meadow fanned out Quitaque, 74-72; Adrian sidelined Fort Hancock, 68-48; and Miles turned back Amherst, 58-35.

SANDS (86) — Fryar 5-0-10; Maxwell 10-4-24; Taylor 4-8-16; Hoover 12-2-26; Lewis 3-0-6; Kemper 1-0-2; Herm 1-0-2. Totals 36-14-86.
ALLISON (74) — Dyer 11-2-24; Keys 6-6-18; Dukes 10-4-24; Loberger 4-0-8; Richardson 0-0-0. Totals 31-12-74.

Rice Is Upended

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Hoey and Marty Guys drove in a run apiece in the ninth inning as St. Mary's of San Antonio broke a tie Saturday for a 5-2 baseball victory over Rice.

Midland Lee Narrow Pick To Win Baseball Crown

Midland Lee has nosed out Odessa High as the team to beat in the District 3-AAAA baseball race, or so coaches and sports writers participating in the poll believe.

Lee reaped a total of 85½ points in the final balloting, compared to 83 for the Bronchos. Odessa Permian wound up third with 75½ points, followed by Big Spring, who gathered 55 points.

Points were awarded on a 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, judging where a team was placed on a ballot.

Lee amassed five first place votes, as did Odessa. However, one observer foresaw a first place tie between Lee and Permian.

No other team received first place support in the election.

No one predicted Lee would finish lower than third in the race. Big Spring was picked as high as third on one ballot and as low as seventh on another.

Results of the poll:
(First place votes listed in parentheses)

Falling For The Tape

George Harrison (right) of Texas Southern falls for the tape in almost a dead heat in the college mile at the Southwestern Recreational Track and Field meet at Fort Worth, Saturday. However, Junior Lee of Howard Payne nosed him out to win in the time of 4:14.9.

Choice Is Spiked, HC Winds Up 5th

FORT WORTH — Howard County Junior College, crippled by the loss of Ronald Choice, finished fifth in the junior college-university freshman division of the Southwestern Recreational Track and Field meet here Saturday with a total of 31 points.

Choice was spiked on the bottom of the foot in the sprint relay and missed running the 100 and 220. The wound required three stitches to close and he will be lost indefinitely to the Jayhawks.

Henderson County won the meet championship with a total of 52½ points while New Mexico Junior College was second with 51 and Cisco third with 38.

Howard County's mile relay team won in the time of 3:21.5. Competing on the team were William Fogle, Charles Copeland, John Scheibel and James Irving.

Despite the injury to Choice, the Hawks finished fourth in the sprint relay. Charles Copeland of the Hawks was third in the 100 in ten seconds flat.

Fogle of the Big Spring collegians wound up fourth in the quarter mile, at which time he was clocked in 50 seconds flat.

William Gambrell of HC was second and Bob Battle, a team mate, was fifth in the pole vault.

Scheibel picked up a fifth place in the 120-yard high hurdles, speeding the distance in 16 seconds flat. James Irving of the Hawks wound up second in the half mile, at which time he was caught in 1:56.8.

The Hawks will go to Laredo next week for the Border Olympics.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Powerful North Texas State, scoring heavily in the field events and dashes, unseated defending champion Baylor for the university division championship in the 46th Southwestern Recreational Track Meet Saturday.

Perennial college division contender Texas Southern successfully defended its 1968 title, easily winning over Prairie View by a score of 68-62.

Henderson County won the junior college-freshman division and Dallas Lincoln, headed by its crack 440-relay team, won the high school division.

Mike Cronholm of Richardson Lake Highlands raced to a meet record 38.4 in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, in the high school division, and was named the outstanding athlete of the meet.

Cronholm became the first high school athlete to win the honor since George Aldredge received the nod in 1964 and 1965. Cronholm also was second in the high school division 120-yard high hurdles with a 14.6 time, and ran on Highland's mile relay team.

North Texas State, which won first place in seven events, wrapped up the meet before the running of the last two events on the program — the 3-mile run and the mile relay.

Baylor surged back to win both of those events for a team total of 65 points, but still fell short of North Texas' winning total. Southern Methodist finished third with 53, followed by Texas Christian 39, the University of Texas at Arlington 38, and Texas Tech 22.

Foyt, Unser In Race Field

HOUSTON (AP) — Twenty-one Indianapolis 500 veterans, including champions A. J. Foyt and Bobby Unser, have entered the Astro Grand Prix midget auto races March 8-9 in the Astrodome.

Sanctioned by the United States Auto Club, the event will have a $50,000 purse, richest of the USAC series.

Foyt and Unser will be joined by other auto racing personalities, including Lloyd Ruby, Billy Vukovich Jr., Joe Leonard, Mario Andretti, Johnny Rutherford, Jimmy McElreath and Bob Wente.

The cars will race around a quarter-mile clay track that cost $50,000.

Fourteen races are scheduled — seven March 8 and seven March 9. Each day's events will have a four-lap trophy dash for the four fastest qualifiers, four 10-lap heats for 10 cars each, a 12-lap semifinal for 10 cars and a 100-lap feature race for 24 cars.

Unser, 1968 winner of the Indianapolis classic, will be joined by Al Unser, his younger brother. Both will drive Offenhauser-powered racers owned by Parnelli Jones.

Rutherford, from Fort Worth, will drive a car owned by Scott Hunter of Wichita Falls.

Longhorns Wind Up Sixth In Snyder Golf Tourney

SNYDER — Odessa Permian supplied both the medalist and the winning team in the 36-hole Snyder Invitational Golf tournament here Saturday.

Scott Stegner had a 36-hole score of 143 and led his team to a blue ribbon. The Panthers wound up with a four-man aggregate tally of 630, which beat runner-up Snyder by three strokes.

Plainview was third, with 636; Lubbock Monterey fourth, with 637; Midland fifth, with 640; Big Spring sixth, with 642; Amarillo Tascosa seventh, with 643; Lubbock Coronado eighth, with 647; Sweetwater ninth, with 651; while two teams, Stamford and Odessa, tied for tenth, each at 652.

In all, 20 teams competed in the meet.

Mitch Ramblin, Snyder, was runner-up in the race for medal honors, with a 148, while Big Spring's Ronnie Broadrick finished third, at 151. Broadrick had a 74 the first day and a 77 the second time around.

Other Big Spring entries and their scores included:

Mark Slate 74-82—156; Pat Weaver, 80-80—170;; Bill Schwarzenbach, 83-84—167; and Howard Stewart, 86-88—174.

Big Spring was tied for first place after the first day of competition with a 311 but skied to a 331 the second 18.

Coach Wilbur Cunningham will take five members of the Big Spring team to Austin next weekend for a high school invitational meet.

Steerettes Lose To Midland Lee

MIDLAND — Midland Lee handed Big Spring its first 3-AAAA defeat in three starts in a girls' volleyball game here Friday night. Final score was 15-8, 15-2.

Lee's reserves turned back the Big Spring B team in the preliminary encounter, 15-12, 16-14.

In A team action, Kathryn Dirks had four points for the Steerettes. Mary Lou Brown led the B team with eight.

The Big Springers return to play at home Tuesday night against Abilene Cooper.

Arlington Colts Kayo Steers In Two Games

ARLINGTON — Arlington High School swept a doubleheader from the Big Spring Steers, 2-0 and 12-4, here Saturday afternoon.

The Steers blew several opportunities to score in the first game and the two runs James Newman gave up were unearned. Don Bodenhamer clubbed a home run for Arlington in the third after two men had been retired and an error had been committed. Big Spring managed four hits in the first game, Arlington only two. Both of those were by Bodenhamer.

Wildness on the part of Big Spring hurlers cost the Steers dearly in the second contest. Arlington was able to collect only five hits, the same number garnered by Big Spring.

Rocky Wooley collected two hits for the Longhorns in the second game and drove in one of his team's runs. Bodenhamer scored three times for the Colts in the second go.

Leftfielder Jim Ward clubbed a round tripper and a single for Arlington in the afterpiece, driving in a brace of tallies.

Big Spring returns to play Monday in Snyder, opposing Snyder in a single game at 4 p.m. The Longhorns play their home opener Tuesday against Lubbock Coronado.

U.S. Skiers Try Europe's Elite

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — America's youthful skiers take their best shot at the skilled veterans of Austria and France this week in the annual American International teams races here March 6-8.

To the individual and team victors will go World Cup points and added stature in international skiing circles. The team winner will be determined by how many of its members finish in the top 10 in giant slalom, slalom and downhill competition.

Leading the American men's assault will be 24-year-old Vladimir "Spyder" Sabich of Kyrbuz, Calif., 12th in World Cup standings with 46 points; veteran Bill Kidd, 25, of Stowe, Vt., out most of the season with an ankle injury but slowly returning to form, and Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., last year's giant slalom winner in the National Alpine championships.

CUTTER LEADER

Kiki Cutter, a 19-year-old from Bend, Ore., heads the U.S. women's team. Miss Cutter, student at the University of Oregon, is fifth in World Cup women's standings with 81 points. Judy Nagel, 17, of Enumclaw, Wash., eighth in the World Cup competition, Marilyn Cochran, 19, Richmond, Vt., and Cathy Nagel, Judy's 20-year-old sister, are other American women expected to show up well.

Austria's well-balanced squad, headed by veteran Karl Schranz, looms as the favorite to take the team title and pad its World Cup lead. Besides Schranz, heir apparent to Jean Claude-Killy as the world's top skier, the Austrians have Herbert Huber, Reinhard Trischer and Heni Messner on their side.

Talented Alfred Matt, one of the youngsters of the Austrian team at 21, returned to Europe last week to compete in a military ski contest. Matt is second to Schranz in World Cup standings with 90 points. His status at Vail is doubtful.

2ND IN STANDINGS

Badly depleted by the loss of Killy, the French team still is second in world standings and relying heavily on young skiers such as 20-year-old Henri Duvillard and 21-year-old Alain Penz.

France, which turned in an impressive performance at the World Cup races in Squaw Valley, Calif., also has its sights set on overtaking Austria.

The Swiss and Canadians, no serious threat to the domination of Austria, still have a chance to creep up on the United States. Andraes Sprecher, Hans Zingre and Edmund Bruggman are the keys to the Swiss team.

Canada has competed in American races at Aspen and Steamboat Springs this year but has finished out of the running.

Women's World Cup points are especially important in the Vail races, now that Annie Famose, light of the French squad, is out of competition with a broken leg. Best bets to take her spot are Austria's pert Gertrude Gabl, a 20-year-old who now leads the women's World Cup competition, and Isabelle Mir, another Austrian.

Three Champs Will Return

FORT WORTH (AP) — About 125 of Texas' best amateur boxers will converge on Fort Worth this week for the State Golden Gloves Tournament, and three of them will be battling for repeat titles.

Among the reigning champions who will return is Rudy Barrientes of Fort Worth, who won the national Golden Gloves flyweight crown.

James "Bubba" Busceme, a featherweight from Beaumont, also is back.

The third 1968 champion in the field is James Sullivan of Austin. He will defend his middleweight crown.

The tournament, sponsored for the 33rd year by the Star-Telegram for charity, is a four-day affair, with boxing on March 6, 7, 8 and 10 at Will Rogers Coliseum.

Competition will be held in 10 divisions—flyweight, bantamweight, featherweight, lightweight, light welterweight, welterweight, light middleweight, middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight.

The 10 state champions qualify to represent Texas in the National Golden Gloves Tournament at Kansas City later this month.

Boxers will come here from 18 regional Golden Gloves centers—Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Brownwood, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Denton, El Paso, Fort Worth, Harlingen, Houston, Lubbock, Odessa, San Antonio, Temple, Tyler and Wichita Falls.

Bowl Highlights Made Available

DALLAS (AP) — Slow-motion and isolated sequences of a 30-minute color highlights film of the 1969 Cotton Bowl Classic again relive Texas' awesome 36-13 devastation of Tennessee.

The film, produced by Bob Friedman Associates, is narrated by Connie Alexander, veteran announcer.

The highlights film is available free for viewing by schools, churches, clubs and other organizations. It may be ordered by writing the Cotton Bowl Information Office, Box 7185 Inwood Station, Dallas, Tex., 75209.

Garry Irwin 2nd In Track Meet

McCAMEY — Garry Irwin of Forsan placed second in the shot put with a toss of 44-11 and fifth in the discus with a 114-8 effort in the McCamey Track and Field Meet here Saturday.

Coach Oscar Boeker took a squad of nine boys to McCamey. That number probably will increase to 13 when the Buffaloes head for Wink next Saturday.

Terry Wooten, high hurdler; and 880 entries David Myers and David Yeats are among those who will probably join the squad for the trip to Wink.

Bulldogs Lose To Clarendon

LUBBOCK — Clarendon ousted Coahoma in the first round of the Region 1-A basketball tournament here Saturday morning, 57-46.

The Bronchos hit 12 straight points in the second period after trailing in the early going and led at half time, 33-22.

Billy King, who fouled out with 2:30 to go in the final period, led the Bulldogs in scoring with 20 points. Jimmy Sterling had 14 for Coahoma.

The loss was the eighth of the season for Jerry Ray's team, compared to 20 wins.

Charles Lewis of Clarendon led all scorers with 21 points while Jim Moore tossed in 12.

Wayne Carter was the only Clarendon player to foul out.

Army Wins, 51-35

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Army went into a freeze after building up a 15-point lead with 8:46 remaining and whipped Navy 51-35 Saturday.

Kemp To Sul Ross

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Houston Duo Remember BS

By TOMMY HART

John Mullen and Don Wilson of the Houston Astros wrote back to say their reception here was warmer and more genuine than any place they stopped on their tours into Louisiana, East Texas and this area . . . The entire Houston group will probably pay Big Spring a call next year . . . Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes should be tough in basketball next season—all five starters will be back from the squad that forged its way into the finals of the District 3-AAA tournament . . . At a golf tournament in California recently, the noted columnist Jim Murray walked up to pro football's Joe Namath and said, 'Hello, I'm Jim Murray. I write a column for the Los Angeles Times." Joe replied, "Nobody's perfect" . . . Coach Buddy Travis of HCJC estimates he saved more than $200 in the school's bduget when the Jayhawks had that Friday night game in Borger cancelled by Frank Phillips College . . . Don McMorries of Flower Grove won the Open lightheavyweight championship in the Abilene Golden Gloves recently, taking out Clifford Archa in the finals . . . Don is an HCJC student . . . Odessa Permian lost money on two of its footfall playoff games last season . . . In the title game against Austin Reagan, the Panthers cleared $9,400 after expenses, however . . . Jim O'Bannion, the Texas coaching aide, tells intimates Odessa's John Wilson is the best high school cager he's seen this season . . . Satchel Paige, the pitching greybeard, will be identified as a trainer on the Atlanta Braves' roster this season . . . He's already assured of his baseball pension . . . Dick Lowery, the San Angelo coaching aide, has quit to become head coach at Class AA Carrizo Springs . . . Jim Zapp, the local sports official, will umpire all of Odessa Ector's home games but the one with Big Spring . . . Bruce Hutto is being counted upon to lead the Big Spring Steers out of the basketball wilderness next season . . . Hutto is one of the finest outside shooters in 3-AAAA . . . At 6-7, Ben Johnson of the Steers was the only tall sophomore in the conference the past season.

