More Surgery For Brady

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary James S. Brady, wounded in last month's assassination attempt on President Reagan, underwent more than five hours of "non-urgent" surgery Wednesday night as doctors sought to close off an air leak between his sinuses and his damaged brain.

"Mr. Brady has been very stable throughout the procedure and he is expected to be transferred to the recovery room within the hour," George Washington University Hospital spokesman Dr. Dennis O'Leary said shortly after midnight. He stressed Brady was not in danger.

Tuition Hike Protested

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Students against a tuition increase have implored a Senate committee not to spoil the "American dream" of parents being able to afford to send their children to college.

Eleven students testified Wednesday the large tuition hike proposed by Sen. W.E. "Pete" Snelson would only worsen their money problems in view of President Reagan's plans to reduce financial aid.

"The dream of most American families, of most Texas families, is to be able to send their children to college. No Texan should be denied the right to attend college because he or she cannot afford it," said John Taylor of the University of Texas at Austin, a student lobbyist who also works full-time.

Violence In Coal Strike

By The Associated Press

A gun battle between striking miners and coal truck drivers that left four men wounded has prompted eastern Kentucky coal company operators to call for police protection and warn that the area is on the verge of "war" because of the 26-day United Mine Workers walkout.

The shootout took place near Belfry, Ky., as a 10-truck convoy was returning to the non-union Mary Helen Coal Co. after making deliveries. The truckers said they were ambushed by pickets, but union miners, who had been trying to close the mine, said the truckers started the shooting.

The SDN Column

The editor is due back today, and we looking forward to his return for several reasons

One of them will be the various stories he'll put in the form of a page one column. Wacil is one of those who can come up with more column items than dogs can with ticks.

We will be particularly interested about his impressions of the nation's capital. Even there, however, private enterprise seems to be thriving.

The District of Columbia has a practice, we've read, of reducing its budget deficit by towing dozens of illegally parked cars each day.

Motorists--many of them tourists--had been forced to spend hours retrieving their cars from the impoundment lot. And then they were slapped with a $50 towing fee in addition to the parking fine.

The change of administrations has not changed what the District calls its parking enforcement program. If anything, more cars are being towed now that the arrival of spring is bringing increasing number of visitors to the city.

But a company has sprung up to help victims of the program.

One day several months ago, a couple of Washington businessmen met while waiting in line to reclaim their towed cars. Soon they came up with an idea that has since been translated into a business called Humiliation Elimination Inc.

A motorist can join HEI for an annual fee of $35. If his car is later towed, he simply calls the company, which locates the car and takes care of the paperwork required to claim it.

When the car is ready to go, the company dispatches one of its chauffeured limousines--complete with a bar and telephone in the back--to pick up the client and take him to the impoundment lot. He still must pay the towing fee and fine, but at least he can do it in typical Washington style.

The company reports that its business is already brisk. No doubt it will get even more brisk in the future. The District just announced the purchase of 10 new tow trucks to join the 29 that are already on the streets.

Pair Back After Ordeal In Mexico

Two Ira area men were back home today following a week-long ordeal that began as a fishing trip into Mexico.

Kelton Clark and Bob Mitchell were back at their homes following an ordeal that lasted for more than a week.

Family members refused to discuss details of the ordeal, saying only they had been "set up," and that Mexican authorities had demanded payoffs.

There were several conflicting reports, but family members did contact the Scurry County Sheriff's Department last week for help in determining what the charges were. The attempt, however, was not successful.

There was also an unconfirmed report that a Mexican fishing guide employed by the two Scurry County men had fallen from a boat and drowned, but there was no drowning and all charges have been dropped.

The men's boat also was returned.

2 Teachers Here Get Scholarships

Two teachers were presented with scholarships this morning to the 24th Annual Petroleum Institute for Educators which will be in Houston June 8-26.

Dewey Farley, a teacher at the high school, was presented a scholarship from Mesa Pipe Line. Linda May, a junior high school teacher, received her scholarship from Dresser Titan. Making the presentations were V.A. Stone, district superintendent for Mesa Pipe Line Co., and Don Wade, station manager for Dresser Titan.

The Petroleum Institute is sponsored by the Oil Information Committee of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association. 100 outstanding Texas educators are being sponsored by different companies to attend the three week course.

The course is to provide the teachers with a complete general knowledge of the oilfield industry. Field trips will include visits to an offshore drilling rig and to a refinery. Those attending the conference will receive three credit hours toward graduate work.

Panel Okays Shrimp Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Senate committee has approved a bill allowing bay shrimpers to catch as many shrimp as they want each day, but they must do it by 2 p.m.

The 6-2 vote of the Natural Resources Committee came after more than two hours of arguments by bay and gulf fishermen who compete for shrimp catches.

Sen. Lindon Williams, D-Houston, said the 2 p.m. deadline would be easier to enforce than the current 300-pound-per-day limit. He said that limit, in effect for more than 20 years, is virtually unenforceable.

Gold Coats Set Meeting Friday

A meeting of the Snyder Gold Coats has been scheduled for noon Friday at the Snyder Country Club.

Members of the organization which serves as a greeting agency and special services unit for the chamber of commerce are scheduled to discuss their by-laws and the method of selecting the Gold Coat-of-the-Year at the luncheon meeting.

Ask Us

Q.—Why won't business owners hire people under 16 years old who have a consent from their parents?

A.—Many jobs are not available to people under 16 because of child labor laws. This is especially true of hazardous occupations and some requiring great physical strength.

Ballot Sent By Chamber

Ballots were going into the mail today to members of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce for a vote on a proposed change in by-laws of the organization.

Actually, the change involves the method of changing the by-laws. At present, a change may be made only by a favorable vote of two-thirds of the members attending a membership meeting, or two-thirds of the members responding to a mailed ballot.

The change would permit a change in by-laws by approval of two-thirds of the board of directors.

Also included in the mailing going out today are notices of the chamber's annual banquet set for May 19. Banquet tickets may be reserved now by calling the chamber office at 573-3558. The banquet tickets are priced at $10 each.

The dinner theatre continues Friday and Saturday night. The final performance on Monday evening will feature dessert only served at intermission.

The Friday night performance is sold out and those planning to attend the Saturday or Monday shows should call now for reservations.

Tickets for dinner and the show are $9 each while tickets for the Monday performance are $3.50. Reservations may be made by calling the Fine Arts office.

Dinner will be served as a buffet, and the evening will include a soup and salad bar. There will be a choice of roast beef with natural gravy or tender chicken breast with mushroom sauce.

March Marks 7.5% Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's cost of living increased at an annual rate of 7.5 percent in March, bringing inflation below double-digit levels due mainly to moderating energy prices, the Labor Department reported today.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a 0.6 percent seasonally adjusted rise in the cost of living for the month, substantially below the 1 percent increase registered in February and the lowest one-month increase since July 1980's 0.1 percent.

The bureau said the slowdown in energy prices resulted in the smallest increases in transportation and housing costs in seven months. The Consumer Price Index showed that energy prices continued to rise in March but not by nearly the margin of the previous two months.

Fuel oil prices rose 2.7 percent in March, following increases of 7.5 percent in January and 8.5 percent in February, department officials said. Charges for natural gas and electricity rose 0.8 percent, compared with increases of 1 percent and 1.4 percent earlier in the year.

Reagan administration officials and some private economists had been predicting that energy prices would moderate as spring arrived. Prices had shot up in January and February because of the lifting of controls on domestic crude oil prices and the high cost of foreign oil. But the March figures were lower than many economists expected.

