NEGRO ADMITS KILLING TEXAS YOUTH

BODY OF BOY IS FOUND IN CREEK NEAR CORSICANA

NEGRO RUSHED BY PLANE TO DALLAS; LAD KILLED BY THREE BULLETS

(By The Associated Press)
DALLAS, May 27.—Fred Tilford, negro, brought here last night from Corsicana for safekeeping, today confessed to the murder of Prewett Dukemeier, 26, according to Dallas county officers. Dukemeier's bullet-riddled body was found in a creek near Richland last night. The officers said the negro signed a confession admitting he killed the boy after robbing him of $57 and then threw his body in the creek.

Body Is Found
CORSICANA, May 27.—The body of Prewett Dukemeier, Rice youth, 26, was dragged from the muddy waters of Richland Creek at ten o'clock Wednesday night. Examination of the body revealed three bullet wounds.

The finding of the body was the culmination of an entire day of feverish search conducted by friends of the Dukemeier family from Corsicana, Richland and other communities north of Richland. Foul play was suspected when no trace could be found of young Dukemeier, after he had left Rice with a negro by the name of Fred Tilford.

The boy was enroute to a farm near Richland, and had in his possession a sum of money with which to pay an alleged indebtedness of the negro's to a Richland farmer. He was to return to Rice with Tilford and his belongings and establish him on the farm of the Fortson Brothers, whose Dukemeier had lived all of his life and where his father had been overseer for the Messrs. Fortson for over twenty-five years. The negro was arrested in Corsicana late Wednesday and the officers fearing mob violence, he was taken to Dallas where he is now in jail.

The body was found in five feet of water, lying on its back. No weights were attached. A cousin of Dukemeier identified the body and examination revealed three bullet wounds and several cuts and bruises on the face. The body was fully clothed.

County Attorney Bullard George announced that the negro held would be accused of murder and brought to trial at the earliest possible moment. Mr. George stated he would call the grand jury together Thursday morning. An effort will be made to start the trial next Monday morning.

Negro In Dallas
DALLAS, May 27.—(AP)—Fred Tilford, negro brought here by airplane for safekeeping Wednesday night when Corsicana officers feared possible mob violence, has promised to tell late today all he knows of the slaying of Prewett Dukemeier, 26, of Rice, Dallas County officers announced today.

GREENVILLE, Texas, May 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Edlenborn was elected president of the Louisiana Navigation and Railway of Texas to succeed her late husband, William Edlenborn, at a meeting of stockholders of the company here today. E. A. Etamon was appointed executive vice president. Other officers were re-elected.

Coal Miners Trapped But All Make Escape
SCRANTON, Penn., May 27.—(AP)—In a fire which is said to have followed an explosion in the Mount Lookout mine at Wyoming, Penn., today, five men reported to have been injured and at least eight men still were in the mine at noon. The mine is owned by here and work that was his a trip to here and Hubert Hopper gave a reading at the meeting.

Earl Carroll Is Found Guilty; No Sentenced Named

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, May 27.—Earl Carroll was found guilty today of perjury in connection with grand jury investigation of the "bathtub party" in his theatre at which Joyce Hawley, a nude show girl, served drinks from a bathtub. Carroll was on trial on four counts, two referring to the bathtub incident, and two to his testimony that no liquor was served at the party. The jury found him guilty of the first two and not guilty of the second two.

The jury returned its verdict at 12:30 o'clock, just an hour and five minutes after Judge Goddard had given it the case.

Bail Set At $5,000.
Judge Goddard held Carroll in $5,000 bail, twice the amount he had been held in previously, and deferred sentence for one week.

Judge Goddard's charge held that Miss Hawley's part in the party was material and that the jury should consider it.

The sole issue was whether or not the defendant, Carroll, lied to the grand jury in February or in March. The defendant is not being tried for violation of the prohibition law, but for the crime of perjury.

"Perjury is a kind of interference with the function of a grand jury investigation which must not be tolerated if our courts and our system of justice is to operate. If this defendant lied on a material matter before the grand jury it matters not whether he lied like a gentleman, as Mr. Soyke (Carroll's attorney) put it."

Carroll may receive not more than five years sentence or a fine of $2,000, or both, on each of the two counts on which he was found guilty. Counsel for Carroll expressed confidence of a reversal by the Circuit court of appeals.

Four Children Die In Farmhouse Fire

BOONE, Ia., May 27.—(AP)—Four children of Iphay Harris, a farmer, were burned to death and another child was burned, possibly fatally, when fire destroyed the Harris home, seven miles North of Boone, early today. Mrs. Harris suffered burns about the face in an attempt to rescue her children.

The fire is believed to have started from a kerosene stove explosion while Mr. and Mrs. Harris were milking.

The children who lost their lives were a boy, 9 years old, and three girls, aged 4, 7 and 11. They were asleep in upstairs rooms.

A 13-year-old girl saved the youngest child, a 2-year-old boy. It was in her rescue of the baby that she received burns that may prove fatal.

BROWNWOOD IS SCENE OF ONE FATAL FUSS AND PANHANDLE OTHER

(By the Associated Press)
BROWNWOOD, May 27.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Zim Barry, each about 35 years old, were found lying in a barn at the home of his father, E. S. Barry, near Proctor in Comanche county, Wednesday night. Each had a bullet hole in the head, and a small calibre revolver lay near the man's body. The coroner's verdict was that Barry shot and killed his wife and then fatally wounded himself. The man and wife were found lying with their arms about each other. Mrs. Barry has been a teacher in the Proctor schools for several years, and Barry was a farmer. They had been married three months and no motive for the tragedy is known.

Three Children Survive
PANHANDLE, Texas, May 27.—(AP)—A short time after they had agreed to separate, and had gone to their tent home near the railroad station here to divide their belongings last night, Porter Davis, 31, a truck driver, and his wife were dead. According to a coroner's verdict, Davis shot his wife, then killed himself. Three children survive.

Journal Expansion Announcement Brings Congratulations Pouring Into Office; Features Paramount Reunited

The announcement in the Daily Journal Wednesday heralding the addition to the Journal staff of at least thirty artists and authors through the NEA Feature Service has met with widespread approval, and many congratulations from readers have been received, and are still coming into the office by telephone and personal call for the efforts of the Journal to completely fill the newspaper field in Lubbock and surrounding territory.

The announcement, coming as it does on the heels of one of the most marvelous growths ever experienced by a newspaper, has served in a measure to impress upon the reading public the fact that the Journal has always, and always will, strive to please. Such a step taken by the management brings additional expenses, of course, but this is a matter of secondary consideration, for in spite of the Journal's rapidly increasing prestige with the public, the management is reaching ever forward to be of greater service and entertainment to its large clientele.

Foremost Artists Listed
Through the medium of the full NEA Service that will be added to the Journal June 1, the work of many of the foremost artists of America is being brought to the doors of Journal readers. A full page of comics will be carried daily, including in addition to those already running such well known cartoons as Saltzman Sam, Boots and her Buddies, Major Hoople, Washington Tabbs, and others shorter but none the less entertaining such as Elvett Fanny, Mud Center Folks, and Flapper True, the laconic "Joy killer" of modern days.

Turning from the entertainment feature to more sober and serious matters that will be of information from an educational standpoint will be daily health articles by Dr. Hugh S. Cummings, one of the best known doctor-authors in America. Hal Cochran's daily poem that is informational as well as entertaining, and many features that will be of much interest to consumers including fashion news, menus, household hints, articles on the care of babies, Cynthia Gray's advice to women, house plans, health and beauty exercises and others besides a well edited local society and woman's column.

For those who enjoy sports news or athletics of any nature there will be exciting articles by Maxey and Sherrod Heard, J. B. Maxey and R. Sherrod, members of the Board of City Development.

The subject was brought up following the regular program of the club at noon today, by Garland Woodward, president of the local Kiwanis organization which is composed of more than one hundred representative business men. Excitement and enthusiasm was rife as C. E. Masodgen outlined the gas proposal of Mr. McMahan, which has created such a furor in city affairs, showing that the proposed rate of 6 1/2 cents per 1000 cubic feet is in line with the rates in other cities throughout the Southwest, some of which are located in the midst of vast gas producing areas.

Coyote Captured In Chicken House Here

"Foods rush in where angels fear to tread." And so with coyotes. One prowling around last evening either lost his bearings or imbibed a drink of stork "licker" that made him particularly "brave" and landed in the chicken house of L. C. Williamson, 1612 7th Street, where the lulu squawks of the disturbed fowls aroused the neighbors.