HUTTO

* * * *

Purdue is likely to be the collegiate basketball powerhouse next season while Western Kentucky could come up with the nation's best in 1971 . . . The Hilltoppers may have two 7-1 players two years hence . . . Matt Snell, one of the New York Jets' heroes in the last Super Bowl game, believes strongly in team mate Joe Namath but concedes that Baltimore's Johnny Unitas is still pro football's finest quarterback . . . Snell is another of those athletes who plans to become a stockbroker after he's through with football . . . Allison, first round foe of Sands in the Region 1-B Basketball tournament at Levelland this weekend, doesn't field a football team . . . For that reason, the Antelopes can play basketball the year round . . . Allison is closer to five other state capitols than it is to Austin, capitol of its own state . . . Don Jarratt, one of Westbrook's top candidates for regional and state basketball honors, is a budding pole vaulter . . . He finished third in the regional meet in that event last year . . . Two of Westbrook's cagers, Robert Chambers and Christine Reed, are among the finest students in school . . . Miss Reed may wind up as class salutatorium — her average grades are above 94 . . . Incidentally, all-district teams are not picked in Westbrook's conference, 10-B . . . The coaches should get together and eliminate that slight . . . The brother-in-law of Peppy Blount, former Big Spring and UT gridder, sang at the recent funeral of Frank Sinatra's father . . . The NMJC T-Birds, strong track and field favorites in the Western Conference, lost one standout recently when ace high-jumper Ben Gaines was fired from the squad . . . Gaines was the national meet champion last year . . . That McLennan Community College team bidding for a spot in the Region V tournament here, won two of three starts from Ranger, split a series with Hill County, defeated Clarendon in their only meeting and won 20 of its first 30 starts . . . Tommy Jones, the Crane basketball phenom, may be leaning toward Howard County.

Tigers Meet On Tuesday

One of the oldest sandlot baseball teams in the state of Texas, the Big Spring Tigers, will meet at the home of Tom Arista, 508 NW 10th, Tuesday evening to formulate plans for the 1969 season.

Arista, the club's general manager, has requested all those who plan to try out for positions to attend the meeting. Ex-managers are welcome, too, Arista added.

The team is now busy arranging dates for the summer. For the most part the Bengals limit their play to Sundays.

Most of the regulars from last year's club are due back. Among those returning are Billy Weatherall, Jimmy and Charley Fierro, Jody Florez, Tommy Arista Jr., Albert Mendoza, Poggie Rodriquez, Billy Pineda, Nico Paradez, Johnny Renteria, Joe Cadenhead, Bobby Griffin, Hank Pope, Andy Gamboa and Tony Fierro.

The Tigers wound up with an 18-6 record last year and will be gunning for at least 20 wins this season.

A schedule for workouts will be announced later, Arista said.

Amarillo To Host Fem Linksters

June 10-14 is the scheduled date for the 34th annual Women's West Texas Golf Association Tournament at Amarillo Country Club.

Winner of last year's tourney in Odessa was Paula Riley of Odessa College. The tournament has had many outstanding amateur players in its history, including four-time winner Sandra Palmer and Linda Craft, both now members of the women's professional golf tour.

T. Knight, Beau Brummel In Kentucky Derby Field

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Top Knight, Beau Brummel and Majestic Prince, all carrying impressive credentials, were included Saturday among the 187 thoroughbreds nominated for the 1969 Kentucky Derby.

The list is the third largest in the 95-year history of the Derby, which will be run at Churchill Downs on May 3.

One change was announced for the $125,000 added classic: the 1¼ mile race will be the eighth on the program instead of the seventh as in previous years. Post time will be 5:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

The list also contains a reminder of the dispute surrounding last year's race, won by Dancer's Image. The Peter Fuller colt, however, was denied first prize money because of an illegal medication in his system—an accusation the Boston sportsman has challenged in court.

Fuller nominated Parchment for this year's event.

Top Knight, the 2-year-old champion of 1968, already has won more than $325,954 for Steven B. Wilson as he went unplaced in only one of nine starts.

Beau Brummel, which banked $245,203 last year, represents Ogden Phipps' stable. The Derby is one race the family hasn't been able to add to its fabulous collection of racing titles.

Majestic Prince, from the stable of Frank McMahon, earned his reputation on the West Coast by winning four straight.

Jackson, Wilson Are Included On All-WC

Two Howard County Junior College sophomores, Robert Jackson and Mickey Wilson, have been named to the coaches' All-Western JC Conference basketball team.

In reality, the elite ten were an all-opponent squad, since no coach was allowed to pick from his own squad.

Jackson was a unanimous selection on the team, as were Jackie Baker, Clarendon; Andrew Pettes, New Mexico JC; and Kenneth Davis, Odessa College.

Wilson was selected on six of the ballots, as were Obie Garrett, South Plains; Craig Anderson and Jackie Ortega, both of NMMI.

Davis, a 6-5 native of Chicago, Ill., is the only freshman on the squad.

Freshmen George Tilley and Sammy James gained Honorable Mention on the team.

Clarendon, NMMI and Howard County put two men each on the first team while NMJC, Odessa, South Plains and Frank Phillips placed one each.

John Krill of Amarillo lacked one vote of being named to the first unit.

Frank Phillips wound up in the cellar but Ricky Williams of the Plainsmen was included on the first team.

At 6-5, Davis was the tallest player on the first team while two 5-10 boys, Baker and Jackie Ortega of NMMI, were included.

Jackson, who stands 6-3, is a native of Big Spring while Wilson hails from Muleshoe.

Included in the first group are five native Texans, along with a resident of Utah, two from New Mexico, one from Illinois and one from Arizona.

The voting was conducted by Carl Dibgler, sports editor of the Odessa American, who is the league statistician.

Trevino Will Get Award

DALLAS (AP) — National Open champion Lee Trevino, who learned most of his golf shots at Tenison Municipal Course in Dallas, will receive the first annual 'Big D Award' at the All Sports Banquet March 21 at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Ralph Pulley Jr., president of the ASA, will present the award in appreciation of Trevino's dramatic Open triumph last June and the recognition it brought Dallas.

Trevino will be one of many honorees at the fourth annual All-sports Dinner at the Statler's grand ballroom. Arthur Ashe, hero of the U. S. Davis Cup victory and this country's No. 1 ranked tennis player, will receive the coveted Field Scovell Award.

All to be honored are recipients of seven Texas Sports Writers Association awards for achievement in 1968.

They are Southern Methodist football coach Hayden Fry, University of Houston basketball coach Guy Lewis, world welterweight boxing champion Curtis Cokes, Dallas Chaparrals basketball coach Cliff Hagan, Olympic shot put champion Randy Matson, San Jacinto Junior College basketball coach Ronnie Rucker and Ty Terrell, the late coach of the Lamar Tech track team.

Tickets for the dinner are available to the public.

Cadets In All-Out Bid For Berth

LUBBOCK — New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell edged Lubbock Christian College, 76-75, in Western Conference play here Friday night to enhance its chances for an invitation to the Region V tournament at Big Spring next week.

The loss was the 15th straight in league competition for LCC. The Chapparals trailed by 16 points at half time but almost caught the Cadets at the wire.

Odessa Wranglers Defeat Trojans

ODESSA — Odessa College's baseball team warmed up on a chilly afternoon Friday as they blasted their way to a 10-2 victory over Christian College of the Southwest at American Legion Park.

Doug Ham earned the victory, a two-hitter, during his six innings of action on the mound. The loss leaves Christian College with 1-1 season record while it was the first win for the Odessa Wranglers.

Texans Deflate Amarillo Quint

LEVELLAND — South Plains ripped Amarillo College, 82-66, here Friday night in Western Conference basketball play.

South Plains is now 20-12 on the season and 8-7 within the league. Amarillo dropped to 9-16 for the year and 6-10 in conference.

RONNIE PERET

GENE PHILLIPS

Williams, Peret Unanimous Picks

DALLAS (AP)— High-scoring Greg Williams of Rice and rugged rebounder Ronnie Peret of the champion Texas Aggies were unanimous selections to the 1969 Associated Press All-Southwest Conference basketball team.

The dream team, selected by the eight SWC coaches, also includes Billy Bob Barnett of Texas A&M, Gene Phillips of Southern Methodist and Tommy Bowman of Baylor and Bill Voight of SMU, who tied in balloting for the fifth spot.

Bill Menefee of Baylor was named by his fellow SWC coaches as "Coach of the Year." Shelby Metcalf of the Aggies was second.

Phillips was named "Sophomore of the Year" and Williams and Peret tied for the "Player of the Year" honor.

Williams, a senior from Portland, Ind., is the smallest player on the mythical first team at 5-feet, 9-inches. Peret, a senior from Plainview, Tex., is the tallest at 6-9.

Phillips is one of the most touted players ever to come out of the Texas schoolboy basketball ranks and the former Houston Jones star lived up to his advance billing, averaging more than 20 points per game.

Williams also averaged some 20 points per game, mostly on long set shots and jumpers.

The 6-3 Voight, a senior from Dallas, was particularly deadly from the corner and his great leaping ability enabled him to overcome taller opponents in the scramble for rebounds.

Bowman, a 6-4 junior from Athens, Tex., also displayed excellent marksmanship and tremendous rebounding agility.

Peret and Barnett, both seniors, were the steadying forces in the Aggies' six one-point victories in SWC warfare. Both were strong drivers to the basket and excellent rebounders.

Aside from defending champion Texas Christian's poor year, Baylor was the surprise of the SWC. Menefee's Bears were selected seventh in a pre-season poll of basketball writers by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. A&M made the experts look good by finishing first as predicted.

Bowman and Voight were the only repeaters from last year.

Members of the second team included juniors Mike Heitman of Texas A&M, James Eldridge of Arkansas, and Larry Gatewood of Baylor and seniors James Cash of Texas Christian and Kurt Papp of Texas.

Brisom Aims For Career In Baseball

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — "Birmingham Sam," once a basketball player for the Harlem Globetrotters, is bell-hopping these days. But he is merely marking time until he has another crack at the bigtime.

He wants to make it big in baseball.

Birmingham Sam, otherwise known as smiling Sam Brisom, formerly of Birmingham Ala. plans to try out soon for a job with the Winston-Salem Red Sox. It should be interesting.

"I just want to get to Florida and show my stuff" he says hefting the weight of two large suitcases and looking — unhappily to be sure — at the winter snow.

Brisom is only 23. But he has been around. He has crammed into his young life a variety of sports action. It has been pretty bizarre not to mention confusing when you consider the number of times Brisom has switched jobs and sports.

Baseball is his first love. He ran away from home at age 17 and joined the Philadelphia Stars a baseball club then barn-storming the boondocks circuit.

Next he joined a similar team in Indianapolis Ind., as a clowing third baseman. He worked with a midget shortstop who could run between his legs. It was stylish but Brisom is aware such experience may never be called upon in the big leagues.

Somewhere down the line he ran into the legendary Goose Tatum a star of the Globetrotters before he launched his own basketball team the Harlem Road Kings. Tatum allowed that Brisom might work out as a basketball player.

"I had a little showmanship about me" Brisom says modestly. "I did a lot of hollering."

He played briefly for Tatum before returning to Indianapolis for more baseball. But somehow Brisom found his way back to basketball and was hired by the Globetrotters. Brisom had arrived but it was awfully lonely those nights on the road with the Globetrotters.

You made a lot money he said but you spent a lot on long distance telephone calls to friends. It was not uncommon to feed $25 worth of coins into a pay telephone in one evening he said. He quit the Globetrotters after it occurred to him he might be cut out for major league baseball.

He says he arranged for a tryout with the Cincinnati Reds but injured himself before spring training. Next stop: Winston-Salem.

He is convinced a bright future awaits him.

Meanwhile he is still diversifying.

Hirsch Is Hired As Wisconsin AD

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Elroy "Crazy Legs" Hirsch accepted the job as athletic director at the University of Wisconsin Friday, then promised a "crash program" to rebuild the school's sagging football fortunes.

Hirsch, a former football star with Wisconsin and the Los Angeles Rams, said major changes would be made in the athletic department.

He succeeds the late Ivan B. Williamson and took over the post Saturday.

"We'll start immediately and get the show on the road," Hirsch said.

Hirsch's contract includes five years as athletic director, plus a subsequent five-year term either as athletic director or in a "mutually acceptable role."

UCLA Pronounced NCAA Favorite

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Eighteen of the nation's major college basketball teams launch next Saturday what has become one of America's favorite annual wintertime sports—trying to knock mighty UCLA off its lofty pinnacle.

Since 1964, only Texas Western—now the University of Texas at El Paso—has broken the Bruins' stranglehold on the national collegiate basketball championship. That was in 1966 when UCLA failed to qualify for the tourney.

HEAVY CHOICE

The Lew Alcindor-led Bruins, who have been ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll for major colleges all season and boast a perfect record this year, once again are favored to take the NCAA title, which would be their third in a row and fifth in six years.

The 18 teams who kick off this year's tournament action Saturday represent the champions of eight conferences—the Middle Atlantic, Southern, Ivy, Ohio Valley, Mid-American, Southwest, Western Athletic and Big Sky—plus 10 at-large entries.

The first-round winners will be joined in the four NCAA regional tournaments March 13-15 by the champions of seven other conferences—the Atlantic Coast, Southeastern, Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Big Eight, Pacific 8 and West Coast—to comprise the 16 teams who will battle for berths in the NCAA finals at Louisville March 20-22.

Heading into Saturday's play, every team in the Top Ten still was in the running for the NCAA championship, except for third-ranked LaSalle which is ineligible to compete.

Instead of LaSalle, the East's at-large entrants are No. 7 St. John's No. 10 Duquesne and No. 12 Villanova.

Here is how the regional tournaments are lined up:

East Regional—First-round games Saturday: Duquesne vs. Middle Atlantic Conference champion, 7:30 p.m., EST, at Kingston, R.I.; Villanova vs. Southern Conference champion, probably Davidson and St. John's vs. Ivy League champion, probably Princeton at Raleigh, N.C., times to be announced late in the week, but one game at 2:40 p.m., and the other at 4:04 p.m., EST. Three winners join the Atlantic Coast Conference champion in the East regional tournament at College Park, Md.

Mideast regional—First-round games Saturday: At-large Marquette vs. Ohio Valley Conference champion, 5:05 p.m., EST, and at-large Notre Dame vs. Mid-American champion, 4:05 p.m., EST, at Carbondale, Ill. Winners join Southeastern Conference champion Kentucky and Big Ten champion, probably Purdue, in Mideast regional at Madison, Wis.

A&M PLAYS TRINITY

Midwest regional—First-round games Saturday: At-large Trinity Tex. vs. Southwest Conference champion Texas A&M, 10:05 p.m., EST, and University vs. at-large Dayton, 8:05 p.m., ET, at Fort Worth, Tex. Winners join Missouri Valley and Big Eight Conference champins in Midwest regional at Manhattan, Kan.

West regional—First-round games Saturday: At-large New Mexico State vs. Western Athletic Conference champion, 11:05 p.m., EST, and at-large Seattle vs. Big Sky Conference champion, 9:05 p.m., EST Las Cruces, N.M. Winners join Pacific 8 champion UCLA, and West Coast Conference champion, probably Santa Clara, in West regional at Los Angeles.

Davis Is Best In State, Says Coach Glen Whitis

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Fabulous Fred Davis has overcome the tragedy of losing his wife to lead Howard Payne College to the Lone Star Conference basketball championship.

Coach Glen Whitis, in his 14th season at the helm of the Baptist school's basketball program, says that Davis, 6-5 junior letterman from Oakland, Calif., is the "best athlete he has ever coached and is the best athlete in the state."

Since donning the HPC livery, Davis has established more individual records than a person can count on his two hands. Some of them are: Most field goals in a season (268); most field goals in a single game (20); most points in a single season.

He has broken Dan Smith's record of 328 points and 125 field goals, both set in the LSC season in 1965-66.

