IOWA PARK MAN KILLED IN BATTLE

Lindgergh Injured In Crash But His Skill Saves Anne

FLIER SUFFERS INJURY TO ARM IN ACCIDENT

Physicians Reset Dislocated Shoulder; Fiancee Suffers Shock

SKILL SAVES LIVES

Landing With One Broken Wheel, Ace Prevents Worse Disaster

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27. (UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his dark haired fiancee, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, were saved from injury or death this afternoon by the famous aviator's skill, when their plane crashed and turned over as Lindbergh attempted to land it with one smashed wheel at Valbuena flying field.

Lindbergh's right shoulder was "slightly dislocated" and had to be reset. His wrist was bruised also.

Miss Morrow was not injured, although badly shaken and frightened.

Shoulder Reset

Lindbergh's shoulder was reset at the Lady Cowdray hospital, where he was taken after an unsuccessful attempt to administer anesthetic had been made at the embassy. The anesthetic was given the flier at the hospital while he had the shoulder reset.

Later he returned to the embassy and was able to sit up and talk over the mishap with his finances and her family. They were all disposed to discuss the accident in a joking manner.

Trip Is Mystery

A careful check of all communities in the vicinity of this federal district tonight failed to solve the mystery of where Lindbergh and his sweetheart landed this afternoon and lost the right wheel off their plane. Despite Lindbergh's silence on the landing place, it was believed that someone would have found the wheel and reported it if they had landed near the capital.

Lindbergh, his fiancee and her sister, Miss Elizabeth Morrow, arrived at the flying field just before dusk to inspect the plane. Miss Anne Morrow was still a bit pale. "I am all right; feeling fine," Lindbergh said.

They again declined to say where they had lost the wheel on the plane but after inspecting the damaged craft they took the articles that had been left in the plane and returned to the capital.

Girl Is Upset

Lindbergh—his face pale—laughed slightly as the two were assisted through the window of the battered plane, but Miss Morrow was plainly agitated and huddled against Lindbergh's shoulder as they entered an automobile to leave the flying field.

With Lindbergh driving they went direct to the residence of Miss Morrow's father, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, at the embassy. Officials at the field described the crash as "the narrowest escape."

An American physician, Dr. Sidney Unfelder, was summoned at 4:30 p. m. to examine both. He remained several hours, then came the announcement regarding the shoulder.

Pictures Destroyed

Embassy officials minimized the crash, which Lindbergh described as a "mishap" instead of an accident, and war department officials confiscated cameras and destroyed plates.

Lindbergh and Miss Morrow had left Valbuena field at 11:45 a. m. for an unannounced destination. They apparently were on a short pleasure trip, but their whereabouts

Senate Places Final Okeh On State Bonds

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Supporters of the highway bond proposal today mustered 21 votes in the senate, the exact number necessary for final passage.

The resolution calling for referendum of a constitutional amendment was passed finally with 21 ayes, seven nos, one present and not voting and two absent.

The resolution must receive 100 votes of the 150 house members before the proposed amendment can be submitted to the people. If it passes both houses it will be submitted to an election on July 2.

With the fate of submission of the proposed $175,000,000 bond issue hanging in the balance, Martin changed his vote from "no" to "aye."

The few opponents of the bond plan raised a point of order "en masse," contending that the result already had been announced and that there were only 20 favorable votes.

COURT CALLS HOLSTLER CASE

Jury Fails to Agree On Nichols Verdict

Freddy Holstler was scheduled to be called to trial before Judge Allan D. Montgomery in the 89th district court Thursday after two trials on charges growing out of the holdup of the Spoonts Drug store here on last Christmas night had resulted in disagreed juries.

Jury Discharged

The latest of the "hung" juries was in the case of R. B. Nichols, a confederate of Holstler and of Joe Ireland. The jury in the Nichols case was discharged at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after about 22 hours deliberation.

Holstler was tried several weeks ago before a jury which likewise failed to agree. Ireland was the principal witness against both accused men.

Uncertainty existed Wednesday night as to whether the Holstler retrial would get under way Thursday. Witnesses in a number of other cases were under subpoena to appear in court at 9 a. m., and it was said that the Holstler trial probably would be passed.

The discharge of the Nichols' jury was not accompanied by comment from the bench, although Judge Montgomery earlier in the day had inquired as to whether jurors had been playing dominoes and reading magazines instead of deliberating on the case.

Queried on Dominoes

Informed that the jurors had spent "about 30 minutes" at dominoes and reading, Judge Montgomery directed them to retire and continue their deliberations further.

Judge Montgomery made his inquiry shortly before the noon hour after a written report was made to him stating that the jurors had reached a deadlock. A request for discharge was made in the communication.

The jurors reported that the balloting stood seven to five.

ROBISON DREW $1,000 TO PAY HIS FUNERAL

Land Commissioner Relates Preparations for His Demise

STRICKEN ON DUTY

Operation at San Antonio Made Use of Fund Seem Likely

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Believing that he would not survive a surgical operation he was about to undergo, J. T. Robison, land commissioner, drew a check for $1,000 on the special fund accumulated to pay costs of revaluation of public lands, in order that Mrs. Robison "would have something with which to bear the expenses of his funeral," he told the joint legislative committee investigating the general land office today.

Mr. Robison's long and as yet uncompleted recital was a remarkable dissertation including many events in his 68 years of life, beginning when his father left to join the Confederate army and "never came back," involving his struggles for an education after having been left an orphan when 13, the rearing wholly or partially by himself and Mrs. Robison of 18 orphan children, in addition to four of their own, and touching a serious illness which seized him while reappraising lands in West Texas and culminating in a major survical operation in San Antonio.

Refund Intended

He said he intended to use the money represented by checks endorsed back to him by payees when he refunded them their prorata of the "one cent an acre" reappraisement fund, raised by assessing owners of public lands, as he would "any other funds I have."

He stated that he believed the $1,000 check he drew on the special fund while in a San Antonio hospital and other checks written against the account to defray expenses incident to his illness "legitimate charges" against the fund.

He said that he had placed back to the credit of the account considerable amounts of his own money.

Sold His Lambs

"I put my wool money in there and sold some lambs in the Fort Worth market, placing the proceeds, amounting to something like $3,200, in that fund," Mr. Robison testified.

He said he had no doubt about his having placed enough of his personal funds in the account to replace the sums drawn out for expenses incurred in his illness, brought on, he believed, by hardships encountered in reappraising lands in West Texas.

"I know I have," he replied to his attorney, E. F. Smith, when asked if he had not placed sufficient personal funds in the special account to replace the drafts he made on it. He maintained, how-

Final Vote On Postoffice Expected Within One Week

$500,000 Recommended for Federal Building Here; Plainview, Memphis, Childress and Quanah Get Buildings

Of the $248,000,000 to be spent by the federal government on buildings as allocated in the report given to congress by the postal and treasury departments Wednesday, more than $3,000,000 will be assigned to Texas, $500,000 of which is to cover erection of a new federal building in Wichita Falls, according to dispatches received from Washington.

Aside from the recommended allotment to this city, the report called also for the erection of new federal quarters in Plainview, Big Spring, Memphis, Childress and Quanah.

Oklahoma Provisions

Suggestions to congress were made by the secretary of the treasury and the postmaster general, without specific recommendation, that new second class postoffice facilities be provided for numberous cities in this section of the country, including Cushing, Henryetta, Mangum and Elk City, in Oklahoma, and Electra, Graham, Midland and Nocona, Texas.

An appropriation of $100,000 for a postoffice at Plainview, South Plains town which has made rapid strides during the last few years, was recommended, and $65,000 was provided for Memphis. No specific amount was set for the buildings at Childress and Quanah, while $85,000 was ordered for Big Spring.

Local postal authorities and business leaders expressed confidence that the action which promises this city the long-desired new home for the numerous federal offices maintained here will be made final by congressional passage before the end of the present session next week. It was stated that authorities in Washington, who discussed the project with representatives of Wichita Falls organizations, declared that passage by congress and presidential signature were regularly accorded such measures without delay.

JURY ACQUITS A. J. M'CLOSKEY

First Ballot Frees San Antonio Judge

AUSTIN, Feb. 28 (AP)—Augustus J. McCloskey was acquitted on a charge of altering election returns after the jury took its first ballot this morning.

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—The election fraud case of Congressman-elect Augustus J. McCloskey went to the jury at 1:05 a. m. today. That body retired immediately to deliberate, indicating that a verdict might be expected without a court recess.

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Closing arguments in the trial of Augustus J. McCloskey, congressman-elect from the 14th congressional district, who is charged with altering election returns, were begun late today.

Walter Tynan, chief assistant district attorney of Bexar county, San Antonio, where the alterations were alleged to have been made to enable McCloskey to win over Harry M. Wurzbach, Texas' only Republican congressman since the civil war, made the first plea for the prosecution.

In his charge to the jury, Judge J. D. Moore left it to the jurors to decide whether they would believe testimony of Dave Dewhurst, that the election tabulation sheets were altered with McCloskey's knowledge, on McCloskey's alibi.

JACK SHARKEY GETS DECISION OVER STRIBLING

Georgia Boy Lasts Limit But Fails to Maintain Effective Work

CROWD FILLS ARENA

Capacity of 35,000 Witness Battle of Miami; Gate Fills Coffers

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

FLAMINGO PARK, MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27. (AP)—The fistic hopes of W. L. (Young) Stribling, heavyweight pride of Georgia and the South, skyrocketed tonight in the balmy tropical air—flaring high, then falling, extinguished in a sputtering blaze by the ramming fists of the big Boston sailor, Jack Sharkey, in a slashing 10-round fight thrillingly close from start to finish. Sharkey had his hand lifted aloft, the victor, on the decision of Referee Lou Magnolia of New York.

Thus leaping back along the comeback road that leads toward the crown cast aside by Gene Tunney last year, Sharkey outpointed and outboxed his Southern rival in a fast finish before a crowd of close to 40,000 in the most picturesque and colorful sports spectacle the old South ever has witnessed.

35,000 Spectators

This crowd of wealth, fashion and fame, seated in a pine board arena fringed with palm trees and bordering the ocean, contributed to one of the biggest, yet most astonishing fight spectacles of all time. In this setting, approximately 35,000 of the spectators paid $400,000—a "gate" that meant more than the fulfillment of the fondest dreams of Tex Rickard, whose death passed on completion of the task to Jack Dempsey and his associates of the Madison Square Garden corporation.

With such a background, Stribling and Sharkey fought to decide which was to continue the upward march Sharkey, a topheavy favorite, won, but only as close a call from defeat as he has ever had. Only the most desperate, determined sort of rally enabled the Boston sailor to overcome the big early advantage that had been piled up by Stribling.

Stribling Game

Outweighed by ten pounds, his recovery from rib and arm ailments somewhat doubtful, Stribling put up a spectacularly courageous fight before a Southern crowd, a throng of "home folks" who had come to

Two Cabinet Places Filled By Mr. Hoover

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (US)—James W. Good, of Illinois, will be given the secretaryship of war, the post which was tentatively offered to Col. William J. Donovan, of New York, according to an eleventh-hour upset in the tentative Hoover cabinet slate today.

The elimination of Donovan and the entrance of Good into the cabinet picture was the outstanding development in the busiest day of "cabinet making" which Mr. Hoover has had since returning to Washington. Other developments were these:

The appointment of William D. Mitchell, of Minnesota, to the attorney generalship was confirmed.

The commerce department portfolio is still open. The president-elect is awaiting the final decision of Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and personal friend of Mr. Hoover, as to whether he will accept the post.

The portfolio of labor secretary has been filled. The choice is believed to be William N. Doak, of Roanoke, Va., prominent in labor circles.

Good for years was a member of congress from Iowa, being chairman of the important house appropriations committee and the selected committee on the budget during the world war and post war periods. He retired from congress in 1921 to enter the practice of law at Chicago.

He left Iowa Park in June for Brownwood, where he was operating in the oil field when the tragedy occurred.

News of the shooting was given Has Curry, Wilson's brother-in-law, in Iowa Park late Wednesday night by Constable R. V. Everett, who received a telephone message from Brownwood.

Capone's Ally Identified as One Of Men Who Committed Gang Massacre

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (US)—Jack McGurn, notorious gangster and rated as the underworld's crack machine-gunner, tonight was identified as a member of the gang slaughtering seven Moran-O'Banion gangsters on Feb. 14, according to the police.

McGurn fell into police hands late today. Within the hour the police announced:

"Our witnesses have identified McGurn as one of the killers."

About the same time federal authorities served Al (Scarface) Capone with a subpoena at his Miami Beach home requiring his appearance before a federal grand jury here on March 12.

Commissioner of Police William Russell refused to name the witnesses identifying McGurn, saying:

"Do you think we want another massacre?"

McGurn, a known ally of the Capone gang, has been mentioned several times in the investigation. Late last week he was charged with kidnaping a local dentist who had told police that he had lost a front tooth. A man with a tooth missing had been sought as a massacre suspect.

McGurn was taken into custody at a hotel where several of the massacre case have been quartered. With him was a young and attractive blond who gave her name as "Miss Rolls."

LINDY HURT IN PLANE CRASH

Flier's Skill Saves His And Anne's Lives

was not known until the plane was seen circling the field upon its return shortly before 3 p. m.

Lindbergh circled the four-passenger craft over the field and waved his hand at officials on the ground, signalling them that he was aware of the smashed right wheel on his plane. He later said that he had lost the wheel taking off from a "near by field"—believed to have been a football field at Cuernavaca — where the couple had landed.

Skill Averts Disaster

Only Lindbergh's skill in handling the plane appeared to have saved the affianced couple from greater injury when the craft tumbled over after racing along for about 30 yards on the flying field.

Spectators, who had witnessed the take-off from Valbuena field, rushed to the side of the damaged plane—an awful moment when it was feared both occupants might not have escaped so lightly.

"I have nothing to say," Lindbergh told reporters as he attempted to compose himself after being assured his fiancee was not injured. He added, however, that the right wheel was lost when they landed at an adjacent field between the time they left Valbuena field and the time of their return from a pleasure flight of about three hours.

