HOUSE ADOPTS A RESOLUTION FOR INVESTIGATION

Department of Public Safety Is Object Of Probe
PLANS RELATED
Allege 'Tip-off' Man Told Department Actions

AUSTIN, Nov. 14. (AP)—The house today adopted a resolution authorizing a committee investigation of the department of Public Safety, including charges that "said department and officials impeded law enforcement by giving advance information as to the actions of the department in law enforcement efforts."

The action followed the dismissal of Ranger Captain Tom Hickman after Hickman was cited as saying that a high state official tipped off a raid that he had been ordered to make on a resort near Fort Worth. The resolution was pushed through quickly, proponents cutting off all debate attempts.

The house adopted a conference committee report on a bill removing officers from a fee to a salary basis. Only one concurrence is needed to send the bill to the governor.

The fate of other major legislation, including taxes for old age pensions and automobile drivers' licensing hung in the balance as the houses moved toward an adjournment at midnight.

A conference written liquor bill, restricting whiskey sales in unbroken packages by licensed private dealers, was completed for submission to both houses later in the day.

A disagreement of the license bill committee reduced prospects for its passage, while conferees on the tax bill to pay the pensions made little progress.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONVENTION HERE

"Recovery and Advance" Is Theme of Meeting on November 19

"Recovery and Advance" is the theme of the one-day-district convention to be held at the First Christian Church here Tuesday, November 19, and all features of the day's program will center about this idea.

The local convention is one of 225 being conducted in the United States and Canada from November 4-22nd. They are under the direction of United Promotion, the general promotional agency of the Christian Church, and together comprise the largest convention enterprise of the Disciples of Christ.

This year brings the thirteenth annual series of these conventions. Last year their attendance reached 60,000, representing some 10,000 churches. At the local convention there will be outstanding district and state and national leaders on the program.

Dr. Paul Preston of Indianapolis is the principal speaker for the day, with Virgil E. Havens, missionary to the Belgian Congo, Bolenge, Africa. Rev. Havens is stationed at Wema, the newest and most primitive of all the missionary stations in the Belgian Congo, and is visiting America on his second furlough.

As in this primitive mission station at Bolenge is to be found the largest Sunday School attendance in all the world, every person in Midland will want to hear how and why these natives come in numbers of over 5,000 every Sunday to hear the story of Jesus. Rev. J. E. Pickering, pastor of the First Christian church here said.

The complete program and committee to care for this convention will be printed in The Reporter-Telegram Sunday. The public is invited to attend every service.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

W. Ily Pratt and Fred Wemple are attending the Northwest Methodist Conference at Plainview which is now in progress and will close Sunday, M. C. Ulmer will also attend the meeting after a trip to Dallas.

FIRST MEMORIAL FUNDS ARE MAILED TO CARTER TODAY

56 Contributors Up to Present Donate $70.00
SUM IS GROWING
More Money Is Sent In Every Day by Midlanders

First official report from the local Will Rogers Memorial fund committee was mailed to Amon G. Carter, chairman for Texas today, showing that 56 contributors at Midland had given $69.36 to the fund. The report was based on all contributions turned in to banks or newspaper up to 10 o'clock this morning. Duplicate deposit slips were mailed to Chairman Carter with a detailed list of the contributors and amounts turned in.

The campaign, which opened on the birthday of Will Rogers, November 4, continues through November 27 when a draft for the entire amount contributed here will be sent to the state chairman.

No solicitation has been conducted here, the entire number of contributions having been made voluntarily. The campaign is designed to operate in that manner, all contributions being based on friendships for the late humorist.

J. Howard Hodge, manager of the Yucca and Ritz theatres, today contributed $10 to the fund. It was the largest single gift, also the first to be made as a firm or place of business in Midland. Additional contributions today were made by Mrs. R. E. Kinsey, David M. Ellis and E. P. Cowden. Gifts yesterday were made by Fisher Pollard, Mrs. Joe Pyron, Dr. L. W. Leggett, F. G. Grafe, Tom Lineberry, J. P. H. McMullan, Mrs. Emma Cowden and A. E. Horst.

The Yucca theatre last night showed a short film explaining the Rogers Memorial campaign. At the Ritz there was a newsreel of the take-off of Captain Frank Hawks from New York on his 25,000 mile flight in the interest of the campaign, which brought him to Midland airport yesterday. Both films are being shown again today.

Wednesday was second in point of number of contributions, the largest number having been on last night when 27 Rogers letters left gifts in a hat they departed from the weekly luncheon.

E. E. Stevens who fell Monday night and suffered a broken hip, was reported today by relatives to be doing "as well as could be expected." He is at his home, 508 S. Main street.