Howard Payne is the scoring-est team in LSC history, averaging 91.9 points. The Yellow Jackets set the record of 89.4 points a game last year.

Davis averaged some 27 points per game on the season and 26 points in conference action.

Davis scored 37 points in HPC's 93-80 win over Stephen F. Austin, which earlier defeated Texas A&M of the Southwest Conference. But shortly before Davis led HPC to that victory, suffered a tragedy when his wife died after a short illness in a local hospital.

After her funeral was held here on the Friday before HPC won over Sam Houston the following day, families and friends of the Davis family remained over in Brownwood to see Fred establish himself as one of the best basketball players in the history of Texas basketball.

Fred and the families left following the game, with Stephen F. Austin for Oakland and memorial rites for his wife, Doris.

Fred came back after the funeral, leaving his 18-month old son with his mother.

He lost 14 pounds during his tough ordeal, but while losing weight, he has won the admiration of his teammates, his professors and this town.

Williams Composite, Says Owner Of Sens

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — What is a Ted Williams?

To the people he has offended, a Ted Williams is brash and cocky, rude and tactless. To the people he has befriended, a Ted Williams is flamboyant and attractive, honest and generous.

To Bob Short, the Washington club owner who lured him from his self-imposed exile, a Ted Williams is exactly what he has appeared to be both to those who have been offended and those who have been befriended.

To Bob Short he is simply a Ted Williams.

"Ted Williams," says Short, "is a composite. He is the .400 hitter, two wars, 20 years in baseball, fishing, hunting, problems with the press, obscurity to fantastic fame."

A GREAT HITTER

He is then exactly as has appeared in the more than 30 years since he burst on the baseball scene without a tie:

The great hitter, the guy who feuded with the press, the man involved in the spitting incidents —but not to be forgotten—the player who stayed after a game to give batting tips to opponents and spent countless hours working for the Jimmy Fund charity.

"All that he is and was makes the guy and the man I hired," Short explained. "Take some of that out of the mix and he's probably not my man.

"I want him to be Ted Williams as a member of the Tell-It-As-It-Is set, possibly 25 years ahead of his time, is the reason that he made him the first million dollar manager in baseball history.

And it's probably that appreciation, as well as the money, that is the reason Williams decided to foresake the privacy he was able to get while fishing for the constant exposure he will have to endure while managing.

Short, of course, is a Williams fan. But Williams has many other fans, both those who remember him as the last of the .400 hitters, and those who are just making his acquaintance in spring training for the first time.

He is, to use a phrase thrown around all during Williams' first week, a breath of fresh air.

He is all over the field, talking with fans, advising players, chatting with cronies, giving orders to coaches, smiling, grimacing, twisting, turning, running walking.

If the picture is magnetic, that's exactly the aura that revolves around this imposing good-looking 6-foot-4 physical specimen who obviously still has a certain fascination for the women sitting in the stands.

That magnetism also transfers from Williams to his players as it did the first time he addressed them in a group in the clubhouse.

ALL LISTEN

"I looked around the room," said pitcher Frank Bertaina, "and there was just a little more respect there than for any other manager I've ever played under. I've never seen a group of players so engrossed in what a manager was saying.

"He said basically the same things I've heard before; the same rules, but here was a man who is a magic name in baseball saying it and because he was saying it you felt there were more players going to follow the rules."

"That type of thing," Short explained, "is probably the single most important thing about Williams. Here is probably the greatest living name in the game and when he talks there's no ostentation, no lordliness.

"He is just a common guy talking to a common guy.

"That to me is the sign of a great teacher—a person who can take someone who knows very little about something and explain it so it can be understood.

"And contrary to what you may believe or may have heard he doesn't say this is the way I did it, he says this is the way I think it should be done.

"He's in the 20th century.

"This business of communicating is basically the big problem of the world, from young to old, black to white, rich to poor. This guy knows how to communicate."

That, Short said, will prove an asset in Washington, despite the fact that it is a center of diplomacy and Williams hasn't always revolved at that center.

Villanova Is Favored In 1C4A Meet Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim "Jumbo" Elliot's powerful Villanova Wildcats are favored to capture an unprecedented 10th title Saturday at the 48th IC4A indoor track and field championships at Madison Square Garden.

The Wildcats feature outstanding Olympians such as Marty Liquori, Erv Hall, Larry James and Frank Murphy. Hall and James will be defending their titles in the 60-yard high hurdles and 600-yard run, respectively.

Ironically, Villanova isn't expected to take any points in the five field events.

However, in the six other running events, Coach Elliott will have Liquori and Murphy in the mile, Dick O'Reilly and Chris Mason in the 1,000, Dick Buerkle and Tom Donnelly in the two-mile, Hall doubling in the 60-yard sprint and one-mile and two-mile relay teams.

Villanova, team winner the past two years, is expecting a strong challenge from Maryland, the 1966 champions, in these games that have more than 1,200 athletes entered from 62 member schools.

Other defending champions favored in their specialities are Notre Dame's Bill Hurd in the 60-yard dash; NYU's Byron Dyce, in the 1,000, Ethiopian Sebsibe Mamo of Colby, in the two-mile run and Dick Benka of Harvard in the shot put.

Maryland's strong suit is the field events where pole vaulter Jim Williamson, shot putter Jack Hanley, high jumper Joe David nad Elliot Garrett in the long jump will be strong threats.

Since 1957 Villanova has dominated this meet, winning in 1957-58-60-62-63, capturing the gold cup which goes to the winner of five legs.

The Wildcats can gain the fifth leg on the current cup by taking the title again Friday. Villanova, in the past five years has only lost in 1966.

NEW TAX BITE?

IRS Will Study Club Set-Ups

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service is teeing up for a closer scrutiny of golf and country clubs enjoying favored tax treatment as nonprofit organizations.

The IRS says some clubs which have been granted complete exemption from paying Federal income taxes are keeping for their own use some of the proceeds from annual tournaments they sponsor.

From a tax man's point of view, that constitutes taking a profit, not considered proper behavior for an organization that has assured the government it doesn't do that sort of thing.

Tremors began moving through the country club grapevine in December when the Internal Revenue Service issued an advisory opinion in the case of an unidentified club.

The opinion said the club should lose its tax-exempt status because it was sponsoring a public-invited tournament every year and charging admission, then using part of the proceeds to benefit members of the club by applying the money to normal club operating expenses or capital improvements.

IRS doesn't normally announce what enforcement steps it plans to take after issuing an advisory opinion. But sources said any club matching the description of the one that figured in the opinion has reason to be concerned.

The opinion has had two months to sink in, but the national organizations that speak for golf aren't sure yet how many clubs might be vulnerable because the clubs don't make a point of discussing their internal finances.

"We don't know what they do with their money," a former top official of the Professional Golfers Association said, "because they just don't tell us."

Spokesmen for the United States Golf Association and National Golf Foundation also said the data they have is too limited to permit casualty estimates.

For one thing, they noted, the ruling is aimed only at those clubs that have applied to the IRS for exemption as a nonprofit organization. Many aren't exempt now.

Next, they said, the ruling specifically mentions tournaments put on by such clubs every year, not as an occasional thing, further reducing the field.

Finally, they said, it comes down to the question of whether the club holds back part of the proceeds for purposes that will benefit its own members instead of doling it all out in prize money, giving it to charity, or using it to cover the legitimate expenses of running the tournament.

A Washington attorney who keeps an eye on IRS rulings and other matters of possible interest to the clubs said he thought "Very, very few" clubs are in the same boat as the one that prompted the pronouncement.

For most clubs, he said, hosting a tournament has to be a labor of love. The question of taking a profit on the event seldom arises, he said, because it's all they can do to meet expenses.

Shaw Acquitted On Conspiracy Charge

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A jury's unanimous verdict of innocent Saturday cleared Clay L. Shaw, 55, of a charge of conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Read to a packed, heavily guarded Criminal District Court here at 1:02 a.m., the verdict triggered a moment of bedlam. There was an earsplitting concerted shriek from the women spectators.

The 12-man jury rejected both the state case and Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's plea that a conviction would strike a blow at "excessive government power."

"Garrison has a right to his opinion about the government and the Warren Commission," said juror David I. Powe shortly after court adjourned. "But I just don't feel his opinion is enough to convict a man."

Shaw, a 6-foot-4 retired New Orleans businessman with tanned and craggy features, stood in a protective circle of deputies as the verdict was read.

"Do you wish the jury polled?" asked Judge Edward A. Haggerty.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock, who headed Garrison's team of prosecutors, slumped low in his chair. He shook his head wearily, side to side.

Powe, a juror who grew a goatee while sequestered during the 34-day trial, said the verdict was unanimous and was reached on the first ballot taken in the bleak little room behind the courtroom.

Deliberation took about 50 minutes. Shaw was cleared two years to the day from the date he was arrested — March 1, 1967.

The state charged Shaw with conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to murder Kennedy, who was slain in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963. The Warren Commission named Oswald as the assassin.

In the final arguments, Garrison left the oratory on legal details and testimony to the assistants — but made an emotional appeal in the final minutes attacking the Warren Commission.

"The government handling of the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy was a fraud," he said, "probably the greatest fraud perpetrated in the history of

PRONOUNCER PREPARES
Mrs. O. T. Brewster to serve again in important role

Mrs. Brewster To Pronounce Words

By SAM BLACKBURN

Mrs. O. T. Brewster, Big Spring High School faculty member, who has served as the official pronouncer for the Howard County Spelling Bees the past three years, has agreed to fill the same important post this year.

She has already been provided with copies of the official spelling list, "Words of the Champions," and will select several hundred of them in the list for use in the county bee April 19. The spelling bee is sponsored by the Big Spring Herald.

She will also prepare four other official lists, identifying the words she has selected in the same sequence. One of these lists will be provided each judge at the county bee to enable him to follow the contest accurately

Keith Swim, spelling bee coordinator for the Big Spring Independent School District, said that all schools competing in the Howard County Spelling Bee must have the names of their school champion and alternate in his hands by 2 p.m. March 28. He pointed out this does not mean that a school cannot announce its champion earlier, but it does mean that the lists for the Big Spring schools will be closed at that time. He said about 1,000 youngsters started in the bee at classroom levels. Champions will be named for all of the elementary schools and the two junior high schools in the city.

Mrs. Brewster became official pronouncer in 1966, when she agreed to fill in when Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, who had served the previous two years, was no longer available.

"I enjoy helping in the spelling bees," said Mrs. Brewster. "I do not think there is anything that could be done to make the events move with greater smoothness."

Mrs. Brewster teaches French and Spanish in the high school. She and her husband, O. T. Brewster, have lived here since 1963. They moved to Big Spring from El Dorado, Ark. He is the manager of the Holiday Inn.

Last year, Mrs. Brewster pronounced 139 words before the championship was determined.

All of the elementary schools of the city, as well as the two junior high schools, the Forsan Junior High School, and the two parochial schools will have champions competing in the bee at 10 a.m. in the Big Spring High School cafeteria.

The determination of school champions is now under way.

Last year's county champion was Greg Parnell, who represented Runnels Junior High School. He is not eligible to compete this year, having passed the eighth grade.

Eddie Acri Files For Commission

Eddie Acri announced Friday that he will be a candidate for a place on the city commission.

Acri, president of the Family Money Services, Inc., has been a resident of Big Spring since 1951 when he came here as one of the first men to be stationed at Webb AFB.

He was married in 1953 to Mary Alice Rutherford, and they have two children, Frank and Veronica, both of whom are students in the Big Spring Schools.

Acri is a member of the Texas Finance Institute, YMCA, and the family are members of the First Presbyterian Church. He also is past secretary of the Southwest Basketball Officials and is vice president of the Democratic Club.

EDDIE ACRI

In making his announcement, he had this statement:

"I have positive views about the manner in which the city's affairs should be handled. Fifty per cent of the revenue from the city sales tax is to be used for needed improvements such as street paving, sidewalks not only in the vicinity of schools. We still have a drainage and sewage problem; street lighting is still needed in some parts of the city. In my opinion the property taxes for the City of Big Spring are too high. The city sales tax revenue is much larger than first anticipated, thus I feel that we could have received a larger reduction in the ad valorem tax instead of the 10-cent reduction. When industry is wanting to locate in the Big Spring area, I feel that they should get a lower tax and water rate; this surely will show that we want them to locate here in Big Spring.

"Last year when I announced for the city commission I stated that with our Municipal golf course we needed a new golf shop; at the present time construction is under way on the new golf shop, this being financed by the citizens who use the golf course by increased golf fees.

"I will work towards Big Spring having a Youth Center for our teenage children, also to obtain a city coliseum.

"I feel that the city commissioners are responsible to the residents of the City of Big Spring for the people they employ, but I also feel a commissioner is responsible to the city employes, to afford them good working conditions, and incomes equal to other people in the same kind of jobs.

"If I am elected I will be responsible to all the citizens of this city for not only my actions, but the actions of all the people working for the City of Big Spring.

"I also believe that the City should attempt to hire or retain local people for services, if at all possible.

"With new people come new ideas. You just can't sit around waiting for something to happen, you must make it happen; and with the help of all the citizens of Big Spring this can be done. As our city grows our problems will grow. The old saying has it that two heads are better than one. The time will come when we will have to increase our commissioners to eight or 10 to handle these problems."

QUIET CELEBRATION FOR 56th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY
Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander Sample

Rev., Mrs. Sample To Mark Quiet 56th Anniversary

By SAM BLACKBURN

The Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander Sample, 908 Runnels, were married 56 years ago today, but they are not making any great to-do over the anniversary.

"Insofar as I know," said Mrs. Sample, "it will be just another day."

Sample will probably take a walk, if the weather permits, as he walks three miles every day.

In view of the fact that he will be 93 next Oct. 5, this is rather remarkable. Mrs. Sample is a retired practical nurse.

"I suppose you could say I am retired," she said. "But Eugene depends on me to keep him going. The other day he fell while on a walk and his nose bled for 24 hours. He wouldn't let me take him to the doctor. He said I was the nurse in the family."

Sample doesn't like not working. He still carries on a brisk business of dispensing greeting cards, Bibles and religious books. The retired minister, slight of build, is a familiar sight, walking with brisk steps along the sidewalks. His arms are usually filled with books or boxes of greeting cards.

He is officially a retired preacher of the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Sample was the former Lucy Day. She came from a family of 15 children. "I suppose," she said, "you could say that's where I got my first training as a practical nurse, since I was one of the older children and had to lend a hand taking care of the others."

She was born in Iola, 78 years ago.

Sample was born Oct. 5, 1876, in Tabor. He was baptized in the second church building of the Alexander Methodist Church.

"My parents," he says, "gave me 'Alexander' as my second name. This was for the church and for the preacher who baptized me."

Sample has been a member of the Methodist Church 78 years. He became a member in the summer of 1890. Until he retired, he preached over much of Texas. In recent years, until his hearing failed, he continued to preach when he was needed.

Born on a farm, he says that one of the most "delightful tasks" he had as a boy was picking cotton.

"I would still find it delightful," he says, "if I could do it."

He does not remember his father, who died when he was an infant, but he does remember a horse which the elder Sample brought back to the home place after service in the Civil War.

"I took care of this beautiful bay horse," said Sample. "He died at the age of 27 years. I think he was the first horse I ever rode."

His career, he says, has included farming, preaching, school teaching and selling Bibles and religious literature.

"Right now," he insists, "I am not doing anything." (Mrs. Sample says that this is not quite the way it is).

"I think it is about time I should take a rest," said the former minister. "It may be about time for me to really retire."

