Plan Would Add 15,000 To Census

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

MEMBERS of the city commission took under advisement Thursday afternoon 12 recommended extensions of the city limits which would add about 15,000 people to the population and about 10 square miles to the territorial area of Lubbock.

They are to meet again at 1:30 p. m. today to consider the proposed annexations one by one.

The additions were recommended after several months of study by a special chamber of commerce committee headed by J. Ray Dickey, former city commissioner. Dickey presented the recommendations. Homer D. Grant, chamber president, also attended the meeting.

To Study Costs Of Plan

The clear implications were that the special meeting will delve extensively into the cost of the proposed extensions, and how they might be financed. Commissioners W. B. Price and E. K. Hufstedler were particularly emphatic on this point.

"I want to try to find out what we are getting into before we get into it," Price commented, a remark which drew a fervent "amen" from Hufstedler.

But Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioners John Spikes and Clarence Whiteside concurred in the view that each proposed annexation could be considered individually and in whatever detail circumstances seem to require.

No Indication Of Action

There was nothing to indicate what actions might be taken on the various proposals today.

But expressions indicated members of the commission are unanimous in their desire to hasten as much as possible any extensions which they consider within the financial capacity of the city.

In a general way, the recommended program proposes extensions of the city limits in all directions, but the greater portions in south, southwesterly and western directions.

Would Extend East

It also would include large areas of East Lubbock, fixing the new boundary at a point about two miles east of the present city limit, which crosses East Broadway near the entrance to Mackenzie State park.

Excluded, however, would be some portions of East Lubbock where "shack-town" building and sanitary conditions are among the worst in any of the city's suburbs.

In more detail, here are the annexations recommended by the chamber committee, membership of which is composed of business and civic leaders both in the city and the suburbs:

Northern Area Extensive

No. 1. North Lubbock—An irregularly bounded area extending from North Tyler avenue eastward to include Country club addition. This area extends about two miles from east to west and would extend the city boundaries about a mile north of the present limits.

NEW STREET SIGNS OKAYED — You'll be seeing name signs of the designs pictured above at the intersections of all Lubbock streets within the next few weeks. Mrs. Nina Harris, a city employe, holds on her lap the type of signs to be erected in the business district — four sets at each intersection. The cross-bar signs at right will be put up in the residential areas. The signs consist of baked enamel lettering and numerals on a white background. Their purchase was authorized by the city commission Thursday at a cost of $8,207.29, the lowest of 17 bids submitted. (Staff Photo.)

'WHITE WAY' LIGHTS, STREET MARKERS PURCHASED

City Projects Approved

LIGHTS for approximately five more miles of "white way" streets in Lubbock were bought by the city commission at the semi-monthly meeting in the city hall Thursday afternoon.

The commission also approved the purchase of new street-name signs for every intersection in the city and gave the "go ahead" signal for the provision of a separate building for the city-county department of public health and welfare in northeast Lubbock.

The newly lighted thoroughfares for which provision was made actually will be "blue ways." The new lamps, each the size of a medium wash-tub, will provide illumination of a delicately blue tint wholly free from glare.

Streets Are Announced

The streets, all heavy traveled and all part of the city's highway dispersal system, are:

Avenue A from Broadway to Nineteenth; College avenue from Fourth to Nineteenth; Texas from Nineteenth to Thirtieth and Nineteenth from Texas to Tyler.

The new lights are to be spaced at intervals of 120 feet and will be alternated on opposite sides of the illuminated streets except on Nineteenth between College and Tyler. There they will be on the south side of the street only, and 240 feet apart.

Cost Figured At $50,000

The whole undertaking will cost about $50,000, according to the estimates of City Manager Steve Matthews and City Director of Public Works R. L. Oldham.

Most of the fixtures were bought from the General Electric Supply co., the lowest of three bidders. Purchases from this company aggregated approximately $25,000. Installations will cost almost as much more, all to be paid out of bonds voted for that purpose.

Deliveries were promised within two weeks. Matthews said installations will be started as soon as possible thereafter, but several weeks will be required to complete the work.

The new street signs were bought from John K. Taylor co., of Oklahoma City, on a bid of Lilienthal Reveals 'Improved' A-Bombs In Production In U. S.

By MILTON KAPLAN
(INS) Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Atomic Energy commission Chairman Lilienthal declared tonight the U. S. has a "considerable" number of "improved" A-bombs "with other designs well along and a substantial rate of production."

Lilienthal said, however, that Russia's acquisition of the atomic weapon means that the U. S. should return to its wartime nuclear partnership with Britain and Canada, a state of affairs prohibited by the existing atomic energy control act.

The chairman's exact words in this connection were:

"In part, the news (of Russia's A-bomb) means to me that we should stop this senseless business of choking ourselves by some of the extremes of secrecy to which we have been driven . . .

Should Lose No Time

". . . We should lose no time working out a broader area of co-operation in atomic matters with Britain and Canada, on the basis of the most rational and effective use of the combined brain-power and materials of the three nations."

Lilienthal spoke at the annual Freedom House award dinner. He and Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retired U. S. commander in post war Germany, received the two awards for outstanding contributions to democracy.

Under the atomic energy control act, the free interchance of

Fair, Continued Cool Weather Is Forecast

Maybe. That was the attitude of a spineless cold front hanging just north of the Texas Panhandle last night, still undecided about an invasion of the South Plains.

Scoffing at the mass of cold air, the Lubbock forecaster said even if the front should get here by Saturday morning, it was too weak to have much effect on temperatures.

So, the good word for today and Saturday is mostly fair skies, little change in temperatures, little chance for frost or freeze and almost no chance for rain, the weatherman said.

However, cool morning temperatures near 40 degrees are expected Friday and Saturday, with top afternoon readings around 72. High Thursday reading in Lubbock was 74, after an early morning low of 38 degrees.

Former Gaines Man Dies In Plane Crash

ISLEHAM, Eng., Oct. 13 (AP)—Twelve airmen bound from Britain to Helgoland on a practice mission were blasted to death today by the plunge of their U. S. Air Force B-50 bomber into a wheatfield with three tons of live bombs aboard.

(A former resident of Seagraves, Tex., Tech. Sgt. Arthur Gilbreath, 24, was reported aboard the plane. Home base of the plane was Tucson, Ariz.)

The countryside for 12 miles around was jarred by the blast. None aboard escaped. Bodies of the men and parts of the plane were hurled over wide areas of the field. The main explosion gouged out a crater 10 feet deep and 30 feet wide.

The B-50 is designed to carry the atom bomb.

FORMER RESIDENT OF SEAGRAVES IS VICTIM

SEAGRAVES, Oct. 13 (Special)—Technical Sergeant Arthur Gilbreath, 24, former resident here, was one of the 12 killed in the U.S. Air Force bomber crash in England today.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Gilbreath, now of Porterville, Calif., told the Webb Funeral home here they had been notified of their son's death. Gilbreath, a graduate of Seagraves High school, was a radio operator on the plane. His grandmother, Mrs. S. H. Gilbreath, lives here. His wife, the former Miss Irma Oslin, was reported visiting in Pampa.

20 Percent Cut On 1950 Cotton Looms

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—The government, which holds a $550,000,000 cotton surplus, proposed a rigid control program today designed to cut 1950 production at least 20 percent below this year.

The program would include acreage planting allotments and marketing quotas.

Cotton held by the government was acquired under grower price support programs. It represents supplies from 1948 and 1949 crops not needed by the market.

Okay Of Quotas Needed

The quotas must be approved by at least two thirds of the growers voting in a referendum before they can be put into effect. Growers will vote Dec. 15.

Proposed by the Agriculture department, the program would seek to hold next year's crop to about 11,733,750 bales compared with 15,446,000 produced this year.

The control program would go as far as the law permits in restricting production. It sets a national planting allotment of 21,000,000 acres and would limit penalty-free sales to the amount grown on those acres, providing, of course, growers voted for quotas.

By comparison, farmers planted about 26,380,000 acres this year.

Plan Outlined

If quotas are approved, growers will be free to sell all the cotton they produce on their planting allotment. Cotton grown on excess acres would if sold, be subject to a penalty tax equal to half the June 15, 1950, parity price of cotton. At present parity rates, the penalty would be about 15 cents a pound, or slightly more than half the market value.

The 21,000,000 acre planting allotment will be divided among cotton growing states and counties and then apportioned among individual farmers on the basis of formulas in farm laws. These formulas take into account past planting by individual farmers and recent trends in state acreages.

The referendum will be held in all cotton producing counties of these states. Only farmers produc-

Truman Assails Action On Olds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP) — President Truman described as a bad thing the Senate's 53 to 15 rejection of his nomination of Leland Olds for a third term on the Federal Power commission.

He also told a news conference he is not considering seizure of the soft coal mines and he sees no need for changing our fundamental defense policies.

Answering a barrage of questions regarding the Olds nomination, which the Senate turned down early today after a torrid debate, Mr. Truman said he could not give Olds a recess appointment after Congress adjourns because the Senate had rejected him.

He said he will have to appoint a new commissioner, but has no one in sight.

Tech Homecoming Program Will Get Underway Today

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE largest annual Homecoming festivities in the history of Texas Technological college will officially get underway at 3 p. m. today with a meeting of the executive council of the Ex-Students' association in the speech building auditorium.

Registration of exes will begin in the Lubbock and Hilton hotel lobbies at 5 p. m. and will continue there and in all the main buildings on the campus Saturday morning. An expected crowd of over 8,000 alumni will receive name cards at registration.

Possibility that the Ex-Students association will make an annual distinguished service award to the most outstanding alumni of the college at each spring commencement will head the list of business to be undertaken by the association in their afternoon session.

Award Plan Explained

To be awarded to the ex who has rendered a service to any one thing which has brought the most credit to Tech during the year, the award must meet with the approval of the executive board as well as the college before it can become a definite annual honor.

Nominations for the award, should it be approved, would be accepted from any alumni, D. M. McElroy, executive-secretary of the Ex-Students association, said. It would be aimed at promoting work among exes for the betterment of society in general and for giving recognition to those alumni outstanding in their field.

Bonfire Scheduled

The afternoon meeting of the executive board will precede the

Lubbock Infant Is Taken To Galveston For Medical Report

Billie Eugene Williams left Lubbock last night for Galveston, where the eight-month-old boy will receive medical examination that may lead to an operation to correct his defective heart and lung condition.

The infant, whose plight brought contributions totaling $736.46 to finance a chance for a normal life, was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. B. A. Williams, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Audie Ashworth.

They are scheduled to arrive in Galveston at 9 a.m. today, and will be met at the station by Capt. William Alling, commanding officer of the Salvation Army unit in Galveston.

Child To Go To Hospital

Billie Eugene will go to the diagnostic center of the University of Texas medical school, while his mother and Mrs. Ashworth will be provided quarters by the Salvation Army.

They left Lubbock at 7 p. m. in a Santa Fe Pullman. Capt. Tom Gregory, commander of the Lubbock Salvation Army post, made arrangements for transportation. Notification arrived in Lubbock Thursday afternoon that a hospital bed was available.

While Mrs. Williams is in Galveston for the week or 10 days believed necessary for the examination, her husband and relatives will care for the other three Williams children.

Part Of Fund Used

From the fund sent to The Avalanche - Journal for the Williams infant, $175 was turned over to the family for transportation and other expenses. The remainder will be kept to finance future medical treatment that might give the youngster a chance at MIAMI, Oct. 13. (INS) — The Miami Weather bureau reported late today that a small tropical disturbance has developed over the southeastern Bahama islands about 450 miles southeast of Miami.

A 4:30 p. m. (CST) advisory said highest winds around the center were clocked at 30 to 35 miles an hour and heavy rains were reported in the area's eastern semicircle.

Forecasters said the disturbance is expected to increase in intensity and move northeastward into the Atlantic by midnight tonight.

Solons Open New Attack On DP Bill

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 — Republicans tonight launched a filibuster in the Senate and sent glimmering any hopes of quick congressional adjournment.

Led by Sen. Cain (R-Wash) GOP opponents of liberalized displaced persons legislation appeared ready to try to talk the Truman-supported measure to death.

House Democratic leader McCormack, Mass., earlier had said he was advised by Senate Democratic leaders that it would be impossible to wind up the session before next Wednesday.

Plans Disrupted

Thus, when it became clear that the GOP talkfest was a filibuster, all adjournment schedules were disrupted.

Adding to Democratic congressional leaders' woes were House-Senate deadlocks on farm subsidies, the size of the Air Force, and other legislation.

Cain held the floor continuously from 1:35 p.m. (EST) until the Senate recessed at 6:55, with the DP bill still the pending business when the upper chamber meets Friday at 11 a.m.

Sens. Langer (R-ND) and Donnell (R-Mo) said they have "rather long" speeches to deliver on the issue. Every Senator is entitled to make two speeches on any given proposal.

Cain threatened an extension of debate until Judiciary committee Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) returns in a week or two from his study of the DP matter in Europe.

Test Is Due

Opponents of the legislation liberalizing the existing law conceded they would win or lose when the Senate votes on a motion to send the bill back to the committee. Recommittal generally spells finis.

Senate Democratic leader Lucas, Ill., who blasted the Truman-supported DP bill out of the Judiciary committee after weeks of effort, declared there will be no adjournment "until we take it up."

The DP bill would liberalize the GOP-passed measure of 1948, signed by Mr. Truman but assailed by him as anti-Catholic and anti-Jewish, to allow entrance into the

Defense Policies Upheld By HST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP) — President Truman today described the nation's defenses as adequate, although the Navy's No. 1 officer complained that naval aviation and the Marine Corps are in danger of being scrapped.

Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations, made the complaint before the House Armed Services committee.

Denfeld said that under the unified defense setup, the Army and Air Force can actually control the Navy, and often do. He said also that the Air Force has argued for complete elimination of the carrier task force, the "most powerful instrument of modern warfare." The Army, he said, has urged its "serious reduction."

Hear From Truman

Right after the chief of naval operations had smashed at handling of the unification law and the Navy's treatment in the Pentagon's top levels, reporters heard from President Truman that he sees no reason to change fundamentals of defense policy.

Mr. Truman declined comment on testimony of Denfeld or other admirals who have rapped Air Force emphasis on the B-36 for atom bombing while they contended naval aviation is being neglected. He said the defense pol-

Lewis Talks Of Mines Seizure

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 13 (AP) — John L. Lewis talked today about possible government seizure of the coal mines to end the strike.

President Truman said he has no plans for such.

Operator sources discounted any possibility of outright government operation, saying there is no legal way to bring it about.

Lewis listed a "bona fide" seizure as the government's alternative for settling the coal strike—rather than by injunction or the kind of federal operation there has been in other years.

Lewis Sets Price

He brought this out at a news conference in which he disclosed his demands would raise the price of producing coal by 30 to 35 cents a ton.

He said this increase could be absorbed from profits and would cost the consumer no more. Operators denied this.

The United Mine Workers president told the government that 400,000 striking miners would go back under "bona fide" control of the mines.

However, President Truman told a news conference in Washington he has no thought of taking over the mines. If such a step should be necessary, Mr. Truman

Attlee Declares No 'Early' Election Planned In Britain

LONDON, Oct. 13. (INS) — Prime Minister Attlee announced today after a cabinet huddle that there will be no general elections this year ahead of the 1950 schedule.

A groan immediately arose from Conservative party members who are meeting at a London convention, and who had warned their constituents to be prepared for a possible "snap" election next month following the dispute over currency devaluation.

Winston Churchill, Conservative leader, immediately attacked Attlee for belatedly ending speculation about an early election.

Lubbock Girl Is 'Snowed Under' With Letters After Appeal Made

By ROGER SOUTHALL

RECEIVING three or four letters in one single day is a big event for most people.

How do you suppose they would feel if they received as many as 1,500 or more in a day's time?

Frances Jondahl, of 2103 Fifth, says it feels "just like you're being snowed under."

And she should know. For she has received close to 3,500 letters and parcels within the past three days. It would be impossible to estimate how many will arrive in the next few days.

The letters are the aftermath of a letter written by Frances' mother, Mrs. H. S. Jondahl, to Jack McElroy, emcee of the Breakfast in Hollywood radio program, asking listeners to write letters to her daughter, who is a cerebral palsy victim.

The letter was read last Monday on the regular Breakfast in Hollywood broadcast over Station KFYO and hundreds of other such stations over the nation.

Letters and cards began to arrive in Lubbock the following day. Most of the early arrivals were sent air mail, special delivery and

Shirley Temple Files Suit For Divorce Against Actor Husband As Story-Book Romance Ends

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.—The story of Shirley Temple's matrimonial break-up, rumored for several weeks, was revealed today.

Shirley, known to millions of theatergoers over the world, filed her divorce suit today against handsome John Agar on charges that he "treated her with extreme cruelty and inflicted grievous mental suffering."

She asked for custody of their daughter, Linda Susan, with reasonable visitation rights for the father. She wanted no alimony nor support for the child.

For weeks the marriage of the beloved little star has been on very uncertain grounds and there were many rumors about her unhappiness.

Shirley announced early today she was going to divorce John Agar and would file suit immediately.

Explaining the announcement, she said:

"Oh, it's not sudden. I've been in Palm Springs for six days all by myself, trying to think out the best thing to do. I didn't want to break up my home and my marriage, but there's no other way.

"I don't want to hurt John. I want our separation and divorce to be dignified. I am merely going to charge cruelty.

"John is a nice boy, but he's a little mixed up.

"I'm sure he won't contest my divorce suit and I believe he will let me have our baby, Linda Susan."

In reply to Shirley, John said: "We just could not get along eye to eye. I want to say, however, that I was shocked and sorry when Shirley came home from Palm Springs and told me she wanted a divorce. It was the first news I had had about her intentions. We had never discussed it.

Suspect In Big Spring Murder Case Arrested In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP) — David Crockett Callaway, charged with murder in a Sept. 26 slaying at Big Spring, was in jail here today.

The 41-year-old transient cotton picker was arrested originally on robbery charges here. But today he was identified from fingerprints as the man sought in the bludgeon slaying of Hope Leonard, 49, Big Spring trucker.

The murder charges were filed Sept. 27 in 70th judicial court at Big Spring, the day after Leonard's body was found, skull crushed and jaw broken, west of Big Spring.

Suspect Denies Guilt

Deputy Sheriff John Roberts and newspaper reporters questioned Callaway in his cell today. Callaway denied guilt but admitted leaving Big Spring around the slaying date. He said rain had spoiled cotton picking prospects.

The suspect said he had tramped over the state recently, staying briefly in Lamesa, Lubbock and Colorado City before coming here last Thursday. The next day he and two other men were arrested in an assault and robbery case. His fingerprints were sent to the Department of Public Safety in Austin, which reported they coincided with those on file of the Big Spring slaying suspect.

Howard county Chief Deputy Sheriff C. E. Kiser said Callaway's fingerprints were taken a few days before the slaying when he was arrested on a drunk charge. Kiser said Callaway was seen with Leonard shortly before the latter's body was found.

Retired Coast Guard Admiral Is Found Strangled To Death

LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 13, (INS)—Rear Admiral Louis J. Bennett, 63, U. S. Coach Guard, retired, and a veteran of 40 years of service, strangled himself to death today with a belt in his Long Beach home, police reported.

Officers, called to his apartment by his wife, Mrs. Clara A. Bennett, found the pajama-clad body lying on the floor of his bedroom. He had slipped the belt around his neck with a noose, tied the other end to a bedpost and strangled by dropping to the floor.

Mrs. Bennett could ascribe no motive for the act.

The admiral was a two-time commandant of the 11th Coast Guard district. He last assumed command of the district on May 31, 1946, tranferring from a post as commanding officer of the Coach Guard Training station at Groton, Conn.

He retired in 1948.

Rivers of grass...

"Rivers of grass" flow across this country. Millions of cattle and lambs have spent the spring and summer turning grass into meat. Now they are ready for round-up and shipment. So in October they move to the markets—in a great flood of livestock. Many go direct from the range to meat-packing plants. Others go to the feed lots to be grain-finished. But, either way, these meat animals are mostly grass—which folks cannot eat—converted into appetizing, nourishing meat for people. They are adding greatly to the health and wealth of the nation. Without this "livestock economy," in which you and we are engaged, 779,000,000 acres of our United States would produce little food for human use.

Whether you ship your cattle and lambs early or late—whether it's to Chicago, Ft. Worth, Denver or any of scores of other markets—you'll find buyers there to bid for them. With many others, Swift & Company helps provide the year-'round daily market which is as essential to your business as it is to ours.

Your grass, turned into meat, is a vital raw material of all meat-packing operations. There is keen competition for it. Every meat packer and commercial slaughterer (and there are more than 18,000 of them in the United States) must have a regular supply of meat animals. Each buyer knows the high bid gets the animals. He knows also that his own price range is set by supply and demand. He sees your steers and lambs as so many pounds of meat and by-products. The price you are offered for your livestock is governed by what the meat packer can get for the meat and the by-products.

Your Markets for Meat

In the early days of our country, livestock was produced close to the point where it was eaten. But as the population grew, those conditions changed. Today two thirds of the people live east of the Mississippi, while two thirds of the livestock is produced west of that river. To bridge that gap of more than 1,000 miles is no small job. Millions of head of livestock must be processed and the meat distributed to where it is wanted. The facilities of nationwide meat packers provide you with markets for your meat animals; move the meat to cities and towns where it is in demand.

Swift & Company, and other nationwide meat packers, sell meat to retailers wherever there are people who want to buy it . . . no matter how far that may be from your farm or ranch. We bring you the benefit of national, rather than local, demand. This means that, in selling your livestock, you choose between the price created by local demand, or the price created by the national demand of millions of meat eaters.

We work hard to encourage people to serve meat oftener—to eat more of it . . . And we are proud that our nationwide system is one of the most efficient, low-cost food distribution systems in the United States.

Quotes of the Month

"We, as ranchers, are not sufficient unto ourselves. In fact, we are only the beginning of the beef line. Of equal importance are the feeder, the processor, the distributor and the consumer. Disregard the rights or welfare of any of these, and sooner or later we suffer."

"He gave it for his opinion that whoever could make two ears of corn, or two blades of grass, to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before, would deserve better of mankind, and do more essential service to his country, than the whole race of politicians put together."

Supplement that Poor Forage

by Robert D. Rasmussen
New Mexico A. & M. College

Dried-up pastures and winter weather create the same feeding problem for the cattleman. They simply mean that you have lower quality feed and less of it. And you have little choice as to what you can do about it. You can let the cattle eat what they can find. In this case you're likely to take a weight loss on your cows. You'll also take a chance on a weak calf crop. Or you can feed a supplement. If you feed enough of the right kind, your cows and unborn calves will come through in good, healthy condition.

California experiments on deficient range showed the cow herd that got a protein supplement produced a 91% calf crop. Cows on similar range, without a supplement, produced a 61% calf crop. Arizona found that feeding supplement increased the weight of the calves at birth by 10 pounds.

The amount of supplement needed varies. Cows carrying calves, and young stock require more protein than open cows or mature animals. A safe rule to follow is to watch the condition of the stock. Keep them healthy and thrifty.

Research by the New Mexico agricultural experiment station shows that during the winter months range forage is most critically short of phosphorus as well as protein. While some of the cake supplements are high in phosphorus as well as protein, most ranchers over the state are using mineral supplement for year-'round use. A mineral supplement containing at least 6% phosphorus should be made available at all times to range cattle. Experiments have shown that year-'round use is better and more profitable than seasonal use.

Here's a goal for cattlemen. Use whatever kind and amount of supplement is necessary to keep your cattle healthy and thrifty. (Editor's Note: The principles of animal nutrition discussed above apply in all parts of the country.)

MENTAL ILLNESS EMPHASIZED

Society Losing Ground In Fight To Cure Own Ills, Doctor Claims

By JAMES CALDWELL
INS Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Oct. 13 — A Denver psychiatrist declared today that although modern society has learned to make an atomic bomb, it is losing ground in the fight to cure its own ills.

Dr. Bradford Murphey of the mental hygiene committee of the Colorado State Medical society, commented on the alarming increase in mental illness after a report on the Colorado State hospital was made public.

Swift Increase Noted

The number of patients in the State Mental hospital at Pueblo has increased ten times faster than the population of the state in the last ten years.

Dr. Murphey said:

"We are making progress in treatment of mental sickness. The percentage if 'cures' is higher. But science is not moving ahead fast enough to win the race."

National Problem Claimed

Dr. Murphey said a longer life span is one important reason for the situation at Pueblo, which he said is a national problem, as well.

He stated: "People live longer and deterioration sets in from various causes."

Other causes listed were "the increasing pressure of living—the machine-age speedup, and the growing materialistic philosophy of our civilization."

The physician declared:

"Society may not be anti-moral, but it is increasingly ammoral. People, without the traditional background of religion, have nothing to fall back upon but their own character."

Vicious Circle Provided

Dr. Murphey also noted that the problem provides "a vicious circle."

He said:

"More and more people are becoming ill, mentally, or otherwise, and society must care for them. This tends to put a greater economic burden on the others—and in turn results in more breakdowns."

The report on Colorado's hospital for the mentally ill came from William M. Williams, state planning director. He said the state's most serious problem is overcrowding at the Pueblo institution.

Rooms Overcrowded

More than 5,000 persons are crowded 13 to a room, and even living in hallways at the hospital, he said.

Facilities in buildings now obsolete are for 2,500, but the figure will be increased to 3,100 by completion of two buildings now under construction.

The cost if the new structures will be over $3 million including equipment, and Williams added that another $8 million should be spent in the next eight years to provide the minimum building needs.

Accused Deputy Is Charged With Lunacy

HOUSTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — Raymond Chambers, the former deputy sheriff charged with trying to extort $50,000 from oilman Glenn McCarthy, was examined by a psychiatrist today.

Chambers, released yesterday under $7,500 bond, entered the City-County hospital today after being charged with lunacy.

County Judge Glenn A. Perry named Dr. Abe Hauser to make the psychiatric examination.

Joe Ed Winfree, sr., attorney for Chambers, said Hauser promised to make a report to Perry Saturday.

Chambers entered a plea of not guilty to the federal charge of mailing a threatening note to McCarthy.

Galen N. Willis, agent in charge of the Houston FBI office, said his agents still are investigating the attempted extortion.

FBI agents arrested Chambers yesterday morning as he was going off duty at McCarthy's Shamrock, where he was a janitor. He joined the Shamrock staff as a detective early this year and became a janitor two months ago.

IN IDAHO THEY GO, SNOW OR NO—Sure, sled-pulling huskies are a little out of season, but this is Sun Valley, Idaho, and they're getting the dogs in shape for winter. The rubber-tired cart is just the thing to give the huskies the feel of the harness for next winter's tourist hauls.

Slice a banana lengthwise and then arrange the flat thin slices fanshape over salad greens for an attractive salad. Add almost any other fresh fruit in season—melon, berries, peaches—and serve with sour cream dressing.

For an extra-special sandwich filling mix cream cheese, deviled ham, and finely ground pimento-stuffed olives. This filling may also be used with Parkerhouse rolls, and served with a luncheon salad.

Early State Senator Dies In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP) — William J. Bailey, sr., Fort Worth capitalist, died today at his home. He was 89.

He had been ill six weeks and in a coma for a week.

He had lived in Fort Worth since 1882. He was elected state senator in 1889 at the age of 27.

He also served as attorney general, was an official district court stenographer here, and reported proceedings of the 24th and 25th legislatures in Austin for five Texas newspapers.

Bailey was one of the pioneer champions of Fort Worth's growth. With other business men, he was instrumental in bringing the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway and the packing industries to the city.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday.

Canadian Mayor Runs Into Girl Day After Opening Safety Drive

BARRIE, Ont., Oct. 13. (INS)—Today's court action in the Lake Simcoe town of Barrie was like something out of Gelbert and Sullivan.

Mayor Grant K. Mayor (that's right, the mayor's surname is Mayor) was the defendant on a charge of running into a 15-year-old girl with his car.

The accident took place one day after Mayor Mayor helped open a safe driving campaign.

Mayor Mayor was fined $15 and costs by Maginstrate Gordon R. Foster, a member of Barrie's three-man police commission. The mayor is a second member and if he appeals, the case will come before the third member of the commission, Judge James G. Harvie.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

THE motion picture magazines that set out to show how beautifully normal are the lives the stars lead must have red faces. It seems to us that the stacks we have examined at the beauty shop in recent months have been dedicated to showing Shirley Temple as an ever loving wife and mother, a normal young woman who has just turned 21.

If you read the evening papers Thursday or listened to the radio newscasts you know, of course, that Shirley Temple's marriage has turned out to be like many others out there—dissolved and even with the standard charge of mental cruelty. Ho hum!