COL. MCARNEY HERE

Col. McArney made the only landing recorded for this morning at the Midland airport. He was flying an A-11 and came from Tucson, departing soon after noon for Hensley Field at Dallas.

Hawks Relates Incidents Leading To His Long-Time Association With Will Rogers

The following article was written by Captain Frank Hawks for several years a close friend of Will Rogers, and which had been Rogers' pilot for many thousands of miles.

Hawks visited here Wednesday and during his short stay related many incidents concerning his association with the noted humorist.

It was on January 18th, 1931, I was sitting at my desk studying some maps for a prospective flight to Alaska. I had always wanted to see the frozen north.

The telephone rang. It was a long distance call from Houston, Texas, my home town. Jesse Jones wanted me.

"Frank," said Mr. Jones, "Will Rogers wants to know if you will fly him on a tour of mercy for the drought sufferers down here. Can you do it?"

"I'm sure I can," I responded.

Will wanted to go fast and he knew that I had a fast airplane, one that would travel at 25 miles per hour. I explained that my ship would not be suitable as it was a single seater.

"Can't I get in alongside the gas tanks?" he said. "I want to go in that fast ship with which you have been making all of those records."

It was a cold day when we started and we had to fly Rogers out with some flying gear. Big fur lined flying suit, boots which he called "muckluks," helmet, goggles, and of course a parachute. Will remarked later, "I think that everything the Navy didn't want, they put on me."

While we were standing in front of the ship having our pictures taken, Will turned to me and asked what the rip cord was for on the parachute. (The rip cord is tacked on the left side of the harness near the chest.) I explained that in the event of fog, had to jump, all he had to do was to jump—count five—and then pull the rip cord. That then everything would be all right.

"What do you count five for?" he asked. "To see if you're conscious?"

A howl went up from everybody. "Why," continued Will, "why do they put that cord over here?" He pointed to his left side and stressed his difficulty in getting hold of it, because of the heavy flying gear in which he was dressed. "Why don't they put it over on this side?" said he, and pointed to his right side where with his right hand he could much easier get hold of the ring.

I explained to him that in the Military and Naval services, a para-

Reports of Japanese Attack on Chinese Quarter Send Natives Fleeing to French Settlement

Japanese Promptly Deny Statement Was Made

NANKING, China, Nov. 14. (AP)—Reports of an impending Japanese attack on the Chinese quarter here promptly denied by Japanese authorities, created a condition of near panic among Chinese today. Chinese quitted the quarter in vast numbers, taking refuge in the International settlement and the French settlement.

The Japanese embassy today warned Nanking authorities that a more thorough carrying out of China's pledges for the suppression of anti-Japanese activities throughout the country is necessary.

Japan insisted that the recent Shanghai incidents were regarded as a breach over the Nanking government mandates suppressing anti-Japanese organizations.

RED CROSS DRIVE NETS OVER $600 IN DAY AND HALF

Some Business Firms Go 100 Per Cent Membership

A total of about $650 had been collected in the Red Cross roll call drive up to noon today, a checkup showed. The drive opened Wednesday morning.

"We are very thankful that a good many business institutions have gone 100 per cent and are displaying the cards to that effect," Ralph T. Buey, chairman of the roll call in this district, said.

"Considering that people are so busy and so many are away from home, we feel that we have done extra well," he continued, "but we feel that we do not have quite as many memberships as we are entitled to have."

The drive will continue for several days during which every citizen will have an opportunity to contribute to the cause of the Red Cross. The drive is being held upon each citizen during the drive and no one will be purposely overlooked, it was explained. Those who have not yet been asked for a contribution may expect to be called upon any day.

Checkups are being made twice a day.

A special request for additional workers is being made by Buey. Anyone interested who will help in canvass is asked to call him at 690 or to his residence, 580, to call John P. Butler at the First National bank, or to list his name with The Reporter-Telegram, telephone No. 7.

Gas Tax Display to Show at Exposition

TULSA, Okla.—A gigantic display showing that the gasoline consumer pays a 40 per cent sales tax in the United States on every gallon will be shown at the ninth International Petroleum Exposition in Tulsa May 16 to 23, 1936, according to W. G. Skelly, president of the exposition.

The exhibit is being arranged by the oil industry through the American Petroleum Institute and will be a part of the 10-million dollar exhibits by approximately 1,000 different oil firms in the largest industrial show of any one industry," said Skelly.

Skelly pointed out that gasoline consumption from 1919 to 1935 increased sixfold while at the same time the price of the same motor fuel dropped 45 per cent. "The consumer has failed to benefit by this increased efficiency in the oil industry for a 40 per cent sales tax has been imposed on the product."

