Police Officers To Enforce Violations Of Ordinance

Ordinance #1106, Rabies And Registration Tags For Dogs And Cats

The City of Knox City has announced that it will begin enforcing an ordinance already on the books that relates to dogs and cats being registered and having current vaccination tags.

City Administrator Joe Rice advised the NEWS office that a "Vet Clinic" will be held this Thursday, January 7, 1993 from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. at the Knox City Fire Hall. Rabies vaccinations will be given at a fee of $7.00, and other vaccines will be available at the clinic.

Also at the clinic, the city will be issuing dog and cat tags at a reduced rate of $4.00 per tag, per dog or cat. City ordinance #1106 has been on the books for some time, and officers will begin issuing citations for violations of the ordinance after the clinic. The ordinance states that all dogs and cats that live within the city limits must have both a current rabies tag, and a current city registration tag. Violations of this ordinance after January 7 will result in a citation that can cost the pet owner from $40.00 to $200.00 in fines.

Knox City has several ordinances that relate to pets, including this tag ordinance and a leash law. Currently the city has a problem with dogs that are not on a leash or not in a confined area. In some instances, packs of dogs have been seen roaming the city, even in the downtown business area. These dogs are not tagged either for registration or rabies. If one of these dogs were to bite a child, officers would haveno way of knowing if the animal had current rabies vaccinations, or even who the dog belongs to.

Pet owners are reminded that dogs need to be kept in a confined, fenced in area or on a leash. All dogs and cats must be wearing both a current rabies vaccination tag and a current city registration tag.

The "Vet Clinic" that has been set for this Thursday evening is an easy way for pet owners to get their cats and dogs in compliance with current city ordinances before they receive a citation that can cost them up to $200.00.

Protect Your Well Water

By Danny Lamberth, USDA-SCS, Seymour Aquifer Project

One of the most important considerations in protecting your well from contamination is the location. If you choose the wrong location you can be inviting trouble by risking contamination of your water.

To avoid contamination, it is best to locate the well on thehighest available ground, above the flood level of any nearby stream and higher ground than other pollution sources such as septic systems, livestock yards, or gas storage tanks.

Protection from contamination on a well begins with the casing. The casing keeps surface runoff and shallow groundwater from entering the well and contaminating the well. The casing should extend to a depth of 25 feet, or ten feet below the static water level, whichever is deeper.

To prevent contaminants from flowing into the well along side the casing a cement slurry should be placed around the well casing to a depth of ten feet.

A concrete pad should be installed around the casing at the ground surface. The pad should extend at least two feet out from the casing and be four inches thick. The pad should be sloped away from the well to keep water from standing along side the casing. The well casing should extend at least 12 inches above the pad.

Better management of your existing well can reduce the potential for

King County 4-H Conducts Major Community Projects

By Gary D. Antilley
King County Extension Agent

The King County 4-H Group conducted two major Community Service Projects these past two months. In November, the 4-H membership conducted their annual "Can Food Drive" and collected some 200 can goods that were districuted to the needy in the Knox City area. A special thanks to Rob Harrison that will be distributing these goods.

In Decmeber, the 4-H'ers for their Christmas project, brought "Stocking Stuffer" gifts and accessories. A 4-H group, along with our local acting Santa Claus, County Commissioner Darwood Marshall, took the gifts to the Brazos Valley Nursing Home in Knox City. It was a very moving experience for each of us to be able to fellowship with those wonderful people and to bring them some cheer and love for this holiday season. Thank you Brazos Valley and their staff for allowing us to do this.

These two projects were very rewarding for our 4-H group that they can do these projects for our local communities.

Skylark Bus Service To K.C. Is Discontinued

The Skylark Bus Company is no longer running in Knox City, effective December 31.

According to Barbara Barnard of the Knox City Florist, where the bus station was located, commented that a good number of townspeople would be affected by this decision. Many businesses receive freight on a daily basis as well as those who do use the service for a means of transportation.

By Gladene Green

With the holidays behind us, we can now look forward with much anticipation to a new year. And let's hope we can keep at least one of probably many resolutions we all made. Visiting continued right on through the New Year's weekend and tho we had some friends ailing, no one is seriously ill at this time. Bill Spikes spent several days last week in the Seymour Hospital returing home Thursday. Each day he feels better and that is good news. Other ailments have been minor and tho aggrevating, it seems now that everyone is "on the mend".

Christmas guests of Don and Louise Hertel were their sons, Craig of Lindsey, Scott of Plano and Kent of Coppell. Also Brent and Shawna Glen of Albuquerque, New Mexico, who also visited his grandmother, Nora Hertel.