He credits his amazingly good health to "walking and dieting and taking the right kinds of medicine. I am in fair health," he admits. This is, in reality, an understatement for a man in sight of the 100-year mark.

Although this is officially the 56th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Sample, he himself has been married for 64 of his 92 years.

He was first married to Miss Alice Gertrude Darby who died July 24, 1911. He and Miss Darby were married Nov. 25, 1903. She bore him five children, four of whom survive. He and the present Mrs. Sample were married two years after the death of his first wife. They have four surviving children of the seven born to them.

The older children are Mrs. Clara Drake, Ozark, Ark., Mrs. Ina Mae Haynes, Yukon, Okla., Mrs. Mary Pettus, Tahoka, and Jasper J. Sample, Houston.

The younger children are Robert Henry Sample, Knott; James R. Sample, Hollywood, N.M., Ruby L. Lafonda, Newbury Park, Calif., and Mrs. Laura Herford, Robert Lee.

In addition to his eight living children, Sample has 25 living grandchildren and 21 living great-grandchildren.

Station Operators To Pass Along Cost Hike

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight major oil companies have raised the wholesale price of gasoline by either six- or seven-tenths of a cent and many service station operators have decided to pass the price hike on to drivers at a rate of one to three cents a gallon.

An Associated Press survey of six cities shows many dealers who haven't yet increased their price will soon.

The manager of a Mobil station in New York City said, "Naturally, if prices go up, we'll raise our prices."

In Detroit, the Retail Gasoline Dealers of Michigan, representing 2,000 service stations, said drivers there will pay a cent or two more than the current price of 35.9 cents for regular gas and 39.9 for premium.

A Boston dealer who said he plans to raise prices three cents a gallon added "Business is lousy this time of year and this just makes it lousier."

A San Francisco dealer, George Currie, said he'd try to hold the line on prices "but I don't want to start a gas war."

Frank M. Anderson, a Texaco dealer in Atlanta, raised gas prices, one cent this week and will add another penny to the total next week, he said. James Bowen, a Sinclair dealer in Decatur, Ga., near Atlanta, said, "I plan to go up one cent."

But drivers near Kansas City, Mo., may escape an increase. The city is in the midst of a price war that has cut prices to as little as 20.9 cents for regular gas.

Texaco was the first company to announce a price rise, when it said Monday that it would charge six-tenths of a cent more per gallon. Two major oil companies that did not announce price changes were Humble and Shell.

Mrs. Tamplin At Workshop

Mrs. Ellen Tamplin, RN, in-service training instructor for the Big Spring State Hospital, will be in Denver from March 3 through March 7, to attend a workshop on the development of in-service programs in psychiatric mental health nursing. Mrs. Tamplin will be attending on a scholarship at the University of Colorado School of Nursing Continuation Education Services. The classes will deal with the content and process of teaching and learning as it relates to the mental health worker.

FOR TODAY AND TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

SUNDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early morning is pleasant but as the day advances it becomes more and more confusing to determine just what is best to do. Be extra cautious to avoid accidents. You would be wise now to observe what others are doing and to reflect but not judge them. Don't argue.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you use that fine smile and a pat on the back to good friends, it will do much to make them feel better. Be on the alert for that blunt-talking individual who makes you feel inferior. Turn your back.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Associates are apt to be quite critical today, but just laugh things off instead of becoming angry. Don't become annoyed with a good family tie. Show understanding instead and be happy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Instead of running off on tangents, be sure that you go ahead with promises you have made and show that you have character. Go to favorite services and get the inspiration you need. Be careful of gossipers.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find happiness in a more simple fashion instead of spending a good deal of money foolishly. This is not the right day to make that big impression on a business alliance. Wait until Wednesday.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Control your temper or you can really have a big argument at home. Show that you are a magnetic force in outside alliances. Take the trouble to assist those who are in real need and are truly suffering.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have every chance now to talk over with regular allies what is in store for the future and what your plans are. Don't make binding contracts, though. Do some studying tonight instead of sulking in a corner.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show consideration for your good pals although you have much to do in a business way. Enhance your image in social ways. Make sure your car is running properly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It would be disastrous to go to one who is influential and be very demanding and equally bad to do something that would ruin your reputation. Get personal matters in fine order. Be more courteous with others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Doing something that shows your true fine character is good now. Your ideas are excellent. Stop being so alone and fuming over disappointments that could not be avoided. Be wise and get yourself busy socially, etc.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be active with a good pal who has your interests at heart and believes in keeping you busy. Avoid that individual whose eye is directed toward your assets. Make this a productive day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) This is not a good day to have that talk with a partner who is in an irate mood. Get your health and appearance improved so that you feel much better yourself. Being sure of yourself is very important now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You have some problem that a newcomer can help you with very nicely today. Discuss it with this person quietly. That work ahead of you can wait until you find the right philosophy to get it done efficiently. Be calm.

MONDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now is your big chance to express your special talents in a practical fashion. You can be more aware of how those who seem to limit you would like to have your relations with them in the days ahead. Keep cheerful despite an urge to think you get what you want by whining.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You had banter and fun yesterday, so get busy with that work ahead of you today. If you want to really gain your aims. Find the right way to make your associates happy. Avoid arguments.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Begin the new week properly by contacting those persons who can help to further your aims, bring more pleasure into your life. Improve your appearance and all is much easier for you. Be poised.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Some fundamental affair can be improved now by some serious effort on your part. Stop picking about little things or you get into much trouble. Be with friends of long standing in afternoon. Forget the new and unknown.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning is best spent at some important business matter. Later you can do whatever pleases kin. Be sure to make improvements on that particular job you have. Stop being so matter-of-fact about it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good day to handle that financial matter that stamps you as a person of character and wisdom. Get those problems at home nicely taken care of, too. Forget that imperious Leo manner, though.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Being with partners in the business world for some important matter can lead to fine results if you are clever and understanding. Clear up those responsibilities that you have been neglecting for some time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have a clever partner who is lacking in patience who gives fine ideas for your advancement now. Listen carefully. Be secret in improving affairs. Follow through with some promise you have made or there is trouble.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Begin week properly by consulting with a clever pal who is very good at neat touch and fine finish, and you soon gain your finest aims. Get abode looking more charming, too. Be more ambitious.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Doing whatever will gain you backing and respect from higher - ups is fine, but don't confide in others. This can be the beginning of something big. Get into some delightful form of recreation during free time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Although you may not exactly approve of some plan which the family has, it would be wise to go along with it just the same. A good pal has a fine idea, also. If you follow along with it, all is fine.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Carry through with ideas to get regular routines improved and give partners a boost where merited. Get an expert to open up new outlets for you by contacting higher-ups. Step up to your activity.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You have problems which a partner can easily help you to solve, so listen carefully and carry through with advice given. Do something to improve your property and thus make it more valuable. Be smart.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

BEWARE OF THUNDERCLOUDS WITH 'TAILS' SWOOPING EARTHWARD
This small tornado levelled a barn and tore down fences near here

Spring Ushers In Twister Time For Most Of Texas

With the advent of March, most West Texans begin to have apprehensive thoughts about the weather ahead, particularly in relation to the possibility of tornadoes. There is good reason.

While Big Spring itself has never been hit by a real twister, the swirling destroyers are not uncommon in this area, and each season there are many reported sighted. Most of those never touch ground, but the spectacle of one writhing in the sky is enough to make even the boldest person apprehensive.

There are plenty of disturbing statistics to support the dread that is felt for these storms. In the last 50 years, Texas has had nearly 1,700 reported tornadoes. While this particular part of Texas is not the worst in the matter of tornado occurrence, enough of the storms appear to keep all residents alert to the danger.

March, April, May and June are the worst months for these destroyers. May is the worst of all, closely followed by April. March, the records show, has its full quota of tornadoes, but it runs well behind the next three months.

Each spring and early summer, there are reports of tornadoes sighted in the county. From time to time, one dips down and strikes the earth. Last year, a small one struck southwest of Elbow. It damaged outhouses and fences on the Allen farm. Nearly every year, there are reports of local tornadoes which appear to have grounded. Fortunately, most of these hit in open ranch country. So far Big Spring, although it has had damaging winds, has not been struck by a true tornado as far as records show.

A year or two ago what appears to have been a tornado swept through a strip of country in the area of Sand Springs. It knocked down signboards, ripped roofs, tipped over a trailer house, and caused other losses. No one was injured.

One year of particularly black memory, tornado wise, was 1957. All over Texas twisters were sighted. In Howard County innumerable reports of such storms were heard. Statistics show Texas had one tornado every 60 hours.

As would be expected, April and May provided most of these disturbing episodes.

The records show that April produces twice as many tornadoes as March, and May about a third more than April. Sixty-three per cent of the total twisters spotted annually in the state are in April, May and June.

Statistics also show that tornadoes are rare in the mountainous country of the Trans-Pecos, and southwest portion of the Edwards Plateau. An area along Red River, from Childress to Ardmore, Okla., has the highest tornado frequency of any area in the United States.

Despite alarming statistics, 1,691 tornadoes touched earth in Texas in the half century from 1916 to 1965, for an average of only one tornado for each 158 square miles of land area. The 1,691 tornadoes in that 50-year interval took 879 lives.

If it is any consolation, Oklahoma and Kansas have a higher tornado frequency than Texas.

These frightening storms run the gamut in size. Probably the largest one of record struck Whitedeer, Glazier and Higgins in Texas and Woodward in Oklahoma April 9, 1947. The huge vortex of this swirling monster was a mile and a half across and it swept 221 miles across Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The tornado in Dallas on April 2, 1957, is rated as the most thoroughly photographed in history, and the pictures and movies furnished the weather bureau with the material for the most complete study of a tornedo ever provided.

The most lethal of Texas twisters are the ones that struck Goliad in 1902 and Waco in 1953. Each took 114 lives.

The most destructive tornado in Texas of recent years was the one which ravaged Wichita Falls, April 3, 1964. It killed seven persons and caused 15 million dollars worth of damage.

With the tornado season near at hand for this part of Texas, all black and menacing clouds will be viewed with anxiety. For the observer's information, tornadoes are usually seen as a funnel-shaped cloud spinning rapidly and extending toward the earth from the base of a thunderstorm. This funnel cloud rises and falls and turns and swings in various directions before touching ground.

As the tornado nears the earth, objects in its path appear to be sucked up and ascend rapidly. This is due to the partial vacuum which is formed inside the funnel.

The amount and nature of the fall in atmospheric pressure inside a tornado funnel varies widely from storm to storm. When a roofed enclosure, such as a house filled with air at normal pressure, is suddenly encompassed by a funnel of a tornado, the reduction in surrounding outside air pressure causes the internal air to expand outward with explosive force, since pressure may be several hundred pounds per square inch greater inside the house than outside. An entire wall of a house can be pushed out by the outward rushing air. A roof may pop off like a cork from a bottle.

What time of day is most dangerous in the matter of tornadoes?

More twisters seem to form closely following the warmest part of the day — from 3 to 7 p.m. Least hourly number have occurred between 7 p.m. and 8 a.m.

Usually, the surface winds in connection with a developing tornado are from the southwest and most tornadoes move in that direction. They move at a speed normally of about 40 miles an hour, but this varies from almost stationary to as high as 68 miles.

The Weather Bureau statistics show that the 50-year period from 1916 through 1965 there were 30 tornadoes in Texas in January, 47 in February; 151 in March, 341 in April, 442 in May, 279 in June, 108 in July, 86 in August, 58 in September, 68 in October, 52 in November and 29 in December for a grand total for the half century involved of 1,691.

Wedding Solemnized In Methodist Church

Double ring rites were performed for the wedding of Miss Carole Jeanne Burleson and Sgt. John Michael Schultz at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Wesley United Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. Wayne Burleson and Mr. and Mrs. William C. Schultz, the latter of Irving.

The Rev. Tom Strother officiated for the ceremony that was performed under an archway of emerald foliage and boxwood. Baskets of white gladioli, accented by palms, were illuminated by wedding tapers held in seven-branched candelabra.

Mrs. Rick Lee of Albany sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Twelfth of Never," and Miss Debbie Schultz, sister of the bridegroom, sang "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar. Mrs. L. B. Thomas was organist.

The bride wore a formal gown of ivory satin with matching bow at the empire waistline. The train, attached at the back waist, was appliqued with lace, as was the skirt and bodice. The shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a satin pillbox coverered with lace appliques and seed pearls, and the bride's single piece of jewelry was a cameo necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade of feathered white carnachid. Miss Betsy Burleson was her sister's maid of honor, and Mrs. David Burleson of Odessa, was the matron of honor. Miss Debbie Schultz was bridesmaid.

The attendants were dressed in gowns of peacock blue velvet accented with a bow of turquoise satin. The headpieces were fashioned of three turquoise and blue velvet bows covered with tulle. Each carried a basket of turquoise carnations.

Sgt. Curtis L. Nichols was best man, and groomsmen were Sgt. Leroy Spires and Airman 1.C. Thomas P. Raupp. Ushers were David Burleson and Sgt. Don Lindsey.

Pamela Ann Mathews, dressed in a dress of white eyelet, was flower girl, and Trent Schultz, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Altar tapers were lighted by Miss Alicia Schultz and Michael Burleson, sister and brother of the bridal couple.

For traveling, the bride wore an A-line dress of pink linen with matching coat. The accessories were black patent and she wore the orchid from her bouquet.

When the couple returns from their wedding trip they will make their home at 902 Goliad.

The new Mrs. Schultz is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College. She was a member of the band and BSU. She is employed at the Big Spring Independent School District Tax Office.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Smiley High School at Houston and Ranger Junior College. He is peesently assigned to Webb AFB.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the parlor of the church. They greeted guests with their parents and the feminine attendants.

Oasis Club Aids In Tiny Gardens

The Oasis Garden Club conducted a therapy program Thursday with the special education children at Moss School.

Miniature gardens were constructed on the tops of cigar boxes, using pebbles and sand dyed blue with over-laid glass for ponds. Miniature plants were employed, and small flowers for color. Thirty children took home gardens they made with the help of Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Mrs. Spike Dykes, Mrs. Boone Horne, Mrs. M. C. Stulting, Mrs. J. H. Zike, Mrs. J. D. Leonard, and Mrs. D. K. Public Invited To Join World Day Of Prayer

When March 7 dawns in the Pacific, Christians on that side of the globe begin a prayer vigil which has come to be known as World Day of Prayer. As the day progresses around the world, other Christians join in the event until, by sunset, prayer services have been held all over the world.

This year Big Spring will have two services of prayer. The first service will be at the First United Methodist Church will be led by four local church women. Mrs. Joe Wiser will be the slooist and Mrs. William Martin will accompany at the organ. Mrs. Robert Deming is chairman of this service and will be joined by Mrs. Gary Sims, Mrs. Marvin Dixon and Mrs. Steve Birdwell.

The theme of the evening service will be "Growing Together in Christ" as written by the women in Sierra Leone, Ghana, Nigeria, South Africa, Congo, Zambia and Kenya. This service will be at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul Presbyterian Church on Birdwell Lane. Mrs. Willie Graham will be the soloist.

Gary Sims, professor of chemistry and physics at Howard County Junior College and Christian layman, will bring the meditation in the evening service.

Sims is lay assistant at First United Methodist Church, past president of Methodist Men and a certified lay speaker. He

Center Point Club Tours High School Planetarium

An hour-long lecture on astrology was heard by members of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club Tuesday when they visited the planetarium at Big Spring Senior High School. The group viewed the heavens as they are now and as they were in times past, as the instructor lectured on fact and mythology.

