Disaster Fear Of Mexico

GREAT RUMBLINGS ARE HEARD; EARTHQUAKES SHAKE TERRITORY

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 27.—The past weeks have brought to almost every part of southern Mexico circumstances and events which many Mexicans regard as ominous and portentious of disaster.

Ometepec, in the state of Guerrero, yesterday experienced an unusually violent storm accompanied by an extravagantly colored sky of jet black clouds and deep red background.

The storm was followed by an earthquake and the inhabitants were left with mingled awe and terror.

Near the volcano Orizaba inhabitants are badly frightened by almost continual subterranean rumblings. Along the Oaxacan coast the ground has opened in great cracks from which salt water has emerged.

DIRECTORS OF TECH MEET IN CITY

IMPORTANT MATTERS OF COLLEGE BUSINESS BEING CONSIDERED

Members of the board of regents of Texas Technological college are in meeting in Lubbock today, the session having started shortly before noon in the office of Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the college.

A luncheon was served the visiting regents in the home economics building at noon today and the meeting again got underway at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Consider Business

It is understood that consideration is being given the possible addition of buildings to the school and a number of other matters of importance. The session will not be concluded until late today.

Members of the board attending include Clifford B. Jones, of Spur; R. A. Underwood, of Amarillo; Roscoe Wilson, Lubbock; Mrs. F. N. Drane, Corsicana; Riley Strickland, Amarillo, and Thomas Johnson, of McKinney. Others who are meeting with the regents are Dr. Horn, W. T. Gaston, business manager of the college, and Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth architect.

Three of the board members were unable to attend, John W. Carpenter, of Dallas; Houston Harte, San Angelo, and Frank E. Clarity, of Fort Worth.

MANY TO GO TO FARM SESSION

TWO HUNDRED LISTED AS DELEGATES FROM AREA

Approximately two hundred delegates from all sections of the South Plains are expected to leave today and early Wednesday for Dallas where they will attend a state-wide meeting of farmers in that city tomorrow and Thursday. Sam H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau, and E. F. Creekmore, general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative association, will be the principal speakers at the two-day affair.

Headquarters of the gathering will be established at the Hilton hotel and information received here states that the Dallas Chamber of Commerce has secured special rates at all hotels for visiting delegates. A number of entertainment features are planned during the two days, including a complimentary luncheon, sight seeing trips for the women, a theater party with special rates offered at all theaters.

All Groups Included

Groups to be represented at the meeting include those interested in cotton, livestock and other cooperative organizations.

An attendance of between 2,000 and 3,000 of the leading men of the state is expected for the meeting, including a score of Lubbock residents with others from surrounding communities.

Those selected to attend the gathering from this sectin include

Lamesa Dentist Invents A Quick-Opening 'Chute; To Be Great Aid In Air

BY WILLIAM A. WILSON
Lamesa Correspondent

LAMESA, Jan. 27.—Time and aviation have waited almost half a century for a West Texas man, Dr. Graydon Mason Terry, of this city to invent a quick way parachute that will make travel by air safe. This, Dr. Terry has done and is now making contact with Col. Bill Easterwood of Dallas through his personal representative Geo. F. Smith, of Snyder, who has already been interviewed by Dr. Terry who explained the invention to Smith.

The new invention will open instantly after jumping from a plane and will, according to Dr. Terry, "save life even as close to the ground as 100 feet." Dr. Terry states, "it is so simple that I cannot understand why some of our fliers and air men have not already discovered it." The attachment can be placed on any standard parachute and consists of a small rubber tube and compressed air tank. When the rip cord is released after jumping a valve is thrown open automatically and air from the tank rushes into the rubber tube which is bound in the hem of the parachute. The principle of inflating the tube forces open a side of the chute into which natural air rushes thereby insuring instant opening and checking of the falling body.

Story Interesting

The story of the invention is an interesting one, according to Dr. Terry who is a dentist of this city. He states that early in the spring of 1930 he read an account of two fliers jumping from a plane in East Texas near Nacogdoches and meeting their deaths by reason of the

LUBBOCK AREA GETS RAIN

PRECIPITATION ONLY .07 HERE; OTHER AREAS BENEFIT

Starting shortly after midnight Monday, a light rain blanketed Lubbock and surrounding vicinity to an extent of .07 of an inch up to 7 o'clock this morning, according to a report by Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station.

With daylight today, however, the moisture mainly consisted of a fine drizzle but continued at noon.

Although today's precipitation has been rather light it will be of some benefit, according to Mr. Jones. "Usually the latter part of January and early February we lose a lot of the moisture in the ground but with that which we already have from late fall and early winter rains, and with the weather we are experiencing at this time, we will retain a big majority of that which has fallen."

SWEETWATER, Jan. 27. (AP)—Rain which began yesterday and continued through the night was still falling today, the total precipitation being approximately one inch. Flying weather was bad and lateral roads were impassable.

EL PASO, Jan. 27. (AP)—Rain measuring .69 of an inch fell here yesterday and today, benefitting grazing lands.

RANGER RANCHER STILL MISSING

RANGER, Jan. 27. (AP)—In the footprints of a man who appeared to have been running officers sought today solution of the disappearance of Wes Marshbanks, ranchman.

Marshbanks left his home at Ranger Sunday morning to drive to his ranch 12 miles southeast. He did not return when expected and his wife and daughter were alarmed.

Officers found his automobile at the ranch, with the key in the switch, and his overcoat and gloves. They found what they believed to be his footprints in the sand and evidence he had been running.

The trail led to a point about a mile and half from the ranch house, but ended at a water tank. The tank was dragged without immediate results.

DOOMED MAN'S MOTHER LEARNS HER SON IS TO BE HANGED; SEEKS MERCY

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Jan. 27.—A seventy-one-year-old mother has learned that her son must die on the gallows at the state penitentiary at Canon City, Colorado, this week.

Learning the processes of law which will take the life of her son, John Walker, one of the trio of Manter bank bandits, Mrs. Julia Rhodes, mother of the convicted man late yesterday asked Governor W. H. Adams to save his life. On either side of the weeping aged woman as she entered the governor's office were Mrs. Mary Taylor, Walker's sister, and Mrs. Bert C. Brown, his half sister.

Governor Adams refused to intervene.

The Colorado Supreme court yesterday denied the petition of Walker, Andrew Halliday and Claude Ray, for a re-hearing and reaffirmed their conviction of first degree murder in the Kiowa county district court for the slaying of Undersheriff C. A. Hickman of Eads, Colorado. Hickman was slain last March when he sought to arrest the three men who made a foray into Colorado after holding up the Manter, Kansas, State bank last April, Mrs. Rhodes came to Denver at the time the three Manter bandits were tried at Eads, Colorado.

'MEAL TICKETS FOR MOOCHERS' IS SLOGAN ADOPTED IN LOS ANGELES

* * * * * * * * * * * *

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27—Meal tickets, not money, for moochers.

The plan was adopted today in fact, if not as a slogan, by the citizens committee for relief of unemployment, which estimated beggars were obtaining $150,000 a week in Los Angeles by asking dimes.

Books containing six tickets good for substantial meals at any number of restaurants are being printed. No price is placed on the books, the citizens who otherwise would hand out dimes or quarters, being permitted to pay any amount he desires. The plan has been approved by the chief business and civic organizations as a means of feeding those who are hungry and taking the profit out of begging.

The action followed a "mooching test" by Allen G. Thurman, owner of two downtown cafes. He donned a shabby suit and under the plea he could obtain no work, he collected $3.30 in small change in an hour and 20 minutes.

BOMBAY, Jan. 27.—Tumultuous multitudes surrounded Mahatma Gandhi upon his arrival from Yeroda prison today and gave him one of the greatest ovations of his strange career.

Only after hours of cheering and acclamation such as few men have known could he break way, pleading with them:

"If you love me, go home. Go home and spin yarn and bring it to me. This is the greatest service that you can render India and myself. I am weary and tired after my sleepless night on the train and if you are merciful you will disperse."

Women then garlanded him with flowers and entwined his neck with

NEW CAR LIGHT LAW PLANNED

SAN ANTONIO MAN TO INTRODUCE BILL WITH TEETH

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 27. — Calling attention to the increasing numbers of fatalities among Texas motorists as the result of lax headlight laws, Senator Williamson of San Antonio said today he would introduce a bill calling for more stringent regulations.

Senator Williamson, while a member of the house in 1923, was author of the present headlight laws. He said legislators at that time had a limited knowledge of their subject.

To Impose Penalty

Under the provisions of the bill drawn by Senator Williamson a heavy penalty would be imposed on headlight testers failing to make proper adjustments. Senator Williamson said there had been no penalty provided for the man who made tests in violation of the law.

The regulation of headlights would be placed under the supervision of the highway department he said. He said there had been no way to effectively enforce headlight laws prior to the creation of the state highway patrol.

Another provision would suspend operators of motor vehicles who fail to observe the new headlight regulations.

TAX MEASURES UP BEFORE SENATE

THREE MEASURES TO BE ACTED UPON TODAY; NEW BILL GIVEN

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 27—The senate state affairs committee today reported favorably a bill by Senator O'Neal of Wichita Falls allowing all taxpayments to be deferred until February 20.

O'Neal said the question had arisen as to whether it would be possibbe to remit delinquent penalties after they were imposed. He said the bill was drawn to give the legislature ample time in which to pass emergency tax legislation.

Weinert Bill Pending

Meanwhile, the Weinert bill allowing taxes to run unpaid until October 15 without delinquent penalties passed by the house yesterday was due to come before the senate during its afternoon session. Proponents of tax relief predicted it would require a free conference committee to settle the issue.

The house today passed the O'Neal bill providing for the quarterly payment of taxes in the Wichita Falls independent school district. The bill also authorized an election to vote on a proposed 20 cent tax for the Wichita Falls junior college.

Future Markets To Be Probed By Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—The House Agriculture committee today approved the senate bill for an investigation of cotton future trading and the relation of short selling to price declines.

The bill, by Senator Sheppard of Texas, was passed by the senate in December. It would direct an investigation by the grain futures administration of the agriculture department into the amount of cotton futures sold since 1926.

GIRL WITNESS TESTIFIES

DOROTHY DENNIS, 11, IS HEARD TODAY IN 'TORCH' HEARING

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Jan. 27.—An 11-year-old girl, Dorothy Dennis, was the first state witness in the trial today of Herbert A. Stanley, charged in connection with the torch murder of Roy Hawthorne.

She told of events that occurred at the Stanley home on the afternoon of last July 26, the day Hawthorne's body was found burning in a field near the Lake Worth road.

The girl testified that at 4 o'clock she was sitting on a fence across the street and a little south of the Stanley home when she saw Hawthorne drive up in a roadster, and go into the house. A little later, she testified, she saw "Old Man (A. E.) Stanley" draw the shades in the front room, and then the radio was turned on.

Above the noise of the radio, she testified, she heard a sound like "dishes breaking and things clashing."

"I never saw Roy Hawthorne leave the house," she added.

CLARA BOW'S PLEA FOR MERCY FOR FORMER SECRETARY IN VAIN; JUDGE RECEIVES LETTERS FROM OVER U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—Clara Bow, screen flapper, stood revealed in a new light today while her erstwhile pal, Daisy De Boe, prepared to endure the Irish stews and brooms and mops of the county jail for another week.

CLARA BOW

With a last-minute change of heart Clara made a plea for mercy for Daisy, the former secretary whom she had caused to be convicted on a charge of grand theft—and the plea was in vain.

