Some casualties as Marines invade isle

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (AP) — About 1,800 U.S. Marines and a small number of Army Rangers invaded Marxist-ruled Grenada today along with 300 soldiers from six Caribbean nations, and President Reagan said they had secured the island's two airports in a "completely successful" operation.

Pentagon sources said the Rangers suffered casualties, but gave no details. A ham radio report from some of the 750 American medical students on Grenada said a U.S. helicopter was shot down, and a report from a Barbados radio station said three Cubans were killed and 22 wounded in fighting at an airport construction site.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said Reagan told him and other congressmen in a briefing that 30 Soviet personnel were seized in Grenada and they "will be asked to leave."

Reagan, in a Washington news conference, said he wanted to withdraw the American troops "as quickly as possible," and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said the Marines would be in Grenada "five to seven days or less."

Reagan's announcement today followed a broadcast by Radio Free Grenada that helicopter-borne U.S. paratroopers had landed and taken both airports on the island in the eastern Caribbean. The broadcast said there was fierce fighting at the main airport.

The other airport is being built by Cuban workers, and Barbados state-owned Caribbean Broadcasting Co. said three Cubans were killed and 22 wounded in fighting there. It gave no source for the report or other details.

The invasion was launched a day after the military regime that seized power last week effectively blocked evacuation of as many as 300 Americans from Grenada, which sits about 100 miles southwest of Barbados and 100 miles north of Venezuela.

Reagan told a Washington news conference that the United States acceded to a request from the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States to go into Grenada to oppose the "brutal group of leftist thugs" running the nation.

He said in addition to American forces that those involved came from Antigua, Barbados, Dominica, Jamaica, St. Lucia and St. Vincent.

Reagan said the goals of the operation were to "protect innocent lives," including up to 1,000 Americans on Grenada, "to forestall further chaos," and to work for "the restoration of law and order and democracy."

The United States "had no choice but to act strongly and decisively," Reagan said. Asked for details of the operation, Reagan said both airfields on Grenada had been taken.

American medical students on Grenada said in ham radio broadcasts that one helicopter crashed during the invasion, and that the state radio was urging doctors and nurses to report for duty, indicating there were some casualties.

The ham reports said the medical school's "True Blue" campus, at the end of the new airfield, had been taken by the invaders, according to Leslie Wilbur, university co-director of operations, in a telephone interview from Bay Shore, N.Y.

Tennis courts closer to reality

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Residents of the Walcott community are within $1,600 of funds needed for an application to construct two tennis courts, the Deaf Smith County Commission learned Monday.

Susan Perrin, a member of the Walcott Independent School District Board of Education, said all but $1.570 of the needed $34,725 has been raised for the project. Construction of the tennis facility depends on whether the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission (PRPC) approves a matching grant.

Deaf Smith County has agreed to perform $14,220 worth of construction site work while the estimated $4,900 in lighting costs has been donated by an unannounced source. The other $14,065 has been pledged by Walcott residents.

Total cost of the project, including a parking area, is expected to be $69,450.

At the Oct. 10 county commission meeting, PRPC representative Gary Pitner explained the Texas Parks and Recreation Department offers funds for projects such as those wanted by Walcott. The matching funds are available only to county governments, which requires the tennis courts application to be made by Deaf Smith County.

On Monday, the commissioners said they hoped to submit the completed application this week.

In other matters, all four county fathers made plans to attend a seminar on bond presentation for jail construction, set for Nov. 21 in New York, N.Y. They will be accompanied on the journey by County Judge Glen Nelson. One local travel agent guess-

Win at Borger

HHS marchers qualify for state

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

The "Big Red Band" returned from Borger Saturday night with just what it had hoped for - a division I rating for the 26th year in a row and the outstanding band title that qualifies it for the State UIL Marching Contest Nov. 14-16 in Austin.

The Hereford High School marching band was also named outstanding band in last year's Panhandle Region UIL (University Interscholastic League) competition but was not able to make the trip to the state contest. This year, with the help of fund-raising activities such as magazine sales by band members and a dinner supported by the Booster Club, each member will have his way paid to Austin and for some of the meals while there.

The 192-member band, under the direction of Johnny Martinez, beat out four other 5A schools to capture the award. Assistant band directors are James MaClasky, Robert Cox, Mike Bryant and Jim Summersgill. Kay Banner is the twirler sponsor and the 42-member drill team is supervised by Marilyn Leasure and Sue Powell.

Martinez said the students are a dedicated group and worked hard preparing for Saturday's meet. The band practices one class hour each day and one night a week. He said he left for Borger feeling the band had a good chance to win, especially after capturing the first-place award last week in the West Texas State University Marching Contest.

The 10-minute presentation consisted of four songs arranged especially for the band by Richard Clem of WTSU. Martinez said the band will continue to polish the show in the next three weeks, since it must be performed flawlessly in state competition for the band to win.

A graduate of Texas A&I University at Kingsville, Martinez taught music at Hondo before coming to Hereford. His Hondo band was the third place state winner in 1981.

Man killed in accident

Seventy-four-year-old Peter Lipko, from Flushing, N.Y., was killed just west of Hereford Monday evening when a truck pulled in front of him on eastbound Highway 60.

Lipko was eastbound near Caviness Packing Company Inc. in his 1981 Volkswagon Rabbit, according to Darrel Matthews of the Texas Department of Public Safety. A 1969 Ford flatbed truck, driven by Adam Valdarez of unknown address, reportedly caused the accident by pulling onto Highway 60 from Kingswood Road.

Lipko died before law enforcement officers arrived on the scene, Matthews said. The cause of death, according to the patrolman, was a crushed head.

Funeral services for Lipko are pending with Iberia Funeral Home in Jackson Heights, N.Y.

Meanwhile, the Hereford Police Department said Leonel Vasquez was accidentally shot by a .25-caliber pistol early Sunday morning. He was reportedly fired at by Mary Chavez in her 212 North St. home. Chavez and Vasquez both told police it was an accident.

Vasquez, who was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital, was soon released. The bullet had entered his left side and exited through his chest, leaving all vital organs unscathed.

Old building scheduled to be moved

By KIM THOGMARTIN

The Santa Fe Railways freight train carrying "reefer" cars loaded with fresh produce, pulls into Hereford, where the eight-man staff of the Hereford Ice Company is ready to work.

The order for each car: 100 blocks of ice, each weighing 300 pounds and requiring 27 hours to freeze. The 15 tons of cold stuff are ground and blown into the cars. The train won't be stopping for ice again before reaching its New York City destination.

According to Joe A. Brown, who lives on South Kingswood and worked for the company 21 years, that was a typical scene in the 1960s. A busy day would see the employees loading 50 railway cars and 10 produce trucks with the heavy cakes of ice, which were formed in 11-by-52-inch molds and each required 37 gallons of water pumped from the company's private wells.

With the 1970s came big advancements in refrigeration and the MTC (mechanically temperature controlled) cars, which needed little or no ice at all. Two years ago, the plant that had once operated round the clock to produce nearly 110,000 pounds of ice daily closed its doors.

The sheet metal building, located each of the Bull Barn, has been sold by owners Jack and A.T. Griffin to Jim Culpepper of Hereford Wrecking Company. This week, the 128-feet-long by 78-feet-wide structure will be moved to Culpepper's location, about one-fourth of a mile away near Frito Lay.

The ice-making equipment has already been removed from the building, and with it went the last remains of an era that was an important part of railroad history in Hereford. Tons of ice were purchased every day by trains that had come from Belen, New Mexico, if not further, from the west, and at least as far east as Kansas City. The Hereford Ice Company provided a re-icing station playing a significant role in the cross-country transportation of perishable food items.

