TWO STATES TAKE STEPS TO CURB INSANITY AS DEFENSE

Mississippi Legislature Passes Bill Barring Insanity As Murder Excuse, Iowa Court Rules

JACKSON, Miss., April 3. (AP)—A bill barring insanity as a defense to indictments for murder was signed today by Governor Theo G Bilboa and immediately went into effect. Proof of insanity, however, may be offered in mitigation of the crime.

Under the new law, the trial would proceed even though insanity were offered as a defense and if the defendant were found guilty and insane he would be confined in an insane asylum hospital. If later declared sane he would be required to complete his sentence.

The old law provided that if the defendant were found insane he would be confined in an asylum and later declared sane he would be given his freedom.

IOWA COURT BARS TEMPORARY INSANITY

DES MOINES, Ia., April 3.—(INS)—Temporary insanity no longer may be set up in Iowa courts as a defense for murder, according to a decision by the state supreme court today which affirmed the conviction of Mrs. Bertha M. Buck, 50, of Davenport, charged with killing her husband, John W. Buck, by throwing burning gasoline on him.

In the decision the court ruled that the accused must be able to prove that insanity had existed prior to the crime and continued to exist thereafter.

The paper does not specify where the reports came from nor by whom they were received and the heading of the story calls them "unauthenticated."

Tribute to Willis Seen In G. O. P. Choice

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 3. (U. P.)—Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio was unanimously selected today as temporary chairman of the Republican national convention in June.

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, who made the announcement, said that Fess was selected as the convention keynoter over a large field of candidates. The committee has been here the past two days completing arrangements for the convention.

Other candidates whose names had been considered by the committee were Senators George H. Moses, New Hampshire; Charles S. Deneen, Illinois; Frederick Gillette, Massachusetts; Arthur Capper, Kansas; Representative J. C. Tilson, Conn., and Former Senator Irvine Lenroot, Wisconsin.

Selection of Senator Fess as keynoter of the Kansas City convention was regarded as a tribute to the late Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio, who died suddenly last week.

Senator Fess has been a leader in Republican politics in his state for 20 years, serving as representative from 1913 to 1923, when he was elected to the United States senate.

The national republican committee adjourned late today and probably will not meet again until about June 1 for hearings on contests.

HOLLEY FREED ON CHARGE OF IMPERSONATION

Not Guilty Verdict In Vernon Road "Court" Escapade

CLAIMS ASSISTANCE

Rescue of Woman Mistreated Acknowledged By Holley

VERNON, April 4.—C. E. Holley, charged in 46th district court here with robbery and impersonation of an officer was found not guilty by a jury late Tuesday night after less than 30 minutes deliberation.

Judge Robert Cole of the 46th district court charged the jury when court was resumed at 7:30 tonight for night session, and attorneys' arguments were opened.

Defends Self.

Holley, who is alleged to have preyed on couples in parked automobiles on a highway near Vernon, took the stand in his own defense here this afternoon. He testified that the land where the depredations are alleged to have taken place is knows as "Lovers' Lane" and that he once interfered during the mistreatment of a young woman there. He declared that he often was on the road at night after his cows.

He testified that bootleggers frequented the road, and that a gun was drawn on him by liquor venders one night. This accounted for the fact that he was crawling across a field when arrested, he testified, stating that he was afraid the car in the road was occupied by bootleggers, and he did not want them to see him.

Arrested in February.

The operations of the man who is alleged to have preyed on couples, taking money for fines after displaying a gun and badge, continued from early in November. The defendant was arrested in February, according to testimony offered.

Roy Hardin, Allen Newberry, and Tyrus Stroud took the stand for the state and testfied of incidents in which they gave money to a man on the road. Names of their companions were not revealed, the state objecting to such testimony.

Officers Testify.

Sheriff W. Frank Edmonson, and Deputies Boyd McClendon, Jess Leverett and R. W. Walker also testified for the state. They told of making the arrest after waiting on the highway near Vernon.

Holley was arrested here February 6 and his bond was placed at $20,000 in Justice W. D. Hollars' court. He has been held in jail since his arrest.

"No Wonder!" Says Dan Moody When He Hears Col. Estes' Report

AUSTIN, April 3. (AP)—Col. Carl L. Estes' own story of his verbal encounter wth Secretary Work at Washington moved Gov. Dan Moody late Tuesday to say that "I cannot wonder that Estes resented this treatment or that Mr. Work felt the necessity of an explanation."

The statement was in a letter of thanks to Senators Caraway of Arkansas and Mayfield of Texas for upholding Estes, a member of the governor's staff, when the dispute got to the United States senate floor.

The letters were written after Estes, of Tyler, conferred with the governor and told his story. Estes said that Secretary Work called him a "liar and a jackass" when he (Estes) questioned the sufficiency of the interior department's adverse report on a proposed national park for Arkansas. One of Estes' missions at Washington was to appear before the public lands committee in behalf of the bill to creat Ouachita National park.

Harry Sinclair, Scheduled To Go On Trial Again Today On Fraud

WASHINGTON, April 3. (US)—In a setting by now somewhat familiar to him, Harry F. Sinclair, man of oil, money and race horses, will go on trial here tomorrow for conspiracy to defraud the nation of its naval oil lands—unless frantic last minute efforts are successful.

Owen J. Roberts, government prosecutor, will go into court in the morning to demand "with all of the persuasion at my command" that the trial go forward as scheduled.

Justice Jennings Bailey already has indicated that he thinks the defense has had sufficient delays.

It is understood that the jurist, son of the late Senator Bailey of Tennessee, will direct that the jury, when selected, be locked up to guard against a recurrence of the unfortunate breakdown of the first Fall-Sinclair trial which ended when the Washington Herald, a Hearst newspaper, exposed that the defendant's "peers" were being shadowed by detectives hired by the oil baron.

While court and counsel for both sides were preparing for a long tug-of-war, the senate investigation which brought this most famous criminal lawsuit into being heard amazing new testimony today.

AKIN DEFEATS SHEPHERD FOR MAYOR'S POST

Margin of 67 Votes Is Deciding Factor In Mayor Race

MANAGER MAY WIN

600 Uncounted Votes In Bashara Box May Swing Contest

J. W. Akin defeated R. E. Shepherd, "singing mayor," by a margin of 67 votes in their race for the post of chief executive of the city Tuesday, and outcome of the amendments inaugurating the city manager form ofgovernment was left in doubt when tabulation of returns on the charter amendments was suspended after midnight.

Approximately 600 voters in the Bashara Garage box, yet uncounted, may swing Wichita Falls to a city manager form of government, with indications from the early count that this may be the result.

J. W. Hunt, street commissioner was re-elected over E. L. Whitelaw by a good majority, and J. H. Patton defeated W. L. Dalton for public utilities commissioner.

The total vote for the various office follows:

MAYOR

J. W. Akin	1782
R. E. Shepherd	1715
Majority	67

UTILITIES COMM'R

J. H. Patton	2123
W. L. Dalton	1338
Majority	785

STREET COMMISSIONER

J. W. Hunt	1944
E. S. Whitelaw	1545
Majority	399

The last six amendments on the ballots, providing for changes in the tax rate fo rvarious departments and for a park board, were overwhelmingly defeated, majorities ranging more than three to one on most of the amendments.

Manager Seems Assured

With the vote in the Bashara garage box running well in favor of the city manager plan of government, and approximately 600 votes yet be tabulated, it seemed possible that the city manager plan carried, contrary to first expectation when early returns from other boxes indicated the defeat of all amendments. Voters at the Bashara garage box, which gave Mayor R. E. Shepherd a majority of 90 votes, also gave the city manager amendments a majority approximately 5 to 3, early returns indicated. If the same rate is held in votes to be tabulated, the manager plan, including the first amendment for reduction of officers' salaries, will be carried by a fair majority.

When counting was suspended at the Bashara box, the first amendment, providing for reduction of commissioners' and the mayor's salaries to nominal figures, lacked only 32 votes of a majority of the entire city. The other five city manager amendments lacked from 37 to 74 votes for a majority. The second amendment, making the installation of a city manager mandatory, lacked only 37 votes of a majority.

Voting during the day held a fairly steady pace, although it was hardly believed that the total number of ballots cast would climb above the 3500 mark. As time for the closing at 7 o'clock neared, however, lines began to form, and at a number of boxes election workers were almost swamped by the last minute rush.

Mayor's Defeat "Upset"

Defeat of Mayor Shepherd, popular figure in civic and social life and known as the "singing mayor," of Wichita Falls, came as a distinct upset to those who lay claims to political wisdom. The pre-election campaign, however, proved one of the most uneventful in the

Didn't Fit

Two Smith Factions Tie Up Delegates

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 3. (AP) Scattering returns from 88 precincts out of 2746 from the primary election showed a close contest between the two factions in the republican party for control of the state's delegation to the national convention at Kansas City.

Kreutzer, republicans, were running a close race with Senators La Follette and Blaine, heading the opposing progressive slate, for the four seats in the convention as delegates at large. School-College Notes

"The wisdom of the wise and the experience of ages may be preserved by quotation."—Disraeli.

"A Trip Across South America" was the theme of an address by C. B. Manning, traveller, lecturer, and writer, before the Junior college-high school assembly Tuesday morning.

Mr. Manning displayed a shark tooth, a whale skin, a whale tooth, the carrying strap used by the Chileans, two small instruments, a spindle and a deer bone, with which the women of Chile weave the llama wool into cloth, Columbian butterflies, monkey pelts, two snake skins, one six feet long and the other over 25 feet long, and a sloth skin.

Taking Cliftene Butler and Mark Walker up on the stage, Mr. Manning illustrated the dress of the South Americans. The part of the lecture that received the most response from the audience was the exhibition of two live members of the monkey family. One was very tame and disjointed, the other a regular vest pocket edition as the grown animal measured only about six inches in length.

Throughout the lecture Mr. Manning drew comparisons between life in South America and here, showing the reverence with which the South Americans consider questions of religion as compared with the people of North America.

Rain is needed in the district around Electra.

This is the word being brought by farmers to G. C. McGown, county agricultural agent.

The first cotton of the season is showing its head above the ground about 10 miles south of Electra. Early cotton already has been planted in a number of other places. The corn is up to a stand. Much land is plowed. The farmers in that district are hopeful that rain will come to their aid quickly.

GASOLINE UP ONE CENT HERE

Major Concerns Make Higher Rate

Sales departments of major refiners located in Wichita Falls announced Tuesday a one-cent increase in the retail price of gasoline. The hike in price is general over the state.

Magnolia Petroleum company, The Texas company and Gulf Refining company were among the concerns announcing the increase which will go into effect Wednesday morning. It was thought Tuesday night that all filling stations would join in the increase.