Department officials said the Consumer Price Index rose to 265.1 in March, which means that goods and services costing $10 in March 1967 cost $26.32 last month.

The figures released today also showed that the index increased by 11.2 percent from the first quarter of last year to the end of this year's first quarter.

This means some 36 million Social Security recipients will get an 11.2 percent cost-of-living increase in July.

At that time, the average retired worker living alone will see his or her monthly check increase by $37, from $337 to $374. A typical couple's benefits will go from $576 to $640 a month, and the maximum benefit will rise from $677 to $752.90 a month. The minimum monthly Social Security check will increase from $153.10 to $170.30.

Payments increase each July if the increase in the Consumer Price Index exceeds 3 percent from the first quarter of one year to the first quarter of the next.

CRMWD Lakes Catching Water

Lake J. B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir 20 miles southwest of Snyder, has picked up nearly 9,000 acre feet of water this week to put it at its highest level in several years. The lake level has come up some 2½ feet, which means that it is about one third full and is a tenth of a foot or more higher than it attained last year. This represents more than 65,000 acre feet.

The flow into Lake Thomas had subsided this morning, but Lake E. V. Spence at Robert Lee, the other CRMWD lake, was beginning to catch some water from the recent rains. Its level had increased by half a foot this morning and the Colorado River continued to flow a substantial stream into the lake. There were no estimates of how much Lake Spence might catch from the current rains.

Meanwhile, the heavy rains had moved down state this morning.

The official gauge at the Snyder water treatment plant measured .18 inch during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a. m. today.

Heavy thunderstorms drenched the Hill Country and portions of South Central Texas early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue flash flood warnings for several areas.

2 Perish In Texas Storms

Texas By The Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms whipped by high winds swept through the Hill Country and portions of South Central and Southeast Texas this morning, killing two people, causing some injuries and extensive damage to mobile homes in Sealy, the Department of Public Safety reported.

A DPS spokesman in Pierce said there were no serious injuries but numerous people in Sealy, Collumbus, Brookshire and were taken to hospitals with "minor injuries."

The exact number of injured or the extent of their injuries was not immediately known.

One person died when a small plane crashed in a residential area southwest of Houston as a thunderstorm pushed by winds of up to 60 mph blew through the city. The plane did not hit any houses or cause any injuries on the ground, authorities said.

James Farias, 19, was killed about 3:30 a.m. today when an automobile in which he was a passenger skidded on a rain-slick street, struck another vehicle and slammed into a utility pole.

JUNIOR RODEO RIDER—Tom Henderson, 9, rounds the barrels during a practice session for the Junior Rodeo that kicks off at 8 p.m. Friday in the Scurry County Coliseum. There will also be a performance Saturday, also beginning at 8. The rodeo is being sponsored by the Sundowners' Riding Club and the chamber of commerce. The judges for this year's show are Arvil Kinsey of Sterling City and Darrell Drain of Big Spring. Danny Isbell of the West Texas Rehabilitaton Center in Abilene will be the announcer.

time for a trim

President Reagan's proposed budget cuts have brought wails of anguish from every special interest group across the country, but the majority of Americans elected Ronald Reagan to get government spending under control.

Most folks agree that his campaign pledge was sound and made sense. And most folks agree it's a step in the right direction...as long as the direction isn't toward their favorite government program.

We think it's time President Reagan told all those special interest groups that there's no Santa Claus and get on with his campaign pledge. We all know that billions could be saved without hurting deserving people.

The welfare program has proved to be a farce with its liberal guidelines that make it possible for almost everyone to tap the till. Our main objection is not the needy who temporarily seek asssistance, but those who make welfare a way of life.

Our government should be able to trim the fat without bypassing the truely deserving.

It wasn't too many years ago that an honest day's work brought an honest day's pay. Now, too many citizens--and illegal aliens--have the idea that Uncle Sam is supposed to take care of them from cradle to grave.

As long as budget cuts are equitable and fair, we believe the long range outcome will greatly benefit our nation.

gun debate continues

The shooting of President Reagan has started the great gun control debate again. Those in favor of restricting the availablility of handguns will point to the ease with which alleged attacker John W. Hinckley Jr. procured his pistol. those opposed to this position will insist that the gunman is the danger, not the gun.

Of course, every murderer and would-be murderer does not use a gun, nor does every gun owner shoot another human being. Hinckley was not even on the Secret Service list of persons suspected of being dangerous to the President.

Serious as the problem of guns and crime, the greater tragedy lies in that more victims of gunshot wounds are shot accidentally than deliberately. The solution to the quandry of the criminal use of guns is unclear. It is much easier, though, to see at least a partial answer to the crisis of accidental shootings.

As an aspirant to the Republican Presidential nomination, John Anderson was hooted and ridiculed when he proposed an idea with merit. We do not let people drive cars until they show they are competent to do so. Why not train those who want guns to use them properly and test their ability to handle weapons safely ?

Such a plan would not limit gun ownership to anyone who can show he is not likely to be an accidental menace.

This would not weed out those who know how to use guns who might want to commit a crime. It would, though, probably reduce the number of shootings by unsupervised children and adult nincompoops who currently need show no proof that they can use guns with care.

turning criminals loose

Some judges sometimes turn criminals loose—not because they want to—but because they have no choice.

In San Bernardino, Ca., a 5-year-old girl was kidnapped.

The kidnapper confessed.

The kidnapper had a previous record for child molestation.

Indeed, Judge Wickson Woolpert said this mentally disordered defendant "is one of the most dangerous men I have ever seen."

The judge sentenced him to seven years in prison because that is the maximum allowable for that crime—for kidnapping children for sexual abuse—in that state.

Seven years! Which means, with "good behavior," the defendant can be prowling the streets for more victims within three years!

Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Julius Leetham says many jurists are as upset as you are over legal leniency—but are helpless themselves to contradict the penal code.

In Los Angeles, a drunk driver killed two people and injured three others—and was out on $1,000 bail within hours.

That was the maximum bail which the court could require.

Incidentally, there and elsewhere, a thousand dollars bail requires a deposit of only one hundred dollars!

And if convicted, that drunk driver could get no more than three years and thus be free in two!

Judge Leetham has tried twice, in 1976 and again in 1978, to get his state's legislature to allow judges more latitude in setting bail where public safety is involved.

Both times he was ignored.

Chief Justice Warren Burger, addressing the American Bar Association, vigorously criticized our judicial system—said too many crimes are being committed by criminals awaiting trial for other crimes...said "Americans are hostages."

The public is running out of patience also. The new Newsweek survey shows Americans 2 to-1 in favor of capital punishment for murder and stiffer sentences for all criminals.

But it's not easy to be a hard-line judge.

There's a high desert judge in Victorville, Ca., named Carol Koppel.

She was elected on a promise to play hardball with the hoods.

"Soft judges make hard criminals," she declared.

Her campaign slogan has become a popular local bumper sticker: HELP A CRIMINAL GO TO JAIL.

But, whenever a case is scheduled for her court, defense attorneys secure what's called "an affidavit of prejudice" and get their case transferred to some other judge, even some other town.

Every day some case is removed from her jurisdiction—transferred to someplace where a defendant figures to receive more leniency.

And a spokesman for the area Bar Association says, "Attorneys have a responsibility to inform their clients of her get-tough philosophy."

So, I don't know.

We've been hearing a lot of things about the child murders in Atlanta — every day. In something around one and a half to two years, 25 black males have been found dead, usually strangled or suffocated. At first the dead that were included in the "child murder" count were young boys, but now they count the older one's too.