Brown recalled that 576 cakes of ice, all of which were the 300-pound size, were kept freezing at a time in the underground tanks that were maintained at a frigid 6 degrees above zero. When the molds were removed from the tanks, they were placed in containers of 77-degree water. After warming a few minutes, the ice popped up out of the molds so it could be removed and transported to the 28 degree storage room.

Brown, who managed the company the last four years, said the workmen really weren't bothered by the cold because they spent most of their time outside loading the railway cars and private trucks. In the summertime, he said, it was usually a relief to go inside for a while.

The company was founded in 1948 by Rip Underwood of Amarillo, who owned it until about seven years ago when the Griffins bought it. "Gilbert Alaniz, Bill Trowbridge and Roland Longes are three local men who worked with me for several years," Brown remembered. "We also had a lot of short-term help, and high school boys in the summertime. In latter years the staff dwindled down to just four."

Brown said that when the Santa Fe Railroad, their biggest customer, no longer needed the ice, they continued to operate for a while selling ice locally and to a few trucks. But ice became more expensive to make, he said, and by July of 1981 the company could no longer turn a profit.

"Nobody in Hereford makes ice any more," said Brown, "in fact, the nearest plants of any size are in San Antonio and Wichita Falls."

Buildings of that size aren't often moved in Hereford, in fact Bob Campbell said it is the largest structure he has ever moved. He and his crew were working Monday to jack the building up four feet in the air, and put into place the 74 wheels that the building will roll on. Two semi-tractors, one in front and one behind, will transport the structure down a side street that is much narrower than the building itself. He hoped to move it Wednesday.

Campbell said the electric company will be called on to raise the power lines which would otherwise be in the way of the 30-feet tall building as it rolls down the road. Campbell estimated the former ice company building weighs 44,000 pounds.

Culpepper said he will remodel the building to house his office, which will enable him to have all of his business in one area.

Surveying job

Bob Campbell, who hopes to move the former Hereford Ice Company on Wednesday, surveys the half-completed job of raising the structure about four feet in the air so the dollies can be put in place.

MDA Super Skate set here

Costume judging has been added to the list of events scheduled for the Halloween Super Skate, slated Saturday from 2 to 7 p.m. at Hereford's Playhouse Skating Rink.

Muscular Dystrophy Association Chairman Janice Holmes said the rink will donate a pair of roller skates to the winner of that contest.

Entry forms are available at the rink, McDonalds or any Allsup's store. All collected money must be turned in before the skate begins. Prizes for money raised range from an official Super Skate T-shirt, button and patch - for $25 collected - to a 10-speed bicycle for raising $700.

Holmes stressed that complete entry details are on the forms. All money raised will be used for patient care in the Panhandle area.

Hereford gets tax rebate

State Comptroller Bob Bullock last week sent checks totaling $10.7 million to 219 counties and 416 cities as their share of the state's 10-percent mixed drink tax collected during the third quarter of 1983.

Bullock reported the state collected a total of $37.2 million in taxes from the sale of mixed drinks during the quarter, up 7.4 percent from the same three months last year.

Hereford received a check for $2,247.39, which represents 15 percent of the $14,982.59 collected here during the quarter. The state's general revenue fund will receive the balance of the returned tax money.

Bullock claimed the mixed drink tax brought in $111.2 million during the first three quarters of 1983.

HHS student suspended

A Hereford High School student was suspended for the remainder of the fall semester Monday night by the Hereford Independent School District Board of Education.

The unidentified student was found guilty of having violated school rules. The action, coming in the form of a 6-0 vote, was contested by neither the student nor his parents.

School board members are next scheduled to meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 8 in the HISD administration office.

Settlement reported in drownings

WACO, Texas (AP) — Attorneys involved in lawsuits resulting from the Lake Mexia drownings of three youths who were in the custody of county officials say they've settled the $12 million dispute.

Jury selection in three $4 million lawsuits, which had been consolidated into one suit against Limestone County officials, was scheduled to have begun here Monday.

"In my opinion, the case is settled. There's been a meeting of the minds. Every claim that could be resolved has been settled. The trial is definitely off," Rob Squires, the lawyer who filed the suit for the families of the drowning victims, told the Waco Tribune-Herald.

The out-of-court settlement still must be approved by court officials.

Steven Lawrence Booker, 19; Carl Baker, 19; and Anthony Freeman, 18, drowned during a Juneteenth celebration at Lake Mexia. After their arrest on charges of possession of marijuana, they were being transported across Lake Mexia in a boat owned by the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife. They drowned when the boat capsized.

The suits alleged that negligence by former sheriff's deputy Kenneth Elliott, reserve deputy Kenneth Archie and adult probation officer David Drummond caused the drownings.

Feds probe State Fair accident

DALLAS (AP) — Federal officials have sent a nationwide bulletin alerting agencies to a fatal accident at a State Fair of Texas amusement ride and are monitoring an investigation to determine if a ban on similar rides is needed.

Nancy Harvey Steorts, chairwoman of the Consumer Product Safety Commission, arrived in Dallas Monday and said the investigation into the accident would last another three weeks.

"As part of our investigation, the Consumer Product Safety Commission will attempt to see whether the problem is limited to the ride at this state fair or if it is a problem at others," said Ms. Steorts.

Investigators have not determined what caused a car from the Enterprise to fly from the ride's metal base and skid 40 feet into the fair midway, she said. One man died in the accident, and 16 others were injured.

1200 protesters arrested nationwide

Dr. Benjamin Spock was handled with care and a police chief's wife was seized by her husband's officers as 1,200 protesters nationwide were arrested for strewing ashes, climbing fences and lying across roads to protest deployment of U.S.-made missiles in Europe.

Monday's demonstrations capped a weekend of 140 rallies nationwide against NATO's planned placement of cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in Western Europe, where 1.5 million people have joined recent protests.

Spock was among more than 380 people arrested as they climbed a chain-link fence surrounding the Seneca Army Depot in Romulus, N.Y. The famed 80-year-old baby doctor, who wore a tie bearing red peace symbols, was helped over the 6-foot barricade by two women and eased down the other side by two military policemen.

"I was a little bit nervous about whether I'd fall flat and look ridiculous," Spock said afterward.

The Seneca protesters, who came from as far away as Indiana and California, were confronted by about 50 flag-waving counter-demonstrators who accused them of being communists, and about 20 hymn-singing evangelists.

Shultz blames Iran, Syria, Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although proof is lacking, Secretary of State George P. Shultz says the Soviet Union, Iran and Syria all could have a hand in the devastating attack on American Marines in Beirut because they are "enemies of peace."

"The enemies of peace in Lebanon are the enemies of peace in the Middle East, and it is not a coincidence that these elements have been bitter opponents of the Multinational Force in Lebanon of which our Marines are a part," Shultz told members of Congress Monday.

Shultz also disclosed he is going to Europe later this week for urgent consultations with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and Italy, which also have contributed troops to the force in Lebanon.

It was learned elsewhere that the meeting will be in Paris, probably on Thursday.

Smiling terrorist passes sentries

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The driver of a pickup truck packed with TNT was smiling as he sped past Marine sentries who tried to stop his suicide mission before he slaughtered their sleeping comrades.

But the half-dozen sentries could not halt the terrorist before he crashed into the lobby of the four-story command post and barracks, and detonated his truck-bomb in a swift, deadly attack.

The explosion shattered the building that was headquarters of a Marine battalion and killed nearly 200 U.S. servicemen, most of them asleep inside.

"We heard about a thousand people, it seemed like, screaming 'Help me! God, help me!,'" said Lance Cpl. Robert Calhoun, 21, of San Antonio, Texas. He was an off-duty sentry sleeping on the roof, knocked out by the the explosion.

Calhoun later said he had talked to another Marine who was on guard duty "and walked out alive."