"Augustus will speak for me," said Miss Morrow, looking anxiously at the tall, blonde aviator whose nerve and skill had saved them from disaster when he realized the plane would have to be landed on one wheel. Augustus is Lindbergh's middle name.

Calls It "Mishap"

Lindbergh insisted that the crash was not an accident but merely a "mishap." The machine was running at a slow rate of speed when it turned over, due to the aviator's careful handling, and for that reason alone probably the damage was no greater.

Both the flier and his fiancee, however, were somewhat agitated as they left the field. Miss Morrow, who is Lindbergh's host here for the first time since their engagement was announced, plainly showed the strain of the mishap. The couple left immediately for the embassy at the capital in an automobile with Lindbergh driving. They arrived at the embassy at 3:30 p. m.

Borrowed Craft

The plane, which was the same in which Lindbergh arrived here Sunday to visit his fiancee, was not greatly damaged in the crash. It is the "City of Wichita," a four-passenger craft which Lindbergh borrowed in Wichita, Kan., when he unexpectedly turned off his route to the Pacific coast and headed for Mexico and the home of his dark haired, quiet girl who will be his wife.

Lindbergh and Miss Morrow started on the flight from Valbuena field at 11:45 a. m. (12:45 p. m. Eastern Standard time), without revealing where they intended to go or how long they would be gone. Apparently they made one intermediate landing before returning.

On the return flight the plane was sighted shortly before 3 p. m. and touched the flying field at 2:55 p. m.

The damaged wheel permitted the craft to shoot along—under Lindbergh's skillful touch—for a short distance when it suddenly swerved and crashed.

The watchers gasped as they saw the craft overturn. Everyone started running towards the machine.

For a few minutes the spectators could not even guess what might have befallen the hero of American aviation and his fiancee. Then the two crawled from the plane, pale but ready to assure the first who reached them that neither had been injured. Lindbergh insisted that he had not been in an accident but there was no doubt as to his agitation as they hurriedly left the flying field.

The "mishap" was made all the more tense to spectators because of the recent series of flights on which Lindbergh has failed to reach his destination at the time he had been expected. Although the flier has not been in a smash-up of the proportions of today's mishap since his nonstop flight from New York to Paris, his habit of arriving promptly resulted in anxiety when he followed a longer route or for other reasons failed to arrive on the minute in recent flights.

ever, that he is of the opinion the expenses of his illness were legitimate charges against the fund.

Worked Overtime

He had spent many days and nights working on reappraisements, as directed by the act of 1925, in West Texas, he said, when one night he was forced to stay in a mining camp, where he ate some food which brought on an illness of his childhood and resulted in the serious operation several days later.

"I suffered 100 deaths as I traveled 150 miles over rough roads to Del Rio, where I lay several days in a comatose condition, doped up on morphine," he said. "From there I was taken to San Antonio and was cut open.

"I would arouse myself sufficiently at times to hear what the doctors said, and I decided in my own mind I would have to be buried after the operation. It was then that I wrote the $1,000 check so Mrs Robison would have something with which to pay the funeral expenses.

No Personal Funds

"I had no personal funds at that time and I felt that morally and legally the reappraisement expense fund should pay that amount."

Describing the illness, he said that he had been bothered with it when a child.

The cancelled check for $1,000, which Robison said he drew to care for his funeral expenses, was obtained by Smith from a stack of checks turned over to him at his request by Representative Petsch, representing proponents of the investigation.

Other cancelled checks exhibited by Smith were one for $100 payable to Dr. George W. Cox, a Del Rio doctor who accompanied Robison to San Antonio and one for $300 to Dr. J. S. Wooten of Austin, who, Mr. Robison said, was family physician.

"There is still another check there to Dr. Venable, of San Antonio, who performed the operation," Robison told his attorney.

Son Paid for Work

Questioned about checks it had been testified he drew on the fund to the order of his son, Bob Robison, Robison said these were in payment for Bob's services in driving him through West Texas while revaluing the lands.

Bob Robison was the last of 18 orphans he and his wife had reared, Robison said.

He nor any of the others had ever been legally adopted, hence he did not violate the nepotism law in employing him, the land commissioner testified.

Questioned about the auditor's report that a number of the cancelled checks representing withdrawals from the special fund had been lost, Mr. Robison replied that he seldom if ever kept any cancelled checks and that he was astonished to find many of them when he went through his desk searching for them.

Many Towns Get Buildings In New Report

ers in the movement. The inadequancy of local postoffice accommodations has been generally recognized for some years, and practically all civic organizations in the city have joined in the continuous petition for congressional appropriation to relieve the need for proper housing of federal offices. Orville Bullington, president of the chamber of commerce, and Guinn Williams, representative from this district, were credited Wednesday by local citizens with having contributed materially to the success of Wichita Falls efforts with reference to the new building.

Options on four different possible locations were taken late in 1928 by a special committee appointed to assist John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general, in preparing the local petition for presentation to the appropriations committee. These options, with complete descriptions of the various properties, valuations, etc., have been in Mr. Bartlett's hands for several weeks. Selection of a site for the promised new postoffice will be made by the postal authorities at Washington, it was stated. The sites inspected by Mr. Bartlett here and on which options were taken are as follows:

Sites Suggested

The old Methodist church property, Tenth and Lamar, 260x150. Southwest corner of Seventh and Lamar, 200x150. A half block, facing east on Travis street, between Seventh and Eighth streets. A half block, facing east on Indiana, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets.

TEXAS AND OKLAHOMA TOWNS GIVEN BUILDINGS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Secretary Mellon and Postmaster General New today recommended to congress the expenditure of $398,000,000 to meet the public buildings needs of the country. Of this amount congress has appropriated $200,000,000 and an estimated $48,160,000 will be available from the sale of obsolete buildings.

Provisions included:

New facilities for second class postoffices with receipts between $30,000 and $40,000, and between $20,000 and $30,000 were recommended for the following cities, no individual amounts being specified:

Texas—Jacksonville, Lufkin, Childress, Colorado, Kerrville, Kingsville, Quanah and Stephenville.

For the following cities with postal receipts ranging from $20,000 to $40,000 annually, the treasury secretary and postmaster general suggested to congress that new second class post office facilities be considered but they withheld specific recommendation until further investigation can be made.

Receipts of $30,000 to $40,000: Oklahoma—Cushing, Pawhuska, Wewoka.

Classes in "Petting" Advocated by Junior College Club

Students Vote on Issue After Hot Debate on Benefits of Plan

Timid youths who blush and hide their secret devotion behind twisting hands and averted eyes would be instructed in the art of love, if the result of a debate on the subject held by the Speakers' club at Junior college Wednesday had any official bearing on the curriculum of the school.

For the club voted, at the end of the debate, by a most definite majority, that it would like to see classes in petting listed in the catalogue when the next term of school opens.

The winners of the debate were Dick Long, Mary Beth Sharp and Alexander Cameron, while the negative side of the question was maintained by Arvil Davis and Loneta Smith.

The benefits to be derived from such a course by the more bashful students was the principal contention of Alexander Cameron, and his two sides came to his assistance with many examples of backward ones who might have had queens for the asking—but who feared to ask!

The negative side likewise marshaled some imposing arguments. The place where such a class would meet brought up a problem which furnished Arvil Davis one of the most outstanding negative arguments, this speaker pointing out that lack of trees in and near Wichita Falls would not permit the unmolested progress of teacher and pupil.

But Loneta Smith, when she arose to present her arguments against the school of love, caused the affirmative debaters the most worry. Taking the "faculty" point of view, she objected that the girls who would be enlisted to teach the petting classes might like to exercise some choice in selecting their pupils, and not have to "teach" just any boy who enrolled.

The whole debate was a waste of time, as Lewis Haynes, member of the club, saw it. In an address after the decision of the club had been announced, Haynes declared that "petting classes are already in progress, although not as yet officially organized."

City Puts Ban on Open Counter Meat Displays

The display of meats on counters without sanitary protection, which has been the practice of a number of local meat markets recently, must be discontinued immediately, J. M. Farrell, city food inspector, asserted Wednesday.

The practice of placing meats and unwrapped candies on open counters is unsanitary and against the city ordinance, Dr. Farrell said.

Fines will be imposed on meat shops which continue the violations, Dr. Farrell declared.

Thursday Last Date To Pay School Taxes

Unpaid school taxes will become delinquent Thursday night when the last day of payment closes at 5 o'clock.

A large percentage of school taxes is still unpaid and although quite a few people cleared off their assessments Wednesday, a heavy poll is expected in the "last day rush," W. R. Hyer, city tax assessor and collector said Wednesday.

Payment on city and irrigation taxes will be extended until April 1.

There are more than 3,000,000 families in the country now operating two or more cars. Another million families are expected to be added to the total during 1929.

USE OF AIR MAIL GAINING

Receipts Here Doubled Under New Low Rates

Air mail receipts at the local postoffice have more than doubled since the installation of the new air-mail rate which went into effect late last summer, O. P. Maricle, postmaster, said Wednesday.

Increase in the use of the air mail is still on the incline with a steady gain being polled almost every month. The new rate which reduced the air mail postage to five cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each additional ounce has been responsible for the heavy gain in local usage of the system, postal officials said.

Advertising matter is frequently sent by air mail since the new rate went into effect, often requiring more than $4 for postage for a single package of advertising matter.

Local air mail is forwarded by rail to the nearest air mail route, where it is dispatched to the nearest port to its destination. Extreme care must be taken by postal officials in dispatching the air mail so that it will make connection with the planes, officials said.

It is forwarded sometimes to Houston, Fort Worth or Dallas, depending on the quickest connection that can be made with a mail plane.

It costs a thousand dollars more to equal CHRYSLER
Performance in any other car

New Chrysler "65" 4-Door Sedan $1145

CHRYSLER engineers from the outset disregarded all other performance standards and all other design. They set themselves to establish definitely the most modern principles and fundamentals of engineering and to apply them in a brand new way.

The same processes which based the new Chrysler style on the canons of classic beauty worked step by step to provide performance unlike any other in the industry—founded on a new and fresh interpretation of the basic principles of engineering design.

It is because of this Chrysler plan and the achievement of this plan, that an entirely new motor car performance has been brought into being.

The extraordinary acceleration, smooth speed, ease of handling and control, compactness, comfort, durability and long life, together with the unusual safety and stamina which characterize Chrysler, have all been combined in a car whose qualities can only be approached by other cars costing hundreds, yes, even a thousand dollars more.

It is no wonder that Chrysler engineers, working with that singleness of idea and surety of approach to every problem, should create a product built as none was ever built before and better than any other.

New Chrysler "65"—Six body styles, $1040 to $1145. New Chrysler "75"—Nine body styles, $1335 to $2345. New Chrysler Imperial—Five custom body styles, $2673 to $3475. All prices f. o. b. factory

M-P LINES ARE TO BE UNIFIED

Leasing of All Subsidiaries Is Sought

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27. (AP)—Application to lease the 22 subsidiaries of the Missouri Pacific to a single operating company has been filed with the Interstate Commerce commission, L. W. Baldwin, president, announced Tuesday. He says it is one of the concluding moves in the Missouri Pacific plan to round out that railroad system under the provisions of the transportation act.

Included in the lines to be leased to the Missouri Pacific operating company are the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico; St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico (which, with their subsidiaries, constitute the Gulf Coast lines); International-Great Northern; San Antonio, Uvalde and Gulf; and smaller lines—Orange & Northwestern; New Iberia & Northern; Iberia, St. Mary & Eastern; Houston & Brazos Valley; San Benito & Rio Grande Valley; Rio Grande City railway; Sugerland railway; Asherton & Gulf; Asphalt Belt; San Antonio Southern; Austin Dam & Suburban; Beaumont, Sour Lake & Western; Houston North Shore; Natchez & Southern; Natchez & Louisiana; New Orleans & Lower Coast; Fort Smith, suburban, and Missouri Pacific Railroad corporation in Nebraska.

2,900 Miles in Texas

Total mileage to be operated by the proposed company would be 10,493, of which 2,969 is in Texas. This does not include the mileage of the Denver & Rio Grande Western, in which the Missouri Pacific has a 50 per cent interest, nor the Texas & Pacific in which the Missouri Pacific has more than half interest.

The 666-page application sets out "this application is not to construct a new line or for the extension of an existing line of railroad, but is pursuant . . . to the transportation act." The plan does not involve any financing, the application states, and adds the lease, when operative, will "result in substantial savings in general, traffic, operating and accounting expenses" without impairing the service.

The statement of the road's president said no changes in the organization nor personnel will be considered until after the I. C. C. has passed on the application.

The application shows the present ownership or control of the various subsidiaries saying "all of the properties . . . are now operated under a common management and control and as a single system of railroad."

Waste Pointed Out

In citing reasons for the single operations company, the application points out the present conditions requiring separate accounting and separate reports to the I. C. C. and state authorities, "is an unnecessary, economic waste and expense and of no benefit to the public."

Unification will dispense with the necessity for carrying large investments in materials; unnecessary office and operating expense; and the joint use of motive power; cars and equipment will, when co-ordinated, result in stimulating transportation, expedite traffic and improve service without additional cost, the application says.

Single line service will be substituted for joint line service between Nebraska and Missouri river points; between points served by the Missouri Pacific through Mississippi river crossing at St. Louis, Cairo, Memphis, Natchez, Baton Rouge and New Orleans; between Louisiana and Texas points, and points serviced by the Missouri Pacific proper.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (UP)—Chief Justice Taft, the only living ex-president, called at the White House today and chatted with President Coolidge about the prospects of having a new member in his "Association of Ex-Presidents" after March 4.

Although he did not invite Mr. Coolidge to join his one-man association, Taft said, plans have been made to tender a formal invitation shortly after March 4.

Horsewhips Used On Negro Girls

OKLAHOMA CITY, Fb. 27. (UP)—Girls were horsewhipped at the Taft negro orphans home by Superintendent J. R. Johnson, Augusta Wilkins, former matron, testified today before the house general investigating committee.