Meanwhile, Daisy reconciled herself to at least one more week in the county jail, as a result of the granting of her plea for continuance when she appeared for sentence yesterday. Her attorney filed a motion for a new trial.

Clara sent an appealing, Bow-crested, Bow-scented note to the district attorney's office yesterday asking please, couldn't her plea for mercy for Daisy, convicted last Friday, be communicated to Judge William C. Doran. Judge Doran holds Daisy's fate and is in a position to give her a one-to-ten-year penitentiary term.

Deputy District Attorney David Clark, who prosecuted Daisy, dashed Clara's hopes by saying the letter could not be shown to the court because the district attorney's office couldn't take sides in the matter.

Daisy said, "It was nice of Clara, but why didn't she help me when she was on the witness stand?" Then Clara became blue in a big way, in her Beverly Hills boudoir, where she is recovering from a bad cold.

"Gee, I'm sorry," said Clara when Daisy's plight dawned on her. "But maybe they'll give her a break. We were such good friends you know."

Judge Doran made known today that he has received many letters.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Dailu Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

SHORT TERM IN JAIL MAY DETER CRIME

Bill is brought before the court. He is 14, of average intelligence, and he knows that taking others' property is wrong and in violation of the law. He is charged with having stolen a car and convicted on clear evidence. It is the boy's first offense. He comes from a "good" family. His parents beg the court to give the lad another chance. They are in terror of the stigmata of social disapproval.

Because the boy comes from a "good' family he doubtless is paroled. Bill may have had his lesson. He may not. It was so easy that he may be lured again to a little bolder daring, to a bigger crime adventure.

For Bill's safety and the safety of the other boys Bill ought to have a couple of days in jail. He should of course, be protected morally from worse inmates of the prison. This would mean considerable change in prison management. If the law would not permit this very short jail sentence let the law be modified.

In the event that Bill had come from a less favored home and neighborhood the punishment behind the bars would not be so valuable to him, nor of so great deterrence to other boys. The better the offender's home opportunities have been, the more valuable is a prison term for him.

The effect of short jail sentences ought to be most salutary upon other parents who have younger children, making them feel more concerned about teaching adequate restraints and appropriate regard for others' rights in their children very early.

One of the most common notions about dealing with crime is that long sentences are effective. No one has proved that they are. Some pretty strong evidences indicate that they are harmful, particularly to the one serving them. Most who get long prison terms have already had so much practice in crime as to get no profit from the penalty by way of readiness to keep out of crime upon release.

Of course there are kinds of criminals from whom society must be protected. Prisons help to guarantee us such protection.

On the other hand, the number of them could be enormously decreased if more had had a brief jail sentence on the first definite offense. They might, moreover, have been saved for usefulness to society. Short jail sentences for first offenders certainly would do a great deal to meet the overcrowding problem.

By and by the courts will be more severe upon the young first offender, far more liberal with assigning them jail sentences, but such sentences will be very brief. About the best hope of deterring crime is to count the first offense more serious.

Of course, if you or I had been Bill's parent we might not talk this way. That is beside the point. We merely would be biased, and our reason would be smothered by our prejudices. If ye succeed in doing a good job as parents Bill would never be our boy.

Kotex stays soft longer

One of the many reasons why you should demand this sanitary pad

KOTEX is soft, and it stays soft. It does not pack into chafing hardness after use. Millions of women have discovered that fact, and they are particular to specify Kotex.

One of the reasons why Kotex stays soft is the way in which it absorbs — quickly, scientifically over the entire length of the pad. Many other pads absorb in one concentrated area which soon becomes uncomfortable.

Kotex is guaranteed to last longer, stay soft longer, than any other sanitary pad. You can wear Kotex on either side, with no chance of possible embarrassment, with the same degree of efficiency. It deodorizes. It is shaped to fit. And it is, of course, disposable.

Here's the Way to Treat Those Miserable Colds So Prevalent Here Now

WITH scattered cases of flu breaking out in this locality, don't take chances with colds NOW—it's too dangerous! Unless checked quickly, colds tend to pull down the body resistance and may pave the way for an attack of flu with all its serious complications.

1 At the first sign of stuffiness or irritation in the nose or throat, snuff some Vicks VapoRub up the nose several times a day. This will often check a cold at the start.

2 If the head is all "stuffed up"—clogged with mucus or phlegm—or there is much coughing, melt a teaspoonful of Vicks in a bowl or kettle of hot water and inhale the steaming vapors for five minutes at a time. This treatment has a remarkable effect in clearing the air passages, easing the breathing, soothing the irritation, relieving the cough, and helps to prevent the cold from spreading.

3 At bedtime, in order to get the benefit of its long-continued stimulation and inhalation effect, rub Vicks vigorously over the throat and chest and cover with warm flannel.

4 If possible, stay at home until the cold is broken. Complete rest helps the body to throw off the cold more quickly.

(Mother!—treat children's colds promptly, but avoid "dosing." Too much internal medicine often upsets the child's digestion and lowers the vitality. Being applied externally, Vicks does not upset the stomach, and can be used freely and as often as needed without the slightest harmful effect.)

DON'T TAKE CHANCES WITH COLDS NOW!

CHEST FORMED IN O'DONNELL

C. H. DOAK IS NAMED CHAIRMAN OF WORK; FEW NEED AID

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

O'DONNELL, Jan. 27—At a meeting of the chamber of commerce called Tuesday by M. J. Whitsett, president, a Community Chest association was formed for the purpose of caring for those who are temporarily unable to care for themselves.

The meeting was held in the First National bank. C. H. Doak, founder of O'Donnell and leading citizen, acted as chairman, and M. B. Hood acted as secretary. The meeting was attended by practically every business man in the town.

Few Cases Revealed.

While the unemployment situation here has not been regarded as being serious up to date, nevertheless, there are a few cases where breadwinner has been unable to supply the needs of his family. Realizing that such a situation could rapidly become serious, the business men felt it only sensible that some steps be taken to prevent needless suffering.

The Community Chest was the plan finally decided upon. Mr. Doak was elected president of the association; J. L. Shoemaker, Jr., cashier of the First National bank, was elected secretary and treasurer, and Rev. W. O. Parr, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church chairman of the soliciting committee. Mr. Shoemaker, B. L. Davis and B. J. Boyd compose the disbursing committee.

To Probe Cases.

Funds were raised by popular subscription, with the mutual agreement that calls for help be referred to the above-named committee. Such applications will be investigated and passed upon by the committee, and any aid will be supplied in the form of an order for supplies to be presented to a local store, which will then present a bill to the treasurer for payment.

Plans were also formulated to assist in securing for the farmers in this territory all possible state aid for the coming year.

DOOMED, HE'S WRITING MOTHER 132 LETTERS

By NEA Service

CANON CITY, Colo.—A doomed murderer scratches away hour after hour in the Colorado state prison here in a strange race to complete the writing of 132 letters before he goes to the gallows during the week ending Jan. 31.

The writer is John Walker, 42, one of three men doomed to die in a triple execution for killing a deputy sheriff near Eads, Colo., after a bank robbery last March. The others are Claude Ray, 24, and Andrew Halliday, 22.

Ray and Halliday smoke and idle away their last days, but not Walker. Seated on the edge of his bunk and bending over a soap box for a desk, he is determined to complete the letters before he dies.

Every one of them is addressed to his 70-year-old mother, Mrs. Julia Rhodes, of Joplin, Mo. But each letter carries a different date. There is one for each month of the next 11 years. That is why there are 132 of them.

The letters are to be entrusted to a friend in Canon City, who will mail one to the mother each month for the next 11 years. In that way she will be misled into believing her son still is alive—that he merely is serving a 20-year prison sentence that can be completed in years with good behavior.

By this deception, Walker hopes to save the life of his mother, for she is seriously ill. When her son was sentenced to hang, she was told he had received only a 20-year sentence, as doctors say anhouncement of her son's fate would be fatal to her. She is not permitted to read newspapers.

Then came the supreme court decision that the slayers must die. How then could the deception be continued as the mother would expect letters from her son. So he decided to write enough letters to last 11 years.

The crime for which the trio must die took place while they were fleeing after robbing the Manter (Kan.) State Bank. Speeding westward into Colorado, they were pursued by Undersheriff Coral A. Hickman, whom they shot.

After a sensational chase in which 10 airplanes, bloodhounds and a posse of 250 took part the trio was captured at Jetmore, Kan.

"It's hard to think up things years in advance, to put into letters," says Walker. "But mother will not mind some duplication. I'm doing my best."

LOCKNEY FORM CHEST

FLOYDADA, Jan. 27—(Staff Special)—C. L. Snodgrass of the Harmony community, was named member of the county school board. He succeeds John W. Howard, who resigned when he became county judge. Other members are: E. C. Nelson, chairman and member at large; J. P. Dollar, precinct 2; J. H. Upton, precinct 3 and Olin S. Miller, precinct 4.

Waiter's Lottery Tickets Win $10,000 Prize

HAVANA, Jan. 27 (AP)—When a waiter in the hotel Nacional turned up late for work the other day his union local fined him ten lottery tickets worth $2.50 which went into a general pot to be shared by his colleagues.

Today the hotel's eighty waiters were dividing $10,000. The ten tickets drew part of the grand prize in the lottery.

TO LET CONTRACT SOON

CLOVIS, N. M., Jan. 27—(Staff Special)— Contract for the new $135,000 federal building is expected to be let not later than March 15 according to a letter here from Senator Sam G. Bratton. Plans are now nearly ready for submission to contractors. Work is to start within 30 days after the contract has been let.

---Goodrich Silvertowns, Quality Road-Proven Tires, Cost You No More Than Unproven Tires

South Plains' finest and largest service station, home of Goodrich Tires, announces the largest tire stock in West Texas.

1931 finds the prices of Goodrich tires standing on a new low level, resulting from the latest national market sagging. The prices are lower than ever before in the history of the tire industry.

It is wise to buy now. In every field the selling prices are far below normal and the unprofitable selling, due to over production, will not continue—the prices will soon climb back up. The sub-normal conditions are now quickly readjusting themselves.

Last year the car owners of America did not buy a new set of tires—they made the old ones do, and this year the American car owners will purchase over 71 million tires, making this year the greatest tire year in the tire industry.

Prices of rubber will climb up and thousands more men will be employed; the wheel of prosperity will gather greater speed. This fact is true for thousands of other industries. 1931 will be a greater year of service and economy for South Plains' largest and finest service station.

"You can bet your Bottom Dollar Germ-Processed Oil won't fail you these cold days"

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED PARAFFIN BASE MOTOR OIL

The multitude of motorists who have switched to Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil know what a great oil it is for summer use. Maybe they are wondering how it will act in cold weather at zero and below.

The makers of Conoco know. Better still, thousands of users know, from their experiences of last winter. In Canada, Montana, the Dakotas ... in Denver ... with temperatures far under zero, Conoco Germ-Processed did not congeal. It remained fluid and continued to furnish efficient lubrication.

This accomplishment is no surprise. Conoco Germ-Processed is easy starting, non-congealing at sub-zero temperatures, because it is a thoroughly de-waxed paraffin base oil. The Penetrative Lubricity of Germ Process makes certain an ever-present lubricating film in your motor, even after long periods of idleness... particularly valuable at starting time, when 40% to 60% of motor wear occurs.

Save this wear on your motor... your battery... your nerves. Drain and refill now with the proper grade of Conoco Germ-Processed oil at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle. All grades, 35¢ per quart.

Thought For Today

But the wicked are like the troubled sea, when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt.—Isaiah 57:20.

