GREAT REGION'S LEADERS AWAIT FIRST SESSION

Preconvention Activities Disposed of by Work Committee

W. D. Cline Mentioned As Prominent Candidate For Presidency

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 13. (AP)—Many prominent Texans who will speak tomorrow and the vanguards of delegations from dozens of cities in the area which reaches across Western Texas from the North Plains to the Rio Grande were in Lubbock tonight awaiting the official opening of the 13th annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Preconvention activities had been disposed of, registration of out of town delegates was underway, and the first group elimination in the "My Home Town" contest was schedule for tonight.

Program Completed

Final details of the convention program were worked out this afternoon when the committee on convention work, headed by Walter Cline of Wichita Falls, met and made changes that were necessary because of the absence of speakers. The elections committee also was in session, with Winfield Holbrook of Plainview presiding.

Spencer Wells of Lubbock will preside at the opening assembly and the feature of the program will be the president's annual address by Judge Charles E. Coombes of Stamford. Reports will be made by the treasurer and the committees on convention work and elections. Following the general session, the 10 districts comprising the organization will hold their annual elections.

Group Conferences

Tomorrow afternoon group conferences will be held on industrial, highway and tourist development. Two dozen speakers will be heard at these conferences, including Chairman W. R. Ely of the Texas Highway commission, William E. Talbot, Dallas; Julius Wilson, Austin and Arthur O. Duggan, Littlefield.

With the convention dedicated to business, each session of the three days is crowded with discussions of the problems confronting West Texas.

As delegates straggled in from various sections of the territory, political rumors were heard, especially regarding the election of a successor to President Coombes. Houston Harte, San Angelo publisher, and Walter Cline of Wichita Falls were mentioned frequently. Both have been prominently identified with the regional chamber.

Advance Delegations

Two of the four cities bidding for the convention in 1932 had advance delegations on hand, and their

THE FIRST METAL PRINTED BIBLE

THE inventor of modern printing was John Gutenberg, born in Mainz, Germany, about the year 1400. Before his time printing was done with wood. Drawings were carved in wood, inked and pressed on paper. This method gave only pictures when movable letters were needed, so Gutenberg set out to accomplish this. At first each letter was carved separately in wood. This being too slow, he then carved letters on pieces of metal and with these letters punched a mold in a softer metal from which copies were made. His first printed work was the Bible, presented to the world in the Latin tongue in 1456. This printing job represented a lifetime of work and accomplishment. Progress has made speed possible today in the printing and distribution of newspapers. The Classified Want-Ad section of this newspaper represents perfection in modern printing. Doumer In Presidency Of France

PARIS, May 13. (US)—Paul Doumer, 73-year-old, white-whiskered president of the French senate, today was elected 13th president of the French republic by the senate and the chamber of deputies.

Doumer was elected by a vote of 550 to 330 over Pierre Marraud, senator and former minister of the interior, on the second ballot, when Aristide Briand, perennial foreign minister, withdrew as a candidate after running second to Doumer on the first vote.

On returning from Versailles, where the elections were held, Briand fainted and was immediately rushed to his quarters and put to bed. Friends assured anxious callers that his attack was not serious, saying that they had not even called a physician.

France's new chief executive, who has been a figure in French politics since 1888, will take office a month from today and after the ceremony will move into the presidential Elysees palace to succeed President Gaston Doumergue.

FIVE INDICTED IN KIDNAPING

Quintet Billed in Abduction Of Cerf Youth

CORSICANA, Texas, May 13. (AP)—Jimmie Nash, Doyle Nash, Charles Hassell, Currie Caldwell, and a man who had not been arrested were named in indictments for kidnaping and conspiracy to commit a felony returned to District Judge Hawkins Scarborough tonight in connection with the kidnaping of Robert Cerf.

After returning the indictments the grand jury recessed until tomorrow.

The men had been held previously under charges of false imprisonment. Cerf, 28-year-old son of Isaac N. Cerf, Corsicana banker, was kidnaped last December and released on payment of $15,000 ransom.

County Attorney Cleo G. Miller said Caldwell, Jimmie Nash and Hassell had made statements but Doyle Nash had not.

City and county officers had been investigating the affair since it became known early in January. After the ransom had been paid, at Dallas, a second demand for $8,000 and a third for $10,000 were received, which caused the affair to be reported to officers. Cerf previously had employed private detectives to conduct the investigation.

Young Cerf was kidnaped the night of Dec. 10, within a few blocks of his home here, when he accepted the offer of a passing motorist to take him to his home. He was taken to Dallas and kept prisoner in an apartment house there until the following night. Then, after payment of the ransom, he was released and allowed to return to his home.

Payment of the ransom was made at Dallas by N. Suttle Roberts, vice president of the bank of which the elder Cerf is president and a close personal friend of the Cerf family.

Caldwell was held in the Ellis county jail at Waxahachie, Hassell in the Limestone county jail at Groesbeck, Doyle Nash in the Hill county jail at Hillsboro, and Jimmie Nash was in the Navarro county jail here.

Currie C. Caldwell, in a statement witnessed by Police Chief Will S. Knight and County Attorney Miller which they said he made voluntarily admitted authorship of the first note, told of having written it on a typewriter borrowed by Hassell and identfied it when shown the note by officers.

30-PIECE BAND TO LEAD GROUP IN PARADES

GOOD WILL TOUR

Wichitans Urged to Join In General Tour Of West Texas

One hundred and fifty of Wichita Falls' business men will leave here late Thursday night for Lubbock where they will attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce annual convention.

A. E. Kelly, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the delegation from here, announced that a check-up late Wednesday night revealed that 81 reservations had been made and paid for, practically assuring that the city's representation will make the convention trip by special train.

More Reservations Needed

However, Mr. Kelly said, unless 40 additional reservations are made during the continuation of the drive Thursday, convention coaches will be attached and operated as a special section of the regular train. In this event, he explained, good will stops at several towns along the route on the return trip can not be made.

After a conference lasting until late Wednesday night in the chamber of commerce offices, the committee declared that it was determined to sell Thursday sufficient tickets to make available the special train. The group was considerably encouraged Wednesday by the fact that many who had been undecided about the trip had made up their minds and bought reservations. It is expected that many more who were undecided Wednesday will announce Thursday their intention of attending the convention.

All drawing rooms of the nine cars of equipment to be used have been sold, it was announced. Most of the lower berths have also been reserved, but a few lowers still remain with plenty of upper berths. The better remaining accommodations will be supplied in the order reservations are received Thursday, it was said. A large number of reservations already have been made but are not counted as remittances have not been received for them. However, they are considered as definite committments.

Official equipment to be furnished trippers include black and gold hat bands, canes, badges and other convention paraphernalia. The official headgear, it was announced, will be straw hats.

Plenty of Music

Included in Wichita Falls delegation to the Lubbock gathering are Miss Dorothy Parker who will participate in the pageant as "Miss Wichita Falls," Joe Witherspoon, who will be entered in the "My Home Town" oratorical contest, which he won last year; and Paul Seeds' gaily bedecked Caballeros, a 30-piece band; and 12 pieces of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, garbed in khaki and nickeled "tin" hats.

With Milton Gaines as parade marshall, the two latter mentioned organizations, it was announced, will keep Wichita Falls' delegation in the spotlight wherever they are assembled. The band held its final rehearsal Wednesday night and announced that it was in top form in readiness for the Lubbock trip.

Mr. Kelly's committee will meet in the chamber of commerce of-

BROOKS' HEART BEATS STEADY

Another Day or Two of Life For Educator Likely

WACO, Texas, May 13. (AP)—Dr. S. P. Brooks clung to life tonight, his heart beating so steadily that the physicians who at first feared he could not live through last night said he might survive for two or three days longer.

The Baylor university president was suffering very little pain. He remained conscious and rational practically all the time and patiently awaited the end that the doctors had told him was inevitable. Physicians and nurses said they were surprised that his heart should continue beating with such regularity long after he had exhibited evidence of failing strength in other ways. They said only an originally strong constitution and careful living could have given his heart such strength.

ALLRED TALKS ON CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

Attorney General Addresses 'Governor's Banquet' Of Convention

W. M. S. IN ELECTION

Missionary Tells of Experiences in Africa in Early Days

By J. WILLARD RIDINGS
Professor of Journalism, T. C. U.

A plea for Christian citizenship and the grasping of Christian opportunities for service was made by Attorney General James V. Allred to the more than 300 men who attended the "governor's banquet" at the Wichita club Wednesday evening.

"One of the saddest plights in which a man can find himself is that of almost realizing the kingdom of God," Allred said. "All of us, at many points of our lives, have experiences in which we know that we are very near the kingdom of God. Too many of us lack the courage of our convictions, and thus fail to live up to the glorious opportunities that are ours for the taking. We need to put into practice in our daily lives the two commandments to love God with all our soul and with all our strength, and our neighbor as ourself."

Scores Lobbyists

Mr. Allred scored the lobbying interests in the state capital, observing, "It might be more appropriate to send missionaries to Austin instead of Africa."

Prolonged applause greeted Allred's introduction, and the banquet guests stood to show their appreciation of his presence.

He conveyed Gov. Ross S. Sterling's regrets at being unable to attend the banquet arranged in his honor.

"Only the most pressing official duties could have kept Governor Sterling from being present," Allred said.

Will H. Evans presided at the banquet, which was a feature of the second day's program of the 46th annual Texas Christian convention.

He introduced, for brief remarks, Harry Hines, convention president; Royal J. Dye, missionary worker; F. W. O'Malley, Pampa, and Randolph Clark, Ranger.

Musical Numbers

Two numbers were given by a preachers' quartet, composed of Glen Hutton, Cleburne; H. A. Shaw, Amarillo; S. W. Hutton, Fort Worth, and J. W. Stephens, San Angelo. A negro mixed quartet, composed of students from Jarvis Christian college, Hawkins, also sang several numbers.

Mrs. Arthur Everts of the East Dallas Christian church was elected president of the Texas Woman's Christian Missionary society at the women's banquet, held at the Highland Heights Christian church and attended by 342.

Other officers named are: Mrs. Ida V. Jarvis, Fort Worth, and Mrs. G. D. Smith, Dallas, presidents emeritus; Mrs. S. E. Bartley, Dallas, first vice president; Mrs. J. C. Latham, Greenville, second vice president; Mrs. R. H. Foster, Fort Worth, recorder; Mrs. J. W. Bondurant, Fort Worth, treasurer; Mrs. F. E. Montague Grand Jury Reprimands County Attorney in Special Report

Temple Yarbrough Declares He Will Continue in Office After "Lack of Promptness" Is Cited

Special to The Record News.

MONTAGUE, Texas, May 13.—Temple Yarbrough, Montague county attorney, Wednesday night declared that he would continue to execute the duties of his office regardless of a special grand jury report which Wednesday afternoon criticized him for lack of "energy and promptness" in filing and prosecuting cases and for failure to "cooperate" with other law enforcing departments of the county.

"Certainly I will not resign," the attorney said. "I have not been guilty of any misconduct. I have filed charges where I thought evidence sufficient and I have prosecuted cases to the best of my ability. It may be that my discretion has at times been at fault, but I have used my best efforts in handling the duties of the office and I intend to continue to do so."

Special Session

The grand jury, called in special session Monday by Judge Vincent Stine, worked with two members of the state attorney general's staff. In its written report Wednesday, the jury said:

"It is apparent that there has been lack of proper cooperation between law enforcement departments in the county. It is the concensus of opinion of this body that the lack of cooperation is largely the fault of the county attorney."

The majority of the body was quoted as holding that the county attorney had not shown "proper energy in filing charges brought to his attention or promptness in prosecuting some of them."

The report added that "some members believe the county attorney has been guilty of "grave misconduct in failing to prosecute a certain criminal case."

Cooperation Urged

The report closed with the hope that henceforward the law enforcing bodies of the county would act together for the best interests of the community.

In his charge to the grand jurors Monday morning, Judge Stine also called attention to an alleged 10-gallon shortage revealed in a check-up of confiscated liquor in the sheriff's department. The report Wednesday failed to mention the charge or the result of the investigation. The investigation was conducted independently of Mr. Yarbrough by Elbert Hooper and Harry Bishop of the attorney general's office. The state officials were sent here at the request of the district judge.

Mr. Yarbrough is now serving his eighth year as county attorney for Montague, having been elected on three separate occasions after his original appointment several years ago.

SUBMISSION OF AMENDMENT TO VOTERS FAILS

Leading Proponent Admits Road Vote Battle Is Lost

LAST EFFORT FAILS

Beck Defeated in Motion For Reconsideration Of Proposed Plan

AUSTIN, May 13. (AP)—The house today refused to submit the state highway bond issue amendment to popular vote when the resolution lacked five of the necessary 100 votes for submission. The vote was 95 to 46. It marked the second time on final adoption the resolution was defeated.

Representative Beck of Fort Worth, one of the leading proponents of the bond amendment said that "to all intents and purposes the amendment was dead."

Reconsideration Planned

Beck voted against the amendment so he could move to reconsider and spread on the journal. This motion was denied him when Representative de Wolfe of Goldthwaite raised the point that this procedure had been followed once and a second motion to reconsider and spread on the journal was not in order.

Speaker Minor sustained the point of order and hope for the amendment waned further when Beck's motion to suspend the rules and spread on the journal was defeated, 82 ayes to 60 noes, lacking a two thirds vote.

Before any further action could be taken on the bond issue, it would be necessary to obtain a two-thirds vote to reconsider. Beck admitted this was a practical impossibility.

Two members registered present and not voting, Finn of Sunset and Hines of Linden.

No Debate

There was no debate on the resolution. Representative Sullivant of Gainesville, speaking for the proponents, made a bitter attack on Representative Pope of Corpus Christi, charging him with demagoguery and improper tactics. Pope was one of the leading opponents of the amendment.

Most of the fireworks came when Beck made his motion to reconsider. De Wolfe and Graves of Georgetown denounced the procedure. De Wolfe claimed it was an injustice to other members to take up time with the bond amendment because it was shoving other legislation into the background.

Graves charged the bond issue had taken up more time and wasted more money than any 10 proposals before the legislature.

Hubbard Silent

Representative Hubbard of New Boston, one of the authors of the amendment, however did not admit the bond issue was dead. He would make no statement of future plans. Hubbard claimed one man, pledged to the bond issue, voted wrong and that two favorable members were absent.