It's a dramatic story that stirs up public indignation and sympathy but there's been something missing in all the information that's come out of Atlanta.

Georgia ranks 15th among the states for frequency of violent crime occurences. The life expectancy there is 68.54 years — compared to a nationwide average of something like 73 years.

Also in Georgia, there were 1002 child abuse cases in 1976.

The population of Atlanta itself was 496,000 according to the 1970 census. In the metropolitan area of Atlanta, which includes surrounding counties, there were 212 murders in 1977 alone and there were 11,084 violent crimes.

According to FBI statistics, there were 11.3 murders to every 100,000 persons in that area. Now you can see why the life expectency in Georgia ranks the 48th lowest among the United States.

Just in the immediate area of the city of Atlanta, there were 138 murders in 1977. So 25 murders in well over a year is not all that unusual. It's not good — but it's not strange.

It's also not unusual that so many died by suffocation or by strangulation. It is unusual to try to pin all the murders on one person. Maybe a few people are responsible for most of the deaths but there are too many differences among the methods of apparent abduction and murder.

For one thing, strangulation and suffocation are two entirely different ways of killing someone and the bodies were disposed of in different ways — some in fields, some in rivers. And some of the boys were seen getting into cars with people. The car description is never the same.

Anyway, several of the bodies were so decomposed it was impossible to tell what killed them.

Another theory I take exception to is that the child murderer is a "gentle killer." How can the two words be seriously linked?

I don't consider it very gentle to kill someone. It makes no difference how it's done. Suffocating someone kills them just as dead as if someone shot them or took an ax to them. How can one body be deader than another?

But there are psychiatrists in Atlanta putting together a character composite of the supposedly lone killer that says he is a gentle man.

I wonder if dead people care if they were gently, viciously, brutally or otherwise murdered. They're just as dead.

These child murder stories have done something for Atlanta. They've gotten a lot of publicity out of it — and a lot of federal funds.

commentary

donald f. graff

If you can tear your attention away from autos, steel and electronics for a minute, there's yet another long-established domestic industry that has reason to be worried about foreign competition.

Counterfeiting.

The makers of foreign phony money are now responsible for 20 percent of all counterfeit bills going into circulation in the United States by the reckoning of experts who know this field best—the Secret Service. In addition to the protection of presidents, the Treasury Department agency is charged with responsibility for policing the purity of the American money supply.

That job is, however, becoming tougher because of the increasingly serious import problem that the Secret Service is unable to attack at its source—the foreign plants where the presses are turning out the look-alike greenbacks.

These are located in a number of countries, but by far the most prolific producer is Colombia, so much so that the Secret Service has sought authorization for an official presence there.

Colombian-printed notes accounted for about a million of the $5.5 million in foreign counterfeits that got into the country last year. Much more—$60.8 million in face value—was confiscated abroad by local authorities, which is good news in its way but somewhat less so when you consider what it says about the magnitude of the foreign operations.

The operators, both foreign and domestic, like everyone else these days are having to adjust to inflation. Given their way of making money, it's easy—just raise the face value of bills. Largely for that reason, the take in counterfeit money during 1980 had a face value 20 percent above that of the previous year.

The long-established favorite phony—the $20 bill—was down by 5 percent while $100 notes were up 69 percent.

That is not necessarily all bad from the Secret Service point of view. A counterfeiter managing to pass $100 gets away with a much larger profit than in the case of a $20. but the beauty of a $20 for counterfeiting purposes has always been its familiarity—so many handled so frequently that few people bother to scrutinize them for authenticity.

Benjamin Franklin's portrait, on the other hand, isn't seen by most of us all that often. Which means it is more likely to prompt a second look, thereby increasing the chances of detection.

On the other hand, inflation may end up solving this problem for the counterfeiter. The way things have been going, they could come to the point where precious few of us will be able to keep a $100 in hand long enough to take a second look.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sometime this summer American consumers and producers are going to learn where those volatile, costly, hard-to-predict, near-record-high interest rates are headed.

And when they do, a now fuzzy economic portrait is going to assume the appearance of a sharply focused picture. Relatively speaking, anyway.

Right now the scene is cluttered up. The prime rate, falling since last December, recently reversed direction. Home mortgage rates are heading higher too. But some short-term Treasury bills have declined.

If you ask the people who make a living in those markets, you will find that their feelings are as mixed as the market's.

David Barry of Manufacturers Hanover Trust feels the prime rate may fall by summer, probably to 15 percent from its current 17.5 percent. Despite recent increases, Barry's expectation is widely shared.

So is the other view. Says William Sullivan Jr. of The Bank of New York, "...dramatic progress toward lower interest rates seems improbable, and continued challenges on the upside seem likely."

Such mixed markets and mixed feelings seldom persist very long, if only because economic decisions aren't indefinitely postponable. Sooner or later borrowers make decisions, and rates rise or fall.

Like some of their counterparts who deal with corporations, many home mortgage lenders feel a decision won't wait beyond this summer, and some are convinced that rates will fall. Both real estate organizations and the U.S. League of Savings Associations have such expectations.

Other researchers, such as Sindlinger & Co., a Media, Pa., data firm, think such notions are absurd. Sindlinger has gone so far as to refer to "any sucker who still thinks interest rates are to come down."

Sullivan observes that the pressure for higher rates will remain "as long as the markets are confronted with high inflation, a generally restrictive monetary policy and continued gains in economic activity."

So indistinct are the trends, however, that analysts reviewing the same material can see the economy moving in different directions.

This summer, the analysts are saying, could be when the minds of potential borrowers are made up — about the Reagan administration, about the economy, about their own pocketbooks and their own needs.

The current impasse cannot last, they say. And, many of them add, it won't. They expect the decision and the direction will come this summer.

When Jesus sent seventy disciples out to preach and heal, He told them to salute no one by the way. That may sound like a strange command from one who loved people, but the reason probably was that the formality connected with salutations would delay them unduly.

Three years ago a team that included Alan Greenberg, senior partner, James Cayne, a regular partner and several other Bear-Stearns associates won the Resinger

Alan and Jimmy are regular weekend players in the Cavendish game and are particularly effective on their slam bidding.

In their methods three clubs would have been a force so Alan's four clubs implied slam interest and Jimmy's four hearts accepted the slam suggestion. Alan's four spades was a cue bid, but Jimmy signed off with five clubs because his heart cue bid had shown his full strength.

Alan continued to six and it was up to Jimmy to play the slam.

He won the spade in dummy and drew trumps with three leads, then he cashed the ace-king of hearts and the second-high spade and ruffed dummy's last spade to set the stage for the perfect safety play. He led his deuce of diamonds and played dummy's seven.

East was in, but was also helpless. A spade or heart would give Jimmy a ruff and discard and a diamond return would give declarer three diamond tricks.

Note that Jimmy's safety play would not have been needed if diamonds had broken 3-2. Jimmy's play had just taken out insurance to guard against any and all possible bad breaks and it had paid off.

Honey Gems Recipe Places In Contest

HONEY GEMS

Our adaptation of a recipe that won a prize in a California recipe contest.

1¼ cups wholewheat (graham) flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 large egg
½ cup honey
½ cup butter, melted
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup firmly packed finely grated pared carrot

In a small bowl or on wax paper stir together the flour, baking powder, soda and cinnamon. In a medium bowl beat together the egg, honey and butter until blended; add the flour mixture, lemon juice and carrots; stir only until flour mixture is moistened and carrots are evenly distributed. Ladle into buttered muffin-pan cups (each 1-3rd cup capacity) filling them only one-half full. (Batter will be bubbly.) Bake in a pre-heated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean — 20 minutes.