And now the wild visitor, having been captured by Mr. Williamson and W. E. Lowrey, is stalling around in a cage preparatory to moving into a permanent home at the park, a gift of the men to the County Zoo.

UNANIMOUS VOTE OPPOSES ACTION TAKEN BY B. C. D.

McMAHAN PROPOSITION IS A GOOD ONE, CIVIC CLUBBERS SAY

Voicing opposition to the action of the Board of City Development in recommending to the City Commission refusal of a gas franchise to A. J. McMahan, Oklahoma City broker, the Kiwanis Club of Lubbock in regular session today voted unanimously in favor of the McMahan proposal, which would bring gas to Lubbock from the Amarillo field, instead of awaiting proposed drilling activities in Lubbock county.

If the opinion of a representative organization like the Kiwanis Club can be taken as any criterion on the gas question the people of Lubbock are overwhelmingly in favor of accepting the proposition of Mr. McMahan, to furnish the city of Lubbock with natural gas, as outlined in his proposal to the city commission and the Board of City Development.

The subject was brought up following the regular program of the club at noon today, by Garland Woodward, president of the local Kiwanis organization which is composed of more than one hundred representative business men. Excitement and enthusiasm was rife as C. E. Masodgen outlined the gas proposal of Mr. McMahan, which has created such a furor in city affairs, showing that the proposed rate of 6 1/2 cents per 1000 cubic feet is in line with the rates in other cities throughout the Southwest, some of which are located in the midst of vast gas producing areas.

J. W. SHANKLIN MUST PAY RANSOM, BANDITS SAY; SHEFFIELD BUSY

(By the Associated Press)
AMARILLO, Texas, May 27.—The home of J. W. Shanklin, one of the three Americans held captive by bandits in Mexico, is in Canyon, Texas, 20 miles from here. He is a brother-in-law of Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers College here. His wife and three children were to leave next Tuesday on a trip to Vera Cruz to visit him.

Sheffield Acting On Case - WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Ambassador Sheffield notified the State Department today that he had made urgent representations to the Mexican government over the kidnapping by bandits of J. W. Shanklin, an American employed on the Hacienda of Potrero in Vera Cruz state on May 25. The messages gave no details of the kidnapping.

Kansas Bank Thieves Escape Toils of Law

COFFEYVILLE, Kans., May 27.—(AP)—Officers, posse and civilian volunteers have followed to a blank wall every clue to the identity of whereabouts of the three unmasked bandits who yesterday robbed the Montgomery County National Bank at Coffeyville, of $55,000 in cash and bonds. The Coffeyville job is believed by local officials and bankers to be one of the cleverest bank robberies every executed in this section of the country.

Menus for the Family

Breakfast—Stewed Eggs with lemon, cereal, thin cream, plain omelet, bran muffins, milk coffee.
Luncheon—Scalloped rice, lettuce sandwiches, jelly roll cake, milk, tea.
Dinner—Baked ham and pineapple, baked potatoes, creamed spinach, head lettuce with chiffonade dressing, graham bread, sponge cake with fresh strawberries, milk coffee.
Of course, a beverage must be provided for small children in place of the ham suggested for the dinner menu. A lamb chop, beef paty or lamb paty can be easily and quickly broiled for them.
However, the ham and pineapple dish is so very much worth while for a company luncheon or dinner that the recipe follows.
Baked Ham and Pineapple
One slice of ham cut 2 to 3 inches thick, fresh pineapple, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 12 whole cloves, 1/2 cup water.
If preferred 2 slices of ham, each cut 1 inch thick can be used. Cut out the bone and trim edges of ham. Cut pineapple in half-inch slices. Pare and remove eyes and core.
Put into an earthenware mixing bowl, sprinkle with sugar and place in a warm place for an hour to draw out the juice. When ready to use drain from juice and stick with cloves. Put ham into dripping pan or roaster. Cover with slices of pineapple and strew the fruit with bits of fat trimmings from the ham. Add water to pineapple juice an dipour over ham. Cover and bake 1 1/2 hours in a moderate oven. Remove cover and brown pineapple.
If a self-basting roaster is not used the ham and fruit must be basted frequently with the liquor in the pan while baking. Serve on a platter using the pineapple as a border for the ham and garnishing the dish with sprigs of crisp watercress.

Four One-Act Plays Please Large Audience At Palace; Work Of Cast Highly Creditable During Evening

With between six and seven hundred persons in attendance the series of one-act plays, directed by Dr. Luther Pfeueger and sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of Saint Paul's Episcopal church, were well received here last night at the Palace theatre. The plays, in the order of their presentation were "Rosalie," by Maurey; "The Littlest Girl," by Richard Harding Davis; "Six and Eight-pence," by H. Beerbohm Tree; and "The Model Husband," by Philip Rose.
Two of the plays, "Rosalie" and "The Model Husband," were translated from the French and German, respectively, by Doctor Pfeueger, professor of foreign languages at Texas Tech. Doctor Pfeueger carried the leading roles in all four plays.
Johnnie McCrery and Mrs. Murrell Von Rosenberg supplemented the efforts of Doctor Pfeueger in "Rosalie" while Frank Dahlberg, Aye Townsend and little Fayette Lindsey made up the balance of the cast of "The Littlest Girl." Mrs. Von Rosenberg and Robert Campbell supported Doctor Pfeueger in "Six and Eight-pence," and Mrs. Von Rosenberg and Miss Elizabeth West made up the remainder of the cast of "The Model Husband."
"The Model Husband" was easily the most pleasing of the quartet, due to its clean cut and purely domestic comedy. In "The Littlest Girl," however, the action was probably the most outstanding of the evening.
Doctor Pfeueger carried his parts well effectively although his diction was not always easily followed. Mrs. Von Rosenberg played to distinct advantage in all three of the plays that she was in, her stage presence and characterization being outstanding. In all of the plays the supporting work was carried without a flaw.
Between the third and fourth plays Mrs. R. C. Harrison and Elbert Boyd presented "The Jarabe Tapatio," a typical Spanish dance, which was well received by the audience. Prof. W. R. Wagborne, head of the Tech's music department, gave several organ numbers between the acts. Properties used in the plays were supplied by the Rix Furniture company.

Handkerchief Shower At Charming Japanese Party Compliments Miss Kathryn Atkins, June Bride-Elect

A "shower" of handkerchiefs, coming from a Japanese parasol, surprised Miss Kathryn Atkins, bride-elect of Lawrence Bacon, at a party Wednesday, given in her honor by Misses Mary Meador, Margaret Smith and Lila Mae Craven, at the home of Miss Meador. Mrs. W. H. Meador and Mrs. J. O. Smith assisted in giving the party. The Japanese motif was carried out in the party, making one of the loveliest social events of the week. Japanese parasols and fans with red and white roses and red sweet peas were used in profusion. Japanese covers and napkins were used on the tables and lanterns with burning tapers, in the center of each table, were cut favors. A salad course of cherry congealed salad, potato chips, sandwiches, slices and iced tea was served upon the arrival of the guests. Immediately after this, three games of bridge were played.
Miss Atkins was presented with a Japanese handkerchief box at the close of the games and Miss Evelyn Posey received the high score favor, an incense burner. Miss Mamie Wolf received the low score award, a Japanese fan. Just as these gifts were being awarded, a shower of handkerchiefs fell on the honoree from a parasol.
Guests for the afternoon were Misses Kathryn Atkins, Mamie Wolfarth, Ruth Dunn, Frances Wilson, Tyler Lee Knight, Clara Lane, Eula Howard, Mary Louise Middleton, Maurine Hughes, Evelyn Posey, Frances Hoffman, Myrtle Lemons, Lulu Elkins, Louise Jennings, Virgie Johnson, Alvin Spikes, Madames N. SOFT, summery days are here. The penetrating winds are gone. The damp, lowering skies have flown. The fruit trees are in gay blossom. The plumaged songsters are back on the hedges. The long era of furnace fires has come to a close. Light-heartedness a new outlook on life, a new spirit, has come with the vanishment of the long, protracted stretch of cold and damp weather.

Attune yourself to the new-day cheer. Cast aside the soot-laden fedora; buy a straw. Pack away the overcoat; buy a light suit. Breathe the youth of summer into your neckties... and your activities.

Take your automobile and vagabond on Nature's smooth pathways. Travel... get out where you can see Nature, feel her, vibrate to her beauties. If the old car is a bit drab, trade it in for a new one. If you have never known the thrills of stepping on the gas, know them now... buy an automobile.