It's not surprising to the Woman's Angle that this film world marriage is ending on the rocks. We wonder that it has lasted as long as it has. For what has there ever been in Shirley Temple's life to make it normal and the all American girl type. She was shoved in front of the footlights when she was just past babyhood and every thing she has done since has been reproduced in print.

She was never privileged to attend the public schools and at the age when most girls are thinking of college life she was being fitted for a wedding gown. The little girl with the innocent eyes and the rosebud mouth is in truth a "poor little rich girl" and is joining that part of the cinema capital that Alice in Wonderland would describe as "just like a pack of cards."

MORE CAKE RECIPES

A READER says this fruit cake made with sweetened condensed milk is delicious when served as a pudding with whipped cream. Take care not to overbake it. Here is the recipe:

One can condensed milk, one box coconut, one package dates, one and one-half cup nuts, one-fourth cup each pineapple and cherries (candied), lemon peel, raisins and citrons as preferred.

Grease a baking dish, line with waxed paper and grease again. Bake in a moderate oven for 35 to 40 minutes.

Here is an Ice Box cake that does not have to be cooked. One-half pound marshmallows, one-half cup nuts, one-half pound dates, one-half pound graham crackers, one-half cup evaporated milk, one bottle cherries.

Chip fruit and roll crackers and mix with cream. Knead together. Put oiled paper in a covered dish and press cake in firmly. Let stand in refrigerator until ready to serve.

HERE is a Bakeless Cake which the reader says appeals to her because it is so easily prepared and calls for no butter, eggs, sugar or flour.

Two pounds rolled graham crackers, two pounds walnuts, two pounds almonds, one pound pecans, one No. 2 can pineapple made into preserves or candied pineapple, one bottle cherries, one pound dates, one pound raisins, one pound figs, one-half pound peach or other preserves, three cups fruit juice, one pound marshmallows, one large can condensed milk.

Cook juice, marshmallows and milk until the marshmallows melt. Work in other ingredients, rolling the fruit in graham cracker crumbs to keep from sticking together.

Area Surrounding New Bastrop Well Designated Marshal Field

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—The area surrounding the McDonnald well No. 1 Bastrop county, has been formally designated as the Marshall field.

The Railroad commission granted a discovery allowable of 40 barrels a day and new field designation.

The commission held up designation of a spacing pattern for the new field until additional wells have been drilled. The well, drilled by Jessie I. White of Austin, was brought in Aug. 5.

It is in the Martha Barker survey, two and one-half miles northeast of Cedar Creek in Bastrop county, more than three miles from the nearest production.

The well was brought in at 1,872-81 feet in the Dale lime.

U. S. Marshal Seeks General Emmons To Serve Old Summons

HONOLULU, Oct. 13. (AP) — A United States marshal said today he was trying to find Lt. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, former military governor of Hawaii, to serve a three-year-old summons.

The retired general is named in a $130,000 martial law suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Walther of Honolulu in 1946. Marshal Otto F. Heine said his office hasn't been able to serve the summons.

Emmons and his wife arrived here yesterday aboard the Army transport General Buckner on their way to Tokyo for a vacation. At the dock to greet them were Lt. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, Mrs. Aurand and Brig. Gen. Albert E. Pierson.

No one from Heine's office was there.

Later in the day, Deputy U. S. Marshal Emmanuel U. Moses said he called Aurand's residence with the summons. He said he was told Emmons was not expected there.

Moses said he then called the Fort Shafter officers club where a cocktail party was scheduled for Emmons. He said he was informed the general was not expected there, either.

Emmons was scheduled to sail for Tokyo on the Buckner today.

The Walthers' suit claims compensation for alleged unlawful internment during the war. The suit was filed after the U. S. Supreme court ruled that Hawaii's martial law was unconstitutional.

Texan Elected Head Of Highway Officials

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 13. (AP)—The American Association of State Highway officials adjourned its convention here today after electing D. C. Greer of Texas president.

It also passed five controversial resolutions, one of which was a sharply-worded slap at the "obstructionist tax policy" of the petroleum industries.

Greer, a highway official of long experience, is chief engineer of the Texas State Highway department. Ordinarily the first vice president moves up to the presidency, but Vice President C. W. Brown, Missouri state highway engineer, had earlier moved up on the death of the previous president.

By resolution, the delegates declared that "the petroleum industries, whose members undoubtedly are among the chief beneficiaries of an adequate system of highways, have apparently adopted an obstructionist policy opposing virtually any increase in gasoline taxes, however modest or howeve urgently needed, despite frequent and even greater increases during the same period in the sale price of gasoline to the highway users.

Shorthorn Wins State Fair Prize

DALLAS, Oct. 13. (AP)—Gary Adams of Broken Arrow, Okla., showed the champion shorthorn steer at the 1949 Texas State fair today.

His entry was Willowdale Victor. The day also saw judging in Corredale sheep and Angora goats.

Clear cool weather prevailed. Events honored Texas crippled children; Texas sheep and goat raisers; Texas swine breeders; Texas shorthorn breeders, and American Angora goat breeders. It also was Denison and Hill County day.

Children's Day Slated

Elementary school children will invade the fairgrounds tomorrow on Children's day. It will also be American Brahman breeders day, and judging of Brahman cattle will begin.

Winners of rural youth honor awards will attend a banquet; and the Texas Federation of Music clubs will be honored.

Prince Peter Mason, a deep red, year-old shorthorn bull, captured the champion shorthorn bull banner for C. M. Caraway and Sons of De Leon, Tex. The same owners showed Prince Peter Standard, another yearling bull, for reserve champion.

Caraway Wins Awards

Caraway ranch captured firsts in the two-year-old bull class; senior yearling bulls; junior yearling bulls, senior bull calf, two bulls any age, and three bulls any age. Caraway also showed the champion female and the reserve champion female.

The De Leon ranch took first for the best get of sire; first for two females, any age, bred and owned by exhibitor and first for a pair of yearlings, one bull and one heifer.

Charles E. Orr of Rocksprings showed the champion Angora buck. W. S. Orr of Rocksprings had the reserve champion. Other Rocksprings entries piled up high honors for that community in the Angora show.

Federal Agents Check Shrimp Shipments From Texas Coast

DENVER, Oct. 13 (U.P.) — Agents of the U.S. Food and Drug administration closely checked shipments of fresh shrimp today after condemning two tons of the frozen seafood as spoiled.

A total of 4,500 pounds of fresh shrimp was seized by the government agency earlier this week after analysis showed that more than 10 per cent of it was decomposed before being frozen.

The shrimp came from packing companies on the Texas gulf coast, according to Wendell Vincent, head of the Food and Drug administration here.

Vincent said a large consignment of frozen shrimp from Albuquerque, N. M., was being analyzed today and that part of it had been discovered to be in a decomposed state.

Vincent said he started his investigation of shrimp after complaints of one or two cases of sickness resulting from the eating of fresh seafood.

He blamed poor weather conditions in recent weeks in the gulf for the spoilage. He said he believed most of the shrimp had spoiled while still on fishing boats and before freezing.

New Camera May Speed Supersonic Plane Research

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13. (U.P.)—Photographs by a camera so sensitive to air density that it can show heat waves streaming from a human hand will speed the coming age of supersonic aircraft, an engineer predicts.

Norman F. Barnes, a General Electric engineer, told the Society of Motion Picture Engineers last night that new techniques make possible the photography of air-flow and sound waves about such objects as wind-tunnel models and projectiles in flight.

During the last war, such photographs shortened immensely the length of time required to design new aircraft by enabling engineers to see what air-flow patterns were like over a wing or fuselage shape, rather than obtaining the critical information by laborious calculations, Barnes said.

Ilse Koch Due To Be Released On Tuesday

FRANKFURT, Oct. 13 (INS)—Frau Ilse Koch, the "witch of Buchenwald," is due to be released next week by the U. S. Army and the Germans have said they will re-arrest her.

The exact charges beyond general ones of brutalities and being a Nazi have not yet been disclosed by German officials.

It is possible that the U. S. Army will remove her quietly from Landsberg prison Oct. 18 in an effort to avoid further publicity in the case which aroused many Germans and Americans when her life sentence for atrocities was commuted Sept. 16, 1948, to a four-year term.

She is due to be released next Tuesday under the commutation which counts as part of her sentence the time she already has spent in prison.

Her life sentence was commuted because the judge advocate found no proof of charges that she had lampshades made from skins of murdered Buchenwald concentration camp inmates.

Federal Grand Jury Discharged After Returning 30 Indictments

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (U.P.)—Judge T. Whitfield Davidson discharged a federal grand jury here today after it returned 30 indictments, two of them secret.

John Frederick Becker of Paducah was indicted on a charge of bank embezzlement. He was arrested after an investigation of the disappearance of approximately $100,000 from a Paducah bank.

Details of the "secret" indictments were not released because defendants have not been arrested.

Westerners And Pampa Renew Old Rivalry Here Tonight

Largest Crowd Of Season Is Expected To See AA Tussle

By AL WILLIAMS
Avalanche Sports Writer

The largest crowd to witness a Lubbock High school football game this season is expected to fill Jones Stadium to near capacity tonight to witness the 8 o'clock meeting of the Westerners and the Harvesters from Pampa.

Rivals of long standing in District 1-AA, the two elevens will be meeting for the first time in a non-conference tilt since Lubbock's move to 3-AA. But that fact will not detract from the keen rivalry between the two schools, and a tough battle is predicted.

Pampa Determined

As indicated by Pampa's previous record this year, the Harvesters have a determined club and one that will give any opponent lots of competition. Thus far the Threshers are sporting four victories and one defeat, and that loss was by one touchdown to Wichita Falls, considered the number two team in the state.

The Westerners have won their first four starts by wide margins and are regarded as favorites to trip Pampa, but Coach C. R. Pattison is looking forward to the closest game so far this year in tonight's battle.

Pampa's record shows a 40-0 victory over North Dallas, 7-0 over Graham, 35-19 over El Paso High and an 8-7 decision over Vernon before losing to Wichita Falls, 14-6.

Local Record On Line

Lubbock puts its undefeated mark on the line, having beaten Childress, 47-0; North Side, 38-0; Plainview, 42-6; and Vernon, 42-12.

The last defeat heaped upon the Cowpokes was administered by the Pampans, that being a 26-19 loss after the Westerners had run up a 19-6 margin.

Coach Tom Tipps went into the season with a group of inexperienced boys, with only six lettermen to bolster the squad. But out of this group has come a fighting team and one which is backed by the desire to play on the part of every member of the team.

Injuries in both camps are light, but Pampa will miss the services of End Jim Parker and Halfback Charley Smith. Parker has been the leading punter all season, and Smith was a good runner.

Doing the quarterbacking and passing for the Green and Gold will be Carroll Smith, a 150-pounder who is one of the returning lettermen. At left halfback is Pete Cooper, co-captain, who weights in at 145. Carl Kennedy starts as fullback, and Jimmy Hayes will get the nod for the right halfback position.

Hayes Leads Harvesters

Hayes is only a junior, but the big 170-pounder is the workhorse of the Pampa squad. In the first five games he has scored 30 points and rolled up more than 500 yards on the ground, maintaining an average of 7.3 yards per try.

The line will be centered by Co-Captain Leon Taylor, 160. At guards are Marvin Harvell, 140, and Jimmy Campbell, 145. Both are small but hard working. The tackles are Eddie Scheig, 177, and Glenn Tarpley, 170, with the end post being filled by Tommy Allison, 170, and Weldon Witcher, 156.

Co-Captains Named

Co-Captains Bobby Brown and Malcom Young will lead the Westerners into the game, Brown at quarterback and Young at fullback. Halfbacks Wayne Stroud and Charlie Williams round out the backfield foursome.

Ends Garnet Reeves and Billly Wright, Tackles Joe Brock and Douglas Ross, Guards Freddy Gray and Sammy Modrall, and Center Douglas Wienke will be in the forward wall.

Thursday the Westerners went through a light, speedy drill at Chapman field. Emphasis was on running through plays against a dummy defense, and the boys looked well-trained and ready to go. Passing came in for a great deal of attention.

Lemoyne Livingston paced the scoring with 12 points on two touchdown passes from Jack Sparks covering 53 and 67 yards. Sparks ran 60 yards for one score and converted once, having two touchdowns called back, and John Wilson and Paul Sublett scored one touchdown each and converted twice on line bucks. Guy Nelson ran for one score.

The Seminole 7th and 8th graders downed Andrews 12-0, with Hogan Hargrove and James Jackson scoring. Next Thursday Seminole plays at Kermit.

Santa Fe May Run Special Train For Lubbock-Sandie Tilt

The Santa Fe may run one or more special trains to Amarillo Friday of next week for the big Lubbock-Amarillo football game, providing there are enough football fans in this city desiring to make the trip by train.

Ray Forbes, division freight and passenger agent, said yesterday that the Santa Fe had received so many telephone calls asking whether the railroad intended to run a special that the plan was being placed before the public.

Forbes said that if 175 persons sign up for the trip, the Santa Fe would run a special to Amarillo. Tentative leaving time from Lubbock would be 3 p. m. for the two hour and fifty minute trip. The train would leave Amarillo approximately an hour after the game.

Cost of the round trip ticket to Amarillo would be $6.33, with children under 12 years of age going for half fare. Forbes pointed out that since over 4,000 persons will be making the trip, traffic, especially after the game, will be extremely heavy. There is constantly present the danger of a serious accident.

Any Lubbock residents interested in making the trip by train should call the passenger agent at 4472 or 4862 immediately.

The high school football squad, band and pep squad will make the trip by bus, officials having made those plans some time ago.

Anton Gains 25 To 0 Win Over Whitharral

ANTON, Oct. 13. (Special)—Anton's powerful high school football team easily downed Whitharral 25-0 here tonight in a District 3-B conference game played before a slim crowd.

Sparked by the brilliant running of Billy Ray Glascock, Bobby Harper and Billy Ray Estes, who chalked up all the Bulldog touchdowns, the home team had little trouble handing the Panthers another one-sided loss.

Anton drew first blood early in the first quarter and added a second tally the same stanza to take a secure 12-0 lead. Glascock scored both tallies, the second climaxing a 25-yard march.

Harper jammed over the fourth tally, which came in the third quarter to cap a 30-yard sustained drive, and made the extra point attempt good. This drive followed a second quarter score racked up by Harper.

This was the Bulldogs' fourth win of the season and their third in conference play.

250 Cars Of Olton Rooters To See Game With Dimmitt

OLTON, Oct. 13. (Special)—An "automobile caravan" of at least 250 cars is expected to leave here at 6:30 p. m. Friday for the important Olton-Dimmitt District 3-B football game at Dimmitt.

Nearly 1,000 Olton rooters are due to be on hand to cheer Coach T. M. Cox's Mustangs when they take the field against J. W. Blaine's Bobcats.

Both teams are undefeated in district play, and the winner of Friday night's game will take over top place in the 3-B standings.

Dimmitt boasts a perfect record for the entire season, while Olton dropped its season opener to the power Class A Andrews team.

Henderson Drills For Tuesday Fight

Bill Henderson, after scoring an impressive one-round knockout Wednesday night in an exhibition at Carlsbad, N. M., Thursday resumed training for Tuesday night's

In another exhibition at Carlsman fieldhouse.

At Carlsbad, Henderson had no trouble whatsoever as he flattened Freddie Marquez, brother of Hector Marquez, the state bantamweight champion. Henderson opened an early two-fisted barrage that quickly folded the El Pasoan.

In another exhibitio nat Carlsbad, Leonard Duncan, Hale Center middleweight, suffered the first defeat of his pro career as he lost a six-round decision to Young Amado of El Paso. It was a close fight all the way, and Duncan's handlers protested vigorously when the decision went to Amado, whom Duncan had beaten in an earlier match.

Duncan is scheduled to meet Dick Smith, former Golden Gloves star from Oklahoma City, in a six-round bout on Tuesday night's card here.

Top Ring Go Slated

The Henderson-Ortega go promises to be one of the top ring attractions ever staged here. With 27 triumphs in 29 pro fights, Henderson has set his sights on a higher spot in the fistic world, and a win over Ortega would springboard him into regional prominence. Ortega, a former resident of Dalhart now fighting out of El Paso, holds victories over such standout boxers as Manuel Ortiz, present world bantamweight champ; Jackie Callura, and Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson.

In Tuesday night's eight-round semifinal, Gene James, undefeated Lubbock heavyweight, goes against Dickie Brown of Amarillo in a re-match. Brown gave James an all-out battle here several weeks ago over the six-round route, and since that time there has been considerable clamoring for another match between the two.

Neff Meets Olivas

Four-round preliminaries will find Charley Neif, Petersburg, taking on Tony Olivas, speedy El Paso lightweight, and Billy Brackeen facing Sam Inagio, also of El Paso, in another lightweight bout.

Officials of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2466, sponsor of the card, reported an unusually slow sale of tickets Thursday. Ducats, priced at $3.50, $2.50 and $1.50, are on sale at the Hilton hotel, Hub clothiers and City Club gym, all in Lubbock, and at Talley's Barber shop in Levelland. A total of 2,200 seats will be available, with all profits to be divided equally between the Lubbock Goodfellows fund and Girlstown, Inc., near Whiteface.

Dunbar High's Star Center Out Of Action

Dunbar High school's Panthers will be without the services of their star center, Odell Gary, next week in a crucial game with Odessa at Chapman field.

Gary is now in an Abilene hospital recovering from pneumonia which showed up while Dunbar was losing, 19-0, to Abilene Wednesday. He played most of the first half before being carried from the field in the third quarter, presumably from a head injury, but pneumonia was the verdict of doctors at the hospital.

Panther Coach Damon Hill reported Thursday, after returning from Abilene, that Gary was in good spirits and on the road to recovery.

Tulane Picked To Upset Irish

Mustang Power To Defeat Owls

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. — The business of forecasting football games gets tougher and tougher and this week will go down as one of the toughest. With an average that already has dipped to .793 on 142 correct guesses and 37 misses, we stumble into the fourth round of pigskin predictions for 1949.

Tulane vs. Notre Dame—Here's the top game of the week, maybe of the year. It has been so long since the Irish were beaten that most Notre Dame players don't know how it feels to lose. It may be foolish, but we have a hunch the Green Wave isn't making the trip for fun. In an upset, Tulane.

Southern California vs. California—The winner here can wrestle UCLA for the Pacific Coast Conference and Rose Bowl honors. In a close one, California.

Rice vs. Southern Methodist—They're up to their old tricks in the Southwest Conference, where form means little or nothing. The unbeaten Mustangs rested last week while recovering from the fright handed them by Missouri and should be ready to roll. Southern Mehtodist.

Army vs. Harvard—The Harvards gave the Army one of its toughest games last year but this is 1949. A hefty vote for Army.

Wake Forest vs. North Carolina—Wake Forest has lost three in a row, as many as it dropped all last season. One confident vote for North Carolina.

Minnesota vs. Ohio State—Ohio State will miss Fullback Vic Janowicz. A slim vote for Minnesota.

Santa Clara vs. UCLA — The Uclans have won all four starts and will be tough to keep out of the Rose Bowl. A confident vote for UCLA.

Michigan vs. Northwestern—The Wolverines should rebound from the Army thing. Michigan.

Texas vs. Arkansas—Both these teams took it on the chin last week. The Longhorns aren't likely to drop two in a row. Texas.

Kansas vs. Oklahoma—The unbeaten Sooners have too much power for a team that has lost three out of four. No. 4 for Oklahoma.

Stanford vs. Washington—Both these teams have been having their troubles, which makes this about even. Stanford.

Running rapidly over the rest of the week-end's better games:

Friday:

Louisana State over Georgia, Mississippi over Boston College, Purdue over Miami (Fla.), Villanova over Tulsa, Boston university over West Virginia.

Saturday:

East

Dartmouth over Colgate, Pennsylvania over Columbia, Penn State over Nebraska, Cornell over Yale.

Midwest

Michigan State over William and Mary, Navy over Wisconsin, Iowa over Indiana, Missouri over Illinois, Iowa State over Kansas State, Oklahoma A. and M. over Drake, Mississippi State over Cincinnati.

South

Alabama over Tennessee, Georgia Tech over Auburn, Kentucky over The Citadel, Duke over North Carolina State, Virginia over Washington and Lee, Vanderbilt over Florida.

Southwest and Far West

Texas Christian over Texas A. and M., Baylor over Texas Tech, Oregon over Colorado, Oregon State over Idaho, Montana State Over Idaho State, Colorado A. and M. over Colorado Mines, Colorado State over Colorado college, Utah over Denver, Wyoming over Utah State, Hardin-Simmons over New Mexico, Texas Western over Arizona, Tempe (Ariz.) State over Brigham Young.

Air Force Player Is Signed To St. Louis Browns Contract

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Roy Craft, 21-year-old second baseman of the Lackland Air Force Base baseball team, has been signed to a St. Louis Browns contract, it was announced here today.

William Byrd, president of the San Antonio Texas League Missions, owned by the Browns, said Craft will be turned over to the Marshall club of the East Texas League for development.

Craft, just discharged from the service, is 6 feet 1 inch in height and weighs 165 pounds. He bats and throws right handed.

Downfield Blocking Far From Good

Raider Mentors Are Unhappy Over Drill

Everything was anything but happiness at Texas Tech yesterday, where the Red Raider football team went through an offensive and defensive drill that looked far from sharp and which gave indications of worse to come Saturday.

None of the coaches appeared pleased over the showing made by the varsity against the freshmen on either phase of the drill. As one of the players put it, "There's a lot of dumb work by both varsity and freshmen."

Run Offense Plays

Coaches G. B. Morris and Polk Robison worked with a variety of varsity elevens on offense and, while the line showed up pretty well in opening holes, the blocking wasn't up to par. Holes in the line, even in dummy scrimmage, closed too quickly and the downfield blocking was far from good.

Short passes were working pretty well, with Ernest Hawkins, Bill Lyman and Milton Rathbone tossing the aerials. Since there was no scheduled contact work, it was hard to tell about some of the blocking, but the passers were being given good protection.

Over on the practice field, Coach Dell Morgan was drilling the varsity teams on defense against Baylor plays and the results were not particularly good. Again dummy scrimmage was used and again the varsity didn't show up in a good light, with "Adrian Burk" completing too many of his passes too easily.

Burk, of course, is the principal threat the Raiders have to fear. The Bear quarterback has shown himself to be one of the great passers in the country today and his general work in the key backfield spot under the T formation has been impressive.

Backing up Burk at quarterback is another senior, Ray Painter, who also is a good hand. Also on tap are Hayden Fry and Larry Isbell, two of the better quarterbacks.

Halfbacks, especially seniors, come a dime a dozen. Dudley Parker is back to haunt the opposition, as are Lyle Blackwood, Frank McKinney, Johnny Curtis and Bobby Griffin, all veterans. James Parker and James Jeffrey are a pair of junior halfbacks who could cause trouble.

Baylor Line Big

The fullbacks also are in number, headed by Jerry Mangum and Frank Boydstun. Both are old faces to the Raiders and both are hard runners. Mangum packs 190 pounds on his six-foot body and is the biggest threat. Boystun is an inch shorter, but weighs five pounds more.

Baylor has a mammoth line, too,

MARSHALL GETTYS
Tech's "Old Reliable"

with a defensive unit that weighs over 210 pounds on the average. Two 230-pound tackles, Steve Dowden and Ken Casner, spark this unit. Their main forward wall is punctuated with speed plus weight. End J. D. Ison is Burk's favorite passing target and Henry Dickerson, another wingman, is the afterpoint specialist.

The Bears will leave Waco by plane today and are expected in here early this afternoon, taking a light workout at Jones Stadium after their arrival.

Deadline Is Set For Pickup Of Ducats To Tech-Baylor Tussle

Although all reserved seat tickets for the Baylor-Texas Tech football game in Jones Stadium Saturday afternoon, have been sold, several persons have not claimed reservations they made in advance.

Morley Jennings, Tech athletic chairman, said that these persons would have until 10 a. m. Saturday to claim their reservations. If not claimed by that time, the tickets will go on general sale to the public on a first come, first served, basis.

In addition to the reserved seats, there will be 1,800 general admission end zone tickets on sale at 10 a. m. Saturday. First chance at these tickets will go to Texas Tech ex-students, who may buy them before 10 a. m. The remainder will go on public sale.

All ex-students should register at a booth, either on the campus or in one of the Lubbock hotels. This registration will serve to identify them when they request end zone seat tickets.

Homecoming Set At Tahoka High

TAHOKA, Oct. 13. (Special)—A bonfire at the south side of the Tahoka High school building tonight, conducted by the school cheerleaders, launched homecoming activities that will be climaxed with the presentation of the football queen tomorrow night at the game between Tahoka and Post.

Ex-students of Tahoka High school will be special guests at an assembly program and pep rally to be held Friday afternoon at 3 in the high school auditorium. More than 200 invitations have been sent to ex-students whose addresses were available.

All ex-students registering at the high school program Friday afternoon will receive free passes to the Post football game.

Coaches Jim Foust and Wayne Pipes are the only two persons who know the identity of the football queen. She was elected by secret ballot Monday morning. Candidates in the final balloting were Edith Aldridge, JoAnn Thomas, Elna Dunagan, Hazel Johnson and Geneva Marlin.

The girls will be driven onto the field on a special float 20 minutes before game time Friday and one will be crowned queen of the team by Co-captains Clark Farr and Bert Stevens.

The Tahoka homecoming activities and arrangements are under the sponsorship of the Tahoka High school student council. Members, elected by the student body are, John Shepard, president: Jo-Anne Bennett, vice president; Geneva Marlin, secretary - treasurer; Jean Henderson and Lester Cowan, senior class representatives.

Also, Wendell Moore and Patsy McGinty, junior class representatives: Tommie Wharton and Betty Huddleston, sophomore class representatives; Paxton Hutchison and Edith Aldridge, freshman class representatives; and Gary Mitchell and Jerry Aldridge, eighth grade representatives.

Pioneers Beat Plainview 'B'

Lubbock's Pioneers scored in the first, second and fourth quarters to defeat Plainview's B team, 20-0, last night at Chapman field before a crowd of 200 persons.

The victory avenged an earlier game with the same team when the two fought to a 13-13 deadlock in Plainview. Although threatening on several occasions, Plainview could not tally, bogging down as the Lubbock line tightened.

Offensive star of the Pioneers was left Halfback Billy Tucker who scored 12 points. Tucker broke loose for the first Lubbock six-pointer midway of the first quarter on a 35-yard burst over left guard, and Ken Aldridge converted. Tucker's second score came on a 56-yard reverse around left end on the first play of the second quarter and gave the Pioneers a 13-0 halftime advantage. Late in the fourth quarter right Halfback Jeff Jones powered over from three yards out for the final marker to climax a 40-yard drive, and Wesley Curry kicked the extra point.

Plainview threatened first after recovering a fumble early in the first quarter on the Lubbock 33, but after advancing to the 20 the drive fizzled. Again in the second period Craig Silverthorn, Plainview left half, broke into the clear but was overtaken from behind by right End James Blazi after advancing to the Lubbock 12 on a 45-yard run around end. The ball went over to Lubbock on the five-yard line.

A pass interception in the third period gave Plainview the ball on Lubbock's 33, but the drive fell short after advancing to the five. A third-down pass from Charles Harris to Fullback Bryan Bell was dropped in the end zone.

Standouts on the Lubbock team were the two ends, Blazi and Roy Burrows, Burrows playing great ball on defense. John Pittman at center, Melvin Deardorff and Charles Nix at guards, and Tackles Ray McClarty and Harlan Cooke made their presence felt on many occasions when the going was tough. Tucker, Jones, Donnie Dean, C. D. Walker, and Charles Northington carried out Sammy Sayers' quarterbacking with lots of enthusiasm.

TCU, Texas, SMU Favored In SWC Play

Methodist-Rice Game Is Feature

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Asociated Press Sports Editor

Four teams make their start in the Southwest Conference championship race Saturday and two teams could be eliminated.

Texas Christian and Arkansas are making their last-ditch stands. TCU, which lost to Arkansas, has to beat Texas A. and M. at Fort Worth to retain a chance at the title. Arkansas, which fell to Baylor, must beat Texas at Little Rock to stay in the chase.

Both games mark the start of the Conference chase for A. and M. and Texas.

Rice, SMU Untested

The other game—Rice vs. Southern Methodist at Dallas Saturday night—will be between teams untested in Conference warfare.

The seventh member of the Conference—Baylor—having nothing else to do, will go to Lubbock to play Texas Tech of the Border Conference.

Texas Christian, Texas and Southern Methodist will be favored in the Conference tilts. Baylor is a solid choice to trim Texas Tech.

The Rice-Southern Methodist battle is the feature for several reasons. One is that SMU, beaten only once in two and a half seasons and twice champion of the Conference, will be meeting the team rated in most quarters as the chief contender for the title. Another reason is that the game will draw twice as many fans as any other tilt.