Vision Problems Common To Learning Disabled Children

FOREST GROVE, Ore. (AP) — Learning-disabled children with "perfect" eyesight often have undetected vision problems, research by the Pacific University College of Optometry here reveals.

Dr. Rocky Kaplan, associate clinical professor of optometry, reports on studies of 75 children referred to him for testing because of learning problems that didn't improve with remedial education alone.

Kaplan found that 84 percent had difficulty making both eyes work together, 70 percent had poor eye movement control and 68 percent couldn't control their focusing systems. However, only two of the 75 would have failed an acuity test with the standard charts still used by most schools for testing vision, Kaplan says.

Those standard charts test only distance vision, identifying youngsters who can't see the blackboard without glasses. Many of Kaplan's tests are done at ordinary reading distances, about 14 inches. He tests without drops in the eye, so he can evaluate the focusing system as it normally functions.

"Most of these kids don't need glasses," Kaplan says. "In fact, glasses won't help them much unless they're used as part of a vision therapy program."

Children who need vision therapy can often be identified by alert parents or teachers, Kaplan says. Parents typically report these children have a short attention span while reading, confuse similar words and letters and often get frustrated. Teachers note slowness in schoolwork, especially in reading, and frequent errors in copying from the blackboard.

Interest Ceiling Bill Only Needs Signature

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements' signature is all that is necessary to allow lenders to charge consumers up to 24 percent on loans ranging from unpaid credit card balances to automobile and mobile home financing.

A 114-27 House vote to accept Senate changes in a bill raising state ceilings on interest rates sent the measure to the governor's desk.

Jon Ford, the governor's press secretary, said Clements has indicated he would sign the bill unless his staff finds an unexpected problem in it.

The new interest ceiling will take effect with the governor's signature or in 10 days, whichever comes sooner, unless he vetoes the bill.

Banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, department stores and credit card companies had lobbied hard for a 30 percent ceiling but accepted 24 percent. They said they were in a severe profit squeeze because it was costing them more to obtain money than the state would let them charge when they lent it. Current ceilings range from 7.5 percent on some mobile home loans to 18 percent on unpaid credit card balances.

The Texas Consumer Association said the bill would allow lenders to gouge consumers and predicted lenders immediately would charge the maximum rates.

The bill would set a maximum of 18 percent so long as the six-month U.S. Treasury bill rate does not exceed 9 percent. But when the rate is higher than that, the ceiling would be twice the T-bill rate, up to a maximum of 24 percent for consumer loans. The T-bill rate is over 13 percent this week, so the 24 percent cap would be in effect.

Credit card companies would be allowed to change the interest on unpaid balances as often as weekly to stay even with the T-bill rate. A credit card holder would have two choices — pay the interest or clear his balance and give up his card.

Interest rates charged by consumer finance companies would not change, but the amounts subject to various rates would be tied to the consumer price index. The result would be that 18 percent could be charged on loans up to $750 instead of $300. Small lenders also make money from acquisition charges on such loans.

Commercial loans would have a ceiling of 28 percent, but the higher ceiling would not apply to farm loans.

The bill does not apply to home mortgages. Federal law removed all state ceilings on such loans.

One provision says credit card companies may not charge interest in the first billing period after a purchase is placed on one's card.

Senators also added an amendment prohibiting lenders from discriminating on the basis of race, sex, color, religion or national origin.

Boy Dies In Dallas School

DALLAS (AP) — A stocky, outgoing 14-year-old boy, described by his principal as "the idyllic teen-ager," collapsed Tuesday during an afternoon history class and died while paramedics and a school nurse tried to revive him, officials said.

Roger Woodall, who lived with his father Carl Woodall in southwest Dallas, was pronounced dead at 4:10 p.m. at Methodist Hospital after emergency room physicians there unsuccessfully attempted to resuscitate the youth, hospital officials said.

The 8th grader at L.V. Stockard Middle School stopped breathing about 3 p.m. and his heart stopped just minutes later as paramedics attempted to revive him, said the school's principal Robert C. Ballew.

Though no official cause of death has been determined, Ballew said paramedics told him "the outward signs" showed the youth may have suffered a heart attack or a stroke. An autopsy was ordered.

About four hours before his death the youth had a routine physical examination by a school nurse and showed no signs of illness, officials said.

'Sun Belt Council' Fights For Federal Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — An army of 90 House members from Texas and 16 other states have joined under the banner of the "Sun Belt Council" to fight for their share of federal money.

"Until now we have resisted in splitting Congress along regional lines, but our Yankee colleagues have forced this confrontation upon us," said Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, who has been elected chairman of the coalition.

Wilson was promoted for the job by Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Beaumont, the dean of the 24-member Texas delegation.

In coming months, council members promise to fight as a unit for public works projects, job programs and various federal grants when they are distributed in committees and legislative floor amendments.

The Sun Belt Council was formed to battle a successful lobbying effort by 213 representatives from 18 Northeast and Midwest states who formed such a coalition because they felt too much was going to the South and Southwest.

"Their organization has done a good 'snow job'. They've 'determined' that the pending budget cuts will fall much more heavily on the Snow Belt than on the Sun Belt. At the very least, we want to counter their misinformation," Wilson said.

Leaders of the Northeast-Midwest coalition, surprised by the sudden rhetorical shelling, say they are puzzled by such a reaction. Southern states, they say, have been successful in obtaining lucrative military bases and water projects as an informal bloc.

"Southern congressmen and senators have had a very good buddy system that's been operating since the Civil War out of necessity," said Thomas Cochran, executive director of the Northeast-Midwest Institute, the research arm of the northern coalition.

"The victories of the Northeast-Midwest coalition haven't shifted the flow of funds more than a small amount," he said.

Former Alabama Rep. John Buchanan has been tabbed to act as staff director of the council. He agreed that southern congressmen have historically wielded power on defense-related committees, but said their influence is waning.

"The Northeast-Midwest coalition is a well-organized, well-funded entity that was facing a vacuum," Buchanan said.

"The idea of our council isn't so much to promote the interests of our region as it is to provide fair national legislation that doesn't ignore the people in older industrial cities or the poor young black child in rural America, either," Buchanan said.

Rep. Robert Edgar, D-Pa., chairman of the northern coalition, said he is drafting a letter inviting Wilson to sit down and discuss the issues that separate the two sides.

"I don't feel threatened by the new group at all. It raises more issues and forces us to be even more accountable," Edgar said.

Wilson said he is determined to combat the view that President Reagan's proposed federal budget cuts are slanted against the Northeast.

Wilson said his group hopes to counter "outrageous propaganda and statistics" generated by the coalition and institute in their weekly news releases and published studies.

"They blame all the problems of their area on the formula for federal grants, which is pretty absurd," said Wilson, a second-year congressman and member of the House Appropriations Committee.

Other states besides Texas represented in the new Sun Belt Council are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Florida, Kentucky, Utah and Colorado.

Wilson is still seeking members from other states, including California. The coalition is operating with a first-year budget of aboout $100,000.

The Northeast-Midwest coalition has a budget of about $100,000 and a staff of five. The Northeast-Midwest Institute has a staff of 20 persons and a budget of more than $400,000.

Its 213 members come from Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin.

Jury Could Begin Deliberating Daniel Case Today

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Jurors could begin deliberating whether the widow of former Texas House speaker Price Daniel Jr. should keep her two young sons today after final arguments in the child custody suit brought against her.