If your fires are worn threadbare, discard them. Equip with four new tires. Abandon the fears of blowouts for the smiles of dependable motoring. Decoration Day provides three glorious holidays... be ready, be fit to enjoy them.

PANHANDLE TO BE HERE SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

The Panhandle Oilers, crack baseball nine of the North Plains, the crew that claims superiority over anything in this section of the state, will be here Saturday and Sunday for a pair of contests with the Lubbock Hubbers, and two real battles are anticipated.

The dates of the Oiler-Hubber clashes remain Saturday and Sunday, as was first announced, and not Friday and Saturday, as has been erroneously reported here since arrangement of the games. Skipper Sled Allen said Thursday.

The Hubbers are taking daily workouts at the Merrill park in preparation for the two games, and announce that they will be in absolute readiness Saturday afternoon. With Frank Hudspeth and "Skeet" Ratliff, pitching ace of the local club ready to take up the battle, it is the opinion of local fans that the Oilers will be given a tussle never before experienced by them. It is not known yet which of these two will be called upon to open the first encounter.

It is possible that "Quat" Quattlebaum, the husky first sacker and heavy slugger who was with the champion Hubbers last year may again be seen in action on the local diamond, the Skipper said Thursday. Quat is still negotiating with club officials for a berth here, but final agreement has not been reached. The addition of Quattlebaum would not take "Snipe" Connolly out of the line-up, however, even though the big fellow is taken at the initial corner. Connolly, whose work with the pitcher is menacing to most any pitcher, probably would be sent to the outfield to replace Alex Henesley. Such a move would be made under circumstances surrounding the opposing pitcher.

The games Saturday and Sunday will each begin at 3:30 at the Merrill park.

LONGHORNS PLAN A BIG COMEBACK NEXT YEAR

AUSTIN, May 27. (AP)—Although a number of stars of the 1926 Southwest Conference championship Texas university track and field team will graduate in June, indications at present are that in 1927 Clyde Eitzfield will win his fifth consecutive conference title.

The outstanding performers who will be lost to the orange and white are Stuart Wright of Dallas and Sandi Esquivel of El Paso. They were co-captains of the 1926 team. Wright holds the conference record in the high and low hurdles and Esquivel the conference record in the two mile sprint.

Among the performers of merit who won their "T" this past campaign, and who expect to return in the fall are: Aubrey Cockrell of Alvin, conference champion in the century dash, and Jerome Landa of Eagle Lake, a fit running mate for Cockrell in the century and furlong dashes; Bob Nettlett of Jackson, Tenn., a crack quarter-miler; Harry Miller of Austin and Earl Conner of Eastland, capable milers; C. B. Smith of Rotan, conference champion in the broad jump; Garland Shepherd of Cisco, holder of the conference record in the high jump and Rufus Haggard of Gustine, 1925 high jumping champion; Leo Baldwin of Wichita Falls, conference champion and record-holder in the shot put; Pitterson, the conference record holder in the pole vault; and "Tiny" Gooch of Ennis, discus artist.

There will also be available a group of performers that failed to letter in 1926. Among this group are: Arnold, Vestal and Goetz, in the middle distance runs; Hughton, hurdler; Baggett, stringer and Higgins, sprinters; Hargis, shot putter; LeBlanc, javelin thrower; and Canfield, two-miler.

The most promising of the freshman crop is M. L. Daniels of Austin, who has been showing to signal advantage in the 220 and 440 yards dashes.

Other "Fish" who are expected to bid for varsity berths in 1927: Wysona, sprinter; Slaughter, miler; Ward and Sonway, hurdlers; Weaver, Jones and Briscoe, middle distance runners; Howe and Turner, high jumpers.

Carothers, a transfer from Wisconsin, university, frequently this past spring, outsped varsity quarter-milers in practice races, and is expected to develop into a quarter-miler of championship class.

BOBBY JONES HAS WIN OVER BIG ENGLISHMAN

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 27. (AP)—Bobby Jones and Robert Harris, the American and British amateur golf champions, tied off this afternoon before the largest crowd thus far to follow a match during the present amateur tournament. Spectators unwilling to surrender half crowds at the gate lined the stone walls surrounding the course or perched on the sand dunes outside.

Jean Sweetser defeated Allan D. Gave, 2 and 1.

Watts Gunn of Atlanta was eliminated, 3 and 2, by W. G. Brownlow.

700 Bullseyes

Miss Helen Lightburn, 17-year-old Cressline (O.) high school girl, has set a new world's record for junior girls in marksmanship. She scored 700 bullseyes in succession, and quit shooting because of darkness and not because she had missed.

GUILFORD IS OUT OF MUIRFIELD TOURNAMENT

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 27. (AP)—Another top-notch American golfer has fallen by the way-side in the struggle to annex the British amateur championship. Jesse P. Guilford, the Boston "steep gun" was eliminated in the snoring's play by O. C. Britton, of the West Byfleet Club, one up.

Guilford's defeat leaves only three members of the American Walker cup team in the running—Bobby Jones, Jean Sweetser, and Watts Gunn. These three won their matches this morning by wide margins. Grant Peacock, another American, was eliminated by W. Brownlow.

Western Teams Pace National Race As Swashbuckling Yank Crew Takes Sixteenth Straight; Giants Victors

In the National League race, Western teams are setting the pace. The situation in the circuit is the reverse. The St. Louis Cardinals, which started poorly, made the first division of the national all-Western yesterday, by defeating the league leading Cincinnati Reds for the third straight time. The victory pushed Brooklyn, which lost to the New York Giants, into fifth place. Cincinnati remains at the top with Chicago second and world champion Pittsburgh third.

Cards Beat Reds

Seven runs in the eighth inning gave the Cardinals their 8 to 5 margin over the Reds. Mueller crashed a home run with two men on the base.

Red Lucas left the mound with nobody out and Jackie May relieved him. Hornsby, Thevenon and Bottomley worked a triple play.

Paul Florence, recruit catcher of the Giants, supplied a circuit belt which downed Brooklyn for the third straight time, 5 to 3. A Dodger rally in the eighth drove Fitzsimmons to cover and Jimmy Ring finished the battle, retiring the side after the bases were filled in the ninth.

Wilson Hits Five of 'Em

Jimmy Wilson, catcher for the Phillies, put five hits, including a home run and a double, into his team's 13 to 7 verdict over the Boston Braves. Four Boston pitchers suffered eighteen safe blows. Knight and Maun of the Phillies also were hit hard.

The Boston Red Sox almost broke the winning string of the New York Yankees, which now has reached six team games. After Sam Jones had been hammered all over the park in the fifth and sixth, Braxton managed to hold the Bostonians while his mates gathered enough runs to win, 9 to 8. Earl Combs led the hitters with a double and two singles.

Detroit Beats Cleveland

Detroit gained a 7 to 6 verdict over Cleveland, when Benny Karr weakened in the fifth. Before the inning was over the Tigers had scored five runs. Another run in the seventh gave them the contest. Ten doubles were made, each team getting thirteen hits.

Philadelphia won its third game in four starts against the Champions Washington Senators, 2 to 1, with Jack Quinn outpitching Joe Bush.

Simmons led the winners at bat with three hits, two of which scored runs.

LONGHORN TRACKS HIS BROTHER IN MAJORS

AUSTIN, Texas, May 27. (AP)—Probably the most loyal booster that Curt Walker, slugging outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, has is his "kid brother," Jesse, Texas University freshman, whose all-sufficient ambition is to follow in Curt's footsteps.

Let Curt gather two doubles and a single against the Giants on Monday, and on Tuesday Jesse is likely to play a whole 9 in practice game for the "Fish." But let Curt go hitless on Monday, and Jesse does not do so well himself on Tuesday.

The 17-year-old younger Walker plays first base and in the outfield. Like Curt, he swings from the left side of the platter and takes a "mean cut" at the ball. He is well set up, husky, has a powerful throwing arm, and is "crazy" about baseball. Billy Ditch, veteran Texas University coach, is authority for the statement—that Jesse is a promising prospect.

Both Curt and Jesse spent their boyhood in Beeville, a Southwest Texas town, and both are sandlot baseball products, though Curt received some polish at Southwestern University, Georgetown.

As a lad, Curt showed even greater promise as a tennis player than as a diamond performer. It is not generally known that he was a member of the Beeville tennis double team that in 1914 won the first state high school championship tournament staged by the Texas University Interscholastic League. Within a year after this triumph, Curt abandoned the court for the diamond.