It was believed likely an attempt would be made to reconsider the vote by which the rule failed to suspend or that the house joint resolution on the same subject would be brought up.

STERLING SIGNS NEW MOVIE LAW

Sunday Shows Legalized Under Statute

AUSTIN, May 13. (AP)—Gov. Ross Sterling late today signed a bill legalizing Sunday shows in Texas. The law will become effective 90 days after the legislature adjourns, or late in August.

The law repealed a statute which had been enacted 60 years ago. It will permit cities which desire picture shows and other theater entertainments on Sunday afternoon and night to have them.

The bill was introduced by Senator Woodul of Houston. It passed both houses by a substantial majority.

Sponsors of the bill argued the old statute was being openly violated in many cities.

Governor Sterling stated he received many telegrams from both sides.

The bill was passed by the last legislature but was vetoed by Dan Moody, then governor.

First Edition of 'History Of Wichita Falls' Received Here

Arrival of 500 copies of the first edition of "The History of Wichita Falls," by Jonnie R. Morgan, head of the history department of Wichita Falls Junior High schools, was announced by Miss Morgan Wednesday afternoon.

Preparation of the unique and comprehensive city history has been known to many citizens of the city during the three years which it has been under way, and its release from the press is expected to be an event of considerable interest to the public.

Dedication

Miss Morgan's history is dedicated to her father, a Travis county pioneer, and to pioneers of this county. The book is divided into two sections, the first dealing with the growth of the city from its earliest beginnings to the present time, and the latter portion comprising a study of the Wichita Falls of today as a municipality. Five chapters comprise the first section, the last one being devoted to the growth of women's organizations during the past 15 years. Nine chapters are included in the analysis of the present-day Wichita Falls.

Without laborious detail, the history which Miss Morgan has compiled presents an intimate picture of every element which has gone into the development of Wichita county, and into the growth of this city. Industrial, social and govern-

Dictatorship for Spain Demanded As Anti-Religious Fury Continues

By REGINALD A. SALVERT
(Copr. C. 1931, by Universal Service, Inc.)

MADRID, May 13.—The anti-religious fury of anarchist mobs flared up anew in Malaga, Cordoba and provincial towns today, where 25 Catholic churches, monasteries and convents were sacked and burned.

Apparently only in Cordoba did the rioters meet any strong opposition from the civil guards. There four were killed as the troops tried futilely to stave off the mob's attack.

In Madrid, a report that Communists were planning a raid on the Bank of Spain created a brief hour of intense excitement. Strong military measures taken by the government are credited with preventing the attack's materialization.

Senator Roces, radical left spokesman, tonight demanded that the government meet the emergency by calling off the projected June elections and establishing a Republican dictatorship.

Twenty-seven convents were attacked by mobs in Malaga, troops saved 11 of these, but 16 of the buildings were burned to the ground.

In Cordoba, the mob broke into an armory, armed itself with rifles and ammunition and set out on a career of incendiarinism. The mob opened fire and the guards returned a hail of lead. Four of the

CHURCH NEEDS RENEWED ZEAL

Christian Convention Hears Address by Jones

McMaster, Fort Worth, general secretary, and Mrs. Bessie Hart, Fort Worth, associate secretary.

Mr. Allred and Mr. Dye both spoke at the women's banquet, as well as E. T. Cornelius of San Antonio, and Miss Mary Campbell of Indianapolis, Ind.

Sympathy Expressed

Resolutions of sympathy to the family of President S. P. Brooks of Baylor university were conveyed in a telegram authorized by the convention in Wednesday evening's session.

A unanimous resolution of appreciation to the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce for its many courtesies to the convention, and for $200 financial assistance was unanimously voted.

Another resolution, likewise unanimously voted, conveyed the appreciation of the convention to the newspapers of the city for their fine cooperation in printing the news of the convention.

An enthusiastic plea for support of the world-wide missionary program of the church was made by Dr. Royal J. Dye of the United Christian Missionary society, Indianapolis.

Missionary's Experience

Dr. Dye told of his own experiences as a pioneer missionary to Africa. He aided in establishing the church's first mission there in 1899, and told of the growth of the movement, reporting 31,900 members in the African churches today. A total of 47 American and 1,037 native workers labor in that field. There were 5,093 converts last year, he said.

The great audience, which filled the church to overflowing, so that some 200 persons had to be turned away, was visibly moved by Dr. Dye's appeal, and paid him the compliment of refraining from applause.

"The weakest point in higher education in the United States today is on the side of Christian character," said Harry O. Prichard in his address Wednesday evening on "The Church and Higher Education."

Mr. Prichard is secretary of the national board of education of the Disciples of Christ, with headquarters in Indianapolis.

"We have come to the day when we must have fewer and better colleges," he declared. "We also must have fewer and better churches and better and greater ministers.

Enemies of Church

"The three great enemies of the church in western civilization are the deification of the state, standardization, and secularization. Worship of wealth and Christianity cannot live side by side. And there is no place in the world where mass production is so vicious as in the field of education," Prichard said.

Musical numbers for the Wednesday evening program were supplied by students and faculty members of Texas Christian university.

A girls' quartet, composed of Misses Mota Maye and Margot Shaw of Amarillo, Annabel Hall of Oregon City, Ore., and Eva Keeling of Alexandria, La., sang three numbers. Solos were sung by Mrs. Helen Fouts Cahoon, head of the department of voice, and David Scoular, instructor in voice.

Dean Colby D. Hall of T. C. U. led the devotional and President E. M. Waits gave the benediction.

Following the official adjournment, an open forum and musical program was inaugurated, with no time set for adjournment. President Hines announced that breakfast would be served at 6 a. m., if the crowd cared to stay that long.

Christianity must offer more sincere fellowship to the ordinary man before he manifests any great increase of interest in the activities of the church, declared Dr. Edgar DeWitt Jones of Detroit, in his address on "Christianity and the Ordinary Man" at the Wednesday afternoon session.

"The ordinary man will not be attracted to the church in great numbers until he feels that the church is interested in him, not for what he has or may have, but for what he is," Dr. Jones said. "The church has become too far removed from its touch with the common people. We need to revive that interest in the multitudes which Jesus had.

State Work Outlined

"Organized religion the world over is under fire. But this does not mean that we are to desert the church. We need to remain in the church, with all its imperfections, and give the best we have for a wider and more Christlike interpretation of the teachings of Him who gave us the church."

Dr. L. N. D. Wells, pastor of the East Dallas Christian church, presided at the Wednesday afternoon session. The devotional was led by the Rev. Arthur Hyde, pastor of the Christian church at Bryan. Special musical numbers were given by Mrs. Wayne J. Holmes, who sang "The Ninety and Nine," and by Miss Elizabeth Long of Fort Worth, who played Schubert's "Serenade" as a violin solo. The benediction was given by the Rev. J. B. Hardigree, pastor of the church at Cameron.

A new type of state work, to be inaugurated by the Texas Christian Missionary society, was outlined by Dr. Wells. He described the program as "A shift from extensive work to intensive work."

The old plan of work, in trying to cover the state extensively, has piled up a deficit of $45,000, he explained. Twenty-five per cent of all funds received is to be applied in wiping out this deficit until it is all paid, he said.

Dr. Wells outlined a new plan of "pastoral unities," whereby two or three small churches will be served by one full time pastor. Approximately 100 pastors responded when he asked for volunteers to hold meetings in Texas during the coming year, the proceeds of which, less expenses, will be applied on the reported deficit.

Religious Education

"There is to be no letup in state mission work," he pointed out, "only a change of emphasis."

"The reason why religious education does not touch a larger group is because of the lack of properly trained leadership," said Virgil Sly, associate secretary of the department of religious education of the United Christian Missionary society, in his talk on "Looking Forward With Religious Education."

"Our future program in religious education will be built around the idea of assisting Texas in providing the necessary leadership for her people."

"She Hath Done What She Could," was the subject of a talk by Miss Mary Campbell, second vice president of the United society. She told of women with whom she had come in contact in her missionary work in various parts of the world, who out of their poverty, had done what they could.

A proposal for a Texas board of religious education was presented to the convention in the Wednesday morning session by S. W. Hutton of T. C. U., chairman of a special survey committee appointed by last year's convention in Austin.

Women Hold Conference

The proposed board would consist of 19 members, who would have general supervision of religious education work in the state. Final action upon the proposal will be taken Friday morning.

A conference on women's work was conducted Wednesday morning by Miss Campbell. Literature was discussed relating to the mission study subject for the year, "Christ in the Rural Community." Offerings of the women in Texas for the first nine months of the fiscal year ending July 1 were reported as $25,527. An increase in giving of 10 per cent over last year is the goal of the state organization.

"Forward With Christ" was offered as a slogan for the church by Dr. E. E. Snoddy of Transylvania university, Lexington, Ky., in his address Wednesday morning.

"We must know that Christ is not to be found only in history or in the millennium to come, but here and now," Dr. Snoddy said.

He sounded a note of high praise for Barton W. Stone and Walter Scott, pioneers in the Disciples of Christ movement.

Two Luncheons

Harry Hines, president of the convention, presided at the morning session Wednesday. The benediction, was by the Rev. Lawrence Bridges, pastor of the Alpine Christian church.

FROM HOOVER

President Sends Wire To Christian Church Officials Here

A. E. Corey, director of the pension fund of the Disciples of Christ, who is in Wichita Falls to speak before the Texas Christian convention on the pension fund, received a telegram Wednesday from President Herbert Hoover praising the pension movement for aged ministers which the church has under way. The telegram reads:

"The nature of the work of the ministers of our churches precludes the thought and usually the possibility that they should themselves provide for their old age. The provision of some form of retirement pension is a duty owed to them by the congregations and public they have unselfishly served. Experience and actual knowledge are needed to avoid practical financial difficulties, but where these have been utilized the pensioning of ministers should be generously supported."

COURT KILLS PERJURY COUNT

Victor Seymour Upheld In Nebraska Dispute

LINCOLN, Neb., May 13. (AP)—Federal Judge T. C. Munger today sustained demurrers to perjury indictments against George W. Norris, former Nebraska grocer, and Victor Seymour, a former Republican leader in the state, who challenged the constitutional authority of the senate campaign funds committee to investigate last year's Nebraska primary election campaign.

Norris entered the Republican senatorial primary race as an opponent of Senator George W. Norris, in his campaign for re-election. The Broken Bow grocer's name later was ruled off the ballot by the state supreme court on the grounds his filing had not been received in time.

The senate committee, headed by Senator Gerald P. Nye, held several hearings in Nebraska in connection with the campaign. The grocer contended he entered the race of his own volition. Later W. M. Stebbins, then state treasurer and also a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, told the committee he gave the grocer a $500 liberty bond and paid his filing fee to get him to enter the race and confuse voters by the similar names.

Seymour when questioned by Nye said he did not take an active part in the campaign. Stebbins testified that he gave the bond for the grocer to Seymour.

Anarchists Keep Spain in Turmoil

rioters fell dead and 30 wounded, but they swept the guards aside to set fire to 12 separate religious institutions. In Seville a Communist was shot dead by guards.

Unofficial estimates now place the total of Catholic institutions given over to looters, damaged by fire, and in many cases burned to the ground at more than 65. Martial law prevails in the capital and 11 other important cities.

Mob rule is reported prevailing in Andalusia, Cadiz, Aleciras, and Granada. Thousands of priests, nuns and monks have been driven from their retreats either by the incendiary's torch or fear of death at the hands of a mob. In many cases they have sought refuge in parishioners' homes; others are fleeing the country.

Among these is reported Cardinal Segura, primate of Spain. The cardinal was last reported at San Sebastian, en route to the French border. The republic has not guaranteed his safety.

Despite the government's assertion of royalist responsibility for the three-day strife and disorder, it is apparent that Communist agitators are largely responsible.

Many nations claim the invention of playing cards (the devil's picture books, as seventeenth century Puritans styled them) but it is now generally believed that they came from Asia and probably from China.

FINANCES IN GOOD SHAPE, COOMBS SAYS

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 13. (AP)—The threat of financial disaster which stalked the trail of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in former years is just a memory at present, it was announced here today by President Charles E. Coombes.

When E. G. Keese, treasurer, makes his report at the first session Thursday morning, he will tell citizens of West Texas that their regional organization is on a sound financial basis and out of debt, Coombes said.

Two years ago the organization had an indebtedness of $25,000 and officials were facing a crisis when the annual convention was held at El Paso. Last year, at Abilene, the treasurer reported $12,000 in the general fund, and there is a probability that the balance will be more than that when this year's report is made. Membership fees from the many cities are being received daily.

Coombes expressed the belief that reorganization policies, including the creation of 10 districts within the area and the formation of group conferences, largely is responsible for renewed enthusiasm within the chamber. Closer contact through the group conferences have interested more people in the work, he pointed out. This interest is reflected in the financial statement, he said.

Every city in West Texas has contributed to the success of the organization, D. A. Bandeen, manager, said in a statement to the press.

"More than 50 West Texas leaders have been in the field the past year for the chamber of commerce," Bandeen said. "If the organization had been forced to pay for the services of all who have worked to make the year successful, the cost would have been prohibitive. Chairmen and secretaries of the group conferences have especially diligent. All committees have worked, and the press has given its cooperation.

"If the same spirit continues through the convention, constructive results will come out of the meeting," Bandeen said.

mental evolution has been carefully traced.

Attractiveness of the book, and its command of interest, are much enhanced by the use of 144 illustrations, many of which are photographs made during the latter years of the 19th century. Miss Morgan's history already has attracted attention not only in this state, but in Oklahoma. Requests for several copies have been on file for some time from individuals at Austin, it was said.

Ornamentation appearing on the front cover of the book is aptly designed. It pictures a meeting of whites with Indians before a background featuring oil field derricks and the smoking chimneys of an industrial and refining center. The book is attractively bound in brown flexible imitation leather, and is printed in larger than usual type on soft paper of parchment color. The reproduction of photographs retain their black and white shades.

First Edition

The first edition of the book, which is being printed by the Economy Company of Oklahoma City, will consist of 1,000 copies, it was announced. Engravings are by the Southwestern Engraving company, also of Oklahoma City.