Final arguments in the six-week-old trial were scheduled for 12:30 p.m. CST. Jean Daniel Murph, sister of the slain politician, contends Vickie Daniel is an unfit mother in her effort to wrest custody of her brother's two sons, Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 1.

Mrs. Daniel, 33, also is charged with murder in the Jan. 19 shooting death of her husband, and that trial has been set for next fall.

Psychiatrists and family members brought to the stand by Mrs. Murph's attorneys — including former Texas Gov. Price Daniel Sr. — portrayed the former Dairy Queen waitress as an emotionally unstable mother who might harm her children.

But the defense team, led by Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, chipped away at Daniel's reputation, saying he led a double life that included strange sexual practices, heavy drinking and drug use.

Mrs. Daniel testified that during her stormy four-year marriage, her husband often beat and sodomized her, fondled his son's penis and had a "weird" relationship with Mrs. Murph in which he would push up against his sister and put his knee between her legs. She said he drank to excess, smoked marijuana and refused to give her money to buy necessities for the children

Other members of the politically powerful family testified for the defense, saying they saw bruises on Mrs. Daniel on various occasions and that the elder Daniel vowed to intervene if custody of the children could not be taken from his daughter-in-law.

Defense witnesses also related incidents in which Daniel allegedly smoked marijuana, mistreated and hit his wife, kissed a female employee and made sexual advances toward a male client.

Family Court Judge Sam S. Emison Jr. ended a major dispute between the two sides this week when he entered into evidence a bag allegedly containing marijuana owned by Daniel.

Haynes said the bag, containing a leafy substance resembling marijuana, rolling papers and a pornographic magazine, was discovered in a closet in a trailer used by Daniel's law firm.

One witness said he saw Daniel take some marijuana from the closet in the fall of 1979, but Mrs. Murph's attorneys produced documents that showed the man was in jail at the time. Haynes countered that the witness had meant 1980 when he said 1979.

In rebuttal testimony Wednesday, Mrs. Murph took the stand again to recount her versions of conversations with relatives and to say she saw nothing strange about her relationship with her brother.

A child psychiatrist also testified Mrs. Daniel's psychologist misinterpreted personality tests that really show she is a "suspicious, depressed, brooding" person.

WTC Delegation Back From Meet

A delegation representing Western Texas College returned this morning from Washington, D. C., where they attended the annual meeting of the American Association of Community-Junior Colleges.

A Texan, Dr. Joe Rushing, chancellor of the Tarrant County Junior College District, was elected president of the organization.

Attending from WTC were Dr. Don Newbury, president, five board members, Dr. Robert Hargrove, R. C. Patton, Bill Jones, Howard Sterling and Wacil McNair, and their wives.

Poland first emerged as a state around the year 1000 — a union of Slavic tribes. By 1492, after successful wars, treaties and dynastic unions, an enlarged Poland counted the territories of Lithuania, Hungary, Prussia, Bohemia and Pomerania in its sphere of influence.

Teacher Testing Gets Preliminary Approval

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A bill requiring the coming generation of school teachers to prove their competence before entering classrooms has gained preliminary approval in the Texas House.

The Senate-passed measure advanced Wednesday on a voice vote and was set for final action today.

Administrators who have clamored for the legislation got a surprise, however, on Wednesday when the House added an amendment requiring competency testing for them, too.

Rep. Mary Polk, D-El Paso, proposed the change, and Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, sponsor of the bill, said, "Her amendment is so logical I've got to accept it."

The bill directs the State Board of Education to require college students to pass "a competency examination of basic skills" before entering teacher training programs. After graduation, a person could be certified as a teacher only after passing a "comprehensive examination" prescribed by the board.

The board also would have authority to issue various levels of teaching certificates, based on education, experience, competency and special duties.

People who already are teaching or enrolled in teacher training programs would be exempt from the testing requirement.

Teacher competency testing was recommended both by the Board of Education and Gov. Bill Clements' special committee that studied problems in Texas' public schools.

Rep. Ernestine Glossbrenner, D-Alice, a former math teacher, tried unsuccessfully to add amendments limiting the use of uncertified teachers hired under emergency certificates to 5 percent of a school district's teachers or 5 percent, statewide.

She called emergency certificates "a loophole in this bill big enough to drive a Mack truck through."

"Emergency certificates, if not limited, could circumvent the purpose of the bill. ... We would just have a lot of people who are not fully certified," Ms. Glossbrenner said.

But Peveto said a limit on emergency certificates would "hurt smaller districts. ... We would end up leaving a classroom with no teacher at all. ... A teacher on an emergency certificate is better than no teacher at all."

City Sales Tax Upheld

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday a Travis County state district judge has upheld the constitutionality of the 1 percent city sales tax.

Bullock said Judge Hume Cofer granted a summary judgment for the state in a suit filed by U.S. Steel, which attacked the local option tax as unconstitutional.

Bullock said Cofer rejected U.S. Steel's argument that the tax was discriminatory because tax rates are not uniform throughout the state.

Cities which have adopted the city sales tax collect the state 4 percent sales tax and an extra 1 percent, which is rebated by the state. Some cities, however, do not collect the tax.

The comptroller said Cofer refused to order a $62,000 refund U.S. Steel had paid under protest.

Bullock said Texas cities received more than $500 million last year in city sales tax rebates.

Suspect Held In Lubbock

Eddie Wayne Givens, arrested by Snyder police at 5 p.m. Tuesday, is being held in Lubbock charged in connection with the severe beating and robbery of a 76 year-old Lubbock man two weeks ago.

Givens is being charged with beating Allen Saddler of 1921 24th St. in Lubbock, and with taking Saddler's pickup and wallet. The wallet was said to contain $400 to $600.

Lubbock police found Saddler lying in the closet of his home a few days after the incident occurred.

Deborah Ann Stevens, also taken into custody by Snyder police, is being held as a material witness.

In 1779, John Adams was appointed by the United States to make a treaty with Britain.

Causes of ringing in ears

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has had ringing in his ears for a long time. The doctor told him that his high blood pressure was the cause of it. He has been taking blood pressure medicine for years and his pressure is normal with medication. But he still has ringing in his ears. Could you please tell us what causes this and what medicines can help?

DEAR READER — It is true that high blood pressure can cause ringing in the ears (tinnitus). But there are many causes of tinnitus besides high blood pressure and many people who have high blood pressure do not have tinnitus.

Your doctor is a family physician or internist, evidently, since he is treating your husband's blood pressure. Ask him to refer your husband to a specialist in ear, nose and throat diseases for further evaluation of his tinnitus.

Tinnitus can be caused by medicines, which includes too much aspirin. It can follow exposure to excessive loud noises or ear damage. It can be part of hearing loss or it can even be from wax in the ears.

Not even every ear, nose and throat specialist's office is yet equipped to evaluate all cases of tinnitus and offer the best available treatment. But it is your best bet. If it is caused by a medicine it can be discontinued.

The treatment depends upon the cause. If it can't be corrected by some measure such as stopping a medicine or cleaning out the ears or a suitable hearing aid if there is a hearing loss, an audiologist can, through testing, often mask the tinnitus sound. That means the person must wear a tinnitus masker if one is indicated. The audiologist must be trained and cleared to test and apply tinnitus maskers before he can offer that service.

To give you a more complete idea of all the causes of tinnitus and what can be done I am sending you The Health Letter number 12-10, Help for Tinnitus — Noise or Ringing in The Ear. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Some people have a hearing loss and are unaware of it. That loss, which can be detected with testing, may be an important factor in causing the tinnitus.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A good friend, 22 years old, had an operation for the removal of cancerous testicles. I realize he will not be able to father any children. I have two questions: 1) Will he be able to perform sexually when he gets married and 2) What effects will there be on the body due to the loss of hormones?

