Gas Rate Fight Is Returned To State Courts

Supreme Court Reverses The Judgment Of Texas Court And Sends Case Back

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Texas' fight for lower gas rates in 275 municipalities was sent back to its state courts today by the supreme court in an opinion in the Lone Star Gas company's appeal of a rate reduction order.

The company had challenged the right of the Texas railroad commission to order a reduction from 40 to 32 cents per thousand cubic feet its charge for gas sold to distributing companies in the cities and towns.

Judgment Is Revised

The supreme court reserved the judgment of the Texas court of civil appeals, which held the rate order valid, and remanded the litigation to that court for further proceedings. Chief Justice Hughes delivered the opinion. Justice Black dissented, while Justice Cardozo took no part in the case.

Hughes said the Texas court had held that the gas company had not "sustained its burden of proof because it had failed to make 'a proper segregation of interstate and intrastate properties and business.' "

Opinion Is Given

He added the "determination of the court of first instance as the trier of the facts that the commission's rate was confiscatory could not properly be set aside by the application of an untenable standard of proof and in disregard of the evidence which had been appropriately addressed to the commission's findings and had been properly submitted to the jury."

The company contended the lower rates amounted to "confiscation." It attacked the $46,246,617 valuation placed by the commission on its system, saying the cost of reproduction would be $72,933,405. The company also asserted that the commission had no authority to make the order as part of the gas served the municipalities originated in Oklahoma and was therefore interstate commerce.

The supreme court agreed with the state court that the Texas railroad commission did not violate the constitutional rights of the gas company under the commerce clause.

On this point, Hughes said:

"The fact that the line cut across a corner of Oklahoma did not make

Democrats In Uproar On Eve Of Balloting

Farley Enters Fight To Gain Party Harmony

Cries Of Interference Heard From Both Sides; Fusion Slate Urged By Chairman

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 — The Democratic party's high command stepped into Pennsylvania's New Deal factional war today in an election-eve move for harmony.

From both sides came retorts decrying "interference."

National Chairman James A. Farley, fearful that wounds of the slashing campaign would hurt the party's chances in the November general election, proposed a fusion slate of one major candidate from each faction.

Lewis' Power Gets Test

One upshot was new emphasis upon the role of Labor Leader John L. Lewis, whose political power receives a test in tomorrow's primary balloting.

Farley made his plea in a statement from New York.

The "only solution," he said, is to nominate CIO-backed Thomas Kennedy for governor and Governor George H. Earle for senator. They head opposing slates. The battle for party supremacy in the state, Farley added, "imperils the success of the Democratic party in the November election."

Would Sacrifice Mayor

Farley's proposal, in effect, was to sacrifice Philadelphia's Mayor S. Davis Wilson, running for the senate nomination on Kennedy's slate, and Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh lawyer, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination with Earle.

Earle quickly condemned Farley's interference and reaffirmed support of his ticket mate, Jones, and fired a blast at CIO Chieftain Lewis who with Senator Joseph F. Guffey is backing the Kennedy-Wilson lineup. Wilson asserted Farley's statement would be "resented." He cried "double cross."

Said Earle:

"I regret that Mr. Farley has unwisely seen fit to come in at the eleventh hour and interfere in a purely local primary. That is not

'Tiger Woman' Seeks Divorce

(By The Associated Press)

ANAHEIM, Calif., May 16.—Clara Phillips, paroled "tiger woman" who hammered her husband's secretary to death in a jealous frenzy 16 years ago, today asked the California institution for women for permission to divorce her husband so she may remarry.

Her husband is Armour Phillips, who aided her escape after she confessed the slaying to him, and then reconsidered and caused her to be arrested.

Lotus H. Loudon, chairman of the institution's board, said Mrs. Phillips' application came from Pittsburgh, Pa., her present home. He said permission would be given for her to divorce Phillips, but another application would be necessary to obtain permission to re-marry.

In 1923, the "tiger woman" was sentenced to life imprisonment in the women's prison at Tehachapi. She was paroled three years ago, after serving 12 years.

Oil Men Are Urged To Halt Drilling

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 16.—A plea to stop unnecessary drilling until the emergency period had passed came today from C. V. Terrell, chairman of the state railroad commission.

His statement was issued on the eve of a statewide oil proration hearing tomorrow at which the most important subject promised to be the commission's recent order closing virtually all Texas oil fields on Saturdays and Sundays.

Will Have House In Order

"If unnecessary drilling is postponed until this period of emergency ends," Terrell said, "we will shortly have our house in order."

With Texas fields closed two days a week, he stated production still was averaging approximately 1,200,000 barrels daily.

In the first four months this year, he added, in the face of diminishing demand and mounting crude oil and gasoline stocks, Texas operators had drilled 3,272 wells, or only 70 fewer than in 1937 "when the oil industry was in the midst of one of its finest and most profitable periods."

North Texas Is Leader

However, only two sections had shown increases in the number of wells drilled, he pointed out.

"The leader is North Texas, where 498 wells have been drilled so far this year against 237 for the first four months of 1937," he said.

"The other section to show an increase is the East Texas field, where 783 wells have been completed this year against 642 during the first

25 Dead And 20 Missing After Atlanta Fire

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, May 16.—A pre-dawn fire that turned the 30-year-old Terminal hotel into a flaming horror in ten minutes killed 25 persons and left a score more missing or injured today.

Engineers estimated it might be two days before the wreckage was cleared and the full toll determined. The hotel register was lost.

Starts In Basement

The blaze broke out in the basement of the 5-story, brick and frame building about 3 a. m. when most of its guests were asleep.

Home to many railroad men, the hotel was situated opposite the Terminal station in downtown Atlanta. Traffic was jammed today as police roped off the area against danger of falling walls.

Bellhop Charlie Labon was in the lobby when the blaze caught. He said he heard a kitchen messboy scream, "oh lawdy, fire!" Then there was a muffled blast below, and flames puffed upward.

Labon dived for the elevator and Ben L. Berry, 78-year-old clerk, turned to the switchboard to warn the guests. But the blaze burned out the connections.

Several were killed in leaping

American Colleges Charged With Breeding Anti-Americanization; Problem Is Grave

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, May 16.—American colleges were charged today in a report of the Americanization committee of the Sons of the American Revolution with breeding anti-Americanization.

The report was delivered before the 49th annual congress of the organization by Frank J. Hutchin of Montclair, N. J.

"Today without the stimulus of war hysteria and military pageantry, we are called upon to do more important tasks than we were asked to do in 1917," the report said. "The vital task before us today is to keep America American.

"Our schools are being honeycombed with disturbing situations, our colleges are breeding anti-American sentiment so fast that it is becoming a serious question as to whether or not the whole academic attitude is becoming subversive.

"We must be tolerant, lest being intolerant we become bigoted. Let us be open minded and tolerant on all things except this one: there is no room

Supreme Court Backs Worker In Decision

Several Important Opinions By High Tribunal Are Delivered; Men Are Ordered Reinstated

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The supreme court decided by a 7 to 0 vote today that a workman who goes on strike is still an employe of his company within the meaning of the labor relations act and therefore is entitled to the protection of that act.

In so ruling, the court upheld an order of the national labor board instructing the Mackay Radio and Telegraph company to reinstate in its San Francisco office five strikers who, the board said, had not been taken back because they had been active in a labor union.

Reversal Uncalled For

Justice Cardozo and Reed did not participate.

The justices decided that the board's failure to follow "its usual practice" of submitting a trial examiner's tentative report to the company, and then conducting hearings on the company's objections to the report, did not call for reversal of the reinstatement order.

There was no positive indication from the court, however, as to whether it would take the same view toward similar failures in other labor board cases involving different circumstances.

Arguments Are Set

In one of its rulings today, the supreme court ordered the three judges on the federal circuit court of appeals at Philadelphia to show cause why they should not permit the labor board to withdraw an order against the Republic Steel corporation, directing reinstatement of 5,000 workers. Argument was set for next Monday.

The supreme court also agreed

Plan To Revive Bill Is Balked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Efforts to revive President Roosevelt's beaten government reorganization bill appeared to be balked tonight, temporarily at least, by a "let-George-do-it" attitude.

House leaders suggested the senate take the first step to reopen the troublesome issue. Prominent senators replied the house should take the initiative.

FDR Wants Action

There was little doubt that Mr. Roosevelt would like to see a reorganization bill passed. The possibility of doing so was a subject of discussion today at a White House conference attended by the president and congressional leaders. However, Rep. Rayburn, of Texas, house leader, said the president did not ask specifically that congress take up the legislation before adjournment.

The situation the president faced was this:

The house had split his reorganization program into four bills, two of which were passed and now await senate action.

The senate meanwhile wrapped the

Farm Lands Of Coast Section Are Inundated

Traffic Blocked And Railroad Lines Washed Out; Fall Is General In This Territory

(By The Associated Press)

NEAR cloudbursts and tornadic winds struck sections of South Texas Monday while rainfall which accompanied lightning and thunderstorms benefited Panhandle wheat and prepared South Plains soil for cotton planting.

Traffic was halted temporarily, railroad lines washed out and large areas of farm and ranch lands inundated around Corpus Christi in what longtime residents termed the worst storm in the history of that area.

Farm Workers Killed

Two unidentified farm workers were reported killed by lightning in a field in Bee county.

A small twister in the West Sinton community wrecked Joe Franklin's farm home and demolished buildings on the nearby J. B. Peck farm.

The storm moved in during the afternoon over Victoria county, thence southwest into Bee, Refugio and San Patricio counties, making lakes in cotton fields.

Streams Are Swollen

Streams were swollen around Victoria where rains ranging from three to four inches fell.

At Rufugio, an H. & H. Petroleum company warehouse was flooded and kerosene created a fire hazard when it poured over water flowing from a nearby stream.

Near Skidmore, water stood level with window sills and ran three feet deep across highway 16. Some motorists waded waistdeep water from stalled machines. Some livestock drowned.

Torrential rains were reported at Sinton, Mathis, Biroy and Beeville.

All Games Postponed

All Texas league baseball games were postponed.

A total of 2.15 inches of rain had fallen at San Antonio in 24 hours.

At Houston, .57 inches of rain had been received. The rain appeared spotty in that vicinity.

The United States weather bureau at Galveston reported southeast storm warnings hoisted from Brownsville, Tex., to Morgan City, La., at 8:30 p. m. Strong southeast and south winds with thunder squalls during the next 24 hours were forecast. Galveston received .91 inches of rain and Fort Worth .11 inches.

A rain and thunderstorm that started about 4 p. m. on the eastern edge of New Mexico brought light showers to Amarillo. The rain

CHOOSE ICE CREAM

IF YOU were on a reducing diet, which dessert would you choose—a dish of vanilla ice cream, a mould of lemon gelatin, raspberry ice, apple pie or angel food cake. Strangely enough the average person selects the gelatin as the dessert which would "add the fewest pounds." But is this correct?