For the present, the history may be purchased from Miss Morgan directly. It was indicated that within a short time, however, local pioneers who have maintained an active interest in completion of the work will interest themselves actively in its circulation among the residents of this section.

Bandit's Disappearance Brings Murder Probe

STIGLER, Okla., May 13. (UP)—Sheriff Stacey Moore renewed his search of the hill country north of Keota today when reports led him to believe one of the two bandits who robbed the State Bank of Keota yesterday killed his companion.

Farmers near Red Hill where Jack Elliott, 20, was captured late yesterday by Sheriff Moore said they heard a car stop and the report of a pistol a short time later. Elliott, captured shortly after he had abandoned a car stolen here Monday night, confessed he was one of the men who robbed the bank but declined to say anything about his companion.

This Woman In 4 Weeks Lost 17 Pounds of Fat

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewiston, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

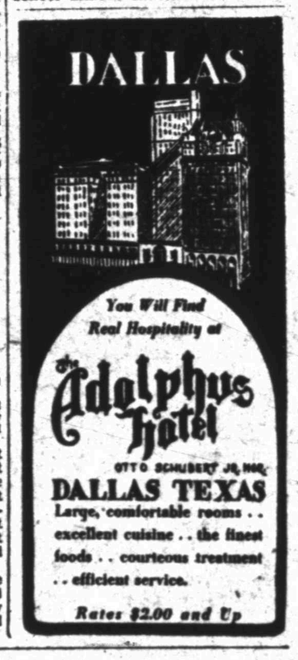

"Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give "Kruschen Salts" a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince anyone."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at any drug store in America. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning. To help reduce swiftly cut out pastry and fatty meats and go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.

The Kruschen way is the safe way to reduce—Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied — money back. Allison Drug store knows all about Kruschen.—Adv.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE sugar TO IMPROVE THE flavor OF CHEAP CUTS OF meat

When sugar is added with salt to stews, meat loaves and pot-roasts, the improved flavor will delight you.

CHEAP cuts of meat can be made deliciously tender if cooked long and slowly. But do you know that the flavor of such meat and its gravy can be surprisingly improved if a dash of sugar is added during this cooking process?

Successful cooks have proved the value of sugar in seasoning meat. They will tell you that salt by itself merely overcomes flatness, whereas the addition of sugar heightens the meat flavor to the fullest extent.

A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt, or equal parts of each, are good rules to follow in meat cookery. Try this idea in stews, meat loaves, pot-roasts or braised meat dishes—also in vegetables. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

"Good food promotes good health"

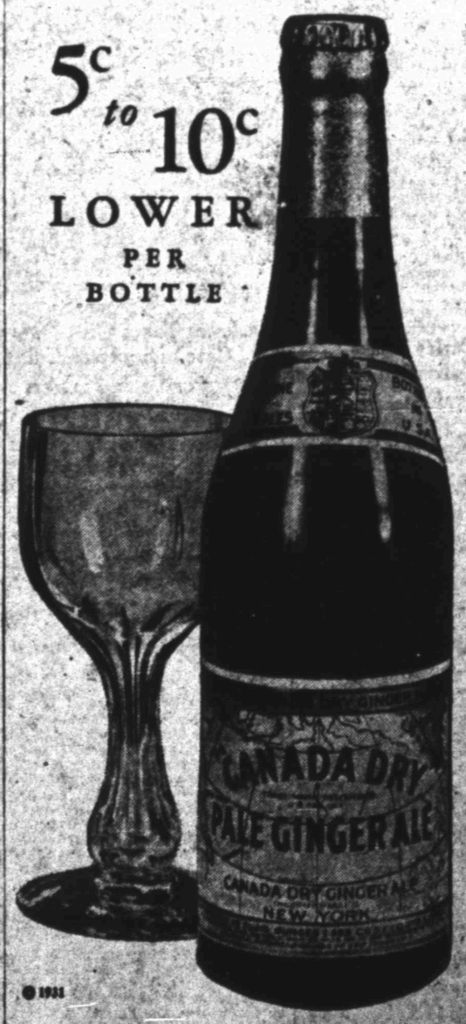

HABITS CHANGE

Buying habits continually change. The public is anxious to get their money's worth for every dime they spend, and when they see an unusual product at an unusually attractive price they recognize the many advantages it offers. This keen sense of values applies to practically everything people need, clothing, food, furniture, and even aspirin. That is one reason why more than nine million boxes of St.Joseph's Aspirin have been sold in a single year, why thousands of people every day walk into drug stores everywhere, put down their dime, and ask for St.Joseph's Genuine Pure Aspirin. St.Joseph's Aspirin is both genuine and pure and it meets every government standard. No wonder people are realizing that it is neither sensible nor necessary to pay more than 10c for 12 tablets of "St. Joseph's" genuine pure aspirin.

U. S. WAR PLANS ARE OUTLINED

General MacArthur Tells Of Mobilization Policy

WASHINGTON, May 13.(AP)—War department plans for instant mobilization of an army of 4,000,000 men were outlined today before the war policies commission by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, almost immediately after the receipt of a protest from the Federal Counsel of Churches that elaborate war preparations would diminish national security.

General MacArthur, appearing at the commission's resumption of hearings to find a method to take the profits out of war, explained in detail the war department plans for military and industrial mobilization.

Earlier Assistant Secretary of War Payne had said the war and navy departments, assisted by other agencies, were developing plans the nation's economic and industrial resources.

MacArthur testified the war department plans called for mobilization of an army of 4,000,000 under a selective service draft from a registration roll of 11,000,000.

The chief of staff proposed the registration of all wealthy persons in war time, similar to the registration of man power, to facilitate the imposition of taxes.

MacArthur testified the war department was opposed to the conscription of labor, believing it would not be supported by public opinion and would be so resented by workers they would not lend their best efforts.

William McQuillen, whose gang connections have not been shown, was released on $2,000 bond.

85 Planes Show Perfection of Army Drills in Maneuvers Over City

Like geese returning to summer haunts, 85 army airplanes, flying in closed ranks with the precision of drilled ground troops, passed over Wichita Falls Wednesday en route from Kelly field at San Antonio to Dayton, Ohio, where they will join the first provisional air division of 672 planes, which will perform in numerous air demonstrations this month over cities of the East and Midwest.

The planes flew in two groups, one group of 55 ships appearing here at 10 o'clock, while a second group of 30 planes flew across Wichita Falls' sky nearly two hours later. They were of the 101st and 201st observation squadrons, respectively.

Heralded by the faint roar of motors, each of the two groups of planes appeared on the southern horizon of Wichita Falls as dots against the sky. As the hum of perfectly tuned motors increased the air fleet became distinguishable and people by the hundreds turned their eyes toward the sky to view probably the greatest air spectacle ever seen here.

Although no planes stopped here, the first group of 55 ships, as it reached Wichita Falls, spread wide as it passed in demonstration over the city. Both groups flew in formation.

From the first view of the fleet as it appeared from the south, only a few minutes elapsed until it grew dim as the ships flew northward to Fort Sill, where a night stop was made before proceeding to Dayton.

The fleet was composed of squadrons of 18 planes each. Maneuvers of the squadrons of battle planes were directed by radio from a headquarters staff plane which flew far to the right of the formation. Altitude of the ships were estimated to be 1,500 feet.

The first group of 55 planes was commanded by Capt. John K. Cannon, while Maj. Fred L. Martin commanded the second.

HINDENBURG TO CHRISTEN SHIP

Germany to Launch 'Vest Pocket' Cruiser

BERLIN, May 13. (INS)—On May 19, in the presence of the entire German fleet and thousands of spectators, President Von Hindenburg will smash a bottle of German champagne against the bow of Germany's first $30,000,000 "vest-pocket" cruiser.

He will christen it with a name that has been kept secret to the last in conformity with sailor superstition that premature publication of the name means bad luck.

This festive act and the thousands of "hurrah" and "hochs" accompanying the ship down the ways of the Kiel naval shipyards into the water, will symbolize the re-birth of the German navy as a power in world affairs, and, many naval experts believe, usher in a construction revolution among the battle fleets of all nations.

OKLAHOMA TO KEEP LID ON

Recommendation Calls For Present Limit

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., May 13.—Oklahoma's daily production of crude oil, now held to 550,000 barrels a day under the proration orders that expire June 1, would be maintained at that level for the next four months ending Oct. 1, if the recommendations of the state-wide proration committee which met here late today are approved by the corporation committee.

Alvin Richards, chairman of the committee, and president of the Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, announced that the committee was recommending that Oklahoma City field oil production also be held at 150,000 barrels a day, but that the four sources of oil in that field be studied more closely in reference to demand.

A survey report was made to the committee, indicating the East Texas field was to curtail production to 160,000 barrels a day and receive the posted mid-continent prices for such action. Presentation of this report prompted the committee members to vote unanimously to continue Oklahoma's proration during the months of June, July, August and September.

Annual Luncheon Featured By Wednesday Study Club

A social event culminating the Wednesday Study club's winter study of Tennyson's "Lancelot and Elaine" and Shakespeare's "Hamlet," under the direction of Mrs. Charles William Wallace was given in a setting of unusual loveliness at the home of Mrs. J. J. Perkins Wednesday at noon. The house was a bower of flowers.

The buffet luncheon was served in the dining room from a long table covered with a cloth of Italian embroidery with insets of real filet laid over green satin, and the club flowers of pink and green were stressed in the silver bowl of pink carnations and the tall pink tapers in green tulle-crowned holders. The long buffet was brilliant with a great bowl of vivid yellow briar roses.

In the drawing room where tables of four were laid for the guests, the color scheme arranged was in charming taste. Small silver encrusted vases held golden California poppies and deep blue cornflowers, the cornflower shades toning in with the Royal Worcester service. Each table was covered with a linen and lace cloth.

Flowers in the room and in the sun parlor beyond added exquisite color tones. There was a bowl of purple and golden pansies on the pie crust table; a silver coffee service on the low coffee stand; little creamy Sevres vases filled with pale yellow snapdragon at each end of the mantel; a great clear glass bowl of larkspur and pink poppies on the piano; an inlaid vase filled with long sprays of soft purple bougainvillea, crowning an antique chest of drawers and a cluster of pink roses on a nest of tables; looking into the sunroom where soft green draperies made a summery light, a magnificent pot of golden "poor man's purse," denied its name in the sunshine it made.

Mesdames Glen E. Laskey, J. C. Humphrey and N. B. Chenault were in charge of the program which followed the luncheon. Mrs. A. H. Britain gave two beautiful piano numbers; an original sketch by a member of the club was a rich parody on a scene from "Hamlet" with Mrs. E. B. Carver taking the part of the queen, Mrs. O. C. Dickson playing King Hamlet and Mrs. G. E. Laskey representing Claudius. Two brilliant piano numbers by Mrs. Walter Robbins completed the program.

Mrs. Charles William Wallace, director of club study, was presented by the members with a handsome set of rock crystal sherbets. Mrs. Wallace, in a graciously beautiful talk of appreciation, presented Mrs. W. W. Cook, club counsellor, with an honorary membership in the club.

Active and associate members who enjoyed Mrs. Perkin's charming hospitality were Mesdames C. N. Alexander, Sidney Cochran, N. H. Martin, W. W. Silk, G. E. Laskey, Bernard Martin, Carey Hunter, James C. Humphrey, O .C. Dickson, Julian Montgomery, Charles William Wallace, W. W. Cook, B. L. Fain, N. B. Chenault, W. B. Hamilton, Walter Robbins, Bert Bean, J. B. Smith, E. L. Fain, T. F. Durkin, A. H. Britain, Townsend Chamberlain, E. B. Carver and Everett Jones.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Last week, all puffed up by letters from gentlemen who had read my column, I burst forth into some paragraphs that must now bring on others. I quoted a reader who was surprised when he met me last winter, to find me past my 30's, and remarked that though he may have quit reading me, I wanted him to know that thought one foot was practically in the grave, the other still kept time to music.

He called me up before the day was over and the things he said were balm to a writer's soul. The only inspiration a columnist has is the interest he inspires in others—I might say she.

Monday two charming ladies from an adjacent town stopped at my desk to get some information and in the course of the conversation, I introduced myself as editor of my page and expressed myself as willing to work with them. Just then the phone rang and as I talked, I noticed them whispering to one another. When I had finished, one said, "We are waiting to get your address," so I wrote it out and handed it to her.

She looked at the name and remarked, "I was just telling my friend that I wondered if you were the Mrs. Cason who wrote 'Peeps at People.'" On my guilty plea, she seemed surprised. "I always read the column with interest," she said, "but I had an idea you were an elderly woman." So—odd ziggety (my pet swear word), I do not seem elderly. Ladies I forgot to ask your names, but I salute all the feminine world of Clara.

I really am quite able to totter about and am so much alive to what is going on in the world that I don't always take things sitting down, as a properly dignified person might.

Monday night, for instance, I went to a show and got a grouch. A most upright man sat just in front of me—and tall—boy howdy! —Though upright, he was not quiet. So long as he refused to sit on his spinal column, I still might have been reconciled if he'd kept his head quiet. But as soon as I'd adjusted my neck to peering over one shoulder, he switched and I had to crook my neck the other way. Two cricks in the neck are too much for even a saint like myself.

Also I like vaudeville. While we live far from Broadway, the girls appearing on the stage here should not try to rival Earl Carroll's beauties. Now probably that is going a little strong, but they lacked a necessary glamour. They'd have been better in the bathing brassieres and trunks shown in a news reel than in the ruffs and ruches that had lost their pristine freshness and seemed doubly old on fresh young bodies.

But the strongest factor in my grouch was what you might call the sense of humor I saw displayed. Vaudeville jokers dug far and deep for their gags and long before the climax, one knew what was coming. No intriguing word such as "risque" might be applied—just plain smut. But they brought laughter.

Oh well, I've been in the habit of sitting far down at the front with the young and innocent crowd. We sat beneath the balcony Monday night. Hereafter I go where I belong, with the 8 and 10-year-olds. Now guess how old I am.

Progressive Dinner Closes Music Study Club Season

One of the unique social events of the spring was a progressive dinner party given as the closing event of the Music Study club Tuesday evening when the black hand invitations demanding hunt for a ransom treasure were made the theme of the party. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Raub were the first host and hostess with cocktail service and at their home code instructions received for the next hostess were deciphered as Brook Manor, Apartment I, the home of Nelle Lowrey.