DEAR READER — His immediate health is the first consideration. It makes a great deal of difference what type of malignancy was present. It is somewhat rare to have both testicles involved, if that was actually the case. But, it may be that to control the tumor the doctors wanted to decrease the amount of testosterone hormone that was present. In that case they would not want to use testosterone replacement. If one testicle remains and he recovers he may well be entirely normal sexually and even have children.

A mature male responds differently from an immature male to a loss of both testicles. He will not change greatly physically and may be able to perform sexually. The Romans found that out with their slaves.

If he needs and can take male hormones, he will have the sex drive and characteristics of any normal male.

Twisters Spawned By Thunderstorms

The Nation's Weather By The Associated Press

Heavy thunderstorms that spawned a series of devastating tornadoes in Missouri continued early today from southwest Texas across Arkansas into the western Ohio Valley.

A twister that touched down in DeSoto, Mo., Wednesday killed a 31-year-old man who was trapped when a savings and loan association was destroyed. An elderly man who was not identified died of a heart attack after his Malden, Mo., home was damaged by another tornado, but officials declined to blame his death on the storm.

DeSoto officials estimated damages at $4 million, and the Missouri Highway Patrol said property damage "in the millions of dollars" had occurred elsewhere.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered over northeast New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle and across the Great Lakes into the central Appalachians. Light rain also fell over the Pacific Northwest.

Later today, showers and thundrstorms were expected to reach from central New England across the Carolinas and Central Georgia and across the Great Lakes to the Gulf Coast from the Florida Panhandle to southeast Texas.

Showers were expected to be scattered from the western Dakotas across the northern Rockies to the northern Pacific Coast.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 25 in Montpelier, Vt., to 80 at Blythe and Thermal, Calif.

Quiet Thursday For Policemen

Police had a fairly quiet Thursday with only a few minor accidents reported.

The first mishap occurred at 3:15 p.m. in the Safeway parking lot. Involved was a 1976 Oldsmobile driven by Gloria Carreon and a 1974 legally parked Cadillac owned by Sara Lomax. Working that accident was Officer Don Whittenburg.

Another minor accident was reported at 6:02 p.m. at 600 East Highway. Involved in that one was a 1970 Mercury driven by Nona Mae F. Cumbie and a 1977 Pontiac driven by John T. Clayton. Officer Bill Armstrong worked that incident.

At 9:30 p.m., a 20 year-old male subject was picked up at a residence and charged with possession of marijuana, less than two ounces. Sgt. Warren is investigating the case.

Wednesday evening, Ray Guzman told police someone had taken five dollars from his 12 year-old daughter when she was at Furr's Supermarket Tuesday afternoon. Sgt. Clay Scogin took the report.

Bank President Undergoes Tests

Martin Brooks, president of West Texas State Bank was reported "doing fine" this morning at St. Mary's Hospital at Lubbock where he had entered to undergo tests.

It was reported that Brooks had a "flareup" Saturday and had decided to have the tests as a precaution. Reports were this morning that the tests had indicated that Brooks was in good condition.

Dear Abby

Mom, Daughter Losers In Battle of Wills

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: After you published a letter about visiting aging parents, I received a copy of it "anonymously." I'm sure it came from my mother, to whom I haven't spoken for four months.

I am 29, divorced with two children, live alone and support myself and my children. I don't drink or run around and I'm respected by everybody but my mother.

I know Mom loves me and I love her, but unless she can choose my friends and control my life, she wants absolutely nothing to do with me.

She helped me financially when I needed it, a fact she mentions every chance she gets, but she thinks that gives her the right to pick my friends. After I told her I intended to live my own life, she said she never wanted to see me again.

Since then, she hasn't called me and I haven't called her. Abby, I am so frustrated I could cry. She reads your column religiously, so please tell her I love her and want her to be my friend.

HURTING IN PA.

DEAR HURTING: Your mother (like most mothers) has become so accustomed to telling you what to do ("for your own good," of course), it's hard for her to break the habit. All self-supporting adults are entitled to live their own lives, and from what you say, you're doing an admirable job of it.

Regardless of who closed the door between you and your mother, open it, and try again. I assure you, your mother is hurting as much as you over the estrangement. And maybe more.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a waitress in Milwaukee for 12 years, and I have never been able to figure out why people will come into a cafe and always sit at a table where there are dirty dishes when there are plenty of clean tables available. I have asked waitresses who work at other restaurants, and they can't figure it out either. Can you explain it?

MERT

DEAR MERT: Probably for the same reason people choose to sit in a crowded kitchen even though there is a larger, more comfortable room available. Call it the coziness of clutter. And if it's any comfort to you, it's the same in Los Angeles as it is in Milwaukee.

DEAR ABBY: Social customs are constantly changing, so perhaps you can tell me if my sensitivities are now outmoded.

I am a clergyman who is amazed at the number of well-meaning people who address me simply as "Reverend."

To address someone as "Reverend" without adding his name is worse than calling someone "Mister." I'd rather hear, "Hey, Rev!" At least that is not sanctimonious.

Am I too fussy? If not, perhaps people who wish to use the title "Reverend" out of respect would appreciate a reminder of its proper use.

THE REV. JOSIAH H. JONES

DEAR SIR: Those who address you as "Reverend" without using your last name think they are being respectful. Forgive them, Reverend Jones, for they know not what they do. (But after this, many should know better.)

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply, write to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

In Child Killings...

Atlanta Police Plan Fast Look At New Info

ATLANTA (AP) — Police say they will be able to determine quickly whether a civil rights group that has come up with an unidentified "witness" has solved some of the 25 slayings of young blacks that have plagued Atlanta over the last 21 months.

"I don't consider the nature of the information something that will take a long time" to evaluate, said Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown. He did not say exactly how long it might take. He also said late Wednesday that police did not have enough evidence to arrest anyone.

Roy Innis, staff director of the Congress of Racial Equality, announced Wednesday his investigators had found a "psychopath" they believed responsible for the slayings. Innis said the investigators also had found a witness who could link the "psychopath" to at least six of the killings. He did not identify the witness or detail the evidence.

However, an editor who spent five hours Monday interviewing the witness said he felt the person's story was "plausible."

"I'm emphasizing that I'm using the word plausible, not believable or anything else, but plausible," said John Schaffner, managing editor of The Atlanta Constitution.

"I wouldn't literally call this person a witness, but it is a person that possibly might be able to shed some light" on the investigation, Schaffner said.

He would not discuss the results of the interview.

"We are very convinced we have broken this case, and we can prove it," Innis said, producing an envelope he said contained a picture of the "psychopath." Innis, fighting to retain control of the fading civil rights group, would not make the picture public.

However, the New York Daily News quoted Larry Mitchell, a spokesman for Innis, as saying the CORE suspect was a black man. Mitchell added the group's investigation indicated a conspiracy involving whites.

Innis said his investigators would "collar" their suspect by 1 p.m. Saturday if police had not arrested anyone or made some progress by then. Innis said CORE had the person under surveillance.

"I certainly consider it (Innis' information) important," said John Glover, special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI office. "We will be checking it out."

Wednesday night, Atlanta television station WAGA reported that Innis's witness was a Miami woman who had received information by telephone from an Atlanta man.

According to the station, the woman said she was told that a black man and white man were responsible for several recent slayings.

