Valedictorian case moved to federal court

By Bill McClellan
Managing Editor

The debate over whether Holly Jones or Veana Clay is the top-ranked graduating senior at Snyder High School was removed from 132nd District Court today and sent to the U.S. District Court in Lubbock.

Attorneys for Snyder Independent School District filed the notice of removal, which District Judge Gene Dulaney said he had no option but to grant.

Parents for the plaintiff, Miss Jones, said they are disappointed but will go on with the fight to have their daughter declared valedictorian of the 1995 graduating class.

"We wanted it here. This is a Scurry County issue and we'd like it heard in Scurry County," said her mother, Barbra Jones.

The Jones' attorney, Robert Nebb of Lubbock, said the move by the school district's lawyers was surprising, but not totally unexpected.

"It's a typical thing defense lawyers do if they don't think they can win. They know it is more expensive to try a case in federal court," said Nebb, who plans to ask for an abstention hearing to have the case brought back to Scurry County.

"We had discussed holding it in federal court, state court or district court and decided to file it here (Scurry County) because it's a hometown issue. I reckon if we had brought it to federal court first they (the defense) would have asked to move it somewhere else," said Nebb.

"It's ridiculous, but sometimes you have to deal with these kinds of things. We're not even aware if the school board has looked into this whole issue. Maybe it's time the school board woke up and said 'we're in charge and not some law firm out of Austin.'"

Though both Miss Jones and Miss Clay were named co-valedictorians by the school this year, district administrators have designated Miss Clay as the high-ranking student.

Miss Clay has a honors point average of 7.073. Miss Jones has an honors point average of 7.0614. Those numbers indicate that Miss Clay is the high-ranking student. Confusing the issue, however, is wording in the high school handbook which reads that students shall be ranked "at the end of four years of high school."

Miss Jones is a four-year graduate. Miss Clay graduated in three years.

"I feel we're doing the right thing because the school handbook says four years," Miss Jones said today after Judge Dulaney announced the motion to remove the case to federal district court.

"The school is saying the four years doesn't really mean anything, so she (Miss Clay) deserves the scholarship. And they gave me a title of co-valedictorian. If they are going to give valedictorian to a three-year senior, then they need to change the rule book," Miss Jones said.

The two girls are friends, she said, and don't discuss the civil case. "This really has nothing to do with the Clays. It could be any three-year graduate. It's about the school. They don't want to follow what is in their own handbook."

First-ever Senior Olympics begins today

A golf tournament and get-acquainted dance are opening activities for the first-ever "Senior Olympics," which begins here today.

Most of the events will be held Saturday in Towle Park. Anyone who would like to participate in the olympics may still register tonight at the dance or Saturday morning before the first event. Registration will be held in the National Guard Armory.

The olympics are for men and women 60 years of age and up. Medals will be awarded to first, second and third place finishers and each contestant will receive a commemorative T-shirt.

Individuals may enter as many events as they wish and one outstanding athlete trophy will be given to the participant with the most medals at the end of the competition.

The olympics are sponsored by Snyder Chamber of Commerce, with Matt Cross as coordinator.

Events get underway today at 4 o'clock with a golf tournament at Western Texas College. The get-acquainted dance will be held at the Armory at 7 o'clock with Benny Benitz and his band playing. Contestants will be admitted free. There will be a $3 cover charge for all others.

Events Saturday include run-a-thons of one-half mile, one mile, a 100-yard dash and walk-a-thons of 5K and one mile.

For those who would rather ride than walk, there will also be a bicycle race of three miles and a stationary bike race.

A tennis tournment, croquet tourney and a washer-pitcher tournament are among the offerings.

Swimming competition will be held Saturday at the college pool.

Other events include a softball throw contest, casting and fishing contest at the Towle Park Pond and an exhibition, co-ed softball game scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

A complete list of events and times will be posted at the Armory this evening and Saturday.

Cave selected for Girls State

Seventeen-year-old Sterling Cave has been selected to attend the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State in Seguin.

Cave, the daughter of Dr. James and Lois Cave of Snyder, recently completed her junior year at Snyder High School where she participated in volleyball, UIL accounting, and choir.

Her UIL accounting team placed second in state and she was second alternate to the all-state choir.

Cave is also a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

She was selected to attend Girls State by high school counselors, based on academics, leadership qualities and school activities. Girls State is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, with some assistance from the Kiwanis Club. President of the local Auxiliary is Jean McCormack. Dessie Harvel is Girls State chairman.

The purpose of Girls State is to educate young women in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship. Girls State is a mythical 51st state where the citizens organize their own city, county and state governments. They choose their own officials in accordance with regular election procedures and learn the duties of the various city, county and state offices.

Girls State will be held June 13-23 on the Texas Lutheran College campus.

After talking with recent SHS graduate Paige Gayle, who attended Girls State last year, Cave said she is looking forward to attending.