He reminded the women that at 7:30 p.m. on the first Tuesday of every month, the planetarium offers such a program, which is free and open to the public. The auditorium can seat 75 persons, and he encouraged local people to take advantage of the lectures.

Prior to the tour, the club met in the home of Mrs. J. W. Trantham, 1319 Stadium, who presided and gave the devotion. Fund-raising projects were discussed, and the Buck-of-the-Month project adopted at Big Spring State Hospital. Cookies will be made for the hospital patients on March 19.

The "bake, grow or make" exchange will be held during a March 11 meeting in the home of Mrs. L. J. Davidson at Center Point. The program will be instruction on meat cookery.

Miss Duff Is Honored By Alma Mater

ABILENE — Katharyn Duff, awarded a sheepskin "free" in December, 1968, by Hardin-Simmons University President Elwin L. Skiles, because she couldn't afford the $10 fee for a diploma in 1936, was named Saturday recipient of the school's coveted John J. Keeter Award.

The Keeter Award was established by the late John J. Keeter Sr., and Mrs. Keeter, Throckmorton, as a memorial to their son, John J. Keeter Jr., a World War II victim. It is presented annually to the ex-student who has contributed the most in his or her field of endeavor toward the betterment of H-SU.

Dr. Lee Hemphill, H-SU vice president, presented the engraved plaque to Miss Duff at the annual homecoming luncheon in the H-SU Student Center.

Miss Duff, veteran Texas newspaper woman, was reared in Sylvester in Fisher County, where she finished high school. She completed her studies at H-SU in 1936. She taught school at Rotan, Fort Stockton and Abilene High School before joining the staff of the Abilene Reporter-News in 1943.

In her 26-year newspaper career, she has worked every reporter's beat in the city, mastered the wire editor's job, and functioned at various times as acting city editor and acting woman's editor. She wrote the newspaper's editorials for a year in 1960-61. She was named assistant editor in 1957, and since 1961 she has written a column, "Page One." Miss Duff in 1961 received the Thomas L. Stokes top national award for conservation of natural resources. Her writings have won her numerous Associated Press awards.

In the homecoming activities, Maj. Carl Dean Taggart was named president of the ex-students association.

Calorie Program Heard By TOPS

"Calories You'll Never Miss" was the title of an article discussed by Mrs. Hattie Williamson who gave a program Thursday evening for the TOPS Plate Pushers at the First Federal Community Room. Mrs. J. J. Herbert presided, and the pledge was led by Mrs. Dean Webb.

Mrs. Margie Alexander, who reported a 12-pound weight loss, received gifts and was named February Queen. A new contest was begun and will continue until April 3. The winner will receive an "Easter bonnet" fund. The next meeting will be Thursday in the chamber of commerce office when new officers will be elected.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

My friends and I, and I expect some enemies, have a bad time keeping our hair in a decent looking condition and the hardship this puts upon us brings about some interesting conversations.

Recently a friend said she hadn't slept well on Friday nights for years, until recently. It turns out that she changed her beauty shop appointment to Saturday morning so now she sleeps well on Friday night but Saturday night is pretty bad. The bad part is that with a good back comb you just don't want to mash it before you've had at least two good days with your hair done.

Some tell me that they get good results with wrapping the head with tissue. The tissue I used crackled like dried corn shucks, and I was told I used the wrong kind. There is a type that is so soft that it just doesn't make any noise at all . . . but I find it restricting, anyway.

The satin pillow case is a wonderful pacifier, I like them. They may not keep my hair looking beautiful but the sales talk I got was pretty convincing. I especially listened when I was told the hair just slides over the smooth, silky surface and therefore didn't pull the hair out of place. Half of the battle is believing, and I believe that if my hair slides over that case it isn't getting mussed up. Of course I am still a little uncomfortable about mashing down my back comb . . . but I'm asleep most of the night anyway, and when I sleep I don't worry.

MRS. JOHNNY BEDELL will make her home here for the next 11 months with her parents, MR. and MRS. ARTHUR PACHALL, while her husband is serving with the Navy aboard the attack carrier, USS John F. Members of the crew were privileged to take their families with them on a short cruise before the men left on leave so Mrs. Bedell has an idea about the ship her husband is serving aboard.

MR. and MRS. WHITNEY REYNOLDS and their children are coming back here to make their home after being in Odessa for several years. He is to join a local accounting firm.

A LOVELIER YOU

Set Temporary Color With Cold Water

By MARY SUE MILLER

A Lovely writes: I must be doing something wrong. I have just started using a temporary color rinse to brighten the color of my hair and cover gray strands. The color soon fades and comes off on my pillow. Please advise.

The Answer: In some instances, a temporary rinse has to be "set." This is done in several ways, depending on the brand. However, color can usually be fixed with cold water. After applying your rinse, simply blot with a towel and lightly spray with cold water. Don't overdo — Jill be nimble, Jill be quick!

It is possible that you should consider a semi-permanent rinse. This category includes color shampoos and after-shampoo rinses. Products are quick and easy to apply. The color lasts from four to six weeks. Because it fades gradually all over the head, you need not worry about retouching as you would with a permanent tint.

As desired, color may be restored or changed at shampoo time. But, you may wonder, what of the color effects? Are they really significant? Yes, if what you want is more intensity for the natural color of your hair and more coverage for gray strands.

What you cannot do with a semi-permanent color is make a complete switch in shade. That requires a full tint job.

MRS. JIMMY WAYNE SHAW

Miss Linda Long Is Wed To Jimmy Shaw

Miss Linda Cecille Long and Jimmy Wayne Shaw were united in marriage at 7 p.m., Friday evening, in the First Baptist Church at Stanton with the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Uhlman, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Long of Lomax, and parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Bud Shaw of Stanton and the late Mr. Shaw.

Forming a background for the wedding party were two tall baskets of white gladioli and greenery and two seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers. Nuptial selections were played by the organist, Miss Melrae Angel.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white peau de soie covered with re-embroidered French lace. The princess-style gown was fashioned with high neckline and long belled sleeves of patterned lace with scalloped edges. The chapel-length veil of scalloped lace on English illusion was attached to a pearl-encrusted headpiece. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of red and white carnations showered with satin streamers.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Don Bizzell, and the bridesmaid was Miss Karen Therwhanger. Both are of Stanton. Their identical floor-length red velvet gowns were designed as the bride's, with long sleeves and rounded neckline. Their headpieces were red satin roses and net, and each carried a bouquet of red and white carnations tied with matching streamers.

Don Bizzell of Stanton served as best man, and the groomsman was Terry Long, brother of the bride. Candlelighters were Miss Rita Kay Langley and Miss Jamie Jo Langley, both of Big Spring. They wore formal red velvet dresses with red and white carnation corsages.

The bride graduated from Stanton High School where she was active in sports and a member of the National Honor Society. She attended Howard County Junior College for two years and was a member of the Hawk Players and Phi Theta Kappa honor society.

The bridegroom attended Stanton High School and is presently employed by Permian Oil Company in Midland.

For the wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a yellow linen dress with matching accessories and the corsage from her bouquet. The couple will reside at 401 W. 5th in Stanton.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds were honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. The serving table was covered with a white cloth and overlay of white net. The centerpiece was the bride's bouquet, and the three-tiered cake was topped with wedding bells. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Guests were registered by Miss Rita Langley and Miss Jamie Langley, and others assisting at the reception were Miss Kathy Therwhanger of Stanton and Miss Kasandra Bridge of Lomax. Others in the house party were Mrs. Alfred Perry, Mrs. S. R. Parum, Mrs. L. G. Adkins, Mrs. Richard Posey, Mrs. C. W. Fambro, Mrs. O. R. Glenn, Mrs. Ross Hill and Mrs. Jack McKinnon.

The rehearsal dinner was held Thursday evening at the Belvue Restaurant in Stanton with the bride's parents and bridegroom's mother as hosts. Twelve attended.

Mrs. C. H. Vick Has Philosophical Outlook

MRS. C. H. VICK

By JO BRIGHT

Mrs. C. H. Vick celebrated her 90th birthday Thursday by fastening a white carnation corsage to her pretty purple and green print dress and joining friends for a party in her honor at the home of Mrs. D. S. Riley, 505 Hillside.

Mrs. Dan Conley was cohostess, and others assisting were the honoree's daughter, Mrs. Dan S. Inglish of Fort Worth, and Mrs. D. C. Newman of Coahoma. Mrs. Vick's son, B. H. Vick of Barstow, Calif., was unable to attend. She had one other daughter, the late Mrs. Elizabeth Spillman, who died in 1963. There are four grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Vick, the former Pearlie Taylor, was born in Quitman in 1879, and was reared on a farm near Breckenridge. Her parents were the late W. N. and Sarah Taylor. She met her future husband, the late C. H. Vick at a party, and they were married in 1904 at Eastland. About three years later, they moved to Big Spring where he worked in a grocery until he was hired by the Texas and Pacific Railway. Mr. Vick worked for the T&P until 1940 and enjoyed 20 years retirement before his death in 1960. However, by that time, ill health had forced him to curtail many of his activities.

The Vicks lived at 1016 Nolan for 25 years before moving to 310 W. 20th, where Mrs. Vick still resides. She is a member of the Church of Christ and attends services regularly. She was still participating in Red Cross work during World War II.

"Oh, I used to do so much that I can't do now," said Mrs. Vick, who has learned to accept her limitations philosophically. "I do just enough to get by and just don't think about the other things anymore. You know, at this age, we realize how many things don't have to be done."

Mrs. Vick still does many chores in her home, and says she is much better off than some people who have not yet reached her age.

Thursday, the party was enjoyed by about 60 friends who called between the hours of 3 and 4:30 p.m. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white linen cutwork cloth and centered with a "money tree" trimmed with pink roses and green tulle leaves. The white birthday cake was decorated with pink roses, and crystal appointments completed the setting.

"No, I don't feel well all the time," said Mrs. Vick, as she smiled and added, "would you, if you were 90?"

Nishikawa Book Used For Mission Study

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. Witt Hines of Colorado City taught the mission book, "In Aloha Land," Tuesday morning to members of the Westbrook Baptist Woman's Missionary Union in the Fellowship Hall.

The book was written by Mrs. Sue Nishikawa who was with the first small Sunday school group that became the foundation for later Southern Baptist work in the Hawaiian Islands.

When completing her education in mainland Baptist colleges and Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, Mrs. Nishikawa (then Sue Saito) returned to her native land to serve as educational director in Olivet Church, Honolulu. Mrs. Nishikawa, a native of Hawaii, is of Japanese Buddhist background and has been Woman's Missionary executive secretary of Hawaii since 1954. She is also one of three associate directors in the Hawaii Baptist Convention and is responsible for promoting the convention's music ministry.

Mrs. Hines stated that the attitude of the people of Hawaii toward Baptists has changed drastically in the last 20 years. Twenty years ago Baptist work existed in only six communities throughout Hawaii. Today, there are Baptist churches and missions in over thirty communities and six islands.

The week of prayer for Home Missions will be observed Sunday through Friday in the local church next week with the ladies meeting each morning at 9:30 o'clock. Mrs. Gerald Rollins will be in charge of programs. The Annie Armstrong Easter offering goal for Westbrook church has been set at $135 with over-all goal of $6,500,000.

Republicans To Attend Conference

Republican women attending the 17th annual Republican Women's Conference will be welcomed by Mrs. Richard Nixon at a White House reception, it was announced by Assistant Republican National Chairman, Mrs. Mary Brooks.

The conference, which is sponsored by the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, is scheduled for April 14-17 at the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington, D.C. Theme for the gathering will be the 1969 Inaugural theme, "Forward Together."

Mrs. Tobin Armstrong, the state's national committeewoman, has named Mrs. George Pearson of Tyler state chairman for the conference.

Top Republican leaders of the new administration will greet the women at an evening "Super Gala" in Sheraton Hall on April 14, the opening day of conference registration.

Tuesday's opening sessions will be dominated by members of the president's cabinet and top women appointees, who will be presented in a series of administrative briefings. Cabinet members will also address the women during the Wednesday morning sessions.

A "Grand Old Party" is scheduled for the evening of April 16 in Sheraton Hall, and the schedule also includes afternoon workshops that will concentrate on the importance of the 1970 congressional races.

"This being the first major gathering for Republican women since the campaign, there is a great deal of interest in the conference," said Mrs. Brooks.

Purchase Instant Curly Hair Wig

The curly look is now an instant hair fashion, thanks to curly top wigs and hairpieces. The most revolutionary is the synthetic wig in a new denier that duplicates the look and feel of hair. These curly wigs will hold up in fog and wet weather, and can be crushed in a suitcase or washed like a piece of lingerie, hung up to dry and worn again without the need of a resetting.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Abbe, 404 Hillside, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judy Ann, to Phillip W. Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Christensen of San Juan, Puerto Rico. The couple plans to be married May 9 at Berea Baptist Church with the Rev. Bill Odell officiating for the ceremony.

Moore 'Homecoming' Scheduled In March

The Moore Community and school will hold its seventh annual "homecoming" reunion at 1 p.m., March 23, in the Odd Fellows Hall, 3203 W. Highway 80, in Big Spring. No lunch is planned, but members of the Rebekah Lodge will serve refreshments.

In the 43 years the school was active, it grew from one teacher to a faculty of five, and a total of 61 teachers served during those years. Doyle Turney, reunion chairman, and Mrs. Bill McIlvain, secretary, have expressed the hope that many of those teachers and their pupils will attend the event and enjoy fellowship with old friends.

John Otis Cole of Big Spring and Mrs. S. J. Vaughn III of Hillsboro were among those who met with Francis Robinson, assistant manager of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York at a recent luncheon held at the new City Club atop One Main Place in Dallas.

This pre-season luncheon opened activities for the Southwestern Hospitality Board for the Metropolitan Opera's 1969 visit to Dallas, a board to which both Cole and Mrs. Vaughan belong.

Robinson was guest speaker and brought information about the four operas to be presented by the Met in Dallas in May: Cilea's "Adriana Lecouvreur" with Renata Tebaldi, Franco Corelli, Irene Dalis and Anselmo Colzani on opening night, Thursday, May 15, at 8:00 p.m.; Verdi's "Il Trovatore" with Gabriella Tucci, James McCracken, Nell Rankin and Sherrill Milnes, on Friday, May 16, at 8:00 p.m.; Verdi's "Rigoletto" with Roberta Peters, Batyah Godfrey in her Dallas debut, Gianni Raimondi and Cornell MacNeil at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 17; and Richard Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier" with Regine Crespin, Judith Raskin, Rosalind Elias, Otto Edelmann and John Alexander as the final opera at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 17.

The glittering ball, the Silver Rose Ball, follows "Der Rosenkavalier" on Saturday, and will be held in the Regency Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Our fifth floor apartment is literally being taken over by mosquitoes.

It is certainly not the time of year for them, so where are they coming from? And what can we do to get rid of them? . . . Ellen's Husband

* * *

Dear Sir:

Bet your wife has philodendron and ivy growing all over the place in water, eh? This is a haven for just one little mosquito, 'specially if it is a FEMALE!

Plants which are rooted or grown in water must have the water changed often to prevent these rascals from taking over.

Here's how to test your situation:

Remove the ivy from your container and pour the water into a quart fruit jar. Leave about an inch of space at the top of your jar for air.

Cap the lid TIGHTLY.

Let it set a few weeks. Bet you will find umpteen mosquitoes in that air pocket! If you do, then your problem is solved . . . just keep fresh water in your containers.