Most stations here were selling gasoline Tuesday at 18 cents per gallon.

Wichita May Have Manager

history of Wichita Falls, with candidates making no speeches and issuing few statements, except in making the formal announcements of their candidacies.

The large number of votes cast near the time for closing the election boxes delayed judges in making their final tabulations and counts, especially in the Bashara garage box, where the counting of amendments was halted at midnight. Candidates' votes in this box, where the number of late voters was especially large, were not tabulated and completed until more than three hours after the closing of the polls.

Akin For Manager

Judge Akin is well known in legal and civic circles of the town, and is a member of the law firm of Kay, Akin and Smedley. He entered the city race soon after Mayor Shepherd's announcement for re-election, and after the city manager question had been brought up as an issue of the campaign. Judge Akin endorsed the manager plan, and promised his whole-hearted support to the manager program in case it was ordered adopted by the voters in the election.

"CONGRATULATIONS"

Defeated candidates, took ther rejection at the polls with good grace, and commended their opponents to a successful administration in statements given The Record News.

W. L. Dalton, defeated for public utilities commission, said: "I want to thank my friends for the support they have given me. Mr. Patton is a good man.

E. S. Whitelaw, defeated for street commissioner:

"I haven't anything to say, except that I thank my friends for their support."

R. E. Shepherd, defeated for mayor:

"The results of the election surprised me, but I am satisfied with the peoples' choice. I shall continue to live and work in Wichita Falls and will give Judge Akin my support in all his efforts to benefit the city. I am for Wichita Falls first, last and always, whether in office or out.

"I have no ill will toward anyone, and I want to thank those who worked with me for their wonderful co-operation.

"Judge Akin is a high class citizen and a gentleman. He will serve the city well."

BABE'S DEATH UNDER PROBE

Brutal Crime Suspected In Gruesome Find

The sheriff and the district attorney's office are at work attempting to solve the mystery of what was described as one of the "most brutal crimes" ever committed in Wichita Falls Tuesday, following the finding of the body of a new born babe near the water of Holliday creek at the Weeks Park Golf course.

Some flaming bright undergarments, a sheet and other bedding were at the water's edge and on them rested the body of the new born infant.

Park attendants discovered the baby's body about 11 o'clock Tuesday, and immediately called the coroner. R. V. Gwinn, justice of the peace, returned a verdict of "death due to causes unknown."

Exposure or other causes resulted in the death, he said, and not drowning.

Attempts had been made to remove all identification marks from the articles at the creekside deathbed, and a difficult problem faced the officers.

The body of the child is at Hines Mortuary.

This is the second time recently that a case of apparent infanticide has come to the attention of officers.

About two weeks ago, men noticed papers stuffed in a post hole at the Panhandle tank farm. They pulled out the papers and found the body of a young baby. The prepetrators of this crime have never been found.

Death Claims J.W. Henderson

J. W. Henderson, 68, a pioneer resident of Wichita Falls, died Tuesday night at 10:45 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Myrtie Fischer, 2306 Tenth street.

Mr. Henderson, who was born in Richmond, Ark., came to Texas with his grandfather when six years of age, settling in Bosque county. He has lived in Wichita county since 1894, interested in farming and associated with A. L. Lane, Sr., in the grocery business here.

He was a member of the First Christian church.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lucile Allbright of Brownwood, and Mrs. Fischer, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from Mrs. Fischner's residence Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, with Dr. Floyd Allan Bash, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating.

Variety of Liquors Taken in Raid Here

Specializing in different kinds of liquors is the latest in Wichita Falls, according to Wichita Falls officers.

Tuesday night, Officers G. W. Wright, Fred Fountain and Matt McKelvie arrested two men at one house in a residence district and announced that federal charges of possession will be filed Wednesday. One man will be charged with possession of beer and one of whiskey.

The raid netted 23½ gallons of whiskey, 34 bottles of ice cold beer, some beer kegs, 10 gallons of beer mash, and other equipment.

TRICK ROPER

Jail Floded With Corn By Expert With "Lariat"

OLNEY, Texas, April 3.—Olney lays claim to the champion trick rope artist of West Texas.

Following a recent raid in which several cases of liquor was obtained and stored in the city bastile, the officers picked up a "drunk" and locked him in a private cell to recuperate.

This certain individual after recovering from the first effects, tore up the blankets and fashioned a crude lariat rope and proceeded to "rope" the bottles around the neck one by one until he had enough spirits to satisfy himself, and adjoining neighbors. When the officers returned a few hours later they found all four occupants in the cells completely passed out and in much worse condition than when first confined.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, April 3.—Mrs. Roberta Reed Reynolds, 21, Vernon bride of a week, died at a Vernon hospital Tuesday morning. Mrs. Reynolds, until a week ago a resident of Thrift, is well known in Burkburnett. Her death is believed by physicians to have been the direct result of an attack of influenza from which she was thought to have recovered about a month prior to her death.

She is survived by her husband, W. N. Reynolds of Vernon, her parents, one sister and two brothers.

Funeral services will be held from the Thrift Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. Swim, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Burkburnett cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were married a week ago at the Thrift church where her funeral services will be held.

ConstableRaids Dive Patronized by Youths

A tip that boys and girls were frequenting a road house where they could buy beer and wine led Constable Frank Morgan and Deputies E. S. Richardson and John Saye to raid the place southeast of the city limits late Tuesday afternoon.

No arrests were made, but complete equipment for a wholesale and retail beer garden, wine shop and roadhouse were confiscated. Great numbers of bottles, 500 full bottles of beer, five gallons of wine, a number of jugs, several barrels of mash, big crocks for mash, bottle cappers and other material was found.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Cowboy Lassos Outlaw Lioness While Dentist Does Yanking

HOUSTON, April 3. (AP)—Queen, known as an "outlaw" lioness, recently donated to Hermann Park zoo by a circus, was lassoed in her cage at the zoo here Tuesday and a tooth which had been ailing for a week was extracted. Hans Nagel, zoo keeper, and Tom Baylor, assistant keeper, and a former cowboy were the dentists.

Baylor entered the cage after helpers outside had attracted the attention of the animal. She heard him, snarled, whirled and crouched. Baylor made a good throw and the loop settled over the beast's head. Helpers outside the cage drew the rope taut while Queen roared and attempted to reach Baylor. Nagel entered the cage, shoved Queen's tail under the bars, where a helper seized it. Held against the bars, her feet were bound and her mouth was pried open with a shovel handle. Baylor reached in her mouth with a pair of mechanic's pliers, secured a hold on the ailing tooth, gave a pull and extracted it. The beast's mouth was antiseptically treated.

Cinema of Edith Cavell's Execution Privately Shown By New York Club

By CEDRIC WORTH
Universal Service

NEW YORK, April 3.—"Dawn," the British film depicting the life and execution of Nurse Edith Cavell has been privately shown at least twice in New York, it was learned today. A small group witnessed it tonight in a small projection of the Paramount theater. Newspaper men have been barred from all showings.

The exhibition tonight and one Sunday were for some of the officers and a few guests of the Federation of Women's Clubs. Arch Selwyn, who brought the disputed film from Britain, where it was barred from showing at first, said yesterday that it may be shown publicly here for the benefit of the woman's clubs. He added:

No Profits.

"I do not believe there is a dime to be made with the picture. No big distributing house will take it, I am sure, and the only way it can be shown in this country will be as a benefit. It is a great piece of propaganda against war, that is all it is."

Miss Elizabeth Perkins, Miss Anne Morgan, Miss Elizabeth Marbury, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and other club leaders who have seen the picture were said by Miss Perkins to have been enthusiastic about it as a means of stirring up sentiment against war. She said:

"I cannot see how the Germans or anyone else can object to its showing. It is a beautiful picture, and a great argument for peace which we all want. Members of the American Legion and others who have seen it have declared themselves in favor of showing it.

Hatred Not Revived.

The picture in no way revives the old hatred of the Germans which was everywhere in the country during the war. It is hatred of war which it evokes, with no particular onus on the Germans or any other people."

Asked whether women's clubs intended to sponsor showing the picture: Miss Perkins said:

"We have made no plans. We are seeing the picture again, some of us, and I must repeat that all who have seen it have said that there is no reason for not showing it."

Mr. Selwyn said that the state board of censors have seen the picture and have not yet rendered a decision as to whether they will permit it to be shown here.

MARRIAGE BUSINESS DULL.

This is leap year and the ladies aren't doing their stuff.

That is the comment of Justice of the Peace O. L. Gibbs on the present status of the marriage market.

"If this was to go on the market page of a newspaper, I would say that business is slow with few transactions being made," Judge Gibbs said. "The cost remains the same, but many right now seem to be holding off in view of what the future may hold.

"The actual number who are dealing in futures and planking down their cash for licenses that are being used in my court are few and far between. This is leap year, and it seems as though the women might exert a bullish influence if they wished."

SENATE MAY SAVE MINERS

Intervention Only Hope, Union Declares

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 2. (U. P.)—Possibility of intervention of the senate investigation committee in an effort to bring about settlement of the Ohio coal strike is the only hope for the year-old wage fight, union officials believe.

Already six attempts to settle the dispute have failed and the 40,000 idle men with 800 mines closed have caused an acute problem which is becoming serious, especially in the southeastern Ohio district.

The owners, who declared they were unable to pay the Jacksonville wage scale asked by the union miners and wished to re-open their shafts with non-union labor, have found it necessary to ask federal aid in ousting the idle miners from the company-owned houses.

The families of more than 500 miners in the region will be ejected from their homes May 1, nearly 300 of which will be evicted April 15, under an order issued last December. The miners' petition for an extension of time was denied by Federal Judge Benson W. Hough.

Meanwhile, steps were being taken to provide housing for the evicted families.

Barracks to house approximately 600 miners and their families are under construction in Belmont, Jefferson and Harrison counties, and it is believed they will be completed in time to care for the homeless workers.

Texas To Be Doubtful State, Says Creager

KANSAS CITY, April 3. (AP)—Texas will be a doubtful state next November, R. B. Creager, Republican National committeeman, for the lone star state, said today, if the Republican nominate Herbert Hoover and the Democrats turn to Al Smith.

"Hoover's popularity in Texas grows," Col. Creagor said. "Thousands of dry Democrats will vote for him if Al Smith is nominated. There is no doubt the Republican state convention will send its 26 delegates instructed for Hoover, and with the unit rule in force."

Matrimony Now Luxury Instead Of Necessity, Declares Dorothy Dix

The Business Girl, Like the College Girl, Has Become "Choosy" About Men—Nowadays Matrimony Is a Luxury, Not a Necessity—And There Is by No Means The Scramble for Husbands That There Used to Be.

In a recent issue of Harper's Magazine, Dr. Katherine Bement Davis has a most interesting article in which she sums up the result of a questionnaire sent out by the Bureau of Social Hygiene to 1200 college women asking why they never married.