"I think it will be a really neat opportunity," she said.

American fighter jet shot down in Bosnia

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — An American F-16 fighter jet was shot down today by a missile in Bosnia, NATO said. There was no immediate word on the fate of the pilot.

In Washington, the Pentagon said the F-16 Fighting Falcon was flying for NATO as part of air patrols enforcing a "no-fly zone" over Bosnia and that a search-and-rescue operation was under way.

A Bosnian Serb military source, who demanded anonymity, told The Associated Press that the U.S. fighter jet "exploded in

One of our pet peeves is a restaurant with a juke box blaring, so an item in the Seminole Sentinel caught our attention:

"George Bernard Shaw was dining in a London restaurant when a band began to play loudly. The music went on for some time until the diner beckoned the head waiter and asked, "Does the band play requests?"

The head waiter exclaimed with delight that they did and asked what Shaw would like them to play.

"Ask them to play dominoes until I have finished eating."

More jobs were reported in the Lamb County Leader-News in Littlefield.

White House fence climber to be tested for competence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who was shot by a Secret Service agent after climbing the White House fence last week was ordered transferred Thursday to a federal medical facility where doctors can determine if he is mentally competent to stand trial.

Federal Magistrate Patrick Attridge declined a request from Veland William Modjeski's attorneys that he be permitted to commit himself to a private mental hospital, under the court's supervision. Instead, Attridge ordered that Modjeski remain at St. Elizabeths Hospital, a psychiatric facility in Washington, pending transfer to the first available space at a federal mental facility.

"I'm not satisfied that release to a private medical facility is appropriate," Attridge said, voicing concern that Modjeski could also check himself out of a private hospital.

His decision followed testimony from a Secret Service agent who said Modjeski's wife had tried in recent weeks to have him committed for behavior that ranged from placing a goat's skull on the kitchen table to tracing someone's license plate to "some sort of obsession with the letter Z."

Summarizing Modjeski's medical record from the Woodburn Center for Community Mental Health in suburban Virginia, Special Agent Mark A. Tinsley said Modjeski was diagnosed May 8 as "schizophrenic, paranoid type, chronic with acute exacerbation." The hospital also found Modjeski abused marijuana, Tinsley said.

Under questioning by federal prosecutor Eric Dubelier, Tinsley also said that Modjeski was fired from his job as a Pizza Hut delivery man for "basically inappropriate behavior toward another employee," a woman.

Modjeski, 37, of Falls Church, Va., was shot May 23 after he scaled the White House fence and pointed an unloaded gun at Secret Service agents. An agent was also wounded.

Modjeski, his left arm still bandaged, did not speak during the hearing Thursday except to whisper with his attorneys.

Stray monkey goes berserk

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — When Becky Kelly found the stray monkey, it was cuddly and polite.

The next day it went ape, grabbing a knife and lighter and eating anything it could get its paws on. After being corralled by an animal control officer, it suddenly died.

Kelly found the animal in a neighborhood orchard Wednesday night. She caught it in a box and brought it home, said Liz Battisti, who lives with Ms. Kelly.

On Thursday morning, the monkey played happily until it spotted two men walking up the driveway.

"He went nuts," said Battisti.

For the next two hours, the monkey ran screaming through the house armed with a paring knife it found in the kitchen, Ms. Battisti said. It bit the two women, and picked up a lighter and repeatedly tried to flick it on.

"It was like he knew how it worked," Ms. Battisti said.

The monkey raided the kitchen cupboards, using the knife to slice open bags and eat marshmallows, brown sugar and bread.

The women called police, but when an officer began to enter the house, the monkey got even more excited, baring its teeth and screaming.

The officers waited outside until an animal control officer arrived. After a half-hour chase, the monkey was caught with a snare.

The monkey was then put in a cage, where it died of an apparent heart attack.

"We were upset about it," Ms. Battisti said. "He was really cute."

A man who saw a story about the monkey on the news told police it was his escaped pet.

Your Birthday

Saturday, June 3, 1995

In the year ahead, you're more likely to do well operating independently than with partners. Move to a zone where you're free to make your own decisions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Good news might try to get through to you today, so check your mailbox and return all your phone calls. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, NY 10163.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A good investment could pay handsome dividends today, so follow your instincts and your logic if you have any speculative urges.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The enthusiasm you show for your endeavors today will make others want to get involved in them as well. You won't have to do a hard sell, just tell the truth.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If there is something you want that someone else can help you get, this will be a good day to talk to your potential benefactor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Good things could happen today in your social involvements. Acknowledge everyone at the gatherings you attend today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A development that might seem rather insignificant at first could turn out to be an impressive opportunity for your career and finances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you look for the bright side today, you'll find it. Adverse situations might temporarily darken your doorway, but it won't last long.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Persons you've gone out of your way to help in the past might treat you in a very considerate fashion today. This will be their chance to balance the books.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your popularity will be at a high point today and friends will seek your company. A word of warning, however: You mustn't play favorites.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This could be a red letter day for you in your work or career. Good things are in the offing, but you'll have to shake the opportunity tree.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your wit, warmth and wisdom will make you a fun person to be around today. You will make a lasting, good impression on those you meet for the first time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Benefic developments are indicated today for two reasons. One: You persevere in doing things the way they should be done. Two: Lady Luck adding the finishing touches.