Cold Wave Again Hits North Texas

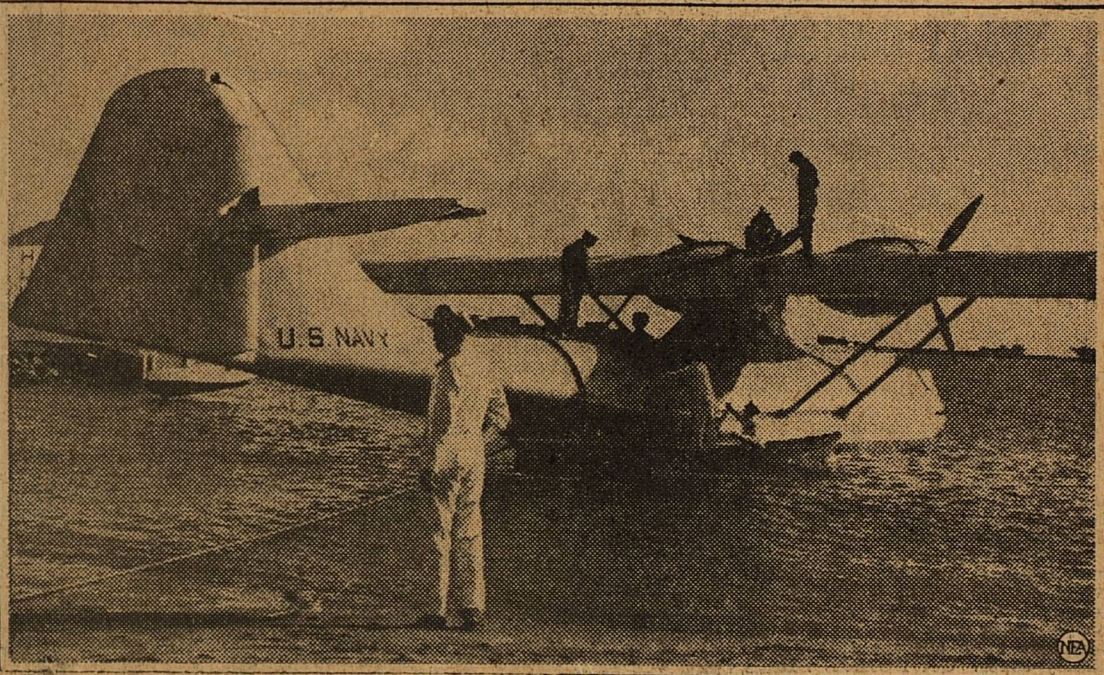

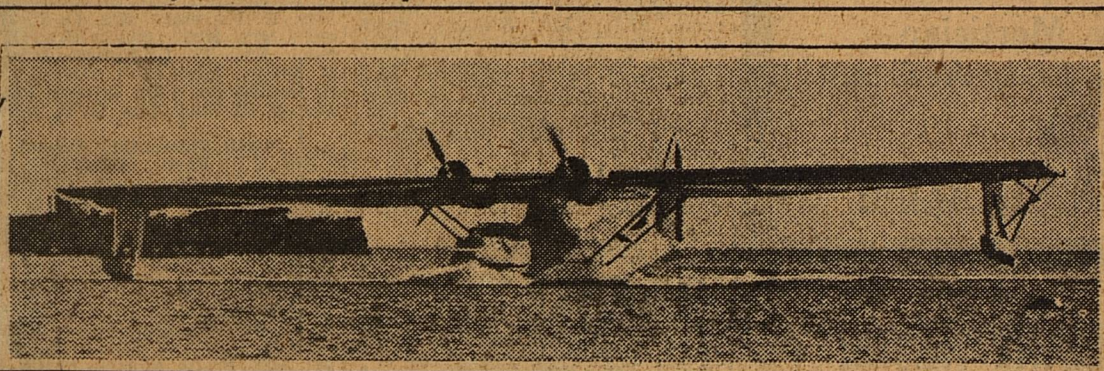

Winter's second cold wave is sweeping over Texas today. Temperatures began to fall in North Texas early this morning and temperatures ranging from 24 to 30 are forecast for that section.

For Midland and vicinity, rain and lowering temperatures are forecast for both tonight and Friday.

The Panhandle is expected to receive heavy snows Friday and livestock warnings have been issued for that section. The wave is not expected to be as serious as that which hit the state last week.

HOLD MEETING FOR TEXAS OFFICERS

Identification Body to Be Formed to Aid in Enforcement

Announcement was made today of a meeting in Waco on November 15th, of Texas Identification Officers for the purpose of forming a Texas division of the International Association for Identification.