They gave all sorts of reasons for staying single. Many are scared off from matrimony by the failure that their parents had made of it, and the cat-and-dog lives their fathers and mothers led, while one woman had remained unwed because she was still searching for a man who was likely to make as perfect a husband as her father was. Other women had sacrificed their love dream to the necessity of supporting their families. A few preferred a career to husbands and babies.

One honest soul confessed the reason why she had not married was because she was selfish and was not willing to make the inevitable sacrifices that marriage demands. Parents broke off some marriages. A handful of women say that they were born old maids and the idea of marriage never appealed to them. Many were never married because they could not get the man they wanted, and the men they could get they would not have. Some loved hopelessly men who were already married.

Some attribute their not having married to the fact that they never had an opportunity to meet men, while others say frankly that they lacked what Mrs. Elinor Glyn calls "IT", and no man ever popped the question to them, while to a small minority a latch-key and freedom look better than a wedding ring.

About half of the women so questioned regret that they have not married, but the balance are content with their liberty and their jobs, for virtually all of them are following some gainful occupation.

This report is a most interesting human document, and it proves once more that Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's Lady are sisters under the skin, for if the question, "Why did you not marry?" were put to 1200 unmarried women who had never entered a college door, their reasons for remaining celibate would be precisely those given by the women who are college graduates.

It is true that the percentage of unmarried women among college graduates is far greater than among women who do not attend college, but this is to be accounted for chiefly on the ground that taking a college course puts off the mating season until a girl has had time to take a sober second thought, and count the cost of marriage.

It is only young fools who rush in where angels fear to tread. It is only when we are very young that we believe in fairies, and are filled with a boundless optimism that everything we want is bound to happen the way we want it to happen, and that nothing can pale the rose tints of our romantic dreams.

It is only when we are so young that we are utterly ignorant of life that we are convinced that love is enough, and that we can live on bread and cheese and kisses, and that nothing in the world matters but holding the beloved one in our arms.

It is only when we are very young that we have the egotism to believe that the laws of Nature are going to be reversed in our behalf and that we are endowed with a supernatural ability to work miracles. It is girls in their teens who marry men with no visible means of supporting a family, and who blithely undertake to reform drunkards and roues.

Get a girl past this age of indiscretion, and let her acquire a few grains of wisdom and a mite or so of logic, whether it is in a college or in the University of Hard Knocks, and she begins to look at marriage with a wary eye and cold feet.

She reflects long and deeply upon the home life in which she has been reared, and often the prospects of getting a husband who will treat as her father treated her mother doesn't look so good.

Having earned her own living, she knows how much it takes to run a house and she doesn't want to marry a man who cannot bring home the bacon. Nor, without being sordid, does she want to give up a $150 job for a $75 husband. Also, having worked with men, she knows their tricks and manners, and she has no faith in her own power as a man-tamer, or that she could teach a roving husband to stay put, and eat out of her hand.

In a word, the business girl becomes "choosey," as does the college woman. She doesn't jump at any man who comes her way and makes a little love to her. She wants a man who will come up to her ideal as well as fire her fancy, and if he doesn't happen along she is very well off as she is, thank you. Quite happy and contented and prosperous. Likewise, even as the college woman, she weighs the advantages and disadvantages of marriage and when she stays single it is because she doesn't find the prospect of the matrimonial fold alluring.

She sees that Mabel, who used to be the best dressed girl in the office, is still wearing the remnants of her trosseau and is so shabby that she dodges meeting all of her old friends. She sees that Jane, who was going to lead Tom up to the higher life, is fishing for him out of the gutter, and that Reginald, who was such an impassioned lover that he made every girl who witnessed his devotion to Peggy palpitate with envy, neglects her and addresses her as, "Say, you," and that poor Peg goes about looking like a hurt and frightened child. And she doesn't see anything in all of this to make her feel that she would better her lot by taking a husband.

Furthermore, the business girl even more than the college woman, even more than the society girl, has the tragic experience of meeting too often the man whom nature intended for her mate, but whom blundering fate has given to another. Many and many a woman will have "spinster" engraved on her tombstone because she gave all the love that she had to give to some man with whom she worked, who was not free to take the royal gift she gave. And many and many a business woman dies unwed because she was too noble to buy her happiness at the price of a sister woman's wrecked home.

In former times every woman was keen to marry because matrimony was the only respectable gainful occupation open to women. They had to marry to secure a home, a position in society, a means of support, and something interesting with which to fill their lives, but nowadays matrimony is a luxury and not a necessity, and there is by no means the scramble for husbands there used to be.

So that is why women don't marry, and if half of the old maids regret that they haven't husbands, that is as near as we ever come to being satisfied with any condition in life. And half of the women who have husbands wish that they didn't have them.

MODISH MITZI- Dresses For Quick Action By JAY V. JAY

The Goofer is going over Mitzi's manuscript. He's being tactful but critical. He'd just like to know how the heroine can go straight from tea in one paragraph to the middle of the ball room floor in the next. "Too quick action," he says, "why she'd have to dress for it at least."

"Not at all," replies Mitzi, "I've taken care of that." And in order to prove it, Mitzi shows a sketch of a dress that may lead a dual existence. It is of crepe Elizabeth, and worn with a short jacket is a most suitable afternoon dress. Remove the jacket and it reveals a sleeveless dance frock.

The Goofer is impressed. Do they really wear them like that and won't it save time in dressing! Well, to prove that this is a practical style, and not a whimsy, Mitzi shows him another dress with a long jacket. They are so smart that Mitzi is going to get one herself.

The plot is entirely changed. That's because Mitzi changed it whenever she saw a new style that fitted into the story. She hopes there will be a chance to talk about this new close fitting hat with its petal like sections. An author's life, thinks the Goofer, is a hard life—and maybe he wasn't made for it.

Once a School Teacher— Later a Famous Physician

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save enough money to put him through medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pennsylvania, and often rode horse-back through the woods to reach and relieve those who were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and easily recognized most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Finally, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known general tonic for building up strength, restoring impaired tissues and enriching the blood. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the United States. If your druggist does not sell it, in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Supreme Court Grants Habeas Corpus Writ

NEW YORK, April 3. (INS)—A writ of habeas corpus returnable forthwith, was granted this afternoon to Mrs. Esther Evans Wilson, by the Supreme Court Justice John Ford. Mrs. Wilson was expected to appear before him later to attempt to gain her freedom under lower bond than the $25,000 bail fixed this morning in West Side court.

The application for habeas corpus writ, made by State Senator Elmer Quinn, Mrs. Wilson's counsel, came as a complete surprise. It was but another unforseen move in an exciting day, which began when Dallet H. Wilson, wealthy lawyer, showed he would assist the state in prosecuting his wife on the charge of shooting him.

Always Tired; Appetite Gone?

No Need for You to Suffer, Here Is the Way to Health

The reason so many people think they are working too hard is because they find it difficult to work at all. They feel tired and worn out—their old time "pep" is missing—their vitality sapped. Their brain cells are drugged with poisons.

How is it with you? Are you of the fortunate ones who enjoy perfect health, or do you, too, long for the days when you were young and strong, healthy, buoyant, active and afire with ambition?

Your body may be organically sound but if your system is clogged with poisons you are not getting much out of life.

Gordon's, the discovery of a well-known Dallas Pharmacist, will make it possible for you to eat what you like, and as much as you want, without any distressing after effects. It will tone up your digestive organs so that your appetite will again be normal. It will quickly relieve you of that awful tired feeling. A few doses should convince you.

Gordon's is sold by good druggists everywhere. $1.50 per bottle of sixty-four doses—less than three cents per dose.

Ramblin'
Marie Theresa

WONDER why someone hasn't written an answer to the letter printed some time ago in this paper ,requesting a reason for the lights along the outer walls of the Womans Forum, and why the 1200 members of the Womans Forum should allow public dances to be staged in the forum club house? From remarks we have heard there are some good answers, all as yet unprinted.

A RAMBLE through the residences of the city disclosed one barefoot boy and a large number of sleeveless dresses as harbingers of the new spring. But what worries me is what are these same people going to do to keep cool when the season really opens up?

While this column cannot solve the moral question as to the cause of this misdemeanor, there arise many questions as to why a young boy or girl could so utterly "fly in the face" of instruction as to commit such a deed.

Is this girl or boy the child of the mother who delivers an exhaustive lecture to her children on the harm brought about by reading undesirable blood and thunder books, and who spends the greater part of the night reading the books she has taken away from her children?

Or maybe it was the son of the mother who refuses to let her children play for "stakes" in cards and who spends most of the day and a good part of her husband's salary for handsome prizes to award at her next bridge?

PROBABLY it was the son or daughter of the mother and father who attend church religiously only to spend Sunday afternoon in adverse criticism on the faults of the minister, who picks the sermon to pieces with painful regularity each week, but who won't allow the son or daughter to seek his pleasure in the choice of the church he will attend.

Maybe the culprit comes from a home where no one is allowed to touch home brew but those who are old enough to take care of such situations.

There is a never ending row of mistakes in home influence which may be responsible for the stealing of the $20, but the guess expressed by the instructor from the Junior college that it is probably due to the teachings of parents who preach a strict moral code which they are first to disregard, cannot be far wrong.

Highway Department Spends All For Machines

AUSTIN, April 3. (AP)—Partially confirming frequently published reports, Highway Commissioner Cone Johnson said Tuesday that the highway commission has set aside in its maintenance budget, about $1,000,000 for the purchase of new machinery.

Although it had been learned from the engineering department that recommendations for new machinery have been drafted or made up in some form, Mr. Johnson said that as far as he knows they have not been placed before the commission.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our friends, doctors and nurses, for their kindness for our loved one, Mrs. Peggie Bryan, during her illness, the deep sympathy for us in our bereavement, and for the many evidences of regard and esteem for the deceased. To all we are deeply grateful and fervently hope and pray that in their hour of sorrow they too may find kindly hearts to minister and sympathize with them. May the blessings of Heaven rest upon our kind friends. Mrs. B. H. Freeland and family.—Adv.

HARRISBURG, N. C.—Mr. M. F. Fink, of this place, says: "It must have been fully 25 years ago that I began taking Black-Draught regularly. It wasn't so long after I married.

"My friend told me to take some Black-Draught. I knew my mother had used it, and so I bought a package. When I got home, I took a good, big dose, and the next night another. In a few days I felt much better. I was hungry and the dizziness was gone.

"A good many times I have had this dizziness and a bad taste in my mouth, or headaches, and then I take Black-Draught and get better. I do not have to take it very often. We buy from five to seven packages a year."