70,000 In Cotton Bowl

Lester Jordan, Southern Methodist business manager of athletics, forecast Thursday that between 65,000 and 70,000 would be in the Cotton Bowl for the contest which Matty Bell of SMU has predicted will be won by Rice.

The Owls have been somewhat disappointing thus far, largely because of a loss to Louisiana State. But subsequent developments indicate a loss to LSU by one touchdown isn't to be considered as catastrophic at all. LSU apparently has one of the country's top teams.

The Texas-Arkansas game at Little Rock will be watched with more than usual interest. Just how the Razorbacks, who looked like champions against Texas Christian and third-raters against Baylor, can bound back will determine the score. Texas should, by all odds, lick the Razorbacks by a healthy margin. But Arkansas was truly "flat" against Baylor. At its peak it could give Texas a most interesting afternoon.

TCU Is Favored

Texas Christian ought to beat the hapless Aggies. In fact, if the Frogs don't they might as well start thinking about next season. But it's largely to be a close game. The Frogs may never get back up from the unexpected drubbing from Arkansas.

Baylor has everything necessary for licking Texas Tech to a fare-the-well. Incentive may not be very high, however, and the Bears may be thinking too much about other things. Tech always has a great game in its system in any year. This could be it.

STILL IN THERE TRYING — Athough it has yet to dent the scoring column in the District 4-B football race, the freshman-studded Frenship Tiger team still is "in there plugging away." Coach W. L. Willis' Tigers, who have dropped both their conference starts, face another tough opponent this week when they go against Idalou, defending district champion, at Idalou Friday night. The Frenship linemen above, left to right, are George Hughes, Leroy Patterson, Kenneth Preston, Raymond Hitt, Larry Cox, Co-Capt. Gene Patterson and Weldon Arthur. Just behind the center is Quarterback Glen Allen. The other backs, left to right, are Billy Wayne Johnson, Lon Ed Cox and Jerry Gladden. (Staff Photo.)

Oklahoma Aggies To Face Drake Saturday

STILLWATER, Oct. 13—Missouri Valley conference leadership goes on the line here Saturday, 2:30 p. m., when the surprising Drake Bulldogs of Des Moines, all-victorious to date, challenge the defending champion Oklahoma Aggies on Lewis field.

Two elevens with stunning offensive records and rising individual stars will be engaged. Due to their showing against better-known opposition, the Cowpokes of Coach Jim Lookabaugh reach kickoff slightly favored, although they lost to Missouri last Saturday.

Drake, however, has pulverized four early rivals. Drake recalls with satisfaction its 13-9 victory over A&M in Des Moines in 1947. Drake can win the Valley championship for the first time since 1931 (when A&M and Drake were co-champions of the conference).

Coach Warren Gaer, a Drake alumnus, in his first year at the Bulldog helm, comes up to this one with everything to win and that factor is causing plenty of worry in the Cowpoke corral this week.

John Bright, halfback, and Tom Bienemann, left end, brightest stars at Drake, both shooting for sectional honors, lead the DU drive. Bright, the Colored Comet, a sophomore, is leading the nation in yards gained.

Jackie (Hod) Hartman, A&M quarterback, and his ace receivers, Don Van Pool and Alexander (Clipper) Loyd, ends, probably comprise A&M's greatest single weapon, the aerial game.

A&M goes without its all-Valley guard, Darrel Meisenheimer, hurt in the early moments of the Missouri game. Bill Walker and Bill Bradford will fill for the injured ace.

Fast football impends at Aggieland Saturday, seven bands, the home opener, a crowd of about 20,000 anticipated if the weather is good.

O. L. Slaton's Redskins Score 13-0 Win Over Plainview Juniors

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 13 (Special)—Coach Bennie Williamson's O. L. Slaton Junior High Redskins today scored a 13-0 triumph over Plainview Junior High's gridders.

Jimmy Welch paced the Redskin offense, scoring all his team's points.

In the line, Guard Jerry Martin and End Jimmy Crawford were outstanding for the victors.

Lubbock's Westerners, after four weekly "pop quizzes," get their first real test of the 1949 grid campaign tonight at Jones stadium.

Administering the examination will be Coach Tom Tipps, who will throw his Pampa Harvesters against the vaunted Pattison powerhouse.

The season's top crowd will be on hand to see how the Westerner "whiz kids" can click against Pampa, which last week held heralded Wichita Falls to a 14-6 score. That, incidentally, was the Harvesters' only setback this season.

If Lubbock clears this hurdle in convincing fashion—and my guess is that it will—the folks up Amarillo way probably will start a rush for the storm cellars.

Speaking of Amarillo, it's worth noting that a sports scribe in Sandietown already has taken the trouble to write to an Interscholastic league official to ask where a Sandie-Westerner playoff game would be held, should both reach the state quarterfinals. That's looking a long, long way into the future, particularly with such clubs as Wichita Falls and Odessa around to challenge Amarillo and Lubbock, respectively, before the quarterfinal round.

Incidentally, the Amarillo writer seems convinced that should the Sandies and Westerners get to the quarterfinals, they would meet at a site chosen by Amarillo. At least that's the way the aforementioned Interscholastic league official has tentatively interpreted the ruling that the team which played away from home in the last league game bbetween two schools has its choice of playing site when the teams next meet in the playoffs.

Amarillo, you will recall, came here for a District 1-AA game last year. As next week's Sandie-Westerner setto is a non-conference affair, it is being argued that a playoff site will be determined by the 1948 game.

Coach Pat Pattison, queried on the matter, laughed, "Shucks, that's too far in the future to worry me. I have a handful of Pampa coming up Friday night."

Word from Washington (via The Sporting News) is that Clark Griffith is considering Lubbock's Sam West for the job of managing the Senators in 1950. Griffith, discussing the matter with writer Shirley Povich, also mentioned Kiki Cuyler, Paul Richards and Bucky Harris as managerial possibilities.

Since Griffith gave up the manager's reins in 1919, the post always has been held by a former Senator player. West qualifies in that respect, having put in more than a decade as a Washington outfielder and coach.

West said this week, however, that he has heard absolutely nothing from Griffith regarding the pilot's job, and was inclined to take the matter rather lightly.

Asked if he would accept an offer to lead the Washington club, West replied, "It would all depend upon the circumstances."

Although they look like Chinese laundry tickets, the tabulated high school and college football schedules appearing in The Morning Avalanche each Friday and Saturday really aren't so complicated. It's simply a matter of substituting the "key letters" for the team names. On today's high school chart, for example, you can determine the result of Abilene's first 1949 game in this manner: The chart shows that on Sept. 9, Abilene played "BF" to a 7-7 tie (the first score being that of the team in the left-hand column, and the second score being that of the team in the date column). Running down the "key" list on the extreme left, one finds that "BF" is Breckenridge. Thus, Abilene tied Breckenride, 7-7. Savvy? . . . Nevin E. Trostle, who this week became manager of the Brown County Water and Improvement District No. 1 (at Brownwood), made the first kickoff in Texas Tech's first football game. . . .After 30 games without a defeat, Coach Paul Brown's pro Cleveland gridders dropped one to San Francisco. Brown promptly blew his top, declaring he would "break up the team" if it didn't do better next time out. Now there's a patient, understanding coach for you! . . . Texas Tech will not compete in the All-College basketball tournament at Oklahoma City this year. Tourney teams will be Oklahoma A&M, Texas, Baylor, Arkansas, Alabama, Vanderbilt, Wyoming and Oklahoma City university. . . .The Pacific Coast league playoffs drew such poor crowds this year that the circuit seriously is considering abandonment of the Shaughnessy plan. . .Gerald Levermann, who two years ago was enrolled briefly at Texas Tech, now is the Gulf Coast conference's top punter with a 44-yard average. He's Trinity's all-around ace . . . Howard Green, ex-Longhorn league president, is busy organizing a new Class C baseball league for Louisiana and Southeastern Texas.

Charles Liked To Win Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13. (INS) NBA heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles was favored today by prohibitive odds of 5 to 1 to retain his title in his 15-round San Francisco bout tomorrow night with Pat Valentino, California State champion.

A sell-out crowd of 16,000 was indicated by a last-minute rush of boxing addicts for tickets to San Francisco's first heavyweight title match in forty years — a long stretch for a town once rated one of the most ringwise in the nation.

The fighters, both pronounced fit and ready by their handlers, will weigh in at the civic auditorium at noon tomorrow.

Charles is expected to tip the scales at 181 and Valentino at 186.

Announcement may be made at the same time of the identity of the referee, almost certainly a Californian since Jack Dempsey turned down an offer from promoter Bill Kyne of $1,000 for the chore.

Charles will pickup a purse of $40,000 — a neat dividend on a title not yet recognized in New York and a few far away spots.

Valentino gets only $5,000, not much more than enough to pay expenses.

The gate is expected to total around $160,000 and net profits go to a veterans rehabilitation fund sponsored by Bay Meadows race track, which is also controlled by promoter Kyne.

Charles will be making the second defense of the NBA title he won from Joe Wolcott in Cincinnati last June. Less than two months ago he stopped Gus Lesnevich in New York.

Valentino, dubbed "The Mop" because of his bushy hair, will be making his first appearance since he won the state title last December from Turkey Thompson.

Bauer Drubs Lindsay In Texas Open Play

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP)—Continuing her subpar shooting, 15-year-old Marlene Bauer of Los Angeles brushed aside Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., 3 and 1 here Thursday to climb into the semifinals of the Women's Texas Open golf tournament.

The poker-faced youngster again relied upon her long drives and steady approaches to oust the Illinois State champion, posting a two under par card for the 17 holes.

Marlene joined Betty Mackinnon of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., Beverly Hanson, of Indio, Calif., and Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., in the semi-finals.

The little Los Angeles tyke built a 4-up margin through the first 13 holes, but Marjorie sliced the margin by two winning the 14th and 16th holes.

On 17, however, Marlene's approach shot dropped five feet from the pin and after Miss Lindsay missed a long putt, she conceded the hole and match.

Commission To Continue Study Of City Limits Extension Today

Opposition to this extension has been negligible.

No. 2. North Lubbock—From the east boundary of No. 1 eastward to include the Clayton Carter addition. This area measures about a mile both from east to west and from south to north. Dickey said most residents of the area urgently desire annexation. The commission was advised, however, that Clayton Carter, developer of the addition, is opposing it vigorously.

Eastward Shift Favored

No. 3. East Lubbock between Fourth and Nineteenth streets, extending about two miles eastward from the present city limits, but excluding the Puckett and Morning View additions. Residents of the proposed area were reported overwhelmingly in favor of annexation.

No. 4. Southeast Lubbock, including the Sieber subdivision and a portion of the adjoining 2nd Wheelock addition. This area is relatively small, with sentiment apparently almost unanimously in favor of annexation.

No. 5 Southeast Lubbock from the present city limits southward to Thirty-eighth street, about three-quarters of a mile and eastward from Avenue A to Clutter's second addition, about a half mile, and including Berry addition. Sentiment there strongly favors coming inside the city limits, officials were told.

Opposing Petitions Circulated

No. 6 South Lubbock, between Avenues A and H and from the present city limits southward almost two miles to the traffic circle. Petitions both for and against annexation of this area have been presented to the city commission.

No. 7 South Lubbock between Avenues H and Q and southward from the present limits beyond the traffic circle, more than two miles. Sentiment here apparently favors annexation.

No. 8 South Lubbock, a quarter section of land adjoining No. 7 owned by J. C. Davis.

No. 9. South Lubbock between Avenue Q and Monroe avenue, nearly 1½ miles, and extending southward from the present city limits at Forty-second street to Fiftieth. Sentiment is repored favorable.

Some Residents Indifferent

No. 10. Southwest Lubbock, between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second streets and westward to the Slide road, more than two miles. Sentiment favorable, but with a good deal of apparent indifference among many residents of the area.

No. 11. West and Southwest Lubbock, a large triangular area bounded on the east by the present city limits, the south by Thirty-fourth street and the northwest by the Brownfield highway. Expressed sentiment was reported favorable to annexation, but with many residents indifferent.

No. 12. An additional section of the Texas Technological college campus and a portion of the "Westchester" area extending about three-quarters of a mile west from the present city limits to the eastern edge of Bobalet addition, which would remain outside the city. The proposed area is bounded on the north by approximately fifteenth street and on the southeast by the diagonal formed by the Brownfield highway.

No. 12 includes, among others, the Rushland park and Cain terrace additions.

Developer Appears

Rufus Rush, developer of Rushland, appeared in opposition to the annexation of that area "until I know definitely when I'll get city services."

But he reacted approvingly of the city's going to the added expense of building water and sewer lines large enough to serve the area, when and if he considers it advantageous to seek annexation.

The clear indications were that, if the city commission undertakes an annexation program, it will be with emphasis upon the uncertainty as to when the city will have the money to provide many municipal services — particularly sewers, water and paving.

Many Benefits Available

Other services could be provided more speedily.

These would include police, fire and health protections, garbage and trash collections, some street and alley improvement and maintenance, and the immediate benefits of zoning which would place curbs upon the types of buildings which could be erected in annexed areas.

The indications also were that the procedure to be followed in any extensions program will be about as follows:

The commission will give notice by publication that it is considering ordinances providing for the annexation of specified areas.

Hearings will be set, probably for about mid-November, at which everyone interested will be given opportunity to appear for or against each proposal.

The commission then will either pass or reject the various ordinances, acting upon each separately. Passage on two readings, usually about two weeks apart, will be required to complete an annexation.

If completed by Dec. 31, the populations of the annexed areas will be included in that of the city of Lubbock when the 1950 federal census is taken.

Socialist Jules Moch Gets Bare Okay As New French Premier

PARIS, Friday, Oct. 14. (AP)—An official announcement said today Socialist Jules Moch had been approved as the next premier of France by 311 votes in his favor.

This was one vote more than he needed. It was the lowest vote of approval given by the National Assembly to an incoming premier in postwar France.

Floods are blamed for cutting the volume of Mexico's 1949 winter-vegetable deal.

Ill Lamesa Lass Receives Hundreds Of Letters, Gifts

LAMESA, Oct. 13. (Special) — Mary Etta Arwin, 7-year-old Lamesa lass in bed with rheumatic heart, whose picture appeared in The Avalanche-Journal several months ago, is still remembered by many thoughtful people.

She has received over 1,000 letters and over 700 packages from over 20 states since her plea went out for mail, her mother said.

A soldier from Lubbock stationed in Germany has been writing her regularly for several weeks.

Her physician reports her condition improved and allows her to sit up in bed for short periods now but says she must remain in bed for many more months.

She is studying her second grade schoolwork at her home, and her teacher reports that she "is already ready for the third grade."

A Lubbock woman a few days ago brought Mary Etta a robe, which she had been wanting for months. A San Angelo resident is sending her a hospital bed.

Wednesday Joy Culp, "Queen of the South Plains" at the Dawson County Fair, thrilled Mary Etta with the presentation of the corsage which she had worn in the parade opening the fair.

Letters Swamp Girl

came from listeners on the West Coast.

By Wednesday the number of letters arriving here began to reach avalanche proportions. It was entirely too much for the neighborhood route mailman and the local post office began to send loads of mail out in a parcel post truck.

By Thursday, which, incidentally, was Frances' twenty-first birthday, the letters were being sent out to the Jondahl residence in bundles of 1,000 or more.

Frances and Mrs. Jondahl have not had time yet to open near all the letters. In fact the letters have been arriving faster than they can be opened and put away in a large basket to be read later.

"As soon as we can we'll open all the letters, then divide them by states, and then begin to read them," Mrs. Jondahl said yesterday.

"It may take the whole winter to get them all read," Frances added.

More letters have been received from California than from any other state, the mother and daughter say, with Louisiana next. Large amounts of mail also have been received from Colorado, Kansas, and Texas.

47 States Represented

In fact, letters have been received from 47 states. Mrs. Jondahl said yesterday she had not seen a Missouri postmark among the mail. However, J. C. Cummings, of the local post office, had brought a large bundle of letters just before she made that statement and she commented that when that bundle was opened and sorted Missouri quite likely would be represented.

While many greeting cards are among the mail, nearly every card of this kind has a note or letter inside. Quite frequently the writers include pictures of themselves, their children or grandchildren, or others in whom they are interested.

A large number of the writers are housewives. Quite a few college students also have written, along with a number of old people.

People in Lubbock and surrounding area have not only written letters and cards, but have also sent flowers, books, and candy.

Frances and her mother said yesterday that because of the large volume of local mail received, it would be impossible to write separate acknowledgements and thank-you's.

"We do want everyone who has written and sent gifts to know that we are grateful," they said.

Frances received a large orchid from Jack McElroy Wednesday. The bloom was sent to McElroy's aunt, Mrs. Carden Green, of 2409 Broadway, who in turn delivered it to Frances. Last Friday, three days before the broadcast, Frances received a package with instructions that it not be opened until Monday. At the specified time she opened the package to find a sterling silver "wishing ring," symbol of the Breakfast in Hollywood program.

Conferees Deadlocked

The Air Force issue found Senate-House conferees still deadlocked after an hour-long session today. The lower chamber refused to budge on its 58-group demand, as opposed to the Senate's 48-groups, backed by President Truman.

Tied up in the scrap are the $15 billion to finance America's defense forces in the fiscal year which began last July 1. The Army, Navy and Air Force have been operating under emergency resolutions.

The Senate today voted to extend this emergency spending until Jan. 10. If approved by the House this would carry the Air Force fight over to the next session.

icy is adequate.

Besides Denfeld, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and Admiral R. A. Spruance, retired head of the Naval War college, testified today.

"I consider getting the counter to the modern submarine to be our Navy's most important role," Spruance said.

Nimitz said we can't be sure that Russia's Air Force is not equal to, or even greater, than ours.

Nimitz said the atom bomb should not be considered our main weapon of defense.

Denfeld argued that in the unified defense organization the Navy it outvoted two to one. He contended it is not a full partner as intended.

Furthermore, he strongly assailed "arbitrary reductions" in Navy funds voted by Congress. This was an obvious crack at Secretary of Defense Johnson, who will explain to the committee next week about his economy orders.

Denfeld is the man who must deal with the Army and Air Force in the joint chiefs of staff, defense policy making body, where each service has one vote.

He strongly implied that this body was overstepping its rights when he urged that its activities be limited to those listed in the law.

Denfeld gave the Navy's case a ringing summation as he closed its presentation before the committee which is trying to referee the Defense department's family argument over the best way to win a war.

Shirley Temple

Married in 1945

When Shirley was married Sept. 19, 1945, only four years ago, it was as if thousands of mothers and fathers throughout the nation were seeing their own little girl take her marriage vows. She had been the most famous child star in the world and her name was a household word after she made "Little Miss Marker."

All the children as well as the parents had watched her career from the time she went to 20th Century-Fox and danced and sang in musicals, an adorable little girl.

She was still in their hearts when she grew up and as a Selznick star played romantic roles and love scenes. When her baby was born, the story of Shirley's perfect life continued as a beautiful sequel.

But today her marriage had gone the way of so many in Hollywood.

For some time prior to her announcement today, the one-time wonder child had intimated that all was not well with her marriage.

She had blamed "career trouble," and said her husband did not understand or like all the publicity and attention that are a necessary part of "any star's life."

"You don't know how hard it is when you go out to a night club or a private party and everything you say is magnified into something important. That doesn't happen to our friends who are not in pictures and who quarrel as every young couple does."

"Then it's career trouble," I said.

"I suppose you could call it that," she answered, "but after some of our quarrels, John doesn't come home and that's very heart-breaking."

Shirley had told me she would give her marriage another year's trial, but when I reminded her of it today, she said:

"Yes, but I just couldn't make it any longer, and I think this is right for both John and me."

Maybe it's right for Shirley and right for John, but I can only regret that this marriage, which should have been so ideal, should have broken up.

House Group Favors Hike In Nation's Postal Rates

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The House Post Office committee today recommended an increase of $129,000,000 in the nation's mail bill, with $36,000,000 of it to come from raising the penny post card rate from one to two cents.

The total increase falls far short of the $250,000,000 asked by the Post Office department to help cut down a deficit of around $500,000,000.

Homecoming Plans

traditional Homecoming pep rally and bonfire at 7:30 tonight, at the gymnasium. An informal "bull session" for the benefit of those exes who arrive today will be held, after the bonfire, in the newly finished Green Room of the recreation hall.

Election of officers to the Ex-Students association will be made at a breakfast Saturday at 8 a. m. in the Hilton hotel, followed by the Homecoming parade at 10 a. m. and the Tech-Baylor university football game in Jones stadium at 2:30 p. m.

Members of the Tech Board of Directors' finance committee will convene on the campus some time this afternoon to study proposals to turn profits from the college bookstore into a fund for the erection of a student union building.

Tech Board To Meet

A full meeting of the board will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in the Administration building to vote on the proposal as well as to study plans for possible additions of wings to the engineering building.

The purpose of the Ex-Students association and its part in the development of the college will be the theme of the annual meetings this afternoon and Saturday. A committee will be appointed by the group to work with college officials concerning Tech's Silver anniversary celebrations to begin next fall.

Final minute details of the gala parade and other phases of the Homecoming celebrations will be threshed out at 10 a. m. today at an executive meeting of the Homecoming committee. The session will be aimed at making this year's event the most beautiful and well-organized in the history of the college.

Signs To Be Erected

"Welcome" signs and other paraphanelia relative to the reunion program will be erected on the campus this morning by the sign committee, headed by Bill McCasland, student council officer.

A brief note of solemnity will mark the celebrations at 8:30 a. m. Saturday when a bronze plaque will be presented the college in Aggie auditorium in memory of K. M. Rennet, who headed the dairy manufacturing department from its inauguration in 1927 until his death in 1947.

Earl Collins of the Bell Ice Cream company will present the plaque in behalf of students, alumni, and friends to Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of the college, during the ceremonies. The plaque is a bronze bust of Renner, paid for with contributions. Money collected for the memorial which is left will be put into a K. M. Renner memorial scholarship fund.

Registration Sites Listed

Registration Saturday will be conducted in the Lubbock and Hilton hotels and in the administration, engineering and agriculture buildings on the campus. All ex-students will need their Double T name cards in order to buy football tickets for the afternoon game, McElroy said. Tickets will go on sale at 8 a. m. Saturday at the stadium and will be thrown open to the general public at 10 a. m.

The actual celebrations will begin at 10 a.m. with the 43-float strong parade down Main street from Avenue Q to Texas and back up Broadway to College. The Texas Tech band will lead the parade, which also will include specially-decorated cars representing alumni associations in various towns over the state.

A 41-inch high gold and mahogany trophy will be presented the most outstanding float this year for the first time. Selected from among those in the Thomas Jewelry trophy department, the award will be given by Lucian Thomas and will be known as the Thomas trophy. Thomas is an ex-student of the college.

To be held for only one year by the organization sponsoring the winning float, the trophy may be captured permanently only by the organization winning three years in succession. A plaque bearing the name of the organization will be presented the float chosen most outstanding in each of three classifications — beautiful, descriptive and humorous. All presentations will be made at halftime of the football game.

Reserve Seat Tickets Sold

Tech's Red Raiders will go into the afternoon tussle with the Baylor Bears as the underdog in a game expected to be witnessed by more than 18,000 fans. Reserve tickets already have been sold out, with 2,000 general admission tickets saved back for returning exes.

Other halftime performances will include the annual freshman shoe race and an elaborate show by the Texas Tech band. Another tradition to be carried out is the one allowing freshman to remove their green caps if the Raiders win the homecoming game. Otherwise they wear the caps until Thanksgiving.

All social organizations are staging open houses for former members and several are giving special luncheons and dinners. The celebrations will be concluded Saturday night with dances in the gymnasium for ex-students and in the recreation hall for students. Both will begin at 9 p.m. following general open houses by the various organizations.

Negro Held In Clarinet Theft

A 43-year-old Lubbock negro was being held by city police late Thursday for investigation of theft of a clarinet following his arrest earlier in the day as he returned the instrument to its owner and attempted to claim a reward.

Officials, acting on a tip, said they had gone to the suspect's house about 9:45 p.m. to question him about the theft of the clarinet from a city bus Monday, only to find the man not at home. Shortly thereafter, it was related, the suspect took the instrument to the home of its owner, Billy Fleming, of 2623 Edna, where he was met by police.

Burglaries Probed

Authorities, meanwhile, were continuing investigation of two burglaries reported early Thursday, one at Penny's Drug store at 411 Ave. H. and the other at the home of Rex Johnson at 312 Seventeenth.

Merchandise valued at $137.65 and $20 in change were taken from the drug store by burglars who entered the place through an opening in front of an air conditioner. Johnson told police intruders at his home had taken a pistol while he and his family were absent from the place.

Visitor Loses Suitcase

A Lubbock visitor, identified only as George Smith, who said he had been in the city only a few hours, placed his suitcase under some cardboard in an alley Thursday and went to a show he told police. When he came out of the theater, he complained, the suitcase with all his spare clothing, was gone.

Lonnie Martin, 46, Lubbock man who earlier had pleaded innocent of the charge, Thursday afternoon pleaded guilty of drunk driving County Judge Walter Davies assessed punishment of 15 days in county jail and court costs.

James Don Kinder, 23, of 1900-block Sixth, posted $600 bond for trial appearance on a charge of liquor law violation.

Kinder, the state alleges, attempted to bootleg whiskey to Ira E. Scott, a city policeman, under impression he had gone to an address from which whiskey had been ordered. Scott arrested him, and police allegedly found more whiskey as well as beer in the man's car, they said.

Al Hays, 27, a negro charged with aggravated assault in connection with a Saturday knifing of another negro, surrendered at county jail. He had not asked bail.

Reds Make Bid For German Co-operation

BERLIN, Friday, Oct. 14. (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin made a strong bid today for Russian-German cooperation which he said could make peace in Europe secure.

He said that the German and Soviet peoples made the largest sacrifice in the war and that "both these peoples have the largest potentialities in Europe to complete great actions of world significance."

In a congratulatory message to the leaders of the East German republic, Stalin hailed the birth of the Soviet-sponsored regime as a "turning point in the history of Europe."

His statement was distributed here by ADN, the official Soviet news agency.

Stalin said "there is no doubt that the existence of a peace-loving, democratic Germany, along with the existence of a peace-loving Soviet Union, excludes the possibility of new wars in Europe, makes an end to European bloodshed and makes impossible the servitude of European countries under world imperialists."

Cotton Curbs Sought

ing cotton this year will be eligible to vote. Any person who had an interest in the 1948 crop as owner, tenant or sharecropper may vote.

The department is required by law to propose marketing quotas whenever the cotton supply exceeds what the law describes as the "normal" supply for the marketing year ahead. The normal supply is the quantity estimated to be needed by the market plus a reserve.

The department said current supplies are about 27 per cent above normal.

The department said its state and county production and marketing administration committees are now compiling information on which to base individual farm acreage allotments. It said each farm operator should receive his individual allotment before the referendum date.

Cincinnati Children To Chase Police For Halloween Pretzels

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13. (AP)—The kids will be chasing the cops here on Haloween night, instead of "the law" running after them.

A local biscuit company will supply 10,000 pretzels and police cruiser cars will see that the kids get them.

City Projects

$8,207.29—the lowest of 17 submitted. The proposals were opened last month, and the intervening time has been devoted to an analysis of them and to studies and tests of samples submitted by each bidder.

The new signs display numerals and letters in black on a white background. The number of each block will be displayed on each sign which are of enamel upon sheet metal.

Different types of signs will be proided for the business district and the residence areas. In the business district, name signs will be bolted to metal posts at right angles to each other. There will be four of these signs at each intersection—one pair at each corner. In the residence area, the signs will form a cross-bar each designating its appropriate street.

Early Delivery Promised

Deliveries were promised in "about a month."

They will be erected without delay, the city manager said, and many new street names in Lubbock will go into effect as soon as they are put up.

Plans for the new public health and welfare center, now crowded into a first floor corner of the city hall, were presented by Gerald Jarvis, director of the department.

They involve the removal of the buildings which served as the base hospital of the wartime South Plains Army Air field to a city-owned site on Avenue A between Fourth and Fifth streets. Plans call for a somewhat elaborate although inexpensive landscaping of the site.

Cost Set At $13,000

Jarvis estimated the cost of moving and remodeling the building at a maximum of $12,000 to $13,000.

Building contractors estimated a structure of the type planned would cost $50,000 if built new. It was especially designed for hospital purposes. Its features include many walls lined with lead for x-ray rooms.

Routine action by the commission included:

Passed on first reading an ordinance taking Modern Manors addition inside the city limits. This $2,500,000 project in Southwest Lubbock is intended primarily to supply rental housing for the personnel of LAFB. Another reading will be necessary to complete action.