Walker was one of the greatest ball players of Southwestern University history. He played leftfield for the Georgetown school, and was its leading hitter. Starring against the Texas University Longhorns was Curt's specialty.

Jesse is a golfer of considerable ability; but has given up the links game, because Coach Ditch does not believe that golf and baseball "mix" well.

Billy Evans Says

Players Suffer

Big league ball players, infielders and outfielders, have spent a busy spring cussing professional football.

Last fall the pro game, due to the great popularity of "Red" Grange, thrived throughout the country. Most of the big games were played in the major league ball parks.

In some cases the schedule extended well up into December, so that weather conditions and hard play, did much to destroy the billiard-ball surface of infields and outfields.

Despite every effort of the capable groundkeepers, many of the parks are still in bad shape as to soil surface and the players are paying the penalty of bad bounds and many errors.

Great Record

"Let Alphonse do it."

That was a byword last year on the Baltimore club of the International League, champions of that organization, when some extraordinary bit of pitching was desired.

And, despite the handicap of a handle like Alphonse, Pitcher Thomas of the Baltimore Orioles won 32 games for Jack Dunn, three more than his closest rival, George Earnshaw of the same club.

Here are some of the twirling feats Thomas put over for Baltimore.

Worked in more games than any other pitcher in the league—56. Worked 28 complete games. No one else had a better record for starting and finishing. Was the most-used relief pitcher, going to the aid of some faltering twirler in 18 contests. Led the league in strike-outs with 258.

Collins Talks

I understand that because of some working agreement as to players, the Chicago Americans had the first choice of the Baltimore club. I am also told it was a question between Shortstop Boley and Pitcher Thomas.

At that time it seemed as if the Chicago club would have a hard time getting a capable performer at short. Boley, who for five or more years has been touted as a big leaguer, was, I am told, much considered, but the choice finally fell upon Thomas.

While Thomas hasn't started off sensationally in the early stages of the 1926 race, Manager Eddie Collins thinks highly of his chances to make the grade.

"Thomas has the stuff and knows how to pitch, but must first learn his batters and acquire control to win consistently," says Eddie.

A big husky fellow who thrives on work, Thomas should prove a most valuable addition to the White Sox, when he is more experienced.

Use Mack's System

In the handling of his ball club, one can see Connie Mack sticking out all over in the system used by Eddie Collins of the White Sox.

Collins was trained under Mack, he leaped into fame as a member of the Philadelphia Athletics. He once told me that after being appointed manager of the White Sox, the first person he went to see was Connie Mack, to talk over the situation.

In his selection of pitchers, Mack prefers to gamble with a second-stringer in an effort to save a game, rather than rush a couple of regulars to the mound and thereby upset his team's pitching routine.

Collins takes the same viewpoint. He prefers to take a chance with a no-so pitcher rather than disrupt the workings of the regular staff. Mack has demonstrated by the success he has attained, that it is a pretty good system.

THE NEW ERA

On the front page of a recent edition of The Journal was a picture showing the staff of attorneys chosen by Federal Prosecutor Buckner, of New York City, to aid him in his legal fight against Harry M. Daugherty, former United States Attorney General who now faces a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government.

Every one of Buckner's six assistants are young men—35 years of age or under—and only one of the half dozen has reached his 30th year.
Take for example a decade ago.
Under similar circumstances it is doubtful if one of the half dozen chosen would have been a man under 45—certainly not under 48. Yet today young men—extremely young men—are chosen to direct an important federal suit against a legal giant and his corps of veteran and highly efficient defenders.

This is a new era for young men in all professions and the New York incident is merely one instance of it.
People have discovered that the young physician, with his newer and more up-to-date methods, is sometimes the superior of his older colleague and the youthful attorney, the product of the new school of law, maybe the master of his older rival. The same situation
also holds in other professions,
calling and trades.

New York is not alone in its embracing of young men in important positions.
Lubbock, for instance, probably presents a more solid rank of young business and professional leaders than any other city of its size, anywhere,
and to see that the situation holds forth in other parts of the country
only proves that Lubbock is in line with the new era.

Stop and consider the new era.
Is it not a good thing for humanity
and for business, in general?

In recognizing the young man is he not given a longer span in which to labor at his topmost efficiency? Certainly he is.

In the adoption of this new era America is forecasting for herself a future of more rapid progress, made possible by the infusion of young minds and young vitality into the various labors of life, so that the young men may earlier aid their older co-workers in making life, in general, better.

LIVE AND LEARN

Twenty-five persons recently went from Mineral Wells to Austin to take Pasture treatment after drinking milk from a cow which was affected with rabies, caused from the bite of a frenzied wolf.

Yet several weeks ago, when the proposal, now in effect regarding the testing and sanitation of dairy cows
in Lubbock county, first came up, great was the howl which arose from those who "saw no reason for the testing of dairy cattle and their products."

Perhaps those who opposed the milk
sanitation ordinance in Lubbock think better of it now. "Live and Learn"
is just about as good an axiom now
as it ever has been.

Litvinoff, the Soviet official who pointed to the growing amity with America, must have had an optimistic
letter from his friend, Senator Borah—

This Is Getting Monotonous

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — What is wrong
with the government?
"Congress," answers Congressman
Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma.

Then while thousands of critical fellow citizens are agreeing with him,
he puts the reverse English on his diagnosist by objecting that there is too little of Congress in the government rather than too much. He believes that Congress, as the people's own chosen right arm, is the hope of the nation.

"But Congress is the greatest buck-passing institution on earth," says Thomas.

"When there is hard work or a new problem ahead, does Congress tackle the job itself? Certainly not.
It creates a bureau or board or committee and delegates to it some of its own authority. The present session promises to add half a dozen extra bureaus. We are getting a government by bureaus instead of by the people."

Thomas' conversation in truth and in fact is more than just a western congressman attracting attention to himself. It is the conviction of one who has taken part actively in public life ever since he made speeches, as a 19-year-old school boy in the free silver campaign of '96. He is discussing here the rather sweeping resolution he introduced recently to investigate the government.

He proposes, in brief, that a committee consider the present mood of the nation for introspection and destructive criticism. This committee would ask the same question to which he is giving his own answer, inquiry-ing of Ex-President Taft, ex-presdential candidates, ex-judges, ex-governors and others who qualify as "elder statesmen."

His idea for the inquiry has received wide notice. Judge Elbert H. Gary and Otto H. Kahn are among the notables who have written to express their interest.

THE MENACE OF FREE TOURIST CAMPS

What may have seemed to be a ne-

day a telegram comes for John,
which causes him excitedly to jump
for the phone and call Fay.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER X

"I bet I know what it is," Fay's
voice said over the phone.
"WHAT?" asked John.
"Nat Graham got the contract,
didn't he?"

"I'm sure didn't!" exclaimed John.
"Isn't that great! Boy, oh boy! I'm coming right home. Get your things on, and we'll go out."

"Where are we going?"
"Never mind. Wait till I get home.
He hung up the receiver and turned to Briggs and Miss Kinsey. "You two take the rest of the afternoon off. I guess that contract ought to call for some sort of celebration." He grabbed his hat and was gone.

"Will, where are we going?" Fay
asked as he mounted the stairs.
"You'll see. File in the flyover," and he helped her into the coupe.
Twenty minutes later they stopped
before the little house that had captured their fancies.

"Now," said John, "we're going through that house from cellar to gar-ret—or from garret to cellar—and when we get through, you're going to decide once and for all whether you still would like to buy it. And if you do, we're going to buy it. There'll be no further argument about not being able to afford it. The Milltown contract settles that. Come on, I'm going next door and get the key."

Fay smilingly followed him, and keen appraisal was in her eyes as she inspected the kitchen, with its mammoth porcelain sink and its spot cupboards and its breakfast nook and its disappearing ironing board.

"I'm satisfied with the kitchen," she proclaimed.
The dining room was small, intentionally so in order that the living room might be large, and this feature also pleased her. "Dining rooms are going out of fashion anyway.
We'll set just one meal a day there,
and the other two in the breakfast
nook."

The living room ran the full width of the house. Fay approvingly inspected the fireplace, the polished floor,
the many windows and the numerous electrical connections along the baseboard.

There were close connections all over the house—in the bedrooms, in the hall, the bath, even in the screened-in side porch.