According to the National Dairy council, gelatin actually is placed second, while raspberry sherbet, usually designated as being low in caloric value, takes third place. Lowest in caloric value is ice cream.

A normal serving of lemon gelatin yields 218 calories, raspberry sherbet 255, apple pie 300, angel food cake 300, lemon pie 450, compared with 200 calories for ice cream.

Federal Prison Terms For Six

Six men, sentenced to the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, just outside Kansas City, Mo., will leave under guard this morning for their destination, said Grover C. Leigh, chief deputy U. S. marshal, last night. C. E. Luce, deputy marshal here, will accompany Leigh. The party will make the trip in two cars.

Judge William Hawley Atwell, who presided Monday over the federal court here in the absence of Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, passed sentence on seven of the eight persons indicted in connection with the theft of money from a registered mail sack from a Santa Fe mail, express and baggage car on the Lamesa branch about Nov. 5, 1937. The eighth man was freed and one man was given a parole for three years pending good behavior. Sentences ranged from 15 months to four years.

Given 30 Days

Later in the day, Judge Atwell heard a plea of John V. Keessee charged with forgery of a government check for $25 and sentenced him to 30 days in jail.

Clyde O. Eastus, U. S. district attorney, before leaving last night for Dallas where another term is to open, said Frank Potter, one of his assistants, would be here next Monday to represent the government in any cases that might arise.

In calling the criminal docket, a number of cases showed that one or more defendants had not been apprehended. Judge Atwell ordered an alias capias issued and continued the cases until next term.

The eighth person indicted, M. L. Cathey, of near O'Donnell, was freed by Judge Atwell on recommendation of Eastus.

Sentences imposed were:

Jack Cathey Gets 4 Years

Jack Cathey, 44, O'Donnell, who plead guilty to three counts, four years in Leavenworth prison. Cathey was the "key" man, admitting that he took the money from the mail car.

Roy Cathey, 23, O'Donnell, 15 months in Leavenworth.

James O. Petty, O'Donnell, alleged go-between in the disposal of the money, 18 months in Leavenworth.

Sentence Is Suspended

James T. Morris, Kerrville, alleged go-between, two years and suspended for three years on good behavior.

Sidney A. Miller, Spur and Dallas, alleged purchaser of the stolen money, 30 months in Leavenworth and a fine of $1,000.

Carl E. Williams, Brownwood, another alleged purchaser, 30 months in Leavenworth.

Rufus H. McNurlen, of near Borger, two years in Leavenworth.

Judge Commends Officers

The case was the second one called on the criminal docket. Judge Atwell received pleas and announced he would pass sentence after the rest of the docket had been called.

Judge Atwell said he wanted to commend "the very splendid work done by the officers in the case." He said he had reviewed the case after it had become known defendants wanted to enter pleas of guilty.

Attorneys for several of the men made statements to the court concerning their clients. Tom Garrard of Tahoka represented Roy Cathey; Howard Daily of Dallas represented Miller and Williams and Clark Wills of Fort Worth Morris and Petty.

The money was enroute from the Federal Reserve bank in Dallas to the First National bank in O'Donnell and was to have been used in paying cotton pickers who were gathering the record cotton crop near that town. The package was in a registered mail sack.

Postal inspectors worked on the case but it was not until after the first of the year that arrests were made.

District Attorney Eastus made a statement concerning the case, explaining that "between 55 and 60 witnesses" had been summoned and that including witness fees, mileage, it would have cost the government "$10.000 to try this case if defendants had not plead guilty."

Judge Atwell said in his estimate the cost would not have been more "than $2.000 or $3,000."

Sheriff Aided Him

Jack Cathey, Judge Atwell pointed out in the discussion, after he had placed the sack containing the money in his car, had been helped by the sheriff to get out of a mud hole.

Miller after his arrest in Georgia had returned to Dallas and had gone with officers to a spot where he claimed he had buried $6,000, only to find that some one had beat him to it and had dug up the money. Mrs. Miller had been detained with her husband, but the district attorney had later released her.

Sum Not Recovered

Some $16,000 to $17,000 had not been recovered and the government is at a loss as to where it is, Eastus said.

Williams and Miller said they had bought approximately $21,000 of the money at 50 cents on the dollar.

Three counts were brought against each man, by the federal grand jury, but in some cases one or more counts were withdrawn. They included; Roy Cathey, first count dismissed; Petty, Williams and Miller, the same; Morris, first and second counts dismissed. First count was that of theft of the money, second, concealing the stolen money and third, conspiracy to violate the postal statutes.

Henry Picard LOOKS THE SITUATION OVER!

"I've never favored one particular cigarette, Mr. Picard. I can see you do though. Do you find Camels different?"

"Camels are distinctly different from other cigarettes, Mr. Stahl—and they're different in many ways. The longer I smoke Camels, the more I appreciate their natural smoothness and mildness—the real mildness that's easy on the throat. Camels never tire my taste. Camels agree with me—from all angles. You know, I hear so many top-flight golfers praise them. Camels never get on your nerves, and Camels set you right!"

Picard's game seems effortless. He's a long driver—in a tight spot, a heady strategist. "A cigarette, too, has to be sized up from a lot of angles," he says.

FAMOUS GOLFERS—men who need iron nerves and steady hands for that winning stroke—and millions of other people under the strain of everyday life—all appreciate this fact: Camels suit your cigarette taste from every angle. Naturally, CAMELS SET YOU RIGHT! There's a world of enjoyment in a cigarette like that. Smoke Camels yourself. See why they are so different. And note particularly the greater pleasure and contentment you experience from Camel's costlier tobaccos!

"'LOADING SHIP' in a 60-hour stretch," says Captain Francis Dolan, "a man can't be fussy about food. I like a few Camels during and after meals 'for digestion's sake.' I sure like the comfort and contentment of Camels at mealtimes."

HELEN STANSBURY, Director of Women's Traffic for United Air Lines, says on the subject of cigarettes: "I choose Camels for their mildness and good rich taste. They're never harsh. When the pace I go fatigues me, a Camel gives me a 'lift.'"

TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY:
"We smoke Camels because we know tobacco"

At auctions, Marvin Holloman, well-known planter, sees Camel buyers pay top prices for the finer grades of his crops. Mr. Holloman says: "At auctions the Camel buyers pay more and take the real choice lots of tobacco. That's why we tobacco planters, who know tobacco quality inside and out, make Camel our cigarette. Then we're sure we're smoking finer, COSTLIER tobaccos, and they sure make a big difference!"

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Mr. T. Strickland, who sold his highest grade tobacco to Camels. "Last year those Camel buyers bought up the finest lots of my tobacco. And they sure bid up to get them. There's a big difference in those expensive Camel tobaccos—so I smoke Camels myself. And there's your reason why most planters I know smoke Camels."

John T. Bone, who cultivates some of North Carolina's choicest leaf tobacco, remarks on the sale of his last crop: "Yes sir! I saw my best lots go for Camel cigarettes, and you can bet those Camel buyers paid top prices for them. It's no wonder I smoke the cigarette made of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Camels! Most planters smoke Camels too, for smokers who grow tobacco know tobacco."

Airmail Plans Are Discussed

Amos Howard, chairman of the committee here in charge of the observance of National Airmail week, and four members of the committee Monday afternoon discussed plans for a program to be presented at the Municipal airport at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon when three airmail planes will stop here on a test flight.

Members of the committee, which met in the offices of the chamber of commerce, were Clent Breedlove, Robert Bean, John R. Green, and A. F. Holt.

Cooperation To Be Asked

Plans also were discussed for having Lubbock business firms cooperate in the pickup test.

A committee today will begin making communications with businesses asking them to send large shipments of airmail, it was explained. It was announced at offices of the chamber of commerce that if business firms wished to send a large number of form letters to customers or prospective customers or any other persons, the letters will be mimeographed free at the chamber if companies will furnish letter heads. Included in the letters will be a three-page folder of "facts and figures" of Lubbock and the South Plains. If the business firms wish to send personal letters and include the booklets, the booklets may be obtained at chamber offices.

Children Write Letters

Mail collections will be made at schools this morning and again this afternoon, it was announced. School children have been urged to write letters to be sent on the pickup test.

Two South Plains towns have been added to the list to be included in feeder flights to be made Thursday morning. A plane will arrive at O'Donnell at 12:19 o'clock Thursday afternoon for a 10-minute stop and at Petersburg a plane will arrive at 10:15 o'clock that morning.

Four feeder flights will be made by Clent Breedlove, Holt, J. H. York, and Art Chase.

About 3 o'clock that afternoon the three planes making the tests will leave. One will leave for San Antonio, another for Big Spring, and a third for Amarillo.

The municipality of Chicoutimi, Que., has received donations of large sums of money from Campette, professional beggar in Quebec. Campette owns a block of houses in the French quarter of the latter city.

Soaking Rains Drench Texas

averaged about .25 of an inch along the Santa Fe railroad from Clovis to Hereford, which had received three inches in two days. The lake at the newly-constructed Buffalo dam west of Canyon had been filled to one-third capacity. No material damage was reported in that section.

Fall Varies From Eighth To Two Inches On South Plains

Rainfall, measuring from an eighth of an inch to more than two inches, fell on the South Plains and many other sections of Texas Monday night.

The fall here was accompanied generally by severe electrical and thunder storms with high wind in places, but late that night no serious storms or casualties had been reported on the South Plains. At several points the moisture was preceded by sand and dust storms.

Fall Light In City

The precipitation for Lubbock was estimated at .6 of an inch, according to Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state agricultural experiment sub-station.

The fall here started soon after 7 o'clock and continued steadily about an hour and a half. For a few minutes parts of the city were without electricity. Telephone connections in several places were bad and Lamesa was almost isolated. Only the line to Big Spring was in working order.

Reports Are Given

Reports obtained by telephone late Monday night were:

Plainview received a fourth to a half-inch with the fall continuing late into the night. Littlefield estimated its moisture at more than half an inch with lightning, thunder and wind, but no damage.

"About a quarter of an inch" was the report from Levelland. The fall there came early in the night, said Tom V. Watson, secretary of the Hockley county board of development. The fall was believed to be heavier at Smyer.

General To Lamesa

"Possibly an inch fell at Brownfield." Dust preceded the precipitation, it was reported. Moisture was general to Lamesa. Post early Monday night had received no rain, Tahoka received rain.

Probably half an inch fell at Morton with the fall lighter to the west, it was reported. Crosbyton received a quarter of an inch with a light drizzle continuing late into the night. Severe electrical storms accompanied the moisture. A 40-minute fall at Floydada had netted a quarter of an inch. It continued to rain.

Electric Power Off

For nearly two hours Ralls had been without electricity at 9 o'clock Monday night. The precipitation was estimated at between a quarter and a half. It was believed the fall was county-wide.