No wickedness has any ground of reason.—Livy.

Outside The World

It is rather disappointing to learn that Mr. Martin Harman will no longer be allowed to coin money for the inhabitants of Lundy Island; and if you have never heard of Mr. Martin Harman and Lundy Island you have been missing something interesting.

Lundy Island is a casual bit of land, about 1000 acres in extent, which lies in Bristol channel a matter of 15 miles from the coast of Devon, in England. Some years ago the whole island was bought by this Martin Harman, a British financier, who has since ruled it like an island king.

Lundy Island seems, indeed, to have been a delectable spot. Its inhabitants paid no taxes. Its police force consisted of one husky constable, who put down disorder with an iron hand. And Mr. Harman, who was boss of everything quite naturally took to coining his own money, issuing little coins which bore a likeness of his own face on one side.

It was this last step that got him into trouble with the British law. After extended litigation, the highest court ruled that he cannot coin his own money. He insisted that Lundy Island is a British dominion, and not a part of the British Isles; a dominion of which he is king; but the court will not have it so. So Mr. Harman, even if he does own an island, is a mere citizen, like all the rest of us; and it seems a pity.

It seems a pity because ownership of a remote island has always looked like the one sure way in which one could step outside of the ordinary world and be self-sufficient. Islands were meant to be diminutive monarchies, anyway. When you step on one you feel as if you have removed yourself from the shackles that are fastened about your ankles in every-day life, and that is the way it should be. If a man can't escape from governments, rules, regulations and the scrutiny of his fellows by going to a lonely island, what hope is there?

All of this, apparently, was in Mr. Harman's mind. During the litigation that followed his attempts to set up a coinage system his lawyers even went so far as to argue that Lundy Island had no legal existence; to assert that it was "outside the world" as far as the law was concerned. It is too bad that this claim was not allowed. What mortal does not, at times, long for a chance to get "outside the world" for a brief period?

But the British court, with true British stolidity and matter-of-factness, stepped hard on this contention. Mr. Harman, for all that he is sole owner of an island, is just another British subject, and must obey the laws that all other British subjects obey. It is a shame, but there is no help for it. Islands or no islands, we have to conform.

No Clemency

During the past two years Governor William H. Adams of Colorado has not once utilized his prerogative of executive clemency, according to the governor's own statement to the Colorado general assembly.

Governor Adams says that many cases were brought before him during those two years, but that he carefully investigated each case and concluded that he had no reason to set aside the sentence of the courts.

This is a curious record—possibly unique in all America. It seems to indicate that Governor Adams is a conscientious governor, anxious to do his duty as he sees it. But is it not a bit strange to think that not one case reached him in two years' time in which an injustice had been done? The Colorado courts must be operating on a higher standard than those in most other states.

THE PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says the new-fangled roadster and the old-fashioned sofa have one thing in common. The clutch is about the same on both.

YOU can't fool Will Rogers—he knows a joke when he sees one. He started his stream of wit in Texas by addressing the members of the state legislature.

That was a mean crack and, to be honest about it, most undeserved on the part of the majority of the solons now assembled at Austin. Take Senator Pink Parrish and Representative G. E. Lockhart from this section, for instance. Both of those fellows are down at the capital city doing everything they can for this part of the country and both would be better off financially had they been content to stay at home and let George do it.

Somebody has got to be the goat. Some of us have to make the laws. There isn't any man, or any group of men in the world who can please all of the people all of the time and this bit of wisdom includes the members of the legislature.

SPEAKING of the legislature and politics in Texas, The Plainsman does not expect the administration of Governor Ross Sterling to be a popular one with the well known "man in the street". In the first place, Governor Sterling is a rank amateur as a politician—which he admits. In the second place he's one of the poorest grandstanders in Texas and that means he won't think much of playing to the galleries. To be a good politician one must have that rare talent possessed by a few athletes and actors—'color'. Ability to get before the public in the right light, whether deservedly or not, means a great deal in almost any line of endeavor, not excepting politics.

In fairness to the gentleman described in this column during the first 1930 primary as "the St. Peter of Heavenly Houston", Governor Sterling will likely click with the business interests of the state, even if he isn't such a man with the "great unwashed", which includes The Plainsman and the rest of the average folks. If he conducts the business of his office as he has his personal enterprise he's bound to draw the applause of the gentlemen who can figure interest at 11 1-2 per cent without batting an eye.

THE Plainsman was busy with other things when the hullabaloo was begun about the appointment of Frank Baldwin, Waco editor, to the state board of education. However, this column is opposed to his confirmation, although more because he should be opposed as a matter of West Texas policy than for any other reason.

When the storm of protest burst around Editor Baldwin's head last summer—all because his column in the Waco Times-Herald spoke disparagingly about Texas Tech and West Texas—The Plainsman was one of the few West Texas editors who were prone to laugh it off. As a matter of fact, Frank is a very intelligent and capable gentleman, albeit inclined to run off at a tangent occasionally and go to talking when he should be listening.

But from a purely political standpoint, Mr. Baldwin should be taught a lesson from the text of "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours". When he talked out of school he should have known that any future political aspirations of his should and would be opposed from the part of the state which The Plainsman chooses to characterize as "God's country".

Former Governor Moody, who is so constructed that he won't take advice from Moses unless he happens to be in the right humor, is the one who should be blamed in the matter and if you want The Plainsman's idea of the 'low down' on the Baldwin appointment, here it is: Moody appointed the Waco editor because he owed a political debt to the Marsh-Pentress newspapers. While this may be put down as The Plainsman's opinion this column will be a long time about changing its mind.

THROUGHOUT the two stormy terms of the Taylor red-head, the Marsh-Pentress papers, a dozen and a half strong, have been his ardent supporters. Mr. Marsh, referred to by his numerous editors as "Uncle Charley", has been one of the powers behind the throne. Frank Baldwin is the bell bull of the Marsh editors and is high in the councils of his organization and since he served a term in the legislature from McLennan county, was the logical gent to be appointed to something, in-as-much as Mr. Marsh is too busy with other things and Mr. Pentress is more or less in retirement.

Moody made a last minute appointment, selecting Frank Baldwin then ducked for cover in his best approved fashion. When the storm broke Dan was out of the frying pan and Frank was into the fire, although in fairness to Baldwin he is, in The Plainsman's opinion, a brilliant success in his chosen line.

As stated above, The Plainsman is opposed to Frank's confirmation as a matter of West Texas policy. But if he is confirmed and should he choose to serve, don't be surprised if he does about face and supports Tech as well as does a good job. He's smart as a whip and about as apt to change as the weather vane on the old red barn.

Wood Declares America Is In Need Of Old-Fashioned Political Torchlight Parade; Old Enthusiasm Lacking

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—America needs its old-fashioned political torchlight parades according to the Honorable Will R. Wood of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee and of the House Appropriations Committee.

"The disappearance of those parades was a great misfortune," Congressman Wood says. "They arouse enthusiasm and patriotism. In those days everybody took an interest in politics. The torchlight parades ought to be revived. The old political meetings were well attended, but today if you have a political meeting in one hall and a movie show next door a huge crowd will pay to see the movie and you can't get a corporal's guard at the political meeting.

"I'll bet that if Amos and Andy were on the radio tonight at the same time as Senator Borah or some other big gun you could find 75 people listening to Amos and Andy for each one listening to Borah."

Warns of "Red Menace"

Wood says there hasn't been any real torchlight parading since the McKinley-Bryan campaign of 1896.

He thinks the "red menace" will have to take the place of red fire as a stimulus to popular interest in politics. He takes the Communists seriously and anticipates the time when they will become so strong and obstreperous among us that the primary instinct of self-protection will cause a general revival of interest in public affairs.

Wood likes to hark back. He is 69 years old, a fine specimen of what progressives and liberals call a reactionary. He looks something like Senator Simeon Fess of Ohio. He is about a year older, seems slightly more desiccated and lacks Simeon's unctuous piety.

Recently, after emerging from the White House and vigorously attacking Senator Norris of Nebraska, Wood broadcast over the radio assailing the direct primary. Wood thinks the people ought to pay more attention to politics, but he opposes having them participate directly in choosing presidents, senators, governors and congressmen.

The primary system, he believes, is likely to result in the nominations of champion marathon dancers, home-run champions and other popular favorites, to say nothing of such anti-administration independent Republicans as Senator Norris.

Says U. S. Isn't Democracy

"The United States isn't a democracy," Wood says. "It has a republican form of government. The primary system is based on the old town meeting idea, which isn't applicable in this age. The convention system is the practical agency of a republican representative government. There should be primaries to elect delegates in the several communities of a county whereupon the delegates could nominate whomever they had in mind.

"Subdivisions of congressional districts could also have primaries, choosing delegates to select nominees for Congress. And there should be a state-wide primary to choose delegates to a state convention who would nominate for governor, senator and other state offices.

"The direct primary to choose presidential delegates has proved unworkable. It doesn't mean anything. Delegates were chosen who were supposed to vote for a given candidate and after a perfunctory vote or two they voted as they liked, usually jumping on the bandwagon.

"I can look back to the time when the people would have nominated and elected a trans-Atlantic flyer president of the United States if they had had the opportunity. One does not need to accuse the people of being inherently dumb; they simply don't take an interest in government.

"The government has run so smoothly and there has been so little political revolt that everybody accepts politics complacently and the average individual gives his government no attention."

Voters' Interest Lags

"There are many important elections where only 3 to 7 per cent of the voters participate in selection of the candidate. You can't accuse the voters if the choice goes wrong, except generally. But it would be easy to pin responsibility on the delegates.

"Repeated attempts have been made to stir up voter interest, but the larger our population the less interest there seems to be in government. For years Indiana had the largest proportion of voters, but in the last election the proportion of those qualified who voted fell below 50 per cent."

Wood shudders at the Norris proposal for abolition of the electoral college and direct presidential elections. It would "just be chaos," he says.

BEST TO LEAVE APPENDICITIS ALONE IF COMPETENT SURGEON ISN'T HANDY

EVERY TIME you cross the ocean the conversation on shipboard veers around to the old subject, what would happen if you got appendicitis and had to be operated on mid-voyage. Of course, there are always competent ship's doctors aboard, but they are not always widely experienced surgeons.

Dr. Clendening

A fellow passenger last summer told me with bated breath, as if I would probably not believe it, how he had treated a traveling companion on his previous voyage. His friend came down with what was undoubtedly appendicitis. The ship's doctor said it was, but did not feel competent to operate. The patient sent for any informant in despair.

"What shall I do?" he said. "I place myself in your hands."

"I was scared to death, and I didn't know what medicines to give him, or what kind of a diet he couldn't have kept anything on his stomach. I was too frightened to do anything, so I just let him alone. Would you believe it? He was up in three days and put his clothes on and walked off that boat."

"Of course," he added, "he went right to a hospital and had his appendix out. Got along slick, too."

He asks me what I thought of it. I answered that he had probably saved his friend's life. And I was perfectly sincere.

It is worth remembering that everybody who isn't operated on for appendicitis doesn't die. It is a common question to ask: "What happened to people with appendicitis before the days of aseptic surgery?" And the answer is, "They got well—mostly."

The protective power of the body for infection in the appendix is very great. Provided you do not destroy it by meddlesome treatment. If let alone the intestines will balloon out over the inflamed appendix and with the help of the omentum (which tends to all infections inside the abdomen), will wall off the inflammation until it subsides. The appendix may even burst and these defenses will keep the pus from spreading widely and finally will absorb it.