The girls also were forced to work all day and were only fed unseasoned kraut and bread for lunch, she testified.

She testified that on one occasion when Johnson was intoxicated he horsewhipped a group of small children for walking down a fire escape. At another time a girl was beaten with a strap, thrown up against the wall and left in such a condition she was forced to treat her in her room, the former matron testified.

The morning was taken up by the committee hearing general complaints by negro citizens on the management of the home and habits of Superintendent Johnson.

Woman Finds She's Wife of Two Men

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (UP)—When Justice Tierney voided her Reno divorce, Mrs. Virginia Smith Healy Haynes, foster daughter of the late Elmer E. Smithers, financier and turfman, found herself the wife of two men.

One is Giles Greville Healey, with whom she eloped while she was a senior at the Spence school. He was a sophomore at Yale.

The other is Justin O'Brien Haynes, New York banker, whom she married in Newark, N. J., after having obtained a Reno divorce. Justice Tierney granted Mrs. Haynes a separation.

Under New York law the woman is the wife of Healey. New Jersey law, makes her the wife of Haynes. She lives with Haynes here.

LAWTON WANTS CITY MANAGER

Mayor Requested by 700 To Call Election

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., Feb. 27.—Petitions bearing 700 names of legal voters were presented to the mayor and city council requesting the mayor to call an election for the purpose of electing a board of freeholders whose duty it shall be to prepare and submit to the mayor and citizenship of Lawton, a charter providing for managerial form of government, which shall then be submitted to the qualified electors of the city for adoption or rejection.

At a meeting of 50 representative business men, held Monday, sentiment was unanimous to change to the managerial form of city government and an organization to that end was formed by the election of R. B. Morford, chairman; Winchel Barber, vice chairman; Ned Shepler, secretary, and J. C. McClure, treasurer. The board of governors is composed of the following: Rondo Stevens, Ray Keegan, Frank Shipley, Charles Carney, John Boyette, Charles Payne and H. A. Angus.

Lawton is one of the four cities in the United States which at one time operated on the city manager plan but returned to its present ancient system. Sentiment apparently strongly favors a return to the managerial form.

BEES POSSESS HUMAN TRAITS

Honey Makers Love Homes And Society

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (UP)—Bees, contrary to popular belief, are socially inclined, home-loving and even susceptible to colds and influenza, according to Attorney John V. Delaney.

Delaney, acting for J. W. Cunea and Ezra Ross, is seeking $50,000 damages from the Chicago and Rock Island railroad because 175,000 bees owned by his clients died en route from Pike Road, Ala., to Morris, Ill., in a freight car.

He said the bees died of weariness, ennui, starvation and homesickness and possibly influenza. He charges neglect of the railroad's employes brought about this condition.

ARIZONA LEANS TOWARD PACT

Seven State Ratification Seems Assured

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 27. (INS)—Hope of a seven-state ratification of the Swing-Johnson bill rose today as Arizona displayed a desire to enter into a tri-state Colorado river compact, as the Boulder dam conference continued. Amicable settlement of water allocation among the lower basin states gained headway.

The question of power revenue was again under fire with the Arizona delegates, however, showing a spirit of compromise, and an apparent willingness to ratify the Swing-Johnson bill under certain conditions.

Water division and power revenue were to be the subjects of two informal discussions among the delegates to the conference Wednesday afternoon. These are the two largest questions of contention between Arizona and the other lower basin states—California and Nevada—and it is hoped an amicable agreement will be initiated.

Banjo Boys Lead Vaudeville Bill

Modern Syncopation Features Week's Program

On the interstate vaudeville program announced for Thursday and Friday of this week, the banjo boys and exponents of ultra-modern syncopation and snappy songs have their hour. Stubborn Cough Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the "flu."

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

"I light a Lucky and stay slender—"

Hope Hampton

Hope Hampton, Famous Star of the Opera, Stage and Screen.

"Luckies have helped me win the laurel crown of my musical career—singing in opera. Stage presence demands a slim, youthful figure. Rich foods cannot tempt me. I light a Lucky and stay slender. The toasted flavor of a Lucky soothes the craving for goodies. Then, too, a Lucky never irritates my throat. Even, after smoking many, my voice is still clear."

HOPE HAMPTON

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

EAT AND EXERCISE ENOUGH

Eat varied foods enjoyably sweetened, and exercise

"People ought to get out into the air," said a famous health authority, when we asked him to give us the facts about exercise and diet.

"Recommend walking," he said, "and golf, tennis and fishing—anything that gives people enjoyable exercise in the open."

"Exercise that is a duty," he said, "becomes a hardship and is soon abandoned. Have an outdoor hobby that takes you outdoors each day, and gives you pleasure."

"We believe that enjoyment is good for us," he said. "Enjoyment tends to improve the whole physiology of the body."

Discussing the subject of diet, this health authority said, "Sugar is the vehicle of roughage, mineral salts and fruit vitamins. Sugar modifies the fruit acids and makes the fruits palatable. At least 90% of constipation is due to a lack of roughage. Eat a raw and a cooked vegetable, also a raw and a cooked or canned fruit each day. Rotate them with season, price and taste."

So we see that sugar and common sense are at the foundation of good eating. Eat healthful foods daily, sweetened for enjoyment. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Kennedy Players To Present Noted Production Here

When the Woman's Forum brings to Wichita Falls, March 8, Charles Rann Kennedy and his distinguished wife, Edith Wynne Matthewson, they are bringing drama of high meaning, skilled craftsmanship and wide appeal devised for artists of repute and audiences that are ready. In doing this the Forum feels that it is accomplishing one of the main things for which it was organized.

Charles Rann Kennedy is a dramatist, actor and producer. He has broken new dramatic ground and founded a new technique. Textbooks expound him, he is required in college courses and reaches audiences in many languages. The most famous of his works are "The Servant in the House," which is played all over America today, "The Terrible Meek," "The Chastening" and many others. He combines the rare quality of being a great actor and a great writer.

Edith Wynne Matthewson, who plays the mother in "The Chastening," the play being presented here, is regarded in both Europe and America as one of the greatest artists of the day.

Responding to numerous requests to have the play because of its artistic nature in the Forum building, the committee has decided to place the production there instead of the junior college auditorium, as was first announced. The size of the auditorium at the Forum will limit the number of seats to be sold, so those not members desiring to attend are requested to get their mail orders in at an early date to Mrs. G. B. Smedley. The date for mail orders opens Feb. 28. The price of tickets will be $2 and $1.50. There will be no reserved seats, but no seats will be sold that cannot be provided, hence the limited number. Forum members will be admitted on their membership cards.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (UP)—She doesn't believe in hexing, but Mrs. Rodney Boone tells me that when she was a kid and in school, and that isn't so long ago that she doesn't remember perfectly, a little girl exhibited a finger bearing a wart. Her mother had tied the white hair from a horse's tail around the wart, promising the child that the wart would be hexed, and go away.

"I remember how awed I was," said Mrs. Boone.

"And did it go away?"

"That's the funny thing about it. It went away and the girl said they always did, provided the horse was white, and half of the hair tied around the wart was buried six feet under ground."

In Pottsville, Pa., a woman was arrested for being a "common nuisance" because she went about the streets with bare legs.

The jury contended that while they might no longer be a treat they could hardly be called a "nuisance" until ruled out of the chorus and off the beach.

In Los Angeles, a circus man whose wife ran amuck, took refuge in a lion's cage. But, everything considered, which it never is, the jury will give her alimony.

A Dallas, Texas, woman took a public office, and learned that if women stayed at home and took care of their families instead of hunting careers, there wouldn't be so many crooks abroad. She isn't sheriff any more.

Eventually all women come to that conclusion, but few of them admit it publicly.

In the hamlet of Woolley, Somerset, Eng., there is not a marriageable girl in the town.

Then I'll bet there are no women reformers.

The New York legislature is presented with a bill in the interest of alimony payers, to save them from jail when they are unable to pay and pay.

Up until now all action has been in favor of bigger and better alimony. The worms are turning. The little women have gone too far.

A New York lady with a dog named Percy, one of these snippy mites, wired her hotel to feed him during her absence, on raw beefsteak, spinach and milk, four times a day.

Some day a Pied Piper is going to lead all the little dogs to toyland, and the kids will have a swell time while the grown up ladies, who act like babies, will do the boo hooing. Heaven speed the day!

What with this change and that, women more frequently sing, "Never a bridesmaid, and always a bride!"

Hear Honey Boy and Sassafras over KGKO tonight from 9:45 until 10.—Adv.

New Recipe for Coloring Gray Hair

By LOIS PAGE

One of the questions most frequently asked me is: "What shall I do for my graying hair?" Unhesitatingly I recommend that tried and proven recipe of sage tea and sulphur. A brew of common garden sage with sulphur and alcohol added, makes the best hair restorer I know of.

You can either prepare the mixture yourself at home, or as most people prefer to do, buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is the name of the ready-to-use preparation and since all druggists sell it at 75c a bottle, there is really no need of going to the bother of making it yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it, and draw it through the hair, one strand at a time. One application banishes the gray and one or two more completely restores your gray, faded or streaked hair to its original color. There is no hard, dyed look. The whole effect is one of perfect naturalness. Thousands of men and women use this preparation with no one suspecting it.—Adv.

Might as Well Stay Single After Negotiating Period of Flapperhood

The Business Woman Considers Hunting a Husband—Is a Boring Beau Better Than No Beau at All?—Folly of Stopping School to Go to Work.

Dear Miss Dix: If you were an office woman who had worked 15 years, elbowing men in business, and had become indifferent to marriage, and to the art of charming men for the purpose of winning them in marriage, what would you do to correct your indifference? Would it be worth while, anyway? If you were such a woman, would you not rather be satisfied to let well enough alone, and go along in the even tenor of your way? This is an angle of the social question that will interest many business women. —A READER.

Answer: I think that the competent business woman with a good job, who has passed safely through the hectic chills and fever of flapperdom, and recovered from it, is wise if she lets well enough alone. For if in single blessedness there are few thrills, there is the peace that passes all understanding.

Whether a woman should marry or not depends on two things. First, on how badly she wants to marry and, secondly, upon the kind of man she can get to marry. There are women who are man-crazy from the cradle to the grave. The only thing that ever interests them is men. The only career they look forward to is wifehood, and life is meaningless and flat to them without a husband.

Such women are happier even when they marry men who beat them and mistreat them than they are single.

There are other women, however, who are not born husband-hunters, and to whom marriage is not a necessity. They are women who have the strength to stand alone; who have the brains and the initiative to go ahead and make themselves a place in the world, and who fill their lives with such a variety of interests that men fall into a secondary place in their scheme of things.

You are this type of woman, and you should not marry unless you find some man who is particularly congenial and with whom you fall very desperately in love.

You should not marry just to be a-marrying, or just because all of your friends have married and have homes and families of their own, or just because you suddenly realize that if you don't marry soon you will be an old maid and your chances will be gone, and you are afraid that when it is too late you might regret it.

Undoubtedly to be happily married is the happiest state on earth. Undoubtedly there is no human relationship that is so perfect as that of the husband and wife who are really mated and who satisfy each other's every need of body and mind and soul. Undoubtedly if Paradise is ever regained it is found in homes that are filled with peace and love.

But the reverse of this is also true, and there is no hell on earth equal to a discordant home in which the husband and wife quarrel and revile and insult each other. Nor is there any other torture equal to that of a man and a woman who hate and loathe each other and yet who are bound together.

Every woman who marries stakes her all on a gamble, for there is no possible way that she can know beforehand the kind of a husband a man will make, and nothing but a love so great that it makes her feel that there is nothing in life for her, anyway, if she doesn't get him justifies her in taking the chance. Therefore, I should always advise the woman who was still in her sane senses, and not carried away by love, to play safe and stick to her pay envelope and her freedom.

The life of the girl bachelor has many compensations. Few married women can afford the clothes and the amusements that the competent business woman enjoys. Few wives work as short hours and have as long vacations. Few husbands treat their wives with the consideration and politeness that the working woman's boss shows her. No wife has the freedom that the business woman has.

So why not be content with these blessings? Why risk changing a sure good thing for an uncertainty?

Husband chasing is an arduous and difficult undertaking, anyway. And sometimes when you catch him he isn't worth having.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: A young man has been coming to see me for some time, and while I do not enjoy his company particularly, I feel that he is better than no company at all. He doesn't talk much, and when he takes me to the movies, which is seldom, he always leaves before the show is over. Now what I want to know is this: Is it better to entertain a boy who bores you or to have no date at all until you find someone you like?

—ANXIOUS GIRL.

Answer: You know the old adage that says that nothing succeeds like success. That is true with men, just as much as it is with business, politics, or whatnot. If you want to have beaux, you have to have a beau to act as a decoy and draw his fellows in.

Men are funny, daughter. Where a woman is concerned they are like sheep that follow their leader. Apparently no man trusts his judgment of a girl. He wants other men to put the stamp of approval on her. Then they give her the grand rush. That is why a girl nearly always has dates to burn, or else no dates at all.

When you go to parties you will see a girl who only dances a few steps before somebody cuts in, and another girl, who dances just as well, whom nobody asks to dance at all. The wall flower is a wall flower because she has never been able to get a start. Boys are afraid they will get stuck if they go near her, so they stay away from her.

So hang on to your young man, no matter how much he bores you, until something better comes in sight. All women have to go through that. They have to listen to the tiresome repeaters, and endure the egotists, and put up with boors on the chance that somewhere in the herd they will find the one man they are looking for. They know they would never have a chance to find him if they sat up, solitary and alone, waiting for him, because no man wants the girl that no other man wants.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a high school girl and the studies come very hard to me, and I am very anxious to quit school and go to work. My mother is very strict with me and won't give me any pretty clothes, or let me go out. She says wait until you are through school. What shall I do?

—A HIGH SCHOOL GIRL.

Answer: Study hard and get through school as quickly as possible if you are in a hurry to go to work. Remember that the first question you will be asked when you apply for a job is whether you graduated from high school or not, and if you did not all the better places will turn you down. The more you know the higher wages you can get.