Civics Department Discusses Home For Friendless Children

Election of officers and a round table discussion on the advisability of instituting a house for the prevention of delinquency among unfortunate boys and girls, were the matters taken up during the business session which followed the program of the welfare committee of the civics department, Tuesday afternoon at the club house.

Mrs. E. B. Lehrack was chosen chairman of the department with the following other officers: Mrs. O. W. Harvey, vice chairman; Mrs. Dan Hardy, second vice chairman; Mrs. E. P Haney, secretary, and Mrs. William Huff, treasurer. Heads of committees in the department will be elected soon. Reports from the various committee heads were heard.

It was decided to instruct Mrs. W. S. Curlee, chairman of the department, to appoint a committee of three members to investigate the advisability of arranging for a home to prevent delinquency among needy boys and girls of the county.

Speakers on the program were C. C. Bunnenberg, city park commissioner, who told of the recreational needs of the community and Mrs. Minnie Gaffney, who talked on the problems of delinquency among young boys and girls.

Mr. Bunnenberg outlined the recreational needs of the children of the city stating that children have not been taught to play, and that there is a greatly felt need for playground and recreational leaders in the city.

Wichita Falls should have at least 12 playground supervisors during the summer months. He pointed out that playground work is the most important part of the city park commission work.

He concluded his talk by urging that mothers make an effort to bring about a condition whereby teachers in the public schools spend more time on the school grounds in the capacity of playground supervisors. He expressed himself as regretting the fact that children are no longer taught how to play wholesome and healthful games.

Juvenile delinquency is due to inefficient parentage, Mrs. Gaffney believes. She pointed out that lack of religious training and moral instruction are behind the greater part of the misdemeanors of children. Divorces among parents were also cited as a cause for delinquent children.

With the expression that defects in heredity can be overcome by suitable home environment, Mrs. Gaffney spent the greater part of her discussion period in urging the department to investigate the advisability of erecting a home to prevent delinquency among homeless children.

LINDA -:- A Love Mystery of College Life

By Virginia Swain

"And then," said Linda, icily. "Damoras came out and began to annoy me. He was very drunk, and he asked me to dance. I refused. He grew angry, tried to make me dance. Finally, he threw his arms around me—"

The eyes of the county attorney gleamed. "And—"

"I pushed him away," said Linda, "and then I ran out the front door and that's all."

"Quite all?" The question came as an insinuation.

"Yes," said Linda. "I heard someone coming out to look for Doyle while I hid in a bush. And I heard them talking about something that 'had happened' in the house. I waited till they went back in and then I walked home."

"By yourself in all that snow?" The man scoffed.

"Yes."

Oscar Johnson seemed to be gathering his forces for a tour de force. He stopped drumming on the worm-eaten desk and sat still for a moment, his brows drawing together.

He lifted his eyes to Linda's calm face. "And what was in your hand when you 'pushed' him? What cut that gash in Pete's forehead?"

Linda paled, but her answer came steadily. "Nothing. I didn't strike his face. Just pushed against his shoulder and he fell back. I couldn't have hurt him."

The man gave her an incredulous look, rose from his chair and began to pace the floor in thought. "Somebody hurt him," he said, stopping in front of her. "He was found dead just after you left. Who killed him?"

She shook her head wearily. "I don't know—unless it was Pearl Hanegan herself. She was the first to report finding him dead, wasn't she?"

The man wheeled on her. "Don't try that gaff," he said. "We know for certain Pearl didn't do it. Why, she was going to marry him in a few months. She'd be a fool to knock him off when she had a chance to share in his winnings. Besides, she loved him. Everybody in Pete's neighborhood swears they got along well. No, Miss Waldron, you can't slip by like that."

He was still standing glowering down at her when the hall door burst open and a shaggy head in a yellow journalism cap thrust itself within the room. "Statement ready?" asked the youth who owned the head and cap. "Deadline in half an hour."

Johnson's face turned affable. "Sure. Miss Deal will give you a transcript of the questions and answers as soon as she writes the shorthand notes. You can wait outside."

"Nope," shouted the reporter "got to take it now. I'll transcribe it. I read Gregg. Bring your notes back to you in an hour or so." He snatched the stenographer's notebook and rushed from the room.

Miss Deal turned an indignant face toward Johnson, but he did not notice her. He was striding to his telephone, demanding furiously that central connect him with the Gazette office. Once connected, he called for Morton, city editor.

"Hello, there Morton," he said, an unctuous note creeping into his voice, "Say, one of your cubs ran off with some notes down here. Sure, it's all right, so long's they come back safely this afternoon. I just wanted to tell you that Linda Waldron will be held as material witness till the grand jury convenes next month. Thought you'd want it for a head. . . . . Well, of course, it's irregular. He had no right to take 'em. But we gotta make concessions to the almighty press, y'know. Just see he gets 'em back pronto will you?" He banged the receiver on its hook and turned to Linda. "Sorry, Miss Waldron, but it looks as if you'll have to tell this story to the grand jury. Can't take the responsibility of letting you run loose till then. You'll find the new jail comfortable enough, and you can pay to have your meals sent in from the tavern." He leered at her silk stockings and her furs.

Linda sat frozen, scarcely hearing what he said. The man sat down behind his desk and jerked open several of its drawers. He seemed to be searching for something in the lower one. "Just to prove to you that we didn't need the violet dress for a clue, I'll show you something else." He opened one of his large hands and flung several purple fragments on the desk top.

Linda started from her chair. The fragments were a handful of the little purple velvet flowers from the violet chiffon dress. They lay in a crumpled little heap against the stained, rough wood.

"Ever seen 'em before?" rasped Johnson.

She could not take her eyes away from them. "Yes," she said dully, "they're off my violet dress."

She wondered why he laughed so raucously. "Well, miss, they were found on the floor of the hall at Stonewold, not six feet from Pete's body. Glad to hear you say you recognize 'em. That sews our case up tight. You see, we haven't got the dress! Don't know where it is, any more than you do. But we're glad you decided to talk. It'll be best in the long run."

Linda leaped to her feet, felt her knees giving way beneath her, and grasped at the edge of the desk to steady herself. "You"—she began in a high voice that seemed to come from miles away.

But she got no further. For the door burst open again, and the deputy who had come for her the day before come in. His face was red with excitement. "Beg pardon, sir, looks like we've made a bad mistake. Will you come out and talk to this queer old duck in the next office. He swears he'll break the door down if you don't. We think he's dangerous, sir."

Willis Makes a Tragic Finish

DEATH NEVER plays favorites. The man with the scythe takes his toll regardless. Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio has passed on to his reward. He was stricken down after a memorable speech to a great audience of his Buckeye republican followers.

He was only 47.

He had had a distinguished career. He was educated in the public schools of his state. He earned the money which paid for a university education. He became a lawyer. He was elected to the general assembly of his state. He became the idol of the Anti-Saloon league. He was the darling of the W. C. T. U.

He was a dry dry.

He was a most eloquent orator and campaigner. He became governor of his state. He served in the lower house of the American congress. He was the chief boomer of Warren G. Harding from the state of Ohio in 1920.

He made the dramatic speech that forecasted the nomination of Harding for the presidency. Harding was elected. Willis filled the vacancy when Harding resigned the senatorship. He served the unexpired term. He was elected by the republicans of Ohio to a full term of six years in the senate.

Ever he had the backing of the Saloon league and its allied temperance organization. He was one of the chosen propagandists and orators of the league.

He aspired to the presidency. His name was placed on the official ballot. Many Ohio republicans broke away from the program. They entered the name of Herbert Hoover of California.

Then the battle began.

Willis opened his campaign. He denounced Hoover from the opening of the campaign until death called him long before the finish was in sight.

His passing is a great shock to his fellow senators and his admirers and followers everywhere.

He was a man of magnificent physique. He had a booming voice. He was a master of English. He had a rare personality.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, a democrat, paid the tribute to Willis that he was a rare speciman of physical proportions and health, a lovable friend and companion and ever sincere in his convictions.

There were many flowers passed on to the dead when the news was flashed to Washington, and some of the most fragrant blossoms came from the lips of those who had been hurling bricks at the dead man since the beginning of the campaign which rocked Ohio from border line to border line.

Death was kind to Warren G. Harding. Death may have been kind to Herbert Hoover. His is the only name on the Ohio ballot.

Will the followers of Willis vote foir the dead man's slate of delegates or will they transfer their affections and their allegiance to the Californian?

"The king is dead; long live the king" may be their slogan. Human nature is human nature. A dead man is a dead man. A live man may be the king, wield the sceptre, and distribute the plums of office.

Alamo Taxpayers Know The Road

RECOMMENDATION to the city commission of San Antonio for a total municipal bond issue of $4,555,000 was decided upon by a citizens' advisory committee. According to a San Antonio newspaper, each item in the total issue was passed upon separately. There is an item of $300,000 for police and fire building. There is an item of $500,000 for a municipal library building or buildings. There is an item of $250,000 for the purchase of 175 acres for international exhibition park and stadium. There is an item of $55,000 for the purchase of the Spanish governor's palace landmark. There is an item of $1,250,000 for a sewage disposal plant. There is an item of $600,000 for street opening and widening purposes. There is an item of $250,000 for park building and improvement. There is an item of $750,000 for street paving.

Speaking of parks, San Antonio has the finest park system between the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific Ocean. Regardless of this, the growth of the city has called for additional parks and playgrounds and the wide awake property owners of the Alamo city are determined to keep pace with the building procession and make the Alamo the tourist city of a vast territory. They know that it will never do to halt the building procession.

Patrons of Life Insurance

RODMAN WANAMAKER was a champion of life insurance for all. He had his life insured for $7,500,000. A year ago the official newspaper organ of the insurance industry ranked Wanamaker at the head of a list of 194 persons who held policies for a million dollars or more.

Only seven persons held policies as great as $5,000,000.

Rodman Wanamakeer was a multi-millionaire. He left behind him a vast fortune. His father willed him a vast fortune, but the son was successful in all his ventures and yet his expenditures were very large.

For years he was the chairman of the New York reception committee. All distinguished visitors, foreign or domestic who visited the great city of New York were officially received and entertained by this Prince of the House of Wanamaker.

He was to the manner born. His ancestors were Pennsylvania Dutch and the descendants of the Pennsylvania Dutch have made history in the mercantile and financial life of America.

If Charm Would Win

"IF CHARM would win" says a writer for the Dallas News, "Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham will be elected United States senator."

Now the woman candidate was interviewed upon her arrival in the city of Dallas. Her platform has been given to the people. According to the interviewer, "she believes Thomas J. Walsh or Cordell Hull would make good democratic presidential nominees and she is against Al Smith."

Speaking of the interview, this is the way it reads, "she does not know for certain whether she would favor backing the party or not if Smith were elected, but said that country should come before party."

