"For Thirty-eight Years a Builder in Collingsworth County"

VOLUME XXXX | Wellington, Collingsworth County, Texas, Thursday, September 9, 1948 | NUMBER 10

WHEN DODSON WAS 38 YEARS OLD

Only a few of the scenes from Dodson's colorful 38th birthday celebration can be seen here, but two of the highlights, the parade and the barbecue, are featured. At upper left, Elmore Dodson, left and his son, Maury Dodson, lead the parade that marked the opening of the day's events. Farther back in the parade came this covered wagon, center, flanked by horseback riders, just as many pioneers of the area once rode to town. At right are five members of the Dodson civic club, dressed as pioneer women. From left to right they are Mrs. H. G. Estes, Mrs. Ulric Davis, Mrs. D. E. Scott, Mrs. Z. H. Wilhite and Mrs. Fred Boyd. The picture at center lift was snapped just as the barbecue serving started. Carey Dysart, at center, came down from Mobeetie to prepare the meat. In the center is the youngest celebrant—two-weeks-old Linda Joyce Baird, with her mother Mrs. Vernon Baird of Hollis. She spent most of the day in her basket in the shade of a big tree. One of the many groups that gathered just to visit is seen at right. In the foreground f,acing the camera are Mrs. Payton Smith of Electra and Nita Dodson McCullough of Fort Worth. With their backs to the camera were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Deahl, Seated are Mrs. Elmore Dodson and Mrs. Dolly Gardner, Wellington. Just a little of the food and a few of the people are seen in the two lower pictures. Altogether, more than 2,300 persons were served and numbers of others came to watch the parade or witness the afternoon events. The two lower pictures were taken by J. E. Cooper of Wellington.

This figure includes high school, junior high, East Ward, Loco Ward School, and Booker T. Washington Colored School.

The addition of three new teachers to the Wellington school was announced. Charles Briley is in charge of senior English and public speaking. Coming here from Man-

The Wellington Skyrockets open their 1948 season Friday night, September 10, against the Perryton Rangers, winners of last year's championship in their district. While this is a non-conference game, any tilt with Perryton is considered one of the top games of the year.

Coach John Bray, who faced the initial handicap of being elected to head the coaching staff of Wellington high school late in the summer, lost no time in getting the Skyrockets into their paces. Joined by Assistant Coaches John Lee and James Batchelor, they have made rugged workouts, both afternoon and night, the order of the day for the men who will wear the red and white this year.

Following the pre-season scrimmage with the Holiis, Oklahoma, team, Coach Bray reported that the team showed up considerably better than he had expected, but there were still some mighty rough spots to be ironed out.

The only score in that play came on a 50 yard run by Gaston Williams, fleet first-string member of last year's team. Probably the next fastest man is Kenneth Strickland, although he looks better on defensive plays.

On the whole, the Rockets will go into their season averaging about 155 pounds — considerably lighter than Shamrock and some

Editorial

The prime difficulty in gaining an accurate picture of economic conditions in disordered postwar years is due appreciably to warped, magnified appraisals of limited aspects of the complete situation.

Government controls were held forth by their sponsors as a "cure-all," while the opposition concentrated on the panacea of production as the only remedy, and later shifted to the other side of the problem by stating that excess money supply was the primary cause of our troubles. The element of partial truth gave weight to all these contentions.

More recently economic analysts have been viewing with alarm the fact that 28 per cent of American families are living beyond their incomes and savings have declined appreciably. Inflation principally and postwar self-indulgence as a reaction to wartime denial have aggravated the normal American penchant for extravagance and for "keeping up with the Joneses."

The cases of living beyond incomes have their own cures. When savings and credit are exhausted, such families are forced to live within their income if they have not been able to increase them to meet demands. Hardship in varying degrees results, but it is partially offset by the gain in experience, in enforced self-discipline and denial. This normal operation of cause and effect is cushioned only when government subsidies are provided the improvident. These gifts, too, prevent people from gaining a sound perspective and economic conditions—many diagnoses are remedies for which create a veritable mental Towen of Babel for the American people—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek doesn't seem very worried about the national political situation, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editar:

My neighbor out here has been mighty low the past few days, sayin it's all up for the Democrats and we're in for Republicans and eventual depression, but I don't take that view, since my radio played out I didn't get to listen to the national conventions and consequently have a open mind on the matter.

Now I'm aware that the Republicans is already convinced they've got the election won and I understand the Dewey children is invitin their playmates to visit em in the White House in January, but I figure we'll go ahead and hold the election anyway.

And also, I notice some Republicans is beginnin to sweat a little after President Truman called em back into session with the suggestion if they've got the solution to inflation and world peace and the high price of groceries and a lack of cars and homes, now's as good a time as any to put it into effect, no use waiting six months until next January to do it, although I got a idea Truman is gonna have as hard a time gettin the Republican Congress to start solvin problems as I been havin gettin candidates to tell me exactly where they're gonna build country roads, and I suppose his plan is a little unAmerican, as the custom always has been to run like h . . . on generalities and promises and go light on being specific, don't make no difference whether you're runnin for constable or president.

However, I been reassurin my neighbor. There ain't no use in frettin and worrin. If I was gonna plant a crop next year, I'd go ahead and plan on it. After all, the Democrats has been in for sixteen years, which is about as long a stretch as they've ever had, and if the time has come for the Republicans to win, the country has stood it before. That's one thing I like about this country: we have about the same number of boll weevils under the Republicans as the Democratics. If the boll weevils can stand it, you and me might as well get ready to do it too.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Thursday night, the Memphis girls met Midway girls at Marian Airpark and Memphis won 12 to 11.

Wind Damages -

Kane was severely damaged. The hangar damage was estimated at around $1,000 by city manager Bura Handley, while the damage to the plane had not been set when The Leader went to press.

The left wing of the plane owned by Max Grabin was torn to pieces and he estimated the damage at least $300. Mr. Grabin has a hangar under construction at the field and while the roof is on, the walls have not been put up. The plane was tied beneath the hangar with ropes. No damages was done to the unfinished structure.

Part of the tin siding fence surrounding the baseball park was blown away. This was supported by 4 x 4 posts, eight of which were snapped off. No damage was done to the swimming pool and house occupied by recreation director John Lee just north of the ball field.

Both planes owned by Bill Hughes were away from the field and none of the others were damaged.

The rain gauge at the home of J. M. Strong registered 1.02 inch of moisture. Sam White, mail carrier from Childress to Shamrock, reported that the rain played out about Buck Creek on the south and no rain fell at Childress. Shamrock, on the other hand, received around an inch and a half.