It was "raining hard" at Lamesa. Sand came first.

Santa Fe Railway dispatchers reported: light rain at Amarillo; half-inch at Muleshoe; nearly a half at Slaton; and about a quarter at Texico.

Fort Worth and Denver City railway company said an estimated inch and a half fell at Petersburg.

Beneficial To Crops

Jones said if as much as half an inch fell throughout the county and on the South Plains, planting of cotton probably would be begun immediately. He said, however, three-quarters to an inch was needed. The moisture, he said, would be beneficial to wheat crops.

The forecast for this area, said the main line station of the West Texas Gas company, was for showers today and cooler weather this afternoon. A similar forecast was made by the weather bureau at Dallas.

Skies at midnight remained cloudy and indications were that this area might receive more moisture before morning. The Lubbock Municipal airport said a slight sprinkle fell about 10:30 o'clock.

"There is no ground for concluding that the commission's method of calculating either created any burden upon interstate commerce or operated to appellant's injury in relation to its intra-state business in Texas."

Pending a final decision by the supreme court, the old rates were permitted to remain in effect with the understanding that the difference in the amount would be refunded if the company lost. No estimate of the amount involved was given.

Three Hundred Students At Monahans Walk Out When Superintendent Is Ousted

(By The Associated Press)

MONAHANS, May 16.—Three hundred striking high school students paraded through this West Texas town and picketed the business establishments of two school trustees today after the superintendent of schools, Major A. E. Lang, had been relieved of his duties effective May 24.

B. F. Roche, school board member, called the strike "just a good excuse for the pupils to get out of school for a day."

Trustees of the Monahans-Wickett consolidated independent school district took the action regarding Lang at a session that lasted from 8 p. m. Saturday until 4 a. m. Sunday. Lang, who has been here four years, held a contract with the board which does not expire until July 1, 1939. The board offered Principal W. T. Powell another contract but did not offer one to C. A. Scofield, history teacher.

The students formed at class time this morning behind a 30-piece band and started their demonstrations carrying placards reading "down with the board," "we want Major," "no teachers, no schools."

After parading here, the students went by automobile six miles to Wickett.

Trustee Roche said "nothing will be done" to end the strike. "Let 'em sit," he said.

Major Lang said the board told him it had "gathered rumors, sifted them down, and decided to dispense with your services." He made no further comment.

Twenty-One Youths Charged In Violations Of City Traffic Ordinance Here Monday

Twenty-one boys and young men were charged Monday in corporation court with soliciting rides in violation of the city of Lubbock's traffic ordinance.

All of them entered pleas of guilty before Walter Wharton, city recorder, and were fined $1 each. Five paid fines, two fines were suspended and 14 were released to return today, Wednesday, or Saturday day to pay fines.

All the defendants were arrested by S. O. Boyd and Ralph Goldwater, traffic officers, in the 1300-block Broadway. According to complaints, however, the boys were not standing in a zone provided for them there.

Two were released without charges when officers learned they were waiting to cross the street.

It was pointed out to the youthful offenders that soliciting rides was permitted by the ordinance if the solicitations were in the prescribed zones. The two zones are in 1300-block Broadway and 2300-block Broadway.

Officers last week warned solicitors to remain in the zones and were of the opinion that the word had been generally broadcast that arrests and prosecution would be launched this week.

Practically all the persons charged were college students.

the function of a national chairman . . . Every man on this ticket is a 100 per cent Roosevelt Democrat.

"I am certain—Mr. Farley to the contrary — that the Democrats of Pennsylvania will not turn their party over to John L. Lewis in the form of Thomas Kennedy."

Mayor Wilson warned:

"If Earle should be nominated it would mean certain defeat for the entire Democratic ticket at the November election. (He has attacked the Earle state administration bitterly throughout.)

Resent Farley's Entrance

David L. Lawrence, state Democratic chairman said Pennsylvanians "resent" Farley's entrance into the fight.

Farley entered the controversy with apologies, declaring he intended to keep "hands off" primaries in other states.

Battling both factions is Charles J. Margiotti, independently running for the Democratic nomination for governor on a "beat-the-bosses" platform.

Republicans, though warring among themselves for major nominations, aimed their guns in the general direction of the November fight with the Democrats who took over the state government in 1934 after more than 40 years as a strictly minority party.

Pinchot In Race

A feature of the Republican war is Gifford Pinchot's try for the nomination for governor, an office he has held twice.

Waging battle with Pinchot is Judge Arthur H. James of the state superior court.

James injected the John L. Lewis issue into the Republican campaign, asserting that Lewis was maneuvering for the nomination of Pinchot who, he said, would be the C. I. O. candidate in November if Kennedy failed to win the Democratic nomination.

today to review litigation challenging constitutionality of the Tennessee valley authority's power activities.

Eighteen private utilities joined in the appeal after a three-judge federal court n eastern Tennessee ruled that they had "no immunity from lawful competition even if their business be curtailed or destroyed."

Other Decisions Given

Justice Reed did not participate in the decision to review.

In other decisions, the court:

Held that the government need not refund $390,000 of additional income tax for 1920 collected from Andrew Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, and his brother, R. B. Mellon, of Pittsburgh. Both men are dead, but the appeal was made by their estates.

The Mackay company had contended there was no basis for the labor board's order because there had been no finding that the strikers had stopped work because of or in connection with any labor dispute. The record showed the men struck because of dissatisfaction with negotiations for a contract on wages and working conditions.

Denying that the board's order violated the fifth amendment to the constitution, Roberts said:

"The plain meaning of the act is that if men strike in connection with a current labor dispute their action is not to be construed as a renunciation of the employment relation and they remain employes for the remedial purposes specified in the act."

Retired Postoffice Employe Leads The Ticket In Vernon

VERNON, May 16. (AP)—George L. Robinson retired postoffice employe led the ticket by a wide margin in today's election to fill the city commission place vacated by the April election of J. V. Owen as mayor.

Robinson polled 444 votes, within 14 of a majority over his three opponents. A run-off had not been decided tonight.

New Mayor Of Abernathy Will Be Chosen In Voting Today

ABERNATHY, May 16. (Special)—A new mayor of Abernathy will be elected at a special poll Tuesday, according to J. D. Norman, mayor pro tem. J. M. Gardner, elected mayor in regular election April 5, has refused to accept the office. Norman, who called the special election, has served as mayor. His term expires this year.

An election to fill the place of city councilman now held by A. M. Medlin was called by the Abernathy city council. Medlin was named to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of J. J. Riley who was elected a year ago and declined to serve.

said one case might be heard next Monday.

Nineteen Cases Called

In calling the law docket, several cases were set for May 23 and others for May 24. There were 19 cases in all called, a numbe being continued.

A libel against 1,280 cases of prunes, condemned as being below food and drug regulations, was awarded the government. W. P. Walker, of Crosbyton, a civil assistant U. S. district attorney, represented the government. Verdict also was given the government in the cases against L. T. Tipton and Walter R. Patterson, on crop loans from the government. Four similar cases were continued pending settlement by defendant or partial payment with more to come.

One case, involving 1,440.31 acres of land in Bailey county, the site of a proposed U. S. biological game refuge, was continued. The matter is over the alleged value of the land.

Equity Cases Called

Fourteen equity cases were called, several being set for later in the term and others continued for settlement.

Seven of the 14 bankruptcy cases called, were dismissed. Motions in the other cases will be heard later in the term.

Judge Atwell heard at opening of court excuses of four members of the jury who desired to be excused from service. He talked to the panel on the importance of jury service.

George W. Parker, court clerk, and Mrs. Ramalle Paul, a deputy were here as well as T. C. Irby, court reporter and E. R. Goss, Dallas, bailiff for Judge Atwell. Mrs. Olive Fluke is the Lubbock deputy clerk. Besides Grover C. Leigh, chief deputy U. S. marshal, Charles F. Brown, the Abilene deputy, attended court. C. E. Luce, Lubbock deputy also was here. Morgan W. Dickerson and Joe Wilson were doorkeepers.

William Oscar Webster, a Columbus, Ga., railroad engineer, jumped from a fourth floor window. His body tumbled across the street. He died. One victim was found dead on a second floor ledge where he had struck in a leap for safety.

Many Horribly Mangled

Some were burned to death and others suffocated. Many were horribly mangled.

Firymen told of finding one group, apparently a family.

A woman was dead in a rocking chair, a little girl knelt by the bed and a man and a little boy lay stretched across it.

One couple, awakened by the smell of smoke, escaped by climbing through a second floor window and walking a narrow ledge 200 feet to a corner where a ladder was placed. They were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Collier of Atlanta.

Firemen said they were investigating a theory a heating system boiler explosion might have caused the fire.

Every operator in Texas could aid the commission, Terrell continued, by postponing drilling every proven location until he was forced to drill.

"This is not to say he should stop wildcatting, for it is the oil man's duty to discover annually more than one billion barrels of oil."

A group of East Texas operators who have been sharpest in criticizing the majority of the commission for the shutdowns and who have threatened a court test of the order were expected to be represented at the statewide hearing.

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP)—Texas' huge capitol today completed its first 50 years of service.

There was no official recognition but oldtimers recalled how the structure, higher than the national capitol and larger than the English house of parliament, was reared by seven years labor and paid for with 3,050,011 West Texas acres in lieu of cash.

Externally the edifice shows little effects of wear but there are those who point to cracked cornices, falling roof panes and other evidence in efforts to get an appropriation for repairs.

Annual Pioneer Roundup And Golden Anniversary Jubilee Set At Plainview

Thousands Are Being Expected

PLAINVIEW, May 16. (Special)—Final arrangements have been made for the 10th annual Pioneer Roundup and Hale county's golden anniversary celebration to be held in Plainview on Saturday. This is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. Earl F. Miles, president of the club, states that interest is gaining momentum as the event draws near and it is expected that the largest attendance in the history of the roundup will help to celebrate Hale county's fiftieth anniversary. Probably 10,000 or 12,000 persons will attend.

The celebration will open with a massed band concert at the court house lawn by Plainview and out of town bands under the direction of Robert G. Davidson, of Plainview.

Reception To Be Held

A pioneers reception will be held in the Saigling building, south of the court house, from 2 to 6 p. m. Mrs. Adella S. Drew chairman of the reception committee, announces that this gathering is planned solely to bring the pioneers and old friends together to visit and talk of the days 50 years ago.

The golden anniversary parade, of which Miss Dorothy Cox is chairman, will move at 3:30 p. m. More than 40 business firms have signified their intention to enter features in the parade and many new and unusual features depicting the old days are being planned. Many individuals are planning individual entries and a children's section will be an attractive feature. As in past years, a feature of the parade will be the golden wedding circle in which couples who have been married for 50 years or longer will be privileged to ride together. Prizes will be given for the best entry depicting pioneer life from the merchants' group, individual or organization, and pioneer cowboy and cowgirl. A children's group prize will be awarded for the most unusual entry. The Granada theater will take a news reel of the parade and will single out especially the out-of-town bands. Kelly Hooper will be parade marshal and the American Legion will furnish the color guard.