I change mine every three days. I put all my containers in my kitchen sink, turn on the cold water faucet and let the stream of water tumble and circulate fresh water into the bowl for two minutes. (No effort on my part, as I don't have to move the beautifully arranged ivy and rearrange it. Besides, it washes the dust off the bowl at the same time.)

I then set the bowl on a newspaper on my kitchen sink and the paper absorbs the moisture from the bowl.

If you have a water shortage in your area, there is another way to prevent mosquitoes in plants:

You can use a strip of Phenothiazine. This chemical is NOT harmful to human beings, pets, or plants.

These strips will prevent the mosquito from breeding. They cost practically nothing and can be bought at your local grocery store, some flower shops and in garden departments. Be sure to read directions carefully.

Say! What was that? Did you just hear another mosquito buzz by? Ellen, you'd better get started! . . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Would you please take your little bare feet to your kitchen and get that bottle of vinegar, then come back to the bathroom, saturate your sponge or that old washrag you're always using and wipe the soap film off the chrome fixtures. Does it ever shine!

Why can't we wives get together and buy our own vinegar factory and pipe it right into the kitchen? . . . Mrs. B.T.

* * *

Dear Heloise:

When window shades become soiled and faded, I remove the shade from the window and roll it out on my living room floor. I take my scissors and cut the shade from the roller.

I machine stitch a new hem on the CUT end and reinsert the stick in this hem.

The I tack the soiled end of the shade on the roller, replace on the window and here is a nice clean shade that cost NOTHING . . . Mrs. Harry Smith

* * *

Dear Heloise:

Perhaps some of the younger mothers do not know the trick of making little girls' blouses from men's worn shirts.

Place the pattern upside down, thus utilizing the existing buttons and button holes and the lesser-worn tail-part of the shirt, for the top of the blouse!

Cut the sleeves for the blouse from the best part of the shirt sleeves.

Caution: Position the top button carefully before cutting . . . Regular Reader

Quotable Women

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I'd like to write President Nixon and tell him that something is going right in this world—that those nurses are doing a phenomenal job."—Mrs. Edmund Muskie, wife of the 1968 Democratic vice presidential candidate, commenting on the work of flying nurses who return to the United States with wounded servicemen.

"Do you really think I'm going to spend the next few years of my life trying to recall what I am glad to forget?—Veteran actress Sylvia Sidney when asked if she contemplated writing her autobiography.

"He's fine—he really is. He was talking and laughing. He wanted to come to the airport. He said 'couldn't I put on my heavy bathrobe and come with you?' but my mother said no."—Mrs. Margaret Truman Daniel after a visit with her ailing father, former president Harry Truman.

"Sex is a beautiful, exquisite thing that must be treated with delicacy and with great respect. Its delicacy is broken by promiscuity."—Actress Elizabeth Taylor in a magazine article.

"I somehow resent the idea of being tucked under the wing of Harvard."—Katherine Ward of Arlington, Mass., Radcliffe College Class of 1907 commenting on her Alma Mater's decision to press for a full merger with Harvard.

"I didn't intend to kill him. I just wanted him to pay attention to me. Talking to him is like talking to a chair."—Valerie Solanis, 28, in pleading guilty to shooting and wounding pop artist Andy Warhol.

Search Begins For Miss Wool-Mohair

Fifteen finalists will compete for the coveted title of Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas May 26 in Dallas, with contest directors now beginning the search for the young woman to inherit the title now held by Jonni Kay Johnson of Fort Worth.

For the fourth consecutive year, the contest will be held in the Dallas Apparel Mart, often called the "Astrodome of Fashion."

Contest requirements are allied to the duties performed by the title holder during her reign. Applicants must be between 18 and 25 years of age, a minimum of five feet six inches in height and be able to wear size 10 apparel. At the time of application, each must be enrolled in an accredited college or university and be at least a second semester freshman.

Deadline for all applications has been set for April 1. From all applications received, an impartial screening committee will choose 15 finalists for the four-day contest and pageant in Dallas. Names of the finalists will be announced about May 1.

Contest directors pointed out that application forms, information sheets and other literature are being sent to deans of women, home economics and department heads, sororities and Panhellenic councils on Texas campuses. In addition, application forms may be obtained by writing directly to Frank A. Fecher, Womack-Claypoole Advertising, 301 W. Beauregard, San Angelo, Texas, 79601.

The young woman who will be chosen as Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas for 1969-1970 will represent a trio of organizations. Cooperating in the 18-year-old program are Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association, Mohair Council of America, and Texas Fashion Creators Association. She will not officially succeed Miss Johnson until July 1, although her work will begin before that date.

As Miss Wool & Mohair of Texas, she will receive a complete fall-winter wardrobe of the best in Texas fashions of wool and mohair. She herself will personally visit Texas designers to choose this wardrobe, which will be shown all over the state.

She will travel for a full year being featured in style shows, and will work closely with prominent companies in the textile and apparel fields. Fulfilling the "mohair" part of her title, she will travel to other areas of the nation representing that industry.

As a fitting climax to her year, she will represent Texas in the nationally-televised Miss Wool of America pageant in 1970. Miss Johnson, the current title holder, will compete in the 1969 Miss Wool of America pageant as the climax to her reign.

Materials were distributed for the tote bags which the group will make for use at the district convention.

Fifteen members and a guest, Mrs. Kay Taylor, were served refreshments from a table laid with an avocado green linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of antiqued flowers. Texas!

Discovering the Lone Star State with... FRANK OLIVER

Fort Concho

Long before and after Texas' great task of breaking away from its Mexican motherland in 1836, it was engaged in another war on another front . . . the ceaseless fighting with the Indians who roamed the vast plains of western Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming . . . the Comanches, Apaches, Kiowas, Cheyennes and other warlike tribes. In the decade of the New Republic, settlers poured into the new, exciting land. Three years after Texas became a state, the California gold discovery further clogged the trails west. Many of these adventurers stayed and settled for easier gold . . . homesteading on the Texas plains. The Indians hit the warpath. Settler and Indian alike fought fiercely to protect his home and way of life. But for some Indians this included his freedom to raid, pillage and massacre. Anglo-American and Mexican settlers . . . and even other Indians . . . suffered greatly.

To quell this rampage and re-establish peace on the frontier, the War Department ordered the construction of some 34 forts and camps. One of the largest and most strategically located was Fort Concho, situated at the confluence of the three Concho Rivers in near-west Texas. This was no mere Indian outpost. It consisted of 39 solidly constructed stone buildings and stables, dominated by the superb Administration Building. The fort was a model of military life with hundreds of soldiers, troopers and their families living the rugged existence of the uncharted frontier.

Among several commanders of Fort Concho, the best known was Col. Ranald Slidell Mackenzie, West Pointer and greatest Indian fighter in the west. His troops, which included the famous 9th and 10th Cavalry regiments of Negro troops, ranged far and wide in their decisive battles through west Texas and the Staked Plains.

By the early 1880's, the Indian problem was all but bottled up, with flickering resistance being snuffed out by Texas Rangers. In 1889, Fort Concho was abandoned. It may be seen today . . . and this is a must . . . remarkably well preserved and surrounded by the beautiful, bright city of San Angelo. The Administration Building is now a fascinating museum and many of the other buildings have been completely restored by the Fort Concho Museum Board. Plans are to eventually return the entire fort to its original condition as a proud symbol of the romance of early west Texas.

Public School Week Observance Slated

Public School Week in Texas, March 2-8, will be observed throughout the Big Spring Independent School District with activities scheduled for each school.

Highlight of the week will be a program for parents of entering high school freshman at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Big Spring High School auditorium. The program is dedicated to the parents of the freshman class of 1969-70, said John Talmadge, assistant high school principal and coordinator for Public School Week activities.

The a cappella choir of the ninth and 10th grades, directed by Kenny Sheppard, will sing, and John F. Smith, principal will welcome visitors.

Harold Bentley, assistant principal, will explain the high school academic program, followed by talks on the athletic program by Spike Dykes, athletic director, and on the performing arts and literary programs, by Dan Shockey, speech instructor.

Special services offered at the high school will be explained by Mrs. Janice Rosson, while Morris Molpus, counselor, will explain the vocational programs.

Visitation of the school plant will be led by the Student Council and Key Club.

Letters are being sent to all parents of eighth grade students, urging them to attend, Talmadge said.

"We feel the parents can do a lot to help the students by learning how the high school functions," he said. "This is the first time the program has been offered."

Study May Reveal Links Of Continents

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Is Australia a part of Africa that went astray by 5,000 miles? Were South America and Africa once part of the same land mass?

A scientist at Texas A&M says expensive chemical analysis of trace elements could help determine such links.

Dr. Richard E. Wainerdi, associate A&M engineering dean, says activation analysis could provide answers. Dr. Wainerdi heads A&M's Activation Analysis Research Laboratory.

Activation analysis is a highly sensitive nuclear means for determining chemical content.

The lab at A&M has been exploring the field of chemical composition mapping for around two years.

Wainerdi says activation analysis could be employed for geochemical "prospecting" on both land and the ocean floor. He feels that in addition to helping provide evidence to link land masses activation analysis may also shed light on the "expanding earth" theory.

"The earth is definitely getting larger," Wainerdi says. As evidence, he cites rifts on the ocean floor, expanding swelling the seas and driving continents farther apart.

Wainerdi says the use of activation analysis to try to prove the theory would be expensive due to the large number of samples that would be necessary.

Many scientists now accept the theory Alfred Wegener revealed in 1912 that the earth was originally composed of a single unit of land. Scientists have since composed jigsaw puzzle-type maps which they think show the original linkage between North and South America, Europe and Africa.

Evaluation Study Nears End

Big Spring schools will take the second and final step in a decennial evaluation when the visiting committees come here this evening.

Under the over-all chairmanship of Noel Reed, assistant superintendent who served as coordinator of the study, all secondary and elementary schools have completed a self-evaluation. These are contained in voluminous reports which will serve as backgrounders and guides for educators brought in to make their appraisals on the effectiveness and needs of the system.

Dr. Milo E. Kearney, head of the department of education at Trinity University in San Antonio, will head the evaluators who will spend 2½ days in the schools here. He and all members of the various panels will be greeted at a 6:30 p.m. dinner in the Settles today. Administrators and trustees will host the affair, which will be followed by sectionel meetings at which evaluators will get their instructions.

Visitation with 416 educators in three secondary, 12 elementary and one special education schools will take place Monday and Tuesday, and the report session will be held Wednesday morning.

In the self evaluation, which required most of last year, steering committees in each school involved all teachers in assessing the strength and weaknesses of all schools. Secondary reports drew generally good ratings with needs cited in audio-visual and library services. Runnels Junior High noted need of physical facilities, health services, and student activities. Several areas of improvement were listed for short and long range action.

From among the 12 elementary school reports, needs cited were for teachers aides, more nursing service, additional equipment (particularly for teaching), enlarged remedial reading and speech therapy programs, more attention to linguistics, more library and informational center services and materials, air conditioning, gymnasiums, summer programs for slower learning, kindergartens, paved parking areas, all-weather surfaced playground strips, grassed playground areas and for special education a covered all-weather playground facility.

Rain Helped But More Is Needed

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Recent snow and rain helped grain grazing, improved range prospects and brought needed moisture for the planting season.

But, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, west and northwest sections of Texas are still short of moisture.

The over-all situation, he added, improved. However, rain again was heaviest in coastal and eastern sections where an abundance of moisture already existed. Outdoor activities were again delayed, especially in wet areas, he said.

The condition of livestock ranged from fair to good but feeding is still general and wet fields are keeping grazing limited, the director said. Rains were heavy enough to improve materially the stock water situation in many areas, he noted.

District agents gave these summaries of the districts at midweek:

Recent snows and rains helped the Panhandle but at least half of the Panhandle still is short of moisture. Dryland wheat responded to the moisture. Cattle feeding was heavy during the snow period. Livestock conditions generally were good.

South Plains (Lubbock) wheat and other grains got help from the moisture. Greenbugs are still causing damage in some areas, especially on ungrazed wheat. Adverse weather slowed outdoor work. Cattle were gradually being moved from wheat pastures. Feeding was increasing in most areas. Livestock were generally in good condition.

Far West Texas got little rain, inadequate for range grass and weed growth. Grazing is short but due to the good winter weather, livestock conditions are still generally good. Carrots, cabbage and sugar beets were doing well and irrigated grains are providing good grazing.

The eastern part of West Central Texas now has adequate moisture but counties in the west are still short. Grains are responding to moisture and grazing has improved. Light infestations of greenbugs are reported. Ranges are providing limited dry forage and plants are making little growth. Livestock have wintered well and are generally in good condition. Lambing and goat shearing are nearing the peak. Feeding continues.

HCJC Named Test Center

Howard County Junior College has been designated as a test center for the American College Test (ACT) on Saturday, April 26.

R. Wayne Bonner, test center supervisor, said that high school students who want to take the test must acquire a test registration form and mail it, along with the $6 fee by Monday, March 24.

The necessary registration form may be acquired from Bonner at HCJC, the guidance office at Big Spring High School, or by writing to Dr. Vernon L. Odom, 1626 50th Street, Lubbock, Texas 79412. Nearly one million students will complete the ACT test at 2,100 test centers around the world this year. One hundred and one of the colleges and universities in Texas participate in the ACT program.

Some colleges use the test results as admissions instruments; others use them primarily as counseling tools. The test battery consists of subtests in English usage, math usage, social science reading and natural science reading. A unique feature of the ACT assessment is the student profile section by which students describe some of their non-academic potentials and other personal data for the use of college admissions officers and high school counselors.

Each student's assessment is sent to the three colleges of his choice. Currently over 1,500 American colleges utilize the data provided by the American College testing program.

Teachers Going To Convention

Classes in Big Spring schools will be dismissed Friday so that teachers here can attend the District XVIII convention of the Texas State Teachers Association in Midland.

On Thursday, several Big Spring teachers representing the local chapter of the TSTA will attend the district House of Delegates meeting in Midland for a business session.

Big Spring teachers in the group are Mrs. Loyce Phillips, Wilbur Cunningham, Jim Holmes, Wendell Ware, Mrs. Anna Steen, J. B. Cushing, Mrs. Nadelene Speegle, Mrs. Mary Nell Hise, Mrs. Hazel Lawrence, Tom Henry, Pat Lawrence, Noel Reed, George Archer, Mrs. Doris Gambill, Mrs. Freda Cushing and Miss Gladys Hardy.

Not Many People Could Take Over For Hughes

By SAM BLACKBURN

You might say that Clarence Hughes' job is a pipe.

The bigger the pipe, the better he likes it. The ideal size would be five-foot diameter pipe — that would be just right for Hughes to stand erect and leave him a foot of overhead leeway to do his work.

Hughes is only 48 inches tall and is an "inside binder" by profession. In case you don't know what an inside binder is — take our word for it, the work is important.

Important, in particular, to contractors who take contracts to lay long miles of king-sized pipeline such as the network of lines being laid over West Texas from the Robert Lee Reservoir.

Things are nearly ideal for Clarence right now. The inside binding he is doing is on a 42-inch pipeline extending from Moss Creek Lake to the Colorado River Municipal Water District's big storage tank on the Snyder highway.

"I can work easily in a 42-inch pipe," Clarence points out.

His task is to get inside the pipe and at each union, where two joints meet, seal the seam inside the pipe with cement. His tools are a trowel and a little wheeled dolly on which he moves his cement along the pipe floor. He has to stand bent over just a litle in the 42-inch pipe, but he says this is no real problem: He has worked in pipe as small as 21-inch diameter.