Only a shower fell at Dodson, but at Quail at least two inches fell. This was somewhat heavier than in several other communities in that section of the county, reports stated.

Two fires broke out in Wellington just as the first wind and rain started. Many local residents, hearing the fire station siren, believed it to be a storm warning and hurried to cellars.

First of the fires reported was behind the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gholson on Childress Street. Fanned by the wind, a rubbish fire got out of control and firemen were called. About the same time another fire where trash was being burned blazed up behind the new Jones-Watkins Clinic. This was put out by former fire chief Bura Handley and the owners.

A third fire occurred a short time later when a bale of seed cotton parked under the suction of the Wellington Gin caught on fire. It was owned by Sandy Parsons Sr. Members of the Fire Department believe that sparks from the bur burner blew into the cotton.

Skyrocket Band Needs Members

Approximately 30 boys and girls have signed up to play in the Skyrocket band this year, Rufus Johnson, band director, said Monday.

More members are needed, and the director again urged all students interested in playing some instrument to contact him. He pointed out that arrangements may be made to secure instruments on a rental basis if the student does not want to buy one.

The first marching practice was held Monday morning and Mr. Johnson said that he was especially pleased at the cooperation of the students.

to improve, he sold the Wellington Bakery, which he and Mrs. Brickey had operated here, and a few months ago with his family moved to Shamrock. He had been critically ill for several weeks.

He was 43 years of age, and had lived in Wellington for 33 years.

Pall bearers for the service were R. H. Dennis of Shamrock, Buster Hughs, Tom Bryant, Jess Young, H. Byrd, and Morris Reed. Members of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department and the Wellington Kiwanis Club were honorary pall bearers.

Flower bearers were Joan Thompson, June Ann Robertson, Patsy Blevins of Shamrock, Mrs. Buster Hughs, Mrs. Tom Bryant and Mrs. Jake Leach.

Burial services were held at the Wellington Cemetery Saturday, in order that a sister whose plane from California was delayed, might attend. The Ellis Funeral Home was in charge.

Mr. Brickey was born August 3, 1905, at Dryden, in Greer County. He was the son of the late Alice M. and W. R. Brickey. With his parents, he came to this county as a child, and received his education here.

Although of a quiet nature, Mr. Brickey was an enthusiastic civic worker and through the years he had lived here had contributed much toward the improvement of the section. He drew his friends from all walks of life and these valued him for his sincerity and loyalty.

Mr. Brickey is survived by his wife and one daughter, Miss Barbara Brickey of Shamrock; a brother and two sisters, Walker Brickey of Dumas, Miss Sammie Alice Brickey of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Max Shoenrock of Los Angeles, Calif.; and an aunt, Mrs. Sammie D. Dameron of Fort Worth.

A large number of out of town friends and relatives were here to attend the funeral.

Hatch Strong Cog In Raider Machine

LUBBOCK — Wellington's Tim Hatch, a sophomore at Texas Tech this fall, is seen as a strong cog in the Red Raider gridiron machine, as fall training opened Sept. 1 at Tech.

Hatch, as a freshman, last season participated in several games for Tech, shining on defense in a couple. This season he is expected to see much defensive action and to work some on offense.

LETTERS From The PEOPLE

Dear Mr. Wells:

I just want to say the criticism and comparison of our unkept cemetery and beautiful swimming pool isn't an unjust criticism. First let me say I'm proud of the swimming pool and I believe it will keep lots of boys and girls off the highways to other places to go swimming, and save lives that could be snuffed out by careless drivers. Had we had this pool 13 months ago my darling girl might be alive today.

Back to the cemetery where she sleeps. Let each individual get behind this and cooperate as we did for the swimming pool. It's one of the best. Let's make our cemetery above criticism.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The twister that hit the Airpark at 1 A.M. Wednesday morning was small in scope, but it had plenty of force to it where it did hit the ground. Two airplanes, one hangar and a portion of the ball park were wrecked. If it had been 50 yards farther north there is no telling what would have happened to the swimming pool grounds and to the home of John Lee. Lots of people went to the cellar when the first rain storm came up about 9 P.M., but practically no one went to the cellar when the real wind hit.

The rain was slightly over an inch up to Wednesday noon. It will stop the deterioration of the cotton and feed crops and makes a mighty nice start for those who want to plant wheat, alfalfa and fall and winter pasture crops. There won't be much breathing spell for the farmers for weeks and weeks to come.

Many merchants reported that last Saturdays' business was way above the average, and they expect a rising tide for the next several weeks.

People who saw the Rockets scrimmage with Hollis have revised their opinion upward. They were a bit pessimistic over the fact that so many starters were lost from the '47 squad. Friday night the Rockets will meet the Rangers, regional champions last year. It may be more of a game than the average fan expects.

Went out to James Doneghy's chicken factory west of town with Frank Eikenburg this week. They have 35,000 chickens in those barracks ranging from week old chicks to broilers ready for the market. If the pictures turn out well, we hope to have some pictures in the paper next week, as well as a more detailed story about this operation.

A feeling of sadness swept over me Monday morning as I saw my daughter set out for school; for it was the beginning of her last year in Wellington High School and her last real year at home. Where did the years go? It seems only a few months ago—a year or so at most—that the chubby little girl set off for East Ward to enter the first grade. She had no brother or sister and never have I seen a youngster quite so eager to start to school and she loved it very much through the years.

Get set for the big minstrel show that will be put on by the PTA Monday night, September 20. From all indications it is going to be the biggest and most hilarious local talent show ever held in Wellington. You will be surprised.

Dodson Celebration Sidelights

While the entertainment brought out members of the Dodson Civic Club dressed as their grandmothers would have, two members, Mrs. Fred Boyd and Mrs. E. F. Bennett wore dresses that had actually come down in their families for three generations.

Mrs. Boyd's dress was worn by her husband's grandmother. Of black material with a white scroll design, it is much like some of the patterns of 1948. Not only was her dress at least 75 years old, but she carried a circular folding fan that was even older, and a lovely hand-woven black wool fascinator. To make the effect more realistic Mrs. Boyd appeared with a toothbrush in her mouth and carrying a snuff box. This latter, she said laughingly, was brought by the colored woman who works for her—and some snuff was included.

"You take this home and wash it and put some chocolate in it for me," she told her older daughter, Mrs. Elwyn Brewster, during the celebration.

Mrs. Bennett was wearing a white shirt-waist blouse with high collar, and a dark figured skirt. Then, in spite of the heat, she wore high button shoes with spool heels of another era. Her pin-type watch on a long chain had been given her by her mother.