"He told me the man (driving the truck) was wearing green fatigues," said Calhoun, who did not identify the sentry.

"As he (the attacker) went past, (the sentry) tried to pull out a magazine because we're not allowed to have one in our weapon," Calhoun said. "He tried to pull the bolt home, but by the time he got everything loaded, (the bomb) exploded. He said all he remembered was that the guy was smiling."

Dewayne House prepares to move one of the dollies that will help to roll the huge metal building from its location near the railroad tracks. The job will require a total of 74 such wheels.

Congress puzzled by poor protection

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans alike in Congress are demanding to know why more was not done to protect U.S. Marines at their billet in Beirut from the same kind of terrorist explosion that destroyed the U.S. Embassy in the Lebanese capital six months ago.

The Senate Armed Services Committee summoned Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger to testify behind closed doors today on security for the Marines. The subject also dominated a sometimes stormy closed session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee with Weinberger and Secretary of State George P. Shultz on Monday.

The Marines were killed early Sunday when an unidentified suicide terrorist drove a bomb-rigged truck into the open space beneath their headquarters building, which stood on concrete stilts near the Beirut international airport.

The same technique was used in the April 18 attack on the embassy, which killed 17 Americans.

"Quite frankly we had inadequate security, particularly since a short time ago we had the experience of an explosion not unlike this in the American embassy," said Sen. John Warner, R-Va., a member of the Armed Services Committee and former secretary of the Navy.

Rep. Thomas J. Downey, D-N.Y., said Weinberger and Shultz encountered "fairly hostile questions," including, "Why had we not learned from the bombing at the embassy?"

Rep. Trent Lott of Mississippi, the Republican whip, said, "The major thrust of the questioning has been along the lines that the Marines are kept safe."

After a similar closed session with Shultz alone, attended by about half of the Senate, Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., said the secretary gave "a strong commitment that security would be evaluated," but "no answers as to why the breach of security occurred."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said: "I reject the administration's preposterous rationale that we did all we could to protect our forces."

Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, demanded "a full explanation of what orders the Marines were under — and how a truck full of TNT could have gotten past all the checkpoints."

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said the two main unanswered questions are how to get the Marines out of Lebanon and why there was inadequate security despite the embassy car-bombing six months earlier.

Sen. Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, the senior Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "We did learn that the situation is one that could occur again."

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., said Shultz told House members, "This is the kind of situation you have to expect in an area like that."

"If that's something we have to expect, let's get out of there," said Long, who is chairman of the House Appropriations subcomvittee on foreign operations.

Long and Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., planned to introduce an amendment to a military spending bill, possibly today, to cut off funds for the Marines as of Nov. 30."

In Lebanon

Marines look for cover as three vehicles seen

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Marines were ordered into foxholes and bunkers today near the rubble of the bombed U.S. command post after three suspicious vehicles were seen at the airport, a Marine spokesman said.

Rescuers dug four more bodies from the shattered command post building, raising the American death toll from Sunday's bombing by a suicide terrorist to 207, according to the Pentagon.

French officials said 35 French troops were killed, 15 were wounded and 23 were missing in a bombing at a French compound seconds after the attack on the Americans.

"There have been three vehicles spotted driving around the area," said Capt. Wayne Jones. "There are suspicions that they could contain explosives."

Marines went on their highest state of alert and officers warned reporters to get in the bunkers or leave the area. Marine spokesman Maj. Robert Jordan said if anyone approached the gate to the Marine compound, "It will be a shoot-to-kill situation."

Airport officials received an anonymous bomb threat, and Marine guards took up firing positions around the British Embassy building in downtown Beirut that houses U.S. Embassy offices in the Lebanese capital.

American press attache John Stewart said the 45-minute embassy alert was triggered by "a warning of a potential threat. Later we were told we could resume normal activities. And we did."

Stewart, however, said the atmosphere was extremely tense.

The British Embassy is on Beirut's seafront, five miles north of the Marine base and has housed American diplomats since a suicide terrorist bombed the U.S. Embassy April 18.

Some 300 Marine replacements for comrades killed or wounded in Sunday's terrorist bombing took up their positions at the airport, where the U.S. contingent of a four-nation peacekeeping force is based.

Gen. Paul X. Kelley, commandant of the Marine Corps, also arrived today for an inspection ordered by President Reagan in the wake of the attack.

Jones said Marine commander Col. Timothy Geraghty ordered the entire contingent on the highest state of alert as the three vehicles drove back and forth near the airport.

Jordan said there were more bodies buried in the ruins of the four-story glass and concrete building.

"We are now to the second and first floors where the majority of the Marines were sleeping and we've taken out many of those. We have some more to go," he said.

Bulldozers and cranes provided by the Lebanese government and private firms in Beirut worked under spotlights throughout the night and into the morning at the Marines' airport zone and at the site of the bombed French quarters.

The latest figures issued by the U.S. Defense Department today put the overall U.S. casualty toll in the bombing at 192 killed.

In Washington, as a political furor built over the Marines' mission, President Reagan declared the Marines will stay, because "we have vital interests in Lebanon ... the mission remains and it remains unfulfilled."

He said the bombing was "a horrifying reminder of the type of enemy we face in many areas of the world today — vicious, cowardly and ruthless."

French President Francois Mitterrand, returning to Paris after a visit to Beirut, said that France "remains and will remain faithful to its engagement in Lebanon."

Reagan raises stakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is escalating the rationale for his Lebanon policy by suggesting that a U.S. military withdrawal could lead to Soviet domination of the entire Middle East and a cutoff of Western access to the region's oil supplies.

By depicting the stakes in those terms Monday, Reagan indicated that previous administration justifications for the Marine presence in Lebanon did not go to the heart of the issue.

Before Monday, the administration had been defending the Marines' mission in more limited terms: to make Israel's northern border secure, to help achieve Lebanese national reconciliation and to promote the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Lebanon.

But Reagan, speaking a day after the Beirut airport massacre, said the stakes involved not only Lebanon's political future but that of the entire Middle East, the security of Western oil supplies and American global credibility as well.

Reagan noted that forces loyal to the Soviet Union have taken over in such countries as South Yemen and Ethiopia and "it would be a disaster" if forces with similar orientation were able to spread their influence throughout the Middle East.

And, citing the presence of several thousand Soviet military advisers in Syria, Reagan said pro-Soviet forces are poised to move elsewhere in the region.

Despite the enormity of the stakes, Reagan said it would be a mistake for American forces to become involved in the area other than in a peacekeeping role. If Americans were to go into combat, "We would be fighting Arab states.

GRENADA

radio said Grenada's state radio stopped regular broadcasting. CBC also said the invaders set up a radio transmitter in Grenada, declaring "Caribbean forces have arrived in Grenada to protect lives and restore order" and urging Grenada's citizens to aid in the operation.

It said they should stay indoors, refuse to obey any orders except those from "friendly forces," confiscate weapons given to their children by the regime of Gen. Hudson Austin, report the position of those resisting the invasion, and allow "friendly forces" to enter their homes if necessary.

The reported military operation effectively cut in half the island nation of 110,000 people, which has an army of about 2,000 troops and another 8,000 paramilitary forces. The military took power last week in a coup precipitated by a faction in the government that apparently wanted the Marxist regime to move further left.

The Radio Free Grenada broadcast said the invaders took Pearls Airport, then cleared barbed wire at a new airstrip under construction 16 miles away at Point Salines after "fierce combat" with Grenadian soldiers.

Both campuses of St. George's Medical School are near Point Salines, some three miles south of the capital of Grenada, St. Georges.

One campus is at the end of the new airstrip, and about 300-400 Cubans working on the Port Salines field have a barracks overlooking the strip.

COURT

ed the excursion would cost the county around $3,300.