Some colon cancer is caused by gene, researchers report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Developing a blood test to screen for susceptibility to about 20 percent of colon cancers may be just a few years off since the discovery of a flawed gene linked to the disease, researchers say.

Dr. Sanford Markowitz, cancer researcher at University Hospitals of Cleveland and Case Western Reserve University, said Thursday the flawed gene triggers cancer in the right portion of the colon among some patients with an unstable genetic pattern that does not correct itself.

"Their genes are falling apart, rather like a fraying rope," Markowitz said of such families. "You don't get cancer until you fray the specific gene."

Colon cancer on the right side results, Markowitz said, only after a flaw blocks the action of a gene that activates a substance, or receptor, on the surface of cells.

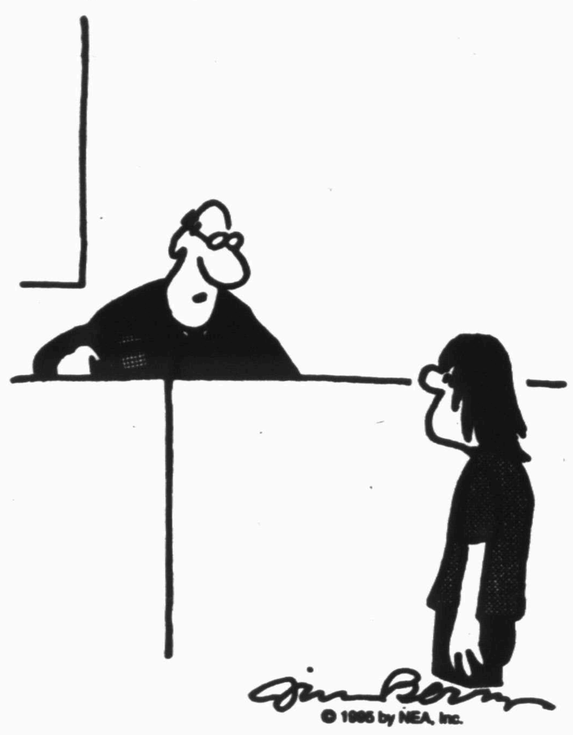

Called RII, the receptor plays a key role in the protective action of a substance called transforming growth factor-beta, or TGF-b. This substance, when activated through the RII receptor, prevents cells from turning cancerous. Without the RII receptor, TGF-b does not work.

A report on the study was published today in the journal Science, the journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Markowitz said a blood test to detect the RII flaw could be developed within a few years. Such a test would make it possible to screen for the presence of cancer in patients without an elaborate testing procedure.

Right now, he said, detecting cancer on the right side of the colon is difficult. The left side of the colon can be easily examined in a doctor's office with instruments inserted into the rectum. The right side, however, is beyond the reach of these instruments and examination usually requires a general anesthetic and more complex instruments.

Dow trials to proceed

HOUSTON (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. says it will appeal a Texas appeals court ruling that will force the company to appear in court this summer for a series of breast implant suits.

The 14th Court of Appeals in Houston rejected a request from Dow Chemical, co-owner of breast implant maker Dow Corning Corp., which sought to remain out of court during implant suits.

Dow Chemical spokesman Dan Fellner said the company will be taking the matter to the Texas Supreme Court.

"We don't believe it was appropriate for us to have to defend in court the product of another company," Fellner said. " "But we will be prepared to represent our case if there are trials and remain confident that we will ultimately prevail.

"Dow Chemical never designed, tested, manufactured or distributed breast implants," he added.

Plaintiffs' attorneys say Dow Chemical should be made responsible because company shareholders profited from breast implant sales from 1964-1992 and because its facilities were used in early tests on silicone.

"We're very happy. We're delighted with it," said Mike Pfifer, one of several Houston attorneys representing some 3,000 women who are suing breast implant manufacturers, claiming they were injured by the implants.

"Dow Chemical has done everything it can to avoid responsibility, but it's running out of options. Hopefully it's going to run out of one more option," Pfifer said.

State District Judge Michael Schneider in Houston cut off Dow Corning Corp. from hundreds of implant suits after the Midland, Mich., company filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy, leaving Dow Chemical as the primary defendant.

Attorneys for Dow Chemical tried through the appeals panel to block the action.

Gramm tours one Army base that may be slated for closure

TEXARKANA (AP) — GOP presidential candidate Sen. Phil Gramm toured the Red River Army Depot Thursday, as preparation for his appearance before the commission that is in charge of base closures.