Speeches To Be Made

Following the band concert, and during the afternoon, speeches will be made by candidates for governor. Invitations have been issued to all candidates for governor by Lucian Morehead, Democratic chairman of Hale county. Mr. Morehead will be in charge of this feature.

Following the parade, a polo game will be played at Wayland college. This is a conference game between the Plainview polo team and the El Rojo team. All band members in uniform will be admitted to the polo game free.

Merchants are planning their show windows to be filled with relics and curios and some already have their displays on exhibition. The show-window promenade promises to be an entertainment of both interest and educational value.

Reunions Are Planned

A number of families and groups are planning reunions and basket picnics in the park during the day. Many out-of-town and out-of-state persons are planning to join relatives at that time.

A chuck wagon supper will be served at the city auditorium at 6 o'clock. Miss Chloie Huffaker, county home demonstration agent, is chairman of foods, and has announced that a genuine ranch feed of 50 years ago will be served.

The golden anniversary program will begin at 8 p. m. at the auditorium, following the supper. Miss Curtie May Rogers, program chairman, stated that the welcome will be given by Mrs. Earl F. Miles, club president, and will be followed by a response by Mrs. W. B. Martine, of Plainview, a pioneer woman of more than 50 years continuous residence at Plainview. The golden anniversary memorial will be presented by Col. R. P. Smyth, of Plainview, the attorney who represented the citizens of Hale county and presented their petition to the commissioners' court of Crosby half a century ago and secured the authority for the organization of Hale county. Col. Smyth has resided in Hale county continuously since its organization. Music will be furnished by a cowboy band from Station KFYO at Lubbock and some range numbers will be given by students of the Plainview High school.

Dance On Schedule

An old-time square dance will follow the golden anniversary program and will close the evening's entertainment. Fiddlers from Hale Center will furnish the music and Mr. Redinger, of Hale Center, and W. F. Lowe of Plainview will call for the dance.

Registration of guests will classify the people into four groups. A badge of gold will signify persons have lived in Hale county or community for 50 years. A red badge will signify 40 to 50 years, a blue badge 25 to 40 years, and a white badge will be given to those of less than 25 years residence.

A special golden anniversary souvenir will be a recently published golden anniversary edition of the history of Hale county, Texas, by Miss Mary L. Cox, of Plainview. Autographed copies, stamped with the Texas Centennial cachet, the Hale county golden anniversary cachet, and the 10th annual pioneer roundup cachet, will be on sale at various stores and at the city auditorium. Hale county's history is probably the first history of a county to be published in Northwest Texas.

An admission charge of 35c at the city auditorium will cover the chuck wagon supper, the program and dance.

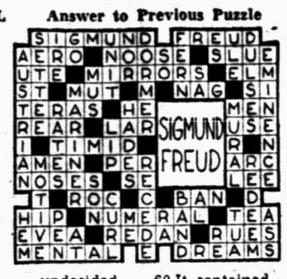

The golden anniversary cachet will be attached to all outgoing mail at Plainview during May 19 to 21 inclusive, the 19th being the occasion of the first airmail flight at Plainview.

Crop Acreages Will Be Given

Lubbock county cotton farmers who will participate in an acreage allocation for their crop for 1938, will receive as soon as possible, their acreage for the crop, C. C. Jobson, county agent said yesterday. Late Sunday Jobson and Walter F. Johnson, assistant agent in charge of agricultural conservation, returned from a three weeks trip to College Station with work sheets of the county.

"We have worked out the acreage for each farm, and just as fast as we can, we will mail these out to farmers," Jobson said. "Our percentage is 38.4; that is, after a farmer's wheat base, if he has one, is deducted and also his idle land taken out, he may plant that per cent of his tillable land remaining in cotton.

Explanation Given

"The percentage is not of all his tillable land, but that left after deductions. There is a distinction between the total land on a farm and the tillable land remaining after deductions.

"We have these percentages worked out and they will be given each farmer. On these allocated acres, a man may raise as much cotton as he can and not be penalized."

Jobson said the county was alloted 170,159 acres for cotton, an increase of 20,837 over the first allocation.

In the AAA office at College Station, he said, there were 325 clerks working on county work sheets. A night crew of about 50 also works. "It is a bigger job than most people realize," he added. "We found they were working as fast as they could to handle the problem."

Several other percentage factors were given for this section, by Jobson, Crosby county's is 40; Lynn, 42; Terry, 30; Lamb, 34 and Parmer, 15.

All sections of South Texas benefitted from rains except the Yoakum area where too much moisture hurt tomatoes.

Cucumbers responded rapidly and most other crops are now in good condition.

The lower Rio Grande valley has a good tomato crop and harvesting is active.

Ordinary Zoo Diet No Longer Is Good Enough For Snowy

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP) — Ordinary zoo diet probably won't satisfy Snowy, the polar bear, today. His taste runs more to freshly plucked peacock.

Snowy was doing nothing in particular in his cage at the national zoo yesterday when, to his surprise, a gorgeous bird glided to the ground in front of him.

Unmindful that it was the zoo's only male peacock, the 1,200-pound bear practically denuded its hind quarters with a single swipe of his paw, then chased it around the pen to a quick and satisfying finish while some two score spectators stood agape.

Lubbock Gains Full Game On Spudders By Defeating Hobbs In Extra Inning

Infield Safety By Blanchard Wins Fracas

HOBBS, N. M., May 16—Lefty Blanchard beat out an infield hit here tonight to send Boyd Watkins across the plate for the winning run in an overtime game. Lubbock won over Hobbs, 8 to 7.

Blanchard had relieved Marvin Gramly on the hill for the Hubbers in the seventh inning and his wild pitch in the last half of that frame had allowed the Boosters to tie the count.

It was Blanchard's second victory in two days over the Hobbs crew, he having beat them Sunday in Lubbock.

Gramly started in the box for the Hubbers, striking out 9 batsmen, but giving up seven hits and six runs before the lefthander spelled him. The run made on Blanchard's wild heave was charged to Gramly since the runner was parked on third when he went to the showers.

Boyd Watkins was the leading Hubber hitter with a home run, a double, and two one-ply swats, to drive in three runs. His homer came in the sixth chapter with two runners on the paths. Joe Gedzius banged out a double and two singles in five trips. Johnny Taylor, Lubbock; and Gordon Loken, Manager Neal Rabe, and Gordon Donaldson, Hobbs, each cracked out two hits.

Grover Miller hurled the complete game for the Boosters.

The two teams continue the series tomorrow afternoon.

Froschauer Is Right And Cards Beat Spuds, 6-4

MIDLAND, May 16. (Special) — Midland took a fall from the league-leadings Wink Spudders here tonight in one of the best games played this season on the local lot.

Behind the steady pitching of Hank Froschauer, the Cardinals took an early lead and went on to win, 6 to 4. The locals staved off late rallies by the Spudders to protect their lead.

Froschauer held the powerful leaders to six hits, three of them doubles in the ninth inning, and struck out 15 men, highest total for any hurler in the league this season. He held the visitors away from the plate for six frames.

After the Cards had counted once in the second and five times in the third, Red Hay settled down in the box for Wink and held them scoreless.

Both teams were steady on the field and the first errorless game of the league season was recorded.

Big Spring Beats Cellar Tenants Monday, 3 To 2

BIG SPRING, May 16. (Special) Fresh from a disastrous debacle with Wink, Big Spring finally hit its winning stride here today against the luckless Clovis Pioneers. Big Spring won, 3 to 2.

Clovis outhit the Barons, 11 to 8, made a two-run gesture in the eighth, but were choked off before any further damage could be done. Christopher was fairly airtight on the mound for the Pioneers but Big Spring plucked runs in the first, second and sixth, for the winning edge.

Clarence Trantham and Johnny Soden worked on the mound for the Barons.

"Farmer Jim" Declares That He Will Support His Cousin

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP)—Because "blood is thicker than water," former Governor James E. Ferguson said today he would cast his vote in the governor's race for a cousin whom most of the state never heard of.

He said he had not known James A. Ferguson, farmer and real estate man of Belton, had been contemplating entering the gubernatorial lists but since he had done so would vote for him.

Mercury producers of Italy and Spain have reached an agreement to regulate the output in both countries in such a way as to supply the world demand without too much competition.

Baseball Castoffs Are Finding Jobs For Themselves; Some Of Them Are Regulars

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP) — In baseball it's three strikes and you're out, but there are a dozen old-timers still popping around the major leagues because they refused to listen as that last one whizzed past.

Some of these castoffs have grabbed themselves jobs as regulars. Others still draw salary checks as utility hands.

Goose Goslin, cut adrift by the Detroit Tigers, has caught on with Washington. Goslin's pins aren't spry any longer but the Senators figure he's good for another year.

And Washington also has Al Simmons. They just about gave up on Al last year but he showed them in spring training that he still is a handy guy to have around.

Chicago let Mule Haas go and the veteran outfielder beat a hasty return to his old home with the Philadelphia Athletics.

MacPhail Liked Cuyler

The Cincinnati Reds decided Kiki Cuyler was through. Larry MacPhail, former Cincy official and now Brooklyn's general manager, thought differently, and Kiki got another chance with the Dodgers.

Waite Hoyt, supposedly finished half a dozen times, hooked up with the Dodgers last season and his spring work was so good he was Manager Burleigh Grimes' early choice for the Brooklyn opening day assignment. His release came only yesterday.

Sox-McKechnie Disagree

The Reds let Bill Hallahan go, but he caught on at Philadelphia. Boston's Red Sox couldn't see Allan Cooke. Bill McKechnie thinks he's good enough for a regular spot in the Cincinnati outfield.

Red Kress bounced from one American league club to another and finally to the minors, but he's back as shortstop for the St. Louis Browns. The Athletics passed Emil Leonard but after a stretch in the minors he is back with Washington.

Wichita Jaycee Tilts Are Slated June 5-12

WICHITA FALLS, May 16. (Special)—Golfers will qualify for the seventh Annual Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament at the Wichita Falls Municipal golf course, June 5 to 11, with the final 36 holes June 12, Ed Fizer, tourney chairman announced here today.

Prizes valued at $350.00 will be awarded, with identical prizes going to winners and runners-up of each flight. Golf balls will be given for birdies in the qualifying round. Joe Tom Nuckles, invitation chairman, said all golfers of northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma will be given bids to the meet, the largest in the history of the event.

Each of the communities from which players will be invited are eligible to enter a four-man team to compete for a special cup, won last year by Quanah, after Childress had won two legs and needed only one more to gain permanent possession of it.

A registration fee of $2.00 will entitle all entries to attend the annual Stag Dinner Saturday night, June 11, and play in the tournament.