Welfare Fund Approved

Approved $2,000 toward the new budget of the Child Welfare group, of which Miss Mary Lou Hawkins is supervisor. The county commission appropriated an equal amount and the state nearly $11,000.

Refunded $150 to the junior chamber of commerce which had been collected as license fees for a benefit circus which played here Tuesday.

Authorized the use of a sound truck in getting the Texas Technological college Homecoming parade organized Saturday.

Authorized the purchase of about $8,000 worth of generators and other electrical equipment from Southwestern Electric Supply co., the lowest of four bidders.

Bought an International pickup truck from Commercial Truck co., for $1,320, the lowest of four bids.

Bought about 500 traffic signs of various kinds from National Safety Engineers, inc., for approximately $1,500, the lowest of five bids. Included among the signs are "no parking, "speed limit," "school zone," and the like.

A-Bomb Partnership

atomic secrets that took place during the war is forbidden. Britain and Canada have expressed dissatisfaction with the situation, which is complicated by England's control of the world's richest uranium deposits in the Belgian Congo.

Want Larger Share

Reportedly, the British and Canadians want a larger share of the A-bomb material, half of which has been coming to the U. S. The American allies also want the information needed to enable them to manufacture A-bombs.

Lilienthal, making no further reference to America's atomic bomb arsenal, scored Russia for its refusal to accept international control of atomic weapons, but added:

"Most important the news from Russia means that we should seek to develop to the utmost our greatest weapon of all, that working faith in the spirit of men that we call democracy."

He praised President Truman for giving the people the Russian atomic news even though "it was an important piece of military intelligence."

Information Needed

"The President showed," said Lilienthal, "that he does not share the view that atomic secrecy requires the abandonment of the very foundation of democracy; the need of the people for essential information by which they may steer their own course."

Declaring the people now realize that the A-bomb is "not the single and complete answer to all America's problems of security," Lilienthal nevertheless warned that it is "a very great error indeed" to consider it "just another weapon." He continued:

"It is, I believe, a fact that our possession of a great lead in this weapon provides—and if that lead is maintained may continue for some time to provide—a deterrent to armed aggression."

a normal and healthy life.

Capt. Gregory said that Capt. Alling in Galveston will send him daily reports on Billie Eugene and the family. It was the Salvation Army which secured hospital admission here for the infant and guaranteed payment of the hospital bill.

Billie Eugene, whose ailment causes periodic attacks of blueness, was under oxygen treatment at West Texas hospital, but no oxygen was necessary for the train trip.

Couple Suffers Additional Blow

AMARILLO, Oct. 13. (AP)—One son of an Oklahoma farm couple underwent a critical operation today while authorities searched for the slayer of another son.

The saddened couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Clark of Boise City, Okla., stayed by the bedside of their son Doyle after the 21 year-old youth was operated on in St. Anthony's hospital for stomach ulcers.

Physicians said the operation was successful and Doyle's condition was "favorable."

Second Son Found Dead

The Clarks' second son, Alfred, 23, was found dead yesterday beside a country road three and a half miles south of Jerseyville, Ill., shot through the head and robbed.

Search for his slayer centered in New Mexico and Texas. Alfred, a Clayton, N. M., cafe worker, had accepted a stranger's invitation to accompany him to the world series. Alfred providing the car and the stranger the tickets. Authorities believe the stranger returned to this area because a car used last week in an armed robbery at Dalhart was identified as Alfred's.

Robbery by assault charges were filed today in Moore county against Leonard (Lucky) Hawkins, 34, in an assault last Friday night on a Dalhart girl and her companion near Dalhart.

And Sheriff C. E. Wedding of Jersey County, Ill., said he had sworn out a first degree murder warrant against Hawkins on the basis of the evidence against him.

Alias Is Given

Moore county officials said Hawkins, alias Todd (Lucky) Vinson, was originally from Hartshorn (Pittsburgh county), Okla.

Juanita Groves, 19, of Dalhart, told officers a man fired on her and Otis Benson, 32, Dalhart, and then forced their car to the side of the road. She said Benson was beaten on the head with a pistol and his billfold taken.

The girl said the man ordered her in his car and made her put on a man's shirt, pants and coat. Miss Groves said she was driven to a tourist court in Vega, Tex., where she escaped Saturday morning after hitting her abductor over the head with a fire extinguisher.

She said papers in the man's car identified the vehicle as Alfred Clark's.

District Attorney Floyd Richards, in whose district the robbery charges were filed, said the clothing the girl said she was forced to wear had been identified as Clark's.

11 Persons Hurt

ing less serious injuries were dismissed after treatment for lacerations and bruises at the hospital. They were:

M. L. Abney, 39, and his brother, Reames Abney, about 42, Levelland oil field workers riding in the pickup, and the other four Goley children, H. T., jr., 14, Dorothy Faye, 18, James Elder, 11, and Ernest, 2, and the father, H. T. sr., 41.

Were Farm Workers

Sheriff Charlie Bullock of Hockley county said the Goley family was in the area to pull cotton and had been working on the Justice farm. Miss Justice was riding to Levelland with the family when the crash came.

Goley, his wife and two of their children were thrown along the roadway when their car was all but demolished in the crash, Bullock said, and M. L. Abney was tossed from the pickup.

According to Bullock, the collision came when Goley, driving east in a 1940 Plymouth, attempted to pass a car on a curve two miles west of Levelland on the Levelland-Morton highway, at a point near the Consumers Co-op refinery.

The 1949 Studebaker pickup, driven by M. L. Abney and owned by his brother, Reames, was going west, Bullock said. The sheriff said the crash was not head-on, but nearly so, as the pickup collided with one side of the car.

Bullock said the two-door Plymouth sedan overturned, but that the pickup remained on its wheels. The front of the pickup was heavily damaged, he said.

Seven of the injured were brought to the hospital by ambulance, while Bullock's deputies brought in the other four, he said.

said, he would investigate his powers to do so.

Would Deplore Seizure

The embattled mine union leader said his union would deplore government seizure but:

"If the situation gets bad enough so the government thinks it has to do something, then let them seize the mines rather than use the power of government to enjoin the mine workers."

Lewis contended that any government action should be "to the account of the people and not of the mine owners." Past seizures, he said, have been "papier-mache and make believe affairs."

He said the government had taken the mines by telegram while the operators ran them and took the profits.

Mexican Labor Snags Are Reported Cleared

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—Two Texans announced last night, after three days of conferences with President Truman and high national officials, that Mexican farm labor recruitment difficulties are virtually settled.

Details of the agreement were announced by Austin Anson of Harlingen, and Charles B. Ray of Mercedes. Anson is manager of the Texas Growers and Shippers association, Ray is manager of the Valley Farm Bureau.

Anson said machinery to carry out the plan in the Rio Grande valley will be put in action at once.

The two men plan to leave by plane today for home.

All American employers wanting to hire Mexican farm hands, Anson said, now may do so simply by stating on their application filed with U. S. Employment service officials that they will pay the "prevailing wage."

In addition to this action, Anson continued, negotiations are to be started immediately between State department and Mexican authorities with a view to reducing the minimum duration of contracts from the present four-months period to six-weeks. Growers in South Texas have complained that the four-months period was too long in their area, where need for help in harvesting of perishable crops might be over in a much shorter period.

Girl Missing From Seminole Reported Seen By Hobbs Man

SEMINOLE, Oct. 13 (Special) — The sheriff's office here today had a new lead on 12-year-old Mary Donna Nelson, missing from her home since Monday night, with the report of a Hobbs resident who said he saw her near that city.

The man said he saw two young girls hitchhiking westward Tuesday morning about 11 west of Hobbs. He said one of them fitted the description of the missing girl. He told Sheriff Robert McReynolds he had not reported it sooner because he had just heard about her disappearance.

Planes Aid In Search

The search had shifted back to the Seminole area Wednesday when officers were unable to locate her in San Angelo or El Paso. Eight Air Force B-25s aided in searching the rugged brush country around Seminole Wednesday.

Meanwhile, McReynolds said he had men posted along the El Paso highway looking for the girl. She was last seen by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Nelson, when she went to bed at 10:30 p.m., Monday. Officials believe she might be headed toward California, where a grandmother lives.

record to find the reasons for the turndown, the President said, refusing to say whether it was what a newsman called the power lobby or the party discipline 'esson which the President himself had injected into the fray.

Twenty-one Democrats joined 32 Republicans in opposing Olds. Whether Mr. Truman plans any crackdown on members of his party found in the opposing camp remains to be seen.

Opponents accused Olds of being a foe of capitalism, saying that 20 years ago he wrote articles that helped to promote Communism.

Lewis' Remarks Cited

Questions about the coal strike resulted from remarks by John L. Lewis today in West Virginia. Lewis spoke of government seizure of the mines as a last resort. He said the 400,000 miners would return to work under a "bona fide" control—if the mines were run for the benefit of the people, not the mine owners.

Asked if he has seizure authority, the President replied that would have to be investigated if seizure became necessary. He said it is anybody's guess how long the coal and steel strikes could continue before damaging the nation's economy.

Mr. Truman refused to comment specifically on admirals' testimony before the House Armed Services committee against high level defense policies.

He did say that of course our defenses now are adequate and he sees no need to change the fundamentals of our policy.

He said he still wants a 48-group Air Force as called for in the Senate version of the military appropriation bill, not the 58-group provided by the House. The issue is still deadlocked in a Senate-House conference.

An emergency proposal was swiftly passed by the Senate tonight, and sent to the House. It is a stopgap measure, designed to let the armed forces go on spending even though the regular appropriation is not passed.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the Senate Appropriations committee told the Senate the stopgap was necessary to enable the armed services to meet their payrolls this weekend.

The President expressed belief that Senate-House conferees can work out an acceptable farm bill for his signature. They are trying to agree on a compromise between the Senate sliding scale price support bill and the rigid 90 per cent House measure.

Fate Of Top 11 U. S. Reds Still In Doubt

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP) — A federal jury was sent to bed at 10:21 p. m. EST tonight, leaving the fate of the nation's 11 top Communists still in doubt after about five hours of deliberations.

The jury was directed to resume its secret debate at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

The jury got the historic case at 3:53 p. m. this afternoon.

They argued it in private until 5:40 p. m. when they went to dinner. Then they resumed deliberations at 7 p. m. and continued to the overnight adjournment.

In all, they were closeted for five hours and eight minutes without reaching a decision.

QUAKE REPORTED

PRISONERS' FINES SUSPENDED

Dallas Judge Helps Two Idalou Men Get Cotton Field Workers

(By The United Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 13. — Two unidentified Idalou farmers were provided with badly needed cotton pickers from an unexpected quarter here today after they told City Judge Joe M. Hill of their plight.

With fields of cotton ready to be harvested, no pickers were available, the farmers lamented.

The judge listened to their story, and then he had an idea.

Men Plead Guilty

Faced with a docket filled with 20 drunks, hangers-on, reckless drivers, the judge solved the farmer's cotton picking problem quickly.

"Do all of you plead guilty?" he asked.

Heads nodded here and there among the prisoners at the bar.

"All right," said the judge. "I'll fine each of you $100, but I'll suspend the sentence if you'll go to West Texas and pick cotton."

The prisoners agreed, and the judge, as an afterthought, perhaps added, "but you will have to serve your sentences if you come back to Dallas before Thanksgiving."

Again the prisoners agreed.

Sending for his bailiff, Judge Hill ordered other prisoners brought up from the city jail. He asked them if they would work if their sentences were suspended.

20 Agree To Work

Twenty more agreed, and the farmers brought their trucks around to city hall. Ten negroes and 30 white men assembled to be loaded.

One white man said to another, "do you have any dice . . . it's a long ride to Lubbock."

Hill ordered the pair back to jail. "This is no picnic," he said. "You are going to work, not play."

Squad Car Follows

To assure that the farmers got outside the city with their workers, Judge Hill had a police squad car follow the two-truck convoy to nearby Grand Prairie.

In the confusion of solving the farmers' help problems, Judge Hill complained that he forgot to ask the farmers their names.

(The Morning Avalanche learned late tonight from relatives in Idalou that Delbert Mac Sawyers and Louis "Bubbie" Countess left early this morning for Dallas in search of cotton pickers. They are believed to be the farmers in question.

(Efforts to determine if the men were the ones involved in the transaction were unavailing, however.)

Dallas Conductor Still Likes People After 45 Years On Same Route

DALLAS, Oct. 13. (INS)—After 45 years of operating a streetcar over the same Dallas route, Joseph D. Giles, 72, knows what to do when in the middle of the rush hour, a man hands him a $10 bill to change.

"You can't afford to throw him out of the car and run over him. I've learned to say, 'kindly step to the side and let the others get on, please, sir!' You get used to it."

Many Faces Known

Giles, who has the highest seniority with the Dallas Railway & Terminal company is a plump, ruddy-faced white-haired operator who knows a thousand faces and practically no names.

"I get to know my regular customers well enough to bawl 'em out when they're late or when they miss a day's work," he says, "but I don't know their names."

Giles says a streetcar man's life is a matter of pretending you haven't got any nerves.

"You have so many close shaves every day in this kind of traffic, you can't afford to sit down and mop your brow like you'd want to.

Despite the work that offers a million reasons daily to believe human beings are nature's mistake, Giles thinks they're okay. He says he loaned fare to a lot of people and most of them pay it back.

"I passed a man though, just the other day who owed me a dime. He wouldn't even get on the car. Afraid to face me. For a little dime!"

Good Nature Prevails

"And most people are good natured. Pleasant to me, and I'm pleasant to them."

Concerning gripers, Giles said, "I think they really gripe because they're livin'. Can't do much with 'em, so I leave 'em alone."

Giles, who knows every bump, gulley, rough stretch of road on the lines says he guesses he'll just "keep on rolling" unless they should try to put him on one of those buses.

"I will not drive a bus. I like to be able to know that no matter how icy the ground is and no matter how much I skid, my back will always follow my front.

"This is NOT true with buses," the oldtimer said firmly.

Reds Rally Forces To Fight Slavs As UN Council Member

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 13. (AP)—The Soviet bloc in the United Nations tonight made a serious diplomatic issue out of American-supported efforts to elect Yugoslavia to the Security council instead of Moscow-sponsored Czechoslovakia.

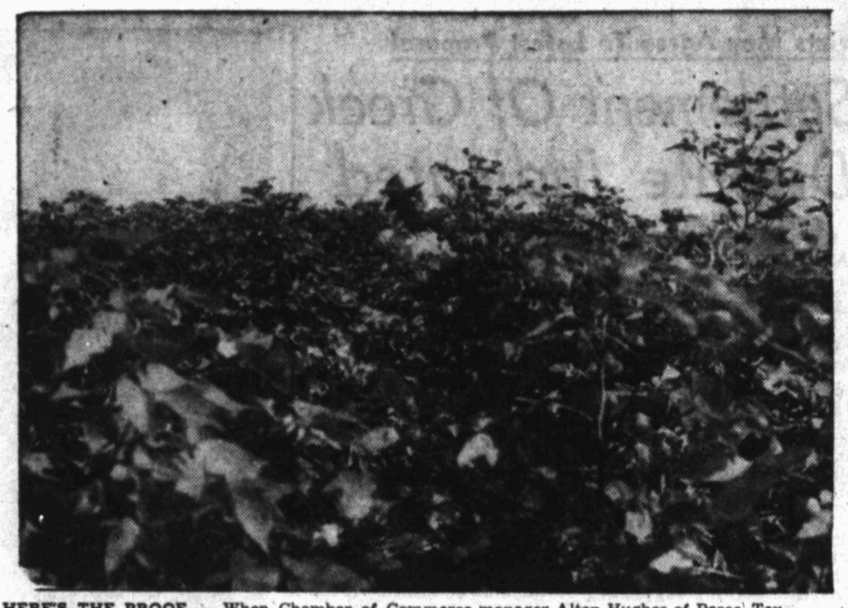

Identical notes were sent by the five members of the Soviet bloc to each member of the United Nations calling for the election of Czechoslovakia.

A non-Russian eastern European source said the fact that the Soviet bloc had made it a diplomatic matter in a formal communication made clear the serious tone of the Russian views.

This source said that if Yugoslavia wins the council seat it might lead to unforeseen events. He indicated that Russia would regard such an election as breaking up the fourpower agreement dating back to Yalta on which the UN was founded.

Asked if this meant the Soviet bloc would leave the UN, he said he could not give any further indication of the Soviet plans.

A new transoceanic cable is to be laid between England and Denmark.

No Trace Of Actress-Dancer Found

Police Study Old Romances Of Missing Girl For Clues

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13. (INS)—Police today were sifting the ashes of old romances in the life of Jean Spangler in an attempt to solve the disappearance of the beautiful actress-dancer on a "secret date" six days ago.

Who, for example, is the "Lieut. Scott" who "hounded" her in an outburst of jealous rage, beat her and threatened to kill her if she ever left him?

Mrs. Florence Spangler, Jean's mother, told Detective Chief Thad Brown of her daughter's affair with "Lieut. Scott," whom she knew as a handsome blonde Air Force officer.

Officer Hounded Girl

"This Lieut. Scott hounded my daughter during the late war years. He got acquainted with Jean after her husband, Dexter Benner, went overseas," Mrs. Spangler said.

Albert Pearlsen, an attorney who had employed Jean as a secretary, said that the actress had told him the interlude with Lieut. Scott ended when he beat her up and threatened to kill her.

The Scott angle was only one of many police were probing in an effort to learn what happened to the actress last Friday night. Her torn purse was found in Griffith park the next day, touching off the search for her.

Henry Mertz of Fresno, Calif., told police he believed he had seen the missing girl with a man in a Fresno bar at 9 a.m. Sunday and that she had remarked:

"What a tough night I've had!"

Another development in the case was the arrest of Thomas E. Evans, 49, gambler and former bodyguard of "admiral" Tony Cornero of the old gambling fleet, who was questioned not only in the Spangler case but also in the disappearance of Mimi Boomhower, wealthy widow who disappeared last Aug. 18.

Still another development was the naming by Miss Spangler's mother of a suspect whose identity was withheld by police.

Film star Kirk Douglas told police yesterday that he absolutely was not the "Kirk" to whom a note mentioning a "Dr. Scott" was addressed. The note and a private address book were found in the battered purse recovered in Griffith park.

An intense search of the brush-covered area where the purse was found failed to find any clue to the dancer's disappearance.

Meanwhile, Dexter Benner, Miss Spangler's ex-husband, filed a petition in superior court seeking custody of their daughter, Christine, 5, until the dancer's fate was known.

Head Of Women's Club Is Charged With Burglary

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—A burglary charge was filed against the president of the Austin chapter of the Federated Business and Professional Women's clubs today.

The charge was made against Mrs. Iris Bullard, attractive, 29-year-old brunette, who was arrested last night. She was released today under $1,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Frank McBee.

Police said Mrs. Bullard, a former employe of the firm she is accused of burglarizing, has made no written statement.

City Detectives Merle Wells and T. S. Weaver said they arrested Mrs. Bullard at 8:15 p. m. last night as she was leaving the office of H. J. Gondolf laboratories on the eighth floor of the Capital National bank building.

Tipped off by Mrs. Gondolf, who said she had missed money from the office safe twice recently, the detectives had hidden in the office.

They said a woman walked in, turned on the light and went to the wall safe. She opened it quickly, took some money, and then locked the safe.

Livestock Producers Form Co-Op Venture

BEEVILLE, Oct. 13. (INS)— A group of livestock producers from Bee and adjoining counties have not only established the first cooperative of its kind in Texas, but have set what should be a record for organization.

According to Texas A & M college agriculturists who sponsor cooperative marketing, the Beeville Livestock Producers organization was formed and in operation within 16 days.

First, some 25 interested livestock producers met in Beeville to discuss the possibilities of organizing a cooperative livestock auction.

The response to the idea was so enthusiastic that an organizing committee was elected and the first sale was held a week later.

A second sale was held the next week. More than 400 head of livestock was sold at this auction.

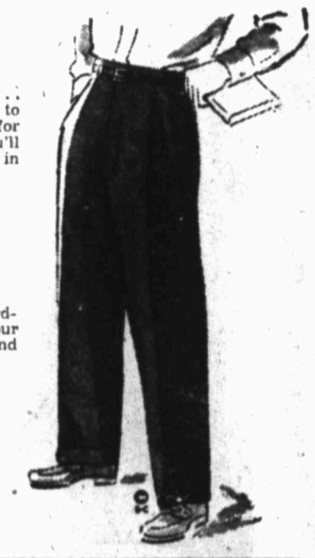

Sixteen days after the initial meeting. 80 producers who had purchased membership stock in the organization met and approved a charter, adopted by-laws and elected a permanent board of directors.

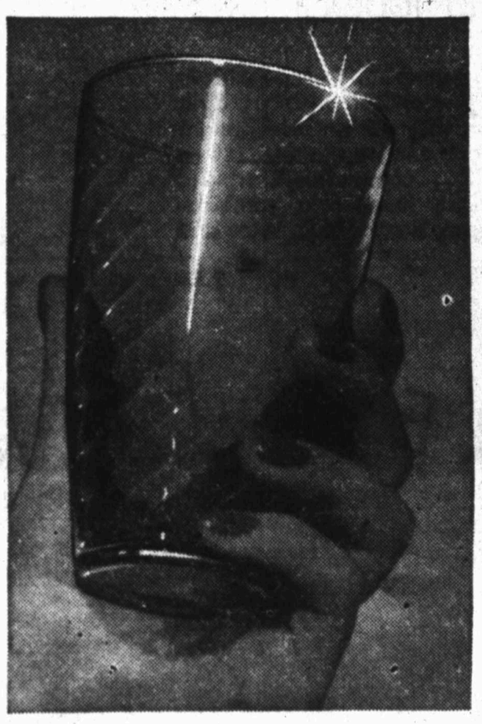

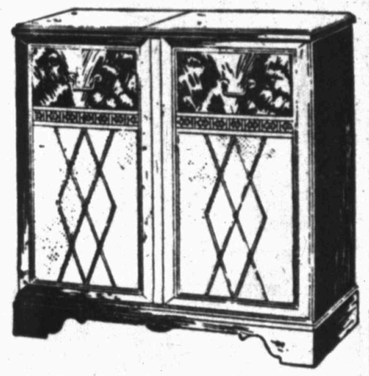

The elected officers are Raymond T. Powell, president; Warren LeBourveau, secretary-treasurer; and D. N. Benham, R. H. Coffman, H. Y. Mohle, Austin Brown, Paul Treptow and A. L. McGill, directors.

Soviets May Agree To Latest Proposal

Settlement Of Greek Dispute Indicated

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 13. —Russia edged toward a face-saving solution on the Greek civil war tonight and gave the United Nations strong hopes for an early settlement of the three-year-old dispute.

The UN Balkan Conciliation committee headed by Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo meets behind closed doors. But it is understood on reliable information that Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik in presenting his government's answer to questions raised some days ago by the group displayed a more promising attitude.

Points on which the Russian government reportedly was probed included those of an amnesty for the guerrilas, the Greek border status and a political truce including a new general election.

Benjamin V. Cohen appeared before the committee for the United States and Hector McNeil for Britain. The committee conferred later in the afternoon with the individual representatives of the four Balkan states concerned.

Panayotis Pipinelis, the Greek undersecretary for foreign affairs, told International News Service that the atmosphere in the talks seems to point to agreement.

He confirmed the reports from other quarters that the Russians have changed their attitude, and added:

"The change is a little more than slight."

Asked if he were more optimistic over the new developments, Pipinelis replied:

"I have never been discouraged, so it is hard to say that I am encouraged."

Deadlocks Continue

On other major issues, there was little prospects of solving the deadlocks despite further intervention efforts by the United Nations. There is no sign of yielding by Russia on the question of atomic energy controls.

Jacob Malik again met behind closed doors this afternoon at UN with the other five sponsoring powers but there is reason to assume that the talks left the deadlock between Russia and the United States, Britain, France, China and Canada wholly unaffected.

The special political committee also placed little faith in future Russian willingness to compromise. By a vote of 41 to 5, with nine abstentions, the committee voted to submit violations of the peace treaties by Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania to the International Court of Justice.

It's handy to remember that a number 2 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) of fruit cocktail will make about 5 servings; this size can usually yields about 2¼ to 2½ cups of the fruit. A number 2½ can (1 pound, 13 ounces) of the cocktail will give 3¼ to 3½ cups, or about 7 servings of ½ cup.

Paris Selected For Next Meeting By International Surgery Group

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13. (INS)— Paris was selected today as site for the 14th biennium meeting of the International Congress of Surgery.

The group, meeting in New Orleans, elected Prof. Rene Leriche, of Paris, president of the next congress.

Leriche is professor emeritus of the University of Strassburg.

The next international congress of the world's leading surgeons will be held early in September of 1951, to coincide with the 50th anniversary of the founding of the International Society of Surgery.

Prof. Jean Verhoogen, president of the society, was re-elected. Also re-elected were Prof. Leo Dejardin, secretary, and Prof. Paul Lorthioir, treasurer. All are from Brussels, where the surgery society was founded in 1901.

The international congress admitted four countries to membership—Siam, Costa Rica, Salvador and Chile.

In addition the congress voted unanimously to accept recommendations of its international committee that Germany and Japan be admitted to membership at the next international meeting.

Members from these countries will be screened through occupation authorities.

Doctor Is Found Beaten To Death

GARDENA, Calif., Oct. 13 (INS) —A hunt for pickup drinking companions whose motive was robbery was launched by police today after the body of Dr. Donald Buge, 44, prominent Long Beach, Calif., physician, was found brutally beaten in a Gardena oil field.

The victim, who had patronized a Gardena card club a few hours before, was sprawled face downward a few feet from the roadside in an oil section known as "Athens on the hill."

Valuables Are Taken

His trouser pockets were turned inside out and all his valuables were missing. His wife, Violet, said that the doctor was carrying quite a large sum of money, leading police to the theory that chance companions had beaten and robbed him after he left the gambling club.

Absence of blood at the scene pointed to the fact that Dr. Buge, a former Navy commander, had been brutally attacked at some other place and his body, perhaps still living, dumped at the spot where he was found by a passing motorist.

Both eyes had been closed by blows, teeth protruded through the lips, the face was almost unrecognizable and he had suffered a fractured skull. The neck of a wine bottle, cap still intact, lay nearby, indicating it might have been used in the beating.

Attended Races

Mrs. Buge told police that they had attended the harness races at Hollywood Park yesterday afternoon and then had stopped at the Gardena gambling resort en route back to their Long Beach home. She said her husband had parted from her shortly after their arrival, saying he had met some old friends with whom he was going to have a drink.

She said she waited until 2 a.m. and then went home without him.

Dr. Buge was a graduate of Northwestern university. He was released from the Navy with the rank of commander in 1947 and practiced medicine in Artesia, Calif., for three months before moving to Long Beach.

Colorado Official Reports Surplus In Pension Fund

DENVER, Oct. 13 (INS) — Colorado today strengthened its position as the state paying the highest old age pension in the country.

A total of 48,840 persons will receive $80—less any outside income —this month, and a surplus in the pension fund indicated that the award will be $85 or a little more, in December and January.

Earl M. Kouns, state welfare director, said the pension fund has a surplus of nearly one million dollars, after the October payments were allocated. This is nearly $20 for every pensioner on the rolls.

The state constitution requires that the entire fund be paid out to eligible pensioners on January of each year.

There are 3,517 "Class B" pensioners on the list this month. This group are those long-time residents between the ages of 60 and 65, who receive their money entirely from state funds.

Lubbock Building Passes $12 Million Mark

New Record For Year Foreseen

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

Strong possibility that Lubbock's 1949 building volume will equal or exceed that of the record-breaking year 1948 was seen Thursday when building permits passed $12,000,000, only $3,000,000 short of last year's $15,000,000 total.

A $660,000 building permit issued to Texas Technological college for an administration building addition and a $45,000 permit for construction of Lubbock Cerebral Palsey Treatment center at 3502 Ave. N boosted the year's building volume to $12,317,749.

Apartment Project Included

The total includes a permit in the amount of $2,511,000 for Modern Manors apartment project, not yet issued but undoubtedly to be issued as soon as that area is brought into the city limits.

W. G. McMillan is listed as general contractor on the administration building addition at Tech, and Robert E. Maxey is general contractor for the Lubbock Cerebral Palsy Treatment center.

1,201 Dwellings Started

Lloyd Ross, city building inspector, announced that 1,201 dwelling units have been started in Lubbock so far this year. That figure includes the 293 units in Modern Manors.

October building permit volume today stood at $1,125,500, making this month the fourth in 1949 in which the city's building volume has exceeded $1,000,000.

Totals by months are as follows: January, $328,209; February, $833,110; March, $1,112,869; April, $831,012; May, $855,761; June, $1,834,158; July, $720,327; August, $1,110,102; and September, $976,257.