On display in the window of the Dodson Dry Goods, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reynolds, was a spinning wheel belonging to Mrs. Elmore Dodson, made by her father, the late J. A. Scott.

The oldest person attending the celebration was Mrs. Owens, affectionately known as Grandma Owens. She is the mother of C. F. Owens, with whom she makes her home, and the grandmother of Monroe Owens, formerly of Wellington, and Charlie Owens.

SMALL FRY OUT-TALKS COP

Not too familiar with the game laws, Bruce Carlton of St. Petersburg, Fla., tries to reason with a cop after hauling in an undersized bass. The fish was a little short of the one-foot legal length, but Officer Buskerk managed to stretch a point, if not the fish. Bruce kept his bass, and Buskirk kept his ticket, making the fish the sucker in the deal.

The youngest celebration visitor was little Linda Joyce Baird, just two weeks old. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Baird, now of Hollis, formerly of Dodson. She spent most of the day asleep in her basket in the shade of a big tree. Her reaction when her picture was taken was a big yawn.

Dodson's oldest resident, Mrs. Elizabeth Douglas, 99 years old, was not able to attend, but she was remembered by her friends. Mrs. A. Y. Bell of Wellington recalled that her mother and Mrs. Douglas were good friends, and the latter was present when Mrs. Bell now a grandmother, was born.

The second oldest settler present was Sid Clark. He and Mrs. Clark live in their lovely brick ranch house at Arlie.

"I came here 63 years ago and I was going to stay as long as I could make any money. I'm still here," Mr. Clark commented.

Mrs. Z. H. Wilhite rode in the parade this year—in the surrey entered by the First State Bank. She recalled that she missed the first celebration, when the town was organized. She had a new baby, just the age of the town.

Mrs. Creed Hill of Wellington also recalled that first celebration, and particularly the contest to pick the prettiest baby present, with which she helped.

Texas Crop Acreage About the Same As for 1947

Texas has about the same total number of acres in crops this year as last, but there is a big change in the acreage of some of the crops, says E. A. Miller, extension agronomist of Texas A. & M. College.

The July report from the USDA crop estimates office in Austin shows a shift of around 2 million acres from wheat and oats to cotton and sorghums. Wheat acreage is down about a million and a half, while oat acreage is down a half million, says Miller. Texas land under cotton went up about three-fourths of a million acres, and sorghums climbed a million and a quarter acres.

More land went into barley, rye, flax and rice, while there was a drop in corn, sweet potatoes, peanuts and hay. The estimated 9 million acres plus in cotton is a 9 per cent increase over 1947, and the largest crop in 11 years.

Corn for harvest was a little under 3 million acres, 5 percent below last year and the smallest acreage for harvest since 1925. Grain sorghums are still replacing some of the corn land. The grain sorghum land stands over 6 million acres, more than twice the corn total.

The wheat decrease of over 7 million last year to 5 1-2 million this year was caused mainly by the drouths last fall and lasting well into this past spring. The spring drouth was one of the big reasons much of the corn land was plowed under or turned over to grazing.

Rice was up about six percent over last year with a 1948 acreage of 500 thousand. This year's estimated yield of 24 million bushels of rice would be a record rice crop in Texas. The number of acres in hay, oats and peanuts all dropped a little, but Texas' newest crop—flax—was estimated at 160 thousand acres, says Miller.

Mrs. G. W. Patchell is a medical patient in St. Joseph's Hospital this week.

Glen Roberts is a medical patient in St. Joseph's Hospital this week.

I. T. Judd underwent major surgery in St. Joseph's Hospital Sept. 6th.

Cantor and Davis Gay at Ritz

"If You Knew Susie" brings Eddie Cantor and Joan Davis as stars of this musical comedy of uproarious adventures in staid New England and in the nation's capital, seen at the Ritz Friday and Saturday, September 10 and 11.

Cantor and Miss Davis play retired vaudevillians who buy back the Cantor ancestral home to serve as a night club. The local bluebloods boycott the grand opening, which forces an auction of the furniture, during which an old document is discovered. Signed by George Washington, it awards $50,000 to one of Cantor's ancestors for services during the Revolutionary War.

They take the document to Washington to get it authenticated, and after the most hilarious complications, officialdom discovers that the government owes Cantor several billion dollars in accrued compound interest. Cantor's patriotic gesture in refusing the money makes him a national hero and the bluebloods welcome back to his old home and his triumphant night-club re-opening.

Cantor and Miss Davis team in several spectacular musical numbers. In addition to Buddy DeSylva's famous old number, "If You Knew Susie," they appear in "What Do I Want With Money?" and "My, How The Time Goes By," both by Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson who also wrote the big finale number, "We're Living the Life We Love." Another big production number is "My Brooklyn Love Song," by George Tibbles and Ramez Idriss, featuring Bobby Driscoll, Dick Humphreys and Margaret Kerry.

Featured in the cast are Allyn Joslyn, Charles Dingle and Bobby Driscoll. Cantor himsef produced under the executive supervision of Jack J. Gross with Warren Wilson acting as associate producer.

Kennard Smith With West Texas State College

Kennard Smith, who was born and grew up in Wellington, will be the new appraiser at the Veterans Guidance Center at West Texas State College, Canyon, it was announced there this week.

He has been a member of the White Deer High School faculty for the past two years.

Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith of Wellington and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Porter, also of Wellington. He graduated from Wellington high school and West Texas State College and did graduate work in the University of Birmingham in England.

He served as an officer in the European Theatre of Operations during World War II.

He is a member of the Lions Club, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Officers Reserve Corps.

Mrs. Smith is the former Miss Edna Earl Alexander, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alexander of near Wellington, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Alexander of Wellington. They have two children, a son, Kenny, age 6, and a two year old daughter, Sue.

School Enrollment -

gum, Okla., he has an outstanding record of work in public speaking. Miss Peggy Ann Pierson, also of Mangum, is teaching English and public speaking in junior high. Mrs. Harold Barnett, who recently moved here from Canyon, is teaching the fourth grade in the Junior High building.

At the same time, the three teachers in the Loco School were announced: Mrs. Lowell Wells, who has been teaching there for a number of years, Mrs. Charley Starkey and Mrs. Windel Brewer.

Approximately 88 students are enrolled at Loco, which was consolidated with the Wellington system last spring. The school will continue at Loco, however, and will operate as a ward school of the Wellington system.

Approximately 900 students are enrolled in High School, Junior High and East Ward. Mr. Pritchett said that work for the most part is going well, but that some adjustment of teaching loads must be made. Only a small number of students are enrolled in some of the high school classes, while part of the classes in the lower grades are overcrowded, it was evplained.