A surgeon should, of course, be called and the management of the case left to him. But if no surgeon is available or is a long way off, do not despair.

The thing to do until the surgeon comes is by no means easy. It is "Nothing." This is hard to do when people are sick; the tendency is to "do something." Do nothing. Do not give the patient any food, or any water. Above all, do not give a cathartic. Food, water, and especially cathartics make movements throughout the intestines and break the natural defense of the body down.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

I advise "A Bewildered Girl", whose letter cannot be printed in full, to consult a physician. I strongly suspect she is frightened without reason. Isn't that often the case? One goes to a physician in fear and trembling, only to discover that one's anxiety has been groundless.

Ralls C. Of C. Is Aiding Unemployed

(Special To Avalanche-Journal)

RALLS, Jan. 27 — The Ralls Chamber of Commerce has lined up to find and create jobs for the unemployed of Crosby County. At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce, those present stated that whenever possible they would give a days work to the unemployed. Some said that they had work which they had not intended to have done now but in order to in some way help the depressed conditions, would have it done now.

The Directors went on record in a body to put special efforts behind the movement.

In New York

With Swan

Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—There really is no answer to things that happen in this man's town.

Take, for instance, the doddering old codger who still insists on going about where the lights burn long and late. Time after time you'll come upon him, first, in this place; then in that. Chuckling on the sidelines and gosh-all-firin' when the pretty gals come on. He always has money to spend and looks as though he could use a wheel chair.

Instead, he always carries a nurse with him!

Go ahead—laugh that off. But the fact remains that he's under doctor's orders and the nurse goes along to make sure he doesn't fall dead. Or at least she tries to make him follow a few medical instructions.

For instance, the old gad-about would take a nip of illegal brew if he got half a chance, and she sees to it that he doesn't. If, however, he does manage to slip a few fast ones over on her, she is there to see that he gets home all right.

A pretty lass, who catches the eye of many a young man, she sits boredly through the floor shows—but she gets well paid, for he has many, many rocks.

Young Roger Wolfe Kahn, whose daddy has more millions than are worth talking about, is one of the younger men who give the Broadwayfarers something to talk about. But it isn't the usual line you'll hear about rich men's sons, either.

They can't figure out why, with wealth and loads of musical talent, he should go on risking his neck. Of course, young Kahn does not believe that his airplane adventures are hazardous. Just a couple of years ago, he had become one of the big street's most successful jazz maestros. He reached the point where he had a big office of his own and while Pappa Otto frowned at first on the son's syncopated notions, the big banker finally gave his blessings. Then young Kahn branched out and had a half dozen bands in the field wearing his name.

The next anyone heard of him, he was opening one of the swankiest night resorts in the moth-and-flame belt. It had glass floors with tanks of water beneath them, and fish swimming about.

And just as he was about to become a night resort domo of some consequence, all sorts of mysterious things began to happen. The word went around that he had refused to play ball with the gang-guys and kypping racketeers.

Therein lies a gang-and-racket plot that the fictioneers haven't got around to yet, the plot being a rich man's son versus racketeers of Broadway. At any rate, on the opening night the lights switched off mysteriously; plunging the swanky dancers in darkness. Then the glass tanks began to spring mysterious leaks, dampening the costly slipers of the tony folk. It went on this way—and young Kahn gave up the club, after paying a very neat set of bills.

Not long after, he was to be found in the aviation fields, getting his pilot's license. Now he's gone in for expensive seaplanes and has an elaborate plane base up country. Except for those occasions when he appears as dancing partner of a pretty young ingenue—Hannah Williams—who recorded her first hit a few weeks ago, he is one rich lad seldom seen in the flesh pots.

Just after the recent Judge Lindsey fracas hereabouts over companionate marriage, two of Tin Pan Alley's song wags suggested a wedding tune which would be titled, "Love, Honor and No Babes."

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The natives stood up in the boat and Scouty said, "Say, please take note how easy they can paddle us. It seems no work at all. They must be very, very strong, the way the boat slides right along. I guess the reason they're so good is 'cause they do not stall."

"You're right," replied the Travel Man. "You'll always find, son, that you can do anything much better if you always do it right. Too many people loaf through life and run right into heaps of strife. Hard work will very seldom get a person in a plight."

Then Scouty broke right in. Said he, "We all are happy as can be, so let's join in a merry son. It's lots of fun to sing. I'll start it off. You all come in. Be sure and wait till I begin." And then he started on a son. 'Twas quite a pretty thing. Wee Scouty really sang it swell. The others waited for a spell and then they all decided that they'd let him sing alone. When he had finished with his song, a cheer came from the merry throng. The Travel Man said, "Noble son! Your voice has lovely tone."

The boat was then swung close to shore and Clowny shouted out once more. "Oh, look! I see some natives and they're holding something queer." "That is a filanzana, son. To ride on it is heaps of fun. We'll land and let them carry you. There's not a thing to fear."

Soon Clowny crawled into the thing, and in the air began to swing. The native four had lifted him and started on their way. "We'll follow you in our big boat. While you are carried, we will float," exclaimed the friendly Travel Man. And then Clowny cried, "Hey! Hey!"

(The Tinymites meet some clever basket makers in the next story.)

BUILDING FOR TEXAS LOWER

TOTAL FOR PAST YEAR IS 33 PER CENT OFF AVERAGE

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 27—Building permits reported in 35 Texas cities during 1930 totaled $76,484,000 as compared to $114,504,000 in 1929, according to the bureau of business research of the University of Texas. The 33 per cent decline was sharper than in the United States as a whole, the report said. The reduction for the nation was 21 per cent.

Amarillo, Beaumont, Corsicana, Dallas, Denison, Port Arthur, Sherman and Tyler reported permits exceeding 1929. Dallas and Corsicana reported the largest total since 1926.

"Cardui Seemed to Build Me Up and I Was Rid of Pain," Says Virginia Lady.

Roanoke, Va.—"Some years ago, I was in a very run-down condition," writes Mrs. T. B. Akers, of 839 Nelson Street, S.E., this city. "I suffered a great deal with pains in my sides and back. Standing on my feet hurt me so much, that I would get very weak and nervous.

"I knew that if I didn't get something to help me, I would have to go to bed and stay there, which is hard to do for a woman who has small children. So I kept dragging about, until one day, when feeling unusually bad and discouraged, I happened to pick up a little book with a Cardui advertisement. I decided I would try it.

"Cardui seemed to build me up at once, as I was able to do my work with ease, and was rid of the pain by the time I had taken six bottles.

"I have taken Cardui since then, whenever I felt that I needed a tonic, and it always helped me. I recommend it to my friends."

DEATH MAY BE CASE VICTOR

ACE PENDLETON SAID TO BE SUFFERING FROM ILLNESS

(By The Associated Press)

PAMPA, Jan. 27.—Pampa officers are beginning to wonder if death will overtake Ace Pendleton, notorius bandit leader, before they have a chance to place him on trial for robbery of the First National bank here back in the spring of 1927.

Pendleton's trial has been delayed several times because of illness Physicans admit he is no improving. His whole body is wasting, hi. eyes are sunk in deepening sockets, and he is growing weaker daily.

Has Tuberculosis

The "Ace" says he is suffering from tuberculosis. The county physician says it is an infection in the throat. He has been removed from the county jail to a room in the courthouse, and placed under the care of a nurse.

Whatever the cause of the hemorrages may be, a quart of blood a day is carried from Pendleton's room, and its loss is telling on the accused robber. He has not been free of fever for several days.

Can Eat All Right

"I can eat all right," the prisoner said, "but the nurse and I do everything we know to do, and I can't keep food down."

Pendleton blames his prison record for his arrest in connection with the local robbery.

"The way the law and the courts have treated me proves that the public won't let an ex-convict reform," he said.

"If Ace did all the robberies he is accused of," Pendleton's mother recently wrote to officers, "it looks like he would have some money. I know he's never had as much as $500 at one time."

ANCIENT BOOK OF EARLY OHIO DAYS BROUGHT TO LIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 27—An ancient book, depicting the early history of the northwest territory during the turbulent days of the late seventeen hundreds, has been found in an old family residence at Urbana, Ohio, according to an announcement today from the Ohio Archaeological and Historical society.

The history, termed one of the most important of its kind in the United States, covers an eight year gap in existing histories of the vast and wild territory from 1795 to 1803.

Written With Quill

The book, in the hand writing of Winthrop Sargeant, later governor of the Mississippi territory, and other noted figures of the date, was written with a quill pen. It was donated to the Ohio Society by John H. James, who found it among his forefathers' treasures.

Others who contributed to the history were William Henry Harrison, governor of the Indiana territory and president of the United States; and Judge Charles Willing Byrd, first federal jurist in Ohio. And forefather of the Byrds of Virginia.

It generally was believed the history of the northwest territory from 1795 to 1803 had been destroyed when the British burned the national capital in 1813 but the book just found fills in the gap from the day Arthur St. Clair assumed charge of the territory at Marietta, until the formation of the state government in 1803.

Tell Stirring Tale

The yellow pages tell the stirring tale of the hearty pioneers who carved Ohio from the wilderness. Tonight the frayed volume reposes in the Ohio State university campus museum, bringing to the world the complete history of Ohio since the coming of the white man to the new world.

Chief interest in the history centers in that part detailing events from 1795 to 1803, during which period it was believed no history of the westward push of the white men existed.

When Men Become Boys

An elaborate device . . . for making a trembling candidate think he is in the midst of an outside loop . . . when the motor blows up, leaving him suspended in midair.

Revealing the little known story of where lodge goats come from and how the De Moulin brothers have made a business and their fortune, inventing initiation machines for secret societies that make their candidates go through a "rough work" ritual

Privileged to smack himself. . . . This candidate pulls up on handles . . . gets quick result.

MILLIONS of men have ridden the proverbial lodge goat, but the De Moulins of Greenville, Ill., have literally ridden that fabled animal to fortune.

For the De Moulins invent, manufacture, and sell mechanical devices for use in making lodge initiations bigger and better. They not only have one of the largest establishments in the world devoted to the slapstick side of fraternal work, but they practically fathered the elaborate fun-creating stunts which are a popular part of lodge procedure, especially in America.

Like so many great businesses, that of the De Moulins sprang from small beginnings, though now it employs 150 people the year round. Part of the credit must go to William A. Northcott, lieutenant-governor of Illinois and who, while occupying that position, was elected head consul of a new fraternal order known as the Modern Woodmen.

Northcott was a lawyer of Greenville, a man of more than ordinary ability and with confidence in himself and his fellow men. The men who elected him to head the new order figured, however, that he would serve it as undertaker. Times were hard about that period, 1892. Prosperity was elusive. Fraternal organizations, founded previously, had, in numerous instances, died soon afterwards. Northcott was ambitious and determined that the Woodmen order should not fail. He revolutionized the ritual and business affairs, and installed other changes. Despite his energetic efforts, it was impossible to create much enthusiasm or secure the attendance of what he felt was a proper number of members. Growth was not what had been anticipated. Northcott's associates became alarmed. They put it up to him to solve the problem. And he did that very thing.

IN the year 1892, Edward De Moulin was a struggling photographer in Greenville. A brother, U. S. De Moulin, was a resident of Sebastopol, a village near Greenville, and serving as assistant to his father, who conducted a general store, postoffice, and blacksmith-machine- and wagon-making shop.

Everything was in a depressed condition in a business way. It was the era of Coxy's army and bread lines, and the army of unemployment had a huge roster. The De Moulin brothers were realizing also that their business was gradually passing out and they were looking around for some new line of activity.