The depot, located about 8 miles west of Texarkana, is among those being reviewed for possible closure or realignment on June 13 by the Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission.

Gramm said in a press release that he believes Red River will remain open.

"Through two previous rounds of closures, Red River Army Depot has demonstrated its value to the nation," Gramm said. "I'm confident that with hard work we can do it again in 1995."

Gramm toured the depot for 30 minutes and then spoke to members of the nearby community.

The base, which has primarily been used for the construction and repair of new equipment, houses 11 U.S. Army personnel and 3,000 civilian mechanics and technicians.

The facility employs several hundred Louisiana residents.

Return to NBA finals...

Rockets dull Spurs

HOUSTON (AP) — Hakeem Olajuwon and Robert Horry finally put an end to the home-court madness in the West, and the Houston Rockets are headed back to the NBA Finals.

Olajuwon had 39 points, 17 rebounds and five blocks as the Rockets beat San Antonio 100-95 Thursday night to win the Western Conference finals 4-2.

Horry sank six 3-pointers, the last with 1:58 to play to put the defending champions ahead 97-93, then clinched the victory by making two free throws with 13 seconds to play. He scored 22 points.

It took six tries, but a home team finally won in the Western Conference finals.

Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich leaped in the air at the final buzzer, and the team and crowd rushed onto the court.

The crowd had been shouting "MVP, MVP" throughout the game for Olajuwon, last year's most valuable player who consistently outplayed David Robinson in this series.

Robinson, this season's MVP, scored 19 for San Antonio but missed two free throws and committed a fatal turnover in the final 1:06. Avery Johnson had 19 points and 10 assists for the Spurs. Sean Elliott scored 18.

Dennis Rodman had 14 points and 17 rebounds for the Spurs, who had felt anything but a title would be a disappointment after they won 62 games during the regular-season, the best record in the league.

The Rockets open the NBA Finals on Wednesday against Orlando or Indiana on the home court of the Eastern Conference champions. But that shouldn't bother Houston, which didn't have the home-court edge in any of the first three rounds.

Houston, which finished sixth in the West, ties the 1981 Rockets as the lowest seeded team to reach the finals.

Houston won three games in San Antonio in the conference finals before breaking through with a victory at home. But, as usual, the Rockets couldn't do it the easy way.

After Drexler stole Robinson's pass and found Mario Elie for a layup with 5:56 to play, Houston led 92-83.

Texas Rangers over Minnesota Twins, 6-3

ARLINGTON(AP) — It doesn't mean much to Kenny Rogers that he pitched the longest stretch of scoreless innings since Orel Hershiser set the major league record with 59 straight in 1988.

Minnesota's Kirby Puckett, on the other hand, says the Texas Rangers' left-hander has done something special.

"This is something he should be very proud of," Puckett said after Rogers' streak stopped at 39 in Texas' 6-3 victory over the Twins on Thursday night. "I'm sure he's not thinking about it now, but when he looks back, it should give him a sense of pride."

To Rogers, the team-record streak is no big deal. He just hopes it proves to his doubters that his perfect game last summer was no fluke.

Rogers (6-2) moved the ball effectively and kept the Twins off-balance with a good breaking ball. Although he didn't think he had his best stuff, he looked as good as he had since his perfect game for the first six innings.

In that span, Minnesota had only two baserunners, and neither got past first base. Texas hitters, meanwhile, staked Rogers to a 6-0 lead.

Rogers showed he was weakening when he walked Pedro Munoz with one out in the seventh. Jerald Clark singled Munoz to third, then Marty Cordova hit a long sacrifice fly that ended the scoreless streak.

It was the first run off Rogers since Oakland's Mark McGwire hit a leadoff home run in the third inning May 6.

Overall, Rogers was tagged with two earned runs in seven innings. He gave up five hits, walked only Munoz and struck out five.

Lamesa Tors advance to state tourney

ABILENE — Some may consider Lamesa's presence in the state baseball playoffs a fluke on technicalities, but the Tors have since earned respect and a berth in the Class 4A state tournament.

Lamesa, with a 5-1 regional championship victory over Fort Worth Arlington Heights here Thursday night, heads to Austin for the first time. The state tournament begins next Thursday at Disch-Falk Field.

Lamesa finished tied for second with Snyder and Estacado in District 5-4A after Snyder, with a 6-0 loop record, lost its last four games.

Snyder was expecting a playoff to determine the playoff representative, but Lamesa school officials dusted off a league regulation dealing with what team had beaten other teams. Other league members agreed, and Lamesa was playoff bound.

Frenship, the district champion, was eliminated in the first round. Lamesa defeated Borger, Andrews and Arlington Heights to gain the state tournament berth.