At the initial count, 101 children were enrolled in the first grade, with others expected to enroll in the next few days.

Enrollment East Ward is 264; in junior high, 330; the eighth grade, 60; and high school 213. In the latter group there are 42 freshmen, 60 sophomores, 49 juniors and 62 seniors. Thirty-one students enrolled here are out-of-state pupils.

The Booker T. Washington School has been expanded considerable. Heretofore, there have been only two teachers for the colored children, but two others have been added this year, and students may go through the 10th grade here. A barracks building was moved to the school ground and converted into two class rooms and a larger combination class room and auditorium.

Principal of the school is W. E. Brown. Other faculty members are Mrs. Lessie Phegan, who has been teaching in the local school a number of years; Edna Earl Boson of Hempstead and Doris Phillips of Wichita Falls. All except Mrs. Phegan have degrees and she lacks only a little work on hers. Miss Boson, in addition, holds a vocational homemaking certificate, and plans are now being made to begin homemaking classes for girls in the colored school, Mr. Pritchett said.

GAY TEAM

Eddie Canter, Joan Davis and Allyn Joslyn appear here in one of the top moments of "If You Knew Susie," a gay comedy which will be on the Ritz screen Friday and Saturday, September 10 and 11.

AAA Committee -

vided the farmer properly inoculates the seed with fresh inoculants, applies 20 per cent superphosphate at the rate of no less than 200 pounds per acre and seeds the recommended number of pounds of the legume before November 1, 1948.

Those who have planted winter legumes in the county are reporting very good results. One of these reports comes from Frank Coleman of the Marella community, who states that "My cotton planted on land where vetch was grown last winter is about one-fourth better than the cotton planted on other land."

Under the 1949 program the sandy land farmers will again have the opportunity of planting rye this fall for a winter cover crop. The payment for this practice is $1.50 per acre, provided at least 40 pounds of seed per acre is planted and a good stand and growth is obtained. Approval for this practice must be obtained through the AAA office before planting the crop.

Alex Shields of the Quail community has this to say about growing rye for a cover crop, "My land where I had rye planted not only kept it from blowing away but also caught and held the top soil that blew in from my neighbors farms."

We believe this same experience could be had on most all sandy land farms of the county.

Now is the time to make your plans and get your approval on any of the above crops. Ask your committeeman or call at the AAA office for further details.

X-Ray -

Dr. Jones said.

Approximately 7,200 persons in Collingsworth County were eligible for the free X-rays, and while the number taking advantage of this was smaller than local doctors had hoped it would be, it is larger than in some other counties of the area where the unit was operated.

The mobile X-ray unit is being sent throughout the state by the State Department of Healh in an effort to stamp out tuberculosis in Texas, and was brought to this area by the Four County Medical Society.

of the other teams they will play during the year.

All eight of the men who lettered last year will be on this year's starting line-up, Bray said. These are Walter O'Neil, left end; George Shoff, left tackle; Johnny Clark, left guard; Pat Riley, left guard; Rogers Melton, right end; Bobby McCutcheon, quarterback; Williams, left half; Strickland, right half. The three new men who stepped out of last year's B squad to the starting lineup are Jerry Strickland, center; Jimmy Brock, right tackle and David Baumgardner, fullback.

At the time The Leader went to press, Perryton remained practically an unknown quantity here. A trip up to Perryton will bring out much head-shaking and blues-singing on the part of Perryton fans, who say there just isn't anything to go on the field.

Rocket fans take this with a grain of salt, remembering that Wellington likewise lost more than 20 lettermen from last years team. They remember, too, that speedy backfieldman, Raymond Powell Jr. This is a name that conjures up memories among the older of the Wellington football fans, who recall the day when another Raymond Powell, this youth's father, was making football history on Powell Field here. In fact, the field itself was named for this first Raymond Powell and his two brothers, who were topflight Rocketmen during the middle and latter 1920's.

Coached by Floyd Murry and Lewis Emerick, the Perryton Rangers list men on their roster. As a prelude to home practice, the team put in a strenuous two weeks practice at Cratervile Park, Oklahoma, during the last two weeks of August, in what was described by the boys themselves as "no picnic," but which gave them plenty of conditioning and rubbed off the rough spots.

The defending regional champions have a tough row to hoe this year. Of last year's undefeated team, only two regulars and one letterman are back. The vacant spots, however, are being nicely filled by A squad reserves and members of the B team who moved up this year. As a whole, the squad appears to have plenty of weight, plenty of hustle and enthusiasm. However, they are weak on reserves, experience and speed.

No longer ago than last week Coach Murry declared:

"We've got a lot of work to do before we're ready."

Powell will definitely be in the backfield, although illness has kept him out of part of the practice. Larry Slaughter is set for the line and Jerry Key for the backfield.

Both teams operate from the T formation this year, and Perryton will operate with some shifts into single wing and short punt formations.

Don Rogers, up from the Ranger B team, has been working as the short man in the T. Key has been running as halfback, while the other backfield spot has been alternated between Harry Holfenbein, Earl Olmsted, Louis Flowers and Donald Graves. Powell is at fullback.

In the line, Slaughter is a 200 pounder, while John King at tackle and Marvin Smith at end weigh in the neighborhood of 190 pounds, although both are short in experience. Jimmy Cameron and Billy Ray Chase, up from the B team, have been running at tackle. The guards have not been picked, according to the latest information to reach Wellington, but will be chosen from the group that includes Marvin Moore, Orvill Brummett, Dean Mayberry, Donald Hedgepeth and Clinton Van Arsdale.

The Rangers are long on ends, and 1947 is showing up well, backed Johnny Revis, squadman in 1946 by Jerry Ward and Dean Morgan. Marvin Smith, Earl John and Mickey Huston are competing at right end. Delbert Trew and Bunny Pletcher are after the center position.

The definite starting lineup has not been picked—but Rocket fans will have their eyes on the above men when the whistle blows at 8:00 p.m. for the first game of the 1948 season.

FARMALL TRACTORS — INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER — INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS

It's a Mighty Big "IF"

——"IF" more tractors are available next season, we will have our share of them. We will have as many or more than we had last year; but that isn't bragging any.

——It don't make us happy to be unable to furnish a Farmall tractor to everybody who wants one. I never made a dollar in my life by not having what a man wanted to buy.

——There is just one small consolation to farmers who already have a Farmall tractor of some kind, even if it's an old one: We have the parts and service equipment and personnel to make the old tractor do the work until the day comes when we CAN supply plenty of new ones.