Hughes, who celebrated his 41st birthday last Tuesday, is from Phoenix, Ariz. He has worked at his unusual specialty 12 years. Competition for his job is not keen — there are not too many men whose height is 48 inches or less and an inside binder's height is a matter of great issue.

This is the first time in the 12 years that Hughes has followed his trade that he and his family have been on the road.

He has worked most of the time for Wittman Construction Company in Phoenix and usually the work there is close to home. His company took the contract to lay a number of lines for the CRMWD project, and Hughes and his wife decided to come along.

Compared to Mrs. Hughes, Clarence is a pretty tall man. Jeannie Hughes is 25 years old and only three feet, 10 inches tall. The Hugheses have a 2½-year-old daughter, Peggy Sue.

Peggy just lacks two inches of being as tall as her mother and is within half a foot of equaling her father's stature.

Hughes weighs 95 pounds. He is a sturdy fellow and asks no quarter because of his diminutive size.

The Hugheses live at 1517-B Sycamore. He drives his car to and from work — with the aid of extensions on the pedals to enable him to reach them.

Both Clarence and Jeannie Hughes are children of families of normal size. Neither has any brothers or sisters of subnormal stature. Their own Peggy Sue will grow into an average-sized woman, the parents say.

Mrs. Hughes said that their stay in Big Spring, which is slated to end in May, has been pleasant and she will regret leaving.

"The people have been so nice to us," said Jeannie. "Everyone is friendly and we have been made to feel welcome."

When Hughes is working on the job, the big pipe into which he must disappear from time to time is often in ditches several times deeper than his height. To get out of the ditch, he has to walk along the top of the pipe to some point where he can scale the wall to the ground level. Often as he tries to scramble up the slope, a fellow workman will come along and hoist him to the top.

When did the Hugheses stop growing?

"Lots of people ask us that," said Jeannie. "I don't know and I don't think there is any real way to say when we ceased gaining height. We just stopped."

A Devotional For The Day

Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law. (Romans 13:10)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, forbid that we should be content to live on a lower plane than that to which Thou hast called us in Jesus Christ, our Savior. Assured of Thy love, may we ever advance in Thy favor and in service to Thee. In Christ's name. Amen.

Aiming At Improvement

Big Spring schools this week will face the second major portion of an evaluation which is required every 10 years. The administration and faculty has made its judgment, and now a team of nearly two score experienced and outstanding educators from over the state will come here to make its appraisal.

While it is natural to enjoy approval for accomplishments, it also is necessary to receive critical opinion aimed at improvement. Without this, the herculean operation would be an exercise in futility.

The staffs of our secondary, elementary and special education schools have spent more than a year of self-evaluation. This called for soul-searching in the philosophies and objectives of the system. It required dispassionate examination of the effectiveness of various programs, the objective appraisal of facilities and of faculty; and, in the light of findings, the establishment of short and long range goals.

While critical self-analysis is not easy or always pleasant, it frequently can be more exacting than that from outside. But there is always the possibility that subjectiveness can blind even the best to weaknesses and to needs. This is where education experts, with no proprietary or personal interests, come into the picture. They will be able to put the self-evaluation reports against what their experienced eyes and ears perceive.

Their report, together with the volumes developed locally, should give us a dependable assessment of where we are and what we can or should do to make our schools the very best instruments possible for preparing our children for today's and tomorrow's frightfully complex world. Only through this sort of intellectual honesty can we hope to rise to meet our obligations.

Just In Case

Word comes that a number of rural property owners are considering forming an organization to protect themselves in event the current tax revaluation of these properties is, in their eyes, inequitable.

In a sense, this may be premature, for there has been no establishment of new values. The work is only well begun.

The approach of the landowners at this stage is one of being ready to protest just in case.

In the final analysis, no base value is going to meet the approval of everyone. But if it aims at and closely approaches the ideal of equity for all, then there should be little occasion for too great debate. The present revaluation was brought about by seeming inequities; to go to another extreme would not accomplish the objective. Obviously what is fair varies from the personal point of view.

Tax Shelters Are Beautiful Things

WASHINGTON — You hear so much about tax shelters these days, that I thought it was about time I went out and looked one over. I heard there was a beautiful one a few miles outside of Houston, Tex., so, on a recent trip, I decided to make a detour and visit it.

It was on the property of a man named Ralston Loophole. When I arrived at his ranch, I was surprised to find nothing but a rickety old farmhouse. I rang the bell and a grizzled old cowhand answered the door.

"I'm looking for Mr. Ralston Loophole," I said.

"HE'S OUT back yonder in his tax shelter," the cowhand said. "But you better be careful — he's got the place mined."

"Could you call him on the phone and tell him I'd like to see him? Say I'm doing a piece on the most beautiful tax shelters in America for Better Homes and Gardens."

The cowhand came back in a few minutes. "OK, he'll see you. Mr. Loophole has to be careful. There's a lot of tax reform nuts hanging around lately."

HE LED ME to the tax shelter which was hidden amongst shrubbery, with only the door above ground. The door was unlocked and I climbed down. It was the most fantastic room I had ever been in. There were solid gold tables, crystal chandeliers, Gobelin tapestries on the wall and a marble floor with a design in the center of a large loophole, which I assume was the family crest.

Mr. Loophole put out his hand. "Glad to meet ya," he said. "There's been a lot of criticism of tax shelters lately and if I can do anything to change it, I'll be mighty happy to."

"THANK YOU, SIR. This is a beautiful tax shelter," I said, as he handed me a glass of champagne.

"It's right pretty, but it's just one of many I got."

"You mean you have more than one tax shelter?"

"Of course, boy. This is my oil-depletion tax shelter. I keep all my money here that I make from oil. The government can never find this place. Say, you aren't from the feds, are you?"

"No, sir," I said. "Someday I hope to have a tax shelter of my own."

"GOOD FOR YOU, son. You've spoken like a true American. You know, there's lots of people in this country that are trying to do away with these oil-depletion tax shelters. They say we're not paying our full share of taxes. Well, let me tell you this. When we take oil out of the ground, there's no way of replacing it. That oil's gone forever. And if we have to pay full taxes, they'd be hurting the oil—not us.

"Then I have one for cattle over in Oklahoma. Cattle depreciate — don't let anyone tell you otherwise. They get old and they get tired, and if we had to pay taxes on them, those cattle would be miserable."

"No one should have to pay taxes on cattle," I said, helping myself to foie gras.

"UP IN CHICAGO I have my real-estate tax shelter. A man has to get a return on real estate and that's what I keep the shelter there for. I also buy freight cars and airplanes and I lease them back to the people I bought them from. That helps pay for the upkeep of the Chicago shelter. I forgot to mention my foundation in California. That's a beautiful shelter."

"How much money did you make last year with all these things?"

"Somewhere in the neighborhood of $100 million."

"How much federal tax did you pay?"

"Eight hundred dollars. But I can't figure how it happened. I thought I had all the loopholes covered."

Billy Graham

In one of your sermons you supported the Bible's concept of morality. I realize that there is something wrong with our morals but we are living in different times. I believe that the rules should be adapted to our times.

V.K.

This is exactly what we are trying to do: to amend the moral law of God to fit our times and our whims. But it won't work. Actually, we can't break the moral laws of the universe — we simply break ourselves upon them. That is what we are doing. Children would like a home without rules. In their immaturity they would like a situation where there was no discipline, but life just isn't like that; unless you live in some kind of a jungle. Our contention for a world without moral law is juvenile. It is childish. The only happy life is an ordered life, and the discipline of living a clean life, a decent life, is not as difficult and boring as some think. A neat, clean, well-ordered house is to be preferred to confusion and bedlam. The same is true in the realm of the spirit. The restrained, controlled, purposeful manner of living is far and away more enjoyable than one that is cluttered and untidy. The unwed mother can tell you that she would feel better on the inside if she had listened to the Biblical admonition, "Flee youthful lusts." When you fall off a cliff, the sign which read "danger" makes a lot more sense from the bottom than it does from the top. If we're wise we'll make our manner of living fit the rules God has given, rather than trying to change them.

Cons Have A Ball —Up To A Point

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — Convicts at the Wyoming state penitentiary have staked out a golf green behind the prison walls and are taking up golf.

Warden Lenard Meacham has given his approval with one ground rule. Balls smacked over the prison wall are out of bounds — and the golfer is not permitted to hunt for them.

Foot Pressed On Financial Brakes

NEW YORK (AP) — The government indicated this past week that it was going to keep its foot pressed hard on the financial brakes this year in the continuing effort to cool off the overheated economy.

The warning that the Federal Reserve Board "means business" about keeping credit tight was sounded by William McChesney Martin, the board's chairman.

Martin said it was hoped the government could reduce spiraling price increases without causing a downturn in business but cautioned that "This has never been done before too successfully."

Martin pointed out that the rise in prices in January "certainly makes it look like we have more to do" against inflation. The day before Martin spoke, the Labor Department reported living costs rose three-tenths of one per cent in January and there were indications of a similar increase in February.

C.O.L. STILL UP

It said that while the January rise was slightly smaller than the average monthly advance in 1968, it still boosted the over-all cost index of 4.6 per cent above the level of January, 1968. Higher prices for services of all kinds, particularly those associated with auto operation, home ownership and medical care, were chiefly responsible for the rise.

Martin also touched on interest rates, saying he expected them to remain "about the same" this year.

Speculation that the nation's major banks may boost their prime interest rate upward from its current record seven per cent has been blamed in part for sending the stock market sliding downward. The Dow Jones industrial average, which had lost a total of 35.30 points in four days of trading the previous week, lost another 12.68 points in the first day of trading this past week. The market did rally during the week, but the comebacks usually faded out.

SOMEWHAT TIGHTER

- Federal reserve chief says pressure on to slow price spiral
- Cost of living gains .3 of pct., only slightly under trend
- Rumors banks may praise prime rates again dulls stock market
- New car sales gain, several companies to raise gasoline prices
- Machine tool orders jump, steel production increases

GAS PRICES RISE

In other developments:

The price of gasoline to their major dealers was raised by some oil companies. Sinclair Oil Corp. and Gulf Oil Corp. boosted prices six-tenths of a cent a gallon, the same as that posted earlier by Texaco, Inc., the nation's largest gasoline marketer. The DX Division of Sun Oil Co., Phillips Petroleum Co. and American Oil Co. made a seven-tenths of a cent a gallon increase.

Auto sales for the middle 10 days of February totaled 236,575, up from the previous year's 192,880. New car sales from Jan. 1 through Feb. 20 totaled 1,053,690 cars, slightly ahead of the 1,009,376 sold in the comparable period last year.

RECALLING CARS

Meanwhile, General Motors Corp. said it was recalling 4.9 million cars and trucks for possible safety defects. The recall, the industry's largest such action, involves carburetors of some 1968 and 1969 models and exhaust pipes on some Chevrolets built during the past five years.

Robert W. Haack, New York Stock Exchange president, said the paperwork jam in brokerage back offices highlights the "urgent need for imaginative long-range planning" by the securities industry. The problem is one under study by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Earlier in the week, the exchange said more than 1,200 issues of eligible shares have been placed into a major automation program, called Central Certificate Service, designed to reduce the flow of paperwork on Wall Street. It said the service now includes some 500 million shares worth more than $25 billion.

MORE TOOL ORDERS

The National Machine Tool Builders' Association said new orders for January were 31 per cent above January, 1968, at $127.8 million, but down from December's $149.7 million.

Steel production last week came to 2,755,000 tons, compared with 2,697,000 tons the previous week. Output for the year so far is an estimated 19,548,000 tons, down from 20,903,000 tons at the same time last year.

Histoplasmosis Isn't So Rare

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 12-year-old son has been diagnosed as having histoplasmosis. He has been in excellent health until now. What information can you give me on this disease and the cure for it? — Mrs. R.S.

Histoplasmosis, little known in some parts of the country, is far more prevalent in other areas than was realized until a few years ago.

It is caused by a rather large fungus which, when breathed, can set up infection. This fungus flourishes in the soil, in chicken coops, bat caves, and on the ground where it has been deposited in the excreta of pigeons, chickens, starlings, blackbirds, grackles. The fungus, for whatever reasons, is particularly prevalent in the central part of the United States, along the Ohio, Mississippi, and Missouri River valleys.

MIMICKED

Keep in mind that histoplasmosis, like many other diseases, can be mild or severe. Mild infections can simulate a cold; more severe ones can resemble influenza, with aches, fever, cough.

In very severe cases, other parts of the body may be affected and cause swollen glands, anemia, and a variety of other symptoms.

One of the deceptive aspects has been that this fungus infection can cause irritation in the lungs and calcified spots (scar tissue) which afterward so much resemble tuburculosis spots as to be indistinguishable by X-ray examination.

This was pointed out some years ago, when some patients being treated for TB did not respond to therapy — they had "histo." Today the distinction can be made by skin tests, a tuberculin test for TB and a histoplasmin test for histo. In more severe active cases, the fungus can be cultured from sputum.

While I think it only fair to warn (as above) that some cases become severe, histoplasmosis is usually found in mild or chronic form. In such stages it requires no treatment.

SOME MEDICATION

But in fulminating acute cases, amphotericin-B, an antibiotic, is effective when given intravenously. Whether this is needed is for the physician to decide in an individual case.

By way of avoiding "histo," in areas where it is common, in cleaning chicken coops or pigeon lofts, it is wise to spray the area with a three per cent formaldehyde solution before sweeping or shoveling, and to wear a cloth face mask, since any dust that is raised can carry the fungus if it is present.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My sister-in-law (supposedly a registered nurse) and her husband threatened to call the authorities on us because our son, 6, has diabetes. My brother-in-law repeatedly said it was from malnutrition.

When I told him he was wrong and offered him the doctor's phone number, he declined. Would you comment on what I call a ridiculous statement? The boy is 44 inches tall, medium build, weighs 49 pounds.—M.E.H.

IN-LAW PROBLEM

You do have an in-law problem, don't you? Malnutrition, of course, has nothing to do with bringing on diabetes (although over-eating often does).

Your son is, if anything, a couple of pounds on the high side of normal weight for his age and height. But your in-law pretty well gave himself away when he refused to talk to your doctor.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give your opinion of two blue-eyed people having a brown-eyed child. I say it is impossible. An in-law says it is possible.—Mrs. E.H.

The in-law is correct. It is possible, it has happened, but it is very uncommon. A geneticist could explain why, in terms of genes and heredity, but it's decidedly complicated.

* * *

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Who Needs Alligator Shoes?

Did you read that they're about to shoot all the alligators in Florida?

Ordinarily, the extermination of alligators would not be a matter of concern with me. I never relished the idea of getting in bed with an alligator, and had sort of dismissed these critters as something we can do without.

BUT, IN THIS DAY of conservation-mindedness, one never knows who, or what, is going to turn out to be a friend to mankind. I don't know anything really beneficial about alligators, but there may be something.

At one time, this part of the world was over-run with buffalo, but the frontiersmen went after these beasts so fast and so effectively that all of a sudden, buffalo were being protected.

AND, IF YOU'RE with me in the time span, you might recall when prairie dog towns were as thick in West Texas as mesquite are today. These fast little creatures did no good for crops, and a massive extermination program was put into effect. Today prairie dog towns are no longer existent, and these fellows, too, are under a degree of nurture and protection.

I wouldn't know for sure, but I suppose there are still too many rabbits around. But memory seems to indicate that there are not as many all-out, county-wide rabbit drives as there used to be. There was a time, you recall, when men and boys from far and near gathered, in various areas, to shoot rabbits wholesale. Do you suppose there would come a day when jack rabbits are put in game preserves and guarded just for the continuation of the species?