Beaumont Exporters Obtain Hurler From Toledo Club

TOLEDO, O., May 16. (AP)—The Toledo Mud Hens of the American association released three pitchers today.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout, an outstanding member of Toledo's pitching staff for two seasons, was transferred to Beaumont of the Texas league, Manager Fred Haney said.

Haney sent Ralph Birkofer to Nashville of the Southern association and released Vic Sorrell outright. The Hens obtained pitchers Ed Selway and Al Benton from Detroit Saturday.

JACK NETTERS WIN

NACOGDOCHES, May 16. (AP)—The Stephen F. Austin Lumberjack tennis team closed its season here today by defeating the Louisiana Normal netters, 4 matches to 3. The Lumberjacks won three singles and a doubles match.

Bob Hale Beats Bell With 64

A 2-up victory by Bob Hale over John Bell featured first day's match play in the annual Meadowbrook championship tournament Monday afternoon.

Bagging a 66, ordinarily a winning score, Bell went into the 18th dormie one and dropped the final hole to Hale. Hale's score of 64 marked him as a threat to the favorites, Alfred Holton and Ed Doherty.

Holton carded a 63 last week for medal honors. Doherty is defending the title he won last spring.

J. D. Hinson eliminated R. Marshall, 2 and 1, and Weldon Counts dropped Bert Pinson, 3 and 2, in other championship flight first rounds.

Three players moved into second round in the first flight. Ted Tipps and George Benson defaulted to N. L. Ball and J. Trammel O. A. Terry gained a 2 and 1 victory over J. D. McCauley.

Semifinals were reached in the second flight. A. L. Pace defeated W. T. Rogers, 1 up; Ray Pinson defaulted to W. Seeley; J. B. Galland beat J. Googion, 6 and 5; and F. Nichols drew a bye.

First round matches will be completed today. Finals will be played Sunday, after second round Wednesday and Thursday and third round Friday and Saturday.

Tournament Record Necessary To Win Open, Says Little

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Speaking with the authority of one who knows the course, Lawson Little today predicted the man who wins the 1938 National Open golf championship, to be contested June 9-11 at the Cherry Hills club near Denver, will have to set a new tournament record to do so.

When Ralph Guldahl led the field at Oakland Hills a year ago, he brought the record down to 281, seven under par for the Michigan course. But 70 is par for Cherry Hills, and that par is in for a severe shellacking.

"I know they've stiffened the course since I won the Colorado amateur and qualified for the U. S. amateur there in 1933," said the broad-shouldered Californian, "but they can't do anything about the fact that it's a mile above sea level, so that the thin air adds 25 or 30 yards to every shot you hit."

While Little was forecasting a new scoring low in the Open, the United States Golf association reported an unexpected high in the number of entries. Last Tuesday only 275 were on file, but this morning's mail delivered an additional 250 that brought the total close to 900, with a strong possibility there will be 1,000 in the U.S.G.A.'s hands by tomorrow afternoon's deadline.

ARMSTRONG PREPS

DALLAS, May 16. (AP)—Seventy awards in spring sports were voted tonight by the Southern Methodist university athletic council.

ROSS EARNS LAYOFF

GROSSINGER LAKE, N. Y., May 16. (AP)—Barney Ross went through five fast rounds today and earned a day's layoff from the ring as a result. The welterweight champion, preparing for his title bout with Henry Armstrong, May 26, punched sharply and was extremely fast in a two round session with Augie Gonzales and a three round bout with Pete Galiano.

Irish Strongman Seeks Fame And Money In U. S.

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 16.—Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan of Ireland, just about the most amazing man in the sport world today, has come to these shores in search of more fame and riches in the fight ring, wrestling arena and the movies.

The doctor, a blond "brute" of an Irishman weighing 235 pounds and standing six feet two in his size 15 socks, is an athletic King Midas. Everything he tries between his chores as head surgeon of the thriving Tipperary hospital in Dublin is just like tumbling off a wet slippery elm log. He won the Olympic hammer throwing championship in 1928 and '32 and eclipsed the world record with a heave of 198 feet eight inches. He has heaved the discus 151 1-2 feet, high-jumped 6 feet 3 1-8 inches, and tossed the 16-pound shot 53 feet four inches between amateur fights and wrestling matches that never found him a loser.

O'Callaghan

Golfer Sam Snead, perhaps, is America's greatest all-around athlete but he's no match for the wavy-haired Adonis from Erin. Among other feats, the 29-year old surgeon does the 100-yard dash in 10.2, the quarter mile in 49.4 and the 110-meter low hurdles in 15.1.

Maybe the doctor chooses his opponents but he claims he's never been beaten in any athletic duel except the high jump. As a professional rassler and fighter, he's going for the works. Under the direction of Edward Delaney and Maestro Ray Fabiani, the Irish strong man says he will open his wrestling drive against Jim Londos in Boston, June 18 and his fighting career against Jimmy Adamic at Detroit, July 2. Delaney, who made three trips to Ireland to land the doctor's contract only to come back with such fellows as Danno O'Mahoney, has guaranteed the surgeon and obstetrician $100,000 for a year's work, which also includes the movies.

Toreador Team Humbles Picked Prof Pushover; Revenge Is In Offing Three Weeks Hence

Texas Tech Toreador staff members made good their boast they could "lick any faculty group of softballers," Monday afternoon.

They took a 20 to 12 decision in a comedy of errors that left room for some heavy hitting and pretty fielding.

The game, a challenge meeting, saw such incidents as Karl E. Ashburn, Ph. D. (Phaw Down, to you) belt a blow tagged with distance on it but fall in rounding to third and sliding most of the rest of the distance; the fork-hand slants of Sam Drake; home run hitting of Chernosky, Smith and Jordan (2).

A cop was to have refereed, but decided against it —evidently for cause. Casey Fine, faculty member, served instead.

The profs have only to wait until June 3 to teach the newspaper boys that victory was not so sweet, they intimated.

RUSSELL GOES TO PELS

Russell, a former Baylor university star, played shortstop for Knoxville in the Southern association last year.

Hoyt And Manush Find End Of Baseball Trail With Pink Slips From Robins

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 16.—Two great names of baseball were scratched from the big league box scores today with Brooklyn's outright release of Pitcher Waite Hoyt, the 39-year-old "schoolboy wonder," and slugger Heinie Manush.

For Hoyt, the pink slip meant the apparent end of 18 years in the big show. A decade ago, with the Yankees, he was about the best in the business, and his decline has been gradual and grudging. Manush broke into the Detroit outfield 14 years ago, and in only five seasons since did he fail to hit over .300. In 1926 he led the American league with a mark of .377, and last year, at the ripe old age of 36, he paced the Dodgers with .333.

Others Are Released

Larry MacPhail, new business manager of the Brooklyns, promised some weeks ago there would be a "house-cleaning" if the club didn't show signs of life by May 15, and this was it. At the same time he released the veteran catcher, Roy Spencer, and sent pitcher George Jeffcoat to Kansas City on option.

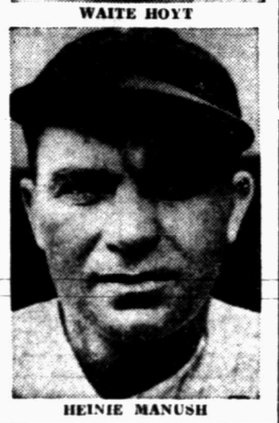

Hoyt might have hastened his departure somewhat by a magazine article he wrote last winter, in which he asserted the American league was stronger than the National.

Won't Worry Hoyt

MacPhail, however, said he wasn't influenced by the article and that Hoyt simply didn't have it any more.

Loss of his player salary will not perturb Hoyt greatly, as he is in demand as a radio commentator and is an accomplished undertaker besides. He still holds the record of having won more games for the Yankees than any other pitcher. His best year, 1928, he won 23 and lost 7.

SMU Golfer Beats Johnny Dawson

CORSICANA, May 16. (AP)—Poisonous putting—17 strokes under par for 37 holes—gave lanky Jamie Gough, Southern Methodist university student, a one-up victory over Johnny Dawson, dapper Chicagoan, on the first extra hole of their Corsicana invitation championship match here today.

Seventeen one-putt greens were listed on Gough's card. On the lengthy 560-yard extra hole—Gough calmly dropped in a 10-footer for a birdie four after Dawson had fallen inches short on his birdie try.

Gough Lags On Tees

Outdistanced off the tees and usually lagging on iron shots, Gough repeatedly recovered from the rough with approach shots dead to the pin.

They ended the 36-hole route all square. Gough, on the final green, chipped from the root of a tree, planted a niblick two feet from the cup and sank to keep his chances alive.

Has 74 For Morning

On the first extra hole Gough was short of the green but again lifted that niblick from his bag and planted his third ten feet from the cup. Dawson was away at 12 feet and missed his putt. Gough buried his sidehiller.

Gough was 74, three over par, on the morning round, Dawson 75.

The handsome Dawson was around in one under par with his 70 in the afternoon while Gough was 72.

Double-Header Grid Card Is Slated Today At Levelland

LEVELLAND, May 16 (Special)—Two football games will be played in the Levelland High school stadium Tuesday afternoon, according to announcement today.

The first game, with the kickoff scheduled at 2 o'clock will be an intra-squad game of players who will make up the 1938 high school team. The second game, to be played on completion of the first, is for juniors.

Bill Stevens, coach, is in charge of the first game, and Doris Witherspoon, assistant coach, will direct the second.

Softball games here have begun, and a team from Center Tuesday night will battle a Levelland band sponsored by the Baptist church.

Plans for a schedule are under way. The league is sponsored by the Hockley county board of development, secretary of which is Tom V. Watson.

Rain Halts Softball Game In Third Frame Monday

Rain Monday night halted the Lubbock Poultry and Egg-T. and P. Oil company softball contest after three innings of play with the poultrymen leading, 6 to 1.

Myers, on the hill for Lubbock Poultry and Egg, had allowed only two hits, while his mates had banged out five. The game did not last long enough to go into the record books.

Two undefeated tens, KFYO and McIlhaney creamery, meet tonight at 6:30 o'clock at Twenty-third street and Avenue K. The latter has copped both its start in the Lubbock Softball league.

Theory Is Perfectly Sound

IF conferences could help, the world's troubles would have been solved long ago. We have had domestic conferences aplenty, and the international scene has had everything from League of Nations meetings to an interchange of side-of-the-mouth whispers by dictators; but still the millenium comes not, and the world's ills go on piling up.

All of which is brought to mind by the recent suggestion by Philip Murray, C. I. O. leader, that President Roosevelt summon a conference of leaders in labor, industry, finance, agriculture and government to "lead the nation out of the wilderness."

IN theory, Mr. Murray's suggestion is perfectly sound. We are all in the same boat, and if it fails to stay afloat all groups and all classes are going to suffer equally; surely there ought to be enough good will and common sense to make such a conference production of a broad-guage plan to end the depression.