Out at Albuquerque last week, I saw displayed and actually working every type of farm and industrial machine the International Harvester company manufactures. Some that will not be in production for a year or two, and some that are old timers which have been built and used essentially unchanged for almost half a century. It was interesting and informative, but although there was a whole herd of company officials from Chicago, none of them could tell us when there would be enough of the stuff to go around.

James Doneghy sent a Farmall M to the shop last week for a complete overhaul; L. C. Hill also brought an M in for a working over. Cecil Elbert and A. L. Duncan had their M tractors here for some work, and Dee Kincannon brought his F20 in for an overhaul.

Lon Wellborn brought his F14 Farmall to us last week for some work, and Willie West drove his Regular Farmall in for a valve job and some other adjustments; H. L. Tollett brought his Farmall B to us.

N. B. Ringgold, G. F. Patterson, and others were here for combine parts during the past week. Jim Dodson, Tom Berry, and two or three others got mower parts. C. W. Gammill, Earl Mitchell, E. J. Schaub and many others have bought McCormick-Deering binder twine.

It's still early in the harvest season, and some crops are not going to do as well as we'd all hoped, but plenty of work is already going on. G. R. Roberts, Paul Wofford, L. C. Burnam, Earl Mitchell, Buck Breeding, as well as several others, have been in here after binder parts the last few days.

A lot of folks are making minor repairs on their Farmall tractors themselves, too. Bob Glenn, Osa Black, Dudley Phipps, Mish Dukeminier, Gene Glenn, W. C. Lewis, Grady Van Pelt, A. F. Knoll, I. J. Self, Stanley Whitson, T. D. Nored, Bob Copeland, W. E. Brashears, J. W. White, Joe Baumgardner, J. W. Stanton, and others have been in the store after tractor parts.

Pat Bradley and Barney Glenn were in during the week after parts for their wheat drills. Many others are getting their McCormick drills fixed up to sow right away.

J. A. Whitehead was in after some parts for the Quail International school busses; R. D. Jones was in after truck parts; and Raymond Neeley sent in for truck parts.

Earl Mitchell had us to install a new motor in his International C1 pickup last week. A. T. Lewis brought in part of his row binder to have us put on some new parts. Other smaller jobs have kept things humming lately.

H. L. Duncan still has his 50T automatic McCormick hay baler working. He came in after a few parts and some more twine for it the other day.

We just got in some more 11-ft. International Harvester Home Freezers. Many, many fellows are looking at these, and planning to buy "if their crop turns out fairly well." It reminds me of a few years ago when people actually looked upon the mechanical home refrigerator as a luxury. Took years to convince some of them these things didn't COST money, they SAVED it. Same way with the home freezers; folks are buying them slowly now—mostly because few realize how they not only save money on food bills, but enable us to have better, more tasty and healthful foods.

No matter what kind of home freezer you haven't got—it's costing you money NOT to own it.

Wedding Vows Are Read in Simple Home Ceremony for Mary Frances Hanes and John E. Plank

A fern-banked arch flanked by tall baskets of gladioli was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Frances Hanes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hanes of Lawton, Okla., and John E. Plank, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Plank. The vows were exchanged in the home of the bride's parents with Dr. H. Tom Wiles, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Lawton, officiating.

Fashioned with a basque waist and a bouffant skirt, the bride's street-length dress was of white eyelet embroidery, styled with a high neckline with tiny crystal buttons extending from the round neckline to the full skirt. Her flowers were red roses.

Miss Toy Walker, maid of honor, wore a white dotted Swiss dress trimmed with white lace. Johnnie Littlefield servd as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hanes chose an aqua crepe dress with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Plank, the groom's mother was dressed in black crepe with black accessories, and also wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was also held, following the exchange of vows, in the home of the bride's parents.

A lace table cloth covered the dining table,, which was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Garden flowers formed the floral decorations.

For her going away costume the bride wore a ballerina-length blue linen dress trimmed with white lace, which made a deep V down the bodice to the full skirt. Her shoes were white suede platform-soled sling pumps and she wore a corsage of red roses.

Following a short wedding trip to Amarillo and other points in West Texas, the couple reside at 203 Fort Sill Blvd., Lawton, Okla. Both plan to attend Cameron College this fall.

The bride is a graduate of the 1946 class of Lawton high school. and attended Cameron college for two years. While at Cameron she was a member of the Pep Pirates club, band and glee club.

Graduating from Lawton high school in 1945, the groom attended Cameron for one year before entering the army. He served 18 months ,spending one year overseas in Japan.

Versatile Jumper

Here's the most versatile outfit in a junior's back-to-college wardrobe. Worn as shown it becomes a glamorous, slightly daring evening frock. For less formal occasions, it can be worn with a blouse. The fabric, rayon taffeta made of Avisco rayon yarns, is a perfect choice for this type of full-skirted frock.

Hanvey-Baxter Wedding Vows Exchanged in Home Ceremony At Memphis Wed., Sept. 1

Budget Rayon

Here's a rayon gabardine classic that is smart and attractive for either campus or the office. The fabric, made of Avisco rayon yarns, lends itself well to tailoring and will give good hard wear. Notice the stitched fly-front, the convertible collar, and the all-round peplum over full, inset pockets.

On the wedding anniversary of her parents, Miss Mary Isabelle Hanvey of Memphis became the bride of Marshall Baxter with Rev. Clifton R. Tennison, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Memphis, officiating. The double ring ceremony was performed Wednesday evening, September 1, at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Hanvey, Memphis.

Centering the nuptial space were silver tapers burning in slanted candelabras, flanked by baskets of white gladioli and asters tied with wide white satin ribbon. A background with a trellis of greenery and clemitis completed the setting.

Preceding the ceremony, the candles were lighted by Miss Elizabeth Fulcher and Mrs. Lloyd Skelton of Vernon. They wore pink and blue frocks respectively designed with semi-fitted and full skirts. Their wrist bands were fashioned of white and pink asters.

Music for the wedding was provided by Mrs. Clarence Meece of Vernon, vocalist, and Hrs. Lawrence McCaleb of Vernon, pianist. The latter gave pre-nuptial solo selections, and provided accompaniment for Mrs. Meece who sang "Because." Mrs. McCaleb played the processional from "Lohengrin" by Wagner.

Entering from the hallway with her brother, J. Robert Hanvey Jr., the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of white Duchess satin designed with a semi-fitted bodice extending to a full skirt. Trimming was of seed pearls on net, and the long fitted sleeves extended to points over her wrists. Her dainty finger length veil of French illusion cascaded from a satin headband to which were attached clusters of orange blossoms.

The bride's only jewelry was a tiny necklace, a gift of the bride's father to her mother on their wedding day, set with a blue jewel. This completed the bridal tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue. She carried an arrangement of tube roses and white gladioli atop a white Bible from which satin ribbons showered to carry tiny clusters of stephanotis.