The bath had a square set-in tub
and shone mightily of nickel. There were three bedrooms, a master bedroom over the living room, and two smaller ones. In addition, there was a sewing room. "All the bedrooms are light," said Fay. "John, I think I'm crazy about it. I know I am. I wouldn't be happy in any other house,
now that I've seen this."

"Then we'll buy it," he declared.
"Come on, let's look at the cellar."

Coming up the cellar steps he said,
"Isn't there a peach of a back yard
to be had for the asking? First thing I'll do when she's able to get out and play is buy her a big sand box. Now then, come on and let's look up the agent."

The agent had spread before them
a formidable-looking pile of papers.
He was talking of mortgages and principal and interest, but all John gathered was that a down payment of $3000 would be required and minimum monthly payments of $100.

"Well, I guess we can do that, all right," he said, settling back in his chair. "Wait till tomorrow and I'll have a check."

But Fay asked the agent question
after question—about taxes and water rent and the rate of interest—and John sat back and admired her for her business ability.

"Well, I guess you made that agent sit up and take notice," he complimented her when they left. "I guess
he realizes he isn't putting anything
over on you."

"Oh John," she said, "I'm thrilled to death. But do you really think we can afford it?"

"Afford it? Of course we can. Dog-gone it, I'm going to be making real money pretty soon. This house is $12,000—just $3000 more than we expected we'd pay for one—but that Milltown business makes up the difference right away. We can scrape up the down payment without having to touch Judith's $500."

"But that won't leave us anything for furniture. We'll have to buy a lot of new furniture, John."

"That's all right. Our credit is good and besides, I guess I can get an advance from the business. What's the use of being in business for yourself
if you can't draw out a little on your account?"

"Nat Graham might not like it."
"He'll have to like it. I'm not a salaried employe. I'm a full-fledged partner. Pretty soon we can be paying a lot more than a hundred a month, too."

"We won't want to do that, John.
If we get ahead we'll want to save and put it down on the house in a lump."

"Oh, all right. Anyway that suits
you."
"Will let the housekeeper go."
"Sure you're feeling all right—feel strong enough?" He looked at her keenly.

"I'm quite sure," she answered.
"We've kept her now longer than I had intended."

A week later, after an orgy of furniture buying by Fay and a dismay-ing time with moving men and departments store decorators who supervised the window drapes and curtains,
they were installed in the new house
in Oak Hill.

Fay moved about the house with a happy light in her eyes and John tramped through the halls with loud stamping of his feet—when Judith was not asleep—explaining when Fay re-proved him, "I'm delighted glad to get out of an apartment where you can't make any noise."

"Well, don't act like an Indian,"
she reproached him.
"And gladder yet," he went on, "to get away from the busybodies like Mrs. Bixby."

"Well, there's usually at least one
in every neighborhood," she laughed.
Judith had been installed in a room
of her own that Fay had fitted up like a nursery. John spent happy hours here, talking with her as she lay in her crib and letting her play with his finger.

elaimed, and John and Fay escorted them through the house.

"It's a peach," said Dick Menefee.
"How would you like one like it, Margaret?"

Margaret blushed, and John loudly demanded, "Yes, when in thunder are you folks going to get married?"

"Keep still, John," Fay reproved
him, and Dick Menefee said, "Rooster
the better for me. I think I'm past the real rough stage of the medical game. I'm building up a practice now and seeing daylight."

"Sorry you don't go in for obstetrics,
or you could have collected a nice bill
from us when Judith was born," said John.

"By the way," asked Menefee, "how did you like Dr. Baker? I recommended him pretty highly to you. I hope he was satisfactory."

"He was O. K., Dick. O. K. Come on, let's shoot some bridge."

John went for a table. While they were cutting the cards Margaret said,
"Dick and I are thinking of getting married real soon."

"Oh, are you? When?" asked Fay.
"Wait, we'll tell you, won't we,
Dick?"

"Sure will," agreed Dr. Menefee.
"Wait, don't forget me for best man, Dick," said John. "Remember I gave
the job to you at my wedding."

"The honor's yours," laughed Dick.
"I didn't think people went around seeking the job. I had a bad case of stage fright in my only attempt."

"I bid a heart," announced John,
who had dealt. He was playing opposite Dick Menefee, it being to their liking to play against the women.

"Did you hear about John's firm landing a wonderful new contract?"
asked Fay, who sat at John's left.

"Come on, dear, bid," he told her.
"Let's not talk shop; I've got a good hand."

"No, let's hear about it," said Margaret, ignoring John.

John put in, "Oh, we landed the advertising business of the Milltown tool people. Biggest thing we've got so far, and it means a nice little piece of change. Come on, Fay—bid," he commanded after Dick and Margaret had offered their congratulations.

"I bid a diamond," she said.

"Isn't that like a woman?" John asked disgustedly. "I already bid a heart, Fay. You'll have to bid two diamonds."

"Atta girl, Fay," murmured Dick Menefee approvingly. "Speak up for your rights. Two spades."

John finally won the contract for three hearts, and was set one trick
and had to listen to Fay while she explained how he could have made it had he "used his head and finessed his queen."

"Well, what's the difference," said
John. "We're not playing for money."

"When Menefee and Margaret left, Fay said to John, "I wish you wouldn't flare up at me like that for forgetting your bid."

"I didn't flare up at you. I just get impatient to have somebody talk about something else when I'm playing cards."

Fay was silent. She was gazing absorbedly at the lamp near her.
Finally she spoke.

"John," she said, "I've been thinking. I'll tell you what we ought to do."

(To Be Continued)

"I wish you wouldn't flare up at me like that," Fay said to John.

FLOWERS

There are now no less than three other Texas cities who are claiming the name of "The City of Roses." They may be cities of roses but Corsicana clings to the statement that it is the original city of roses. This name was adopted many years ago and it has only been recently that other cities started their campaigns to live up to the name the "City of Roses"—Corsicana Sun.

While Abilene has never made any special claim to being an unusual city of flowers, yet the fact remains that this city will compare very favorably with any city its size in the state and with any of the larger cities for that matter. One can find many pretty yards of roses and various other flowers in Abilene. In fact, there are very few yards—if any—here now
which do not have some kind of shrub or flowers on them and they are being made better each year. Abilene folks, like folks of other towns, take pride in having lots of flowers in their yards and there are, indeed, some folks here who are experts at the raising of the flowers.—Abilene Reporter.

VANDERBILT

It has often been repeated that a man could slough off more money, in any thing else he could engage in. This tradition has been sustained most thoroughly in the venture of Cornelius Vanderbilt, a big millionaire of New York, who bought three daily newspapers and is now entering into bankruptcy. If a man gets more money than he knows what to do with,
just let him enter the newspaper game
—the game will get his goat whether he be a small bore financier or a millionaire. We are sure that Cornelius knows that it takes money to operate a newspaper.—Slaton Times.

This editor has about decided that it is a dandy good business man. He is managing to earn his bread and bacon in the newspaper game and it seems that it is more than a Vanderbilt could do, if Ben Smith is correctly informed. We are thinking of quitting the newspaper business and going into the millionaire business.—Lynn

HUNGARY FILES COMPLAINT WITH ARMENIAN BODY

CLAIMS METHODS USED ARE DISCRIMINATORY AGAINST COUNTRY

GENEVA, May 27. (AP)—Feverish re-arranging of armaments by most of the European countries which contain the terms of war, was alleged today by Hungary in a memorandum presented to the preparatory disarmament commission.

Hungary also complained with bitterness that, practically disarmed herself, she is surrounded by a group of allied countries possessing vastly superior military forces.

By this memorandum, Hungary had placed herself at the side of Germany which through Count von Bernstorff, already has protested that the Germans have been disarmed while their neighbors are permitted powerful military forces.

Cause Sensation The Hungarian memorandum caused a sensation chiefly because of its strictures against the little entente. It declared that if the egotistical aims of certain countries continue to hold up the speedy restriction of armaments, the commission might just as well abandon its disarmament project before it developed into a plain fiasco and seek some other basis for the maintenance of world peace.

The memorandum further demands the abrogation of treaty regulations whereby Hungary's army was restricted to 35,000 men, a force which the Hungarians consider insufficient to protect them. Heavily armed neighbor nations should be obliged to reduce their military forces to lower level, the Hungarian statement said, so that there will not be any wide difference in power between the conquerors and the vanquished.

Hungary insisted that armament reduction must be general to be effective and issued a warning that if some reduction failed to materialize, Europe and the League of Nations would be gravely endangered.