A significant trend in the building picture is the fact that recent months have seen an increasing number of small home permits and fewer homes above the $10,000 class.

Tech Permit Largest

For example, this month 49 permits for new homes under $10,000 in cost have already been issued, the average permit valuation being between $5,000 and $6,000. Only four residential permits above $10,000 have been issued so far this month.

The permit issued to Texas Tech and McMillan is the largest issued this month. It grants permission to the college to construct two three-story wings extending south at each end of the existing administration building. The structure will contain offices, classrooms and other facilities. It will harmonize in design with the existing building.

McMillan was awarded the general construction contract at a recent meeting of the Tech board

"Starts the Day on the South Plains"

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Friday, October 14, 1949

Jews Observe Lodge Birthday

Jewish residents of Lubbock Thursday observed the 106th anniversary of B'nai B'rith, a volunteer service organization devoted to the aid of fellow men.

The organization was founded Oct. 13, 1843, by 12 Americans of Jewish faith in New York City.

Largest Organization

Since then it has grown into the largest and oldest Jewish service organization in the world with more than 330,000 members in 1,600 lodges and women's chapters in the United States and Canada.

Support of philanthropies, promotion of Americanism and democracy, furtherance of interfaith work, religious, cultural and social activities for Jewish young men and women of college and pre-college age and aid to Israel are the major goals of the organization.

The first lodge in Lubbock was organized in 1940 by 11 men. The membership now numbers 68.

Assists In Civic Affairs

The Lubbock lodge in past years has assisted in Community Chest drives, and during the war provided books, magazines and entertainment for service men. Athletic supplies were sent to the Veterans hospital in Amarillo.

With the re-opening of Lubbock Air Force base, the chapter plans to revive its program of service for the airmen stationed here, Kuhn said.

Kuhn explained that B'nai B'rith means Sons of the Covenant.

The Lubbock lodge holds regular meetings in Congregation Shaareth Israel on the second Tuesday of every month.

Apolonio Chavez, Resident Of Lubbock For 25 Years, Dies

Funeral arrangements for Apolonio Chavez, 55, of 124 Ave. R, who died at 5:45 a. m., Thursday, in St. Mary's hospital, are still indefinite pending the arrival of relatives here.

Chavez, who has been a resident of Lubbock for 25 years, died after a short illness. He was employed at the Lubbock Steel works. McDonald Funeral home said arrangements probably would be completed by Saturday.

Orchestra's Part In Community Praised

Lubbock Symphony's Role Is Emphasized

By MARGARET TURNER
Avalanche Staff Writer

How important a role the Lubbock Symphony orchestra should play in the cultural and civic life of Lubbock and the South Plains was discussed by musical, educational and business leaders at an appreciation dinner given Thursday night in the Hilton hotel ballroom under sponsorship of the board of directors.

Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal, was master of ceremonies at the dinner which was attended by 110 business and professional persons.

Invocation was by Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Have Popular Numbers

William A. Harrod, director of the orchestra, pointed out that the orchestra programs are beamed to appeal to the cross section of the population and popular numbers are interspersed with the the symphonic selections.

"Because of the seating capacity of the Senior High school auditorium, 'name artists' are out of our financial reach and consequently we choose local artists and concentrate on pleasing programs, which will appeal to the greater group," he explained.

Tech Professor Speaks

Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the department of music at Texas Technological college, in speaking on the symphony as an asset in the musical life of a community, said melodious programs are what the people want to hear.

"Music began with the people centuries ago," he pointed out. "Then the royalty and aristocrats took it from them and refused to let the commoners enjoy it. Now it is time for music to be taken out of the ivory tower and given back to the people."

The music head pointed out that a successful symphony orchestra is an asset to the chamber of commerce because it helps to further the publicity of a city; leaders of industry considering moving to such a city are interested because of the opportunity it offers to their families and employes, and it means added business for merchants from residents of nearby towns who attend symphony concerts.

Support Is Pledged

He pledged the support of Tech's music department to the orchestra, especially in the stringed section, and said the college needs the symphony as a means of widening

Avalanche-Journal Printers Try Hand At Cotton Pulling

Six members of the "night side" of The Avalanche-Journal composing room took the appeal for cotton pickers to heart and tried to do their bit for the labor shortage Thursday.

They limped back to work at 4:40 p. m. Thursday after time in the cotton patch ranging from 30 minutes to six hours, but avowed they'd better stick to setting type.

"We didn't even pull enough to pay for our sacks," one bedraggled Linotype operator complained.

George Welch was winner of a "pot" containing 39 cents the other members of the back shop made up for the man who picked the most cotton. Welch brought in 171 pounds in two hours.

Two others, who had an off day, had not reported.

Besides Welch, other printers joining in the movement to alleviate the labor shortage were: Sam Malone, George Blair, Walter Neal, Jack Ellis and Jack Danklefs.

They pulled the cotton on the Putty farm, 5½ miles south of Lubbock.

"He still has 300 acres left for anybody else who wants to join in the movement," Malone said, "and I'll be glad to sell him my sack."

RITES HELD FOR SOLON

BOISE, Idaho, Oct. 13 (AP)—Idaho paid its final tribute today to U. S. Senator Bert H. Miller. The 70-year-old Democrat who died Saturday in Washington, D. C., was buried today.

Telephone Bill Changes Scored

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (Special)—Rep. W. R. Poage, 11th district of Texas, denounced Senate changes in his telephone bill Thursday as spelling ruination for the program he had planned to bring to rural telephones to every hamlet lacking then in the nation.

Poage, just back from a tour of Europe, rushed to the conference committee of House and Senate chambers. Vowing he would never vote for the bill "in the shape it's in."

Big Companies Hit

He blamed the big telephone companies for getting the Senate to incorporate their pet amendment. It provides for no duplication of telephone construction in areas where there are existing lines operating unless they are unwilling or unable to provide more telephones. Poage says the word "area" is not defined and how is the administrator of the act to know if a company is "unwilling or unable" without gathering evidence or looking at a company's books.

No provision for such things is made. He said this amendment which the telephone companies offered to House members and which the House rejected has rendered his telephone bill of little value. He intends to keep fighting the amendment in conference.

Court Test Of Share-The-Ride Law In New Mexico Expected

SANTA FE, Oct. 13 (INS) — A court test of the disputed share-the-ride regulation of the corporation commission is expected to be instigated in the near future, it was revealed today.

The new law requires share-the-ride operators to get a $10 permit from the commission, and to carry insurance on their cars up to $28,500.

Protests have been flooding the commission offices from Los Alamos, Kirtland Field, the Wingate ordnance depot near Gallup.

Meanwhile, the corporation commission has postponed until Nov. 1 the date when enforcement of the law is to start.

Among those who have come out against the measure are labor organiaztions and a Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

Mrs. E. H. Crandall Claimed After Stroke

Mrs. E. H. Crandall, 70, wife of the assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, died at 5:50 a. m. Thursday.

Mrs. Crandall died of a stroke at her home, 3101 Thirtieth.

Funeral arrangements under the charge of the McDonald Funeral home have not been made, pending the arrival of relatives.

A native of Rockwall, she moved here with her husband in 1947 from O'Donnell where he had been pastor of the Methodist church there.

Survivors are her husband; a son, A. N. Crandall of Oklahoma City; two daughters, Mrs. Harry L. Carson of Oklahoma City and Mrs. W. E. Brazier of Lubbock; four brothers, C. R. Deweese of Dallas, Charles Deweese of Fort Worth, Ulric C. Deweese of Kaufman and Homer L. Deweese of Rockwall; and three grandchildren.

Forester Pleas For Prevention Of Fires

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 13 (INS) — J. O. Burnside, head of the fire control department of the department of the Texas Forest service has made a special plea to sportsmen asking for their cooperation in preventing forest fires.

He pointed out that the many summer rains had increased the amount of vegetation in the woods and made them more susceptible to autumn fires.

Burnside mentioned two precautions which, if remembered, would aid sportsmen in enjoying many extra happy hours of hunting.

"While driving through or near wooded areas, be sure and use the ash tray in your car," Burnside asks. "If you smoke or use a warming fire, be sure your match and everything you light with it is dead out."

Air Force Equipment For Fire Fighting Demonstrated At LAFB

Fire fighting equipment on an Air Force base is equal or superior to that in many cities boasting a much larger population, according to Ned McCleskey, installation chief at Lubbock Air Force base.

This was graphically illustrated Wednesday afternoon in a demonstration staged on the flight line as a part of the observance of National Fire Prevention week.

Complete Equipment Included

Fire fighting apparatus at the Air Force base is grouped into two main classifications: crash and structural. The former which is used mostly in case of aircraft fires included a 300-gallon, class 125, crash truck and a 1000 gallon, class 155 truck. Both of these are equipped with foam pick-up nozzles (for blanketing and smothering a fire) and with first aid accessories.

Structural fire fighting equipment includes a 750-gallon per minute (Seagraves) truck carrying approximately 2,000 feet of 2½ inch hose. All of these trucks also carry appropriate ladders, gas masks, first aid equipment and auxiliary lights.

Section Has 81 People

The personnel of the LAFB fire department is made up of both civilian and Air Force personnel. Approximately 81 people are assigned to the section, so that a full complement can be on duty at all times, day and night.

In addition to the special display on the line Wednesday afternoon, the LAFB department has put on two demonstrations each day during the week, showing the use of various types of extinguishers and hand equipment which is distributed about the base wherever there is a possibility that it may be needed. These were staged in various sections of the base so that all personnel stationed there would have an opportunity of attending at least one session.

Lectures Are Given

The lectures on the use of the equipment were given in each case by Assistant Chief Eunice A. Stewart with Carter Shaw, civilian fireman, manning the extinguishers and Sgt. C. E. Cunningham prepared the material for the demonstration.

Appropriate posters were distributed throughout the base, graphically illustrating the fire menace which is ever present, and calling attention to practices which might bring it into the open.

Annual Banquet Held By Slaton Merchants

SLATON, Oct. 13 (Special) — Approximately 85 persons attended the twenty-fifth annual banquet of the Slaton Retail Merchants association, held tonight in the Slaton clubhouse.

During a business session, Mrs. Lee Green, secretary of the organization, presented a report to the assembled group entitled "RMA Through the Years." Following, Prof. W. L. Ducker, head of the Department of Petroleum engineering at Texas Tech, spoke.

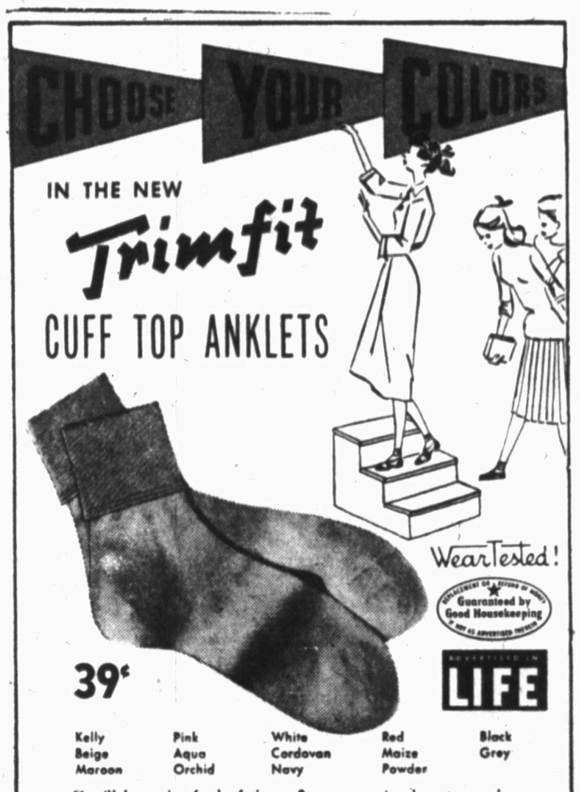

A solo was sung by Mrs. M. G. Davis, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. W. B. Williams.

Ballots for election of four new directors of the association were filled in by members at the gathering. Names of the new directors will be announced later.

Retiring directors include W. T. Davis, C. M. Fields, Travis Reynolds, and J. S. Edwards, jr.

Holdover directors are Robert E. Ayers, R. C. Patton, C. Clark Self, Dr. R. W. Ragsdale, and Howard Hoffman.

Aged 'Mahatma Of Love' Seeks Entry Into Entertainment Field

By GERALD B. HEALEY
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 13. — Now it's Sigmund Engel the impresario if the cops will let him get away with it.

The aged mahatma of love who has captivated the hearts and bank accounts of at least six women tonight disclosed that he aspires to produce motion pictures and radio and television shows.

The fact that he has a date Oct. 24 with the law when he goes to trial on the first of six charges of swindling wealthy and love-lorn women doesn't seem to worry the creaking Casanova one bit.

Body Guards Included

He's out on $37,600 bond tonight and enjoying life away from a dingy jail cell. He's ensconced in the swank Eastgate hotel, body guards and all, and willing to admit to anyone within earshot that he is a born actor and a very handsome man.

The body guards were assigned by his attorney, J. Edward Jones, who merely is trying to protect his father's financial interest in the aged knave of hearts.

The father, Charles Jones, a minister, put up the $37,600 necessary to get Engel out of jail where he had spent almost four months since a trap was laid for him by one of his fair heart interests.

Even Lawyer Jones, after a stormy session with his amorous client yesterday when he tried to get him thrown back in the pokey, has fallen for lovin' Sam's line.

In his new capacity of "exclusive agent" for Engel, the attorney said:

"We would like the public to get acquainted with his real character. He is a born actor."

It is reported that a Chicago theater has been negotiating with suave Sigmund, also known as Sam, for a vaudeville engagement and that a Chicago cafe engagement also is awaiting him.

Police Commissioner John Prendergast says the roving Romeo won't do any such thing as long as he is legally entangled.

Engel assured Mrs. Pauline Langton of New York, who claims is his ever-lovin' wife, by long distance telephone that he plans to "make a million."

Thereupon, Pauline announced her intention of flying to his side. To protect him in his hour of need, that is.

Sigmund appeared on a telecast and a radio broadcast last night. As he left the radio station a young woman plucked at his sleeve and said blissfully:

"Now I have touched him."

Engel's six female accusers were preparing their stories of how they felt Engel's deft touch — for at least $25,000.

Tokyo Soldier Marries Former Wife

Couple Separated By Pacific Wed Via Short Wave Radio

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 13. (INS)—Traditional marriage vows were recited today in Colorado Springs and in Tokyo to unite a man and woman via short-wave radio.

Mrs. Dorothy Bowden, 27, renounced a divorce decree granted her last April, and repeated, "I do," in a tear-choked voice before the altar of short wave equipment at the home of P. A. Stoll of Colorado Springs.

Marriage Vows Spoken

The question, "do you take this man to be your lawfully wedded husband?" was asked by Chaplain T. V. Sigler of Camp Carson, just after Staff Sgt. John Bowden had also answered, "I do," in an emphatic, clear voice.

He spoke before short wave equipment of Dave and Pearl Hollander of Chicago in Japan, with Army Chaplain Mourice Holt of Spokane, Wash., officiating.

The ceremony started at 7:20 a.m. (CST), after Smoll, operating station W10KVD had contacted JA2AD in Tokyo. The couple was pronounced man and wife by the two chaplains at 7:30.

New Happiness Prevails

Mrs. Bowden sobbed as she said: "Johnny, I'm so happy, and I love you. There have been so many miracles happening to me I wouldn't be surprised now if you sprouted wings and flew home."

She then received word that the sergeant will report to the Fourth Replacement depot, Tokyo, on Monday, to await air transportation to the United States.

Originally, Mrs. Bowden had sought permission to go to Japan, where the sergeant was ill with meningitis, but was denied passage because the couple was divorced. She then hit on the radio wedding plan.

Their 3-year-old daughter, Bonnie, talked, too. She said:

"Daddy, I love you, and I'm going to have ice cream afterward."

Missing Maryland Child Is Found Dead In Creek Waters

COLESVILLE, Md., Oct. 13 (AP)—The body of Otis T. Mason, 6, missing since Tuesday, was found today in a creek near his home.

Hundreds of men, including soldiers and Marines sent from nearby posts, had searched for the child more than 40 hours in the wooded area.

County police said he apparently had been dead since the day he disappeared from his parents' home.

Searchers probing with sticks in the waters of a creek half a mile from the house discovered the body.

Brownwood Citizens Seek Water Project

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Brownwood, Tex., citizens have arrived by car, plane and train for tomorrow's chance to say why their city needs a flood control-water conservation project.

Mayor A. N. Thomason and Chamber of Commerce Manager Ray W. Hedges head the group which will appear before the Army engineers' board for rivers and harbors improvement.

An Army division engineer report recommends authorization of some improvements sought for the Brownwood area but says other aspects are now "economically unjustified."

The division engineer did recommend a proposed $9,035,000 earth dam just downstream from Lake Brownwood. He reported unfavorably on proposed reservoirs on Pecan bayou above Lake Brownwood and on improvements on Willis and Adams creeks for property protection in and near the City of Brownwood.

Other members of the delegation, which has been conferring with Rep. Fisher (D-Tex) in advance of tomorrow's meeting, include Sammie Waisman, J. T. Hughes, Smith Bell, Jack Broad, Lathan Ables, Fred S. Abney, II, E. J. Weatherby, W. Lee Watson, Herman Bettis, J. L. Starkey and J. Edward Johnson.

Convict Commits Suicide In Utah Cell After Prior Escape, Return

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 13 (INS)—A longtime convict who made headlines last month when he volunteered to hitch-hike back to the prison from which he escaped, took his own life today in a Utah prison cell.

Allen J. Carbis, 42, serving a maximum of 20 years as an habitual criminal, was found asphixiated. The mattress of his buk had been set afire. Prison officials termed it suicide.

In Seattle where Carbis had phoned the Utah prison from a newspaper office after his escape, Sheriff's Capt. Adam Lyskoski said today that Carbis had admitted slaying a man in that city while he was at large.

Slaying Of Peddler Admitted

Lysoski quoted former Utah Prison Warden Mason Hill saying that Carbis admitted slaying a Chinese narcotics peddler in an argument over price.

Carbis walked off from a prison plumbing detail Sept. 1. On Sept. 13 he phoned the prison from a Seattle newspaper office and said he intended to hitch-hike back to the prison. However, he was arrested the next day in Redding, Calif., in a railroad station. He was extradited and returned Sept. 25.

At the time of the phone call, Carbis declared Warden Hill "trusted me and put me on the farm as a trusty. The Warden is the finest man I know. I let him down. I never should have done it."

He was the second suicide in the Utah prison within two days. Yesterday, the body of Arthur Anderson, 35, was found with strips of blanket tied to his neck and looped to cell bars.

The suicides came in rapid succession after Lt. Alvin O. Severson, acting warden, took over the post from Warden Mason Hill who resigned as a climax to a series of escapes.

Severson had been conducting an investigation into security lapses that resulted in the "French leave" of two trustees from the prison farm Monday night. They were recaptured by state police.

Cohen Men Return To Safety Of Jail

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13 (INS)—The four remaining members of gambler Mickey Cohen's group of seven muscle men today trooped back to jail in order to save their boss further embarrassment.

Cohen and his stalwarts have been out of jail on bond pending their trial on conspiracy charges involving the beating of a radio repairman last spring.

Neddie Herbert was the first Cohen henchman to drop out of the picture. He was killed in a gangland ambush believed set for Cohen on the Sunset Strip last July.

Then muscle man Frank Niccoli vanished last Sept. 2—leaving his boss a $50,000 bail bond to make good. Mickey believed that Niccoli was rubbed out by rival gangsters.

Dave Ogul, another lieutenant, disappeared last Monday night, costing Cohen $25,000.

Today the remainder of the group—James Rist, Eli Lubin, Harry Meltzer and Lou Schwartz—voluntarily went back to jail both to save their skins and $175,000 worth of bail bonds.

Cohen declined going to the lockup. He convinced bondsmen that he was good for the cool $100,000 on his own head.

The chubby gangla[illegible]ure had a curt comment: "I just can't understand all the strange things going on."

New Twist Recommended For Feeding Spinach To Children

DENVER, Oct. 13 (U.P.) — A child feeding expert at the American Dietetic Assn. convention here has come up with a new twist on getting junior to eat his spinach.

The first obstacle to overcome, Dr. E. Neige Todhunter of the University of Alabama said, is suspicion. He recommended that parents take their child to market, let him pick out the spinach personally, pay for it, and carry it home.

AWOL 'GATOR — This 10-foot alligator at Neptune Beach, Fla., crossed up the naturalists and went for a salt-water swim in the Atlantic Ocean. Town marshal James Jarboe captured the 'gator and after lengthy deliberation, sentenced it to the city zoo.

Truman Urged To Support Funds For Work On Angelina River Dam

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — An East Texas delegation today urged President Truman's support of an appropriation of $2 million to get work started on the $43 million McGee Bend dam on the Angelina river.

Rep. Pickett (D-Tex), who led the delegation to the White House, said President Truman was familiar with the project and promised to "look into it."

"He said he would discuss it with Frank Pace, the budget director," Pickett told reporters.

The Texans want funds for the project included in the budget for the year starting next July 1.

The combination flood control power and water conservation project would serve the Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange area.

In the group calling at the White House were Ed Easterling, general counsel of the lower Nueces River Valley authority; Dr. J. M. Travis of Jacksonville; Grade Stallings, city manager of Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce, and Victor Fain, editor of the Nacogdoches Sentinel.

Standard Oil Involved In Huge Damage Suit

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13 (INS)—The largest damage suit on record—a matter of $72,100,000,000—was filed today by Los Angeles financiers Arthur Van Wyke and A. E. Harrison.

Last Tuesday the pair filed another record suit, one for a mere 12 billion dollars, against such a varied assortment of defendants as Los Angeles District Attorney William Simpson, the Better Business Bureau, the Bank of America and A. B. Innis and Associates.

Today's suit named as defendants the Standard Oil company of California, a Los Angeles newspaper, several business firms and 100 John Does.

Van Wyke claimed that a "molecular metal" called Kolaco, for which he has the world wide distribution rights, was adulterated with unsuitable "foreign matter and other metals" resulting in the product's losing money.

He further claimed that Innis and Company wrongfully withdrew funds from the company.

Van Wyke filed both suits as his own attorney.

He refused to explain the connection of Standard Oil and other individuals and companies with his two large law suits.

Marine Captain Forced Down On Transcontinental Flight

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 13. (INS)—Marine Captain Norman Marsh called off his projected Los Angeles-New York non-stop speed flight in a light plane today when he "had to land" at Phoenix.

The Civil Air patrol said that the flyer and artist of the King Features syndicate cartoon strip, "Danny Hale," landed at Phoenix at 3:13 p. m. (MST).

Texas Old Age Assistance Roll Boosted By 739 New Recipients

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 (AP) — An additional 739 recipients joined Texas' old age assistance rolls this month.

State Department of Public welfare Director John H. Winters announced yesterday that the increase brought total recipients this month to 219,382. The average check amounted to $34.16.

The average October grant to needy blind was $38.50. There were 6,234 in that category this month, 74 more than a month ago.

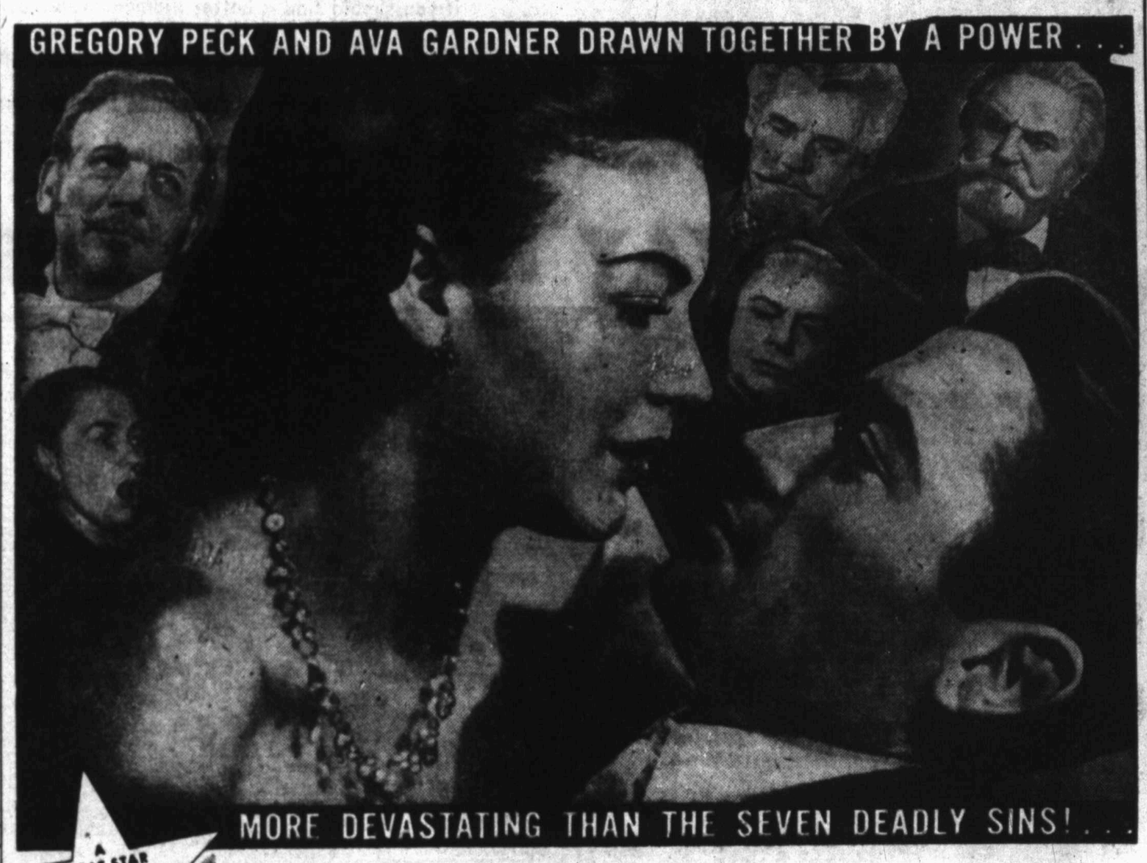

A decrease of 25 was reported in number of families receiving help under the aid to dependent children program. Checks in an average amount of $46.75 per family went to 17,260 families, representing 48,096 children. The average amount was down 6 per cent from a month ago because of insufficient funds, Winters said.

For Friday fare dip fish fillets in salted milk then in slightly crushed corn flakes. Bake in a very hot oven for about 15 to 20 minutes.

Overpopulation Is Blamed By Scientists For Britain's Ills

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

If the United States really wants to do something to help Britain permanently, the Population Reference bureau suggests, she might provide ships to remove a third of the island's people to other parts of the commonwealth.

The bureau, a non-profit organization of American scientists which makes a continuing study of population problems, does not approach the idea as a fantasy.

Movement Not Easy

The movement of 15,000,000 people would not be easy, it says, "but it would be much cheaper to move a 140-pound person once than to move 1,400 pounds of food—plus other raw materials—every year to support that person if he remains in Britain."

The bureau thus adopts a belief that is gaining widespread acceptance. It is that Britain is not likely, ever again, to be able to support her population in the manner to which it was once accustomed, or even to continue to support it in the emergency manner which is followed now.

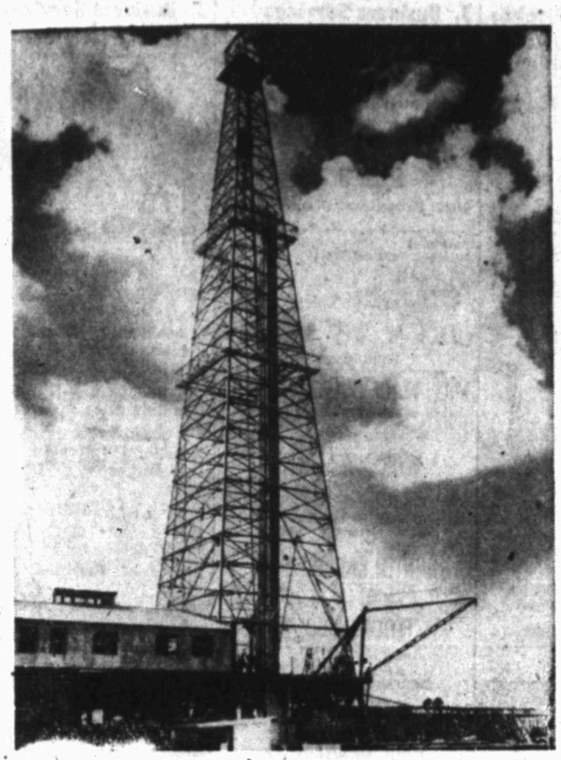

Britain grew to world eminence because of an early monopoly on the tools and skills which produced what we have come to call the industrial revolution.