Perhaps if you will think of school as a ladder on which you are going to climb up to the things you want it will not seem so distasteful to you. Perhaps your studies will not seem so dull and uninteresting to you if you realize that they are going to be of some practical use to you, and that the cleverer you are in mathematics, and the more you know about English and spelling and grammar, the more successful you will be in whatever line of work you undertake.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a bride and very happy, except for one thing. All the week I get up and cook my husband's breakfast so he can get off to work, but on Sundays he is at home and I feel that he should cook my breakfast for me on that day and bring it to me in bed. What would you advise? —C. T.

Answer: For you to have a little common sense and not to be so selfish. Your part of the partnership is preparing the food that your husband works to pay for and you have no more right to renege on your part of the job than he has on his. He doesn't ask you to go out and do his work one day of the week. Why should you expect him to do yours? —DOROTHY DIX.

School and College News

Roy J. Daniel addressed members of the Junior College Senate at the regular meeting of the organization. "Law as a Profession" was the subject of his speech.

Following the address, a senate member asked Mr. Daniel if he thought that the courts of today were archaic and too slow. His reply was "No. When you consider a man's rights, they should not be rushed and hurried through the courts because his rights may be taken from him. It pays to go a little slow and not jeopardize his right or life. When a case is hurried through the courts and a man pays for an offense, later evidence that he was not guilty would not restore to him his life.

"'Haste makes waste' is equally true in the law profession," he stated.

No single coffee can match its mellow BLENDED FLAVOR

DISTINGUISHED travelers in the Old South came home enthusiastic about the superlative coffee served to them at the old Maxwell House in Nashville. "It's good to the last drop," they declared.

That matchless flavor which has won fame for Maxwell House is not a single coffee flavor, but a particular blend of many choice coffees. Rich, mellow, full-bodied, Maxwell House Coffee is the first ever to please critical people all over the country. It is the choice today in millions of homes throughout the United States.

Your grocer has Maxwell House Coffee in the blue-wrapped tins which keep it fresh and fragrant.

GOOD AFTER-DINNER COFFEE: This is properly served "black," but as some guests really miss sugar and cream, it is courtesy to pass them. The coffee should be stronger than breakfast coffee. Use 1½ cups of medium ground (steel cut) Maxwell House Coffee to six cups of freshly boiling water.

ANOTHER ARMS MEET UNLIKELY

Britain Clings to Blockade Despite Election Results

By ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE

LONDON, Feb. 27. (US)—It is not in the plans of the present conservative government of Great Britain to make any further move toward reopening the disarmament question with the United States. Even if Mr. Baldwin's conservative government should be returned to power in the national elections to be held in May or June, no active steps toward the reopening of the disarmament question will be taken by the new government for an indefinite period.

These facts coming from an official quarter in London may be taken as authoritative, all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding.

Neither Mr. Kellogg nor Sir Austin Chamberlain, secretary of state for foreign affairs, is likely to put pen to paper again in any matter dealing with Anglo-American relations.

Elections Doesn't Count

If a labor government is returned at the forthcoming elections and J. H. Thomas, a former railroad worker, takes the post which Chamberlain has occupied in the conservative government, as the prophets of the labor party are saying, there will be a new deal all around in the matter of Britain's foreign policy, especially in reference to American relations. How greatly the complexion of that new deal will be reflected by Mr. Hoover's opinions remains to be seen.

American readers must bear in mind, however, that British foreign policy is not subject to the reversals due to a new government as greatly as Washington's dealings with foreign nations are so influenced. No matter who occupied the post of secretary of state for foreign affairs in Whitehall, there is a strong and steady undercurrent of British foreign policy, which may be affected only superficially by the policies of the reigning government and the capabilities of the foreign minister in power. So, however the elections may turn in Britain—whether to the return of the conservatives or the seating of labor in power—there are certain definite tendencies in the British foreign policy which remain unaffected by the elections.

Cling to Blockade

Universal Service learns from an official quarter that the most definite of these policies is the tenacious adherence to Great Britain's century-old conception of the blockade in time of war, and the right of search and seizure which British interpretation has put upon the operations of the blockade. This is, and always has been, not only the sacred possession of the British admiralty but also one of the policies of the Tory party in Great Britain.

Even though there has been a recent concerted drive on the part of strong liberal organs like the Manchester guardian and in part of the financial press of London, for some gesture on the part of the British government to meet America half way in the modification of this British conception of a blockade, it may be said that nothing short of a liberal triumph in the forthcoming elections—a contingency which is far from being probable—will induce the foreign office to be moved one jot from its entrenched position behind the right of search and seizure of neutral vessels in time of war.

Interest Mounts In Pecan Culture

STAMFORD, Texas, Feb. 27.—The pecan trees ordered through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have so pleased those who purchased them that return orders have started coming in. The first of these is from Ira E. Glodden of Rotan, who ordered additional four year old Burketts like the ones he received with the first order, and enclosed his check for same.

He stipulated that he wished the trees to come from the same nursery which shipped the other trees ordered.

A great number of these trees have been distributed by the regional organization at the reduced prices possible by buying in quantity. Some idea of the interest of the people of West Texas in planting pecans can be gained from the fact that the December special pecan number of West Texas Today, official magazine of the W. T. C. C. has been the most popular ever published by the organization, hundreds of requests coming in for extra copies.

Money Tax Repeal Move Under Way

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27. (UP)—A move to repeal the money tax law passed in 1927 was started in the senate late today.

A bill providing for the repeal of this law was introdubed by Senators Joe O. Ferguson and Guy L. Andrews, and other leaders of the senate.

The law passed in 1927 removed money on deposit out from under the provisions of ad valorem tax, creating a special one-fifth of 1 per cent tax on money in banks.

The bill was passed in 1927 after a bitter fight in both houses, in which it was charged by enemies of the bill that it was a move by national banks to escape taxation. The sponsors of the bill said it would increase revenues by reducing the levy so that the evil then practiced of shipping money out of the state to avoid taxation would be halted.

WHAT OTHERS SAID OF SARGON GAVE ELLIOTT NEW HOPE

"I was in the drug store the other day and heard two people talking to the Sargon man, telling how Sargon had helped him. I had never heard so much praise for any medicine before, so I bought some right then. I have taken two bottles and all the good things I have heard about it are certainly true. It is the best medicine I have ever used, and I don't hesitate to recommend it every chance I get. I've already told several good friends about it, and how it fixed me up when nothing else would help me at all.

"For two years my stomach was out of fix, and indigestion had robbed me of many a meal. My liver was sluggish, and I frequently had headaches. I was very susceptible to colds, and my head was always stopped up. I tried so many medicines that did me no good, that I had almost lost faith in all of them. What I heard that day in Renfro's Drug Store gave me new hope. I have gained weight and eat anything I want without a trace of indigestion or headache. The bad colds in my head are a thing of the past and I feel better than I have for two years. I will always recommend Sargon and wouldn't be without a bottle. I feel more active and don't know what it means to tire out now. Sargon gave me new life and energy. It's great!"

The above statement was made recently by W. W. Elliott, of 310 Taylor street, Fort Worth, Texas. He formerly lived in Greenville, Hunt county.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2, and in Electra from Loug's Drug Store.—Adv.

"Please pardon my frown . . . but someone in the studio just coughed . . . and spoiled our love scene"

Come Early!

I Saw It Myself

By C. W. ROGERS
Record News Staff Correspondent

The great McCollough, famous as a reporter and editor of the St. Louis Globe Democrat, once said that the best qualification of a good reporter was to know where the next big news was going to break and the ability to get on the spot.

The best qualification of a good chamber of commerce secretary is something like that—the ability to nose out the prospective investor come to town and to lead him to the spot in which to invest his money.

All of which is prefatory to the story of how Childress got a $70,000 modern hospital after three years of futile attempts to bring about the construction of a city and county hospital.

The story was not volunteered—it came to this writer in the course of casual conversation with Jerry Debenport, secretary of the Childress Chamber of Commerce—Jerry is one of these shrinking, modest violets who prefers to speak slightly if at all of his personal accomplishments.

Some time back a doctor came to Childress from Florida in quest of a location. Jerry was Jerry on the Spot when the Florida doctor was introducing himself in a drug store. Naturally the doctor was referred to the secretary of the chamber of commerce. He was told that Childress had some of the best doctors in Texas, also a private hospital with an able staff but there would be no opposition to another hospital.

A survey of the possibilities of Childress as a location was made by the prospector. He immediately interested other doctors in Mangum, Okla., as associates, the financing of the hospital building was speedily accomplished with the result that the Jeter-Townsend hospital, constructed at a cose of $70,000, will be opened to the public about March 15.

This Jeter-Townsend hospital is one of the most modern and completely equipped to be seen in Texas. The furniture is entirely of steel construction, finished in cheerful colors instead of the traditional white of the averege hospital; the lighting system is perfect; each of the 30 rooms for patients is equipped with lavatory, ceiling fan, signal lights, private telephone, circulating refrigerated and hot water; nothing is neglected that would contribute to the comfort or peace of mind of the patient.

In devices for efficient operation every modern improvement has been adopted. The main kitchen in the basement is electrically equipped, with dumb waiters to the dietary kitchens on each of the upper floors; which also are electrically equipped; incinerator chutes for the disposal of all waste extend from each floor to the incinerator in the rear of the basement. It is said that the hospital is so equipped as to assure absence of all odors, peculiar to less modern institutions of its kind.

The Jeter-Townsend should be a valuable contribution to the assets of Childress. It is expected that a considerable number of medical practicioners from surrounding towns will be present at the formal opening.

After being shown all the features of the hospital, the writer was driven over the residential sections of the city by Secretary Debenport. The number of attractive homes in Childress is unusually large and everywhere was indication of a spirit of civic pride. Many trees recently have been planted and preparations for floral and minor arboreal embellishment were seen in all residential sections of the city.

One of the handsome homes of Childress is that of George Baker, general storekeeper of the Denver road, who is more frequently referred to as "King George." This beautiful home, just completed, represents an expenditure of around $12,500.

Under construction in the northwestern section of Childress is the King Memorial Methodist church, on which $25,000 is to be expended. The edifice is to be of brick construction. The masonry is completed to the first floor.

Farther out in what is now the northwestern suburb, the Highland park exclusively residential development of 120 acres is beginning to take form. It is expected that several million dollars will be expended in construction of homes and in the development of Highland park. Landscaping of the first 40 acres is to cost $85,000, it was said. Mytinger and Walker, Wichita Falls realtors, are said to be heavily interested in the development and another Wichita Falls firm, Montgomery and Ward, engineers, are connected with the project in a professional capacity.

Highland park, in many respects, will be a replica of Country Club estates of Wichita Falls. All telephone and light wires will be laid underground and many other features of Country Club estates will be adopted.

First of the handsome homes to be completed in the development is that of Charles E. Crews, banker and breeder of prize-winning Herefords. The cost of construction is said to be $22,000 with an additional expenditure of $2,600 for landscaping.

Other Childress citizens who are reported to be planning construction of homes in Highland park are J. M. Crews, banker; Charles Dorsey, cotton factor; Ernest Davis, Buick dealer, and "Bun" Trueblood. None of these homes, it is said, will cost less than $15,000.

There is much talk of the erection of an Elks home in Childress, although nothing definitely has been announced.

The Elks lodge owns a corner lot, diagonally opposite the new Childress hotel, valued at around $25,000. Whether the lodge will build on the lot or lease the top floor of the five-story building to be constructed this year by the First National bank on the corner property immediately east of the Childress hotel is said to have been under discussion.

In either event, the location of the home will be to the advantage of Childress, as either will be situated convenient to hotels at which members of the order stop when journeying along the Colorado-to-Gulf highway.

The March issue of West Texas Today will be devoted almost entirely to aviation and towns that have taken forward steps in this new means of transportation in West Texas. This issue follows the appointing of an aviation committee, and its meeting in Fort Worth.

Scores of children visited Childress' newly equipped playground on a recent warm day. The new equipment is at Fraiar park and is the result of the interest of the local Lions club in the children.

The new high school building at Big Spring which was recently completed is one of the most modern in West Texas, having 31 rooms, spacious auditorium, a gymnasium with a seating capacity of 600. The cost was approximately $120,000.

Wellington, Center of Five Mail Routes, Seeks Further Extension

Postmaster Ray Arnold Sees Business Advantage in Reaching Every Home With Mail

By Staff Correspondent

WELLINGTON, Texas, Feb. 27.—The town in a given area whose rural mail routes reach the greatest number of homes is the town whose business establishments will secure the greatest volume of trade.

That is the theory of Ray Arnold, postmaster of Wellington, who prior to becoming postmaster was engaged in merchandising for a period of 10 years.

Rural free delivery, in connection with the daily newspaper, Mr. Arnold insists, is stimulating trading in smaller towns. Rural residents through the daily newspaper delivered at their homes are acquiring a broader knowledge of values and learning that the small town is not at a disadvantage.

Not many towns in a newly settled country, like Wellington, are centers of five rural routes. Wellington has that many. Postmaster Arnold is seeking the designation of a sixth.

He has just forwarded a petition to the postal department asking for the establishment of a route out of Wellington planned to cover a loop of 50 miles. The petition had 110 signers, residents on the projected route, which extends north from Wellington to Aberdeen and back partially over the Shamrock and Wellington road.

Route 1 out of Wellington, southeast to a point within two miles of Dodsonville, serves 140 homes and covers 26 miles. H. M. Longino is carrier.

Route 2, 26 miles northwest to Quail, serves 135 homes. G. B Hardin is carrier.

Route 3, 39 miles north and west serves 160 homes. R. S. Montague is carrier.

Route 4, covering 29 miles south and west, serves 140 homes. L. A Moore is carrier.

Route 5, although a star route, imposes upon the contractor all the duties of a rural carrier. This route extends to Loco, 12 miles south of Wellington, connecting with the Childress star route. At Loco pouches are exchanged. C. N Savage is contractor.