Bob Davis, a representative of Kidder, Peabody & Company, reportedly recommended all five members of the county governing body attend the seminar. Davis' Amarillo firm is providing the loan needed by the county to perform work on its jail.

Commissioners intend to fund the proposed $1.55 million of construction work at the county jail by issuing certificates of obligation, it was announced at their Oct. 10 meeting.

Donald Hicks was appointed to serve as election judge for Precinct 6. The vacancy was created by L.J. Strafuss becoming too ill to serve. Jim Conkwright will replace Hicks as the precinct's assistant judge.

Commissioners also decided to move the county's gasoline pumps from east of the jail to the Precinct 1 barn, located on Veterans Park Road.

The next regularly-scheduled gathering of the county commission is set for 10 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 14.

BAND

The band leader said the biggest change that he's made since coming here has been the inclusion of the drill team in marching competition. He said none of the other Panhandle bands have such a large team and some don't march any drill team members.

Martinez also encouraged five of the seven cheerleaders to march with the band, which hasn't been done recently. They and the 12 football players who play instruments practice daily, so they're able to keep up with the routines although they don't participate during football games.

Get answers about drugs

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Since more people read your column than the news sections, I hope you will print this vital information -- especially for older folks.

A lawyer, Raul G. Rogers, who was for many years a congressman from Florida, has started a "Get the Answers" campaign within the National Council on Patient Information and Education. The purpose is to stimulate dialogue between physicians and patients about drugs being recommended.

Even though complete instructions and much information accompany almost every drug sold in pharmacies a great many people do not read them. This results in the waste of many billions of dollars annually because patients do not use their medication properly.

Rogers says, "Every patient should ask his or her doctor, pharmacist or nurse five questions about any drug that is prescribed." These are:

1. What is the name of the drug and what is it supposed to do?
2. How and when do I take it–and for how long?
3. What food, drinks, other medicines or activities should I avoid while taking this drug?
4. Are there any side effects, and what should I do if they occur?
5. Is there any written information available about the drug?

Thanks for calling this to the attention of millions.–Holyoke, Mass.

DEAR HOLYOKE: Thanks for spreading the word. It's no surprise to me that the idea originated with Paul Rogers. He did a splendid job as chairman of the Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services and Education Appropriations. And while I'm passing out roses, the present chairman, Bill Natcher of Kentucky, can step right up and get his. He's extremely competent and a real Southern gentleman.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have three children between us. My son has never made any demands on us, but the other two are something else.

His daughter (alcoholic) calls collect and talks for an hour. Her only son was taken away by the courts. We paid the $1,000 fine when she drove through the plate-glass window of a storefront. We also paid to replace the glass.

The worst problem is my husband's son, who recently left his wife and two small children. He has decided after seven years that he is not the type who should be married. They live 100 miles from here. When it is his turn to take the children for the weekend, he dumps them on us (me) and goes to play golf and visit with friends. Sometimes he comes without calling and we have to cancel our plans at the last minute. My husband is a peach, but he puts his son head of me, and I resent it.

You keep saying in your column that no one can take advantage of another person unless it is permitted. Please tell me how I can help myself.–Pushed Around In Baltimore

DEAR PUSHED: People who enter a second marriage should take a close look at the children of the spouse. When you picked the peach, you also got a couple of lemons.

You can refuse to cancel your plans to accommodate your stepson. Let your husband stay home with the kids. And if the children are too much work, hire some help and let your husband pay for it.

Around the County

By SUSAN RANEY
County Extension Agent

Girls' Tomato Clubs, forerunners of today's 4-H program conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, were honored recently with the dedication of a historical marker at Cameron in Milam County.

The first Girls' Tomato Club in Texas was organized in that county in 1912 to help girls learn to grow and can tomatoes. The club was organized by Mrs. Edna Trigg, appointed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as the first county home demonstration agent in Texas, who served Milam County.

This successful effort along with the success of Boys' Corn Clubs organized in 1908 in Jack County launched the modern-day 4-H program which now reaches some 187,000 boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 in Texas and almost five million nationwide.

During the dedication of the Texas Historical Commission marker commemorating the early work of Girls' Tomato Clubs, Extension Service Director Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter noted that both the Boys' Corn Clubs and Girls' Tomato Clubs were established on the "learn -by-doing" teaching method which continues today.

Carpenter added that the 4-H program has remained strong over the years and continues to develop leadership and citizenship qualities in young people that our nation is dependent upon in the future.

H.T. "Tom" Davison, state 4-H program leader with the Extension Service, commented during the marker dedication ceremonies that the 4-H program has grown to what it is today because it arose out of the needs of people.

4-H is truly an inspirational program, one in which members, leaders and parents can all grow as a unit, Davison said. It brings to those involved a different quality of life if they will participate and gain all the knowledge and skills that can be attained.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, colors, sex, religion or national origin.

Professor speaks about health, future of army

National defense was the topic when Colonel Jonathan Searles, professor of military science at West Texas State University, spoke to Los Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday evening in the Flame Room.

During his program, entitled "What Your Army is About--Its Health and Future," Searles said that the goal of the U.S. Army is to be an army of excellence. This will be achieved through three things: people-competent, well-trained individuals; forces-unified groups working well together; and equipment-the best available, he stated.

As this goal is fulfilled, the army will accomplish its two-fold mission: to act as a deterrent, and to be capable of winning if the deterrent factor is unsuccessful, noted Searles.

A discussion period followed his presentation.

The business meeting was conducted by Regent Mrs. Stanford Knox, who led the opening ritual. Mrs. Merlin Kaul led the singing of the national anthem, Mrs. Leroy Williamson led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Mrs. Herman Drake led the American Creed.

Mrs. Charles Bell gave the messae from the president general, NSDAR. The national defense report was given by Mrs. Abel Ruga. It dealt with educational reforms, noting probable causes of the decline in our educational system and discussing steps that could be taken to try to establish excellence in education.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mmes. Thomas Draper, Drake, Garth Thomas, and Jeff Smart.

Guests for the eveing were Mrs. Barbara Searles of Canyon, Mrs. Josephine Ruga of Portland, Ore., Mrs. Buryl Fish, Mrs. Margie Ford, Garth Thomas, and Leroy Williamson. Other members attending were Mmes. Sue James and J.P. Jones.

Giants salvage tie with Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If Neil O'Donoghue never has to endure another such ordeal, he already has paid his dues.

"I felt good, but I missed," said O'Donoghue after missing on three field-goal attempts in overtime for the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night. "If I had them over, I'd make them all."

But O'Donoghue got no second chances, and the New York Giants were able to walk off with a 20-20 tie in the National Football League contest.

"Both teams had chances to win, and there's frustration in both locker rooms" said New York Coach Bill Parcells. "I can appreciate how they must feel."

O'Donoghue, at 6-foot-6 the tallest kicker in the NFL, embarked on his misadventures after first rescuing St. Louis from defeat.

His 22-yard field goal with 54 seconds left in the fourth quarter created the tie. It offset Ali Haji-Sheikh's earlier boot of 28 yards for the Giants, but later the St. Louis kicker went cold.

"There's no excuse," said O'Donoghue after squibbing a 19-yard attempt among the three he missed in overtime.

"These things happen. It's been a long time since I missed three in a row," the mild-mannered veteran of seven NFL veteran seaaons said. "You do the best you can and go on. I had to hit them, and I didn't."

"It was an excellent chip shot. It was automatic, you win the game," St. Louis Coach Jim Hanifan said wearily. "We didn't want to lose the clock. We didn't want Neil to run around. He just missed it."

St. Louis, after trailing most of the way in regulation time, dominated the overtime period to no avail.

O'Donoghue first missed a 44-yard field goal attempt following a short New York punt. Following the try from short range with 1:03 to go, he missed a 42-yarder with 44 seconds remaining.