It appears from the interview that the woman candidate is a good hater, "and among the objects she hates is Senator James A. Reed of Missouri."

She has a well defined opinion of her own as to the paramount issues. This is what she said to the interviewer, "I believe that farm relief is the most important subject before us."

All the farmers are of the same opinion, but the farmers in the up country are tied to the republican bogus trade mark and the farmers in the southland to the democratic trade mark.

Dr. Will Durant is the author of the best selling book of philosophy that America has known.

It is evident that this noted scholar and writer is not a favorite listed in the calling book of the woman candidate for senator. This is the way the Dallas interviewer placed her on record, "she viewed with alarm the statement of Dr. Will Durant that only coarse women are attracted to politics and voiced a host of arguments to prove the contrary."

It cannot be possible that there are coarse women anywhere in the world. Down with the philosophy of Dr. Will Durant. He should have known better.

All women are angels. All women under the skies of Old Glory who are more than 21 are ballot casters.

Dr. Will Durant may be a philosopher but he is not a politician. His latest is that an educated man has no place in the political life of America for the reason that the mass mob is suspicious of him and jealous of his intellectual attainments either inherited or acquired.

Is this true?

Texas TaleS

By C. D. WAIDE

People who doubt that water can run up hill have only to come to Texas to see that phenomenon. At least, they will think they are seeing it if they should happen to be in the Rio Grande delta on the occasion of an overflow. They would witness the spectacle of the overflow water running directly away from the bed of the river just as fast as gravity could carry it.

Since the region referred to is only a few hundred yards from where Mr. Volstead is unknown, it is entirely possible that the spectacle of a big river of water running uphill might have effects that the wearing of white ribbons could not achieve.

The Rio Grande is hedged and hemmed by high walls and mountain sides during nearly all its tortuous wendings until its waters get within about 75 miles of the gulf of Mexico, when the river comes out on a coastal plain. Through the centuries it has been bringing silt out of the mountains and depositing it in this delta until it has built its bed up considerably higher than the surrounding country. Yet the coastal plain is so level that to the naked eye it does not seem to be any lower than the river bed. Hence the optical illusion of water seemingly pouring uphill from the riverbed in cases of overflow.

These alluvial deposits have made of the Rio Grande delta one of the richest farming spots isn the world, and a semi-tropical climate has made it particularly productive of citrus fruits and early vegetables. The past 20 years has seen that small area developed from a mesquite and cactus wilderness to the richest agricultural section of Texas.

The Rio Grande has not always used the same bed in its course to the gulf that it now occupies. There are some half dozen forsaken and deserted courses through which it once flowed. These are nearly all dry now, and are called "resaccas."

Texans are continually on the alert in times of flood to see that this capricious stream doesn't revert to some of its disused channels on this side of the present river. They would hate to see a Mexican governor move over and take charge of the city of Brownsville in case the river established a new bed this side of that town. The farmers fight the flood waters with all their might when the waves are eating at the levees, for they know that Mexican taxes are high.

Within the past three years the delta section has put over a flood control development, at the expense of millions of dollars, which will hold the surplus waters in certain channels now dry, thus preventing extensive damage and assuring the return of the river to its present bed after all overflows.

There are several lakes in these deserted river channels in the delta section, notably Champacaus and Llano Grande. These lakes were the sources of the wild duck supply for the markets in the old days when laws did not forbid the sale of ducks. Therein lies a tale:

In the fall of the year the Mexicans who lived near these lakes used to throw hundreds of pumpkins on the surface of the lakes. The ducks soon became accustomed to these floating pumpkins.

Then when the Mexican was ready for the duck harvest he put a large and hollowed pumpkin over his head, slipped into the water through the high reeds and approached a flock of ducks feeding nearby. Easing up to a duck he reached out, caught him by the feet and gently drew him under and put him in a sack carried at his waist. One by one he captured the entire flock of mallards, which were sold in the Brownsville markets. Each duck brought about what one shotgun shell would have cost the Mexican.

Demos and Republicans Equal in Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 3. (AP)—Republicans who have ruled Wisconsin for 30 years tomorrow will settle another round in the fight between two factions, when they elect 26 delegates to the national convention. At the same time the Democrats who four years ago were able to muster only 60,000 votes out of 850,000 will select a like number of delegates from two full slates pledged to Gov. Al Smith.

"What are you doing?" queried Jack curiously.

Jill Justin, ultra-modern at 22, and adorably pretty, is kidnaped by auto bandits, but rescued by Jack Stuart. He takes her home, and remains to win her hand in marriage.

Three years later Jack and Tony Justin are paid $100,000 for an interest in their tungsten mine by Pat Sweeney, father of Mary, whom he has nicknamed "Mike."

Nita Ravelle, a gay divorcee, and Professor Le Tarte, a dancing man, come to town, each with separate identities.

Nita Ravelle intrigues Jack's presence with her at a notorious roadhouse. Jill hears of his going, and follows with Mike Sweeney and Le Tarte, and sees Jack and Nita together.

Nita and Jack start back to town. They are kidnaped and taken to a house in the mountains. The abductors lock the doors and depart.

As soon as they are alone, Nita begins to play her game—that of stealing the heart of another woman's husband. When morning comes she has not won.

Next day they are released. Jack hurries home and tells he's been kidnaped, but refuses to name his companion. With the affair at the Casino in mind, Jill is suspicious, and refuses his story of abduction.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVII

"I told Le Tarte that he lied, that I knew my husband wouldn't meet Nita Ravelle at the Casino cabaret. But, just the same, I called Mike Sweeney and asked her to go with me—for I wouldn't, of course, go alone with Le Tarte. She took us in her big limousine, and I sat with Mike going and coming! And I won a thousand dollars at roulette, for I'm lucky at gambling—being unlucky at love!"

And then the rising storm broke, and the rain came down in torrents, and "no woman in the world could be as unhappy as she"—nor any sorrier for herself—for a period of five minutes. At the expiration of this lapse of time Human Nature asserted itself. She declared that "no man in the world was worth crying over." What could be fun, frolic, and freedom for the gander, she guessed could be the same, thank you, and many more for the goose. So there!

Whereupon Jill made the move—the actual move—that precipitated matters in the domestic workings of the Stuart-Justin combine!

This precipitation paved the way to a climax more dramatic, more heart-stirring than anything either Jill or Jack had ever seen in real life. That the grand finale was several months in the making lessened in no way its tragic importance. The events leading up to it kept the principals very busy.

As stated, Jill made the move. She made it very shortly after her declaration for Fun, Frolic and Freedom on an equal suffrage basis!

"What are you doing?" queried Jack, curiously, as he came out of the bathroom after donning pajamas preparatory for bed to find Jill packing her toilet articles, her own pajamas, and a morning gown in a leather bag.

"I am getting ready to move on with my babies,' she made answer, calmly, looking him straight in the eye. "I'm a wee bit particular about sharing my husband with any woman to whom he happens to take a fancy!"

His face went white for an instant, a livid, deathly white. Then a crimson flush darkened it. A cry, hoarse, inarticulate, burst from his lips, and his mouth worked grotesquely. She had never seen him like that before, and just for an instant an unnamable fear gripped Jill.

But only for an instant. At the sound of his voice she knew she was in no danger from Jack Stuart.

"Jill—my God!"

The ejaculation broke from him in a husky, shaky tone that would have been laughable under other circumstances. In the present instance it was pitiful.

And it may be said in all truth that Jack Stuart was hurt, terribly hurt. There was a frantic look in his eyes, as if he had found himself suddenly on the brink of an awful chasm and felt the edge crumbling under his feet.

"Y-you—can't, m-mean it!" he gulped, lurching forward and catching at a chair. "You can't—m-mean that—that you're leaving me?"

"I'm leaving this room, Jack—leaving it tonight!" replied Jill, unintentionally dramatizing the situation and herself as well. "You and I are man and wife in name only from now on! A husband who can deliberately go out with another woman and then virtually acknowledge having been with her all that time, cannot love a wife."

He stared at her as if doubting her sanity.

Jill didn't, of course, realize that she was actually deriving a sort of sub-normal satisfaction from this part she was characterizing—the upstage part of "the betrayed wife."

She didn't know at the moment that it was practically the novelty of the thing that was keeping her keyed up, lending her the false courage to carry her purpose through to fulfillment. That the time would ever come when she would regret with all her heart her act of that night Jill had no intimation then.

"But you—it is you, girl, girl, who are wronging me!" cried Jack, a little wildly, and crossing over to her, he tried to take her in his arms. But Jill Stuart refused to be petted into good humor.

"Listen, Jack!" she said, with a sudden inspiration, holding his gaze with her own. "You say I am wronging you. Very well—we'll see. Will you place your hand over your heart and swear that you did not kiss Nita Ravelle last night? If you didn't kiss her I—I— Will you swear, Jack, that you didn't kiss her?"

She stood awaiting his answer, her heart in her throat, it seemed to her.

"Oh, piffle, Jill!" he exclaimed, essaying a gesture implying large contempt for childish foolishness. "What's th' use of all that silly monkey-fiddling business? You wouldn't believe me if I said I didn't!"

She eyed him closely, trying to probe into his mind.

"Jack, I would, too, believe you!" she said, a plaintive note in her voice that struck into his heart. "I know just as Dad said, that you're not a liar. You will not lie. I know that if you'll place your hand in mine and say: 'As God hears me, Jill, I did not kiss Nita Ravelle last night,' I'll believe you! Not only that, but everything will be forgiven and forgotten, and we'll be just as we were yesterday morning. Will you do it, Jack dear?"

But Jill had spoken only too truly. Jack Stuart would not lie. And he had kissed Nita Ravelle. And yet, what does a little kiss amount to? That was what he had thought the night before. Now he knew it was of tremendous importance—knew that it bade fair to break up his home.

Slowly the little clock on the mantle ticked away the seconds, with the passing of every second Jill's suddenly kindled hopes faded. She knew—knew positively, at last—she told herself, and then told him she knew. She knew, she said, that her husband was guilty.

And so she moved out of the room—their room—and went in to sleep with her babies, "the flesh of her flesh, and the bone of her bone," whose love was sweet.

A m[illegible]dged husband, convicted on circumstantial evidence, is a martyr, "of the purest ray serne." . . . There is nothing quite to equal the colossal proportions of his pout . . . . His sympathy for himself is beautiful in its heroic idealism . . . . He knows he is wrongfully accused, and so his conscience breathes, and glows with conscious rectitude, swells with honest pride . . . . It purrs . . . . It warms him body and soul, and feeds his hungry ego. . . . Long may his pout endure.

Jack Stuart knew that he was the victim of some diabolical conspiracy. What its purpose was he could not fanthom. Never for an instant did he suspect that Nita Ravelle might be at the back of the thing. Her conduct during the 22 hours of their imprisonment had been exemplary. To be sure, she had not objected to a little petting; had, in fact, encouraged it. But it had been all so perfectly innocent—just a few cousinly kisses.