Yet the record of recent years argues against it. The average conference may provide a useful cross-section of the sentiment of folks back home, but it produces little in the way of a feasible plan of action.

And it may be that the reason why this is so is simply that hardly any of us are able to shed the old idea that we can get ahead only at the expense of somebody else.

SUPPOSE, for instance, that all the groups Mr. Murray enumerates were summoned into one big conference; what would happen?

If they ran true to form, each group would immediately begin to interpret the national policy in terms of its own interest. It would examine every plan submitted by another group to see — not whether it would be the best thing for the nation as a whole, but whether it would offer the best possible immediate advantage for one individual group.

In the end there would be a series of horse-trades — provided the delegates stayed away from one another's throats long enough—which would leave the nation no better off than it was before.

Which, of course, would leave the individual groups no better off. For the whole is greater than any of its parts, and in the long pull all of us are going to go up or down together.

That ought to be the most obvious single fact on the entire horizon. Yet it seems to be about the last one we can assimilate. Hence our conferences come to little good—and a sensible suggestion like this one of Mr. Murray's becomes something that only the hardiest will care to endorse.

Democracy Vs. Dictatorship

"I WOULD prefer," said Gaetano Salvemini, exiled Italian scholar, in his Fenton Foundation lecture at the University of Buffalo, "to live in an unplanned hell on the condition that my right to grumble were respected, than in a planned paradise where I would be a yes-man."

That quotation makes it plain why Professor Salvemini forfeited his place on the faculty of the University of Florence, his Italian citizenship, and even his private property, rather than become a Mussolini yes-man. Like Albert Einstein and other scholars in exile who have given up everything but their honor and intellectual integrity, Salvemini now is a citizen of the world.

And, as a citizen of the world, Professor Salvemini has firm and definite ideas about the line of demarcation between the part of mankind which is free and that part which is enslaved.

"If one likes to bully people and is ready to bow before any bully stronger than oneself, one is led to be an admirer of dictatorship. If one does not like either to bully or to be bullied, one sticks to democracy," he told his university audience.

The brilliant Italian exile said more in a few sentences than has been said in whole books on the issue of dictatorship vs. democracy.

It seems far away and long ago when a Paul Revere could get people out of bed with the cry, "The British are coming!"

The One-Minute Sermon

If any of them that believe not bid you to a feast, and ye be disposed to go; whatsoever is set before you, eat, asking no question for conscience sake.

But if any man say unto you, This offered in sacrifice unto idols, eat not for his sake that shewed it, and for conscience sake: for the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof.—I Corinthians 10; 27-28.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

COFFEE AND CREAM TREE

A very useful tree is the Carnauba palm, grown in the provinces of Ceara, Parahyba and Prauhy, Brazil. Through its trunk courses a white sap from which Brazilian women concoct a beverage that looks like milk. The fruit too is edible, and from its seeds a coffee substitute is brewed. Believe It or Not—coffee and cream from the same tree! The roots of this tree are used as a tonic or flesh builder—the trunk also provides excellent durable wood for building purposes and fibre for weaving baskets and fish nets—the leaves are used to thatch huts and as a material for making hats and brooms—and most important of all, commercially, is the 16,000,000 pounds of wax taken from these palm groves each year.

"Trial Flight"

By Adelaide Humphries
Copyright, NEA Service

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JACKIE DUNN — heroine; she wanted to fly.
ROGER BRECKNER — hero; he wanted to test the stratosphere.
BERYL MELROSE — wealthy widow; she wanted Roger.
EVELYN LA FARGE — Jackie's mother; she wanted a son-in-law.

Yesterday: Tripped up at her own game, Jackie decides to play it out with Roger to the end, but she finds it is as dangerous as any flight to the stratosphere might ever be!

CHAPTER XI

Roger did not get to take off for the west coast quite as soon as he had anticipated. He was obliged to "hang-around," as he expressed it, until the weather was more favorable.

"I don't want anything to happen on the way out—before I get to make my flight," he told Jackie, his blue eyes earnest. "I've got to make good on this now. If anything happened and I felt I'd let Beryl down, after having her pick me for the job, I'd never be able to look her in the eye again. She's a wonderful person, Jackie—you've no idea."

It seemed to Jackie that she had been hearing how wonderful Beryl was often enough lately to arrive at some conception.

"If aviation ever achieves its ultimate goal, it will be because of people like her," Roger said. "People who are willing to give not only thousands of dollars, but their time and almost their very heart itself. People with foresight and vision. . ."

"You forget even such wonderful people have to have pilots to fly their ships," Jackie broke in, "You're the one who's taking the chance, Roger. Sometimes I think people like Mrs. Melrose—and I know you think she's perfection personified—simply like to share in the reflected glory of someone else. I suppose if you break all records on this trial flight, she'll think she did it—and want all the medals."

Rogers stopped chewing the end of his toothpick; he glanced across at Jackie; they were having hamburgers and coffee at the Airport Inn, waiting for Beryl Melrose to join them. This might be their last meeting for some time as, if the weather "broke," everything was in readiness for the take-off.

"Why don't you like Beryl?" Roger asked. "She thinks you're swell, Jackie. She told me so—just the other day." His eyes crinkled at the corners. "Not still jealous, are you? Now that we're really engaged." Jackie had absolutely sold him on her idea. Since the night of the announcement party—and that kiss behind the banked flowers—Roger believed Jackie intended to marry him on his return.

"Certainly I'm not jealous!" Jackie flared. Just the same she did not like the other girl any better than she had from the first. "Except that I think I'm the one who should be going with you to the coast. But of course I'm only your fiancee, not a beautiful widow with millions of dollars to buy my way anywhere. It seems to me, Roger, she should be satisfied to stay here and wait, the same as I must do." This was an old argument, as Jackie had presented it every time she had an opportunity, during the past weeks. She knew very well that if Roger would tell Mrs. Melrose he thought it better for her to remain behind, instead of accompanying him to the coast, that she would consent. Roger had proved he could sell her on anything.

"After all, it's her ship," Roger reminded. "It's only natural she should want to go along. If it weren't for my arguments against it, Beryl would make the trial flight with me. She's that interested—and plucky."

"I suppose you told her it was much too dangerous for her!" Jackie said, with some bitterness. She was really getting fed up with Roger singing a steady chant to Beryl Melrose's courage. Jackie, if only she had a million dollars—and her transcontinental license — would have had pluck enough to have accompanied Roger, too. In fact it was the sort of thing she dreamed of doing, but supposed she never would. Some people's dreams never did come true. They had to sit by and see other people—like Beryl—get away with them.

"It's too risky for any woman," Roger said. "But that wasn't my main argument. I want as light a load as possible to make the fastest possible speed. And—this may sound selfish—but somehow I want to feel I've done this all alone."

Jackie could understand that; it was the fay she would want it, too.

"See here," Roger changed the subject abruptly; he leaned toward her, his blue eyes earnest again. "There's something I want to give you, Jackie, before I go—that is, of you'll wear it." He looked as though he did not know quite how to say what he wanted to say; as though he still felt uncertain as to how Jackie would react to it.

She said, "What do you want me to wear?" carelessly not prepared for what would come next.

"You mean you will?"

"Why not?"

He looked at her another moment searchingly, direct. Then he unfastened the small aviation pin, symbol of his achievements, that he always wore clasped to his lapel. "I want you to wear it," he said, offering it to Jackie. "Until I come back . . . and if anything should happen. . . . Well, I haven't anything else much to leave you, my love."

For once Jackie did not ask him not to call her that. He had said it in such a different way, not on that light note of mockery. He had said it as though he had meant it. But that had not been what made Jackie draw back. "No, no," she said. "I can't take it, Roger." This was going a bit too far with her joke. Somehow it might make the last laugh bitter sweet.

"Why not?"

"You told me you'd never fly without it—that it brings you luck."

"It will bring me more, if you wear it for me this time."

"I'd rather not."

"Please do!" His tone was urgent, as thought more than she knew depended upon it. "I can't give you a ring, or anything else, Jackie. Not until I get back. I want you to wear it. I'm asking you to."

"In that case . . ." Jackie reached out for it, but still reluctantly.

"Here . . . let me pin it on you!" He was on his feet, bending over her, his fingers fumbling at the lapel of her coat—the lapel that was over her heart. His face, almost as flushed as her own, was close now, his eyes looked into hers a breathless moment. "To pledge our troth . . ." he said, in a voice curiously unlike his own.

"Oh, here you are!" Another voice—Beryl Melrose's— broke in on them, shattering the moment as though it had been made of thin crystal, delicately wrought. Then she must have been aware that she had shattered something. A flash of pain swept her face, as though it had been sofething within herself. "I have been looking for you. I've got great news . . ." She sat down in the chair Roger had vacated, her manner poised as usual, her smile as gracious.

But Jackie had seen her face when it had been unguarded. She had seen that flash of pain. Somehow she could not feel as resentful toward this other girl now. Or as triumphant for herself.

"We can take off in the morning," Beryl said now. "The weather's cleared. The bureau reports just came in, clear from the coast. No more waiting, Roger. Isn't that grand?"

"Swell!" Roger said briefly. But it was enough. His blue eyes, looking into Beryl's, were alight with the fire of all his dreams. He had forgotten Jackie's existence once more. This moment belonged just to Beryl.

Rehearsals For Corps Will Be Held During This Week

In preparation for their exhibitions at the district convention Saturday and Sunday, drum and bugle corps of Sons of the American Legion will practice at 7 o'clock each night at Allen Bros. hall, Walter F. Smith, director, said Monday.

The boys are to participate in the welcoming for Daniel J. Doherty, national commander, and Texas department officials who are to arrive with him for the convention.

Meanwhile, E. Kelley Nail, member of the Legion post's sponsoring committee for the sons, announced the boys won their second consecutive practice game Sunday, defeating Bill Andrews' team, 5 to 3. Batteries were S. Young and B. Raley for the sons; Andrews and S. Price for the opponents.

The team here is to compete in the national junior legion tournament.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE currently invisible specter of a peak load of manufacturers', wholesalers' and retailers' inventories threatens to jeopardize the administration's five-billion-dollar recovery drive. The expenditure of that fabulous public fortune won't be a drop in the bucket—or pump—unless the undercover scheme to "freeze" stocks on hand succeeds.

The inside estimate of all kinds of inventories is $21,000,000,000, which matches 1929's maximum. But the difference is that gross sales—turnover of goods—amounted to $118,000,000,000 in the last boom year and runs only 50 per cent of that figure now. A burden of backlog stuff was a necessity when folks were buying at a dime down and a dime a week, but now it becomes an almost insuperable barrier to stimulating business and providing new jobs. The excess supply is exceptionally heavy in lines which P. W. A. projects are designed to move—steel, cement, lumber, copper, aluminum, etc.