One small birthday candle lighted the apartment and a figure of Maggie and Jiggs, showed Maggie holding strings to sacks containing crackers and olives to go with the salad course and a dagger pointing the way to more treasure to be found on a corner where a Dutch president met a Scotchman. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hall on McGregor and Van Buren, the salad course was served with olives and crackers that had survived the trip from the Lowrey home. From the hospitable Hall home, named "Hall's Delicatessen and Domino Parlor," mysterious instructions were interpreted to mean the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess McLarry, 2123 Broad, where a lighted skull showed "Larry's Hot Puppies," and a black hand to serve as a place card was given each guest with a hot roll; the place cards pointed the next step to "Gertie the Flower Girl," and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bebb, the main dinner course was served.

A brilliant red dagger directed the guests to 1706 Ninth street where in the Bebb Florist shop named "Dion O'Bannion's Greenhouse," a box in the shape of a coffin held sweet pea boutonnieres for each man and dainty corsages for each lady, and directions here to "Texas Green Ann's Night Club" led the party to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bebb.

Directions, "Bring your own gats; every one has a fair chance," had been given and Edwin Bebb, in a costume suggesting the underworld, led the party to the basement entrance where one candle furnished all the light, through the kitchen and hall lighted by a spooky skull, and up stairs to where an empty room had the windows hung with gunny sacks and was furnished to represent a speakeasy. Cap pistols fired by Messrs. Edwin Bebb and Jess McLarry caused some excitement.

The night club idea completed the evening's entertainment. After the strawberry shortcake dessert had been served, Mrs. Edwin Bebb, chairman of the program committee, with Mesdames Kenneth Bebb, Jess McLarry and Nelle Lowrey, dressed as night club flappers and Mrs. Fred Sharpe as an underworld tough, entertained and each club member put on some special feature. A final treasure hunt revealed two theater passes as the ransom demanded in the invitation to the party.

The party included Messrs. and Mesdames Kenneth Bebb, E. A. Bebb, J. E. Hall, T. L. Davis, O. E. Nichols, W. C. Hamilton, Phillip Oviatt, Walter Robbins, Stanley Raub, Frank Van Wormer, Jess McLarry, Mesdames Flora Greenwood, Edilee Fitzhugh, Fred B. Sharpe, Nelle Lowrey, Jouette Bonner and Mr. M. A. Ellis.

The ladies of First Methodist church will serve chicken dinner Friday, May 15, 902 Tenth, 11:30 to 1:30; price 50c. Public invited.—Adv.

DUNCAN, Okla., May 13.—Salaries of Duncan teachers will not be cut next year unless reductions are necessary to keep within the budget, the board of education has decided. If property valuations should drop enough to cut the school's budget 5 per cent or more, a corresponding reduction in salaries will be made on a sliding scale, with the higher salaries receiving a major share of the cut.

Practically the entire teaching staff has been re-elected for next year and not more than half a dozen changes are expected in the entire system. C. P. Davis was re-elected superintendent and Ben F. Ogden, principal.

R. H. Carver of Norman, has been employed as head of the commercial department to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. E. Huff, who becomes county superintendent at Ada July 1. This is the only change in the junior or senior high school staffs.

Ben Franklin Study Club Closes Season With Party

Mrs. Lester Burns was hostess at a morning coffee Wednesday to members of the Ben Franklin Study club, the pretty social affair closing the meetings for the spring season. Miss Ethel Morgan, speaking from the teacher's standpoint, addressed the group on "How the School Cooperates With the Home in Child Development."

Miss Morgan said that the home is after all the greatest teacher, for it is the home that gives emphasis to the finer things of life. "It is a trite saying," she stated, "that no nation rises higher than its homes, nevertheless this is true. If either the home or the school is to do its best work, they must be brought together." The importance of partnership between parents and teachers in the development of lives of the future generations was emphasized.

The high aim of the Parent-Teacher organization was named as raising the standard of the home and school; that parents must recognize teachers as friends and teachers recognize parents as strong allies was urged and Miss Morgan said that the attitudes toward life and the ideals of children are the reflection of home and school.

Miss Morgan illustrated her talk with stories of her own experience and told of the change wrought in the inner nature of a child in school when the dependence of early years is gone and he must become adjusted in a strange world. The importance of respect for authority, and obedience to law was stressed. She concluded her remarks by emphasizing the fact that the ultimate aim is character building.

Mrs. John Martin, retiring chairman of the Study club, gave in rhyme a clever appreciation of Mrs. M. T. Clements, retiring P.-T. A. president, of Mrs. L. O. Shudde, a sponsor who is moving from the city, and of Mrs. Lester Burns, the charming hostess for the morning, who will be leader of the group next year, presenting each with a rose from her garden.

After the delicious plate and coffee, Mrs. Burns showed her guests through her lovely new home. Those present included Mesdames R. V. Fite, A. L. Hecht, Jim Harrison, F. B. Parsons, L. Bodan, C. A. Morris, R. Hammond, Chas. A. Daubert, A. C. Walker, Charles Greene, W. A. Ehlert, Ralph Fidler, G. R. Burch, W. R. McAfee, L. O. Shudde, W. D. Jones, C. E. McCutchen, G. C. Townsend, W. B. How a Missouri woman was benefited by taking Cardui is described below by Mrs. Joe Schumer, of Cape Girardeau: "I suffered with irregularity. For weeks at a time I was so weak I could not work. I had aches in my back and head and legs—I ached all over. I would get dizzy and feel faint. I had read about Cardui, so I got some and took it. I improved a great deal. After I had taken four bottles, I felt like a different person." E-10

CARDUI

THE SOAP THAT'S FIRST COUSIN TO SALAD DRESSING

A TECHNICAL explanation would probably bore you, but you can take our word for this: A pure soap, made from vegetable and nut oils, is the gentlest, kindest, yet most effective soap that can be produced.

And White King Granulated Soap is made from the same fine vegetable and nut oils that form the basis of good salad dressing and other food products. It's safe for the filmiest silken lingerie, effective for the greasiest dishes, kind to the most tender hands. It's effective in hard water, and the lukewarm water that should be used for washing delicate fabrics.

Try White King Granulated Soap today. It washes everything. And it's economical—a teaspoonful for the wash basin, a cupful for the washing machine. Even less in soft-water districts. It's condensed. Sold by your dealer.

A risk no woman should take health risk in ill-made substitutes for Kotex

NO woman should deliberately risk health by using a sanitary pad of doubtful hygienic value. Yet that is what you do, if you accept a substitute because it merely looks like Kotex.

You should ask how this substitute was made. Where? By whom? Would a hospital use it?

Trust no pad that cannot answer these questions to your entire satisfaction. Every woman, at these times, needs the purity of Kotex. Its absolute immaculacy. Kotex is made with hospital care. Its use in hospitals proves that. This assurance is worth everything to you—far more than the few pennies you may save by accepting a substitute of whose makers you know nothing.

Kotex is adjustable. Soft. May be worn on either side with safety.

FIVE INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

Autos Figure in Four Of Mishaps Here

Five persons sustained injuries in accidents here Wednesday afternoon and night.

A broken leg was received by Eugene Yeakley, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Yeakley, 109 Walnut street, when he was struck by an automobile as he crossed the street at the intersection of Seventh and Broad. He was taken to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital.

Clyde Holly and Cleo Lea sustained painful bruises when the automobile in which they were riding overturned after a collision with a machine driven by Leonard Alexander, 302 Burnett street, at Scott and Fourth streets.

Boy Escapes Serious Injury

Holly was taken by a passing motorist to the Wichita General hospital but did not remain. Miss Lea was taken to her home, suffering mainly from shock. Patrolman I. N. Austin and Earle Brooks and Herbert Pogue, motorcycle officers, investigated the crash. Holly and Alexander were booked for negligent collision.

H. F. Baxley, employe of the state hospital, was the driver of the car which struck the Yeakley boy, it was reported.

Only slight injuries were sustained by Knoles Musler, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Musler, 2102 Buchanan, when he was struck by an automobile near his home Wednesday morning.

The boy ran from behind a street sweeper into the path of a car driven by Ed Towater, 2707 Avenue O, according to C. S. Carlisle, motorcycle officer, who investigated. Dr. G. T. Singleton attended the child at the home, where it was learned that his injuries consisted merely of bruises and minor cuts.

J. E. McKanna, Wichita Falls oil operator, was slightly injured Wednesday afternoon while playing polo on the local field. Mr. McKanna suffered a fracture of the bone under his eye and was treated at his home. Physicians said he would be able to leave his home Thursday.

The accident occurred when his horse reared as Mr. McKanna started to swing his mallet, the horse's head striking him in the face.

Texas Company Gets Joiner Pool Producer

HENDERSON, Texas, May 13.—The Texas company No. 1 Mrs. Mae Blackwell in the Juan Vargas survey blew in late Tuesday night for an estimated production of 25,000 barrels. This is the Texas company's first producer in the field and also one of the largest potential producers in the Joiner area.

Sand was topped at 3694 feet and drilled through to 3711 feet. Considerable interest was aroused in geological circles by the encountering of a red bed in the bottom of the hole. This is the first well in the Joiner field to find this formation.

The Gulf production company has completed its No. 1 and No. 2 E. S. Thrash in the Francisco Cordova survey and they are flowing 100 barrels per hour each through three-quarter inch choke.

ALLRED FLAYS TEXAS LOBBIES

'Show Down' Coming, Says Attorney General

Texas legislation and governmental activities are being influenced and hampered by "lobbies more subtle and powerful than in any other capital in the union," James V. Allred, attorney general of Texas, declared Wednesday noon in his address before the joint meetings of the business council and the Lions and Optimist clubs at the Kemp hotel.

The attorney general flayed the "hired, paid lobbists in Austin to influence every official there," and declared that lobby influence is responsible for the defeat of much valuable legislation.

"I am informed by individuals in position to know, that one large concern maintains a lobby in Austin which makes any in Washington look like 10 cents by the side of a dollar," Mr. Allred declared.

Lobbyists Bold

"The lobbies I am talking about are those which are maintained in Austin whether the legislature is in session or not, which are thinking only of number one, regardless of how people are affected. They are the lobbies which are willing to approach not only the representative or senators, but which would bend every state official to their will.

"Let me tell you too," he warned, "they are master psychologists. They know what the ordinary fellow is thinking by the time he knows himself. If the official is politically ambitious, the lobby usually can help. If the official desires preferment in other lines, the lobbyist can help there.

"In the immediate future of Texas," the attorney general declared, "this situation must be met and coped with."

Most persons going to Austin to take office, the attorney general added, have as their ideal to become statesmen rather than politicians. Before long, he said, they are forced to revise ideals.

Gangsters Watched

He said that his department was in possession of evidence to prove that gangsters being driven from Chicago by the new Citizens administration are coming to Texas for the purpose of establishing racketeering in the larger cities of the state.

Commenting on the fortitude with which Wichita Falls has withstood the depression, Mr. Allred said that it speaks well for a community to be able to have one of its leading financial institutions to retire from the field and say to its customers, "We are going out of business; come and get your money depositors." He said that as chairman of the state banking board the instance here several weeks ago was the first to his knowledge where depositors were notified before the bank closed its doors.

The attorney general spoke here in place of Gov. Ross S. Sterling, who was unable to be present.

Mr. Allred was introduced by Dr. G. T. Singleton.

Mrs. R. R. Fisk, woman's golf champion of Texas, was to have been an honor guest at Wednesday's luncheon, but due to numerous business matters brought up at the meeting, it was decided to tender a special luncheon in honor of Mrs. Fisk, at a date to be announced later.

Reagan Students Present Annual Music Festival

Playing before a packed house, the music department of the Reagan Junior high school presented its annual spring festival Wednesday evening at the Memorial auditorium, under the direction of Miss Rachel Davis, head of the music department at Reagan.

The musicale was offered before a court assembly of J. L. Creacy and Gertrude Fields, king and queen of Reagan, and their honor guests, Louis Bond and Elta Rose Franklin, king and queen of the high school and Junior college, Theodore Bratton and Betty Hargett, king and queen of Zundelowitz, and dukes and duchesses from the elementary schools of the city.

Part one of the program consisted of orchestra selections by the Reagan Junior high orchestra and the court musicians, while part two was a representation of countries of the world by melody and dance, with over 300 students taking part. Foreign countries represented were England, Ireland, Norway, Scotland, Sweden, Germany, Denmark, Russia, France, Italy, Holland, Japan, Spain and Mexico. American musical selections included Indian melodies, colonial music, negro spirituals, Texas songs and United States marches.

BILL JOHNSON TAKES STAND

Hamlin Marshall Tells Of Fatal Shooting

Special to The Record News

ANSON, Texas, May 13. W. H. (Bill) Johnson, Hamlin city marshal, on trial for the murder of Stonewall W. Parker Wednesday afternoon told a jury in district court here that he fired at the ground when Parker fled from custody at the door of the Hamlin jail on April 2.

Testimony in the trial was closed at 5:15 Wednesday afternoon. The case will reach the jury after the court's charge and arguments Thursday morning.

Defense witnesses Wednesday afternoon told of finding a hole in the ground about 15 feet from where Johnson fired and Dr. A. G. Pardue, Hamlin, said examination of the wound in the back of Parker's head indicated that the bullet had struck another object before penetrating the skull. The physician said the wound was oblong in shape, the bullet had split, and its course had been upward.

W. W. Collier, eyewitness, testified that Johnson shot toward the ground when Parker, arrested for the forgery of a one dollar check, fled from the jail. John Walker told of finding a hole in the ground where a projectile had penetrated to a depth of five inches. Similar testimony was offered by Tom B. Vaughan, J. D. Roundtree, and C. W. Neidecken.

A procession of character witnesses from Hamlin, both men and women, testified in the officers behalf during the afternoon. They vouched for Johnson's integrity and peaceful, law-abiding reputation.

Johnson, on the stand four times during the day, said he had no intention of hitting Parker. He denied the testimony of L. M. Hamrick, Parker's brother-in-law, who said the officer had told him he was "going to get Parker out of the way" if he had any other trouble with him.

Johnson also contradicted the testimony of Ruby Parker, 6-year-old daughter of the slain man, who Wednesday morning said her father and Johnson left the Parker home quarreling on the day of the arrest. The defendant said the child was not in the room and denied that he had hurried Parker off to jail without granting his request for time to change his clothing.