Mrs. James Lukke Smith, Jr., of Portsmouth, Virginia, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a dress of lavender net over satin. She carried a colonial bouquet of white asters.

Miss Adelle Harrell of Memphis and Mrs. Garland Turner of Childress were bridesmaids. Miss Harrell's blue taffeta gown was complimented by a colonial bouquet of pink asters surrounded by brown asters and Mrs. Turner wore a gold taffeta gown of identical design, and carried lavender asters.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Baxter, was attended as best man, by Frank Cannon of Clarendon. Serving as groomsmen and ushers were Lloyd Skelton of Vernon and Garland Turner of Childress.

Immediately following the ceremony, the wedding cake and punch were served from a table covered with a lace cloth and centered with a low arrangement of white gladioli tied with satin ribbons. Miss Eula Lee Woods and Miss Maggie McCaleb of Vernon presided at the punch bowl while the cake was cut and served by Miss Mary Jo Fulcher of Vernon and Mrs. Lloyd Skelton of Vernon. Miss Nadine Ford of Vernon, registered the guests in the bride's book. Other members of the house party for the affair were Ruth Barnes, and Margaret McElreath of Memphis.

The reception preceded the departure of the bride and groom, the former traveling in an original suit of grey wool gabardine with maroon and black accessories for their wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Baxter are at home in Wellington.

Miss Paulette Birchfield Honored on Fifth Birthday With Party Monday, Sept 6

Little Miss Paulette Birchfield was honored on her fifth birthday with a party in the home of her mother, Mrs. Paul Birchfield of Dodson, Monday, September 6.

After the group played games, refreshments of birthday cake and punch were served them.

Jondalon Dix and Rudolph Horak Marry in Impressive Ceremony At Amarillo, Sept. 3

With the organ music of "Liebestraum" as a background, vows were exchanged by Miss Jondaon Dix, daughter of Mrs. Doshia Dix of Amarillo, and Rudolph A. Horak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horak of Caldwell, in the chapel of the First Baptist Church in Amarillo at 12 a.m. Friday, September 3.

Before an arch decorated with pink gladioli and greenery flanked with branched candelabra and baskets of pink and white gladioli, Rev. Ray Rozell, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, officiated in the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by Ray W. Richards of Amarillo, brother-in-law of the bride.

John Josey, organist, played "Kammenoi Ostrow" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" as a nuptial prelude and was accompanied by Mrs. Josey with her violin. "Because" was played by Mrs. Josey as a violin solo. Hoyt Mulkey sang "With This Ring I Thee Wed." The traditional wedding march was used for the processional and recessional.

A mist blue gabardine suit with navy accessories and pink feathered hat was the costume of the bride. Her bridal bouquet was of gardenias surrounded by pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Ray W. Richards, sister of the bride and maid-of-honor, wore a toast-brown gabardine suit with brown accessories and a gardenia corsage. A. A. Horak, brother of the groom, from the University of Michigan, served as best man.

Ushers were Bert Matthews and Lloyd Jobe.

Mrs. Dix, mother of the bride, wore a steel-blue satin dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Horak, mother of the groom, was dressed in black crepe with black accessories and her flowers were white carnations.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony in the parlor of the First Baptist Church. Arrangements of pink gladioli were used in the receiving room. Mrs. Berlin Vance presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Ray W. Raillard served the tiered wedding cake. Miss Jean Josey registered the guests.

The bride chose a continental green gabardine suit with matching accessories and a corsage for her going away costume.

Following a short wedding trip in Colorado and New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph A. Horak will be at home at 2023 Washington in Amarillo.

The bride graduated from Dalhart high school and Amarillo Secretarial school. She is a former resident of Wellington and attended Wellington High School. She also attended West Texas State College in Canyon.

The groom is a graduate of Austin High School and the University of Texas. He served in the navy and is now employed at Southwestern Investment Co. of Amarillo.

LETTERS From The PEOPLE

Rt. 2, Box 264 B
Lancaster, California

Dear Deck,

I receive a copy of the Wellington Leader every Monday following its publication. It is a source of news from there, here, and everywhere, and I enjoy reading the topics as well as all the rest of it.

I see that many of my Collingsworth County friends are taking their vacation in different parts of the U. S. A. So I'll say a few words about our vacation in the Sierra Mts., which was a very fascinating trip.

My family and I took our vacation touring in the high Sierra Mt. We motored over the U. S. highway 395 to Leevining, Calif., then we turned and traveled over the mountain road that directed us into the interior of the Yosemite National Park, the wonderland of the U. S. A.

This mountain road gave us a thrill to travel, a sensation that we never experienced before in our lives, and that we shall never forget. It is a one-way road with side pockets to let on-coming cars pass, though the car pulling the grade had the "right-a-way". As we traveled onward we ascended higher ground, and 77 miles of this hazardous almost impregnable road had to be pulled in second and low gears. As the altitude was high, and the atmosphere light, our carburetor on our V8 Ford almost ceased to accelerate, as if we were up high close to where the angels live. This road was beset on both sides by deep gorgeous canyons, so deep that almost equal to the bottomless pit, which made you dizzy when you peep over to try to fathom its depth, and on the other side of the road were lofty, inaccessible mountains, so high that they penetrate far into the deep blue sky. Such are the Western high lands of America everyone is fond of. Some of these mountains were so gigantic that we had to drive through tunnels to get to our destination.

The scenic grandeur that these Sierra Mountains reveals are very impressive to the tourist. God was very creative when he architected them. Here are found the purling and swirling brooks, the green foliage, evergreen trees—which the exhausted tourist can relax a few minutes in the shade of their bowers and be enchanted by the songs of the singing birds that inhabit the forest of the Yosemite Nat'l Park—, ad the beautiful magnificent Yosemite Waterfalls makes a paradise for the tourist here.

The Merced River and many other streams have their source in the mountains of Yosemite National Park, and they abound in fish so plentiful you can see them swimming in schools in depth of 20 ft. of water, but I was not good enough fisherman to catch, lure or plug them. They would look at you and seem to say "Hello, stranger," and swim on.

I'll close by extending my invitation to all of my Collingsworth friends to come and see the glamor of the Yosemite National Park. You can see to your hearts content. If not you can go on a deep-sea fishing trip to the Catalina Islands off the coast of Long Beach, and you will get your money worth of joy and happiness.