Hanifan was asked, in view of his team's numerous chances, if he equated the tie with a defeat.

"When you think of the opportunities ... yeah, you have to feel that way," said Hanifan. "I don't recall ever missing a win before in a game like this."

The Giants had a 14-10 edge at halftime.

It was the first tie of the year in the NFL and only the seventh in 87 regular-season overtime contests since the NFL went to sudden-deeath play in 1974.

St. Louis wound up with a 388-264 advantage in total yards, much of it generated by Mitchell's rushing total of 108 yards on 24 carries. Each team had three turnovers.

As time was winding down in the extra period, the Cards sent O'Donoghue on the field to attempt his 19-yard field goal on second down.

President John A. Garfield was ambidextrous and used to demonstrate his ability to guests by taking a pen in each hand and writing simultaneously in Greek and Latin.

Herd, Dogs tied for district lead

Hereford shut down the explosive Palo Duro offense and calimed a 14-10 victory, but the biggest surprise in the District 3-5A race last week may have been Lubbock Coronado's 13-12 conquest of the Amarillo Sandies.

Plainview and Hereford are now in the driver's seat, each with one defeat, but three teams are very much in the playoff picture with two weeks remaining in the league chase.

Amarillo, Palo Duro and Monterey have two losses and if each of them won this week, there would be five teams with identical 5-2 records.

The pivotal battles this week will find Hereford at Amarillo High and Monterey at Plainview. Lubbock Monterey has won its last three games and has a 4-2 mark, while Amarillo lost its second game this past week. The Sandies' loss didn't really help Hereford's cause, but it boosted the hopes of Palo Duro and Monterey in having a chance to reach post-season play.

Hereford still rules its own destiny, regardless of what happens to others. The Herd can assure itself of at least second place in the district by winning its next two games. Should the Herd stumble this week, however, they could be in a second-place tie with three other teams.

Since Hereford and Amarillo started playing each other in 1970, the Herd has won six and lost sevenof the matches. Hereford scored a 32-0 shutout last season and a 21-0 whitewash in 1981, so the Sandies haven't scored on the Herd in eight quarters of play.

The last Sandie triumph was a 14-0 decision in 1979. Amarillo won six straight from 1974 to 1979, while Hereford won 3 of the first 4 games between the schools.

Scott named 'Player of Week'

Hereford's Mike Scott has been named Player of the Week in District 3-5A by the Amarillo Globe-News. David Scott of Amarillo High took the defensive honor.

Scott, 145-pound junior, connected on 9 of 11 passes for 160 yards and both touchdowns in Hereford's 14-10 win over Palo Duro. Hereford coach Jerry Taylor said Scott's accuracy and consistency are his strongest points.

"He's a good student of the game; he's learned to read defenses and he's not afraid to eat the all if no one is open," Taylor said of his 5-10 quarterback.

Taylor also had praise for the Herd's offensive line which gave Scott time to throw against the Dons, and for receiver Mickey Stengel who had 7 catches for 116 yards and both touchdowns.

Huskers, Horns, Tarheels top — college grid poll

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Nebraska, Texas and North Carolina continue to pace the Associated Press college football poll for the third week in a row, while Auburn and Florida, will clash Saturday as the 4-5 teams.

Meanwhile, Boston College and Notre Dame returned to the Top Twenty as Arizona and Arizona State dropped out.

Nebraska's 69-19 rout of Colorado earned the Cornhuskers 54 of 58 first-place votes and 1,156 of a possible 1,160 points. Texas, which nipped previously unbeaten Southern Methodist 15-12, received the other four first-place ballots and 1,106 points. The Longhorns are No. 2 for the sixth week in a row.

Last week, also with 58 voters participating, Nebraska led Texas 52-6 in first-place votes and 1,154-1,107 in points.

North Carolina, idle last weekend, received 1,010 points.

Auburn, a 28-13 winner over Mississippi State, moved up from fifth place to fourth with 944 points, replacing West Virginia, which skidded from fourth to 12th after a 41-23 loss to Penn State.

Florida, which visits Auburn on Saturday, rose from sixth to fifth with 892 points following a 24-17 victory over East Carolina.

Georgia jumped from seventh to sixth with 883 points for a 47-21 triumph over Kentucky and Miami of Florida climbed from eighth to seventh with 792 points after defeating Cincinnati 17-7 and becoming the first team in the school's history to win seven consecutive games in one season.

Michigan and Illinois, who meet Saturday in Champaign, Ill., are the 8-9 teams after ranking 10th and 11th a week ago. Michigan shaded Iowa 16-13, while Illinois downed Purdue 35-21.

Rounding out the Top Ten is SMU, which slipped from ninth to 10th with 602 points.

The Second Ten consists of Washington, West Virginia, Maryland, Oklahoma, Brigham Young, Ohio State, Iowa and Alabama, with Boston College and Notre Dame tied for 19th.

Last week, it was Illinois, Iowa, Arizona State, Washington, Maryland, Oklahoma, Ohio State, BYU, Arizona and Alabama.

Arizona State dropped out of the Top Twenty by losing to Washington State 31-21, while previously winless Stanford knocked Arizona out for the first time all season with a 31-22 triumph.

Meanwhile, 5-1 Boston College, which was idle, made the rankings for the second time this year and 5-2 Notre Dame, which has won four games in a row, made it for the first time in five weeks. The Irish were No. 6 in the preseason poll and rose as high as fourth early in the year.

LaRussa, Lasorda earn 'Manager' awards

CHICAGO (AP) — Tony LaRussa, who twice in the last two seasons came close to being fired by the Chicago White Sox, smiled graciously when he learned he had been named American League Manager of the Year by the Associated Press.

"I'm very pleased," said LaRussa. "I felt I had a chance but it's the kind of thing that you don't think is going to happen."

LaRussa, who turned 39 during the AL playoffs, said "Of all the honors and awards one receives, this is where you have to pass the credit around. There is no other individual honor dependent on so many other people.

"There are the players, the coaches, the general manager, the owners," said LaRussa, whose team caught fire in the second half of the season and won the AL West by a record 20 games before succumbing to Baltimore in the playoffs.

LaRussa won the honor easily, getting 51 of a possible 87 votes from a national electorate of sports writers and broadcasters. Joe Altobelli of the Orioles finished second with 21 votes. Toronto Blue Jays Manager Bobby Cox was third with 11 votes, and the other four went to Sparky Anderson, whose Detroit Tigers finished second to Baltimore in the AL East.

Last year, LaRussa's job was in jeopardy when the team fell to .500 before making a job-saving turnabout.

NEW YORK (AP) — Voting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters for The Associated Press American League Manager of the Year award announced Monday:

Tony LaRussa, Chicago, 51.
Joe Altobelli, Baltimore, 21.
Bobby Cox, Toronto, 11.
Sparky Anderson, Detroit, 4.

NEW YORK (AP) — Voting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters for The Associated Press National League Manager of the Year award:

Tommy Lasorda, Los Angeles, 28
Bob Lillis, Houston, 27
Chuck Tanner, Pittsburgh, 23
Paul Owens, Philadelphia, 6
Joe Torre, Atlanta, 2
Bill Virdon, Montreal, 1

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

The same thing happened this season when the club was struggling at 16-24.

"Both times you read and hear enough things to know it's a possibility," said LaRussa. "But from my conversations, it never got down to having to win this game or this series.

"Maybe they had it in their minds, but they never said it," he said of owners Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn and General Manager Roland Hemond.

"Whenever we struggled, we talked about what we needed to get the team going again."

LaRussa admits the White Sox accomplished something this year by winning the division.

"I'm pleased to have that feeling," he said, "but I don't feel satisfied. We have two more steps to go — the pennant and the World Series."