Unless the private owners of these stocks—everybody from Henry Ford to the 5-and-10 chains—agree to meet new demands with fresh, shiny stuff, withholding current inventories from the market or rationing them out on an annual quota, President Roosevelt might as well not spend a nickel. He will only empty shelves and warehouses, not fill the factories with working men or diminish W. P. A.'s relief lines.

PALLIATIVE: With government advice, business and industry are racking their brains to find the answer to this economic question. Nobody wants another N.-R. A. program, for a vast system of federal compulsion would be impossible to enforce.

The most practical solution yet scratched on paper is the application of the "crop insurance" idea to manufactured articles. The holders would first agree to "freeze" present stocks in their industrial barns, though tentative plans would permit sale of 10 per cent—the annual percentage is still to be determined—to handle immediate demand. In return, federal financial authorities would ease restrictions on bank loans so that the withholders could borrow on their stagnated stuff. In fact, extension of credit would furnish the only check on possible "chiselers."

America's privateers must first agree to cooperate in the venture, if only for their selfish sakes. Everybody concedes that the scheme amounts to nothing more than a desperate palliative. The insiders' insistence on such a remedy explains the fairly obscure suggestion in the President's "recovery message"—namely, that the government's bank examining system be standardized. The three agencies now squabbling over the question of what are "slow or doubtful" loans must be forced to apply the same classification to the new type of frozen collateral.

TIMING: The chronology behind the recent treaties between the United States and Italy, and between London and Rome, suggests the existence of a close working arrangement among the three nations. Detached diplomats see a triple play from Roosevelt-to-Mussolini-to-Chamberlain.

Last summer Mr. Hull flatly refused to sign a reciprocal tariff agreement with Italy because it provided for recognition of the forcible seizure of Ethiopia. But in December he approved a temporary commercial pact with Rome that eliminated the Ethiopian from that particular woodpile. On the heels of that fascist gesture Chamberlain did his right-about-face, dumping Eden and forming an alliance with the Italian dictator. Now the State Department hints at negotiation of a permanent Italo-American settlement.

It is well known that Chamberlain's dickering with Il Duce in the light of the latter's tail-twisting of the lion has embittered the British people. But when even the "democratic" United States flirted with the dictator of the Mediterranean, the Prime Minister was furnished with a precedent—and an alibi. Mr. Roosevelt scored an assist and the British government made the putout—as usual.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

FORMATION of a committee of five utility leaders to confer with S.E.C. Chairman William O. Douglas has been played up as a voluntary "bid for peace" by the industry. Actually it was inspired by the Securities and Exchange Commission itself, which quietly spread the word in the right quarters that the creation of such a group would be appreciated.

New York insiders are frankly convinced that the S.E.C.'s object was to pass the buck to the industry on the "death sentence" provision of the Holding Company Act. This requires each holding company to divest itself of all but one geographically integrated group of operating properties although a liberal construction of the law might permit retention of two such groups.

The Commission has never given an official definition of integration. It could rule that properties are integrated only if they are physically interconnected, or it might take a broader view and decide that properties in contiguous states are integrated, whether connected or not. But it evidently prefers to leave the question open and let the utilities work out their own formula, so that it cannot be charged with persecution in enforcing the law.

CARVE: The two featured members of the committee are J. E. Fogarty of North American and C. E. Groesbeck of Electric Bond & Share. Their selection is appropriate. The integration problem is tougher for them than for any other companies in the industry.

Electric Bond & Share has properties in 38 states, so distributed that it will be very difficult to designate compact geographical groups to be retained. North American's dilemma is even worse. By no stretch of the imagination can any two of its subsidiaries—the principal ones are located in Washington, Cleveland, St. Louis, Milwaukee and on the Pacific Coast—be called integrated.

P. L. Smith, a third committeeman, is president of Middle West Corp. which has properties in 14 states and faces Bond & Share's problem on a smaller scale. It will be nice for the S.E.C. if these three can dope out a plan to carve up their own companies.

BAG: The postponement of a showdown in the Chesapeake and Ohio proxy battle was due to caution on the part of the opposition to Robert R. Young and the incumbent management. A meeting was to have been held in Richmond last Tuesday. But the Guaranty Trust voters stayed away, so there was no quorum.

Neither side has a clear majority as yet. The Guaranty, however, is very close to it with voting control of approximately a million shares. This gives it nearly 50 per cent as compared to the 42 per cent controlled by the Young adherents. But the Guaranty crowd want to make sure of winning before they let matters come to a vote. They intend to corral another hundred thousand shares or so first.

In the meantime, the bitter battle continues on other fronts. The management has threatened to appeal to the S.E.C. against what it terms the obstructionist tactics of the opposition. Each side accuses the other of misrepresentation in seeking proxies. But the Guaranty's eventual victory is rated in the bag.

HEAVY: A chart of the index of industrial employment, recently issued by the Administrative and Research Corporation of New York, shows plainly that heavy industry is still the weakest link in the industrial chain from the employment angle.

Based on 100 for average employment in the 1923-25 period, the index of employed in the durable goods industries dropped steeply and steadily from the '29 peak of 107 to a low of 48 early in '33. From there it climbed back gradually just to 100 in the spring of '37. Since the current depression set in, it has tobogganed again within less than a year to around 70—and is still headed down.

In nondurable goods, by contrast, the index never dropped below 72, and hovered around or above 100 from late '35 to the end of '37. Its low point since then is 90. There is scant chance of much progress in putting the jobless back to work until heavy industry picks up.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"I want you youngsters to read what this article says about all the necking that's going on nowadays."

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP)—What will the principal highways in Texas look like 50 years hence?

Harry S. Phillips, traffic and safety engineer for the state highway department, laughed when the question was put.

"Nobody on earth can say for certain," he replied, "but current trends are plain enough to indicate some of the features highways of the future will include."

Then he mentioned:

Super-highways traversing the country for the use of which a toll probably would be charged.

Wider highways with the traffic separated, which, among other things would prevent head-on collisions.

Special crossings, more signs and signals, improved vision in curves and hilltops and non-skid surfacing.

Idea Behind Move

"The idea back of the super-highways," Phillips elaborated, "is to move through traffic rapidly over long distances. The more localized traffic also would be helped because congestion on the regular highway would be lessened.

"Perhaps entrances to such through arteries would be 25 or more miles apart and in such a manner as to be easy and safe.

"A toll might be charged to help liquidate construction of these specialized highways and permit expenditure of tax money on highways of more general utility.

"Separated highways are the coming thing. Already they are being constructed throughout the east.

"The principle simply is to put a parkway or leave a strip of earth between lanes of traffic. The traffic will move faster and much more safely. Head-on collisions, which are the worst kind, will be impossible.

"Not a great while ago engineers thought the three-lane highway was the logical advancement when traffic became too heavy on the two-lane. This view is now generally discarded.

"In the future the step probably will be from the two-lane highway to the separated, four-lane.

Consider the case of the three-lane highway from the Austin city limits a few miles out on the San Antonio road. Everyone thinks he has the right to use the middle lane and a hazard results."

BROAD PROGRAM PLANNED

THE highway department has a broad program under way intended to make motoring safer.

The first phase of highway building in Texas, which Phillips termed "Getting the state out of the mud," has been completed, and from now on more points in construction may be considered.

Much attention is being given to removing sharp curves, providing better vision at curves and hill-tops, widening bridges, improving shoulders, making transition from one type of road to another easier and installing more warning signs and signals.

"One of the most important things we are doing is making the surfaces of such nature skidding is not so likely to occur," Phillips said. "This is done chiefly by roughing or corrugating.

"The danger of skidding in wet weather is nothing like what it was a few years ago due to progress in surfacing.

"To better control traffic, many more warning signs and signals at intersections are being installed."

Phillips doesn't think highways need to be built for greater speed. He believes motorists are moving fast enough now. Highways which will permit traffic movement safely at a reasonable rate of speed are the aim of the department, he said.

"Fifty years from now," he concluded, "I think travelling at 100 miles an hour still will be impracticable, as it is today. There is no need for such speed.

"It is 100 miles from Austin to Waco. The trip can be made comfortably and safely now in about two and one-half or three hours, which is fast enough. No man's time is so valuable he has to go from Austin to Waco in less time than that.

"The big problem is to educate the public to use properly the fine highways being built."

Japanese Hold Secret Meets

MANILA, May 16. (AP)—The Daily Bulletin published a special dispatch today from its Davao correspondent saying he had learned confidentially that thousands of Japanese in that province were holding secret meetings at which they received careful instructions in use of gas masks and firearms.

Rumors have been current, the dispatch said, that Japanese of that region have been manufacturing firearms in isolated mountains of the province.

Meetings Are Held

The Bulletin's correspondent wrote that Major Leon Reyes, Davao provincial commander, had said he knew the Japanese were holding secret meetings.

"We investigated but didn't understand what they were talking about," he was quoted as saying. "We need an expert Filipino interpreter who has good knowledge of the Japanese language."

Residents of Davao province have been uneasy since the appearance some weeks ago in Davao gulf of what was described as a fleet of war ships. A Japanese spokesman at Tokyo said later the ships were Japanese fishing vessels.

Approximately 16,000 Japanese live in Davao province, most of them on hemp plantations. Filipinos claim that many of them hold land illegally.

J. F. McDonald Leaves Monday To Attend Annual Parley

J. F. McDonald, director of extension at Texas Technological college, left Monday morning for Hot Springs, Ark., to attend the annual conference of the National Universities' Extension association. He will deliver the responding address at the meeting which opens Wednesday and continues through Friday.

Membership in the association numbers 550, consisting for the most part of state universities with a few state colleges and fewer schools outside those classifications. Texas is represented by the University of Texas, Texas Technological college which became a member in 1931, and Southern Methodist university, which was admitted last year.

The greatest length of Brazil from north to south is 2,660 miles, and from east to west 2,700 miles.

TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 8 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

With soldiery determination, Captain d'Albert himself led the expedition against the mysterious white savage who had been denounced by Abdul Keb. In all his career as a guardian of law and order in the wilderness, he had never failed to get his man. . . .

. . . Tarzan, of course, was unaware of the commotion he had stirred. He was ignorant of the fact that he was a hunted man. So he continued his leisurely journey in high spirits, followed by his eager, admiring young proteges. "This is the life," Doc exulted.

Jad-bal-ja, Tarzan's trained lion, had wandered off into the jungle to pursue his own devices. And slowly, Dick and Doc, as they gained confidence, dropped behind the ape-man, fascinated by the antics of chattering monkeys that swung and played in the trees.

So it was that Tarzan was alone when he caught the sound of marching men. He walked straight ahead, for he had no reason to avoid them. When Captain d'Albert saw the white giant, he called to his soldiers in a low, tense voice: "On guard! That is our man!"

LUBBOCK AUCTION AND COMMISSION CO. SALE EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY, BEGINNING AT 10:00 A. M.