The movement is being organized to combat the crime wave in Texas with new and scientific instruments. Highways, and rapid transportation of contraband by fast cars present one of the greatest obstacles in the way of officers who would curb crime and all efforts are being made to bring the loosely knit law enforcement agencies into a more compact and effective body.

Special attention will be paid to the keeping abreast of the advance in science and research; to sponsor and encourage research and scientific inquiry; and to disseminate knowledge so acquired to all the profession.

31 MILLION ENGLISH MARCH TO POLLS TO CAST VOTES TODAY

Baldwin's Party Is Expected to Stay In Power

LONDON, Nov. 14. (AP)—More than 31,000,000 British today voted in the general elections and it was expected that Prime Minister Baldwin's forces would win a majority of 150 seats in the House of Commons.

A victory for the national regime was expected by party leaders. They predicted a reduced but sound working majority in the house of commons, probably of around 150, although there were unknown elements, such as how liberals will vote.

Several outstanding personalities, including former Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, were likely to be beaten in their constituencies. MacDonald, now lord president of the council, is accused by the labor party of being a "traitor" to it.

Others thought in danger were Sir John Simon, liberal, and present home secretary, and Sir Herbert Samuel, liberal leader.

Discussions and rowdiness, especially in the industrial sections of the north and west, marked the campaign.

MacDonald has been the victim of the most bitter attacks. His meetings were broken up and he was taunted and scorned as a "traitor" by Durhamshire miners for his desertion of regular labor ranks in 1931 to head the national government.

Lumber Industry's Outlook Favorable

The Special Lumber Survey Committee in its current quarterly report to the Department of Commerce, which is being released this week, points to the favorable outlook for the American lumber industry because of anticipated improved demand for building construction, the wood-using industries and the railroads.

The Forest Products Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, in reviewing the Committee's report, points out that few people appreciate the tremendous importance of the American lumber industry as a factor in the welfare of the nation. The industry as a whole, in normal years, ranks third among the major industries as an employer of labor. Therefore, improved consumption of its products is bound to materially assist economic conditions generally.

The Committee's current report foresees a continued advance in residential and farm building construction. During the first nine months of this year, it is pointed out, residential building was greater than each of the three previous full years.

BELIEVES DELAY WOULD HELP IN MAKING PEACE

Egyptian Riots Are Cause of Many Deaths

ACCUSE SOLDIERS Italians Are Charged With Entering Convents

By Associated Press
Pope Pius, ecclesiastical sources said today, is striving to postpone the application of sanctions in the interest of peace.

At Cairo, Egypt, a British officer shot and killed one rioter and wounded three others, making four dead and 150 injured in two days of anti-British rioting.

British authorities said that the situation did not require action of the government, and no consideration was given to the possible use of British troops for police work.

Ethiopia formally charged today that invading Italian soldiers had violated Ethiopian women at Aduwa, Aksum, Adigrat and Abagaria. It was said that wives of Ethiopian priests were among those violated. Further charges alleged that the soldiers invaded convents and violated young sisters.

A Rome communication said that 300 natives and 10 unidentified white men were killed on the Ethiopian side and 17 Italians killed and 63 wounded in an engagement in the upper valley of the Fafa river.

MOSCOW, Nov. 14. (AP)—Informal sources said today that Italy had promised an investigation of the punishment of guilty persons in re-appeal to a Russian protest against the alleged detention and beating of Russians in Italy.

backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flush-der the eyes and dizziness.

265 DIPHTHERIA CASES REPORTED

State Health Department Urges That Children Be Vaccinated

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—The state health officer, Dr. John W. Brown, urges all parents of children from 6 months to 10 years of age who have not been immunized against diphtheria, to take them to the family physician and have this done at once. Last month there were 265 cases of diphtheria in Texas reported to the state department of health. This is an increase over the month of August and shows the need of stressing immunization of the children in this age group.

It was not so long ago that parents dreaded diphtheria because of the inability to prevent or cure this scourge. Now that we not only know the cause but also the remedy there is no reason why this disease cannot be completely eliminated. As diphtheria is most dangerous to the very young children, it is of the highest importance that immunization be given early. What is more, in young children there is practically no reaction to the injection. Immunization has been proven to give absolute protection. It is in the power of the parents of this state, co-operating with their physicians and the health department, to eliminate the disease.