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Lasorda of the Los Angeles Dodgers captured his third Associated Press National League Manager of the Year award today by one vote over Houston Astros Manager Bob Lillis.

Lasorda, who guided the Dodgers to their fifth NL West title in 10 years, emerged victorious from a three-way voting war that also included Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner. Lasorda received 28 of a possible 87 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Lillis, who led the Astros to a third-place finish in the NL West, received 27 votes, and Tanner, whose Pirates finished six games back of Philadelphia in the NL East, was third with 23 votes.

Paul Owens, the Phillies general manager who took over in the dugout on July 18 from the fired Pat Corrales, had six votes. Atlanta Braves Manager Joe Torre, last year's NL Manager of the Year, had two votes, and Bill Virdon of Montreal received one.

The 56-year-old Lasorda took over the Dodgers from Walter Alston in 1977 and immediately led the club to the National League pennant. He also won pennants in 1978 and 1981, when the Dodgers won the World Series in six games over the New York Yankees. He won his previous Manager of the Year awards in 1977 and 1981.

This year, the Dodgers clinched the NL West on Sept. 30, the Friday night before the end of the season, and wound up with a record of 91-71. They lost the playoffs in four games to the Philadelphia Phillies.

This was to have been a rebuilding year for the Dodgers, a team replete with sophomores and rookies.

Steve Garvey and Ron Cey were gone from the team, following on the heels of players like Dave Lopes and Reggie Smith. Bill Russell was the only veteran left from an infield that had played together for 10 years.

Rookie Greg Brock replaced Garvey at first base, while second-year player Mike Marshall moved into the outfield as Pedro Guerrero took over Cey's job at third. In addition, Lasorda had 1982 Rookie of the Year Steve Sax at second base.

"You lose a Garvey, or a Cey, and you don't replace guys like these overnight," Russell said early in the season.

But that, in effect, was what Lasorda did.

Brock, while hitting only .224, drove in 66 runs and had 20 homers, and Marshall, who played in only 49 games last year, finished with a .284 average 65 RBI and 17 homers.

Landry thought Cowboys 'might pull it out again'

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Tom Landry has seen his team come from behind and pull out last-second victories before this season, and he thought the Dallas Cowboys might do it again against the Los Angeles Raiders.

But it wasn't to be.

"I thought we might pull it out again," said Landry. "But you know it's not going to go on forever."

The Dallas Cowboys were 20 seconds short of being perfect for the first half of the National Football League's season. But they ran out of that special magic that had carried them to seven consecutive come-from-behind victories.

Chris Bahr's 26-yard, game-winning field goal brought them back to reality Sunday night.

The 7-1 Cowboys were the last NFL team to suffer defeat and the 40-38 loss to the Los Angeles Raiders Sunday night narrowed their lead to just a game ahead of Washington in the National Conference Eastern Division.

"We've got eight more games to go so we just have to pick up and get with it," Landry said. "You can't worry about this one."

The Cowboys did have some nagging things happen to them:

— Los Angeles getting a record 31 first downs, most ever by a Dallas opponent.

— Los Angeles getting 519 yards offense, most against Dallas in two years.

— Los Angeles getting 318 yards passing.

"It was not one of our best games, obviously," Landry said. "But we kept hustling."

Four Los Angeles fumbles led directly to 24 of Dallas' points, but the Cowboys still couldn't win.

Dallas quarterback Danny White caught a touchdown pass, a 15-yarder from halfback Ron Springs, and threw for two scores but it wasn't enough.

White also threw two interceptions including one by Ted Watts which set the Raiders' 67-yard, game-winning drive in motion in the final two minutes.

Dallas cornerback Dennis Thurman said, "We've won our share like they won this one, but we could have won it. That's what hurts."

Raider defensive back Lester Hayes said the two teams will meet again.

"I think the game was a preview of the Super Bowl," Hayes said. "It pitted two super teams where either team could have won."

Linebacker Anthony Dickerson summed it up for the Cowboys, saying, "We just couldn't make the big play at the right time like we did in the other games."

Of woman vice-president

Feminist heartened by talk

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Feminist Gloria Steinem says President Reagan has spent his tenure in office trying to undo a decade's worth of political and legal progress made toward equality between the sexes.

"This is the first administration to say that equality has gone far enough — not to be ignorant about the question of equality, but to say, 'We want to go backward,'" she said Monday.

Ms. Steinem, who cofounded Ms. Magazine in 1972, said Reagan started his term by withdrawing support for the languishing Equal Rights Amendment and "defunding" programs aimed at alleviating racial and sexual discrimination.

"Reagan has smoked out the gender gap and made it partisan, or made it appear to be partisan, for the first time. And fundamentally, it's not," she said.

Ms. Steinem, in town to address the national staff of Carrillon Importers Ltd., said she has been heartened by the touting of a handful of women as possible vice presidential candidates — but that she's realistic.

"It's very important that it's being spoken of seriously by the serious candidates now," she said. "I think the average voter is ready for it, but the average politician is not. It's looked at as too risky.

"Sometimes — in my darkest moments — I think that if we had a female vice president and something happened to the president, they'd change the line of succession."

Ms. Steinem said Reagan's presidency can be credited to — or blamed on — a "backlash" against the success of the women's movement.

After Tylenol scare

Candy makers sell Halloween

CHICAGO (AP) — A year after the Tylenol killings, U.S. candy makers are hoping to make Americans sweet on Halloween again.

"It's a case of not letting a few crazies in the world ruin the way you live," said Dawn Dahl, a spokeswoman for the Chicago-based National Confectioners Association of the United States.

The confectioners, chocolate makers and candy sellers have turned to Dr. Joyce Brothers for words of advice and reassurance. And they've turned out millions of pamphlets on the "positive things of Halloween."

Some have changed their packaging to make it easier to detect tamperings, although they note that most of last year's reports were unfounded. And, in case there are fresh problems, they've installed a hotline to help police agencies deal with suspected adulteration.

"Really what we want to do is say you can go trick-or-treating if you're sensible about it," said Ms. Dahl.

The campaigns are good public relations and good business for the $5 billion-a-year candy-making industry. Americans buy more sweets during the weeks before Halloween than any other holiday period except Christmas.

Uneasiness over the holiday of ghosts and goblins turned to fear — some say hysteria — in the month before Halloween 1982 after seven people died of cyanide poisoning following the random contamination of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules in Chicago-area stores.

More than 40 communities nationwide canceled trick-or-treating as reports of copycat incidents — from drug-laced candy bars to soft drinks spiked with caustic substances — piled up.

In some communities where children trick-or-treated, police added extra patrols. Hospitals offered to X-ray candy. Florida mounted a campaign to defuse "public panic," and in New Jersey anyone attempting such dangerous tricks was promised a jail term.

The scope of the problem was devastating for some manufacturers. A million candy apples were recalled in four Midwest states after a pin reportedly was found in one of the treats. Some stores reported sharp drops in candy sales.

"I am certain that if the Great Pumpkin existed, he would be horrified," said cartoonist Charles Schulz, whose "Peanuts" comic strip features the mythical character each Halloween.

Candy makers this year are stressing that most reports of tainted candy from Halloween 1982 appeared to have been unfounded.

An overview released as part of their information campaign notes that more than 95 percent of the 270 "potential Halloween 1982 candy adulterations" showed no tampering when analyzed by the Food and Drug Administration.

China strategy

DEAR READERS — Check out our Pointer roundup for a way to keep your china inventory intact, plus Pointers for TV addicts and gravy lovers. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My mother used this system for buying fine china, crystal or any open stock breakable tableware. She bought in place settings of nine, 15 and 18. The rationale is that, if you chip or break some part of the set (as most of us eventually will), you still have complete sets if the pattern is discontinued.