Traders have come to know that they get the best prices that the market permits for their cattle when they bring them to us to sell.
We have endeavored to transact our business in a straightforward manner, and it is not surprising that our volume of business is ever increasing.
We try to treat all customers honorably and alike—doing as we would be done by, and this means that once a patron of this establishment you are always a patron.
We believe that our auction sale is a distinct feature of the country and materially assists in making this section more progressive and more attractive from a commercial and agricultural standpoint.
Help us to continue to build up our reputation as such an asset by bringing us more cattle to sell, so we can keep the buyers constantly coming to us for their cattle requirements.

Chairmen Selected For Reunion Event

STAMFORD, May 16.—Committee chairmen for the ninth annual Texas Cowboy Reunion, which meets here July 4, 5 and 6, have been named by President W. G. Swenson. Most of the officials are the same men who have served for a number of years, some of them since the organization was launched in 1930.

The reunion and rodeo is staged by volunteer service, no official receiving any pay for his service. Stockholders receive no dividends, the income above operating expenses being used for permanent improvements on the reunion grounds.

The committee chairmen for this year are: R. E. McDonald, Lubbock, pioneer cowboys' chuck wagon; W. H. Cousins, Dallas, committee for selection of most typical cowboys; W. J. Bryant, booth and exhibits; L. M. Hardy, concessions; Chas. E. Coombes, entertainment and registration; Jim Stell, old fiddlers' contest; Warren B. Tayman, parade; George Smith, ranch and visiting chuck wagons; R. M. Swenson, rodeo events; Chas. G. Inglish, souvenir programs; H. G. Andrews, sponsors; W. B. Harrison, sponsors' dances; L. W. Johnson, tickets and parking; Dr. Dallas Southland, junior cowboys' contest; K. K. Francis, lighting, and Cleburne Huston, advertising and publicity.

Federation Of Women's Clubs Votes Monday On Officers

KANSAS CITY, May 16. (AP)—The 2,000,000-member General Federation of Women's clubs voted secretly today on its own officers and publicity in favor of an economic boycott by the United States of any nation invading another in violation of treaties.

The 1,142 voting delegates formed long lines at the six voting machines with Maryland and Illinois delegations on hand early in behalf of their candidates for the biggest contest—for first vice president. Backers of Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, of Chicago, were eager to put their candidate in the position which often leads to the presidency of the federation. The result will not be announced until tonight or tomorrow.

The federation passed a resolution today calling for sanctity of treaty obligations. It urged that the United States be authorized in cases where treaties are violated by one nation invading another to discriminate against the invader by economic measures not including war.

Possession Of Marijuana Is Charged To Mexican Here

He entered a plea of guilty on arraignment before Mrs. Olive Fluke, United States commissioner, and bond of $500 was set. He was committed to the Potter county jail at Amarillo in lieu of bond.

R. S. Daniels of the alcoholic tax unit, swore to the complaint.

Flores had been arrested Sunday by police.

OFF ON WRONG FOOT

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—Stocks got off on the wrong foot in today's market and leaders dropped fractions to around 1 point.

Dealings were extremely sluggish until the final hour. Transfers of 395,920 shares were the smallest for a full day since May 2. They compared with 604,950 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was down .8 of a point at 39.8.

Trading forces, brokers said, were inclined to lighten commitments pending the results of tomorrow's Pennsylvania primaries which some thought might have market repercussions.

In addition no great stimulation was found in the news either from Washington or elsewhere. The business picture was as cloudy as ever.

For the general list supreme court decisions were about a stand-off. There was a ruling against the General Electric in a patent suit and the stock dipped 1¼ at 34¾.

So far as stocks were concerned brokers felt the slackness of the day's proceedings was in favor of the market. It was recalled that the pace has been fastest during the past several weeks when prices were advancing.

Among prominent losers were U. S. Steel at 43⅝, Bethlehem 46⅛, Chrysler 42⅛, U. S. Rubber 27, Westinghouse 76⅛, Du Pont 100, Allied Chemical 147¾, Union Carbide 64⅝, Eastman Kodak 154, Anaconda 27, J. I. NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 16. (AP)—General liquidation by commission houses and local and foreign selling resulted in declines of 55 to 65 cents a bale in the cotton market here today. The close was steady, at the lowest, and at net losses of 11 to 13 points.

The bulk of the activity occurred in late trading when the major portion of the selling encountered only a scale-down demand by the trade and desultory covering by the short interesas.

May contracts closed at 8.65-bid, July at 8.74, Oct. at 8.81, Dec. at 8.84, Jan. at 8.84 and Mch. at 8.91. Spot activity increased and sales totaled 640 bales. Middling closed steady but slumped 14 points to 8.77 in sympathy with futures.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—Cotton was heavy today under foreign and local selling. October sold off from 8.75 to 8.66, closing at the low, with final prices 10 to 13 points net lower.

The market opened 4 to 7 points lower under the influence of disappointing foreign markets and selling from abroad, but there was sufficient trade, local and commission house buying to impart a steady undertone at the decline, especially after Liverpool had closed.

Siberia is one and one-half times the size of the United States.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 16. —Wheat fell 2 cents a bushel here today, and touched bottom price records unmatched in four years.

July and September contracts, representing the new domestic crop, both pierced previous bottom quotations. Drenching rains in the Texas Panhandle, reported as likely to prove of immense value, were an outstanding factor.

In addition to favorable domestic crop reports, scantiness of European demand served to pull values down. More than 2½ million bushels decrease of the United States visible supply total was ignored.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1¼@2 cents under Saturday's finish, May 79⅞@80, July 76⅞@77, corn ⅝@⅞ down, May 57⅝, July 58⅜@58⅞, oats ⅛ off to ¼ up, rye showing 1⅛@1½ drop, and provisions varying from 10 cents setback to 5 cents advance.

Cleanup Drive Ends Tonight

Delegates from 12 women's clubs and Boy Scouts Monday completed their second inspection of homes, yards, alleys and vacant properties here as one of the closing activities of the cleanup-paintup campaign.

The campaign will be closed officially with a radio address at 8:15 o'clock tonight over KFYO by Carl Slaton, mayor.

Preliminary reports Monday of the second inspection showed approximately half the homes found to be in need of cleanup-paintup attention have been put into desired condition. Mrs. Clark M. Mullican is chairman of the committee directing women's work in the campaign.

Reports Are Given

Mrs. Mullican said two of 12 committees from women's clubs had reported.

The reports showed the two committees inspected 589 homes originally and found 59 of the premises in need of attention. Of the 59, they reported, 28 have since been put in condition. That means, Mrs. Mullican said, that in two large neighborhoods, only 31 out of 589 homes fail to measure to the exacting standards set by the cleanup-paintup campaign group.

The situation as to vacant property was described as less satisfactory, but still the best of any campaign thus far. Total vacant properties inspected, ranging in size from one lot to an entire block, was 164. Of the 62 for which cleaning was recommended, 20 were improved. Forty-two still are in need of attention.

Scheduled this afternoon will be final inspections by Boy Scouts of streets and alleys.

There were 30,000 cattle in the American colonies in 1639.

tailored by

Hart, Schaffner & Marx

The suit that gives you both Comfort and Style

Here's the reason why Dixie Weave is the ideal Summer Suit . . . it's all wool. Yes, wool IS cool . . . that's because wool remains porus, even when it's damp. . . . Wool allows the air to circulate over the body . . . it is, in fact, a natural thermostat, maintaining the most even temperature of all clothing fabrics . . . WOOL is light, too . . . it weighs less than any other clothing fabric except silk . . . WOOL is healthy because it protects against all temperatures . . . WOOL is economical because it does not wrinkle easily and requires much less cleaning and pressing that ordinary suits . . . see these all-wool Dixie weaves in their many sport and business color versions.

New Projects Are Approved

Two new National Youth administration projects for this district have been approved and one is in operation, according to information received Monday from A. V. Bullock, district supervisor.

A schoolground beautification program will be launched Thursday at Dumont school in the northwest corner of King county, Bullock said, and will give employment to six or seven youths. Approval of the projects by authorities at Austin was received Monday, Bullock said, at the district office here.

Sponsored By School

The project is being sponsored by the school, superintendent of which is Lorin J. D. Doolen.

Already in operation is a project at Snyder in Scurry county which is giving employment to approximately 15 enrollees of the National Youth administration.

The project, recently approved by offices at Austin, includes construction of a rock band stand and improvement of the courthouse lawn. The band stand is being built on the lawn. The project, set up to continue operation until the end of June, also includes construction of rock walks and a rock wall.

Sponsoring the project is Scurry county.

To Provide Training

Plans are under way for beginning of one or two homemaking resident projects designed to provide training in housekeeping for girls eligible for the NYA program work program. If there are two in this district, Bullock said, they probably will be at Plainview and Lubbock.

The Junior league at Plainview has voted to sponsor such a project.

Girls will work part of each day in hospitals, cafeterias, public nurseries or on clerical work in offices, for which they will be paid. Out of her earnings each girl will be able to pay her share of the cost of operating the cooperative houses where they will live two weeks of each month, Bullock said.

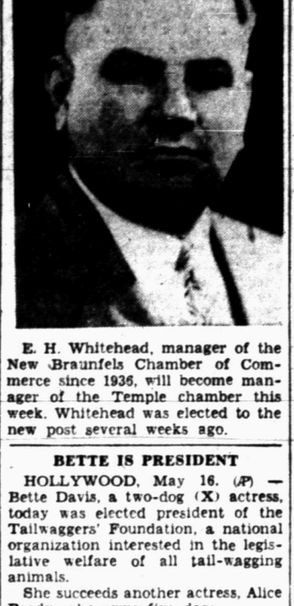

Costs To Be Kept Low

Costs will be kept low, it was explained, since girls, in their spare time, will do their own marketing, cooking, cleaning, and mending under direction of a trained supervisor.

There will be two groups at each house, each group living in the house two weeks of each month.

"Many girls need and deserve opportunity to become good homemakers," said J. C. Kellam, state NYA administrator. "They want to learn about cooking and cleaning, budgeting and buying, and responsibilities of keeping house. In cooperation with local authorities and the homemaking division of the Texas Department of Education, we are providing opportunity and supplying qualified instructors for the training and practice work."

She succeeds another actress, Alice Brady, who owns five dogs.

Parking Space At Local Park Continues To Be A Problem

Parking space for picnickers at Mackenzie park will continue to be a major problem, according to park officials, until completion of work on new parking spaces.

Estimates were that 700 to 800 persons were in picnicking parties who spent periods of several hours on the grounds Sunday. At the peak of the season, the Sunday total will number into the thousands.

Before that time, however, park officials believe that an addition of approximately 10 acres to the picnic grounds will be in readiness. Additional room is provided also by the elimination of a road which cut through the picnic ground and by a concentration of parking spaces.