Postmaster Arnold states that it will continue to be his endeavor to secure extension of routes to serve more homes wherever possible.

Contract with Red Ball stage line from Wellington to Childress has made possible the delivery of The Wichita Falls Record News in Wellington at 4:15 o'clock on the morning of publication. Letters mailed in Wellington at 6 p. m. are delivered to the Wichita Falls postoffice on the same night.

Postmaster Arnold expects to celebrate on April 1 next, the seventh anniversary of his incumbency, in the new postoffice building now being constructed at a cost of $23,000 by L. W. Gribble, Wellington pioneer. The interior of the new building will be finished in white oak and will have ample facilities to accommodate increasing demands on the service.

Assisting Postmaster Arnold are C. E. Jackson, first assistant; Lee N. Greer, dispatching clerk; Miss Jessie Fuson, money order clerk, and Claude N. Savage, regular substitute clerk.

Receipts of Wellington postoffice for 1928 approximated $17,800.

WEB IS SPUN ABOUT HARDY

Jurist Connected With Aimee's Escapade

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27. (AP)—More evidence purporting to connect Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy with the efforts in 1926 to clear Aimee Semple McPherson of the accusation that she had clandestinely met her Angelus temple radio operator, Kenneth G. Ormiston at Carmel, Calif., was gathered today by Assemblyman M. I. Cronin, one of the prosecutors in the forthcoming impeachment trial of the jurist.

In Oakland Cronin interviewed Mrs. Viola Kimball, whose name was brought into the McPherson disappearance case by her twin sister, Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Sielaff. During the investigation of Mrs. McPherson's kidnaping story Mrs. Sielaff appeared and said she was the woman who was with Ormiston at Carmel. She later repudiated the statement and declared Mrs. Kimball was the woman.

Mrs. Kimball said yesterday she was in possession of an affidavit signed by Mrs. McPherson and stating she (Mrs. Kimball) was not the woman in Ormiston's company.

The Examiner today declared a notebook containing entries by Mrs. Sielaff and mentioning meetings with Judge Hardy at his Los Angeles home would be made available to the committee. The notebook purported to show that Mrs. McPherson had arranged meetings between the jurist and Mrs. Sielaff during the time the evangelist's kidnaping story was under investigation.

Publishing Firm Buys More Oklahoma Papers

TAHLEQUAH, Okla., Feb. 27. (UP)—Eastern Oklahoma Publishing company, Sallisaw, today announced the purchase of seven additional papers. The company now owns 14 papers.

The new papers are: The News and Sun, Poteau; Democrat and Tribune, Wagoner; and the Journal, Leader and Gazette at Vinita. Other purchases are under consideration, according to Gould Moore, head of the company.

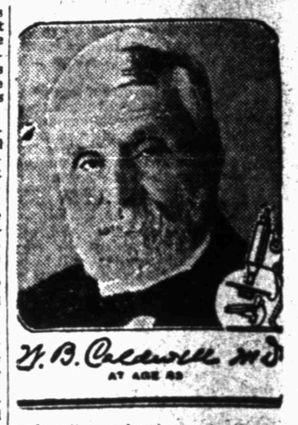

Resentment Against Rivera Continues

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Feb. 27. (UP)—Recent dissolution of the Spanish artillery by Premier Primo De Rivera appeared a failure today as far as suppression of resentment against the dictatorship was concerned.

Reports continued to drift across the border from Madrid and other sources indicating that the discontent among the military was recognized by the government, which was taking further steps to combat it.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practic, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, billiousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health; keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

Why not try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today?—Adv.

Listerine kills 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds

Did you realize that Listerine was so powerful?

Hard to believe, isn't it, when you reflect how pleasant and safe Listerine is?

Yet in repeated tests employing the stubborn B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ, used by the Government to test antiseptics, full strength Listerine killed 200 millions in 15 seconds!

Now you can understand why you should use Listerine to check ordinary colds and sore throat—both caused by germs.

Keep a bottle handy and use it daily, especially after exposure to germ-laden crowds. It helps you ward off trouble. Write for our elaborate free book: "Personal Hygiene."

JURY CLEARS WOMAN HERE

Mrs. Pebley Freed On Liquor Charge

Wichita county's record of no convictions of women in state courts here on prohibition charges remained clean Wednesday when a jury in the 89th district court acquitted Mrs. Minnie Pebley on a charge of possession of whisky for sale.

Officers testified to the amount of whisky and beer found in her home while the defense contended that the liquor belonged to a man who roomed at the house and that she knew nothing about it.

The right of any district judge to supplement a petit jury by calling talesmen, unless names are first drawn from the jury wheel, was questioned at the beginning of the trial by Ben Allred, attorney for the defense, when it was ascertained that an insufficient number were available from the regular petit jury.

Judge Allan D. Montgomery directed that the number needed to make up the deficiency be called by the sheriff, who sent a deputy upon the street to issue summons.

Allred contended that if jurors were needed to make up the panel, it should be done by drawing the names from the jury wheel, a procedure which would require greater time because the names of those drawn might reside in any part of the county. He was overruled.

Traction Firm Shows Loss on Operations

Approximately 3,000,000 fares on street cars and buses of the Wichita Falls Traction company yielded a gross earning of $218,763.73 at an operating cost of $250,168.46, according to the annual report filed with Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk, as is required of all public utility concerns.

Nearly $67,000 paid for labor represented the largest single item of expense, the analysis showed. The bonded indebtedness of the company was given as $400,000, and the value of visible and tangible property as $572,884.83.

Debt Experts Discuss Bonds Trusteeship

PARIS, Feb. 27. (AP)—The trusteeship for reparation bonds, if any are finally issued, was the chief subject discussed by the reparations experts today.

The talk tended to bring out whether the trustee to hold bonds issued by Germany on reparations and apportion them among the reich's creditors should be of an individual or corporate nature.

"He who understands the Law of Retribution and keeps it, with love in his heart, walks with his God."

Do not bemoan your hard luck and poison your mind with self-pity. To do so is to kick against the pricks of Truth. You deserve whatever life serves you and you must learn to accept the bitter with the sweet. Be glad to pay as well as receive. Choose well your words and deeds for retribution is sure.

The Little Theater's Second Bow

LITTLE THEATER members, preparing for their second production in Wichita Falls, may look forward to this new effort with considerably more pleasure and peace of mind than attended the first efforts of the organization. If "Dulcy," the first production, is to be taken as a standard of the theater's work, then merit alone should draw sufficient patronage to justify the continuation and growth of Little Theater work.

There are those of us, of course, who always wait until "Q. E. D." has been written at the end of an experiment. We rush down to the show, try a new brand of cigarets, or attend a musicale after our friends have passed a favorable opinion. We don't think so much of blindfold tests as a personal experience. From such cautions persons, good support might be expected in the future by the Little Theater on the sole basis that excellent entertainment is being offered at a reasonable price.

There is a need for a Little Theater and its related activities in Wichita Falls. It will add much to the lives of those interested in the stage or the other arts, and more to the development and entertainment of the public at large. Now that the leaders of this movement have passed their first test with flying colors and soon are to make their second presentation, it might reasonably be expected that a liberal public interest and patronage should be the reward of their efforts.

Col. Dick McCarty to Take a Vacation

COL. DICK McCARTY has leased his paper, the Albany News, to Thomas Durham, formerly of Merkel, and will enjoy a well earned rest.

Mr. McCarty says he expects to travel a bit and maybe take Mrs. McCarty out to California to spend the summer. "I am after a breathing spell. I want to do some independent writing and travel a bit without having to hurry home and patch up a busted down press," Colonel McCarty is quoted by the Abilene News as saying. Mr. McCarty has been publisher of the Albany paper for nearly 30 years.

There are few newspaper men who deserve a "breathing spell" any better than Col. Dick McCarty. Week after week in his 30 years as editor of the News, Colonel McCarty has chronicled the happenings of his community, has given praise and encouragement where they were due and has preached a homely philosophy. He has put a vigor and virility into his writing that few men could. Maybe he has made a few enemies, we do not know of any, but in those years in which he has given himself so freely to his work and to his community he has won the respect and affection of a mighty host who will rejoice with him in his vocation, but are glad that he is to continue writing and to make an occasional contribution to his paper.

The World Has a Heart

THE story of little Billy Newhart of Bellaire, O., is the sort of thing that restores one's faith in humanity.

Billy, you remember, is the lad whose bones are so brittle that he's all the time fracturing them. He has spent eight of his 12 years in bed; about his only diversion is reading postcards that friends send him.

The newspapers recently printed a little story about him. What happened. Newspaper readers all over the country, took the trouble to write him. To date he has received approximately 40,000 letters, and enough toys to last him a lifetime. There are, after all, a lot of kindly people in the world.

And, best of all, Billy isn't spoiled by it. He won't pose for pictures because, he says, "folks would think I was trying to get some more gifts." He is behaving himself under somewhat trying circumstances as well as Lindbergh did.

The New Howard Proposal

SIR ESME HOWARD'S proposal for further conferences between Great Britain and the United States relative to the limitation of naval armaments has been greeted by some slight skepticism in Washington, according to dispatches.

There are those, it seems, who hold that the whole thing is merely a move to strengthen the English Conservative party in the coming British elections. Present indications are that the party will be fiercely attacked by Laborites and Liberals for "bungling" this important matter; if a new conference can be arranged, such attacks will lose their force.

To our way of thinking this isn't very important, even if true. Suppose the Baldwin government is trying to save its face; what of it? The important thing is for the two nations to reach some kind of amicable agreement that will end the present suspicion and quiet these constant mutterings about war. If that can be done, we should worry about the British cabinet's motives.

STATE WEARIES OF INVESTIGATIONS

Governor Moody's efforts in behalf of prison relocation are not going to accomplish what he has had in mind. The lower house has voted for centralization, but on the property now owned by the state. We feel sure Mr. Moody is entirely sincere in the idea of reform which he has had for the prison system, but we are also not ready to accuse the legislature of not being in sympathy with the plan. There is a great deal that needs to be done in the way of improving the prison system of Texas, but just now we are not certain but that this can be done on the property near Houston. A great expense would be incurred in moving. The governor's idea is to have a relocating committee go over the entire situation. The idea is fine, though the state cannot be blamed for being somewhat fed up on the subject of investigations.

BETTER ROADS—MORE MILEAGE

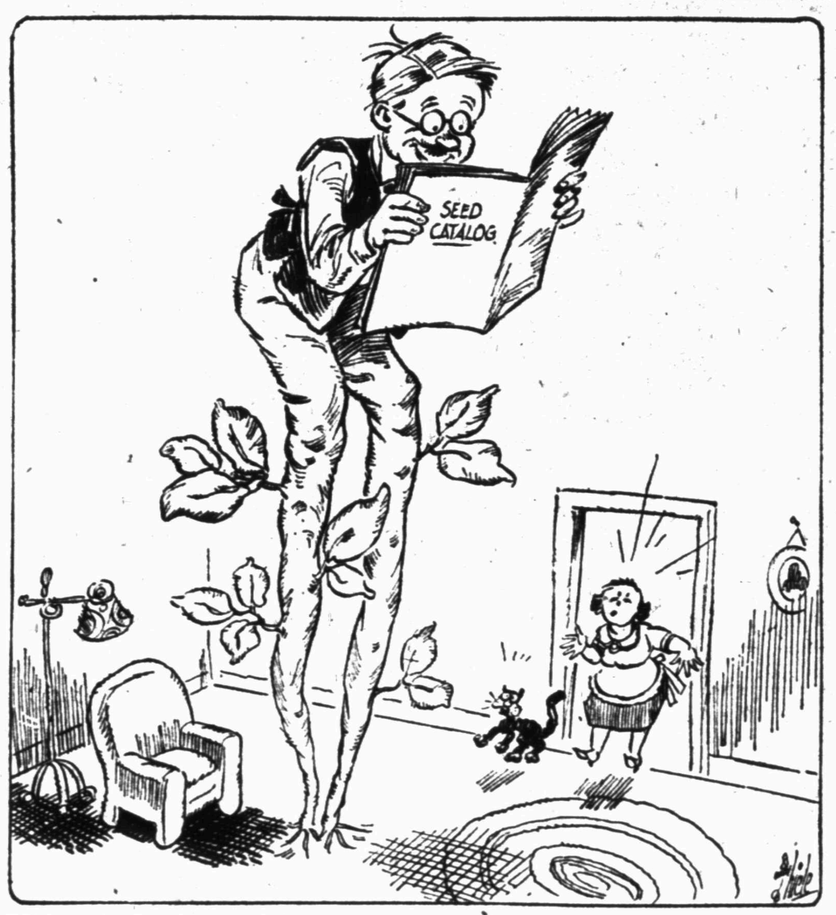

According to the latest estimate, based on a poll of members of the American Automobile association, 234 miles is the average day's run while touring. Ten years ago the average was less than 100 miles. The increase is due to better roads and cars and more liberal speed laws.

While on the subject of automobiles in general, it might be worth noting that motorists spent more than two billion dollars for gasoline in 1928, and through the gasoline tax contributed approximately $280,000,000 to the building of highways throughout this nation.

This tax, widely opposed at first, is now in force in every state in the Union excepting Illinois and New York, and both of these states are at present considering the imposition of such a tax.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—With its first season on the road an admitted success, the Theater Guild is now planning for next fall. Three of the guild plays that will be shown on tour in 1929-30 are "Strange Interlude," "Dynamo" and "Wings Over Europe." And it's possible that Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne will do some touring in "Caprice."

The guild, as a result of its road activity this year, has more than doubled its membership. It now claims 26,000 members out of town and an equal number in New York City. Seven cities—New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Baltimore—now have guild subscription theaters, and it is hinted that several other cities will be added to the list next autumn.

An announcement in the current issue of the Theater Guild magazine reads: "Up to the present, out of town members have seen only our lighter plays. We promise them that it is not our function merely to entertain, and that we shall also send them plays which will bite and sting—plays such as "Wings Over Europe"—and plays which delve deep into the well of human feelings—despair as well as joy—such as "Strange Interlude" and "Dynamo."