Since most people do not use their lamp timers except when on vacation, use it on the TV in the bedroom if you like to watch at night. Saves getting out of bed to turn off the set late at night — especially if you fall asleep!

If your refrigerator breaks down and you get a new one, save the plastic crisper bins from the old refrigerator for other uses. I use several bins in my freezer to organize meats, fruits and vegetables. In my self-defrosting freezer, I never have to clean up any messes. I just take out the bins and clean them. Best of all, I don't have to look through all sorts of packages or containers to find what I want. — CARLA

DEAR POLLY — To remove fat from gravy, put a dozen or more ice cubes into the container, depending on the amount of liquid in the gravy, while it is still hot. The fat will cling to the cubes and can be removed easily. But don't drop the cubes into the sink after removing them from the gravy. Otherwise, you'll have a real mess in your sink. The ice will melt, leaving globs of fat to slide down the drain and stop it up. Put them into a covered can and discard this. — O.S.

DEAR POLLY — Cut up old pantyhose to use as padding for quilt blocks. — ANNA

DEAR POLLY — After cleaning stove tops, burners and ovens, I spray them with a non-stick spray for cookware. They are much easier to clean next time. — BACHELOR

DEAR BACHELOR AND READERS — One good idea for a product deserves another! After defrosting the freezer compartment in your refrigerator, spray it with that same non-stick spray. The ice will come off more easily the next time you defrost. — POLLY

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 25, the 298th day of 1983. There are 67 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On Oct. 25, 1971, the United Nations General Assembly voted to admit mainland China and expel Taiwan.

On this date:

In 1701, a city charter was granted to Philadelphia.

In 1764, John Adams married Abigail Smith. He later became president and she first lady.

In 1892, first lady Caroline Harrison, the wife of Benjamin Harrison, died in the White House at the age of 60.

In 1931, the George Washington Bridge, linking New York and New Jersey, was opened.

And in 1955, the Tappan Stove Co. introduced the first electronic range for home use. It could cook bacon in 90 seconds, eggs in 22 seconds, and cost $1,200.

Ten years ago: The United States ordered its military forces on a worldwide precautionary alert because of concern the Soviet Union was planning to send troops to the troubled Middle East.

Five years ago: President Jimmy Carter named Alfred Kahn as his chief inflation fighter.

One year ago: The Illinois attorney general announced that a fifth bottle of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules had been laced with cyanide.

Today's birthdays: Country music star Minnie Pearl is 71. Actor Tony Franciosa is 55. Singer Helen Reddy is 42.

Thought for today: "It is no use to blame the looking-glass if your face is awry." — Nikolai Gogol, Russian author (1809-1852).

They call the season "fall," to remind us of what happens when rain-slicked leaves are stepped on by the unwary.

If grown-ups would only take up the fashion of wearing Halloween masks, it would greatly improve the looks of the commuter set.

Hospital anxiety

DEAR DR. LAMB — I hope you can help me or tell me how to solve this problem.

Whenever I go to a hospital I begin to hyperventilate. I don't understand why. It goes on for days until I am out of the hospital.

I have tried to tell myself that there's nothing to worry about. I've tried breathing into a paper bag. But nothing seems to help.

DEAR READER — Overbreathing (which some people mistakenly think means they are short of breath), skipped heartbeats, headaches, trembling, shaking, muscle pains, digestive complaints, fainting and many more really uncomfortable things happen to people as a result of anxiety. That doesn't mean anxiety is always the cause of these disorders. Sometimes it taxes a physician's skills to determine whether a person has anxiety or an ulcer.

At least you know what you are doing even though you may not understand why. Anxiety is a first cousin of fear. Obviously the hospital environment is a threat to you but your response is out of proportion to the threat.

In addition to such obvious and direct causes of anxiety a person can be anxious because of basic psychological factors which he may or may not be aware of or understand.

Regardless of the cause of anxiety, the mechanisms that produce symptoms are rather well known. The release of adrenaline, your flight or fight hormone, is often a major factor.

For individuals who have anxiety to a temporary situation that really is not threatening, becoming familiar with the supposed threat often makes it less of a problem. And these very temporary situations are a good indication for temporary use of tranquilizers.

If your problem was frequent enough and severe enough I would recommend professional counseling to see why you overreact.

You'll have a better understanding of anxiety and how to cope with it after you read The Health Letter 19-8, That Anxious Feeling, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My daughter who has smoked for 10 years would like to quit completely, but she is afraid of gaining a lot of weight if she does. Can you give her some information on how to successfully get off cigarettes without gaining unwanted weight?

DEAR READER — Studies show that of people who quit smoking about a third gain weight, a third lose weight and a third have no change in weight.

Part of what a person can expect depends entirely upon whether he eats in response to stopping smoking. My best advice is to make a diet plan in advance and to stick to it during the first several weeks when you are establishing new habits without smoking.

Along with the diet whenever you feel the urge to smoke or eat, drink a glass of water instead.

And if possible when the urge strikes, go for a walk. The exercise will help use calories, prevent unwanted weight gain and decreases many people's desire for a cigarette. It also gets you away from the kitchen.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A 58-year-old American from Nogales, Ariz., was killed in the crash of small plane this weekend near the west coast city of Tepic, the U.S. Embassy said Monday.

An embassy spokesman identified the man as Paul Harold Kane, but said he had no details on the accident.

Nayarit state police commander Felipe Santana Macias said Kane and five Mexicans were aboard a Cessna 206 when the plane crashed Saturday in the mountains near the small town of Puente de Comatlan east of Tepic and 736 miles west of Mexico City.

He said all were killed.

Kane had traveled to the small mountain village with pilot Rogelio Gonzalez Leyva of Tepic to inspect an abandoned silver mine in the area and four residents of Comatlan boarded the plane for the return trip, Santana said.

He said the plane went down between Comatlan and Tepic after experiencing a mechanical failure.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Egg imports by a state-owned grocery store chain are to meet a shortfall in domestic production and are not intended to compete with Mexican producers, the government said Monday.

The planned importation of half a million boxes of eggs could be suspended if domestic production picks up, Jose Ernesto Costemalle, director of the Conasupo chain, said in Monday's edition of the government newspaper El Nacional.

Costemalle said eggs are a "seasonal" product and production tends to drop in September and October. He said another cause of the shortage is an increase in demand due to the renewal of classes.

But the Mexico City newspaper Novedades blamed the scarcity on attempts by private food retailers to force the government to raise official prices for eggs and for other basic products, including milk, that are also unavailable in stores.

Novedades said store owners are defying the Commerce Department's campaign to prevent a black market in basic products.

The Commerce Department has applied fines of more than half a million dollars, temporarily shut 2,000 stores throughout the country and confiscated food items to enforce official prices, Novedades reported.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Shoe manufacturers are hoping to export 30 million pairs of shoes next year, mainly to the U.S. market, industry leaders say.

The goal was announced at the industry's annual convention here this past weekend, attended by representatives of 160 companies.

Shoe production and exports are down sharply this year because of the country's economic slump, the worst in half a century.

Manufacturers expect to produce only 200,000 pair of shoes in 1983 and export 1.5 million, compared with a production of 250,000 pairs in 1982 and exports of 3 million, an industry spokesman said Monday.

The goal for 1984 is production of 250 million pairs and exports of 30 million, said Eliseo Martinez, director of the Shoe Manufacturers Chamber of Leon.

The Congo River is the only major African waterway that crosses the equator twice.

Meet Your Neighbor

By LINDA CAUDLE
Lifestyles Editor

When Jacklyn Nikkel moved here with her family three months ago she wanted to do something that would get her out of the house where she could meet people, so about a month before they came to town she started working with Contempo Jewelry. She is now branch manager in Hereford over four local women.