Brown declined comment on the WAGA report.

Boys 2-4A Track Meet...

Thinclads Set To Run

ANDREWS -- The District 2-AAAA boys Track and Field Meet is slated to start here tomorrow and continue through Saturday as some of West Texas' top talent competes for post-season honors.

Friday's fare calls for the high jump, long jump and discus at 1 p.m., followed at 3 by preliminary running events. The shot and pole vault will be held Saturday at 1. Running finals begin at 3.

Monahans, with strength in the 200 meters, 3200 meters, field events and relays in particular, is expected to duel out the team title with speedy Odessa Ector. Andrews should also make a strong bid, led by all-state talent Van Pearcy.

Ector finds potential medals in the 100 meters where the Eagles can count three of the fastest times (unofficially) run in the district this season. Ector also boasts speed in the 200 and 400 meters, and distance man Tony Gamble has the loop's fastest times in the 800 and 1600 meters.

Andrews relies on Pearcy for a major portion of its points. Pearcy, who injured an ankle last week and did not compete with the Mustangs at a scheduled meet in Monahans, is expected to be near 100 percent Friday.

Snyder, projected to finish in fifth place overall, could compete well in the high jump and 330 intermediate hurdles with Glenn Parham, and hopes to bring in strong points from miler David Hines, sprinter Matt Davis and long jumper Keith Wallace, as well.

First and second place finishers in each event qualify for the upcoming regional meet.

Projected Point Totals For 2-AAAA Meet

Monahans, 133-141; Odessa Ector, 118-125; Andrews, 91-97; Sweetwater, 57-65; Snyder, 22-30; Fort Stockton, 21-29; Lamesa, 14-18; Lake View, 14-18; Pecos, 4-10

Tryouts Set At 4 Today

Little League tryouts for anyone who has not done so have been set for 4 p.m. Thursday at the Farm League Field, weather permitting.

Anyone who has not signed up or attended tryouts should do so at this time.

REGIONAL CHAMPIONS -- Western Texas College's Westerners ran away from the field to take top honors in the Region V Golf Tournament which concluded Wednesday at Lost Creek Country Club in Fort Worth. The victory earns Western Texas a berth in the upcoming NJCAA National Tournament - its fifth in six years. Competing in the Region V Golf Tournament for Western Texas College were, left to right above, Frank Monfrey, Gary Hodge, Jeff Seger, Coach Bob O'Day, Jeff Wagner, Richard White and Chris Johnson. Johnson took medalist honors and Seger was runnerup. They and teammate White also made the All-Region Team. See related article, this page. (SDN Staff Photo)

Qualify For Nationals Again...

Westerners Win Region!

FORT WORTH -- Western Texas College blazed a 295 Tuesday to make up for a one-shot deficit, then came back with another 295 on Wednesday to win the Region V Golf Tournament by a full seven strokes, sending the team to its fifth NJCAA National Tournament in a six-year span.

McLennan Community College, which had not lost a tournament all year, finished second. The Waco-based college held a one-stroke lead over Western Texas and Odessa College after the first round, but although its scores continued to drop consistantly, it could not keep up with the searing pace of Western Texas.

Led by medalist Chris Johnson and runnerup Jeff Seger, the Westerners shaved 11 strokes off of their first-round total of 306 to take a five-stroke lead over McLennan. A final round of 295 sewed up the championship with a total 896. McLennan, also qualifying for the nationals, finished with a 903 total. Odessa took third with a 922.

"I'm just very pleased with the way our golfers performed," said a jubulant Coach Bob O'Day. "This is the one you point to; the one that qualifies you for the national tournament. We didn't win the conference, but right now that's secondary."

Western Texas finished second in the conference this year behind New Mexico Junior College, which finished fourth here. The Westerners did win the final conference tournament however.

"We peaked at just about the right time," O'Day added. "I think our experience last year had a lot to do with it...and winning at Roswell (final tournament) gave us a boost."

Johnson and Richard White - who, with freshman Seger earned All-Region honors here - are sophomores. Jeff Wagner, who fell one stroke short of earning All-Region, is also a sophomore.

Individual team scores for Western Texas were Johnson with a 216, Seger with a 220, White with a 230, Wagner with a 231, and Gary Hodge with a 241. Also representing WTC, but playing as an individual entry was Frank Monfery, 238.

"I'm especially happy with our scores because this is a tough, tough course," said O'Day of the par 71 Lost Creek Country Club course. "Only one player out of 51 shot below par and that was Chris (Johnson) with a 70. The course is long and has very slick greens. We just played very consistant on a very tough golf course and I'm really proud of the kids," he added.

Surprisingly, rain was no factor. "The wind got up but it didn't rain. It must have rained every place but on the golf course," O'Day laughed. "There was rain all around us, but not on us."

The National Tournament will be held June 2-5 at Henry Horton State Park near Chapel Hill, Tenn., located 40 miles south of Nashville.

Tiger Game Postponed; Lamesa Next Opponent

Thirteen days ago Snyder's Tigers needed but one district win to bag a 2-4A first-round baseball title. Pecos was the intended victim which would hopefully put the Tigers in the winner's circle. But that may not be.

School officials declared this morning that Moffett Field was too wet for action after thundershowers earlier in the week and yesterday, and have postponed today's Snyder-Pecos game until 4 p.m. Monday. The game had orginally been set for 7:30 Tuesday of this week, but rains forced its postponement until today.

Snyder, needing only one victory in its next two games to sack up a 2-4A round-one title, will thus attempt the feat against tomorrow's regularly scheduled opponent - the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes. That contest is slated for 4 p.m. in Lamesa - weather permitting, of course.

Lamesa is 0-5 in District 2-4A action. Snyder is 4-0 in loop play and 14-7-1 overall. The Tigers haven't seen district competition since defeating Andrews on April 10. The last game Snyder varsity played was a non-district 17-2 victory over Brownfield on April 14.

Despite the winless district record - Lamesa has won only three season games this year - Tiger Coach Albert Lewis is concerned about the contest tomorrow.

"They had a good game with Monahans which they lost 1-0 and had Ector down until the last out of the game when Ector came up with three doubles to beat them 3-2. So they've played some close games," he said.

Lewis expects Lamesa to go with Tony Lara atop the hill. "He's a righthander, curve ball pitcher," he commented. "He throws fairly hard but is not overpowering."

Tony Degrate, 6-1, was

Scott Enters Net Tourney Friday

ODESSA -- Kelly Scott, District 2-4A singles runnerup from Snyder High School, is scheduled to compete in the Class 4A Region I Tennis Tournament which begins at Odessa College tomorrow.

Scott faces Angie Riza of Cleburne at 10:30 a.m. in the first round.

First names were unavailable, but the rest of the 4A field pits Gomez of Fort Stockton against Thornton of Granbury, Triana of Vernon against Taylor of Estacado and Knighten of Lubbock Dunbar against Castillo of Fort Worth Hirschi.

Winner of the Scott-Riza match takes on the Knighten-Castillo victor at 3 p.m. Friday. Finals are set for 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

First and second place winners will advance to the state meet.

Texas Does It 'For Zimmer'...

Rangers Pound Red Sox

BOSTON (AP) - After three days of listening to verbal abuse and boos directed at Manager Don Zimmer on his first return to Boston since being fired by the Red Sox last fall, the Texas Rangers took matters into their own hands.

The Rangers exploded for 18 hits, including a three-run homer by Buddy Bell and six doubles, and salvaged the finale of a three-game series Wednesday with a 16-8 victory over the Red Sox.