WHAT'S BRINGING on the sudden massacre of alligators is the proposed passage of legislation to protect the things. Poachers who do a brisk business in selling alligator hides have rushed into the act, trying to garner all the profit they can before some law stops them.

I don't know that anybody ever made much of a profit out of killing prairie dogs and jack rabbits, but there certainly is money involved in the alligator business. Shoes, bags, belts and assorted other personal items from alligator are, of course, in popularity.

TO TELL THE TRUTH, when I see some of my more affluent friends sporting their alligator shoes, my jowls take on the tint of envious green. Some day, the secret thought has gone, I will get me a pair of those fancies.

But, after reading the piece about 'gators being massacred, and their days being numbered, I have decided to join the ranks of the conservationists. Any old pair of shoes will do. And I just may turn in my alligator belt. I cannot go along with what civilization is doing to wildlife. Rattlesnakes excepted, that is.

Decision Must Be Made On Bombing

WASHINGTON — The hour of decision in Vietnam has come, but there are no signs that the United States government is getting ready to use its maximum military power and shorten the war.

The American people are reading of mortar and rocket shelling of South Vietnam's cities and U.S. bases and of a North Vietnamese offensive, particularly ground attacks across the "demilitarized" zone. Since the latest offensive started last Sunday, at least 200 Americans have been killed and more than 500 wounded. In the first three days, the South Vietnamese lost 340 soldiers, with 1,063 wounded, and almost half of that number of South Vietnamese civilians were killed or wounded.

AGAIN AND AGAIN, the Communists have violated the understanding which the Johnson administration thought it had with the Hanoi government — namely, that while the bombing of North Vietnam by American planes was discontinued and the peace talks at Paris were going on, there would be a reduction in ground warfare and no shelling of cities in South Vietnam.

If the United States now indicates by inaction that it does not object to such Communist attacks, the Paris negotiations may drag on for years while the North Vietnam government gradually builds up its own military strength — with the aid of Red China and the Soviet Union — and inflicts more and more casualties on American forces.

WHY DOES the United States refrain from a resumption of the bombing? This question is being asked here as military men are being told, in effect, that policy factors related to the negotiations in Paris are being given preferential consideration and that there is a reluctance to fight back on a larger scale than before. This could mean that sacrifices of American troops will continue indefinitely while the diplomats wait for some ray of hope in the so-called "peace" negotiations.

The United States has given the North Vietnamese government enough time to show its willingness to reach a settlement of the war. But there is no evidence of any change from the long-standing demand by Hanoi that American forces must be ordered to withdraw immediately from Vietnam.

WHY DO the North Vietnamese take such an attitude? They are convinced that the people in the United States have been impressed by the anti-Vietnam war demonstrations and are willing to accept virtual defeat. Throughout Southeast Asia, other countries in danger of attack by the Communists are worried because the United States, having undertaken to protect the right of self-determination in Vietnam, now may be ready to retreat.

WHAT IS LACKING is some evidence of the determination of the American government to follow through on its commitments. Whether or not intervention in Vietnam by preceding administrations was a wise move, the fact remains that America has more than 500,000 troops there to assist the South Vietnamese armed forces of 800,000 men. The question now is whether the huge number of casualties will have been in vain.

THE CURRENT Communist offensive makes necessary a crucial decision. But, outwardly at least, there are no signs in Washington of a prospective change in the over-all military strategy. Meanwhile, the most powerful air force in the world is not permitted to bomb the territory and supply lines of the enemy and prevent it from conducting an offensive of major proportions in South Vietnam.

Nixon And Religion

WASHINGTON — In a permissive society that at times threatens to lapse into anarchy, the Richard Nixons stand out as a model of the proprieties. They have deliberately set out, not only President and Mrs. Nixon but their daughters Julie, Tricia and son-in-law David Eisenhower, to be an example of the virtues of the past.

ABOVE ALL in religion, they want to set a standard for the nation. But, with a revolutionary upheaval in the churches themselves, this is far from easy. The prayer service in the East Room of the White House with Billy Graham presiding drew a flood of letters, many of them praising the Nixons for bringing Christianity into the President's house, but others protesting what was interpreted as a violation of the spirit of separation of church and state.

This last is a conviction cherished by a great many Americans. It goes back to the origins of the Republic and the ancient tradition of those who came to the New World seeking freedom from oppression and religious conformity. The founding fathers subscribed to it as part of the basic charter of America's freedom.

IN VIEW of this background it is hardly surprising that the report of President Nixon's intention to appoint either a personal representative or an Ambassador to the Vatican is drawing a familiar response.

But even though the Vatican representative is still in the stage of intention, with no confirmation from the White House, an advertisement headed: "Don't do it, Mr. President!" and signed by 40 religious leaders, including four Methodist bishops and one Episcopal bishop has appeared.

THE AD QUOTED John F. Kennedy as saying in the year before he ran for the Presidency that he was "flatly opposed to appointment of an Ambassador to the Vatican. Whatever advantages it might have in Rome — and I'm not convinced of these — they would be more than offset by the divisive effect at home." This was, of course, when Kennedy, as a Roman Catholic, was preparing to seek the Presidency with an acute awareness of what the religious issue would mean.

"OUR POSITION," said the ad appealing to Mr. Nixon not to name an emissary to the Pope, "is the same as that held by President Kennedy on this matter of diplomatic relations with the Vatican, Mr. President. While it is true that the Vatican is technically a tiny political state of 108 acres, its principal significance is religious. Appointment of a United States envoy to the Vatican would mean appointment to the headquarters of a church."

In the context of the religious posture of the Nixons this controversy, if it is to become a controversy, is singularly unimportant. The larger question is whether as example, as model, they can exert any appreciable influence on contemporary manners and mores.

AGAINST THE trend of most of what is seen in the films, on television and in literature, the rioting students, the upward spiral of crime and violence, the Nixons have an archaic look. They could be a Rogers group, the idealized sculptured representations of happy family life that so pleased our Victorian grandparents. They zealously observe the proprieties. No swinging jet-setter comes even close to the elevated atmosphere of the White House.

It is possible that as model, example, the Nixons are representative of a much larger segment than the surface trends would indicate. Candidate Nixon last fall appealed to the quiet Americans. They helped to elect him and the tone of the Presidency today — restrained, polite, cautious — is their tone.

HCJC Actors Entering District Play Contest

By FRANK GRIFFIS

The Howard County Junior College drama department is entering the district play contest to be presented in Wharton, Tex., March 21-22.

Martin Landers, drama department head, will direct the HCJC entry, "Epiphany," a one-act play written by Lewis John Carolino. Theresa Conner and Carl Van Vleet are the cast members.

MARRIED COUPLE

"Epiphany" concerns a scene in the life of a married couple in which the wife completely dominates her husband. The husband is going insane but the wife doesn't realize it until too late. When the husband finally goes off the deep end, he thinks he has turned himself into a rooster, only to find he lays an egg so he is really only a lowly hen.

Theresa Conner, a graduate of Big Spring High School, has appeared in numerous high school drama presentations including, "Macbeth," "Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden," "The Importance of being Earnest," "Twelve Angry Jurors," "Our Town," "Lliiom," and "The King and I." This past fall she played in the HCJC drama department production of "A Certain Star."

Carl Van Vleet, also a local high school grad, appeared in "Twelve Angry Jurors," "A Portrait of Nelson Holiday Jr.," "The King and I," "Lliiom," and "The Miracle Worker."

SPRING PLAY

The dramatists are also casting for the spring play, "Go West, Young Man," a comedy in three acts by John Rand.

The Big Spring Concert Association will present its fourth and final stage attraction at the Big Spring Auditorium March 28. The final presentation will be Paul Winters and his contemporary consort, a group which has been termed "a very exemplary organization," by Mrs. Elbert Boullioun, concert director.

The group, which has five members, will provide the audience with their interpretation of progressive jazz. Unlike Dixieland jazz, progressive jazz allows the group to begin in unison, and then allows each artist to give his interpretation of the literature in his own manner. This will give each artist a chance to express himself in his fullest and most complete capacity.

Disney Upset Predictions With 'Snow White' Success

On Tuesday, Dec. 21, 1937, at the Carthay Circle Theatre in Los Angeles, a new concept in entertainment surprised many critics. It was the world premiere of Walt Disney's first feature-length cartoon, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

The film, opening Wednesday at the Ritz, had been labeled as "Disney's Folly," a term which was later applied to another of the master showman's enterprises — Disneyland. Critics were certain that sitting through an 83-minute cartoon would be too much to ask of most audiences. Cartoons were meant to be fillers only.

Nevertheless, most of Hollywood, including such stars as Charlie Chaplin and Paulette Goddard, turned out for the highly publicized event. That night during Christmas week, 1937, the cartoon came into its own as a feature attraction, a medium to rival the newest offerings of Gable, Crawford and Garbo.

Woolie Reitherman, an animator on "Snow White" and now animation director of Disney's "The Jungle Book," recalls: "The audience was so taken by the magic of what they saw that they would clap after individual sequences. It was like a reaction to the legitimate stage. I haven't seen anything like it since."

That evening was a critical point in the career of Walt Disney, who had gambled everything on the success of his product. It was also a tense evening for the Bank of America, for they had backed Walt's venture, acting the role of financial godfather to the studio.

Otto Englander, then a "Snow White" story man and now a Disney staff writer, reminisces: "Shortly after the picture started, everyone was caught up in the same excitement. They became alive to something very new and very entertaining. I was so impressed by the reaction that when my wife and I arrived home and discovered that our Scottish terrier had delivered seven puppies, we named them after the Seven Dwarfs."

Following the premiere, "Disney's Folly" was acclaimed "a significant screen innovation . . . pioneering a great entertainment field for the motion picture cartoon."

'African Safari'

Producer Ron Shanin records the unusual Bambutti language from this Pygmy chief elephant hunter, explaining how he does it. The chief decided it must be a very small man to fit into the black box. The scene is from "African Safari," now at the Ritz.

AUSTIN — A University of Texas philosophy professor, Dr. Douglas N. Morgan, has said to UT audiences recently that art and music must "distinguish between vitality and hysteria" to be worthy of the investment of human energies.

"Not every possible sequence of noises is good music and worth listening to. Not every possible array of colors deserves looking at or into," Dr. Morgan said. "A work of art need not really 'blow' our minds, but simply extend, refresh, enrich and enchant them." Much of today's self-proclaimed avant garde art is an assault on the human ear, eye and brain, and leads to the death of art, according to Dr. Morgan.

FORT WORTH — Three important bronze sculptures by Auguste Rodin and Antoine Bourdelle are in the Fort Worth Art Center Museum on long term loan. The sculptures, Rodin's "Iris, Messenger of the Gods" and "Eve" and Bourdelle's "Monument to Rodin" will go on view Tuesday. They were loaned by the B. G. Canton Art Foundation of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Turn Away Movie Crowd

With only three more days to show, "Two A Penny," the story of a search for life's meaning by two young people, is almost booked up.

Friday night the Cinema in College Park Center reported approximately 100 were unable to attend the evening showings of the film. Advance ticket sales for the remaining evening performances are almost booked.

Attendance at the film, produced by World Wide Pictures (the film arm of the Billy Graham organization), has been steadily increasing since it started Thursday. There have been numerous responses. Adults, as well as young people, have been acquiring tickets.

Three showings remain today — at 2:30 p.m., 4:30 p.m. and at 8:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday the showings start at 2:30 p.m. and continue at two-hour intervals through the 8:30 p.m. showing. Advanced tickets may be purchased at the Cinema as space will allow.

Many adults joined with students in a prevue of the film recently. Some of the comments included: "A good film . . . relevant message"; "I believe our young people can identify with this movie"; "This film really speaks to the kids"; "I think this is the best picture they (Billy Graham) have put on"; "Entertaining yes, but much more"; "It says what a lot of young people are thinking, leaves answers up to them"; "Extremely refreshing, newly modern treatment of age-old problem"; "Excellent — strong message — meaningful to our times."

Nineteen Kids Turns Out To Be A Bunch

The old woman who lived in the shoe had nothing on Lucille Ball and Henry Fonda who have so many kids that they don't know what to do in the hilarious "Yours, Mine and Ours," which opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre in Color by DeLuxe.

Nineteen of them!

Ten of 'em are Henry's by a previous marriage, the "yours" of the title eight of them are Lucille's by a previous marriage, and one, the "ours" of the title, is theirs. That it all adds up to some pretty high comedy is not hard to imagine.

The story is based on the highly-publicized marriage of warrant officer and widower Frank Beardsley, USN, played by Fonda, and Mrs. Helen North, a widow played by Miss Ball, residents of northern California, who met in a naval dispensary accidentally and knew that it was love. Melville Shavelson, the picture's director, and Mort Lachman wrote the film script.

The job of rounding up the kids — from Fonda's oldest, a manly eighteen-year-older, and Lucille's charming fifteen-year-old oldest daughter down to the two-and-a-half and one-and-a-half year-old "Ours" of the scenario — was not an easy one. But Producer Robert F. Blumofe, who claims he interviewed practically every minor in the State of California, came up with at least two from whom great things are expected. The oldest boy is Tim Matthieson who has appeared in "Divorce, American Style," and the girl is Jennifer Leak, a Canadian, who is said to look enough like Miss Ball to indeed be her daughter.

The two-and-a-halfer and the one-and-a-halfer, who haven't appeared anywhere much yet much less before the movie cameras, are, respectively, Tracy Nelson and Stephanie Oliver. The 16 others, recruited from various sources, range in age from 15 down to four.

ROGER ATKINSON

1st Lt. Robert E. Griffith, husband of Mrs. Linda Griffith, 1209 Ridgeroad, has been awarded the silver star for gallantry and the Purple Heart for a wound received in action in Vietnam. He is in the Army.

Mrs. Griffith and the lieutenant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Griffith, 1303 Mulberry, have received a copy of the citation commending the officer.

Griffith is a Big Spring native, and graduated from Big Spring High School and "attended Howard County Junior College. Later he was a student at Abilene Christian College. He has been in service two years.

The incident for which he was awarded the Silver Star, and in which he was wounded in action, occurred last Dec. 20. He has since recovered and is back on duty, Mrs. Griffith said.

As a platoon leader, Griffith was conducting a search and destroy mission east of Blackhawk Firebase. The search was under heavy sniper and automatic weapons fire. Seeing a fallen comrade exposed to deadly enemy fire, the lieutenant maneuvered forward in an attempt to save him. In this effort he was wounded, but continued his efforts to reach the injured man. His "heroic actions," the citation states, enabled his men to remove the fallen man to safety.

He was sent to Vietnam last October. He and Mrs. Griffith have a 9-month-old son, Wesley.

Several Uneasy Spots In Business Picture

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas business looked better than average in January but economists are looking closely at several "uneasy" spots, the Texas Bureau of Business says.

"The index of business activity . . . increased five per cent from December. The gain should be interpreted as an indication that business is still improving, but some segments of the economy are not so definite in their indications," said Dr. John Stockton, director of the University of Texas agency.

"In the first place is the fact that of the 20 cities for which an index of over-all business activity is computed, eight declined and two were unchanged. The fact that only half of the cities registered an increase suggests that the improvement shown by the state index was not as uniformly distributed as would be desirable."

Stockton said some indications are that a slowing down of Texas business activity by midyear might bring the present book to a halt.

"A considerable body of opinion, however, does not expect the slowdown to occur before the second half of 1969," Stockton said. "Most analysts predict some adjustment in the present high level of business before the end of the year. It is hard to see how the record year of 1968 could be surpassed in 1969, although the present upswing in the business cycle has been maintained, with only short temporary pauses, since February 1961."