Letters to the Editor

Austin, Texas.
Editor, The Reporter-Telegram:
For a certain and rather extensive group of self-centered persons symptom hunting unfortunately is rather popular. Because of a too detailed study of so-called health literature of the alarmist type or on account of a recent death in the family, introspection develops to a morbid degree. The result is an entirely unfounded fear for all sorts of disease possibilities. Many becoming victims of this warped psychology develop brain and nerve exhaustion and in extreme cases even become affected mentally, stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

Of course, it is entirely proper to have a normal regard for personal well-being. To maintain vitality and to prevent disease is a logical aim for every one. But it most decidedly must be kept within bounds. When one becomes obsessed with the subject, concern for health has overstepped the limits. For all practical purposes, after giving reasonable attention to diet, personal sanitation, sleep and exercise, and assuming that one's bodily limitations are defined by the family physician are appreciated, the average person can dismiss the subject of health. This, plus the annual physical of service to the community, adequately cover the situation.

On the other hand, conditions are bound to arise where actual disease symptoms manifest themselves. It will then be up to the doctor to decide what the trouble, if any, is and for the patient to abide by his judgment.

In short, symptom hunting as a hobby is a dangerous matter. One should stay or get away from it. It is neither safe nor healthy to do otherwise.

Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

Ex-Official Buys Self New Chevrolet

Charles F. Barth of Flint, Mich., who retired four years ago after 14 years of service to the Chevrolet Motor Co., during which he rose to the rank of vice president in charge of manufacturing, was the first person to take delivery of a new 1936 Chevrolet.

As an expression of its esteem for Mr. Barth, Chevrolet made the delivery 24 hours before the first public presentation of the new models.

Mr. Barth joined the organization in 1917, worked up by successive stages to head its manufacturing activities, and retains his lively interest in its achievements.

Mr. Barth was one of the 2,500 Flint residents who attended the appreciation dinner tendered Chevrolet and General Motors by the Flint Chamber of Commerce, Oct. 21. He was, in fact, a guest of honor, seated at the speakers' table. During conversation with M. E. Coyle, president and general manager of Chevrolet, Mr. Barth expressed the desire to obtain the first car delivered, and Mr. Coyle immediately made the necessary arrangements.

As a result, the car was formally delivered to Mr. Barth, at Flint, by A. F. Young, Flint regional manager.

Carved Tombstone, Then Dies

ST. PHILIPPE, Que. (U.P.)—Eugene Saulnier, middle-aged stone mason, carved a tombstone during his spare time. A few days after it was completed, he fell into the Petit Riviere St. Jacques and was drowned.

The Town Quack
(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)
Hitler then told him that there were no Jewish officers in the German army.
"I know," the old man said, "but there were a lot of them in the American army."
And the story goes that this made the Nazi officers so mad that they stamped the Jew to death right there on the spot.
There is no shell on a shark's egg. The covering is leathery and as elastic as Indian rubber.

It's been just about a year since our former city editor, R. C. Hankins, left us and went to work on the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. We haven't had a letter from him but heard indirectly the other day that he was almost through reading "Anthony Adverse."

One of our boys was down at Fort Worth a while back and claimed he ran into a funny situation. A man had come out of a place wearing nothing but a barrel. Passers-by stopped and asked him if he were a poker player.
"No, but the other boys were," he replied.

Red Cross workers said they don't mind being turned down, but they hate to have people "bawl them out" while doing so.

That's just another funny trait of humans. When they don't want to contribute to a good cause, they must feel just a little mean, because nine out of ten of them will make some vicious complaint to the committee or solicitors.

One method indignant givers use is to throw the money out on the counter like they are mad about it. That doesn't hurt the solicitors a bit. They are just volunteers trying to help a good cause along. And it doesn't do the giver any good. Likely as not he would feel a lot better if he gave the money cheerfully or politely refused to do so.

Two sailors were talking, and one of them said he was sure tired of the seas and the oceans.

"When I get ashore after this next trip," one of them said, "I'm going to get a nice pair of light oars and I'm going to sling them across my shoulder and start walking inland. When I strike a place where people say, 'What are those things you've got on your shoulder?' that is where I'm going to settle down."

Nations are a great deal like some men who drink. When peace is proclaimed after a war the nations say "Never again!" After nursing a hangover, a man often says "Never again!" And repeats the saying when nursing the next hangover.

A story going the rounds is that over in Germany Hitler was making a talk to a group of people about the anti-Jewish campaign.

"The Jews caused us to lose the war," he said.
Among those present was an old man who obviously had Jewish blood in his veins and he loudly agreed with the statement. Hitler asked him why.
"The Jewish officers did it," was the reply.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

We like the swagger coats in soft-toned big plaids, particularly in blue and brown.

One of the most fascinating things we know is the task of trying to improve the looks of a room ten dollars' worth with a five-dollar budget. It is the kind of task that grips one's mind and refuses to be ousted until the ultimate penny's worth of improvement has been planned.