As her population grew it was forced to seek new means of support, and as they were found the population grew. But the world is no longer the place for pioneering that it was 200 years ago, competition has overtaken Britain, and her economy threatens to become more and more insular, since her natural resources at home are very slender.

The idea of emigration has received attention in Britain since the war, but has been discouraged by the cost to people who have been taxed out of their surplus funds, and by restrictions on the amount of money which can be taken from the country. And the government has feared the country might be robbed of skilled labor.

Migration would, the report says, improve both the living standards of those who leave as well as those who stay, and make the United Kingdom more nearly self-supporting. The commonwealth would be strengthened in its outlying parts.

Four communities in Texas are named Concord.

DEEP WATER DRILLER — In their search for fresh petroleum deposits, geologists of U. S. oil companies have spent $100,000,000 in the tidewater areas and coastal waters of America's Gulf region. This floating steam rig at work in the swamplands of Louisiana is designed especially for underwater operation. Largest and most powerful in the world, the rig can puncture the earth's crust to a depth of 3½ miles.

Widely-Known Texas Jurist Is Claimed

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 13 (AP)—District Judge James Bryce Ferguson, 57, of Pharr, prominent in lower Rio Grande valley politics, died here last night.

He had been in a San Antonio hospital three days with a heart ailment. His body was sent to McAllen.

Ferguson was judge of the 92nd judicial district for many years. He was a relative of the late James E. Ferguson, former governor of Texas.

He was a political storm center in the valley 15 years ago when he spearheaded a campaign against a political ring at Edinburg.

He was well known in San Antonio, having on several occasions sat on the bench for criminal Judge W. M. McCrory.

After he was discharged from the Army, he received his law degree and started a practice in Temple.

A sort time later he was brought to the valley by Lucius J. Polk of Pharr, who had just been elected a district judge. Ferguson took over Polk's office for him while Polk served his term.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. H. T. Tidmore of LaFeria; a son, James E. Ferguson of Austin; three brothers, Ro-oe, of Westfield, Grady, of Belton and Jean, of San Antonio; and five sisters, Mrs. Curtis Ballard, Ville Green, Colo.; Mrs. Claude Latham, Holland; Mrs. George Latham, Barlett; Mrs. Emma Wood, Holland, and Mrs. J. C. Morelan, Temple.

Funeral services will be held in McAllen.

You can prepare a fruit cup for a crowd easily: mix a quart of cubed oranges with a cup of canned pineapple cubes, (including the pineapple syrup), a cup of sliced bananas and a half cup of drained maraschino cherries; sprinkle with a half cup of sugar and a few tablespoons of lemon juice. Serve with crisp cookies.

NEW LEADER SHOWS ABILITY

U. S. Delegate Cites Importance Of UN Economic, Social Council

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, vice-chairman of the United States delegation to the United Nations Economic and Social council, is convinced that this far-flung international organization can become "a mighty force for peace."

Dr. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State college and brother of famed World War II Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, has just returned to his college post at Manhattan, Kans., after attending the fourth session of the UNESCO general conference in Paris. In the following signed article Dr. Eisenhower sets forth his views on the importance of UNESCO to humanity and the future of the world.)

By DR. MILTON S. EISENHOWER
(Vice-Chairman of the United States Delegation to the UN economic and Social Council)

MANHATTAN, Kans. Oct. 13— By far the most important new development in UNESCO that became apparent at the fourth session of the general conference of the organization was the leadership of Dr. Jaime Torres Bodet, the director general, former minister of foreign affairs of Mexico.

So positive is his leadership that, in a large degree, UNESCO at this moment is Torres Bodet.

Criticism Now Invalid

He is forceful, forthright, intelligent. He knows precisely what he wants UNESCO to do as part of the UN team, and he is guiding the organization and the member states toward the goal as he sees it.

The greatest single criticism of UNESCO is that it has seemed to lack central purpose. That can no longer be said. Henceforth UNESCO will concentrate on developing that understanding among the peoples of the world which is essential to the peace-building of the UN system.

UNESCO must have a broad program with many projects if it is to enlist the active participation of newspapermen, broadcasters, artists, educators, social scientists, philosophers, natural scientists, civic and cultural leaders in its program.

Session Proves Ability

The second important thing about the session of the general conference is that it proved it can handle the business before it with considerable dispatch. This was an interim conference. The one at Beirut nine months ago was a full-fledged affair, as will be the one at Florence nine months hence.

The conference was intended to make minor revisions in the program, to lay the foundation for UNESCO's participation in the program of technical assistance to underdeveloped countries, and to vote a budget for the coming year.

This has been done with such speed that I personally left for home four days before the formal closing of the conference.

And I may say that this growing efficiency in an international organization is significant, for efficiency at the international level has been difficult to obtain thus far.

Vital Need Emphasized

The third significant thing at this conference was the fact that almost every speaker emphasized the vital need for national commissions in the fifty member states.

Only 36 members have developed commissions thus far, and some of this number exist only on paper.

Yet UNESCO can accomplish little without national cooperating bodies that accept responsibility for marshalling the educational scientific and cultural forces of their countries in the program of UNESCO.

I have attended all four international conferences of UNESCO —Paris in 1946, Mexico City in 1947, Beirut in 1948 and now Paris again in 1949. I certainly cannot say that the organization has been an unqualified success.

Understanding Called Essential

But I think all of us have learned a great deal about what we must do to develop understanding among the peoples of the world, and have come to a sharper realization that developing understanding is absolutely essential to peace.

Understanding alone cannot build peace.

But neither can peace be built except upon widespread appreciation of the common problems of common objectives that men share with each other.

Thus UNESCO is one member of an international team. Under able leadership, I expect to see it grow and make a vital contribution to an evolving and, I hope, permanent peace.

of directors in the St. Anthony hotel, San Antonio. Plumbing, heating and electrical contracts are due to be awarded at a board meeting here Saturday. The building permit included low bid figures on the other contracts.

September Seasonal Hike

While early fall building permits showed a sharp increase in volume, the mortgage loan volume in September showed a slight decrease from August, according to figures complied by Weldon Gibbs of First Federal Savings and Loan association.

Gibbs' figures, made monthly for the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance corporation in Washington, D. C., showed the total volume of mortgage loans under $20,000 in September as $857,514.

The August total was $1,125,578. The September mortgage loans in Lubbock numbered 151, as compared with 207 loans granted in August. The figures include non-farm properties only. The September total reflected a seasonal increase.

Mortgage loans for preceding months were as follows: July, $879,111; June, $772,486; May, $885,440.

Construction observers were agreed that building in the metropolitan Lubbock area would exceed $20,000,000 this year, were it possible to include figures for construction in outlying areas.

Many of the most costly homes constructed in greater Lubbock this year have been built west and north of the city, and do not show in the building figures. Large industrial projects, notably the Producers Grain corporation cooperative elevator just completed at a cost of $1,500,000 southeast of the city, would have added considerably to the city's building volume.

Lubbock Symphony

the students' experience through participation or attendance.

James L. Quicksall discussed the symphony as a civic and business asset. He suggested that Lubbock should support the symphony, because there are residents who are interested in orchestra music as an entertainment means just as much as there are those interested in sports and other forms of recreation.

As a Hub city, retailers and wholesalers seek to establish business relations and create friendly attitudes in nearby towns, Quicksall said. "It is their duty to provide entertainment when South Plains residents visit here," he added. "Since no orchestra is self supporting, it behooves the business men to contribute to the financial support of the orchestra as a civic project."

Roy Bass, chairman of the board of directors, reiterated that the occasion was not to be a fund raising event, but reminded the guests that symphony orchestras are never self supporting.

Guests included three officers from the Lubbock Air Force base: W/O Carmine Luce, LAFB band director; Maj. John Wood, special services officer and Col. George Blase, deputy commander.

Church Group Collects Cotton For Destitute People Overseas

TAYLOR, Oct. 13. (INS)— A church sponsored group called the Christian Rural Overseas program is busy collecting cotton for destitute people overseas.

Eventually, the cotton will be put aboard the Texas Food and Fiber Friendship train, after all the cotton products have been gathered on Nov. 23.

Texas CROP committee Chairman Daniel C. Russell pointed out that most of the cotton will be processed into sheeting, bandages and gauze for hospitals.

Other sections of the Texas Food and Fiber Friendship train will be devoted to wheat, rice, wool and mohair, edible oil products and other commodities that can be used by underprivileged persons throughout Europe and Asia.

It is estimated that half of U. S. traffic moves on 300,000 miles of city streets.

MARKET RALLY SLOWED

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—A swift forward surge in the stock market today was cut back by stiff selling resistance. There was only a small net gain at the close.

More issues were traded—1,136—than in any other session this year, and the volume of business at 1,790,000 shares was the third highest. During the advance, 123 new highs for the year were established.

Because of the recess Wednesday for Columbus day, there was a stack of orders awaiting the opening bell.

Large blocks were traded frequently during the first hour.

Prices advanced throughout the list with some of the gains topping 2 points. But by noon the enthusiasm died down and prices started slipping. The decline was steady, except for brief periods, throughout the rest of the session.

John L. Lewis' proposal to add 30 to 35 cents to the cost of each ton of coal as his price for ending the coal strike found no favor in Wall Street.

Admiral Corp. gained a point at 27⅛, the eighth most active stock in the list. It ran up nearly 2 points at one time to a new high for the year on the proposal by directors to declare a stock dividend of 100 per cent. Highly favorable earnings also were announced.

Hilton hotels rose ⅝ to 10⅛ after announcement that a controlling interest had been purchased in the company that operates the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York.

Other good gains and closing prices were Skelly Oil 1⅛ at 116¾, Allied Chemical ½ at 191½, and Homestake Mines ¾ at 46¾. Others advancing included Goodrich, Zenith Radio, Anaconda, McIntyre-Porcupine, American Can, Texas Co., and Johns Manville.

Losses and closing prices on some leaders were Graham Paige off ¼ at 2¼, Santa Fe ¾ at 97⅝, American Air Lines ¼ at 9⅜, and U. S. Gypsum 1 at 99⅛. Others down included Dow Chemical, American Woolen, Southern Pacific, Trans-Continental and Western Air, and Paramount (old).

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained .1 of a point at 87.5, again a new high for the year. The industrial component of the average was up .4 of a point, but both the rails and the utilities fell back .1 of a point each.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

New York, Oct. 13 (AP)—Cotton futures were steady in early dealings today on mill buying, but subsequently turned lower on liquidation which met less aggressive trade demand. Evening-up operations in near-by October, prior to expiration of trading in those contracts at noon Friday, accounted for a good deal of the activity. New crop months were under moderate selling pressure, reflecting uncertainty over the final form of farm legislation for next year.

Cotton closed barely steady.

Blizzard-Bound Couple In U. S. Enjoy Aussie Radio Broadcasts

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Oct. 13 (U.P.)—During the long winter evenings when Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Dunham were isolated on their farm during the 1949 blizzard they got tired of listening to radio resumes of the cold weather.

So they started tuning in on short-wave broadcasts from Australia. The thing they enjoyed most, says Dunham, was the weather forecasts from Radio Australia which usually were for warm weather.

SINCLAIR STAKES LOCATION FOR EXPLORATION

Scurry County Diamond M Field Extended One Mile As Previously Abandoned Well Flows On Deepening

Lion Oil company No. 1 Frank Strom has extended the Canyon reef lime producing area of the Diamond M field of Southwest Scurry county one mile to the west.

That development, which is an old dry hole to 2,903 feet, which was originally drilled in 1946, and abandoned at that depth, had been deepened to 6,705 feet in the Canyon reef, and in a drillstem test at 6,680-6,705 feet, flowed oil at the estimated rate of 25 barrels per hour, through a five-eighth inch bottom hole choke.

Operator is to drill ten feet deeper, then run casing and complete the well and out it on production.

Oil Flows On Test

On the drillstem test at 6,680-6,705 feet the tool was open for one hour and 40 minutes. Gas showed at the surface in 10 minutes, and oil flowed out at the top in 80 minutes.

The oil was flowed to pits for 20 minutes at the estimated rate of 25 barrels per hour. There was no water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 1,400 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure was 3,400 pounds, after 20 minutes.

No. 1 Strom topped the Canyon reef at 6,686 feet. Elevation is 2,346 feet. It is about 100 feet low to the closest producers from that formation about one mile to the east in the Diamond M field.

Location is 662 feet from south and 1,836 feet from west lines of section 198, block 97, H&TC survey.

Wildcat To Run Casing

Newman Brothers Drilling company of San Antonio, and associates, No. 1 H. H. Eiland, Central-West Scurry county wildcat, two and one half miles west of the northwest side of the Kelly field, and 1,787 feet from east and 467 feet from north lines of section 2020, block 97, H&TC survey, is bottomed at 6,769 feet in the Canyon reef lime and is preparing to run casing to 6,615 feet to make a production test.

This venture topped the Canyon reef at 6,611 feet on an elevation of 2,417 feet. The samples from the top of the reef to the present bottom showed good indications of production. No water has been developed.

No drillstem test has been taken due to a broken string of surface casing. Interested observers think the venture will be completed as a good producer and a major extension to the Canyon lime producing area in the central-west sector of Scurry county.

Sinclair Stakes Location

Sinclair Oil & Gas company has staked location in the Shafter Lake-Ellenburger field of Central-North Andrews county for a 12,000-foot exploration to try to find and test the Ellenburger.

It is to be the company's No. 7-153 University, and will be located 990 feet from west and 6600 feet from south lines of section 13, block 13, University Lands survey.

That makes it two miles west of Shafter Lake. Drilling is to begin soon.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company has made locations for a wildcat in South-Central Tom Green county and for another in Central-South Andrews county. The same concern has also staked location for a stepout to a recent discovery from the Devonian and the Silurian in Southwest Andrews county, about two miles east of the Dollarhide field.

The Tom Green county venture will be Stanolind No. 1 J. Willis Johnson. It is located 1,980 feet from northeast and 3,300 feet from northwest lines of section 17634, A. D. Neill survey.

That makes it five miles northeast of Christoval, and between that town and the Susan Peak field. The venture is projected to 6,500 feet to explore into the Ellenburger.

It is on a block of approximately 50,000 acres which Stanolind holds in that region.

Stanolind No. 1-H David Fasken is to be a 5,000-foot prospector in Central-South Andrews county to explore into the middle Permian.

It is located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 37, block 42, G&MMB&A survey, T-1-N. That makes it two miles east of the Andrews county sector of the North Cowden field.

In Southwest Andrews county, Stanolind No. 1 E. P. Cowden is to be an 11,200-foot exploration to drill to the Ellenburger. It is located 660 feet from south and west lines of section 10, block A-55, psl survey.

That makes it a diagonal northwest outpost to the Magnolia Petroleum company No. 18-B Cowden, discovery from the Devonian and from the Silurian, which is now in process of being finished as a dual-completion.

The Magnolia discovery is two miles east of the Dollarhide field.

Drilling is to start in the near future at each of the three new developments which are to be undertaken by Stanolind.

Wildcat To Be Abandoned

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 J. R. Canning, wildcat eight and three-quarter miles west of the Sharon Ridge Canyon field and in extreme Southeast Borden county is preparing to plug and abandon in the Ellenburger.

A drillstem test at 8,370-8,410 feet showed 6,580 feet of sulphur water. It was reportedly low on the Canyon lime reef to the Diamond-M field of Southwest Scurry county which is six miles to the east.

It was drilled to a total depth of 8,435 feet in the Ellenburger.

The dry hole is 667 feet from north and 653 feet from east lines of section 117, block 25, H&TC survey.

FIRE DESTROYS LODGE

TAOS, N. M., Oct. 13 (INS) — Fire completely destroyed the Agua Piedra ski lodge at Tres Ritos, 28 miles from Taos last night. Paul Bolander, lodge owner, estimated the loss at $50,000. Ski officials said loss of the lodge might cut down ski operations in the Tres Ritos recreation area this winter.

Judge Upholds New Mexico Water Law

CARLSBAD, N. M., Oct. 13 (INS) —District Judge C. Roy Anderson has ruled to uphold the validity of New Mexico's underground water law.

The case was brought by the state against S. A. Lanning, jr., Eddy county, and Bert Dority and Loman Wiley, Chaves county, who had declared that the state engineer has no right to regulate use of underground water.

Injunctions prohibiting the defendants from unlawful use of underground water are being prepared.

Mesquite Girl Killed, Three Injured In Traffic Accident

DALLAS, Oct. 13 (AP) — Miss Jo Anna Brannon, 15, of Mesquite, Dallas county, was killed and three other teen-agers were injured in an auto accident here early today.

The accident occurred near the naval air station, west of Dallas. Deputy Grady McMahon said the car, driven by James Douglas Lenamond, 17, left the highway and overturned three times. Its five passengers were thrown from it.

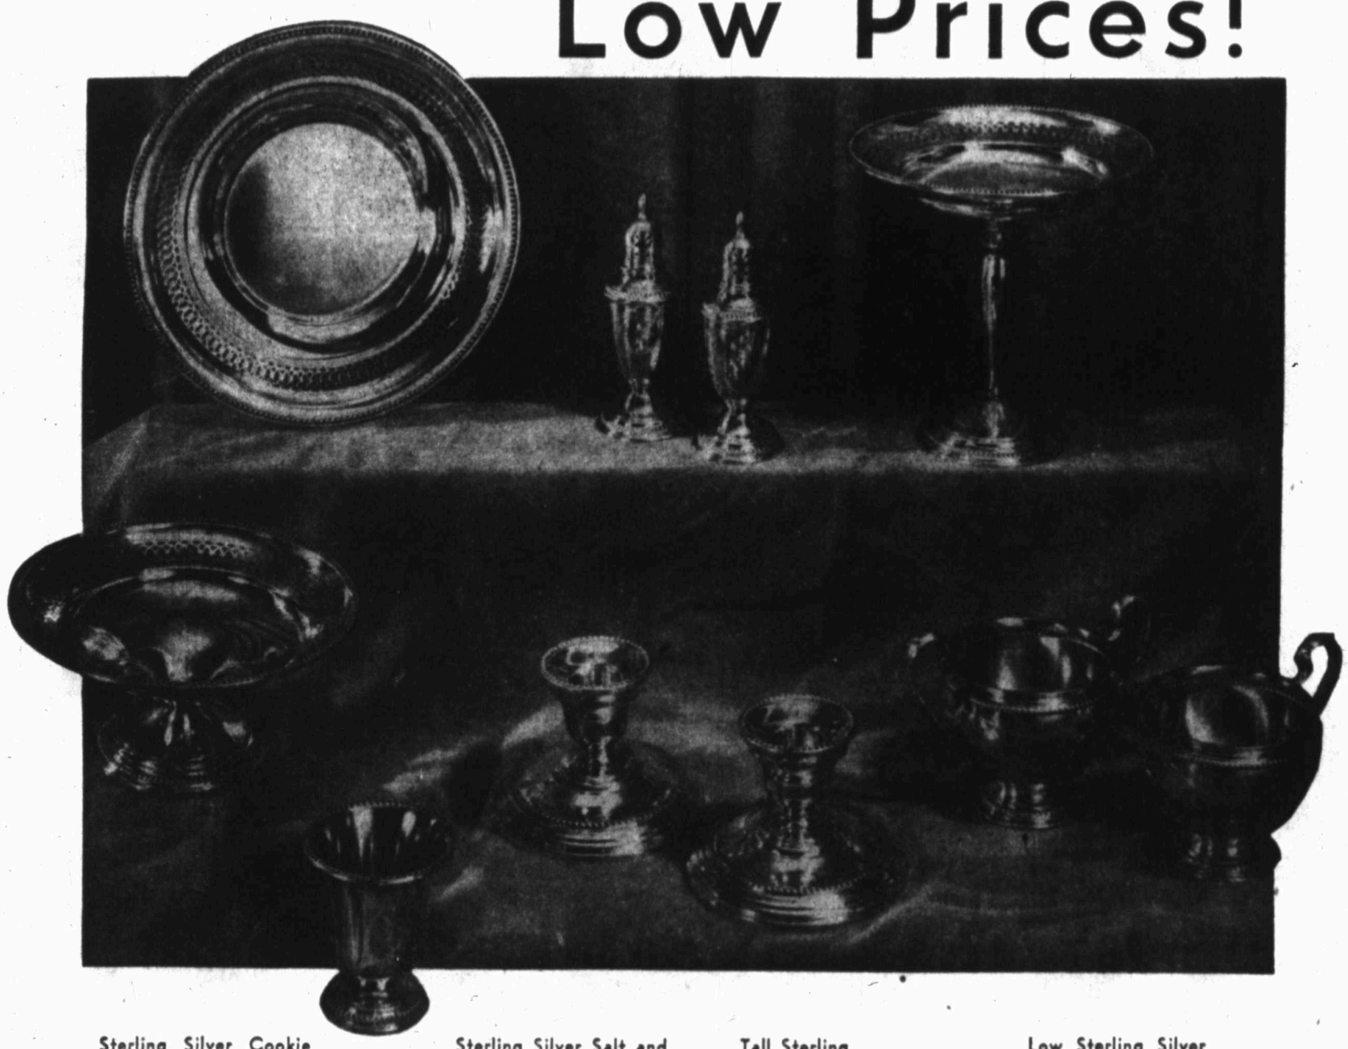

The injured were Jerry Hunt, 16, crushed hand; Leo Whatley, 17, bruises and lacerations; and Miss Francine McKinney, 18, fractured pelvis.

BARGAIN HUNTING RETURNS

Tech Book Store Aids Students Seeking Swift, Helpful Service

BY KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

Lush times are gone.

And if you don't believe me, ask Conner Cole, manager of the Texas Technological college bookstore. He told me.

"Yes, sir," he said, "People don't have the money they used to. Looking for bargains. Why, last year 90 per cent of the students wanted new textbooks. This year 35 per cent of them want second hand ones. They're being more careful now."

Take it or leave it, but that's what the man said and he should know. The bookstore does an annual $460,000 business and most of that is in four two-weeks periods — at each registration.

Manager Discusses Job

Not that Cole sets himself up as an economic expert. He was just talking between customers about the job of managing a place he likes to compare to an old-fashioned country "general store."

"Everything but a degree" might well be the slogan of the bookstore, centrally located on the Tech campus. Besides books, there are fountain pens, radios, cokes, tennis racquets, flashlights, class rings, clocks, lamps, shoe polish and even men's pants to be had in the bookstore.

A force of 22 full time employes and seven students are necessary to keep the store functioning. Orders leaving with Cole's signature get top priority over whatever else may be waiting in the college purchasing office.

Prices About Same

Prices at the store are approximately the same as those off-campus on nationally advertised products, the manager says. On merchandise not carried in other businesses in Lubbock the price is just enough above wholesale to break even.

"Anyone who enters our doors can buy from us," Cole declares. Although the store is set up as a service to the students it would be impossible to check everyone entering to see if he were enrolled in the college, he points out.

Opening the same year the college was established, the bookstore prides itself on its record of check cashing without large losses. Any student may cash a check there and, though over half the store's business last year was done by check, only $41.50 was not collectable, according to Cole.

Used Books Sold

On the matter of textbooks, the store manager said that new books are sold at publishers' list price and used one ones at 25 per cent off list price. Books returned for the first time for re-purchase are bought at half price from the students.

Other special services offered by the store at no extra charge include a free wrapping-for-mailing service and gift-wrapping. The personnel will also mail faulty pens and other merchandise back to the manufacturer for repair and charge the student nothing.

Cole himself is a small man who takes pride in his store and likes to worry over the problems connected with supplying an establishment which does its major business spasmodically. He often personally makes out a special order for some merchandise not ordinarily handled by the store.

All articles sold by the textbook shop are displayed on open shelves and the manager believes fewer losses are suffered on the campus from shoplifters than by most variety stores. Like downtown mangers, Cole believes the secret to keeping down such losses is quick, efficient service by the clerks.

Unlike many places of business, however, the textbook store actually encourages "loitering". As Cole points out, the only way to sell someone something is to get them into your store. For that reason a Coke, pop corn, and candy machine are conveniently located in the store close to comfortable divans where students may rest between classes. Some actually do their homework in the store.

Between 75,000 and 100,000 textbooks are sold annually by the store, says Cole, although many of these, of course, are resales of the same book. The office staff also hunts all over the nation for used textbooks that students might need in campus courses.

First housed in a single room of the home economic building, the bookstore moved to its present location in 1930 into space previously used for the college cafeteria. All proceeds have been turned into the general fund for the college, but the board of directors are scheduled to consider transferring all future profits into a fund for the erection of a student union building at their meeting here Saturday.

"The move is just another effort to make the students feel they own the bookstore and get the profits from it," Cole explained.

Texan's Story Of Stealing Car, Dealer Verified By FBI Agents

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 13 (U.P.) — A Texan's story of stealing an auto and also the dealer it belonged to was substantiated today by the FBI but federal agents said the kidnaped dealer was alive and safe.

Woodrow Winter Mackie, 29, Rockdale, Tex., had told police he kidnaped the dealer in Wichita Kans., last June after a fight.

Kansas authorities verified the story, the FBI said, and indicated felonious assault and first degree burglary warrants were on file for Mackie at Wichita.

The FBI said the dealer, who was not identified, had been released a short distance out of Wichita.

Mackie was held here on a federal charge of transporting a stolen auto. A state highway patrolman picked him up for drunken driving.

Night trains only will be operated between Laredo and Mexico City it was also announced.

Jury Fails To Reach Verdict In Trial For 'Perfect Crime'

LAKEPORT, Calif., Oct. 13 (U.P.) — The jury trying Steve Brusnahan, 32-year-old former Chicago mechanic, for the "perfect crime" murder of his wife and stepdaughter was dismissed last night after failing to reach a verdict in 16 hours of deliberation.

Brusnahan was accused of setting fire to the family cabin at Lucerne, Calif., last June 14. His wife, Virginia, 31, and her daughter by a previous marriage, Agnes, 2, were found dead in the blackened ruins.

The former Chicago mechanic was indicted after medical examination revealed his wife suffered a fractured skull before she was burned in the fire.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

340 Diabetes Test Specimens Handled By City Health Agency

It's a busy time at the city health department laboratory in city hall these days as hundreds of Lubbock county residents are taking advantage of an opportunity to have free tests for diabetes.

City-County Health department workers are taking part this week in the most vital large-scale detective search in history. They are helping hunt one million Americans who, unbeknown to themselves, have diabetes. The detectives are the physicians to whom reports of possible diabetes will be sent.

Gerald Jarvis, director of the City-County Health department, said Thursday a total of 340 persons have submitted urine specimens to the department for the free tests.

Service Is Available

The specimens have come in bottles of every size and description, ranging from catsup and soft drink bottles to cosmetic containers. The laboratory technicians emphasize that the size or shape of the container makes little difference so long as it is clean.

Jarvis announced that free diabetes tests will not be made available at the city laboratory throughout the year, so that a person may determine at any time whether or not he has an indication of the disease.

"We are making this service available in cooperation with a national drive to fight diabetes not just one week in the year, but every day in the year," he explained.

Technicians making the tests in the city laboratory are Mrs. Nettie S. Hess and Miss Oma Myree Johnson. While the test itself is simple, great care must be used.

Water Is Added

Ten drops of water are added to five drops of urine in a test tube. A pill is dropped into the liquid which, by a change of color, will indicate whether sugar is present.

Presence of sugar does not necessarily mean diabetes, but it is a definite warning signal calling for further examination. All diabetics have sugar in urine.

With hundreds of tests coming in, the technicians must use great care in numbering and checking test tubes.

When a person goes to city hall for a free test, he must fill out a slip giving his name and address, and the name of a doctor to whom the results of the test may be sent. If the test shows sugar, the doctor will be advised and will get in touch with the person.

The slip also contains a place for family history of diabetics, information which will be invaluable to the American Diabetes association in analyzing the spread of diabetes to its present rank of eight among the death-dealing diseases in the United States.

Use Color Chart

The technicians use a color chart in determining the presence of sugar in the urine specimen. After the pill is dropped into the test tube, the liquid should become dark blue. A dark green will indicate a trace of sugar, an olive green will be a positive reaction, reflecting presence of one-half of one per cent of sugar, and so on until a bright orange color indicates a four-plus reaction of two per cent or more of blood in the specimen.

Already this week specimens have been collected from students in New Deal, Cooper, Idalou, Frenship, Shallowater, Posey and Roosevelt schools.

Wednesday a total of 148 specimens were tested and Tuesday's total was 171.

Discovery that one has diabetes, it is emphasized, does not mean an end to good health and well being. Cases discovered before they become serious may be treated, after insulin establishes a normal blood-sugar balance, with diet alone. Untreated or improperly treated diabetes, it is pointed out, results in calcification of the arteries, veins and capillaries, causing complications involving the feet, eyes, kidneys, heart, etc."