The Rangers built a whopping 11-0 lead with seven runs in the first inning and four in the second. Bell, a 10-year American League veteran, helped in the first inning with a ground single to left. Later he applied the finisher with his homer in the seventh.

Bell, who says Fenway Park is "a little bit easier to hit the ball in," took over after the Red Sox had closed to within 13-8 in the sixth inning.

With runners on first and third and one out in the seventh, he drilled his first homer high into the screen in left despite a stiff wind blowing in toward home plate.

"That was no Fenway job," Boston Manager Ralph Houk said. "Our pitcher (Mark Clear) made a mistake. The ball was right down the middle and waist high. Bell really crushed it.

"His hit in the first inning, though, may have hurt us more. He hit a ground ball that I thought might be turned into a double play, but it went through the hole and they went on to score six more runs before we got out of the inning. Instead of being down 1-0, we were behind 7-0."

Bump Wills triggered and capped the big first inning, leading off with a ground rule double down the right-field foul line and driving in the sixth and seventh runs.

Houston Latest Victim Of Dodgers' Valenzuela

HOUSTON (AP) - Rookie sensation Fernando Valenzuela, the hottest pitcher in baseball this April, was not the man the struggling Houston Astros needed to see at the close of their homestand with the Dodgers.

But that's the way the rotation worked out and Valenzuela, the stocky left-hander with a dazzling screwball, mowed down the punchless Astros on seven hits Wednesday night in the Astrodome - logging 11 strikeouts, posting his 19th consecutive scoreless inning and beating former teammate Don Sutton.

"We need to get him over in the American League," Sutton groaned after Valenzuela, 4-0, not only handcuffed the Astro batters but also touched Sutton for a fifth-inning single that drove in the game's only run.

"When I got the hit, I was pleased to get the hit, but thankful to get ahead in the game," Valenzuela, speaking through an interpreter, said of his drive to right that scored Pedro Guerrero.

The run provided Valenzuela his third shutout of the year, raised his league-leading striekout total to 36 and pushed the Dodgers to their best start in 26 years.

That stuff left the Astros, mired in a horrendous hitting slump that has the defending National League West champions off to a pitiful 3-9 start, mumbling at their bats and trailing Los Angeles by seven games.

"It's just discouraging, losing games and not scoring enough runs," said Houston right fielder Terry Puhl. "We've tried to pull out of it. I don't know what it takes, but we'd better find out pretty quick."

Sutton suffered his third loss in as many starts despite scattering six Dodger hits.

Valenzuela simply outmatched Sutton. The Dodger pitcher has not permitted a run in 19⅓ straight innings and has allowed only one run in four complete games this year for an earned run average of 0.25.

KC Kings Bounce Back; Series Resumes Friday

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Del Harris has played, watched and coached too many basketball games to believe the home court advantage will forever remain almost non-existent.

And he figures Friday night, when his Houston Rockets return home deadlocked 1-1 in their Western Conference championship series with Kansas City, would be the perfect time for the old "HCA" to reappear.

"We're happy to get the split," Harris said Wednesday after the Kings, led by 31 points from Reggie King and timely buckets by John Lambert and Ernie Grunfeld, defeated the Rockets 88-79. "We think the home court advantage still will show itself in the playoffs."

In twelve playoff games, the Rockets have won only once at home.

"Regardless of our road record, I still would rather be home, with the home crowd," he said.

Moses Malone struck for 31 points and helped bury the Kings in the series opener Tuesday night 97-78, but the Kings held the dominant center to just 18 Wednesday while King scored 21 in the first half and 10 in the second.

"I just went out there and played hard," said the 6-foot-6 power forward two years out of Alabama. "We had to win it tonight. You wouldn't want to go back to Houston 0-2. We have to control the tempo and we have to contain Moses. We have to contain him because we can't stop him."

Celtics Cool Philadelphia; Even Playoff Series At 1-1

BOSTON (AP) - In a 24-hour span, the Philadelphia 76ers went from one-point winners to 19-point losers. The explanation, Coach Billy Cunningham and forward Julius Erving agreed, is simple.

"They established how they wanted to play," Erving said after Wednesday night's 118-99 National Basketball Association playoff romp by the Boston Celtics. "It would be foolish for me to really dissect what happened. We just didn't have it."

"They outplayed us in all phases," added Cunningham. "We didn't play well and they had a lot to do with it."

The Celtics' victory, one day after a 105-104 loss, evened the best-of-seven Eastern Conference championship series at one game apiece. The scene shifts to Philadelphia for games Friday night and Sunday.

The Celtics led all the way after scoring the first eight points. They broke the game open with a 14-0 burst late in the second quarter that boosted their lead to 59-41. They led 66-47 at halftime and never let Philadelphia closer than 14 points thereafter.

named earlier in the week as Snyder's starter against Pecos. However, since the opponent is Lamesa now, Lewis may change that.

"I'm not sure whether we'll go with Tony or (Gerald Don) Hicks," he said. "Hicks had 14 strike outs the last time we played them (Snyder Tournament; Snyder won 10-0)."

Both will figure in the next three-game span, however. In addition to Pecos on Monday, Snyder begins second-round action against Monahans here Tuesday and Lewis has tentatively planned for Hicks, Degrate and John Wilson to start - although he has not decided on the order.

Charges Are Pending In Biting Case

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Charges are pending against a man who bit part of a Dallas attorney's ear off during a fight in which a pregnant woman also was punched in the stomach.

Tom Dickinson lost about half his ear Saturday afternoon in the parking lot of Arlington Stadium when a fight broke out that sent two Dallas criminal attorneys and their spouses to the hospital.

The buses, chartered by the Dallas County Criminal Bar Association, were filled with defense attorneys, county prosecutors and investigators, police officers and a judge.

12th Social Security Hike In 13 Years Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the 12th time in 13 years, Social Security recipients will be getting an increase in benefits — probably around 11.2 percent.

The exact size of the increase for the nation's 36 million beneficiaries depends on the March Consumer Price Index figures being released today.

Social Security benefits rise automatically each year with that inflation index, as do Supplemental Security Income benefits for 4.1 million poor, aged, blind or disabled people.

Each 1 percent increase in the Consumer Price Index boosts the cost of Social Security by $1.4 billion a year. The new increase in benefits, which will take effect in July, is expected to add upward of $15.4 billion to the annual cost of the program, now $136 billion a year.

The maximum benefit for 65-year-olds retiring this year is $677 a month. They are likely to get a boost of about $76, raising them to about $753 a month.

The average retired worker gets $337 a month and stands to receive an increase of about $37 to $374 a month.

The average elderly couple now gets $576 from Social Security. They would get about $64 more, $640 a month.

The minimum benefit of $153.10 a month is likely to go up about $17 to $170.

The maximum SSI payment is now $238 for an individual and $357 for couples. Their payments are likely to rise by nearly $27 and $40 respectively.

Some SSI recipients may gain nothing. When their checks go up, other benefits may fall correspondingly.

Since 1975, Social Security checks have risen automatically each July under a formula that provides for the increases when inflation exceeds 3 percent from the first quarter of one year to the first quarter of the next.

The Empire State Building has a maximum sway of 2.97 inches, recorded in 1936.

Body Chemistry, Perfume React

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because you like a perfume spray on someone else does not mean you'll like the same perfume on yourself. That is because body chemistry and skin oils affect the aroma of perfumes.

It takes 10 minutes for a fragrance to interact with skin oils and at least one hour to develop its full range of scent in reaction to an individual's body chemistry, reports the Aerosol Packaging Council.