Was he to blame if his story had great gaping holes in it? Was it his fault that the ends didn't hook up? He knew—and Nita knew—they had "played the game," lived up to all the rules of social order and morality.

That his story and the facts known to Jill didn't connect, he fully realized and deplored. Had 'Ennery but presented that note—written at his dictation—Jack's version of the affair would have rung true. It was this discrepancy and others of a similar nature, that had made him look like a lying fool.

Why had 'Ennery got him to write that note—at the former's dictation—asking Jill for a thousand dollars—money he might easily have obtained, and with no danger—and then never presented it?

Then, too, who was the person who had telephoned him that Tony was to be fleeced out of $8000 at the Casino?

Summing it all up in its entirety, why had he been made a "goat" in a conspiracy that seemed wholly without purpose? The kidnaping had profited 'Ennery and Pete nothing, as Jack had learned. Nita ha dcalled him up at his office on the day following their return, and in a voice vibrant with excitement had informed him that the check she had given 'Ennery had not been presented at the bank or any place for payment.

He then told her of the failure on the parts of the crooks to collect the thousand from Jill, that the note had not been presented to her. From all indications, it would seem as if they had taken fright—had been afraid to finish what they had so boldly started. Nita declared she could make no sense whatever out of the affair. He told her he felt the same way.

And thus matters stood—for a while. But the affairs of mice, women or men cannot stand still indefinitely. They must move if they possess life or if governed by things with life.

Father Ryan listened to Jack's recital of his domestic troubles and his detailed recountal of the events leading up to and comprising the "blind conspiracy" of which he, Jack, was the outstanding victim. The priest looked at matters from a free perspective, and therefore saw things that Jack failed to see. But he had been trained to keep not only the secrets of other people inviolate, but to keep also his opinions to himself.

Health and Diet Advice

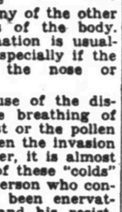

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy, who can be addressed in care of this paper.

HOW CATARRH IS PRODUCED

An acute case of catarrh manifests in two stages. First, there is the dry, congested, swollen mucous membrane.

Then the mucous membrane suddenly becomes moist with abnormally free discharge of mucus which is more or less altered in quality. Extreme inammation of the nembrane exists, hether it is in the nose or throat, or any of the other mucous membranes of the body. This acute inflammation is usually called a "cold," especially if the inflammaiton is in the nose or throat.

The irritating cause of the discharge may be the breathing of fine particles of dust or the pollen from flowers, or often the invasion of bacteria. However, it is almost impossible for one of these "colds" to start unless the person who contracts the cold has been enervated for some time and his resistance to disease is therefore below par.

Where chronic catarrh exists, the mucous membranes are constantly throwing out excesses of mucus containing epithelial cells, white blood cells, and organic mineral matter. This discharge may be present in the air passages, such as the nose, throat or lungs, or may even come from the stomach or alimentary canal, with discharges from the rectum. Even excessive discharges of mucus from the genital organs can be placed under the name of catarrh.

The fundamental causes lying back of any of these types of chronic catarrh are always an excess accumulation in the blood of too large a quantity of material formed from the carbohydrates, that is, the sugars and starches, such as white flour, sugar, cornstarch, polished rice, etc. These are all acid-forming, and consequently lower the alkalinity of the blood.

Most commercial sugars are so deprived of their alkalinity that they are also acid-forming, and have the effect of producing in the blood a lowered state of alkalinity.

These effete materials, of no use to the body, must be thrown out in some manner, and the body often uses the mucous membrane as a channel for this elimination.

If one is suffering from any form of chronic catarrh, the first thing to do is to eliminate, for a time at least, all sugars and starches, and give the blood a chance to cleanse itself of these waste products which cannot be used in the building of normal cell structure.

The body will quickly eliminate these unnecessary wastes if one will only give his system a chance to carry on this elimination in an uninterrupted manner. If short fruit fasts are taken occasionally the body will then have a chance to throw out this morbid material and the blood will once again regain its normal tone.

It is a wise plan, also, to stimulate all the other eliminative organs of the body, such as the skin, kidneys, intestines, etc. Large quantities of water should be taken between meals, a good sweat induced each day, and it is a good plan to take, for sometime at least, one enema daily.

It will take considerable time to bring about a complete cure, and one must be patient with these treatments and stay on a rigid diet if a permanent and lasting cure is desired.

QUESTION: A. H. G. writes: "Kindly advise if there is a cure for neuritis of about five years' standing, where patient's limbs are disabled on account of cartilage having hardened in the joints. If there is no absolute cure, would a strict fast and diet relieve the awful suffering? Would a warm climate be of benefit in preference to cold winters in Minnesota?

ANSWER: The patient you ask about is probably suffering from arthritis. I have never seen a case that cannot be cured as far as relieving the pains is concerned even though the extra deposit of calcium in the joints cannot be entirely removed. Warm climate encourages a greater amount of skin elimination, but there is no reason why arthritis or any type of rheumatism cannot be cured in a cold climate, providing the patient uses the proper amount of skin washing and encourages elimination through certain hydrotherapy treatments.

QUESTION: Mrs. O. J. S. writes: "Ever since your diet lessons appeared in the paper I have felt better following them. I have been and still am overweight but am slowly reducing. I wish to know if the genuine wholewheat bread is fattening? Also rye bread?"

ANSWER: Any bread may be considered "fattening."

QUESTION: Puzzled writes: "When impurities from cigarette tobacco are deposited in the lungs by inhaling, do they remain there or are they eventually carried away by the blood?"

ANSWER: The tarry deposits from the inhaling of cigarette smoke are gradually carried away through the lymphatic circulation, but of course, may have remained for a long enough time to have done harm.

Gangster Held In Chicago Bombing

Several sticks of dynamite had been found in Juliano's home, it was said, and he had been sought for several days. An automobile similar to the one used in the Swanson bombing, is owned by Juliano, authorities said.

Favorite Jokes of Famous People

As Told by Them to
FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By HOWARD CHANDLER CHRISTY.

Mr. Christy is perhaps America's most prominent portrait artist. He has painted the portraits of many outstanding personalities in this country and in Europe. Among his recent victims have been Will Hays. Warren G. Harding (the portrait which hangs in the Leviathan,) President and Mrs. Coolidge, Charles G. Hughes, Senator Coleman du Pont, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Doheny, Mussolini and others.

During the Spanish-American War Mr. Christy went to Cuba as one of Theodore Roosevelt's famous Rough Riders, and while there did a series of illustrated letters which were published in Scribner's, Harper's and Collier's.

Mr. Christy is the author of three books, which he also illustrated, and did the illustrations of several books for James Whitcomb Riley. He has won a number of medals for distinguished work both in America and abroad.

"While I was painting the portrait of Senator Coleman du Pont," Mr. Christy said, "he told me the following experience that was his while on a tour through the Southern States. It never ceases to amuse me whenever I think of it.

"'We were motoring through South Carolina,' the Senator said, 'when our driver in some way took the wrong road. We tried for some time to find our way back to the main highway, and finally we overtook an old colored man. I told the driver to slow down and I would ask the negro for directions.

"'Do you know where Charleston is?'

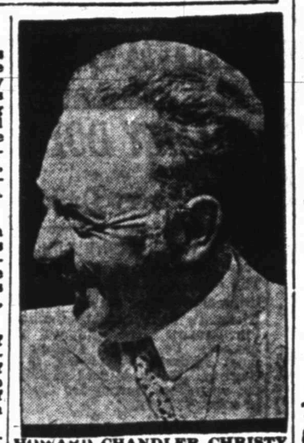

"'Don't know, Boss, never heered of it,' replied the darkey.

SPUDDERS TRIM HOUSE OF DAVID IN LATE INNINGS, 9 TO 2

CULTISTS SHOW DIAMOND SKILL

Lapan and Turgeon Clout Home Runs

By LARRY DAILY.
Record News Sports Editor.

The House of David has a real ball team. Any doubt that the bewhiskered, long-haired athletes play a creditable game and were only oddities of the diamond was dissipated yesterday at Athletic park. The Spudders trounced the Cultists, 9 to 2, but it was an interesting contest.

More than one player competent to fill a place on a fast minor loop club was shown by the Cultists, of whom Gilbert, a left-handed pitcher; Tucker, first base; Blackmore, second base and Pederson, center field, were the stars.

Cultists Lead 4 Innings.

The bewhiskered tossers led for four innings. They scored a run in the second inning when Pederson doubled to right. Tucker struck out and Reed singled to right, the center fielder tallying.

Gilbert turned back the champions scoreless and with on hit for the first four rounds. But in the fifth Lapan lead off with a home run over the left field wall. The other Pete, this one, Turgeon, also smacked a curve over the left field barrier with a comrade on base in this round.

Spuds Find Eyes.

The Spudders pounded Raderoff, a right-hander, for six runs and eight hits in the last three innings. They added one in the sixth when Jenkins doubled and scored on Swenson's single to left.

Benton's triple and singles by Turgeon and Fitzgerald gave the Spudders two more in the seventh. They counted three in the eighth on a pass to Swenson, two-base knocks by Lapan and Turgeon and a hit by Roberts.

Joe Kiefer held the Benton Harbor team to their one run and five hits for six innings in a creditable hill performance and looked in the best condition he has shown this spring. Roland Roberts gave up a tally, but it was due to misplays by his mates, three hits and a brace of walks in the last three rounds.

Notes of the Game

The champions have a routine drill this afternoon, preparatory to four consecutive games, with the Minneapolis Millers here Thursday Friday and Saturday and the Detroit Tigers, concluding the exhibition schedule Saturday and Sunday.

Les Tullos' Abilene West Texas club squad, a majority of whom are farmed Spudders, will work out every morning at Athletic park.

Hipp, the David third baseman, looked like a real ball player yesterday. He made a scintillating stop of Keifer's harsh grounder in the third and repeated on Stanton's bounder in the fourth. He handled seven chances flawlessly.

Turgeon started a double play in the fifth when he snatched Hipp's drive and retired Gilbert off first. Pete played a dashing game, though he did drop two throws from Swenson, that would have forced runners and possibly made one double play in the eighth.

The two Petes were leaders of the attack, Turgeon smacking a homer, double and single and Lapan banging a homer and double.

Lamb and Turgeon did some fast and accurate throwing in the sixth when Lyman pegged to Pete, who relayed home to catch Atherton trying to score from first on Pederson's double.

CUB FIELDERS HARD HITTERS

Other National Clubs Find Weak-Batting Gardners

NEW YORK, April 3. (UP.)—Several National league managers have made the late, but rather startling discovery that their clubs will open the season handicapped by weak-hitting outfielders.