Northcott and the De Moulin family were neighbors, and they told each other their troubles. Northcott deplored the lack of interest in fraternal meetings and that all of his efforts to increase interest in such work had been futile.

Edward De Moulin put on his thinking cap and began to evolve ideas. He had inherited a genius for invention. His father had invented the first riding plow and had manufactured them in a limited way in his primitive shop. With capital behind him, he might have gone far in the agricultural implement world. Ed De Moulin, with the assistance of his two brothers, finally produced with the crude tools of the blacksmith and wagon-making shop some initiatory devices which he termed the "Molten Lead Test," "Branding Iron," "Deceptive Beer Glasses," "Trick Saw Mill," "Bucking Goat," and others. He also suggested wooden axes for drilling purposes instead of muskets.

Northcott seized upon these articles hungrily. However, the society was small and money was scarce and after most of the lodges had been supplied with the paraphernalia, business slacked and Ed De Moulin was considering its abandonment when U. S. De Moulin advised otherwise.

HE expressed the belief that other secret orders would be patrons if it became known that devices for fun-making initiations could be procured.

So, U. S. De Moulin bought Northcott's interest in the primitive business for $532.

"We started with an idea, fun in the lodge room, but with very limited capital," explained U. S. De Moulin. "We invented a number of stunts.

"We made the first lodge goat and schemed out a number of other tricks, and also laid plans for making robes and uniforms and wooden axes. We spent the remainder of $800, which was all I had, getting out a catalogue. When that book was published, we were broke, bust flat. Unless we could get the publication in the mails, we were ruined.

"We tried to raise the money in many ways, but without success, and then, in desperation, we went to the village banker, S. E. Houile, and told him our plight.

"He listened patiently and then said: 'I've noticed a light in your shop after midnight many a night. When boys like you will work like that, I feel safe in making you a loan.' We asked for $90 and got it. Our catalogues went into the mails and we sat back with misgivings, waiting for the response.

"It soon came. Within a week we had orders for $1900 worth of supplies, and the cash came with the orders, as we had the foresight to offer a 10 per cent discount if the money accompanied the order. We were saved."

The De Moulins opened a factory and had to import workers. This was in the spring of 1895. Women sewed for $3.50 per week and furnished their own machines. In 1896, larger buildings became necessary, and, two years later, another expansion, which gave 20,000 square feet of floor space, followed. Other buildings were added and finally, in 1907, the entire plant was replaced with a new and modern structure with 50,000 feet of floor space.

Riding the electric sea serpent. . . . When bare feet touch the metal floor, shocking results follow . . . yet the serpent is too slippery to ride without putting a foot down now and then.

IN the opening years of the business, the brothers invented no less than 87 different appliances for creating fun in lodge rooms. There was a proportionate growth in secret orders and the peak in the number of different organizations appeared to have been reached in 1907, when there were no less than 180 separate Grand Lodges in the United States.

There may be wonder as to the shopping place of the more gaudily-uniformed lodges. Any suspicion that they picked their duds out of the rainbow has been proved wrong. These super clothes were created in the Greenville "goat factory."

But the De Moulins also outfit circuses, minstrel shows, military schools, theatricals, fairs, as well as secret societies, and, in fact, any institution that requires splendid raiment.

Camel blankets with holes for the hump can be delivered without delay. The uniform worn by George Washington when he commanded the Colonial army, can be quickly duplicated. If some Queen of Sheba, some opera bouffe sheik, or an imitation Gunga Kahn, wants vari-colored silken robes, the job's done pronto.

The De Moulins take over the outfitting of lodge rooms with all kinds of paraphernalia in the way of costumes, regalia, furniture and equipment. Band uniforms are also manufactured, and circuses and theatrical companies supplied with any kind of trappings. Finally, supplies for church chancels were added.

With all of these varied lines, it became necessary to inaugurate special departments such as designing and art work; furniture and woodwork; metal stamping and plating; forging; machine shop; banner manufacturing shop; stage scenery; upholstering; leather working; tailor and costume shop; and embossing room.

During the World War the De Moulins devoted their plant to the manufacture of uniforms for army officers. They asked the secret societies to withhold orders until the war supplies were no longer needed, and this was acceded to. When the war emergency passed, the normal production of the De Moulin plant was resumed.

All the thrills of the guillotine combined with those of the firing squad. . . . This hapless victim has watched the glittering knife fall . . . until it stopped with an unexpected bang.

One version of the mechanical bucking goat. . . . This is the tried-and-true favorite . . . in a thousand lodge rooms.

THE story of the De Moulins demonstrates what can be done with an idea if judiciously nursed. It is just 38 years since U. S. De Moulin gambled his little bank account on faith. That little roll has swelled to a goodly fortune.

Perhaps many have displayed skepticism regarding the mythical lodge goat and insisted that there were no such animals. They are wrong. They manufacture them right in Greenville, real butting, quick actioned prodders, too. There are also camels and mules to furnish troubles for novices in lodge rooms. And devils. There must be. What would a lodge initiation be without fun?

The goat, however, has always been among the best sellers, the piece de resistance, so to speak. The De Moulins were familiar with the butting characteristics of these animals, and they manufactured a machine that would imitate as closely as possible, one of the familiar quadrupeds with horns. The first production was rather crude, but entirely efficient. Its wooden body and the head and hair as well as the horns of the well-known "billy," were all mounted upon wheels. It was so adjusted that after the candidate was in the saddle and ready to be "taken for a ride," that the manipulation of a lever would start a "bucking" motion with such vigor that the rider would fall off, adding to the glee of the spectators and mortification to the unlucky victim.

Then came goats of all sizes and shapes and also much other apparatus to cater to all sorts of organizations. Some lodges have sought exclusive stuff and were willing to pay liberally for a device built to their own plans and specifications.

The lodge goat and other similar devices, it should be explained, are used solely for amusement purposes and have no part in the actual, solemn, and dignified ritualistic work. The goat simply furnishes a sideline for blindfolded candidates and ranks as a practical joke at the expense of the initiate, depending chiefly upon the element of surprise in the fun making. The onlookers get a big thrill when the goat does his stuff.

AS a proof, however, that the mechanical goat has a basis of reality, there is at least one genuine flesh-and-blood goat in use in lodges today, and his picture is shown on this page.

His owner is Walter McKay, and he is probably America's busiest goat. He is the official initiation goat for four major secret societies and their scores of lodges. McKay, whose orders the goat obeys implicitly, takes him around from lodge to lodge, even as far as Hawaii, where members always eagerly await his arrival, for they know that plenty of fun will be forthcoming.

But not every lodge can have such advantages. Most of them go to the De Moulins for mechanical devices, of which they produce a thousand or more different varieties.

There is a wide range of price, according to the elaborateness of the apparatus required, and some lodges design and have the De Moulins build special apparatus according to their own requirements.

It is estimated that lodges throughout the United States alone have millions of dollars invested in initiation machinery and paraphernalia.

SOME of the devices cost from $300 to $500 and are quite complicated mechanically. Naturally, patronage is somewhat restricted to the more prosperous lodges.

Despite the prominence of the De Moulin factory at Greenville, visitors are not welcomed, and nothing is to be learned there, as it is felt that the less known about initiation devices in general, the greater the surprise, and therefore the greater the fun for lodges in inducting new candidates. The apparatus, when sent to the lodges ordering it, is always carefully boxed, and not opened until well within the inner portals of the lodge, so that the uninitiated may have no hint of its contents.

All such secrets, naturally, are guarded closely by members, so closely, in fact, that nobody knows exactly when the custom of riding the goat came into vogue. Secret societies themselves are almost as old as mankind, for in the most ancient times, the Egyptians had developed their mysteries of Osiris and Serapis, and the Greeks theirs of Orpheus and Dionysus. All these include mystic and secret rituals and trials or tests for which the Neophyte had to prepare. Secret societies have existed in all countries ever since those days.

Perhaps the oldest in the United States is the Tammany Society of New York, founded in 1789. Credit for the goat stunt is sometimes ascribed to the Illinois Farmers' Mutual Benefit Society in 1892. No one can be entirely certain.

But to whomever the credit goes, the cash has gone to the De Moulin brothers.

ANKINS AGAIN HIGHWAY CHIEF

LOCAL MAN RENAMED CAVERN ASSOCIATION LEADER IN ALTUS

(Special To The Journal)

ALTUS, Okla., Jan. 27—In final session here Monday night, members of the Carlsbad Cavern U. S. No. 62 Highway association again chose J. H. Hankins, of Lubbock, as president of the body, and naming Quanah as the annual meeting city in January of 1932.

A group of 277 delegates attended the gathering in this city, said to mark the largest attendance in history of the association. Constitution and by-laws were also adopted at the final session last night and the U. S. No. 62 designation formally included in the name of the association.

Other Officers Named

Other officers chosen were: Vice-president, C. W. Snyder, of Altus; vice-president, Luke Roberts, of Lovington, N. M.; vice-president, Governor Andres Ortes of Chihuahua, Mexico and treasurer, J. J. Kirkpatrick, re-elected. A secretary to be named later.

Outcome of an attempt to change route of the cavern highway was a decision to retain the present routing from Altus to Quanah to a free bridge, which will be completed within a few months over the Red river, to Paducah.

Although route of U. S. highway No. 62 corresponds generally to that of the Carlsbad Cavern highway, the federal route in the section about which the controversy centered is via Hollis and Childress and thence southward. Hollis representatives led the battle to have the cavern and federal routes correspond in this particular.

The Texas state highway department will be asked to place Carlsbad Cavern highway markers on the route in Texas, which is the only state in which the cavern highway is not so designated, it was decided.

Governor Ortes of Chihuahua announced that work on the cavern highway from Jaurez to Chihuahua City would be started early in February.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the highway association represented 27 towns in three states, and two Mexican states.

Lubbock delegates to the assembly included: Mark Halsey, Roy D. McKinney, C. Ellis, Joe Bowman, C. E. Hunt, [illegible] Levens, Ira Doak, J. C. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Swede Kling, J. Hankins, J. Sam Lewis, A. B. [illegible]is, Baxter Honey, C. A. Shetland, Norton Baker, and Bill Richardson.

W. H. Harrington, of Idalou; A. Bullock, of Ralls, and Edgar Johnson, of Crosbyton, also attended the meeting.

A bus carrying delegates from Lubbock and nearby towns was expected to return here early this morning.

Extension of Carlsbad Cavern highway east from its former designation at Oklahoma City to Montreal, Canada, crossing five states, was approved at the meeting.

The road, as planned today, would pass the states of Arkansas, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

LEBURNE SOLVES UNEMPLOYMENT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 27 (AP)—Cleburne has worked out its own solution of the unemployment problem.

Rev. Homer T. Furt, minister of that city, told a radio audience Saturday night of a plan, which although it has been in operation only a week, has put "every idle man in Cleburne to work."

Through the subscription of a day's pay a month for three months by the employed citizens, about 200 men have been given employment at a standard wage of $2.40 a day. Cleburne, Johnson county seat, is about 30 miles south of Fort Worth, and has a population of 15,000. The employment plan was conceived by Mayor E. E. Hunter.

Oklahoma Man Is Sought For Robbery

SHAWNEE, Okla., Jan. 27 (AP)—A man alleged to have robbed his employers wife of approximately $1,000 here last night was the object of a search throughout Oklahoma today.

Virgil Phillips, 25, police said, probably took the money from the home of Troy Phillips, Shawnee dairyman, and disappeared.