"If this disarmament, the hope of the masses of the people throughout the world, is not fulfilled the whole fragile institution created by the treaties of peace which were concluded at Paris will tumble to the ground," the memorandum stated.

Document Protested Representatives of the little entente immediately protested the tenor of the Hungarian document. They declared it was virtually a petition for the revision of the Treaty of Trianon, which, they contended, had no place in the deliberations of the disarmament commission. The Serbian spokesman denied that the Serbian army was a menace to Hungary in any way.

England and France supported this view. There could be no question, they said, of modifying treaties and on this understanding, the Hungarian memorandum was referred to a sub-committee for an examination of its technical suggestion.

After adopting the report of the drafting committee, the commission adjourned to an indefinite date. Meanwhile the sub-committees of experts will tackle the numerous problems on which their advice has been sought. The committee will be convoked when the work of the sub-committee is finished. This may require several months.

BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS TAKE UP PRO LAW ROW

ARGUMENTS BITTER AND PRESIDING OFFICER IS TAKEN FROM FLOOR

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 27.—The dispute over President Coolidge's new prohibition order, authorizing state and local officials to act as Federal dry agents was renewed Wednesday in both branches of Congress.

In the Senate, the debate quickly mounted to such a state of bitterness that the presiding officer was asked from the floor to rescue the Chamber from "disorder."

In the House the discussion proceeded more quietly, but not without the use of strong words. Replying to a speech yesterday, in which Representative Curry, Republican, California, denounced the President's order as unconstitutional and mischievous, Representative Swing, also a Californian and a Republican, declared his colleague entirely mistaken and out of accord with the sentiment of the people in the state.

The wets started the row in the Senate, but many Senators on both sides of the fence got into the debate before it ended. There was an exchange between Senator Bruce, Democrat, and a wet, and Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, a dry, on the question of a national prohibition referendum, and a protest from Senator Welsh, Democrat, Montana, another dry, that the prohibition quarrel was destroying order and decorum in the Senate.

Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, got the Senate started by putting into the record an editorial from the New York World, criticizing the President's order.

Objecting to the wet plan of campaign, Senator Caraway declared the wet leaders would have the country believe that men were deserted by their wives because they were sober, he said. "It is common discussion that everything desired was lost because of sobriety. The discussion here is simply propagandizing the country. That's all the hearing before the Senate committee was for. There is nothing in the constitution providing for referendum and nobody who believes in law enforcement want a referendum."

"That's an unsettled question," interjected Senator Bruce.

Even the Folks Are Puzzled

Carrie Sue and Effie Lou Allen are 17-year-old twins and they live in Arkadelphia, Ark. And they look so much alike that even their own parents can't tell which is which—no saying of the boy friends. Carrie Sue is at the left and Effie Lou is on the right; or maybe it's the other way around.

ditions than in the central west, especially Missouri and St. Louis university, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas take less strict views of the matter, Texas authorities having only the rule that married girls may not live in sorority houses which several other schools also enforce.

Dean S. H. Goodnight of Wisconsin, with Miss Lydia Brown, acting dean of women, and Dean G. C. Selley, of the college of liberal arts and sciences, were leaders in the effort to have the rule adapted to Wisconsin. No specific instance or situation was in mind, according to the sponsors, but they felt that:

Secret marriage among students is contrary to the welfare of the institution.

Such marriages are usually hastily planned and likely to result unhappily.

Parents are frequently unaware of such affairs and would have opposed the match.

Parents of other students would take alarm lest their children should likewise marry secretly.

But the regents decided not to put up the bars open against Dan Cupid, merely letting it be known that there was no "welcome" on the dormat.

PRESIDENT SIGNS BUILDING BILL

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—The $165,000,000 public buildings bill under which it is planned to build and repair Federal buildings in many cities, was signed Tuesday by President Coolidge. The bill does not stipulate where the money is to be spent, but contains a stipulation that each allotment must be approved by Congress before it can be paid out of the Treasury.

Treasury officials have drawn up a tentative list of the places in which they hope to make expenditures. They emphasized today, however, that none of the cities on that list was assured a portion of the appropriation until Congress again has acted in each specific case.

ed that Matsuyama Spa is a total loss. Many bodies floated down the Furano river, which overflowed its banks. Considerable anxiety is felt regarding the fate of other villages.

Tokio advices Tuesday said that 100 dead and more than 200 injured had been removed from the mud, lava and rocks sent down the side of Mount Tokachi during Monday's eruption, and that about 1,000 farmers in the agricultural district were missing.

Latest reports from Hokkaido said that 144 bodies had been recovered. The material damage thus far has been estimated at about $24,000.

U. S. ARMY SLEUTHS GET THEIR MAN RECORDS SHOW

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 27. (AP)—Uncle Sam's military sleuths do not have the wide-spread reputation of the Northwest Royal Mounted for getting their man, but nevertheless they do get him, sooner or later, nearly every time.

Quietly and thoroughly, army special investigators trace the movements or operations of the deserter or thief sometimes several months, often for only a few days, and finally return him for court martial or civil trial.

Three of these investigators, working under the eighth corps area provost marshal, are stationed here at the United States' greatest military center, and they have a record of which, were they not so modest, they well might boast.

Staff Sergeant S. J. Malouk heads the detachment and is assisted by Sgt. J. H. Elasingame and Corporal Frank Conklin. Their superior officers are Lieutenant-Colonel L. W. Coffey, 1st infantry, the provost marshal, and Lieutenant H. E. Pulliam, assistant provost marshal.

These army detectives take up the hunt for any man involved in stealing government property or who has "gone over the hill," the army term for desertion. From their headquarters at the city central police station, they work with city detectives or by themselves, according to the nature of the case.

The deserter is not hard to locate, Sgt. Malouk said, for his ego is his own undoing. When a man goes "over the hill" it won't be long until he boasts of his cleverness and writes letters telling of his ability to escape detection. Sometimes, also, it is only a matter of "find the woman," for the deserter will communicate with his sweetheart in a little while. Frequently, too, he returns to his home town and is captured there, as happened in the case a few months ago of a soldier who made for his home in Oklahoma.

Another recent deserter was apprehended in Chicago, after the army investigators let it be known that they feared he was the victim of foul play.

Usually, however, the detectives do not have to go far. If they do have to go beyond the limits of the corps area, they must first get authority.

Sgt. Malouk said the most likely way for the hunted man to avoid capture was for him to go to a large city, such as Chicago or Detroit, and obtain work, for then he was safe unless by the long arm of co-incidence he was recognized. If, however, the man shuns labor, he probably will be picked up as a vagrant, and the police soon will discover that he is wanted at this or that army post.

Senator Renews Plea For Federal Farm Relief Plan

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—The government alone can give the farmer an equal chance with those in other lines of endeavor, Senator Cummins, Republican, Iowa, declared Wednesday in the senate board investigating the corn wheat bill despite its rejection last week by the House.

"That agriculture needs the aid which the government alone can give is agreed upon everywhere and by every person," Senator Cummins told the Senate. "The President sees it and the Secretary of Agriculture admits it. There may be—indeed there is—wide difference of opinion with respect to the measures that ought to be employed, but all thinking men and women agree upon one thing:

"That the government should do something to arrest the decline in farm prices and farm values.

Turning first to the criticism of the corn wheat bill, the venerable Iowa Senator dissented vigorously from those who describe that measure as one for government price fixing. He asserted that this was a mere "catch" word which had led to a train of reasoning which would not bear the analysis of a student.

N. Y. Bandits Escape With $34,000 Cash

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—Three armed men attacked David Swinton, negro bank messenger, today as he left the Bronx branch of the Hamilton National bank and escaped with $34,000 that he was carrying in a paper package under his arm. The money was being transferred to the main bank on West Forty Second street.

Although the police reported the amount stolen as $34,000, officials at the main office of the bank placed the amount at $1,000.

Baseball Team Wins; College Boys Have Jamboree; Police Called And Leaders Spend Night In Bastile

(By The Associated Press) LANSING, Mich., May 27.—Seven students of Michigan State college spent Tuesday night in jail here, a number of students and policemen are nursing bruises and cuts, and an immense strip of wooden bleachers at the athletic field at the college at East Lansing, 3 miles from here, are burned as a result of a student celebration of a baseball victory Tuesday.

Michigan State defeated Michigan University, Big Ten baseball champions, 5 to 3, the first victory of the college over the university in baseball in seven years.