Having allowed Rube Bressler to get away to the Brooklyn Robins, Manager Jack Hendricks finds the Cincinnati outfield devoid of punch.

The Reds' outfield of Curtis Walker, Pid Purdy, and Marty Callaghan hasn't been hitting its weight. Unless the slump is temporary, there may be some changes.

Cards Have Troubles.

The St. Louis Cardinals are having their outfield troubles and Manager Bill McKechnie may be forced to switch "Wattie" Holm back to the outfield from third base.

Ray Blades is in the throes of a prolonged batting slump and may lose his regular place in the Cardinals' outfield unless he recovers his eye soon.

Robins Start Strong.

Uncle Wilbert Robinson of the Robins wonders if his present combination of Harvey Hendrick, Al Tyson, and Babe Herman will continue its hard hitting after the season opens. Heretofore, members of that trio were notorious in-and-outers.

In contrast to this epidemic of weak hitting, the Chicago Cubs' outfield of "Kiki" Cuyler, Hack Wilson and Riggs Stephenson is tearing the cover off the ball.

The New York Giants are well stocked with outfielders and John McGraw may use a shift outfield. Ed Roush is hitting better than ever before and is being looked to supply some of the missing Hornsby punch.

Vernon Preps to Follow Baggett To Wichita Falls Junior College

Enviable Record Established By New Indian Mentor; No Action Taken By School Board On Successor

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, April 3.—No official statement was forthcoming on the football coach situation here tonight pending a meeting of the school board to accept the resignation of E. A. Baggett, tendered today.

Vernon is now without a coach, Baggett having offered his resignation to accept a place with Wichita Falls Junior college, and Assistant Coach Marshall May having recently accepted a place as assistant coach at Amarillo.

Captain Comes Here.

Baggett, who has coached the Lions four years as made an enviable record here, and a number of his proteges, including Captain J. T. Castleberry of last year's team, have announced their intention of following the coach to the Wichita Falls college.

In 1924 Baggett's football team went into the semi-finals, losing to Oak Cliff. During the past three seasons the Baggett-coached Lions won 26 out of 30 football games.

Track Team Sets Mark.

A new state record in the one-mile relay was established by the Lion tracksters in 1925. The mile, medley and two mile relay teams were undefeated in 1926, and a new high school record was set in the two mile relay at Manhattan, Kan., that year.

BAGGETT WILL COACH INDIANS

Vernon Mentor Succeeds Ludgate at College

Wichita Falls Junior college Indians will have a new athletic mentor for the 1928-1929 season. E. A. Baggett, coach of Vernon high school will succeed H. T. Ludgate as coach of the Indians.

Baggett is a graduate of Ouachita college, Arkansas and has been coach of athletics at Vernon for the last three years. His football teams have won 26 out of 30 games and his selection may mean a winning team for the Indians next season.

He was elected to coach Junior college last year but later decided to remain in Vernon. He will be here to begin work with the Indians this time, he said Tuesday morning.

The new mentor plans to attend Knute Rockne's coaching school and spend several weeks in the regional citizen's military training camp this summer.

With as much and as good football material this fall as was out last year for the Indian team Coach Baggett should be able to turn out one of the best Junior college elevens in the state.

HOWLEY'S NINE DOOMED AGAIN

Seventh Place or Cellar Forecast For St. Loo

By BILL SLOCUM
Universal Service.

Just about the time the 1927 baseball season was fading out, Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, was quoted as saying that he would shake up his team and that only three or four of the players then with the club were sure to remain. In that quartet, to continue Mr. Ball's predictions, the name of George Sisler was not included.

Most baseball fans regarded the announcement as the crabbing of a moment, but to the disappointment of Ball over his 1927 club. It had finished seventh, had but one game all season from the Yankees, and in various ways it had proved itself one of the weakest aggregations of many years in major league society.

Few believed that any such shake-up as Ball had indicated would be made. Came the winter snows, as the movies tell it, and greatest shake-up for years. Ball did a lot more than expected. Before he finished his shopping for baseball talent, Ball had disposed of Sisler, Ken Williams, Bing Miller, Milton Gaston, Harry Rice, Elam Vangilder, Spencer Adams, Sam Jones, Otto Miller and few other players. He got rid of them in clusters, but what about the returns?

Nothing Gained.

Mere shaking up means nothing in particular unless it brings in as much talent as was sent away, or more. It doesn't look as if Phil Ball got back as much baseball talent as he gave up. His team today does not look as good as the outfit which Dan Howley led away from the barrier last April and it will be one of the big surprises of the coming year if the Browns improve as much as a single position on the seventh place finish which they made last year. It will not be surprising, either, if the Browns finish last, but they should beat out the Red Sox.

Howley will enter the coming campaign with a pitching staff built around Lefty Stewart, Crowder, the last named obtained from Washington in the Gaston deal. All the veterans upon whom Howley relied last season have departed—Vanfilder, Gaston, Jones, Ballou and Winn. The pitching staff does not loom as formidable, anyway, that it may be considered, and it is not likely to get by very well with a club that has lost a great part of its 1927 punch. Howley has some youngsters who promise well, but you never can figure on these yonngsters.

Veteran Catchers.

The catchers are Wally Schang and Steve O'Neill of the 1927 staff, and Manion, the former Tiger maskman. The first two are veterans along and Manion may be the regular. The catching end is the least worry of Howley's.

The infield will have Lu Blue at first base, Frank O'Rourke at third and a pair of young players, Kress and Brannon, around second. These players are highly touted, but yet they have had no opportunity to prove their worth as big leaguers. Howley still has Melillo and Gerber, who played second and short last season, if the youngsters do not come through.

For the outfield Scyulte is a fixture in center, and Manush in one of the other spots. For third regular Early McNelly and Hershel Bennett are the candidates.

It is a weaker team than last season, lacking outstanding power in any department. Seventh is the best the team can hope for, and it may not do that well.

DAILY DOPE

By Larry Dailey

IT SEEMS JOHNNY RISKO has been handed the w. k. run around. The bouncing baker boy did everything that was asked of him in Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament. He whipped Jack Sharkey decisively, making the most impressive showing in the tourney. He is entitled to fight it out with Tom Heeney for the right to meet Tunney.

◇ ◇ ◇

Heeney holds a decision over Risko. But there are many competent critics of pugilism who say that Risko gave Honest Tom a shellacing in the first half of their battle and that he deserved nothing worse than a draw. Rickard, however, probably had little to do with the hand-picked selection of Heeney as Tunney's challenger. Gene dictated the selection of the Australian and Rickard had to yield.

◇ ◇ ◇

TUNNEY IS INSISTENT that he fight twice this year. After Heeney, who? Risko possibly. Johnny and Heeney are the "logical" contenders. Neither is accorded better than an outside chance with Tunney. In the event Gene pounds Heeney into quick submission, which seems likely, will the fistic fans pay the million or so required by Rickard and Tunney for such affairs? They may. They pay and pay and seem to like it.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE EMERGING of Jack Dempsey from his "retirement" to fight Tunney in the fall would not be a surprise. Gene will easily trounce Heeney. Then the public "demand," which really is the Rickard ballyhoo, will be that the Manassa mauler come back for another act of the great Dempsey-Tunney extravaganza. The public will pay to see Jack again. They know there will be a fight and the melody of that hectic seventh round at Chicago, when Dempsey regained the title for a few seconds, lingers on.

Cubs and Omaha Start Two-Game Series Today

WACO, Texas, April 3. (AP)—A bit disappointed because rain necessitated the calling off of the second game scheduled between the Detroit Tigers and the Waco Cubs here this afternoon, Manager Del Pratt of the Cubs decided that perhaps after all the rest would benefit his club and became an optimist about the two-game series which opens here tomorrow between the Cubs and the Omaha Crickets.

TUNNEY STARTS WORK FOR TOM

Gene Within Seven Pounds Of Fighting Weight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 3 (AP.)—Gene Tunney went through ten rounds of light practice today beginning his training for his fight with Tom Heeney next July.

The champion went three rounds with the rope, punched the light bag three rounds, took three with the heavy bag and shadow-boxed a round.

Tunney perspired freely during the workout but breathed easily. He had turned a berry brown from his sunbaths on the beach and swimming.

Lou Fink, trainer, was optimistic about the champion's condition.

"Tunney can be ready for a fight within three weeks," Fink said. "He is in excellent shape and his life on the beach and in the surf has kept him fit."

Fink said Tunney was within seven pounds of his fighting weight.

Landis to Attend Red, Cub Opener

By WARREN BROWN.

CHICAGO, April 3. (US)—That National league opening in Cincinnati a week from Wednesday has just about convinced his highness, Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, that it is the place to be on April 11.

Back at his desk today after a sojourn in the south, the judge announced that he had been invited to attend the Cincinnati festivities in which the Chicago Cubs will participate.

"You'd be surprised," said the baseball commissioner, "what a lot of favorable opinions I heard expressed in the south over the Cubs.

"The general view seemed to be that this was the club to watch in the National league race this year.

"So I suppose I'll have to go to Cincinnati and get a look at them in the first opportunity that offers itself."

The judge said that he had a chance to observe several of the clubs that were in training in Florida.

"They all appeared to be going along at a moderate gait," he said.

Naming of Heeney to Fight Tunney O. K. With New York Commissioners

By ED FRAYNE
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 3.—So far as the powers that govern New York's pugilistic destinies are concerned, the hand-picked heavyweight challenger is O. K.

James A. Farley, chairman of the state athletic commission, shook his head complacently today when asked whether there would be any objection to a championship match between Tom Heeney and Gene Tunney.

"Not the slightest," he said. "We were not concerned about who was picked, just so long as the contender is one of the men on our list.

Tex Within Rights.

"Tex Rickard was within his rights in naming Heeney so far as our rules are concerned. We sent him three names, Heeney, Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risko. He has picked one of these men. That is all we can ask."

What about the prices? Will the commission allow him to charge $50 for seats?

Farley chuckled.

"We haven't anything to say about it," he grinned. "The courts have taken that burden off our shoulders. They say we have nothing to say about the prices.

Passes the Buck.

"We were roasted for not letting them charge more than $25 in some memorable instances, and now I suppose we'll be blamed for letting them charge more than that. However, we'll have to pass the buck to the courts this time."

As may be judged, no one takes Rickard seriously when he says he is considering London as a possible site. British taxes would eat up 35 per cent of the receipts.

The fight will take place at the Yankee stadium during the week of July 22-28, according to the best information at hand.

Austin Beats Chicago Five, 29-25 In First Round of Prep Tourney

CHICAGO, April 3. The mountaineers completely outclassed the Albuquerque five, which was composed of full-blooded Indians. The game was the feature in today's tournament and attracted a large crowd.