Mrs. Phillips said her husband's brother entered the house and demanded the money, receipts of the day's sales. When she refused, she said he thrust her aside, seized the roll of money, and fled.

ANNUAL ELECTION HELD

BROWNFIELD, Jan. 27 (Special) The First National bank has just announced its annual election of officers and directors and the following will serve for the next year: W. M. Kendrick, president; W. R. McDuffie, cashier; Jake Hall, assistant cashier; J. L. Cruce, S. J. Dixon, Jake Hall, W. R. McDuffie, W. M. Kendrick, directors. Officials of the bank report that conditions are very good and that deposits are up to their expectations.

SLATON MEETS WESTERNERS TONIGHT

GOLFERS FLOCK TO SANTONE

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

With Collier Parris
Journal Sports Editor

Just as women wear and discuss spring and summer dress styles in mid-winter so do sportsmen talk and write of baseball in the midst of the basketball season. Football, of course, like the length of skirts, is the topic of all the year round. Baseball schedules for 1931 will be announced in a few days. The American and National league schedules have been received and with their publication the "traveling salesman" baseball devotee will compare them with his summer work and arrange to be at Such when So and So play there.

Coach Paul Wright and his Slaton High school Tigers will be back in Lubbock tonight for another game with the Lubbock Westerners. The Tigers and Westerners furnished the most interesting high school game seen here so far this season when they played a couple of weeks ago. The Westerners won by a hair, fighting back a desperate attempt on the part of the Slatonites to get ahead in the final minutes.

So it's another week full of basketball. Tech's Matadors play the Abilene Christian College outfit here Thursday and Friday nights, and Coach Keeling is pretty certain to arrange another high school game for Saturday night.

Billy Duffy, close friend and counsellor of Jack Dempsey, waxed eloquent last week and issued the information for publication that Dempsey would make a comeback, that the former heavyweight champ was ripe and ready for a fight. He awaits the financial backing, said Duffy. Dempsey would be ready to sign for a fight with anybody as soon as someone placed $500,000 on the line. Duffy dallied with the alleged fact that Jack especially wanted to fight the Italian Primo Carnera, that he longed for a chance to sink a meah jab into the soft body of the Venetian palooka.

Yesterday Dempsey, in New Orleans to work the Canzoneri-Farr bout, issued a statement to press that he had no plans for re-entering the ring and especially denied that he would fight Primo Carnera. Fighters should, rarely do, know their own minds, so the proverbial mulatto in the gas meter is as apparent as a football stadium on a modern campus. Dempsey himself has hinted of another peek at the championship crown. He is far from fighting form right now, but it would not take long for him to get in shape—provided the injured hand heals with the usual respectability of an athlete's wound.

The boys who do pieces for the papers and the fans who follow the fight game are warned not to get too enthusiastic over Young Stribling's chances to knock over Max Schmeling. Strib is a good fighter, clean cut and ambitious, and his chances for the head-piece are bright, but his duel with Tuffy Griffith in Chicago weeks ago, clean though it was, stands out like a red light at a grade crossing to flag down over-enthusiasm. They went the full route, and neither gave an inch. Tuffy is no slouch, never has been since he entered the money class, and he came near proving that he is worthy of serious consideration in his bout with the pride of Dixie.

Would that we, as a Texan among Texans, were given the opportunity of viewin the grand old sport of boxing in our native state. Properly handled, properly staged, there is nothing that sends a faster circulation through the veins of the true sportsman like a good boxing match between artists. Therein the participant must know his business and be on the alert as in no other game. In football, baseball and the like there are four to ten other men to watch, but everything depends on the individual in a boxing ring. To know how to guard one's every inch of physical portions against the punch of an opponent and at the same time to punch forcefully at the other's body is an education within itself. But the sport is ruined by weakling gamblers who would bolt at the shaking of a finger—who are entirely ignorant of the art of self-defense—but who undermine and demoralize the sport for the sake of filthy lucre.

SHORT SPORT SHAVINGS—Joe McCarthy, new manager of the New York Yanks, saw the club's famous stadium for the first time this year. . . Bobby Jones will desert the microphone and megaphone for some deep sea fishing at Key West, Fla. . . Jack Malloy, from North Adams, Mass., is called the best all around athlete at West Point. . . he has collected two letters each in football, basketball, baseball and track . . . Midget golf has finally arrived in Chile. . . but the domestic custom of dinner between 9 and 10 o'clock and then to bed puts a crimp in the night business. . . Elizabeth Bolla, a race horse owned by Mrs. Charles Holland of New Orleans, enjoys eating a dish of spaghetti and meat balls . . . the horse also relishes coca cola.

HOLDING REGULAR LUNCHEON

HOBBS, N. M., Jan. 27 (Staff Special)—The Hobbs chamber of commerce is now staging regular weekly luncheon in a local cafe. Tuesday noon is the date of the luncheon and an average of over 30 business men are attending.

Panels made of sugar cane fibre have been found to reduce noise in a room by 50 per cent.

TECH GYM TO BE BATTLE SCENE

WRIGHT BRINGS BETTER COMBINATION FOR TONIGHT'S FRAY

Two well-matched basketball clubs meet tonight at the Texas Tech college court in what promises to be one of the most interesting high school games left on the local bill for the season when the Tigers of Slaton clash with the Westerners of Lubbock at 7:30.

The game is due to have the earmarks of a grudge battle. Two weeks ago the teams met here in one of the hardest fought games seen on the local court this season. The Westerners won 22 to 20.

Has Better Combination

Coach Paul Wright brings an even better club to Lubbock tonight When they were here before they had been playing only about two weeks and the real strength of the club had not been tested. A better combination has resulted and the game tonight is due to feature a near-classic lineup.

Coach Keeling probably will start his usual lineup, which consists of Captain Knight and Quinlan at forwards, Gene Brown at center and Thompson and Payne at guards. The Slaton lineup probably will contain H. Johnson and Canon at forwards Captain Armes at center, Henry and Rucker at guards.

FONSECA MAY BE AT OLD JOB AGAIN

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27 (AP)—Lew Fonseca, leading hitter of the American league in 1929, may get back his regular job as first baseman for the Cleveland Indians this season if Eddie Morgan makes good his threat to forsake the national pastime for a business career.

Fonseca was classed as trading material for an experienced third baseman until Morgan checked out.

A collision with another player early last season took Fonseca out of the regular lineup and Morgan, replacing him, did so well he became a permanent fixture and banged out 26 home runs.

INTEREST IN GOLF TO BE REVIVED IN CITY DURING NEXT FEW WEEKS; OPEN TOURNAMENT PLANNED BY LOCAL CLUB

Lubbock's golfing element looks forward to the biggest season ever protracted on the South Plains as club officials announce extensive plans for the spring and summer. No less than seven tournaments are outlined on the year's program, the first beginning at once and others following late in February.

After a lethargic winter which may not be over for a few weeks the golfdom of Lubbock prepares to dust the clubs and enter an unequalled season.

The Lubbock Country Club will be the scene of most tournament activity, though club members are having no monopoly on the play. A ladder tournament, by which the rating and handicap of every individual golfer in Lubbock may be known at a glance, gets under way at once. By February 1 the entries are expected to have played 18 holes and turned in the resulting score to officials. The total score for 72 holes will stand as the individual rating on the ladder, the low scorer being rated No. 1, and so on down the line. It is thought that at least 100 golfers will enter the tournament. At any time following the limit of February 22, a player may challenge the one immediately above him on the ladder and assume a higher step by winning.

Six other tournaments are on the card for the spring and summer. On February 22 a special long-driving tournament will be held, followed on April 15 by a business men's tourney. The Country club championship will be decided in a match series starting May 17. On June 14 the annual "chicken dinner" tournament will be held. The 1931 city open is scheduled for June 21-28.

Members of the men's committee in charge of the tournaments are Jo Dick Slaughter, chairman, J. O. Smith and Ross McWhorter. Running concurrently with the men's ladder tournament will be a similar tourney for women, the committee to be announced later.

Bruce Campbell Goes To Dallas

CHICAGO, Jan. 27, (AP) — Bruce Campbell, a Chicago boy who warmed the White Sox bench most of last season, has been released on option to the Dallas club of the Texas league. An outfielder, he played a few games with Bloomington, Springfield and Indianapolis clubs last year.

VON ELM WINS MOST MONEY

CALIFORNIA BUSINESS MAN-GOLFER AHEAD IN WINNINGS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27—George Von Elm, who recently decided to make golf his avocation, celebrated his first winter in the ranks of the money-tournament players by winning the largest share of the $51,200 post in six California and Baja California championships.

His earnings were $7,447.

One brilliant round of golf enabled him to collect the greater share of this, for he won $6,750 by finishing in a tie for first with Johnny Golden, Noroton, Conn., professional, in the Agua Caliente $25,000 open, feature event of the annual California golf rush.

Golden finished a close second with an even $7,000. Tall Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., came third with $4,512, the greater share of which he made by winning the $3,500 first place money in the Los Angeles $10,000 open. The veteran Al Espinosa of Chicago, was fourth with $2,869.

City Volleyball League Is Planned

Plans for the organization of a city volleyball league are rapidly nearing completion under the auspices of Allen Brothers post, No. 148, of the American Legion. The plans have already gone so far that a schedule of games have been arranged for 7:30 on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Vaughn E. Wilson, chairman of the post athletic committee, has arranged the schedule and is seeing to the further organization of the league.

Two organizations have already signified that they will enter teams in the proposed league. The college professors and the Legion post have definitely decided to play a schedule of games and four other teams are likely to enter. These are the local chapters of Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and American Business Club. A round-robin schedule will be arranged for the six teams and games will start within the next few days.

TEXAS OPEN TO DRAW LARGE FIELD

STARS ENTERED IN 1ST OF PRIZE TOURNEYS OF AMERICA

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 27—Professional and amateur golf stars from over the United States flocked to San Antonio today for the Texas open, pioneer of big-money winter golf tournaments.

Professionals on the entry list were Harry Cooper, Ed Dudley, Al and Abe Espinosa, Johnny Farrell, Johnny Golden, Ralph Guldahl, Walter Hagen, Joe Kirkwood and others.

The amateurs listed such names as Johnny Dawson, Johnny Goodman, Jack Speer, Tris Speaker, Jack Dold and Tommy Robbins.

An 18-hole medal qualifying tournament for amateurs was set for tomorrow, and a pro-amateur best ball match for Thursday, with the 72-hole championship following on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

COUNTY TOURNEY HERE THIS WEEK

Twelve teams are entered in the second division of Class B schools of Lubbock county which holds its annual county basketball tournament here this week. Six schools are represented, each school sending a boys' and a girls' team to participate, with the exception of Union boys.

The tournament, starting Thursday afternoon, will be held at the Tech gymnasium, and games will be played from nine o'clock in the mornings on Friday and Saturday until 7 in the evening. A week later the first division of Class B schools will meet here for the annual tournament, the winner of each division to play for the county Class B championship.

The championship of each division will be decided on a percentage basis, each team playing four games. G. G. McWhorter, county director of athletics, announced the schedule yesterday and gave specific hours for the appearance of each team. A team that is as much as 15 minutes late for a scheduled game will lose the contest by forfeit.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS.—Tony Canzoneri, world lightweight champion, outpointed Johnny Farr, Cleveland, (10), (non-title).

OKLAHOMA CITY — Tommy Freeman, Cleveland, outpointed Eddie Murdock, Oklahoma City, (10).

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Joe Sekyra, Dayton, O., outpointed Primo Ubaldo, Italy, (10).