Miss Elizabeth Arden, beauty specialist, now speaks on the radio. Here are extracts from what we suppose might be called her "sales talk" on beauty at Chicago recently. "The desire to be beautiful is born in every woman. It is her birthright and her justification. Beauty is the animating power behind everything worthwhile—literature—art—progress and activity of every kind. Sales talk or not, such statements are emotional and inspiring."

Nevertheless, we are inclined to take issue on her statement that the desire to be beautiful is woman's justification. After all, can beauty even, much less the mere desire for it, justify woman's existence? No, despite the uplifting quality of beauty and its power over human beings, we think there are more rugged things which will stand as "justification" for life.

Another pertinent bit of advice that the speaker gave was this: "Do you not realize that if you think living is more drudgery, this idea is born in your own minds? Such simple things as a renewed interest in your looks—a lovely clear skin and healthy body will greatly assist in changing that dull mental attitude. Think rather of life as an amazing adventure and you will create glamour in yourselves!"

There is the long-sought-for recipe for glamour, daughters of Eve, in seven words—Think of life as an amazing adventure. Will it guarantee results?

Well, that remains for each woman to discover. We begin to be skeptical of many things.

Club Studies Russia Through Lives of Two Famous Men

In the absence of Mrs. Frank Elkin who was ill, Mrs. J. M. DeArmond was leader for the program of the Wednesday club meeting with Mrs. R. L. Miller, 202 S. Big Spring, Wednesday afternoon.

Third in the series of miscellaneous studies which is occupying the club this year was Russia, the theme of the papers presented yesterday. The Eastern European nation was studied through two of its noted men, Chailapin, the musician, and Lenin, the politician.

Mrs. DeArmond gave Mrs. Elkin's paper on the life and accomplishments of Chailapin.

Mrs. M. E. Self presented a discussion of Lenin's life and work. Mrs. John P. Butler served as critic for the afternoon.

Mrs. Reese Hostess To Junior Woman's Wednesday Club

Mrs. Alfred A. Reese Jr. was hostess to the Junior Woman's Wednesday club at her home, 712 W. Storey, Wednesday afternoon.

Continuing the study of modern plays and playwrights, the program centered about George S. Kaufman and Morrie Ryskind and their play, "Of Thee I Sing."

Mrs. Barron Kidd discussed the lives of the two men while Mrs. Ralph Geisler read "Of Thee I Sing."

Refreshments were served following the program hour to these club members: Misses Geisler, Kidd, Nancy Stevens, Misses Julia Ann Aycock, Jennie Elkin, Martha Louise Nobles, Mary Bell Pratt, Bennie Sue Radloff, Dorothy Radloff, Lucile Thomas, and the hostess.

WORCESTER, Mass. (U.P.)—There'll be no bare upbeards at Worcester county jail this winter. The prisoners, under the direction of William Millward, Sr., steward, have preserved nearly 18,000 quarts of foodstuffs, all grown in the institution's garden.

Reception of WPA Projects Cheering

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 11 Enthusiastic reception of many Works Progress Administration projects by sponsors is providing great encouragement to officials of the organization which is striving to eliminate the dole in Texas. H. P. Drought, state WPA administrator, declared today.

Especially heartening, said Drought, are favorable comments from farmers in the Quemado Valley irrigation district concerning the flood damage repair work on a main irrigation canal in that area. First WPA project completed in Texas. Fall vegetable planting was made possible by the rehabilitation of the large irrigation channel, made useless by the destruction of spring floods.

Other work projects which have occasioned commendation for the type of work being undertaken by WPA in Texas include:

Rebuilding of a school house in Moss Hill, Liberty County, to replace an edifice which burned last year. This project is being financed by an appropriation of $2,500 from the State Legislature, $3,000 of WPA funds, and a public subscription list initiated by citizens of the community.

Sewing rooms in Port Arthur and Beaumont. One of these projects, utilizing materials supplied by the Texas Relief Commission, will make children's clothes to be distributed to needy families.

Drainage and flood control work in Harris County is providing a project which will employ approximately 1,800 men in that district.

Encouragement from a different source is gained from the fact that private employment is depleting the ranks of laborers in some sections of the state.

Cotton picking employment has caused available relief labor to slump from 2,150 persons to 872 in the Big Spring area. Employment conditions prevail similarly farther West toward El Paso, Waco, more centrally located, also furnishes reports that many persons formerly on relief have found private employment.

At last the country has begun to realize that football as it is played in the Southwest is second to none. It is doubtful if any other school of Texas ever before headed the national rankings as S. M. U. is doing at this time.

For several seasons the Mustangs made trips to the north and east, and when not victorious, put up a fighting type of game that made them more friends at each one but so-called "experts," nevertheless, refused to rank the teams or players of the Southwest with those of the other sections of the country.