All one has to do to get a test is collect a specimen of urine one to two hours after a meal and take it in a container to the city laboratory on the first floor of the city hall. Or he may stop at the laboratory or the John Halsey Drug store, 1118 Broadway, where containers will be supplied for collection of specimens.

Authorities emphasize that every member of every family should take such a test at least once a year.

Anti-Trust Laws Should Apply To Labor Unions, Voters Say

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
(American Institute Of Public Opinion)

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 13.—The laws against monopoly should apply with equal force to labor unions as to business firms, in the opinion of most voters who are familiar with the meaning of the term monopoly.

At present labor unions are exempt from the Federal anti-trust laws. But the power of John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers Union over the coal industry has raised a good deal of discussion as to whether unions should continue to be exempt, particularly in view of the increasing amount of industry-wide bargaining found in labor relations today.

To determine how the nation's voters feel about this issue, a balanced cross-section in each of the 48 states was asked, first, what the term "monopoly" means and, second, whether unions should have to live up to the same laws concerning monopoly as corporations do.

The first question was:

"Just in your own words, will you tell me what a 'monopoly' is?"

Approximately seven out of every ten voters (69 per cent) gave a reasonably accurate definition of the familiar term.

These voters were then asked: "Do you think that labor unions—such as in the coal industry—should be subject to the same laws dealing with monopolies as big business firms are?"

The vote follows:
Yes	49%
No	11
No opinion	9
	69%
Don't know what monopoly is	31
	100%

Union Members' Attitude

One interesting aspect of the survey is that members of labor unions questioned in the sample expressed much the same opinion on the monopoly issue as the rest of the country.

Business and professional people, as might be expected, are the most in favor of having anti-trust laws apply to unions. Here is the vote by occupational groups:

	Yes	No	No Opin.
Bus. & Prof.	71%	10%	6%
White Collar	54	15	10
Farmers	49	5	9
Manual Workers	34	11	1
Labor union members	36	16	9

The proportion who did not know what a monopoly is ranged from 13 per cent among the business and professional group to 44 per cent among the manual workers.

In general, the more education a voter has had the more he favors putting unions under the anti-trust laws. Here is the vote according to number of years of schooling:

	College	High Sch'l	Grade Sch'l
Yes	80%	55%	34%
No	12	14	7
No opinion	5	11	9
	97%	80%	50%
Don't know what monopoly is	3	20	50
	100%	100%	100%

The U. S. Constitution makes no mention of education, leaving this matter to the individual states.

COTTON EMERGENCY!

Many Could Help

NO ONE attempts to disguise the seriousness of the cotton harvest labor shortage on the South Plains. Everything reasonably possible has been done to anticipate it. Much has been accomplished. But the shortage exists and almost certainly will get worse before it improves.

Apparently nothing can be done to obtain pickers in the numbers needed. But every community can help to ease the problem, if they wish, through a concerted effort to get a good deal of available labor into the cotton fields on a part-time or full-time basis.

Every locality has idle people who could pick cotton without imperiling their health. A little pressure to put these people to work would not be amiss. This is not a time for authorities to be tolerant of loafers too lazy to work. This is a time for a new scanning of charity rolls to eliminate those who could pay their own way.

Every locality also has its employed people who would be more useful — and would earn more for themselves — in the cotton fields than in their present jobs. It should not place too much of a strain upon employers with the interests of their area at heart to encourage such people to help temporarily in the harvest.

But the greatest contribution toward easing the shortage could be made by utilizing the labor which could be made available on a part-time basis.

The largest of these groups is comprised of many thousands of students ranging from the higher grades through the college years. If a good many of these would devote one day a week to "snapping" cotton, they would make a considerable dent in the total problem. And they would make some worthwhile cash for themselves. With experience, most of them could make $10 to $15 a day — some more than that. In most instances, transportation to and from the fields will be supplied.

Those interested in helping during this emergency should get in touch with the Texas Employment commission, which has representatives in most localities, or their county farm agent for details.

The Same Old Game

THE RUSSIANS are playing their same old game in asking the United Nations Security Council to demand that member nations report how many atomic bombs and other weapons they possess.

This is another attempt by the Soviet to find out, for purposes which inspire dread, how many bombs Uncle Sam has on hand with which to strike back if he or the democracies should be attacked.

But, as remarked by Warren R. Austin, U. S. delegate and council president of the UN, a "census of weapons without verification would be meaningless." And Russia is the nation which consistently has vetoed all proposals that reliable authorities be allowed to check the truth or falsity of the reports that nations — including Russia — might make.

The Russians now, as in the past, demand that such reports be accepted strictly "on trust." Their spies would have the freedom of movement to check on the truth of reports made by democratic countries. No comparable checkup would be possible behind the Iron Curtain.

The Soviet proposal will, of course, be rejected. The reason, bluntly stated, will be that the democracies would not place the slightest confidence on any report that might come out of Russia, unless accompanied by unquestionable proof of its truth.

There's no rest for the weary. Neither is there much for the Dove of Peace.

The old covered wagon had its advantages, but few were ever pinned in the wreckage and burned to death when it had a wreck.

A quiet Hollywood wedding is one where there are 50 guests on the inside and 5,000 curious on the outside of the church.

Usually it's the wealthy who don't try to make a display of wealth.

Someone To Love

BY IRENE LONNEN ERNHART

(THE STORY: Jenny halfway believes that Ted Duncan has married her in spite Liz Conover, who broke her engagement to Ted to marry another man. Jenny leaves Ted when she sees him dining with Liz. Ted explains that Liz called him, not knowing Ted was married. But Jenny refuses to return to the Duncan home where Ted's family has made her miserable. So Ted plans to finish his college education and they'll live in a trailer while Jenny keeps her job as a model at Max's salon.)

XI

THE Homecroft trailer camp was situated in what had once been a pasture. The trailers were all sizes, shapes and description. Some were brave with tiny wooden awnings, white with green, red or blue stripes, others boasted miniature picket fences. One or two were home-made affairs, crooked and leaning, with makeshift accessories of one kind or another and built on rooms with sloping roofs.

The place smelled depressing. One was aware of mingled odors of stagnant water and coal oil and garbage.

Jenny and Tod rented a small trailer at the end of one of the gravel lanes named Avenue B. The camp was directly across from the college campus and one had a good view of the trees from one window.

Max had generously given Jenny all day off, so she and Tod could move their things to the new home. They shopped together at a supermarket for their first groceries to stock the cupboards of the trailer.

Their first dinner together was reminiscent of those suppers they'd had at the house on Catalpa street, before they were married. There were candles and a gleaming white cloth on the card table set up in the miniature living room. Already Jenny was planning how she could turn the trailer into a real home, bright new curtains, a picture or two, some bright cushions for the day bed.

She was anxious too, to get acquainted with some of the other couples who lived in the camp. She had noticed they were mostly young couples like Tod and her, probably all students. The getting acquainted would have to be mostly up to Tod, who would oe around all the time as soon as school started. Working, she'd be gone all day, and Sundays would be the only time she would have to see anyone.

Meanwhile they settled down. Tod enrolled and she could tell at once that he wasn't too enthused about the school. It wasn't going to be anything like the State University.

"I can't understand why you didn't go ahead and finish at State. It wouldn't have cost any more."

YES, Jenny was thinking, it would be different. At the State University, he had had thinks easy, living in a fraternity house, enjoying the admiration due one of the big lettermen. And besides that he'd been in Liz Conover's crowd, the top dogs.

She looked at him as he started to work over his new textbook. The light from the student lamp above the small desk in the corner, lit up the handsome lines of his face, the clean sweep of his dark brows. No wonder, she thought, the girls at the University had all been wild about him. The typical football hero, with those enormously broad shoulders, the thick strong neck, the rough tumble of dark curls on his head.

'This course'll sure be a bore. I can see that," he said suddenly, looking up and tossing the book aside. His face was sullen.

A sharp retort sprang to Jenny's lips, but she choked it back. What was the matter with her; feeling tender one moment and wanting to slap him the next? "Maybe I could help you, Tod. I'll be able to do some of your outside reading and things like that."

He got up and began to pace back and forth restlessly. "D'you think we can stand living in this hencoop for a whole winter?" he said bitterly.

"When we once get used to the smallness it won't be so bad," she answered calmly.

"You're an incurable optimist, Jenny," he said, without smiling. He paused by the sink and stared out of the diminutive windows at the trailer next door. All evening there had been coming intermittently from their neighbor's dwelling the sound of a baby crying.

"All I can say," he added with grim emphasis, "is thank heavens we don't have a squalling infant caged up in here with us."

Jenny fastened her eyes upon the magazine she held in her lap and began to turn the pages. "Yes," she murmured, "that would be a tragedy, wouldn't it?" Perhaps she should tell Tod how she had been feeling during the past few weeks, that she had wondered only this morning if perhaps she ought to ask Nina to go to the doctor with her.

The mood he was in now precluded any confidence of that sort.

She'd have to give up her job, before the end of the school year, and that would mean money difficulties. Besides that, and worse, Tod didn't want a baby.

TOD had noticed Jenny' irritability. How could he help it? You couldn't say two words to her without she flew off the handle. And he blamed himself rather, for he knew she had been hurt. But after all, he had made all sorts of concessions trying to make up for it. One was moving into this lousy trailer camp.

"I wonder," he said abruptly one evening, "how Ma and Harriet and

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

JOHN Smith isn't speaking to me any more, and I am glad he isn't.

Of course, John Smith isn't his real name. If I mentioned his real name, he'd probably turn right around and sue me for libel.

He is just that kind of guy—always shooting off his big mouth, but just a coward at heart.

BRANDEIS

John Smith was supposed to be a friend of mine.

I had lunch with him in New York City, and of course, the conversation turned to Russia and the atomic bomb which she is now supposed to have.

"Do you know," John Smith said to me, "I think I am going to move away from New York.

"That's where the Russians are going to drop their bombs first. I'm going out somewhere in the country where there are no big buildings and no industrial plants.

"I don't want to be killed by any atomic bomb."

I looked at John Smith and wondered whether he was fooling or whether he meant what he had said.

I didn't have to wonder long.

"Do you know what?" he continued. "I agree with Senator McMahon of Connecticut that Truman and Stalin should get together as soon as possible.

"And I particularly agree with him when he says that if Stalin doesn't want to come to Washington, Truman ought to go to Moscow and make peace with Stalin."

That's where I lost my temper—and John Smith's friendship.

"You dirty coward," I shouted, and everybody in the restaurant must have heard me.

"It's fellows like you and thousands of others who are scared to death of their own dear little lives who are playing right into the hands of the Russians.

"It's just that sort of cowardice that made the men in Washington pussyfoot and cowtow to them at Yalta and Potsdam and Teheran and practically hand the atom bomb over to them.

"I wish Teddy Roosevelt were alive today. The Russians wouldn't have any A bomb and Vishinsky wouldn't be over here insulting us and making holy fools of us.

"You and fellows like you make me sick! Instead of showing those Reds that we are scared of them we ought to tell them to go to h---.

"I'm all for peace. But the only way to have peace with a wild beast is to make it afraid of you—or to cage it."

As I stopped for breath, John Smith gave me a nasty look, called me a name and walked out.

And, of course, like all men of his ilk, he left me to pay the check.

I wish I were a political writer. What a column I'd knock out on the subject!

FOR ON SPOT STUDIES

Solons Going Abroad

BY RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON: — The January session of the Eighty-First Congress should consist of the best informed body of legislators on increasingly complex foreign problems in the nation's history.

During the interim between coming adjournment and the 1950 opening, the boys on Capitol Hill are really making a closeup study of the universe which the Administration has undertaken to restore, rearm and finance.

TUCKER

Instead of returning to their home districts to rebuild fences and preside at the christening of any new babies, the M. C.'s now travel to the most remote sections of the globe in their brief respites from the floor and office.

Whether they like it or not, they must improve and extend their knowledge of world conditions so that they can vote intelligently.

ISSUES: In a way, their trips abroad are a defensive precaution. They know from their mail and their home contacts that some constituents are becoming restless over the vast amount of spending overseas, especially as appropriations under this account now make up the third largest item in the federal budget.

If they vote for billions for the Marshall Plan, for the North Atlantic Pact and for rearmament, they must be able to justify their stand on the basis of personal knowledge.

It will not help them at the political crossroads to answer that they accepted the advice and warnings of President Truman, ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman or Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

It is almost certain that the eight or ten billions which the U. S. now sends overseas each year for one purpose or another, with a resultant boost in taxes and prices over here, will become one of the most exciting and controversial issues of the 1950 and 1952 campaigns.

STUDY: The present rash of Congressional investigations in Europe, the Middle East and the Orient differ radically from the sightseeing trips which so many members made during and after World War II. It has become serious business instead of sightseeing junkets.

The M. C.'s used to travel en masse, and follow a formal program of visits carefully mapped out for them beforehand by military or economic representatives in the various countries.

They were feted and shepherded so that they saw only what Administration and Army officials wanted them to see. The entertainment and honors bestowed upon them actually amounted to polite bribery.

This time they have gone singly or in small groups. They have assigned the study of specific problems to individuals supposed to be expert in the various fields. They are popping into places without prior announcement of their arrival. And they are spending as much time with Europeon officials and observers as they are with Mr. Acheson's, Mr. Hoffman's or Louis Johnson's men.

DEFENSES: Chairman Millard L. Tydings of the Senate Armed Services Committee, for instance, is looking over our military installations in Germany and at other key points. He is also stduying the plans which members of the North Atlantic Pact are making to do their part in implementing that document.

Although a sponsor of this alliance, the hard-boiled and realistic man from the Free State wants to be sure the full burden in any future defense of Western Europe will not fall on the United States. He is particularly interested in the effect which Russia's solution of the atomic secret will have on both a European defense system and our own ramparts.

Key members of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which recommends funds for he Marshall Plan, are determined to look into their expenditure. Having heard reports of waste and incompetency among the on-the-spot executives and dispensers, they mean to get a first-hand picture of where the money goes.

They are also extremely interested in diplomatic advice that, despite our tremendous postwar aid, Britain and Europe will still be calling on us for more assistance after 1952.

DISPLACED: Two influential legislators are making a detailed check of the question of handling displaced persons. Their observations may determine whether the U. S. will open its doors wider to World War II's refugees, or insist other countries in the western hemisphere assume a larger share of his burden.

They are Senator Pat McCarran, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Representative Francis E. Walter of Pennsylvania, head of a House Judiciary Subcommittee handling this problem. Senator McCarran has been criticized for not reporting out an expanded D. P. Bill, and what he sees abroad may determine whether he will change his mind on this legislation.

BUFFER: Two other problems of tremendous import on domestic and world events will also come under Congressional scrutiny — namely, Germany's future role in an atomic universe and war, and the State Department policy of banking so heavily on Middle East sources of oil in domestic and war time.

Several Appropriations members mean to slip off to Saudi-Arabia, partly on their own hook and partly on the invitation of the Arabian-American Petroleum Company. The oil people, of course, want to block passage of various proposals to restrict their imports to the U. S., one of which lost by only one vote in the Senate a few weeks ago.

Whether to continue to dismantle Germany's factories or to rebuild her as a possible buffer in an atomic war will be one of the most important questions before the European branch of the House of Congress. No decision has yet been made at the White House, State Department or Pentagon Building, despite public statments that they do not fear a Russia armed with the A-bomb.

UTILITIES ACTIONS HIT

Pressure Groups Are Under Fire

WASHINGTON. — Private electric utilities, along with major oil interests that own big natural gas reserves, have been very busy in this 81st Democratic Congress, as they were in the Republican 80th, in seeking to weaken long-established federal regulatory policy.

Currently, this was manifest in their fight against confirmation of Leland Olds, champion of effective regulation, for a third five-year team on the Federal Power commission, rejected by the Senate. Both President Truman and the Democratic National committee had enlisted in Mr. Olds' behalf a campaign to stir up public opinion for him.

STOKES

Also Opposed Others

Before that, it was brought out in Senate debate by Senator Magnuson (D-Wash) that utilities had also fought President Truman's appointment to the Federal Trade commission of John Carson, ex-newspaperman, ex-government official, and executive secretary of the Co-Operative League of U. S. A., who was confirmed finally by the Senate.

This was done, indirectly through contributions to the National Tax Equality association, which represents itself as an organization to promote small business and which, itself, incidentally, has a "front" of its own in National Associated Businessmen, Inc.

THE FULL story of this "front" wrinkle, which is not new but always intriguing in propaganda and lobbying technique, can now be revealed from reports to Congress under the lobby registration act and from evidence presented to the House Committee on Small Business of which Rep. Patman (D-Tex) is chairman.

The NTEA, which was organized in 1943 to fight co-operatives and has been active since, disclosed in its report early this year to the clerk of the house under the lobby registration act that 16 big utilities in 11 states were among 43 contributors of "over $500 each." This is the first year that the NTEA has reported under the lobbying act, which it explained by saying that its board of directors on January 4, this year, had broadened its activities to include federal and state governments.

How much the utilities and other substantial interests actually contributed to this organization, which its president, Garner M. Lester, said in a letter to Rep. Patman serves "the interests of small business," is not disclosed in successive reports. In its initial January statement it reported a balance on hand of $198,848 of all funds contributed since its incorporation in 1943, and expenditures for the previous calendar year of $12,-121,88.

Its quarterly reports are mystifying and incomplete in some particulars, which suggests a weakness in the Lobby Registration Act's function. In April, for example, it reported contributions "under $500" of $139,978 and total contributions during the period of exactly that same amount, but listed 43 contributors of "over $500." In July it reported contributions "under $500" of $240,940, and total contributions of that same amount, but listed 37 contributions of "over $500." These mounting contributions, which run into big business, indicate stepped-up activity.

To Continue Probe

The House Small Business committee, which is concerned with the welfare of "small business," plans to send out questionnaires to find out how much utilities and other big interests have contributed to NTEA.

How National Associated Businessmen, Inc., which ostensibly is an independent organization of small businessmen operating through affiliates in 35 states, it tied up with NTEA is revealed in evidence presented to the House committee by persons identified with both and from records of the NTEA.

ONE TIE-UP is through the firm of Scott and Schuler, Chicago organization counsellors. Vernon Scott is executive vice president of NTEA and Loring Schuler, formerly with the wartime WPB's small war plants corporation here, is executive direcor of NAB. They testified that 99 per cent of their time is devoted to the two organizations for which they receive an annual retainer of $68,000—$58,000 from NTEA and $10,000 from NAB.

There are also interlocking offices in local units of NTEA and NAB, and NTEA records show payments of approximately $200 a month, itemized as "reimburse expenses," to secretaries of various NAB affiliates in 14 different states and lesser amounts to affiliates in four other states.

Big business for little business. Or, when is little business big business?

Nehru Pledges Co-operation Of India In Preserving Freedom

By RICHARD M. PALMER
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. —Indian Prime Minister Pandit Nehru pledged his nation today to cooperate with America in fighting against "any challenge to man's freedom, from whatever quarter it may come."

Nehru, addressing both the Senate and House, hinted that India would welcome U. S. technical aid and know-how in industry as well as agriculture.

The visiting prime minister asserted that his country could not remain neutral where aggression threatens freedom and justice. Nehru declared:

"We have to meet aggression and resist it, and the force employed must be adequate to the purpose.

"We are neither blind to reality nor do we propose to acquiesce in any challenge to man's freedom, from whatever quarter it may come. Where freedom is menaced, or justice threatened, or where aggression takes place, we cannot be and shall not be neutral."

Common Points Noted

Nehru said that the U. S. and India have much in common. He pointed out that both nations became independent after breaking away from colonial status.

The prime minister said that the preamble to the new Indian constitution is modeled largely on the American Declaration of Independence.

Nehru emphasized that his nation fundamentally is dedicated to the cause of world peace.

He said:

"Two tragic wars have demonstrated the futility of warfare.

Will To Peace Needed

"Victory, without the will to peace achieves no lasting result and victor and vanquished alike suffer from past wounds, deep and grievous and a common fear of the future."

Nehru declared that even though force might be necessary in the world, the will for peace should not be "swayed or clouded by hatred or fear." He asserted:

"The great democracy of the United States of America will, I feel sure, understand and appreciate our approach to life's problems because it could not have any other aim or a different ideal.

"Friendship and cooperation between our two countries are, therefore, natural. I stand here to offer both in the pursuit of justice, liberty, and peace."

Young Girl's Trip To New Climate Assured

Nation Answers Plea From Mother Of Threatened Girl

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 13 (AP) —Unknown friends in places far and near came forward to make sure that Janet Latsha, six-year-old asthma victim, gets a full chance to live.

Janet and her mother, Mrs. Wilma Latsha, 32, will fly tonight or tomorrow to Albuquerque, where Mrs. Latsha thinks the climate will help Janet.

Mrs. Latsha appealed for help yesterday, saying she had no money to take Janet to New Mexico or tide them over until she could get a job. Mrs. Latsha's plea brought offers of help, plus advice and prayer, from throughout the country.

Mother Offered Job

The best offer came from the Sisters of Charity, a Catholic order at Albuquerque. They told Mrs. Latsha they will take Janet into their hospital, and give the mother a job there.

Janet, a victim of stifling asthma since she was 10 months old, was brought here from Nacogdoches, last June in hopes that the Oklahoma climate would help her. Civic organizations in the Texas town and the Red Cross helped Mrs. Latsha move here.

Mrs. Latsha accepted the Albuquerque offer today and the American Red Cross immediately went to work on arrangements for the flight to Albuquerque. Janet will be released from St. Anthony's hospital here tonight and they hope to leave "as soon as possible."

Free Flight Planned

Burrell Tibbs, veteran commercial pilot, read Janet's story. He will fly her to New Mexico without charge.

Mrs. Latsha, a divorcee who works as a housekeeper, said her "pride and hope had died a little, but they have been revived" by public reaction to her plight.

"If I could get all the people who have helped into one group, I'd get down on my knees and say thank you, thank you, thank you," Mrs. Latsha said.

"Through all the years Janet and I have gone through suffering and privation, I've been calm, but now I have an emotional reaction. I even have quivers in my stomach.

New Hope Given

"These people have given me new hope for Janet. With all these prayers and all this help, I know God is working and will see fit to do something. All this can't be for nothing."

Mrs. Latsha, like Janet's doctors here, is not expecting a miracle. "I just hope, that's all."

As Janet's doctor put it, "All of the things that you do for asthmatics have been done for Janet. She will gradually go down hill. Frankly, I don't know whether another climate will help—but I feel it is certainly worth a trial."

Mrs. Latsha's address here is 633 South 26th Street, but tomorrow she will be at St. Joseph's hospital in Albuquerque.

Mrs. Latsha said she has received $400 from persons throughout the country, along with messages of hope, promises of prayer, and countless suggested remedies.

"Give her a jar of vaseline mixed with a cup of sugar three times daily," a sympathetic Dallas woman wired.

"Take her to a faith healer who will lay a cloth on her and heal her," an Oklahoma City woman advised. (Mrs. Latsha, a devout Catholic, said the caller was angered when she refused to follow this plan.)

Mrs. Latsha said she is still receiving calls from as far away as Iowa and California.

"I am grateful to the people and to God, for God makes good people," she said.

Argentina ban on cattle exports to Chile, which caused an acute meat shortage there, was explained by the Argentine Government as due to a cattle shortage and was not a political gesture against Chile.

DRIFT TO ANARCHY CLAIMED

British Industrialist Condemns English Adoption Of Socialism

(EDITORS NOTE: Alfred Edwards, who since 1935 has been a member of the British Parliament from Middlesbrough, "the Pittsburgh of England," was expelled from the Labor party in May, 1948, for opposing nationalization of steel.

He was an independent until a month ago when he joined the Conservative banner and announced he will seek reelection under that banner. In the following article Edwards, an industrialist now lecturing in the the U. S. condemns British socialism and says "the drift to anarchy must be stopped.")

By ALFRED EDWARDS
Member of the British Parliament
Written especially for INS

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—I believe England will recall Churchill before it is too late.

The drift to anarchy must be stopped and anybody having honestly studied the British Socialist record must agree that socialism is self-condemned.

If cabinet ministers had the moral courage to say plainly what they are now timidly admitting in varying phrases they would issue a statement like this:

Theories Called Incorrect

"After four years of experimenting with state ownership and many controls we are bound to admit that our theories have been completely disproved. We have found that working men will only produce more when there is a strong incentive, such as higher wages.

"That is, of course, contrary to all we have expected but it must be admitted that profit is a great incentive for masters and men, ministers and government corporation officers.

"We find trade union officials accepting—and demanding—5,000 pounds a year as a normal salary when working for the government.

Great Unrest Claimed

"We had thought there would be under a labor government industrial peace; there has never been more unrest.

"We had expected better relations with Russia; they couldn't be worse.

"We thought with Bevin in charge of our foreign affairs there would be unity in the party and peace on earth. On the contrary, Bevin is the most unpopular leader of all and our rearming program has been stepped up to terrifying proportions.

"We had expected in nationalized industries increased efficiency and better output per man, with consequent profits to share among the workers. They have all turned profits into losses.

Full Employment Denied

"We thought Socialist policies would give us full employment. Actually they have done nothing of the kind. Sir Stafford Cripps told us in a recent broadcast that it is only the gifts and loans from the United States that have given us full employment.

"In other words only private enterprise can insure full employment and a high standard of living, such as the trade unionists in the United States enjoy.

"We did not devalue the pound sterling. The world devalued it and we have been forced reluctantly to acknowledge it. Not one of our theories has stood up in practice.

"Nobody is today better off under socialism. Social services which everybody wants to keep can only be maintained if we increase our dollar exports by 40 per cent."

It may seem reasonable to a Socialist to accept money from private enterprise in America to destroy private enterprise in England.

To me, it seems a colossal impudence, and a poor way of showing our appreciation for American aid.

His son, Roy, gives advice as dad works on the 16-foot vessel, which he built of scrap steel. Russell has worked 14 months on the sub, and expects to make a trial run soon.

Housing Units For Army Posts Okayed

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 13 (AP)—Authority to build 1,800 housing units at three southwest Army posts was announced today by Fourth Army headquarters.

Educational 'Peepshows' As College Teaching Aid Urged

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13. (AP)—Educational "peepshows" as a teaching aid for colleges and schools were suggested today by a technical illustrator.

"The peephole is the greatest thing in the world for stimulating people's curiosity and helping them remember what they see," said W. Branks Stewartt, chief medical artist and photographer on the staff of Louisiana State university's school of medicine.

"People get fun out of looking through a peep-hole, no matter what they're looking at, and when they have fun the things they see are more apt to stick in their minds," declared Stewartt.

Frank Woolworth developed the idea for his stores at Watertown, N. Y., from a "five-cent" table in the store of Moore & Smith, during country fair week.

"Maybe you ought to go look your mother up," Jenny suggested, when he mentioned them. She wondered if Mrs. Duncan would be different if she knew they were going to have a baby. It might change things.

Still she put off telling Tod.

Five Farm Plans Are Approved By Hockley County Soil Board

LEVELLAND, Oct. 13. (Special)—Five farm plans and farm district agreements were approved at the October meeting of Hockley County Soil Conservation district's board of supervisors. The regular monthly business session of the supervisors was held in the library building.

B. Forman of Anton, chairman, presided. Supervisors C. D. Bond of Ropesville, Leon Lawson of Pettit and H. T. Harrell of Levelland, took part in the discussion. Marshal W. Howard, district conservationist of Lubbock, and Aubrey L. Holt, work unit conservationist of the Levelland Soil Conservation office, were also present.

Approved Plans Are Discussed

Farm plans approved were on the R. G. Epperson and G. H. Dalton farms, located in the Ropesville community; Elvis Jones, about five miles southeast of Smyer and the O. W. Moore place, operated by Melvin Schoppa, eight miles south of Opdyke. These farmers have agreed, Forman said, to install such conservation practices as terraces, contour farming, cover crops, irrigated pastures, alfalfa and bench leveling. Bench leveling, a new conservation practice in this district, is receiving a great deal of interest from farmers in the district. This practice, Forman said, makes irrigation easier on the smooth slopes as well as on the steep land. Water erosion is stopped by bench leveling.

Project Is Completed

J. M. Horton, district cooperator, assisted by Soil Conservation technicians, has just completed approximately 40 acres of bench leveling on his farm. This benched land has been planted to alfalfa, mixed grasses for irrigation, vetch and rye, and wheat. The vetch and rye were planted on the steeper slopes, as part of the top soil was removed in the benching operation; and to put this land back in top production, organic matter and minerals must be replaced. By turning the vetch and rye under in the spring much of the lost organic matter and minerals will be replaced in this area.