Otto Reiselt Wins Three Cushion Title

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP) — Otto Reiselt, fiery tempered artist from Philadelphia, held undisputed possession of first place today in the hard tussle for the world's three cushion billiard championship with the only perfect record in the week-old tournament.

The Philadelphian, who lost the title in 1928, loafed into exclusive possession of the leadership yesterday on the strength of four victories as two Chicagoans, Allen Hall and Arthur Thurnblad, received their first setbacks.

Yearlings Defeat Tech Freshmen

Living up to their school's basketball tradition, the Yearlings of West Texas Teachers' college came down from Canyon yesterday and thrashed the Texas Tech freshman team, 39 to 21, in a rough and tumble match on the Tech court.

So smoothly did the Canyon defense work that the Picadors were able to gather only six points in the first 20 minutes of play last night Coach Del Morgan, who has been working with the local frosh only two weeks, sent in three complete teams in the first half in an effort to find his best combination, but the starting lineup proved capable of doing the only scores amassed by the locals.

A volcapometer whose thermostat warns of approaching danger, has been installed on Mount Pelee to warn of coming eruptions.

Colleges Are To Furnish Rookies

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—A hurried glance over the list of new players coming up for trials in the National league this spring reveals a liberal sprinkling of college men, a large majority of them from the south.

At least thirteen colleges will be represented by rookies in the training camps of the eight league clubs. The south will send men from Georgia Tech, Alabama, Georgia University of Louisville, Mississippi College, Auburn and Clenison; the east from Amherst and Tufts, the midwest from Wisconsin and Michigan, the far west from Gonzaga University, and the southwest from Texas A. and M.

Two Come Direct

Most of these rookies have to glance over a considerable span of years before they reach their college careers but at least two of them, Howard Grossklos of Amherst, and Dick Montague of Michigan, will hit the major leagues directly from the college campus.

Grossklos was a fine all-around athlete at Amherst and will get a chance to show his infielding ability with the Pittsburgh Pirates at Paso Robles. Montague, a right handed pitcher, comes up with the Chicago Cubs. Neither, of course, may be ready for the majors yet.

Nash Is Slugger

One of the most interesting college recruits will be Tom Nash, a great football end at Georgia, and drafted by the New York Giants from Asheville of the Sally league. Nash, an outfielder, hit .312 last season.

The Boston Braves will give trials to Bill McAfee, right handed pitcher from the University of Michigan, and Ray Paul Flaherty from Gonzaga. McAfee was obtained from the Chicago Cubs and won seven games and lost eight for Reading, a seventh place club in the International league in 1930. Flaherty, an infielder, was recalled from Canton, O.

To Try Two More

In addition to Nash, the Giants will try out Arthur Mansfield, outfielder from the University of Wisconsin via Springfield, O.; and Willard Morrell, pitcher, from Tufts, by way of Shreveport.

The Pirates, college men include George Grant, pitcher Auburn and Rochester; Clay Mahaffey, pitcher Clemson and Hendricks, N. C., and Ben Sankey, shortstop Auburn and Wichita.

Bob Parham, outfielder who gets a chance with the Brooklyn Robins after hitting .352 for Macon of the Sally league, is a Georgia Tech man and Max Rosenfeld, a Rogin infield recruit from Toledo attended Alabama.

Fred Koster, from the University of Louisville, hit .340 and stole 36 bases with Little Rock last season and comes up with the Phillies. Hal Lee, another Philly recruit who came from the Robins, was at Mississippi college.

Joel Hunt, recalled by the St. Louis Cardinals from Houston, played at Texas A. and M from 1924 to 1926.

WRESTLING DRAWS 22,000 IN GARDEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—If this keeps up they'll turn Madison Square Garden over to the wrestlers entirely.

A crowd of 22,200 spectators saw Jim Londos, recognized in some states as heavyweight wrestling champion, successfully defend the title against Jim McMillen, former University of Illinois athlete, at the garden last night. Gross receipts reached $59,496.30. Londos won in 56 minutes, 54 seconds with a half Nelson and headlock.

Almost as large a crowd saw Londos beat Ferenc Holuban at the garden recently.

Average attendance at garden boxing shows during the last five weeks has been less than 7,500.

BASKETBALL LAST NIGHT

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The stock market failed to develop definite tendencies in the earlier trading today. Heaviness of the active industrials and some investment rails was offset by rallies in specialties and other carrier issues. Activity was light.

Issues down a point or more included American Can, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, Atchison, Union Pacific, New York Central and Norfolk & Western. There were gains of 2 points in Delaware & Hudson, Frisco, Rock Island, American Type Founders, Byers and Motor Products, while Woolworth, Penney, American Tobacco "B", Northern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio rallied a point.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—Cotton opened steady 3 to 7 points higher in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables.

Offerings were comparatively light, while there was some spot house buying of old crop positions and buying of later deliveries believed to be for the trade. This sent the active months about 5 to 10 points net higher during the early trading and the market was steady within 2 or 3 points of the best at the end of the first half hour.

The early realizing and light southern selling was absorbed on slight setbacks and the market was steady later in the morning on continued covering and trade buying. March sold up to 10.40 and July to 10.88 making net advances of about 9 to 12 points on the active months and while business was less active prices were within 2 or 3 points of the best at midday.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 27. (AP)—Cotton opened quiet but rather steady as cables were a shade better than due. While March started unchanged, the later months showed gains of two to three points. The market continued to improve after the start in very moderate trading, better feeling being due to an improved demand for spots and more favorable advices from the cotton goods trade. March advanced to 10.37 and October to 11.05 or five to six points above yesterday's close.

At the end of the first hour, the market was steady and near the highs.

The market ruled rather firmer during the morning, although the volume of trading was restricted by a scarcity of contracts. The better tone was due to more favorable foreign news, and a better demand for spot. March traded up to 10.44, May to 10.70 and July to 10.82, or 12 to 14 points above yesterday's close.

At noon the market was steady and at the highs.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 27 (AP) — The cotton market opened steady. March 10.32; May 10.58; July 10.80 bid; Oct. 11.02; Dec. 11.20 bid.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady. March 10.33; May 10.59; July 10.80; Oct. 11.05; Dec. 11.22.

WILL ROGERS

at the municipal auditorium in the benefit entertainment for poverty stricken folk in and around San Antonio.

The cowboy-humorist started telling about the governor of Texas at about 8:30 p. m. and ended with Clara Bow at 11 p. m. Between these two came comments and jokes about most of the leading statesmen and figures of America and Mexico.

Audience Hysterical

The 5,000 audience, after an hour of Rogers' cracks, became hysterical, and anything the actor did brought laughter and applause.

"A voter hasn't any more sense than a billy goat," he said. "If he has a dollar in his pocket he will vote for the fellow that's in, and if he is broke he will vote against him.

"Most of your governors have been great friends of mine. Jim Ferguson and I get along fine. In Austin the other day he was in my room and Dan Moody came busting in. I had an awful time getting Jim out of there before Dan came in.

"Here is a joke about Jim. You know how he pardoned folks. He sent out one pardon, and the man wrote back and said 'Jim they ain't caught me yet'."

Describes Drouth Area

He also described conditions existing in the drouth stricken areas and told of the needs of these communities. He described particularly the need in Texas counties.

Rogers arrived in a tri-motored plane from Austin shortly before 5 o'clock. He was met at Winburn field by a mob that overwhelmed police officers, welcoming committee and cavaliers.

From Winburn field Rogers was taken to the first reception at the Plaza hotel where lobby, ballroom and corridors were packed with people anxious to greet him.

From the Plaza hotel Rogers went to radio station WOAI where he spoke for fifteen minutes.

At the Gunter another huge crowd awaited him. He was smuggled into the Crystal ballroom through a back entrance.

George W. Sanders, president of the Old Trail Drivers' association, was standing with his back to the door as Rogers entered.

The humorist spied him and made a rush for the old cowman.

"Howdy, George," said Will.

"Howdy, Will," said George.

"Remember when we ate beans together ten years ago?" asked one old man.

"And, Buddy, I still like beans," said Rogers.

Rogers' son joined him here.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP) — With excessively dry weather in domestic winter wheat territory a factor, grains advanced today after an irregular start. At some Illinois points, drouth was reported making more wells empty than during any time last summer.

Opening 1-8 cent off to 1-4 cent up, wheat afterward showed increased gains. Corn started unchanged to 1-2 cent down, and subsequently rose all around.

CLARA'S PLEA

from widely scattered states reaching from coast to coast and border to border, in which his conduct of the trial is commented upon, both favorably and otherwise.

A writer in Worcester, Mass., suggested the best form of punishment for Daisy would be "a good licking". Many others suggested clemency.

CHARM SCHOOL

the Avalanchee-Journal Publishing company, is open to anyone who wishes to attend.

There were a number of women in the audience Monday afternoon from Abernathy, Idalou, Lorenzo and other towns in the section, in addition to those who attended from Lubbock.

A question box has been placed on the registration table at the entrance to the hall and Miss Earle will answer questions that are asked during the season of the school. A number of questions that were placed there on Monday afternoon were answered at the close of the lecture.

House Numbers To Be Checked, O.K.'d.

Plans for checking and correcting the numbering of houses in the city of Lubbock were outlined at a meeting of a committee of local citizens this morning with city officials.

In some sections of the city house numbers have become badly mixed and are incorrect and city officials are anxious to have this condition remedied.

Those at the meeting this morning included John L. Vaughan, W. O. Daniels, Tom A. White, H. L. Allen, M. R. Smith and J. Bryan Miller.

World War Veterans Seek Cash On Bonus

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 27. (AP)—Thirty-five Seattle world war veterans were en route to Washington, D. C., by freight train today to press claims for cash settlement of their bonus insurance certificates. They boarded box cars last night after their leaders failed to obtain motor transportation.

LAMESA DENTIST

parachutes failing to open. Then he made up his mind that thought should be given to a device to make air travel safer. He and his wife began immediately to work on parachute models and many a night they were found up past the midnight hour scheming and planning the present invention. Then the idea was perfected and Dr. Terry set about to get his friends interested, not having the finances to put the project over himself.

He left his dental offices and took his idea to many large cities in Texas, Oklahoma and Washington, D. C. where he sought the criticisms of the men of the air. The same day September 19, 1930, Dr. Terry was in Washington, where he made application for patent, Thomas A. Edison in an interview with aviators in Newark, New Jersey, in which the parachute was the subject of comment said, "Airway travel will never be safer than the parachute and some one ought to now be busy perfecting a safer parachute." Edison was surprised to learn that present parachutes were not absolutely safe, according to press dispatches of this interview. Dr. Terry interviewed government fliers while in Washington and told them of his invention. They told him, "for God's sake if you have something better than what we have now let us have it."

Will Be Welcomed

Dr. Terry has talked and explained his invention to outstanding fliers of the nation. They all state that he has a workable project and that it will be welcomed into aviation. Among the fliers he has talked to are Joe Glass flier from Dallas to Atlanta; E. G. Rhenstrom, Fort Worth aviation department of the Chamber of Commerce and connected with A. P. Barrett of Fort Worth air lines; Jack Lapham, capitalist and flier of San Antonio, Texas; L. H. Reagan, general manager, Webster Engineering company of Tulsa, Oklahoma; Harald Beecher in charge of the air port at Midland, Texas, and Carl Bentsen in charge of the air port at Lamesa and World war flier. All of these have lauded Terry's invention and urged its testing by government officials.