After the victory students came to Lansing and shortly after dark started a huge bonfire in the square opposite the capitol. Police and firemen who tried to extinguish the blaze met with jeers from the students. When the officers tried to disperse the mob, a fight ensued in which, officers claim, bricks, stones and eggs were used by the college men as weapons.

Leaders Are Jailed Police pushed the milling mass of students down the street toward the police station and there scores of the leaders were placed in jail. The students surrounded the jail and demanded release of the men. Chief of Police Hackett of East Lansing, finally persuaded the students to return to East Lansing.

They boarded street cars and went to the suburb, where, augmented by other members of the college, they went to the athletics field. Shortly after the students dancing and cheering around their new "bonfire." Flares were then made for a "bebbeh" day today when all students would be absent from classes.

Is 60 Miles an hour fast enough? Then, here's a performance "thrill" you'll never forget. HERE is a remarkable new-type of car, different in performance, comfort and ease of driving from anything you have ever known before. It is a complete new departure in automobile engineering. The whole car is designed as an integral harmonious unit. All parts are co-related with other parts. It is unit-engineered to meet modern performance standards. You can drive the Overland Six hour after hour at high speed without wear and tear on the engine. It was designed for an average road speed of 45 to 50 miles an hour. Its low gravity center gives you a feeling of security never found in any car of this type before. Without side-sway or slipping or wandering... the car fairly hugs the road. Buy a Modern Car The radical difference between the Overland Six and other cars built today is this new-type of unit-engineering. It is an actual fact that 8 out of every 10 cars now being sold in the Overland Six price class were designed anywhere from 5 to 12 years ago. Their modern bodies conceal chassis engineering that is obsolete and antiquated in fundamental design. But today the Overland Six has established an entirely new set of performance standards. This big sturdy Six will out-pull, out-run and out-perform anything else of its size, or weight, or price-class. It is a car of exceptional comfort. The big, broad door openings are 32 1/2 inches wide. You can get in or out with the utmost ease. Seats are wide, luxuriously comfortable. There is more cubic feet of inside space than in any car of this price... with plenty of room for five full-size passengers. Room to stretch your legs without feeling cramped or crowded. The rear springs are extra long... and underslung. They are 52 inches long and are made of Chrome Vanadium Steel... a costly metal, but it's the best for absorbing the jolts and jars of the road. Nothing has been spared to make this car a positive comfort-revelation. Simply in fairness to yourself, see this wonderful car. LLOYD GEORGE IS RAPPED FOR HIS STAND ON STRIKE

Correspondence Between Earl Of Oxford and Premier Is Published

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, May 27.—A political sensation was created Wednesday by the publication of correspondence between the Earl of Oxford and Asquith and David Lloyd George.

The Earl censures Lloyd George for attitude during the recent general strike. Lloyd-George characterizes Lord Oxford's letter as "a provocative document."

Political gossip of recent days had indicated that there was considerable tension between Lord Oxford, who is leader of the Liberal party and Lloyd George, the party's Parliamentary chairman in the House of Commons.

In some quarters it is maintained that Lord Oxford has never forgiven Mr. Lloyd-George for ousting him from the premiership in 1916 and himself becoming Great Britain's war premier.

In these quarters Lord Oxford's letter is interpreted as meaning that either Mr. Lloyd-George must resign the Parliamentary leadership of the party or that Lord Oxford and Viscount Grey, Sir John Simon and other prominent Liberals, who are in agreement with the stand of Lord Oxford, will cut loose from the party.

Friends of Mr. Lloyd-George contend that he is not answerable to Lord Oxford, but to the Liberal members of the House of Commons, who elected him their chairman and they say that his attitude on the strike was taken only after he consulted them.

Another view of the incident is that the counter-offensive of the followers of Lord Oxford to Mr. Lloyd-George's advances toward the Laborites which, according to reports, the Laborites in no wise welcome.

In his letter, Lord Oxford, justifies the policy of himself and other prominent Liberals in opposing the strike and touches upon Mr. Lloyd-George's refusal to meet the Liberal leaders and join in a declaration against the strike.

Lloyd George writes that he intended no discourtesy when he refused to attend the party's meeting.

He says he deplored the government's attitude that conditional surrender of the strikers should precede resumption of peace parleys. He recalls that during the Boer War and the World War, the Liberal party disavowed the policy of refusing to announce terms or engage in parleys for peace until there had first been unconditional surrender.

JAPAN CITY SWEEP AWAY BY FLOOD WATERS

(By Associated Press) TOKIO, May 27.—The Mayama Irigato reservoir in the Akita Prefecture of Northern Japan, has burst its banks, and has swept away half of the town of Kitaura, according to reports received here. The town has a population of 7,000 and it is believed that the casualty list may be heavy.

The reports say that the pontoffice, bank and a theatre in Kitaura have been carried away.

Volcano Quiet. TOKIO, May 27. (AP)—Mount Tokachi, the long slumbering volcano in the island of Hokkaido which erupted Monday with disastrous results, both in lives and in material damage done, was quiet today. There were only voluminous clouds of smoke issuing from the sulphurous crater.

Warned by preliminary rumblings, many of the people on the mountain side escaped before the eruption and the deluge from the mountains lake down the side of the volcano.

Although the flood rushed down at furious speed into the village of Hiei, an embankment near the entrance to the town checked the force of the water, thus enabling most of the inhabitants to escape. At Kamifurano, it is reported that some 200 villagers were washed away. Fear is expressed ment, explained that the attitude of this body was merely to defer action or pass it to the city commission, which has the ultimate refusal or acceptance power.

Following a talk by W. C. Rylander in favor of accepting the McMahon proposal, the Kiwanis Club unanimously voted in favor of the gas now as opposed to awaiting the development of Lubbock county for this commodity. The motion was made by Robert Higgins and the balloting taken amid great enthusiasm.

Mayor Still Absent
Action by the City Commission on the proposal has not yet been taken, due to the absence of Mayor Parrish and one commissioner from the city, but the views of individual members of the commission as explained in yesterday's Journal still hold.

Mr. McMahon, who offered the proposal, left Wednesday for Amarillo, saying that the matter is now up to city officials here.

ENGLAND HALTS BIG SOCIALIST

American Political Boss Can Not Land, Authorities At Plymouth Decide

(By The Associated Press)
PLYMOUTH, England, May 27.—Charles E. Russell, Socialist candidate for governor of New York in 1910-12, and author of numerous works on Socialism, was refused permission by the immigration authorities to land here today from the steamer President Roosevelt.

No reason was given for the action of the immigration officials. Mrs. Russell landed at Queenstown, Mr. Russell spent the entire voyage working, even taking his typewriter into the dining saloon at meal time. He will disembark from the Roosevelt at Cherbourg.

On his arrival, Mr. Russell's baggage was placed on board the tender for conveyance to shore. It was returned to the Roosevelt just before the vessel sailed. He said he was ignorant as to why the authorities declined to permit him to come ashore.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR POPPY SALE SATURDAY

Detailed plans for the poppy sale that will be conducted Saturday preceding Memorial Day Sunday through the local Post of the American Legion Auxiliary were worked out at a meeting of the executive committee of the Legion Wednesday afternoon, and includes a thorough canvass of the business portion of the city in the sale of the symbol that brings memories of the gallant of the recent world conflict.

The city has been divided into nine sections, with a captain who is a member of the Legion post in charge of each district. These captains will be assisted by girls and young women of the city, the most of whom are members of various women's organizations, and the sale will begin at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

The sales force will meet in the basement of the Lender building prior to beginning of the sale when a short talk by a man well versed in the meaning of the occasion will be heard. No set price will be charged for the poppies, the buyer to use his or her own judgment in the purchase.

Eight Boy Scouts of Lubbock will assemble with the sales force, and will act as messengers throughout the day.

The poppies, 1,500 of which are now in the hands of Harold Griffith, who is in general charge, were made by veterans of the World War, and a good percent derived from the sale will go back into the veterans' fund for their education and fight against the ravages of disease contracted either during or as a result of their activity during the war.

LEGION TO HONOR LUBBOCK'S WAR DEAD SUNDAY

Ex-service men of this city and county will pay their respects Sunday to their former buddies who made the great sacrifice during the recent world war and now lie entombed in the silent city of the dead here, when they decorate the graves of these heroes as a part of Lubbock's participation in the Memorial Day ceremony. And the decoration will not be confined to those who died during the last war, but heroes of all wars who lie buried in the Lubbock cemetery will have flowers placed upon their graves as a mark of respect.