Visiting Jerry and Linda Parker during Christmas were their kids, Shannon and her fiance Scott Chandler of Wichita Falls and Shari Parker, Kyle and Shawn and Steve Monroe of Knox City.

Truscott - Gilliland News

By Clara Brown

Icy roads and freezing winds swept in with the new year last Friday. By Sunday temperatures were back to the 50s and the 30 degree improvement was appreciated by all.

Not being appreciated are the road hunters and spot lighters who seem to have decided this community is their own hunting lease. One landowner, from a distance, watched strangers carry out their game and load it in their pickup. They soon found out that they had been observed though, when they received their share of several tickets game wardens have passed out lately to illegal hunters in the Antelope Flat and Truscott area. More than one landowner has taken to watching for night hunters and trespassers recently, so the number of tickets may increase.

Jimmy and Cathy New and family of Olney visited Owen and Irene New Christmas Day.

Peggy Plunk of Stratford and her daughter and granddaughter, Kim and Peggy Ashton of Guymon, Oklahoma, spent Tuesday and Wednesday with Peggy's parents, Owen and Irene New.

December 26 visitors in the home of Edgar and Opal Jones were Opal's granddaughter, Mandy Stark along with their husband Steve and sons Matthew and Josh. Jacqueline Denton spent the Christmas holidays with her grandmother, Opal. Her father, Phil Denton of Midland, spent one night last week with Jacqueline and Edgar and Opal.

John and Frances Hamm of Austin and her mother, Fannie Lois Bayers of Gilliland, spent Christmas at Seymour with Fannie Lois's sister, Ola.

David Jones, son of Bryan and Lorine Jones, died December 28 at Llano, Texas. The Joneses are former residents of Gilliland and Truscott.

Memorial services were held December 31 at Llano Funeral Home. David was born August 21, 1942, at Crowell. He is survived by his wife, Susie, three daughters, four grandchildren, and his parents. He was preceded in death by a brother

IN CLARKE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clarke enjoyed their families over the Christmas and New Year holidays.

Kelli Whitten, Terri Carnes and Courtney of Lubbock, Greg Whitten and Sandra Graham of Austin spent several days visiting.

Merri Graham, Sarah and Luke from Navasota and Daniel Jones of Lyndale came Tuesday after Christmas and left Saturday helping bring the New Year in.

Also visiting during the holidays were Dr. and Mrs. Lynn Beason, Bill and Lauren from College Station.

Ray and Idella were in Fort Worth New Year's weekend visiting with Idella's mother, Josephine Acosta. They also visited her brothers and their families, the Paul Acostas and the Alfred Acostas.

Sunday, they celebrated a delayed Christmas at the Bullions along with Murry's sister, Gail Whitley and her husband and daughter, Lee and Crystal.

Harrold and Carrie Barry were in Seguin for Christmas with Carrie's sisters, Mrs. Allie Mae Slavik and Grace McKinnon; the Barry's daughter, Bette Adkins and her family, and other relatives. The Adkins also went to Corpus Christi to visit Derrah's mother.

Newell and June Looney has as their guests during the Christmas and New Year holidays their children and grandchildren including Nancy and Bobby Becker and Ryan and Allison of New Braunfels; Lee Looney and his children Farrah and Guynn Looney; and Kay Gray and her children, Andrew and Emily of Vernon.

Age 70 and Still Working

By Patty Brandt
Resident Representative, Vernon

"If your answer to these three questions is 'Yes," Social Security has important information for you," according to Patty Brandt, Resident Representative in Vernon.

(1) Are you age 70 or older?

(2) Did you enroll for Medicare when you were 65?

(3) Did you continue working when you were eligible for Social Security retirement benefits and therefore never collect them?

"If so, there's a good chance that you were one of the more than 12,000 people who got a letter from Social Security in November," Mrs. Brandt said. It reminded potential beneficiaries that when they are 70 years old, they can work, earn any amount of money, and still receive full Social Security benefits. "After age 70, there's no limit on your earnings for Social Security purposes," Mrs. Brandt explained. "Nothing is deducted from your monthly check even though you continue to work."

Social Security has launched a major effort to contact people three months before their 70th birthday. Letters will be mailed each month to potential beneficiaries reminding them that no matter how much they're earning now, they should get in touch with Social Security if they want to begin collecting benefits.

"Too often people who continue to work don't realize they can collect their Social Security benefits," says Mrs. Brandt. "We need to be sure they know that they're entitled to monthly benefits even if they are still working. That's why we're sending them letters urging them to come into the office and check with us about their eligibility. We want to make sure that all workers who paid into Social Security get the benefits they've earned."