Through L. H. Reagan of Tulsa, Dr. Terry has assurance of a government test. If found all it is recommended by Terry all who have seen the invention declare that there is no doubt but that aviation will have in this project a much safer medium from emergencies than at present.

Dr. Terry has an inventive mind. Before the present open glass vision gasoline pumps, Terry was the first man to invent such a pump. He failed however to carry his idea over, having it taken from him by others patenting the same pump and following closely on his heels.

Dr. Terry formerly practiced in Lubbock.

thousands of yards of thin homespun yarn which loked like American ticker tape. Outside the house where he will stay the crowds whose emotions had reached the heights of religious ecstacy, prostrated themselves before the mystical leader in adoration, and worshipped him as if he were a god.

Gandhi raised his hands above his head and clasped them as if in benediction while some of his disciples took his frail 96-pound body on their shoulders and carried him into the house. In response to repeated ovations he was forced again and again to show himself, at each reappearance begging the multitude to disperse.

Would Be Back

Leaving the prison at Poona last night Gandhi told prison officials that he would be back within two months. On the train from Chinchwad to Bombay, passengers shouted "long live Gandhi our king."

Clad in a homespun loin cloth he brought his spinning wheel from prison.

Hundreds of congress volunteers and almost the entire Bombay police force was mobilized to oversee the march from the railway station to the home of a friend, where Gandhi was elected to remain for the next few days.

Plan Campaign

At the house the liberated head of the Indian independence movement met members of the congress executive council and conferred with them regarding preliminary moves in the approaching conversations which will decide whether peace is to be brought to restless India or whether it will continue its passive war for complete independence from Britain.

A disquieting note was sounded in a dispatch from Allahbad which said that Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the congress, had urged a meeting there to carry out without modification last year's resolution declaring for complete independence.

SHOOTING CASE

was attributed by officers as cause for the shooting. The husband, Hugh Walker, also was lodged in the Terry county jail and is being held today for investigation, according to officers.

Had Registered

County Attorney Price told the Daily Journal at noon today that evidence gathered showed that Walker had signed a hotel register, under an assumed name, for man and wife, giving his address as Hobbs, N. M.

Miss Carr was shot as she sat in an automobile outside the hotel. But one shot was fired, the bullet, from a Leuger pistol, entering immediately below the right breast, angling downward through the right lung and top of the liver and emerging from the right side opposite the chest. Mrs. Walker was said to have been standing outside her own automobile when the attack was made.

Officers stated that Miss Carr and Walker had arrived at the hotel in a small coupe a few moments before the wife appeared on the scene in a small coach. The shooting was said to have occurred while Walker was moving baggage from the back of the coupe and as a porter opened a door of the coupe.

Sheriff J. M. Tilford, of Terry county, said Monday night that Mrs. Walker had been seen in Brownfield the last several days while Lubbock county officers revealed that they had seen her in this city Monday afternoon.

MORE TECH WOMEN STUDENTS ARE ON HONOR ROLL; ELEVEN OF 165 MAKING GRADE MARRIED; MEN IN HARDER WORK

Although women students at Texas Technological college are greatly in the minority, 39 more women than men were listed on the fall term honor roll of the college, according to statistics recently revealed.

The honor roll of the college showed 165, women and 126 men included and a percentage of 37 to 43. Estimates place 19 per cent of the women in Tech on the honor roll and only 9 per cent of the men. Eleven of the women on the roll were married.

The roll, which is issued at the college following term examinations, contains the names of students making at least a B average. Seven students made all A's while an A average was made by many others. Two of those making all A's were taking six or more subjects.

According to college officials, no particular reason can be assigned for the better average of women unless it is the fact that men sign up for more difficult courses. No women are enrolled in the Tech engineering school which is usually admitted to be the hardest school of the college. Approximately 500 men are registered in this division.

No women are enrolled in the Tech school of agriculture, according to records.

Time Is Extended For Removing Signs

Announcement was made this morning by city officials that a former order issued for immediate removal of all signs from city property had been modified and owners of signs will have until February 1 to remove the structures.

The announcement was made following an agreement between city officials and a number of property owners. Recently the city declared all signs on city property to be a violation of the encroachment ordinance and order was made for all owners of such obstructions to have them removed immediately.

City officials also stated this morning that utilities companies and others who have made breaks in alley paving are being urged to care for these at once. Nine such breaks have been reported to the city hall, all caused by the laying of gas lines, plumbing, etc.

McLEOD IS NAMED HEAD OF TAILORS

O. W. McLeod, of the Lubbock Laundry company, was elected as president of a group of Lubbock tailors at a dinner meeting held Monday evening in the ballroom of the Hilton hotel. Organization of the group began last week.

Other officers elected were William H. Bray, of Bray's Tailoring company, vice president, and J. C. Sanders, of Lubbock Tailoring company secretary-treasurer.

Guests at the meeting included Mayor J. J. Clements, Garnet O. Reeves, Guy Hughes, Roy Hall, E. D. Wilson and Allen Moses.

Chemistry Society Is To Meet Tonight

First regular meeting of the Chemistry society will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in room F of the chemistry building at Texas Technological college, according to O'Brien Thompson, president of the society.

"It is our plan to have at each meeting a program based on chemistry," said Mr. Thompson.

"This is not a social club and our aim is to foster an interest in chemistry. We are fortunate to have on the first program Doctor Goodwin, who came to us this year as the head of the department."

Several demonstrations have been planned by M. R. White, chairman of the program committee, to supplement Doctor Goodwin's talk on the program.

All chemistry majors at the college and other interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

About 1,600 child health centers and maternity centers have been established in 39 states with the aid of the federal government.

TEXAS DEBATE

the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that Farmer, in running for congress in 1926 had advocated government dispensation of liquor at 50 cents a pint.

Farmer asserted today that he still was of that opinion as it referred to medicinal liquor only and that present laws gave the druggists and doctors a monopoly on medicinal liquor that was tantamount to robbery.

Farmer referred to his home county as "liquor soaked Tarrant county." Representative Beck of Fort Worth took exception to this remark, declaring Tarrant was no worse than any other county.

To Redraft Resolution

A sub-committee of the committee on liquor traffic was authorized today to redraft the resolution and remove "some of its obnoxious features." Several members said yesterday they would be unwilling to vote for the resolution as written because it challenged sincerity and honesty of several members of the Wickersham investigating committee.

Representative Coltrin of Mathis was named chairman of the sub-committee.

To Regulate Superintendents

A bill was introduced in the house to provide for the election of county school superintendents. They are now appointed.

Representative Metcalfe of San Angelo introduced his congressional redistricting bill today. It would increase the number of Texas districts from 18 to 21 and consolidate several districts.

Representative Harman of Waco introduced a bill to provide for the preferential primary system. Under the plan, voters would ballot for first and second choice and if neither candidate received a majority of first choice votes, the candidate who received the most second and first choice votes would be nominated.

To Regulate Books

Representative Hardy of Breckenridge introduced a bill prohibiting teachers from requiring school pupils to purchase books other than the texts authorized by the school board for classroom work.

A bill to abolish the three day application provision of the state marriage law was introduced by Representative Sullivan of Gainesville. The law would retain the physical examination feature.

Representatives Rogers of Celeste and Savage of Dallas introduced a bill to prohibit writs of execution on Confederate pensions.

A bill to license chiropractors was introduced by Farmer of Fort Worth. The bill would set up a board of chiropractic examiners to examine applicants.

She was not told the real verdict of the jury. Walker, seeking to spare her the shock, told his mother he escaped with a 20-year sentence in the penitentiary.

The aged woman believed the story then and was content — but yesterday she found out the truth.

Arraignments were completed today at the state penitentiary for the first triple execution in Colorado since 1896.

Woman Ousted As California Mayor

RENDONDO BEACH, Calif., Jan. 27. (AP)—Mrs. May B. Hopkins was ousted as mayor of Rendondo Beach at a recall election yesterday, the voters approving by 1,934 to 1,321 charges she was incompetent and used her office for political ends.

MRS. ATKINS BURIED TODAY

PIONEER RESIDENT OF CITY DIES HERE ON MONDAY

Following her death here late Monday at her home, 1317 Tenth street, funeral services are being conducted this afternoon for Mrs. T. M. Atkins, 61, at the family residence.

Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate at the services, and burial will be in the Lubbock cemetery, Rix-Sanders in charge.

Pallbearers will include W. S. Posey, John Denman, G. M. Cosby, Raymond Allen, Richard Douglas and Will Ballew.

Mrs. Atkins, who had lived in this city for the last 19 years, had been ill for about two years. She is survived by the widower and four sons, Jack, Dimmie, Hugh and George Atkins, all of Lubbock.

FINAL REPORTS ON CHEST THIS WEEK

Complete and final reports of Lubbock's 1931 Community Chest drive must be in by Thursday afternoon, the intervening days being carded a cleanup period, according to announcement late Monday by A. H. Leidigh, general chairman of the cleanup corps.

End of the cleanup was deferred as a result of the death of L. Herbert Quinn, late publisher of the Avalanche-Journal newspapers. The cleanup campaign was scheduled to have closed last Friday.

Team captains in the cleanup corps are O. W. McLeod, R. F. Bayless, J. J. Clements, Mrs. R. A. Mills, W. G. McMillan, O. W. Ribble, Rev. W. P. Jennings, Bob Moxley, Mrs. W. G. McMillan and France Baker.

Mexican Is Held On Pro Law Violation

Arrested on a farm near Idalou, charges of illegal possession of whiskey were filed late Monday against Jose Riveria, a Mexican, before Justice of the Peace H. K. Porter.

When arrested Riveria had a quantity of whiskey and about 125 gallons of mash in his possession, county officers said.

Charges of theft were filed Monday against two youths, Preston Carver and Willis Frost, in connection with theft of automobile tires. The two were arrested by police recently

LOCAL MEN WILL ATTEND AUCTION

A delegation of nine Lubbock citizens will leave late today for Hereford where they will attend the first 1931 Hereford sale to be staged in Texas. The sale is to be held Wednesday. While there the local men will contact breeders and buyers in an effort to interest them in the scheduled sale to be held in Lubbock on March 27.

In addition to the Wednesday auction, other sales over the state will be visited by local groups and thorough advertising of the Lubbock event will be given.

Those who plan to leave today include Dr. I. E. Barr, France Baker, J. O. Jones, George Boles, Fred Snyder, W. L. Stangel, Sam Arnett, W. T. Gaston and Bob Crump.

CITY PAYS OFF MUCH OF DEBT

Vouchers totalling $37,726.67 were passed across the desk at the city hall yesterday, representing a substantial payment against the indebtedness of the City of Lubbock, according to announcement by officials this morning.

The amount represented $29,000 in principal and $8,726.67 as interest on the notes.

"The Artistic Ability of Your Florist Has a Lot to do With the Success of Your Social Functions,"

Says Miss Earle.

"You should select a florist who has at least one person employed to oversee and attend to all design work and floral decorations. This one person should possess a natural ability to arrange flowers in an artistic manner.

"The person in charge of this work should devote their entire time to the study of flower arrangement. A JACK-AT-ALL-TRADES CAN NO MORE MAKE A SUCCESS OF FLORAL DESIGNING THAN IN ANY OTHER PROFESSION.

"I have seen many a hostess greatly humiliated just because the florist did not know his business and delivered flowers that were not at all suited for the occasion."

We are proud of the fact that we can offer you the kind of service that Miss Earle outlines above.

Mrs. Eubanks does nothing but attend to our design work. She has studied under some of the most expert designers. You are assured of proper appointments in floral designs when your order is placed with us.