Under persistent questioning and repeated calls back to the stand, the officer showed signs of nervousness before the grilling was closed.

LUBBOCK, May 13. (AP)—Despondency over a failing grade in one of her school studies was blamed for the death at Pauline Neyland, 13, of Littlefield here tonight.

The girl drank more than a half pint of disinfectant at her home in Littlefield Monday.

She was unconscious when she was discovered in the bathroom of the Neyland home. The girl was given first aid treatment at Littlefield and then rushed to Lubbock.

For Wives Who Want Something Different in Coffee!

Folger's Coffee is packed in Vacuum tins. This means that it is ALWAYS fresh. You will never taste the rancid oils of stale coffee. It always comes to you as fresh as the hour it was roasted.

Try this Rare Flavor of Coffees from the West Coast of Central America..

Twice the Richness—Twice the Flavor

IF more wives knew what every coffee expert does, 3 out of 5 would serve an entirely different kind of coffee, say domestic science authorities.

For there is a new, rare flavor in coffee that is captivating the world. Literally spoiling men's taste for ordinary kinds. It comes from certain tiny mountain districts along the West Coast of Central America. A region where Nature produces coffees utterly unlike any you ever tasted before. Coffees with a rare tang and rich mellow flavor that, world experts concede, have no equal today. Coffees anyone can drink without anxiety because Nature leaves out the "rough" offensive oils.

If you want a real change, just try it. See for yourself what a difference there can be in coffee.

Introduced By Folger

Years ago Central American coffee was first served in the famous Bohemian restaurants of San Francisco, where it was introduced by Folger. Travelers tasting it there were captivated by its unusual flavor. Flavor produced by a peculiar combination of rich volcanic soil, altitude, sun's rays and tropic rainfall—that is found nowhere else in the world.

The Folger Test

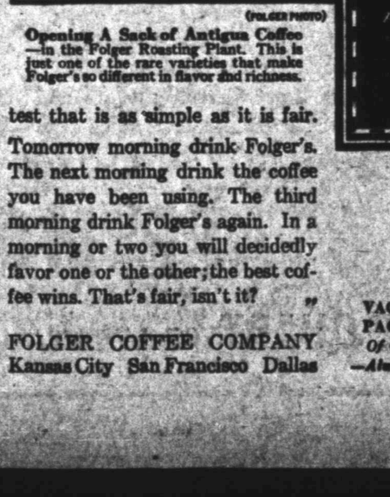

Would you like to see for yourself just how different these coffees are—in richness and in flavor? Here's a test that is as simple as it is fair. Tomorrow morning drink Folger's. The next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning drink Folger's again. In a morning or two you will decidedly favor one or the other; the best coffee wins. That's fair, isn't it?

Our Abou Ben Adhem Made Charity a Science What Horace Said Poor Prof Overstreet

By EMILE GAUVREAU

R. W. deForest, philanthropist, art patron, lawyer and president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, has joined the phantom caravan at 83. In this man you have a modern Abou Ben Adhem. Many will remember him for his work in the museum and for his donation of the wing that bears his name. But the memorial which reflects most credit on his life and character is his service to the "science of charity." This he helped to establish.

Many years ago when charity was still a patronizing dole to the unfortunate, and poverty looked upon as a necessary evil, he said: "Real charity is not so much the immediate relief of poverty as the prevention of the causes of poverty. Sickness and lack of moral fibre are among the chief causes, and they may be largely eliminated by an improvement of living conditions and measures to prevent illness."

This rare personality, whose birthplace, home and center of activities was the City of New York, stood for all that is best in American life. Dwight Morrow, who chooses his words carefully, says of him: "Other men will carry on his work, but his place cannot be filled."

Men of the deForest type are rare. They are fittingly described in Addison's translation of a stanza in one of Horace's odes:

"Should the whole frame of nature round him break
In ruin and confusion hurled,
He, unconcerned, would hear the mighty crack,
And stand secure amidst a falling world."

Harry A. Overstreet, a professor of philosophy at the College of the City of New York, views with editorial alarm the type of hero popularized in fiction by the Ernest Hemingway school. He calls this type a "sophisticated moron" and "lounge lizard," recommending in his place the kind of person that Lindbergh represents, or the "eugenically ideal man or woman." Professor Overstreet wants our writers to emphasize the "highest human qualities."

The professor forgets that a novelist, if he is worth his salt, does not write at dictation, nor in response to Chautauqua ideals, but from the overflow of his experience and wisdom. Ernest Hemingway saw death, savagery, disease, decay, disillusionment and the disaster of ideals on the war front, and he writes about them frankly, vividly. It is nothing short of infantalism to ask or expect him to give us papier-mache Alger heroes when he has fraternized with such real and human men as Lieutenant Henry.

The Harry A. Overstreet school of literature would put America back to the sixth grade, intellectually. We have enough Babbitts as it is, without stocking up books with them. The most vital and memorable characters in fiction: Raskalnikoff, Anna Karenina, Mme. Bovary, Tom Jones, Becky Sharp, Uriah Heep, Scrooge, were anything but patterns of virtue. They are great because they are true. A novelist who emasculates his characters or trims them for public circulation cannot inspire the respect of serious readers. Professor Overstreet, after such talk, should go out and soak his head.

The women in the United States again put the men to shame. This year's Pulitzer prize awards for the best novel and the play go to two women: Margaret Ayres Barnes, for her novel, "Years of Grace," and Susan G. Glaspell, for her play, "Alison's House." The three other important awards were won by men: Bernadotte E. Schmitt for the best American history, "The Coming of the War"; Henry James for the best American biography, "Charles W. Eliot"; and Robert Frost, for the best book of poems, "The Collected Poems of Robert Frost."

It is curious to observe that no New Yorker is represented in the current galaxy of winners. Mrs. Barnes and Mr. Schmitt are from Chicago. Miss Glaspell hails from Des Moines. Henry James, son of William James, is from Boston. Frost is from Vermont.

3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher education to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.

The British government has stopped giving free matches to members of the house of commons. Starting its economy move from scratch, apparently.

The fellow who frequents the speakeasies says he does it for "more-ale" support.

Justice for the Cop

AMERICANS generally do not have a very good opinion of their police.

Part of this is due to the prevalence of crime in the large cities, which has led to a fairly widespread belief—sometimes justified and sometimes not—that the police are inefficient and corrupt, unable to cope with gang leaders even if they wished to.

Part of it, too, probably comes from the fact that the ordinary citizen's chief contact with the police comes through the traffic officer. This functionary is usually overworked and harassed, and his temper, quite naturally, tends to be a short one. Mr. Average American, then, ruffled at getting scolded sharply for violating some traffic rule, judges the whole force by the officer who has rebuked him, and sets all policemen down as rude and unmannerly persons.

However, this isn't quite the whole story; and it is worth remembering that the ordinary cop is ready and willing to risk his life against long odds for the protection of the public. He does it repeatedly, and gets little credit for it.

There is, for instance, Patrolman Ernest Staab of Cleveland, who suffers from intermittent spells of sickness and labors against a curse of ill health that may eventually cut short his life because of his self-sacrifice and devotion to duty at the terrible Cleveland clinic fire two years ago.

Newspaper readers will remember that fire. The hospital building filled with deadly gas, and more than 100 people lost their lives. Patrolman Staab was one of the first officers to reach the scene. Again and again he went into the gas-filled building. Before he himself finally collapsed, he had saved 21 lives.

For weeks Staab was at the point of death. Finally he recovered—partially. He still has spells of painful sickness. He still does not know when one of these spells is going to carry him off. But he simply says, "It was my job," and asks for no sympathy.

There is an example of the way the "ordinary cop" rises to the emergency.

There are plenty more like him. There is, for instance, Patrolman Charles E. Ripley—promoted, now, to a sergeant—of Dover, N. J., who by his nerve and quickness was able to arrest James Nannery, a dangerous young thug for whom police of half a dozen states were hunting.

Staab and Ripley are not uncommon characters. They are fairly representative of the average policeman throughout the United States. They seldom get much credit. The ordinary citizen finds it easy to criticise them. But they are there when the emergency arises.

Tomato Prices in the Valley

"THE present crop of tomatoes is expected to last for the next three or four weeks and holders of various kinds of valley paper, from individual loans to buyers of county bonds, see great financial benefits in store," editorializes the Harlingen Morning Star. "Friday 52 carloads left the valley, bringing between $1,200 and $1,400 per car. Approximately $80,000 floated into the valley from the shipments of the day, a like amount for Saturday and promise is now given for 75 carloads this week with the price for the entire season not going below three cents a pound and hovering between that figure and four cents. Last week prices of five and six cents per pound prevailed; but it is held that should valley growers receive only three cents for the present crop a new profit will be realized."

There is prosperity in the valley. The Star tells its readers "bankers of the city and of the valley are preparing for and expecting the best business of the present period during the next two months." Valley dwellers are diversifiers. They plant and gather money-getting crops. They are not worried over low price cotton levels or low price wheat levels.

West Texas Ready for Wheat Harvest

SENATOR CLINTON SMALL, who knows the Panhandle country, the plains country, indeed, all sections of that empire lying to the westward of Fort Worth, predicts the largest yield of wheat ever known under the Texas skies. His advices are that unless something unforseen takes place the total yield may top 50,000,000 bushels and the minimum yield not less than 45,000,000 bushels. There are wheat growers who predict 40 bushels to the acre in many sections of western Texas. They know the yield is to be great but they are in doubt as to the price. It may go as high as 50 cents, they say, and may drop as low as the 40-cent mark. Harvesting will begin early in June and hundreds of unemployed are promised jobs while the season is on.

Speaking of wheat culture there are men away out in the West who say that it would be just as easy for that section of Texas to produce 200,000,000 bushels as 40 or 50 million bushels. Texas and Oklahoma growers promise to astonish the natives this year in the production of the golden grain.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

"Dear W. W.: I saw a sample jacket of "The Columnist Murder," the crime novel which Farrar-Rinehart plan to present in July. . . . It is a striking cover for a book, revealing a blood-strained finger pointing to an item such as appears in your quidnunc col'm . . . A blurb states: "A gossip item looked harmless, but three gruesome deaths followed!" . . . Have yourself a shiver . . . They say, however, that Lawrence Saunders (Burton Davis to you!) has done a thrilling job of it, but so far as I am concerned he will go down in literary history as being another novelist who turned yellow when it came to mentioning your name, when he meant you . . . He calls his central character "Tommy Twitchell" . . . How subtle! . . . At any rate, this is the book in which you are killed while in a phone booth during a performance of the "Follies" . . . By the way, Time, the magazine, phoned . . . Wanted to know if the time had not expired on the statement of six months ago in Zit's Weekly that you would be bumped off within six months . . . As soon as you come in rush upstairs to Mr. K. . . What have you done now?"

Basil Rathbone, the leading man in "Mello," showed a girl friend of mine a very amusing fan letter . . . It came from the husband of a woman who, after seeing the show, said to her husband: "Hmmm. That guy Rathbone can put his shoes in my trunk, anytime!" . . . So the husband wrote Rathbone urging him to please send his wife a pair of his old boots . . . A Mr. Foster of Pathe News phoned. He said they are making a series of talkies showing Broadwayites—"personalities" he calls them . . . He would like you to tell in a few hundred words just what is happening to Broadway . . . So I asked him how much money? . . . So he says back: "No money!" . . . So I says back: "No personality!" and hung up . . . I wouldn't have been so third-rate in my manners, but that shows you what contagious habits you have.

There appears to be a controversy about you going on in the "Letters to the Editor" col'm of the Cleveland News . . . Harold Ross is using a grand series of old-fashioned cartoons with modern slang captions . . . I am saving them . . . If you don't mind my bringing up the subject, you need a new suit of clothes . . . The double-breasted blue one has a terrific shine to it.

There appears to be a great to-do over the newest Lucky Strike ad because it states that women have Adam's apples in their throats, etc. . . . Newspaper readers have bombarded the ciggie firm with letters kidding them for their so-called boner . . . Well, you might include in Things You Never K. T. Now that women do have them . . . I got that from a medical authority . . . Rudy Vallee was guest columnist for your old paper today . . . The advance advertising about it stated that Rudy was going to slap back at his tormentors . . . He was very liberal with you, and slapped at nobody . . . You might kid Miss Vitray, the woman editor of that sheet, for writing: "I don't really suppose Diamond's murderers will be brought to justice this time, any more than they were the last time they murdered him!"

"E. A." is not Edward Anthony . . . The fastest trains are not in Canada, as you reported . . . The fastest train is one that runs from Philly to Atlantic City, or somewhere near there . . . You might tell the city desk about the row between L. Calhern, the actor, and Charles Hopkins, his manager . . . Stew stuff . . . Equity will hold a trial and do the necessary, if any, punishing . . . D. Vine, who says he used to play on the Pantages Circuit with you years ago, phoned to tell you the one about the little Joosh tailor in the Bronx . . . Mr. Vine started to introduce him to a friend and the dialectician objected with: "Pliss, Mr. Wine, dun't intromduce me to new pipple—I got enoush trouble wit' de pipple I know already!" . . . You owe Vanity Fair two articles, College Humor three, and both are very sore, too.

I see the Silver Slipper and the 300 Club have reopened . . . If the night club business gets any worse remember that I told you why . . . This is why: Nearly everybody is taking those glorious week-end trips on the better Cunard Liners . . . Imagine sailing for four days down to Bermuda and back on the Berengaria or Mauretania—first class yet . . . The fee is as low as $100 and as high as $600 . . . The food is grand, there are three dance orchestras, and they run their night clubs aboard ship the way they ought to be run . . . You can see the show free, and stay as long as you like, but of course, nearly everyone buys wine . . . You rarely encounter a Sunday school preacher aboard, so imagine the whoopee! . . . Today is when you should send your mother a check . . . Mark has the hives.

Various people have been phoning to tell you that nearly all the Brooklyn "L" stations offer the Majestic Theater's advertising which states: "The Road To Hell" (For Women Only!) . . . The moron, the merrier! . . . Did you know that a man sentenced to jail for 20 years to life is automatically divorced, as he is considered legally dead? . . . 'S true! . . . And if he is pardoned after 15 years, on such a sentence, he may marry again, without being a bigamist . . . An anonymous voice insisted I tell you that artists appearing on the Metropolitan Opera House stage for rehearsals are not permitted to wear hats, cloaks or tote canes . . . What do you care?