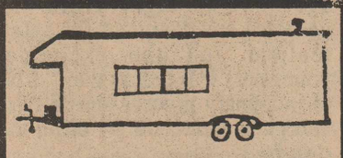

If you think you're eligible, you can arrange for an appointment by calling Social Security's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-772-1213, any business day between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m., or you can call or visit the local office.

Jane's News Notes

THE FACTS ABOUT WEIGHT LOSS

Being obese can have serious health consequences. These include an increase risk of heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, diabetes, gallstones and some forms of cancer. Losing weight can help reduce these risks but choosing the right weight reduction can be tricky.

Here are some points to keep in mind as you search for the right program for you:

* Claims that you can lose weight effortlessly are false. The only proven way to lose weight is either to reduce the number of calories you eat or to increase the number you burn off through exercise. Experts recommend a combination of both.

*Very low calorie diets do have risks and should be pursued only under medical supervision. Unsupervised very low calorie diets can deprive you of important nutrients and are potentially dangerous.

*Fad diets rarely have any permanent effect. Sudden and radical changes in your eating patterns are difficult to sustain over time. In addition, radical dieting often send dieters into a cycle of quick weight loss, followed by a rebound weight gain once normal eating resumes. Subsequently, reducing becomes even more difficult when the next diet is attempted.

*To lose weight safely and keep it off requires long term changes in daily eating and exercise habits. Many experts recommend a goal of losing about one pound per week. A modest reduction of 500 calories per day will achieve this goal, since a total reduction of 3,500 calories is required to lose one pound of fat. An important way to lower your calorie intake is to learn and practice healthy eating habits.

MICROWAVE EFFECTS ON FOODS AND NUTRIENTS

Microwave cooking usually destroys fewer nutrients than other forms of food preparation and thus can be used to prepare more healthful and nutritious foods. For example, less fat is necessary when preparing foods in the microwave than by baking or frying. Natural flavors of fruits and vegetables are better when they are microwaved. Microwaving can save up to 100 percent of vitamin C and 70 percent or more of folacin.

PROCESSED MEAT, AN EXPENSIVE SOURCE OF PROTEIN

Frankfurters and bologna are often more expensive sources of protein than beef roasts and steaks.

That's because while they are cheaper on a pound for pound basis, their protein concentration is lower. It takes about four 1.5 ounce frankfurters, in fact, to supply as much protein as you would get in a three ounce serving of cooked, lean beef.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

County and am looking forward to meeting and working with the citizens of Delta County as their Extension Agent - Agriculture (Program Leader)," Peters said. "My family and I are going to miss the people of Knox County. I appreciate the support the Knox County Commissioners Court has given me over the past four years."

Kids Can 'Drive' Like Mom and Dad

(NUJ) – Just as life-size vehicles are equipped with new and exciting features for adults — rear deck spoilers, special brakes or five-speed stick shifts — so too are battery-powered ride-on vehicles for pint-size "drivers."

The more realistic the "junior cars," the more like Mom and Dad the young vehicle operators will feel, experts say. And the more they can put their imaginations to work and develop self-confidence and a sense of creativity.

Parents' Choice Foundation, which reviews children's materials like toys and games, has honored two battery-powered ride-ons from Power Wheels for supervised use only.

"The Parents' Choice awards are given to toys that help the child grow physically, mentally, socially or emotionally," says Diana Green, editor-in-chief of Parents' Choice magazine and Foundation president.

Power Wheels today manufactures 16 different battery-powered ride-ons for youngsters ages one to eight years. The vehicles are designed for safety, realism and the excitement youngsters will feel as they "drive" to imaginary grocery stores, to the ball game, to school — all in their own backyard.

The vehicles range from the Lil Suzuki, a four-wheel ride-on that goes either by foot power or one mile per hour powered by battery, to the Porsche 911 Turbo for children up to age eight. The Porsche is powered by an 18-volt battery and can cruise up to six mph (equal to a brisk walking speed for an adult).

groundwater contamination. You might want to move activities such as pesticide mixing, tank rinsing or gasoline storage further from the well. Use an anti-backflow device when filling pesticide sprayer tanks to prevent chemicals from flowing back into the well and contaminating the groundwater.

At a minimum, test your well annually for nitrates and bacteria. Bacteria and nitrates are two important indicators for water quality. At excessive levels they can cause health problems, but they may also suggest problems with the well's location or construction.

In 1993 the maximum amount a Social Security recipient aged 65 to 69 can earn without sacrificing some benefits is $10,560. For earnings over that amount, $1 is sacrificed for every $3 earned. For those over 70, there is no penalty.

The National Center for Health Studies says the most prevalent chronic conditions for people over 65 are, in descending order: arthritis, hypertension, hearing impairments, heart disease, and cataracts.