Your friend, a subscriber,

PRACTICAL CONSERVATION MEANS More Gas FOR YOU..
Yes, scientific methods of conservation applied to each new well mean more gas for your home, store or factory. Methods developed over the years for proper drilling and production assure land and royalty owners maximum recovery of gas or oil...assure consumers maximum volume of products for their use.
Practical conservation of mineral resources guides the operations of the United Gas organization. It is one of many functions of United Gas...all of which have the ultimate purpose of assuring a continued dependable supply of natural gas for our customers.
UNITED GAS ...
Serving the Gulf South

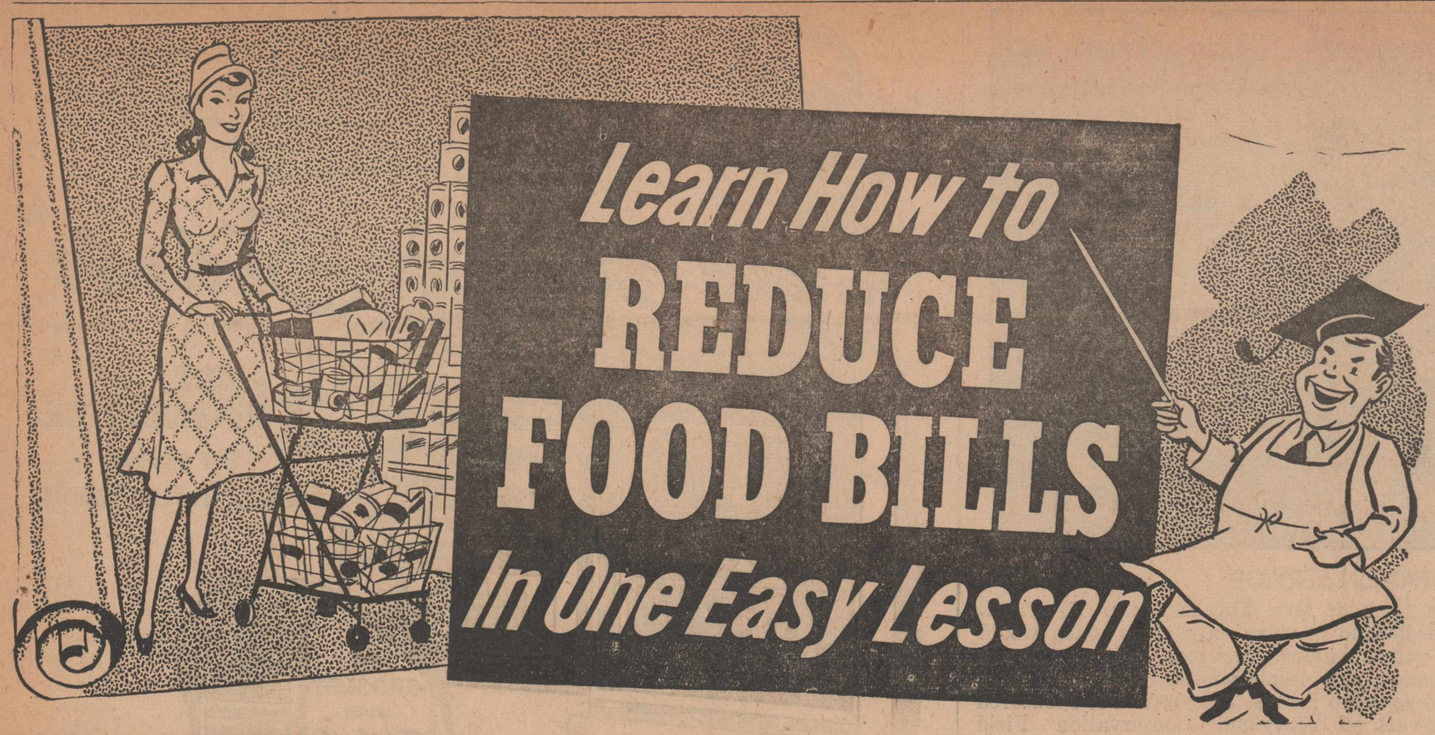

When producing sand has been reached, the drill stem is replaced with casing lowered to the bottom of the hole and cemented into place. Small holes are shot or blown through the casing with a perforating "gun."

Small diameter tubing is lowered to the bottom of the hole and the heavy "mud" which is present all through the drilling operation is displaced with water to allow the well to come in.

Gas or oil enters the perforations at the bottom of the tubing and flows to the collection of valves at the head of the well called a Christmas tree. Here a man has complete control of the volume of gas or oil that flows from the well.

MARYLAND FARM GETS BLITZ REHABILITATION SERVICE

Over 500 volunteers worked for one day at the farm of Mrs. Thrasher near Frederick, Md., and when they were finished the farm had doubled in value—a project which would have taken five years normally. While 30,000 people watched, the men built a 22-cow dairy barn, dug drainage ditches, built roads and ponds, remodled the farmhouse, fixed the trees, terraced and fertilized the fields and repaired fences. The work was sponsored by civic and farm organizations as the supere-vent of "Maryland Conservation Field Day." Here, a piece of heavy farm machinery does its part as the new barn rises in the background.

When an automobile manufacturer produces a car so obviously ahead of the times as the Futuramic Oldsmobile, it's only natural that demand for that product should reach record-breaking proportions. Add to this today's pent-up need for automotive transportation—plus continuing shortages of steel and other critical materials—and you'll see why we, as Oldsmobile dealers, have a real problem on our hands. We value the good will of all our customers. We would like to provide all our customers with new Oldsmobile cars. But unfortunately, this can't be done overnight. That is why we are taking this opportunity to reaffirm publicly our POLICIES ON NEW CAR DELIVERIES, as listed in the box at right. We believe that under present circumstances these policies constitute a sound basis for "fair play" to everybody. And we hope that, on this basis, we may continue to serve you and merit your patronage for Oldsmobile and for ourselves.

Farm and Ranch Chatter

With Layne Beaty, WBAP, Fort Worth

In Lubbock county the other day we saw a patch of cotton with a lot of tumbleweeds growing in it We were told the farmer was trying to cross cotton and tumbleweeds so he wouldn't have to snap the cotton. I would roll right into the gin.

Which might be one way of solving the farm labor scarcity, but it shouldn't help cotton much in its battle with the plastics.

With the farm organizations selecting "queens" nowadays. the farm meeting has taken on a new, refreshing flavor. Discussions of farm prices, feed scarcities, labor problems, fertilizer, roads, and machinery have begun sharing the spotlight with feminine curves, poise, personality and showmanship.

Last week, in annual convention at San Antonio, the Texas State Grange selected a queen.