Use this if you like . . . It happened when Miss Joyce was playing at the Palace . . . After the matinee one day a dignified looking old gent in a weather-beaten suit approached her . . . "Hello, Miss Joyce!" he said . . . Peggy gave him the lorgnette and said: "I beg pahdin, but where did we meet?" . . . "Don't you remember me?" he asked breathlessly, "I had the pleasure of meeting you in Paris at the Raguna Hotel and I escorted you to the American Bar to meet Mr. Ray Goetz" . . . "Oh, yes," replied Peg, "I remember you now, you were Mr. Goetz's messenger boy." . . . Then she started to leave, . . . "I beg your pardon, Miss Joyce," was the dejected answer, "I was his backer—at the time" . . . Say! If you hear of a newspaper needing a columnist, put in a good word for me, will yuh?—R. C.

Caulfield Vetoes Bill To Prevent Lynchings

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 13. (INS)—That the state anti-lynching bill contained defects which Governor Caulfield believed would thwart the purpose of the measure was given today by the chief executive as his reason for vetoing it late yesterday.

The measure, which had received wide support in both houses, was introduced by Senator Kinney of St. Louis.

"An anti-lynching law should be enacted," the governor said, "but I feel I would have been derelict in my duty if I had signed the bill presented to me."

Q.—Who published the first editions of Bleak House and Little Dorrit?—J. M.

A.—They were published by Bradbury and Evans, Bleak House in 1853 and Little Dorrit in 1857.

Q.—Is the birch tree native to Missouri?—H. T.

A.—This variety of white-barked tree is not native to Missouri, but it is frequently seen in the state.

Q.—How many children are there of school age who, although not blind, see so little that special classes are needed for them?—C. B.

A.—There are about 50,000 children in the United States with such serious eye difficulties that, after everything else has been done for them, they either should not or can not make use of the regular school equipment; they comprise, fortunately, a comparatively small group averaging about one in 500 of the school population.

Q.—Please give a brief history of the submarine Hundley.—M. J.

A.—The Confederate submarine Hundley was a true diving craft with ballast tanks, diving planes, and driven by hand power. Each of her five trial trips met with serious accident and loss of some of her crew. General Beauregard determined to make a practical test against the northern blockade fleet on Feb. 17, 1864. Hundley blew up the U. S. S. Housatonic in Charleston harbor with a spar torpedo which struck her and exploded her magazine, but the Hundley went down with her victim.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Weight Control

Digging your grave with your teeth is a thing that can be done in three ways—by overeating, by eating too little and by eating unwisely. Diet, therefore, is a question of first importance to everyone, although too few people give it any serious consideration until they become actually ill, or until vanity impels them to attempt to get rid of excessive weight.

Except in cases where serious disease already exists, or where dissipation in other ways offsets the right use of food, the body weight and general health can be controlled definitely and easily by proper eating. You can learn all about this from the booklet on Weight Control now offered readers of the Record-News.

"Saint Anthony's Fire"

Saint Anthony was credited with many miraculous cures of those who appealed to him during the scourge of erysipelas which swept over France in 1089. From this the disease won its popular name of "St. Anthony's Fire," but it is now called erysipelas.

This is an inflammation of the skin which causes a very striking shininess which may be almost like glass. A patient writes in: "My skin is so shiny you can almost see your face on it." She paints a perfect picture of erysipelas. "The skin over my nose and cheeks is inflamed, red, feels hot when I touch it, seems tight and stretched, itches and burns, hurts when I press it, and there is a swollen area, which is an ugly red and is raised above the rest of the skin, with small blisters on it, and two or three little abscesses with pus, albumin is showing in the urine, I have had a high fever, and cannot sleep at night."

Erysipelas usually begins on the face but may come elsewhere on the body, and the inflammation of the skin with the red patch is accompanied by a definite toxemia and a high fever. The redness shows on the first day and by the second day it will have spread, when the rest of the face may be so swollen that it is hard to recognize the features.

While this a germ disease, the underlying cause is a systemic toxemia and those whose resistance is normal will not be bothered by the germ. Erysipelas is very contagious. Osler maintains that a doctor who has been near a case of erysipelas should not be present at a confinement, as this disease is frequently contracted by women after delivery. It is occasionally known to follow an operation, frequently accompanies Bright's disease and the weaknesses due to age. Most cases come in spring and the disease is known all over the world.

An average attack will last about 10 days and is self-limited, that is the patient will usually recover even if nothing is done. However, those who have one attack usually have others, as many as 20 of them appearing, unless the patient is willing to remove the basic cause; then he will be safe from subsequent attacks.

The true cause of this disease is the presence of bodily poisons or toxins. In every case there must be a systemic acidosis present in the body before the bacteria can find a suitable breeding ground. Such acidosis is due to improper food and wrong food combinations. The patient is really in a condition of chronic poisoning. To cure the erysipelas it is necessary to treat deeper than the skin and to eliminate the underlying toxic condition of the body. The fever also indicates a bodily toxemia and the purpose of the fever is to assist in burning up these poisonous wastes.

The right treatment is very simple and will lessen the time of the attack and keep the patient from feeling so weak after the fever has left. The first thing is to stop all food. Give plenty of water to drink. Keep the patient on either an orange juice or plain water fast, giving the orange juice once every two hours. If the strict fast is kept up with daily enemas, the fever will go down within three or four days. Keep the affected parts clean and the itching and burning can be soothed somewhat by the application of wet cloths wrung out of cold water. This remedy is still good, having stood the test of time since Hippocrates, "the father of medicine," first recommended it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mongolian Type

Question—H. K. writes: "I was reading your answer in this column to a woman who wanted to know about her little girl. You said the child was of the Mongolian type, and I am at a loss to know just what that is. Would appreciate it if you will explain what is meant by that."

Answer—The Mongolian type is a certain type of idiocy. This has nothing to do with orientals, but is congenital idiocy, with marked liveliness and imitativeness, flattened skull with an oblique eye slant, mobile hips, short thumbs and little fingers. It is associated with the lack of thyroid secretion, but does not exactly resemble cretinism.

Popcorn

Question—B. A. asks: "Is there any food value in popcorn? If so what?"

Answer—There are a great many caloric or heat units in popcorn, the food value consisting mostly of starch.

Headache

Question—"Will you please tell me what might be the cause of a headache in and just above the eyes after meals?"

Answer—The kind of headache you write about is usually caused from an irritation of the gastro-intestinal tract, as in gatritis, duodenitis, or colitis. Bad mixture of foods which produce stomach irritation are perhaps the most responsible for the sudden headache just after the meal.

GASOLINE CUT

NEW YORK, May 13. (AP)—The Standard Oil company of New York has made a reduction of half a cent a gallon in tank car gasoline, making the new prices six cents in New York harbor, 6¼ cents at Boston and Providence, and 6½ cents at Portland, Maine.

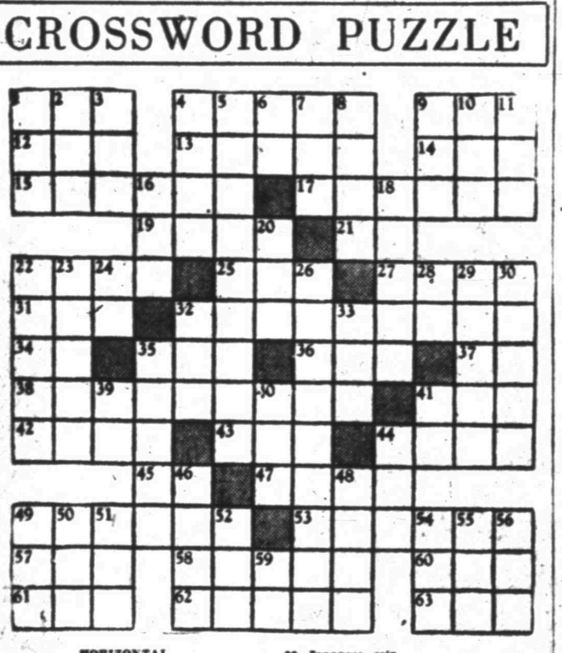

Standard Oil company of New Jersey is quoting 5¾ cents a gallon for bulk gasoline in New York harbor, although sales have been made at 6 cents.

SPUDDERS ROUT REDSKINS AFTER BITTER STRUGGLE, 12 TO 7

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

The sad news reaches the Rambler that Ziggy Sears, former battling Texas league war-horse and of late an umpire on Prexy Gardner's staff, is under the impression that he is disliked in Wichita Falls.

It even comes to me from an authoritative source that while on the train headed for this city the other day he remarked: "Well, I'm going to Wichita Falls, where no one likes me."

We rise to a point of personal privilege, and to a temperature of 109, and proclaim that such a statement is untrue. We believe that Sears is one of the most competent bluecoats that ever howled behind a plate or presided at the sacks, and we will go further and say that fans of this section are getting more than their money's worth when old Ziggy is having a part in the direction of a contest at Spudder park.

For this reason: He is the type of umpire that fans like to disagree with.

Now, that may sound a little queer, but a little reflection will prove that there are two distinct types of umpires, the kind you get a kick out of arguing with, and the kind who are so wrapped up in their responsibility that they become downright disagreeable. The fan in the stands doesn't have to wait long before he knows whether he'll have a good time that day disagreeing with the ump.

If, when the fan blares forth, the umpire looks fierce, but at the same time reveals a little sparkle of merriment, the fan will have a great day. If the ump gives indication of boiling over, the fan will want to know what kinda fellows the league is hiring, anyway.

Ziggy is the kind of guy who takes his job seriously enough to give it all his thought and attention, but who at the same time realizes that whether it is written in his contract or not, he must withstand just so much razzing every day. It is his ability to let this razzing go in one ear and out the other that makes him popular. The fans like to disagree with him, because he fights back, not violently enough to completely subdue the fan, but just enough to make Mr. Fan want to try once again to get old Ziggy's goat.

So far as we know Mr. Fan has never obtained possession of said goat, and he probably never will.

We think Mr. Gardner is very lucky to have not only Ziggy Sears, but all of Ziggy's partners in crime in the bluecoat brigade this year, for they all are very self-controlled when their decisions are disputed. And believe me, mister, some of them are certainly disputed!

And in paying these lofty compliments to Mr. Gardner's bluecoats I want to add that broadminded as I self-allegedly am, I find great numbers of things wrong not only with Mr. Sears, but several of his mates. But that is not the point. The point is, do I feel important and satisfied in believing I'm right and the ump's wrong? I must admit that I do, and I believe most other fans do, too.

That feeling of importance that we get in finding fault with the ump is due principally to one thing (and this is another bouquet for the umps), as follows: It must be admitted, painfully or otherwise, that most of the time Ziggy Sears, et al, are right. Hence the real, honest-to-goodness baseball fan is always looking for a loophole in their decisions. If they weren't experts in their line it would be no fun finding fault with them. It's the thrones of the big boys we like to topple, not those of the little boys.

We had one grand and glorious opportunity to cross swords with old Ziggy, and that was last fall, in the lamented play-off with Fort Worth. You remember—when Euller's hoist to right bounced behind the right field bleachers—Ziggy said the ball was never out of his sight and ruled it was no home run?

The population hereabouts was certainly on Ziggy's trail after that, armed with broadsword and hand grenades. We still believe Ziggy was wrong, but we'll have to admit now that it's all ancient history, that we admire the way he stuck by his guns.

Maybe it was on account of the uproar he caused that day that Ziggy thinks he is disliked here. Well, Ziggy, you are all wrong. You're a good scout and we like you up in this neck of the woods. Without you behind the plate to absorb some of the pent-up wrath of the loyal Wichitans in the stands that fatal play-off game wouldn't have been a success at all.

Henry Cotton Ahead In British Pro Tournament

SOUTHPORT, England, May 13. (AP)—Young Henry Cotton, whose quarrel with the British Ryder cup team selection committee featured the early British golf season, today led the field in the $7,500 Southport professional golf tournament, his first round 70 being a stroke better than the score of Horton Smith, the young Missourian.

Cotton played fine golf but was fortunate in starting early before rain and wind complicated the play. Smith finished his round with a strong wind blowing.

The three Americans competing with Smith in the tournament all were well up with the leaders at the end of the first round. Joe Kirkwood being tied with seven others for third place at 72 and Joe Turnesa and Tony Manero getting 73's.

Syd Easterbrook, who is fighting for the Ryder cup team berth that Cotton scorned, tied with Smith for second place at 71.

Among the eight in third place with Kirkwood were two Ryder team players, Charles Whitcombe, the captain, and Archie Compston. Ted Ray, the aged British professional, also was in that select group as was Marco Churio, one of four Argentine players in the tournament. The other three at 72 were Rufus Stewart, Moses O'Neil and Ernest Kenyon.

TRIBE CRUSHED AFTER RALLY

Les Stars in Early Rounds; Series Closes Today

By FRED THOMPSON

Out on the frontier, in the badlands, a great battle was fought yesterday, between the Spudder pioneers and the stubborn Redskins. The battleground was a rough one, being wholly in the second, or more uncivilized division, and the contestants were as tough as their surroundings. The valiant pioneers flocked around their leader, Lester White, and stormed the Indian stronghold, driving the Indian leader, old Tom Estell, from his high hillock. But the Braves rallied, fitted a new flock of arrows in their bows, chose another leader, old Sitting Bull Moore, the Oklahoma Comanche, and routed Lester White and his long rifles. The pioneers ran for cover and held a brisk election, naming Dick Florrid as the new leader. And Florrid and his war-weary mates finally triumphed, routing two more Indian leaders, Ted Blankenship and Walker, to finally call the victory theirs.

The score was 12 to 7 in favor of the Spudders, and around the camp-fire after the firing had ceased the victors banded together and decided to give White credit for the win, as he led the early and more severe attacks and kept the enemy from an equal footing despite his topple from the leadership.