Thursday's game was just like many others. Left-hander Alvin Cantu was on the mound, earning his 14th win in 16 outings. Against Arlington Heights, Cantu allowed only three hits, walked two and struck out 12.

Lamesa jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first inning. Arlington Heights got its lone run in the third inning on a triple by Mason Carter. After that, however, Arlington Heights only got two runners on base, but neither advanced past first.

Clinton unveils stronger trading links plans

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The Clinton administration today unveiled a proposal for stronger trading links between the United States and Europe. "It will make us an even more powerful engine of the global economy," Secretary of State Warren Christopher said.

The goal is a trans-Atlantic trade zone bridging the United States and Europe in a prosperous economic alliance of 770 million people and more than half the world's wealth. Trade restrictions would be eased with the hope of providing more jobs and investment opportunities on both sides of the ocean.

In what was billed as a major foreign policy speech, Christopher outlined a partnership designed to align the 15 European Union countries with the United States, Canada and Mexico.

"The United States and Europe have shared a common destiny," he said. "But we must not take this relationship for granted. It cannot be sustained by nostalgia."

A trans-Atlantic free trade pact could alleviate the impact of restrictive trade practices of Japan and other Asian countries but also raise concerns in that part of the world that an economic bloc against them was in prospect.

Administration officials denied the proposal was aimed at any region. "Our goal is to promote global trade liberalization everywhere," the official said.

And in Tokyo, U.S. Ambassador Walter Mondale today proposed two rounds of talks in mid-June aimed at settling the ongoing dispute over access to Japan's auto market.

Christopher presented his proposal as part of the administration's campaign against an isolation promoted by some conservative political sectors.

"The United States and Europe must remain engaged in the world, on our own and as partners," he said. "Our nations have a unique capacity to provide global leadership. We must resist the siren songs of isolation and withdrawal."

The proposal immediately raised questions of differing standards on surgical and pharmaceutical products. The United States traditionally has imposed high standards and prohibited entry of various European-made products.

A senior U.S. official said there would be a "harmonizing of standards" for consumer and environmental safety. "We want an adequate level of safety," he said, in a briefing for reporters under rules that shielded his identity.

Christopher delivered the speech at Madrid's Casa de America, a cultural center devoted to celebrating the cultural accomplishments of North America and Latin America. U.S. officials disclosed the theme in advance.

A trans-Atlantic trade zone could be a channel to emerging markets in Eastern and Central Europe, the Middle East and to Latin America, as well. It is designed also to buttress the growing political and military ties between the West and East.

"For our partnership to survive it must be comprehensive," Christopher said. "That means taking specific steps in the economic and political arenas that will complement and reinforce our security relationship."

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization quickly is being transformed into a political body. Russia opposes its expansion eastward, but this week aligned itself partly with NATO through the Partnership for Peace program.

Asia may be inclined to view the new trading alliance as a threat, promoting more trans-Atlantic business at the expense of Asia. For American firms there would be new opportunities in Europe. Christopher long has called the Clinton administration the most friendly in recent times to American corporations.

The next step in translating the idea into reality could be taken when Jacques Santer, the president of the European Commission, holds talks with President Clinton in Washington July 14. This will be followed by the annual G-7 economic summit meeting.

Kmart to close 72 more stores

DETROIT (AP) — Kmart Corp.'s decision to close 72 underperforming stores — the third wave of massive closures since last year — should combine with other improvements to help boost the troubled retailer earnings, analysts say.

The list of stores to be closed includes 13 in Texas. They are located at Bay City, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Euless, Fort Worth, Houston, Lake Jackson, Lewisville, Spring, Stafford, Texarkana and Webster.

"I expect stronger earnings gains in the second half of the year," said Ron Petrie of Roney & Co. "Their sales performance has been pretty good this spring."

Kmart reported same-store sales through May up 5 percent this year over last.

The retail chain's sales and profits have lagged in recent years partly because its aging stores have been unable to compete with its rivals' newer branches. Kmart also has had major inventory problems.

Kmart reported a $28 million loss in this year's first quarter, its ninth consecutive quarter of lackluster earnings amid tough competition from Wal-Mart Stores Inc., the Target chain of Dayton-Hudson Corp. and others.

Under pressure from stockholders, the board ousted chief executive and President Joseph Antonini in March. It has yet to name a successor.

The cutbacks announced Thursday follow the closing of 110 stores late last year and early this year as part of a major corporate overhaul. Kmart also relocated, consolidated or closed 120 stores earlier in 1994.

Those changes, along with cuts at the company's suburban Detroit headquarters, eliminated about 7,100 jobs.

Kmart said the new closures will begin in late August and be completed by January. Most of the stores are in small and medium-size towns. The cutbacks will cost 5,800 jobs, the company said Thursday.

The cost of the latest closures was accounted for in a $1.35 billion charge recorded in the fourth quarter of 1993 as part of a restructuring program.