"I knew that it would be easy to hibernate at home after moving to a new place, but this job has forced me to get out and meet people when making contacts," said Jacklyn.

She started by knocking on doors and inquiring at local businesses, looking for women interested in having home parties or being catalog hostesses.

"So far we've been real successful. The response has been great," she commented.

Managing a business is not new to Jacklyn ,or to her husband, Leonard, who currently owns and manages Mar-Lo Hydraulic Company. The couple owned a bakery and sandwich shop for a year in Dalhart, where they moved from in July.

"I had always wanted to have a bakery, and I'm glad we had the chance to do it," stated Jacklyn. "It was a unique experience and we both love to cook."

"Cooking for a hobby is not like cooking for the public, though," she continued. "It was hard work and long hours. I'm just now beginning to really enjoy baking again like I used to, for pleasure."

Jacklyn had baked pies, breads, cookies and similar items for the public for several years from her home before she had the bakery.

A native of California, she moved to Cactus with her family when she was 3 years old, and then attended Dalhart schools. Her husband is from Texline.

He has been in business in Hereford for about two years, first coming here once or twice a week and then more often until the family decided to move here.

Jacklyn and Leonard have two sons, Leonard Jr., a senior at Hereford High School, and Darren, a seventh grader at La Plata Junior High.

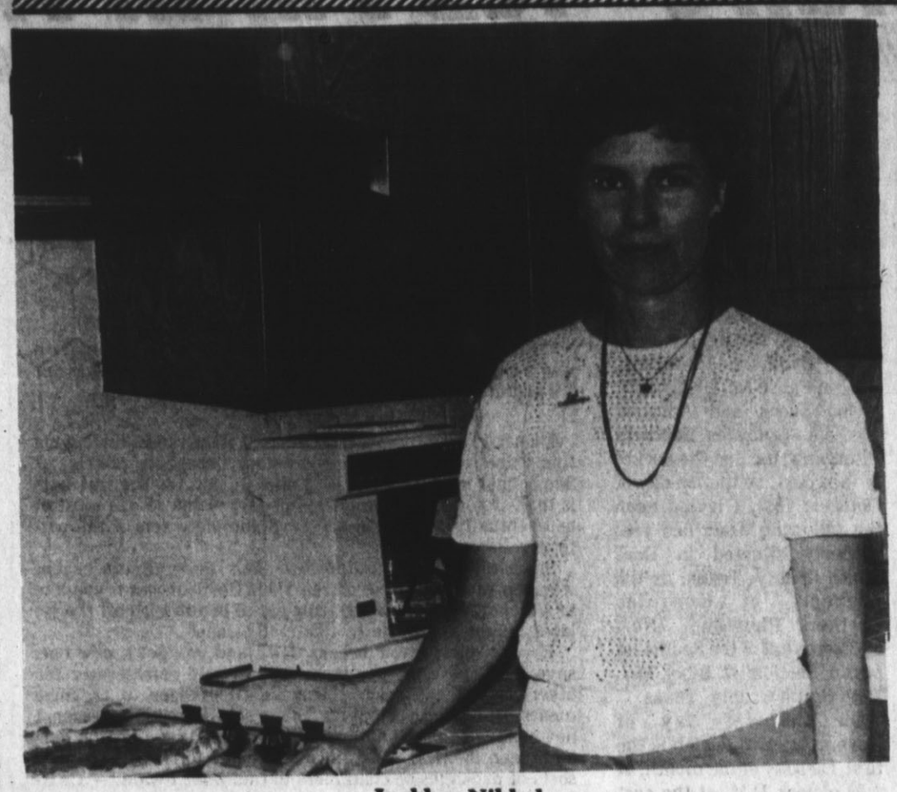

Both boys are active in sports. Leonard will be on the varsity basketball team and Darren is playing football and plans to play golf in the spring. They both enjoy softball and have won trophies in bowling.

Jacklyn has started bowling on a morning league. She has also taken jazzercise and aerobicise classes. "I enjoy watching sporting events on T.V. and we all enjoy the local games," she noted.

The Nikkels are members of Wesley United Methodist Church and Jacklyn joined Hereford Newcomers Club. She has visited several extension homemakers clubs and plans to join one in the near future. SHe was involved in a homemakers club in Dalhart for about five years, and served as vice-president in charge of programs.

Jacklyn enjoys crocheting, crewel embroidery and latch hook and would like to learn some new crafts.

She likes to do yardwork, as does her husband. "I'm anxious to see what we can grow here that we couldn't grow in Dalhart, since there is a slightly longer growing season," she said.

Miss Texas Teen U.S.A. Pageant slated Nov. 26

EL PASO – The 1983 Miss Texas Teen-USA Pageant has been finalized for staging on Saturday, Nov. 26, in El Paso, as announced today by state pageant director, Richard Guy.

Contestants will begin arriving on Thursday evening, Nov. 24th, with formal judging to start on Friday morning, Nov. 25. "There are three categories of competition," according to Guy, "to include swimsuit, evening gown and the judges' interviews."

Winner of the state pageant will automatically advance to the Miss Teen-USA Pageant to be staged during the month of January and nationally televised via the live CBS Network.

"The Miss Texas Teen-USA Pageant is directly affiliated with the Miss USA and Miss Universe organizations so the format of the competition and show will be like that of these two 30-year established and televised pageants," commented Guy.

To qualify, a young lady must be between the ages of 14 and 17 on May 1, must be a U.S. citizen and resident of Texas for at least six months before the beginning of the state pageant, must be in good health and of good moral character and must certify that she is not now and never has been married, has never had a marriage annulled and has never given birth to a child.

Final deadline for entries is Nov. 1. Aplications and additional information is available by contacting the state office at 1301 Texas Avenue, El Paso 79901, or by calling (9150 533-5279.

Meat best buy for fall

COLLEGE STATION – "Now is an excellent time for cost-conscious consumers to stock up on meat for the freezer," says Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

More cattle and hogs are being marketed because of the summer drought. This increased supply has resulted in lower prices.

According to USDA economists, steady to slightly declining prices for read meat are expected from October through December, says Sweeten. The economists expect that price levels for meat will be relatively unchanged at the first of the year, but anticipate moderate price increases through 1984, she adds.

Consumers can take advantage of lower prices by buying a whole carcass, side or quarter; wholesale cuts; or retail cuts of meat.

Before buying meat in quantity, Sweeten suggests that you consider your available freezer spze, the amount of meat your family can use within a reasonable amount of time, the type of cuts your family enjoys, and the amount of money you have to spend.

If freezer space is limited or you prefer cuts from a particular section, then whole or primal cuts (also known as wholesale cuts) will probably be your bet buy, says Sweeten.

Wholesale cuts usually are bought from locker and freezer provisioners and others who sell meat as sides or quarters, although sometimes they can be bought at a supermarket.

The Newspaper BIBLE

A MAN WITH AN ANGEL'S FACE

Stephen, the man so full of faith and the Holy Spirit's power, did spectacular miracles among the people.

But one day some of the men from the Jewish cult of "The Freedmen" started an argument with him, and they were soon joined by Jews from Cyrene, Alexandria in Egypt, and the Turkish provinces of Cilicia, and Asia.

But none of them were able to stand against Stephen's wisdom and spirit.

So they brought in some men to lie about him, claiming they had heard Stephen curse Moses, and even God. This accusation roused the crowds to fury against Stephen, and the Jewish leaders arrested him and brought him before the Council.

The lying witnessess testified again that Stephen was constantly speaking against the Temple and against the laws of Moses. They declared, "We have heard him say that this fellow Jesus of Nazareth will destroy the Temple, and throw out all of Moses' laws."

At this point everyone in the Council chamber saw Stephen's face become as radiant as an angel's!