Soldier's Luck

White pitched a grand game of baseball until his collapse, which was as sudden as it was complete. The Indians got two hits and one run off him in the first, but for five innings thereafter he made that ferocious gang of Indians look as tame as a flock of hot-house geese, allowing them not one single blow in the five frames. But in the seventh he wilted, and made no bones about it. They got one hit after another until five had been made, driving in four runs and putting the Indians just one run behind, for the Spudders meanwhile had scored six. Florrid checked the seventh inning rally and when his mates came to bat in the last of the seventh they pounded Blankenship and Walker for four blows, including Badgro's double which emptied three well-occupied sacks, and scored their other six runs. The Indians returned in the ninth to score two more, but by that time their war department was already on its way to the pioneers' headquarters with a sample copy of a treaty of peace.

The struggle will be concluded today, with the scene of the battle being still in the badlands, neither side having the luck of the more fortunate baseball teams who conduct their battles in the groomed pastures of the first division. Wednesday's victory evened the count between the teams, the Tribe having won the series opener Tuesday.

Garms Triples

The Indians took an early lead in the first when Flaskamper, first up, doubled to right center and came home on Chubby Orr's single to left. Chubby went to second on the throw-in. Sanguinet flied out to Fuss and Stebbins' infield out allowed Chubby to take third, but Hamilton hoisted to Gullic for the third out.

Garms tripled off the scoreboard to give the Spudder half a reassuring opening. Then the Spuds tied the score when Stanton sailed one to right center for a single, bringing Garms in. Edwards, Indian center fielder, made a great play on Stanton's hit, which clearly was labeled for a double. Gullic fouled out to third and Badgro flied out to right to strand Stanton on first.

Lester let the Tribe down with ease in the first of the second. Garms threw out Edwards and De Viveiros and after Heath had walked Allday made a dive over the right field foul line to catch Estell's pop. The Spuds resumed hostilities in their half. Fuss got to second when Sanguinet dropped his high fly to right center, and Scharein came through with a double in the same direction to score Fuss. Bradbury then singled to center, scoring Scharein. White sacrificed Bradbury to second, third to first. Garms drew a walk. Allday dropped a Texas leaguer to right and Garms was thrown out when he overran second, right field to short, Bradbury taking third on the play. Stanton blazed a double down the right field foul line, scoring Bradbury and Allday, and Estell was relieved by Moore, who forced Gullic to ground out third to first and retire the side.

Badgro Scores

White walked Flaskamper to open the third, but Orr lined out to Allday, and Sanguinet hit into a double play, Scharein to Allday to Stanton. Badgro opened the Spudder half with a double to left. Fuss grounded out, short to first, Badgro taking third. Scharein was called out on strikes, but Bradbury dropped a Texas leaguer over short, scoring Badgro. White grounded out, short to first, retiring the side.

In the fourth, the Tribe again went out in order, Stebbins hoisting to Gullic, White tossing out Hamilton and Garms tending to Edwards. When the Spuds came up Garms and Allday were retired by the infield. Stanton doubled to left, but Moore struck Gullic out.

Bradbury made a great catch of De Viveiros' foul against the grandstand wire to open the fifth, and Garms and Allday retired Heath and Moore in order for the other two outs. Badgro's single past third opened the Spudder half, but Fuss hit into a double play, short to second to first. De Viveiros' boot gave Scharein a life, but he was thrown out stealing, catcher to second.

One of the prettiest double plays of the year disposed of the first two Indians in the sixth. After Flaskamper had walked, Orr grounded one just to the right of the second sack, Allday making a quick toss to Scharein to get Flaskamper and Scoop making a wicked throw to first to retire Chubby. Allday threw Sanguinet out at first. The Spuds finally got some of their own medicine in their half, when three went up and three went down. Bradbury grounded out, second to first, White flied out to center, and Garms grounded out, third to first.

Indians Rally

The Tribe got its third hit of the contest when Stebbins opened the seventh with a single to center. It was followed by another, Garms knocking down Hamilton's line drive, which was too hot to handle. Stebbins went to second on the play. Edwards then singled to left, scoring Stebbins and advancing Hamilton to second. The latter took third when White made a wild pitch. De Viveiros lined a hot single through the box, scoring Hamilton, and when Garms failed to catch Gullic's throw-in from center, allowing the ball to go into the Spudder dugout, Edwards scored and De Viveiros went to third. Heath fouled out to Bradbury, but Nash, batting for Moore, doubled to center, scoring De Viveiros. This sudden barrage was enough to dispose of White and Florrid relieved him. Flaskamper flied out to Badgro. Florrid walked Orr, but forced Sanguinet to pop up to Scharein in shallow center to finally retire the side after the spirited rally had netted four runs to put the Tribe only one run behind.

Blankenship was in the box when the Spuds came to bat in the last of the seventh. Allday beat out an infield hit to short. Stanton walked, Bear going to second. Gullic also walked to load the sacks and Robby jerked Blankenship, replacing him with Walker. Red Badgro then came through with a high double to center to unload the paths, Allday, Stanton and Gullic scoring. Fuss singled to center to score Badgro, and Scharein followed with a triple down the right field foul line, scoring Fuss. Nobody was out and the Spuds were running wild. The first out was made when Bradbury flied to center, Scharein scoring after the catch. Florrid was called out on strikes and Garms flied out to right to end the slaughter after the Spuds had scored six runs and again assumed a comfortable lead.

Last Charge Fails

Florrid got out of a hole in the first of the eighth. Stebbins walked. Hamilton popped up to Allday in right. Garms threw wide to first and Edwards was safe, Stebbins going to second. De Viveiros flied out to Gullic, and Heath hoisted to Badgro. To open the home half, Allday fouled out to the catcher. Stanton sailed one to the right field boards but was out trying to stretch it into a triple, right field to second to third. Gullic followed with his first hit of the day, a single to left, but Badgro grounded out to first unassisted.

Bouton batted for Walker in the first of the ninth, and Florrid walked him. Flaskamper singled to right, Bouton taking third. Orr struck out. Sanguinet doubled down the left field foul line, scoring Bouton and advancing Flaskamper to third. Stebbins grounded out, Allday to Stanton, Flaskamper scoring and Sanguinet taking third. Hamilton grounded out, Scharein to Stanton, and the game was over.

Field of More Than 12 or 14 Seems Assured for 1931 Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13. (AP)—Now that all preliminary races have been run by Kentucky eligibles and nothing remains for them to complete their training but short workouts, indications today were perhaps not more than 12 or 14 3-year-olds will face the post in the $50,000 added race Saturday.

Equipoise, leading 2-year-old money winner, worked the longest distance today, breezing a mile and an eighth in the mud in 2:02 2-5. Up and Ladder worked shorter distances. Twenty Grand and other candidates will be given their final workouts tomorrow, and Friday all candidates will be sent through warming up gallops.

Latest speculation as to the Derby field follows: Mate, Twenty Grand, Surf Board, Anchors Aweigh, Equipoise, Ladder, Sweep All, Pittsburgher, Insco, Spanish Play, Boys Howdy, Up, Don Leon and Prince d'Amour. Of these 14 crack colts, Don Leon and Prince d'Amour were considered doubtful starters because of their lack of form evidenced while training here.

CLOCK TOWER WINS AT SOUTHAMPTON

NEW YORK, May 13. (AP)—One of the turf's unusuals occurred at Jamaica today, when six high class 3-year-olds were required to run the Southampton twice before Morton L. Schwartz's Clock Tower, pace setter in the Preakness, was declared official winner.

C. V. Whitney's Rideaway showed the way over the first trip of the mile and one-sixteenth journey with Clock Tower second, but the stewards declared a false start due to the mechanical device controlling the barrier having released itself. In the re-run, Clock Tower, which had got away lengths back of the field in the first running, set all of the pace to nose out Rideaway with Polydorus taking down third money.

Cooperation Between Mission Workers Urged

WASHINGTON, May 13. (US)—Stressing the lack of funds, Rev. G. W. Haddaway, of Baltimore, executive secretary of the board of missions today appealed for better financial cooperation in home and foreign missionary fields in an address before the annual convention of the Methodist Protestant church.

The church has a total Far East membership of 5,000 and property valued at $660,000 in foreign fields, he said.

DIZZY DEAN WHIPS SPORTS

Buffs Win, 6 to 2, in Night Game

SHREVEPORT, La., May 13. (AP)—One big inning when five hits scored five runs gave the Houston Buffs the second game of the series with the Sports, 6 to 2. Dizzy Dean kept the Sports' hits well scattered. Only 18 batters faced Abe Miller of the Sports in the last six innings. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 13. (AP)—Cotton was generally lower today. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 12 to 16 points. The better weather outlook, lower Liverpool cables than expected on the New York close of yesterday, and the opening decline in the stock market caused early declines.

The market later recovered about half its early losses. The demand was by no means active, however, and prices eased again in the later trading under southern selling and a renewal of liquidation or local pressure, promoted by the closing weakness of stocks. October sold off to 10.15 under these late offerings and closing prices were at the lowest of the day.

The weekly report of the weather bureau attracted more or less bullish comment owing to its mention of recent unfavorable conditions and was characterized by some of the local traders as the most unfavorable so far this season.

Liverpool cables reported continental and Bombay liquidation in that market.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 13. (AP)—There was slightly more activity in the cotton market here today, but prices were irregular and erratic. The close was barely steady with the general market showing net losses for the day of 9 to 13 points.

Liverpool came in 5 to 7 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that there was local, continental and Bombay liquidation coupled with absence of support. Manchester cables that business in cloth and yarns was small with more machinery stopping.

The weekly weather report proving quite as bullish as expected and early prices rallied some and continued to gain as the stock market showed some improvement. On selling by ring traders and some long liquidation prices dropped back to July 9.81 and October at 10.15 and closed at or near the bottom with July showing a net loss for the day of 11 points and October at net loss of 13 points.

Late Selling Raids Wipe Out Encouraging Early Advances

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 13. (US)—The stock market displayed signs of encouraging firmness during the greater part of today's session, only to suffer a sharp setback toward the close when a wave of selling appeared in some of the leaders. Net declines for the day, however, were limited mostly to one or two points.

It was difficult to trace the source of the late selling, which was concentrated in the last quarter-hour, although the usual explanation of bear selling was advanced. There was noticeable thoroughout the day, however, continued aggressive constructive sponsorship of several recently favored issues.

The railroad stocks were particularly subjected to selling pressure and as a group sold down to the lowest price level since June, 1924.

Trading continued on a modest scale, the turnover involving 1,600,000 shares.

New York Central again sold down to a new low, and its continued weakness affected the entire rail group. For several hours, however, the general list, aside from the Rails, was inclined to ignore their weakness, until the last-minute offerings weakened prices.

Alaska Juneau and Woolworth provided the outstanding bull performances, both rising to new high prices for several years. Juneau, a gold-mining issue, has been most aggressively sponsored by a pool comprising some of the supposedly most active bears. Some of the pool participants acquired Juneau at prices ranging down below $5 a share, or one-third of its present price.

Woolworth, which attained the best price level since prior to the 1929 panic, was favored by official announcement that plans for a special distribution to stockholders are under consideration by the directors. Although details of the plan are lacking, the directors, it was announced, plan action with respect to Woolworth's English subsidiary. It was on expectation of such melon-cutting that the recent buying of the stock was based.

The late reaction in prices centered about U. S. Steel common and this stock was hammered down to a new low price at 109¼. It is obvious that only moderate investment buying is taking place in this premier industrial, because of the danger to the dividend unless conditions improve. From current levels down, however, there is likely to be an increasing demand for the shares, but only on a scale. Important buying seemingly is awaiting more definite indications with respect to the dividend.

The anticipated short squeeze in Case Threshing developed but succeeded in advancing the stock only moderately; it reacted with the general list but the short account is reported to have been somewhat enlarged. Westinghouse Electric met sufficient short-covering to close it the smallest fraction higher on the day. Vanadium was another stock to display signs of continued short covering. This issue, for many months a speculative football, has recently been unusually modest in its price fluctuations, as if the various speculative groups usually active in the stock were maneuvering for renewal of large-scale activities. The stock is known to have met substantial short covering. Chrysler was a strong spot among automobile shares.

The bulls undoubtedly find it difficult to gain a firm foothold from which they might inaugurate another sizeable rally. The general tendency of conservative interests is to await issuance of the second quarter reports, which obviously will be extremely discouraging, before resuming substantial buying.

On the other hand, however, are the bullishly-inclined speculative interests anxious to become actively and aggressively identified with a bull movement. It is known, as already disclosed here, that various new pools have been organized and await only signs of cheer from the market itself, such as maintained firmness, to commence activities. In this respect, it was reported that a new bull group had been organized in Westinghouse, which is known to harbor a large short account; Radio also is understood to be reflecting more confident bull sponsorship. Worthington Pump, a prime favorite of the bull rise early this year, is understood to be attracting more friendly notice from aggressive bulls.

One thing is certain: the number of big bear operators now active in the market is the smallest in months. A good deal of the current liquidation is coming from a source generally recognized as one of the "situations" which had aroused considerable anxiety around the end of last year, so that the selling now is the fag-end of this affair.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 13. (AP)—Influenced largely by spreading operations that consisted of simultaneous buying of wheat and selling of corn, wheat averaged higher today and corn lower. Indications of continued moisture shortage in spring wheat territory, both Canadian and American, stimulated wheat buying. Corn was sold on account of larger receipts west and southwest, with better weather for field work in the corn belt and for newly planted grain.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅛ cent off to ⅛c up, corn 7⅛@1⅛c down, oats unchanged to ⅛@⅛c decline, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 5 cents.

Prospective reduction of 8 per cent in Canadian spring wheat acreage also was announced, and fears were expressed that cut worms would menace one-fourth of the main Canadian wheat region.

Considerable purchasing of wheat here against sales at Winnipeg was a feature. Notice was taken also of Australian advices of excessive rains which had interrupted sowing operations, and had made the Australian crop outlook poor. Overseas purchases of 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were reported, and there were indications that United States hard winter wheat too was being taken in fair volume for transatlantic countries. Oats were bearishly affected by word that new oats had arrived in San Antonio, Texas, the first of the season.

Provisions weakened, responsive to downturns in hog values and also to the drop in corn.

Closing indemnities—Wheat: July 63¼c, 64⅝@⅛c; Sept. 62⅛@¼c, 63⅝c; Dec. 65⅝c, 66⅝c. Corn: May 60⅝c, offers: July 59⅝@⅞c, 61⅛@¼c; Sept. 58, 59⅝@⅝c; Dec. 50⅝c, 51⅞c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 13. (US)—Not many days of high temperatures and clear skies in the northwest would be required to stimulate a more active buying interest in the wheat market, traders felt today. While as yet no real damage is thought to have been done, each day that passes without rain makes the situation that much more percarious.