Donald Keeble, vice president of store operations, said the stores have not met performance standards set as part of the restructuring. The stores are in 23 states, with the most in California and Texas.

"As we continue to strengthen Kmart's core business, we will insist that our stores fully meet these investment standards," he said.

Spokeswoman Mary Lorencz said no more mass closure announcements are expected this year. "Could another store or two close? Yes, because we're always assessing our stores."

Kmart said hourly workers affected in the new closings will receive lump payments of $100 to $1,000, based on years of service, midair" near Mrkonjic Grad, about 25 miles south of the Bosnian stronghold of Banja Luka.

NATO planes patrol Bosnia skies in connection with Allied attempts to end fighting that began in April 1992.

The last time a NATO plane was downed was April 16, 1994, when a British Sea Harrier was shot down over Bosnia. The plane was downed near Goradze while attempting an airstrike on Bosnian Serb positions. The pilot was rescued by Bosnian government soldiers.

A U.N. source in Bosnia said the American plane had been shot down at 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EDT) by Bosnian Serbs. The plane was based at Aviano air base in northeast Italy.

"The shooting down was clearly a provocative act," Muhamed Sacirbey, the Bosnian foreign minister at U.N. headquarters in New York, told CNN. It came at a time the Red Cross said 377 U.N. personnel held hostage by Bosnian Serb forces were about to be freed.

"It seems like things are only escalating. We are certainly praying for the safety of this pilot," Sacirbey said.

The U.N. source in Bosnia, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the plane went down over Banja Luka, a heavily contested battle zone about 90 miles northwest of Sarajevo. NATO refused to say where the plane was shot down.

Capt. Jim Mitchell, a NATO spokesman in Naples, Italy, refused to release any other information immediately, citing the "sensitive" nature of the event. White House officials said President Clinton had been briefed on the incident.

The incident occurred as NATO officials reported that a missile had been fired at a Dutch plane on Wednesday and a French plane on Thursday. Both missed.

The Clay family has not spoken publicly about the case, and have not retained an attorney. The case is Holly Jones versus the school district, with Miss Clay, her parents, and the class salutatorian Ellen Strayhorn named as nominal defendants.

Last Friday, Judge Dulaney signed a restraining order preventing SISD from designating the top student with the Texas Education Agency. He set a hearing on the case for today. The hearing was called off with the notice of removal to the U.S. District Court in Lubbock.

Dulaney said this morning that cases can be removed to federal court if a federal constitutional matter is involved.

"It's automatic. I don't have any discretion in the matter," the judge said.

In the notice of removal, SISD attorney Kelli Karczewski, with Schwartz & Eichelbaum in Austin, alleges that Miss Clay is being deprived of her civil rights — specifically of a property interest, the scholarship which comes with the number-one ranking.

Dear Abby

'Ugly Accusations' of Being Gay Reveal Uglier Prejudice

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1995 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I saw the letter in your column from a man who complained that he was being hurt by the rumor that he was gay because he was sharing an apartment with another man instead of a woman. I was shocked by your reaction. You labeled the rumor an "ugly accusation." If someone thought this man was Jewish, Catholic or African American — would you call that an "ugly accusation"?

As a gay man, I strongly object to your response, which implied that being gay (or thought to be gay) is ugly. Remarks such as yours serve to fuel the prejudice against us.

Perhaps your comment should have been, "Just tell people that your sexual orientation, like anything else about you that you choose not to discuss, is none of their business." Abby, you are too widely read to permit yourself to thoughtlessly feed homophobia.

It is prejudice that is ugly — not being gay. I believe you owe all of us an apology.

GAY, PROUD AND OUTRAGED

DEAR GAY, PROUD AND OUTRAGED: Anyone who has read my column for any length of time knows that not only am I not homophobic, but for decades I have spoken out to promote understanding and acceptance of gays and lesbians. You have my profound apology. I completely agree with your statement that what is ugly is prejudice — not one's sexual orientation.

You are only one of many who wrote to say they were disturbed by my response. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Your response to "Joe From Little Rock" reflected a common but unfortunate attitude. People inferred that Joe was gay because he was single and had male friends over to visit. You referred to these inferences as "allegations" and "ugly accusations" — as if being gay were something to be ashamed of, like molesting children or robbing banks.

Abby, perhaps the "accusers" view gay people this way, but you appear to have given your approval to their prejudice. Please set the record straight. The appropriate response to the "accusation" of being gay is, "And ...?" Optional follow-ups for the ensuing silence include, "No, I am not gay, but would it make a difference to you if I were?" or, "Yes, I am gay; does it matter?".

DAVE AND BOB IN PORTLAND

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in response to the letter in your column from "Joe From Little Rock," who was disturbed that his gossipy neighbors thought he was gay because he shared an apartment with another man. He called the rumors "ugly" and "vicious."