Ruth's Homer Unavailing and Chattnooga Wins in 12th, 3-2

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 3. (U. P.)—Babe Ruth's first home run of the 1928 baseball season failed to prevent the New York Yankees from losing again here today.

The Chattanooga Southern league club beat the Yankees, 3 to 2, in 12 innings.

Ruth's homer came in the eleventh off Wilson and sailed far over the center field fence. Chattanooga tied the score in the last half of the eleventh and won in the twelfth.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 3. (AP)—A slight opening advance was followed by declines in the cotton market today, July contracts selling off from 19.39 to 19.16 and closing at that figure. The general market closed barely steady, at net declines of 11 to 16 points.

The market opened at an advance of 2 to 6 points, active months showing net gains of 4 to 7 points in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables. Some foreign trade buying was reported here, including orders from the continent and Liverpool, with covering by recent sellers. Demand was not active and prices soon turned easier on private reports of rains in the southwest and rumors of a small bool weevil survival in Louisiana.

After showing net losses of about 10 to 17 points the market rallied on publication of the official weather details showing only light showers at a few points in the southeast Texas. The greater part of the early losses was recovered, but demand was attributed chiefly to covering by recent sellers, and the market eased off again during the afternoon. Lowest prices of the day were touched in late trading, when May sold at 19.27 and October at 18.91. Last prices were at about the lowest of the day.

Private cables reported trade calling and covering in the Liverpool market. Port receipts today 23,742. U. S. port stocks 1,715,813. Exports 12,933, making 5,941,833 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 3. (AP)—The cotton market declined 8 to 11 points here today on failure of an expected boll weevil report to be issued at Washington and on expectations of a bearish report on fertiliser sales to the end of March by Secretary Hester of the local cotton exchange. Trading was moderate, influenced by the approach of the long Easter holiday.

In the early trading May advanced to 19.25, 10 points up, later eased off to 19.00, rallied eight points and closed at 19.05, 10 points down for the day.

Liverpool was 3 to 4 points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 4 to 5 points. July soon advanced to 19.02 and October to 18.71, 6 points up, in response to favorable cables and dry weather in the belt.

The market soon turned easier, however, on pre-holiday liquidation, selling due to disappointment at the failure of the weevil report to be issued, on the expected fertiliser sales report, and on rains in South Texas where needed. July dropped to 18.80 and October to 18.50, 21 to 22 points down from the early highs.

After rallying 7 to 9 points in the early afternoon on a circular from a well-known private authority claiming that weevils were numerous, prices eased off slightly in the final trading. July closing at 18.85 and October at 18.55, 10 to 22 points net lower.

Exports were 12,938 bales.

Bonds

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, April 3. (AP)—Trading was well diversified, but in moderate volume on the bond market today, with prices steady.

Considerable profit-taking was in evidence, although recessions were small. St. Paul 5s of 2000 were particularly susceptible to realizing after their recent rapid advance, while Denver and Rio Grande Western 5s also fell back slightly. Manhatan Railway 4s were inclined to heaviness, but some other New York Tractions continued to head upward, 23rd Street Railways 5s selling at 63½ for the first time this year after an advance of more than 2 points.

Duquesne Light 4½s showed further response to good 1927 earnings, while Detroit Edison 5s and New York Telephone 5s followed a firm course. Convertible issues continued to lead the industrial group, with Andes Copper 7s and Dold Packing 6s making the best showing, the latter reaching a new top for the year. Sinclair 6½s again scored a fractional gain.

The foreign group was generally firm. Some French industrials were in moderate demand, including Rhinelbe Union 7s. Japanese government 4s were a shade higher at a new year's maximum, but Tokyo 5½s turned heavy on realizing. Some of the recently firm Latin American issues were soft.

U. S. government issues were steady.

A new issue of $6,500,000 first mortgage gold 6s is planned by the Holly Sugar corporation in connection with retirement of all its existing funded debt.

Cotton—Stocks—Grain
Direct Leased Wire

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, April 3.—R. O. Harvey & Co., rooms 630-37 Harvey-Snider bldg., received the following Tuesday on cotton and grain from their New York and Chicago correspondents:

Cotton

NEW YORK—As was the case several previous occasions, the 19 cent level has attracted selelrs. This and a lessening demand for the near positions seem to be discouraging recent buyers and causing scattered long liquidation. While this movement may possibly carry a little further, we doubt the possibility of any material decline and prefer the constructive side on any set backs.

E. A. PIERCE & CO.

Grain

CHICAGO, Ills., April 3rd.—Wheat finished at the top of the day and the strongest at any time on the crop. Buying inspired by reports from sections of the southwest that crop was losing ground owing to lack of sufficient moisture and there was talk of rain being needed and dust torms in central Illinois. One of the larger local operators, credited with much buying today and locals generally are working that side. Selling against privileges checked the upturn. Seaboard indicated export sales of 500,000 bushels. Liverpool closed ¼ to ⅝ higher—Buenos Aires was unchanged to ¼ higher at mid-day. The forecast is for increasing cloudiness with showers. There is a noticeable increase in outside trade. It is a weather market and we continue t oadvise the purchase of wheat on minor reactions, anticipating further advances from this level.

Corn met with liquidation in volume in the early trade, but later rallied easily wheat. Receipts were estimated at 99 cars. Cash trading basis was realitively steady to one cent higher. There were indications of export sales, but domestic shipping sales were larger at 171,000 bushels. Weather favorable for movement. Market not getting the attention it has recently, as traders are more inclined to follow wheat. Do not care to consider the short ide of cor with wheat so strong, but still feel inclined to await a revival in the cash demand, before again working the buying side, excepting on occasional dips in a seathing way.

Oats—Liquidation ran its course early and market recovered on buying by cash interests and by locals inspired by the rally in other grains. Trade moderate.

Rye—Light trade with some pressure on the distant months offset by the firmness in wheat.

Wall Street Receives Shock After Close When Loan Report Reveals Huge Borrowing Gain

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Aeroplane and railroad shares featured a recover yin the stock market today. Wright soared 32 points and Curtiss jumped over 18 as several bullish rumors were circulated, mostly dealing with Ford's plans.

Increase in the Atchison dividend was the main influence to the better demand for the carrier stocks. Following the announcement Central and other high-grade rails moved ahead more vigorously while Wabash and others in the more speculative group were helped by expectation of early announcement concerning agreement between the eastern magnates.

Money was in a little better supply with the rate holding at 5 per cent throughout. Sterling led another strong market in foreign exchange. Cotton declined after an early rally, while wheat and other commodities moved steadily under the influence of bullish weather advices.

The street received rather a shock after the close when the stock exchange issued its loan report showing borrowings at the close of March. Instead of an increase of less than $150,000,000 as most brokers' expected, it showed gain of $317,595,258 during the month. This put loans at a new high record, within $400,000,000 of the $5,000,000,000 total forecast by W. C. Durant early in the year. However, even though the speculative community was greatly surprised, there was none with sufficient courage to forecast the effect of the report on tomorrow morning's market. Those controlling price fluctuations thus far have entirely ignored the mounting loans and the threat contained therein of ultimate drastic reaction.

Texas and Pacific, with gain of nine points further evidenced the strong technical position that has resulted from taking stock out of the street. As stated heretofore those holdin gthis stock will not sell and with Missouri Pacific owning 50 per cent there is a constantly decreasing supply for trading purposes. A similar condition exists in regard to Wabash and a few others which will play an important part in merger developments. Atchison benefitted to the extent of more than two points from the higher dividend. Now that the Atchison board has seen fit to award patient stockholders it was thought that directors of some other roads might follow suit.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, April 3. (AP)—Trading was confused and price movements mixed on the curb market today. Group strength appeared only in the sugars which moved up on announcement of increased prices. Considerable profit taking was in evidence, forcing down some of the recent leaders for the advance. On the other hand, newly active issues showed wide gains many on small turnover.

Central Aguirre, Fajardo and Natural sugar refiners reached new high ground with advances as great as 5 points. American Solvents and Chemical, Bohn Aluminum and Brass, Celanese, Deere and company, Marion Steam Shovel and Niles Cement Pond made a substantial gain. Mengel, Habirshaw Cab, Hartford Times pfd., and Eastern Rolling Mills touched new peaks for the year.

Bancitaly was under pressure, sagging nearly 4 points. Ford of Canada, Newmont Mines, Fanny Farmer, Sanitary Grocers and Stroock and company lost ground.

The utilities were irregular and oils and pipe elines rather weak.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, April 3. (AP)—Transactions in the wool market are of small volume, demand being largely from covering orders for which current stocks are inadequate. Prices remain very firm in all lines. Small sales of territory medium grade wool have been closed at prices that indicate an advancing tendency.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW
By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, April 3.—After half an hour of relaxation at the beginning of the session today all the grains firmed up and marched forward to a higher close. Wheat was the decided leader and showed an advance of 1⅛c to 2⅛c at the end. Corn gained ½c to ⅝c; oats ⅛c to ⅝c, and rye 1⅛c to 1⅜c.

Receipts of corn were only 94 cars, but this was hardly what gave strength to that market. The upturn probably was due to its sold-out condition more than to anything else. Buying on the early setback took the slack out of the market.

There was some big selling of corn around the bottom price for the May future, 98⅝c. The way in which the market acted later suggested that this corn had not been bought back up to the close. If it was short selling it may serve as a cushion to bounce the market up again if it drops down early tomorrow.

The situation on May oats looks tight enough to give sympathetic strength to May corn.

Rye is in a strong position. The estimate on this year's crop at this time is more than 10,000,000 bushels under the crop harvested last year. Rye looks cheap at its present discount under wheat. In the cash market wheat, oats, rye and barley were steady to firm.

OIL STOCKS IN NEW CONCERN

National Holding Corporation Given Charter

The National Holding corporation, with headquarters in Wichita Falls, was chartered by the secretary of state Tuesday, according to advices received here by D. M. Henry, who will be one of the active members of the new concern. Mr. Henry was notified of the action by D. S. Parshall, oil operator here, who is president of the new corporation. G. F. The new corporation, Mr. Henry explained, was formed for the temporary purpose of concentrating stock in the Ohio and Mid-City Oil corporation, of which D. S. Parshall is president; the Empire Holding corporation, and the Eastern Petroleum company, all of which have headquarters in Wichita Falls. Other powers are also vested in the new corporation, Mr. Henry said.

The Ohio and Mid-City corporation, which deals in oil royalties exclusively, is one of the largest of its kind in the southwest, having branch offices in New York and Boston and other eastern points. The Empire Holding company recently sold its entire production and a large number of leases to the Eastern Petroleum company, however, it will still be maintained in business and in the new National Holding corporation, Mr. Henry said.