Revival of buying interest from continental importers was another tonic to the wheat market. Their support has been absent for two days following the Monday figures which showed ample nearby supplies.

While the weather is responsible for erratic fluctuations in corn, traders in that market continue to eye the possibilities of a tight situation in the July.

Weather was not the only depressing feature in corn, however. The country has been offering somewhat more freely on the advance. Primary receipts today were 532,000 bushels, compared with 386,000 the corresponding day a year ago.

TRADE TREND

(By The Associated Press)

BUILDING—Bradstreet's believes that construction probably will be one of the first major industries to recover from the depression. The forecast was based on building permits in 215 cities in the United States showing an increase of 6.4 per cent from March to April, against an average seasonal decrease of 1.5 per cent. April this year showed an increase of 57.5 per cent over January, as against an average seasonal increase of 51.6 per cent. The April total, as reported to Bradstreet's from 215 cities, was $151,206,846 against $142,107,807 in March this year and $179,811,014 in April a year ago.

COPPER—A reduction of a quarter of a cent a pound in the export price of copper stimulated demand and buying for foreign account rose to 3,000,000 pounds in half a day's session. The reduction brought the export price to 9.525 cents a pound, c. i. f. European base ports, on a party with 9¼ cent copper in the domestic market. Domestic copper continued available at 9 cents but buying was small.

SILVER—Bar silver maintained its strength in the two primary markets, advancing an eighth of a cent in New York to 28⅝ cents an ounce, and a sixteenth of a penny in London to 13 3-16 pence.

STEEL—The Iron Age Review finds that the gradual decline in steel ingot output which began late in March has been arrested, and that production for the country at large continues unchanged this week at 47 per cent of capacity. Factors listed by the review as having done most to check the downward trend of steel demand are a better performance by the automobile industry than had been expected and a larger movement of structural steel, reinforcing bars and line pipe.

ZINC—A better demand for prime zinc resulted in an increase in the price from 3.25 to 3.30 cents a pound, East St. Louis.

SEYMOUR CUTS WATER RATES

Reduction Voted to Aid Summer Gardens

Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, Texas, May 13.—At a meeting of the city council of Seymour, the new administration passed a measure lowering the water rate for Seymour. This new rate will be effective until Sept. 15. The move was made to encourage the making of more gardens and keeping the lawns in better shape. The minimum will be $1.50 for the first 5,000 gallons, and 15c per thousand gallons on all water used over the minimum. This is quite a reduction over the old rate.

Another matter was taken into consideration, that of passing the milk ordinance, which has been recommended by the federal and state health departments. This was not passed, but was discussed and will be taken up at the next meeting.

Marshall Pierson of the state health department was present and addressed the council, explaining the ordinance. This measure requires all sellers of milk in the city to label their milk according to grade and whether it is raw or pasteurized milk. The grade is determined by the condition of the cow, the barns, persons handling the milk, and the general conditions under which the milk is produced.

There's Drama in Jim McKee's Job

He keeps the Company "going" in his district

● Here's Jim McKee.

District Manager, is Jim. People work for him...people in a dozen towns where his company operates.

Jim's job...and their job...is to know the kind of telephone service you need, and want. And to see that you get it.

There's a man at the telephone office in charge of the wires and poles and switchboards.

There's another man in charge of the operators who handle calls.

But Jim McKee's there to deal with the public.

To explain to Mr. Muldoon, the plumber, the long distance bill he doesn't understand.

To tell Mr. Adams, the banker, what kind of telephone equipment will serve him best in the new bank building.

To see that Mrs. Tom Rice gets the convenience of an extension telephone in the guest room.

McKee keeps the company "going" in his district.

That means that he not only must see that you get good service, at reasonable cost...

But that, in order for you to continue to get good service at reasonable cost, the affairs of his exchanges are managed soundly and well. Collections up. Development high. No unnecessary expenses.

A big job—that!

It means that Jim McKee can't afford to make mistakes. It means that he has to know his district...has to know the people, know the business conditions, know what towns will grow and what towns won't. Has to know, from facts and figures, where new telephone plant should be built, and where it shouldn't.

And he does know.

He drives, in all kinds of weather, to remote parts of his district.

In offices and stores, he "talks shop" with business men. At Chamber of Commerce meetings, club meetings, he works with men interested in civic progress and development.

Works with them...and learns from them.

● Drama in his job?

Plenty! Sometimes he does the impossible, on a moment's notice.

Here's a newspaper. Editor wants special wires to report election returns...or to report a football game in another town. No wires available.

But Jim McKee has to get them. And he does!

He studies the problem. He sees the Plant Chief. He sees the Traffic Chief.

And here, Mr. Editor, are your circuits, ready to use!

Busy man, McKee!

He does a full day's work, every day, for the telephone company.

But comes time for the Community Fund drive. Or for the Orphan's Picnic.

Club president says, "Jim, you handle this committee...get the money, get the grounds, get the transportation."

Does Jim say, "Too busy!"

Not Jim!

"Sure," says he. "I'll do it."

And he does.

The telephone company has faith in Jim McKee.

He's "district manager" because he is a good business man—a good telephone man—above all a good citizen. Because he has vigor and judgment and vision.

When he decides, when he acts—he decides and acts for the company.

And the company knows he'll do what is best—best for it and best for the users of its service.

Thus Jim McKee.

Typical of hundreds of other district managers, busy about their tasks in telephone exchanges everywhere.

They bend their best efforts toward achievement of the Bell System goal: "...the best possible telephone service, at the least cost to the public consistent with financial safety."

STOUT GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

Wichitan Found Guilty Of Aggravated Assault

Two convictions were obtained by the state Wednesday in the 89th district court before Judge P. A. Martin, Ladonia (Big Boy) Stout drawing a five months' jail sentence for aggravated assault and Nelson Blair, negro, receiving a two-year penitentiary sentence for alleged assault with intent to rob.

Ladonia Stout was charged with having attacked his brother, Barney Stout, with an automobile piston and rod. Both brothers required hospital treatment after the fight, it was shown. The jury reduced the charge from one of assault to murder to aggravated assault.

The trial of Barney Riley, charged with the murder of Tom Hardin, world war veteran, near Burkburnett last fall, was set Wednesday afternoon for May 25. Miss Mildred Wade, material witness in the case, was brought before Judge Martin, and upon her declaration of inability to furnish bond, was released upon her own recognizance to appear in the local district court on the date named for the trial. Continuance of the case from a prior term of court was based upon her absence, it was said.

A motion offered by Buster Canady Wednesday for a second continuance of trial on a charge of theft over $50 was granted by the court, according to George W. Apderson, assistant district attorney.

Woman Files $1,000 Bond Pending Court Decision

According to an account given in Wednesday morning's Record News of Tuesday's activities in the 89th district court, Mrs. David Black, convicted of theft under $50 and sentenced to serve four months in jail, was released on her own recognizance "pending action on her motion for a new trial."

Both the defendant's attorney, from whom information was obtained, and District Attorney Sam B. Spence said Wednesday that the defendant was released on the same $1,000 bond under which she was at liberty pending trial.

MAJESTIC: "Dude Ranch" with Jack Oakie, Stuart Erwin, Mitzi Green and Eugene Pallette, Short subjects and sound news.

STRAND: Harry Carey and Edwina Booth in "Trader Horn," Mickey Mouse comedy and sound news.

GEM: "With Byrd at the South Pole." Comedy.

Jack Oakie contributes his naive grin and blank expression; Eugene Pallette looks and sounds like a Comanche; Stuart Erwin steals the show with his usual dumb display of pseudo-knowledge; Mitzi Green tries to be sophisticated though juvenile; and somebody endowed "Dude Ranch" with a thrilling story—well, what did you expect it to be—a funeral?

It isn't fair and it isn't possible to tell all the funniest spots—why ruin the effect of some really new gags? Those that like the cast will go anyhow, and the other two haven't the 50 cents.

Venturing a guess on the subject, I'd say that Mitzi Green probably got more kick out of doing "Dude Ranch" than anything else she's been in. She was in her element.

There is also a Bimbo cartoon, a musical novelty and sound news to complete a bill that should answer all this clamoring for "something nice and clean for the whole family."

By way of contrast, adults will be especially interested in "Seed," opening at the Strand Friday, which touches on the subjects of birth control and divorce, among other things. It is based on the novel by Charles G. Norris.

DANCE DELAYED

Closing Event of Junior C-C Social Season Set May 30

The final dance for the Junior chamber of commerce will be held Saturday, May 30, instead of Saturday, May 16, it was announced Wednesday by Henry Penix, chairman of the social committee.

The date has been set forward, it was explained, due to conflict with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Lubbock.

The dance will be held at the Wichita club. A bridge tournament will be held in conjunction.

Renditions on City Property Close May 15

A final warning that renditions on city and school taxes will not be accepted after Friday, May 15, was issued Wednesday by City Tax Collector W. Ralph Hyer.

Approximately 15 per cent of the taxpayers have not yet made renditions, Mr. Hyer said. If these renditions are not made, the property will be placed on the unknown list and members of the tax department will determine the assessment. The owner will also lose their right to appear before the board of equalization to contest the penalty, Mr. Hyer pointed out.

In making the announcement, Mr. Hyer especially urged the rendering of personal property.

Funeral services for Joe Gant, 25, who was killed Monday morning near Henderson, Texas, when he fell from an oil derrick, were held Wednesday afternoon from the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

The Rev. B. L. Baits, pastor of the church, officiated. Burial followed in the Lake Creek cemetery, which is located in Archer county on the Windthorst road. Arrangements were made by the Hines mortuary.

Mr. Gant was born and reared in this section, and was a member of a pioneer family of Wichita and Archer counties. At the time the accident which cost his life occurred he had been in the East Texas oil field 45 days.

Surviving Mr. Gant are the widow; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gant; two brothers, Charles and B. E. Gant; and a sister, Mrs. J. H. Douglas, all of Wichita Falls.

Soldier's Wife Held In Murder Inquiry

LAREDO, Texas, May 13. (AP)—Petra Lopez, wife of Corporal Francisco Mendoza Garcia, was held in jail at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, today for questioning in connection with the finding of a woman's body recently in an abandoned house in Nuevo Laredo.

Corporal Garcia was arrested Saturday in connection with the same case. Police advanced the theory that the woman met death by foul play.

Ramiro M. Ugarte, military doctor, who last lived in the house where the decomposed body was found, had returned to Monterrey but reported that Garcia was his assistant for eight months. He reported that Garcia asked to borrow 50 pesos, saying he wished to be married although Ugarte was aware Garcia had a wife living.

Police began investigating a theory that the dead woman was Garcia's wife, Petra Lopez, but she was found later, alive and was arrested. Garcia would make no statement.

State Sanitary Officer Inspects Rural Schools

Inspection of sanitary equipment of all rural schools in Wichita county was begun Wednesday by Jack T. Williams, representative of the state health department, and J. A. Hood, county school superintendent.

Pleasant Valley, Cashion, City View and Weeth schools were visited Wednesday, and according to Mr. Hood, systems of sanitation in use were found to comply with state requirements.

Friberg, Howard, Sunshine Hill and Barwise schools will be inspected Thursday, and on Friday Mr. Williams will inspect the Allendale and Cobb schools, it was announced.

Not only public schools, but tourist parks and other points of public gatherings are inspected regularly by the state health department, Mr. Williams said.

Slaying of Four Persons In Torreon Investigated

TORREON, Mexico, May 13. (AP)—The slaying of three men and a woman by Mexican bandits at the Raymundo resort near here was being investigated by police today. Six men were held on murder charges.

A servant, the only survivor of the attack, told police 15 men heavily armed, broke into the resort last Monday and demanded money.

Miguel and Vincente Ortega, owners of the place, resisted the bandits and were shot down. Mrs. Ortega and Juan Cruz attempted to escape and also were killed.

The six men held were arrested at Los Angeles ranch.

Defense Claims Victory In $25,000 Suit Here

Answers to more than 30 issues submitted in the $25,000 damage suit of Mrs. H. E. Carson and her husband against the Texas Pipe Line company were returned by a jury before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court Wednesday afternoon.

While defense attorneys declared that the answers assured a verdict in their favor, the decision of the court in the case was deferred until Thursday.

Mrs. Carson alleged in her petition that she suffered serious and permanent injuries when struck by an automobile of the defendant company while crossing the highway near Holliday in Archer county last October.

Junior C-C to Lead Next Industrial Tour Through Glass Factory Here

An industrial tour to the Ball Brothers Glass company will be conducted immediately following the Junior chamber of commerce luncheon which will be held Friday noon at the Wichita club, it was announced Wednesday.

Ralph Pond, chairman in charge of tours, announced that citizens of Wichita Falls, whether members of the Junior chamber of commerce or not, are urged and invited to visit the plant. The tours, he said, are in no sense strictly for members of the Junior chamber of commerce, but merely are arranged and conducted by that organization.

Those desiring to inspect the glass plant are invited to attend the luncheon Friday and join in the tour, or to gather at the Hamilton building at 1:15 p. m., where a bus will be provided by the North Texas Coaches for transportation.

A speaker for Friday's luncheon, it was announced, will be furnished from among several notables attending the convention of Christian churches here.

Last Rites Held For L. W. Brewster

Funeral services for L. W. Brewster, for 20 years a resident of Wichita Falls, were held Wednesday afternoon from the home, 1112 Polk street, with Dr. George P. Horst, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial was in Riverside with the Hines mortuary in charge.

Mr. Brewster died Monday while visiting his mother, Mrs. R. K. Brewster, in Oklahoma City. Although his health had not been good his death occurred suddenly. During his 20 years' residence in Wichita Falls he had been employed as teller or bookkeeper by the City National bank until two years ago when failing health caused his retirement.

Surviving are the widow, the mother and a brother, Mason Brewster, of Oklahoma City.

Cook in the 78th district court Wednesday dismissed the suit recently brought against John C. Murphree, R. C. Acuff and M. B. Cain to void their recent election as school trustees at Iowa Park.

The petition alleged that certain election officials had not paid their 1930 poll taxes. The plaintiff was represented by W. E. George, and the defendants by Thelbert Martin, Harvey Harris and Mr. Murphree.