The sidewalks of New York prove fertile fields for the recruiting officers of the United States army. One sergeant has an enlistment of a thousand men to his credit up to the first of the year in a service of eight years on the job here. This soldier is Henry Sonnenberg, who has been in the service for 25 years. During the last eight years he has been on recruiting duty in Madison square.

In recognition of the sergeant's ability to draw young men to the army service of Uncle Sam he was handed a letter of commendation b Maj. Gen. Henson E. Ely, second corps area commandant. The letter came about through Sonnenberg's ability to win a position on the honor roll of the second division every month during 1928, and was the only recruiting sergeant in the states of New York, Delaware and New Jersey to do so. The records show him to be without an equal anywhere in the United States recruiting service.

Charlie Murray, the big celluloid clown—the Callahan of the "Callahans and Conens" fame, likes a fable about rejuvenation—that advanced stuff having to do with monkey glands.

CHARLIE MURRAY

"A sailor," as Murray chortles the story, "came ashore after a long, long voyage and was on his way home when he was stopped in the street by a woman wheeling a baby buggy. Something about her seemed familiar, but he could not place her.

"'Why son!' said the woman, 'don't you know your own mother?'

"'Mother?' he repeated, dazed like. "'Why—why, you look so young! What have you been doing to yourself?'

"'I've been taking the rejuvenation treatment!' she beamed.

"'Oh,' he exclaimed, and, pointing to the baby buggy, asked, suspiciously, 'What have you got in there?'

"'It's your father,' she replied. 'He took an overdose!'"

Correspondents Wondering About New President

By CHARLES S. HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The nearer they come to the fateful day when Herbert Hoover, president-elect, is to take over the reins of government the greater becomes the trepidation with which this event is viewed in prospect by the Washington corerspondents, particularly those on what is known as the White House detail.

The observation is rather general. "We'll miss Coolidge when he is gone." This is vouchsafed despite the fact that there has never been any great love lost between the White House correspondents and President Coolidge. The reason for this is that there is little of the "hail fellow well met" about the retiring president and he has looked upon newspapermen as a sort of necessary evil. At that, however, he has been fair and scrupulously exact with them in all his dealings—the New England conscience, probably, compelling that—and has played no favorites.

Hoover Enigmatic

No man, outside the limited few within his confidence, may say just what attitude President-elect Hoover will assume towards the newspapermen assigned to "cover" the White House and capitol. However, if the past is any criterion they will be catalogued and cross-indexed being accorded the exact measure of accommodation which the president or his advisers feel they are entitled to under such classification.

For a few corerspondents Mr. Hoover apparently has a relatively high regard. Some of them he has invited to his home and admitted them to as much intimacy as any one. Others were privileged to meet him at his office and are known to him by their first names. The great majority, however, have been without the pale and if subjected to any classification have been deemed about the lowest form of insect life. This, probably, is due to the fact that Mr. Hoover not only does not enjoy criticism, constructive or otherwise, but will not dissemble as a more experienced politician might do and pretend that he does. There probably isn't a regular reportorial blacklist maintained. None would be necessary for Mr. Hoover is a man with an exceptionally retentive memory and prone to look upon a critic as a potential enemy.

Some days ago Sen. Pat Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi shed a lot of crocksdile tears over the fact that newspaper correspondents assigned to watch the Hoover home on S street were not permitted even to perch on the porch railing but compelled to tramp up and down the street in a near blizzard and nine-inches of snow, blowing their frost numbed fingers to keep them warm. There wasn't even a friendly St. Bernard dog with a message of good cheer for the luckless hirelings of the press. But the newspapermen in Washington didn't get wrought up with self-pity over the Mississippi senator's speech for they haven't been led to hope for any gerat measure of co-operation from the president-elect. A squad of them were detailed to accompany the then Republican candidate and his party to Palo Alto, Calif., for the notification ceremonies last summer. They were given no opportunity to speak with him on that trip or the return journey, via the old home in Nebraska.

Secret "Interview"

During the campaign repeated efforts were made by correspondents in Washington to obtain some expression from Mr. Hoover, other than those contained in his set speeches, but without avail. After the Smith speech at Oklahoma City on intolerance Mr. Hoover did talk to newspaper men assembled at his headquarters but everyone within the sound of his voice was first placed under a pledge of solmen secrecy. Then when Mr. Hoover went on his South American tour the accompanying group of reporters were placed under a sort of official censorship, one of them being denied even the privilege of informing the subscribers of a great press service that the battleship Maryland had encountered high seas that day for fear it would create alarm over the safety of the president-elect.

When Mr. Hoover went to Florida recently on his pre-inauguration vacation to bask in sunshine and catch sail-fish another contigent of newspapermen were assigned to accompany him. Some special consideration may have been shown certain favored ones among them but the common or garden variety of correspondents couldn't get close enough to see Mr. Hoover at any time without the use of field glasses.

During the Coolidge administration and those of his two immediate predecessors, save for the period of the war, the correspondents have been privileged to meet the president, or "White House spokesman" and learn his views on pending legislation, international affairs and what not. True, they were not permitted to quote the president directly and both Presidents Harding and Coolidge have required that questions be turned in in advance so that they could be answered or ignored. However, these conferences have been open to all accredited correspondents, whether they might be listed firendly or unfriendly to the administration, and any one of them might submit a question, or half a dozen if he desired.

There is fear among Washington correspondents now, whether warranted or not, that this will be changed. The new president may decide that it is beneath the dignity of his office to thus confer with newspapermen in general. The suggestion has been made that he will prefer to deal with certain selected ones, correspondents he knows and on whom he can rely to neither ask embarrassing questions nor use information of that character even should he divulge it. That is a course which Mr. Coolidge probably would like to have followed; one which Mr. Harding, for his own good, should have adopted on one or two occasions; and it will be interesting to note whether, in the parlance of the street, Mr. Hoover can get away with it."

Health And Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929 by The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Vegetable Broth and Orange Diets

An exclusive diet of the citrus fruit juices is helpful in the cure of many diseases, but occasionally proves irritating to the stomach of a patient and in this case can be preceded by a few days of vegetable broth diet, using only strained soups made of various non-starchy vegetables, using any which are pleasant to the patient except onions, cabbage and garlic. In preparing this vegetable broth, the vegetables should be covered with distilled water and kept at a simmering point for about an hour. A glassful of this extract may be taken as often as desired, possibly at intervals of one and a half to two hours, but no milk, meat, toast or other food should be added at the same time, as a delay in recovery might result.

A long orange juice fast should not be taken without proper supervision, but you cannot possibly harm yourself, no matter what disease you are suffering from, if you will follow these simple rules. You should not undertake more than a few days of the orange juice fast, and this should be followed by the restricted diet. A good plan is to make up your mind to stick to the orange juice for five days, and for these five days I would advise you to take an eight-ounce glass of orange juice every two hours. By keeping to a regular schedule you will have better results and avoid distressing symptoms.

As the systemic toxins are stirred up you may have a slight headache or aches in the muscles, but these quickly disappear if the fast is continued and you do not use any medicinal preparation to suppress these symptoms of elimination. You should take one or two enemas each day, using plain, warm water, and not over a quart at a time; also two sponge or shower baths to keep the pores open and assist in elimination.

This fast will give your alimentary canal a rest and you will eliminate vast quantities of impurities which will relieve the body of accumulated poisons—possibly the result of years of wrong living—and in this way help you in overcoming disease toxins. After the five-day fast, the regular menus outlined in my newspaper articles should be used unless there is some special reason why you should avoid starches.

In some cases a longer fast would be indicated, but unless you are under the careful supervision of someone who is accustomed to this fasting regime, I would not advise a longer time. This short fasting on the orange juice will apply to any common disorder.

After the fasting regime it is advisable to continue with the sponge or shower baths daily and also a daily enema if required. You will be delighted with the results obtained after you have followed the well balanced diet for several weeks.

You should continue to read my daily articles and make a special study of how to combine your foods for more health and efficiency.

I will be very pleased if you will write to me and tell me of the good results received. I will reply to each letter as soon as possible, but do not be disappointed if you do not receive an answer at once, as my correspondence is very large and each letter must await its turn.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Environment

Question: F. S. G. asks: "Will you tell me if a child can inherit the love of liquor? It is claimed that excessive drunkenness is a disease, therefore that it is in the blood and can be inherited. It seems plausible to me that a child born of parents that drink would, if in the right circumstances and environment, overcome what tendency lay latent in him."

Answer: Excessive craving for alcoholic stimulants is a condition caused by nervousness and other bad habits of living, such as faulty diet, etc. When the child's parents have these bad habits it is almost impossible for the child to grow up with good habits, so, of course, there is a strong tendency to the same nervous craving for liquor found in the parents. If the child is changed to a good environment within the first few months, there should remain very little tendency to a bad hereditary influence.

Sauer Kraut Juice

Question: N. E. B. asks: "Do you consider sauer kraut juice a good tonic for a man of 65? If so, when do you suggest drinking it?"

Answer: The tonic effect of sauer kraut juice probably depends upon the laxative effect of the salt and laxative said. The food value is the same as that of cabbage. It is best to use sauer kraut juice between meals or just before retiring.

Shingles

Question: Mrs. O. T. H. asks: "What is the cause of shingles and are they curable? When shingles run around the body until both ends meet, does it cause death?

Answer: Herpes Zoster, known by the common name of "shingles," is caused by an acidosis which affects only one side of the nervous system so that the irritated patches on the skin appear over the nerves of the trunk on one side, usually on the upper back. This disorder will not cause death, but, of course, may be associated with some other trouble, either functional or organic, from which death may ensue.

MORAN: He's limpin' out now.

MACK: Go after him an' collect two dollars.

COLORFUL CROWD OF 35,000 PAYS $400,000 TO SEE MIAMI BATTLE

SHARKEY WINS CLOSE VERDICT

Stribling's Fouling Helps Cause His Defeat

see their idol battle for high stakes.

For more than half the fight, Stribling was the aggressor and the more dangerous puncher. In one round, the fourth, the Southerner gave the crowd probably its greatest thrill when he staggered his big foe with a crashing overhand right to the temple.

But the handicap in weight, the fact that he was tired and that his left arm "Pa" Stribling later asserted, was almost useless from the effects of neuritis after the fourth round—all these took a heavy toll in the strength and fighting power of this lithe, trim and good looking Georgian. He fought a game but losing battle from the sixth round on, severely punished by smashing body attack, blood, flowing from his mouth and his ribs a splot of fiery red.

Crowd for Willie

It was so close, however, at the finish that the big crowd stood in tense silence for the few minutes it required for the referee, Lou Magnolia, to pry them from a last clinch and then lift Sharkey's hand aloft. As the sole arbiter, the decision was in the New Yorker's hands.

The crowd at first seemed stunned. It's sympathies obviously were mostly with Stribling from the start, for reasons of sentiment, of youth and of sectional pride. Then there was a cheer for Sharkey but a bigger one for the gallant youth whose head was bloody and unbowed to the last. On The Associated Press score sheet, Sharkey took five of the ten rounds, while Stribling appeared to have an edge in four. One, the eighth, seemed even. Stribling won the first, fourth, fifth and sixth, but his big round and big moment of opportunity was the fourth. Sharkey had the upper hand in the second, third, seventh, ninth and tenth.

Body Blows Win

Sharkey's body attack unquestionably gained him the verdict, despite a slow start, woeful wildness at times and slowness in seizing his chances to score. The sailor boxed cooly, at times too much so, it seemed, when greater aggressiveness might have helped.

Stribling, always the more daring, plunged into his rival from the start but he, too, often was wild and slow to follow up openings, except when he held Sharkey. The Georgian damaged his own chances by repeatedly hitting near the danger line. He was warned at least a half dozen times to keep his blows up and since the New York system of scoring prevailed these incidents were put in the Stribling debit column by the referee.

Magnolia, who seemed to have no hesitancy in lifting Sharkey's hand, disclosed that he scored the rounds as follows: Six for Sharkey, three for Stribling and one even.

SOCIETY VIES AT BIG FIGHT

Elite and Boxers Mingle; Dempsey in Tuxedo

By MORRIS DEHAVEN TRACY

RINGSIDE, FLAMINGO PARK, Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 27. (UP)—Pugilism's bid for a place amid the genteel sports, made under the benign influence of Florida's winter warmth, drew to the yellow pine stands around the ringside here tonight, a great throng.

Men in evening clothes or in white flannels sat with ladies in all the brilliant raiment of sport costume. There were more than 35,000.

Well known figures of the ring who knew it and were known as its characters in days before anyone thought of refining pugilism, were in tuxedoes or blue coats and white flannels; their faces freshly shaved, their cravats correct, but their noses still bulbous and their ears still of cauliflower.

Even One-eyed Connolly, famed as the man who has seen every prize fight of his time and never paid for a ticket, appeared at the ring side in dinner jacket—and monocle.

They're All Dolled Up

The 400 or more ushers wore white flanneis and orange trench caps with the word "Florida," across their caps in purple. Special police were in trim blue Norfolk jackets, white trousers and blue caps with service revolvers slung from Sam Brown belts.

The arena itself sat in the broad lawns of Flamingo park. In the arena's center glowed the ring, bright beneath the glare of 42 powerful electric lamps.

Jack Dempsey, promoter of this fight and whose personality has much to do with its success, was at the ringside early. He wore evening clothes and had with him the manner more of the drawing room than of the prize ring.

As part of his effort to prove that pugilism is a sport as genteel as Gene Tunney himself might desire, Dempsey is said to have written personal letters to scores of wealthy and socially prominent persons, urging them to come. They responded with generous orders for tickets, and tonight many came to see the sport and by their presence make Jack's hopes come true.

Milady and Her Attire

The display of women's sports attire was complete. Noticeable as a prevailing fad were the ankle length stockings of green or red, with slippers to match.

Dempsey passed easily among the ringside groups. He was all smiles and joviality.

"It's lot better to be out watching 'em than inside stopping 'em," he confided, and his attitude gave evidence that he enjoyed thoroughly his genteel role of business man.