Horton said he used about 100 pounds per acre of 16-20-0 fertilizer on his vetch and grass planting. This, he said, would assure a fast start to the young plants, and he felt it essential to get the plants off to a good start. B. A. Warren, district cooperator, has benched about 15 acres on his farm. This area is to be planted in alfalfa and fertilized with about 200 pounds per acre of 20 per cent super phosphate. The new grass drill, recently purchased by the district, was used to make the planting on the two farms. This planter is so constructed that it will plant the large or trashy seed as well as the very smallest seed separately or in one operation. The drill also has a fertilizer attachment.

Fuel Oil Stocks Rise Throughout Nation

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Fuel oil stocks increased in the week ended Oct. 8, the report of the American Petroleum Institute showed today.

Gas oil and distillate fuel stocks at 85,800,000 barrels were up 2,305,000 barrels; residual fuel stocks showed a rise of 267,000 at 68,222,000 barrels.

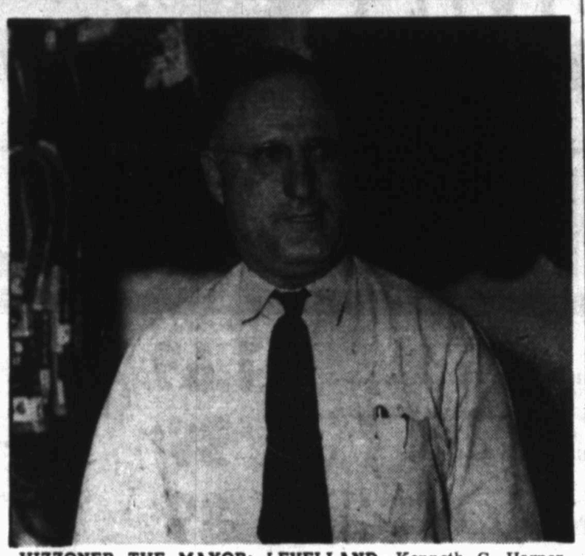

Heavy fuel oil production declined to 7,363,000 barrels from 7,514,000 in the preceding week. Light fuel oil output was placed at 7,131,000 compared with 6,692,000 a week earlier.

Daily average gross crude production increased 65,350 barrels in the week, totaling 4,956,000 barrels compared with 5,534,800 a year ago.

Refineries were estimated to have operated at 82.6 per cent of capacity, running to stills 5,335,000 barrels of crude daily. A week earlier the daily average was 5,493,000, and a year ago it was 5,598,000.

Gasoline production amounted to 18,107,000 barrels against 18,381,000 in the preceding week.

Finished and unfinished gasoline stocks totaled 102,707,000 barrels a decline of 1,188,000 in the week.

HIZZONER THE MAYOR: LEVELLAND—Kenneth C. Harper became mayor of Levelland last April after having served a term on the city council. He is co-owner with his son, Harry E., in the Harper Oil company. He is also co-owner with his son-in-law, W. A. Nance, jr., in the Palace Drug store. Harper was born Oct. 17, 1900 at Diamond, Mo. He moved to Oklahoma in 1901 and worked in the oil fields from 1917 to 1942 when he came to Levelland. Harper married Collie Harris at Pineville, Mo., Dec. 24, 1919. He has three children, Mrs. W. A. Nance, jr., Harry E., and William C., who is a school teacher at Belton, Texas. The mayor's hobby is fishing. He heads a five-man council in the Hockley county seat of an estimated 11,000 population. Lipstick, Dancing Prohibited By Decree

Egyptian Women Protest Ban On Modern Dress, Activites

BY SAM SOUKI
United Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Oct. 8—Sex is hiding its pretty head in Egypt. In fact, sex is being covered from head to toe—and not liking it.

Egyptian women are storming at the recent decrees issued by Minister of Education Ahmed Mursy Badr Bey. The minister has launched an all-out campaign to wipe lipstick from their lips and shroud their figures in long, unrevealing dresses.

The trouble came about when the minister dismissed a woman school teacher because she had been accused of dancing with some university students at a party. Then, in quick succession, the minister ordered that classical dancing lessons in government schools must cease and that no girls should be sent to Europe on government educational missions. The exception was London, where the government maintains a house and chaperone for the girls.

Most of the press and women's associations in Egypt raised a howl of protest. They charged the minister with responsibility for dragging the country back, rather than improving its educational programs. They accused him of wanting to kill woman's progress.

The papers asked him why the traditional belly dancing of the Orient should be considered more decent than the ballet and classical dancing which girls were taught in schools. Cartoons ridiculing the minister appeared in most papers.

A few voices were raised in praise of the minister's acts. Some people stated that he was protecting the virtue of Egyptian womanhood. But for the most part the women declared their virtue their own business and said they were capable of protecting themselves without help or hindrance from the minister.

To show that he was not against women's education, but merely against any form of indecency—as he termed some of the modern forms of education, dancing and sports—the minister began visiting girls' schools. At the same time, however, he forbade girls to participate in the university games at Murano, Italy, and issued an order that women teachers and school girls must refrain from using cosmetics and short-sleeved dresses as of October.

Badr Bey stated that his measure was being taken to "maintain the dignity of educational institutions." He insists that teachers and students must wear long-sleeved, ankle-length dresses and that they must not paint their faces. He also insists that he is not at war with the fair sex.

Furious articles have appeared in the press and almost daily there are irate letters to editors. One such letter said: "Some day the Egyptian government will have to make up its mind whether it intends the country to join in the main stream of western civilization or to remain a social and intellectual back-water, content to adopt a lower standard of living . . ."

Oil Hike Boosts Texas' Finances

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 (AP)—The state's financial outlook is a little brighter as a result of the 137,000-barrel daily increase ordered by the Railroad commission in the November oil allowable.

That is the opinion of a state fiscal expert. But he cautions that the increased revenue in taxes from three consecutive boosts in monthly oil production is not an unexpected development. It does not mean that the state will have more money than previously expected.

Upward Trend Anticipated

An upward trend in oil production was anticipated by the state comptroller when he issued an estimate early in 1949 on how much money the state would have for general spending purposes during the 1949-50, 1950-51 fiscal years.

The Railroad commission yesterday gave Texas operators permission to produce 2,286,175 in November.

Coupled with two previous increases, the latest jump puts November's allowable 340,538 barrels a day higher than that of mid-August.

To help the comptroller make good on his prediction of money to come during the current biennium, oil production will have to reach 2,400,000 barrels daily by next September and maintain that average during the second fiscal year. The price of oil also would have to remain up to its present level.

The expert noted also that income from cigarette, inheritance, franchise, and other smaller taxes is on the up-grade.

The comptroller's latest estimate of income available for general spending purposes during the two-year period which began Sept. 1 was $132,000,000.

Of this amount, approximately $75,000,000 already was in the general revenue fund Sept. 1. This left some $57,000,000 to be taken in during the following 24 months.

Use Of Artificial Light Aids In Increasing Egg Production

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 13 (U.P.)—Farmers who want to increase egg production should organize their farms and give their chickens more "overtime."

Extension poultryman W. F. Aubol of the University of Nebraska said hens should have about 13 hours of light in the chicken house daily, regardless of when the sun goes down.

They should get time and a half in feed and water for their overtime work, he said.

Youth's Midnight Auto Ride Is Costly For His Parents

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (U.P.)—Twelve-year-old Donald Freeman's urge to drive just like grown-up folks sent the family car and five others to the garage for repairs.

Donald stole from his bed and started out in his mother's car for his first solo flight. He did well—for two blocks. When he turned a corner, however, he hit five parked cars in one-two order.

Police estimated his exuberance cost $200 damage, not including the Freeman car. It had to be towed away.

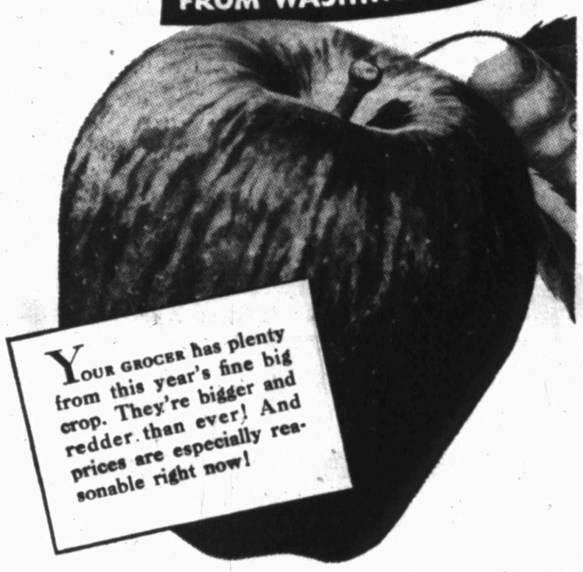

Britain is again rationing milk.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 13—Reliable sources said today that medical men appeared to be exempt from the wave of thousands of arrests by which the Czech Communist government is attempting to weaken the country's middle class.

These sources said lawyers, engineers and other professional men had been among the chief victims of the seizure squads but that not at single doctor had been reported detained.

One source said a doctor tried to give himself up to security police when two of his brothers were taken away.

"We are not taking doctors," he reportedly was told.

Young and old eyewitnesses, their eyes dimmed with tears, described how the government seizure squads had converted Prague into a city of fear.

A grey-haired old man, speaking dully and with red rimmed eyes, said a squad pounded on his door before dawn.

"Half an hour later my brother was gone," he said.

The old man's story was one of the first eyewitness accounts of the roundup.

"'Come with me,'" they told my brother," the old man said. "He asked where. They said 'to the district national committee.'"

The old man said two uniformed police, who occasionally glanced down at their boottops, made the arrest along with a plainclothesman.

"They searched the house and asked if we had any guns," the eye witness said. "They seized my brother's revolver and his hunting gun. They searched through desks and through the pockets of our suits."

The old man said:

"They told me 'Be quiet, you are still free,'" and then rushed off into the night and to a Prague jail with his brother.

A young girl said the police came for her father in one of Prague's exclusive suburbs early in the morning, brusquely ordered him to get dressed in warm clothing and took him away.

"They took the license and papers for the car, too," she said. "They wrote on our typewriter and kept the samples, and searched the whole house."

Confusion At Burbank School Result Of Seven Sets Of Twins

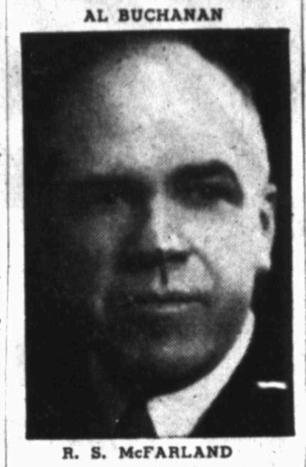

BURBANK, Calif., Oct. 13 (U.P.)—Teachers at the Thomas Edison elementary school are seeing double.

Seven sets of twins, only two of them boys, are attending Thomas Edison. School officials said they believe the high number of doubles is some sort of a record.

In the neighboring city of Glendale, six sets of twins were in attendance at the Balboa elementary school.

Veteran Oil Men Are Given Service Awards

HOUSTON, Oct. 13—Al Buchanan, veteran oil well drilling contractor of San Antonio, and Russell Scott McFarland, of Dallas, vice president, Seaboard Oil company of Delaware, Thursday received the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's Distinguished Service Awards.

The annual awards for industry service were conferred during Thursday afternoon's session of the Association's 30th Annual Meeting here at the Rice Hotel.

John Suman, vice president, Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), made the presentation of the plaque for the outstanding independent oil man to Buchanan while Dr. J. C. Karcher, Dallas oil operator, presented McFarland with the award for the large company recipient.

McFarland, who has been vice president and general manager of the Mid-Continent Division of Seaboard since 1931, was cited for his participation in Association work and aid toward solution of industry problems.

Buchanan, a vice president of the Association and prominent San Antonio and South Texas civic leader, is credited with discovering nine oil fields in Texas and has drilled more than 2500 wells in the State. In a colorful career which began with pipe line work and roughnecking in North Texas oil fields about 1908, Buchanan became a drilling contractor, made booms in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, California and has drilled wildcats in Florida and Wyoming.

Court Votes County Fee Payment Probe

HOUSTON, Oct. 13. (U.P.)—Harris county commissioners court voted today to investigate county fee payments allegedly made to State Representative J. N. (Jim) Heflin.

The action was taken at the insistence of Commissioner Jack Townsend, who took up recent charges of the Houston Press that a system of "special fees" had drained the county treasury.

Press reporter Vernon Smylie, in a front page story yesterday in the newspaper, charged that Heflin had been paid $700 in fees for appraising real estate here at a time when House records in Austin showed him to be present there.

Commissioner Townsend engaged heatedly in an hour-long debate before the court would agree to the investigation.

"I want to know who is at fault when a man is paid for work here when he isn't even in Harris county," he said.

Townsend's remarks were obviously aimed at county Auditor Harry Washburn, who approved payment of fees to Heflin.

It was presumed the investigation would begin immediately.

Special Service To Mark Close Of Festival Of Tabernacles

Concluding the Festival of Tabernacles, a service called "Rejoicing in the Law" will be read at Congregation Shaareth Israel, Twenty-third and Ave. Q, at 8 p. m. today, it was announced by Rabbi Julius Kerman.

The service will mark the conclusion of the reading of the Pentateuch, the five books of Moses which the congregation reads by portions every Sabbath morning. The reading is concluded and begun again at the ending of the Festival of Tabernacles.

The service tonight will be brief and will be followed by a social hour, with a special treat to children of the religious school, Mr. Kerman said.

Water Needs To Be Given U. S. Officials

ABILENE, Oct. 13. (Special)—Factual information upon the water problems and needs of every town in West Texas is to be presented to officials of the U. S. Bureau of reclamation, Department of interior, at the annual directors' meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Fort Worth, Nov. 22.

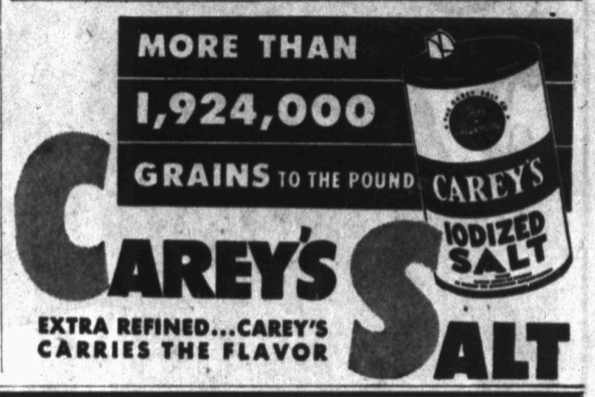

President John D. Mitchell of the WTCC has called upon all local directors of the organization and local chamber of commerce managers to prepare an official document, to be signed by those officials and the mayor, citing water needs and problems. The information is to be sent to WTCC for delivery to the officials at the Fort Worth meeting where it will be presented by Lawrence Hagy, Chairman of the WTCC Municipal Water Rights committee.

"State with all your power of statistics and persuasion your domestic and industrial water needs and requests for help," the letter says.

Mitchell and Bandeen call attention to the river basin surveys of the bureau of reclamation, now under way in West Texas, which may eventually call for construction of some $400 million in dams, reservoirs and pipelines for the West Texas area.

WTCC slogan for the Nov. 22 convention is "Dam West Texas or West Texas is Damned."

Greek leaders say that country will need American economic aid until 1954.

British Nobel Prize Winner To Push World Federal Government

MONTROSE, Scotland, Oct. 13 (U.P.)—Lord Boyd Orr, winner of the 1949 Nobel peace prize called today for a world federal government, and earmarked his $30,172 Nobel prize money to help establish it.

The former director of the United Nations Food and Agriculture organization (FAO) and current president of the world movement for a world federal government also urged the United States and other great powers to support the plan for a world food board.

Strong UN Favored

Boyd Orr seaid a strengthened UN could lead to a federated government of the world to insure peace for all peoples.

The world food board, he said, would provide food for the hungry and "so bring about a definite contentment."

Boyd Orr, declared the Nobel winner in Oslo, Norway, yesterday, said the great powers blocked formation of the food board, which seeks increased production and better distribution of the world's food supplies.

Proposal Endorsed

The U. S. and other big countries endorsed the proposal but failed to take the necessary steps to make the plan work, he said.

Boyd Orr did not know he had been selected for the 1949 prize by the Nobel committee of the Norwegian parliament until the United Press informed him at his farm in Scotland.

He is the sixth citizen of Britain to receive the ward. He was selected for the honor from a list of candidates which included Eleanor Roosevelt and Drew Pearson of the United States, President and Mrs. Juan Peron of Argentina and President Karl Renner of Austria.

Birthday Celebrated By Air Force Women

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 13 (U.P.) — The women of the Air Force (WAFS) had a birthday party today.

One year ago on Oct. 13, the first class of air women reported for training at Lackland Air Force base.

Maj. Grace M. Barth, the original and present commandant of the WAF, was on hand for the birthday party. A super-size birthday cake will be sliced, and the first wedge goes to S-Sgt. Renetta Cichy of Toledo, Ohio, one of the original 23 WAFS.

In the year, more than 1,200 women have been through the 11-week training course. Sixteen of them have earned commissions and another 11 are presently enrolled in officer candidate school.

A lot of people wondered what the distaff side would do for the Air Force. WAFS are now being trained and assigned as radio mechanics and operators, parachute riggers, military intelligence and police workers, control tower operators, flight hostesses and photographers.

About 175 women come to Lackland each month to begin training, and they get the same Air Force indoctrination as their male counterparts—excepting, of course, combat training.

Lawyers Fail In Attempt To Free Convicted Bank Robber

DALLAS, Oct. 13. (AP) — Ollie Otto Prince's lawyers tried to get the convicted bank robber out of jail yesterday. They failed but said they'll try again.

Attorneys Clyde Hood and Howard Dailey asked U. S. Commissioner W. Madden Hill to approve two sureties so Prince could go free on bond. Hill said the sureties were too low.

The lawyers said they will ask federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson to overrule Hill.

Prince, 45, of Corsicana, was convicted last March of robbing the First State bank of Rice, Navarro county. He is appealing a 10-year prison sentence in the case.

He also is under indictment in a bank robbery in Malone and another in Mount Calm. Both these cases are due for setting sometime during the second week of November in a Waco federal court.

Price has posted $10,000 bond for the Malone case. He now must post $12,500 for the Mount Calm case and $10,000 for his appeal bond on the Rice conviction.

GUIDED MISSILES CAPTURED NEAR END OF WAR

Russians Possess Rockets Capable Of Destroying B-36 Carrying A-Bombs, German Scientist Claims

By TOM AGOSTON
INS Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT, Oct. 13. — Dr. Heinz Gartmann, internationally famous German rocket technologist, declared tonight that the Russians possess German-designed rockets capable of destroying any atomic bomb-laden U. S. B-36-type bomber.

Gartmann's comments in an exclusive interview with International News Service followed yesterday's implication by U. S. naval spokesmen in Washington that Russia's guided missiles could destroy the controversial B-36, subject of a congressional committee investigation.

Gartmann, who spent seven months working at the U. S. Air Force Wright field experimental station, said the Russians obtained two first rate anti-aircraft rockets when thep captured the B. M. W. airplane engine factory in Berlin at the end of the war in 1945.

These rockets are known as the "waterfall" and the "butterfly," Gartmann said. He added:

"Both are excellent weapons for fihting big bombers. While bombers only fly at a height of 40,000 feet this height is no problem whatsoever for rockets."

Gartmann expressed belief that air-borne rockets such as the German-designed X-4 is the only effective method of coping with the German-designed rockets now owned by Russia.

"At supersonic speed," he said, "rockets would be hard to fight even with jet-fighters. But I think they can be combatted by air-borne rockets."

Gartmann said Russia is employing 55,000 technicians to develop rockets which her troops captured at Peenemuende, the largest rocket research plant in the world.

The German scientist contrasted what he termed the "vigor of the Russians" in exploiting the captured instruments, plans, and experts, against what he termed the comparative "American indifference" with material U. S. troops captured.

"The Russians," said Gartmann, "have been striving very hard since 1945 to complete and mass-produce the captured projects which were almost finished at the end of the war.

"The Americans captured most of the 'butterfly' material from the main test station near Munich, but according to what is known here did not care to develop it.

"Generally, one could say that while the Russians took all possible pains to get German 'rocket brains,' the Americans left experts in their (American) orbit idle.

German Experts Ignored

"For instance, the top rocket pioneer, the internationally-known Professor Hermann Oberth, is tending his garden in Bavaria (in the U. S. occupation zone) instead of being used in necessary research and development."

German rocket expert Gartman added in conclusion:

"At the end of the war the Allies captured two models of the latest rocket engines.

"The Russians grabbed the best model, while the clumsier early model remained ignored in Germany and was only taken to Wright field in 1947."

NAVY 'ASSUMED' SOVIETS HAD ROCKET MISSILES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. (INS)—The Navy said tonight it has "assumed for some time" that the Russians have rockets capable of blasting B-36 Air Force bombers out of the skies.

The statement confirmed remarks made by Dr. Heinz Gartmann, world famous rocket expert, in Germany.

Gartmann said that the Russians acquired their super rockets by capturing a German airplane engine factory in Berlin at the close of World War II.

The Air Force said it could not comment "with propriety" because the ability of the B-36 is currently under investigation by Congress.

A Navy spokesman, in response to a request for comment on Gartmann's statements, declared:

"The Navy has assumed for some time that the Russians have developed rockets that would be capable of knocking down a plane with B-36 characteristics.

"The U.S. military forces, themselves, have been developing rockets along the same lines as the Russians."

Geologist Predicts Alabama Will Be Great Source Of Oil

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 13 (U.P.)—Dr. Walter B. Jones, state geologist, predicts that within the next 30 years Alabama will be one of the nation's foremost oil producers.

The state has 35 oil wells which have produced more than 1,000,000 barrels.

"We know now," he explained, "that oil is here. We feel sure it is here in considerable quantity. The problem is to locate it."

"Be prepared," Dr. Jones urges in speeches throughout the state, "protect your land holdings, deal only with legitimate firms. Don't get involved in money-mad schemes which can wreck you and your neighbors when the magic word 'oil' is mentioned."

Most of the prospecting is in the Mobile area and in Washington and Choctak counties. A salt dome has been found near McIntosh in Washington County, a deep dome with almost chemically pure salt.

Lemonville, Texas, is in Orange County.

Papers Termed Best Advertising Medium

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 13 (U.P.)—Newspapers are the most successful advertising medium for products which require advance planning by the purchaser, a University of Michigan marketing specialist believes.

J. Howard Westing, associate professor of marketing, reported that newspapers offered the small manufacturer coverage that fitted closely the market for the product

Radio has made 'tremendous progress" as an advertising medium, Westing said, but it is "most successful for products which are bought frequently, at a fairly low price and without a great amount of advance planning."

"For this reason radio is dominant in the advertising of food and drug products," Westing said, "but still is outstripped by newspaper and other types of printed advertising for products requiring anything except the briefest selling arguments."

Fire Prevention Week Helps Point Up Heavy Loss To Nation

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 — If you didn't have a fire this week you were unconsciously celebrating, or least observing, one of the few sensible "weeks" of the year—Fire Prevention week.

In dignity and hoss-sense, Fire Prevention week makes up for a veritable blizzard of generally ignored "weeks" that go by such names as "Eat Soy Bean-Donuts Week," "Be Kind to Lady Riveters Week," "Save the Dogwood Week" and "Cherry, Chummy Week."

Was talking to one of the country's leading authorities on fires the other night, Herbert Allyn Payne, and he had some deflating statistics.

A fire breaks out in the U. S. every 36 seconds, and fires kill an American every 50 minutes of the day and night. One fire, and its resultant disorder, the Cocoanut Grove tragedy in Boston, killed 492 persons—a greater toll than the San Francisco earthquake.

There is an average of 575 forest fires every day, or 175,000 a year. Each year more than 40,000 square miles of woods—covering an area the size of Virginia—are destroyed. The carelessly destroyed timber would build 85,000 five-room houses a year.

The 1,100 homes which catch on fire every day in this country cost the owners or the insurance companies an average of $600. Countless tons of food are destroyed annually by fires in an average of 2,000 flour mills, and elevators, 200 packing plants, 900 bakeries, 10,500 restaurants, 20,000 barns, 500 creameries, grocery stores, warehouses, etc. Fires cost every man, woman, child in the country $5 a head last year—about $750,000,000.

Cigarets, Matches Blamed

About a third of all fires are traced to the idiotic handling of cigarets and matches. "A third" sounds trivial, but it means—in blunter language—death or disfigurement to children and the old, destruction of hard-won gains perhaps never to be recaptured—and a quarter of a billion bucks a year.

Some tips by Payne:

Keep matches out of the reach of small children, and the handles on cooking vessels turned so that they cannot reach them. Stop playing handyman around electric wiring, replace worn out extension cords, and have the furnace and chimney cleaned at least once a year. Keep a guard in front of fire places, and clear cellars and attics of old papers and other combustibles. Buy more ashtrays, and never clean clothes, etc., with gasoline.

Generals Write Of War

A lot of generals have written books about World War II, and they have been good books—mainly about generals, their problems, and the vast impersonality of modern warfare as seen from the top echelons.

Gen. George C. Kenney has written a fine 600 page book ("General Kenney Reports," Duell, Sloan and Pearce) which concerns itself in the main with "the kids"—as he called his fly boys in the Fifth and Thirteenth Air Forces.

"This is a long ways from being literature, but I think you'll like the story of how the kids on a shoe-string did their stuff when the chips were down," he writes on a fly-leaf which I treasure. It is part of the exceptional book's fine understatement.

There was his session, before going overseas, with a kid charged with flying his P-38 down Market street, San Francisco.

"I let him stand at attention while I bawled him out for getting himself in trouble, and getting me in trouble, too, besides giving people the impression that the Air Force was just a lot of irresponsible airplane jockeys.

. . . "'By the way, wasn't the air pretty rough down in that street around the second-story level?' I was really a bit curious. As I remembered, it used to be, when I was first learning to fly."

And the sawed-off, tough-looking sergeant-bombardier who was going home, after 450 combat hours. He had come into the general's office to pick up his Silver Star, DFC, Purple Heart and clustered Air Medal. But that afternoon he was back, ". . . a little tight, quite excited about something."

"'General,' he said hoarsely, 'did you see this? Did you read what those so-and-so's just did? (The sinking of the Allied hospital ship Centaur by a Jap sub.) I don't want to go home yet. I want to go back to my squadron in New Guinea. I'm the best damn bombardier in the whole Fifth Air Force and'—he lowered his voice to a confidential whisper—'I know where there is a Jap hospital ship.'

"I told him the answer was no, that he was tired, he needed a rest, he had a seat on a plane going home that night, and he was going to take it if I had to have him carried on board. I advised him to go have fun and forget it.

"'Aw, General' — the eyes blinked and a couple of big tears rolled down his cheeks — 'you're treating me just like a little kid.' . . . he left. I felt like going along to console him, but I had too many papers to shuffle."

MEET THE WOMEN — Mrs. Dick Cozby, director of publications at Lubbock Senior High school, is faculty advisor to the staff of the Westerner World, student newspaper, and the Westerner, high school yearbook. Under her guidance and supervision, the two publications have won national and state honors in competition with other high school papers and yearbooks. Mrs. Cozby, a graduate of Texas Tech and The University of Southern California, formerly taught in the Pampa school system, and joined the Lubbock High school faculty in 1941. She is a member of Broadway Church of Christ, the Lubbock Classroom Teachers Council, and Texas State Teachers association, in addition to a number of other professional organizations. She was chairman of the committee which organized the Texas Association of Journalism Directors (an organization affiliated with TSTA) and served as its chairman during its first year. Mrs. Cozby is keenly interested in interior decorating and color harmony, and has decorated her new home at 3317 Twenty-seventh herself. She also enjoys cooking. (Staff Photo).

A leftover egg white may be used in a chilled coffee drink. To make it mix two tablespoons of sugar with two teaspoons of instant soluble coffee and a cup and a half of ice-cold milk. Beat the egg white until it is stiff enough to stand in peaks that tip over slightly when the beater is slowly withdrawn, then mix the beaten white with the coffee-milk. This will serve two.

Exciting Cranberry Combinations

SUGGESTIONS WORTH TRYING BY THE FOOD EDITORS OF McCALL'S MAGAZINE

It all started back in the days of the Indians — this custom of pointing-up poultry and meat flavor with gay, bright cranberries. No longer, however, need we wait for winter holiday meals to enjoy it . . . both fresh berries and ready-to-serve sauce are in abundance, and most reasonable too.

Just for fun try some of these good variations. Peel and section tangerines or oranges and mix with cranberry sauce, or spoon some sauce over cooked or canned pears for Cranberry Ruby Pears. We McCall Cooks like lime juice with our cranberries plus a little lime rind for nice color, or try stirring in a teaspoon of chopped, fresh mint into plain cranberry sauce. You see there's no end to the exciting combinations.