The Farm Bureau all over the country is now naming county queens who will compete in district, state and finally, a national contest. By the way, the gals pose in formal dress—not beach wear.

Some experimenting with 16-20-0 fertilizer on corn at randon in Hill county showed net gains in profit of $4.75 to $10.75 per acre, depending upon what kind of concentrated chemicals were used with it. The market price of corn at that time was 1.40 per bushel. A hundred pounds of the 16-20-0 with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate gave the best increase in yield. The corn was planted March 18 and the fertilizer applied then. The ammonium nitrate was put on as a side dressing when the corn was just over knee high.

A 5-acre "stage" is being fixed up at the Lubbock experiment station for the 2nd Beltwide Cotton Mechanization conference, October 14, 15 and 16.

Don Jones, station superintendent, has just planted some cotton which will be ready to demonstrate weeders, cultivators, etc., when the visitors come. Another plot will be saved for making into a seed bed for the spectators, who will be seated on temporary bleachers just across a fence. Cotton strippers, dusters and every machine used in cotton production will be demonstrated.

Big doings at Sherman on September 9. W. W. Gunn, chairman of the agricultural part of Sherman's big Centennial celebrations this year, announced that an entire farm will be "redone."

Two controversies are developing out on the plains. One is over whether there is an "unlimited" supply of underground water to supply the irrigation wells which have been drilled and most of which are pumping night and day during crop growing seasons.

Another is over which is the best method of keeping soil from blowing Some prefer the deep plowing method (12 to 16 inches) which turns up clods of sub-soil clay to the top. Others like the chisel-type plow which leaves all crop residue on top of the ground.

Texas Agriculture Needs Men Trained As Plant Specialists

COLLEGE STATIOS "Wanted: Young Texans to help fight cotton root rot, spinach white rust, southern peanut blight." That's the sign that might well be hung outside the door of the new department of plant physology and pathology at the Texas A&M College School of Agriculture.

"Texas agriculture badly needs more highly-trained plant scientists," according to C. N. Shepardson, dean of the A&M agricultural school. "At present, we can't begin to supply enough such men for Texas agriculture. Nor can we import them from other states, for the rest of the states are just as short of trained men as we are.

"Agriculture, no less than industry, needs professionally trained scientists," according to Dean Shepardson. "Few fields offer more in the way of a satisfactory career to boys who excel in high school science, botany, chemistry and physics."

To improve its program for training such men, the A&M College is establishing a department of plant physiology and pathology in the agriculture school September 1, with Dr. A. A. Dunlap as head. Previously, instruction in these fields was given in the department of biology. Assisting Dr. Dunlap in giving instruction will be Dr. V. A. Greulach and Dr. E. M. Hildebrand.

Plant pathologists are "doctors of the fields." They deal with diseases of plants, which cause millions of dollars of losses annually to farmers.

Plant physiologists study and seek to improve normal plants, and often work hand-in-hand with geneticists in developing new or hardier species.

For a long time employment of such specialists was limited to agricultural colleges and their auxiliary services. But with farming and food processing becoming big business, such specialists are also in demand by large-scale growers and canners.

So great is the shortage of pathologists and physiologists that the colleges cannot supply enough graduates for their own needs, let alone for commercial operators.

As a general rule, these agricultural specialists take four-year courses leading to bachelor of science degrees; then work part-time as graduate fellows until they receive master's or doctor's degrees. At present the shortage is so great that many jobs normally requiring doctor's degrees are filled by men holding only master's degrees, according to Dr. Dunlap.

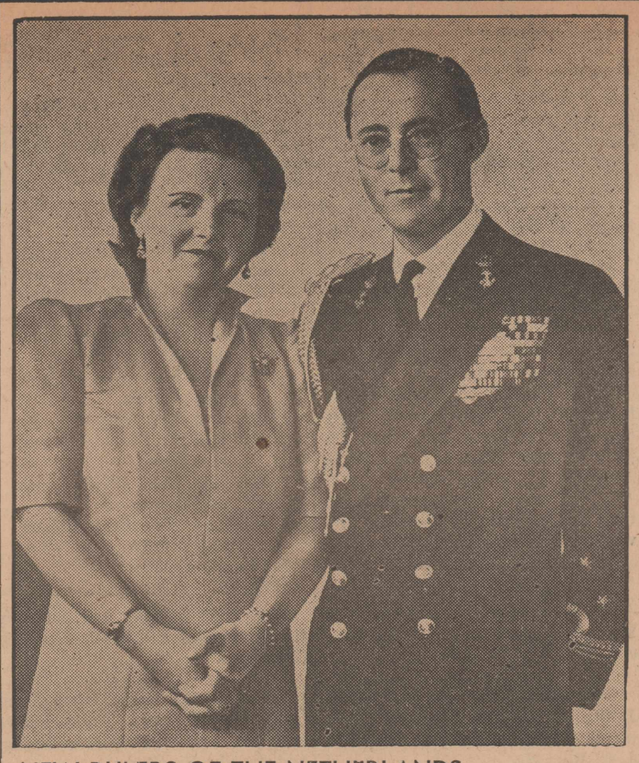

Texans are preferred for work in Texas, according to Dr. Dunlap, because it takes several years for specialists from outside the state to learn the special growing conditions of the various parts of Texas.

'The fight against plant diseases is an endless one," Dr. Dunlap says. "The case of cotton root rot is an example. The seriousness of the problem was recognized back in the last century, and the first bulletin put out by the Texas Experiment Station concerned root rot. Recently we have had some success, growing hubam clover before planting cotton. But we are still trying to find out why the hubam helps the following cotton crop. That's a job for a micro-biologist, another agricultural scientist.

"We have developed new rust-resisting wheats, only to have new types of rust appear. Tomato plants are subject to a serious and devastating disease, which caused great losses last year. Spinach white rust and Southern blight of peanuts are serious problems to growers.

"In this new department, A&M will be able to train plant scientists for Texas," Dr. Dunlap says. "Provided, of course, that we get a sufficient number of qualified students for the program."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

One Great American Trait

I always think it does a newspaper editor good to get out from behind his desk and see how folks in other parts of America look, and think, and act.

And that's what I've been doing these past weeks, touring the country from Michigan to Texas, California to Maine. It's a mighty encouraging experience. Not only because of the different points of view you run into—but because of the tolerance which reconciles those different points of view.

I mean the tolerance of a Pennsylvania farmer for the habits of his city cousin; the tolerance of folks who vote one way towards those who vote another; the tolerance of those who prefer spring water towards those who enjoy a moderate beverage like beer.

From where I sit, it's that great American trait of tolerance—respect for individual tastes and liberties—that makes this country strong. Let's never lose it!