For finally gaining a spot of prominence in the world of football, S. M. U. and Rice should be given the most praise. The Rice defeat of Purdue and the lesson Fordham received from the Mustangs plus the wonderful records of both teams this season, has finally made stand-pat sports writers admit that the game as it is played in Texas is the flashiest and most pleasing type of them all.

With San Angelo serving formal notice on Big Spring and Sweetwater that the Armistice Day game will not be played over, regardless of the district officials backing up the claim of Big Spring, this action of the state is in a quandary over what the final decision will be. A final decision will be withheld by league moguls until after both schools have played the Sweetwater team. Why, we can't figure out. A positive declaration should be made immediately on whether or not the game is to be played over.

School officials probably feel that if the question is allowed to linger until the regular season is over, that the arguments, pro and con, over the game until that time will cause more people to attend the game if and when it is played off.

The present argument is a perfect example of the greatest inadequacy that now exists in the Intercollegiate League. A rule, applying to all districts, should be passed providing for such happenings.

Regardless of the outcome of the quarrel, our opinion is that San Angelo has the better team and would go farther in the state play-offs.

The Midland Bulldogs, definitely out of the chase for district honors this season and resting in fourth place in a seven-team district, take on the Monahans Lobes here tomorrow night and the game is likely to be as tough for the home team as they have played all season.

Despite the failure of the Lobes to win a conference game so far this season, they have a heavy and experienced team that has outplayed both Crane and Odessa in games this season only to lose by tough breaks. The game was lost to Crane when the Lobes managed to make one or two more first downs than the Crane boys could in a 0-0 tie. In the game with Odessa they roundly out-played the Bronchos for three quarters before finally succumbing to superior numbers of substitutes.

Ineffective coaching is blamed more for the dismal season of the Lobes than the material for despite the fact that only 13 men have been reporting to the team all year in them the school has the nucleus of a championship club.

According to advance material, the Lobes boast the two biggest tackles in the district and the outstanding quarterback.

town on the main highway and landed, hailing a car. I thumbed a ride for Will so he could get on in and start the show, told him as soon as the fog lifted I would fly over and land at the airport and hurry on to the theatre.

In about an hour the fog lifted enough so I could get on over to the airport. On landing, I was met by the committee members who were dumbfounded to find that my famous passenger was not with me and was already in the theatre giving his act. I never saw him a disappointed gathering of greeters.

The next bit of bad weather flying we encountered was on a flight from Bartlesville, Oklahoma to Okmulgee, Oklahoma. We were flying to our last show of the day and this being the night attraction was most important. The weather was terrible and the nearer to Okmulgee we came the worse the conditions became. I was flying between two layers of clouds amidst a downpour. There was a sound of clouds near the ground which had sufficient holes thru which I could get down whenever I wanted to (I had made up my mind to stick it out until the sound closed up and then I would retreat to the coast, possibly place I could get through with safety, let down, and deposit Will in some automobile.)

By dead reckoning I soon figured

From their record for the season they could not properly be termed the "Big Bad Wolves," but the Monahans Lobes are plenty big and apt to get bad in their engagement here with the Bulldogs Friday night.

The Lobes will present a club that in weight will average far more than many college teams. With 14 men on the list the average weight is 191 pounds. The backfield will hold an average of 189½, and the line will be an even two pounds larger. The lightest man on the team is Wallace, backfield man, and the heaviest is Cox, a 243 pound tackle.

This staggering array of weight will give the invaders better than 25 pound per man average over the Bulldogs. The Bulldog club has not entered a game so far this year when they had to face a deficit and what they will do in the face of it is something that the people will have to watch to find out.

With the exception of the Wink and Peos lines the Midland backs, Mickiff and Wofford, have been able to crash through at will, but it will really take all the power and drive they can muster, plus the aid of the men on the front line to go through a bunch that will out weigh them so much.

With so much beef on the team it is doubtful if they have the necessary speed to wreck an end-run and short-passing attack and the Bulldog coach will undoubtedly take every advantage of this as he has stressed these plays in practice all week.

that we were very near our destination and I started to spiral down through the clouds. In doing this it is quite natural to look over one's shoulder to the rear, and in doing so I took a look at Will. Obviously, he was worried. (As I have stated before he had never paid any attention to the weather nor the flying procedure, but was now fussing with the harness and shifting and wigwagging around in his cockpit. This gave me a chuckle. There was no doubt that he was worried. I had explained nothing to him, and he probably wondered how in the world we were going to make it.