This ceremony, which will not include any special program beyond the decoration service, will begin at 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the delegation of ex-service men and others interested scheduled to leave from the Lubbock county court house, the point of concentration. Preceding this, all posters of the city will devote at least a portion of the regular morning service to a few remarks or a sermon on Decoration Day and its significance.

A call has been issued for flowers for the occasion, and all those who have flowers are urged to bring them to the court house between 1 and 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, or if it is not possible, for the individual to bring them, cars will be held ready to call for them, and these cars may be secured by calling Martin Hart, Post Adjutant at 329 between 12 and 1 o'clock.

The graves of all ex-service men of all wars that can be found in the Lubbock cemetery will be marked with an American flag preceding the regular ceremony, and although the exact number of graves is not known, it is believed that at least 25 will be found. An abundant supply of flowers are expected for the occasion. The work will be carried out through members of the local Post of the American Legion and the Auxiliary.

KRIM RECEIVED BY POILU ARMY

Rebel Chieftain Who Promises Peace To France, Met By Opposing Generals

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, May 27.—Abd-el-Krim, Rif-ian chief, who announced his surrender yesterday, has arrived inside the French lines and will immediately be escorted to Taza. Announcement to this effect was made by Premier Briand after a cabinet meeting today.

During the cabinet session, Premier Briand and War Minister Painleve informed the ministers that the surrender of Abd-el-Krim had put an end to the concerted resist of the tribes in the Rif, most of which were offering their submission.

Loyalty Emphasized
They emphasized the close and loyal understanding that had prevailed between the French and Spanish throughout the operations.

M. Painleve announced that the French were exchanging notes with the Spanish as to the disposition to be made of Abd-el-Krim.

Presented To General
FEZ, French Morocco, May 27. (AP)—Abd-el-Krim, the surrendered Rif-ian chief, arrived at 3:15 o'clock this morning at the Marouane, North of Taza, where he was presented with his suite to the commanding general of Moroccan division. Later he was conducted to Bour.

COUNTER REVOLT OPENS AGAINST PILSUDSKI

BERLIN, May 27. (AP)—A counter revolt against the Pilsudski government has broken out in East Galicia, according to rumors reaching the Polish legation here.

It was reported the Pilsudski has decreed a state of siege in Lemberg, Cracow, Zyrardoff and other towns.

BAPTIST COLLEGES OBSERVE 100TH ANNIVERSARY

HOUSTON, Texas, May 27. (AP)—Two leading Southern Baptist colleges this year are celebrating their 100th anniversaries, said the report of the education board presented to the Southern Baptist convention here today by Rev. J. W. Cammack of Birmingham, Ala., corresponding secretary.

These are Furman university at Greenville, S. C., and Mississippi college at Clinton, Miss. The report also points out that the first college for women of the South was Judson college, a Baptist institution founded at Merion, Ala. in 1829.

The past year has been a good one for the Baptist schools, colleges and seminaries of the South, it was reported by the board. Following its successful campaign for a building fund, the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary moved from its old downtown site to its new plant in the suburbs of Louisville, Ky., and Meredith college at Raleigh, N. C., moved from its downtown site to its new $1,000,000 home on the outskirts of that city.

The contribution yet made to Baptist education in the South.

Two new junior colleges for the denomination are in prospect, the college for girls at Shreveport, La., and a co-educational junior college at Sebring, Fla.

The committee on standardization and promotion has helped many Baptist schools attain a higher standard in scholarship and equipment. In the last six years the number of standard colleges owned by Southern Baptists has increased from four to 16. During the year, the education board has some into possession of Nayaka Junior school and orphanage at Okmulgee, Okla., which are being operated in the interest of the large number of Indians living in that state.

The report of the board recommends that in all the educational institutions of the denomination a larger place be given in the future to such courses as Christian education, religious leadership and church efficiency, with a view to better equipping their students for efficient Christian work after they have gone out into active life.

MEXICAN BANDIT GANG HOLDING 3 AMERICANS, SAID

BRUTAL THIEVES CLAIM RANSOM WILL BE EXACTED
(By The Associated Press)
MEXICO CITY, May 27.—Three Americans are now in the hands of Mexican bandits. One is reported to be ill and under torture by his captors. He is C. C. Braden, a mine owner coming from Laredo, Texas. He was captured in Durango by the outlaws May 18, the same day an American mining engineer named Gallagher was made prisoner.

The latest captive taken is J. Shanklin, a plantation employe of Vera Cruz. Information of Shanklin having been kidnaped was contained in a message received by O. M. Brown, manager of the plantation, who resides in Mexico City. As in the cases of Braden and Gallagher, the American embassy has requested the foreign office to endeavor to rescue them.

One Hung By Thumbs
Bartley F. Yost, American consul in Torreón, is reported in a newspaper dispatch to have received a letter written by Braden from the camp of the bandits who are holding him in the state of Durango. The letter said Braden was ill and had been hanged by the thumbs. He said the bandits had informed him that they would hold him in custody until they received six thousand pesos ransom. Braden added that he did not know the whereabouts of Gallagher, but thought he was the prisoner of another band.

Beaumont Baby Dies On Railroad Tracks

BEAUMONT, May 27. (AP)—Ernest Alston, four, was instantly killed when his body was cut in two when wheels of a tank car switching on the Kansas City Southern tracks, and his grandmother, Mrs. R. C. Alston, 76, lost her right arm below the elbow in a vain attempt to save the child here today. Injuries to the aged woman may prove fatal, physicians say.

Winfield, Kan., Bank Raided by Robbers

WINFIELD, Kan., May 27. (AP)—The State Bank of Winfield was robbed at noon today by one masked and two unmasked bandits, who escaped with about $25,000 in currency and an unknown amount of bonds.

Passengers on a Winfield-Arkansas City train declared that a roadside drive-in at a fast pace was met just south of Winfield a few minutes after the robbery. Three men were in the car. Officers are trying to throw out a network of Cowly County vigilantes in order to shut off escape of the bandits.

Mailed Bomb Goes Off; Two Men Dead And Girl Is Hurt

MUSKOGEEON, Mich., May 27. (AP)—William Frank, 22, of Chicago, was instantly killed, and August Krubaech, 48, was seriously injured that he died two hours later, when a bomb received through the mail exploded in the lobby of the Three Lakes Tavern, operated by Krubaech, today.

Jeannette Krubaech, 19-year-old daughter of Krubaech and finance of Frank, is not expected to live.

MUSKOGEEON, Mich., May 27. (AP)—William Frank, 22, of Chicago, was killed and August Krubaech, supervisor of Blue Lake Township and a political storm center for the past three years, was seriously injured today, when a bomb, received by mail, exploded in the lobby of the Three Lakes Tavern, a resort hotel owned by Krubaech.

Jeannette, Krubaech's 19-year-old daughter, who was to have become the bride of Frank Saturday, also was injured.

Delivered by Mail Man.
The packages containing the bomb was about 12 inches square and was delivered by a rural mail carrier. It was addressed to August Krubaech.

Frank and his fiance, believing the contained a wedding present, leaned over the counter as Krubaech unwrapped it.

There was an explosion so great as to tear away the partition against which Frank stood, shatter all windows in the large hotel, overturn tables in the dining room and wreck the interior of the combination hotel lobby and confectionery store.

Frank was instantly killed. Krubaech and his daughter were so seriously injured that physicians believe they will die. They had not recovered consciousness two hours after the explosion.

Negro Charged As Attacker Of Girl Is Hanged By Mob

(By The Associated Press)
WILSON, Ark., May 27.—Albert Blazer, 22, negro, charged with attacking an eleven-year-old white girl early yesterday, was taken from officers late last night by a mob of several hundred persons and hanged.

Sheriff Hays, who, with two deputies, was guarding the negro in a warehouse here said that it was impossible to keep the mob from taking the prisoner. He said that after hanging the negro the members of the mob returned to town quietly and "went to bed." He anticipated no further disorders.

Officers intended to take the negro to Rhytheville or Osceola today for safekeeping.

Following the attack which occurred when the victim and two girl companions strayed from a school picnic, blood-hounds were taken to the scene and trailed the negro who later was identified by his victim.

Reports said a number of women were in the mob.

Carpentier Down Again

A different Georges Carpentier faced Eddie Hoffman, of California, in Madison Square Garden, from the Gorgeous Georges that bottled Jack Dempsey so brilliantly at Boyle's Thirty Acres not so long ago. This Georges staggered and missed and barely won through to a judges' verdict of draw. Photo shows him on his knees after missing Hoffman completely with his right.