Abby, I understand that being misunderstood can be annoying, but being gay is not a bad thing — so if people were to think that I am gay, I would not feel they were being vicious or ugly. I would just think that they were wrong.

Please do not add to the prejudice against homosexuals by considering it an insult to be called gay.

My twin sister is gay, and she is 100 percent wonderful.

ALEXANDRA IN LOS ANGELES

DEAR ABBY: I found the letter from the bachelor in Little Rock both mystifying and troubling. He said people assume he's gay if he has a male roommate or male friends visit him.

It's mystifying because I'm a gay man who had a straight male roommate, and male friends over, all through my 20s — and I was presumed to be straight. I know this because of the surprise that was expressed when I came out. In his case, I wonder who the "people" are, and how he knows what they assume.

I find it troubling because of his assumption that being called gay is "ugly" and "vicious." There is nothing ugly about being gay.

YARDS OF THE MONTH — These two homes have been designated "Yards of the Month" for May by Snyder's Beautification Committee. The first yard is the home of Doug and Charlesta Scott, located at 2612 48th St. Pictured with the Scotts are Maribeth Vestal and La Verne Hood. The second yard is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watlington, located at 5603 Cedar Creek Drive. Hood and Vestal are shown just after they erected the sign. Both women are Garden Club representatives. Vestal is also a member of the Beautification Committee. Two yards from the area north of 37th St. and east of College Avenue will be recognized in June. Mary Ann Key and Glenda Jackson will coordinate this month's selection. Garden Club members remind residents who will be thining out their flower beds that the beautification project always needs plants. (SDN Staff Photos)

National Rifle Association needs cash to avoid shortfalls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Rifle Association, which claimed that a letter that prompted former President Bush's resignation was a fund-raising success, is saying something different in a new appeal for cash.

"This is the most devastating news I've heard since I became NRA's executive vice president," begins the letter from Wayne LaPierre, which also refers to a copy of the NRA's first-quarter financial statement for its Special Project Fund.

The undated letter was mailed to the NRA's 3.5 million members in late May, along with a separate appeal for money to help retire the $35 million construction cost for the group's new headquarters in a Virginia suburb of Washington.

Copies of the two letters were obtained Thursday by The Associated Press.

Referring to the report, LaPierre urged recipients to "understand the numbers. And realize that immediate action is necessary to resolve this crisis."

"As you can see, NRA needs to put $812,000 in the bank within 30 days," LaPierre continued. "Unless we can raise this money ... I will be forced to make huge cutbacks in every single NRA special project — our clout-building, membership recruitment projects, our media campaigns, our petition Congress drives — no program will escape the budget ax."

LaPierre could not be reached for comment, but Tanya Metaksa, the group's chief lobbyist, said LaPierre's message did not contradict his earlier claims about the NRA's robust financial picture.

"We have a lot of programs that are not necessarily funded by our dues," Metaksa insisted. "This (letter) doesn't mean the NRA is about to fall off the cliff into the abyss of bankruptcy."

Students receiving most improved awards for the 1994-1995 school year include Jeremy Bowden, Betty Guerrero, Jennifer Campbell, Matthew Grimmet, Edwin James, Randy Romero, Beth Witte, Oscar Estrada, Brandon Garvin, Cecelie Slaughter and Andy Garvin.

Others include Dakota Whiteley, Tremaine Johnson, Nick Hand, Stephanie Ervin, Cale Lancaster, Robert Early, Robert Essery, Pace Milhollon, Derek Rushing, Norris Williams, Brandon Morris, Jimmy Wells, Martin Villareal and Christina Gutierrez.

Leslye Starnes received a citizenship award for the entire school year.

Seniors won't flood SS office with cards for 60th birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — To Social Security officials, it seemed like a simple idea: Ask grateful Americans to flood the agency's mailbox with birthday cards on the 60th anniversary of the national retirement system.

But it backfired when seniors' groups learned that they were supposed to buy 600,000 postcards, lick the stamps and round up people from across the country who would write heartfelt notes of thanks for Social Security's employees and the benefits they dole out.

Advocates for the elderly groused that they have better things to do than help Social Security congratulate itself.

"Saving Medicare and Medicaid from huge cuts in the budget, that's top priority. We're going to concentrate all our energy on saving those two programs," said Joe Ervin, senior policy analyst at the National Council of Senior Citizens.

"We thought they should take this (anniversary) as an opportunity to draw support for the program, not to congratulate themselves, which is what we felt they were doing," he said.

Social Security celebrates its 60th anniversary on Aug. 14, and the postcards were to be a big part of the birthday bash, according to documents outlining the agency's proposed plans.

Also on tap, the papers show, are radio spots, a salute to the agency in the Congressional Record, a presidential proclamation, a "historical page on the Internet" and an appearance by Social Security Commissioner Shirley Chater on network television.

Plans for generating 600,000 postcards, however, fizzled fast after several advocates for older Americans denounced the idea at a May 24 meeting with agency officials, who had sought their help in producing, distributing and collecting the anniversary cards.