Johnny Farrell, American open golf champion, arrived just before the time for the first preliminary and shook many hands.

Jack Dempsey escorted Estelle Taylor, his wife, to a place reserved for her close to the ring. She was wrapped in a great white cape with soft fur collar. Many friends greeted her.

J. L. Cook, judge of the Chicago Boxing Commission; George A. Strom of Chicago, and Johnny Risheimer of Chicago, occupied seats near together.

Mr. Capone Present

Al Capone, formerly of Chicago, and now of Miami, was near the front. Five of his friends sat with him.

Dr. W. H. Atkins, the late Tex Rickard's physician, was close to the ring.

Mrs. James J. Walker, wife of New York's mayor, was said to be in the crowd but Walker himself was not in evidence. Rex Beach, writer friend of Tex Rickard in Klondyke days, had a choice seat as did Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Crowley, the former a nephew of P. E. Crowley, president of the New York Central railway.

The Fight By Rounds

ROUND ONE

Stribling landed the first rap. A light left to the head as they danced carefully about the center of the ring watching for openings. Sharkey missed several left jabs at close quarters where he ripped a solid right to Stribling's ribs before the Southerner tied him up. There was little action as the tall greyhound of the South danced with the New Englander and they measured blows. Stribling grinned as Sharkey's right bounced off his chin in an exchange at close quarters. In another clinch Strib smashed his right hand four times on the side of Jack's head and Sharkey slipped to the floor but came up without a count. They were clinching with Stribling pounding on Jack's head with his right at the bell.

ROUND TWO

Sharkey bounced from his corner and flew to close quarters into a storm of Strib's overhand rights. The tall lanky Southerner handled Sharkey like a small boy, despite the Bostonian's heft and balk. There was a puzzled look about Sharkey's eyes as Stribling ruffed him in a clinch, smashed a full right to his chin and then laughed when the sailor's right hook found his own chin. Sharkey kept in the open but Stribling chose to rush and nearly drove Sharkey from the ring as they smashed into the ropes. The battle grew rough and ready as both struggled with little respect for the rules. The crowd was hissing at the bell, apparently booing Sharkey's head bound rush.

ROUND THREE

Sharkey danced after Stribling as the Southerner stepped around him menacingly. The Bostonian forced Stribling to lead but the best the Southerner could do was a long blow to the ribs. Sharkey began to solve Stribling's style as he stepped in with a whipping right uppercut that smacked loudly on the Southerner's body. A full swing left hook caught Stribling in the pit of the stomach and cut down his speed.

Another cutting left hook as Sharkey pursued his foe about the ring cut Stribling's lip and the Southerner was spitting blood at the bell.

ROUND FOUR

Sharkey was full of confidence and began to weave and feint with his head shooting lefts to Stribling's head. As they roamed about the ring Jack pulled his lighter foe to close quarters and buried both fists in the Georgian's body. Stribling rushed Sharkey and nearly threw him through the ropes. Referee Lou Magnolia warned Stribling for his rough work and ordered him to keep his punches up.

The Southerner caught Sharkey with a smashing right to the chin that nearly floored the sailor. The big gob, half dazed, bounced back into a right that Stribling buried under his heart. Sharkey danced away, fighting for time and was back to normal when the bell stopped Stribling's next rush.

ROUND FIVE

Sharkey recovered quickly in his corner from a right that dropped on his chin like a lightning bolt. He tore after Stribling with a rain of left jabs and slugged a right and left to the body until the referee warned him to keep his left hook above the belt. They fought closely and the referee was kept busy hauling them apart. They danced about the ring poking left jabs at each other. Sharkey blinked as the Georgian lifted a sizzling left hook to his chin. Stribling fought in deceptive fashion, leaping suddenly with Straight left jabs that kept the sailor blinking. Another bruising exchange at close quarters brought more blood from Stribling's mouth but he was lashing back furiously with both hands at the bell.

ROUND SIX

During the interval Referee Magnolia warned Sharkey's handlers against coaching from the corner. Jack bounced out and missed half a dozen shots at Stribling's weaving body. As he missed another long blow the Georgian lifted a left to Jack's chin. Stribling's speed and the strength in his left arm bothered Sharkey but he danced in close and drew blood from Stribling's nose with short lefts. Again they were warned as Sharkey rushed into Stribling's body with punches that sometimes shaded the belt line. Stribling bounced his left into Jack's face but he ran into a two-fisted storm as the furious sailor retaliated with a charge that drove Stribling all around the ring. The bell ended the rally.

ROUND SEVEN

The fight was anything but sensational as the boxers measured each other carefully and either boxed lightly at a distance or grappled at close quarters. Stribling threw another long right into Sharkey's chin but drew the referee's censure again from a left hook that seemed to have landed fairly on Sharkey's body. They opened up for a moment with a brisk exchange but Stribling had Sharkey missing constantly and he blocked many of the Bostonian's best blows. As shower of boos began to drift down the ring from the five dollar seats Stribling bounched his right again off Sharkey's chin but took a bad bruising as the heavy powerful sailor cuffed him viciously with both hands in return. Despite the brief exchange the boos were growing louder when the gong rang.

ROUND EIGHT

The bouncing babies went back to left jabbing at long range in spite of the cat calls. Both seemed to have tremendous professional respect for each other and any blows that might have caused damage were carefully blocked. There was a brief flurry along the ropes but Sharkey missed half a dozen lefts. As they broke in the open again Jack tried to pummel the Georgian's body but Stribling bounced back. Magnolia very impressively, tore them apart and waved for Stribling to stay above the belt. There was less and less action as the round dragged itself out.

ROUND NINE

Sharkey tried hard to get in close and when he stung Stribling with a solid right to the body Stribling fought back with a volley that pitched Sharkey against the ropes. They wrestled and heaved around the ring in a fight exchange but as they broke into the clear again Stribling smashed a beautiful left hook and sent a right to Sharkey's chin. Jack broke away but Stribling chased him and nearly put him on the floor with another left to the head. Sharkey fought back with a barrage of punches but never touched the elusive Southerner. As they came to close quarters Stribling buried a left hook in the Bostonian's body and had him slowed and back pedalling when the bell rang.

ROUND TEN

There were more warnings for the fighters from the referee before the gong opened the last round. They came out jabbing carefully again. The sailor moving stolidly while Stribling danced about on his toes and evaded almost every punch Sharkey threw at him. Finally caught the Southerner and pinned him to the ropes with a left to the body and a right to the head but smeared Stribling's face with blood. The Georgian fought right back, nailing Sharkey with two cutting left hooks to the pit of the stomach. Again they box until Sharkey loosed a long overhead right that bounced from Stribling's chin. Sharkey landed a right at the bell.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

EARLY SPUDS HAVE WORKOUT

Many Tossers Here Friday When Training Starts

Following the precept of Moran and Mack concerning the early bird, several Spudders took advantage of favorable weather the past two days to engage in limbering up out at Athletic park. The athletes who wintered here and those who arrived before the start of spring training Friday were augmented by several local amateur and semi-pro tossers in workouts.

Pitcher Cy Smith from Winston-Salem of the Piedmont league, Outfielder Fred Bennett from Tulsa, new men; Second Baseman Peter Turgeon and Outfielders Howard Fitzgerald and Brick Eldred, 1928 holdovers, are the athletes who are going about their conditioning early.

A new arrival to camp yesterday was Pitcher R. S. Cromer, who was at Abilene, the Spudder farm, last season.

Numerous athletes are expected to arrive today and tomorrow and quite a host of the hopefuls will answer Jim Galloway's reporting call Friday.

Baer Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—For many years we have been trying to construct the conversation between two presidents as they scamper up Pennsylvania avenue in the inaugural parade.

We would not only like to know what they talk about, but also, who starts the argument.

We imagine that a consolidated scenario of jumped inaugurals would broadcast something like these:

"Nice day, Grover."

"It is for you, Zachary."

"Why don't you tip your hat?"

"I'm saving it for an emergency."

"Don't sit so close. They will think we're necking."

"What are you going to do after you get out?"

"Why bring that up?"

"By the way, how about the keys to the cellar?"

"Don't need 'em. My white house spokesman busted the door off its hinges."

"What did you think of my inaugural speech? Pretty good, wasn't it?"

"Sure. Has been for centuries."

"How's the food in the White House?"

"Don't know. I lost my appetite last November."

"By the way, where's the official veto?"

"The senate donated it to the Smithsonian Institute."

"Do you mean to say that you can't control that mob of clover kickers?"

"Listen, Zach, this job of president is the same as a crossing watchman. If you're smart, you will wave the flag and then get off the tracks and let the train go by."

"Why, I thought a president was an important guy."

"I did too until I met a senator."

"What are you going to do now that you are out?"

"About the same as Cinderella when her glass slippers cracked."

"Say, you're the fellow who said that he would rather be right than president, ain't you?"

"I realize now that I was misquoted."

"Well, here's the White House. Being as it ain't a taxicab, I'll get out first."

"Listen, Zach, do me a favor. Don't pan the last administration."

"All right, Grover. Just one more smile for the cameras and then we will act natural again."

Katz and Davis Cop Doubles Pin Match

Harry Katz and Harry Davis of the Cinderella Boot shop team of the City league defeated Jewel Constantine and Lewis Reisen of the Hub squad, in a return bowling match on the Spudder alleys. The winning duo rolled 1,811 for five games to 1,713 for the losers. Davis was high scorer with 972, an average of 194.

DON'T TOLERATE ITCHING ECZEMA ANOTHER DAY!

There is no need of enduring the terrible, itching torment of eczema and other skin infections. Don't suffer the annoyance and embarrassment it brings you another day.

Go to your druggist, ask for Black and White Ointment, use it according to directions and your skin troubles will yield quickly to its remarkable effects. It is pleasant to use, highly beneficial and scientifically safe.

For best results use Black and White Skin Soap with Black and White Ointment. All dealers sell them at small cost.

THE FIRST of the month usually is not time for one to be particularly happy, but Wichita Falls fandom will welcome March 1. For the ushering in of that windy month also is to mark the start of spring training for our Spudders. Only one more day and the vanguard of the athletes will start work out at the of orchard.

Other Texas league clubs also will be at work this week-end and all are to start early next week. Although the season opens a few days later this campaign than formerly, there is much work to be done all around the loop. Probably never before in the history of the circuit has there been such widespread rebuilding of all teams that has marked the past winter. Since the close of the 1928 season, sale, release, trade and purchase of players has changed the personnel of every club in the circuit to a startling extent.

Not a team, including even the championship Houston Buffs and the runnerup Spudders will start the 1929 season with half the number of players it closed with last September. Managers and their aides, therefore, must rebuild their clubs. That is hard on the managers. But it will go to make for more uncertain races and fans around the league have indicated they are pleased with the many new faces they are to see.

ONLY EIGHT Spudders are listed to return, though there is the possibility that Herb Cobb and Buck Stanton will come back from the Browns. The St. Louis club still has to turn over a pair of tossers to Alvin Gardner and it isn't unlikely that Cobb and Stanton will return for further seasoning.

As you well know, except for first base and one or two righthand pitchers of known worth, the Spudders are set right now for the opening ball. But there will be some players in the 1929 troupe; including four or five pitchers; a catcher, two outfielders and an infielder.

I almost forget Ed Roetz in my calculations as one who may return. The hard-hitting rookie infielder also is to get a trial with the Brownies down at Palm Beach and he hardly seems ripe to make the big league grade. However, the Browns have players to send to Tulsa and probably Milwaukee and it isn't certain by any means that former Spudders will be sent back here, even if they aren't retained by the St. Louis club.

AN INTERESTING letter is received from L. L. Jeffries, 501 West Wabash, Electra. Mr. Jeffries hopes and believes Jim Galloway will lead the Spudders to victory this season. He sends in an all-star, all-time selection to add to my gallery submitted by contributors. And a corking team it is, too.

Pitchers — Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson.
Catcher—Ray Schalk.
First base—George Sisler.
Second base—Rogers Hornsby.
Third base—Willie Kamm.
Shortstop—Hans Wagner.
Outfielders—Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Babe Ruth.
Manager—Connie Mack.

Mighty pleased to hear from you, Mr. Jeffries. And thanks for the good wishes for the Spudders. Write again.

HORNSBY NUB OF CUB HOPES

Rogers Will Make or Break Bears, Critics Agree

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—There is no more interesting and intriguing career in all baseball than that of Rogers Hornsby, stormy petrel of the National league since that October day, 1926, when he led the St. Louis Cardinals to the world's championship.

Unexpectedly cast with a second division team last season by that inexplicable trade which transferred him from the New York Giants to the Boston Braves, Hornsby is again back in select baseball company as a member of the Chicago Cubs.

The next chapter in Hornsby's career promises to be the most fascinating of all. Speculation over Hornsby's future has resolved itself to this:

"Will Hornsby make or break the Cubs?"

Many Skeptics

There are many skeptics who believe that Hornsby's presence will create dissension in the ranks of the Cubs and that the groundwork of a fine baseball machine will be undermined.

There are others, and they are in the majority, who believe that Hornsby will inspire the Cubs to the pennant.

Two things indicate that Hornsby means business and support the latter claim. They are:

1—Hornsby has signed a pledge with President Veeck to refrain from gambling during the term of his three-year contract with the Cubs.

2—Hornsby is in splendid physical condition after a quiet winter on his farm near St. Louis.

Rogers in Fine Fettle

Writing to a New York friend recently, Hornsby said that he was in as fine shape as ever before in his career and eagerly awaited the start of the season.

Only 33, Hornsby is within range of crashing many of the great records Cobb and Wagner left behind. Cobb led the American league in batting 12 times and Wagner led the National league eight times.

Hornsby has seven batting championships to his credit in his 12 years in the majors. He also has a home run record second only to Babe Ruth. He set the National league record in 1922 with 42 home runs. During the last nine seasons he has made 211 home runs, with an average of 23 a season.