After letting down and making my landing at the airport, Will got out and began being most complimentary to me about having made it all right. He thought that we just couldn't get through. I thanked him and then started to kid him a little. "I saw you back there, Will," I jokingly said. "I saw you putting on your parachute. Now, listen—when you see me putting on mine it's time

Fine Arts Club Hears Two Speak at Meet

"Tapestries, Rugs, and Carpets," fourth lesson in the club's course on interior decorating, was studied by the Fine Arts club at its meeting Wednesday afternoon to which Mrs. Tom C. Bobo was hostess at her home, 1903 W. Wall.

Mrs. R. W. Hamilton was leader for the program.

The hostess discussed tapestries, while Mrs. Hamilton spoke on rugs and carpets. History and method of making of the various types of these floor coverings and hangings were recounted in the talks.

Present were: Misses Elliott Barron, T. Paul Barron, John Cornwall, Hamilton, J. Howard Hodge, Paul Moore, Paul Osborne, John Shipley, Fred Wilcox, E. Hazen Woods, O. A. Thomas, Robert Tucker, Miss Leona McCormick, Miss Stella Maye Lannan, and the hostess.

Scotland's first licensed automobile owner carried bunches of carrots in his car "to soothe frightened horses."

for you to do the same." "Boy," he exclaimed, "I didn't think you knew."

After the four Mrs. Hawks and I went to Rogers ranch in California for two weeks' vacation.

There was one thing Will Rogers liked to eat when it came meal time. He loved a bowl of chili and he would eat it side up to a counter for a bowl of chili than eat at the finest place in town. Many a time he and I would sneak away at his command, "omon Frank, let's go get a bowl of chili."

Will was most temperate. If a drink was offered he might take one and again he might not. If he did take one, that's probably all he would indulge in. Occasionally he would take two, but you could always figure the second was pretty well watered.

His sympathy was only exceeded by his sympathetic understanding of human nature. He was always giving away money while on that particular tour with me. At each town he would put in his check for $50 to $500 depending upon what he felt might be needed in the particular locality.

Millions now have an opportunity to contribute to the memory of Will Rogers. Famous friends have organized The Will Rogers Memorial Commission. It is hoped every one who smiles with Rogers will come forward with a subscription. Take it or send it to your bank—or any bank—or use the accompanying coupon to send your subscription to the office in charge. Every cent subscribed will be used for memorials to be selected by Henry Ford, Herbert Hoover, Alfred E. Smith, Will H. Hays, Jesse H. Jones, Owen D. Young, Vice President John N. Garner and other men and women of national prestige and respect. The memorials will depend on the number of friends who contribute—but they will be used for charitable, educational and humanitarian purposes. There will be no cold shaft of marble to honor the memory of this warm, friendly man. They will be living, continuing memorials.

Waggoner Memorial Races Are Arranged

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Tex., Nov. 14. Racing Secretary Chas. J. McLennan has completed his arrangements in connection with the Waggoner Memorial Day, November 16, at Arlington Downs, and each of the eight races on that day will be dedicated to carry special significance in events in the life of the late Col. W. T. Waggoner, whose memory the handicaps honor.

The first race will be named for Beaver Switch, original Waggoner home, now Electra, and the second for the famed Red River Ranch, on which the late sportsman passed much of his early boyhood and later youth. The third race will be given over to Memories, and the fourth dedicated to Cow Puncher.

Waggoner's grand pony, now enjoying a life of ease in West Texas. The $15,000 Waggoner Memorial will be the fifth race, with Peerless, Hopkins County, where the late capitalist was born, honored in the sixth race. The third race will be famous Waggoner brand, is honored in the seventh race and the Last Round Up, a two-mile event, will conclude the day's program.

Officials of the Texas Jockey Club anticipate an overflow attendance on Waggoner Memorial Day and several railroads expect to run special trains from various points in the southwest to the Downs. Additional tickets will be placed on sale, including reserved seats for the grandstand, at agencies in Fort Worth and Dallas and special arrangements will be made to care for the visitors. Reservations for clubhouse space are pouring in.

Meanwhile, nominees for the $15,000-added handicap are continuing to receive their preparation. Several of the candidates were given trials over the muddy outside track here this morning and outstanding among the workouts was the effort of Advancing Anna, which races under the colors of Mrs. Floyd West and

Mrs. Edward Haughton. The five-year-old daughter of Blondin went a mile in 1:44 in very impressive fashion.

Two others which performed during the morning were Indian Salute, owned by Vestal and Hampshire and Quatre Bras II, property of the Three D's Stock Farm. Indian Salute breezed a mile in 1:48 4-5 while the Three D's representative won the tight furlongs in 1:48 4-5 handily. They worked in company.

Mount Vesuvius has been known to hurl large stones three miles into the air.