Joan Wainwright, Social Security's associate commissioner for communications, said the postcards were meant to give Americans the chance to tell what Social Security has meant to them.

"It would have been a way to hear from our customers, about what works and doesn't work," she said. The cards would have been displayed at the agency's suburban Baltimore headquarters and compiled in a report.

Richard Thau, executive director of Third Millennium, an advocacy group representing people in their 20s and 30s, said the focus on the past misses the point.

Instead, he said, "these advocates for the system could more valuably expend their energies on ensuring it will exist for another 60 years." Third Millennium released a poll last year that showed young people have more faith in flying saucers than Social Security.

Dr. Gott by Peter Gott, M.D.

Is sleep time always dream time?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What makes some people dream often and others rarely?

DEAR READER: All of us dream night after night. However, we rarely remember our dreams, unless they were particularly vivid or frightening. Some people seem to recall their dreams in astonishing detail; such individuals may mistakenly believe that they dream more often, when, in fact, they don't.

Thus, the differences you allude to are more likely a function of recollection than of dreaming per se.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please explain the procedure plasmapheresis. How successful has it been and are there any side effects?

DEAR READER: Plasmapheresis is a technique of removing blood from a patient, separating out the liquid (plasma) and re-transfusing the blood cells back into the donor. The purpose is to remove harmful constituents, such as abnormal proteins, from the blood. Plasmapheresis is often used in treating certain diseases, such as myasthenia gravis and thrombotic thrombocytopenic purpura (a clotting disorder).

The plasma exchange is extremely successful therapy for several disorders and is entirely safe, although it must be carried out on a regular basis, usually by hematologists.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I suffer from osteoarthritis of my fingers and knees. Several people have suggested that removal of night-shade vegetables (white potatoes, eggplant, red and green peppers and tomatoes in any form) from my diet will alleviate or eliminate pain. Is there any validity to this claim? My own doctor suggested letting my body tell me what to do and, failing that, to schedule another appointment.

DEAR READER: Osteoarthritis is the gradual, age-related wearing-down of the joint surfaces, leading to stiffness, pain and swelling. There is no food or dietary alteration that will improve osteoarthritis a whit, because the condition is not related to a deficiency or an imbalance.

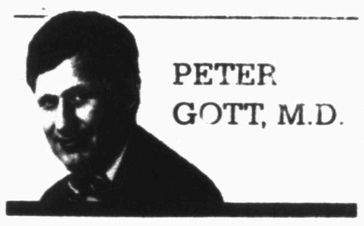

In treating your arthritis, start with acetaminophen or enteric-coated aspirin. If these products are ineffective, progress to ibuprofen (Motrin and others). If you're still uncomfortable, your doctor will have to consider one of the many prescription anti-arthritics (Lodine, Voltaren, Feldene, and others).

I agree that you should listen to what your body tells you. (Indeed, we all should pay attention to our "internal signals.") But I don't see why you need another appointment. Your doctor should be able to telephone in your prescription, without seeing you (and generating another office charge).

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Understanding Osteoarthritis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

BERENICE---DAUGHTER OF KING HEROD!

THE ELDEST DAUGHTER OF HEROD AGRIPPA SEEMS TO HAVE DONE HER PART IN KEEPING ALIVE THE TRADITION OF VILLAINY FOR WHICH THE HEROD LINE WAS FAMOUS OR INFAMOUS! SHE WAS FIRST MARRIED TO MARCUS, SON OF ALEXANDRA THE HEAD MAGISTRATE OF THE JEWS IN ALEXANDRIA. AFTER AN EARLY DEATH OF POOR MARCUS SHE THEN HURRIEDLY MARRIED HER FATHER'S OWN BROTHER, HEROD CHALCIS, WHO SOON AFTERWARDS, ALSO DIED! THENCE, SHE WENT TO LIVE WITH HER BROTHER AGRIPPA AND THE SCANDAL THAT AROSE FROM THIS RELATIONSHIP EVEN THE HIGH-BORN BERENICE COULD NOT OVERCOME! SHE THEN TRIED TO ALLAY IT BY YET ANOTHER MARRIAGE, TO POLEMO, KING OF CILICICIA. BUT SHE SOON BECAME TIRED OF HIM AND, DESERTING HIM, RETURNED TO HER BROTHER AGRIPPA. HER CLAIM TO RECOGNITION IN THE BIBLE, CAME WHEN AGRIPPA HEARD ST. PAUL'S DEFENSE (ACTS 25:23:26) WITH BERENICE AT HIS SIDE. SHE WOUND UP HER CAREER, FIRST BECOMING THE MISTRESS OF VESPASIAN, AND THEN HIS SON TITUS--WHO, WHEN HE BECAME ROMAN EMPEROR, DISCARDED HER!