Nine-Tenths Preventable

Nine-tenths of all the diseases of the American people can be traced directly to constipation, doctors say. Constipation throws into the system poisons which taint and weaken every organ of the body and makes them easy victims for any germs which attack them. Prevent constipation and you will avoid nine-tenths of all diseases, with their consequent pain and financial losses. Herbine, the good old vegetable cathartic, will prevent constipation in a natural, easy and pleasant way. Get a bottle today from Miller Drug Store.

Mobiloil betters its best!

For only 5c more a quart you can now get a new oil made especially for today's high-speed driving conditions. Here is surprising economy.

Today's high-speed driving conditions demand new lubricating oils, superior in character to anything produced before. This need is now met with the New Mobiloil, especially adapted to this new burden placed upon lubrication.

This still-better Mobiloil, in the correct grade for your car, now awaits you at any Mobiloil dealer's place of business. The price is 35c a quart. The economy in use over other oils will more than offset the 5c more per quart.

MAKE THIS TEST!

Drive to the nearest Mobiloil dealer . . . have him drain all the old oil from your crankcase and . . . fill it up with the correct grade of the New Mobiloil. You know from experience how your engine ran the last time fresh oil was put in the crankcase . . . Now—notice the difference!

Look for these results—

Increased Oil Mileage: In actual tests the New Mobiloil has been found to outlast any other oil of similar body. Many motorists get as much as 100 extra miles per quart from the New Mobiloil.

Increased gasoline mileage: As the weeks pass by, notice your saving in gasoline consumption. With the New Mobiloil, full compression is assured. The result is a saving in gasoline consumption — perhaps as much as 16%.

Faster pick-up — more power: Watch how you get the jump on traffic when the signal changes. Try passing another car of the same make as yours on the open road. Try some of the hills that have made your engine labor before.

Smoother Operation: Notice the quiet, velvety feel of your motor. Note the new quietness when idling, the new smoothness and speed of acceleration. On a long, fast run notice the new freedom from vibration.

The New Mobiloil

35c a quart

The dealer who sells a quart of the New Mobiloil for less than 35c (except Mobiloil "E" the chatterproof oil for Model T Fords, at 30c) is not making his fair reasonable profit. Lower prices often accompany substitution.

NEW YORK OIL COMPANY
Five-Year Record

Five-Year Record

Production and distribution of oil and gas constitutes the business of the New York Oil company formed in Wyoming in 1913. The company has interests in or working agreements affecting 633 wells in the Salt Creek fields and had interests also in the Kevin Sunburst field of Montana, the Fort Collins field of Colorado and in 5,000 acres in the Pearl Creek dome territory of Alaska. The latter properties are under lease to the Associated Oil Company of California. The New York Oil company also has leases on about 4,700 acres in Kansas and interests in the Amarillo, Texas, territory.

In April, 1928, the Salt Creek holdings and pipeline and distributing systems in Wyoming and its heavy oil properties on Hamilton, Boone, Poison Spider and other structures were sold at prices reported to aggregate $5,800,000 and 800,000 shares of $1 par of the Empire State Oil company. The reason given for the sale was the desire of the heirs of Frank G. Curtis, holding 43 per cent of the stock, to settle the estate.

Latest earning statements available are for the first quarter of 1927, when they were $179,896. For 1926 net was $116,529 and for 1925 $167,171.

Capital stock was reduced from 400,000 shares of $25 par value to 400,000 shares of $10 par. There is $3,480,230 outstanding. There is no funded debt, the company having called on Sept. 22, 1928, its 6 per cent bonds, due from Feb. 1, 1929, to Aug. 1, 1930, at 100½ and interest. Four per cent was paid in 1924. Nothing was paid from then to June, 1926, when 25 cents a share was distributed. Nothing has been paid since. In 1920 there was a stock dividend of 100 per cent.

As of Dec. 31, 1926, total current assets were $850,593, current liabilities were $349,218 and net working capital was $301,375. Book value of the $25 par stock at that date was $33.43 a share.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27. (AP)—Unfavorable weather in the belt, a good spot demand and more favorable textile news were responsible for a gain of over $1 a bale in the cotton market today. Trading was quite active and although the close was a few points under the highs it showed a net advance of 14 to 16 points. May contracts after dropping to 19.72 advanced steadily to 19.94 and closed at 19.91, or 14 points net higher. The closing tone was very steady.

Liverpool cables were irregular at the start here but had little influence on values. First trades in March showed losses of 3 points due to the circulation of notices for 10,000 bales additional on contracts for that month. Later positions, however, advanced in response to a higher opening in New York. Reports that all notices had been stopped influenced a slight demand after the start which carried March to 19.54 and active positions generally to levels 3 to 4 points net up.

The higher prices attracted more or less profit-taking which carried values off 7 to 8 points from the highs but towards noon a very active demand developed.

A good spot demand helped buying which carried prices to new highs for the day in late trading with March selling for 19.73, May 19.94 and July 20.02, or 21 to 22 points up from the lows.

There was a slight reaction in final trading on a renewal of realizing and final prices were 2 to 3 points under the top.

Numerous Stocks Register Gains As Coppers and Specialties Lead

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (US)—Coppers and specialties held the spotlight in a more active stock market today. The former group moved into new high ground as the balance of the market turned stronger under the influence of indications that favorable money conditions would be enjoyed over the inauguration period. Green Cananea jumped 5 points, Inspiration over 6, and Smelting over 2. Mathieson Alkali soared over 17 points following stock dividend announcement, Carbide gained 4⅝ more, Radio 5, Packard 6½ and National Cash Register 4.

Steel dipped fractionally as the official announcement had been discounted by reason of the revelation of the plan in the so-called "special analysis" issued by a stock exchange firm several days ago. Bethlehem and other steel shares moved higher, however, as the weekly steel reviews told of increasing demand and strengthening prices. Rails were quiet but strong while oils turned irregular through fear of further price cutting. Call money held at 8 per cent throughout. Total turnover climbed over the 4,000,000 share level.

"We have said all we could to the banks!" That statement of Governor Young of reserve board, was reason for part of the continued good feeling among traders. It not alone dissipated fears roused by rumor that the board planned another "warning" but it strengthened belief that the way was paved for a celebration of the Hoover inauguration. In the belief of many holders of securities the reserve can well say considerable more to the banks but stop issuing bearish statements for public consumption. It is obvious that the reason for the last "warning" was to scare the public out of speculation. It was successful in that it has resulted in a quieter and orderly market. While call money is likely to be tight over the week-end it should ease thereafter so that with the reserve board admitting that it will have nothing more to say for a while the new administration can be properly welcomed by the stock market.

The street was flooded with reports as to the coming bullish developments in the individual copper shares. Anaconda split-up and larger dividend payment prior to its recapitalization and acquisition of full control of Greene Cananea were most talked of while other rumors helping the advance in the red metal group were: Further rise in the price of the red metal to 20 cents a pound to be experienced soon; increase in the Greene Cananea dividend at meeting today; larger payment planned by Inspiration, Cerro de Pasco and others. The main factor in regard to the copper shares, however, is that dominant interests have control of output and will fight off any weakening in the metal market until they finish their plans for consolidations and recapitalizations.

Durant reputedly walked out on the Warner-Loew merger deal at meeting Tuesday afternoon so now the Loew people are said to be planning to accept the offer from Fox. Recent advance in these shares, however, has permitted of profit-taking of importance. Continental Can went through to new high territory as a result of operations of the group that took an interest over a fortnight ago as told of here at that time. Strength in Johns Manville, Carbide and others reflected change of opinion among those who act for the prominent Detroiters in the "Big Ten." While believing the reserve will do everything to effect further correction of the market they believe the real disciplinary action will not come until after next week. There were rumors of investigation of recent market activity in Crosley because of doubts as to extent of distribution. Almost as soon as listed on the big board last week it acted similar to stocks which were known to be "technically cornered."

That Secretary Mellon should have optimistic remarks to make as to the business outlook in denying report he would not continue as secretary of the treasury was no surprise but the expectation thereof gave further stimulus as it was added indication that a good stock market was not unwelcome for the immediate future. Together with Governor Young's statement and the Steel corporation's announcement of its refunding plan it entirely offset what little fear there was that the rediscount rate might be raised tomorrow. These figures also overshadowed indications that brokers' loans had increased $50,000,000 or so for the week.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (AP)—Wheat met with heavy selling today, and a consequent sharp break in wheat prices led also to a lively downturn in corn. Word was received that country holders of wheat in Canada was liquidating and there was much notice taken of announcement from Washington that despite adverse conditions the domestic winter wheat crop has apparently escaped any widespread serious harm.

Closing quotations on wheat were weak, 2⅜ to 2⅝c net lower. Corn finished 1 to 1⅜c off, oats 1-3@⅝c to 1¼c down and provisions varying from 15c decline to 5c advance.

Corn was firm early, but the traders who at that stage were buyers turned to the selling side later when the wheat market tumbled down grade in earnest.

Corn prices, however, received good support on the decline that ensued, and the Chicago cash corn trading basis was steady to half cent higher. Oats as well as corn were rather firm early, but eased down afterward.

Provisions were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

MILK RECEIPTS CONTINUE GAIN

Total Production of Area Now 35,000 Pounds

Material increases in the deliveries of milk to local milk products concerns during the last few days were reported Wednesday. The Producers and James Bros. creameries, Lehrick Ice Cream company, Ferguson Ice Cream company, and Kraft Cheese company reported average daily receipts now totalling more than 35,000 pounds of milk daily. The Ferguson plant reported an increase of almost 50 per cent since Jan. 15.

Numerous farmers who discontinued the sale of milk last fall because of having no surplus over their domestic needs are now making regular deliveries, it was reported at the Kraft Cheese plant. Many cows will fresh during March, it was stated, and with the abundance of moisture now in the ground promising unusually rich pasture, local dairying leaders anticipate the heaviest production of milk this spring ever obtained in this community.

Quotations on butter and No. 1 cream by the Producers creamery showed slight advances.

COUNTY SCHOOL HEADS TO PASS ON TEACHERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27. (UP)—A bill designed to remove the rights of county school superintendents to pass on teachers' contracts was killed by the house early today.

It was charged from the floor of the house superintendents had been bootlegging contracts and acting as czars in the selection of teachers for rural districts. In spite of a bitter debate the bill was killed promptly in a viva voce vote.

FARMERS TALK SOIL FERTILITY

150 Attend School Of Terracing at Electra

The relation of various crops to soil fertility, and the increased productivity gained by terracing were discussed by M. R. Bentley, of Texas A. & M. college, before approximately 150 farmers of Wichita county who attended a school of terracing held Wednesday near the Haynes store, five miles north of Electra.

The speaker used a series of charts to demonstrate the loss of moisture and the decrease in fertility with the growth of different crops. The percentage of increase in production with various crops gained by terracing certain test areas also was shown.

Following Mr. Bentley's address, a talk was given by A. K. Short of the Federal Land bank at Houston, on the subject, "Why the Federal Land Bank Is Interested in Terracing." Loans made by banks such as he represents, the speaker declared, are based on the quality of the six-inch stratum of surface soil found on the land in question. It has been proven, he said, that in a 42-year period, rolling land will lose all of that soil unless it has been conserved by crop rotation, contour farming, or terracing.

The morning session, beginning about 10 o'clock, was devoted to a field study in the use of the farm level, an instrument similar to a surveyor's transit, for laying out terracing lines.

The school closed with a practical demonstration of terracing. The entire school inspected a completed terrace, one which had just been started, and one only lined out. The latter two were then completed with the use of a Martin ditcher and a Corsicana grader.

Eleven different communities in the county were represented, Mr. McGown said, in the school, which he declared one of the most successful ever conducted in this section.

Garner Suffered 10 Long Years

Wichita Falls Man Says Orgatone Has Restored Him to Health

"I tried for 10 long years to find a medicine that would relieve me of my suffering, but all my efforts failed completely until I got hold of this Orgatone," said L. B. Garner, a well-known bottler employed at the Nehi Bottling company, and who lives at 2514½ Fillmore street, Wichita Falls, Texas, a few days ago.

"During all these years," he continued, "my stomach was in such a bad condition that everything I ate disagreed with me. I would often be so bloated up with gas that I was hardly able to get a good breath. My appetite was very poor, and what little I did eat didn't seem to give me any nourishment at all, and I just went downhill until sometimes I felt so run down and no account I did not feel like doing any work at all. In fact, my entire system was in very bad condition. I tried a great many different medicines and treatments, but I just seemed to get worse all the time instead of better.

"Then my wife, who had used Orgatone with such good results bought a bottle for me, and I just want to say from that time on I didn't have to bother about any other sort of medicine, for I commenced to improve right from the start, and now I am well and hearty as I ever was in my life. I never have that tired worn-out feeling any more, and my stomach troubles have been completely overcome. I have a dandy appetite, and eat just anything I want, and I never suffer the least bit afterward. I am in better condition generally than I have been in many years. Yes, sir, I have taken a great many different medicines in my life, but this Orgatone beats anything I have ever tried. I am glad to have the opportunity to recommend it to everybody."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusively by Allison's Drug Store, 716 Indiana avenue, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone nurse who is meeting the public daily. Out-of-town customers are being supplied, all charges prepaid upon receipt of price, $1.25 per bottle, or six bottles for $6.25.—Adv.

Constructive work among under privileged boys was described as the greatest contribution of service clubs to the future citizenship of the country by Ewing Clagget, attorney, in an address before the Optimist club members Wednesday noon at the Kemp hotel.

Mr. Clagget commended the various projects fostered by different local clubs here, including the Day Nursery work done by the Kiwanis club, the "knothole gang" maintained by the Rotary club, and the Municipal zoo which was established by the Lions club. He urged even more extensive activity in this field.

Preparatory to the election of new officers for the coming fiscal year, a nominating committee composed of Dr. W. P. Lowry, Solon R. Featherston, and Grover Monroe was appointed. Their report, and nominations from the floor, will be heard on March 13, it was announced.

Songs by Ernest Reeves, with accompaniments played by Miss Lorene Tucker, completed the program, which was in charge of Herbert S. Gray.
